AOL Surges Into Online Music Space

In a move to dramatically increase its profile in the online music market, America Online (www.aol.com) has purchased Spinner Networks (www.spinner.com) and Nullsoft (www.nullsoft.com) for $400 million. Spinner.com, which has a user base of 1.5 million, is an Internet music webcaster that offers over 100 channels of pre-programmed music, while software maker Nullsoft is the creator of the popular Winamp MP3 player and SHOUTcast. Winamp has an installed user base of five million users.

As broadband is rapidly rolled out, it is becoming increasingly important for sites to offer content such as music videos and music downloads. In April, Yahoo! acquired Broadcast.com, while LAUNCH Media has entered into a content agreement with broadband ISP Road Runner (see Net News on p. 29) to deliver music content, and Internet directory Snap.com has begun offering services for broadband customers at its site (www.snap.com). By purchasing the two companies, AOL is making a major play in the burgeoning broadband music space. The company plans to offer music services such as live events, music downloading and Internet radio to its online service, as (Continued on page 16)

DNA To Distribute Matador

After the dissolution of its partnership with Capitol Records on April 1, Matador Records has signed an exclusive distribution agreement with Distribution North America (DNA), a division of Valley Media. Matador retained its entire roster of artists with the exception of Liz Phair, who will remain on Capitol.

Prior to its new distribution deal, the indie monolith's co-releases with Capitol were distributed through EMI Music Distribution, while its independent releases were distributed through ADA, Caroline, Revolver and Valley Media's audio wholesale division.

THE ESSENTIAL RELEASES OF THE WEEK

BETA BAND Beta Band (Astralwerks)

ŧ ...

II The Beta Band seems to build its music from the same blueprints Monty Python used for its irreverent comedy, seamlessly blending a warped sense of humor, flighty imagination and madcap creativity without missing a step. On The Three E.P.s, issued earlier this year, the Beta Band proved to the world that there were still forward-thinking artists harvesting inspiration from the psychedelic folk explosion of the late '60s and early '70s. More beat-minded than the preceding EP collection, The Beta Band turns the Scottish-British quartet's experimental dabblings in Beck's slacker hip-hop 101 into fully realized concept, incorporating a variety of tape loops and off-center breakbeats into its ambient classic rock jams and textured pop melodies. The influence of early Pink Floyd still maintains a strong presence throughout the record - one song even repeats a refrain cribbed from Pink Floyd's "Fearless." The prolonged instrumental mindfuck "The Cow's Wrong" also doubles as a tribute to '80s one-hit wonder Bonnie Tyler by quoting the lyrical hook to "Total Eclipse Of The Heart." Space is the place indeed. - Ron Hart

SPAIN She Haunts My Dreams (Restless)

Spain's 1995 debut The Blue Moods Of Spain painted a somber sonic canvas with folk, pop and jazz colors to create softly humming songs imbued with heavy atmosphere. Similarly, She Haunts My Dreams is both mellow and dramatic, but never melodramatic. Spain's breathy voiced songwriter Josh Haden, son of jazz titan and fellow bassist Charlie, pens lyrics that shy away from busy imagery in favor of simple lines and guileless, open-hearted sentiments. No need to turn a phrase when you can boldly start off an album with "Made up my mind/Tonight I'm leaving you." Focusing on the times when a woman tends to haunt one's dreams - either at the beginning or at the end of a relationship - Haden stirs up emotions that can either make you feel hopeful or hopeless. The effortlessly lush sound of the album deepens those feelings; strings, pedal steel and daubs of piano warm the glow of budding romance or darken the shadows of lost love. Some will undoubtedly find She Haunts My Dreams's tone a bit precious, while others will assess its tender tunes as priceless. — Steve Ciabattoni

ORANGE 9MM Pretend I'm Human (Ng)

Pretend I'm Human blisters its listener's cochlea in typical Orange 9MM style, with searing, metallic riffs and the soulful rapping of fireball frontman Chaka Malik. The album, however, marks a slight departure for the NYC skate-rock stalwarts. Pretend I'm Human was recorded as a threesome, with assuming bass Malik responsibilities and the band choosing a more experimental path. There are quiet-loud eruptions and feisty, spoken wordstyle passages. Malik's don't-fuckwith-me attitude and pointed lyrics are coated with conviction, compelling you to believe whatever he says; his words echo in your mind long after the last chords of Pretend I'm Human have pierced your ears. The band fills every melody, drumbeat and lyric with all the blood, sweat and tears it can muster. The youth will always seek out honest, loud music for a kindred spirit, to piss off parents or to escape their own realities, and the full-throttle Pretend I'm Human is ripe for all those scenarios. Its fierce determination offers sonic inspiration for both the bruisekneed skater in the park and the dreadlocked intellectual reading political manifestos on the - Amy Sciarretto sidelines.

For Fans Of: Deftones, Bad Brains, Rage Against The Machine, Into Another Recommended Tracks: "When You Lie," "Lifeless," "Pretend I'm Human," "Aliens" Contact: Smitty Phone: 212.337.8505 ext. 12 Email: smitty@ngrecords.com Fax: 212.337.8510 Release Date: July 13; at radio now Marketing Data: Touring this fall; the band is currently auditioning bassists.

GUITAR WOLF Jet Generation (Matador)

II On solely a visual level, Guitar Wolf exudes a cool, ultradangerous vibe thanks to its black leather jackets, skintight jeans and wrap-around sunglasses. Once the band plugs in and fires up its instruments, / however, all hell breaks loose. Jet Generation, the Japanese trio's third full-length for Matador Records, is built on pure primal energy. Senji's highpowered guitar and Billy's crunching bass sound more like jets during take-off rather than riffs from a high-test garage rock unit. The frantic clatter of Toru's drumming adds additional charge electrical to the storm, underscoring the chaos with a steady rock 'n' roll surge. Recorded in glorious no-fi, Jet Generation sounds like it was put to tape on a beat-up boom box, but it's an aesthetic that complements the band's trashed-out sound. To capture the kind of garage rock mania that Guitar Wolf produces in power plant-like proportions, everything has to be pushed well beyond the limits of common sense. This band is everything that rock 'n' roll is supposed to be raw, rebellious and sonically - Tad Hendrickson nihilistic.

For Fans Of: Link Wray, Blues Explosion, Ramones, Oblivians Recommended Tracks: "Fujiyama Attack," "Refrigerator Zero," "Kung Fu Zero," "Summertime Blues" Contact: Donovan Finn Phone: 212.995.5882 Email: donovan@matador.recs.com Fax: 212.995.5883 Release Date: June 22 Add Date: June 22 Marketing Data: U.S. tour tentatively planned for September.

Junior Braithwaite Shot Dead

Junior Braithwaite, 47, an original member of legendary reggae group the Wailers, was shot to death on June 2 at the Kingston, Jamaica, home of fellow reggae singer Lawrence "Chadda" Scott. Police said that three men brandishing guns entered Scott's house and opened fire, hitting Braithwaite in the ear. He was taken to Kingston Public Hospital where he was later pronounced dead. Scott, 49, was also killed in the shooting.

Braithwaite helped found the Wailers in 1963 with Bob Marley, Peter Tosh and Bunny "Wailer" Livingston. After impressing Studio 1 producer Coxon Dodd, the group recorded its first chart-topping single "Simmer Down." While the Wailers recorded several popular singles in the '60s, Braithwaite was best known as the singer on the group's 1965 hit "It Hurts To Be Alone." He later left the group — before the band's immense success as Marley's backup band during the '70s — and relocated to Chicago to pursue a career as a doctor, but never completed his studies. He returned to Jamaica for good in 1984 to contribute to The Never Ending Wailers album (later released on RAS Records in 1994).

Braithwaite is not the first member of the Wailers to be gunned down. In 1987, Wailers guitarist Peter Tosh was shot to death in his Kingston home. He was 42.

Gary Gersh, John Silva To Run Internet Label

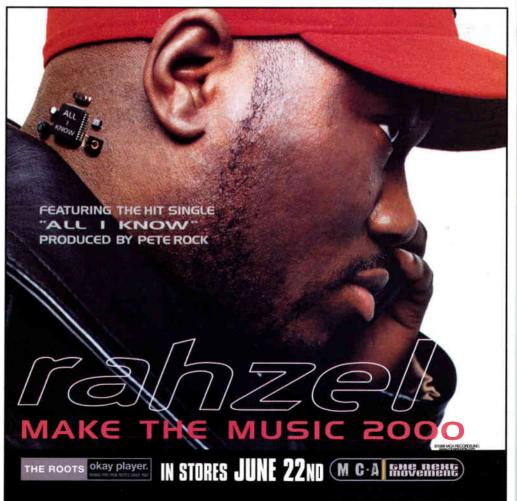

Former Capitol President Gary Gersh and ex-Gold Mountain President John Silva will team up with Digital Entertainment Network (DEN) to form the den.music group, an Internet label that will expand the possibilities of music marketing. Gersh and Silva currently head up G.A.S. Entertain-and Shva currently head up G.A.S. Entertainment Company, which manages acts such as Sonic Youth, Rancid and Foo Fighters. As copresidents of the new Internet venture, the two will use DEN's online television shows as a way to promote and sell the work of their own artists as well as that of major and indie label artists. DEN's Web programming, which currently includes such lifestyle-oriented shows as "Fear Of A Punk Planet" and "Aggronation," will expand into more niche-marketed programs, ranging in focus from electronica to rock en español.

Gersh told SonicNet that the label hadn't signed anyone yet, but that they hope to issue their inaugural release at the end of the year. The potential signees can expect a 50/50 split of their profits with the label and shorter-term deals. Gersh, who brought Nirvana, Hole and Counting Crows to Geffen, and Silva, who manages Beck and the Beastie Boys, said, "Being part of DEN allows us the opportunity to work with every record company in town to build the definitive entertainment network of the future — one where music will have a role in every initiative. And from our artists' perspective, this is a chance to have the power of a global, cyber-television network, creating the definitive media brand for Generation Y, working to build their careers and broaden their opportunities."

Godsmack Album Pulled From Wal-Mart, Kmart

After receiving complaints from a Cleveland parent that Godsmack's self-titled album features objectionable graphics and lyrics, Wal-Mart and Kmart have pulled the record from their shelves. Kevin Clarke, whose son purchased the Republic-Universal release at Wal-Mart, was alarmed by the Boston band's lyrics, which he thought supported suicide and Satanism, and the band's use of a pentagram. Both Wal-Mart and Kmart stated that had Universal Music Group labeled the record with a warning, they would have never sold it. Both retail behemoths refuse to carry music with a parental advisory sticker as store policy. Godsmack, meanwhile, will continue to tour with the Ozzfest through the end of July.

Lou Barlow Indulges In Self-Abuse During Belgium Show

Sebadoh leader Lou Barlow began hitting himself on the head and face with his guitar four songs into a recent perfor-Sebadoh mance in Belgium, according to NME.com. Barlow then walked off stage, apparently frustrated over what he thought was his and his band's poor performance. The group had borrowed amplifiers and effect pedals for the gig. Barlow apologized to the crowd for the quality of the band's playing, but soon began hitting himself with the body of his guitar. The singer also threatened to kill himself later that same night. One witness in the crowd said, "It was awful, like he'd gone mad It was fucking weird and not funny at all."

Before leaving the stage, Barlow jumped into the audience, while the other members of the group announced to the crowd that they would offer full refunds to the paying crowd. Barlow was coerced into returning to the stage, and the show ended with a brief acoustic set by the bandleader. Barlow was not injured by his wild antics, and a band spokesperson said that Sebadoh's U.K. tour would not be affected by the incident. The Massachusetts band is touring in support of its latest album, The Sebadoh.

Federal Investigation Of Entertainment Industry Sparks Reactions

President Clinton ordered the Federal Trade Commission and the Department Of Justice to conduct an investigation into how the entertainment industry markets music, movies and other entertainment to children. "I have strongly urged people in the entertainment industry to consider the consequences of what they create and how they advertise it. One can value the First Amendment right to free speech and at the same time care for and act with restraint," the President said in a press conference from the White House Rose Garden.

The Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) CEO Hilary Rosen said that the President is just trying to grab headlines, while also calling the development "frustrating and infuriating."

Sen. Joseph Lieberman from Connecticut suggested in a Daily Variety article that the federal investigation could possibly lead to the prosecution of entertainment and music industry executives. In a SonicNet article, Reprise Records president Howie Klein responded, "If I had my way, I think that right-wing politicians who do damage to the essence of America and do damage to the foundations of our society should be prosecuted [Lieberman] is a disgrace to the Democratic party and always has been."

The investigation is expected to last one year and cost $1 million. Lieberman's press secretary believes that it would be extremely difficult to find music industry executives liable for anything, especially since the RIAA's parental advisory sticker-ing system is so vaguely defined. "I know that hate radio is spewing xenophobic, homophobic, racist talk from people who just hate, hate all day and all night. I don't hear politicians taking about these shows," Klein added.

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT CHEVELLE

Interview by Amy Sciarretto

By day, Sam, Pete and Joe Loeffler are Chicago-based carpenters with a passion for classic cars - as evidenced by their band name, which pays tribute to a product of the Chevy assembly line. When not pounding nails, they're working up a sweat as Chevelle, an explosive rock trio. Eldest brother and drummer Sam Loeffler recently spoke to CMJ after a long day at work.

CMJ: So, you and your brothers are carpenters? We do remodeling. Pete and I work together, live together, play in a band together and travel together.

Do you fight since you're around each other so much? Any stress-relieving blowouts, the kind that makes everything better in the end?

A little bit, but hardly ever at all. They're not bad blowouts. We cuss at each other, then walk away and feel stupid afterwards.

How was the band formed?

Pete and I have been playing together for 13 years. We had this bass player for a while. He left his bass amp at my parents' house for a year when Joe picked it up and blew away our old bass player in a short time.

There was no nepotism because he's your little brother? Joe was just better?

He's amazing. He can play anything on bass or guitar.

Have you ever thought of expanding the band, maybe adding another family member?

It would be weird having four family members. We actually thought about bringing in another guitarist to take the pressure off Pete so he can concentrate on singing.

So, the Loeffler family obviously likes old cars... We grew up around cars with our dad. We played a crazy show in Deerfield, Illinois. It was a "battle of the bands"-type thing in a gazebo in the middle of town. Before we went on, we needed a name. A 1970 Chevelle is the epitome of a muscle car, so we called ourselves Chevelle. They announced us as "The Chevelles" (laughs).

Sounds like the name of a 1960s Motown band! I know. [The name gets] written like that a lot. It's okay, though. You can't tell what kind of band we are.

Retooled Ash Album Set For U.S. Release

Irish band Ash will release its latest album Nu-Clear Sounds in the U.S. on August 24. The band issued the album last fall in Europe, but did not release the album in the States because it was without an American label. The band signed a record deal with DreamWorks Records earlier this year, and added guitarist Charlotte Hatherly and turntablist DJ Dick Kurtaine to the group.

Super-producer Butch Vig remixed three songs on the album, including the U.K. singles "Jesus Says" and "Wild Surf." In addition to remixing the album, Vig also resequenced the album's song order.

Buckcherry Cancels Massachusetts Date

Hard rock band Buckcherry pulled out of River Rave, a charity concert held over Memorial Day weekend in Mansfield, Massachusetts. According to the Boston Globe, lead singer Joshua Todd succumbed to a bronchial infection following the HFStival in Baltimore, Maryland. The WBCN-sponsored River Rave, which featured performances by Fountains Of Wayne, Sugar Ray and the Red Hot Chili Peppers, raised $20,000 for charities such as the Friends of the Plymouth Pond and the Surfrider Foundation. Buckcherry is scheduled to tour this summer with Fuel and Pound.

Pedro Del Mar and Lord Chevron) will tour this summer and fall in support of the Ben Vaughn-produced record. New Los Straitjackets music will also be available online in the MP3 file format. The 12-track album features two notable covers - Celine Dion's "My Heart Will Go On" and the Benny Goodman classic "Sing, Sing, Sing.'

L7: Sisters Doing It For Themselves

L7, dropped by Warner Brothers the shortly after of 1997's release Triple Platinum: The Beauty Process, has formed its own label. entitled Wax Tadpole, on which it will release its new album, Slap Happy, on August 24. The group's last release was a 1998 live record called Live: Omaha To Osaka, released by Man's Ruin Records. Wax Tadpole is a joint venture with Bong Load Records, the indie currently embroiled in a contractual tussle with Beck. L7's Donita Sparks said, "We were really eager to release a new album in '99 for our fans. We started to realize that maybe it wouldn't be possible unless we did it ourselves, and the thought of having complete control was really exciting to us." New tracks include "Freezer Burn," "Lackey" and "On My Rockin' Machine." The band will preview material from the album when it tours this summer in support of Slap Happy.

Bangles Reforming For Concert, Album

The Bangles, which had a string of hit singles in the mid-to-late-'80s, will honor the request of Beatles producer George Martin to perform a few covers at the Hollywood Bowl on June 25 as part of an orchestral tribute to the Fab Four. The all-female band --Susanna Hoffs, Debbi Peterson, Vicki Peterson and Michael Steele — hasn't performed together in ten years. The group recorded a new song that appears in the latest Austin Powers film, The Spy Who Shagged Me, called "Get The Girl." The reformed group is currently working on new songs, and plans to release an album by next summer.

After recording four full-length albums that spawned such hits as "Manic Monday," "Walk Like An Egyptian" and "Eternal Flame," the Bangles broke up in 1989. The band's last album release was 1988's Everything.

Jazz Singer Mel Torme Dead At 73

Esteemed jazz vocalist Mel Torme died on June 5, in Los Angeles. He was 73. The singer, nicknamed the "Velvet Fog" for his smooth, sensitive delivery, was taken to the UCLA Medical Center after experiencing breathing problems. Forty-five minutes later, Torme — who suffered a stroke in 1996 was pronounced dead.

The author of over 300 songs (most notably "The Christmas Song") and a performer on more than 50 albums, Torme began his 70-year career at an early age. Born in Chicago on September 13, 1925, Torme got his first break at the age of four singing on a local radio show, which turned into a weekly gig. At 16, he arranged and sang for the Chico Marx Band. During World War II, he fronted the vocal group the Mel-Tones, but eventually moved away from big-band balladry to style himself into a jazz crooner, developing "scatting" skills that were thought to be on par with those of Ella Fitzgerald.

Aside from the holiday classic made famous by Nat King Cole, Torme's other signature songs include "Sunday In New York, "Where Or When" and "Blue Moon," which he performed in the 1948 film Words And Music.

"He was one of the supreme jazz singers of all time, with the vocal dexterity matched only by Ella Fitzgerald," jazz vocalist Jack Jones told Associated Press. "He had the best sense of timing and a lot of heart in his work. And he was a good guy."

Torme is survived by his fourth wife, Ali, and his children Steve, Melissa, Tracy, Daisy and James.

Cherone Aims Political Message At Vedder

Van Halen singer Gary Cherone posted an "Open Letter To Eddie Vedder" on the Rock For Life Web site (www.rockforlife.org). The letter, which reads like the lyrics to a song, attacks Vedder for his pro-choice stance on the abortion issue. It reads: "When is a woman not a woman? There in lies the only clear refutation of a woman's rights. A woman's rights — seems a mere tautology, a redundant catch phrase. Are not rights self evident? Intrinsic assumptions of the inalienable? So, when is a woman not a woman, a right not a right? When she doesn't exist."

In an official press release posted on Rock For Life's site, the organization's director, Brian Kemper says, "Thousands of babies have died, thanks to efforts of bands like Pearl Jam and R.E.M. It's about time someone like Gary stood up for the rights of these babies."

In recent weeks, Rock For Life called for a boycott of the latest Lilith Fair compilation CDs, claiming that its proceeds help benefit several pro-choice groups, though such donations are actually slated to benefit R.A.I.N.N. and LifeBeat. Cherone is the former lead singer for Boston band Extreme, which penned the acoustic pop ballad "More Than Words." In 1997, Cherone replaced Sammy Hagar as Van Halen's new lead singer.

Roots Prepare Live Hip-Hop Album

Philadelphia hip-hop band the Roots recently recorded three performances at New York City's Bowery Ballroom for a live album, Things Come Together, to be released this fall. The shows — which were open to the public — included several guest performances, including ones by soul vocalists Erykah Badu and Jill Scott, and MCs Common and Mos Def.

The Roots will perform at the Tibetan Freedom Concert in Wisconsin on June 13 before joining the Smokin' Grooves tour in July. The Roots' latest release is 1998's Things Fall Apart.

New Primus Album Will Be Guest-Packed

The upcoming album by progressive funk/metal band Primus will feature contributions from a wildly diverse array of artists. The as-yet-untitled record, due out this fall, includes a performance by Tom Waits, who produces the cut "Coattails Of A Dead Man." The song features Waits playing mellotron and vocal assistance from Martina (of Tricky fame). Primus can be heard backing up Waits on the cut "Big In Japan" from his latest album, Mule Variations. Martina also appears on the Stewart Copeland-produced Primus number "Dirty Drowning Man." Limp Bizkit's Fred Durst produced the song "Lacquer Head," while Rage Against The Machine's Tom Morello produced and performs on three songs. Metallica guitarist Kirk Hammett and Death Angel's Mark Osegueda also appear on a track, and ex-Faith No More guitarist Jim Martin lends his chops to the song "Eclectic Electric." Finally, the band that performs the theme to South Park gave production control to the show's co-creator Matt Stone on the song "Natural Joe."

Primus' last release was 1998's Rhinoplasty, an EP of covers and live cuts. The band's last studio release was 1997's The Brown Album.

Sugar Ray To Spar With Run-D.M.C.

Pop act Sugar Ray will appear on the track "Here We Go Again" on hip-hop legends Run-D.M.C.'s upcoming album Crown Royal. The two groups met while sharing a bill in Buffalo, New York, as part of MTV's Campus Invasion tour. One of the highlights of the Reich Remixed collection from earlier this year was Japanese producer/composer Nobukazu Takemura's celestial cutup and reconfiguration of the track "Proverb." A veteran remixer and electronic sound experimentalist — he cites John Cage, Brian Eno and John Coltrane as influences — Takemura has also worked over or composed music for Tortoise, Pizzicato Five, UFO, Roni Size, Coldcut and Blue Note Records, among countless others. His just-released Thrill Jockey debut, Scope, at times recalls the skipping digital tones and clicks of Oval, but possesses a textural and rhythmic complexity that ultimately demands its own absorption and dissection.

Quick history lesson: About 10 years ago there was a little punk band from Oakland, California that mixed reggae into its sound and called itself Operation Ivy. After the band broke up, guitarist/vocalist Tim Armstrong and bassist Matt Freeman formed the not-so-little band Rancid. Meanwhile, the main voice in Operation Ivy, Jesse Michaels, fell silent. Until now. Michaels's new band is called Common Rider, and Panic Button Records recently released Last Wave Rockers, its debut album. The recording boasts guest vocals by the Teen Idols and sax playing courtesy of Ken Vandermark.

It might behoove all those sleepwalking through life to check out Head In The Clouds, a new import release from the Londonbased Dreamy Records. The 20-track collection of dream pop and drones includes music by Ninian Harwick, Autumn Leaves, Arco, White Hotel and other purveyors of pleasant pop from around the world.

Buford O'Sullivan, trombonist and singer for longtime ska heroes the Scofflaws, has released a solo album for Moon Ska Records. O'Sullivan recorded and mixed The Club Of Hopes And Fears with some help from his friends in the New York ska scene. Members of the Scofflaws, Skinnerbox, the Toasters and the Stubborn All-Stars also appear on the album.

It's summertime, so bring on the surf rock! Del-Fi Records recently released Surf Monsters: Past Present & Future Surf Klassics, a 20-song collection that intersperses classic waveridin' hits by the Sentinels Dave Meyers & The tinels, Dave Meyers & The Surftones and the Centurions among edgier cuts by today's leading boarders, such as the Tiki Tones, Satan's Pilgrims, the Lively Ones, the Space Cossacks and others. Hang ten!

Slumberland Records has issued the Complete Recordings by indie-pop bellwether Black Tambourine. Black Tambourine, which hailed from Washington, DC, was formed in 1989 by folks who later went on to become members of Velocity Girl, Castaway Stones, Glo-Worm, the Magpies and other such well-mannered bands. Complete Recordings includes all of the band's previously released material (three singles and one compilation appearance) as well as one demo recording.

This week in the tribute album department we present the new Radical Records release— A Tribute To The Exploited – Punk's Not Dead. Seventeen of today's most intimidating punk outfits, including Blanks 77, the Cuffs, Billyclub, the Bruisers, and US Chaos give the British punk-metal hybrid band the royal treatment. Look for the Violent Society's inspiring version of the family favorite, "I Hate You."

The Queers, Screeching Weasel, the Vindictives... Each of these bands have paid tribute to the Ramones by offering up full albums of Ramones covers. Now the Huntingtons have joined this odd pack of wannabes. File Under Ramones, recently released by Tooth & Nail Records, eschews the obvious hits such as "I Wanna Be Sedated" for less infamous tunes like "Bonzo Goes To Bitburg." FYI: This is actually the second time the Huntingtons have done such an album, having released a similar album called Rocket To Ramonia in April 1996.

Last summer's split Silver Scooter/Cursive EP, which Crank! Records released exclusively on 10" vinyl, is now available from the label in the CD format. Cursive contributed three original songs while Silver

Scooter offered two originals and two covers, including the Eric's Trip tune "Sunlight."

Louis Phillippe is a legendary indie Brit-pop sensation who has worked with Pizzicato 5, Momus, Cornelius, and Sean O'Hagan. Now, thanks to Le Grand Magistery Recordings, a sampling of his oeuvre is now available in the U.S. for the first time. The expansive A Kiss In The Fun House compiles Philippe's most notable work from the '90s.

St. Paul, Minnesota-based Root-O-Evil Records has recently released a new addition to its growing collection of metal compilations. Roots IV: ZoSo is a brutal amalgam of album tracks, B-sides, rarities and unreleased material from heavy-hitting acts such as Piecemeal, Impaler, Plan E, Dumpster Juice and Fleshgrind.

Record Briefs

Everclear's frontman, Art Alexakis, will release his debut solo album on Capitol Records this autumn. MTV News quoted Alexakis as saying that the yet-to-be-named album will be "much less rocking. More fun, more pop, strings, groove, horns. Lots of fun."... Fans of Primus can expect the band's sixth full-length this fall. Although the San Francisco-based trio hasn't come up with a title yet, they did land some all-star help for the record. Tom Waits, Limp Bizkit's Fred Durst, Rage Against The Machine's Tom Morello and Metallica's Kirk Hammett all pitched in ... MOM III: Music For Our Mother Ocean will be available on July 15. Pearl Jam, Beck, Red Hot Chili Peppers, and Jane's Addiction are among the artists contributing new or remixed material to the benefit album, the proceeds of which go to the Surfrider Foundation...Save Ferris has begun recording material for the follow-up to It Means Everything, the band's debut. Though currently slated for an October release, it is rumored that the new album could be delayed until next year. The band recently previewed some of the new songs, which show off the ska outfit's soulful side, to an intimate audience at Linda's Doll Hut in Los Angeles...Terence Trent D'Arby is currently completing the mixing of his fifth album. Rolling Stone Online reports that the album will be titled The Solar Return Of Terence Trent D'Arby: Confessions Of A Powernoise Schizophrenic and that the record is scheduled for a possible September release...Polydor Records is putting together a tribute album that will pay homage to British mod rockers the Jam. Fire And Skill will include tracks by the Beastie Boys, Oasis and some 13 others and should be in stores by year's end...September will bring the third release from Canada's Our Lady Peace, optimistically entitled Happiness...Is A Fish You Can Catch...The Cowboy Junkies will launch their own Web site (www.cowboyjunkies.com) this month. The Web site will be the only place (besides Amazon.com) that fans of the Canadian rock outfit will be able to purchase Rarities, B-Sides And Slow, Sad Waltzes, an album whose title pretty much tells you what to expect... Sky Motel, the fourth solo effort from ex-Throwing Muse Kristin Hersh, will arrive in stores on July 6. The record marks Hersh's return to electric guitar; she has previously released three acoustic albums.

Warner Bros. Gets The R&B Bug

Warner Bros. Records has signed three non-exclusive production deals with three new R&B labels: Rock The Bells, Somethin' For The People (SFTP) and Ghetto Works. The deal gives Warner Bros. first rights to sign any artist signed to the labels. Rock The Bells is the imprint created by rapper/actor LL Cool J; SFTP is named after a Warner Bros. trio of the same name; and Ghetto Works is a division of Flavor Unit Entertainment, which is co-owned by producer Shakim Compere and rapper/actress Queen Latifah. Latifah will contribute a new song to an upcoming Ghetto Works compilation, and she will also debut her new television talk show later this fall. LL Cool J will begin recording his next album for Def Jam later this month. Soul singer-songwriter Seal also has his own imprint through Warner Bros. called Rain Records. Its roster includes male group Touch and female singer Lakeisha Wright.

EMusic.com Teams Up With King Biscuit

EMusic.com (formerly GoodNoise Corp.) has signed a licensing agreement with classic rock radio programming mainstay The King Biscuit Flower Hour Group. EMusic.com, the leading Internet seller of downloadable music, will make singles and albums from King Biscuit's imprints and broadcast archives available as MP3 files. Presently, over 60 albums from such artists as America, Iggy Pop, Jerry Lee Lewis, and Kansas can be downloaded.

The King Biscuit Entertainment Group owns recordings of the "King Biscuit Flower Hour" and the "Silver Eagle Cross Country" radio shows, material from which will also be uploaded to Emusic.com, as well as various syndicated programs. For those of you too young to remember pet rocks, the "Flower Hour" first aired in 1973 and can still be found on stations nationwide. Its inaugural show featured the Mahavishnu Orchestra, Blood Sweat & Tears and an unknown punk from New Jersey named Bruce Springsteen.

Show To Benefit Controversial Organization Planned For NYC

Music Web site Punk Planet will sponsor a live show featuring Girls Against Boys, Cat Power, Tim Kinsella (Joan Of Arc) and Ted Leo (ex-Chisel) on July 10 at New York City club Tramps. Proceeds from the show will benefit Voices In The Wilderness, an organization that smuggles medicine, toys and books into Iraq despite U.N. sanctions. Those who are caught breaking sanctions face jail time up to 12 years and $125,000 in fines. Freedom Fighters (Amphetamine Reptile) drummer Jeff Guntzel, who works with Voices In The Wilderness, will also be speaking at the benefit. Tickets to the show cost $10 in advance and $12 at the door.

Universal To Distribute ECM In The U.S.

Starting this summer, Universal Records will serve as the new U.S. distributor of Germany-based ECM Records. The jazz/classical label recently parted ways with former U.S. distributor BMG Classics. Before BMG, ECM's American distribution was handled by PolyGram.

The label plans to issue new releases in the fall by Jan Garbarek and the Hilliard Ensemble, as well as a Mozart recording by Keith Jarrett. Future releases will include works by pianists Andras Schiff and Peter Serkin.

Hardcore/Punk Documentary To Be Released

On August 25, Victory Records will issue the hardcore/punk documentary Release. The videotape, produced by independent filmmaker Brant Sersen, hopes to provide an insider's look into the current hardcore/ punk scene. It will also include concert footage and rare interviews from 31 artists, including Bad Religion, Sick Of It All, Earth Crisis, Blink 182, H2O, Madball, Hatebreed, Agent Orange and more.

American Federation Of Musicians Gets New TV Deal

The American Federation Of Musicians (AFM) has negotiated a new Television Videotape Agreement with major television networks CBS, ABC and NBC. The three-year agreement will grant musicians that work for shows such as Late Night With David Letterman and The Tonight Show a wage increase of 3% each year for the duration of the agreement. The agreement also covers musicians who record television show theme music and musicians who perform on daytime serials.

merits, growing with artistic leaps and bounds on each release, climaxing commercially with 1996's gold-selling Fever In, Fever Out, which featured the slow-burning hit, "Naked Eye." Finally standing on its own feet, the trio of funky femmes returns on June 29 with Electric Honey, an album that combines sensual pop with soulful smatterings of hip-hop and funk to create the most solid and upbeat collection of songs the band has released to date.

"I think they've grown into a better band as a whole," says Steve Nice, Director of College Radio Promotion & Specialty Shows for Capitol Records. "I think they have grown up and shed their [Beastie Boys] connection, and as they've gotten older, their music has gotten better and tighter."

Nice hopes the band — comprised of Jill Cuniff, Gabby Glaser and Kate Schellenbach (keyboardist Vivian Trimble exited the outfit under amicable circumstances before the album began production) — will finally capitalize on the widespread popularity they've slowly accrued over the years.

"Naked Eye' was like the little engine that could, and it almost got there," he says. "It [was successful] in a lot of ways, but it took so long because the airplay was so spread out and it never seemed to impact as big as it could have. It's really exciting with this record because...I think this album is packed with a lot of hit songs and that it will do well immediately."

The initial impact of the album (which includes a guest appearance from Blondie's Debbie Harry) and its first single, the popladen "Ladyfingers," has been strong, prompting a wash of press from major publications such as Rolling Stone, SPIN, CMJ New Music Monthly, Alternative Press, Elle and Bikini. And although "Ladyfingers" continues to be met with a heap of commercial radio airplay right off the bat, Nice insists that Luscious Jackson has no intention of shedding its role as an important figurehead in the college radio format.

"I still think college radio is a major part of their success," says Nice. "They were able to start at college radio and blossomed from that. Their [core] fanbase is probably in a different place now, but that doesn't mean that they're not a relevant college band. They've become one of those core acts at the format; one of those bands that [college radio programmers] will play, despite their heavy rotation on MTV and commercial radio because, like the Beastie Boys, Beck and Nine Inch Nails, their base is at college."

In July, the band will embark on a nationwide headlining tour, supported by Cibo Matto (which includes a free July 4 gig at the Central Park Summer Stage in New York City). Luscious Jackson will also play at the Tibet Freedom Concert in Amsterdam, and take on a high-profile position on this summer's Lilith Fair tour — a gig Nice hopes will not blunt Luscious Jackson's edge in the eyes of the public and pigeonhole them as yet another "Lilith" band.

Cibo Matto's sophomore effort finds the NYC duo making creative leaps and bounds over its loopy food-themed debut, Viva! La Woman (which topped the CMJ charts in '96). Stereo Type A (Warner Bros.) is a much more mature effort, exploiting the pair's savvy, genre-melding musical style and allowing them the space to write bewitching lyrics about topics much more complex than sugar water and chicken. Also appearing on the album is new bandmember Sean Lennon, as well as Marc Ribot, Buffalo Daughter, John Medeski and John Martin, making the album irresistible to college programmers.

DONNAS

Radio 200: 107-23 Core Radio: #22

Even if Palo Alto's Donnas hadn't appeared in the teen flick Jawbreaker, and even if they didn't have their version of "Strutter" appearing on the upcoming soundtrack to the Kiss movie, Detroit Rock City, they'd still have the most rockin' album on this week's charts. Get Skintight (Lookout!) is the perfect summer album, packed with hot licks and hilarious lyrics about teenage delinquency. If you haven't hipped yourself to these rockin' ladies yet, you've been missing out. Watch for a Last Word on the Donnas in next week's issue!

BLINK 182 Radio 200: #45 debut Adds: #20 with 14 reports

If the May 31 issue of CMJ New Music Report, on which Blink 182 appeared on the cover scantily clad, is any indication, the band's Enema Of The State (MCA) isn't going over on college radio because of the trio's strapping good looks. But between the band's airtight three-chord punk (which has progressed from rigid simplicity to downright Green Day-like poppiness) and its headlining slot on this summer's Warped Tour, Blink 182's presence on the college charts this summer is a sure thing. After priming radio for a few weeks with a CD5, the fulllength makes the top debut (#45) on the Radio 200 this week.

AUSTIN POWERS

Radio 200: 137-53

The new Austin Powers flick seems to be nearly as hotly anticipated as the Star Wars sequel! The soundtrack to the first film was a surprise hit at college radio, climbing the charts on the virtue of its kitschy swinger instrumentals, a Burt Bacharach cut, a few classic Austin quotes from the flick and the downright silly "BBC" by Ming Tea. This soundtrack is even more tantalizing than that one, though, featuring a new song by Madonna alongside cuts from Green Day, R.E.M., the Flaming Lips, Melanie G, Lenny Kravitz, and Bacharach teamed with Elvis Costello. Though it only makes a jump on the Radio 200 this week, you can expect this soundtrack to have staying power on the summer charts.

Web site of the week

Wired Planet www.wiredplanet.com 1032 Irving St. #435 San Francisco, CA 94122-2200 Phone: 415.242.0871 Email: feedback@wiredplanet.com Fax: 415.242.1849

Wired Planet has a little bit more to crow about than the fact that it's our newest Internet Broadcast reporter. The San Francisco-based music space recently launched its site boasting the first fully-integrated streaming MP3 player. Two of the main brains behind Wired Planet are CEO Thomas Hale, who previously guided the successful Imagine Radio, and Christian Jones, who savvy CMJ readers know as one half of OM recording artists Eighty Mile Beach. In addition to its superb stream quality, the Wired Planet player is a breeze to setup and navigate and takes up virtually no hard drive space. The player is currently only available for Windows 95/98, but Mac and UNIX versions are on the way very soon. Windows users with a connection speed of 56K or above can take advantage of the sparkling quality of Wired Planet's highquality stream. With a dozen channels to choose from, the player offers a strong mix of independent trip-hop, ambient, rock, jazz, punk and music in the singer/ songwriter vein. If you are unfamiliar with any of the artists on the channels, the player offers brief introductions in its main screen with the opportunity to link to Wired Planet's artist pages, which feature more complete bios and a link to buy the CD directly from Wired Planet's secure online store. "The Weekly Show," which Wired Planet describes as an "interactive interview and hang session," is another way to get to know up-and-coming independent minds shaping the music scene. And avid CMJ 'Net News readers will no doubt enjoy "TTalk," short for Technology Talk, Wired Planet's 30-minute wrap-up of the major tech stories of the day.

PlayMedia Systems Settles Lawsuit

Internet music technology developer PlayMedia Systems (www.playmediasystems. com) has agreed to settle its $20 million lawsuit against Nullsoft (www.nullsoft.com), creator of the Winamp MP3 player. Earlier this month, PlayMedia added MP3.com to the lawsuit because MP3.com is the largest redistributor of the Winamp software, but PlayMedia also dismissed its lawsuit against that company as well. MP3.com said in a company press release that, following the resolution, it has entered into a business relationship with PlavMedia. Specifics related to their relationship were not available at press time. The announcement to settle came one day after America Online (www.aol.com) acquired Nullsoft and Net radio company Spinner.com for $400 million.

In PlayMedia's original lawsuit, the company accused Nullsoft of using PlayMedia's copyright-protected source code for the Winamp player. Nullsoft, in turn, issued a new version of the player, one that used entirely different decoder software.

Digital Entertainment Network Injected With $26 Million

After debuting its Website on May 10, Network Entertainment Digital (www.den.net) received a $26 million investment from Microsoft, Dell and two venture capital firms. The company, which was formed by the co-founders of the Concentric Network, creates original, on-demand video programming targeted at teenage viewers. Each show is roughly six minutes long and is updated weekly. In addition to video programming, DEN offers online chats with their performers and other interactive features. For more information on DEN, see this week's Top Stories.

Amplified.com Receives $4.5 Million Investment

Business-to-business music wholesaler Amplified.com (www.amplified.com) has received $4.5 million in venture capital. The company, which was formed in 1994, will use the money to bolster its infrastructure and staff, as well as to provide additional features for retail and record companies. Through its network of retailers (which includes Tower Records, TWEC.com and National Record Mart), Amplified.com focuses on custom CD manufacturing, digital song downloading and content aggregation.

CDnow.com Sets Its Sights On Australia

Online music retailer CDnow (www.cdnow.com) expects to expand its retail service to Australia by September. The company is seeking music, Internet and retail partners. CDnow VP Clive Mayhew-Begg told the Billboard Bulletin, "We intend to have a physical presence with local distribution, Australian titles, a local customer-service department and local merchandising, dealing in Australian currency." According to CDnow, Australia is the third-largest foreign market, following the U.K. and Canada.

Yucaipa Buys Stake In GameSpy

Yucaipa Companies has taken an equity stake for an undisclosed amount in GameSpy Industries (www.gamespy.com), the maker of the MP3Spy directory service. Yucapia, an investment company with holdings in the supermarket, convenience store and food industries, recently hired entertainment industry mogul Michael Ovitz to create CheckOut.com, an online retail site that will sell music, videos and games. The venture marks Yucapia's first foray into online entertainment and e-commerce.

Launch To Run With Road Runner

LAUNCH Media (www.launch.com) has entered into an agreement with broadband ISP Road Runner to provide music videos, downloadable music and video interviews to Road Runner's subscribers. Road Runner, which has roughly 250,000 subscribers, is owned by Time Warner, Microsoft, Compaq, MediaOne and Advance/Newhouse. LAUNCH currently delivers its content to subscribers via a CD-ROM each month. Its agreement with Road Runner, however, will allow the company to phase out production of the CD-ROM in the near future.

MuchMusic Teams Up With Woodstock.com

Music destination site MuchMusic.com has entered into a partnership with Woodstock.com to create a new Web site (http://woodstock.muchmusic.com). The site will feature streaming video interviews with artists scheduled to perform at this year's Woodstock festival such as the Dave Matthews Band, Metallica, Alanis Morrissette and Sheryl Crow. The site will also feature interactive games and contests, as well as provide information on the event, which will take place in Rome, New York from July 23-25.

'NET BRIEFS

Digital Music Network (www.dmn.com), parent company of Webnoize (www.webnoize.com), has acquired music industry consulting firm Consulting Adults to create DMN Consulting. LAUREL AITKEN & THE SKATALITES Ska Titans (Moon Ska)

In 1996, Jamaican ska pioneers Laurel Aitken and the Skatalites toured Europe as separate acts on the same bill. The two teamed together for a few songs during each night's finale, and the chemistry from those moments inspired the two acts to record Ska Titans. Bastard children of ska beware! This is traditional, unadulterated ska: cool, soulful, bouncy and eternally danceable. Aitken's voice is as clear and seductive as it was 40 years ago, and the unsinkable Skatalites pump out fluid tempos and spirited horn arrangements with precision and skill. This 10-song collection features some of Aitken's signature tunes, a few classic popturned-ska songs, and three live tracks, the standout of which is Aitken's "Sugar Sugar," with vocals by Doreen Schaffer. COMPANY FLOW

Presents Little Johnny From The Hospital: Breaks And Instrumentals Vol. 1 (Rawkus) Unless you're a DJ in search of new breaks, or an aspiring MC looking for something over which to practice your rhyming skills, instrumental hiphop albums do not always make for the most exciting listening experiences, now matter how good the beats. But when it's Company Flow messing with the mix, you can expect anything but an average, uneventful record of instrumentals. RED KRAYOLA Fingerpainting (Drag City)

For over 30 years, Mayo Thompson and the Red Krayola have been making an everchanging Rubik's Cube of improvisational avant-pop. Fingerpainting, the collective's latest foray to rock's outer fringes, features previously unreleased recordings that date back to the group's 1966 underground freak-out classic The Parable Of Arable Land, modified and reprocessed with minimalist drum machine breaks and a flurry of electronic experimentation. One track may incorporate nothing more than clean guitar strums, stuttering drum programs, and Thompson's Ray

Davies-ish croon to get its point across. But almost a nanosecond later, the mood will shift into a squall of background analog hiss, horns, clattering cymbals, tinkering pianos and guitar doodles that sounds like an orchestra readying itself before a symphony. At times, it seems impossible to predict where Fingerpainting is headed, as it draws and quarters the initial Krayola sound between the past and the future. Nonetheless, it's a long, strange, headphone trip worth taking. - Ron Hart

PELT Empty Bell Ringing In The Sky (VHF)

the sound of the Virginia band's seventh release. On four epic tracks, the trio employs such noisemakers as bowed cymbals and guitars, sine wave generators, tube organ, Tibetan bowls and the tamboura to create pristine, metallic soundwaves that resemble Asian musical sounds without aping them. If you wanted to play the philistine, you could liken the Empty Bell experience to hearing some carefully orchestrated scraping of kitchenware. (And we'd understand.) But the compositions, though deceptively static, frequently tangle up into knots of beatific dissonance - not unlike the experience of staring at abstract expressionist paintings. — Carlene Bauer

KARRY WALKER Lipsbury Pinfold (Ubiquity)

Karry Walker has earned some recognition in folk circles, but the Californian musician writes songs that are generally too hyper to sit in one category for long. Her clever use of beatbox grooves and her ear for devious lyrical detail give her songs added sparkle. With her stark yet pretty voice, Walker can sometimes sound like another quasi-folkie Śhawn

Colvin, yet her voice tends to burn with an added nerves-on-edge quality — just check the cathartic coda of "The Trouble With Mary." The uptempo "Fillmore," with its digital beat and acoustic shuffle, offers a perfect introduction to Walker's style, as she keeps her cool amid the hectic imagery of the street scene she describes.

MR. WRIGHT

Star Time (Le Grand Magistery)

Fans of somber Brit-pop shouldn't miss Mr. Wright's Star Time. A keen observer of life and love, Kevin Wright pens wry commentaries on the peculiarities of being human and delivers them with a calm, positively British manner, topped off with a Morrissey-like swagger. Though every track on this album supports this description, suggest we starting with Star Time's final cut. "Strange Feeling." The song contains such winning lines as "And incomplete/Because the thing that you want/Should go on and on and on." For the most part, the music that emanates from behind his voice is low-key and minimal. Gentle waves of keyboards, guitar and brushed drums decorate the backdrop, effectively adding to the moody, desperate atmosphere. — Kelso Jacks

FIVE HORSE JOHNSON Fat Black Pussy Cat (Small Stone)

Channeling the spirits of both traditional blues monarchs like Howlin' Wolf and Junior Kimbrough and hard-rocking mongrels such as ZZ Top and Captain Beefheart, Todelo, Ohio's Five Horse Johnson bends Delta blues into a collection of harrowing, whiskey-soaked rockers on Fat Black Pussy Cat. The gritty distortion heaped atop the band's chord progressions can't hide the outfit's soulful sensibilities, especially when the gritty vocalizing of frontman Eric

Oblander gives way to squealing mouth harp solos that are dire enough to raise the dead. The popularity of k in dred artists such as the Jon

Spencer Blues Explosion and Cash Money may make the combination of raw blues and rock characteristics sound old hat, but Five Horse Johnson's impassioned twists and turns make Fat Black Pussy Cat rip up the room as it prowls through your speakers. — M. Tye Comer

SOUTH PACIFIC

33 (Turnbuckle)

Canadian music fans were treated to South Pacific's 33 when it was released in the fall of 1998. However, the folks at New York City's Turnb u c k l e Records took such a liking to the Toronto band that the album is now being r e l e a s e d domestically. Reminiscent of the droning shoegazers of the late-'80s and early-'90s, South Pacific's sound is richly atmospheric, awash in delicate nuances created by echoing notes that seem suspended in mid-air. Joachim Toelke's guitar oscillates, hums and swirls, while Phil Stewart-Bowles's resonant bass lines carry sonorous melodies. The trio is led by drummer/producer Graeme Fleming, whose drumming lends structure to the free-flowing songs, which have no vocals to get in the way of the moody, evocative music. — Tad Hendrickson

BEN TROVATO Music Test Pattern (Hedgehog)

The four 19-year-olds that comprise New Jersey's Ben Trovato (contorted from the Italian for "good find") sound like they're in a musical tug-o-war with one another on Music Test Pattern. That's not to say that the quartet's playing isn't a single, concentrated effort — on the contrary, the band's frenetic rhythmic change-ups and tightly intertwined guitar, vocal and bass melodies suggest the technical chops of much older players. It's just that Ben Trovato's hyper, almost schizophrenic shifts in tempo seem to come from some form of internal tension. Despite its off-kilter rhythmic bent, the band creates fairly straightforward pop, highlighted by the youthfully charged vocals of Matt Emmich. — Colin Helms

NOVAK

Novak (Hidden Agenda-Parasol)

There's a temptation to classify Novak as post-rock, since the Birmingham, England, septet plays expansive pop compositions that focus more on the sounds of accordion, flute and xylophone than guitar. In addition, Novak's style varies wildly within the span of single songs, nodding to the textures of trip-hop, drone-pop or folk. Adele Williams's vocals add yet another layer to mix. Whether she's crooning, telling a story, or growling out some moody lyrics, it's a pleasure just listening to her Anglicized syllables. These melodic grooves are cozier and friendlier, however, than those found on the average post-rock adventure. Novak's accomplishment? Its charms are immediately apparent, but so is its musical ingenuity.

TEST

Test (AUM Fidelity)

From amidst the seemingly aimless chaos of movement, noise and color that overtakes the average New York City subway platform during rush hour emerges a subtle, almost breathtaking sense of texture and purpose — thousands of individual

j o u r n e y s intersecting in one glorious mass for a few brief m o m e n t s before spiraling off on their own course. This a n a l o g y applies to

Test's heady, improvisational "free" jazz both metaphorically — through its raging, nearly overwhelming maelstrom of heady post-Coltrane skronk — and near-literally, since most of the quartet's public performances take place in NYC subway stations. Test, the collective's first widely available tures the blist e r i n g "S w a r m Inside" on the A-side and the slowly grinding "Dirty Little Lies" on the flip. Estrus Records has a reputation

ACCIDENT CLEARINGHOUSE By Blood And Marriage: The Accident Clearinghouse Story (OBT)

Rare is the independent band that manages to be both publicity savvy, image-conscious and self-sufficient, while also being remarkably talented and musically inspired. Accident Clearhouse is one of the rare exceptions. By Blood And Marriage is actually the sextet's third self-released album, an 18-tracker of deftly played, smartly written, and often very tongue-in-cheek, honky-tonking fun. Each band member is an adept multi-instrumentalist, peppering the jamboree with the sounds of banjo, pedal-steel, mandolin, standup bass and theremin. Guest players also contribute horns, accordion, fiddle, piano and more to the mix. The bonus is that the band's presentation is impeccable: From the cover art, which mimics '50s design, to the band's sharp Western suits and bolo ties, to its snappy Web site and fan club offers, Accident Clearinghouse is a bidden treasure.

BILL MONROE Live From Mountain Stage (Blue Plate)

For more than 15 years, the Mountain Stage has been the source of some pretty memorable roots music performances. But perhaps one of the most historic shows was this rare appearance by bluegrass legend Bill Monroe in the twilight of his career. While Live From Mountain Stage is h ar vested from a 1989 episode of the program, Monroe and his Blue Grass Boys deliver a performance so timeless in its sound and delivery that it may as well have been pulled from his first Grand Ole Opry show in 1938. Even in his old age, Monroe could still play the mandolin like a whip, and proves it with indelible renditions of tunes such as "Muleskinner Blues" and "Blue Moon Of Kentucky." — Ron Hart

FLYING BURRITO BROTHERS The Gilded Palace Of Sin (A&M)

The upcoming release of Return Of The Grevious Angel: A Tribute To Gram Parsons helped me recall my deep appreciation for the music of Gram Parsons and prompted me to think about what he meant to American music. He is every bit as worthy of the title Godfather Of Alt-Country as Neil Young is the title Godfather Of Grunge. Parsons's legend is also as tragic as that of many of his late-'60s/early-'70s contemporaries. Even as he was consuming drugs and alcohol with bands such as the Rolling Stones (there are pictures of Parsons and the Stones apparently wasted at Stonehenge), you could hear how profoundly he influenced the band on Stones tracks such as "Wild Horses" or "Country Honk." Following a brief stint in the Byrds --- during which time they released the quintessential country-rock album Sweetheart Of The Rodeo - Parsons and bassist Chris Hillman departed and formed the Flying Burrito Brothers. Before I ever heard their first album, 1969's The Guilded Palace Of Sin, I had only been exposed to Parsons's music through other artists - namely Elvis Costello, who covered "Hot Burrito No. I" on 1981's Almost Blue. When I first purchased Guilded Palace, I was expecting to hear something far more epic than the sad, soft-hearted songs that made up the record's dusky, warm atmosphere. The band's twangy fusion of hippie-rock, country and even Muscle Shoals-style soul ("Do Right Woman") isn't slapped together in the kind of stiff, formulaic fashion many retro-fitted bands use today. Rather, it's based on a recipe in which its ingredients are lovingly blended into a cohesive whole.

VARIOUS ARTISTS Electro Lounge: Electronic Excursions In Hi-Fidelity (The Right Stuff)

Classic lounge tunes getting a techno makeover — it may be worn-out to some, but no compilation currently in the stacks compares to the spectacular Electro Lounge release. Here the original masters of the '50s and '60s (Martin Denny, Dean Martin, Louis Prima, etc.) are subjected to the hands of p-Ziq, Uberzone, Gus Gus, Meat Beat Manifesto and others, with electrifying results. While the compilation features an eclectic range of remixers, the ghosts of the greats pervade the entire compilation, making for a fresh and intriguing take on the lounge revival.

> MR. SCRUFF Keep It Unreal (Ninja Tune)

Mr. Scruff's Keep It Unreal is an album so random-sounding, you'll wonder who keeps switching the CD in your player while your back is turned. During its course, bubbly breakbeats relinquish the spotlight to slick horn sizzles and bristling house beats, and atmospheric trip-hop and sparse plano melodies fade into sexy soul jams. This will keep your ears glued from start to finish.

TOMMY GUERRERO & GADGET "Weed On The Tree, Forty On The Floor" (12") (Function 8)

A stony ode to the great urban intoxicants, this mellow and mesmerizing single from San Francisco duo Tommy Guerrero & Gadget drives its point home with its downtempo breakbeat pulse, whimsical, airy melody and onpoint turntable cut-ups. Ragga man Litall Toney drops a rhyme on the vocal mix, while the Bside, "Hash On The Bush, 32 On The Ground," provides a rougher mix for harder heads.

PUBLIC ENEMY

There's A Poison Goin' On (Atomic Pop) communication theorist Marshall In McLuhan's acclaimed 1967 book The Medium Is The Massage, he hypothesized that using new means of propagating data would incite change in one's culture. On Public Enemy's first nonsoundtrack album in five years, the newly-reunited Hempstead revolutionaries use the medium of the internet as a vehicle for its message, and delivers the angriest, most poignant record they've made since Fear Of A Black Planet. There's A Poison Goin' On is a gritty manifesto that lyrically exposes the dirty heart of music biz politics. A fine return to form from one of the most important groups in the history of rap music.

new world news

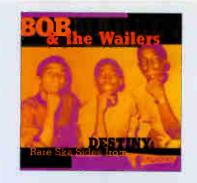

Declaring Caetano Veloso one of the world's most important musicians would not be an act of hyperbole. As part of the Tropicalia movement of the '60s, the Portuguesc-speaking songwriter helped change the direction of Brazil's popular music. Veloso, whose work encompasses bossa nova, Beatles, global music and poetry, has recently released Liuro, his fifth album for Nonesuch. In support of the record, Veloso will undertake his first North American tour from June 27-July 17... Cajun legend Buckwheat Zydeco is preparing to release a 20-year retrospective on his own Tomorrow Recordings. The Buckwheat Zydeco Story: A 20-Year Party will collect work from several different labels on one CD accompanied by a 16-page booklet. Buckwheat will also be hitting the road through most of July in support of the album, which is set for a July 6 release... The Kennedy Center Africa Fete '99 Summer Tour will begin August 12 in Detroit and end September 4 in Seattle, hitting 18 cities along the way. Senegalese singer Baaba Maal, Zimbabwean singer Oliver Mtukudzi and Kulanjan — which features guitarist Taj Mahal with musicians from Mali — will be the featured acts...French Afro-soul duo Les Nubians have a schedule tres fou these days. The duo just wrapped up shooting a video for "Tabou," the second single from Princesses Nubiennes. The video features a guest shot from Tariq of rap group the Roots. The ladies will also hit the road in October for their first American tour.

BOB MARLEY & THE WAILERS Destiny: Rare Ska Side From Studio 1 (Heartbeat)

Before he became the avatar for reggae, Bob Marley was part of the Wailers, a smartly-dressed, high-energy ska band that also featured Peter Tosh and Bunny Livingston. The group recorded numerous sides for producer and empresario Clement Dodd in the '60s on the famed Studio One label. This collection brings together highlights from the early formative years of a reggae legend, and gives a glimpse of the greatness vet to come.

AMADOU ET MARIAM Sou Ni Tile (Tinder)

Mali is a country known for its singers, and there have been few more exciting finds in recent memory than this blind husband-and-wife vocal duo. The two met in the Bamanko school for the blind, and have since spent their lives making music. The duo have an incredible sympathy and rapport between Amadou's melancholysounding guitar and Miriam's expressive voice. Are they more than just musical partners? Are they fellow travelers and soul mates? Listen and decide.

RAS MICHAEL AND THE SONS OF NEGUS Rastafari Dub (ROIR)

There are certain albums that are considered not only classics but also catalysts of the landscape of the music itself. Rastafari Dub features reggae legends like Tommy McCook and Robbie Shakespeare, plus Peter Tosh making a rare '70s-sideman appearance on rhythm guitar. There are few finer dub reggae platters than this obscure but treasured 1979 classic now restored to print.

ANDERS OSBORNE Living Room (Shanachie)

Sometimes you can be too close to the forest to see the trees. But in the case of Swedish-born Anders Osborne, his overseas exposure to a wide variety of American music such as rock, blues, honky tonk and Crescent City-funk has allowed him to make singular, original-sounding connections between styles. Songs like "Greasy Money" sound like a New Orleans jazz ensemble playing the Grateful Dead in a blues club. The presence of the eclectic and rootsy Keb' Mo (Osborne wrote his hit "I Was Wrong") adds even more flavor to the musical mesh.

Not familiar with Anger and Marshall? The fiddling and string-picking duo started as part of the David Grisman Quintet in 1979, and have shared stages with everyone from Bela Fleck to Stephane Grappelli to String Cheese Incident. Their bluegrass/jazz/jam-band instrumental fusion is technically adventurous and appealing.

other dimensions

Other Dimensions is a monthly column dedicated to new fringe jazz and improvised releases.

The Eremite label is building a reputation by releasing some of the finest improvised music in recent memory. The Die Like A Dog Quartet's DIE LIKE A DOG' OUARTET

From Valley To Valley (email: eremite@javanet.com) is a formidable addition to that legacy. The group features German reedist Peter Brötzmann — who's been on something of a creative high lately — as well as one of the finest rhythm sections around. Chicago drummer Hamid Drake's robust style works well with William Parker's inimitable bass playing. Joining the trio on this live set is horn player Roy Campbell. Brötzmann's near-manic pace sets the record's tone, and the rest of the players have no problem following his lead. Amazing...Having released several fine recordings for the Okka Disc label this decade, Chicago saxophone legend Fred Anderson is going through a renaissance right now. Recorded at Anderson's own bar, Fred Anderson Trio's Live At The Velvet Lounge (Okka Disc. phone: 773.761.2163, email: info@okkadisc.com) features Hamid Drake, who started playing with Anderson while still in his teens, and German bassist Peter Kowald. Anderson, who's now in his late 60s, moved away from written composition about a yearand-a-half ago, but his robust tone and endless riffing still sound incredibly fresh and absolutely riveting...Those interested in improvised music that uses electronics would do well to check out John Butcher/Phil Durrant's

Secret Measures (Wobbly Rail, email: wobbly@mindspring.com). As saxophonist Butcher chatters, wails and howls, Durrant samples the sounds, manipulates them, and sends them back to Butcher immediately so the reedist can respond. A sort of improvised loop, this intriguing concept proves that electronics can work in a live setting. - Tad Hendrickson (Jazz News on page 43)

WORLD SAXOPHONE QUARTET M'Bizo (Justin Time)

The World Saxophone Quartet has had a long and ambitious recording career, but M'Bilo may well be its most incredible releases to date. The album unites the four strong saxophones of the WSQ with a cast of African musicians and singers, blending the reedy jazz sounds with a larger sonic palette, pointing jazz music back to its deep African roots. The centerpiece is the lengthy "M'Bizo Suite." which takes up the bulk of the disc's running time, but individual portions of the composition are all suitable and eminently worthy for airplay.

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Hip Jazz Bop! Wealth Is Overrated (1201 Music) Snippets of jazz chestnuts have provided a new flavor to hip-hop records, movie soundtracks and clothing ads; now a whole new young generation is being turned on to the sounds of original bop. More than just a collection of great music, the Hip Jazz Bop! series presents a stylishly marketed jazz to a new, younger audience. Classic tracks make this a great introduction for bop neophytes just coming up, or a pleasant refresher for seasoned old hands.

For Fans Of: Duke Ellington, Diana Krall, Dave Brubeck Recommended Tracks: "West 42nd Street" (Kenny Dorham), "Berkshire Blues" (Randy Weston), "Ingin' The Ooh" (Count Basie) Phone: 800.288.2007 Email: justine@allegro-music.com Release Date: May 25

MONTY ALEXANDER Stir It Up (Telarc)

Stir It Up is jazz pianist Monty Alexander's heartfelt musical tribute to reggae legend Bob Marley. Sometimes things have a lilting, jumping ska groove to them, while at other times, the jazz beat takes center stage. Combining American and Jamaican players to offer the best of both worlds, Stir It Up is a delightful blend and a perfect summertime album.

SLIPKNOT Slipknot (Roadrunner)

For most people, Iowa is synonymous with cornfields, but that association may soon change once Slipknot's merciless, Ross Robinson-produced debut makes it to the public. The nineheaded, Des Moines-based monster of a band (which includes two percussionists, a DJ and a sampler) builds impenetrable walls of sound with its down-tuned guitars and spastic fury. Dressed in industrial jumpsuits and masks, these psychos rage through 15 original tracks on Slipknot like a cyclone through America's breadbasket. A drop-kicking debut with enough piss, spit, blood and adrenaline to knock you out cold.

For Fans Of: Korn's first record, Ministry's Psalm 69, Meshuggah, V.O.D.

MERCYFUL FATE 9 (Metal Blade)

The influential Mercyful Fate has never "broken the oath" to deliver fast metal marked by acrobatic guitar work and prog-rock dramatics. On 9, band leader King Diamond is at his highpitched best, espousing Anton LaVey's philosophies in his distinct-as-his-fingerprint vocals. Though the King's corpse-painted look is no longer new to black metal, what distinguishes him from the pack is his real-life devotion to a Satantist lifestyle.

TREE

Our Day Will Come (Wonderdrug)

Tree's focus is its message. These Bostonians are environmental activists, promoting the improvement of the planet through groove-oriented hardcore. The anger-fueled moshability of Our Day Will Come is effective enough to inspire even the most apathetic slacker to start recycling.

For Fans Of: Biohazard, Hot Water Music, early Clutch, Earth Crisis Recommended Tracks: "Real," "Pesticide," "God Grows Grass" Contact: Steve Woitasek Phone: 617.262.8620 Fax: 617.262.9151 Email: swndrdrg@tiac.net Release Date: May 25; at radio now

stopped by the TVT Records' NYC office and was more than thrilled to discuss his band's forthcoming sophomore effort Home while he devoured sushi. "We're mixing with Andy Wallace and it sounds mal good," he reported. Sevendust (which previously used the monikers Crawlspace and Rumble Fish before settling on its current nom de plume) made its name through touring, playing an astounding 460 shows over a two-year period. Witherspoon confesses that when the band finally took a road break, he went home and cried. "It was a tired, I'm-so-happy-to-behome-for-a-minute cry. We took a month off, then recorded. We're going on the Warped Tour next." 7D enlisted the services of Deftones' hottie Chino Moreno on a tune. Witherspoon says, "We were hanging out in the pool room at the studio and Clint [Lowery, guitarist] comes in and says, 'We have a week to do this last song. Wouldn't it be cool if we had Chino come out and do something? I kinda hear him on one of the songs.' So Sean at TVT called Chino that night. He was like, (Continued on page 42)

Etheridge co-produced the record-entitled Breakdown-with guitarist John Shanks, who hipped her to the sounds of today, she told Rolling Stone Online. You know, those beeps and blips and such. "He's very into the sounds today, the technology - all that stuff I haven't got a clue about," said "We put together an album Etheridge. that's a little deeper and more technical than before. We did some loops and things. But it's definitely Melissa Etheridge."

general public. Guests for the sessions included Erykah Badu, Black Star, Common, Gil-Scott Heron and D'Angelo ... Maybe the recent skeletons invading the closet of Sean "Puffy" Combs inspired him to do penance in the recording studio. Hip-hop's Michael Jackson will be releasing an album titled Thank You - The Gospel Album and will feature guests such as Faith Evans, Kelly Price, Brandy, Mase, Brian McKnight, and Grammy-winning gospel artist Reverend Hezekiah Walker. Thank You should be in stores by early fall. Puffy's solo album Forever - recorded without divine intervention - will be out in August...Meanwhile, Puff Daddy contemporary the Mad Rapper (a.k.a. Dedric "D-Dot" Angelettie) has had his day in court. A Manhattan Criminal Court judge dismissed all assault charges pressed against Angelettie by Blaze editor Jesse Washington because Washington refused to cooperate with prosecutors. Back in November, Washington alleged that Angelettie, along with three of his friends, attacked him in a conference room at the Blaze offices after the magazine ran a photo that pegged Angelettie as the Mad Rapper. Silliness...Redman, Method Man and DMX have been named as possible participants for this year's version of Korn's Family Values Tour. Other prospects for the caravan include Filter and the Foo Fighters...Good news for all you early-'90s heads out there. Ed O.G., Boston's favorite MC, is currently in the studio working on his third joint, and has already laid down tracks with Pete Rock and Xzibit, according to Vibe Online. While it was unclear at press time what label would be carrying the yet-untitled album, O.G. anticipates a summer release.

'Hell yeah. I'll be there Friday.' It was a magical thing." The new album is titled Home because "that is a place we are never at. We were taken away from what we knew, and the stress from being on the road....To me now, Sevendust is home." I was lucky enough to hear a doubleshot of the new shit. Get ready, loud rockers, because these two songs, entitled "Denial" and "Waffle," were unstoppable, heavier than bricks, and ready to rule the Loud Rock chart...This summer, we DMFs will be treated to new monsterpieces by Machine Head, Limp Bizkit, Ministry, Coal Chamber, and Six Feet Under. Aw yeah! Did somebody say something about metal being past its prime? ...Congratulations to the Deftones. The Sacto stompers' sensational sophomore album, 1997's Around The Fur, has been certified gold. My question: Why isn't this quality album platinum yet? Hopefully the band's next record will put them over the top...A big high-five to Detroit's Kid Rock. The trailer rapper declared "I'm going platinum" on 1998's Devil Without A Cause and way past platinum he went...140,000 juggalos ventured out of their hellholes to purchase Insane Clown Posse's The Amazing Jeckel Brothers during its first week. The Motor City clowns will tour with Biohazard and Coal Chamber this summer. If it gets hot in the venue, ICP will cool you off by dousing you with Faygo, their fave ghetto soda...Vision Of Disorder have a record entitled For The Bleeders that Go Kart will release in July. Bleeders consists of older, previously unrecorded material. Expect these tracks: "Formula For Failure," "7-13," "Take Them Out," "No Regret," "Choke," "Beneath The Green" and "For The Bleeders."... The travelling Social Chaos Tour, which features D.R.I., Murphy's Law, The Business, and D.O.A., among others, will land on the Milwaukee Metal Fest's fourth stage July 31...Dustin Goldfarb is back in the metal industry and working at Koch Records. Email him at dustin.goldfarb@kochint.com for all your Scorpions needs.

The folks at CIMP (Creative Improvised Music Projects) have come up with a daring advertising campaign. Frustrated because Downbeat's regular solicitation for ads never resulted in coverage, CIMP sent in ad copy that lambasted the magazine for preferring to review CDs from labels who advertise in the magazine. They also accused the magazine of asking for multiple copies of CDs that were never reviewed. The text concluded with a promise to send a free sampler CD to any Downbeat reader who sent in the ad along with their address and postage. The magazine refused to run the ad, citing the accusations made by the label as untrue. As of press time there had been no resolution of the issue. But CIMP, which is part of Northcountry Distribution and Cadence magazine, has taken their cause to the streets. Anyone wishes to receive a free CIMP sampler should send a copy of any reference made about the Downbeat controversy to Cadence Building, Redwood, New York 13679. Don't forget to include your 55 cents in postage. The deal runs till July 1...Delmark has once again dug through its vaults and discovered some forgotten gems. The label will reissue Jimmy Forrest's Black Forest, Barney Bigard & Art Hodes's Bucket's Got A Hole In It, Percy Humphrey's Climax Rag and Chris Woods's Modus Operandi. This is the first time any of these titles have been available in the CD format.

"My hope in doing this record was to just learn more about music, really," says Squirrel Nut Zipper Katharine Whalen, referring to her debut solo turn, Katharine Whalen's Jazz Squad. "That was my main goal. It has been very fruitful. It's like learning to read or something. It's like learning these songs, these old, well-written songs with such neat melodies. I've learned a lot just learning how they go."

There's never been a question that Katharine Whalen draws inspiration from things that are old. Performing with the uproariously fun throwbacks known as the Squirrel Nut Zippers, Whalen sits on a stool at the side of the stage in her lovely vintage dress strumming her banjo, occasionally moving center-stage to take up vocal duties. After three full albums with the Zippers, Whalen has taken a break from that role to assume a more prominent place in the spotlight. On Jazz Squad, the nascent leader receives help from her husband Jimbo Mathus, a fellow Squirrel Nut Zipper who functions as the group's musical director, plus Zipper bassist Stu Cole, pianist Robert Griffin, drummer Ted Zarras and saxophonist Cecil Johnson. The squad acts more as Whalen's support band than as a vintage-jazz dance band in its own right.

Where the Zippers' music is deeply influenced by jazz from the '20s and '30s, Whalen's is simply taken directly from that era in the form of covers. Asked why she decided to record jazz standards, many of which were popularized by jazz's greatest singers, her answer is simple and direct. "They're just good songs, really. I wanted it to be jazz from that era and those songs happened to be the ones I chose." It's a gutsy move for a woman with no formal musical training.

For anyone who has heard Whalen sing in her girlish warble, it should come as no surprise that there are a number of Billie Holiday stan-World Radio History dards covered on Jazz Squad. "She had killer material," Whalen says of the jazz great. "I don't know if she got [them] first, but I can't help if she sings all the great songs. I learned a lot from her, I reckon." When she was 18 years old, Whalen discovered an old Italian import of a Holiday album in a thrift store, and has been in love with the music ever since.

More than a decade later those songs are now deeply embedded in Whalen's musical psyche, but there's a big difference between singing along to a record and actually learning how to sing the songs. "I don't read music. So I found that when I was learning the songs for this album that Billie Holiday really doesn't follow the melody. It didn't matter where she goes, it always sounded great." While it's difficult to learn about cadence, nuance and lyrical interpretation from the masters, Whalen has a voice that serves her well. And that is something that can't be learned. Ironically, it's this unique gift that Whalen considered something of a curse. "If I was trying to sing along to ABBA or Queen on the radio, it always sounded funny. I have a funny voice. It just so happens that it works for this kind of music." Whalen kept her singing to herself, but Mathus saw the talent and drew it out. "Jimbo is a catalyst and an excellent teacher. I would have never been a musician if it weren't for him. He has this way about him where when you are around him he makes you think that music is the funnest thing you could do. So it caught a hold of me, really."

Mathus was also the one that encourage Whalen to record her own album outside the Zippers. With the Zippers' busy touring schedule, the idea of making an album wasn't something she had considered, but once proposed, Whalen knew it was something she had to do. "He mentioned it. Then I kept pestering him until we set it up and did it," she explains. "I realized it was something that I really wanted to do. Very badly. It gave me a lot more confidence and a lot more skill. And it's helped with the Zippers because I have a lot more ideas for that as well."

Zippers fans might be surprised by the subdued nature of Whalen's recording, yet that is the nature of the beast when one sings classic torch songs: The themes are often sad and so is the singing. "I'd like to be a jazz singer, that's why I'm working on it," Whalen explains. "I'm not going to say I'm one, but it's the kind of material I like to sing. I'm not a scat singer. I don't scat, I don't improvise, but I don't think that jazz has to be improvised. Maybe I am a pop singer because I don't improvise, but I try to go to the blue notes, I look for them." Katharine Whalen has learned a lot more about music, and through this recording we've learned a lot more about her. As one of the most interesting voices in the pop realm, she aspires for more and in the process has come into her own.

INDUSTRY PROFILE STEPHEN PRENDERGAST Vice President, Squint Entertainment

"It's just the state of our business. Nobody wants to care. As much as people [say they] love music and want to hear new things, forget it, we're all too busy."

Interview By Glen Sansone

Stephen Prendergast is the VP of one of the record industry's most closely watched new labels. In less than two years, the tremendous success of Sixpence None The Richer has helped put the previously unknown Nashville-based Squint Entertainment on the map. The imprint recently secured an agreement with Elektra Records to distribute Sixpence's album internationally, and is currently building on the growing buzz surrounding its second signing, power trio Chevelle.

How did you get involved with Squint?

Steve Taylor and myself conceived Squint initially. When I was working at BMG, I told Steve that he should do a label. He's a producer, and he was doing a lot of music videos, and we just hit it off really well as friends. We ended up writing a business plan and we just started to shop it. We took it around to just a couple of places before the company Gaylord in Nashville really wanted to do something. Gaylord made all its money in country music and wanted to branch into contemporary music and film. They sold CMT and TNN for a billion and a half dollars, so they had these resources sitting there. We just happened to be in the right place at the right time. They gave us Steve is doing a film right now.

Did you start the label with a specific philosophy in mind?

It was to be an alternative...a place for people who have a faith. There aren't many places for people who want to profess a faith in God to do it in a very contemporary and relevant way. But it gets so misinterpreted. I mean, Sixpence wrote a great song called "Kiss Me" that has nothing to do with gospel music.

How did you end up signing Sixpence None The Richer?

We saw them at a club. Steve had known the band — he'd seen them play before. I heard the songs and they were amazing, particularly "Kiss Me." They were signed to another label [REX Records], and that label was going out of business. We said, look, let's try to get them. We made a deal with their old label with some of the money that Gaylord had given us and bought them out of their deal. The band had done two records and an EP, so they had created their base — the last record [Beautiful Mess] scanned almost 50,000. They were ready to take that next step.

You really built the band up slowly.

We just felt that we had to go through every format to get to what we knew would be the hit format, Top 40. We always felt "Kiss Me" was a mass-appeal hit song internationally...but you can't just go [Top 40]. If we did that and then tried to go back to college radio, alternative or Triple A, they would ignore us because the band would only be known as a pop band. So we took a lot of time on purpose.

What was the marketing strategy?

It was always based around "Kiss Me" and having the band play in front of as many people as possible.

When did you know that something was really happening with the single?

It was a series of things along the way. Every once in a while, we would get tired and think it was running out of gas. And then something would happen like, for instance, [CMJ] was into it, and then John Colladner from Columbia said 'That's a hit song you're on the right track,' and we knew that we were not alone. Then KLLC in San Francisco added the single out of the blue.

As a label, you must have been getting some funny looks, no? The label basically launched itself with a hit record.

Everybody said that we had to pay cash you know what I mean!? It was something that I never even thought about. Nobody wants to do business with you because nobody knows anything about you. Radio doesn't want to play it, retail doesn't want to stock it, the press doesn't pay attention. We originally serviced 500 press outlets and got about 15 pieces of press out of it. Couldn't get a booking agent until March of this year. It's just the state of our business. Nobody wants to care. As much as people [say they] love music and want to hear new things, forget it, we're all too busy.

Were there any offers you turned down?

Oh yes. Capitol wanted to put "Kiss Me" on the Never Been Kissed soundtrack, and Restless wanted to put it on the Simply Irresistible soundtrack, too.

How are sales going?

Sales on the Sixpence record are at 510,000 — we just went gold. The single is at-700,000.

Squint's second signing, Chevelle, is making an impact on CMJ readers. Were you expecting that to happen?

I can't believe it! It's blowing my mind! We're not geniuses, we're just really lucky. MTV phoned up and said they love the. video for "Mia." They said that they'd be happy to add it to 120 Minutes and M2 right away, but they had a special indie video weekend planned and they suggested that we hold off and use it to launch that.

Do many labels approach Squint to sign your bands?

Yeah, all the time. We have to do what's best for the artists. There's a lot of people that talk about a lot of things they're going to do, and when it comes right down to it, you just can't count on them to come through. What Squint lacks in ability and resources, we make up with the fact that we're not overburdened. If we found the right partner who was clearly going to give us the opportunity to take the band to the next platform, we'd probably look at it seriously.
