Rykodisc Signs MP3 Deal With GoodNoise

In a milestone for MP3 supporters, Rykodisc has signed a licensing agreement that allows GoodNoise Corp. (www.goodnoise.com) to sell music from Ryko's catalog in the MP3 format. Financial terms of the deal weren't disclosed. The agreement will start with more than 175 songs from 50 Rvko artists, and additional tracks will be added in the coming months. The agreement's initial terms cover artists including Frank Zappa, Galaxie 500, Golden Smog, Louis Armstrong, Medeski Martin & Wood, Throwing Muses, Mickey Hart, Lead Belly, Morphine and Richard Thompson. GoodNoise will sell the tracks for 99 Rykodisc act Golden Sn cents each. Under the terms of the agreement, Rykodisc's Web site will offer links to the GoodNoise site. GoodNoise will provide all hosting, coding and e-commerce technology related to downloading the tracks. "Rykodisc is answering the strong consumer demand for music in the MP3 format, and we want to give the MP3 consumer a legitimate alternative to unauthorized distribution, which is already pervasive on the Internet," said Lars Murray, (continued on page 15)

Lycos Launches MP3 Search

Responding to the MP3 explosion, the popular Internet guide and search engine Lycos (www.lycos.com) has established a new service that provides links to more than 500,000 songs in the MP3 format. Lycos is hoping its MP3 Search (http://mp3.lycos.com) will attract more visitors to its site, given that Lycos is the first major Internet directory to offer such links and also because smaller sites dedicated to MP3 are not able to offer such an extensive database. The Lycos MP3 feature is searchable by artist or by song, and it will be updated every hour to minimize dead links. Shortly after the Lycos (continued on page 15)

THE ESSENTIAL RELEASES OF THE WEEK

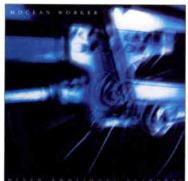

SLEATER-KINNEY The Hot Rock (Kill Rock Stars)

II To say that a band has matured can sometimes be misleading, implying that its members have shifted from underage drinking to gumming their food in a retirement home. With its fourth album, though, Sleater-Kinney has matured into the musical equivalent of a twentysomething; still holding on to the energy of its youth, but exploring new options. The "hot rock" referenced in the album's title actually turns out to be a stolen diamond, but there's still plenty of fevered rocking here. Roger Moutenot's (Yo La Tengo) production lends a warmer sound to the album, but Sleater-Kinney's emotions still deliver a solid punch to the gut - just listen to Corin Tucker belt out the line, "I'm not the one you wanted!" in her insistent vocal vibrato. While most of 1997's Dig Me Out sped ahead full-throttle, The Hot Rock shows the trio taking a few more risks with song structure, tempo and vocal style. Whether trying something new, such as the violinflavored lovesick ballad "The Size Of Our Love," or ranting through its trademark hook-filled punk on most of the album's other cuts, Sleater-Kinney proves that maturity can be nothing less than exhilarating. - Wendy Mitchell

MOCEAN WORKER Mixed Emotioual Features (Palm Pictures-Rykodisc)

Mocean Worker's music is as deep, dynamic and diverse as the background of Adam Dorn, the man who owns the moniker. The son of legendary producer Joel Dorn (Rahsaan Roland Kirk, Neville Brothers), Adam grew up rubbing elbows with music legends, eventually working alongside bassist Marcus Miller and visionary producer Hal Willner. Dorn's time at the Berklee College of Music and his globetrotting bass sessions (backing everyone from French pop stars to Chaka Khan) also factor into the sonic smorgasbord of Mixed Emotional Features. That the album is dedicated to Duke Ellington collaborator Billy Strayhorn, rebel comic Lenny Bruce and film buddha Orson Wells hints that young Dorn is setting his standards high. While his beat schemes are not mind-blowingly experimental, his skill at fusing devious and complex digital grooves to vintage soul and jazz samples begs the invention of a Gil Evans Award for excellence in orchestration. The legendary Miles Davis arranger would have undoubtedly experienced an adrenaline rush listening to "Times Of Danger," a spy-themed drum 'n' bass barnburner with flashy horn charts and bracing industrial hums. - Steve Ciabattoni

For Fans Df: Amon Tobin, Spring Heel Jack, Weird Nightmare: Meditations On Mingus Recommended Tracks: "Jello Dart," Counts, Dukes & Strays," "Heaven @12:07" Contact: Sean O'Connell Phone: 978.825.3239 Email: promo@rykodisc.com Fax: 978.741.4506 Release Date: February 23 Add Date: February 23 Marketing Data: Dorn also works with his father at 32 Jazz, a prominent jazz reissue label.

SEBADOH The Sebadoh (Sub Pop-Sire)

Though its lineup and label affiliation has changed with The Sebadoh (long-time drummer Bob Fay has been replaced by Russ Pollard), Sebadoh remains the preeminent voice of indie rock. The intro to the first track, "It's All You," is an overwhelming reminder of the band's supremacy. The song begins with an electric buzz, then kicks into a 10second drum solo before the chiming guitars and desperate vocals come in, backed by a huge drum sound. The remainder of The Sebadoh follows suit from that confident opening statement. Rocking tunes such as "Cuban" and "Bird In The Hand" charge hard and strong, but their pace is never so fierce that it distracts from the melodies or from the bevy of such sonic embellishments as programmed electronic gurglings or frenetic guitar screechings. Ironically, the quieter tunes provide some of the most inspired moments here. Sebadoh's ballads flaunt the same confidence as the upbeat numbers, but the forceful percussion and snaking guitars underlying the sweet sheen of Lou Barlow's voice give songs such as "Love Is Stronger" and "Tree" a satisfying darkness. — Kelso Jacks

ROB SWIFT . THE ABLIST

ROB SWIFT The Ablist (Asphodel)

II As a member of the New York turntable collective the X-ecutioners, Rob Swift has been introducing new levels of innovation to the art of DJ-ing since the early '90s. With his first solo outing, The Ablist, Swift shows off his formidable chops both as a composer and as a producer. While his contemporaries explore more avant-garde means to expand upon their craft, Swift manages to keep his abilities at street level, while experimenting with different ways of establishing the turntable as a creative instrument. On tracks such as "All That Scratchin Is Making Me Rich!" and "Modern Day Music" he utilizes a litany of razor sharp beat-juggling skills, old-school samples and DJbattle records to wage an all-out war with a live backing band. At other times, he uses the turntable as an improvisational tool, working scratches and breaks into a jamming environment with other musicians. Towards the end of the album, the uncanny X-Man even allows things to get straight-up ghetto, especially when incarcerated lyricist Gangis Kahn uses his one phone call from jail to rock an exclusive a cappella track. - Ron Hart

Woodstock Concerts Planned For Europe, U.S. This Summer

As the 30th anniversary of the original Woodstock Music & Art Fair approaches, organizers have announced plans to host two festivals this summer, one in Rome, New York, and one in Austria. Woodstock '99 is scheduled for July 16-18 in Wiener Neustadt, Austria, about 25 miles south of Vienna, and for July 23-25 at Griffiss Air Force Base in upstate New York. Metallica and Iggy Pop will headline the European event, and more than 100 international acts will perform. Other acts already announced include U.K. acts Skunk Anansie and Faithless, Dutch singer-songwriter Anouk, Turkish rocker Sezen Aksu and Italian rocker Zucchero. In addition to two main stages, the festival site will feature four other performance zones (where DJs Kruder & Dorfmeister will host "Woodstock in Dub" on opening night). Mark Fisher, who has designed stages for the Rolling Stones, Pink Floyd and U2, will design the Austrian complex, which will also include a Global Village and an Extreme Sports Park. As many as 250,000 music fans are expected to attend. "Woodstock has always been more than just a rock concert. It's a celebration of music and art which has come to symbolize freedom, individuality and independence of thought," said promoter Michael Lang. "We are not going back to the past but hope to re-energize the spirit of Woodstock as the millennium draws to a close." Lang also helped organize both the original 1969 festival at Max Yasgur's farm in Bethel, New York, and the 1994 revival in nearby Saugerties. Further details and the lineup for the U.S. event are expected to be announced in March. Visit www.woodstock.com for more information.

Boo Radleys Break Up

Within a week of the U.S. release of their sixth album Kingsize (Creation), Brit-pop mainstays the Boo Radleys have split up. A spokesman for the band issued the following statement: "They feel that they have achieved everything that they can as the Boo Radleys and are to pursue other projects. The decision was not an easy one; the band have been friends for almost 20 years and still hold a great love for one another. Tim, Bob, Sice and Martin would like to express their love and gratitude to their fans for their support over the last 10 years." Guitarist/songwriter Martin Carr is already said to be working on solo projects at his home studio. Carr, vocalist/guitarist Sice, bassist Tim Brown and drummer Steve Hewitt formed the band in Liverpool, England, in the late '80s and released their first album, Ichabod And I, on Preston's Action Records in 1990. Drummer Rob Cieka joined the band later that year. The Boo Radleys signed to the U.K.'s Creation Records in 1992, and subsequently released the albums Everything's Alright Forever (1992), Giant Steps (1994), Wake Up! (1995) and Cimon Kids (1996).

Six Degrees Signs Banco De Gaia

England's Toby Marks has been releasing genre-bending electronica under the name Banco De Gaia since 1994. "Banco De Gaia has long been one of my favorite artists," Six Degrees Co-Founder Bob Duskis said. "Nobody combines world influences with modern textures more effectively than Toby Marks. This new project is a high mark in an already incredible career." Banco De Gaia's four previous albums, Maya, Last Train To Lhasa, Live At Glastonbury and Big Men Cry, were all released in North America through Planet Dog Records' distribution deal with Mammoth Records. Six Degrees plans to release his next album, The Magical Sounds Of Banco De Gaia, in May. A single, "I Love Baby Cheesy," is due in April. He is also planning a summer tour of the U.S. Banco De Gaia's new album tracks can be previewed at www.banco.co.uk.

V2 will release the as-yetuntitled album in mid-1999, and the label will also re-release the 1989 self-titled album by Max Q, Hutchence's collaboration with Ollie Olsen of the Austrialian alt-rock band Whirlywirld. ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

APRIL MARCH

Interview by Tad Hendrickson

Known to her parents as Elinor Blake, April March recently released a Francophilic pop album entitled Chrominance Decoder (Ideal-Mammoth). In the past, this multi-talented singer has collaborated with raw rockers the Bassholes, Air producer Bertrand Burgalat and even Brian Wilson. Also, she previously worked as an illustrator for the Ren & Stimpy cartoon series.

CMJ: Based on the variety of people you work with, it seems that you meet famous and talented people every day. Is this really how your life is?

March: I suppose it's true, but all the liner notes are compressed, so it really just looks that way. [My collaborative experiences with big names are] pretty spread out, but I do sort of run into great situations.

How did you meet Brian Wilson?

That came about because I met Andy Paley, who came to a video I was working on...We started working together and he played our stuff for Brian, who is a writing-and-producing partner.

What was it like to work with Wilson?

It was really fun. I was really scared at first, then I realized he was just as scared as me [laughs]. He's pretty shy and I'm pretty shy, so after we got over that, everything was fine.

Do you speak fluent French?

Yeah, I learned it in high school and kept it up. I'm an enthusiastic Francophile. I like a lot of the classic and pop music, and the literature as well.

Is singing in French hard?

No, the French language is extremely conducive to singing.

Are you illustrating right now?

No. Just painting. I do portraits of friends, and I did writers for a while.

Are you going to do any more cartoon work? I prefer painting to animation these days, but you never know.

How long were you at Ren & Stimpy? I was there until I got fired. [laughs]

FCC's Low-Power FM Proposals Could Diversify Airwaves, But Existing Broadcasters Worry About Interference

By Wendy Mitchell

The FCC's new proposed rules for licensing low-power FM radio stations (see cover story in issue #605) could drastically change the world of radio, both commercial and non-commercial. According to the FCC and advocates of low-power radio, a number of parties could benefit from the proposals. The listening public would benefit from more diversity on the airwaves. High schools and colleges without stations, or with only carrier current or cable broadcasts, could secure a spot on the FM dial thanks to newly available space on the FM spectrum, relaxed guidelines and lower start-up costs. Local governments could broadcast to the public, churches could broadcast to their congregations and would-be radio entrepreneurs could afford to break into commercial radio. Instead of a radio industry dominated by the big players that have benefited from the wave of consolidation that followed the Telecommunications Reform Act of 1996, minority voices would enjoy a more equal share of the airwaves.

For WSUM at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, the proposals could mean a chance to finally get on the air. The FCC granted WSUM a broadcast license in October 1996, but due to FCC requirements about avoiding interference with other stations' signals, WSUM would have had to build a large tower in the neighboring town of Montrose, Wisconsin, to meet regulations. Montrose residents have blocked the tower's construction, so the station currently broadcasts only via the Internet. If the FCC passes more relaxed rules, station General Manager Dave Black says that WSUM could probably build a rooftop antenna on a campus building, ending the feud over, and reducing the costs of, building a larger tower.

In its Notice Of Proposed Rulemaking, the FCC proposes three classes of stations: 1,000 watts (covering a diameter of 18 miles), 100 watts (covering about 7 miles) and 1-10 watt "microradio" stations (covering 2-4 miles). The FCC's current proposals say that the 1,000-watt stations may be viable only for commercial stations due to higher operating costs. But the FCC is also asking for comment about whether the LPFM stations should be strictly non-commercial.

As a former college radio DJ, a musician and a co-founder of the now-defunct independent label Simple Machines, Jenny Toomey sees the FCC proposals as a great opportunity for artists and music fans. Toomey bemoans the lack of quality radio programming in her hometown of Washington, DC. "I have ears and a mind, and I am bored stiff with what passes as 'variety' on the radio dial," she says. Toomey has aided the fight for low-power radio by joining the Low Power Radio Coalition, an advocacy group.

Toomey speculates that starting a lowpower station could cost between $2,500 and $100,000, far below the six and seven-figures currently needed to start most commercial FM stations.

The lower cost of entry could open the airwaves to more music lovers, such as college radio veterans who want to continue their careers in radio without working at major commercial stations.

For all its supporters, the LPFM plans have some powerful opponents. The National Association of Broadcasters, which represents more than 5,000 FM stations, has expressed concern that new LPFM stations would impede the current transition to digital radio, and that the new stations would also interfere with existing broadcast signals. "Until we reach that point that we're transmitting digitally in radio, there's no way we can support this," says John Earnhardt, the NAB's Director of Media Relations. "At the end of the transition, it could be a different story." During this transition, digital radio companies propose to simulcast digital signals on the channels adjacent to a station's analog signal (which would eventually be eliminated). But now the new LPFM proposals could make the adjacent channels unavailable. In addition, Earnhardt says, the NAB is concerned with "interference, interference, interference...we want to make sure our signals aren't infringed upon."

FCC Commissioner Harold W. Furchtgott-Roth, the only one of five commissioners who didn't support the LPFM proposal, echoed similar thoughts in his dissenting opinion. Furchtgott-Roth said he was not opposed to starting a LPFM service, but that he would not support creating new stations at the expense of current interference protection standards. "Under existing interference rules the Commission can authorize so few new stations that the results would hardly warrant the effort," he wrote.

Paul Gordan in the FCC's Policy And Rules Division declined to even speculate about the possible number of stations that could be created, saving that it would depend on "a whole lot of factors." In an initial study, the FCC found that no matter what level of interference protection the FCC adopts, there would be no spectrum space available for new 1,000- or 100-watt stations in the New York City area. In Los Angeles, using the most relaxed interference protection standards, there would still only be enough air space for one 1,000watt station and six 100-watt stations. Smaller towns fared better in the study. For example, Richmond, Virginia (population 200,700), could have from 7 to 59 100-watt stations and from 3 to 18 1,000-watt stations.

Mike Bracy, Executive Director of the Low Power Radio Coalition, says that he thinks that the NAB and the FCC can find an agreeable solution. "We don't want to do anything that's going to mess up the current FM band. We look forward to the NAB and the FCC's engineers working (Continued on page 15)

Cake is now playing more traditional shows in support of its latest album, Prolonging The Magic (Capricorn Records). Formed in 1994, the Peechees feature exmembers of Rice and Bratmobile, as well as one of the men responsible for establishing Lookout! Records. With two fulllength albums to its credit, the band recently issued Life, a complete collection of its 7" singles and compilation appearances. The 18-track Kill Rock Stars release features "Grease," "Other Ice Age," "Genuine Article" and other fan favorites.

The warm-hearted Pop Romantique: French Pop Classics, available from Emperor Norton, compiles new Francophile tunes and classic nuggets written by such luminaries as Serge Gainsbourg and Francoise Hardy. Twelve modern popsmiths, among them Luna, Air, John Wesley Harding, the Magnetic Fields, Godzuki and the Apples In Stereo, don their berets for this suave collection.

Diskatopia Records is showcasing the talents of several up-and-coming electronic music acts. The Hollywood, California-based label's Diskatopia's Intimate Gathering Volume 1 gathers up innovative bleeps and beats by Wisteria Losenge, ROBOT, Big King Booty, Quetzal, Thomas Jerome Newton and others.

Beatville Records has reissued Tommy McCook And The Super Sonic's Top Secret. For this classic album, the late Skatalites frontman teamed with ska greats Lyn Tate, Lloyd Brevit, Jackie Mittoo and Lloyd Knibb. The new version of the record includes four bonus tracks.

Thirsty Ear has re-released The Church's Magician Among The Spirits EP. Cooking Vinyl initially issued the title in 1996. Four bonus tracks make the reissue a must for completist fans of this Australian pop band.

Trekkies and sci-fi music freaks beware! Columbia Legacy recently issued Star Trek: The Motion Picture – 20^{th} Anniversary Collectors' Edition Original Soundtrack. Along with the expanded title, the new edition features the full version of the original score by Jerry Goldsmith, enhanced liner notes, film annotation and a bonus CD of the audiodocumentary Inside Star Trek. Gene Roddenberry interviews William Shatner (Captain Kirk), DeForest Kelley (Dr. McCoy), Isaac Asimov and others, on the extra disc. To top it all off, the special holographic slipcase should give Spockcrazed space geeks something to talk about at that next convention.

Columbia Legacy has released Miles Davis's Love Songs. The album contains nine romantic ballads from the legendary trumpeter/ composer/bandleader's golden era of 1957-1963.

Studio standards, such as "Someday My Prince Will Come," "I Loves You, Porgy" and "Stella By Starlight," are joined by a 15minute live version of "My Funny Valentine." Davis's quintet, his sextet and Gil Evans's Orchestra perform the tracks, which feature the likes of Davis's ensemble-men Herbie Hancock, John Coltrane, Tony Williams and George Coleman.

Rhino Records' Absolute Dance: Now And Then compiles 23 monstrous club and radio dance hits from the '70s, '80s and '90s. Sister Sledge's "We Are Family," KC And The Sunshine Band's "I'm Your Boogie Man," New Order's "Blue Monday 1988," and Ini Kamoze's "Here Comes The Hotstepper" are among the inter-generational highlights. Rhino has also released The Disco Box, aimed at dance music gluttons. This anthology of floor-fillers from 1973-1985, contains four CDs, for a total of 80 groove-filled songs by such booty-movers as Gloria Gaynor, Blondie, Kool & The Gang and Donna Summer. The 60-page booklet collects photos, essays and other remnants of the disco era.

Michael Gira, of Swans fame, is preparing another side-project release on his Young God Records. The Body Haters is a billed as the "evil sister" of Gira's other project, the Body Lovers. The instrumental 34:13 was constructed in one 12-hour session, from a bank of raw field recordings and cassette loops. Gira will only press 2,000 copies of the disc. Swans-o-philes should also anticipate a double-CD called Various Failures, which collects select previously-released and outtake material from the band's 1988-1993 era, along with tracks from the Swans-related band World Of Skin's 10 Songs For Another World. The proper Swans titles White Line From The Mouth Of Infinity, Love Of Life, The Burning World and the Love Will Tear Us Apart EP will be excerpted alongside the Skin record for this Young God release.

Kosmo Records and Logic 3000 Records have teamed up to produce Disco 3000 (The Kosmonauts, Volume 1): The Sound Of Kosmo Records. Some of the artists who define this German label's sound include Niels Van Gogh, DJ Tomcraft, Romanto And Out Of The Drum, Da Hool and Dani Konig.

Platypus is a new rock supergroup. The powerhouse quartet is composed of Ty Tabor of King's X, Derek Sherinan and John Myung of Dream Theater, and Rod Morgenstein of the Dixie Dregs. The thundering debut When Push Comes To Shove is available from Velvel Records.

Columbia Records has issued a soundtrack featuring music from and inspired by the NBC made-for-television movie Vietnam Long Time Coming. The film tells the story of disabled and able-bodied American Veterans who compete in a bicycle race across Vietnam. Bruce Springsteen, Soul Asylum, Emmylou Harris, Shawn Colvin and other contemporary artists supply the music. Tune in to catch the TV feature on April 17.

Darla Records keeps those indie pop compilations coming with the recent release of Little Darla Has a Treat For You, Vol. 11, Winter '99. As with past volumes, the San Francisco-based label and distributor offers a sampling of sounds from some of the most notable bands in the indie world. This time around Aden, My Favorite, Flowchart with Technicolor, the Lilys, Holiday Flyer, Junior Varsity KM and 12 others are featured.

Hightone Records has released The Man From God Knows Where by Tom Russell. The concept album is described as an "immigrant song cycle." Russell penned all but five tracks on this 26 song album that loosely tells the tale of Russell's family heritage. To help tell the tale, Iris DeMent, Kari Bremnes, Dave Van Ronk, Sondre Bratland and Dolores Keane all join with Russell on this unique recording.

Perhaps in an attempt to avoid the rush that will come when the century turns, Virgin Records is releasing Frequency 99: The Greatest Hits Of The '90s. The collection features 14 tracks that were released between the years 1990-1993, and one from 1995 and 1997 each. Among the hits offered are Right Said Fred's "I'm Too Sexy," EMF's "Unbelievable" and Wilson Phillips's "Hold On." ◆

Eagles Break Album Sales Records

The Recording Industry Association Of America announced that the Eagles' Their Greatest Hits 1971-1975 has sold 25 million copies in the United States. Having reached this sales mark, the album once again shares the title of best-selling album of all time with Michael Jackson's Thriller. The Eagles had tied Jackson's record of 24 million in March 1997. Their Greatest Hits album, originally released in 1976, remains the best-selling group album of all time. Their album Hotel California cleared the 15 million mark in January, making the Eagles the only act with two top single-disc albums that have sold at least 15 million units. The RIAA's sales are tracked by albums shipped to U.S. retailers, not albums purchased by consumers.

CMJ, 11 Middle Neck Road, Ste. 400 Great Neck, NY 11021-2301 Low Power FM (continued from page 8) together to come up with a plan that maximizes the use of spectrum without creating unacceptable interference."

The FCC will be accepting comments regarding the proposals through April 12 (see the Web address below), and it will then accept reply comments through May 12. Gordan predicts that the FCC won't make its final ruling any earlier than late summer. "It's impossible to tell when stations could be up-and-running," he says. If the proposal does pass, the FCC is expecting a deluge of applications - similar to the tens of thousands of applications it received when it started low-power television initiatives. "There is a lot of interest in this," Gordan says. "We expect to get a lot of applications." The FCC said that it had received about 13,000 inquiries in 1998 from individuals and groups hoping to start LPFM stations. Under the proposed rules, the FCC plans to adopt strict ownership restrictions for the LPFM stations. Existing broadcasters may not be eligible to apply for LPFM licenses.

Rykodisc's Director of New Media. "This initiative provides for the artists and songwriters to get paid, and affords us opportunities to partner with retail in new and innovative ways, as we have with other new formats, such as DVD, and CD in its early gestation. Rykodisc has consistently remained a pioneer in the music industry by embracing rather than inhibiting technology that increases the consumer's exposure to quality music. Our agreement with GoodNoise --- a pioneer in the downloadable music market continues that tradition." GoodNoise also has a licensing agreement with spinART.

announcement, the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) expressed concerns about the new service with regards to legal and illegal files that may be linked from the Lycos search. While the Lycos search does not distinguish between legal and illegal files, the company indicated to the RIAA that it would develop procedures to eliminate infringing sites from its directory and fulfill its obligations under the Digital Millennium Copyright Act.

Records, and in 1996, Willis recorded a foursong EP, Fading Fast, that featured support from Son Volt, Sixteen Horsepower and Gary Louris (Jayhawks, Golden Smog).

Originally planned as a promotionalonly release, the EP was released commercially only in Texas. In 1997, she began working on demos for a new record in San Francisco, but decided to return to her home in Austin, Texas, to finish the album. Before the demos were complete, A&M dropped Willis. However, the tapes soon caught the attention of her new home, Rykodisc.

Willis's long-awaited fourth album, What I Deserve, includes songs co-written with John Leventhal (Shawn Colvin) and Gary Louris, as well as music by Paul Westerberg, Paul Kelly and Nick Drake. Despite Willis's many setbacks, Rykodisc's Director of Product Management, Ron Decker, says Willis is excited about working again. "She's certainly excited, after a lengthy hiatus of having records in the stores, she's just excited to have another record under her belt, [and] to work and to promote it."

Rykodisc realizes it will take some extra effort to reintroduce Willis (who was, incidentally, voted one of the 50 Most Beautiful People in the World by People magazine) to her audience. "She's sold a considerable number of records and had charting country singles," says Decker. "I think there is a fan base that we want to reconnect with." Decker says that the first single, "Take Me Down" has been shipped to about 100 tastemakers; the promotional single features a cover of Big Star's "When My Baby's Beside Me." "It's a pretty broad radio plan," Decker says. "In addition to Triple A, we'll go to Americana, and we'll service public and college radio, and commercial-alternative specialty shows." Rykodisc's promotional push before the February 23 release date doesn't end there. Several independent promoters will work with Willis, and another single, "Not Forgotten You," will be serviced to country radio. Willis will also be performing at the Gavin Convention and South By Southwest before she embarks on a month-long nationwide tour.

Rykodisc also has a lengthy list of press commitments in line for Willis, including features in Austin Chronicle, Billboard, Bikini, Details, Entertainment Weekly and No Depression, among many others.

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Radio 200: 100-18 Core Radio: #14 debut Adds: #13 with 35 reports

College radio has developed quite a soft spot for French pop (witness the success of April March's latest album, currently at #13 on the Radio 200), making this compilation a sure bet with programmers. Pop Romantique: French Pop Classics (Emperor Norton) features college radio and indie artists delivering their own versions of French pop hits. The roster of participating artists, including Luna, Air, Apples In Stereo, Sukia, Magnetic Fields, Godzuki and Lloyd Cole, is rock solid, and it ensures a strong future on the charts. The SPECTRE promotion team can also take partial credit for the album's 82-position jump on the Radio 200, and its #14 debut at Core.

SAM PREKOP Radio 200: 130-28 Core Radio: #19 debut

Though the sudden success of this selftitled album on Thrill Jockey might seem surprising, it's much more understandable when you consider Prekop's career to date. Originally a member of the modestly delightful college radio favorite Shrimp Boat, Prekop's more recent work was as a member of the Sea And Cake. This stylistically consistent and always high-quality discography serves as the perfect set-up for a solo debut. Sam Prekop leaps 102 positions on the Radio 200 this week, while simultaneously debuting on the Core Radio chart at #19.

BOWLING GREEN Radio 200: 133-37 Core Radio: #49 debut RPM: #13 debut

British producer Micko Westmoreland (a.k.a. Bowling Green) went straight from his role in the film Velvet Goldmine to making One Pound Note (Blue Planet/Nothing-Interscope), an ambitious album crammed with disco funk, sci-fi noises and effects, and jumpy breakbeats. Last week, this release was the #2 Add with 118 reports (and the #1 Add at RPM). This week, One Pound Note builds on that running start with a 96-position jump on the Radio 200, a strong debut at #49 on Core Radio, and a #13 debut at RPM.

BETA BAND Radio 200: 155-41 Core Radio: #27 debut

The Three E.P.'s (Astralwerks) is a crash course in this Scottish band for college radio programmers. Comprised of the band's import 10" EPs, this disc puts the Beta Band's psychedelic pop influences front-and-center, tape loops and all. The band will have a new fulllength released domestically on Astralwerks come summer with a tour of the States to follow. In the meantime, though, programmers are warming up to the EPs, pushing them 114 positions on the Radio 200 and debuting them at #27 on the Core chart.

AminoRadio www.aminoradio.com Contact: Kathy Gilbert Eclectic Radio Company 839 Pearl St. Boulder, C0 80302 Phone: 303.402.9353 Fax: 303.440.4421 Email: kathy@eclecticradio.com

With the deluge of techno sites on-line, it was only a matter of time before the Eclectic Radio Company (which also runs the indomitable GoGaGa Brand Radio) started a techno site of its own. AminoRadio is a site supporting a live feed of techno music and specialty shows, with graphics to match its content theme. Currently, the site is home to shows from DI Nitro, The Air Goddess and, by special arrangement, Coldcut's masterful and legendary Solid Steel radio show. All told, there are nine specialty shows in addition to a continuous live stream. On the editorial side, AminoRadio has interviews with the X-Ecutioners, Jason Bentley and Slide Five, among others, all conveniently encoded in Real Audio. Where AminoRadio really stands out, however, is in its interactivity. On the recently launched "Blackbox," listeners can select their favorite archived specialty shows and listen to them in that order. The "GlobalInterface" allows users to promote their own techno festivals around the world. The "SoundSystem 7x7" is a dandy Shockwaveenabled mixer with four loops you can program yourself. AminoRadio has recently secured a deal with the fine folks at CDuctive. The AminoMatic 1.0 is a link to the CDuctive site where users can pick up a mix CD designed exclusively by the people at AminoRadio. These bells and whistles make the site more interesting while allowing the user to design their own environment. A visit to AminoRadio is not only a great listen, but quite fun to boot.

Netnews

Harry Fox, GoodNoise Ink License Agreement

GoodNoise (www.goodnoise.com) and the Harry Fox Agency have entered into an agreement that will grant GoodNoise the first Digital Phonorecord Deliverv License to sell and distribute music in the MP3 format. GoodNoise is one of the Internet's most prominent downloadable music vendors. The Harry Fox Agency, a subsidiary of National Music Publishers' Association (NMPA), represents over 20,000 music publisher principals. The agency also provides a monitoring service that issues recording licenses for a large percentage of music created and distributed around the world. Under the agreement, GoodNoise will account for each song purchased and the company will pay the HFA the appropriate fee for distribution to copyright owners.

Spinner.com Gets Financial Boost From Sony, Intel And Others

broadcaster Spinner.com Internet (www.spinner.com) announced a $12 million financing deal involving investments from Sony Music (www.sonymusic.com), Intel Corp. (www.intel.com) and Amerindo Investment Advisors, a firm focused on latestage Internet companies. Several of Spinner.com's previous investors also reinvested in the broadcaster. Fred Ehrlich, Senior VP and General Manager of New Technology and Business Development at Sony Music said, "Like Spinner.com, Sony recognizes the enormous potential for the Internet and music." The investments will be used to fund Spinner.com's attempt to reach an audience beyond its more than 2.5 million listeners worldwide. Spinner will also use the money to expand e-commerce and revenue streams, and to establish American and overseas distribution. Currently, Spinner.com houses a library of 150.000 digitized songs, broadcast via its 100+ specialized music channels.

Launch Buys Library from MusicVideos.com

Launch Media has acquired MusicVideos. com's (www.musicvideos.com) complete library of nearly 1,000 music videos. Launch will make the videos available at its music site, www.launch.com. This announcement has been made concurrently with Launch's decision to change the name of its Web site from myLaunch.com to Launch.com.

Ticketmaster Online-CitySearch Starts Personalized Service

Ticketmaster Online-CitySearch Inc. has launched a new personalized service, My Ticketmaster, at http://my.ticketmaster.com. The new system was developed with Intel Corp., and the service lets users create personalized profiles that will alert them to ticket sales for their favorite events. My Ticketmaster also features virtual reality images of more than 75 nationwide venues and sports complexes.

Sightsound Pushes e-Music Patent

Sightsound.com, the company that holds the patents for the digital download sale of audio and video recordings on the Web, has demanded that MP3 vendors such as GoodNoise, Platinum Entertainment, Amplified.com and MP3.com pay a 1% royalty fee for each of their online sales unless they "immediately cease and desist" their operations. Sightsound sent formal warnings to some music sites, offering them a limited licensing program designed for companies that seek to sell downloadable music prior to the adoption of the Secure Digital Music Initiative (SDMI)'s secure system. The validity of Sightsound's patents are being hotly disputed because the patents, issued in 1990 and 1996, specifically address the exchange of digital audio or video content for money. Sites such as MP3.com, however, make MP3 downloads available free of charge. "We don't even do what they allege they have a patent for," said Michael Robertson, President of MP3.com.

RealNetworks To Host Conference In May

KID SILVER

Dead City Sunbeams (Jetset)

Kid Silver is the latest muse of former Rollerskate Skinny vocalist/guitarist Ken Griffin, who's relocated from Ireland to New York. Dead City Sunbeams is not a simple reincarnation or rehash of Skinny's noisy psychedelic pop, however. The album contains its share of airy atmospherics and paisley instrumental touches without sounding wacked-out or acidtainted. Its programmed pop sound benefits from a kind of mother's floor production — clean, orderly and sparkling. Griffin's voice is a dead ringer for Ian McCulloch's, but his musical orchestrations are a rich pastiche of modern Brit-pop excess, classic '60s melodic sensibilities and his own imaginative sonic detailing. Every cheery vocal melody and lush string or organ line is delivered with a flair for the dramatic, but the songs retain a simple, uncluttered beauty. — Amy Sciarretto

One And One Is One (RealWorld-Astralwerks)

Electronic and world musics converge on Joi's expansive One And One Is One. Indian brothers Farook and Haroon Shamsher grew up in England, and this musical project mixes youthful club interests with their regard for ancestral folk roots; sitars, Indian vocals and other Asian sounds wind in and out of Joi's tastefully varied techno beats. The arrangements driving these diverse tempos and textures are easy to digest, as they utilize traditional verse-chorus-verse structures. The catchy songs illustrate the brothers' knack for effortlessly melding the modern with the traditional. This auspicious, skillfully executed debut presents even more possibilities to the expanding genre of raga groove. — Tad Hendrickson

MAYFLIES USA

Summertown (Yep Roc)

The presence of former dB's frontman Chris Stamey as producer of Summertown tells you much of what you need to know about the Mayflies USA's debut. Building on the Southern-tinged, jangly power-pop of the dB's and the like-minded Let's ninded Let's Active, the Mayflies USA take Posieslike, confectionery harmonies and nestle them in earthy, sometimes downright gritty rock 'n' roll songs. rive that point

Stamey's production helps drive that point home. The sweet melodies on this album will tickle the fancy of inveterate pop radio fans, but the tunes probably work just as well banged out live in the packed watering holes of college towns. Summertown is the ideal common ground between power-pop fanatics and followers of twangy college rock. — Cheryl Botchick

WACO BROTHERS Waco World (Bloodshot)

The "Jonboy" credited with "guitar & vocals" on Waco World is actually Jon Langford, and like Langford's band the Mekons, the Waco Brothers are "country" in the vaguest sense of the word. Both groups play like post-punk bar bands with ample beer money and proclivities for using pedal steels, fiddles and boogiewoogie pianos. The Wacos' outrageous-ness comes as no surprise given that its membership also consists of folks who have done time in Wreck and KMFDM. Langford, who shares vocal duties with three other Brothers, steals the spotlight with "Pigsville," portraying an urban cowboy with a Welsh brogue. The entire album brims with rough-hewn vocals, twangy electricity and a cool, literary bent. How could anyone resist a couplet like "That's why they're called bars/'Cause they keep me inside?" — Jordan N. Mamone

No Exit (Beyond)

As is usually the case with most reunions of popular bands, the regrouping of Blondie has garnered intense media coverage. Wade through all the hype, though, and you'll realize what an electrifying creative chemistry Deborah Harry and the boys possessed during their prime, and why a new Blondie album is reason to celebrate. No Exit doesn't possess the indelible quality of the group's hits, which are now a permanent part of pop music's bedrock, but it does possess the same skilled, multi-stylistic hand that made Blondie so unforgettable. There's dance music, raucous rock 'n' roll, torchy love ballads and, of course, "Rapture"esque rapping, all driven by the still-undeniable power of Harry's presence. The singer's voice is deeper and throatier now, but that only adds to her inimitable mystique. No Exit won't replace Parallel Lines in anyone's collection, but it's a treat nonetheless. — Cheryl Botchick

Anytime At All (Cyber Octave)

For longtime fans of the West Coast funkpunk scene, Los Angeles hypercollective Banyan is a supergroup beyond description. Initially an ad-hoc improv unit spearheaded by Jane's Addiction drummer Stephen

Perkins and consisting of Mike Watt, Money Mark, Nels Cline and the Dust Brothers, the group has e x p a n d e d into a rotating cast of over 20 d if f e r e n t musicians for its second album. The talent roster reads like a laundry list of West Coast alt-rock giants — including Ratdog bassist Rob Wasserman, Flea, John Frusciante and Buckethead, along with the aforementioned regulars — and the resulting album is comprised of full-throttle fusion jams. Anytime At All may not appeal to fans of these players' full-time gigs, but it's a must-hear for those who respect them as individual musicians. — Ron Hart

Word Of Mouth Parade (Almo Sounds)

On his second album, Gus makes a marked progression from the gloomy singer-songwriter pop of his 1996 debut. The artist's own personality remains his most distinguishing trait on Word Of Mouth Parade, but the art of songwriting also shares the spotlight here. Gus's lyrics revolve almost entirely around his take on the wrinkles of personal relationships, but the tunes are just as memorable. The prominence of multi-instrumental back-up, including several cuts' worth of ace slide guitar work, fills the songs out in all the right places, bolstering Gus's moody lyrics and giving shape to his finely-rendered songs. — Cheryl Botchick

DUBTRIBE SOUND SYSTEM

Bryant Street (Jive Electro) For the past six years, Sunshine and Moonbeam Jones of San Francisco's Dubtribe Sound System have spread a utopian message of brotherly love, global unity and inner peace through the American underground. The duo has preached its sermons solely on small indie labels and at one-off rave events, but Bryant Street is music meant for the masses. With its hippyhop, funky breakbeats, euphoric-acid bass lines, and uplifting t r i b a l arrangements c e n t e r e d around diva soul, the record is an accurate display of Dubtribe's positive vibes and potent funk. At times, the doctrine is deep and melodic, at others, it's abrasive and in-your-face. But whether you prefer it hard or soft, the album is an excellent look at one of music's most vibrant units. - M. Tye Comer

PAUL WESTERBERG Suicaine Gratifaction (Capitol)

Paul Westerberg's Suicaine Gratifaction sheds a ray of light on the older, wiser side of this post-punk icon. On his third solo effort, the singer-songwriter has softened most of his jagged edges. While he's definitely muted the raucous sock-it-to-me is sock-it-to-me vibe of his solo debut, 1993's 14 Songs, crafting h e a r t f e l t songs has always been Westerberg's strongest suit anyway. He's just as adept a t u n e s m i t h today. Unlike his previous two solo outings, this album finds Westerberg singing woefully while his guitar gently weeps. He's also often accompanied by spare, haunting piano on songs such as "Self Defense" and "Sunrise Always Listens." They're no "Bas-

AERIAL M

Post Global Music (Drag City)

Post Global Music is definitely a trendy indie rock remix album. However, it seems logical enough to allow Flacco, the Tied + Tickled Trio, DJ Your Food and Bundy K. Brown to mess with Aerial M's debut album and early singles; Aerial mainman David Pajo's circular riffs and lulling instrumentals exhibit an organic precision that's conducive to tampering. Despite the studio hounds' efforts to digitize Pajo's symmetry with delay effects, cut-ups and parenthetical beats, his guitar still dominates the proceedings. The crystalline restraint of his intricate playing acts as a perfect organic loop, as the remixers simply garnish his gentle chime with great care. Post Global Music doesn't sound like a chop-shop reconfiguration of themes. Instead, it resembles a brand new, electronic-leaning Aerial M record. Which is more than enough of a recommendation. — Jordan N. Mamone

POLE CD1 (Matador)

Stephan Betke's career as an engineer at Berlin's acclaimed Dubplates and Mastering studio has paid off in an odd way. Although he once specialized in taking the distinctive snaps, crackles and pops out of vinyl pressings, Betke bases his Pole project around the very imperfections he used to eliminate. On his aptly-titled debut — an album of tracks loosely based on physical actions such as laughing ("Lachen"), f l y i n g ("Fliegen") and eating cherries ("Kirschen Essen") the ever-present background noise of a defective 4 Pole-Waldorf Filter, a device used for vinyl manufacturing, is looped and placed in the foreground where it takes on discernible rhythmic patterns. The hiss provides a perfect blanket for the undercurrents of minimal melodies and dub bass lines that flesh out the dark, yet soothing pieces of experimental ambient music. — M. Tye Comer

SCARAMANGA

Seven Eyes, Seven Horns (Sun Large-Fat Beats)

Taking his new name from James Bond's arch nemesis in the 1974 film The Man With The Golden Gun, underground New York rhyme chemist Sir Menelik introduces his jiggified alter-ego Scaramanga on Seven Eyes, Seven Horns. Whereas Menelik offered up blazin' skillets of t h i r d - e y e mathematics on his indelible Rawkus 12"s, Scaramanga hones the rapper's villainous MC skills from the cynical standphon shark in point of a money-hungry hip-hop shark in the vein of Mase or Puff Daddy. At times, it's hard to say if Menelik is being bitterly sarcastic or sublimely sincere. But given the addictiveness of co-producer Godfather Don's gritty basement orchestrations and grimy beats, the tracks would sound hot even if Scaramanga was reciting excerpts from Judy Blume novels. — Ron Hart

MARTIN'S FOLLY Man, It's Cold (Tar Hut)

Martin's Folly is from Brooklyn, though the band's roots-oriented sound might fool you into thinking that it hails from much further south, or perhaps more towards the Midwest, out where they grow alt-country. "Two Times A Day" kicks things off, throwing a few stylistic nods to Bob Dylan with its harmonica solo and its whirling organ. Keyboards often neutralize rock bands, but Jim Duffy's playing sharpens the focus of all four musicians, widening the sound and scope of Chris Gray's well-tailored songs. Gray's great at c h a n g i n g gears, too there's a swank and tender vibe within "Here Lies A Fool," a cool lonesome twang wandering through the title track and some old-fashioned rock power on "She Comes Around." — Steve Ciabattoni

WELLWATER CONSPIRACY

Brotherhood Of Electric: Operational Directives (Time Bomb)

For its second album, Wellwater Conspiracy has again visited the same musical territory covered by '60s bands like the Doors and Jefferson Airplane. John McBain (ex-Monster Magnet) and Matt Cameron (ex-Soundgarden) comprise the band, and the sound it musters up is pretty intense despite the minimal line-up. The backbone of Brotherhood Of Electric: Operational Directive consists of little more than searing, psychedelic guitar solos, manipulated by a large number of effects. Keyboard sputters add additional haze to these long experiments in flower power. McBain's vocal flavors recall the seductive groans and whispers of Jim Morrison, most notably on the restless, symbolladen "Ladder To The Moon." -– Kelso Jacks

Cop/Young God/Greed/Holy Money (Thirsty Ear)

In the mid-'80s, Michael Gira's Swans were the planet's most ear-detonating and confrontational band. These musclebound men (and later, woman) played such loud and physical shows that audiences literally vomited. A menacing fixture on New York's post-No noise scene, early Swans brutalized tight, sheetmetal-buttressed rhythms with thick bass chords and lawnmower guitar feedback. Over this slow, methodical body music, Gira roared hard-boiled lyrics about control, sex, money, power and later, faith. Legions of grindcore, industrial and goth bands have attempted to match the ugly sensuality of Cop ('84) and the Young God EP

('85), but Swans were the masters of anti-intellectual, yet conceptually brilliant hardness. The twin 1986 Greed and Holy

Money LPs are marked by line-up changes and extra-suffocating song structures that cram in oppressive dance beats, primitive samples, grand pianos and choral vocals.

Thirsty Ear's full reissue is the most plea-

Typically, his lyrics are concerned with love and girls, and with the loneliness that a lack of love and girls can sometimes impose upon a fellow's life. I'M YOUR FAN

GOD MACHINE

God Machine had already disbanded by the time it entered my life in 1996, in the form of a mix-tape compiled by my friend Rennie Resmini, of the band Starkweather. Sandwiched on the cassette between the artsy, disheveled Japanese noise of Zeni Geva and the black metal theatrics of Cradle Of Filth, were prime cuts from the God Machine's One Last Laugh In A Place Of Dying. I was spellbound by the distorted, white-hot guitars on "Mama" and "In Bad Dreams" and by the yearning, adenoidal vocals of Robin Proper-Sheppard on "Boy By The Roadside." After some searching, I located the London-by-way-of-America band's first album, 1993's Scenes From The Second Storey, which incorporates cello, viola and chimes into the din of noisy guitars. With the determination of an archaeologist on a dig, I marched into my college radio station, seeking more material. I uncovered a 12" of the single "Home," which included a sexy retooling of Peggy Lee's "Fever. Sadly, the group split in May 1994, when bassist Jimmy Fernandez died of a brain tumor shortly after mixing One Last Laugh. I thanked my friend for introducing me to the band's gritty, emotional rock which propelled me through many ugly days. The poetic, thought-provoking lyrics, such as "A true hunter weeps at a merciless kill," have always provided me with a sheath of comfort. The most powerful song in the GM's catalogue is "Painless," with its sucker-punching phrase, "And you said life would be painless/I'm sorry but that's not what I found." I found myself feeling quite empowered and subsequently vindicated after hurling that one-liner at the last guy who broke my heart. Amy Sciarretto

DJ SILVER * DON'T PANIC!

DJ SILVER Don't Panic (Liquid Sky)

It might seem a little odd for NYC's Liquid Sky label, known for releasing mostly abstract electronica and drum 'n' bass, to press a relatively straightforward techno album. But then again, there's really nothing run-of-the-mill about the imprint's newest prodigy, DJ Silver. Don't Panic fuses the robotic bleeps and blurps of electro with a pounding techno kick, surreal sonic touches and, occasionally, haunting vocals (courtesy of ethereal songbird Julee Cruise). Matching the darkness of Detroit's scene with the brighter shades of the Paris underground, DJ Silver has created a dance floororiented, timeless-sounding techno album that skirts obvious classification.

MTV producers were so impressed by Add N To (X)'s 1998 CMJ New Music Marathon performance at the Knitting Factory that the channel's Winter Repackaging Production team asked the London trio to record original music for MTV's new show packaging. (Show packaging introduces and encapsulates the programming from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. every day.) On February 1, the new packaging, complete with Add N To (X)'s soundtrack, began airing on MTV on an hourly basis. The music is exclusive to MTV and it will not be available on the

STEVE EARLE AND THE DEL MCCOURY BAND The Mountain (E-Squared)

The pairing of one of music's finest singersongwriters with a legendary bluegrass band may cause some to speculate that The Mountain is just Steve Earle sitting in with a string band, or that Del McCoury's family is simply being used as backdrop. But The Mountain is much more. Featuring original songs by Earle, this album combines Earle's rock ethic with the McCoury's expert picking, supplying the notion that "newgrass" so often lacks testosterone. The Mountain rocks in the original spirit of Del's old boss, Bill Monroe. Add in a who's who of cameos – including Emmylou Harris, Jerry Douglas, Gillian Welch, Sam Bush – and you've got yet another Earle masterpiece.

DEL MCCOURY BAND

The Family (Ceili Music-Skaggs Family) After four decades in bluegrass. Del McCoury's band (with sons Robbie and Don) is commonly referred to as "the First Family of Bluegrass." Del's powerful, high tenor voice leads the way as he and his sons burn through high-end picking with purity and ease.

CESAR ROSAS Soul Disguise (Rykodisc)

Los Lobos guitarist/singer Cesar Rosas calls the music on his solo debut "vou-dou/gris-gris/soul from East LA." Whatever the definition, Soul Disguise runs the stylistic gamut from Tex-Mex to New Orleans R&B to blues. With the exception of two covers, Rosas wrote five trucks solo and cowrote the rest with Asleep At The Wheel drummer/guitarist Leroy Peterson.

C-BO The Final Chapter (AWOL)

Many hip-hop fans only know of California's C-Bo for his run-ins with the law (his last being a 1998 arrest for violating his probation agreement by continuing to rhyme about gang-related themes). The Final Chapter attempts to erase those memories with a thoughtful, poised set of thick, smokey raps. Rolling over throbbing bass tracks, C-Bo fluctuates between a Too $hort-influenced laid back style and Spice 1-inspired hyper spit as he explores back alleys and street corners on hard-hitting cuts such as "How Many" and "Tru 2 Da Game." He also shows off a mellower side with the bouncy party joint "Player To Player" and the R&B-infused gem "As The World Turns."

Are you ready for some real next level hip-hop? After selling tons of singles in his native Ghana (yeah, Africa!), Reggie comes stateside to blow minds with a pair of energetic cuts. Accented with an inventive fusion of bilingual gruffs and hyper tongue twists, the tracks shine with bright brass horns and bumping old school breaks.

IRAKERE FEATURING CHUCHO VALDÉS Yemaya(Metro Blue)

The Latin powerhouse Irakere continues its quest for world domination with this percolating new release. Some purists may be put off by the album's contemporary feel (particularly the keyboards), but in the world of contemporary Latin funk and modern jazz, there's simply no match for Irakere. The group conveys its Latin jazz message with strutting trumpets, stop-on-a-dime rhythm changes, and the pulsing, rippling, melodic presence of Valdés's piano. The title track, an homage to Yoruban seadeities, benefits from a powerful performance from guest vocalists Mayra Caridad Valdés. For 25 years Valdés and Irakere have been a force on the Latin scene, and their current run of albums shows no sign of yeilding its magic touch.

LEO SOILEAU Early Cajun Music (Yazoo)

Leo Soileau (pronounced roughly like "swallow") was one of the giant figures in the early days of Cajun music's recorded history. In the late '20s, he recorded 78 rpm sides that are still considered among the definitive all-time classics of the genre. In his later years, Soileau offered a more Americanized version of Cajun music, but these early recordings are pure products of rural Acadian country.

BULGARI Bulgari (Latitudes)

Bulgari is a group of leading folk musicians from Bulgaria that renders authentic pure interpretations of that country's folk music. Like the music of the more famous Bulgarian women's choirs, this music features a similar tonality, although it bears a more folkish, earthy and acoustic atmosphere, mainly aided by the presence of stringed instruments, flutes and the prominent role of Bulgarian bagpipes.

JAZZ MANDOLIN PROJECT Tour De Flux (Accurate)

The Jazz Mandolin Project has carved a unique niche for itself, playing mandolin-driven, jazzinflected music that is refreshingly innovative and delightfully hard to pigeonhole. This album commemorates a special 1998 edition of the JMP that briefly featured Jon Fishman (of the band Phish) in the drum chair and New York-based bassist Chris Dahlgren. The result is a wonderful album that is sure to get attention from both the legion of Phish-heads and from tasteful jazz fans alike.

SUSIE IBARRA & ASSIF TSAHAR Home Cookin' (Hopscotch)

Drummer Susic Ibarra and saxophonist Assif Tsa-Lar are two of the most dynamic young players in jazz. This duo record not only explores an almosttelepathic interaction between drums and sax but also finds the two exploring the timbres and possibilities that occur when they play combinations of other instruments as well, such as marimba, thumb piano, balofon, violin, vibes, flute and typanni. This collection of dream songs, morning ragas is a galvanizing listen from start to finish.

Recommended Tracks: "Arrival/Salutations," "Dream Song #1-3." "Prayer For The Unseen" Contact: Assif Tsahar Phone: 718.857.1296 Email: assif.susie@mci2000.com Release Date: February 15

MARCUS SHELBY The Sophisticate (Noir)

1999 is turning out to be a banner year for the emergence of newer, lesser-known jazz talents. The latest up is bassist Marcus Shelby. The Sophisticate conjures the image of jazz as a film noir soundtrack placed in a smoky, seductive twilight world. Recorded live to two-track, the album consciously evokes the bygone West Coast cool of the '50s and '60s. Kudos also go to trio-mates Matt Clark on piano and Jaz Sawyer on drums for providing a complex, elegant space in which The Sophisticate operates.

other dimensions

Other Dimensions is a monthly column dedicated to new fringe jazz and improvised releases.

Jazz fans may notice that bassist Chris Lightcap's name has been showing up on album credits quite frequently of late. The young Lightcap has been doing time with some accomplished masters, including Joe Morris, Whit Dickey and Rob Brown, and becoming a master himself in the process. PLK Trio's Bab Bab (Goat Angel, pazmkl@hotmail.com) features Lightcap as well as German player Heinrich Koebberling on drums and Australian Lisa Parrott on sax. The playing has a loose swing to it, but the solos, particularly Parrott's, soon depart from the song's lead, taking the listener outside the song before gently dropping back in to the groove. Lightcap's performance swings like mad and his quick-fingered style works well with Koebberling's linear playing. Available upon request, this is a promising debut from a relatively young group...Guitarist Eugene but from a relatively young group...Guitarist Eugene Chadbourne has been working on the fringes of rock and avant-garde for more than 20 years. Inspired by both Hendrix and Coltrane, Chadbourne's work has always been a challenging listen. Rock avant-gardists are mostly familiar with his work for the legendary Shockabilly, but Chadbourne has also worked with downtown jazz folks such as John Zorn, Henry Kaiser and Elliott Sharpe. Worms With Strings (Leo, leorec@ atlas.co.uk) documents Chadbourne in all his twisted glory, aided by a number of guest guitarists and a pianist. Imagine old blues and bluegrass records sped up, diced and sliced and you'll be getting the general picture. A wellspring of inspiration for creative guitarists, Worms With Strings should also appeal to those with adventurous musical tastes. (Jazz News on page 35)

GRIP INC. Solidify (Metal Blade)

Grip Inc. has always been best known for its drummer, the legendary Dave Lombardo, who originally bashed the skins for Slayer. The band has now reached a level of metal fervor, though, where such associations need not be mentioned. While Lombardo definitely anchors the band with his maniacal drunming, Grip Inc. has "solidified" its sound and come into its own by charting fresh rhythmic territory. Solidify hardly cops Slayer's brand of thrash metal --- instead, it's a fistful of riproaring metal, packed with accelerated, rolling guitar solos, dense bass grooves, and pit-worthy breakdowns.

LOUDMOUTH Loudmouth (Hollywood)

Loudmouth has received serious props from James Hetfield and Jason Newsted of Metallica. With its self-titled debut, the band fails to disappoint, delivering a dose of dense, jam-oriented rock that combines pummeling, Tony Iommi-style riffs with raspy vocals. There's a deliciously subtle blues influence flecking the Chicago quartet's rock 'n' roll, as well.

For Fans Of: Corrosion Of Conformity, Monster Magnet, Leadfoot Recommended Tracks: "Fly," "Rats In The Maze," "The Road," "Not Free" Contact: Will Knapp Phone: 800.603.3043 Fax: 818.567.4837 Email: will knapp@studio disnev.com Release Date: March 23; at radio now

DEVIATE

Darkened World (I Scream) Deviate's Darkened Warld is filled with raw, scratchy guitar tones that make it sound like a less noisy, more structured version of Will Haven. This Belgian metalcore band delivers relentless riffs and unintelligible howls that sound like they're ascending from the bowels of hell. Deviate has also done its NYHC homework and enlisted metal producer Jamie Locke, who has worked with VOD and Obitnary, to produce the album. Darkened World is 100% moshpit approved!

For Fans Of: Will Haven, Madball, Earth Crisis Recommended Tracks: "Crisis Of Confidence," "Cold Prejudice," "Spread A Threat Contact: Bambino, Jason, Dana (McGathy) Phone: 888.447.3267 Email: edge@inch.com Fax: 212.924.7831 Release Date: February 23; at radio now

THE HORSE WHISPERER

World Radio History

After a near-death experience and a three-year recording hiatus, Spandehorse's Mark Linkous returns with his second album of fractured beauty, Good Moning Spider.

Feature by Colin Helms Photos by Danny Clinch

Somewhere in the rural farmland of Bremo Bluff, Virginia amidst a multitude of horses, dogs, cats, motorcycle parts and crude recording devices — lives Sparklehorse's Mark Linkous. This backwoods setting is more than apropos, considering the kitchen-sink veneer of Linkous' basement-recorded pop and the small-town melancholy that informs his music's crooked grooves. Just a few years ago, an accidental prescription drug overdose almost killed the singer-songwriter, leaving him unconscious on a bathroom floor in a London hotel. In the aftermath, Linkous feared that he would never return to his music, or to a normal life on the farm.

Good Morning Spider is proof that Linkous's fears were unfounded. As his post-recovery return to recording, it's an occasionally sad-eyed, melodically buoyant collection of tunes that affirms his unflagging ability to turn his surreal daydreams into things of odd, compelling beauty. Erratic bits of noise and static regularly dirty up the catchiest of melodies. Vocals sound like they were delivered via transistor radio, and the even the most rhythmically forward tunes often stray off-course mid song, but the album's melodic strength is never compromised. "Imagine a record as a galaxy," Linkous says, describing his music, "and all the songs as sort of little planets. And some of them are messed up and spinning off-axis."

Linkous attributes his interest in making records that sound like they're "spinning off-axis" to his experiences living in Los Angeles and to his tenure in a commercial-leaning pop band a number of years ago. "[I was so] bummed out, being in Los Angeles and being in a band that wanted to get signed," he explains. "I just quit and everything fell apart. I came back to Virginia and started playing acoustic music, like Irish folk tunes and medieval songs with these guys in somebody's living room. I think I sort of came to this revelation that we play and then it sort of evaporates somewhere in the atmosphere. I just gave up all that rock star stuff, and that's when I started making these records."

"I was so bummed out with pop music," he continues. "And then I heard Tom Waits's records on Island, starting with Swordfishtrombones and Rain Dogs, and also Daniel Johnston's homemade tapes. It sort of saved me. My goal from then on was to make pop records that were as interesting sounding as [Waits's] blues records."

Linkous first presented these multi-hued, psychedelic-folkpop spirituals on Vivadixiesubmarinetransmissionplot (Capitol), Sparklehorse's 1995 debut. It was on the band's first European tour supporting the album that Linkous suffered the tragedy that would change his life. After the songwriter took a near fatal dosage of anti-depressants, he passed out and collapsed in his room at a London hotel. The weight of his doubled-over body cut off the circulation to his legs, causing him to temporarily lose his ability to walk. To make matters worse, Linkous suffered a heart attack during the emergency rescue procedures. He spent the next two months recovering in a London hospital bed, before returning to Virginia, wheelchair-bound.

"Right after I got out of the hospital and was in a wheelchair, I was in a lot of physical pain," he remembers. "I definitely wanted to just give up, but there were people around me that really cared about me. The people that sent me get-well letters while I was in the hospital — that affected my music in a way. I sort of understood that I needed to be here to make records."

Now that he can walk again and that he can get through his day without the aid of morphine, Linkous has been able to focus once more on recording and touring. While he concedes that he'll probably never have a "big radio" hit, he's not opposed to fulfilling his commercial potential. Linkous recently enlisted the help of producer Eric Drew Feldman (Frank Black) to remix a "radio-friendly" version of "Нарру Man." one of Good Morning Spider's most irresistible rockers, despite its purposefully sound-damaged production. "I think if I'm ever gonna compromise, this is the one time I'm gonna do it and see what happens, as far making a song specifically for the radio, or doing a mix that's radio-friendly," he says. "If it doesn't fly, there's no reason why I have to think about that any more. I don't think that when I'm dead and gone 'Happy Man' being on the radio is going to mean anything. It's gonna fit in the same format with the Foo Fighters and whatever stuff that's on the radio now."

So what could it mean to Linkous to be commercially successful, to have a few extra dollars to stuff under the mattress? "My motivation is this new motorcycle that I could never afford [before]," he explains straightfaced. "I actually took a picture of that motorcycle down to the studio with me as inspiration. The only thing it'll mean to me is that I'll be able to buy an expensive new motorcycle that I'd otherwise never be able to afford."

INDUSTRY PROFILE

Interview by Amy Sciarretto

You don't get much more metal than "Chainsaw"! He spent four years as National Director Of Radio Promotion for Mayhem Records, working with acts such as Cradle Of Filth and Pro-Pain, before obtaining his current position at Metal Blade last December. Metal Blade's headquarters are based in California. but Chainsaw holds down the label's East Coast fort in his NYC home office. The label has a lot to offer as the millenium — or apocalypse, according to metalheads ---approaches, including new releases by Grip, Inc., Sacred Steele, Hades, and Flotsam and Jetsam, which is currently scaling CMJ's Loud Rock chart.

Kevin "Chainsaw" Rose

National Director of Radio Promotions/East Coast Operations Metal Blade Records

Phone: 212.477.6211 Fax: 212.477.5132 Email: ragnarok@brainlink.com

"Once you're a metalhead, you're a metalhead for life. You may grow up, cut your hair, hide your tattoos behind the suit with the other clones, but it's always there."

You grew up in Canada. What was the metal scene like there? What brought you to the U.S. in 1985?

Back then, the metal [bands were all] pretty similar. It was Iron Maiden, Twisted Sister and Metallica, which started splintering off into the hair bands like Warrant. As for what brought me to the States, I did something wrong in a past life and they sent me to hell! Actually, my father got a job in the South when I was 15 and we moved to Greenville, North Carolina. I went to East Carolina University.

What got you into metal in the first place?

Iron Maiden. I couldn't even begin to guess when. It was probably one of the posters with Eddie. I was a big horror/splatter movie fan when I was a kid. After I moved down South, there wasn't much else to do but listen to records. In college, I got a job at the radio station. I liked it, so I kept up with it. And here I am.

Where did the "Chainsaw" moniker come from?

That was a practical joke I played on a professor on my first day of college. Shows you what a smart-ass I can be. I was told this professor was a real dork-knocker, so I decided right away that I wanted to piss him off. He went around the room and asked us to stand up and say our names. I stood up and said, "My name is Kevin Rose. To my friends, I'm Chainsaw. To you, I'm Mr. Rose." From that moment on, people started introducing me as Chainsaw. When I went on the air, it became my air name. It's been Chainsaw for about 10 years now.

You're new to Metal Blade, but old to metal radio promotion. How's the new gig treating you?

This has got to be a marriage made in heaven...or is it hell? This is the perfect place for me. As much as I've done in the metal industry over the years, I can't think of another label that is better suited for me. This is the one label left where metal is still a five-letter word. Everyone has a different term, from Loud Rock to Aggro to Hardcore, but when it comes down to it, it's still metal. Metal Blade is one of the most recognized names in the music industry when it comes to independent metal, with a roster that can back it up and a catalog that any self-respecting metalhead would give his eyeteeth for.

Given your history in the WWF-like arena of metal, what is the craziest thing you've ever seen happen at a metal show?

I think one of my favorite stories isn't so much crazy as it is funny. Years ago, I came [to New York] for my first CMJ convention. I saw Carcass and Voivod at The Limelight. Someone I knew up front hoisted me on stage. I turned around and did this huge flip into audience, the most incredible dive I've ever done. The entire audience, which was packed, all of a sudden became the Red Sea. I landed on my back in the middle of that group. Everyone was laughing so hard. What makes that story funny is that another group from my school was also in town for a different trip. A couple kids were there and mentioned it to me back in North Carolina. I couldn't hide from it! I found out [the same thing] happened to Dee Snider once too, so I'm in good company.

What's going on with Metal Blade as the millenium approaches?

We've got Hecate Enthroned and Profanity, a couple black metal artists, and Gwar coming soon. I am the Pope Of The Intergalactic Church Of Gwar. The new Grip, Inc. is a number one priority. It will be a number one radio record.

What's your strategy for pushing that record?

I'm gonna take it to the street. They're gonna do a lot interviews. I want people to meet the band. That's their forte. I want them to meet the people, too.

With radio promotion, do you ever feel you are fighting a losing battle, since metal isn't mainstream and commercial block shows usually run between midnight and 2 a.m.?

Mainstream is a perception, what the major labels and people in power want you to think it is. Metal shows get buried on Sunday night, but the audiences are always there. Metal never suffers in sales. It goes up and down, even with no commercial airplay. But the kids know what to find. They've got their ears to the ground. They're a loyal breed. Once you're a metalhead, you're a metalhead for life. You may grow up, cut your hair, hide your tattoos behind the suit with the other clones, but it's always there.

Man cannot live on Scooby Snacks alone.
