Jonathan Fire*Eater Calls It Quits

After releasing four albums, New York City band Jonathan Fire*Eater has announced it's on "indefinite hiatus." The band's publicist, Erin Norris of So What!, said that lead singer Stewart Lupton told her that he plans to continue making music, either solo or with another group. There is no word yet about the future of the band's other four members (bassist Tom Frank, guitarist Paul Maroon, drummer Matt Barrick and organist Walter Martin), but some of them are expected to return to college. Norris said the band started having trouble with "chemistry" when it was writing several new tracks for the planned follow-up to (continued on page 17)

Capricorn Signs Vic Chesnutt

On November 10, Atlanta-based Capricorn Records will release The Salesman And Bernadette, the latest album from lauded Athens, Georgia, singer/songwriter Vic Chesnutt. Capricorn President Philip Walden, Jr., tells CMJ, "We have been fans of Vic's for a long time and are thrilled to be associated with such a talented artist." Walden signed the singer in early August, just six weeks after Capitol Records released Chesnutt from his contract. In 1995, Walden organized and released Nine High A Pallet, an album Chesnutt (continued on page 17)

Hole Sheds Its Riot Grrl 'Skin' For Polished New Record On The Inside (Caroline) for

By Ron Hart

With all media the frenzy and controversy surrounding Hole frontwoman Courtney Love, including her new career as an actress, her creative squabbles with Smashing Pumpkins guru Billy Corgan and the unflattering portrayal of her in the documentary film Kurt & Courtney, the hype has overshadowed the fact that her band will soon release a new record. Celebrity Skin, Hole's long-awaited (and longdelayed) follow up its 1994 Geffen debut, Live Through This, promises to be a drastic change for the group both artistically and stylistically. The album trades in the riot grrrl fury that fueled both Live Through This (DGC) and Hole's 1991 debut Pretty a softer, more polished sound influenced by '70s new wave E and MOR. Geffen's National Director of College Promotions, Tony Kiewel, says Hole's new sound is simply a matter of artistic maturation, not a forced transformation to accompany Love's new image as a glamorous starlet. "There are songs on this (continued on page 17)

THE ESSENTIAL RELEASES OF THE WEEK

WILLIE NELSON Teatro (Island)

Willie Nelson describes Teatro as "the best record of [his] career," and even if you haven't heard every one of his 100-plus albums, you may want to take his word for it. To record his second effort for Island Records, Nelson teamed up with producer Daniel Lanois, fresh off his recent collaborations with Bob Dylan and Emmylou Harris, and he gives the album a clean, warm sound filled with Nelson's rustic guitar, Wurlitzer organ and the occasional harmonica or slide guitar. Nelson and backing vocalist Emmylou Harris are also joined by the percussion team of Victor Indrizzo and Tony Mangurian, who add an edgy, south-of-the-border rhythm to this seamless mix of new tracks and re-recordings of 30-yearold Nelson classics. All the percussive excitement doesn't detract from Nelson's vocals, which are the aural equivalent of broken-in leather - weathered from 65 years of hard luck, but still soft and supple. Teatro is a haunting album that sticks with you long after the music ends, and a powerful reminder that country music can be much more than the slick stuff coming out of Nashville today. - Wendy Mitchell

HOWE GELB Hisser (V2)

As the guiding force behind Giant Sand's sun-scorched countryfolk-blues, Howe Gelb's songwriting has always teetered precariously between moments of inspired, roughshod improvisation and wanton, anything-goes strangeness. In either case, Gelb's music has its share of charms and silly indulgences, both of which do their part in making Hisser, Gelb's second album under his own name, such a rewarding experience for the patient listener. Recorded on a fourtrack inside the adobe walls of Gelb's home, the album is, in typical Gelb style, a sparse, mournful collection of half-finished narratives and fragmented musical ideas. The album's opener, "Temptation Of Egg," for example, finds Gelb's hoarse warble, some tape hiss and his loose acoustic guitar strumming sharing equal sonic space. He tosses off lines like "I wake up with somethin' in my eye/I pull out one of your lashes/I like the way you stuck in my eye/I like the way my eye stashes" as if he were making them up on the spot. Sometimes the curiousness of his lyrics comes off as playful and smirking, other times, Gelb's words are evocative and beautifully poetic. It depends on the character of the melodic ideas on which they're hung. - Colin Helms

BUTTERFLY CHILD Soft Explosives (HitIt!)

After releasing the brittle, beautiful Onomatopoeia in 1993, and then The Honeymoon Suite to quiet acclaim in 1995, Joe Cassidy (a.k.a. Butterfly Child) makes a soul-baring third statement with Soft Explosives, a kind of cinematic emotional soundtrack created by a post-modern philharmonic. Cassidy relocated from Belfast, Ireland, to Chicago to produce his newest effort. His knack for melody attracted Chicago-based percussionists John Herndon of Tortoise and David Suycott of Verbow, who join him on the project, along with the Windy City's Lyric Opera String Quartet (known for its work with the Smashing Pumpkins). With the help of yet even more supporting players, Soft Explosives creates a dreamy musical landscape, accented by synths, brass and strings. Even when the decorations are taken down and the intricacies muted, Cassidy and his acoustic guitar keep the harmonic heart of Soft Explosives beating true. The reflexive, a cappella structure of the crisp "Zepplin Catches Fire At Speed" and the instrumental mini-Adagio "1929," are two quick examples of the album's breadth. - David Day

CRACKER Gentleman's Blues (Virgin)

Back in the '80s, when David Lowery gnawed at the wires of the mainstream with his absurdist college rock ensemble Camper Van Beethoven, he paid homage to his classic rock idols by attacking them in a witty, curt manner. Now, after nearly 13 years of writing challenging songs that paved the way for a landslide of indie rock mavens, he's become classic rock himself. On Gentleman's Blues, Lowery's fourth record with his successful bash and pop outfit, Cracker, he appears to be at ease with his current role, whipping up a collection of blue collar, at times gospel-flavored, songs that recall the glory days of AOR radio. While Cracker's earlier albums spoke to an audience coming off a Lemonheads sugar rush, Gentleman's Blues speaks to the music fans breaking out old Tom Petty and Bruce Springsteen albums for some heartfelt soul searching without all the self-loathing and excess. With a roster of guests that includes ex-Heartbreaker Benmont Tench and Mike Campbell, along with ex-Replacement Tommy Stinson, it shouldn't come as a surprise that Gentleman's Blues embodies the rootsy, American rock that it aspires to be. - Ron Hart

A Tribe Called Quest Announces Split

Hip-hop innovator and member of the Native Tongues posse A Tribe Called Quest has decided to disband after a decade-long career. At an August 11 show in Milwaukee, rapper Q-Tip announced that the trio would call it quits after its current series of gigs opening for the Beastie Boys. A Tribe Called Quest's final album, The Love Movement, will be released September 29 on Jive, and the band's final show is expected to be the last day of its leg on the Beasties' tour at Continental Airlines Arena in East Rutherford, New Jersey, on August 29. Jive Records' publicity department said that the band's split is not based on any personality problems within the group and that Tribe's members simply want to pursue other projects. Despite Q-Tip's claim in Milwaukee, A Tribe Called Quest may embark on a short college tour shortly after the Beasties tour ends, Jive said. Violator Management, which represents the group, had no comment on the split.

CitySearch To Merge With Ticketmaster Online

CitySearch, the producer of online city guides, has signed an agreement to merge with Ticketmaster Online, the Web-based service of the national ticketing company. Shareholders of CitySearch will become shareholders of the new entity, which will be called Ticketmaster Online-CitySearch. Both sites will retain their individual presences on the Web, but will share their array of services and local information content. CitySearch was planning an initial public offering before being approached by Ticketmaster Online, and now the combined company plans to go public after the merger is completed. No staffing changes are expected as a result of the merger. Charles Conn, CEO of CitySearch, will become CEO of the combined company, while Alan Citron, President of USA Networks Interactive, will become Chairman.

Wherehouse Entertainment To Buy Blockbuster Music For $115 Million

Viacom Inc. announced that it has signed a definitive agreement to sell Blockbuster Music, a retail unit of its Blockbuster Entertainment Group, to Wherehouse Entertainment Inc. for $115 million in cash. The transaction includes 378 Blockbuster Music stores across the United States. The deal is expected to close in the fourth quarter. "We are extremely pleased with this transaction, which is another step in Blockbuster's revitalization and will enhance its ability to focus on what it does best while at the same time reducing Viacom's debt," said Viacom Chairman and CEO Sumner M. Redstone. "In addition, we believe our music business will be better served as part of Wherehouse Entertainment, Inc., which is an experienced retailer dedicated to the music business."

Wyclef Denies Charges That He Pulled A Gun On Blaze Editor

Even before new hip-hop magazine Blaze hit the newsstands (scheduled for August 25), Editor Jesse Washington caused some controversy by claiming that Wyclef Jean pulled a gun on him because of the magazine's content. As Washington claims in the inaugural issue, Jean threatened him after reading the magazine's negative review of the Wyclef-produced Canibus album, Can-I-Bus. Washington wrote, "I'm sitting in a conference room at the Hit Factory studios...A nine-millimeter pistol is pointed at my chest. At the trigger end of the barrel is Wyclef, tipsy off the vodka. He's heated. He hints there will be bloodshed if they don't get a fair shake." Washington said Wyclef was upset that the review had been written about an incomplete version of the album, and Washington decided to hold the review until a finished copy is available. Wyclef denied the charges as he addressed fans on MTV. He said, "There's an editor that says Wyclef Jean pulled a gun, and personally I feel like this is so he can do publicity to sell the new magazine. Wyclef Jean pulls no gun, Wyclef Jean plays guitars, and I have love for my family, respect for the artists that I roll with and I respect the media very much."

UNLV Forms Committee To Change KUNV Programming

Rock Ave. Alliance, the organization formed to fight KUNV's switch to an alljazz format, reports that it has already received support in favor of diversifying KUNV's programming. On August 3, the Consolidated Students of the University of Nevada voted almost unanimously to accept the return and control of KUNV's management. On August 6, the Alliance met with the University of Nevada's Board Of Regents, who agreed that they would work together with the Alliance, UNLV administration and CSUN to make sure KUNV provides the services stated in KUNV's mission: "alternative, culturally diverse entertainment and informative programming." At the next Board meeting in September, a committee with representatives from each of these groups will meet to develop specifics for a new KUNV. The plan will include how to incorporate both students and community members in the station's management, plus ways to revise the station's budget. As CMJ first reported in issue 574, station management abruptly eliminated the daily "Rock Ave." programming on May 19 due to declining "listener share and funding support for alternative rock."

Weiland Sent To Rehab For 90 Days

Scott Weiland finally appeared before Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Larry

Fidler on August 12, and Weiland was sentenced to three months rehabilitation in a live-in drug treatment program after he plead guilty to a felony charge of heroin possession. Weiland was also fined $692 and put on probation for three years, during which time he will have to be randomly tested for drugs. The Stone Temple Pilots frontman and solo artist had missed two previous court appearances for the case, which is related to his arrest in September 1997. Fidler ruled that Weiland won't be allowed to work during the three-month rehabilitation period, meaning he won't be able to record music or perform concerts. Weiland is expected back in a New York courtroom November 4 to face unrelated charges stemming from a heroin bust in Manhattan on June 1.

SFX Entertainment To Acquire Cellar Door

SFX Entertainment has reached an agreement in principle to acquire concert promoter Cellar Door Cos. for more than $100 million in cash, stock and other considerations. Cellar Door is based in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and owns or operates venues from Virginia to Florida. It also operates venues and promotes events in Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio. SFX had already been in several partnerships with Cellar Door. Cellar Door Chairman and Founder Jack Boyle will join SFX and run its music group.

KOMEDA

Interview by Glen Sansone

After Komeda finished its latest U.S. tour, we called bassist Markus Holmberg at his home in northern Sweden to see how it went.

CMJ: Was it interesting seeing different cities in America?

Holmberg: I guess. Regarding people, it's very much the same. In the big cities people are used to different people, different things. As soon as we got into the small communities, there was a bit of a commotion.

Was it your orange hair?

Yeah. It's so stupid. I wasn't prepared for that. In the smaller communities in the North, they were angry because they thought I was homosexual. It's just the same as Sweden. In smaller towns, people are not so broad-minded.

What was the band's outlook when it formed?

We were quite discontent. We had to fight for our integrity and we rehearsed for years before playing live. We thought, "Before we play, we will be so good that the audience will drop their pants" — or something like that.

Do you dream of being a rock star?

You can always long for that, no matter how silly it can seem. I long for that, I want the millions. There's a limit, but hopefully if it happens I can do something worthwhile and good. I hope to reach people with our music [just] as music has reached me throughout my whole life.

What do you think of the popularity of new Swedish artists?

I guess you're talking about the Cardigans. Yeah, they're good. They even got a prize from the King, or government. I don't know what prize it was, but it was some prize for [being] the best-selling Swedish artist in the world. I would feel very stupid if I got it. We devote ourselves to music — and I guess they do as well — but I don't feel that kinship or friendship, I'm sorry to say. Though they're nice people...I like them a lot. (laughs)

Don't you think they've opened the door for other Swedish artists?

Since they started, there has been an interest in Swedish music. I think Americans are beginning to discover the world, which they haven't been interested in [for] awhile. It's a very good thing, because [Swedish music] is so varied musically.

Twisted Sister Reunites For Soundtrack Appearance

Twisted Sister material both new and old will dominate the soundtrack to Dee Snider's StrangeLand, a film written by, produced by and starring Sister frontman Dee Snider. The soundtrack, due in October from Shooting Gallery-TVT Soundtrax, includes the Long Island rockers' first new song in more than 12 years, "Heroes Are Hard To Find," plus covers of classic Sister tunes by modern metal acts such as Crisis and dayinthelife as well as previously-unreleased original tracks from Coal Chamber, Snot and Sevendust. "This soundtrack represents the new wave of heavy metal by allowing the next generation of emerging artists to express themselves. This crop of daring and adventurous musicians are breathing much needed life into the hard rock and metal genres," Snider said. The film is about a schizophrenic madman who entices victims via the Internet and makes them participate in tribal rituals.

Rapper Keith Murray Sentenced To Three Years For Assault

Rapper Keith Murray, an acclaimed solo artist and one-third of the Def Squad, was sentenced to three years in prison for second-degree assault. The assault took place in May 1995 at the Sting nightclub in New Britain, Connecticut, where Murray was scheduled to perform. As Murray waits to be heard by Connecticut's Supreme Court, the rapper's attorney is set to file a motion for sentence modification so that Murray can attend an "anger management and drug treatment" program. Murray is putting the finishing touches on his third album, It's A Beautiful Thing, which is tentatively scheduled for release October 27.

Tommy Lee Sentenced To 30 Days In Jail For Assault

Mötley Crüe drummer and amateur porn kingpin Tommy Lee has been sentenced to 30 days in jail and was fined $800 for assaulting a security guard at a concert in Phoenix, Arizona, last winter. Lee and Crüe bassist Nikki Sixx were both charged with assaulting the guard after he tried to maintain order when the band told fans to leave their seats. Sixx pleaded innocent. Under a plea bargain, Lee will be serving his 30-day Arizona sentence simultaneously with the six-month California sentence he is currently serving for attacking his estranged wife Pamela Anderson.

SINGLE ARTISTS

Performance artist, Rollerderby 'zine publisher, mother of Boyd Rice's child and all-around underground darling Lisa Carver (a.k.a. Suckdog) has released an id-fueled and frightening retrospective CD entitled Onward Suckdog Soldiers (Tray Full of Lab Mice Records). Carver is joined by pals including Smog's Bill Callahan, cartoonist Dame Darcy, Rachel Johnson, lunatic Frenchman Costes, and Coz The Shroom on vignettes that date as far back as 1988, some of which are from older, out-of-print Suckdog releases. Favorites include "Anatomically Correct," "I Don't Like Nature Stupid Flowers," "Chris's Dad's Leather Glove" and "The Arabs And The Ladies." No wonder Lisa's having trouble getting on MTV. Brace yourself for American and European tours this fall. Visit Carver at http://home.ici.net/~lisacc/.

This fall, former Dead Kennedys frontman Jello Biafra will release the fifth installment in his spoken-word series, If Evolution Is Outlawed, Only Outlaws Will Evolve. On the three-CD set for his Alternative Tentacles label, Biafra talks about Mumia Abu-Jamal, Clinton-era politics and media bias. Also look for Biafra on this fall's Spitfire spoken-word tour.

Blur guitarist Graham Coxon takes his band's newfound love of indie rock one step further with the release of his first solo album, The Sky Is Too High, on his own Transcopic label, released through Astralwerks-Caroline. The debut features 11 original songs written and performed entirely by Coxon, plus Coxon's own photos and drawings on the album artwork.

The wait is almost over for PJ Harvey fans, as her fifth album, Is this Desire?, is slated for a September release on Island Records. As a preview, Island has released a promotional CD of the album's first single, "A Perfect Day Elise." The forthcoming album is Harvey's first release since 1995's critically-acclaimed To Bring You My Love.

Combining the work ethic of New York punk and the brash melodicism of British Invasion rock, the Lurkers made their mark in the '70s with an impressive collection of singles and albums that earned them a considerable cult following. Beggars Banquet celebrates the career of this shortlived but influential band with a retrospective entitled Greatest Hit (Last Will and Testament), which blazes through 18 tracks from the group's heyday on the influential label.

Various artists

If the summer heat makes you so happy that you want to extend the sizzle into the school year, be sure to track down Skaliente, a new compilation to be released by Grita!

Records. The label has mixed up a spicy combination of Anglo and Latin ska-related artists for this end-of-summer treat, featuring unreleased tunes by Voodoo Glow Skulls, Inspecter 7, Niños Con Bombas, Mephiskapheles, Todos Tu Muertos and Rancid, who really get into the theme by singing partly in Spanish.

Following the success of last year's Full Monty soundtrack, Fox Searchlight Films and RCA Victor have teamed up again for the soundtrack to the latest Alan Arkin/Marisa Tomei film, Slums Of Beverly Hills. An eclectic mix of '70s funk, rock, country and lounge, the disc features classic tunes from Funkadelic, Perry Como, Ike & Tina Turner, Three Dog Night, Freddy Fender and Parliament.

JVC Music Europe has released the Full Tilt 2 compilation. This second disc honoring the Full Tilt nights at London's famed Electric Ballroom includes 16 dancefloor-friendly tracks from Pop Will Eat Itself (remixed by Die Krupps), Moby, Juno Reactor, Alien Sex Fiend, Foil and Dominion, just to name a few.

Ian Brennan, host and organizer of the Monday night acoustic series at Brain Wash, a South-of-Market café/laundromat in San Francisco, has released a second compilation of the series' performance highlights. Unscrubbed: Live From The Laundromat II, on Toy Gun Murder Records, features gritty acoustic numbers from such Bay Area scenesters as Barbara Manning, Actionslacks, Tarnation, Liar and Rube Waddell with Henry Kaiser.

The Medicine Label, in conjunction with Tangerine, has released the soundtrack to the Sony Pictures Classics film Whatever. The soundtrack boasts punk, proto-punk and new wave faves by the Ramones, David Bowie, Blondie, The Jam, Siouxsie And The Banshees, the Cramps, Patti Smith and the Stooges, with tracks from Rush and Aimee Mann thrown in for variety's sake. Director Susan Skoog's feature-length debut, about coming of age in the '80s, is in theaters now.

After releasing CDs by Sly & Robbie, Baaba Maal and Ernest Ranglin, Palm Pictures is finally living up to its name by releasing the film Six-String Samurai and the accompanying soundtrack. A sort of rock 'n' roll Mad Max, the fairy tale concerns Buddy, a mysterious swordsman and guitarist who must fight his way to Lost Vegas to become the next king of rock. Brian Tyler wrote the film score, and the soundtrack boasts more than a dozen songs by Siberian surf rockers the Red Elvises.

Dick Dale, move over. Del-Fi Records has kicked off a three-disc series of rare and unreleased surf music with Del-Fi Beach Party!. The 15-track compilation includes rare tracks from the Beach Boys' Bruce Johnston, Ricky Dean, Bread's David Gates, and the Surfettes with Love's Arthur Lee on guitar. The next installments, Del-Fi Pool Party and Del-Fi Jungle Jive, are due October 6.

Interesting artist pairings abound on Flyte Tyme/ 20th Century Fox's soundtrack to How Stella Got Her Groove Back, director Terry McMillan's follow-up to Waiting To Exhale. Produced by Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis, the 14-song collection features Stevie Wonder with Wyclef Jean, Shaggy with Janet Jackson, Big Punisher with dancehall great Beenie Man, and the long-awaited return of Soul II Soul, along with new tracks by Me'Shell Ndegéocello, K-Ci & JoJo and Mary J. Blige.

Sprout, Dump, Franklin Bruno, Robert Pollard, Karl Hendricks, Simon Joyner, Jerry Wick and Ron House.

IIIIII LIVEWIRE

SLEAZEFEST '98 August 7-9 Local 506, Chapel Hill, North Carolina

Review by Kelso Jacks / Photos By Josh Lewis

For the fifth year, rednecks and rock 'n' roll hipsters trekked to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, for Sleazefest, the hottest, dirtiest music event of the summer. The brainchild of Southern Culture On The Skids, the three-day music festival hosts an impressive line-up of garage, surf, rockabilly and plain ol' Southern rock bands. As if the down and dirty sounds weren't enough to get the crowd rowdy, the Pabst Blue Ribbon beer was flowing at just

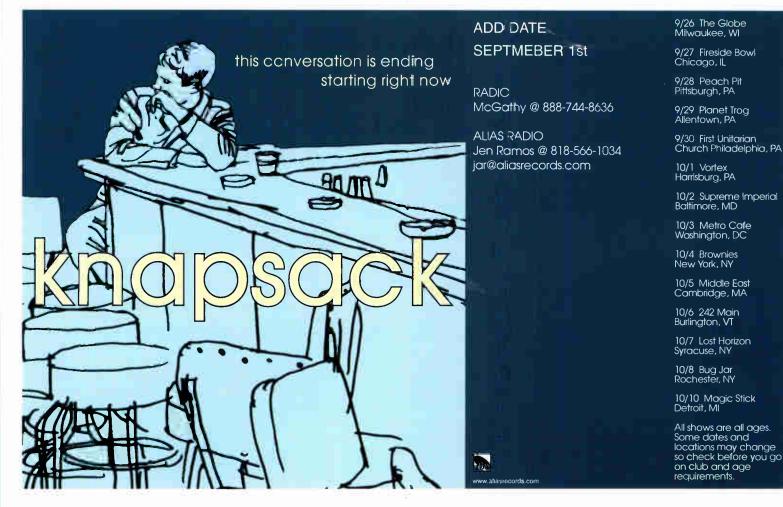

Tuckadelic

$1.50 a can (also providing cool relief to Local 506's soaring humidity and temperatures). There was plenty of dancing, including a community go-go cage where anyone who was brave (or drunk) enough could writhe for the audience's amusement. Two stages provided a constant flow of live music that kicked off at 4 p.m. and kept going full-throttle until the bar closed at 2 a.m. The second stage was located in the adjacent North Carolina Original Sports Bar, which also served as a souvenir stand, B-movie theater, lounge and restaurant, serving traditional North Carolina barbecue. Southern Culture On The Skids' fried chicken-flinging and watermelon-smashing set was the ultimate tribute to summer, trash, and all things sleazy, and the sleaziness continued with 28 other bands, including the Woggles, Flat Duo Jets, Fleshtones (whose singer/keyboardist Peter Zaremba walked with the official "King Of Sleaze" crown), Neckbones, Gotohells, Mondo Topless, Swingin' Neckbreakers, Strangemen, Jack Black, Hate Bombs, Friggs and Truckadelic.

Ajax Records Continues As Label, Will Reopen Retail Store

Independent mail-order company and distribution service Ajax Records has decided to continue releasing records as a label. Tim Adams, founder and owner of the Chicagobased business, had said last year that the forthcoming Hey Dan K compilation and Seam's "Sukiyaki" 7" would be Ajax's final releases. But in July, Adams had a change of heart and said that those titles, slated for fall release, would be followed by two CDs from the Mountain Goats and other future projects. Also, Ajax has re-launched its retail store. "While the past two years of non-retail life have been relatively enjoyable and hassle-free, I simply have felt too burnt out doing the business out of my apartment,' Adams wrote on the label's Web site (www.ajaxrecords.com). The new store will be located in Chicago's Ukrainian Village neighborhood, four blocks from Ajax's original retail location. The move has not affected mail-order operations, and Adams says he is stocking a larger variety of music to accommodate consumers. The store's new address is 1017 N. Western Ave., Chicago, IL 60622-3566. Hours are 1-8 p.m. Tuesdays, 1-9 p.m. Fridays, noon-9 p.m. Saturdays and 1-6 p.m. Sundays. Adams may consider extending store hours next year. Ajax's phone number will remain 773.395.4108 and its fax number will remain 773.395. 4110. Orders and correspondence should still be sent to P.O. Box 805293, Chicago, IL 60680-4114.

album that rock just as hard as anything that Hole has ever done," Kiewel explains. "But at the same time they've grown up a bit and are willing to expose a little bit more of their underbelly and they are not so much the reactionary youth they were at one time. Now they're displaying a full range of musical and emotional sensibilities. They've moved beyond pure anger and have a lot more to say other than we're young and pissed." And in the midst of the public debate between Love and Corgan over bragging rights to the album, Kiewel says that people seem to be forgetting about guitarist Eric Erlandson's presence on Celebrity Skin. "It's funny how much emphasis is being placed on this controversy over Courtney versus Billy and nobody seems to mention the contributions that Eric makes on a regular basis to the band as a songwriter," Kiewel suggests. "I think Courtney obviously plays a huge role in songwriting, but nobody ever mentions Eric and it's really a tragedy because he's really an important part of the band." However, Kiewel doesn't deny that Corgan plays a pivotal role on the record, and that his influence is obvious on the four tracks he assisted in arranging. "Eric and Courtney are punk songwriters," he admits. "But they wanted to be bigger than that [on this record], and they never had classical songwriting training, whereas Billy is classically trained. And on those four songs you can tell. Everybody making these suppositions without having heard the songs is really amusing, but once you hear the album, it all becomes clear." Celebrity Skin, which hits stores and goes for radio adds September 8, was recorded in Los Angeles, New York and London, and was produced by Michael Beinhorn (Ozzy Osbourne, Soundgarden, Aerosmith). Celebrity Skin's title cut is the album's first single, which is already in rotation at several major commercial stations.

for the quarter was $324 million, or 92 cents per share, compared with $148 million, or 40 cents per share, last year. Seagram said the results were helped by steady progress and a rise in EBITDA (earnings before interest, taxation, depreciation and amoritization) in its Universal Studios division, which includes Universal Music and Video Distribution.

[FE's DreamWorks debut, 1997's Wolf Songs For Lambs. Jonathan Fire*Eater played its final performance in New York's Central Park on July 28 as part of the Tsunami Music Festival. The band had been scheduled to play an August 29 show at England's legendary Reading Festival, but they have canceled that gig. JFE's members met and started playing together while growing up in Washington, DC, and released their three independent albums and Wolf Songs... after they moved to New York City in 1995. The band's final release is expected to be an upcoming U.K. single, "In The Heads," which England's Deceptive Records will press in limited quantities.

made with Capricorn band Widespread Panic under the name Brute. He also introduced Chesnutt to director Billy Bob Thornton, who cast the songwriter in a minor role in his successful film Sling Blade. The Salesman And Bernadette was coproduced by Lambchop's Kurt Wagner and recorded while Chesnutt was still signed to Capitol. Capricorn publicists said tour plans are in the works.

Bob Mould's threat that The Last Dog And Pony Show (GM-Rykodisc) will be his last electric rock record is being taken seriously by college radio. So seriously, in fact, that we hope that Mould will reconsider in another couple of years.

... Pony Show is a record as strong as we've come to expect from the former Hüsker Dü frontman, and its radio accessibility is demonstrated in a huge jump from 84 to 15 on the Radio 200, as well as the new dedication of Core Radio (#22 debut) and Triple A (#40 debut). Mould's fall tour (also purported to be his last string of electric shows) features the college radio legend backed by a full band, with indie favorites Varnaline opening up for him.

DUB NARCOTIC SOUND SYSTEM

Radio 200: 157-24 Core Radio: #19 debut

For those not in the know, Dub Narcotic Sound System is the funky rhythmoriented band of K Records owner Calvin Johnson that's named after his recording studio (see the recent compilation Selector Dub Narcotic (K), featuring tracks recorded there). Out Of Your Mind (K) is the outfit's fourth effort, and it juxtaposes sonic collage with stabs at funk and Johnson's instantly-recognizable monotone resulting in new heights of carefree musical silliness. The band's fans respond by rocketing the album up the Radio 200 (157-24) and giving it the #1 debut on Core Radio with the #19 position. Miranda July, whose recent album saw some success at college radio, guests on the album's title track, and the Sound System plans to hit the road this September.

SNOWPONY

Radio 200: 159-29 Core Radio: #31 debut Adds: #17 with 7 reports

Snowpony's resume alone is enough to garner it attention from college radio programmers, with its members spending time previously in such favorites as Stereolab, My Bloody Valentine, Moonshake, Quickspace and Rollerskate Skinny. The pleasant surprise is how masterfully the band mixes its past sounds into a hypnotic, addictive new style on The Slow Motion World Of Snowpony (Radioactive). Snowpony is hardly just a side-project, and with a fall tour starting now and a video in the works, we will be hearing much more from this fantastic band. The album follows last week's nabbing of the most Adds with huge strides on the Radio 200 (159-29), as well as one of the strongest Core Radio debuts of the week (#31).

We'll cut through the scary last names to explain this interesting collaboration. Vanio and Vaisanen are the two halves of Pan Sonic (formerly Panasonic), and this album is the result of their recent work with former Suicide vocalist Alan Vega. See this week's review of the album on page 26 for more information, but you can begin to imagine the steely, industrial/electronic experimentation that makes up this Blast First-Mute release (also referred to as simply "VVV"). It makes a strong debut at #28 on the Core Radio chart and jumps from #179 to #49 on the Radio 200 --numbers that are even more impressive when you consider the inaccessibility of the music for radio play.

WEB SITE OF THE WEEK

Pal Mailorder www.pal-mailorder.com 8815 Ellington Dr, Indianapolis, IN 46234 Contact: Paul Dworak Phone: 317.271.4034 Email: info@pal-mailorder.com

Pal Mailorder (its slogan is "Micro Independents, Major Convenience") fills a niche in cyberspace by providing record buyers across the Internet with access to releases from small, independent labels such as Peek-A-Boo, Double Agent and Kindercore Records. Pal Mailorder is starting to build a following among independent music purists, due in part to its presence on the Indiepop electronic mailing list. The Web site, which offers a substantial catalog of CDs, cassettes and vinyl, launched in May and purchased promotional ads in Magnet and many small 'zines. Pal Mailorder recently sold out of the Supergenius project entitled Star Wars Breakbeats after the album was featured on National Public Radio, which gave its affiliates Pal's toll-free number so they could provide callers with the means to purchase the album. Along with biweekly label and albums features, Pal Mailorder features one full-length RealAudio track and album artwork for every album in its catalog. With roughly 20 new products added each week, Pal Mailorder will continue to expand and plans to include more and more indie labels as it grows.

CHART ACTIVITY

Jazz-funk combo Medeski Martin And Wood makes its Verve debut in fine fashion, garnering the #1 spot its first week on the D.I.R.T. chart. The long-anticipated Combustication proves jazz can sell and sell well, at Criminal, House Of Records, New World, Park Avenue, Rhino (Los Angeles), Schoolkids, Twist & Shout, Waterloo and Wuxtry, where it's in the top five. The band's relentless touring schedule and high-profile guest spots on releases by Chocolate Genius and John Scofield also help to bolster the group's visibility. Elsewhere, the distinct roots sound of Emmylou Harris maintains its fanbase with her new live album on Eminent, Spyboy. The first release for the label debuts at #5, and Ms. Harris can thank the customers at Aron's, Easy Street, In Your Ear, Main Street (#6), Record Exchange, Schoolkids, Twist & Shout (#2) and Waterloo

EMMYLOU HARRIS

(#4) for their support. At the other end of the musical spectrum are SoCal bad boys the Kottonmouth Kings, whose new album for Suburban Noize-Capitol comes in at #9. The group received most of its support from its home turf, Southern California, as the Local Independent Network of CD Stores (LINCS) has the album as its #5 best seller. The WORK group begins its second push for Neil Finn, with numerous magazine ads and steady word-of-mouth causing Try Whistling This to re-enter at an impressive #10. Ozomatli is no doubt benefiting from the new fans and critical acclaim it's picking up on the Warped Tour as the salsa-punk combo re-enters at #14. Next week, Elliott Smith will try and boot MM&W from the top spot, as the CD version of his Dreamworks debut, XO, finally hits the streets.

For over 14 years, Now & Then has been providing an alternative to mainstream chain outlets in eastern New Jersey. Begun by Gary Fonseca as a record trading outpost, the store's specialty quickly turned to metal and then rare vinyl. Recently, the store was forced to move to a new location a few blocks away because it had run out of room for its collection of over 70,000 albums. For years the store would advertise in the East Coast Rocker or the Aquarian, but now it just coasts on its reputation. "We still carry vinyl," says Tom Fleck, the store's buyer and manager. "We carry 45s - 9,000 titles of 45s, actually --and the Billboard 12" charts." Now & Then's new location next to a Toys R Us has brought them some new customers as well. "We get a lot of kids, especially now," Fleck explains. "We have the younger kids. The whole Hanson/Spice Girls crowd." Now & Then also stocks titles that cater to an older audience and supports the New Jersey music scene, selling ample amounts of local acts Death Before Disco, Foil, Spring and Sam Hill. Fleck also stresses the diversity of Now & Then customers. "You can sell Metallica to one person, and the next person comes in and buys Andrea Bocelli.'

LEWIS PARKER

Masquerades & Silhouettes (Melankolic-Astralwerks)

Lewis Parker represents a new breed of hip-hop musician: his emphatically boasted lyrics reach a level of emotion, sensitivity and candor rarely achieved in urban music, and he lays them over a warm backdrop of orchestral textures, t u r n t a b l e scratches and sultry beats. Parker's debut, Masquerades & Silhouettes, inhabits the same territory as works by

Massive Attack and DJ Shadow, but there's nothing experimental or abstract about the album's urban melodies. Parker is a true U.K. b-boy at heart, and his gruff vocals ride smoothly over the music's stoney vibes. Masquerades & Silhouettes is a mentally elevating treat from a promising new talent. — M. Tye Comer

Endless (Blast First-Mute)

What happens when Finnish aggro-ambient troublemaker Pan Sonic (formerly known as Panasonic, before legal action took place) teams up with histrionic ex-Suicide vocalist/synth-punk legend Alan Vega? Well, for starters, you get a rather thought-provoking headache. Vega's echoey paranoia beautifully fills out MikaVainio and Ilpo Väisänen's naked, ultra-minimalist soundscapes, which crackle more like a nondance update of late-'70s E ur o p e a n in d ustrial noise rather than late-'90s electronica chill-out. The o p e n i n g "Medal" pits an incessant static-pong against waves of hiss and an ear-piercing, high-frequency beep, over which Vega's delay-soaked voice shudders and gags. The remaining entries drone just as insistently, some starker and scarier, others a gray cauldron filled with pulsating synapses. Vega's dramatic incantations are made relevant once more thanks to this marvelous meeting of crude sonic innovators, past and present. — Jordan N. Mamone

HERSHEL SAVAGE & THE AMERICAN FLAG Hershel Savage & The American Flag (Rockathon)

This enigmatic record (there's no Hershel Savage in the band, and there are scarcely any printed credits) is the second non-Guided By Voices release on Rockathon Records, the label GBV frontman Robert Pollard conceived years ago as a home for his thenunknown band. Hershel Savage earns the Rockathon imprint, it seems, largely because of how much it recalls the work of GBV's b as e m e n t popsmiths, especially their devotion to the British Invasion and the art of creating a killer on that we say hook. It's without reservation that we say that Hershel Savage & The American Flag contains moments every bit as thrilling and indelible as GBV's finest; this band not only masters the art of warm, static-flecked, intimate production values and fake British accents, but it also musters the wherewithal to flesh out its songs — if you dislike the fragmentation of GBV, then Hershel Savage is for you. The album's 18 tracks do contain a handful of clunkers, but its brilliant moments shine bright enough to make it well worth hunting down. — Cheryl Botchick

For Fans Of: Nuggets, Guided By Voices, Hollies, Zombies Recommended Tracks: "Tour 65," "We've Finally Found Me," "Come Along If You Catch Me," "Dr. Rock," "Goodnight My Janitor," "The 3 On 1 Experiment (It's All About You"

KAHIMI KARIE Kahimi Karie (Minty Fresh)

If the songs of Kahimi Karie don't make you either giggle, wiggle or blush, there may be something wrong with you. On her U.S. debut, the breathy Japanese butterfly is aided by lusty master of kitsch, Momus, and savvy producer/sampler, Cornelius. The Euro-based, bell-bottomed grooves that dominate the record are somehow square enough to sound quaint, yet hip enough to sound decadent and fun. Karie's extra-girly voice is like marshmallow fluff, a sticky-sweet thing that is an acquired taste. At times, her softly sung broken English (and French) makes it hard to hear what she's saying. Fortunately, lyrics ("I can move, I can bend, I can do anything/Elastic girl friend") are included. — Steve Ciabattoni

JESSAMINE Don't Stay Too Long (Kranky)

Jessamine doesn't rely on fast rhythms or harsh dynamics to create excitement, but instead builds its musical drama through smaller, quieter details, such as a psychedelic guitar solo or the subtle interplay of hushed vocals. The seven melodic soundscapes the band crafts on its sophomore album are filled with hypnotic patterns of droney, repetitive guitars and synthesizers, the rigorous percussion of Michael Faeth and the heavenly vocals of bassist Dawn Smithson. While tracks such as "Hand Held" and "It Was Already Thursday" are relaxed and even sleepy, the instrumental "Burgundy" is heavier and Slint-like. Jessamine's strength lies in such contradictions: Smithson and guitarist Rex Ritter's vocals are airy enough to trick you into thinking these

EDNASWAP Wonderland Park (Island)

Singer Anne Preven and guitarist Scott Cutler of Ednaswap made a nice dollar when Natalie Imbruglia recorded "Torn," a song the band had written and recorded before Imbruglia's version became a hit. The band's third release, Wonderland Park, shows that its ability to write smart radio hits has not diminished. The full production of Wonderland Park (handled by Cutler) allows the songs to sound big and warm, but never as glossy as you might expect. There's enough nastiness in Preven's voice and enough sting beneath the sweet pop hooks of Cutler and Rusty Anderson's playing to keep these songs from sounding like disposable pop. If there are other singers looking to Ednaswap for an unknown pop gem to cover, they ought to hurry. Wonderland Park is the album that should move the band from out of the shadows. — Steve Ciabattoni

Villa Elaine (Geffen)

Alabama's Remy Zero first emerged over the airwaves wielding a murky barrage of feedback, the kind embraced by arty units such as Sonic Youth and shoegazing British bands like My Bloody Valentine. But the band has toned down the fuzz in favor of shimmering melodies on its sophomore release, Villa Elaine. While its previous, self-titled effort was memorable for the shards of noise blanketing its power-pop attack, Villa Elaine (named for the California street where the band lived during the album's recording) features more mature, refined song structures and memorable, punctuating choruses. The five-piece still manages to contort its instruments to create surreal sonic undercurrents, but it's the straightforward melod-"Prophecy" and ic crunch of standouts such as "Prophecy" and the quiet, acoustic "Life In Rain" that will linger long after the music stops. — M. Tye Comer

SATURNINE Mid The Green Fields (Victoria Land)

The third full-length from New York dronepop quartet Saturnine, Mid The Green Fields, like the band's previous outings, makes its mark through musical restraint, subtlety and attention to the smallest details. Lead vocalist/guitarist Matt Galloway's drowsy, restless voice colors the band's music with hazy hues, while his picturesque lyrics tell emotion-filled tales that sound like excerpts from a dream.

Each song is meticulously accented with tasteful musical details such as flugelhorn ("Buried Ships"), cello and trumpet ("There's A Long Long Trail"), piano ar work of Jenand the complementary guitar work of Jennifer Baron, yet the band's hypnotizing, jangly pop structures effortlessly glide along without much diversion. Despite its quiet nature, Mid The Green Fields achieves a musical and lyrical intensity rarely found among bands with likeminded, stark design. — Glen Sansone

PLASTISCENE

Seeing Stars (Mojo-Universal)

For a band with only a two-year history, Plastiscene, which has been described as "too American to be British and too British to be American," has captured a sound that is remarkably focused. Seeing Stars is crammed with both powerful modern rock radio-ready ock radio-ready pop songs and arty, psychedelic tunes reminiscent of the Beatles' later albums. The band's six members use their guitars, drums and k e yb o ard s creatively to construct updated psychedelic pop, while vocalist Roger Gisborne (the only member actually from England) takes cues from Ziggy Stardust-era David Bowie. Vibrant, energetic and sonically precise, Seeing Stars demands to be played at top volume in order to do justice to the dramatic detailing of its production and melodies. — Kelso Jacks

:piss frond: (Invisible)

This new double-CD release from Mark Spybey's Dead Voices On Air project relies as much on spontaneity as it does on carefullycrafted song structures. Here, Spybey combines his first-take recording methods with extensive studio re-configuration, allowing traditional song structures and rhythms to creep into the final mix for the first time. The result is a collection of 16 tracks that glide along with an organic, free-form feel, occasionally picking up coherent melodies and vocals to fill the music's droney void. On disc one, Spybey marries an orchestra of live instruments, including guitars, cellos and sitars, to synthetic textures to complete the record's dense, claustrophobic layers of sound. However, disc two lets the droney qualities run wild, stripping away all tradition-

Photon (EP) (Turnbuckle)

The musical structures of Bailter Space's songs almost seem more akin to violent weather patterns than traditional pop songs. John Halvorsen's bass roars like thunder, Alister Parker's guitar slashes through the din like a bolt of lightning and Brent McLaughlin's rhythms pitterpound like hail hitting the roof of a car. It's a sound that hasn't changed that much over the New Zealand band's 10-year history, however, Photon does reveal some new elements being added to the formula. Best known for building hooks through lengthy, repetitive motifs, the band manages to economize its style enough to fit eight tracks on this 18minute EP. As a result, Photon comes off like an adrenalized pastiche of the band's subtly varied sound, showcasing its stylistic shifts from track to track. — Tad Hendrickson

STRANGULATED BEATOFFS Strangulated Beatoffs (Skin Graft)

Known for such scum rock staples as "Practicing To Be A Doctor" and "Shake Your Dick," the Strangulated Beatoffs are clearly to be taken with a grain of salt. After all, guitarist Stan Seitrich co-founded the ridiculously amazing St. Louis überpunk quartet Drunks With Guns. While his early Beatoffs penchant for post-Drunks brawn has dissipated, his sick sense of humor most certainly has not. For this LP, Seitrich and drummer Fritz Noble take aim at the electronic/sampling set with songs consisting of little more than cheesy, a n n o y i n g loops. "Cocky Asshole" rides an otherworldly scuzz wave and "Beatoffs Get Niggery" (!) growls like Satan gettin' jiggy with a funky oneman bar mitz-

SWEARING AT MOTORISTS

The Fear Of Low Flying Clouds (Spare Me) Dayton, Ohio's Swearing At Motorists is yet another angst-ridden, bedroom rock band, but, fortunately, its bedroom exudes a genuinely homey charm, rather than a contrived sense of intimacy. Guitarist Dave Doughman's passion and earnestness — not to mention his casual, yet melodically appealing vocals - elevate him to a cut above legions of similarly minded, post-GBV indie boys from Middle America. Paired with drummer Don Thrasher, Doughman throws a few fully-formed, solid tunes in amidst Low Flying Clouds' dog-eared four-track experiments and insular vocal-and-guitar performances. The overall effect is a tad unsettling, a tad romantic, but generally pleasant. Should Doughman and Thrasher take that next logical step and choose to record in a fleshed-out setting capable of further elucidating their natural songwriting talents, they might churn out something consistently remarkable. - Jordan N. ACTIONSLACKS

One Word (Arena Rock)

The Actionslacks play fresh pop music that is both infectious and intelligent. One Word, the Berkeley, California, trio's second full-length, starts off with big, catchy guitar hooks supported by a taut rhythm section. However, as One Word reels off its songs, things change. Beginning with "The Look," subdued musical moments play counterpoint to band's feisty poppiness, while the arrangements become more dynamic and complicated as cello, violin, piano and acoustic guitar enter the picture. Tim Scanlin's biting lyrical cynicism lends the songs a dark subtext that works

FLASHBACK HERBIE HANCOCK

Thrust (Columbia Legacy-CRG) Sextant (Columbia Legacy-CRG)

When it came to cross-pollinating of scholarly, ment of the early '70s, Hancock incorporated blaxploitation/porn flick nastiness and wahwah drenched harmonics into his futuristic compositions, while fellow trailblazers like John McLaughlin tested the rudiments of their sonic fellowships in the acid-spiked waters of psychedelic and progressive rock. Columbia Legacy kicks off its Classic Fusion! reissue series with two of Hancock's earliest works, 1973's Sextant and 1974's Thrust, both of which are being made available for the first time on CD. As the follow up to 1973's beat-mining classic Headhunters, Thrust continued to maintain the rump-shaking, Bay Area-style grooves that made its predecessor such a landmark in both jazz and funk, while incorporating smooth R&B textures into its formula. Hancock's 1972 debut, Sextant, on the other hand, is a grand experiment with moods and tones that set it apart from anything that was musically conceived at the time. Taking what Miles Davis did on Bitches Brew and On The Corner about 20 years into the future. Hancock's cerebral threetrack symphony of Moog burps and phasedout synthesizers laid down the foundation for the electronic age when Kraftwerk was still a guitar-based rock band. Enjoy a helping of the original cosmic slop. — Ron Hart

FIRST PERSON VARIOUS ARTISTS Stay Awake (A&M)

I can't get around reflecting on this 1988 brainchild of producer Hal Willner without revealing at least one skeleton in my closet: my lifelong infatuation with the music from Walt Disney films. Up until the time I discovered Stay Awake, speaking about my Disney film music fetish wasn't something I could use to impress my friends. However, I do recall feeling somewhat justified for my obsession at two separate times: after first hearing John Coltrane blow the Sherman brothers classic "Chim Chim Cheree" on record and the first time I listened to Stay Awake. This record was much different than listening to Satchmo croon "Zip-A-Dee Doo-Dah," as it enlisted an exhaustive list of artists and producers - all of whom I respected and a few I even thought were downright cool - to reinterpret great Disney film tunes. The outcome was like nothing I could've imagined, and some cuts, like Tom Waits's version of "Heigh Ho," were twisted way beyond their original sugary, inoffensive form to something strange and much darker. But the macabre was always very much a part of Disney's scope. Pinocchio's "Hi Diddle Dee Dee (An Actor's Life For Me)" features narration by beatnik wordsmith Ken Nordine, while a creepy swatch of sounds haunt the simple melody played by guitarist Bill Frisell and keyboardist Wayne Horvitz. Sun Ra And His Arkestra ("Pink Flephants On Parade"), a name 1 never expected to hear chanting lyrics from Dumbo, add a twisted sort of sophistication to the set, while the then 21-year-old Sinéad O'Connor sings "Someday My Prince Will Come" like she's not totally convinced. A hardened Disney purist like myself found these renditions to be almost blasphemous at first, but I quickly came around to appreciate their ability to still evoke the same feelings as the originals. Nordine, Frisell and Horvitz' "Desolation Theme" (also from Pinocchio) creates a chilling sense of being spoken to by a voice from beyond, and Garth Hudson's "Feed The Birds" is every bit as scenic and melancholy as when Julie Andrews sang it in 1964's Mary Poppins. Other parings of song and artist were absolutely perfect: Los Lobos performs "I Wan'na Be Like You," Syd Straw croons "Blue Shadows On The Trail" and, my favorite, the Replacements' version of "Cruella De Ville," makes me wish they were around to record it in 1961 for the original 101 Dalmatians. — Glen Sansone

Libertine's vocalist Belvy K. earned his street cred by pulling stints in UK Subs, 7 Seconds and D Generation. Now as leader of this Syracuse, New York, outfit, Belvy and his comrades are poised to drive their spirit of '77-style punk into the heads and hearts of safety-pinned guttersnipes across the country. Rise Above, the quintet's debut EP, recaptures the energy and rhythms of punk rock's glory days without sounding overly, or more importantly, foolishly, reverential. The band delivers some topnotch songs of dissatisfaction and alienation here, and damn it all if they don't inspire the listener to pogo around like a bunny in electroshock therapy. — Kelso Jacks helped shape the course of blues and jazz. Blue Lu Barker recorded the original "Don't

You Feel My Legs," which was made popular in the '70s by Maria Muldaur. At the time of this live recording, she was 75 and her h u s b a n d

Danny was a spry 80. Hearing the two of them together on stage, trotting out the old chestnuts and classic jazz standards is quite a marvel. Danny Barker was one of the original creators of jazz. Born in New Orleans, his uncle was the great bandleader Paul Barbarin. In the late '20s, Barker moved to New York City, where he played guitar in Cab Calloway's orchestra, while also playing and recording with Jelly Roll Morton, Louis Armstrong, Bunk Johnson and Charlie Parker. Blue Lu Barker first recorded as a singer for the Vocalion label in 1938. This CD is only the audio portion of their performance, but you can clearly hear that this Jazz Festival set is all twinkling eyes, winking, nudges and joyous smiles. And when Blue Lu rolls her eyes and trots out a risque line or a double entendre, the crowd goes nuts! It's the real roots of jazz as played with style and grace by the original innovators. They just don't make 'em like this anymore. — James Lien

As if electronic dance music weren't segregated into enough confusing sub-genres already, the new Day Trip To Brisco compilation (licensed from Fused And Bruised by the ambitious Derailed camp)adds another sub-scene to the fold: Brisco. The music gathered here marries the campiest aspects of disco (swirling orchestrations, twangy guitars, soulful bass lines, etc.) with the driving, hard-edged rhythms of hard house and big beat, creating a groove that's fun and frivolous, yet also devious and downright funky. Day Trip To Brisco presents exclusive tracks from a slew of artists who composed their cuts with the ideals of the compilation in mind. DON CARTAGENA PEATURING PUFF DADDY

FAT JOE Don Cartagena (Mystic/Big Beat-Atlantic)

The South Bronx Don has delivered the Mafioso epic fans have been waiting for. With the precision of a well orchestrated hit, Joey Crack has worked up his hardcore realism into a crafted science that never comes too hard, but also never slips into watered-down gangsta posing. Like the late B.I.G., Joe's ability to pair big playa humor with hardearned mic experience adds to his versatile style. He can shine with Terror Squad partners Big Pun, Cuban Link and Triple Seis and still rock polished, Bad Boy-styled jams with Charli Baltimore, Puff Daddy and Layzie and Krayzie Bone without spreading himself too thin. With beats by The Trackmasters, Ski, Beatnuts, Marly Marl and DJ Premier, Fat Joe doesn't leave out a single detail.

Snoop Doggy Dogg Da Game Is To Be Sold, Not To Be Told (No Limit-Priority)

On his first release since leaving Death Row, the smooth rolling Doggster has reinvented himself with a New Orleans strut. Master P and the gang add a new dimension to Snoop's quick, Long Beach-style with their soldier growls, while Beats By The Pound's funky playa bounce fits him as easily as Dre's G Funk once did.

For Fans Of: No Limit, Warren G, Daz & Kurupt Recommended Tracks: " Snoop World," " Doggz Gonna Get Ya," "Whatcha Gonna Do?" Contact: Nick Thomas Phone: 504.927.1818 Fax: 504.927.1814 Release Date: August 4; at radio now

BIZZY BONE "Thugs Cry" (12") (Ruthless-Relativity)

Experimenting with his signature flow developed on previous Bone Thugs-N-Harmony albums, the lyrically gifted Bizzy makes his solo debut on this tight single. Twisting Prince & The Revolution's "When Doves Cry" into a dream, his hyper R&B rant explodes over a head-nodding orchestration and a thick, thumping bassline.

JUNIOR BROWN Long Walk Back (Curb)

On Long Walk Back, Junior Brown's edgy baritone drawl and knowing Texas grin brings out the black humor in honky-tonk like nothing else. Brown's guitar playing throws all preconceptions about electric guitar in country music out the window. Manning an instrument he invented called the "guitsteel," Brown moves effortlessly between lightningfast picking and dead-on steel slide. His songwriting style falls in roughly with George Jones and Loretta Lynn, but his guitar work runs from Merle Haggard to Jimi Hendrix (especially when joined by Jimi Hendrix Experience drummer Mitch Mitchell on two cuts), with Hawaiian slack-key, blues, and other pop styles thrown in to spice things up.

Recommended Tracks: "The Better Half," "Long Walk Back To San Antone," "Peelin' Taters," "Rock-A-Hula" Contact: Chris Roldan Phone: 512.453.6122 Email: bigdaddy@texas.net Fax: 512.453.6502 Release Date: Sept. 1; at radio now Marketing Data: Watch for appearances on Late Night With Conan O'Brien and the House Of Blues Radio Hour

JOAN JONES Starlite Criminal (Hollywood)

Joan Jones founded the California-based band SUN60, which released three albums between 1987 and 1996. Shortly after the band's breakup, Jones recorded her debut solo album, Starlite Criminal, which is marked by her warm, engaging vocals, some piano and distinctly mature songwriting. Most of Jones is about striving for things that beyond her reach, but she's also not beyond having a little fun on "Party," a song about summer barbecues.

Recommended Tracks: "Come B45," "Everyday Down," "Party" Contact: Will Knapp Phone: 800.603.3043 Email: will_knapp@studio.disney.com Fax: 818.567.4837 Release Date: Sept. 1; at radio now Marketing Data: Currently touring as part of Lilith Fair; opening for Fastball, Jeremy Tovak and Superdrag

WINE FIELD Wine Field (Watchtower)

Wine Field is comprised of singers/songwriters Shawn Tooley and Jimmy Landry. When the two pick up their acoustic guitars and perform with their band they sound like Kansas masquerading as a folk act, or Jars Of Clay with less drama.

HASSAN HAKMOUN Life Around The World (Alula)

Moroccan-born musician Hassan Hakmoun has mesmerized audiences since he moved to New York City in the mid-'80s; before that, he honed his craft performing in Djemma el Fna, the town square in Marrakech. Hakmoun weaves trance-inducing patterns on his sintir, the three-stringed lute whose bass-like tone is the defining characteristic of this CD. Known for his explosive performances and wild, near-levitational dancing, Hakmoun is the premier exponent of Moroccan gnawa music in the world today, proven by this superb CD. The first track, "Live," features the late Don Cherry on melodica and vocals, while "Amontay" combines traditional Moroccan sounds with a rock drum kit and '60s-sounding psychedelic guitar.

Costa Rica: Calypso (Allegro) Costa Rica has a thriving (if admittedly unexpected) little calypso scene in its coastal areas. After all, what's a beach without a little calypso? These 16 tracks showcase living artists who preserve the lilting, gentle acoustic calypso form, which is an ancestor to reggae and contains echoes of distant Africa in its bouncing rhythms and perky acoustic tones as well.

BENY MORÉ La Colleccion Cubana (Music Club)

Beny Moré earned his reputation as "the wild man of rhythm" by being one of Cuba's most important composers, bandleaders, arrangers and singers. He was the godfather of Cuban rhythm and the father of modern salsa. These vintage recordings are an incredible treat for Cuban music fans. Even 35 years after his death, his influence is profound and inevitable – you simply can't have a discussion about Cuban music without dealing with Beny Moré.

World Radio History

DAVE DOUGLAS Magic Triangle (Arabesque)

Trumpeter Dave Douglas is able to work in a variety of settings, playing everything from straight-ahead to downtown wailing. Magic Triangle, Douglas's followup to 1997's critically acclaimed Stargazer, is full of bristling, percolating playing that crackles with electricity and spark. "Everyman" is crisp, classic bop head, while the appropriately-titled "Padded Cell" scurries into "out" territory with surprising ease and intensity. The energy level is exceptionally high throughout, and in an era where jazz innovation and vitality is in danger of being replaced by jazz stagnation and routine, this is a great release from an important player.

Recommended Cuts: "Everyman," "Padded Cell," "Odalisque," "The Ghost." "Coaster" Contact: Philip Cassese Phone: 800.966.1416 Fax: 212.730.8316 Email: arabesgrec@aol.com Release Date: September 15

> HANK CRAWFORD After Dark (Milestone)

Alto saxophonist Hank Crawford has been cranking out records for Milestone since 1982, but his first break came when he played with Ray Charles back in the '50s. After Dark has the vibe of an old Prestige or Milestone blowing date, right down to side appearances by old-school players like drummer Bernard Purdie and guitarist Melvin Sparks. You can hear the church in Crawford's playing, even when he's belting out a rollicking gutbucket tune like "My Babe," "St. Louis Blues" or "Tain't Nobody's Bizness If I Do." It ain't new, it ain't the reinvention of the wheel, but if it ain't broke, why mess with a good thing, right?

The Adventures Of Bread & Butter Vol. 1 (Jazzateria) A swinging melange of funk, jazz, hip-hop and beats, Bread & Butter are two 20-something club heads who have put their caps together to create a cool, jazzy amalgam of hip-hop, funk and acid jazz. Although the duo is relatively unknown, the cast of contributing characters is surprisingly stellar: Dana Bryant, Roy Hargrove, Kenny Garrett, Adam Clayton Powell, Dizzy Gillespie all lend a hand or a sample. Due to vehicular impairment, Cannibal Corpse did not play at the 13th Annual Milwaukee Metalfest on July 25 and 26. The broken bus also prevented Cannibal Corpse's roadie's band, Angel Corpse, from making its scheduled appearance. Meanwhile, ardent fans at the event baked for three hours in the scorching heat during the Mercyful Fate autograph session. Three hours of hell just to meet King Diamond, whose make-up had probably all melted off by that point...Speaking of legends, Manowar will release a live album on Metal Blade, recorded during the Louder Than Hell Tour '97. No release date has been set...After being asked to (continued on page 37)

KORN Follow The Leader (Immortal-Epic)

Four years ago, Korn turned the metal world on its ear when it took the darker aspects of its freaky, tormented mind and channeled them into catchy, three-minute rap-metal outings. The songs were so good and the fans so fervent that Korn eventually reached the pop music mainstream, garnering multi-platinum status. On Follow The Leader, Korn follows its own lead stylistically rather than breaking any new ground, but still avoids getting left behind in a rush of new bands. The radio-only single of "All In The Family" uses a variety of remixes to showcase its undeniable viability for hip-hop, metal and top 40 audiences. The best thing to come out of this album, however, just may be the band's scheduled "Family Values" tour, combining artists from the hip-hop, industrial and rap-metal worlds on one bill.

Recommended Tracks: "Got The Life," "My Gift To You," "All In The Family" Contact: The Syndicate (Marc, Dave and Eric) Phone: 888.666.2061 Fax: 201.864.3380 Email: thesyn@aol.com Release Date: August 15; at radio now Marketing Data: Children Of The Korn two-CD set at retail features Limp 8izkit, The Urge and more.

PSYCORE Your Problem (V2)

"Essentially, Psycore is a four-piece, really simple rock band," claims band vocalist Markus Jaan. Yeah, right. Sweden-based Psycore starts off with the maniacal metal of Clutch, layers it with smooth, soulful vocals, and then rattles your cage with Helmet-inspired riffs. It's hard to believe the band recorded such an accomplished album in a makeshift studio.

Recommended Tracks: "I Go Solo," "Medication," "Driven" Contact: Lawrence Lui Phone: 212.320.8500 Fax: 212.320.8600 Email: lawrence.lui@v2music.com Release Date: August 11; at radio now

DROWN

Product Of A Two Faced World (Slipdisc-Mercury)

The ferocious Drown must have worn out its guitars in the early-'90s, when it would play to sellout crowds in its home state of California (garnering it a deal with Elektra, then Geffen). Now, it turns to keyboards and sampling to express its internal turmoil. Product Of A Two Faced World is an aggresive metal/industrial mix that answers all the prayers of the band's diehard fans.

Recommended Tracks: "You Never Listened," "Kerosene," "Alone In A Dirty World" Contact: Rob Gill Phone: 973.378.2478 Fax: 973.378.2549

Release Date: August 11

The Bad Boy camp says that proceeds from the single went to charity, while the singer's solo album royalties had been withheld during "negotiations." All issues have since been resolved, according to Bad Boy.

Benny Goodman, Tommy Dorsey and Artie Shaw each has his or her own CD. Though this set came out a while ago, the kind folks at GRP are sending it to college radio now...On a sad note, jazz saxophonist Benny Waters died on August 11 at a hospital in Columbia, Maryland. Waters had been performing for more than seven decades, and was still performing more than 100 shows a year at the time of his death. He was 96.

substance of the second state of the second st

Ask Elliott Smith if he's grown weary of being asked what it was like to perform at the Academy Awards earlier this year, and his answer contains an understandable measure of disdain: "Uh-huh, yeah, that's a popular one."

See, Smith has done more interviews in the past year then he'd care to count. Nearly every major entertainment rag and newspaper in the country has prodded him with countless questions about his Oscar-nominated song from the Good Will Hunting soundtrack, about his first album for a major label, and mostly importantly, what it was like to clench the hand of Titanic songbird Celine Dion during his post-Oscar performance thank-you bow. Ever since "Miss Misery," along with a few of Smith's older tunes, landed on the Good Will Hunting soundtrack last year and subsequently earned him a Best Song nomination, Smith has been subjected to the kind of media frenzy that's rare for an artist known for such intimate music. He's trying to be a good sport, but the attention is clearly beginning to wear on him.

Formerly one half of the songwriting duo that lead Portland, Oregon, post-punk outfit Heatmiser, Smith struck out on his own in 1994 when his first solo album, Roman Candle, was released. Since then, he's been carefully refining his gently downcast folkpop with each successive release, his songwriting taking on new emotional candor and subtlety at every turn. At the same time, his tours began earning him a small, but fiercely loyal following, first among hipsters in his adopted hometown of Portland, and later with the rest of the country's pop underground. With naught but his whispery voice and delicate acoustic picking, Smith takes the stage to offer up songs about the restless uncertainties that plague his daily life love, alienation, regret, etc. - with startling beauty and restraint. His years of touring and playing came to a head on last year's Either/Or, his third solo album, which contained some of his biggest nods to bright pop melody, while still maintaining his famously despairing outlook.

Cut to August 1998: Smith, now residing in Brooklyn, is on the eve of releasing XO (DreamWorks), his first major-label album. With its lush arrangements, fuller instrumentation (strings, piano, bass and drums in addition to the typical guitar/voice makeup of his songs) and graceful melodicism, the album makes it clear that all of Smith's previous work was merely sketches for the grand pop symphonies he had bouncing around in his head. "Mainly I was just trying to do stuff [with XO] that I didn't know whether I could do or not," he explains. "I had more involved plans than I usually had in the past, like wanting to use more instruments than before and trying to play a lot of different things. I think they're all straightforward pop records, but I think more people will think [XO] is because it's more produced. But just the way the songs are, they're all pop records."

Although Smith prefers to classify all of his work as simply "pop" music, the shadowy darkness that has always haunted his songs seems to belie such a reductive description. His songbook is littered with tales of destructive, cyclical addictions, both physical and emotional, and his hushed singing and spooky, quiet guitar strumming are leagues away from warm-hearted folk-pop of, say, Simon & Garfunkel (to whom he's commonly compared). But as Smith explains, his need to write from a less personally stylistic standpoint is what allowed him to achieve the level of pop mastery heard on XO. "A lot of people eventually get tired of doing idiosyncratic things," he says. "It's hard to explain, but they just wanna write a really great, easily accessible song, like Smokey Robinson could do. If anything's changed [in my songwriting], it's probably that - just trying to make things that sound good...I'm not interested in making records that sound like me in particular. I just more and more wanna write songs that just work well. Like 'I Second That Emotion' is just a great song. Sounds good when Smokey Robinson does it, it would sound good when anybody does it."

In addition to the more up-front arrangements of the songs, XO also elucidates Smith's fancy for '60s pop forerunners such as the Beatles, most notably on the a capella "I Didn't Understand," with its lush multitracked vocal harmonies recalling Abbey Road's "Sun King." Live, Smith is known to cover both George Harrison's "Isn't It a Pity" and the Kinks' "Waterloo Sunset." "I thought people would really nail me on that before, but nobody seemed to," he says, referring to the Fab Four's influence in his music. "I really like the Beatles. I like melody a lot, and they went about as far as anyone in that direction that I know of...I've liked Magical Mystery Tour and 'The White Album' a lot since I was a kid. I just like the way those records sound, and I'm sure that was somewhere in the miasma of my brain [during the recording of XO]."

With the big money support of DreamWorks and the hype generated by Good Will Hunting swelling underneath him, the likelihood that Smith will reach a larger, much-deserved audience with XO seems like a solid bet. But how will Smith's longtime fans, who consider his music a precious gift to be hoarded and cherished in small numbers, react to Smith's sullen face suddenly appearing in places that typically house much less intimate, more larger-than-life figures? Or, more importantly, is Smith able to take a step back and see himself fitting into the industry's bigger picture himself? "I don't see any slot for me to fit in, so I don't really do that because it's too depressing," he says. "The radio's gonna play what the radio plays and I'd be very surprised if it was the kinda stuff that I do. I don't know what the music scene is like in general. It's just a bunch of bands that get played. Meanwhile there's like thousands of other bands that don't, and I can't figure out the logic of that. I don't know that there is any, really. I just like making up songs, and you can do that anywhere whether you feel like you're part of a scene or not."

Interview by Kelso Jacks

V2 Music was founded in 1996 by Richard Branson, the man responsible for Virgin Records. Based in New York City, V2 also has affiliations with Big Cat, Junior Boy's Own and Gee Street, providing the company with a diverse range of talent. The High Llamas, Gravediggaz, Jungle Brothers and Richard Davies are just some of the label's past projects, and currently V2 is finding success with Chocolate Genius. This fall the label will release Deserter's Songs, the long-awaited new album from Mercury Rev. Lawrence Lui, a former DJ at WVKR (Vassar College) and Music Director/DJ at WNYU (New York University) has worked for V2 since its inception.

In your opinion, what is the current state of college radio?

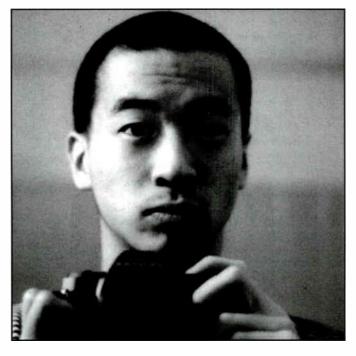

I refuse to take this question as an invitation to whine. Suffice to say that college radio is both wonderful and frustrating at the same time. There is so much going on in the format, it's almost impossible to generalize. That's what I find so exciting about it. Of course, you deal with a lot of bullshit, but at the end of the day, college radio is the only format that supports such an eclectic variety of artists. I mean, any world that can embrace both Lucinda Williams and the Black Eyed Peas is doing something right.

What are the best things about your job?

It's just fun talking to music fans from around the country, as corny as that sounds. I've met some great people through this job. I've had great conversations, great arguments, and I've learned a lot. It's the sense of community that makes it all worthwhile. The worst thing about this job is dealing with a lot of ignorance and a lack of professionalism, but that's to be expected in any walk of life.

Have you ever thought of packing it in and leaving the music business behind?

I pack every day, drive halfway to Phoenix and then come tearing back begging for forgiveness. It's pathetic, really.

"I'D LIKE TO BE SEEN AS THE DARK LORD OF COLLEGE PROMOTIONS, BUT WHO AM I KIDDING? I'M WAY TOO SILLY TO BE EVIL. MAYBE I SHOULD WEAR A CAPE."

Are you active in music besides your role as a promoter?

Yes. Promotions is only one aspect of an ever-expanding mandala. The final goal is total absorption into the cosmos! Currently, I run RoomTone Records with my high school chum Daniel Blumin. RoomTone is film lingo for raw, unprocessed ambient sound. The label specializes in electroacoustic static noises and other weird detritus. I also write for a couple of small (but spunky) 'zines, and I have a CD of my own music coming out on Turducken Records soon. That project is called Dominions. Basically, we got this oom-pah band going on eternal loop while I whip myself with a utility belt. Please buy a copy! Life is short and beef jerky ain't cheap.

If you have your own label, why go to another to put out your own music?

Simple economics. Turducken wanted to put it out, pay for it, do the promotion, publicity, etc. It's great to put something out and not have to worry about all those things. Plus, Anthony [DelRosario, owner of Turducken Records] is a great guy and I'd eat off his plate any day!

Was it difficult getting the first few label releases together for RoomTone?

No. There were bands out there like Dymaxion and Double Nelson that were kind of slipping between the cracks. It's hard to pigeonhole these acts into a certain scene or sound, and that's what we initially found intriguing about them. So we put out their records. Look, I just never want to lose sight of why I got into this business. Working on RoomTone keeps me sane and close to the music I love. My relationship with the music industry is in constant flux, at times harmonious, at times adversarial. As far as I'm concerned, once the industry side overrides the music side, it will be time to pack it in.

Describe your personality.

I don't have much of a personality. I'd like to be seen as the Dark Lord of college promotions, but who am I kidding? I'm way too silly to be evil. Maybe I should wear a cape.

Name a band that you think deserves a larger audience, but just can't seem to get a break. I love Home, which is basically an experimental band that writes beautiful pop songs. Somebody should sign them and put them in Abbey Road Studios for a couple of weeks. The results would be fantastic! I also like Six Finger Satellite for those chaotic nights of angst. After the demise of Brainiac and Thee Hydrogen Terrors, Six Finger Satellite has the field all to themselves.

What is the best concert experience you've ever had?

I saw Merle Haggard recently and it was phenomenal. Each song told a diamondsharp tale of love and loss in under three minutes. No bullshit. No filler. No vague whining about inchoate emotions. It was nice to escape the indie rock ghetto for a couple of hours.

Fill in the blank. My fantasy job is__.

Dead rock star. No worries, no hassles, just making mad ducats while I sleep with the angels.

From the first wailing feedback of "Down On Me", Bed's cranky and self-affirming opener, to the fatalistic anti-materialism of the album's closer, "Let's Blow It All", Hatfield has once again demonstrated her keen ability to scrape to the bone of each emotionally-charged scenario.

"Hatfield's music is off-kilter in the best sense of the word. It's finely wrought and jangly loose, rooted in convention and consistently unpredictable."
