Singer Johnny Adams Dies Of Cancer

New Orleans R&B, blues and jazz singer Johnny Adams, 67, died September 14 after a long battle with cancer. Adams, known as "The Tan Canary," was born in New Orleans in 1932 and he began his career as a gospel performer when he was in his early 20s. During the '50s, '60s and '70s, Adams crossed over with regional hits including "I Won't Cry," "Reconsider Me," "Release Me" and "Hell Yes I Cheated." Adams signed to Rounder Records in 1983, and the label subsequently released nine of his albums, including Room With A View Of The Blues and One Foot In The Blues. In recent years, Adams had collaborated with Aaron Neville, Harry Connick Jr., Dr. John and Duke Robillard, among others.

Rounder released his last album, Man Of My Word, in August. Adams is survived by his wife Judy.

Matador Signs NYC's Arsonists Matador Records has signed its first hip-hop act, New York

Matador Records has signed its first hip-hop act, New York City's Arsonists, to a multi-album deal. Matador's mailorder department is now carrying two of the band's previous 12"s: "Venom"/"Seed" (Serchlite Records) and "Blaze"/"Geembo's Theme"/"Flashback" (Fondle 'Em Records). The Arsonists will soon record their Matador debut, their first recording session in a proper studio, which will be released in early 1999. Additionally, Matador said that it plans to compile the Arsonists' singles on CD, with a tentative release date of (continued on page 62)

Bluesman John Lee Hooker Compiles Collaborations With Famous Friends

By Ron Hart

With his trusty custom- retrospective not unlike made guitar by his side for more than 50 years, 78-year-old John Lee Hooker has come to be considered the living embodiment of American blues. Since releasing 1989's starstudded crossover album The Healer, Hooker has released several criticallyacclaimed albums, won two Grammys, been inducted into the Rock 'N' Roll Hall Of Fame and jammed with a number of contemporary artists. On October 20, Virgin-Pointblank Records will release The Best Of Friends (1989 - 1998), a collection of highlights the legend's collaborations with a wide variety of performers from the past 10 years. A retrospective not unlike

Frank Sinatra's Duets, The Best Of Friends will include new spins on classic Hooker tunes featuring

Eric Clapton, Carlos Santana, Van Morrison, Jimmy Vaughan, Bonnie Raitt, Robert Cray, Los Lobos and Ry Cooder, who contributes his guitar skills to a new rendition of "Big

THE ESSENTIAL RELEASES OF THE WEEK

MARILYN MANSON

Mechanical Animals (Nothing-Interscope)

Il Just as Marilyn Manson has undergone a highly-publicized image overhaul — making the transition from antichrist superstar to alien, androgynous glamour puss - Manson's namesake band has transformed its sonic onslaught from gloomy and grotesque to flashy and flamboyant. The change in direction (less Pretty Hate Machine, more Ziggy Stardust) results perhaps from a break with longtime producer and artistic sensei Trent Reznor, but Mechanical Animals still harnesses the same devilish rock orchestrations, controversial lyrical fervor and absurd idealism that has titillated awe-struck fanatics since day one while irritating the religious right. Mechanical Animals is a 14-track concept album focused on "Coma White," an addictive figure that takes on the persona of both a girl and a drug. Sonically, the album hits like a hurricane, incorporating both the glam-rock posturing of Marc Bolan with the aural intensity of past releases. This redefined raison d'être may have many scratching their heads, but Mechanical Animals is the loudest and most lauded rock experiment the band has ever offered. — M. Tye Comer

GOLDEN SMOG

Weird Tales (Rykodisc)

III The second full-length from Midwestern supergroup Golden Smog plays with the basic tenets of American roots music, creating an altogether warm, sometimes poignant, and thoroughly engaging rock 'n' roll record. Comprised of the Jayhawks' Gary Louris and Marc Perlman, Wilco's Jeff Tweedy, Soul Asylum's Dan Murphy, Run Westy Run's Kraig Johnson and Big Star drummer Jody Stephens, Golden Smog's pedigree, unlike that of many of its alt-country brethren, covers a fairly broad (albeit related) spectrum of the rock map, encompassing country, folk, garage and a bit of punk. The collision of these stylistic leanings results in Weird Tales' wonderfully organic feel, which moves between sweet country-rock, dirty boogie, aching folk and dark, psychedelic-tinged rave-ups. Because their voices are so distinctive, Louris and Tweedy own the standouts, but the songwriting turned in by the rest of group holds up just as well. Weird Tales is one of the few "all-star" recordings that doesn't come off as a quickly tossed-off vanity project. To the contrary, it rivals its individual members' best work. — Colin Helms

FLAT DUO JETS

Lucky Eye (Outpost)

III The Flat Duo Jets have been rollicking away in their distinctly time-warped style since the beginning of the '90s, but they've always sounded like young toughs in Memphis circa '53, digging the era's country & western greats and its "race" artists by day while eavesdropping outside Sun Studios at night. Lead by Dexter Romweber, the Jets have been a decidedly below-the-radar roots band throughout their existence, but an unlikely turn of events brings us Lucky Eye, the band's major label debut. Diehard fans will love the depth and texture of the album, with its 18 songs ranging from house-rockin' stomps to rockabilly barnburners to curled-lip invocations of the bad boy balladry of The King himself. And even those who don't have a soft spot for the rock 'n' roll days of old should check out Romweber's ace guitar playing; he's got fingers as flight as Les Paul and a gritty, take-no-prisoners style that will remind you of Link Wray's "Rumble." — Cheryl Botchick

ROBBIE FULKS

Let's Kill Saturday Night (Geffen)

III Nashville isn't holding a grudge against Robbie Fulks for "Fuck This Town" from Let's Kill Saturday Night: it was actually recorded there. Call the Chicago native a singer/songwriter, but the tag doesn't hint at the cowpunk wit and tight-fisted country pop that sets Fulks apart. Fulks's tunes often have the spark of bottle-bustin' barroom rock. but where roadhouse romps can be undisciplined, Fulks tailors his tunes with pop fineries and wellpressed harmonies. There's nothing overly polished about Let's Kill Saturday Night though; the keen playing and songwriting shine on their own. The quality of the guest musicians who want to bask in that shine says a lot. NRBQ's Al Anderson trades guitar licks on the swampy break-up tune "You Shouldn't Have," and on the your-bad-love-is-so-good song, "Pretty Little Poison," Lucinda Williams completes Fulks's double-edged couplets. Fulks: "Oh love, hold me tight between your knees." Williams: "Oh love, press my lips to your disease." Clever turns of phrase can only carry a song so far, but Fulks always backs up his tongue with his heart. — Steve Ciabattoni

EMI Pulls Out Of Plans To Bid For PolyGram Filmed Entertainment

The EMI Group announced that it is no longer considering a possible acquisition of PolyGram Filmed Entertainment. On August 24, EMI had confirmed media speculation that it was considering a bid to buy PFE from Seagram Co., which plans to sell the unit as a part of its acquisition of PolyGram NV. EMI didn't elaborate on its decision to back out of the bidding just a day before the final deadline of September 18. Market watchers approved of EMI's decision to stick to its core music operations. EMI sold its floundering film operations in 1986. Other possible bidders for PFE were said to include Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Artisan Entertainment, French TV company Canal Plus, Carlton Communications PLC and Tracinda Corp. Seagram's asking price is said to be $500 million to $1 billion. PFE is Europe's largest film producers, responsible for Trainspotting, Four Weddings And A Funeral and other movies.

Gomez Wins U.K.'s Mercury Prize

Gomez's debut album Bring It On recently won the Mercury Music Prize for the U.K.'s best album of the year, beating out such popular favorites as The Verve's Urban Hymns, Massive Attack's Mezzanine and Pulp's This Is Hardcore. The five-member band hails from Southport, England, and it was awarded £25,000 for the prize. Mercury judges described Bring It On as "an intriguing blend of swamp blues, barroom rock and eerie power — a stunning and accomplished debut." The eight judges for the prize are music journalists and others in the creative end of the music industry, as opposed to the record company executives who vote for England's Brit Awards. The other nominees for the 1998 prize were Robbie Williams, Catatonia, 4-Hero, Eliza Carthy, Cornershop, John Surman, Asian Dub Foundation and Propellerheads. The Mercury prize was started seven years ago, and past winners include Roni Size & Reprazent, Portishead, Pulp, Suede, Primal Scream and M People. Virgin Records released Bring It On in the U.S. on September 15, and the band recently launched its first U.S. tour. Gomez will also appear November 5 at the CMJ Music Marathon & MusicFest.

Independent Film Channel To Present FilmFest '98

CMJ has entered into a strategic partnership with the Independent Film Channel to serve as presenting sponsor of CMJ FilmFest '98, which will be held November 4-7 in conjunction with the CMJ Music Marathon & MusicFest. IFC and CMJ have also joined forces with Time Warner Cable of New York City to offer the first-ever public passes for selected film screenings. Time Warner subscribers will be able to buy passes to attend three of six selected films for $21. CMJ's FilmFest is now in its fourth year.

Depeche Mode Limited Edition CD Includes Four Rare Tracks

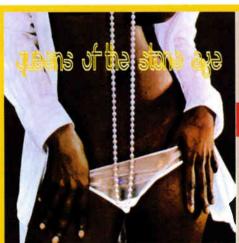

Depeche Mode has announced plans to release a limited-edition version of its upcoming hits album, The Singles 86-98, due in stores October 6.

This special package will include the double album plus a bonus CD of four rare tracks. The rarities consist of "Dangerous (Hazche Mix)," which was a U.K. B-side to "Personal Jesus"; "Rush (Wild Planet Mix)," a U.K. B-side to "Condemnation"; "World In My Eyes (Safar Mix)," an unreleased remix of the Violator track; and "Enjoy The Silence (The Quad: Final Mix)," a 15-minute remix previously available only as a U.K. 3".

Jesus And Mary Chain Tour Goes On Without William Reid

The Jesus And Mary Chain is continuing its U.S. tour, despite news that guitarist William Reid had dropped out of the tour as of press time. During the band's sloppy 15-minute show September 14 at Los Angeles club the House Of Blues, William got into an onstage shouting match with his brother, vocalist Jim, and then walked off stage. Show attendees said that younger brother Jim sang the wrong lyrics during songs, knocked over a microphone stand, and argued with other band members. A spokesperson for Sub Pop Records, the Scottish band's U.S. label, could not confirm whether Jim was under the influence of drugs or alcohol during the House Of Blues show and would not speculate when or if William will resume touring with the band. No tour stops were canceled as a result, as the band toured as a four piece: guitarists Jim Reid and Ben Lurie, bassist Phil King and drummer Nick Saunderson. The tour, supporting the band's latest album Munki, will run through October 4 with Mercury Rev opening.

Squirrel Nut Zippers Record Christmas Album

The Squirrel Nut Zippers have recorded their first holiday album, which Mammoth Records will release October 6.

The North Carolina hot jazz group recorded Christmas Caravan at Daniel Lanois's Kingsway Studios in New Orleans. The album includes two classic covers, "Sleigh Ride" and "I'm Coming Home For Christmas," plus eight originals: "Hot Christmas," "Christmas In Carolina," "Indian Giver," "My Evergreen," "The Gift Of The Magi," "Johnny Ace Christmas," "Winter Weather" and "Hanging Up My Stockings." Zipper Ken Mosher said, "There are already enough Christmas albums with 'Jingle Bells' and 'Frosty The Snowman.' We wanted to put our own spin on it and create an album we hope will stand the test of time." The band is currently touring to support its goldselling album Perennial Favorites, and it will open for Tony Bennett on October 17 at New York's Radio City Music Hall.

ALVIN YOUNGBLOOD HART

Interview by Steve Ciabattoni

If Alvin Youngblood Hart is a Roots 'N' Blues

CMJ: Was it a conscious effort to include so many styles of music on Territory?

Alvin Youngblood Hart: I just felt like doing whatever I felt like doing. I made a record that's like if you came over to my house to listen to records or something. My wife says: "Don't you ever listen to the whole LP?" [laughs]

You play a wide variety of instruments, too. Does that affect how you write or sing?

Me and my wife have a guitar/stringed instrument repair shop in our backyard.

So instead of broken down cars you've got all these dobros on your lawn?

Yeah, it's like car guys who have GTO parts here and there. Having that variety [of instruments] might inspire a whole different style of song or it might create the song. ["Tallacatcha"] was created by me messing around on a Hawaiian guitar with this melody and then another day messing around with a regular guitar with a western swing rhythm. And the song was just sorta born.

Is there a struggle between breaking with the tradition of the blues and keeping that history alive?

Well, [my music] is more hysterical than historical Uh, I think I bunched up all my questions...

That's cool. An interview with one big

OK. Trace the history of the blues in 100 words

Did you ever see that video of Newport [Folk Festival] '66? It's got Bukka White, Skip James, Son House, Howlin' Wolf. Howlin' Wolf is lecturing the crowd about what the blues is. And then he lectures Son House about how he did nothing with his life. It's pretty cool.

Coolio, ODB Arrested In Separate Incidents

During the week of September 14, two rappers were arrested in separate incidents near Los Angeles. Coolio was arrested September 15 for suspicion of carrying a concealed weapon and possessing marijuana after he was pulled over for traffic violations. Coolio was booked and later released into the custody of a friend. Also, Wu-Tang Clan's Ol' Dirty Bastard was arrested September 16 for allegedly threatening the staff at the House Of Blues club in West Hollywood. ODB (also recently known by the nickname Big Baby Jesus) spent the night in jail and was later released on $50,000 bail. Police said ODB had attended a concert at the House of Blues and was removed from the club after causing a commotion. After being ejected, he allegedly threatened to return with friends and kill the club's staff. Ol' Dirty Bastard is a fugitive in Virginia, where he has failed to appear at several court dates related to a shoplifting charge.

New Zealand Radio Network Organizes Clean Tribute

B.Net. New Zealand's recently re-named student radio network, is paying tribute to one of that country's most influential and historically important independent rock bands,

The Clean. Adam Hyde, station manager for bFM, organized the 21-song God Save The Clean as a project to unite various b.net stations in celebration of their homeland's music. When Hyde called his radio sister stations and spoke with Flying Nun Records, The Clean's New Zealand label which has also released the tribute, recommendations for local and trans-continental bands began pouring in. "The Clean have a remarkable history. They launched the whole Dunedin and Flying Nun scene and [they] have classic status on all b.net stations," said Hyde, who notes that many artists responded enthusiastically to b.net's requests. "It was amazing that a band like Pavement were so excited to record a Clean song, telling us that they would be honored to be on the album." The musicians on God Save The Clean were encouraged to interpret the band's material, rather than to churn out faithful copies. So while the loose cleverness of Pavement's version of "Oddity" makes perfect sense, the drum 'n' bass leanings of Salmonella Dub or the twang of Gary Bartlett recontextualize the canon. God Save The Clean is the first full-length tribute to the trio of Robert Scott and brothers Hamish and David Kilgour, following Dark Beloved Cloud's 1992 Cleaned Out tribute 7" EP.

Sotheby's Auctions McCartney's 'Hey Jude' Notebook

A notebook with Paul McCartney's handwritten lyrics for "Hey Jude" sold for more than £100,000 (about $167,000) at an auction in London on September 15. The winning bidder was Alan Murphy, a collector from Liverpool who planned to give the notebook as a birthday gift to his daughter, who plays a character named Jude on a British soap opera. The notebook, which was compiled by late Beatles road manager Mal Evans, also included doodles by John Lennon and partial lyrics for "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band." Sotheby's had estimated a price of £90,000-£120,000. The notebook was the top item in a collection of pop memorabilia that was sold to benefit a children's cancer charity. The famous "Union Jack" dress worn by ex-Spice Girl Geri Halliwell fetched £41,320 at the auction.

Stabbing Westward Drummer Recovered. Band Will Tour With Depeche Mode

Stabbing Westward's Darkest Days tour has resumed. Drummer Andy Kubiszewski is fully recovered and he's back behind the drum kit after fracturing his collarbone in a rollerblading accident in May. The band had postponed several dates and toured with replacement drummers while Kubiszewski was sidelined with his injury. With its lineup intact, Stabbing Westward will headline solo dates through October 8 and will then support Depeche Mode from October 22-December 20.

SINGLE ARTISTS

After three albums for Epitaph Records, Canadian punk band SNFU has recorded a live album for Megaforce Entertainment.

Let's Get It Right The First Time was recorded in Vancouver at the Starfish Room and contains 18 songs, including a few rarities. The disc features tracks such as "Better Than Eddie Vedder," "Eric's Had A Bad Day," "Drunk On A Bike" and "Cannibal Cafe."

Boredoms/Free Kitten drummer, vocalist and trumpeter Yoshimi has formed OOIOO (pronounced "on on ai on ou"), an allfemale Japanese quartet that also includes drummer Yoshiko, bassist Maki and guitarist/vocalist Kyoto. Yoshimi contributes guitar and vocals to the scrappy, herky-jerky mix-and-match of genres found on the band's self-titled debut for Kill Rock Stars. Guests include Julie Cafritz (Free Kitten, ex-Pussy Galore) and Yamantaka-Eye (Boredoms). OOIOO was conceptualized in 1995, when Yoshimi dreamed up the name during a magazine interview. The ladies toured Japan with Sonic Youth in 1996, and they're planning a U.S. jaunt in early 1999.

One of last year's most memorable singles was White Town's "Your Woman," the genderconfused synth pop song by a British musician of Indian descent named Jyoti Mishra. After a short time as an EM1 recording artist, Mishra returns to Parasol Records for his new EP, Another Lover. The four-song disc is more of White Town's smart synth pop, and it features the title track, two instrumentals, and "I Ain't Commercial," a song recalling his horrors at a major label.

Retailers are carrying a limited edition version of A Tribe Called Quest's long-awaited album The Love Movement. The special edition includes six rare and unreleased bonus tracks: the band's remixes of "Scenario" and "Oh My God," a rerecording of "Jazz (We've Got)," plus the tracks "Money Maker," "Hot Sex" and "One Two S**t," which features Busta Rhymes. The album also includes collaborations with Noreaga, Redman, Mos Def and others.

The Wailing Souls bring reggae flavor to classic rock with their latest album, Psychedelic Souls (Pow Wow Records). Lloyd "Bread" McDonald and Winston "Pipe" Mathews offer reggae interpretations of decades-old rock hits such as Bob Dylan's

"Like A Rolling Stone," Procol Harum's
"Whiter Shade Of
Pale," The Who's "My Generation," Stephen
Stills's "Love The One You're With" and the Beatles' "Tomorrow

Never Knows." Psychedelic Souls also features guest appearances by Sublime's Bud Gaugh and Eric Wilson and Porno For Pyros guitarist Pete DiStefano.

Fans of legendary singer and actress Judy Garland will find lots of treats and no tricks this October. On October 13, 32 Records will release Judy, a boxed set chronicling Garland's career starting with performances spanning the years 1929 to 1964. The set includes four discs plus a VHS video and a 100-page book. The anthology includes rare, live and unreleased recordings, plus duets with Tony Bennett, Liza Minnelli, Peggy Lee. Bobby Darin and more. That release will be followed October 27 by Turner Classic Movies Music-Rhino Movie Music's Judy Garland In Hollywood: Her Greatest Movie Hils. The compilation includes 23 of her soundtrack performances such as "Over The Rainbow" and "The Man That Got Away."

Gomez's debut album Bring It On recently won England's coveted Mercury Music Prize, and more evidence of the band's natural talent is found on "78 Stone Wobble" and "Whippin' Piccadilly." Virgin has serviced U.S.

radio with these two U.K. singles (available overseas on Hut-Virgin), each of which includes two B-sides not found on the album.

Peter Rose, who has done beats and basslines for Massive Attack, has again teamed with Rob Smith of Smith & Mighty for their second drum 'n' bass album under the name More Rockers. The Bristol, England, duo first stormed the scene with Dub Plates Selection Vol. 1, a madly-blended jungle mix. The 19-track new album, Selection 2 (Studlo K7), combines dance beats with smart samples and live vocals. For more information, contact Studlo K7 at 212.685.7161.

Florida label Meiso has re-released the debut album from Kansas City via Chicago space rock band Dirt Nap, Below The Speed Of Sound, which the band's own DNA Records released in December. The band just finished a summer tour with Pave The Rocket.

Interdimensional Transmissions' From Beyond series has broadened the spectrum of post-Detroit techno minimalism. Spearheaded by Brendan Gillen, music director at WCBN in Ann Arbor, Michigan, the compilation From Beyond is the label's first foray into the CD format. This CD collects the previous four 12" compilations in the series, which have been re-edited and re-mastered by Gillen and Carl Craig. Featured artists include I-F, Sluts 'N' Strings, Phoenicia and Mike Paradinas among others. For more information, contact Autotonic at 888.551.3613.

A jittery collection of rock 'n' roll and electronic music sets the pace for DGC's soundtrack to Permanent Midnight, a film about a Hollywood writer (played by Ben Stiller) grappling with a heroin addiction. The soundtrack features new tracks from Black Lab, Girls Against Boys, BT, Spring Heel Jack, Moby, Free Radical Featuring Paul Hepker, Embrace and the first solo track from Everclear's Art Alexakis. The disc also includes previously released cuts from Spiritualized, Gomez and Prodigy as well as remixed songs from Morcheeba and Crystal Method.

If your twin passions are the Pulp Fiction soundtrack and abrasive techno synthcore, then a double dose of pleasure comes in the form of cyberPUNK FICTION, a futuristic interpretation of the music and film soundbytes from the original soundtrack. Created by Re-Constriction/Cargo Records, the homage compilation features electronically-enhanced covers by Tinfed, Killing Floor, Christ Analogue, Society Burning, Collide, Hotbox, Nimpf, Purr Machine, 16 Volt and Hexedene.

The rural Montana setting of the new film Clay Pigeons carries over to the Universal Records soundtrack. The 12-track disc includes rootsy and alternative rock tracks from Old 97's, Firewater, Tonic, Verve Pipe, Lyle Lovett and Sister Hazel. The black comedy/thriller stars Janeane Garofalo, Joaquin Phoenix, Vince Vaughn and Georgina Cates.

Songwriter Burt Bacharach certainly has come back into vogue lately. Elvis Costello recently teamed up with him to co-write songs for the Painted From Memory project, and now Rhino Records honors Bacharach with a boxed set. The three-CD, 75-track set The Look Of Love: The Burt Bacharach Collection is slated for release November 3. The set will include the original hit versions of the Grammy Award winner's pop tunes as performed by the likes of Dionne Warwick, the Carpenters, Dusty Springfield, Bobby Vinton, Tom Jones and others.

ANTRA Signs Drew, Slop

Golden Smog Spent More Time In Studio To Create 'Focused' Second Album

By Wendy Mitchell

The members of Midwestern supergroup Golden Smog have done time in the Jayhawks, Soul Asylum, Run Westy Run, Big Star and Wilco. Despite the time constraints of the members' other bands, Golden Smog's second album, Weird Tales (Rykodisc). is even more developed than the band's 1996 debut full-length, Down By The Old Mainstream. One of Golden Smog's songwriters, Kraig Johnson (from Run Westy Run), said the band spent more time in the studio preparing this album — about a month, compared to six days for the last album. "[Weird Tales] is more focused because I think a lot of the things on the last one just came off the cuff,"

Johnson says. "This one was just more thought out."

While having so many active musicians together in a side group obviously presents scheduling issues, Johnson says the combined songwriting power far outweighs any negatives. "Everybody had some songs that we went into the studio with," Johnson explains. "And then there were also songs once we got into the studio that people would have ideas and get together [to write]." Having so many cooks in Golden Smog's kitchen doesn't make Weird Tales sound like a hodgepodge compilation, either. "It can be kind of hard to have this thing that's one vision because you've got so many different singers," Johnson says. "But the whole record kind of blends together nicely."

Golden Smog began several years ago as a cover band that played one or two shows in Minneapolis every year. While Golden Smog's Jeff Tweedy (Wilco) lives in Chicago and Jody Stephens (Big Star) lives in Memphis, Johnson, Gary Louris (Jayhawks), Marc Perlman (Jayhawks) and Dan Murphy (Soul Asylum) all reside in Minneapolis. "[Golden Smog] got together because we always get together and just hang out anyway," Johnson says. "We'd always be noodling around together at each other's houses.

I see them pretty much every day."

As Golden Smog prepares to launch a U.S. tour in November, Johnson is also busy with his other projects. He has been recording some demos with Run Westy Run and he's also writing songs for his other bands, Viovoom (a side project with cellist Jessy Greene) and Oh Geez (which includes Greene and Dave Pirner of Soul Asylum).

BAUHAUS

September 11, 1998, Hammerstein Ballroom, New York City

"There's nothing better than the real thing." That sentiment, uttered by the gaunt, but surprisingly healthy-looking Bauhaus frontman Peter Murphy rang through the air without the slightest hint of irony. After all, it was echoed by each of the 4,000 awe-struck fans who attended this second of two sold out performances in Gotham, just one stop on the band's muchanticipated Resurrection tour. To thunderous applause, guitarist Daniel Ash, bassist David J and drummer Peter Haskins, all impeccably dressed in their post-Goth best, took to the stage with the ominous post-punk staple "Double Dare." Murphy remained absent, save his ghostwhite face, which sang and stared into the crowd from a black and white television monitor positioned at center stage. After the opening number, Murphy appeared in the flesh and joined his bandmates onstage for an almost two-hour set that spanned the modern tock band's entire 1979-1983 career. The quartet blazed through aggressive, punk-tinged cuts such as "In The Flat Field," "The Passion Of Lovers" and "Dark Entries" with the same enthusiasm it showed on more somber gems such as "Hollow Hills," "She's In Parties" and "Silent Hedges." Working the stage like a Goth model walking a runway, Murphy moved from point to point posing under a variety of different lighting schemes. But the singer also spent a lot of time interacting with the other band members, singing with his arm around Daniel Ash or David J, or going to the back of the stage to hang with the drum-bound Haskins. From the body language exhibited on stage, it was no secret that each band member was happy to be reliving the legend. For the first of four encores, the band played two of its most famous covers: "Telegram Sam" by T. Rex and "Ziggy Stardust" by David Bowie. Next, the band performed a reworked version of "All We Ever Wanted Was Everything," plus "Spirit" before returning with the Goth-rock anthem "Bela Lugosi's Dead," during which Murphy swooped around the stage in a black cape as a tribute to the actor famous for portraying Dracula on the silent screen. Not willing to let the crowd go just yet, the band came back one final time to perform a fine cover of Iggy Pop's "The Passenger." Bauhaus had been resurrected 15 years after the fact and lived up to the myth left in its wake. - M. Tye Comer and Tad Hendrickson

Neighbor's Fire Does Little Damage To Moon Ska

Moon Ska Records closed its retail store for several days following a fire at its building on East 10th Street in Manhattan. The fire broke out early on the morning of September 14 at an eyeglass manufacturer located two floors above Moon Ska. No one was injured in the blaze, but Moon Ska Promotions Director Steve Shafer said Moon Ska suffered some water damage to its ceiling, plus water damage to some books, vinyl LPs, T-shirts and patches. Shafer estimated no more than $5,000 worth of damage was done to Moon Ska's offices and store. The label offices were up and running within a day or two of the fire, and the store was scheduled to re-open September 18. "People are OK, none of the equipment was destroyed,' Shafer said. "We feel very fortunate."

Dormont Releases Music Marketing Software

Dormont Technologies has rolled out several versions of its StarTracker software and data service, which is designed for marketing and promotion departments at record labels. The Windows-based software provides information for more than 172,000 music-related marketing contacts. The Star-Tracker SQL Version 5.0 is designed for major labels, while StarTracker 4.0 is designed for mid-sized labels and StarTracker Limited Edition is designed for independent labels. StarTracker allows users to search contact information for retail outlets. radio stations, media, venues, record labels, artist managers, concert promoters, colleges, booking agents, music publishers and more. Updated data is provided to Star-Tracker customers monthly on a CD-ROM. By the end of 1998, StarTracker plans to make its data available via Internet download, which would make it available to Mac and UNIX users as well. The price of the software varies based on customers' needs, ranging from $5,000-$500,000. For more information, call 888.367.6668 or visit www.dormonttech.com.

Radio 200: 112-23 Core Radio: #20 debut

Jetset has had a very successful year, with albums by bands such as Firewater and Mogwai tearing up the CMJ charts. Prolapse is another highquality indie rock album from this consistent label into which college programmers can sink their teeth. With smart and sassy dueling male and female vocals, and a sonic style that recalls late-'80s British indie bands (especially The Fall), The Italian Flag has earned its massive 112 to 23 jump on the Radio 200. With Core Radio supporting the album with a stunning #20 debut, you can expect chart longevity for this release, as well,

FANTASTIC PLASTIC MACHINE

Radio 200: #42 debut Core Radio: #26 debut

Emperor Norton's Fantastic Plastic Machine makes quite an entrance on both the Radio 200 and the Core Radio chart, with strong, upper echelon debuts that should signal a bright future. The band's Pizzicato Five-like mix of disco beat sensibilities and loungey kitsch are perfect for college programmers now well-versed in the ways of both Burt Bacharach and Serge Gainsbourg, and that clever cover of Joe Jackson's "Steppin' Out" can't hurt, either! Watch for the band to arrive stateside this month for a handful of live dates.

Radio 200: 157-46 D.I.R.T.: 24-17

End Serenading has a number of things going for it, even if its success is somewhat bittersweet. The album was to be the band's last indie release, with future albums to be released by Interscope, Sadly, the band broke up before End Serenading even hit the racks, making it a sudden, but satisfying swan song release. Two of the members of Mineral are now touring in a new band called Glory Record, but even if they've moved on to a new environment, college radio is still revelling in the intense emocore of End Serenading. The album jumped 111 positions this week on the Radio 200, and is making headway at independent retail as well.

Radio 200: 176-67 Core Radio: #57 debut RPM: 7-7

The movie  $\pi$  (for which this album is the soundtrack) is a claustrophobic, mathematically-themed tour de force. It seems only logical, then, that the music for the film would be the art of man-meets-machine as delivered by artists from the electronica realm. The (Thrive) contains cuts from genre luminaries such as Orbital, Autechre, Aphex Twin, Roni Size, Massive Attack, David Holmes, Spacetime Continuum and Gus Gus among others, inspiring college radio to rocket the compilation 109 positions on the Radio 200 chart. Core Radio is finally in the game as of this week, debuting the soundtrack at #57, while the album continues to see success at RPM.

The Beta Lounge is a little corner in cyberspace where electronic music is the sound of choice. Beta Lounge has made a name for itself as a user-friendly place to find the newest mixes from electronic music's best DJs. The Beta Lounge is created in a San Francisco studio every Thursday from 7 p.m.-11 p.m. PST and transmitted across the Internet. If you happen to miss a show, its home page features a menu from which you can select past DJ sets of your choice. The list of talent reads like a who's-who of DJ culture: Smith & Mighty, DJ Cam. Goldie, Roni Size, Derrick May, and many more are featured. Visitors can also access the Beta Lounge Remix, which restructures past interviews and DJ sets for download throughout the week. Beta Lounge has many useful links for technoheads, including live chats with beatheads from around the world. In addition to Real Networks, the site uses technology provided by Graham Technology Solutions, which includes Java-based audio and video streaming capabilities. To promote its online community, Beta Lounge runs a mailing list and encourages amateur DIs to submit their work.

Los Angeles-based Access Entertainment Network (www.aen.com) recently launched a new Web site to provide 24-hour, on-demand access (via RealVideo player) to exclusive multi-genre music content, including artist interviews, video clips and concert footage. The two organizations will co-promote and market MP3 content, along with Diamond's new portable MP3 player, the Rio PMP300, to a demographic of internet music fans who purchase and download MP3 formatted music from the Web. GoodNoise will provide Diamond with song clips to be bundled with the new player, and it will also offer song clips and singles for download from its Web site. Furthermore, Diamond recently announced a sixmonth licensing agreement with MusicMatch and Xing Technology to bundle Jukebox CD and MP3 encoding software with the new Rio player and its new Monster Sound PCI audio card.

FINGERPRINTS

4612 E. Second St., Ste. B Long Beach, CA 90803 Contact: Rand Foster

Specialties: World, dance, electronica

Phone: 562.433.4996 Fax: 562.433.0427

Fingerprints has a highly valuable relationship with L.A.'s non-commercial radio powerhouse, KCRW. As one of 10 stores that the station plugs on the air, Fingerprints receives considerable promotion from the station. To capitalize on this visibility, the store gives a discount to the station's supporters, carries everything they program and, as a result, stays on top of current trends. Rand Foster, the owner and founder of the six-year-old store, is also head of L.I.N.C.S. (Local Independent Network of CD Stores), a southern California retail coalition that includes Benway, Rhino in Claremont and Mad Platter. "Since everything in Southern California is marketed as one place," says Foster, "none of the independents down here have any real impact on their own. I figured if we [L.I.N.C.S.] did something together, we could create some kind of identity." Fingerprints is currently in the process of doubling its size to 3,000 square feet. But despite its expanded floorspace, Foster says he will stick to selling only music. "I have long discussions with other people at stores about how we need to have a big candy section and other high margin items," he says. "I can't get passionate about selling candy. Music's great though!"

CHART ACTIVITY

As its healthy import sales predicted, Belle & Sebastian's The Boy With The Arab Strap has no problem reaching the D.I.R.T. top spot, moving up from #3 in its second week out domestically. The Matador release disrupts Elliott Smith's three-week run atop the chart, with 10 #1 reports. Elsewhere, the specially priced double-disc release of early, hard-to-find material from the Throwing Muses (Rykodisc), In A Doghouse, breaks into the top 10 (#9 debut). The album went top 10 at Mod Lang, Music Millennium, Orpheum, Schoolkids and Spaceboy (#4). Frank Black & The Catholics' self-titled album (SpinArt) makes a 10 position jump (20-10) thanks to Atomic, Main Street, New World, Ozone, Reckless, Rhino (Los Angeles) and Spaceboy, among others. The Los Super Seven's self-titled release (RCA) draws on the strength of its members (Los Losbos's David Hidalgo, Joe Ely, Freddy Fender and others) to debut at #18. Culminating in an appearance on Late Night With Conan O'Brien, the Tex-Mex band hits big in the South at Park Avenue in Florida (#2) and Austin's Waterloo (#2), among others. MTV rotation and a teenybopper buzz equals sales for Atlanta-based songwriter Shawn Mullins, whose major label debut makes its chart debut at #23 this week. His Columbia-CRG debut, Soul's Core, features the happy hit single "Lullaby."

LOS SUPER SEVEN

SHAWN MULLINS

SON VOLT

Wide Swing Tremolo (Warner Bros.)

When pioneering alt-country band Uncle Tupelo dissolved in 1994, the group's songwriters split into two camps. Jeff Tweedy's Wilco claimed Tupelo's more experimental pop and rock sensibilities, while Jay Farrar's Son Volt retreated deeper into country folk. For Son Volt's third album, Farrar doesn't completely forsake the lone-some sounds found on Son Volt's 1997 album Straightaways, but he does pump up the volume. The album opens with a blast of electric guitar on the barroom rocker "Straightface," before adding feedback and bluesy riffs on "Question" and "Flow." Farrar's renewed interest in rock doesn't alter the band's musical personality — he still wears his heart on his sleeve on pretty ballads like "Streets That Time Walks" and "Strands." The latter blends his plaintive vocals (think Michael Stipe in the '80s with more twang) with both acoustic and electric guitar, and piano. — Wendy Mitchell

BARBARA MANNING

In New Zealand (Communion)

In New Zealand was recorded while Barbara Manning and her backing band, Calexico's

Joey Burns and John Convertino, toured New Zealand in 1997. The album showcases Manning's collaborations with several of herm usical heroes and influences from the country, including The Clean's David Kilgour, Chris Knox, the 3D's David Mitchell and Denise Roughham and the Verlaines' Graeme Downes. Manning's work has always contained its share of sonic experimentalism and odd, left-of-center beauty — characteristics well-sustained and nurtured by this group of like-minded songwriters and musicians. Manning's warm vocals and stark, subtly melodic guitar playing ensure that each track retains her trademark stamp of introspection and insight, while the gentle sway and brooding tones of her collaborators shed new light on the depth and complexity of her style. — Colin Helms

BOB LOG III

School Bus (Fat Possum-Epitaph)

If you're open-minded enough to embrace a drum machine-toting, prosthetic-limbed, white one-man band as a modern manifestation of the blues, then the warm and clunky soulfulness of Bob Log III should place a milewide, shit-eating grin on your face. Log bangs out his radically customized hoot with "a monkey paw," a mockhand used to send forth all kinds of crotch-scratching, warp-speed evil from his slide guitar. Pedal-triggered synthetic beats and the thump of a lone kick drum keep Log's feet busy, while he yammers foulness like "I Want Your Shit On My Leg," and immortalizes his "Big Ass Hard On." A veritable steel-strung clap-trap of sooty, primitive rhythm, this inventively boogie-minded individual sounds dangerous, even slightly psychotic. Which may be why he wears a mysterious protective helmet. A fine set of field-hollers for punk rockers. — Jordan N. Mamone

COMBUSTIBLE EDISON

The Impossible World (Sub Pop)

Combustible Edison's brilliant take on the kind of cool, '60s lounge-jazz to which your dad would sip Rob Roys before turning in re-creates the JFK years more faithfully than Oliver Stone's team of crack historians. The Impossible World, the quintet's first album since 1996's Schizo-phonic, continues to explore the more cerebrally soothing aspects of the music of the Atomic Age without ever missing a kitsched-out note. By adding sybaritic drum loops and elements of dub into Combustible Edison's already seductive blend of cocktail hour string arrangements, spy-rock grooves and roller rink organ. The Impossible World makes a great choice in sonic furniture for any retroactive household. — Ron Hart

For Fans Of: ¡Esquivel!, Enrio Morricone, the Cardigans Recommended Tracks: "Cat O'Nine Tails," "Dior," "Tickled To Death"

JON COUGAR CONCENTRATION CAMP

Melon (BYO)

Jon Cougar Concentration Camp is all hopped up and full of snot, and the message on Melon seems to be threefold: "Go!," "go faster!" and "fuck you!" Too smart-assed and melodic to be considered hardcore, the band's style of super-fast and snide street punk is the sort of madness that gets teen ageadrenal glands all hot and bothered. The band churns out 13 songs in 25 minutes, motored by a hard-pounding drum assault that seldom lets up. The guitars also rarely dip below the red, squealing away like a pig gone to its slaughter. Lyrically, JCCC offers up words that make the band sound either incredibly pissed off or completely amusing, with few in-betweens. — Kelso Jacks

For Fans Of: Bouncing Souls, Avail, G.G. Allin, Dillinger Four Recommended Tracks: "You Either Got It Or You Don't," "Monster," "Back In The Day," "Punk Rock Gives Me The Shitz"

SCOFFLAWS

Record Of Conviction (Moon Ska)

The Scofflaws are one of the most respected and entertaining ska outfits come from Long Island. With incredibly on-target horn arrangements and a knack for unusual keyboard noodling, the seven-piece again puts together some wonderful panic-paced ska on Record Of Conviction. Peppy, tight and funkier than many of its contemporaries, the band sports remarkable musicianship throughout. The

Scofflaws are at their best on the instrumental tracks, though, where their formidable bounce and polish isn't reduced by its sometimes clumsy rhymes and clichéd lyrical themes. — Kelso Jacks

For Fans Of: Skatalites, Toasters, Oingo Boingo Recommended Tracks: "Show Band Anthem," "Nightmare,"

"Rumanian Ska, "Ga Juma"

JUNIOR KIMBROUGH

God Knows I Tried (Fat Possum-Epitaph)

From the moment he picked up a guitar to the day he was laid to rest, Junior Kimbrough earned his legacy by stealing back the blues from the mulletheads and hot doggers of the contemporary blues scene and bringing it back home to its dirty southern roots. God Knows I Tried, the first posthumous Kimbrough release, is a raw testimonial, giving reason as to why bands such as U2, Sonic Youth and the Stones trekked down to Kimbrough's jukejoint deep in the heart of the Mississippi Delta for the opportunity to see him live in action. Featuring eight tracks culled from local performances over the past decade (including three songs from a set at his club, Junior's Place, in 1992), God Knows... is bareknuckled electric blues at its finest — a moonshine-soaked epitaph for one of the genre's greatest prophets. - Ron Hart

CLIFFORD GILBERTO RHYTHM COMBINATION

I Was Young & Needed The Money (Ninja Tune) Clifford Gilberto's marriage of jazz and electronic music is particularly fertile. Laying down drum 'n' bass basics, then adding syncopated snare drum and the warm, booming tone of an acoustic bass provides Gilberto with the perfect rhythmic combination to build elegant sound collages filled with bits of horns and other jazzy odds 'n' ends. This may sound like the same recipe labelmate Amon Tobin uses, but Gilberto draws from a different batch of ingredients. Eschewing Tobin's Buddy Rich fixation, Gilberto calls on the electric jazz fusion of the '70s and '80s. Always moving forward and changing, the hyperactive Gilberto never lets the music go stale before he takes it off in a new and unexpected direction. — Tad Hendrickson

RIALTO

Rialto (China-Sire)

Rialto's sexual undertones and melodramatic tales of mundane existence ("I blew my chances, as you blowdried your hair") will draw comparisons to albums like Pulp's This Is Hardcore. But Rialto isn't quite as subversive as Jarvis Cocker and company, which bodes well for fans of lush, unabashed pop music. Prior to the release of Rialto, the band had several hit singles in the U.K., and this impressive debut is full of hummable melodies and swelling choruses that would make Phil Spector proud. The six-member band turns out fully saturated pop songs that include reverby guitar, keyboards, harpsichords, tambourines, strings and horns. Frontman Louis Eliot offers lyrics filled with agony and irony, adding a wonderfully tart filling to Rialto's sugarcoated songs. — Wendy Mitchell

QUEENS OF THE STONE AGE

Queens Of The Stone Age (Loosegroove)

Queens Of The Stone Age boasts three veterans of lauded stoner rock band Kyuss.

Despite combining corpulent chunks of Black Sabbath-like lowend riffs with trancey wahwah effects, the band's hypnoticemissions serve as more than just the background music for bong hits. Loaded with '70s style guitar solos and hooks, this self titled debut's songs are smoothly steered by 25-year-old guitar god Josh Homme's vocals, and his delievery prevents the band from being categorized as a second-rate Kyuss. Instead, Kyuss's trademark acid-blues sound has been expanded with crisper, more song-oriented arrangements and a less drug-induced aura. The Queens' sound has the pure rock 'n' roll power to enhance various states of consciousness. — Amy Sciarretto

CINERAMA

Va Va Voom (spinART)

Cinerama is a new project from Wedding Present leader David Gedge. Leaving behind the Wedding Present's trademark churning electric guitar rhythms, Va Va Voom is filled with strumming acoustic guitars, percolating organs, Burt Bacharach-like string arrangements, all with tasteful subtlety. While the music showcases Gedge's newfound sophistication, he still draws his lyrical inspiration from that less cerebral emotion known as love. A sound bite of a woman chasing off an old boyfriend (in o p e n e r "Maniac") is the shot to the heart that gets the ball rolling. Va Va Voom proceeds with Gedge's 13-song response to the sample in which he explores feelings of repentance, anger, lust, love and regret. A poignantly lyrical album well matched by gentle lounge-pop backdrops, Va Va Voom is enough to make any smart woman take back this hopeless romantic. — Tad Hendrickson

STEREOPHONIC SPACE SOUND UNLIMITED

The Fluid Soundbox (Mai Tai-Doctor Dream)

As composers of various themes for Swiss television programs, the Stereophonic Space Sound Unlimited is well versed in making memorable music to coincide with visual accompaniment. It's no coincidence, therefore, that The Fluid Sound-box sounds like a collection of sound bites taken from classic '60s space age television programs. Combining live instrumentation with modern drum loops and samples, the duo creates a psychedelic fantasy world where sly spy grooves meet sexy surf guitars, campy sci-fi flourishes and dusty western ditties. Featuring titles such as "Theme From Stella Interstellar," "Project QX 5" and "Mummy Walk," it's safe to say that The Fluid Soundbox doesn't take itself too seriously. However, the tongue-in-cheek brilliance of this 14-track release makes it an exciting retro/lounge gem. — M. Tye Comer

ORIGINAL HARMONY RIDGE CREEK DIPPERS

Pacific Coast Rambler (Creek Dippers)

Those lamenting the departure of singer/songwriter Mark Olson from the Jayhawks will delight in the sounds of the Original H a r m o n y Ridge Creek D i p p e r s, Olson's home recording project with his wife, Victoria Williams (credited as "Mabel Allbright"), and multi-instrumentalist Mike "Razz" Russell. Pacific Coast Ramber, the trio's second album (which, like its eponomously titled predecessor, is sold and distributed by the couple themselves) is a fairly simple country-folk outing, marked by Olson's sweet heartache of a voice and equally winsome melodies. Together with Williams's creaky harmonizing and Russell's old-timey accompaniment on fiddle, viola, accordion and other assorted instruments, the Dippers manage some beautifully understated and bittersweet backporch folk. — Colin Helms

PETER JEFFRIES

Substatic (Emperor Jones-Trance Syndicate)

In the 11 years since his last instrumental record, At Swim 2 Birds, Peter Jeffries has carved out a niche as a dapper, black-hued four-track freak with a knack for songwriting and exquisite piano arrangements, both baroque and ultra-ininimal. The multi-instrumentalist's fourth solo album again eschews vocals, but rather than meditatively trance out, Substatic winds its way forward with spectral placidity, exploring a panorama of moods and arrangements, all slightly, but never overpoweringly, gothic. The introverted yet inviting symmetry could be labeled symphonic rock minimalism; Jeffries stratifies his instruments and rhythms, meshing rolling drums, nocturne-like piano, post-punk melodies and loops into a soothing, yet invigorating soundtrack to some Southern Hemisphere highway. Magnificent. — Jordan N. Mamone

DOMINIONS

Dominions (Turducken)

The self-titled debut from one-man sound artist Dominions (Lawrence Lui to his parents) isn't exactly the year's most engaging record, nor do its specific tracks stand out much. But as with most ambient/collage-type work these days, physicality and catchiness are moot points. Lui distinguishes himself from his bedroom electronics brethren with an ear for diversity and a computer geek's sense of humor. Dominions approaches multiple angles of arcana with even-keeled, good-natured aplomb. Just when the going gets pretentious, a Dungeons & Dragons fan title like "Throne Of The Chrysanthemum King" or a hidden New Order cover lightens the mood. Thus, the merciless static of "Ah Pook The Destroyer" segues naturally into the sine-wave pop softness of "Lullaby." Recommended for noise fans unafraid to admit their fondness for Depeche Mode and Lou Barlow. — Jordan N. Mamone

FIRST PERSON

STEVIE RAY VAUGHAN & DOUBLE TROUBLE

Couldn't Stand The Weather (Epic)

It's easy to immortalize an artist who has passed away as a "legend." It happens almost every time we lose someone from the music and entertainment industry. Sinatra was certainly worthy of the handle, as was Kurt Cobain, Biggie Smalls and Frank Zappa in each of their own ways, but the scribblings of an opinionated journalist do not automatically render somebody into the league of a Muddy Waters. It's the body of work and the feats that artist has achieved that makes one a legend. Stevie Rav Vaughan was a legend. Here was a man looked upon as a musical relative of Buddy Guy and Albert Collins because he was a Texas boy who could play the guitar as if he were raised in a mudshack on the Mississippi River. I received my eduction in the blues the day I ran across a dusty old copy of Vaughan's 1984 sophomore classic, Couldn't Stand The Weather, in my cousin's record crate. To me, this album summarized nearly a century's worth of blues in eight songs: from the Delta traditionalism of Leadbelly and the Reverend Gary Davis to the leftfield psychedelia of Cream and Jimi Hendrix. Indeed, the production may have been polished up to sound like a Bruce Springsteen album, but the rawness of Vaughan's brilliant guitar work transcends the studio gloss. The album's gritty combination of funked up Texas boogie and wailing juke joint testimonials redefined the blues in an era when pop music was experiencing a transitional quagmire in the wake of Lionel Richie. And at a time when it was considered an act of blasphemy according to rock purists to cover Hendrix, Vaughan played a version of "Voodoo Chile (Slight Return)" that rivals the original in both energy and precision. By the time you read this, the date that would have been Stevie Ray Vaughan's 44th birthday, will have passed. So the next time you hear somebody talk about how rock is dead, just remember that the disease that's killing it began to take effect on August 27, 1990 when we lost one of the last men in rock 'n' roll worthy of being called a legend. - Ron Hart who collected hundreds, if not thousands of recordings in order to document folk music in all its various forms and styles. Most importantly, Smith's Anthology helped form a bridge between the older music of the 78 rpm era and the modern age of the early '60s. Many a folkie and scores of rockers have a battered copy of the Anthology on their shelves, and many of the songs were later covered by artists of the mid-'60s to the present, including Bob Dylan on his early '90s cover albums. This compilation, taken from a weekend's worth of live concerts in Washington, DC, and intended as a tribute to Smith and his work, features modern artists covering songs that were included on Smith's original anthology. Much like Billy Bragg's collaborations with Wilco regarding the music of Woody Guthrie, it presents classics made fresh for an entirely new generation. — James Lien

Songs Of Christmas:

From The Alan Lomax Collection (Rounder)

Spring, summer, fall or winter is an appropriate time to dive into the treasure trove of Alan Lomax's field recordings. These seasonal pieces, recorded by Lomax (and Peter Kennedy) in the '50s, highlight the sometimes different, other times equally as similar ways that American, European and Caribbean cultures celebrate and express themselves during their holy days. The lilting folk tunes of the British Isles and the glorious spirituals from Georgia's Sea Islands will sound relatively familiar, but Lomax knew to look further to find songs that were equally stunning, if not downright haunting. A group of Italian shepherds play a lullaby

Bergheim 34 (EP) (First Love)

Bergheim 34 is the address in Heidelberg, Germany, where this assemblage of young artists lays down its live electronic bleeps and beats. With names like Casio Casino and Sad Rockets, the members of this sextet work on the minimal ambient tip, with enough echo fills and bass rumbles to keep the soundspace from becoming too sparse. Bergheim 34's influences are easy to deduce (keyboardist Anne Vortisch is a student of Kraftwerk's Florian Schneider), but they remain more of an inspiration than a reason for imitation. With the snare in the background, and captivating synth chords at the fore, Bergheim 34 demonstrates a strong talent for adventurous electronic composition. — David Day

WAGON CHRIST Tally Ho! (Astralwerks)

It's no secret that Wagon Christ is one of the alteregos of ultra-talented Cornish musician Luke Vibert. While the work he's released under his three banners (Luke Vibert, Plug and Wagon Christ) all highlight a different aspect of his musical character, each maintains the level of technical superiority and combination of ambient, jazz, breakbeat and techno that has made Vibert one of the most respected producers in the scene. With Tally Ho!, his first full-length release for Astralwerks under the moniker, Vibert fully lives up to his reputation. The album is a diverse sampling of electronic sounds with influences ranging from disco to acid-house to ambient groove to experimental breakbeat. Tally Ho! is humorous in spots and nearly horrific in others, but is guaranteed to provide an intriguing listening experience throughout.

beat box news

Congratulations to Canibus, whose highlyanticipated debut, Can-I-Bus, debuted at the top of Billboard's rap chart, while claiming the #2 spot on the pop and R&B charts...Foxy Brown has asked alternative rock waif Fiona Apple to contribute vocals to Foxy's new album, due out in November. The Ill Nana has also asked that Madonna grace the record with her presence, while Jay-Z will turn up on the track "Bonnie and Clyde." To boot, Janet Jackson will appear on Foxy's remake of Jackson's hit "What Have You Done For Me Lately." Brown, collaborating with Mia X and Three 6 Mafia's Gangsta Boo, is also planning to cover the N.W.A. classic "Niggaz With

KURUPT Kuruption (Antra-A&M)

Adding a new dimension to the rap game, the Philly-born, Cali-educated Kurupt makes his solo debut with this double album. Bridging the gap between the coasts, Kurupt's first musical effort without Dogg Pound sidekick Daz Dillinger is ambitious to say the least. With one whole disc devoted to West Coast-styled G-funk hip-hop and the other representing harder, East Coast-styled beats, Kurupt covers a lot of ground. Producers Dillinger, Battlecat and Easy Mo Bee cook up several nice platters of pounding beats to compliment Kurupt's urgent, poignant rhymes that twists words with the ease of Snoop Doggy Dog and 2Pac's violent force. Though not always consistent on the production tip, Kurupt holds it down with a thuggish flow that's tight on both party-oriented jams and street-level shots.

FIRST PLATOON

"M.I.A.M.I." (12") (First String Entertainment)

Hailed as Miami's official hip-hop group, Louie Knuckles, Nemesis and L-R Hoox live up to the hype on this promising single. Balancing quickwitted lyrical blasts with chest-thumping beats, this is a loud wake up call to those who thought Florida only produced booty bass beats. Check the flipside to "Money Hungry," a club cut on par with Sporty Thievz's "Cheapskate."

INDIGENOUS Things We Do (Pachyderm)

Indigenous is lead by Native American Mato Nanji, who, along with siblings and bandmates Wandbi, Pte and Horse, is an active member of the Nakota Nation in South Dakota. His stunning blues-rock guitar and baritone vocals are similar in style to the pyrotechnics of Stevie Ray Vaughn and Albert King, but with added support from his talented siblings, Mato churns out tasty smooth-groove melodies. He can also shake it up with intense, edgy abandon.

JOHNNY ADAMS

Man Of My Word (Rounder)

Adams's ninth and final solo release for Rounder (see obituary in this week's News) reveals that one of the finest soul singers from the New Orleans school still had a gorgeous voice at the age of 67 while battling cancer. Soaring melodies and brilliantly executed phrases have always marked Adams's style, and Man Of My Word is the perfect parting gift from one of the genre's masters.

DUKE DANIELS

Help Is On The Way (E Pluribus Unum)

Although Duke Daniels is the name of this Los Angeles roots-pop quintet, Dan Clark is the group's lead singer/songwriter. Marshall Crenshaw's influence comes through in the band's sparse arrangements and appetizing hooks, but the choice of Andrew Williams as producer (Victoria Williams, Peter Case) adds an earthy familiarity to the album.

VARIOUS ARTISTS Two Cries Of Freedom (ROIR)

It's really not that surprising that in the darkest corners of Spain's prison system there lurk some dynamic and incredible musicians, whose music is documented on this CD of flamenco singers and musicians found amongst the Spanish prison population. While you don't hear chains clanking and cups rattling on the bars, these recordings can be rather spooky — in places, the wailing voices of the singers remind you of the passion and fervor found in Sufi or Arabic singers. Perhaps it's best to think of this as the Spanish equivalent to the deepest Delta blues or the hardest of inner city rap.

GIRLS OF ANGELI

The New Voice Of North (Finlandia)

The Girls Of Angeli come from the village of Angeli, which is a remote region in Northern Finland. The European counterpart to North American Eskimos, the Sami people are the indigenous inhabitants of Finland, Sweden, Norway and parts of Russia. Their music is the 'yoik," which is a chanting vocal style that should be familiar to fans of the music from the Northern latitudes, and a distant cousin to the music of Bulgarian womens' choirs.

RALPH IRIZARRY & TIMBALAYE RALPH IRIZARRY & TIMBALAYE (Shanachie)

After a 28-year career as a sideman that included stints with Ruben Blades and Harry Belafonte, as well as appearing extensively with David Byrne on his Rei Momo tour, timbalero Ralph Irizarry leads his own group, Timbalaye. His sizzling blend of salsa and jazz is a winning combination, and the percussionist leads a band of some of New York's most in-demand players, recalling the classic Willie Bobo/Mongo Santemaria sound that is a favorite of Latin connoisseurs.

azz news

A few years ago, the ever-youthful Tony Bennett reclaimed his hip status among America's twentysomethings. Buoyed by this success, he's now reaching out to an even younger generation with The Playground, a new collection of songs geared towards children. Released September 29, The Playground pairs Bennett with two of biggest names in the entertainment industry — for fouryear-olds. Sesame Street's Kermit The Frog duets with Bennett on rousing renditions of "Bein' Green" and "Firefly." Elmo joins Bennett on "Little Things." Real live human Rosie O'Donnell lends a hand for "Put On A Happy Face," which Bennett also performed for his September 25 appearance on O'Donnell's show...Not to be outdone, downtown music maven John Zorn will release Music Romance Vol. 1: Music For Children on his Tzadik label in October. This is the first in Tony Bennett & Kermit The Frog series of discs said to showcase Zorn's compositional talents at their most eclectic. Among other things, Zorn unveils a 20-minute piece with three wind machines and two (continued on page 63)

TOM VARNER The Window Up Above (New World)

Tom Varner is an anomaly in the jazz world namely, a French horn player - and perhaps not surprisingly, his music has always been unique, and often startlingly innovative. Subtitled American Songs 1770-1998, The Window Up Above is an insanely ambitious project, spanning American music from Revolutionary War all the way up to The Wizard Of Oz, from Hank Williams to Duke Ellington to Bruce Springsteen. Varner handles this eclectic program with fresh ideas and great playing.

WAYNE HORVITZ AND ZONY MASH

Brand Spankin' New (Knitting Factory)

Keyboardist Wayne Horvitz's Zony Mash explores the seamy side of funk, like Booker T. & The MGs getting together in a New York squat instead of a studio in Memphis - it's Ludlow Street instead of McLemore Avenue, Chinatown noodle shops rather than barbeque soul food joints. The quartet (bass, guitar, drums and Horvitz's vintage B-3 organ and Moog synths) provide lots of lean funk from the underground.

Shades Of Bev (Evidence)

Vocalist Andy Bey's 22 year absence from recording came to an end in 1996 with the release of Ballads, Blues & Bey, and fortunately we didn't have to wait as long for a follow-up. Backed by a steady acoustic ensemble that features Geri Allen and Gary Bartz among others, Shades Of Bey showcases the vocalist's formidable talent - every syllable is weighted with meaning, every word explores new degrees of feeling.

MARILYN MANSON Mechanical Animals (Nothing-Interscope)

So what if much of the MTV Video Music Awards were spent making cracks (!) about Marilyn Manson. Sure, maybe he should've added a few more stitches to the seat of his pants during his award show performance, but Manson's new album continues to thrive in the face of negative reviews of the band. The band's characteristic harsh guitar sounds and industrial beats are absent on Mechanical Animals, perhaps due to the numerous line-up changes since the band's last album. In their place are smoother tunes underlined by fatter, synthesized beats as Manson moves away from Ministry-inspired brutality towards a strangely accessible Bowie-styled rock. But don't worry, he's held onto his murderously angry lyrics: "I wish I could sleep/But I can't lay on my back/Because there's a knife/For everyday that I've known you."

SPINESHANK

Strictly Diesel (Roadrunner)

Los Angeles's Spineshank merges the aggressive grooviness of Soulfly with the sensual anger of the Deftones and adds an industrial edge, provided by synthesized guitars and seductive vocals. Though only together since '96, the band attracted the attention of Roadrunner via its ties to Fear Factory (in fact, FF's Burton C. Bell sang on the demo cut that solidified the band's deal with the label). Strictly Diesel displays an impressive depth for a debut album.

KIDNEY THIEVES

Trickster (Push)

The Kidney Thieves could easily pass as the angry twin band to Switchblade Symphony, or be considered a more industrial-sounding Dancehall Crashers. Female singer Free Dominguez's voice retains a girlish sensuality over Bruce Somers' agitated music. The album's gruesome cover art does nothing to indicate the beauty of the music that this couple is capable of producing.

Epitaph Records will domestically release Millencolin's debut album, Same Old Tunes, on October 6. The record was previously available only as an import, and it includes Millencolin live staples such as "Da Strike" and "Mr Clean."...Ten years ago this week, Def Leppard's Hysteria topped the Billboard 200. This week in 1998, Def Leppard announced plans to release a new album, due out in the spring of next year. Though at times it's hard to tell, some things have changed since the halcyon days of hair metal:

Spandex and Robert "Mutt" Lange are both ancient history. Lange, who produced Def Leppard's signature albums, is now ensconced in the world of country music, producing hits for his wife, Shania Twain. Is that why her choruses always sound so much like '80s radio metal?...Cast an (continued on page 38) open a New York City office. Also, P's No Limit Sports Agency has taken off, having already signed 50 clients, including Derek Anderson. No Limit is getting ready to add an Athlete's Foot store to its operations, which also includes a shopping center and a real estate business. On the movie tip, P and Eddie Griffin have finished filming Foolish, a comedy/drama based on Griffin's life story. The colonel has also commissioned artist Michael Pearce to paint a seven-foot-high self-portrait, along with portraits of C-Murder, Snoop and Silkk, for No Limit's new compound. The paintings are said to be worth over $10,000 each...Now a mature 16, the Latch-Key Child, A+, will premier his sophomore album on November 17. Entitled Hempstead High, the Kedar-Universal Records release will feature Erykah Badu, Chico DeBarge, Canibus and MJG, among others. The first single, "Enjoy Yourself," drops on October 6.

internet vote for your favorite band to open for Slayer. Go to the Slayer homepage, www.diabolus.com/ 15minfame, or simply email your suggestion to fame@diabolus.net. Though the contest has been running for over a month, all entries received prior to September 10 were deleted when the system crashed after an overwhelming number of hits. The lucky headbangers will be selected by Sony Music, by means of tallying emailed votes, and the winner will play a to-be-announced venue early next year. Take advantage of democracy and let your voice be heard...At a recent Slayer gig in NYC, Kilgore served as the opening act. At the rate things are going, the band may headline such shows in the near future. Kilgore is moving approximately 500 units per week, and their sales figures are quickly approaching the 10,000 mark...Kudos to Korn. Their latest record is nearing the gold record mark of 500,000 units sold...The Death Across America Tour played to a surprisingly packed house in NYC this past weekend. Over 300 kids came out to see death metal legends Gorguts and Oppressor, along with and up-and-coming evil mongers Cryptopsy and Nile. Canada's Cryptopsy pretty much stole the show, pummeling onlookers with incredible energy and charisma. After it endured hard times on Invasion and Wrong Again Records, the band is now signed to Century Media. Be sure to check out Cryptopsy's latest rite of passage, Whisper Supremacy. These guys have the makings of underground heroes...King Diamond drummer John Luc Hebert has joined industrialmetal kings Pitbull Daycare for a U.S. tour, running through October 4.

'98, a global dance event that will unite more than 30 countries to aid the people of Tibet and promote the spirit of "planetary peace." Last year's event succeeded in raising more than £40,000 for international Tibetan groups. Part of the 1997 funds were also used to build an orphanage in Tibet for homeless children whose parents have been jailed by the Chinese government. The climax of this year's Earthdance will be a simultaneous dance floor link-up where, at a specific moment, every participating DJ in each country will play a "world peace" track specially created for the event. For more information about Earthdance '98, the benefit's American happenings, or the webcast, contact Susan Mainzer at 213.466.5141 or send email to susan@greengalactic.com...The Dancemusic Organization Of America, a coalition of more than 40 dance musicrelated labels from across the country, will be holding a series of monthly events at the East Village night-spot Webster Hall in an effort to promote what it refers to as intelligent dance music and record labels. The next two D.O.A. events, organized in conjunction with the New York City club, will take place on Friday, October 30 and on Friday, November 20. For artists/DJ lineups, guest information, and other inquiries for D.O.A., Webster Hall and Webster Hall Records, call 1.888.WEB.HALL or, log on to www.webster-hall.com.

to Time-Life history books to Buffy The Vampire Slayer clothing), but it will eventually sell entertainment-related products made by competitors. The new site is expected to augment, not replace, existing sites run by Time Warner units, such as the Atlantic Records Web site. Currently, Time-Warner has a booming mail-order business, selling more than $2 billion worth of merchandise through its Book Of the Month Club, Columbia House Record Club and more. The online retail plans mark a shift in Time-Warner's Internet strategy, analysts noted. In 1994, the company launched the Pathfinder Web site, hoping to generate significant advertising revenues through that site. But by 1995, a Time Inc. executive was already calling the popular but unprofitable Pathfinder a "black hole."

Legs, Tight Skirt" that also features Ike Turner on keyboards.

"The album is for everyone [Hooker has] worked with over the years that have just been really close to his music," says Mike Newman, College Promotions Director at Virgin Records. "It's all about the people that he's worked with and how tight they are with him. It even comes to the new stuff, and new friendships. Particularly with Ben Harper — he met Harper right around the release of Ben's first record and loved his music. They live fairly close to one another, and Ben plays with him a lot. They go out and hang together. So they decided to do a track."

Harper contributes to the new track "Burnin' Hell," a Hendrix-esque slayer that also features legendary harmonica player Charlie Musselwhite. For a remake of his 1948 song "Boogie Chillen," Hooker assembled a band that included Clapton on guitar, Jim Keltner on drums and Bill Payne of Little Feat on keyboards.

"Being a compilation, [The Best Of Friends] sums up some of the best work that he's done with people over the years," Newman says. "As far as interest in the record goes, it contains the most viable stuff for maybe a casual listener of John Lee Hooker. Maybe we [have] a Ben Harper fan who doesn't know about John Lee Hooker, maybe they're gonna check him out just because they see Ben's name on the record, or Clapton's or Santana's."

Although the bulk of The Best Of Friends stays true to the duets theme, Hooker included one solo number on the album. "Tupelo," a song Hooker wrote about flooding in Tupelo, Mississippi, was originally recorded for the English TV series The South Bank Show.

The album's first single, "Boogie Chillen," goes for adds October 6, while the entire album goes for adds October 19-20. While he is unable to tour extensively because of his age, Hooker will play several dates on the West Coast in support of the album, including a performance at Stanford University and two nights at San Francisco's Fillmore in November.

Standing an imposing six foot six inches tall, Kinder, Louisiana's Beau Jocque has literally become one of the giants in modern zydeco music since his debut, 1993's Beau Jocque Boogie. However, the irony in Jocque's meteoric rise to fame and his unconventional style lies in the fact that it happened because of an accident.

Jocque was introduced to zydeco and its trademark instrument, the accordion, by his father (also an accomplished player) following a temporarily paralyzing accident he suffered while working as an electrician. "I was on this vessel that just blew up and sent me in the air, and I landed sitting down on some concrete, and I broke my lower back," Jocque recalls. "I was paralyzed from the waist down for about a year...during that down time I spent some time with my dad who plays cajun accordion, which is the first music I learned on the accordion."

But Jocque was not originally interested in cajun or zydeco music, and he never listened to it. He spent his time listening to icons such as Carlos Santana, ZZ Top, John Lee Hooker and Stevie Ray Vaughan, but when his father pulled some reverse psychology, Jocque was up for the challenge. "My dad always insisted that I would never learn [it], it was too complicated," he says. "I had to prove him wrong." Jocque would reinterpret his favorite rock and R&B songs in the zydeco style, and aside from upsetting his father, it tickled the hell out of Jocque.

It doesn't take much effort to hear locque's influences brewing within his music. He pioneered a sound that incorporates heavy doses of contemporary funk and R&B, along with soul and rap, anchored by an undeniable groove. These influences have never been so evident as they are on his latest album, Check It Out, Lock It In, Crank It Up! (Rounder), featuring his Zydeco Hi-Rollers. Overlapping such contemporary sounds (even tossing in a few covers) has not only built bridges that never existed before, but it has also pushed Jocque's music to the edge of the musical mainstream. Both young and old fans now enjoy his live, dance-filled shows. "People recognize what I'm doing, and how I'm turning a basic traditional thing into something more of-the-day," says Jocque. "The zydeco thing was considered to be an old-folks thing – and that was the problem – but then I started adding a little bit of today's music in it, something I may have caught on BET, and I started noticing that the crowds changed. It just needed more life and energy."

But now that Beau Jocque has been performing his hybrid of zydeco music for most of the past decade, it has softened his feeling toward the more traditional aspects of the music. "It made me look on the inside more. I'm assuming the reason why zydeco was what is used to be is because of what was available for the artists to hear," he states. "I've never listened to zydeco music, so I think [I] have an advantage because I was not influenced by anything that was already out there. I took the basic roots of it, but I added some things that were never done before."

As zydeco still remains largely a regional style, Jocque is aware that it still has a way to go before it's more universally accepted and its age-old preconceptions are washed away. "It was not a music anybody would consider to sit down and listen to unless you were a zydeco fanatic," he muses. "It's really an undiscovered music, like jazz, blues or rock and roll before [they] were discovered." But Jocque is also encouraged by the reception he and his music get in his travels around the world. He has played in London, New Zealand, France, Australia and Turkey to sold-out audiences. "In London the cops stopped my show [because] people were coming on stage, taking their clothes off and diving in the audience - they were getting wild," Jocque recalls. "They said that I was the Mick Jagger of zydeco."

Beau Jocque is looking forward to recording a live album of collaboration for his own label with some of his favorite artists (Buckwheat Zydeco, B.B. King, Fats Domino) and he also ponders the state of his music. "What I set out to prove is that zydeco can be a relative to blues, rock and roll, jazz, and you can play it anyway you choose. There are different styles and ways you can play zydeco — I can give you easy listening zydeco or hard rock zydeco. I think its time for something new. I'm out here to have fun."

DEAN BLACKWOOD

LABEL DESPOT, REVENANT RECORDS

revenant1@earthlink.net

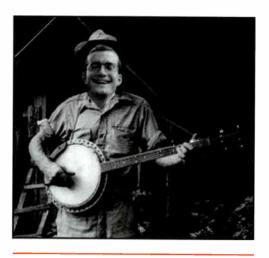

Interview by Tad Hendrickson

Revenant Records is the brainchild of legendary folk-blues enigma John Fahey and Nashville lawyer Dean Blackwood. Over the last couple of years, the two have released a small but eclectic array of music that seems to have little in common other than being championed by Fahey and Blackwood. Already releasing discs by Cecil Taylor, Jim O'Rourke, Charlie Feathers, Doc Boggs and a compilation called American Primitives, the future looks very interesting for the label. Its upcoming releases include a vinyl anthology by San Francisco's legendary punk band Crime, reissues of John Fahey's earliest recordings on Fonotone (originally issued on 78 RPM vinyl under the guise of a long lost bluesman named Blind Thomas), releases from Harmonica Frank Floyd, Buell Kazee, a second installment of American Primitives and a five-CD box set of rare Captain Beefheart recordings. We caught up with Blackwood at his office in Nashville.

CMJ: How did you hook up with John Fahey? Dean Blackwood: I'd been wondering what might have become of Fahey when I came across Byron Coley's "Day In The Life With Fahey" article in a 1994 issue of Spin. A few phone calls later, there I was asking our man if he'd like to be (once again) immortalized in shellac, as part of this series of 78s I was putting out. We worked together on that, I did some legal work for him, and I tried (ineptly) to do some fillin work for him as manager/booking agent. He came into some money via inheritance in 1996 and blew pretty much the whole wad on getting this rinky-dink operation going.

Whose idea was it to start reissuing these long lost works?

Well, that's never strictly been the idea. The idea was to put out the raw stuff, have a label devoted solely to what we perceive as the real primordial goop. Since there is a fair amount of great, neglected stuff out there and lots of labels out there doing a nice job with new music, we have pretty much left the newer stuff to them and concentrated on older titles. There was a mutual agreement on a few archetypes for the "raw musics" thing — Captain Beefheart, Dock Boggs, Ornette Coleman (still hoping!) — and the rest of the releases

"THE IDEA WAS TO PUT OUT THE RAW STUFF, HAVE A LABEL DEVOTED SOLELY TO WHAT WE PERCEIVE AS THE REAL PRIMORDIAL GOOP"

one or the other of us brought to the table. For something to get issued, we have to both agree on it.

Rumor has it that you have a Captain Beefheart box set in the works.

It's the God's honest truth. A five-CD box of rarities is due for release in March of 1999. It will span 1965-81 and will include "enhanced" CD audio/video footage of early live performances. John "Drumbo" French is writing the bulk of the notes, with help from David Fricke and John Corbett. The whole shebang will be housed in an 80 page hardcover book with lotsa rare photos and all that crazy collector obsessive stuff.

So how does a lawyer end up running a record label?

Not very well, I'm afraid. I'm about to turn the whole thing over to those guys at Sub Pop. They've got it going on.

Sub Pop is going to take over? How did this come about?

That was a joke. Not with a 10-foot pole would I allow them near my beloved Boggsy-Woggsy.

Well, you never know. After all, Fat Possum works with Epitaph. So does this mean that you're not interested in hooking up with a bigger company to distribute your stuff?

Our distributor, Koch, does a great job. What we need is not distribution muscle, as Koch is the best of all worlds to us — both a big presence out there and still easy for us to deal with. What we need is great gushing infusions of cash, because these packages are expensive. If we had more cash up front, we could do significantly larger pressings on the front end at a much smaller cost per unit, rather than doing multiple repressings at low or no profit. Anybody ready to throw money at us, please step forward. [But] if it means giving up control of what we issue and how it's packaged, we'd just as soon continue to have "curious footnote" status.

What do Captain Beefheart, Dock Boggs, Charlie Feathers, Cecil Taylor, Crime and Jim O'Rourke all have in common?

Fahey would say, "Well, we like them all. That's what they have in common." I think that's right, too. But if there's something underlying why we like them all, maybe it's this "rawness" that they all seem to have — a rawness of spirit, of vision, an uncompromising quality, a pioneering bent. I think all these guys are sort of the ultimate "roots" artists. I expect to see Cecil Taylor and Crime on the cover of No Depression any day now.

How have people responded to Revenant releases? Is there a typical Revenant fan?

The response has been good. For some releases, especially the Dock Boggs set with its time-intensive packaging, the problem has been keeping up with demand. As to who's doing the buying: It's my impression that a small part of the mix of buyers is the Yazoo/Arhoolie/Smithsonian-Folkways contingent, with another equally small part being the underground kids discovering music outside of their usual orbit. I think the bulk of it is just the general. musically-adventurous listener population. Seems like your average person who does a fair amount of music listening outside of what's on the radio does not restrict himself to any single genre. I'd say that's who we're aiming at.

Besides the Captain Beefheart project, what else has you really excited now?

Selected Recordings By John Work, a black professor of music at Fisk University who compiled an astonishing archive of folk music recordings on acetates in the late '30s and early '40s, for both the Library of Congress and his own personal research. He was also instrumental in the 1941 discovery of Muddy Waters. There's also the 1942 duets by Ned Frazier (fiddle) and Frank Patterson (banjo). They put the "raw" back in raw musics.
