Music Industry Delivers Blow To MP3.com

Calling to mind those childhood threats of "wait until your father gets home," MP3.com has several weeks to sit quietly and ponder its impending punishment, now that U.S. District Court Judge Jed Rakoff has ruled in favor of the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) in its summary judgment motion against MP3.com, which charges MP3.com with copyright infringement. The court is expected to issue a written opinion explaining its ruling in several weeks, with damages to be awarded subsequently.

In a post-ruling press conference, MP3.com's executives vowed to appeal the decision. They added that, for the time being, the company would continue business as usual, only removing the purportedly infringing offending CD tracks if the RIAA wins an expected request for injunctive relief. MP3.com shrugged off suggestions of possible damages against the company in excess of $300 million, and reaffirmed the financial security of the company.

Low-Power FM Issues Continues To Rankle

National Public Radio (NPR) filed a motion on April 28 to stop the FCC from modifying or implementing its Low-Power FM (LPFM) initative without further testing. The motion's likely effect will probably be limited to allowing NPR to "officially" register its objection to the LPFM initiative, since Congress has already debated the issue, and whatever action that body takes will likely settle the issue (CMI issue #665). In a press release, NPR lamented the "haste with which the FCC is acting," repeating the oft-made National Association of Broadcasters (Continued on page 9)

THE ESSENTIAL RELEASES OF THE WEEK

SUNNY DAY REAL ESTATE The Rising Tide (Time Bomb)

The Rising Tide is the second album of original material by Seattle's Sunny Day Real Estate since the band broke up and reformed after the release of 1995's LP2. Showcasing the band's streamlined lineup (guitarist Dan Hoerner, drummer William Goldsmith and vocalist/bassist Jeremy Enigk), the album is a bold reaffirmation of SDRE's impassioned might and expressive, taut melodies. Not surprisingly, the new band configuration (Enigk has moved from guitar to bass) works well, and the three-piece Sunny Day Real Estate still startles with complex and powerful songs. As the title suggests, The Rising Tide has a beauty that hits the listener in waves, from the intricate, lilting interplay between electric and acoustic guitar on "Tearing In My Heart" and the sanddollarfragile hymn of "Faces In Disguise" to the anthemic percussive swells of "Disappear." Though rolling energetically, Sunny Dav's sea is no threat -Enigk's voice is an unsinkable life preserver. His natural, octave-jumping falsetto is like none other in rock today, and his heartfelt wails will keep you afloat even in the deepest waters. - Kelso Jacks

STEVE EARLE Transcendental Blues (E-Squared-Artemis)

It's been said on more than a few occasions that Steve Earle is the type of fella who'll suck down a shot of moonshine and spit it back in your face; a character portrayed by Jack Palance or James Coburn in some classic spaghetti western. But even the cagiest hombre needs to stop for a moment and reflect on his life and the world around him, which is exactly what fuels the power of Steve Earle's Transcendental Blues. Following the critical success of The Mountain, his acclaimed 1998 retro-bluegrass collaboration with the legendary Del McCoury Band, Earle's tenth album handpicks elements from his past five albums to piece together his most diversified and hardest rocking set to date. Kicking off with the electrifying title cut, which could possibly be the best song Pearl Jam never recorded, Transcendental Blues segues through blue-collar rock, Dylanstyle folk, scrappy neo-Celtic raveups, bluegrass variations, fuzz guitar blowouts and tear-jerking Beatles-esque orchestrations - all with seamless transitions and ragged emotion. Each second that passes seems to peel away another laver of Earle's soul. Transcendence has never been pursued with such ambition. - Ron Hart

BEBEL GILBERTO Tanto Tempo (Ziriguiboom-Six Degrees)

Bebel Gilberto, the daughter of bossa nova legend João Gilberto and famed Brazilian singer Miucha, comes from a rich musical lineage. The 32-year-old singer has appeared on several compilations and has done guest spots on friends' albums, but the seemingly reluctant solo artist has waited until now to make her full-length debut. Tanto Tempo, which features collaborations with producers Suba, Amon Tobin, Thievery Corporation, Mario C. and Smoke City, is an imaginative take on old and new Bebel songs, as well as such bossa nova classics as "Samba da Bençao" and "So Nice (Summer Samba)." Eschewing the postmodern irony that mars a lot of current production work, the music features uncluttered rhythm tracks that reverently recreate the classic samba pulse with both digital programming and live percussionists. Spare acoustic guitar, piano and other organic odds and ends lend smooth bossa nova authenticity, but the album's real treat is Gilberto's voice; her phrasing unobtrusively plays off the beats and melodies with an ease that comes from a lifetime around music. Seldom rising above a measured whisper, her tone is both sensual and playful. Tanto Tempo is an album that will make mom and pop proud and enchant anyone else who happens to come within earshot. - Tad Hendrickson

MXPX The Ever Passing Moment (A&M-Interscope)

"Responsibility?/ I don't want to think about it!" On MxPx's fifth album, this line from "Responsibility" is likely the most cheeky attitude you'll get from the squeaky-clean trio that takes the edge off of the punk-pop style it shares with its Warped Tour colleagues. The band's members continue to stress the self-righteousness that differentiates them from the genre's typical whiny, self-deprecating posture by idealistically titling tracks "Prove It To The World" and "One Step Closer To Life." The production is clean, with pop-oriented melodies and zealous energy, complementing MxPx's thrill seeking, skate/surf fan base. Most of the tracks do not exceed three minutes and act like power-chord vitamin megadoses, providing quick, frenetic rushes of punky lifeblood. The record includes points of experimentation with waltz ballads and early rock-influenced riffs, suggesting that MxPx may be venturing into new terrain. But for the time being, hard-core enthusiasts seeking non-threatening, copious guitar and drum pageantry should find The Ever Passing Moment an enjoyable addition to their collection. — Sara Shepard

Major Labels Agree To DiscoverMusic's Plan

DiscoverMusic.com has announced a non-exclusive license agreement for its music sampling service with four major labels: BMG, Universal, Warner and EMI. Discover-Music provides song samples for over 90 Internet music retailers, including CDnow.com, Amazon.com, HMV.com, BarnesandNoble.com, Checkout.com and many others. The company has already developed licensing deals with more than 500 independent record labels. DiscoverMusic streams more than 50 million song samples a month, offering clips of under a minute from more than 200,000 albums. Under the recently announced agreement, the major labels will receive licensing fees and other compensation for the use of their music. Specifics of the deal were not released.

"Historically it was unclear whether a license was needed, but it's been our goal since the beginning to work directly with the record companies. So what this has done for us is to strengthen our relationship with the record companies," Erika Leber, Discover-Music's Vice President of Sales and Marketing, told CMJ. "[The Internet] is a very undefined space, and we wanted, as leaders in this space, to be leaders in defining licensing terms. It has always been our goal to be incredibly up front and help the labels to see that if people can sample music, they buy more music.'

DiscoverMusic was recently sued (CM) issue #664) by Intouch over allegations that its music sampling business violates an Intouch patent concerning a similar process. Discover Music officials said that they had not yet received a written copy of the lawsuit, and that they were evaluating their options with the company's lawyers.

Emusic.com Acquires Music Of The World

Emusic.com announced the acquisition of Music of the World Ltd., and its music labels Music of the World, Latitudes and Nomad. Emusic.com will expand its catalog of world music by adding over 850 African, Indian, Latin American, Asian and other native and traditional music MP3s to their site. Music of the World's roster includes Hassan Hakmoun, Shankar, Badal Roy, Talip Ozkan, Beausoleil, Nana Vasconcelos, Steve Gorn and Glen Velez. As part of the acquisition, Emusic.com also hired Music Of The World's founder and owner, Bob Haddad, as a creative consultant to explore new projects and partnerships. Brian Brinkerhoff, vice president of content acquisition for Emusic.com said in a statement, "this deal allows us to promote quality music in traditionally-underrepresented genres through our strong Internet and music industry partnerships." Music Of The World is currently being featured on the Web site.

Writer Sues Neil Young

Roughly one week after the release of Neil Young's latest solo album, Silver & Gold (Reprise), writer Jimmy McDonough has sued Young, alleging that he has blocked the publication of his biography, according to Wall Of Sound. McDonough, who filed the suit in Los Angeles County Superior Court, is seeking $1.8 million, while also attempting to get the biogra-phy published. Young and McDonough, a former Village Voice writer, allegedly signed an agreement in 1991, which supposedly gave McDonough the artistic freedom to write Young's authorized biography, Shakey: The Biography Of Neil Young, with his blessing and assistance. Young retained the right to request changes with respect to his then-immediate family. At that time, the two also reportedly signed a publishing deal with Random House.

Young

The suit says Young "has enjoyed a highly successful music career, both as a solo artist, and as a member of the rock and roll bands Buffalo Springfield and Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young, and has crafted for himself a reputation as a champion of creative freedom. In this guise, Young induced McDonough, the plaintiff, an established writer of offbeat profiles of musicians, to write Young's biography." The suit also states that in 1998, after McDonough had been working on the book for seven years, "Young revealed himself to be a contradiction in terms, using the wealth and power he had accumulated from his musical and business success to squelch publication of the biography." According to the suit, Young did not object to any of the book's material, and McDonough says that the loss of nearly a decade of his creative life has had a devastating effect.

Music Stars Do Priceline Plugs

A bevy of musicians, including Veruca Salt's Louise Post, Ben Folds, Lisa Loeb and Fishbone members Angelo Moore and Norwood Fisher, join former Enterprise captain and singer/ Priceline.com pitchman William Shatner for a new Priceline commercial spot. The commercial was recently taped in New York and will begin airing in May.

William Shatner is an awesome guy to work with. He's a cultural icon and a really funny guy," Fishbone bassist Fisher said. The band is opening for the Red Hot Chili Peppers/Stone Temple Pilots this summer, kicking off on June 30 in Saratoga, New York. They will be supporting their recent Hollywood Records debut, Fishbone & Familyhood Nextperience Presents The Psychotic Friends Nuttwerx.

Revenues Climb For Musicmaker.com; Losses Down

Custom CD compiler Musicmaker.com has reported revenues of $3.08 million during the first quarter of 2000, which is a 290% increase compared to its 1999 fourth-quarter revenues of $787,000. Despite the big gains in overall revenue, the company reported a net loss of $11 million during the quarter, compared to a net loss of $13 million during the fourth quarter of 1999. The company's two main sources of revenue were the successful two-CD set Jimmy Page & The Black Crowes Live At The Greek, and the sale of 800,000 special custom CDs offered through Pizza Hut and CDnow. CDnow purchased the 800,000 discs from Musicmaker for an undisclosed amount.

In a similar deal, Musicmaker has made a deal with Pepsi, which will pay Musicmaker for three million discs for its upcoming "Choose Your Music" promotion.

Beta Band's Mason Planning Second Solo Release

Vocalist Steve Mason of the Beta Band will release a follow-up to last year's solo debut, Sings Nelly Foggit's Blues recorded under the moniker, King Biscuit Time. The new EP will be a four-song release like the last album, through the Beta Band's label, Regal Recordings, and will hit the streets on June 19. The band appears prominently in the new John Cusack film High Fidelity. In a humorous scene from the movie, record shop worker Cusack puts on the Beta Band's "Dry Rain" from The 3 EPs and pledges to sell five copies of the album while the song plays.

GBV Drummer Laying Down The Sticks

It's the last time around for Jim MacPherson, drummer for Guided By Voices. The band's May 9 performance on Late Night With Conan O'Brien will be his last, as MacPherson announced his intent to leave the band after the taped performance. MacPherson joined Robert Pollard's ever-evolving cast of merry pranksters in 1998 for the album Do The Collapse. A former drummer for the Breeders and the Amps, MacPherson plans to spend more time at home with his family. He had only positive things to say about the experience.

"Playing with Guided By Voices has been incredible fun and the most rewarding musical experience of my career," said MacPherson in a statement. The band is touring in support of their Hold On Hope EP. Robert Pollard also has released a new track entitled "My Big Day," under the pseudonym Kuda LaBranche on a limited edition CD for the fanzine Fresh Cow Pie. Ex-GBV guitarist Mitch Mitchell's new band, the Terrifying Experience, also has a track on the album, which may be ordered by sending an email message to farmerp@daktel.com.

Kindercore Signs Bill Doss Of Olivia Tremor Control

Singer/multi-instrumentalist Bill Doss of Olivia Tremor Control announced that his next project, Sunshine Fix, will be handled by the Brooklyn-based Kindercore Records, home to acts such as Japancakes, The Essex Green and Richard Davies. An EP from Doss's new band will be released in June, with a follow-up full length expected in the fall. The project's other members are "familiar faces," according to Kindercore, and the band is a fully functional, touring band, not simply an OTC side project.

"Bill is doing something really new and interesting with this project," says Kindercore's co-founder Dan Geller. "It is like George Clinton meets Johnny Cash. He is going to tour and run this like a normal band."

In addition to Sunshine Fix, Kindercore has also reached an agreement to co-release an Olivia Tremor Control singles collection with Los Angeles-based record label Emperor Norton. Emperor Norton has been funding Kindercore since 1999; this will be the first co-release between the two labels.

White Town's Newest Edifice

Jyoti Mishra, the musician behind White Town, returns with his newest disc, Peek & Poke, set for release on May 22 on the Indian-born performer's Bzangy Groink label, with distribution by Recognition-Universal. On the follow-up to 1999's EP Another Lover, Mishra writes, engineers and produces all 12 tracks, with additional vocals from Sophie Clarke on "Another Lover" and "In My Head" and acoustic guitar from Bruce Hunnisett.

Mishra burst onto the international music scene with the dance hit "Your Woman," which went to #1 in the U.K. in January 1997 and later reached #1 in seven other countries. It peaked in America at #23 on the Billboard Hot 100.

Ex-Blind Melon Members Become Part Of Unified Theory

Two ex-Blind Melon members, guitarist Christopher Thorn and bassist Brad Smith, have teamed up with drummer Dave Krusen (who played on Pearl Jam's Ten) and lead singer/guitarist Chris Shinn to form Unified Theory. "This is not a continuation of Blind Melon," Thorn said in a prepared statement. "I'm inspired by different things now." His bandmate agreed, "No one would ever think, ARTISTSPOTLIGHT

NASH KATO Interview by Cheryl Botchick

When the publicist for Nash Kato suggested a 10 a.m. appointment for our phone chat with the former Urge Overkill frontman, we had every reason to be skeptical. Nash Kato at ten in the morning? Does a man of the world really see that hour of the day, unless he's on his way home? Assured by his representative that we wouldn't be cramping Kato's jet-setting style, we agreed, only to be patched in to Kato's boudoir at 9 a.m. Chicago time. After some gentle coaxing out of his slumber, Nash kindly endured a handful of our eggheaded questions about his new solo album, Debutante (Loosegroove-Will), answering in his trademark lazy gravel of a voice before we let him return to his beauty rest (and what sounded like a whispering overnight guest). Forgive us, Nash. Next round is on us.

We haven't heard anything from you in a few years. What have you been up to?

I took some time off, and I suppose you could say it was time well spent. [laughs] So in the interim, I got away from music for a while, I guess. But when it seemed that eventually I could no longer separate myself from my music, I just picked it back up. It was really only in retrospect that I can recognize any noticeable separation.

Urge Overkill was always on the rock 'n' roll bestdressed list, and when we mentioned that to your manager, he reported that you've been rocking a new look. He calls it "Kato 2000." What's that all about? Really? He said that? [laughs] It's funny that he said that... [laughs] That bastard! Yeah, there have been... shall we say, schemes to that effect, but this time around, it's been different, I think. All that comes after the music. It had come to the point where the lines were getting blurry, but now it comes after the fact. Anything like that is the result of what I'm doing musically. I still pretty much believe in the idea that you have to look good to sound good, as well as many of the other old Urge virtues, but the look never precedes the sound. [yawns]

I think we ought to let you go back to sleep now, Nash.

Oh, thank you. Well, this has definitely been an experience for me. To launch into an answer, and then conclude with something I was dreaming a half hour ago...

When you wake up for real later on, you won't be sure if this interview really happened or if it was all some strange dream.

I know! [laughs] Well, believe me, you have my permission to fill in the gaps between reality and the dream world. Just make me sound literate, that's all I ask.

No problem. 'Night.

Ciao, darling.

Ice Cube To Develop New Series For HBO

The multi-talented Ice Cube has signed a deal with HBO to develop and produce a series about the hip-hop industry called Be  Careful What You Wish For. He will not star in the series but may take a small recurring role, in addition to possibly directing the show's pilot.

Ice Cube has a lot on his plate these days. He will be joining former N.W.A members Dr. Dre and MC Ren, Snoop Dogg, Tha Eastsidaz, Eminem, Westside Connection and Warren G. on the Dr. Dre Hip-Hop 2000 Tour, which will begin in mid-June and continue throughout the summer. Cube will also be playing the lead in John Carpenter's Ghosts Of Mars. With a schedule like that, Cube must look forward to Fridays more than most people.

Beatnik Scraps IPO

Beatnik, Inc., founded by ex-New Wave artist Thomas Dolby Robertson, has withdrawn its $63.2 million initial public, citing poor market conditions. Since the company filed for its IPO in March 2000, the technology-heavy NASDAQ stock exchange has lost about 18% of its value. Beatnik, founded in 1996, creates a digital audio platform licensed for use in TV set-top boxes, appliances and Web browsers. Its technology is used by Sun Microsystems, WebTV, BowieNet and the MTVi Group.

Atomic Pop's Customs Declaration

Atomic Pop recently launched its new custom CD service using CDKnet's MixFactory technology. Consumers can now create a custom multimedia CD, choosing both audio and video material from Atomic Pop's roster of artists, which includes the likes of Flashpoint and Public Enemy, as well as Atomic label affiliates Goodvibe, Fire and 4AD, home of Red House Painters and Brendan Perry. MixFactory CDs play audio tracks when placed in a standard audio CD player and play both audio and video when placed in a CD-ROM drive.

Atomic Pop recently launched Jet Lounge, a multimedia artist information source. The company's new custom CD service promises to further its commitment to providing a complete interactive experience for consumers.

Indie Promoter Autotonic Has Left The Building

Autotonic, the eight-year-old independent radio promotion and publicity company, has closed, leaving bands such as Enon, Negativland and Boss Hog looking around for a new promotion partner. Autotonic had been providing promotional services to bands and small labels alike through its publicity and promotion services. CMJ spoke with Autotonic's Director of Radio Promotion, Dan Mackta, as he was driving from Memphis to New York.

"I've been doing this for eight years now and there doesn't seem to be quite the enthusiasm for good music as there was in the early '90s with groups like Pavement and Guided By Voices. These days the opportunities just aren't there and it got frustrating. We looked at '99 to see if we could grow the business to a certain level and it just didn't seem possible. We made the decision a few months ago and phased it out. We wanted to go out with some level of integrity intact."

Looking back, Mackta has no regrets, even though he turned down an offer from CMJ when he was fresh out of college. "Running Autotonic was great for eight years. How many people can say they did what they love and were successful at it? We never had to compromise what we were and we always felt like we were doing good stuff for the people we were working with. The example I like to use is Guided By Voices. I mean, before it was 'Guided by who?,' but look where they are now." Dan and his dog are currently roaming the countryside for something "cutting-edge and interesting to do. It's time to stop fooling around and get a real job."

Roseland Ballroom's Dancing Days Numbered?

Roseland Ballroom's future hangs in the balance. The New York City-based dance hall/concert venue is no longer taking reservations and there is a deadline on its activities as its owners decide the building's fate. Venue spokesperson Michele DeMilly told CMJ, "The owners of the building need to take a direction as to where this building's going and presently, that direction is up in the air — we'll know more in the fall." DeMilly said that the building has been family-owned for decades by people who intend to retain the property.

Roseland has seen a lot in its 80 years; performers from Duke Ellington to the Chemical Brothers have graced its stage. Roseland appeals to bands that cannot sell out Madison Square Garden but can still manage to fill the 3,200 person capacity space. It has also seen its share of Hollywood moments and was even immortalized in the 1977 Ismail Merchant film, Roseland. "It's interesting to see the reaction to this. People have more affection for Roseland than I ever would've expected," DeMilly said.

be one of the best capitalized Internet companies. We have just over $350 million in cash in the bank today," said MP3.com CEO Michael Robertson. Robertson asserted that only a negligible part of the company's revenues came from the controversial My.MP3 service, and that more than 80% of the company's revenues come from advertising as opposed to ecommerce or other fees.

In his opening comments to the press, Robertson attacked what he views as a shortsighted strategy for the labels. "While many perceive this as a victory for the labels, we see it as a loss because when new responsible technologies for delivering music like My.MP3 are attacked and shut down, it creates a vacuum for other technologies that are not responsible to fill," said Robertson, later citing Gnutella and the embattled Napster by name s examples of the latter.

"The labels made a decision to challenge our technology, which protects their intellectual property rights and grows their business. What they'll be left with is copyright chaos," Robertson continued, drawing attention to the fact that record labels' sales were up 8% in the first quarter over the same period last year. "We look at this as if we're in a heavyweight fight...we'll take shots. And this is a shot. But this is by no means the end of the fight."

MP3.com's stock opened on Friday, April 28, at $12, but after the news of the verdict was released, it dropped precipitously to close at $6.94. The stock's 52-week high is $105. Robertson complained about the timing of the ruling's announcement, which came in the middle of the trading day.

claim that the iniative would result in overlapping and thereby degraded radio signals. As reported in last week's issue, to some observers, such claims are not credible. In 1996, the NAB requested clearance for stations with signals a thousand times stronger than those that would be under the LPFM plan, and as close or closer on the dial to neighboring stations' frequencies than would be sanctioned under the LPFM plan.

Senator Bob Kerrey of Nebraska has taken up the FCC's position and will oppose the Senate bill to stop the FCC from implementing LPFM. Senator Kerry is currently involved in the drafting of a "Dear Colleague" letter to attract support for LPFM from his fellow senators. "He's going to take the lead in the Senate," a Kerrey staffer told CMJ. "He thinks this will add a lot of diversity to the dial, and he's long been involved with LPFM supporters, organizations like the NAACP and AFL-CIO."

The Senate bill, which would deny the FCC the necessary funding for instituting LPFM, has been referred to the Commerce Committee for consideration, but according to sources on Capitol Hill, the committee will likely never consider the bill, since Committee Chair John McCain opposes it. The FCC will open the lowpower application window starting May 30 for potential interested broadcasters from the states of Alaska, California, the District of Columbia, Georgia, Indiana, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Oklahoma, Rhode Island and Utah. The order in which applications from different states will be considered was determined by lottery.

currently touring. The band had previously been signed to a long-term deal with A&M Records, the label that released the band's 1998 album Low Estate, but fell victim to the Universal-Polygram merger, "much to the delight of the band," according to Razor & Tie's Amy Wan.

We look forward to great success with them," said Cliff Chenfeld, co-owner of Razor & Tie in a prepared statement.

crack backing band, The Blokes, will join Wilco on the road to support the release of Mermaid Avenue Volume 2, which will be released on May 30. The quality of the songs is as shocking as the news of the album.

"I don't think you could have gotten better press than they got on the first record," says Dana Brandwein, Elektra's Senior Director of Marketing. "On this record, there isn't a big story to tell except this is a great record and if you loved the first record you'll love the second. But what we're getting that we didn't get the first time, is a tour of Billy and Wilco together. Now that is exciting."

The combo will be touring together for several weeks beginning on Labor Day, though Wilco will also be joining Natalie Merchant beforehand for a series of East Coast shows in June. Bragg and Wilco will also be doing some press in the second week of June, culminating with a June 16 appearance on the Late Show With David Letterman.

"Our campaign, initially, is to create the awareness of this release with online retail promotions and very aggressively working with NPR and IPR syndicated programs as well as college radio," says Brandwein. "Mermaid Avenue was extremely successful with college radio, and we're hoping the feeling is that they're hungry for more."

Part of this strategy involves a major retail rollout headed by members of the Coalition Of Independent Music Stores, whose members stores sold almost half the domestic copies of Mermaid. "So we're going to give them the respect they deserve," says Brandwein. "We're offering them three tracks for download."

Activated from a Web site with a password provided at the time of purchase, the added-value downloads put independent bricks-and-mortar retail on more even ground with Internet retailers. Consumers will be able to download an alternate version of "Joe DiMaggio Done It Again", and live versions by Bragg and The Blokes of "All You Fascists Are Born To Lose" and "My Flying Saucer." The last track is taken from a live performance at the Gene Autry Museum in Los Angeles. As an additional part of the online promotional strategy, the entire concert will be available for on-demand streaming from Amazon.com, much as that site has done in the past to promote releases by Aimee Mann and Elliott Smith.

"It's great because he talks through all of it. I can't think of anything better for a fan because you hear all about why they did this, how it happened and then the particulars about Woody Guthrie and about Billy's take on doing the whole collection," says Brandwein.

Elektra will also offer different exclusive tracks at different online retailers, such as a live version of Wilco doing "California Stars" at CheckOut.com, Bragg and Wilco's live rendition of "California Stars" from Late Night With Conan O'Brien for Borders, and Barnes & Noble, will feature the non-album track, "Give Me A Nail."

While radio was not as supportive of the first record as retail, the success of the previous album may prompt more programmers to find a place for the second release on playlists, according to Brandwein. "We had some good airplay on 'California Stars.' But what's happened with this record is we're getting commitments from XRT, KTSR in Austin, plus other stations like KFOG and KBCO which didn't come to play with us last record," Brandwein says. "They're very interested in playing it this time, so I'm thinking we'll get a much broader exposure than we did on the first album."

The album is expected to have an impact at college radio, and the first single, "Secret Of The Sea" will be going for adds on Triple A radio on May 22. Brandwein promises that the label's Web site will be updated frequently with news and on-theroad journals. She is hoping that the group can arrange a tie-in with a Smithsonian exhibit on Woody Guthrie running from June until August. There will also likely be some kind of promotional connection surrounding the DVD release of the documentary Man In The Sand. Plus, of course, there's always that fall tour.

"We're going to get them for whatever they are available to do," says Brandwein. "Which will hopefully mean in-stores, radio visits, be accessible, meet and greets, and all that kind of stuff. We're in the process of putting it together to really get exposure all over the place."

JULIANA HATFIELD Radio 200: 151-31 Core Radio: #51 debut

Though today's college radio programmers don't even remember the early days of Juliana Hatfield's solo career (the dieting gossip! the Evan Dando rumors!), they're still quick to bring Hatfield's newest double-disc release to the upper portion of the charts. Though the two albums are being released separately in stores, both Hatfield's Beautiful Creature and her band's release, Juliana's Pony's Total System Failure (Zoë/Rounder-IDJMG), have been serviced to radio together, providing stations with a plethora of new cuts from the waifish songwriter. As Core Racio catches on to the album, expect Hatfield to rise much higher than her current #31 position on the Radio 200.

BOY SETS FIRE

Radio 200: 128-36 Core Radio: #60 debut Loud Rock: 11-6

Ask Radio 200 reporters what kind of band Boy Sets Fire is, and they'll say "emo." Ask loud rock reporters, and you'll hear "hardcore." It's the current less filling/tastes great argument of the rock underground, but Boy Sets Fire's After The Eulogy (Victory) rises above the din with a fierce album packed with as many white-knuckled melodies as it is with left-wing politics. As a result, the quintet's Victory Records debut is burning up a number of the charts, led by a 92position leap on the Radio 200 alongside a push into the top ten at Loud Rock.

PRIMAL SCREAM

Radio 200: #54 debut Adds: #5 with 134 reports Triple A Adds: #4 RPM Adds: #1

Astralwerks both built a buzz at radio and defied preconceived notions about Primal Scream by servicing college radio with an unmarked CD of cuts from this stunning new album. The disc's rip-roaring rock guitar and heavy beats transfixed programmers so thoroughly that no one blinked when they discovered the band behind the songs. XTRMNTR is now garnering enough spins to give it a #54 debut on the Radio 200, while at the same time building a story at college radio with a strong, across-the-board add week.

MEDESKI MARTIN & WOOD

Radio 200: #59 debut Core Radio: #46 debut Jazz: #3 debut

Medeski Martin And Wood fills so many niches in the non-commercial market, each of the trio's releases are practically guaranteed hits. With fans as diverse as jazz-heads, jam-band followers, Hammond B3 addicts, instrumental fanatics and plain old party music mix-tape makers, MMW immediately makes a splash on the CMJ charts with each album. Tonic (Blue Note) has a couple of strong debuts on the Radio 200 and Core charts (those numbers should strengthen considerably as the band hits the road in the coming months), and a welldeserved #3 debut at Jazz to top it off.

WEBSITE OF THE WEEK

ERITMO www.eritmo.com 3930 NE Second Ave., Ste. 207 Miami, Florida 33137 Contact: Katherine McAninch Giménez Email: pr@eritmo.com Phone: 305.572.1760

Eritmo.com is an extensive online music community devoted to Latin music. The company recently received investment capital from BMG Entertainment, the first time the music behemoth has invested in a Spanish-language Web site. The site also offers an English-text option for those not well-versed in the Spanish language. For starters, click on a news link for a page with the latest stories making headlines in the Latin music world. The page is conveniently organized into subcategories including feature stories, news on legends of the genre, information on new albums, and concert reviews. The "music" page enables enthusiasts to discover new Latino artists and music via sound clips. Featured artists include those not only from pop circles like Spanish crooner Enrique Iglesias, but alternative rockers like Argentine Gustavo Cerati and Mexican hyper-fusionists Café Tacuba. Eritmo also encourages lesser-known artists to submit their music to the site for increased exposure. Interested musicians will first have to sign a basic contract establishing relationship terms with Eritmo. Artists must then submit material in a digital format such as MP3, send a photo and answer a brief questionnaire to help Eritmo best classify the artist on the site. A beginner's guide is provided for those who are interested but perhaps a tad digitally challenged. Check out the fan club section including a Fan Club Of The Week, contests and links to dozens of individual artist Web sites. Or tune into Eritmo radio, whose soundwaves transcend Latin boundaries to include American Top 40 and underground music. Purchase music from these and other artists via the Eritmo.com Music Store with a selection exceeding 260,000 albums. Other site features include videos from your favorite Latino artists, a concert calendar and exclusive artist interviews. Visitors to the site can also share their thoughts with fellow listeners through message boards and live chat opportunities. — Bill Konig

BAD RELIGION New America (Atlantic)

There's a reason why Bad Religion fans are so ardent and unwavering in their dedication to the So Cal band, which has evolved, deservedly so, into a punk rock icon. You've got to give in order to receive, and Bad Religion gives back to its followers consistently and selflessly. It hands over its ideas, its emotions and its melodic, midtempo punk anthems, encouraging social thought and sweaty moshing in the same breath. There's no shortage of angry punk in the underground, and with New America, the mighty Bad Religion continues to spin its own brand by tempering its passion with intelligence. Although frontman Greg Graffin holds a doctorate, he defily avoids sounding like a pedantic bore over his band's power chords, opting instead to be the cool, young, fresh-outof-academia scholar that eager young minds can relate to. - Amy Sciarretto

BRIGHT EYES Fevers And Mirrors (Saddle Creek)

The makeshift mirror that decorates the cover of Bright Eves' third full-length, Fevers And Mirrors, is more than an eve-catching adornment; it's a warning that the music contained therein may cause severe bouts of personal reflection, selfanalyzation and subsequent depression. To describe the vocals and lyrics of frontman Conor Oberst as poignant doesn't do them justice. Each allegorical song, from the slow and sullen "Something Vague" to the angst-ridden, yet comparatively upbeat "The Calendar Hung Itself." is punctuated by Oberst's weepy wail, the singersongwriter sounding on the verge of tears as he recounts the misadventures of his emotionally distressed existence. The lyrical anguish is buffered with an assortment of empathetic flute screnades, woeful acoustic guitar melodies and wandering keyboard refrains, and the combination of lyrical and musical sophistication proves almost lethal. Wallow away. - M. Tye Comer

BROOKLYN FUNK ESSENTIALS Make Them Like It (Shanachie)

Like the borough they're named after, the Brooklyn Funk Essentials house a variety of urban styles and ethnic flavors within their multi-cultural block party of worldly dance funk. Make Them Like It, the 11-piece unit's latest missive, finds the Essentials expanding their already rich sound with elements of Afro-beat. dancehall, Latin jazz and drum 'n' bass. The extraordinary title cut takes grooves straight from Fela Kuti's heyday and weds them with Roni Size-d jungle breaks along with Pharoah Sanders-style horn blasts, "Mambo Con Dancehall" fulfills the promise of its title by fusing vocalist Everton Sylvester's ragamuffin flow with rhythms straight outta Willie Bobo's Latino-rhythm trickbag. The band's success stems from this ingenious fusion of styles, and in the end, our appetite for the mix grows to rival theirs. - Ron Hart

For Fans Of: Groove Collective, Daktaris, All That, Maceo Parker Recommended Tracks: "Make Them Like It," "Woman Thing," "Confirm Reservation," "To My Peeps" Contact: Frank Ritchie Phone: 212.334.0284 Email: fritchie@shanachie.com Release Date: April 11; at radio now Marketing Data: Touring this summer.

CAUSEY WAY Testimony (EP) (Fueled By Ramen)

Testimony, the six-song follow-up to the Causey Way's debut, With Open And Lowing Arms, coutinues the tongue-in-cheek preaching of the band's self-proclaimed "pulpit punk." Again cranking out '80s inspired new wave, the allwhite-wearing tribe of newfangled synth-superheroes relies so heavily upon synthesizers this time around that Testimony sounds downright otherworldly with all of its buzzing, humming and blasting sound effects. In keeping with the band's joke of being a cult, the vocal tracks are delivered in a droning, repetitive manner, lending an eerie, staccato quality to the work. The only exception is the title track, in which the vocals of two unnamed female members exude a dreamy sensuality. - Kelso Jacks

For Fans Of: Danielson, Missing Persons, Devo Recommended Tracks: "Testimony," "Time Is Now," "Know You Love Me" Contact: McGathy Phone: 888.744.8636 Email: altdiv@aol.com Release Date: April 4; at radio now Marketing Data: Currently working on a new full-length album.

CENTRO-MATIC All The Falsest Hearts Can Try (Quality Park)

Inside every new music fan is a college kid sporting a woolly thrift-store sweater and hornrimmed glasses waiting with bated breath to be liberated by a new slab of gritty, reckless indie rock. There are some big shoes to fill in the genre, but Centro-Matic delivers the collegerock goods the way Archers Of Loaf or Sebadoh did in the mid-'90s. Though a bit too derivative at times (the royalty checks for "Members Of The Show 'Em How It's Done" - both the title and the song itself --- will need to be made out to Guided By Voices), All The Falsest Hearts Can Try is loaded with raspy vocals, feisty playing and sing-along choruses bursting at the seams. Check out the album's finest moment, "Huge In Every City," in particular, for a dose of Pavement-esque dry humor and a dominant bass line that ought to keep heads bobbing in campus rock chubs everywhere. - Cheryl Botchick

For Fans Of: Archers Of Loaf, Jackpot, Old 97's Recommended Tracks: "Cool That You Showed Us How," "Huge In Every City," "Most Everyone Will Find," "Hercules Now!" Contact: Team Clermont Phone: 888.548.TEAM Email: radio@teamclermont.com Release Date: May 9; at radio now

SARAH DOUGHER The Walls Ablaze (Mr. Lady)

Singer-songwriter Sarah Dougher's past and present extracurricular endeavors include being a journalist, a novelist, and a Greek / Roman literature teacher. It should therefore come as no surprise that The Walls Ablaze, Dougher's (Lookers, Crabs, Cadallaca) second solo effort, is a fertile collection of folkloric wordplay and personal introspection. Dougher's pure, affecting voice beautifully renders the album's themes of solitude and fate, and her beguiling arrangements perfectly frame her enchanted tales of the heart. Filled out by Jon Reuter (guitar) and Sleater-Kinney's Janet Weiss (drums), The Walls Ablaze manages to be dynamically varied, employing at different points sensitive piano ("What She'd Trade") and raucous guitar (the title track). Overall, Walls ... is down-to-earth, hummable and sincere. - Bill Konig

DROWNERS Is There Something On Your Mind (Wind-Up)

The Drowners are a Swedish quintet enamored with the indie heartthrob sub-genre of the early '90s exemplified by bands like Velvet Crush, Gigolo Aunts and most importantly, Buffalo Tom. Is There Something On Your Mind's best song, the title track, owes a heavy debt to the latter band's gooiest moments, but doesn't adopt their bad-boy edge. Instead, the tracks here are kept clean and shiny - even the rocking ones — sporting a production sheen more reminiscent of '80s bandana-clad arena rockers than the Drowners' scruffier heroes. As far as placid, blue-eyed rock goes, the Drowners offer sturdy, agreeable melodies and gently rising harmonies that link indie icons of the past to today's teenyboppers with panache. — Deborah Orr

DUSTY TRAILS Dusty Trails (Atlantic)

There's just as much café smoke floating about as there is spaghetti western dust being kicked up on this trail mapped out by ex-Luscious Jackson keyboardist Vivian Trimble and ex-Breeders bassist Josephine Wiggs, Dusty Trails' soundtrack-leaning songs and instrumentals revel in mid-to-low tempo grooves that are dressed in layers of silky keyboards and other delicate accessories, flaunting the duo's melodic curves as opposed to the edges of their two previous day jobs. Yet this cool, sophisticated set has its own sharpness, as breathy cosmopolitan ditties such as "Est-Ce Que Tu," with its French vocals and gauzy string backdrop, help define the album's suave serenity. Also of note is Emmylou Harris's cameo on "Order Coffee," which turns a heartbreaker of a song into a highlight. - Steve Ciabattoni

For Fans Of: Air, Lida Husik, High Llamas, Kostars Recommended Tracks: "You Freed Yourself," "Est-Ce Que Tu," "Order Coffee," "Roll The Dice," "Conga Style" Contact: Anthony Delia Phone: 212.707.2086 Email: anthony.delia@atlantic-recording.com Release Date: May 9 Add Date: May 16 Marketing Data: Dusty Trails also wrote music for Happy Accidents, an upcoming film by Brad Anderson (Next Stop Wonderland).

JAYHAWKS Smile (American/Columbia-CRG)

The Jayhawks' second album since the departure of co-frontman and founding member Mark Olson is the Minneapolis group's most unabashedly pop-centric recording to date. If 1997's somber Sound Of Lies seemed to shade the band's winsome country-folk in post-Olson blues, then Smile brightens it up with a sunny optimism provided by vocalist/guitarist Gary Louris's classic, FM-ready songwriting and lush harmonizing with keyboardist Karen Grotberg and drummer Tim O'Reagan. Smile also bears the mark of producer of Bob Ezrin (Pink Floyd, Kiss), who, while regrettably introducing a sputtering drum machine to a song or two, tastefully fattens up the group's '60s (Beatles, Byrds) and '70s (Fleetwood Mac) stylistic leanings with swaying strings, epic guitar solos and polished backing harmonies. - Colin Helms

KRONOS QUARTET Caravan (Nonesuch)

After 27 years and an even larger number of albums, the Kronos Quartet remains unique and untouchable in its musical and attitudinal innovation. A genre-shattering string quartet that fuses world, classical and jazz with a rock attitude and a sense of humor, Kronos has covered more than 400 compositions - from Shostakovich to Hendrix to Cage to Ornette Coleman to Howlin' Wolf - and Caravan adds another 12 brilliant and stunning tracks to the oeuvre. As usual, the styles, songs, collaborators and composers bowed to here span the globe, from Café Tacuba to Billie Holiday to Terry Riley to a couple of wild Middle Eastern jaunts (e.g. the Bolero-esque "Ecstasy"). But the best radio track by far is a hilarious cover of Dick Dale's surf-rock classic "Miserlou" that we'd dare to venture could be Kronos's first altradio hit. - Jem Aswad

Pop Artificielle (Shadow)

In 1996, Moog Cookbook released a fun and frilly covers album in which modern-rock tunes were reconstituted as quirky synthesizer Muzak. While Chile-based electro-experimentalist LB (a.k.a. Atom Heart) is clearing using the same conceptual framework on Pop Artificielle by offering supersynthetic revisitations of pop and rock classics, his offering is less comical and cheesed-out than that of his predecessors. The bloops and bleeps that recreate songs such as John Lennon's "Jealous Guy" provide a distinctly different interpretation, yet LB manages to retain the original's tenderness and poignancy with a serene temperament and whispery, whimsical vocals. It's a trick he also pulls with new wave gems like ABC's "Be Near Me," David Bowie's "Ashes To Ashes," the Rolling Stones' "Angie" and six others. "Artificielle," perhaps, but a genuinely unique offering nonetheless. - M. Tye Comer

STARLITE DESPERATION Go Kill Mice (Flapping Jet)

Like a smoky, late-night piano bar, Starlite Desperation emanates a sultry charm from its vintage garage rock strut. Mining a vein of Stonesy grit, raunchy vocal prowl and '60s guitar rave by way of the Kinks and the Yardbirds, the Detroit threesome is a nostalgia act that hearkens back to '60s Midwestern garages or the mid-'80s revival pioneered by bands like the Fleshtones and the Lyres. Loving and endearing (while admittedly not terribly innovative), guitarist Dante Adrian's supple playing elevates the ornery blues jam "Go Kill Mice," while the addition of Mike Curtin on sax for "Mona Lisa Snake" is most revelatory. Perhaps one day the garage sound will be recognized as an inimitably American form and its many acolytes will be receive the same respect accorded the folk singer. - Chris Parker

WHITE TOWN Peek & Poke (Parasol)

The story that unfolded when White Town's "Your Woman" ruled the airwayes was one of the strangest pop music's ever seen. In search of the source of this enticing, androgynous little number, the music industry found not a band of fetching, tragically hip teenage boys, but instead a "large-boned." Indian-born solo artist, Jyoti Mishra. The joke was on the salivating imagemakers, but fans detected and delighted in Mishra's rare melodic savvy and droll world view, On a number of Peek & Poke's songs, Mishra tries his hand at instrumentation different from the synthesizers that made up the simple sonic treats for which he's famous, but the best cuts are still Mishra's prefab Casio creations, Laced with his particular brand of caustic wit and black humor. songs such as the infectious "Another Lover" prove Mishra to be an unearthed treasure, whether he's ready for his close-up or not. - Cheryl Botchick

CAMPER VAN BEETHOVEN Camper Van Beethoven Is Dead. Long Live Camper Van Beethoven. (Pitch-A-Tent)

Before David Lowery and his band Cracker brought collegiate smartassedness to the right end of the radio dial, the ironic, hip and well-read sense of humor of Camper Van Beethoven, his former band, helped establish the indie-rock mold. The band's freewheeling hippie eclecticism and multi-instrumental prowess owe more to Frank Zappa and Kaleidoscope than to the '60s British bands that inspire orch-poppers. Some of unreleased outtakes on this live /rarities collection seem more like snippets than fleshed-out songs, but the live tracks showcase a first-class egghead jam band. The homespun grooves of "S.P. 37957 Medley" are derived more from Jewish folk dances (by way of Led Zep) than from any illegal substance, and the graceful instrumentals "Balalaika Gap" and "L'Aguardiente" are pure celebrations of the old world as viewed from Santa Cruz, California. - Deborah Orr

ANDRE WILLIAMS Andre Williams Is The Black Godfather (In The Red)

Andre Williams may be best known for writing "Shake A Tailfeather," but his forte is more risqué material like "Jailbait" and "Bacon Fat." The R&B raunch king's latest outing features collaborations with Jon Spencer Blues Explosion, the Countdowns, Dirtbombs, Cheater Slicks and other dirtbag garage rock heavies, who provide Williams with some suitably sordid backing that's as abrasive as it is sleazy. Williams holds court throughout, regaling listeners with stories of his sexual exploits. But while Williams's lyrics occasionally sound like material pulled from old Redd Foxx routines, such songs as "I Wanna Go Back To Mexico" and "Montana Slim" have a light, mischievous humor that nicely breaks up the smut. With enough guests to fill an all-star garage rock compilation, The Black Godfather serves as a tribute to Williams's legend as well as a great place for the curious to start digging. - Tad Hendrickson

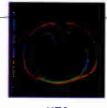

For Fans Of: Jon Spencer, Mick Collins, Wynonie Harris Recommended Tracks: "You Got It And I Want It." "The Black Godfather," "Can't Find My Mind" Contact: Larry Hardy Phone: 818.841.2473 Email: larryhardy@earthlink.net Release Date: May 2; at radio now

Lettin' Go (Telarc Blues)

This is blues royalty right here, son. During the '50s, Arkansas-born Frank "Son" Seals's dad ran a nightclub where the likes of Sonny Boy Williamson and Albert King played, Fast-forward 20 years and Son's playing with King, but he soon moved to Chicago and released his first album on Alligator Records in 1973. It's been a long road and he's getting on (several doctors take lead mention in the album's thank-you notes), but damned if Son and his band don't tear up these 14 tracks of blues and soul. Like a lot of old-school bluesmen, Son's no Pavarotti (South Park's Chef frequently comes to mind), but his blistering guitar work is what you really wanna get at here. Trey Anastasio of Phish appears on one song, and two others were cowritten with crime novelist Andrew Vachs, of all people. - Jem Aswad

XTC Wasp Star: Apple Venus Volume 2 (TVT)

The second volume in XTC's comeback opus finds the perennial pop underdogs returning to the electrified Beatle-pop drive of their '80s prime after hilling fans with a bittersweet symphony on 1999's Apple Venus Volume 1. But while Wasp Star is instrumentally more akin to the amplified quirk of English Settlement and Oranges And Lemons, the poetic fortitude and lush beauty of Apple Venus remains a constant on the second volume, albeit in a more stripped-down form. Recorded in Colin Moulding's renovated garage studio, he and partner Andy Partridge's 12th proper album is filled with future classics like the giddy, quasi-Stones romp "Stupidly Happy" and the Lennon-esque blues medley "Wounded Horse." If you're one of the few who thought XTC was making that beeline towards the MOR nursing home, wait until you feel the sting of this wasp's saccharine venom. - Ron Hart

MISSING JOE

Breaking Down The Constellations (Bird Grooming) Breaking Down The Constellations is the debut fulllength record by Boston's Missing Joe. Building on their four-song EP Never Been To California, the three former Connecticut high school chums have quickly gelled into a solid rock band that's as tight as their childhood camaraderie. There is no wizard lurking behind the curtains here: Constellations' attractive melodies are straightforward and honest, chock full of giant hooks capable of snaring Moby Dick. Tracks such as "Everywhere I Go" are animated by the alluring vocal harmonies of guitarist Dave Dombroski and bassist Matt Rafal, which are easily the band's greatest asset. Although Missing Joe may not be breaking new musical territory, it nonetheless possesses the verve and sincerity that is all too often absent from contemporary rock. - Bill Konig

Chicago-based indie label Tree Records recently released I, a 23-song anthology of material from the now-defunct post-hardcore band Gauge. The band is remembered in the annals of music because its members went on to play in groups such as Euphone, Cap'n Jazz, Joan Of Arc and several other influential Chicago groups. ## RECORDBRIEFS

In the News section of issue 663, we reported that Icelandic diva Björk and Radiohead's Thom Yorke had worked together on a duet which would appear on the soundtrack to Dancer In The Dark, a film in which Björk stars. According to the British music magazine Q, however, the rumor was a fabrication. The periodical quotes an unnamed spokesman for Björk's One Little Indian label who said, "Those [rumors] seem to appear out of nowhere. Some bartender probably saw Björk and Thom together and rang one of the tabloids." Fans who were holding out for a Björk duet may be otherwise happy to know that the singer has recorded a track for the film with the French actress Catherine Deneuve... The Suicide Squeeze label will be issuing CD versions of the Modest Mouse/764-HERO single "Whenever You See Fit." The single was previously only available on 12" vinyl...Mark Kozelek, ex-frontman of the Red House Painters, has released his solo album, Rock N' Roll Singer for the Badman Recording Company. It is available exclusively online at www.badmanrecordingco.com, but will become widely available at other online vendors on June 13. Finally, traditional record shops will begin selling the album on August 1, at which time the album will also be serviced to college radio stations...Interscope Records will release Rated R, by Queens Of The Stone Age on June 6... Tristeza is currently recording its sophomore album. The band is in Chicago working with producer Dave Trumfio. Tiger Style Records hopes to have the album in stores in September...Thrill Jockey records will release OvalProcess, the next album from Oval on July 18...A brand new track by Alice Cooper is available online as an MP3 file from the Spitfire Records Web site, www.spitfirerecords.com. The song, "Blow Me A Kiss," is taken from the upcoming release Brutal Planet, which will be in stores on June 6...Former Butterglory leadman, Matt Suggs, has finished recording his first solo effort. The album, Golden Days Before They End, will be released by Merge Records later this year...San Diego's Pinback, featuring Zach Smith of 3-Mile Pilot, will release a self-titled four song EP on Tree Records on September 7...The Kottonmouth Kings are gearing up to release a new album for Capitol Records. The Southern Californian rappers will drop High Society on June 27.

NEWS

Darren Emerson has left Underworld. The announcement arrived after some speculation that the member of the British trio was planning to leave the band to both return to the DJ circuit and relaunch his Underwater Records label. Emerson has also stated that he had been getting bored with his role in the band and that he wants to leave the life behind to concentrate on raising his new baby. "Looking back over the last 10 years, it's been brilliant," Emerson told NME.com, "It's been fantastic and we've always had a good time, but when I got back from touring last year, it had just got to the stage where I'd had enough." The remaining members, Rick Smith and Karl Hyde, will carry on as Underworld, while Emerson will release Uruguay, a new DJ mix for Boxed Records' Global Underground series, in the U.K. on May 22. It has also been reported that Emerson has been working in the studio with British DJ/producer Sasha on material that may surface on Underwater sometime in the coming year...Ninja Tune Records has gone sci-fi. #### FUTURE LOOP FOUNDATION Phunk Roc (Global Fusion)

Do you dig the more complex jazz/funk hybrids of drum 'n' bass, but think the sound caters only to "armchair" listeners? Future Loop Foundation, the brainchild of U.K. producer Mark Barrot, will change your opinion with its third full-length effort, Phunk Roc. Like the studio work of Spring Heel Jack, the album is comprised of breezy atmospherics, lulling low-end grooves, hip-hop hijinks and washes of jazz instrumentation. But FLF has beefed up the grit of the rhythm and the girth of the bass this time out, translating the sound into a taut and tough dancefloor experience that simultaneously stimulates brain and body with nods to '70s funk and electric jazz.

For Fans Of: Spring Heel Jack, Boymerang, Doc Scott Recommended Tracks: "Conditions For Living," "Cluster Funk," "Espionage," "Coming Down" Contact: Tricia Snedden Phone: 800.288.2007 ext. 206 Email: tricia@allegro-music.com Release Date: May 15; at radio now

PAUL VAN DYK FEAT. ST. ETIENNE "Tell Me Why (The Riddle)" (CD5) (Mute)

The latest single by German dance don Paul Van Dyk is a trance-pop masterpiece that marries St. Etienne's gorgeous melodic sensibility with Van Dyk's own heavenly electronic temperaments. Sarah Cracknell's vocals float effortlessly over the pristine washes of synthetic bliss, resulting in one of the most alluring and accessible singles to hit your turntable since Todd Terry courted Everything But The Girl.

VARIOUS ARTISTS Traveler '00 (Six Degrees)

Once again, Six Degrees' Traveler series gathers some of the finest modern global grooves from the scene's most celebrated artists. This time out, acclaimed talents from the world music front, including Bebel Gilberto, Baaba Maal, and DJ Cheb I Sabbah, meet electronic wizards such as Coldcut, Arling & Cameron and Thievery Corporation, resulting in a conscious-raising meeting of aesthetics that stands as one of the imprint's finest collections to date.

RESORTE XL (Universal-Manicomio)

On XL, Resorte creates an extra-large sound through its arena-ready, metallic guitar riffage and funky, modern rapcore. With the urgency of acts like N.W.A and Rage Against The Machine, the band reflects Mexico City's urban angst and wrings out thick-skinned raps and political jabs with devastating force. As the follow-up to its explosive rap-meets-metal debut, República de Ciegos (Republic of the Blind), the quartet, with the aid of producer Jason Roberts, counterbalances its political pokes with humorous musings on everyday life, and augments its contagious grooves with twitching guitars and memorable vocal hooks. Resorte is bound to get a lot of bounce out of these 14 tracks, which sound like the equivalent of unleashing the power from the tightly twisted metal of a coiled resorte.

For Fans of: Molotov, Rage Against The Machine, Todos Tus Muertos Recommended Tracks: "Una Mentira o Dos," "Mal Te Equivocas" "Aqui No Es Donde" Contact: Vicky Cabildo Phone: 818 972 5698 Email: vicky.cabildo@unistudios.com Release Date: May 9; at radio now

ORIXA 2012 e. d. (Elequa)

The title of Orixa's latest album refers to the end of the Mayan calendar and the beginning of a new era (or, for Terrence McKenna fans, the end of civilization as we know it). Mystic calendars and apocalyptic forecasts aside, the quintet's hyper-fusion of hip-hop, funk, ska, reggae, electronic color and Latin dance (what the band calls "Latin Ruckus") provides a perfect companion for easing into the brink of an era of Latino biculturalism. A departure from the San Francisco's group's self-titled ska-driven debut album on Aztlán Records, Orixa's second, self-released effort builds on the group's Latin-ska-punk-fusion sensibilities with a skillful techno edginess that borders on new metal. One of the pioneering groups of the U.S.-based rock en español movement, Orixa remains as vital as ever in the Latin alternative scene with heaps of crossover potential.

For Fans of: Red Hot Chili Peppers, Moscas, Illya Kuryaki & The Valderramas Recommended Tracks: "Umbabarauma," "Lucha Por La Freedom," "Funky Lazy" Contact: Patrick Alvarado Phone: 415.371.5525 Email: patrick.alvarado@sfxent.com Release Date: February 21; at radio now > is proud to be the only English-language trade publication to monitor this rapidly growing and increasingly vital scene in America. The good old census bureau says that within six years Latinos will surpass African-Americans as the country's largest ethnic group; by 2025, the United States will be the world's second-largest Spanishspeaking nation next to Mexico. Start practicing rrrolling your r's. ¡Orale! (Beck's pronunciation: "odelay!") But, really, can you say  $\tilde{N}$ (en-yeh)? Welcome to N Alternative, where you'll be the first to learn Cerati about the newest artists making an impact on the Spanish-speaking world of alternative music... Agreed, the Buena Vista Social Club is beautiful, and Ricky Martin synthesized the Latino "thing" with pop music to become a superstar. But what are the alternatives? The tejano-ska-dancehall-grunge fusion of Mexico's El Gran Silencio (Ark 21), the elegant, ethereal electronic pop stylizing of Gustavo Cerati (BMG U.S. Latin) and the psychedelic cabaret antics of Spaniard Enrique Bunbury (EMI Latin). In most Spanishspeaking countries, where the surrealness of brutal dictatorships and censorship remains fresh in the popular consciousness, rocanrol was, and is, music for rebels the same way punk was some 20 years ago in the United States and England. It's the spirit of rock - youthfully rebellious, socially and politically aware - that defines Latin alternative. That isn't to say that you won't find acts that walk the middle of the road and reach for a broader audience like the folksy-rock of Columbia's 20-something sensation Shakira (Sony Discos), or the post-industrial, techno-pop of Chile's La Ley (WEA Latina). Spanish-language alternative packs Spanish and English, ska, reggae, samba, bossa nova, bolero, son, mambo, tejano, norteño, etc. with punk, rock, funk, R&B, soul, hip-hop, etc. into a sonic piñata. We're here to take the blindfold off so that you can discover the colorful confetti of Latin alternative...A brief summary of what's happened so far this year: Before alternativo became part of the Spanish-language rock world, Spaniard Miguel Bosé was making the mainstream uncomfortable with futuristic music. The veteran singer/actor/director released Lo Mejor de Bosé (WEA Latina) and followed it up with a publicity tour in the U.S. last January. Tomas Cookman (Industry Profile, issue #662) and freelance writer and publicist Josh Norek announced the first Latin Alternative Music Conference (LAMC) to take place in New York on August 13-15 (www.latinalternative.com). The Recording Academy announced the first annual Latin Grammy Awards, which are scheduled for September. Midas touch producer and founder of the Surco label Gustavo (Continued on page 32)

NEWS Loud rock and Lucifer have always enjoyed a fruitful relationship, and issue number 666 comes around once in the lifetime of a weekly magazine. In honor of that dastardly number, this week's Loud Rock column focuses exclusively on the long, glorious union between the two. But please note: I am Catholic and will pray for all of your souls after this issue hits your desk...Deicide is the last of the truly wicked bands on the Roadrunner Records roster. Frontman Glenn Benton --- who branded an upside-down cross on his forehead in a blatant display of blasphemy, and who advocates animal sacrifice — and his nefarious crew are currently working on their new album, titled Incinerate Hymn. Roadrunner will issue that slab of Satan-rock in late June...Impaled's new album was banned in Germany because the artwork was so offensive. A new cover is being designed for a German re-release. #### MAYHEM Grand Declaration Of War (Necropolis)

No other band is more synonymous with vile black metal than Mayhem: founding member Euronymous was a key figure in the scene before being gorily butchered to death by Varg Vikernes, a rival scenester; earlier, former lead singer Dead blew his brains out, and Euronymous reportedly made a stew from the remains. Now, that's evil. The nihilistic band returns with Grand Declaration Of War, a gruesome grenade of blast beats thrown at everything Christian. The riffs are slightly slower than the band's past work, but there are plenty of vicious, witchy screams and Vincent Price-style spoken soliloquies to make up for the loss, and while Mayhem has adopted a bit of a synthy, industrial edge, it's still hellacious. All priests, nuns and pontiffs, beware: Other black metal bands look like the Backstreet Boys in comparison to Mayhem.

Conquerors Of Armageddon (Century Media)

Run for cover! Conquerors Of Armageddon comes on like a hail of stray machine-gun bullets, with death metal riffs, blast beats and double-bass drumming at its fastest. The Brazilian trio incorporates sanguine Satanic imagery (no! really?) into the lyrics barked by bassist Alex Camargo. One-liners like "Kill, kill, kill Lord Jesus Christ" and "raging plague entombs the church of Christ" are all over this anti-God, pro-Satan crusade.

For Fans Of: Morbid Angel, Angelcorpse, Hate Eternal, Nile Recommended Tracks: "Ravager," "Cursed Scrolls," "Hatred Inherit" Contact: Andrew Sample Phone: 310.574.7400 ext. 111 Email: andrew@centurymedia.com Release Date: March 7; at radio now

IMMORTAL

Damned In Black (Osmose)

Immortal's Damned In Black isn't the ultra-fast opus you'd expect from the corpse paint-wearing band, but it's still fast enough to tear the hair out of every follicle in your body. There are also some traditional, power-metal riffs alongside the hellish howls. Immortal shuns the "Hail Satan" shtick of its peers, but that doesn't make these Norwegians any less frightening.

NEWS Fans of Steely Dan can look forward to a mix of the group's classic hits along with new material when the band launches a two-month North American tour supporting Two Against Nature, the duo's first studio album in 20 years. The tour begins on May 31 in Spokane, Washington, and runs through July 29 in Dallas, Texas. The band also taped an edition of VH1's Storytellers, which began airing on May 1. Another visual SD treat comes on June 5 with the release of the band's home video, Two Against Nature Plush TV Jazz-Rock Party, which is an expanded version of the PBS In The Spotlight segment that aired in March. Fans who wish to get together before or after live shows on the tour can go to www.dandom.com/danfests to register for unofficial gatherings...Several record labels are reportedly in a bidding war over the new album of cover songs by the currently unsigned pop songstress Rickie Lee Jones. Jones was heralded by many critics as the "new Joni Mitchell" upon the release of her self-titled Warner Bros. debut in 1979. Influenced by jazz, folk and pop, the album's #1 single, "Chuck E.'s In Love" (inspired by Rykodisc recording artist Chuck E. Weiss), launched Jones's career to the top. (Continued on page 32)

SUZZY ROCHE Songs From An Unmarried Housewife and

Mother, Greenwich Village, USA (Red House) Suzzy Roche and her sisters performed in folk circles as the Roches for 18 years, during which time they recorded nine albums. The trio's three-part harmonies, sophisticated lyrics and clever musicianship translated with moderate success to Suzzy's first solo album. On her second solo album, Songs From An Unmarried Housewife..., Roche has developed as a solo artist, though she still uses many Roches earmarks to outstanding effect. The cleverly haunting "G Chord Song," written by sister Maggie, speaks to the creative challenges of a new solo career: "Everybody writes a rain song/Everybody writes what's done 'em wrong." With artful acoustic arrangements and crystalline vocals, Unmarried shows that Suzzy is up for the challenge.

For Fans Of: Roches, Laura Nyro, Kate Campbell Recommended Tracks: "G Chord Song," "No Such Thing As Love," "Cold Hard Wind" (featuring Jules Shear) Contact: Emile Liepa Phone: 651.644.4161 Email: publicity@redhouserecords.com Release Date: May 9; at radio now Marketing Data: Currently touring.

BROOKLYN FUNK ESSENTIALS Make Them Like It (Shanachie)

With 11 members from places such as Jamaica, Sweden, Puerto Rico, New Orleans and other locales, BFE is an eclectic rock ensemble that is not easily categorized. Elements of jazz-fusion, soul, drum 'n' bass, Latin, and ragga blend together in a cohesive whole with funk-rock as the foundation — the sexy, groovin' "Woman Thing" even quotes War's "Low Rider."

For Fans Of: Earth, Wind & Fire, Maceo Parker, P-Funk Recommended Tracks: "Woman Thing," "Jump Around Sound," "Martha" Contact: Frank Ritchie Phone: 212.334.0284 Email: fritchie@shanachie.com Release Date: April 11; at radio now

LEE FELDMAN The Man In A Jupiter Hat (Bonafide)

The talent of the classically trained Lee Feldman lies in his ability to sit at the piano and turn out intelligent, catchy songs with a sense of ironic humor. Backed only by bass and drums on most tracks, Feldman sounds a bit like Randy Newman with Paul Simon's voice, though his sound is still his own.

MUST HEAR

ANDREW HILL Dusk (Palmetto)

It's been 10 years since we've seen a new album from legendary pianist Andrew Hill. Still too "out" to be straight-ahead and too compositionally based to be full-on improvisation, Hill is nonetheless a piano master whose chops have lost none of their luster. On Dusk, Hill leads a top-notch quintet that features the talents of young lions Ron Horton (trumpet), Greg Tardy (tenor saxophone), Marty Ehrlich (bass) and others. Hill's music is so singular in its vision that the pianist has changed very little since his early days as leader on Blue Note in the '60s; it seems as if his only competition is his past and he's holding his own just fine.

For Fans Of: Lennie Tristano, Sam Rivers, Rahsaan Roland Kirk Recommended Tracks: "Ball Square," "Dusk," "Tough Love" Contact: Terry Coen Phone: 212.673.9394 Email: terry.palmetto@thorn.net Release Date: May 16; at radio now

A Song For George Lewis (Basin Street)

Capturing the vibe and sound of classic New Orleans dixieland, A Song For George Lewis tips its hat to one of the region's greats. Lewis never received the same accolades as contemporaries like Louis Armstrong, perhaps because he decided to stay in Nawlins rather than migrate north like so many other Crescent City musicians. Here, White leads a wellgrounded group through a number of tunes from Lewis's era as well as a few of his own.

For Fans Of: Preservation Hall Jazz Band, Louis Armstrong, Johnny Dodds Recommended Tracks: "Big Chief Battle Axe," "Just A Closer Walk With Thee," "One Sweet Letter From You" Contact: Groov Phone: 818.883.5755 Email: groov@pacificnet.net Release Date: May 16; at radio now

VARIOUS ARTISTS The Music Of Eric Von Essen Volume 1 (Cryptogramophone)

Los Angeles multi-instrumentalist Eric Von Essen died in his sleep of heart failure in 1997 at age 42. On this elegiac and mellow set, a number of his friends get together in the form of five different groups to carry on Eric Von Essen's legacy through his music.

OTHER DIMENSIONS Malik/McBee/Moffett's Storyline (Boxholder; phone: 802.457.8150; email: boxholdr@aol. com) is a notable convergence of players on a promising new label. A trumpeter who is incredibly forceful yet able to negotiate the twists and turns of group improvisation, Raphe Malik is the bridge between Louis Armstrong and Cecil Taylor. Bassist McBee has played with Sonny Rollins and Charles Lloyd, among others, and seems quite at home here. Drummer Cody Moffett matches Malik's velocity, while remaining synched up with McBee. Featuring some abstract stuff, some straightforward bop and even some blues, Storyline shows these guys reaching far, not just in their playing but also in their approach and style...Memoirs Of A Dream (Flying Note; phone: 914.568.6191; email: zkfasteau@msn.com) is a two-disc set that presents a 1975 studio session and a 1977 live performance from Zusaan Kali Fasteau and the late Donald Rafael Garrett. Each musician plays a number of different instruments, exploring the outer reaches of the jazz world as well as the music of various indigenous communities. The quality of the recordings is not the highest, but there is enough character in the music to overcome any shortcomings. Something to listen for: the couple's dog joining in from time-to-time...The Fred Anderson Quartet's The Milwaukee Tapes (Atavistic; phone: 773.384.9626; email: info@atavistic.com) was recorded on eight-track at an unnamed locale in 1980. On drums is a young Hamid Drake, already on his way to becoming a drumming force of nature. Filled out by bassist

Larry Hayrod and the energetic, verbose trumpeter Billy Brimfield, who plays the perfect counterpoint to Anderson, the quartet sounds great, but there is never any doubt that Anderson is in complete control here. Fans of Anderson's '90s recordings should check this out. (Jazz News on page 32) AVAILABLE ON CMJ Online WWW.CMJ.COM

NEWS Dr. Dre made good on his threat to MP3-trading Web site Napster, filing suit agianst the company on Tuesday, April 25 for copyright infringement for allowing several of the rapper/producer's tracks to be available on the site. "I don't like people stealing my music," Dre said in a statement through his lawyer Howard King. "Napster has built a business based on large scale piracy." The doc had previously issued a warning to the wildly popular and controversial engine in the form of a letter that gave it until April 21 to take Dre's songs off its list of downloads. Napster has not made any comment on the issue as of press time...In other legal news, Q-Tip was arraigned at New York's Midtown Community Court after he plead not guilty to assault charges stemming from an altercation at the Times Square Virgin Megastore with fledging R&B artist Kenrick Miranda. According to a report on MTV Online, the melee supposedly left Miranda with a broken jaw that required being wired shut. The conflict between the two artists allegedly spawned after Q-Tip prevented Miranda from passing out copies of his demo in front of the Hit Factory last summer. Tip turned himself into the police in March in (Continued on page 32)

RZA Ghostdog: The Way Of The Samurai (Razor Sharp-Epic)

The Wu Tang Clan's members are the original samurais of the hip-hop game, so it makes perfect sense that director Jim Jarmusch had Clan mastermind RZA supervise the soundtrack to his ghetto assassin film, Ghost Dog. The Abbott comes off like a new-school Willie Hutch on this supreme and diversified collection of beats, words and songs that combines old soul, ominous reggae and more than a few of the hottest, dirtiest Wu joints in years. Check the Masta Killa & Superb joint "The Man," and the blazin' Jeru & Afu-Ra collaboration "East New York Stamp" for some of the most innovative chamber grime RZA has ever served up.

"The Real Slim Shady" (12") (Aftermath-Interscope) If you thought Em just didn't give a fuck before, there hasn't been a curse word invented to describe his attitude on the smash first single from his sophomore joint, The Marshall Mathers LP. Christina Aguliera, Britney Spears, Carson Daly, Fred Durst and the entire boy band population all fall victim to Slim's poison pulpit, while Dr. Dre laces the track with a cartoon-flavored roughneck beat like a thug life Carl Stalling.

Crim, Mos, Kweli, Pharoahe, Shabaam and Complex pass the vocab around their stairwell cipher as Spinna builds a thumping beat centered around an oldschool Casio keyboard sample.

Israel Vibration remains one of Jamaica's most respected and beloved roots reggae groups. On Jericho, the group gets an additional push from special sideman cameo appearances by Dean Fraser and Junior Marvin, in addition to backing accompaniment by the Roots Radics, drummer Sly Dunbar, and various alumni of Peter Tosh's band. It's comforting to know that while original third member Apple Gabriel is no longer in the group, Israel Vibration's two singers, Skelly and Wiss, remain committed to making fine reggae music.

"We were really keen to avoid that dance producer syndrome of standing in front of a mixing desk twiddling knobs," the duo's Tom Findlay told NME.com. Records). It's a jam-packed site, featuring links, information, no commercials, and the title, artist, album and label name of each cut as it plays...Kataklysm is looking to start a un-Holy War in the name of Satan with its latest album, The Prophecy (Stigmata Of The Immaculate). These Canucks play fierce, mid-tempo death metal, and the album's cover art features the Virgin Mary holding the bleeding body of Christ...The Crown, which has songs with titles like "Executioner," "Killing Star" and "Total Satan," will tour with Cannibal Corpse this summer...King Diamond, a self-proclaimed member of the Church Of Satan who closely adheres to the Satanic Bible teachings of Anton LeVey, will release House Of God this summer. Some track titles on the despot's new album include "Upon The Cross," "Black Devil," "Passage To Hell," "Catacomb" and "This Place Is Terrible."...In Poland, a man is on trial for murdering two women in an alleged black mass. Polish Parliament displayed a poster of Dimmu Borgir as an example of "satanic music."... Necropolis Records has a lot on its plate. It's just signed Abyssos, and will release the band's Witching Metal within the year; also, the extreme underground metal label has just released Trimphator's Wings Of Antichrist. The band features members of Marduk and Funeral Mist. Also, for your bloody pleasure, check out Usurper's Visions From The Gods (which contains some live tracks from the black/ death/thrash band) and Ethereal Tomb by Nocturnus, which specializes in sci-fi horror metal. As if that weren't enough, the label is also issuing a King Diamond tribute album featuring Witchery, Dark Funeral, Ancient, Tartaros and Aggressor, as well as debut albums by Viking Crown and Thornspawn.

VC is obscene blackness and features Necrophagia's Killjoy and Anton Crowley (FYI: Crowley is the alias of that guy Phil something or other who sings for that band, um, I think it's Pantera or something like that), and Thornspawn is Texas-grown black metal ... In Lost Disciple Records news, Pessimist is currently writing its third album. Some song titles are "Tundra," "Stripped Of Immorality" and "Malevolence Incarnate."...Noctuary is recording When Fires Breed Blood...Dwell Records is going to release a Venom tribute album... Don't fret, however, if you're a metal fan who shuns the Satanic, Judas Iscariot-loving aspect of the music. There are plenty of groups that play just as furious, ferocious and intense music, but instead praise God and Jesus Christ - and I ain't talkin' Stryper. Check out Solid State Records' roster, which houses the likes of Living Sacrifice, Embodyment (whose new album The Narrow Scope Of Things is indie rock-meets-metal), and Training For Utopia, or look into releases by Mortification and Tourniquet on Metal Blade.

JAZZ NEWS

The prestigious Juilliard School For The Performing Arts, which counts such jazz greats as

Miles Davis, Wynton Marsalis, Nina Simone as alumni, has announced plans for a Jazz Studies Program that will begin in the fall of 2001. The program will be a collaboration between Juilliard and Jazz At Lincoln Center, and will be directed by saxophonist/ clarinetist Victor Goines, who can be found working with the J@LC Orchestra and as part of Wynton Marsalis's septet. Eighteen musicians will be accepted into the performance-based program that will emphasize composition and live bandstand performance. Under the umbrella name of the Juilliard Jazz Orchestra, the musicians will tour mostly in the Northeast to raise money for the program to cover the students' travel costs and tuition. This is a twoyear non-degree program, and it will be regarded as the equivalent of a postdoctoral course. In 2004, the Juilliard Jazz Studies Program will institute a bachelor's degree program for 12-15 students. J@LC will help recruit students for both programs and a will also be a resource for guest lecturers and performers... Giving some to the ladies, the Fifth Annual Mary Lou Williams Women In Jazz Festival will take place from May 11-13 at Kennedy Center For The Arts in Washington, D.C. The event will feature performances, lectures, jam sessions as well as an awards ceremony. Eighty-year-old pianist Marian McPartland, host of the long-running NPR show Marian McPartland's Piano Jazz, is scheduled to receive the Mary Lou Williams Women In Jazz Award for her lifetime contributions to jazz...Cassandra Wilson and her band will undertake an 18-city summer tour beginning on May 29 at the Atlanta Jazz Festival. The majority of the dates will be with Cape Verdean singer Cesaria Evora...Verve Music Group has moved offices. The new address is 1755 Broadway, 3rd Fl., New York, NY 10019. The Verve college radio person and closet metal maniac Crissy Zagami's new phone number is 212.331.2059. Those trying to contact the always chillin' Jill Weindorf for Verve's efforts outside the CMJ Jazz charts can reach her at 212.331.2051. Email addresses have not changed.

Ñ ALTERNATIVE NEWS

Santaolalla, along with BMG U.S. Latin artists Julieta Venegas and Jaguares represented Latin alt at the press conference. Hollywood-based bi-weekly tabloid Al Borde released the results of its people's choice Grammy Award for the best Latin Alternative category, which included WEA Latina's Café Tacuba (the critics' choice), Jaguares, Fabulosos Cadillacs (BMG U.S. Latin), Enanitos Verdes (Universal) and Chris Perez (Hollywood Records). Nominee the Jaguares garnered 55% of the vote. (Actual Grammy winner Chris Perez got 3%). March was met with the Argentine invasion of Cerati, Bersuit Vergarabat (Surco-Universal), Fito Páez (WEA Latina) and Enanitos Verdes performing in major Latino markets. SXSW's first Rock Latino festival featured performances by bands I'll be talking more about in this column: Mexico's Resorte (see review), Spain's Distrito 14 (GEM), Miami's Volúmen Cero (Grita!), L.A.'s Voz de Mano (self-released), Houston's Moscas (Novosonic) and Los Skarnales (Pinche Flojo). The Latino Rock Alliance coordinated all Latin-alt activities at the showcase, including a preview of Rocanrol, a documentary from Naked Lights Films about the pioneers of the modern U.S. Latin rock scene. The newly formed New Line Records released The Price of Glory soundtrack (see review in issue #660). Despite the film's poor box office appeal, the album reveals a glimpse of the U.S. alternative music lovers' interest in the español scene. The big news in May is, um, the launching of this column and the N Alternative radio airplay chart. Rounding up la familia with a pocket full of mags has been fun. Special thanks to FMF Promotions' Fernando Fazzari, Universal's Vicky Cabildo, WEA's Marisol Perez and WRTE-FM's Monica Posada. ¡Viva la revolución!

The new as-yet-untitled album features some impressive sidemen, including Ben Folds on piano and John Pizzarelli on guitar. We can expect to hear more of Jones's jazz-pop ensemble on her new album, which includes covers of Gershwin's "Someone To Watch Over Me," Lerner & Loewe's "On The Street Where You Live," the Beatles' "For No One," Steely Dan's "Showbiz Kids" and other songs. With the album already completed, Jones will kick off a world tour on June 23 in Seattle, followed by a trek across Canada and Europe...After battling pneumonia and other health problems last year, Johnny Cash is returning to the studio to record a new album for American Recordings. The yet-to-benamed album will be mostly acoustic and will feature guest guitarists Norman Blake, Marty Stuart and Randy Scruggs. American founder Rick Rubin will produce the effort. In the meantime, we can look forward to Columbia Records' May 23 release of Love, God, Murder, a three-CD retrospective box set produced by Cash himself. Liner notes feature essays by Cash, along with contributions by Bono, June Carter Cash and director Quentin Tarantino... On April 25, Eric Clapton was reunited on a London TV soundstage with Derek And The Dominos keyboardist Bobby Whitlock for the first time in 29 years. Clapton was recording for a BBC series called Later With Jools Holland when Whitlock joined him for a set that included "Bell Bottom Blues" and the Dominos hit "Layla."...One of the most widely anticipated projects for Melissa Etheridge fans has been her portrayal of '60s rock goddess Janis Joplin in an upcoming biopic. Unfortunately, the project has now been put on hold indefinitely without explanation. Watch here for further details as they become available.

While no word is out at press time on what label will be distributing the LP, confirmed guests on the album include Canibus, Redman, Rah Digga, Raekwon and Dave Hollister. Keep your peepers peeled this summer for it...Hip-hop troubadour Everlast is currently in the process of recording the follow-up to his surprise hit solo debut Whitey Ford Sings The Blues, with plans for an October release. 3rd Bass and Brand Nubian producers John Gamble and Dante Ross have once again been enlisted to man the decks for the project.

THE LAST WORD

The band's debut, Shake Hands With Shorty (Tone-Cool), not only embodies the rich country-blues heritage that's indigenous to that region of the country, but is also driven by gritty, hard-driving classic and modern rock influences such as Jimi Hendrix, the Allman Brothers and Jon Spencer. Influenced by an area where the Delta flats mingle with the northern hill country, songs such as "K.C. Jones" — which Cody and Luther have been playing since they were kids — and blues standards such as "Po' Black Maddie" closely reflect the unique characteristics of the North Mississippi landscape.

Luther, 27, and Cody, 23, grew up around music and performed in everything from cover bands to jug bands since they were young. Their father, who introduced them to seminal blues figures such as Furry Lewis and Bukka White, contributed a great deal to their musical upbringing. But, as Luther reflects, that influence was contrasted by his always had [our father's] record collection in the background." Dickinson admits that it was his early obsession with punk rock that made his father start working with postpunk acts such as the Replacements. (Jim Dickinson produced 1987's Pleased To Meet Me.) "After a couple of years of listening to punk through the walls, he said that it finally clicked for him and he had a whole second career producing post-punk bands." When he was only 14, Luther played guitar on the Replacements' "Shooting Dirty Pool," picking up some pointers from the band along the way. "I was extremely into the Replacements," he says. "I learned a lot about song structure from studying their songs. On 'Shooting Dirty Pool' they wanted a '80s heavy metal type, comical solo. [Paul Westerberg] and I did some finger tapping like Eddie Van Halen and siren noises and a 'laugh' with the whammy-bar. They wanted it. They were into the idea."

guest musicians that includes Burnside's grandson Cedric, his son Garry, Alvin Youngblood Hart, Turner and Jimbo Mathus, and a style that sounds like it was developed in a roadside juke joint, Shake Hands With Shorty exudes the time-worn authenticity of work by veteran bluesmen. In fact, the Allstars' three core members are only in their early-to-mid-20s. And to top it off, the group never rehearses. "It sounds terrible to say, but we've never rehearsed," admits Luther. "Down south, we play threeto-four hour shows, so it all just comes from playing live." As for the album's title, he explains, "It's an R.L. Burnside quote. It's what he says when he excuses himself to take a leak. He kinda gave it to us, he thought that it would be a good one."

With its live, spontaneous feel, Shake Hands sounds like it was recorded in a dirt-floor juke joint (it was actually recorded in the band's converted barn studio). The album's own passion for arena-rock acts like Van Halen as well as the SST Records catalog of the mid-'80s.

> "The first tape I ever bought was in the third grade — Van Halen's Women And Children First," explains Dickinson. "Then I got into Black Flag and the whole SST scene, but we

Aside from annual trips to South By Southwest and other local music festivals, the Dickinson family rarely traveled when Luther was growing up. He learned the blues trade from such local heavies as Burnside, Turner and Junior Kimbrough, people he considered his friends and neighbors. "[Turner] was really my introduction into the community. We played this festival every year in Memphis with my dad - [Turner] taught me how to play roots music - and Otha played it as well with his family," he recalls. "A couple of years after that, after I had been studying Mississippi Fred McDowell for awhile, I went down and played for [Turner] and he just grabbed me and was like, 'Boy!!' He and [McDowell] were old friends. [Turner] had a horse and buggy, so he and [McDowell] would hook up on the weekends and ride all over the area playing at parties and juke joints."

youthful energy, however, seems just as suited to a rock 'n' roll concert hall - vintage by design only. At nine-plus minutes of tireless slide-guitar jamming, "All Night Long" doesn't do much to hide the band's love for the Allman Brothers. Dickinson isn't too concerned with gaining the approval of the traditional blues community, either. In fact, he hopes they hate Shake Hands. "To me it's rock 'n' roll, man. When young white kids play older black man's music, it turns into rock 'n' roll. People will call anything blues these days. There are a lot of acts that are billed as the next blues up-and-comers, but it's just rock! As my dad says, in a world where Kenny Wayne Shepherd is considered blues and R.L. Burnside is considered punk rock, something is amiss."

INDUSTRYPROFILE

Interview by Chris Parker

Brendan Flynn is the freespirited Radio Gimp at Jetset Records, bringing an infectious enthusiasm to the sapling label called home by such great bands as Macha, Mogwai, and most recently, Arab Strap. An East Coast native formerly from Baltimore, Flynn comes to Jetset by way of California, where he earned his college radio stripes putting in time at KSPC in Claremont, but we'll let him tell you about that.

How did you end up in New York City?

It took hard work. And a gun. I went to school at Pomona (College) and just went to New York (because) it was a place to go. There wasn't much thought to it. I just wanted to get off the West Coast. I had no idea what I was going to do. I was living on the beach in Long Island, but then I realized how slimy and sleazy it was, and I ran out of money, so I needed to go get a job. I got this temp job doing data entry. It was like a frontal lobotomy. Straight up, it was horrible, but I saved up a lot of money because it pays very well. That's the thing... If you can take the abuse, just do it, because it pays like kings. So I did that for a while and then interned for AAM.

BRENDAN FLYNN Radio Gimp, Jetset Records

"With Jetset, we're fortunate that the bands we have are loved, and the label doesn't have one 'sound,' so different records appeal to different people."

How do you like New York now?

There are things I could do without, like homeless people at the Port Authority (bus terminal) getting naked in the bathroom and showering. It's crowded and it's busy. But other than that, I enjoy it. Everything is here, within your reach.

How were you involved in music at Pomona?

I worked at the radio station and booked a lot of the bands that came through at venues around the campus. It was awesome. A good experience. It was mostly small bands, but there was a lot of craziness that happened. It got me a lot more interested in music. When I went out there, I was almost only into punk and hardcore.

Where did that influence come from?

Well, I lived in Baltimore, but [the city] had nothing so I went into D.C. Everything was down in D.C., like the Black Cat and the 9:30 Club. Sometimes bands would be booked into American Legion Halls around the area. There were also these really cool venues around George Washington University. Back then ('93-'95), there were a lot of different things going on. There was a lot of idealism in the scene. It was cool.

What are some of your favorite D.C. bands?

Well, I love the guys in Fugazi, and the stuff before from when they were Embrace. I like Maximillian Colby, a really cool little hardcore band from near D.C. I like Minor Threat. But it's kind of... funny because I'm not the biggest Jawbox or Lungfish fan and they're two of the bigger area bands.

You've been at Jetset for about eight months. How do you like it?

It's awesome. I like it because I don't have to be that "mature." I don't have to be a nine-to-five, corporate-type guy. And I get to dish out the punishment for a change. It's fun to do that stuff. There really isn't much selling to it, actually. With Jetset, we're fortunate that the bands we have are loved, and the label doesn't have one "sound," so different records appeal to different people but everything is stuff people can get into it. We just point people in the right direction and make sure they check it out. But once they check it out, it's not hard convincing them to play it.

What are some of your other interests?

I like reading. I just got finished with Kurt Vonnegut's Cat's Cradle... that was really great. I'm currently reading My Life As A Man by Phillip Roth. I'm also working on a screenplay.

For what kind of movie?

Well, I like good films, but I also watch a lot of bad films... B-movies and the type. What I try to write are good bad films, like the Leprechaun series. The first one had Jennifer Aniston; the fifth one has Ice-T and was set in the 'hood. The leprechaun tells dirty limericks and kills people, and the movie is conscious of how bad it is the whole time. It's really beautiful. Another great movie is Assault Of The Party Nerds, written, directed by, and starring Richard Gabai, who was also lead singer and guitarist of the band that did the soundtrack. He also wrote such classics as Dinosaur Island, Virgin High, and Assault Of The Party Nerds: The Heavy Petting Detective.
