Napster, Labels Face Off In Court, On Capitol Hill

Both sides in the digital music copyright debate recently squared off in Washington, D.C. before the Senate Judiciary Committee, chaired by Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah).

Witnesses included Napster CEO Hank Barry, MP3.com CEO Michael Robertson, and Lars Ulrich, the drummer for Metallica, who has been one of Napster's most outspoken critics.

Ulrich emphasized that Metallica does not oppose new technology, but sees Napster as hindering the dissemination of music online. "How can we embrace a new format and sell our music for a fair price when someone, with a few lines of code and no investment costs, creative input or marketing expenses, simply gives it away?" Ulrich asked the committee.

Judge Won't Dismiss Suit Against Promoters, Agents

A federal judge has ruled that an antitrust and civil rights suit filed by black concert promoters against a host of major booking agencies and concert promotion companies can go forward.

Judge Robert Patterson Jr. of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York refused to dismiss the case, Rowe Entertainment, Inc. et al. vs. The William Morris Agency, Inc, et al. The suit was filed by five black promoters who allege that they were prevented from booking concerts by booking agencies and (Continued on page 10)

Chris Knox On The 'Beat' With New Solo Outing

By Michael Dabaie Chris Knox, one half of the legendary Tall Dwarfs and one of New Zealand's most eccentric exports, will release his latest solo, platter, Beat, on Thirsty Ear Recordings later this summer.

Beat is Knox's eighth solo outing and his first since 1997's YFS!! He began his musical career in 1977 in the midst of the punk explosion as the singer for The Enemy, one of New Zealand's first punk bands. Later, with Alec Bathgate, he formed Toy Love and the Tall Dwarfs, who last released an album in 1998. Knox produced the record and performs most of the instrumentation, mented by brass and woodwinds from Neil Duncan and Kingsley Melhuish, collectively known as the Horns. Salvation Army Duncan also did the horn (Continued on page 11)

LUCKY STARS Hollywood & Western (Ipecac)

The Lucky Stars are a dream come true for anyone with a good sense of humor and a deep love for Bob Wills. Self-proclaimed as "full-bore, rompin' stompin' honky-tonk," the group's take on Western swing is so fully formed and genuine that it sounds like it should be coming out of an antique radio (or playing in the background of a Roy Rogers picture). Toeing a careful line between reverence and brilliant parody - one sometimes gets the feeling that even the band isn't sure which it is, either - their sound and image are purely authentic. The musicianship is top-notch (especially Jeremy Wakefield's steel guitar), the lyrics are hilarious, the fellas have names like "Whitey," "Sage" and "Mooney," and their merchandise includes shot glasses, ashtravs and pocket combs. Bona fide country goodness. Recorded live in the studio - just like they did it in the old days - Hollywood & Western contains 11 originals (plus a cover of Pee Wee King's highsteppin' "Tennessee Tango") that sound like they're 50 years old. This album is, as they say, perfect for "fueling a three-day bender or soothing that fourth day hangover." With these guys, Fantomas, Kid 606 and the Melvins, Ipecac now has one of the bravest rosters in the business. — Amir Hijazi

ZURDOK Hombre Sintetizador (Manicomio/ Mercurv-Universal Latino)

The industrial city of Monterrey, Mexico, home to such breakthrough acts as Control Machete and Plastilina Mosh, has become the Seattle of the Latin alternative boom. At the center of this city's musical crossroads, where Western youth culture collides with an open-air market of local customs and sounds, is Zurdok, a group that has more of a kinship with Brit-pop and progressive American indie rock than with the fusionist tendencies of many of its rock en español brethren. Recorded in an abandoned house outside the city, Hombre Sintetizador (Synthesizer Man). the quintet's phenomenal second album, is a dynamically textured recording on which searing rock riffs and tranquil waves of analog synth-pop segue into a landslide of dissonant tape loops, effects-heavy squalls of feedback and angular guitar layers. The results will no doubt please fans of both Pet Sounds and OK Computer alike, as its luminous merger of jagged experimentalism and classic pop melodicism finds a compelling middle ground for both beauty and noise. Let your mind float to the turbulent harmony of "Abre Los Ojos," the epic 12-plus minute freak-out "Hombre Sintetizador II," and the album's stunning downtempo closer, "Luna." - Ron Hart

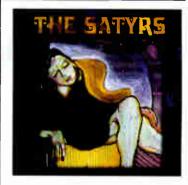

For Fans Of: Radiohead, Foo Fighters, Beta Band, Flaming Lips Recommended Tracks: "Abre Los Ojos," "Hombre Sintetizador II," "El Tiempo Se Va I," "Luna" Contact: Vicky Cabildo Phone: 818.972.5698 Email: vicky.cabildo@unistudios.com Release Date: July 18; at radio now Marketing Data: U.S. tour planned for September.

NERVE AGENTS Days Of The White Owl (Revelation) The Nerve Agents have done an about free The handle 1008 celf

about face. The band's 1998 selftitled debut eerily recalled much of the back catalog that helped its label Revelation Records sketch out the underground hardcore map. In fact, it seemed like the band was trying to duplicate history, as the Bay Area boys took their sonic blueprint of blinding riffs and nasal, Ray Cappo-style vocals directly from the legendary straight-edge band Youth Of Today. Well, times are a-changing for the Nerve Agents - now the guys are pissed. The irascible Days Of The White Owl pulls back completely from the classic hardcore sound. The quintet is now madder than a snarling pit bull, curling its lips and baring its incisors to nip at your heels with choleric, pugnacious and anarchic punk freakin' rock. If you like your punk untainted by pop and ska influences, then Days Of The White Owl will restore your faith in wrathful music. While the Agents have added a gothy edge to their image (glopping on thick black eyeliner à la Misfits) they completely sidestep trite Misfits-like conventions (like melody) for sheer red-faced, wild-eved fury. Either run for cover or for the moshpit. — Amy Sciarretto

SATYRS The Satyrs (Black Dog)

The Satyrs make their recorded debut with a distinct and fully evolved style that owes as much to the drug-hazed rock underbelly that spawned the Velvet Underground as it does to the lonesome, Southern lifestyle of plaintive folks like Patsy Cline and Hank Williams. The Memphis trio's plodding tunes creatively combine old country with melancholy rock to produce a moody, neo-American gothic sound. As guitarist/vocalist Jason Paxton laments, wails and moans - his voice like a somewhat less crazed and less sinister Nick Cave - the music looms behind like a specter moving in and out of the shadows. The young band captures fear, loss, hope, desperation, madness and longing in inventive, inspired musical gestures — try not to be seduced by the enveloping strike of a tympani on "We Are One" or by the pensive pace of keyboards on "Tribute To The Great Joseph Carey Merrick." Simultaneously stark and robust, The Satyrs is a slow dance with the soul. Moreover, if the band maintains their ability to mesmerize, they are sure to only further perfect their dark and chilling ways as they mature. — Kelso Jacks

Labels Use Internet For Marketing

Labels are using Internet marketing campaigns to maximize their advertising costs, spread the word about niche performers and remain in contact with bands' core audiences.

Capitol Records starts marketing efforts at the grass-roots level, in newsgroups and chat rooms dedicated to the band, said Robin Bechtel, Capitol's head of new media.

The label recently initiated a six-week Internet campaign for the new Everclear record. "The first target is the fans. We want the fans to know about the record early. We went to Everclear clubs and news groups," Bechtel said.

"They start to turn their friends on to it. They help us market the records," she said. "We include music, videos and contests, so that when it spreads, people get turned on to the band," Bechtel said. Additionally, Capitol works with America Online and Microsoft to host Web chats and interviews with bands prior to a record's release. The company also links the content to radio station Web sites, lifestyle sites targeted at the core audience and online retailers.

Early marketing efforts, sometimes months before an album is due out, "are aimed at the people who will hear and like the band – early adopters," said Jeremy Welt, director of new media of Maverick Records, home of the Deftones and Alanis Morissette. "They tend to be the one that introduce their friends to mew music. That's the kind of consumer we go for first."

Web sites and Internet portals give record labels a forum for videos beyond MTV and VH1, Bechtel said. "If we are servicing a video to MTV, we are also servicing it to our online partners. It's a whole new outlet," Bechtel said. This includes making videos available to fan sites.

Additionally, Internet radio portals can serve as an introduction to bands for listeners. "We work 'Net radio very heavy and early," Welt said. These sites include Groove Radio and SonicNet's Internet radio channel. "The audience isn't huge – it can't make a record on its own. But it is a good way to get people to hear your record," he said.

For many of its online marketing campaign, Capitol works with iMedium, a company that produces packets of marketing content, including audio video and electronic commerce. Using iMedium allows the company to automate updating information and to track how many customers look at the content and pass it on to friends. Bechtel said that with each major online campaign, the company tries out new ideas to determine what works. "For the next record — if it's Radiohead or Megadeth — we are going to take what we've learned to make it more successful," she said. "You've really got to come up with something unique."

Maverick's Welt said that online marketing allows the company to create a buzz for artists who have loyal followings, but do not usually receive substantial airplay. "Radio is tight. If a song can't get on the radio, you will have other things to continue the life of the record," Welt said.

"For [Maverick artist] MeShell Ndegeocello, she is very political and very outspoken, so that creates an online presence. We are able to run with that without radio play," he added. "It's really on a case-by-case basis."

Welt said that the Internet presents the opportunity to do marketing in a more efficient, cost effective manner. "You can achieve the same goals on- or off-line. In the past, we would hand out stickers and put up posters. Now we don't have to spend as much on posters," he said.

"This allows us to have more control over the marketing of records. As soon as I find out a record is coming out, I can start doing the Web site," he said. "I can throw a song up on the Web site and start a marketing list by the time the marketing campaign begins."

Jordan Savitch, VP of Business Development at iMedium said that the value in Internet marketing is that labels can communicate directly with the people who are listening to that music. "That isn't something you can do in the offline world," he said. "You're limited to general advertisement. You throw an ad out on radio or a print publication and it's a general sort of broadcast ad. You're hoping it reaches at least some of your target audience. But with the Internet, it give you a way to reach those fans on a one to one basis."

The labels are also now better able to get a better grasp on who their core fans are, Maverick's Welt said. "With e-mail lists, we now have a database of the core fans. These fans usually want to help the band," he said.

"With technology, marketing executives can demand and get a much higher level of accountability for their advertising efforts. They can really measure how effective is it, is it really reaching the fans. And they can get immediate feedback: do the fans like it. Is it useful, is it cool," Savitch said.

However, the Web will never completely replace traditional forms of marketing, Savitch said. "I think the Web presents an alternative channel for reaching out to the fan base. It allows you to do a lot more with them, to give them a lot more, but I think you're still going to have the traditional modes of music promotion – spins on the radio, instore promotion, touring. Those are still going to continue to be the mainstays," he said. — Michael Dabaie

Blind Join Low-Power FM Debate

The International Association of Audio Information Services (IAAIS) has joined the debate on low power FM by issuing a statement of concern over the possibility that new stations might cause interference with reading services for the blind. Similar to the complaints of the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB), the IAAIS is worried that LPFM might interfere with the independent reading services that operate on the side band of an existing FM signal and provide access to newspapers, magazines, books and other printed matter to the blind.

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) stands by its initial testing of low power FM and discounts the NAB's fear of potential interference. The Commission points to a request by the NAB several years ago that more than 300 stations, some operating in excess of 100,000 watts, be allowed to continue to operate with as little as one adjacent open station frequency between them. LPFM stations are limited to 100 watts and must operate with at least two open adjacent frequencies to either side. The implication is that the NAB is playing politics, and the FCC seems to suggest the same about the IAAIS.

"[Just] because radio reading services operate as subcarriers on existing radio frequencies, there is no reason to believe that there will be a problem with these services," says Susanna Zwerling, Mass Media Bureau Assistant Chief for Planning and Communication. "There are very few radio reading services that could be affected at all by the new low power FM stations — it's a very small percentage."

However, FCC engineers are running additional tests, using radio service radios supplied by National Public Radio, a noted LPFM critic. The reading service radios are different than commercial models, and "concerns about radio reading services are related more to the unsophisticated technology of the receivers than to the signal itself," according to the FCC's Low Power FM Web site.

Meanwhile, the New York Times reported that nearly 50 percent of the those applying for the first batch of licenses are small religious broadcasters, creating a stir since opposition to LPFM has been led by the Republicans, who generally carry the votes of such groups. A day later, New York's Village Voice wrote about contributions made by the NAB to New York Senate Candidate Rick Lazio, another LPFM critic.

The additional attention should help the cause of LPFM since congressmen would rather avoid contentious issues in an election year, according to Michael Bracy of the Low Power FM Coalition. With the legislative season running down, Bracy expects the stalled bill aimed at stopping LPFM to try to catch a ride on the upcoming Omnibus Agriculture bill. LPFM opponents may add the bill as an amendment when it comes out of committee during the last week of July.

Artists Group Speaks Out Against Napster

A new organization has taken the podium in the dialogue about music and technology. The recently formed Artists Against Piracy (AAP), took out full-page advertisements in the New York Times and other papers to trumpet their list of artists, and ask the rhetorical headline question, "If A Song Means A Lot To You, Imagine What It Means To Us."

The AAP, supported by Blink-182, DMX, Grant-Lee Phillips, Hanson, Garth Brooks and Hootie and the Blowfish, receives financial donations from the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA), the National Association of Recording Merchandisers (NARM) and the digital rights company Reciprocal, as well as a number of Internet technology firms.

The founder and Director of AAP, Noah Stone, is a singer/songwriter who started an online record company, GMEmusic.com, and through those travails became intimately involved with the issue. Stone plans to add to his list of artists and solicit support from other industry groups such as BMI and ASCAP, as well as technology companies that back AAP's agenda.

Stone is optimistic that a solution to this conflict will be reached and suggests that perhaps his organization will move beyond the piracy issue to represent other artists rights issues.

"The deal we've had to strike with the labels is — let's deal with the piracy issue, and then when we have that settled maybe we'll be able to have equal footing," Stone said.

Astralwerks Wants Girls On Label

Electronic music label Astralwerks is on the lookout for the ladies. The label has teamed with Girls On, an arm of the allfemale Oxygen cable and web-based network, to encourage female electronic artists to submit their demos for a possible slot on Volume Two of its Unknownwerks series scheduled for release sometime this year.

Astralwerks released the first Unknownwerks volume last July featuring American artists who had not previously released a commercial record. The overwhelming number of submissions prompted the release of a second volume in the series, but there was still something missing: a woman's touch. "We don't really get that many female demos," Justin Nichols, Director of A&R told CMJ, "We wanted to make a push for it this time."

The Girls On Web site promotion encourages American female artists to submit demos to the Astralwerks A&R team. Chosen artists will then be included on the Volume Two album and featured on the Girls On Web site. Nichols hopes the contest will "broaden the scope of what kind of music comes in." The submission period will close at the end of July.

Riffage Acquires 1500

Riffage.com, an online MP3 repository for unsigned bands, has entered the recording label business, acquiring former A&M property 1500 Records.

The pairing will provide the label with a ready talent source and added online marketing muscle. For the dot-com, it's a chance to distinguish itself from the glut of sites hosting MP3s. Riffage also recently acquired the Great American Music Hall in San Francisco, providing its artists with a performance facility wired for webcasting.

Founded a little over three years ago as a joint venture with then Polygram-owned A&M Records, 1500 Records became a property of Interscope Records when Polygram merged with Universal. During that time they put out albums by Dub Pistols, Breakbeat Era and Ugly Duckling. When given the option to sign on for two more years with Interscope, 1500 Records decided to leave and join with Riffage.

"We left Interscope because we wanted to continue on with the artists we'd been working with, and if we stayed there none of them were going to survive because they wouldn't give us the resources to really make something happen," said Gary Richards, President of 1500 Records.

IDA Interview by Bill Konig

It's been an interesting 15 months for Ida, a NYC slowcore rock outfit. Among other events, two band members were recently wed, a drummer

(and brother) split, the group obtained the rights for its current release, Will You Find Me, from Capitol Records (ultimately releasing it on Tiger Style) and certain band members are, at press time, homeless. CMJ recently caught up with singer-songwriter Daniel Littleton on the tail end of Ida's current U.S. tour to decipher the group's recent, colorful past.

Does the recent marriage between you and Elizabeth Mitchell change the complexion of the band?

Nope. We started [the band] a long time ago and we're still doing it. We've been together all these years, so [the marriage] definitely doesn't change the complexion of it; it doesn't really change the dynamics of it either. We're all really tight.

So how's life been for the two of you in New York?

Right now, all of our stuff is in storage. We don't really have a place that we will be going back to. Our lease ran out in April, and we've been on the road ever since. It's going to be an interesting return (laughs).

You originally recorded Will You Find Me for Capitol. What happened between Ida and Capitol?

There was just a real changeover at the company. The president got fired right after we signed and gradually, most of the people that were kind of allies, or that we knew, ended up leaving. We still had enough support within the structure of the company to get the check signed and help us finish our record and it got completely done, mastered and paid for. Then we knew that we were going to have to get out. The whole kind of trajectory of the company was going in a direction that was not too artist-oriented. It seemed fairly clear to us that if we really pushed for staying, it might have just died in the water and we'd never have access to a record that we really cared about. So we had a couple people who were still there that really helped us get out of the deal. And that took about seven or eight months.

So do you guys have any new material?

Oh yeah. That's what's so odd about deferring a record for that long, because all of us write all the time. So we've already got like a lot of new songs and we want to make another record. We recorded about two full-length records while we were at Capitol. So it's going to be like the year of way too much Ida. It will be like five Ida records in like a year — something obsessively wrong like that.

So your brother Michael is no longer in the band. How come?

He left about a little over a year ago. He just wanted to do different things, and he's been completely busy doing his own stuff.

No Guy Zones At Beasties, Rage Shows

In order to provide a safe environment for female concertgoers, those involved in the upcoming "Rhyme And Reason" tour featuring the Beastie Boys and Rage

Beastie Boys

Against The Machine are considering creating female-only moshpits.

Fueled by the number of sexual assaults at recent concert events in addition to the recent Roskilde tragedy that claimed nine lives, the key word for the upcoming tour is "safety." In an interview with MTV News, Beastie Boy Ad-Rock said, "I think we're trying to figure out how to take security on this tour very seriously, and we've been trying to come up with ideas of how everybody at the show can be safe and not have to deal with the big knucklehead jumping on them."

Chuck D Enables File Sharing

Chuck D, an outspoked supporter for Napster and foil for Lars Ulrich, has added a section dedicated to file sharing on his popular Web site, Rapstation (www.rapstation.com).

Chuck D.

Entitled Swapmeet, the Web page features links to all the popular software, from Napster to Gnutella, and reviews of the programs as well as the pros and cons of the technology for each one. Breaking the programs into different categories, the reviews discuss centrally indexed programs (Napster, iMesh, CuteMX, Scour), peer to peer (FreeNet, Gnutella), and the latest flavor, gateway portals, which scan other file-sharing programs, much like multi-search engines Metacrawler and Dogpile.

Clearly designed to promote discussion, Swapmeet also features recent press articles on the subject, links to some of Chuck D's commentary and a letter from Lester Chambers of the Chambers Brothers addressed to Courtney Love supporting her recent antiindustry comments. Also of interest on the site is a transcript and streamed footage of Chuck D and Metallica's Ulrich arguing on Charlie Rose's interview show. Chuck chastises Lars for complaining about the money he's lost (i.e. not made) and how unfair this new technology is for the artists. "The former rules are out the door like an old baseball game... you're in the outfield, it's raining, but the ump says, "Play ball," anyway. You know to catch a flyball you're gonna have to run different on the wet grass," Chuck tells Lars. "You're not gonna be able to beat the technology."

INDUSTRYNEWS

Ross Robinson's I AM Recordings has signed an agreement with Virgin Records America to release the imprint's music worldwide. I AM had previously been linked to Roadrunner Records. Robinson, the man behind breakthrough

acts like Korn and Limp Bizkit, told CMJ that he's excited to be working with a label like Virgin, one he calls a "totally artist label."

Both Slipknot and Glassjaw, acts Robinson helped develop, remain under contract to Roadrunner and will not be moving over to Virgin.

The first release out of the new agreement will be metal band Amen's new album this September. Amen was dropped from Roadrunner and is free to follow Robinson to his new home.

"My job is to create the most intense, beautiful, destroying music ever," Robinson said. "Destroy anything that's not creative and create something new. Amen is the foundation of the label. It's the beginning and it'll totally set the mood and the tempo for what I'm doing."

Robinson will produce new acts for Virgin and oversee marketing. He said he's currently searching for the "next destroyer of planet earth." Rapcore bands hoping to capitalize take heed: "My vision is to create new music and be inspiring for people to not copy what's seemingly popular at the moment," he said. "As soon as something blows up, it's over. Everything I'm doing now is to destroy all of it except for people that have created it: like Korn and Limp Bizkit. Anything having to do with hip-hop and metal is dead."

Farmclub Offers Programming On CTN

Jimmy and Doug's Farmclub.com, part of Universal Music Group, will supply music programming for CTN Media Group's College Television Network.

Farmclub will provide CTN with original weekly programming, primarily from the "Farmclub.com" weekly television series, which airs on cable station USA Network, as well as artist segments and interviews to be placed on Wetair.com, CTN's lifestyle Web site aimed at young adults.

Additionally, the two companies will conduct joint marketing campaigns, events and contests. Farmclub has also made a longterm advertising commitment to College Television Network.

College Television Network broadcasts news, entertainment and lifestyle programming via satellite to college campus. Farmclub.com is a Web site, television show and record label. The company's Web site offers video and audio streaming, as well as a forum for musicians and labels.

Select Records Signs Deal With New Distributors

Rap label Select Records, home to U.T.F.O., the Real Roxanne and Kid N' Play, recently signed distribution deals with both Bayside Entertainment Distribution and Wildcat Distributing. The two companies will be representing Select records on new releases as well as catalog sales.

Select President Fred Munao told CMJ that Bayside and Wildcat will be working in harmony to provide Select with what he called a competitive distribution plan. Wildcat Distributing is already established in the urban market as an offshoot of the now-defunct MS Distributing. Bayside currently has deals with urban labels D1A Records, Ground Level, Mobb Status, NPG and SM Records, to name a few.

Select is planning on reintroducing its catalog, which has been off the market for over a year. Select will also release albums by new artists such as Dani Girl, lke Dirty and Tha Future. In addition, a Best Of The Jerky Boys CD is in the works, scheduled for release sometime later this year.

Middelhoff Skeptical About Downloading

While most of the recording industry appears to have embraced the idea of making music available for digital downloads as a necessary fact of doing business in the new millennium, BMG chairman/CEO Thomas Middlehoff recently suggested that his company might completely withdraw from the sector if it becomes impossible to protect copyrights.

Most of the major recording labels and several independent labels have announced digital plans, running the gamut from payper-play to unlimited streaming subscription plans.

While BMG appears to be pulling music back from the Internet, Richard Branson is going ahead full steam. His Virgin Entertainment Group has created a separate business for its online audio businesses called Virgin Audio Holdings. The new company plans to invest over $247 million in new business like Radio Free Virgin, which will feature 23 "stations" playing several genres of music through a proprietary downloadable Internet radio player.

ARTISTNEWS The The's Johnson Offers Music For Free

With Napster and the Recording Industry Association America locked in a mortal struggle like a revival of West Side Story, musicians are queuing up to join either the Jets or the Sharks - though for many the choice is between a rock and a hard place. Matt Johnson, the artist behind The The, recently threw in his lot with the free-download forces by promising to offer a new MP3 from his Interscope/Universal release, NakedSelf, each week beginning July 13.

Johnson is upset with the support he has received from the label for NakedSelf, his first album in seven years. In a posting on his Web site, Johnson refers to his audience of approximately 750,000 for each of his seven albums and asks, "is this really just sheer incompetence, or is this willful neglect? Because it does seem that Interscope/Universal can be very aggressive and successful with a certain type of popular music." Johnson goes on to suggest that in order to pay for the enormous cost of these label mergers, Universal's erstwhile owner, Seagrams, promised to make cutbacks, and has subsequently failed to support any bands that don't offer "sure-fire instant commercial hits palatable to corporate radio."

While Johnson has been widely quoted regarding his opposition to Napster, his web post says he is even more opposed to censorship, especially "as increasing numbers of artists are now becoming victims of censorship by apathy and neglect." Johnson, who was unable to get his album and masters back from Universal, hopes that by posting these tracks he will be able to reach his fans and that they will support him by buying the album. Representatives of Nothing and Universal had no comment on Johnson's posting or actions.

Gene Resurfaces After Three Years

For the English band Gene, severing its ties with its record label Polydor was a blessing in disguise. Despite not having a record deal since May 1999, the band's presence in America has never been stronger.

In 1999, Gene ended its relationship with Polydor. Since the label's takeover by Universal in 1998, Gene's rapport with them had grown increasingly rocky. Adding fuel to the fire was Polydor's lack of enthusiasm for the band's critically acclaimed 1999 album Revelations, which wasn't released in the U.S. Fearing either being dropped or having Polydor pick up the band's option only to shelve the next project, Gene took "radical action," according to guitarist Steve Mason, and decided to leave. The band was not dropped, as was widely reported, Mason told CMJ. They were just "accelerating what was thought to be the inevitable," he said.

A year later, Gene has made what its members are calling a "triumphant return" to the U.S. and to those American fans that haven't heard anything from the band in three years. The band culled ten songs from a 3-night stint at the Troubadour in Los Angeles and has put together a live album entited Rising For Sunset, released on the band's imprint Contra. Rising For Sunset also includes five tracks from Gene's Revelations album. The show was also broadcast on the Internet and received over 100,000 hits, according to the band.

Gene's Internet presence, although completely new for the band, has served to expand its fan base in America.

"The Internet cuts out about six different middle men," said frontman Martin Rossiter. "It gives you direct contact with people. Now you can go straight to them instead of having to go through all the normal marketing channels and that's great for a band like us.'

The webcast gave the band over 100,000 additional email addresses to add to its mailing list, a list that had taken over five years to build.

"For the American fans, [the Internet] has also helped them maintain some kind of contact with the band," he added, "to let them know we were still functioning as a band."

An older, wiser Gene is currently hoping to sign with an American label but it is keeping an eye out for labels that would put them in exactly the same positions it was in with Polydor.

"We're looking for a deal that suits our needs artistically and commercial," said guitarist Mason. "The relationship will be different this time around because we've been through the mill once."

Meat Puppets Return To Action

Underground musical mainstays the Meat Puppets will release their twelfth album September 26 on Breaking Records label, a joint venture between Atlantic Records and Triple-A rockers Hootie and the Blowfish.

The band hasn't released an album since 1995's No Joke. After fourteen years in the business, the band scored its first gold record in 1994 for Too High To Die, thanks to the huge radio hit, "Backwater." The album was on the CMJ Radio 200 chart for 26 weeks.

The new album, which has yet to be named, will feature a new Meat Puppets lineup, with singer/guitarist Curt Kirkwood as the only holdover from the original trio. His younger brother, Cris Kirkwood, has reportedly been sidelined by a drug problem and there are no plans at this point for him to rejoin the band. Replacing him on bass is Andrew DePlantis, who has toured as a sideman for solo guitarists Bob Mould and Alejandro Escovedo. Shandon Sahm, son of the late Doug Sahm, is on drums and Kyle Ellison is on guitar. Prior to signing to record the album, the elder Kirkwood had been playing with a similar lineup as the Royal Neanderthal Orchestra.

After being a leading alternative band through most of the '80s, the Meat Puppets drifted from sight until Kurt Cobain appeared on MTV's Unplugged backed by the Kirkwood brothers, who joined him for several songs including one of their own.

Lilith Fair: The Movie

The documentary about Sarah McLachlan's estrogen-fueled Lilith Fair festival tour will not be making its debut at this year's Toronto Film Festival.

The film's producer, Dean English, told CMJ that plans for the project are up in the air. English plans to start editing the film again in September. The film was packaged for three different types of release: one 95minute version for the theaters, geared towards film festivals; and two different television versions for network broadcast. The documentary contains footage shot mostly from the inaugural year of the festival and contains some scenes from second year. The Lilith Fair tour had a three-year run, ending last summer.

file sharing software companies in line. "Legislation should definitely be part of this soon. We are all be dreaming if we think we can work this out between us," Ulrich said.

"We've tried to have a little bit of dialogue with some of these people and I don't feel that there is going to be a situation where we can work this out without your involvement," he told the Senators.

Most other panelists said that legislation was not necessary: left to its own devices, the market will likely help foster a solution.

Napster's Barry argued that his company's software is used for sampling music, rather than as a replacement for buying CDs.

"Far from hurting the creative community, Napster is offering thousands of artists a new and effective distribution system for their work," Barry said. Napster has signed 17,000 artists to participate in its new artist program over the past four months, Barry said.

"The recording and music publishing industry has known of technology for creating and distributing MP3 files for years. Yet they have chosen not to take any actions to stop or even slow this widespread proliferation," Barry said. This inaction was because they recognized the promotional value of these files, Barry said.

"The recording and music industry's goal in attempting to crush Napster appears to be to retain control over the flow of competing unsigned artists' music into the marketplace, and the means of and business model of distributing music over the Internet," Barry said.

Napster and the RIAA exchanged volleys again recently, when the association filed a response to Napster's opposition to the RIAA's motion for a preliminary injunction with the United Sates District Court for the Northern District of California.

"Napster's opposition uses euphemisms like 'sharing' to avoid the real issue: Napster is a business that already claims a value in the billions, based overwhelmingly on the 'piracy' of millions of plaintiffs' copyrighted works," the brief states. "The truth is, the making and distributing of unauthorized copies of copyrighted works by Napster users in not 'sharing,' any more than stealing apples from neighbor's tree is 'gardening.'"

Napster's Barry fired back almost immediately: "If the RIAA were to prevail with the argument made in their filing yesterday, even the simple act of copying a song from a CD onto a computer hard drive in the MP3 format would not be protected by the law."

Continuing to augment its staff with respected music industry professionals, Napster recently hired Keith Bernstein, former senior director of operations at Universal Music Group's Global e, as VP of Operations.

Suit Against Promoters

The complaint, seeks damages and injunctions under the Sherman Act – the main federal antitrust statute – and civil rights laws. It also alleges a conspiracy by the booking and promotion defendants. The complaint alleges that though some of the booking agency defendants used some of the plaintiffs to promote concerts by lesser-known black artists, none of them have used the plaintiffs to promote concerts by white artists or by major black artists; nor have they allowed plaintiffs to bid to promote those concerts.

Responding to the judge's decision, a spokesperson for the William Morris Agency told CMJ "Allegations that WMA engages in exclusionary practices, condones racism or discriminates in any way against minorities – in or out of the music business – are false, unthinkable and inflammatory."

The agencies named as defendants also include Creative Artists Agency, Monterey Peninsula Artists, Howard Rose Agency and Renaissance Entertainment. The 26 concert promoters named in the suit include Beaver Productions, Bill Graham Enterprises, Electric Factory Concerts and a group of companies under the Cellar Door banner.

The plaintiffs are Rowe Entertainment, Bab Productions, Sun Song Productions, Summitt Management Corp. and Lee King Productions, as well as their owners.

The defendants had sought to have the suit dismissed. While Judge Patterson refused to dismiss the case as a whole in his decision, he did dismiss claims against several individual firms, including a dismissal of the Sherman Act allegations against the bulk of the concert promoter defendants.

basis to more effectively and efficiently transition the company to meet the new challenges brought about as the industry continues to evolve."

Industry watchers see this move as an example of the trend towards consolidation in an industry that is facing new challenges from e-commerce and filesharing programs such as Napster and MP3.com.

Sony's labels include Columbia, 550, Sony Classical and Epic Records, which are home to artists like Cypress Hill, Pearl Jam, Rocky Martin and the Offspring.

Sony Music is ranked second in terms of worldwide market share in album sales and number three in the U.S., with 15.5 percent of the market, behind Universal's 28.1 percent and BMG's 20.8 percent, and ahead of Warner's 13.4 percent and EMI's 7.4 percent.

The album, Knox's first for Thirsty Ear, will be available August 22. On August 8, the label will release the album's first single, "The Hell Of It".

Thirsty Ear will push the record on college, triple-A and commercial alternative radio, said Peter Gordon, president of the label. "This record lends itself to multiple formats," he said.

Knox will launch a three-week tour starting in mid-September, and will visit most major cities along the east and west coasts, as well as the mid-west. "Chris is very much a solo performer," Gordon said. "He's a classic troubadour in the real sense of the word."

"We've got to go to the legacy fans. Touring does a great deal for that," Gordon said. This series of dates will be Knox's first U.S. tour in about three years.

Knox is working on a video for another song on the album, the plaintive, acoustic "My Only Friend".

Thirsty Ear will also be working to promote the record on the Internet. The company is planning promotional tie-ins with major online retailers and will have those plans fleshed out in the coming weeks, Gordon said. This could include live interviews and concert Web casts. Thirsty Ear will also make a push into traditional brick and mortar retailers, particularly independent shops. "We will work vigorously with the indie shops. [Knox] is very much a legendary independent artist," Gordon said. This angle will include possible in-store appearances, as well as meeting with shop owners and managers. Additionally, Knox plans to do radio interviews.

Between the launch of the first single, the tour and promotional work, "this is really a campaign for about four months, through the end of the year," Gordon said.

"He's been in this business for a couple of decades in well known bands such as the Tall Dwarfs. With this history, we've got the fans that have been there – the old fans —and people who have heard the name. We've got to tie all of that together," Gordon said.

Chart information is based on combined airplay reports from CMI's panel of college, commercial and non-commercial radio stations. Statistics are compiled from point totals tabulated from positions (1-30) of artists on airplay reports, then multiplied by station code factor (based upon market size, market impact and market reach). © 2000 The CMJ Network, 810 Seventh Ave., 21st FL, New York, NY 10019.

CMJ Music Marathon,

MusicFest & FilmFest New Music. New Media. New Film. New York.

Thursday->Sunday

CONJ MUSIC MARATHON MUSICFEST

Dear Professor____

Please excuse______from class on Thursday, Friday and Monday (October 19, 20 and 23). As you will note, CMJ Music Marathon, MusicFest & FilmFest takes place in New York City with College Day programming on Sunday this year.

October 19-22, 2000

will return to classes on Tuesday having digested a plethora of informative panels and discussions on how to make your college's radio station function more efficiently in and out of the music industry.

You will no doubt be relieved to know that at night your student will be catching some of the best shows of the year until the wee hours of the morning with his/her favorite record label representatives and their corporate credit cards. So, you see, for the 20th anniversary of the CMJ Music Marathon, tradition will be preserved. Rock On

764-HERO Radio 200: 90-16 Core Radio: #13 debut

764-HERO has spent the last couple of years toiling diligently to build its fan base, and it's reflected in the band's strong showing on the Radio 200 and Core charts. In addition to releasing EPs and singles in between its albums, it has toured with CMJ chart toppers and fellow Northwesterners such as Quasi and Modest Mouse. The band also collaborated with Modest Mouse on the "Whenever You See Fit" 12" single originally released in 1998, and that special release's reissue on CD just last spring helped peak fan hunger for fresh material. Add in the strong support of AAM's promo team, and Weekends Of Sound (Up) makes the Radio 200's top 20, and debuts in the top 15 of the Core chart.

EVERCLEAR

Radio 200: 73-30

Even with a hard-won multi-platinum status under its belt, Everclear continues to challenge itself as a band. Songs From An American Movie Vol. 1: Learning To Smile (Capitol) is, as its name implies, the first of a two-volume set from the Northwestern trio. With all of the band's straight-up rock songs reportedly being saved for the second volume, Vol. 1 is an eclectic affair overall that shows the band trying its hand at a wide variety of sounds (e.g. strings, horns, samples, etc.). Nestled within the experimentation, however, is plenty of Everclear frontman Art Alexakis's impeccable pop hooks. College radio knows good songs when it hears them, and Vol. 1 moves 43 positions to #30 in its second week on the chart.

DJ CAM

Radio 200: 136-37 Core Radio: #17 debut RPM: 21-3

With Loa Project (Volume II), DJ Cam (Paris's great, white hip-hop hope) fuses his taste for early jazz and classical music with abstract hip-hop grooves, forging a sound that is both familiar and completely unique. It's this melding of old sounds into new textures that has prompted the widespread success of Loa Project, which jumped 99 spots to #37 (from #136) in its second week on the Radio 200 chart. The record also debuted strong on the Core Radio chart (#17) and is eyeing the top spot on RPM, having jumped to #3 from #21 in its second week.

AT THE DRIVE-IN

Radio 200: 124-42

College radio is hungry for a new full-length from post-hardcore, Afro-sporting rockers At The Drive-In, who reportedly took their name from the song "Talk Dirty To Me" by glam-metal band Poison. Though Relationship Of Command (produced by Ross Robinson, the man whose knob skills helped launch the new metal careers of Korn and Limp Bizkit) is coming in September, the three-song EP One Armed Scissor is at stations now. Featuring two new ragin' and rockin' tunes and a non-album track, the disc is tiding fans over, as evidenced by the EP's massive, 82-position leap up the Radio 200 chart.

VITAMINIC www.vitaminic.com email: info@vitaminic.com

Vitaminic is one of Europe's largest Web communities for the distribution and promotion of digital music. What makes www.vitaminic.com unique is its impressive selection of international music, with a presence from eight different countries including the United Kingdom, Germany, France and the good ol' USA. Since the company's inception last year, more than 3,000 record companies and 10,000 artists have uploaded a total of 40,000-plus tracks for sale over the Vitaminic network. The site is also extremely artist-friendly, enabling musicians to create their own Web pages while releasing digital music online at no cost. A "Backstage" section can be utilized by any band at any time to access Vitaminic's music community, facilitating the modification of artist information, the addition of tracks, the monitoring of artist page hit counts and other artist services. As for the actual music, Vitaminic nicely categorizes available tunes into main genres that include classical, country, electronica/dance, metal, pop and rock. Further sub-genres are provided for an ultimate assortment of over 150 different specific categories. Click on the main page "pop" link, for example, and you'll land on a page that offers an additional 18 categories including '60s Beat, Indie/Low-Fi, Beat/Mod and Lounge/Exotica. The genre pages also include top downloads, as well as new bands. Links to country-specific pages that list a country's bands are presented in the respective country's language, so discovering French death metal is now as simple as un, deux, trois! Site visitors and musicians of any nationality can also learn more about MP3 and digital music, including the most useful MP3 software and the latest hardware for accessing music. You can also register for Vitaminic News to be kept abreast of the latest developments in MP3, digital music and the site itself. - Bill Konig

MP3.com has formed a partnership with Women.com Networks. The agreement seeks to create a co-branded music center at www.women.com, allowing site visitors to access and manage personal digital music collections, receive free lifestyle and activity-oriented downloads and access MP3.com subscription music channels. Women.com will have access to MP3.com's recently announced MSP Platform 1.0, a collection of products allowing the delivery of music and music-related services designed to create new revenue streams for companies... Internet entertainment studio Z.com is teaming with Alanis Morissette to broadcast exclusive video Webisodes of the singers' current journeys to Lebanon, France, Croatia. Israel and other countries this summer. Fans will be able to witness performance clips, video journals, interactive maps and other features at www.alanis.z.com... After seven years in publication, the Internet's first fully staffed music reviews publication Consumable Online (www.consumable.com) is closing. The final issue of Consumable Online will be released on August 1, commemorating the publication's seventh anniversary. The issue will give readers a behindthe-scenes look at the publication... Universal Classics Group, a division of Universal Music Group (www.umusic.com), has launched a comprehensive information guide for online classical music enthusiasts accessible at www.universalclassics.com/usa. The site is home to the artists and music that comprise the Deutsche Grammophon, Decca, Decca Broadway Philips and ECM labels. To commemorate the launch, Universal Classics is inviting music fans to participate in a contest where site visitors produce a new classical compilation album. Winning submissions are worth $1,500, as well as a production credit on the album plus other honors...America Online has agreed to provide some of its content and services through AT&T Wireless Services, which operates a digital network containing approximately 12.5 million subscribers. Commencing this autumn, AT&T Wireless' Digital PocketNet wireless users will gain access to AOL's most popular services, including e-mail and local guide Digital Fee for a fee. The deal, the terms of which have not been disclosed, is the latest in a series of wireless-related arrangements for AOL...Multicast Technologies (www.multicasttech.com) has launched On-The-I.com, a new music site broadcasting CD-quality sound, from many successful artists, to up to a million listeners simultaneously. Visitors can program music themselves, vote on songs, interact with the site and participate in other activities.

Wurlitzer Jukeboxes To Go Digital

The Wurlitzer Jukebox Company has formed a partnership with Fun e-Business Inc. whereby the music company will produce a Webbased jukebox called the Wurlitzer Fun e-Jukebox. The jukeboxes will preserve their vintage '50s appearance while being wired for high-speed Internet connections, allowing access to any of the 469,000 tracks currently available on the MP3.com Web site as well as another 70,000 licensed top-20 songs.

Ed Bevilacqua, CEO of Fun e-Business, says the e-Jukeboxes will be sold for $5,000, or leased for $150 per month. He reports that Jukebox distribution will commence later this summer. Music enthusiasts will be able to listen to three tracks for one dollar.

Yahoo! Declines To Purchase Myplay

Yahoo! Inc., (www.yahoo.com) which had been negotiating since early June to purchase music YAHOO! storage service company Myplay Inc. for an estimated $200 million, will not acquire the company. Yahoo developed an interest in Myplay's product as the basis for a subscription music service. In addition, the Internet portal was hoping to capitalize on Myplay's music expertise to help develop a comprehensive online music strategy.

Both companies declined to comment on the end of negotiations. Sources close to the deal, however, believe Myplay walked away as the result of Yahoo's offering price, as well as the difference in vision between the two companies. Yahoo also refused comment on its future plans for entering the digital music storage arena.

AOL, RealNetworks Make Streaming Digital Media Agreement

Digital media delivery company RealNetworks and America Online have formed a partnership pursuant to which AOL will deploy the RealSystem 8 software suite throughout its entire network. In addition, AOL 6.0, expected to be released later in the year, will deliver a multi-platform media player that utilizes RealPlayer streaming media technology.

"Through this agreement we have not only enabled the largest single Internet population in the world to experience the compelling audio and VHS video quality of RealSystem 8, but we have also made fundamental and substantial progress towards realizing our vision of the Internet as the next mass medium," said Rob Glaser, Founder/CEO of RealNetworks.

Under the agreement, RealPlayer will be distributed with the Netscape browser and through Netscape.com's Netcenter. RealNetworks will distribute AOL's free Web radio player, Spinner, which utilizes RealPlayer technology, as well as bundle software with the RealPlayer, and thus facilitate signing up for the AOL service.

Gigabeat Partners With Liquid Audio

Gigabeat Inc. (www.gigabeat.com), creator of a comprehensive online music gateway, has partnered with Liquid Audio (www.liquidaudio.com) to provide 8 its users with a secure solution for digital downloads and music gigabeat streaming. Gigabeat's site visitors can browse through a selection of more than 142,000 digital music downloads, some of which are promotional and some of which are available for hquid audo purchase. Visitors can also stream, download, buy and playback music from one application, using the Liquid Player software.

"Liquid Audio helps make confusing music formats and security systems transparent to the user, providing Gigabeat fans with an alternative, reliable and fun way to preview and download music on the Internet," said Paul Melnychuck, Vice President of Sales and Business Development for Liquid Audio.

Internet industry veteran Louise Velazquez has joined Gigabeat as interim president and will oversee the alliance.

EMI, Microsoft To Offer More Than 100 Downloads

EMI Recorded Music microsoft.com and Microsoft have made available more than 100 full-length albums and singles from EMI's catalog in the Microsoft Windows Media format. The project coincides with the launch of the new Windows Media Player 7, available for download at www.windowsmedia.com.

"Digital delivery offers a tremendous opportunity for artists, music fans and retailers, and EMI is committed to being a leader in making high quality, secure digital downloads available to consumers," said Jay Samit, Senior Vice President of New Media for EMI Recorded Music.

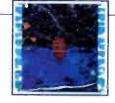

Blondie, Joe Cocker, Duran Duran, Janet Jackson, Pink Floyd, and Smashing Pumpkins are among the available artists.

A Vs. Monkey Kong (Mammoth-Hollywood)

As a band, there are numerous ways to get noticed for reasons beyond musical merit. Take Leeds, England's A, for example: Does this moniker have any significance beyond insuring that reviews of the group's albums will always precede all others alphabetically? Doubtful. But the quintet doesn't really need such gimmicks for added exposure - its delicious concoction of modern rock and bubbly pop is enough to grab attention. On A Vs. Monkey Kong, the band hammers away at a giddy assortment of catchy pop-rock tunes characterized by homegrown samples and a wealth of hyperactive punk energy, simultaneously recalling the jumpier jaunts of the Offspring and the dreamier ditties of Jane's Addiction. From the melodically whimsical title track to the harmonious, pogo-ready "Old Folks," Monkey Kong is a refreshing offering tailor-made for endless summer nights. - M. Tye Comer

For Fans Of: The Offspring, Jane's Addiction, Blink 182 Recommended Tracks: "A," "Monkey Kong," "Hopper Jonnus Fang," "If It Ain't Broke, Fix It Anyway" Contact: Melissa Langer Phone: 818.560.4420Email: melissa.langer@disney.com Release Date: September 19; at radio now Marketing Data: U.S. tour starting in August.

APPLESEED CAST Mare Vitalis (Deep Elm)

As Mare Vitalis' title (and its songs' titles) suggests, it is very difficult to describe the Appleseed Cast's slow, implacable, churning music without invoking torrents of ocean metaphors, even though the group hails from the very non-briny Lawrence, Kansas. On its second record, the band continues to wring sorrow and melancholy for all it's worth, shaking free some lovely guitar-heavy instrumental droplets in the process. The axes go from delicate minor-key embroidery to big crashes of thunder, while the vocals break in occasionally to elaborate on the sad, slow-drawn scenes. The total effect is a little emo, a little old-style prog and a little postrock (the broodier Kranky and Thrill Jockey artists spring to mind). But ultimately, it's the Cast's ability to plunge great instrumental and emotional depths that saves the record from being a big pityparty. - Deborah Orr

For Fans Of: Honor Role, Jane's Addiction, Promise Ring, Built To Spill (on a bummer) Recommended Tracks: "The Immortal Soul Of Mundo Cani," "Fishing The Sky," "Storms" Contact: Chuck Daley Phone: 704.333.4732 Email: radio@deepelm.com Release Date: July 10; at radio now

BAHAMADIA BB Queen (EP) (GoodVibe-Atomic Pop)

It's been a long time since the name of Philadelphia rhyme sensation Bahamadia passed through the collective lips of the hip-hop nation. The seven-track BB Queen, the rapper's first collection of new songs since her acclaimed 1996 debut Kollage, modestly showcases her range of styles and flows. Giving her trademark cadence a long-overdue workout, Bahamadia pushes the limits of her lyrical velocity over both jungle breaks ("Pep Talk") and vibrato soul ("One-4-Teen (Funky For You)," "Philadelphia"). On the DJ Revolutionproduced "Special Forces," she's even joined by such indie hip-hop mavericks as the Cali Agents and Chops of the Mountain Brothers. The brevity of BB Queen may disappoint some who've endured the wait for new Bahamadia, but the contents of this impressive EP leave no grounds for complaint. - Ron Hart

For Fans Of: Rah Digga, Common, Slum Village, Roots Recommended Tracks: "Special Forces," "Commonwealth (Cheap Chicks)," "Pep Talk" Contact: Matt Shay Phone: 310.309.8643 Email: mshay@atomicpop.com Release Date: July 25; at radio now Marketing Data: Currently working on her second album with rumored collaborators Roni Size, Tricky, the Roots and DJ Premier.

CZARS Before...But Longer (Bella Union)

The Czars' frontman, John Grant, approached Simon Raymonde after discovering that he and fellow Cocteau Twin Robin Guthrie were forming the Bella Union imprint. Apparently, the admiration was mutual. Grant made a strong impression on the ex-Twins, resulting in their releasing his Denver quintet's second full-length effort. It's not surprising, considering that Grant is blessed with a most untainted, angelic voice that is perhaps the Czars' deepest resource, and is currently winning the group fans on both shores of the Atlantic. Before...But Longer is an arresting collage of moody pop snapshots tinged with shady country underpinnings that both blister ("Any Younger") and soothe ("Stay"). Tarnation's Paula Frazer provides beautiful backing vocals to a few tracks, including the wistful gem "Val," for a rousing and lingering experience. - Bill Konig

For Fans Of: Cocteau Twins, Low, Palace Recommended Tracks: "Val," "Get Used To It," "Any Younger," "What Can I Do For You" Contact: Fanatic Promotion Phone: 888.349.4842 Email: jason@ fanaticpromotion.com Release Date: May 15; at radio now Marketing Data: Just ended a European tour opening for Sixteen Horsepower; select U.S. dates are forthcoming.

FINGER ELEVEN The Grevest Of Blue Skies (Wind-Up)

Finger Eleven is Active Rock's redheaded stepchild. The Ontario quintet's solid 1998 debut, Tip, was criminally overlooked, a fact that might have something to do with labelmate Creed hogging all of the attention and selling millions of records - and lest we forget that by that time, Finger Eleven's brand of grunge and its accompanying angst had left radio fans with a bad taste in their mouth. On The Greyest Of Blue Skies, Finger Eleven rocks hard, not unlike a less down-tuned Korn, though its version isn't exactly hard rock. The melodies are often pretty, and frontman Scott Anderson's vivid vocals are pregnant with expressiveness. The band's most appreciable gesture is its championing the plight of underdogs, folks who get knocked down but get right back up to face another punch. Sounds like the life of a certain band. Amy Sciarretto

For Fans Of: Sevendust, recent Korn, Nixons, Far Recommended Tracks: "First Time," "Sick Of It All," "Drag You Down," "Bones And Joints" Contact: Kim Burke Phone: 212.251.9665 ext. 251 Email: kburke@windup-ent.com Release Date: July 25; at radio now

HAMMERLOCK Anthems For Outlaws (Man's Ruin)

Aside from its unparalleled roster of hash-metal miscreants, Man's Ruin label its share of similarly scummy rednecks enamored with the confederate flag-waving joys of American rawk. San Francisco's Hammerlock, in bird-flipping defiance of the rainbow liberalism of its homebase, shamelessly celebrates the old-world thrills of cheap booze, NRA membership and more cheap booze. Anthems For Outlaws, the trio's second album, delivers 20 (!) tracks of unwashed, trailer-punk snarl, occasionally tempered by a whiff of Jim Beam-stunk country or a swaggering roadhouse sing-along. Led by husband-and-wife team Travis (vocals/guitar) and Liza Kenney (bass/vocals) - notice any similarities to Nashville Pussy yet? — the band drunkenly powers through anthemic, mid-tempo boot-stompers ("Cold Coors") and hammering trash-core("Black Foot Stomp") with nary a reverent moment in sight. - Colin Helms

For Fans Of: Nashville Pussy, early ZZ Top, Antiseen, Ted Nugent Recommended Tracks: "Black Foot Stomp," "Militia Time," "Cold Coors," "Tennessee Whiskey" Contact: McGathy Edge Phone: 888.744.8636 Email: jbambino@mcgathypromotions.com Release Date: July 18; at radio now

BETH HIRSCH Early Days (Vital Song-Stud!o K7)

Back in 1995, there was a female singer on the Chemical Brothers' Exit Planet Dust whose earthy voice brought a welcome organic element to their machine-driven sound. That singer was Beth Orton, one of the major talents to emerge in recent years. Tampa, Florida's Beth Hirsch fulfilled a similar role (with a not dissimilar voice) in 1998 on Air's Moon Safari, and many are hoping she'll pull off the same trick as a solo artist. Although one could be easily misled by Hirsch's track record and dance music-oriented label. don't be fooled: This almost entirely acoustic album revels in Joni Mitchell worship, features very little percussion and barely gets above a canter. That said, Hirsch has a gorgeous voice, and if at times her songs are a bit derivative, her obvious talent suggests that we'll be hearing much from her in the coming years. - Amir Hijazi

For Fans Of: Beth Orton, Joni Mitchell, acoustic Sarah McLachlan Recommended Tracks: "Come A Day," "Life Is Mine," "Silent Song," "Mary The Angel" Contact: Dirk Dahl Phone: 415.956.4090 Email: dirk@studio-k7.com Release Date: July 25; at radio now

LOFTY PILLARS When We Were Lost (Truckstop)

If you're looking to be overwhelmed with honest and quiet sentimentality, then the Lofty Pillars are your band. The tender and lush When We Were Lost reads like a picture book of emotions, tinted with an old-fashioned sense of beauty. Michael Krassner, who was responsible for directing the bleak, cinematic tunes on Boxhead Ensemble's 1998 album The Last Place To Go, is the songwriter/guitarist/vocalist and general driving force of the Pillars. His dry voice delivers delicate epics that hit home with the brute force of poignant indie songwriters such as Joe Pernice or Will Oldham. Krassner's music lovingly reveals country influences through the aching strains of dobro and pedal steel, making When We Were Lost a tonic for the wounded heart. - Kelso Jacks

MUTTAMOOT

HUFFAMOOSE I Wanna Be Your Pants (Shanachie)

Huffamoose returns to college radio with its third and most impressive work to date. On I Wanna Be Your Pants, the Philadelphia quartet delivers a more focused, though no less eclectic, take on modern rock. On the opening "New Hit Song," the 'Moose sends up the notion of selling out for radio and MTV atop a Cracker-esque groove. "She Don't Get It" is the band's gratuitous stab at alternative country, while the wry "Johnny Depp Day" sounds like a Ween outtake. Tunes such as "Sunshine" and "Inspirational Song" suggest one too many bonghit sessions with Pavement's Wenvee Zowee. But despite how shamelessly the group wears points of musical reference on its collective sleeve, their inspiration has rubbed Huffamoose's sound the right way, especially on the downtempo, effectsladen "Canada" and the starkly fetching "Semper Fi." - Ron Hart

For Fans Of: Harvey Danger, Rentals, Cracker, Barenaked Ladies Recommended Tracks: "New Hit Song," "She Don't Get It," "Canada," "Semper Fi" Contact: Frank Ritchie Phone: 212.3340284 Email: frank@shanachie.com Release Date: July 11: at radio now Marketing Data: An 80-minute documentary of Huffamoose's 1998 U.S. tour was recently released.

SNAKE RIVER CONSPIRACY Sonic Jihad (Reprise)

The name Snake River Conspiracy is somewhat deceiving. The San Franciscan group is not, despite its suggestive moniker, rapcore or sociopolitical-minded punk. Rather, the band is a vampish, female-fronted duo whose pop sensibilities dally flirtatiously with rock and electronica. If industrial-pop poster boy Trent Reznor and ex-Verve frontman Richard Ashcroft joined forces with Garbage's leading lady Shirley Manson to form a side project, it would sound something like Sonic Jihad, SRC's lead voice, Tobey, is a charming chanteuse - just listen to her shriek "fuck" over crackling beats on "Vulcan." Programmer Jason was once a member of modern rock phenom Third Eye Blind, which is where the pop flavor is derived. Overall, however, Sonic Jihad is more likely to put sweat on your brow than make you coo. - Amy Sciarretto

UNION UNDERGROUND An Education In Rebellion (Portrait)

Union Underground's debut, An Education In Rebellion, follows down the same industrial-metal path blazed by the likes of Rob Zombie and Powerman 5000. "South Texas Death Ride" features a snaky, whiskey-fueled groove similar to Pantera and conjures up images of tearing through the sun-scorched desert in a Cadillac from Hell. The marriage of metal and industrial styles permeates the remainder of the disc, with most songs creating a dynamic tension between dance rhythms and mosh riffs. Singer/guitarist Brvan Patrick runs the gamut from whispers to screams, often with a pained desperation like Alice In Chains' Lavne Staley's. The band lets loose the hardest on the final track. "The Friend Song," which blasts Southern-rock-on-steroids guitars and venomous lyrics - and makes the state of the Union heavy. indeed. - Michael Dabaie

CAETANO VELOSO Prenda Minha (Blue Thumb)

Caetano Veloso is partially responsible for the recent stirring of U.S. interest in Brazilian music, though his better-late-than-never stateside popularity is still shy of what he deserves as one of the founders of Tropicalia back in the '60s. The live Prenda Minha, culled from his 1999 U.S. tour, is as good a place to start as any, as the far-ranging set list serves as a fine primer for new listeners. The live setting also plays a role here, enhancing the intimate ballads (Veloso shows off vocal skills rivaling those of old U.S. lounge icons) and the bustling, festive percussion and horns heard on the latter part of the disc. And for those already familiar with Veloso's legend, the stellar band enlisted for the tour and the warmth of Veloso's performance throughout make this a cut above the usual livealbum experience. - Deborah Orr

WAILING SOULS Equality (Reggaeblitz-Musicblitz)

Equality marks a welcome return to the roots sound for the Wailing Souls, a band with a history as rich as that of any of their contemporaries from reggae's golden years, the '70s. From the opening title track to the ending plea of "Stop The Conflict," the album features pulsing rhythms, soulful horns and the sweet harmonies of founders Lloyd "Bread" McDonald and Winston "Pipe" Matthews. For this album, the Souls enlist the help of the "rhythm killers" Sly Dunbar and Robbie Shakespeare, and the duo's innovative, unbelievably tight drumming and bass playing definitely leave their mark. The sound is both classic and contemporary, and always razor sharp. With a one-drop beat, conscience-raising lyrics and praises for the Rastafarian faith, Equality is built on a rock-solid spiritual and political foundation. This is a new classic. - Michael Dabaie

For Fans Of: Black Uhuru's Red, Burning Spear, Culture, Bob Marley And The Wailers' Survival Recommended Tracks: "Equality," "Power And Glory," "Stop The Conflict" Contact: Stan Savage Phone: 310.342.6550 ext. 232 Email: stan@musicblitz.com Release Date: July 11; at radio now Marketing Data: Touring the U.S. this summer.

ROLAND ALPHONSO Something Special: Ska Hot Shots (Heartbeat)

Tenor saxophonist Roland Alphonso was one of the elder statesmen of Jamaican music. When he passed away on November 20, 1998, he left a legacy that helped change the face of popular music in Jamaica and beyond. Active in the scene since the late-'50, Alphonso was part of the legendary Studio One band and one of the founding members of the Skatalites, which included the circle of musicians who helped invent ska back in the early-'60s and, in turn, pioneered work for both rock steady and reggae. Something Special collects 20 songs of highlights and unreleased tracks from several Alphonso-led sessions between 1959 and 1968. The vintage ska cuts have the same feel as the original Skatalites recordings, wherein the link between traditional ska and jazz and soul becomes wonderfully obvious. - Tad Hendrickson

For Fans Of: Skatalites, the Studio One label, Wailers Recommended Tracks: "From Russia With Love," "Maria Elena," "Jack Ruby" Contact: Josh Blood Phone: 617.354.0700 ext. 4478 Email: joshuab@rounder.com Release Date: July 18; at radio now

WHITE HASSLE Life Is Still Sweet (EP) )

White Hassle (Marcellus Hall and Dave Varenka of Railroad Jerk) emerges from a three-year dormancy with a new member, guitarist Matt Oliverio, and an EP that marks it as the modern country-blues outfit to watch. Kicking off with the infectious "Watertank," a wobbly jug-band number with a sing-along chorus and a scruffy thump of a backbeat, Life Is Still Sweet fuses Hall and Varenka's punk rock spirit with their musical patriotism (everything from folk, country and blues to touches of gospel and bluegrass gets a tip of the hat) with fun-loving spirit and artistic panache. A blues scholar might call White Hassle's music hokum style (a pre-war Chicago-based acoustic blues that was known for its carefree, fun-loving lyrics, jazz-inflected rhythms and urban outlook) for the 21st century, but fans of reverent punk versions of rusty Americana will simply call it sweet success. - Cheryl Botchick

For Fans Of: Railroad Jerk, Doo Rag, Tampa Red Recommended Tracks: "Watertank," "Let It Be Me" Contact: Ron Phone: 312.337.5850 Email: ron@orangerecordings.com Release Date: July 4; at radio now Marketing Data: Orange plans to release an album of White Hassle outtakes and rarities later this year, with a new full-length to follow.

SCREAMIN' JAY HAWKINS Best Of The Bizarre Sessions: 1990-1994 (Manifesto)

Screamin' Jay Hawkins was the original shock rocker. Along with his trademark vocal style - a frightful mix of operatic shrieking and drunken caterwauling - and equally freaky lyrics, Hawkins' claim to fame was his ingeniously theatrical stage show, wherein he rose out of a flaming coffin in a witchdoctor outfit with a bone in his nose and a human skull in his hand. Hawkins ended up being known for such primal gems as "Constipation Blues," "Voodoo Priestess" and, of course, "I Put A Spell On You." Best Of The Bizarre Sessions culls 14 highlights from his three albums for Bizarre/Straight records along with four unreleased tracks cut during his final recording session. Although the music is in the typical blues/R&B vein, Hawkins' amazing pipes are in fine form here, making this album a musthave for fans. - Tad Hendrickson

YO-YO'S Uppers And Downers (Sub Pop)

Sub Pop's new and continually expanding rock roster gains a true heavyweight in the U.K.'s Yo-Yo's. Decked out in black muscle tees, slicked pompadours and several tattoo parlours' worth of ink, the quartet delivers a meaty, melodic punk rock that comes across like classic Social Distortion songs as interpreted by the cartoonish Ramones of Rock 'N' Roll High School. The band's lethal suckerpunch is in its candied pop underpinnings, however. Just as retro punk rockers like Rancid conceal their irresistible songs in extreme mohawks and spiked leather, the Yo-Yo's use burly riffage to temper their complex vocal harmonies and we're-just-big-teddy-bears lyrics about the perfect punk rock girl. The anthemic melodies on Uppers And Downers easily hold their own, but the band's delicate balance between punk and pop are what makes this record pull away from a very crowded pack. - Cheryl Botchick

KITTY IN THE TREE Hello Kitty (LunaSea)

Take one part rock crunch, two parts bubblegum pop, add a dash of the late Marc Bolan (T-Rex), puree, and you pretty much have Kitty In The Tree. The garish New York City rock quartet consistently widens smiles and raises eyebrows with its glitzy onstage antics. And Kitty's sassiness fruitfully transcends the smoke and sweat of the live venue on its latest full-length, Hello Kitty. The record's sugary vocal harmonies and clawing, tiger-size guitar hooks hearken back to the days when Tyrannosaurus Rexes and Beach Boys roamed the rock 'n' roll planet. Overall an entertaining experience, Kitty gives us standouts that include the cheeky "Starf**ker" ("He's a tall talkin' handsome like Marilyn Manson") and the delicious ode to marijuana, "E.S.P." - Bill Konig

RECORDNEWS

One of the industry's biggest buzz bands, At The Drive-In, has issued a new CD5 through its new label, Grand Royal Records. The three-track collection features the songs "One Armed Scissor" and "Pattern Against User," both of which will appear on the full-length Relationship Of Command this September. Also included is the non-album selection "Incetardis." For more information, contact Tick (Grand Royal) at 310.526.1950; email: tick@grandroyal.com.

Mazarin, which features Quentin Stoltzfus of drone rock's Azusa Plane, has a new 7" single available from Rocket Girl Records. The single follows up the band's full-length Watch It Happen, and includes the songs "Chasing The Girl" and "The Divine Lorraine." The first 500 copies of the single were pressed on translucent green vinyl. For more information, contact the label by email at pr@rocketgirl.demon.co.uk.

In a relatively short time, Jade Tree Records has successfully proven itself to be an indie label to be reckoned with. Founded in a dorm room in 1990 by pals Tim Owen and Darren Walters, the label now occupies real office space and includes the acts Jets To Brazil, Joan Of Arc and Pedro The Lion among the talent on its current roster. Thus, the new compilation Jade Tree: First Five Years is quite a treat. The double-disc collection includes every song that the label released as vinyl singles during its first five years, save for one. Some of the featured artists are Eggs, Walleye and Pitchblende. For more information, contact McGathy at 888.744.8636; email: altdiv@aol.com.

CMJ reporter KVCU in Boulder, CO, has issued a double-disc collection of music by local musicians. Local Shakedown Radio 1190 includes well-known acts such as the Apples In Stereo and 16

Horsepower, as well as a few names you might not recognize such as Abdomen, O'Er The Rampart, Annik and Maraca 5-0, to name a handful. For more information, contact Jason Mueller (Fanatic) at 888.385.1231; email: jason@fanaticpromotion.com.

On July 11, Los Angeles slowcore band Idaho launched its own record label, Idaho Music. The first release will be a new album from Idaho called People Like Us Should Be Stopped, to be released in October. For more information, contact Jeff Martin (Idaho Music) via email: jeff@ idahomusic.com.

Section coordinated by Kelso Jacks

Garden City, New Jersey, indie label Fadeaway Records offers a wealth of emo on its new release The Best Comp In The World. Reggie And The Full Effect, Errortype: 11, Get Up Kids and Glassjaw are a few of the heavy hitters that lend tunes to the 14-song collection. For more information, contact the label by emailing info@ fadeawayrecords.com.

With a mix of new wave keyboards and melodies, and hardcore's throaty screams and aggressive delivery, Camera Obscura is a San Diego quintet that makes punk rock for the next generation. The band's debut, To Change The Shape Of An Envelope, is out now on Troubleman Unlimited. For more information, contact the label at 201.436.6052; email: info@troublemanunlimited.com.

Kirk Pleasant, best known for his trombone contributions to the works of Olivia Tremor Control and the Gerbils, is the driving force behind Calvin, Don't Jump!. The band's debut long player, the self-released Crystal Clear Mississippi, bears all the earmarks of a Elephant 6 associated project: imperfect vocals, quirky lyrics, odd instruments like oboe and flute, etc. For more information, contact Team Clermont at 888.548.TEAM; email: radio@teamclermont.com.

With a full-length by the Stars expected on the Le Grand Magistery label in August, the imprint's recent release of the band's A Lot Of Little Lies For The Sake Of One Big Truth EP serves as a sweet introduction. Five original tunes and a cover of the Smiths' classic "This Charming Man" comprise the record. For more information, contact Jason Mueller (Fanatic) at 888.385.1231; email: jason@ fanaticpromotion.com.

Four punk bands provide two tracks each to the compilation Rock-N-Roll Au Go-Go on Devil Doll Records. The Candy Snatchers, Pizzle, Three Years Down and Rocket City Riot are a few of the bands highlighted on the first volume of what is promised to be an ongoing series. For more information, contact the label at 562.498.3384; email: damn8r@aol.com.

RECORDBRIEFS

The hotly anticipated fourth album by Radiohead will be titled Kid A (Capitol), and will be released on October 3. According to the band's Web site (www.radiohead.com/ newann.html), the follow-up to 1997's wildly successful OK Computer album will feature ten tracks sporting titles such as "Motion Picture Soundtrack," "In Limbo" and "How To Disappear Completely." Also, live versions of a few new songs were recently discovered being traded on Napster...In August, the Black Eyed Peas will release Bridging The Gaps, the group's second album for Interscope. Fans can check out some the new material on the band's Web site, www.blackeyedpeas.com. Snippets of six tracks, including "Cali To NY" and "BEP Empire," can be downloaded...The Donnas have wrapped up a new album (fourth overall) for Lookout! Records. The label expects it to be in stores by January 2001. As for now, the all-girl punk machine is criss-crossing the country on the Vans Warped Tour...Less Than Jake has signed to Fat Wreck Chords. The ska-punk group is expected to release its label debut, Borders And Boundaries, in September...Weston has signed a deal with Mojo Records. The Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, pop-punk foursome will release The Massed Albert Sounds, its label debut, on September 19. College radio has already been serviced with a 7" single that features demo versions of "Volume Hater" and "Kiss Like An Angel," two songs from the forthcoming record...One thing can be said for Madonna when she cuts a new record these days: she takes care of her friends. The very pregnant Material Mom's eighth album, simply titled Music, is due to hit stores on September 19, and a host of notable names help her out with it. William Orbit, who lent his behind-theboard talents to Ray Of Light and whose own album Pieces In A Modern Style was released to critical praise by Maverick Records this year, again twiddles the knobs on some tracks. Meanwhile, Groove Armada, Hex Hector and Victor Calderone are all working on remixes of the album's singles...Chicago's organic drum 'n' bass duo Euphone will release Hashin' It Out, a full-length album for Jade Tree on September 19. Ryan Rapsys and Nick Macri are currently in the studio completing the recording... Jon Langford, best known as the frontman for the Mekons, has been working on a new album with his other band, the Waco Brothers. Electric Waco Chair is tentatively scheduled for an October release by Bloodshot Records...Black Sabbath's premier guitarist Tommy Iommi will release a solo album for Divine Recordings on October 10. Verification that the album's masters have been delivered are posted on the label's Web site (www.divinerecordings.com), as are the names of some nifty guests that appear on the legend's self-titled record, including Dave Grohl, Henry Rollins, Phil Anselmo, Billy Corgan, Billy Idol and Type O Negative's Peter Steele, among others.

NEWS

Sasha And John Digweed's Communicate (their fourth U.S. mix together and first for Kinetic Records) sits at the top of the CMJ RPM charts for the second week in a row, but the duo's success is also getting mainstream attention. The release sold a record-breaking 9,091 copies in its first week in stores, making it the first DI mix compilation to enter the Billboard Top 200 Album chart (it debuted at #149 on July 8). "I knew it was achievable, but we've grown as the scene has grown," said Digweed at a recent in-store performance/record signing at Digweed & Sasha New York City's Virgin Megastore, which drew about 500 fans. "We didn't just come in with the expectation of selling these numbers when we first started releasing these CDs. At first, the pre-sell orders were about 14,000 and we thought that was pretty good. Now, the pre-sells are 60-70,000 copies." Sasha continues, "[We] have been working in America for so long and it's really built up gradually. Kinetic Records has the machinery to take our records from where they were to this kind of sales. We have been working towards this moment for a long time, and to see the (Continued on page 35)

HARDFLOOR So What?! (Harthouse-UCMG)

Düsseldorf, Germany's acid innovators make a ballsy return to the dancefloor with So What ?!, the first official full-length of original material from the duo to hit the U.S. since 1996's Home Run (though obsessive fans are still grooving to 1999's import-only All Targets Down and the pair's breakbeat-based Da Damn Phreak Noize Phunk side project). Ramon Zenker and Oliver Bondzio's newest effort continues their decadelong exploration into the hypnotic and psychedelic dimensions of techno. Though the familiar 303 acid crunch that characterized Hardfloor's most lauded material now takes a back seat to thick analog basslines, lush atmospherics and complex drum programming, So What ?! possesses the galloping grooves and dense layers of synthetic sounds that are the duo's trademarks.

DARREN EMERSON Global Underground: Uruguay (Boxed)

His tenure with Underworld may be up, but Darren Emerson wastes no time re-establishing himself as a world-class DJ talent with Uruguay, his first America-issued DJ mix and latest offering in the lauded Global Underground series. The direction of this double disc set is a bit unexpected, as it forgoes Underworld's fusion of rock and trance to focus on various flavors of underground house, but the song remains the same in terms of undiluted dancefloor potency.

Renegade Hardware reinforces its rep as one of the most prolific and forward-thinking drum 'n' bass imprints with Armageddon 2, two CD-only mixes of dark and dominating breakbeat bombshells. Usual Suspects rip your speakers on disc one with a collection of brooding, bass-heavy tech-step, while the intricate drum rhythms and atmospheric assault of Future Cut on disc two ensures the complete annihilation of your audio senses.

DRACMA Dracma (Surco-Universal Latino)

Dracma leads the fast-growing contingent of metal acts in Chile's rock scene. Led by brothers Felipe (keyboards) and Cote (percussion) Foncea, the quintet formed in 1992 from the ashes of De Kiruza. Dracma's self-titled debut (co-produced by Gustavo Santaolalla and Anibal Kerpel) wreaks havoc with devastating, bludgeoning rapcore augmented by Gamal Eltit's razor-blade guitar riffs and unforgiving social and political lyrics. Dracma is at once a celebration of hard rock harmonies that wail like those of Alice In Chains, brutal Tom Morello-esque guitar assaults, and Pantera-style lyrics that mercilessly come down like an executioner's axe. The centerpiece of the 13-track stylistic tour of new metal is the hard-driving, funky-bass indictment song "Chilenada." (The track title is a play on the colloquial term for "something Chilean" and "Chile nothing.") Keep an eye out for Dracma - its sound could easily work alongside current groups like Korn or the Deftones.

CARADURA Caradura (Caradura Discos)

Originating from California's agricultural region, Caradura is an eight-piece Latin skapunk group that throws together a stew of roots punk, surf rock and spaghetti western with Mexican regional styles and cumbia elements, though the band labels it "skapunkcumbiacheracha-cha-cha." Employing samples from old American films, Caradura drives home points of new American identity prevalent in Mexican-American thought. Blending humor with uncompromising, hard-faced (caradura) social commentary, the orchestra follows a line of hyperfusionist groups such as Mano Negra and Los Fabulosos Cadillacs that prefer their musical cocktail with a lyrical punch. The song "La Migra" (the red-flag term Mexican immigrants use for the INS) is a reworking of the Ramones' "Blizkreig Bop," where the "Hey ho! Let's go" chorus is a call to flee la migra. This indie release is a fine start, showing Caradura's potential to lead the West Coast's Latin ska scene to national notoriety.

For Fans Of: Tijuana No!, Mano Negra, Voodoo Glow Skulls Recommended Tracks: "La Migra," "Veronica," "Cerveska" Contact: Caradura

Phone: 415.558.8252 Email: info@caradura.com

Release Date: April; at radio now

Marketing Oata: The group will participate on the upcoming indie compilation Tribute To Black Flag. On August 1, Caradura opens for Fermín Muguruza at the Justice League in San Francisco.

> The industrial city of Monterrey, Mexico, is currently considered the Seattle of Latin alternative rock on the strength of a flurry of groups breaking into Mexican and American rock consciousness. L.A.-based La Banda Elástica magazine dedicated nearly half of its spring issue to the scene, and the Austin Chronicle (www.auschron.com) ran a full-length feature about the movement. Diversity in sound is the hallmark of the city's thriving scene. Hip-hop trio Control Machete (Manicomio-Universal Latino), norteño-dancehall outfit El Gran Silencio (EMI Mexico-Ark 21), lounge-hip-hop duo Plastilina Mosh (Capitol) and the modern Brit-pop influenced quintet Zur- dok (Manicomio-Universal Latino) are a few acts that have emerged from a field of some 300 bands. According to the Austin Chronicle, hard rock group Genitallica (Sony Mexico) is in Seattle recording an album that will be produced by Foo Fighters and 311 producer Barrett Jones. (Jones also produced Spain's power pop outfit Dover for EMI Spain.) Zurdok, which takes its name from the Spanish word "lefty," released its sophomore effort on July 18 (see review in this issue, #676). The band is currently looking for booking agents in the United States. Contact Vicky (Universal) at vicky.cabildo@unistudios.com. Note: Word has it that Astralwerks will release Plastilina Mosh's follow-up to its ground-breaking 1997 debut Aquamosh...Fernando Bernardez, who handles promotional management for such artists as Erica Garcia, El Otro Yo, Fermín Muguruza, Manu Chao and Suárez, announced that Argentina's Todos Tus Muertos has broken up. Known for their fierce political lyrics that predated those of Rage Against The Machine, TTM used a rasta-punk fusion to attain an international cult following. The group's fourth album, Dale Aborigen, became one of the most revered albums in the global Latin alternative community when it was released in 1997. Signed to indie label Grita! Records in the United States, TTM later created its own label TTM Discos in Argentina. Last year, the combo led by Fidel Nadal and Pablito Molina (both of whom recorded with Mano Negra) played on the Watcha Tour. This year, the group has canceled all North American and European dates... Legendary Basque rebel skadub artist Fermín Muguruza and his current group Dub Manifest will play on August 2 at the Knitting Factory in New York, and on August 4 at Metropolis in Montreal. Muguruza headed the group Negu Gorriak and DUT, before striking out on his own to collaborate with likeminded artists such as Manu Chao, Todos Tus Muertos, Tijuana No!, Aztlan Underground and many others on the outstanding dub-oriented (Continued on page 35)

OTHER DIMENSIONS

On Bouquet (Knitting Factory; phone: 212.219.3006 ext. 418; email: joe@knittingfactory.com), drummonster William Hooker is joined by Sonic Youth guitarist Lee Ranaldo and turntable collagist Christian Marclay. Recorded live at the Knitting Factory, this improvised gig works WILLIAM HOOKER CHRISTIAN MARCLAY LEE RAMALDO remarkably well. Ranaldo uses an arsenal of abrasive, guitar-material of space voyager and jazzman Sun Ra and whacked-out funk pioneers Funkadelic. Doing nothing to unify the material from these disparate but equally seminal musical derived noises, but it's Marclay who really adds a unique touch to the proceedings, creating dissonant walls of sound punctuated with all sorts of creepy noises. It takes a while for the trio to get going — "Part 4" is where things begin to reach apocalyptic proportions - but the mellower stuff has a charm all its own...Spaceways Incorporated (Atavistic; phone: 773.384.9626; email: info@atavistic.com) is a special trio comprised of reedist Ken Vandermark, drummer Hamid Drake and bassist Nate McBride that devotes itself to covering the sources, the trio plays Ra's material by applying a loose bop sensibility, while tightening things up with a hard electric bassdriven groove for the Funkadelic songs. Since these three are usually associated with the jazz scene (Chicago's Drake and Vandermark often work together and McBride is active in Boston), the real surprise is what the three do with the funk jams: Vandermark pounds out R&B riffs like a pro, while McBride - who sounds monstrous on electric bass - and Drake delve deep into the groove. This is a great idea that tips its hat to two legendary groups and shows a different side to these three players...Tripleplay is an intense improvisational trio that features both Vandermark and McBride, with drummer Curt Newton trading places with Hamid Drake. The trio's debut, Expansion Slang (Boxholder; phone: 802.457.8150; email: boxholdr@aol.com), captures the ferocious interplay where the three turn simple themes written by Vandermark inside out. The two McBride-penned tracks are short and to the point, nicely balancing out the longer tracks. (Jazz News on page 36)

IBRAHIM TRIO Cape Town Revisited (Enja)

South African pianist Abdullah Ibrahim, who used to be known as Dollar Brand before converting to Islam in 1968, began his recording career in 1960 and has amassed a deep catalog over the years. His playing sparkles with playful bop lyricism and a keen sense of timing deeply influenced by his mentor Duke Ellington. Ibrahim also doesn't forget his African roots, as his playing reaches outside the bop boundaries to include some interesting tempos and melodies. This live recording features bassist Marcus McLaurine and drummer George Gray, and the three players swing from track to track without a pause, barely allowing the audience applaud before jumping into the next tune.

VOODOO DOGS Voodoo Dogs (Palmetto)

Voodoo Dogs, which are comprised of Hammond B3 wiz Larry Goldings and studio guitarist/producer Bob Ward, get funky on this self-titled set, throwing in some trendy retro keyboards and snatches of Eastern music to the bumpin' mix. In lesser hands this switch from traditional bop to trendy electronic/acid jazz would have seemed trite, but the two have enough chutzpah and talent to pull it off.

JORIS TEEPE QUINTET For Adults Only (Postcards-Arkadia)

Bop bassist Joris Teepe has worked with Tom Harrell and Don Braden in the past and even led a few sessions of his own. Recorded live at Small's nightclub in New York City, Teepe leads this refined quintet from the back of the bandstand, allowing reedists Chris Potter and Don Braden to set the tone for Teepe's five originals and four covers. While the material is straight-ahead, the players imbue it with a graceful beauty.

DUOLIVE Mharch Mhadness (Redemption)

NYC's "pioneers of the stoplight hustle" reap the fruits of their 11-year struggle as starving artists with this impressive 16-track collection of DIY street anthems. Mharch Mhadness combines Rastafarian solemnity, battle-rhyming sharpness and SportsCenter witticisms with basement tenacity that simultaneously recalls the production of Mobb Deep's Havoc and Boot Camp Clik's Dru Ha. Duolive, a brother tag-team of MC Fre I and DJ Sid V., has already moved more than 2,000 copies on the streets of the five boroughs with no airplay or promotion whatsoever, fueled merely by the strength of such tracks as "Meatballs" and "The Big East." You wanna talk about underground, these kids are at the Earth's core!

DJ HURRICANE FEAT. XZIBIT. BIG GIPP & PHAROAHE MONCH "Connect" (12") (Don't Sleep-TVT)

The Beastie Boys' former spin doctor rallies troops from hip-hop's frontlines on the first single from his forthcoming sophomore TVT debut Don't Sleep. The Hurra displays formidable production chops while leaving the jaw gymnastics to Xzibit, Goodie Mob's Big Gipp and Pharoahe Monch on "Connect," and Kool G. Rap, Papoose & Jinx on the Money Markflavored flipside "The Life." Finger lickin' good, y'all!

September 19 is fixing up to be a monumental day in hip-hop releases, as it's been set as the release date for the long-awaited albums by Reflection Eternal and Prodigy of Mobb Deep. H.N.I.C. (those of you who've seen Lean On Me will know the meaning behind those initials), the debut solo turn by the Mobb's resident supa emcee on Loud Records, finds P expanding his horizons beyond the Queensbridge project cellar. And though a number of tracks will feature the trademark production work of partner in rhyme Havoc, the album will also showcase P over the beats of the Alchemist, Hangmen 3, Bink (Mary J. Blige, Lil' Kim), Rocwilder, EZ Elpee (Capone-N-Noreaga, Notorious B.I.G.) and Mr. Beats of the Murderers. Other guests on H.N.I.C. include Noreaga and Bounty Killer. The heavily anticipated debut of Black Star duo DJ Hi-Tek and Talib Kweli under the name Reflection Eternal is also gearing up to be a future Rawkus classic. Among the friends and contemporaries to be featured on the Eternal's eponymous LP include Mos Def, De La Soul and Kool G. Rap...September 12 has been tapped for the release date of Restless, the third album from Likwit Crew luminary Xzibit, who surprisingly still has rhymes to spare after a mind-boggling thirty different appearances on (Continued on page 36)

NEWS Ex-Smithereens leader Pat DiNizio has decided to run for the U.S. Senate, representing his home state of New Jersey. DiNizio is registered as a member of the Reform Party, but has contradictory views with the party's most notorious member, conservative commentator Pat Buchanan. So, DiNizio, though not a former prowrestler, is reportedly contacting Minnesota Governor Jesse Ventura to try and get approval for running under the banner of his Independence Party. We're looking forward to seeing the "DiNizio For Senate" bumper stickers on the turnpike...On July 12, Legendary singersongwriter Cat Stevens (who now goes by the name Yusuf Islam) was stopped by Israeli authorities as he tried to enter the country on a flight from Germany. Known for such folkpop classics as "Moonshadow," "Peace Train" and "Morning Has Broken," Stevens joined the Islamic group Hamas in 1977, changed his name, and asked his fans to stop listening to his albums. After detaining him in Tel-Aviv, Israeli authorities put Stevens on a flight back to Germany. Stevens is currently recording spiritually inspired music at his London home...Legendary Texan pianist/ vocalist Marcia Ball has moved from Rounder to Alligator Records. #### DAR WILLIAMS The Green World (Razor & Tie)

On her fourth solo album, Dar Williams offers up a winning collection of songs that reflect on many of life's little mysteries and turmoils, while she remains melodically charming and free of self-absorption. On the song "After All," Williams's expressive, melancholic voice lends a fresh twist to an old phrase and idea. Cleverly commenting on the contradiction of pain inherent in love, she sings, "It's better to fall in love then never to have fallen at all." Throughout her career, Williams has stood out in the folk-pop arena as an artist who eschews tired clichés in favor of deeper meaning. With The Green World, Williams shows us how rich her songwriting skills have become.

PADDY CASEY Amen (So Be It) (Columbia-CRG)

After running away from home at age 12, Irish singer-songwriter Paddy Casey spent the next 12 years busking on the streets of his native Dublin. The appeal of this 24-year-old's debut is its charming, intelligent songs and stylistic diversity. Casey even manages to blend reggae with jazz on "Downtown."

SOUNDTRACK Steal This Movie (E-Squared-Artemis)

As you might expect, the soundtrack for a movie about activist Abbie Hoffman features pop music of the 1960s. The surprise here is that several of the tracks are great new renditions of the originals. In fact, the Steve Earle/Sheryl Crow version of "Time Has Come Today" may make you realize, for the first time, how great the song really is.

IN FLAMES Clayman (Nuclear Blast America)

Some say that European melodic death metal sounds like Iron Maiden jacked up on speed. In Flames' Clayman seamlessly blends intricate, intense guitar work with lush melodies and stocky breakdowns to prove that theory right. But the mighty In Flames is more than just a muscular Maiden or a millennial update of the sub-genre's pioneers (e.g. At The Gates, Carcass). Frontman Anders Friden expertly coaxes his voice from belligerent growls to clean, on-pitch melodies, but he always fosters an inimitable, gruff edge that keeps his vocals 100% ballsy and non-standard. Clayman is a refreshing clinic on progressive Swedish rock that tempers aggression with sweet melody, proving In Flames to be the keeper of the genre's keys.

Guitar geeks, rejoice! If you obsessively watch your postman waiting for him to deliver your copy of Guitar World and derive giddy pleasure from scribbling tablatures, then you'll cream over Fates Warning's Disconnected, a conceptual prog metal album that finds the trio reverting to the strong songwriting that marked the Parallels/Perfect Symmetry era of its career. Disconnected is the forward-thinking musician's metal: complex, segmented, and technically precise (especially when it comes to the guitars).

The best quip I've ever heard about Kiss is that when you listen to its lyrics NEWS in private, they seem like total cock rock idiocy, but when they bellow throughout an arena, they're sheer poetry. It's the truth, too. Kiss puts on a rock show like no other. The band was my first concert ever: I saw them in 1979 at the tender age of 4, but my only memory of the show is of crying when God Of Thunder Gene Simmons spit blood. At the band's late-June, two-night stand at the Meadowlands in East Rutherford, NJ, I indulged in the rock 'n' roll theatre of Kiss on its farewell tour. At the second show, I made it up to the fifth row on the floor (I am forever in your debt, Mr. Rob Gill of Spitfire Records). I was so close to the stage, I coulda gotten Mean Gene's faux blood and saliva on me. I could see the wrinkles on Ace Frehley's neck. Ol' Ace and Peter Criss (he's my favorite) were a little lethargic and to be honest, Ace looked like he wanted to be anywhere but onstage, but all the elements of classic Kiss theatre were present: Ace's guitar rockets, Peter's roses during the tender, tearjerking encore of "Beth," Gene's axe-shaped guitar and blood spewing, and Paul's effeminate, shimmying ass. Paul Stanley is the consummate frontman. While his stage banter each night was repeated verbatim, (Continued on page 36)

NEWS

As many fans of Cuban music may know, the Eliades Ochoa-led Cuarteto Patria marked its 60th anniversary in 1999. The Festival De La Trova held in Santiago, Cuba, featured a tribute to the group and founder Francisco (Pancho) Cobas La O, who turned the band over to Ochoa in 1978. The idea of a tribute album featuring the many Cuban greats who have worked with the group over the years is a good one, but the logistics of putting it together proved too daunting for Ochoa, who already had plenty to do. Recorded between March 1999 and January 2000 in Madrid and the band's hometown of Santiago, Tributo Al Cuarteto Patria features 15 songs that Ochoa felt told the story of the band. Rather than making Makeba it a star-studded affair, Ochoa invites his sister Maria Ochoa (Ochoa's brother Umberto and son Englis are both already in the band) and some close friends such as Faustino Oramas, Armando Machado, Rey Cabrera and Rafael Casaco to join in the proceedings. The album will be out September 12 on Higher Octave World...Marking the series of Sheila Chandra reissues it's doing this year, Narada has made an exclusive promo-only interview disc with Chandra and her longtime collaborator Steve Coe available to radio stations. The disc is 12 minutes long and also features a radio-friendly abridged version. Those interested in a copy of this special recording should contact Lisa Samper (Narada) at samperl@ narada.com...After a long gap in time, Mariam Makeba recently returned to the U.S. for a number of dates. During her July 12 set at Central Park, the South African singer/activist held the overflowing crowd in the palm of her hand. The 68-year-old danced around the stage, played to the crowd and sang classics as well as material from her newly released Homeland (Putumayo).

MUST HEAR

BOUBACAR TRAORÉ Macire (Indigo)

When Ali Farke Toure strengthened and popularized the connection between African music and the blues, it allowed other great Malian artists the chance to be heard. One such figure is Boubacar Traoré, who has been a prominent figure on the Malian music scene for many years and is now enjoying a higher profile worldwide. Macire, Traoré's second album for Indigo, showcases his resonant, lilting acoustic guitar and warm, languid vocal style. Accompanied by various African instrumentalists, the album's highlight is Traoré's work with fellow guitarist Habib Koité - the two weave hypnotic rhythms that are similar to Mississippi acoustic blues.

For Fans Of: Ali Farke Toure, Mississippi John Hurt, Afel Bocoum Recommended Tracks: "Duna Ma Yelema," "Baba Drame," "Solo De Kar Kar"

Contact: Rock Paper Scissors Phone: 503.280.1147 Email: dmitri@teleport.net Release Date: August 11

IRSHAD KHAN The Magic Of Twilight (Naxos World)

The stimulating, improvisational quality of Irshad Khan's music is the perfect antidote to a mid-summer musical slump. These evening and twilight ragas give a glow of peace and contemplation perfect for absorbing at the end of the day. Admittedly, it takes a sizable chunk of the average world music radio show to air one piece, but the rewards are well worth the effort.

For Fans Of: Ravi Shankar, Ali Akbar Khan, Ananda Shankar Recommended Tracks: "Twilight Raga: Purya Dhanashri," "Evening Raga: Bhopali" Contact: Rebecca Davis Phone: 615.771.9393 ext. 29 Email: rdavis@naxosus.com Release Date: June 15; at radio now

MÁRCIO FARACO Ciranda (Blue Thumb)

Márcio Faraco established himself in his native Brazil by writing songs for such pop stars as Casia Elles and Milton Guedes. On his debut Ciranda, Faraco steps into the spotlight, playing an intimate brand of bossa nova that is both acoustic and modern. Faraco's voice is a little reedier than that of his peer Vinicius Cantuária, but it smolders with the same kind of sensuality.

For Fans Of: Caetano Veloso, Vinicius Cantuária, Djavan Recommended Tracks: "Ciranda," "Na Casa Do Seu Humberto," "Aguas Passadas" Contact: Jill Weindorf Phone: 212.331.2051 Email: iill.weindorf@umusic.com Release Date: July 25; at radio now whole way that it's evolved and the way it's gone off is just fucking fantastic. I think it's going to open the doors for a lot of other DJ, especially Americans. Sandra (Collins)'s Tranceport CD is doing really well, and I think it's going to draw so much attention and energy to the DJ culture. At the end of the day, everyone will benefit from it."...On October 17, Kinetic Records will release a second soundtrack inspired by the rave-film Groove, featuring John Digweed (who appeared as one of the featured DJs in the film) as the man behind the wheels. The disc is said to consist of records that Digweed spins during his scenes in the flick. Digweed recently released a new single, "Voices," from his Bedrock project, and is planning to produce remixes for upcoming singles by Underworld and Moby in the near future...Dave Ralph, who garnered attention with his Tranceport 2 mix last year, will return with Live At The Love Parade (Kinetic Records) on October 3. As the title suggests, the mix was recorded live on July 8, 2000 in Berlin at the 12th annual Love Parade...Roni Size & Reprazent have announced details of their forthcoming, as-yet-untitled second album, scheduled for an October 2 release on Talkin' Loud-IDJMG records. The album, which will be preceded by the single, "Who Told You" on September 11, finds the collective (featuring Krust, MC Dynamite, Onalee and DJ Die, as well as Size) moving in a harder, more hip-hop influenced direction, and features guest appearances by Wu-Tang Clan rapper Method Man, and Rage Against The Machine frontman Zack De La Rocha....In September, Astralwerks Records will release the second volume in its Unknownwerks series, a compilation that highlights some of America's best unsigned electronic dance talents. The series launched in 1999 with an all-male roster, but Astralwerks has since hooked up with Girls On, (www.girlson.com) an entertainment site for young women and part of the Oxygen Network, to produce the all-female Unknownwerks: Volume 02.

2001. Ball, who was born in Texas and grew up in Louisiana, developed a Cajun/Texan barrelhouse, rock-tonk style on both the piano and with her edgy alto voice. She was originally signed to Capitol Records in 1978, then recorded several albums for Rounder in the 1980s and 1990s, including her Triple A chart-topper Let Me Play With Your Poodle, and a collaboration with Irma Thomas and Tracy Nelson called Sing It!, which earned her a Grammy nomination. Ball stated in a press release, "I'm thrilled to be on Alligator...I have high hopes and I feel like I really will be a priority. Alligator is a solid blues label and that will definitely work to my advantage."

. Warner Bros. Records is turning the entire Eric Clapton/B.B. King album Riding With The King into a set of six double-A sided 7" vinyl singles - but don't look for them in record stores. The 45s have only been licensed to the jukebox industry for distribution across the U.S. in machines featuring 7" vinyl. There are no plans to issue the collection, which has neither artwork nor liner notes, to retail stores ... A slew of Americana, jam band and improv-oriented artists will descend upon the Berkshire Mountains in Massachusetts on August 11-13. "Berkfest 2000" will feature performances by Bela Fleck And The Flecktones, Medeski, Martin & Wood, Femi Kuti, String Cheese Incident (with Kellar Williams), .moe, Galactic, Spearhead, Tarbox Ramblers and John Brown's Body over five stages and three days. various albums over the past year. Dr. Dre serves as executive producer for the record, and also lays down the groove for several tracks. Other notable beatminers who've contributed to Restless include Mel Man, DJ Ouik, Erick Sermon, Battlecat, Rockwilder and Soopafly. Additional guests include Snoop Dogg, Eminem, Tha Alkaholiks, Nate Dogg and Defari. In addition, the X-Man recently finished a track with Limp Bizkit for the band's forthcoming album Limpdependence Day...Longtime fans of Albanian-Judaic hip-hop veterans Third Bass who have been on the lookout since 1991 for a reunion album from the legendary act saw their dream in action as MC Serch and Prime Minister Pete Nice reunited for a live set at RED Distribution's annual convention on July 18 in Southbury, CT. The group performed several cuts from their forthcoming third album, still untitled at press time, in addition to a number of indelible Third Bass jams. Other guests who performed at the convention include M.O.P., Dead Prez, DJ

JAZZ NEWS

The jazz world will be put in the spotlight in the months to come thanks to the new 19-hour Ken Burns documentary on Jazz for PBS entitled Ken Burns's Jazz. Burns is known for his spectacular documentaries on the Civil War, baseball and New York City. Jazz will be comprised of 10 episodes that include interviews, live footage and music. There will be a number of different tie-ins with the project, but one of the most interesting is the soundtrack. Although the details are still being worked out, the Verve Music Group and Sony Legacy will co-release a five-CD boxed set featuring musical highlights from the documentary. The labels are planning to release 22 single-disc compilations (11 from each company) of artists featured in the documentary. There will also be a radio sampler, which is on your desks now, as well as a retail sampler. More information to follow as things are confirmed...Guitarist Richard Leo Johnson's second album for Blue Note is scheduled to be released on September 26. E-Z Rock and Rum Runners regular Rob Base...A hip-hop version of The Wizard Of Oz is currently in the planning stages for Fox, according to MTV News. Tentatively titled The O.Z., the made-for-TV movie is said to be a 21st-century update of the classic children's film, with a plot that features Dorothy as a hip-hop producer sent to the land of Munchkins and flying monkeys by an earthquake and, well, you know the rest of the story. Among the folks who are slated to appear in the flick are Busta Rhymes as the Cowardly Lion, Oueen Latifah as Glanda The Good Witch, Patti LaBelle as the Wicked Witch Of The West and Little Richard as the Wizard. No word yet as to whether or not Nipsy Russell will reprise his role as the Tin Man, but then again, we can all dare to dream. Look for The O.Z. to ease on down your picture tube sometime next year...Big ups to Jurassic-5, as their debut album Quality Control scanned nearly 100,000 copies in the first four weeks of its release. African percussion and a wicked sense of humor. The album will also feature the talents of drummer Matt Wilson, multiinstrumentalist Paul McCandless, percussionist Cyro Baptista and bassist Reggie Washington...Knit Media continues to struggle with getting its new Los Angeles-based club open for business. According people close to the situation, cost overruns and contractor problems have caused havoc. The East Coast office has also taken a hit, forcing several employees to leave the company or cut back on their work hours during the summer downtime with an eye towards gearing back up in September. Lounge Lizard John Lurie recently wrote a Letter to the Editor of the New Times Los Angeles in response to an article the weekly paper ran on Knit Media owner Michael Dorf and the opening of the new club in L.A. In the piece, Lurie harshly criticizing Dorf, opening the letter with the sentence "I hate Michael Dorf and screw the Knitting Factory." The Knitting Factory in New York is still open for business and the sister club in L.A. should be open soon.

he still made me pump my fist and play air gee-tar with the Syndicate's Dave Ciancio. It was a parade of hits: "Detroit Rock City," "Deuce," "Shock Me," "2000 Man," "Cold Gin," "Black Diamond," "Do You Love Me?," "Calling Dr. Love," "God Of Thunder," "Love Gun," "Heaven's On Fire" and "Lick It Up." I just wish they coulda found room for "Hard Luck Woman." Opening the show was PETA public enemy number one, Uncle Ted "Fucking" Nugent. The Nuge delivered tirades about Al Sharpton, Janet Reno and his American pride and said, "If Al Sharpton is a Reverend, then I am the Dalai fucking Lama."...All-grrl sludge rock band Drain STH has supposedly broken up...Haste is working on new material for its second Century Media effort. The Alabama band's last effort was a solid effort, but when you see 'em live, watch out. You will become a fan...Downset's Check Your People is coming in October...In between GlassJaw's gut wrenching set and Deftones' delirious performance at NYC's Roseland, I was blessed enough to receive a two-song Nothingface sampler with the songs "Bleeder" and "Make Your Own Bones." Whoa. Let me just tell you that this one sounds like a future #1 Loud Rock record if I've ever heard one. Beautiful singing, schizophrenic screaming, sickening riffs, and fromthe-heart lyrics like "My eyes see everything I want them to/I just don't want them to see you." A total package. I've been yakking about it for months, and you guys are probably jealous, but this one is worth waiting for. Trust me. Even better yet, I got to listen to Vision Of Disorder demos on a portable discman. The songs were "On The Table," "Regurgitate" and "Itchin' To Bleed," and are all produced and mixed by Machine, known for his work with Step Kings. Though it was hard to fully feel the VOD demos because all of the noise in the venue, they still rocked. Some smart A&R guy needs to sign them. And oh yeah - the show was phat, too. I've heard the 'Tones are considering another U.S. tour in November, and want Snapcase and Weezer (!) along for the ride. How can you go wrong with a Deftones set that includes "Lotion" and an encore of "Engine #9" and "Headup." You know "Headup"; it's the song that Soulfly's Max Cavalera co-wrote with the 'Tones that has the chorus of "Soulfly." Speaking of Soulfly, the new album, Primitive, rocks. Chino Moreno and Will Haven frontman Grady Avenell sing on the track "Pain." It's still down-tuned and reminiscent of early Korn, but it's a solid album. I'm sure it's yet another numero uno on Loud Rock...For those about to rock, AC/DC kicks off its first tour in five years on August 1. Slash's Snakepit will be the opener...Undecided Records is a relatively new, upand-coming label that has put out a split 7" of hardcore faves Boy Sets Fire and Shai Hulud. But it's no ordinary split --- each band delivers a Metallica cover. The label will also issue a full-length by Eiffel (sounds like Grade meets Hot Water Music) and Supermachiner, which features members of Converge...S.O.D./Brutal Truth/ Nuclear Assault rocker Dan Lilker has a new band called Ravenous. The band's album Assembled In Blasphemy is being remixed and will be issued by Hammerheart in the fall. The band also features Killjoy (of Necrophagia, which also features Pantera's Philip Anselmo playing guitar under the pseudonym Anton Crowley) and Chris Reifert (Autopsy, Abcess).

The New Don of Dancebau Words by Glen Bansone Interview by Environe Lavin Phose by Jonathan Manne

Ţu

With the release of Art And Life, Beenie Man's latest and most accessible work, the 27-year-old Kingston, Jamaica, native may be poised to achieve widespread acceptance and bring the wildly popular dancehall style to the masses.

Beenie Man (born Anthony Moses David) has been perfecting his craft since he was eight years old, when he cut his first single, "Too Fancy." In the early and mid '90s, his career gained momentum as he established a toasting style that could, unlike the style of peers such as Shabba Ranks, flip from mellow, political and conscious to more roughneck, urban and pop without hesitation. Records such as Blessed and Many Moods Of Moses earned praise not only for their variety, but for their infectious moods and party-ready rhythms - key criteria for any dancehall record worth its salt. "I [don't make] music for the money and the glamour and the glitter. I make music because I love this business. I've been doing this for 22 years nonstop," Beenie asserts.

Art And Life (VP-Virgin) is so strong and memorable that it significantly narrows the gap between pure, charismatic Jamaican dancehall and urban pop music by teaming Beenie Man with longtime friend and hotshot producer Wyclef Jean and vocal collaborators Mya, Kelis and Steve Perry of the Cherry Poppin' Daddies. Also notable is its twisting of conventional pop earmarks with Beenie's vocal acrobatics. For Beenie, his approach is plain and simple: "I just wanted this record to be better than the last record I did. The problem is that a man is only as good as his latest work." But where his previous recordings stuck mainly to straightahead dancehall, this time Beenie wanted to reach listeners who are new to the form. "[This record] is a different road for dancehall music. You see, ya have a lot of dancehall lovers out there as it is, who love dancehall as it is: hardcore. But, if you have a product of the ghetto and you are going to sell it to the public, you will have to clean it up," he explains. "So I clean it up naturally, and flip the beat, put some Jamaican chanting [on it] and get the Americans dancing. So that way it sound real, it don't sound fake."

While dancehall music has enjoyed only limited success in the States, Beenie Man explains the impact he's seen the music have on a global level. "I've been to Europe [recently] where they said the dancehall business could not work, and, oh god, mon — 50,000 people, 75,000 people, 30,000 people — it's crazy. I had the whole place jamming...rockin'! I played with Ziggy Marley And The Melody Makers, Buju Banton, Israel Vibrations it was a beautiful show," he says.

The secret allure of Art And Life is its ability to incorporate familiar nuggets of R&B, hip-hop and pop into Beenie's dancehall style. For example, on the sparse "Crazy Notion," Beenie's lyrical maelstrom is fast and furious, while the track's chorus riffs on the melody of Brenda K. Starr's '80s pop hit "I Still Believe." On other cuts, such as the radioready "Love Me Now" (featuring Wyclef Jean), Beenie applies his nimble tongue to a sonic foundation built on Naughty By Nature's "O.P.P." Elsewhere, on the Caribbean party jam "Tumble (La Cadia)" (which features Cuban trumpeter Arturo Sandoval), Beenie Man even explores a sanguine Latin style that borders on soca. Beenie puts Art And Life in perspective by comparing it to his previous work. "On dis album, there is more a sense of direction," he explains. "You have to deal wit the album in a different manner. Every musician has a goal to capture people. My goal is to paint a picture in the people's mind, so dat they never forget Beenie Man. Each and every [person] should paint their own individual picture in their mind. If you notice with every album I released, you have Blessed, you have Maestro, you have Many Moods Of Moses and then you have this one, the albums [must] always represent me. This is my song and my work, so if I can't represent it in the right and proper manner it would make no sense for me to do the job."

Most conventional artists are mindful of their evolution and growth as musicians, striving to develop musically or simply keep up with trends. However, Beenie has an idiosyncratic outlook on this issue. "I do not change, I adjust to life," he says. "The problem is, my fans do not like change. If I am gonna go international I have to take them wit me to gain more fans. I just work with the people and for the people, because I am the employee and the people are the boss."

INDUSTRYPROFILE

Interview by Dan Connelly (RykoPalm)

The idea of turning the tables on our weekly Industry Profile section was recently pitched by ex-Virgin, current-RykoPalm promotions honcho Dan Connelly, who, for some strange reason, thought that our readers could actually be interested in the people who create this magazine every week. Dan got his wish.

Where are you all from?

Enrique Lavin: Los Angeles via Quito, Ecuador; Bill Konig: Pt. Washington, New York - a stone's throw from Great Neck; Lisa Hageman: New York; Josh Holbreich: Huntington, Long Island; Tad Hendrickson: Minneapolis, Minnesota; Chris Parker: basically nomadic; Kelso Jacks: Crooklyn, where you best watch your back; Cheryl Botchick: Cleveland, Ohio, the heart of the Rust Belt where they know about the rock 'n' roll; M. Tye Comer: Dover, Delaware, home of tax-free shopping; Amy Sciarretto: I'm from the armpit of the nation, and the biggest metal state, New Jersey; Glen Sansone: New York, home to strip malls; Ron Hart: Hudson Valley, New York; Michael Dabaie: York, Pennsylvania, home of Live; Chris Elles (not officially a member of the editorial team, but hey, we like him - ed.): Born but not raised in Jacksonville, Florida; Colin Helms: Cochranville, Pennsylvania.

What was the first album you purchased, and what was the first concert you attended?

Jacks: The first record that I ever bought was undoubtedly a Rick Springfield record, and the first concert I ever attended was Bruce Springsteen at Madison Square Garden – I was in high school, I was about 15.

Hendrickson: R.E.O. [Speedwagon] T.W.O.; Allman Brothers, 1979.

Sciarretto: I don't remember my first album, but my first concert was in 1979; it was Kiss and I was 4.

Hart: First album I bought was "Weird Al" Yankovic's In 3-D.

Dabaie: The first record I ever bought was the Police's Ghost In The Machine, and the first concert I saw was the Grateful Dead at the Spectrum in Philadelphia.

Sansone: The first concert I ever attended was The Who/The Clash at Shea Stadium in 1982, and the first record I ever bought was The Who's Perfect Collection.

Elles: The first record was Prince's Purple Rain, and the first concert was Lionel Richie's "Dancing On The Ceiling" tour.

Lavin: The first album I can remember buying was Kiss's Alive because of the free tattoos and poster. Helms: The first record I ever bought was Men At Work's Business As Usual, and the first show that I went to was probably Neil Diamond when I was like 10, 'cause my dad had an extra ticket and I had never gone to a concert before. What a show! Konig: I believe my first record was Meet The Beatles, which I destroyed on my Fisher-Price record player. My first concert was R.E.M. on their Fables Of The Reconstruction tour.

THE CMJ NEW MUSIC REPORT EDITORIAL STAFF

Hagemen: I think the first record I bought was the soundtrack for Hair, and my first concert was U2 on their Unforgettable Fire tour ('85).

Holbreich: I think the first album I bought was David Lee Roth's Eat 'Em And Smile. I think the first concert I saw was a big family outing to see the Pointer Sisters at Jones Beach. I've been hooked ever since.

Botchick: The first record I ever bought, which will be no surprise to anyone sitting here, was Cheap Trick's At Budokon. The first concert I ever saw must've been about 1983 and it was Madness. Despite the fact that Kelso has the [Madness] tattoo, that was actually my first concert.

Comer: My first album was Michael Jackson's Off The Wall — not Thriller, but the real classic. However, the first single that I ever bought was "Play That Funky Music White Boy" – which is pretty fitting. The first concert that I ever went to was the New Edition All For Love tour, which explains my fascination with boy bands and choreography.

Parker: I bought two albums the first day I bought an album: The Blues Brothers album because of "Rubber Biscuit," and I bought a Johnny Mathis record because it had that duet with Denise Williams on it ["Too Much, Too Little, Too Late"]. The first concert I ever went to was in 1981 – Cheap Trick!

Hart: I [once] saw Bun E. Carlos at the mall.

What's the most interesting thing a promoter has done to get you to listen to their record?

Jacks: I'm usually guilted into it. If I haven't heard the record, I feel guilty.

Botchick: People have left records on my voicemail.

Sansone: When I was writing the Beat Box column, I was sent beautiful leather jackets right around the same time — oddly enough — that promoters were looking for press.

How do you decide which records you're going to make cover picks? How about for the specialty columns?

Botchick: The whole nominating, listening, and meeting process is about three days. We listen to everything that comes in each week. After we hear everything, we nominate records for the cover.

Hendrickson: The person reviewing a record can then nominate it for cover consideration. Then Tye, Glen, Cheryl, Colin and myself listen to the records that are up for cover consideration and we go back and forth and try to whittle the list down to four if we can.

Kelso Jacks

Tye Comer

Sansone: It's a fairly open debate.

Botchick: Yeah, it's pretty democratic. I wish there was something more scandalous about [the process], but there really isn't. We always agree on it, too.

Comer: After throwing some punches and pulling some hair...

Lavin: In the Latin Alternative scene there's not enough albums coming out – the distribution is so disorganized. It's basically the indies that are the most organized. If [the label's] packages are well organized and have release dates and contact information, then they're more likely to get reviewed.

Sciarretto: I don't have enough space, because there's ten thousand things going for Loud Rock Adds every week, but I have four criteria of what I pick: First, if it fucking rocks, then it's gonna get the lead pick. Two... I look at the band's chart history and project how it's going to do. If it has some kind of chart history – like every Slayer record goes to number one – of course it's a lead pick. And if it's something new and breaking ground in the genre, then I want to be ballsy and be the first person to point it out and tell people they should be listening to it.

Comer: The first thing I do is try to think if an album has crossover appeal, something that will be played on non-specialty shows as well – like a Chemical Brothers or an Orbital. That's the stuff I suggest for review in the main section of the magazine. After that, I try to have the RPM column strike a balance between stuff that I think is gonna get a lot of airplay and be popular, and the more underground stuff that S.P.E.C.T.R.E. isn't going to be working.

Hart: I try to keep the indies happy and keep a good balance. There's so much that comes out and I get inundated with so much. The way hiphop is, there's so much bullshit. I usually go for one album and two singles – that's generally my m.o. I get about 20-30 singles a week.

Who is your favorite Hollywood Squares celebrity?

Hart: Nipsy Russell.
Konig: Paul Lynde, hands down.
Sciarretto: Jim J. Bullock.
Jacks: Is Hollywood Squares still on?
Botchick: I like the guy who has the [puppet].
Jacks: Oh, Madame!
Botchick: Wayland Flowers And Madame!

What's the best part about being on the editorial staff of CMJ, and what is the worst?

Lavin: Being able to work with such talented writers and knowledgeable people – and soaking it all in. Konig: It's the occasional record that knocks my socks off, and getting to talk to some of my heroes. Sansone: I think it's the camaraderie you feel from working with a bunch of like-minded people who share many of the same opinions about music. For me, the worst part, or most frustrating part, is when we all get excited about a record and it doesn't go anywhere. I think seeing artists who may be your current heroes or just a record that truly makes me feel great about what we do and the position we're in, to see it not go anywhere or not resonate at radio — it's frustrating.

In the '80s, college radio was truly the alternative, and then in the early-'90s we saw more alternative radio. In the beginning it was incredible, but then it ultimately came down. Now we've seen the death of commercial alternative radio as a viable alternative format for new music. College radio is still here. With new technology and other outlets to promote records, where does college radio fit as we move forward?

Botchick: Well, we really can't make meaningful predictions about technology. But I think the answer to the question, 'Where is college radio in the music industry right now?' is what its always been: It's on a pendulum. Something hits, then the industry gravitates towards college radio, and then things are drawn away from college radio and it experiences a slight 'decline.' I think right now we're in such a vapid period for popular music with really commercial pop being the only thing that's selling records (and major labels liking it that way), that the reality is, sooner or later, something is going to come up and bite the industry in the ass. Nobody expected R.E.M. to crossover or Nirvana to absolutely explode. I also predict that whatever comes up to bite the industry in the ass will have very sharp, violent teeth because it's really, really boring right now.

Elles: I predict that it will come from college radio – college radio never left.

Parker: I like Ian McKaye's analogy that the indie labels are like the garden and the major labels come out and pick all the fruit and it takes time for it to grow back. Right now it does seem like the trees are bare.

Elles: As for college radio, it's always going to be there and they're always going to embrace the Internet before anyone else.

Sansone: Radio is still number one in terms of selling records. I think the spirit of college radio and what it represents hasn't gone anywhere. But I think the industry as a whole is going through such massive change, and the Internet is forcing that change. I think the labels are now looking at new opportunities and avenues to reach fans. While they don't seem to believe that college radio is going to help sell records, they're thinking that this Internet thing might, and they want to find cost-effective ways to get a faster return on their investments. Now we're also seeing major labels putting their A&R departments online and trimming back on personnel.

If you could be any rapper - alive or dead - who would you be?

Jacks: I guess the closest thing to a hip-hop artist I would ever want to be is Debbie Harry (Blondie). Botchick: I would be MC Lyte.

Parker: Dee Dee Ramone.

Elles: Does Will Smith count?

Hart: I think I'd be the Notorious B.I.G. because he's a big guy who has no problem pulling girls. Sansone: I thought you'd say Sir-Mix-A-Lot because you drive a hooptie.
