Williams County has the largest population of any county in western North Dakota and eastern Montana. Its county seat, Williston, has twice the population of any city in the area. Just to put the record straight, KEYZ is the only Williston station, and its 5,000 watts of power at 1360 kc. gives the greatest coverage in the heart of the Williston Basin. Its half-millivolt includes Divide, Burke, Williams, Mountrail and McKenzie counties in North Dakota and Richland, Sheridan, Roosevelt and Daniels counties in Montana, plus parts of 9 other counties in both states. Our area is rich in oil, and has bumper crops in wheat, barley, flax, etc.
