SPIRITUALIZED

Amazing Grace

(Spaceman-Sanctuary)

Inspired by his improvisational work with British Jazz act Spring Heel Jack, Spiritualized leader Jason Pierce wrote an album's worth of material, then didn't present any of it to his band until the day they were set to record.

With so many random factors present, no one could have known exactly what they were creating. So, the fact that Amazing Grace came out as one of the most confident-sounding albums yet from the consistently changing band is a mark of the exceptional ability of everyone involved. Blasting in with the raw rock of "This Little Life Of Mine," the disc balances bluster with gospel-tinged balladry ("Lord Let It Rain On Me") in much the same way as the group's last opus, Let It Come Down. Couple that with the free-form experimentation that marks tracks like "The Power And The Glory" and "Rated X" and you have a looser, even more compelling affair — one that reveals that the best way to get musicians to surprise people is to make them surprise themselves.

RAPTURE

(Strummer-DFA-Universal)

While the Rapture and its personal brand of post-punk have been around for years now, during the long wait for its major label debut, the New York band has unwittingly become part of a movement that's the latest rage in the world of post-electroclash dance music.

Embodied by the hybrid of punk and funk that has been twisted into a genre dubbed "disco punk" in dance circles, the Rapture's 2002 single, "House Of Jealous Lovers," made an enormous splash worldwide, driving up anticipation for this DFA-produced full-length. Echoes starts off with "Olio," a track already famous for blending DJ Pierre-style acid house with (Cure frontman) Robert Smith-style vocals; "Open Up Your Heart," alternately, sounds more like Radiohead meeting a choirless Polyphonic Spree, while "I Need Your Love" is a burst of Oingo Boingo xylophone funk. And even those of you who find yourselves too often saying, "We need more cowbell" will be satisfied — the much-maligned instrument gets prominent use here, especially beneath the tear-jerkin' "Love is all my crippled soul will ever need" lyrics of "Love Is All."

NORTH MISSISSIPPI ALLSTARS

Polaris (ATO-Tone-Cool)

The North Mississippi Allstars are checking in with a spirited new collection of tunes — and this litter isn't just about the blues. Polaris, the third album from the band, is aided by more than 20 guest musicians (perhaps the most surprising of whom is Oasis's Noel Gallagher) to create a vibrant, assorted jam of a disc. Fashioning a classic, yet innovative sound, the flock of musicians incorporates traditional guitar rock and elements of bluegrass and country, along with Hip-Hop, reggae and orchestral arrangements. The Americana spirit is celebrated as it all comes together, with the band working through a cover of Junior Kimbrough's "Meet Me In The City," the shoe-tapping "Never In All My Days" and a soulful highlight in "Be So Glad." A varied album with great instrumental moments — especially in Luther Dickinson's slide guitar playing — Polaris is the kind of album that could only come from musicians who truly respect their roots while adding their own fresh flavor.

LOS HALOS

Leaving VA (Loveless)

It's been said that music is life, but when a band really tries to capture the true complexities and bittersweet nature of existence, most of the time it simply ends up spouting melodramatic drivel. Every once in a blue moon, however, a group comes along that actually manages to encapsulate all of life's ups and downs in a direct and sincere way. With its third album, Leaving Va., Los Halos has become one of those bands. Knowing when to rock out and when to keep it quiet and acoustic, the quartet demonstrates the kind of sophistication that gives "The Back Home" the timeless quality of a lost Gram Parsons B-side. More poignantly, when vocalist Samezvous sings, "I am still dreaming of you" on "Frenesi," his voice conveys that this isn't the kind of dream he's willingly allowed himself to be trapped in; but at the same time, it also sounds as if he is simply dreaming, after all, rather than having the nightmare one might imagine — and therein lies the strange, subtle balance that Los Halos achieves. — Brad Filicky

JET

Get Born (Elektra)

With the long list of bands that Jet has been accused of stealing from (AC/DC, the Rolling Stones, Iggy And The Stooges), the boys from Melbourne are always surprised they don't more often get compared to the Faces (the band that launched the careers of both Rod Stewart and the Stones' Ron Wood). Like the Faces, Jet can lay down a loose and inspired candidate for the next Jock Jams compilation ("Last Chance"), then fall into a simple piano-driven ballad ("Look What You've Done") with captivating results. This Dave Sardy (Dandy Warhols) produced debut mixes reliable conventions, such as a 1-2-3 count and a lyric like "take my photo off the wall," with bouncy beats, blue collar guitar riffs and hand-claps, to draw a winner every time. If rock 'n' roll means never having to say you're sorry, then Get Born is an unapologetic denim-vest wearing disc that would steal a six-pack of piss-warm beer, put its last two bucks in the gas tank and drive straight to your girlfriend's house.

WRENS

The Meadowlands (Absolutely Kosher)

It's finally here. The Wrens' long-awaited follow-up to 1998's Abbott 1135 EP is the result of the New Jersey quartet's constant writing, recording, erasing, re-writing and re-recording over the last five years — all in an attempt to make the ultimate indie-pop record. Accordingly, The Meadowlands has the sound of an album that has had time to mature, proving that the band's efforts were not for naught. Repeated listens open up a window into the sheer brilliance of the songwriting; it's bright and shimmering in enough places to let you in on the painstaking attention to detail that must have been spent in the recording process, and roughed and scuffed enough to make it as comfortable as a worn-in pair of jeans. Teeming with upbeat hooks and wrapped in enchanting melodies, the slow-building "She Sends Kisses," the glistening pop of "This Boy Is Exhausted" and the emotionally wrought "Boys, You Won't" each parlay the endearing nature of music that is created with patience, love and more patience. — Louis Miller

WILLY PORTER

High Wire Live (Six Degrees)

It takes solid songs and a bag full of chops to hold an audience rapt with just a voice and an acoustic guitar — and Willy Porter has more than enough of both to rock a crowd, as his new live album will attest. Taped before very appreciative audiences in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Portland and Birmingham, England, High Wire Live demonstrates just how skilled a guitarist Porter is; whether it's the folksy vibe of "Unconditional" or the fast-paced six-string gymnastics of "Angry Words," the man continually proves himself as a master of the acoustic instrument. Hearing these songs performed live also gives them an urgency that the studio never could; it quickly becomes obvious that Porter is in his element performing for an audience. With the wide success of artists like John Mayer and Jason Mraz, Willy Porter is primed to break through beyond his Triple A fan base, and High Wire Live will more than likely be his ticket to the hearts and minds of Mayer-heads everywhere.

CURVE

Doppelgänger (Anxious-Charisma)

Before any of the co-ed producer/vocalist team-ups that became commonplace throughout the '90s (Portishead, Lamb, Moloko), there was Curve. Following a string of three brilliant EPs, the debut album from Toni Halliday and Dean Garcia mixed beats, dense sonics and dark, ethereal vocals into the perfect soundtrack for an overnight stay in a haunted castle. Garcia, a contemporary of My Bloody Valentine's Kevin Shields, constructed music that was nothing short of visionary, while Halliday's dreamy, haunting voice could equally wound ("Wish You Dead," "Doppelgänger"), anaesthetize ("Lillies Dying," "Clipped") and, as on the lushly transcendent "Horror Head," open a portal to a higher realm. Curve's forward-thinking formula was later co-opted and simplified by other acts (most notably Garbage), but none could match the artistry of Garcia and his pale-faced, red-lipped partner in the sublime. — Doug Levy

A MOMENT OF TOOTH

WITH ONE OF THE YEAR'S MOST ANTICIPATED INDIE-HOP ALBUMS, AESOP ROCK AIMS HIS BAZOOKA TOOTH AND GETS READY TO BLOW YOUR MIND. Story by Louis Miller • Photo by Drew Goren

It started as a quiet rumble. You hardly even noticed it. But slowly, a tall, white, television and video game-addicted insomniac with a slight case of social anxiety thundered to the forefront of a Hip-Hop revolution. Now, with the release of his latest LP, Bazooka Tooth, Aesop Rock is on the verge of blowing up. Literally.

"I've just accepted the fact that we're all going to die pretty soon," booms Aesop (né Ian Bavitz). "A lot of shit has happened, both in my personal life and globally. You almost get comfortable with the fact that we probably won't be here for another five years before someone blows us up. You know, hence Bazooka Tooth — I might as well start blowing shit up before someone else does."

Indeed, Bazooka Tooth is much more than just an orthodontist's worst nightmare. Putting all his pent-up aggression — aggression towards the world's politics, people who second-guess his skill, and unoriginal stylebiters — down the barrel of his latest recorded opus, Aesop takes careful aim at the unassuming public before slowly pulling the trigger.

"Bazooka Tooth is an alter-ego," Rock explains. "It's a superhero that's on some real low-life scum-bag shit. He's not seeing through walls or flying or anything; the only real power he has is a bazooka in his tooth — so he can blow shit up, but that's it." Aesop's eyes, though bloodshot and cloaked in a “Super Fluke”). And while this isn’t your normal everyday conversational tone, Aesop Rock wouldn’t have it any other way.

“A lot of [my lyrics] come from walkin’ around, and I’ll see something funny or fucked up or evil and I want to write about it,” he says, speaking as though this is the millionth time he’s tried to explain it. “I’ll be watching TV and something will spark me. Some kind of character in a movie that has a weird way of talking — it’ll make me start writing in some weird styles and shit. But it’s all in an effort to create something that no

I’m just trying to do that, but still be me. I don’t want to be a 20th rate anybody. I’d rather just come out and have people say, ‘Wow, this is raw Hip-Hop and I’ve never heard shit like this in my life.’”

It’s undeniable that Aesop Rock has a sound that’s completely his own, but that hasn’t stopped people from “getting it.” A recent show at New York City’s Irving Plaza saw a sold-out, trucker hat-capped audience spitting all the lyrics right along with Aesop and his Definitive Jux cohorts EL-P and RJD2, word for word, as if he was Michael Stipe heavy glaze, sparkle as he explains, smug and proud of his super-creation. “I like the fact that the last thing you’ll see is me smilin’ at you, and then you just blow up.”

// In order for me to describe a situation in the most realistic and honest way I can, it takes more than just regular English. //

This same morbid humor and unapologetic malignity that conceived a ghetto guerrilla superhero runs throughout the Brooklyn MC’s fourth full-length. And while it’s a logical progression from his previous solo efforts (1997’s out-of-print Music For Earthworms, 2000’s Float and 2001’s Labor Days), Bazooka Tooth stands apart in that it sees Aesop Rock stepping out to take on almost all of the production duties, in addition to supplying the hyper-bionic lexicon he’s known for. “Now people are getting more of the full Aesop Rock sound, whether they want it or not,” he laughs.

This full “Aesop Rock sound” — a sonic embroidery of glitch-funk production overflowing with Ace’s claustrophobic and brainiac wordplay — spreads itself over the album’s 15 tracks in 70 minutes of rants that usually find his booming bass spitting drawls along the lines of “Overnight Biggies plunk quarters into an A&R Zoltar/ While the incubated fade collar pop folklore in effect” (from one’s really done before. I make sentences that aren’t really sentences. And they’re combinations of words that you’ve never heard. They don’t technically make sense according to Webster and the rules of grammar, but they make sense in the real world — which doesn’t make sense. In order for me to describe a situation in the most realistic and honest way I can, it takes more than just regular English. It’s like the sentence has a vibe, rather than a definition.”

This round-about lyricism has certainly left some people scratching their heads, not knowing if the song’s message soared miles over them, or if there was even one to begin with. “I get told a lot that people think my style is pretty out there,” confesses Aesop, “and I’m just like, ‘I dunno, I grew up on Boogie Down Productions just like you,’ know’m sayin? This is where it brought me.’ And I get told so much, ‘I like [your music], but I just don’t get it.’ And I’m like, ‘All right.’ I’m not gonna cater to anybody else. The only thing I’m catering to is the fact that I listen to my shit and I laugh to myself, ‘cause this shit is crazy. I don’t even know what I was thinking.’”

Even though his roots point back to the likes of BDP, Run DMC and De La Soul, Aesop obviously never had any desire to sound like the genre’s pioneers. His style was destined to take more of a detoured route. “I would hear someone and be like, ‘That’s fuckin’ dope.’ But that’d make me want to sound completely different from him. It makes me want to sound a way where someone would say, ‘I’ve never even heard anything like that.’ [You have to] stick to the rules of Hip-Hop that my pioneers have set, so now singing “It’s The End Of The World As We Know It” in the middle of Athens, Georgia — with his devoted chanting back every single one of his rapid-fire lyrical monstrosities.

“I’m fascinated by the fact that I made the records I wanted to make, and then thousands and thousands of people bought them,” he says, awed. “I never expected any of that, so I’m just gonna keep with the same formula; I’ll sit at the crib and write shit that comes to my head and watch stupid movies and play video games.”

A musical mish-mash of Japanese animé, old Atari games and early-’80s sitcoms, Bazooka Tooth breaks the mold of what a Hip-Hop record should be. From the urban alley skrunk of “No Jumper Cables” to the props-grabbing basement jam “We’re Famous” and the Jeffersons soul jam of “Cook It Up,” Aesop Rock ducks and dodges away from the expected; and his friends are never far away. El-P, Camp Lo, Vast Aire, Mr. Lif and the Party Fun Action Committee — each a part of the Def Jux empire — all drop by to leave their mark, making the album an intimate family affair.

So, surrounded by friends, and rapping over a buzz that has reached an almost deafening roar, Aesop Rock and the dawn of Bazooka Tooth is upon us. Aesop knows his situation and knows the job he has to do. “By this time,” he asserts, “the underground has heard of me. If you like me, you like me. If you hate me, you hate me. I’m done with letting people know who I am at this point. Now it’s time to make something a little bit timeless and try to make a dent in the history of music.” NMR

Ween hasn't topped the Radio 200 since 1997's The Mollusk, but Gene and Dean have done it again and painted the chart brown! It took six weeks, but the duo's latest, Quebec, dethroned Welcome To The Monkey House, shoving the Dandy Warhols aside after just one week at No. 1. Will Quebec have a chance to plant some roots before some of the other big contenders start muscling in on its territory? Perhaps, but it'll be a rough battle, especially when one considers the fact that Black Rebel Motorcycle Club (110-11*), Frank Black And The Catholics (133-16*) and Rancid (97-27*) collectively moved an impressive 282 places closer to No. 1 this week. Plus, Dashboard Confessional's A Mark, A Mission, A Brand, A Scar (31-23*) is already making some solid moves in just two weeks on Radio 200. If you're looking for something a little rougher — and quite frankly, you should be — check out the new offerings from Killing Joke (78-59*) and The Bronx (77-61*), two records that are literally screaming for some more attention. Big debuts from the Bouncing Souls (D-65*), Small Brown Bike (D-81*), Saves The Day (D-86*) and Outkast (D-89*) all peppered the Top 100. As for Outkast, if you ain't hittin' that shit, you just ain't got no soul! "Hey Ya!"

CMJ GETS SIRIUS
CMJ and SIRIUS, the commercial-free satellite radio service that brings its listeners more than 100 streams of music and entertainment coast-to-coast, have joined forces to create “CMJ New Music Report,” a weekly two-hour countdown program that will feature the Top 20 albums as reported by the CMJ New Music Report Radio 200 charts, as well as weekly features, such as “Artist Of The Month,” “New Music News” and “The Weekly 1s.” Hosted by CMJ’s Mike Boyle and Brad Maybe, the “CMJ New Music Report” debuted over Labor Day weekend and will air every Saturday at 10:00 a.m. (EDT) and Sunday at 8:00 p.m. (EDT) on Sirius Entertainment, stream 135. Don’t have Sirius? Details about a syndicated version of the show, to be made available to College Radio, are forthcoming.

KLSU’S WELCOME WAGON

Sadly, Louisiana State University’s first day of classes was Aug.

25. But, KLSU/Baton Rouge, LA took the early return in stride and set up shop in the campus bookstore for a live remote. Broadcasting from the high-traffic location, KLSU staffers handed out bumper stickers and T-shirts and introduced impressionable young freshmen to the station. KLSU was also lucky enough to get a hold of some Radiohead tickets for the band’s Oct. 2 performance at the UNO Lakefront Arena in New Orleans. In order to win tickets, the station is asking listeners to phone in and sing their favorite Radiohead song. Performances will be judged on poise, interpretation and gloomy disposition.

KTXT, BONGOS, BASS AND BOB

KTXT/Lubbock, TX has put together a “Back To School Bash Benefit.” On Sept. 10, Bongos, Bass And Bob (featuring bass player Penn Jillette of Penn And Teller fame) will play the Klusoz Martini Lounge and Espresso Bar, with all the proceeds going to the station. Jillette’s band hasn’t hit a stage since the late-’80s, when they were regulars at Maxwell’s in Hoboken, NJ. After the show, there’s a 50/50 chance somebody will be sawed in half.

WMBR SPLITS IT UP

WMBR/Cambridge, MA is as “pleased as punch” with the release of the new Six Parts Seven/Black Keys self-titled split; the three songs that the Black Keys contributed to the disc were recorded live at the station. Taped back in March, the performance originally aired on “Three Ring Circus,” which is hosted by Joan Hathaway. The split CD is currently out on Suicide Squeeze Records.

GETTING IT DONE IN ROCHESTER

WBER/Penfield, NY is giving away tickets to the upcoming My Morning Jacket show at the Water Street Music Hall in Rochester, NY, on Sept. 13. Meanwhile, over at WITR/Rochester, NY, they’re hoping to score an interview with the Kentucky-based band before its area appearance. In related news, WITR just welcomed Rochester Institute Of Technology freshmen to campus with the school’s annual Freshman Picnic. The station was on hand to introduce itself to the newbies and signed-up some new recruits.

KCRW GIVES AWAY A MINI COOPER!

KCRW/Santa Barbara, CA is giving away a brand new Mini Cooper. The station was asking listeners to renew their subscriptions, or become new members of the station, and any donation made above their current subscription would get them registered for a shot at winning the tiny little car. The station plans to use the money from the promotion to make some much-needed renovations to its basement studios. The deadline for the contest was Sept. 2.

CMJ CORE ESSENTIAL

DASHBOARD CONFESIONAL

A Mark, A Mission, A Brand, A Scar (Vagrant)

Why is big rock producer Gil Norton (Pixies, Foo Fighters) producing a side project that made a name for itself as a barebones, bare-knuckle acoustic entity? Because it would be a shame to let Chris Carrabba’s songwriting go completely unrealized. Everything on A Mark... would have sounded great with just Carrabba, an acoustic and a thousand kids singing along, but with a full band and Norton’s direction, Carrabba’s pop smarts — and sometimes too sensitive lyrics — leap to the next level; just check out the standouts “Rapid Hope Loss” and the all-acoustic “Ghost Of A Good Time” and we think you’ll agree. If you didn’t like Dashboard before, give this one an honest listen. Or, if you’ve been on board since The Swiss Army Romance, then you now have the bragging rights to say you watched a star being born. Emo’s dead. Long live Chris Carrabba.

SPOTLIGHT SPIRITUALIZED

One doesn't survive and stay musically relevant for as long as Jason Pierce (a.k.a. J Spaceman) without making some serious progression. It's been 20 years now since Pierce co-founded the narcotic-fueled influential psychedelic rock outfit Spacemen 3, and over a decade since its collapse gave rise to Spiritualized, the group that brought him up from the underground and established him as one of the U.K.'s best songwriters and musicians. In that time, the band has undergone numerous lineup changes, some at the frontman's own insistence, with Pierce himself remaining the only constant. Meanwhile, he has continually pushed and evolved his own approaches to both songwriting and recording, transforming the band over the years from a traveling psychedelic bliss-fest to a blues rock-infused platform for music-as-religion. Employing everything and everyone from Jazz artists to a gospel choir to a full-blown horn section along the way, Pierce's vision has continued to expand with each respective Spiritualized release. For the group's latest disc, Amazing Grace, Mr. Spaceman once again found a new source of inspiration, thanks to his recent involvement with forward-thinking British Jazz collective Spring Heel Jack. As he revealed to CMJ during a visit to New York, performing with SHJ and being a featured player on its 2002 album, Amassed, has given him a whole new perspective on not only his own music, but on music in general.

Your approach to recording was very different on this album. What led you to that?

It was very, very influenced by the record I made with Spring Heel Jack. I was absolutely dumbfounded and honored to be asked to play guitar alongside Evan Parker or Han Bennink — these amazing musicians. And I loved the way that they make music. You press "record" and they improvise; it's all about the moment — this kind of magic moment in time. Obviously, I can't do that with Spiritualized, because everything's based around songs, but I figured that somewhere along the line there would be this moment, before people had learned how to play the songs, when they were still kind of trying everything out, and the possibilities were there — and that you could capture that moment in time.

So how did you go about trying to do that?

The band didn't hear the song until the day we were going to record it. There was no rehearsal. We went in on the afternoon of the day, and I'd say, "Right, this is the song." I'd play them a very rough demo and outline what we were doing; then we'd go in and record it. So, after a few takes that don't really work, you get that one moment; before everyone gets to a stage where they can say, "This is what I've always done on the chorus," or "Here's the roll into the next chorus," you get that kind of magic improvised moment — and that's kind of what the record is, if that makes sense. They're not rehearsed; they're not learned; there are no parts to them, because people are still finding their way around the songs.

It seems like there are a lot of bands trying a more back-to-basics approach now...

I think that's exciting. I've said that before — that the good thing about bands like the White Stripes, and everything in their slip-stream, is that it's about putting a guitar around your neck and making a noise. It's about hitting a single note and saying, "Jesus, listen to that. Isn't that exciting?" I think that's a great place to start in music. It's where we started. It's where Spacemen 3 started. It wasn't about learning how to play guitar, or learning any particular thing. It was about hitting a single note, and making it a blues note; saying, "We're going to play the life out of this." And also, I think that if you're going to start anywhere in music, starting with Charley Patton or Robert Johnson, or any kind of American blues — it's almost like the birthplace of all modern music. All rock 'n' roll, Jazz — everything seems to come from this one music. It's like starting at the beginning. But, that said, we were not making a back-to-basics record. We've still got a 22-piece band on some of this record, so it's by no means "basic."

"We were not making a back-to-basics record. We've still got a 22-piece band on some of this record, so it's by no means 'basic.'" — Spiritualized's Jason Pierce

It's interesting that you bring up the old bluesmen; at your recent shows, you've been performing sitting down at the side of the stage. Is that an intentional homage to their style?

Before I was asked to play on the Spring Heel Jack record, I had never seen myself as a guitarist that could stand next to Matthew Shipp playing piano, or William Parker playing the bass, or Evan, or Han Bennink. It seemed like I'm not part of that. I felt like a kind of charlatan. Like I said, it was an honor that they said, "Your guitar playing is important to this record. The way you play guitar is quite unique." And so this whole new record became about me playing guitar again. That was going to be a major focus of this. And I can't really play guitar unless I sit down. I can get through stuff and whatever, but I think that if I'm going to play like I played on the album, I have to sit back down and get back to that. So, it's nothing really, other than that I'm playing a bit more stuff than I ever did.

People might also see it as being a statement against the traditional frontman thing.

I've never done the traditional frontman thing. I've never stood in the middle of the stage. It's always been about the music we're playing. It's nothing other than to be able to focus on that and to concentrate on that. It just requires that. It's got so much energy, this stuff. It's so intense that it kind of throws you around.

You're no longer touring with a horn section — how has that changed things for the band?

When you make more space, and you get rid of the horns, or whatever, everybody has to rethink what they're contributing, because you can really be heard. And I think that was quite a major moment in this band — when we lost the horn section for the touring, everybody knew that the parts they were playing now were going to be very audible. So people had to start listening again and refocusing. We know what we're doing now. When the record started, everyone said that it had this kind of confidence, this swagger; it was like, "This is the best. This is the shit." And it is.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

DEFYING CONVENTION: They may not look very excited here, but these guys were in New Orleans for the Ryko Distribution Annual Convention, and you should have seen what happened when someone gave them a boxful of beads and a video camera and set them loose on the streets. (Left to right) Blood And Fire's Steve Barrow, Worldisc's Mark Gorney, Ryko Distribution's Jim Cuomo, Blood And Fire's Bob Harding and North Bay Sales' Robin Wise.

READING IS FUNDAMENTAL: The Carlsonics have obviously discovered the way to CMJ's heart. Just pretend that you're actually reading New Music Report, and we can't help but declare you "Band Of The Year." Well, we would have done that, except that dude on the left didn't even bother to pretend. Maybe next year, guys. WNRN, meanwhile, gets mad props for providing such a fine array of reading material in its studios.

CLOCKSTOPPERS: You may think that for a band called Darkest Hour, these guys look surprisingly cheery, but that's only because they were in the process of ripping one of their members in half, during a stop at the Victory Records home office in Chicago. (Left to right, back) Darkest Hour roadie Murphster, Victory's Mike Jakubow, DH's Kris Norris, Mike Schleibaum and their buddy Al, DH's Paul Burnette and Victory's Tim Binder; (front) DH's Ryan Parrish and John Henry.

COAST TO COAST: Man, it must be nice to be L.A. Reid. Not only does he get to hang out with beautiful female artists and run his own record label, but he's also named after one of the hippest cities in the world. (We're all thinking of changing our names to "NYC" over here, just to see what happens.) At the Arista International Conference in New York (left to right), it's Rachael Yamagata, L.A. Reid and Sarah McLachlan.

STUDIO SMASH: These guys obviously didn't read Caught In The Act last week (and come to think of it, same goes for those Darkest Hour dudes), but they look kind of angry, so we're not going to say anything. (In other words, don't hurt us, please.) At the Music Choice studios to promote their new album, Roorback, Sepultura's Derrick Green (left) and Igor Cavalera (right) found a kindred spirit in MC's Gary "Seuss" Susalis. We're told the guy who took this photo is recovering nicely.

A reunited Suffocation has signed to Relapse; the band will release its label debut in the spring of next year. The long-running Long Island death metal act recently got back together to co-headline both the New England Metal And Hardcore Fest and the Maryland Death Fest. Kudos to Relapse for not only signing the best new underground talent, but for respecting the forefathers, as well. Does this label ever put out anything sub par? • Whoa. MTV.com has reported that Satyricon, the most evil black metal trio in existence today, has signed to EatUrMusic, the label funded and founded by System Of A Down guitarist Daron Malakian. Satyricon's new album, Volcano, may even see the light of day sometime this year. We'd like to send major props to Malakian for recognizing the power of true heavy metal. • Nothingface has issued an official statement through its management about the status of the band. "We'd like to clear up all the rumors surrounding our recent departure from Ozzfest," stated the band. "First and foremost, we have not broken up. Nothingface is still very much a band! Due to an unforeseen tour budget cutback, with great regret, we were unable to continue on Ozzfest. We would like to thank everyone associated with Ozzfest 2003 for giving us the opportunity to bring our music to the masses. We had the best summer of our music career playing in front of huge crowds, making friends and, best of all, seeing our old diehard fans, as well as meeting new ones." The group went on to say that it will be taking a brief hiatus while it sorts out its business affairs. Good luck getting that shit straightened out, guys. • Former Solid State band Embodiment is working on new material. The band is taking the rest of the year off to work on the new stuff. • From the "Someone Is On Crank" department: Iron Maiden drummer Nicko McBrain, who was recently embroiled in some legal controversy for driving into a Jones Beach parking lot attendant, has formed a side project with lazy-eyed ex-Anthrax guitarist Dan Spitz and, get this — Vanilla Ice. Vanilla fucking Ice. No, this is not some sick 'n' twisted April Fool's Day joke. It's September! And it's a fact! The project has been dubbed Seven X Serenity, and we found out about it via www.blabbermouth.net. Some things look good on paper, and some things don't. No offense to the parties involved, but this is one of those things that doesn't look good on paper. • The revamped Fear Factory lineup, sans chunky axeman Dino Cazares, is this close to signing with Los Angeles label D3 Entertainment — also home to Insane Clown Posse and Ol' Dirty Bastard/Big Baby Jesus. The band is heading into the studio to work on its first batch of new material since 2001's Digimortal, which paled in critical and commercial comparison to 1998's earth-shattering Obsolete. • Finally, Page Hamilton has decided not to resurrect Helmet, despite many rumors to the contrary.

LOUD ROCK Q&A: SEPTULTURA

Sepultura's return to Loud Rock Radio with its hair-on-fire new album Roorback (which recalls Chaos A.D.-era Sep) also marks a new label deal for the band, after it severed its longtime ties with Roadrunner. We spoke with vocalist Derrick Green about the new album, life in Brazil, and... U2.

Roorback — what does that term mean?

It refers to someone using lies and deceit for political gain. That's the mood throughout politics and the world right now, so a lot of the songs we wrote are about things happening to us and around the world: 9/11, the elections in Brazil...

What happened with the elections?

We've had a new president for eight months, and he was very leftist in his younger days, so it was a surprise for him to be chosen as president. It's different than the rest of the world, since other governments are turning to the right. He has a good chance of changing things.

This is your third album and fourth recording with Sepultura. Place this release in your catalog with the band.

We don't have any guest appearances [laughs]. The songs are shorter and straight to the point. It's more aggressive. Since we've had time to tour and travel together and live in the same city, it brought us closer and we've gotten better through each album.

Why did you cover U2's "Bullet The Blue Sky?" P.O.D. also covered it...

We thought it was interesting for us to cover because it's a powerful song, lyrically. It described our moods at the time, and we have respect for U2. We wanted to cover songs that revolutionized the way we hear music, and we picked songs that were not in the same stream of music. It's too easy to do another metal band. Let's do something completely different and challenging, like Massive Attack, Dio and Exodus!

AVENGED SEVENFOLD

Waking The Fallen (Hopeless)

If Iron Maiden were reincarnated as a metalcore band, it would sound a lot like Avenged Sevenfold's Waking The Fallen. With layers of black eyeliner, a goth-y image not unlike A.F.I., kitschy onstage personas, names like Synyster Gates, Zacky Vengeance and M. Shadows, and an album gone loco with spiraling guitar solos circa 1985, Avenged Sevenfold is so metal, it craps iron ore. But while Waking The Fallen does pass off metalcore elements — devilish breakdowns and unassailable screams — A7F proudly eschews the trends of the art-snob hipsters of the Orange County, California scene from which it was birthed, thanks to the proud-to-be-stuck-in-the-'80s riffage of lead guitarist Gates. Vocalist Shadows (we love these fuckin' names) may not have an air raid siren like Bruce Dickinson, but he aspires to hit as many high notes as possible on "Unholy Confessions," "Reminissions," "Chapter Four" and "I Won't See You Tonight, Part I." It's experimental underground bands, like Avenged Sevenfold and Bleeding Through, who aren't afraid of piping classic metal conventions into their modern day chug, that help prevent an abundance of suckage in Loud Rock.

CHILDREN OF BODOM

Hate Crew Deathroll (Century Media)

For most metalheads, the crown jewel in the Finnish metal crown has always been Amorphis. But while Amorphis has "morphed" away from the abrasive metal of its past, in favor of a progressive, Finnish folk style, its compatriots in Children Of Bodom stand in succession for the role it has abdicated. Hate Crew Deathroll — only recently available on the domestic scale, thanks to Century Media — pins melodies to NWOBHM-influenced guitars (see "Chokehold (Cocked 'N Loaded)") and evil keyboards that never sound cheesy, either. This hate crew, which obviously has a sense of humor, churns out 100 percent Grade A metal with a hearty rock 'n' roll appetite on "Bodom Beach Terror," "Triple Corpse Hammerblow" and "Lil' Bloodred Ridin' Good." In fact, Hate Crew Deathroll might even change the perception most American metal fans have of Eurometal. Here's a handy slogan to help you remember Children Of Bodom: Quality melodic death metal — It's not just from Sweden anymore.

If you're going through serious withdrawal from Pantera's power grooves while the band remains in limbo, then Pissing Razors can help you get past the chills, the nightsweats, and the harrowing pain of the loss; Evolution will wean you of your addiction. The Texas band erects walls of groove and, despite a revolving door membership, remains nü-metal free. Evolution is also reminiscent of the neo-trash of Bay Area bands like Machine Head and Skinlab, so if you're a fan of that sound, then Pissing Razors is sure to please. ZORN'S 50TH BIRTHDAY BASH

It's hard to believe, but the inscrutable John Zorn turned 50 on Sept. 2. He's still prodigious as ever, but he just doesn't strike one as being 50. (Perhaps it's the army pants and red t-shirts he wears like a uniform.) Marking this milestone, the saxophonist/composer/downtown ideologue has put together an impressive month-long residency at New York City's Tonic that covers everything from the sublime to the manic. Nearly every one of September's 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. performances includes Zorn in some context — and if Zorn isn't playing personally, then one of the artists from his Tzadik label is.

Highlights from Zorn's regular working groups are Masada (Sept. 18–20), Electric Masada (Sept. 25–27), Masada String Trio (Sept. 4) and the Bar Kokba chamber group (Sept. 12–13). Zorn also brought back his thrash rock band Painkiller with Bill Laswell and Hamid Drake (Sept. 5–6). There are a number of his famed game pieces (each of which features a highly flexible set of rules for musicians to use while improvising together), including his popular "Cobra," "Xu Feng," "Duras/Duchamp," "Fencing" and

"Hockey/Soccer/Rugby." The man-of-the-month will also play in duos with the mighty Milford Graves, Susie Ibarra, Derek Bailey and Wadada Leo Smith. Additionally, Zorn will bring back his ongoing trio collaboration with Faith No More's Mike Patton and downtown sound architect Ikue Mori, with whom he recorded Hemophiliac in 2002. And there will be a night of his film works too. Zorn freaks take note: he'll premiere the new game piece, entitled "Chimeras/ Sortilege," so be the first in your chat room to see it. This isn't so much a residence as a festival; one that attracts some of the most important players in new music and highlights one of Jazz's most complex and interesting figures.

MCLAUGHLIN TO TOUR

While CMJ has already reported that guitarist John McLaughlin's new album, entitled Thieves And Poets, will be released on Verve on Oct. 9, it's now been confirmed that McLaughlin will also tour in support of the release. Strangely, while the album is a classical effort that features a suite with a full orchestra and four songs with a classical guitar quintet, the tour will be with his Indian-fusion band Remember Shakti (which also includes Zakir Hussain on tabla, V. Selvaganesh on ghatam, kanjira and maretangham, and U. Shrinivas on mandolin; they will be joined by vocalist Shankar Mahadevan from Sept. 16–21). The tour runs from Sept. 16 – Oct. 9, and hits the West Coast, Midwest and Northeast.

SOULIVE AND N'DECEOCELLO ON TOUR

It's nothing new for the new-jack trio Soulive to be out on the road, but it will now be doing select dates all over the country throughout the month on a co-headlining tour with bassist Me'shell N'degeOcello, who has a new album out on Maverick on Oct. 14. Soulive will be out in support of a remixed version of the band's Turn It Out, which includes DJ and MC appearances and remixes by N'degeOcello, the John Scofield Band's Adam Deitch, Jurassic 5's Chali 2na and Akil, DJ Spinna and others. Always looking to keep it fresh, the band is looking at bringing a horn section and/or percussionists out on tour, as well.

BIRD UP!

The long-promised Charlie Parker remix album, entitled Bird Up: The Charlie Parker Remix Project, will drop Oct. 21. Released by Savoy Jazz, home to many of Parker's most important works, the album will feature Me'shell NdegeOcello, Ravi Coltrane, El-P, Dan The Automator, the X-ecutioners, RZA, Dr. John, Kronos Quartet, Serj Tankian and more. Project producer Steve Backer offered these modern day artists unprecedented access to master takes, outtakes and false starts as source material. Sometimes artists worked alone to create their thing — NdegeOcello did "Relaxin' At Camerillo (August 29)." At other times, inspired collaborations happened, such as Hal Willner's bringing together of Dr. John, the Kronos Quartet and Mocean Worker for "Salt Peanuts (The Mr. Peanut Chronicles)."

THE RETURN OF JAMES CARTER

Saxophonist James Carter has been quiet since simultaneously releasing Chasin' The Gypsy and Layin' In The Cut for Atlantic in 2000. But lo and behold, Carter will now reappear on Columbia (he did two albums for the label in the early-'90s), with a tribute to Billie Holiday entitled Gardenias, due for release on Nov. 11. The label jump should come as no surprise: Yves Beauvais, the head of Columbia's Jazz department, was head of Atlantic's Jazz department during Carter's tenure there (1994–2000).

The album features four songs from the Holiday repertoire and four from contemporaries of the singer. Carter mostly plays a mix of old-school swing and bebop with support from pianist John Hicks, bassist Peter Washington and drummer

Victor Lewis. Most cuts also feature smart string arrangements from Greg Cohen or Cassius Richmond. While fans may not be happy to hear the fiery saxophonist playing it so straight-ahead with a string section, there are moments here that make this worth checking out, not the least of which is the mind-blowing version of "Strange Fruit."

NICHOLAS PAYTON

Sonic Trance (Warner Bros.)

Nicholas Payton has come a long way since his 2001 tribute to Louis Armstrong, Dear Louis. A spaced-out, electro-Jazz freak-out, Sonic Trance, shows the Crescent City trumpeter is also a fan of electric Miles and Herbie Hancock's Mwandishi. Like his predecessors, Payton is trying to break free — not from the burden of being a Jazz musician (which may be what Payton is referring to with the song title “Velvet Handcuffs”) — but from the constructs that are supposed to come with it. Hence, we get an open-ended modern Jazz approach to music that incorporates such un-Jazz sounds as birdcalls (“Two Mexicans On The Wall”), piercing synthesized tones (“Tantric”) and dancehall toasts (“Shabba Un-Ranked”). Overall, there’s a dark groove and unsettled Jazz vision that marks this album as moody and a little dangerous, in the best possible way. This will be a shock to the system of Payton fans, but is an excellent album in its own right.

JEAN-MICHEL PILC

Cardinal Points (Dreyfus)

French pianist Jean-Michel Pilc's top-notch trio efforts have always found him to be a lyrical pianist in the company of a powerful rhythm section. Here, however, he partially steps away from that context to explore a more African music sound, with the augmentation of percussionist Abdou Mboup and saxophonist Sam Newsome. The results are remarkably strong (particularly the rollicking polyrhythmic beast “South”), as Pilc and Newsome superimpose their jazzy chops over the warm, earthy backing. Those pining for Pilc's trio work get the four-part “Trio Sonata,” a 29-minute tour-de-force that rises to raging highs before delving into knotty, introspective lows. Pilc has a flair for the dramatic throughout, punctuating ideas emphatically, doing impressive runs and employing some tricky phrasing.

OMAR SOSA

A New Life (Ota)

New fathers can be a bit indulgent, but we can forgive pianist Omar Sosa for this — especially when it comes in the form of such a fine solo piano album as A New Life. The album is chock-full of ideas (18 tracks in all), but not only does Sosa have a lot to say, he also does it in his own creative and unique way. From elegiac ballads (“Escucho”) to romping Latin rhythms (“Danzon De Los Indios”) to creative experimentation (“Nacimiento”), the pianist displays his dazzling technique and a restless need to reach beyond the obvious. A New Life is another fine effort from this exceptional artist.

Aguila," the new 12-inch from Aztec Mystic (a.k.a. DJ Rolando), is out this month on Underground Resistance. Rolando is also hard at work compiling the next installment of the Night:Life mix CD series. • Grayarea is touring the West Coast throughout September. • Wu-Tang Clan's RZA will appear on a track on I:Cube's forthcoming album, 3. • KMFDM will tour North America throughout October and November, in support of its new disc, WWIII — due Sept. 22 on Sanctuary Records. • DJ Dan will mix the next installment in Moonshine's Mixed Live series. Like past mixes in the series, Dan's compilation will come packed with a bonus DVD featuring a Dolby Digital 5.1 version of the mix and additional bonus material. Things should really get interesting when Iceland's Gus Gus presents its own Mixed Live CD later this year. • Future Sound Of London recently signed with System Recordings. Expect a new album sometime next year.

RPM Q&A: RICHARD X

Do you ever get shit from people for gaining fame through bootleg- ging?

Nah. To be honest, there's nothing more boring than people who display obvious talent in this country. We have people who can sing and dance very well, but the thing that's missing is a bit of roughness and some personality. I want to inhabit an area where the freaks are in charge.

records at some point that I've loved, and most of them kind of inadvertently made genius pop records — by not thinking they were making pop, they've come up with something left-field and fantastic. These are the people I thought would be likeminded enough to get involved. I could have got all my trendy friends involved, but I didn't want to make something ultra-cool, because that's not what pop music's about — pop music's about excitement.

There's a good chance that people who are usually turned off by mainstream pop and R&B will really get into the stuff you do. There's just something different here.

I love so much American R&B. Over the last three years, it's driven me — from what [prolific producer] Rodney Jerkins did to Brandy's records, and obviously the Neptunes are people that I like. But I don't want to copy that. In Britain, we sort of take pride in changing things that you give to us, and then giving it to you back [laughs]. The record does sound fresh, but I don't know why.

Maybe one reason is that, unlike typical pop music, your CD actually reeks of a party.

It does! I think that, even though some of the samples could be 20 years old, it just sounds a bit new — it just sounds a bit unlike everything else. I think that, over everything, people have picked up on that, and they're going, "Well, you know, everything doesn't have to stay the same."

Wouldn't it be cool to splice Avenue D's "Do I Look Like A Slut" with Christina Aguilera's "Beautiful?" It certainly makes sense on all counts, and the result is bound to be pretty damn funny. London, England's Richard X first gained notoriety under his Girls On Top guise for following that kind of idea and creating bootlegs like the Whitney Houston vs. Kraftwerk construction "I Wanna Dance With Numbers"; the TLC vs. the Human League mash-up "Being Scrubbed"; and the Missy Elliott vs. the Normal mix "Warm Bitch." X's debut LP, X-Factor Vol. 1, marries his bootlegging past with deft production skills and an all-star lineup of collaborators (including Kelis, Tiga and Pulp's Jarvis Cocker, to name a few), for one of this year's finest albums. CMJ recently spoke with Richard X about the new disc, and his ascent from the underground.

How did your new record come about?

I signed to Virgin about a year-and-a-half ago and pretty much started work on it then. It's funny — when I signed, the Sugababes record still hadn't come out, so all of a sudden, my project looked completely different. I was originally signed as an underground act, and then all of a sudden, the stuff that was very underground was in the Top 10, so you kind of adapt. I've still made the record that I wanted to make, but what I was doing quickly went from being very underground and trendy to the currency of pop music. This is great for me, because I actually love pop music.

You've got a "who's who" of collaborators on the disc. Why did you choose them?

It just emphasizes the personal nature of this project. These are all people that have made

FROST

Melodica (Shadow)

Straight from the land of Vikings, reindeer and Roysköpp comes Frost — Tromso, Norway's latest icy downtempo electronica act. Melodica is the product of singer Aggie Peterson and producer Per Martinson, who have imbued the disc with a style similar to that of the song-driven dance music that marked Gus Gus's earlier work, combined with the beautiful glitchy electronica of Isolée. Fans of Björk's most recent and more electronic-based productions (aided by producers like Matmos and LFO's Mark Bell) will find a powerful recipe in Martinson's sweeping musical backdrop, layered under Peterson's prominent vocals. Breaking the ice early on in the album is the excellent "Running Boy," a track filled with tickling beats and a gorgeous vocal — you will melt when Martinson bellows the chorus. Meanwhile, "Half-Whole" is a collaboration with Roysköpp, filled with distorted vocals coated by the sound of a Nordic music box. This is the perfect album to escape the impending Indian summer.

SO

So (Thrill Jockey)

LITHOPS

Script (Thrill Jockey)

So is the side project from Eri and Markus Popp (a.k.a. Oval, Microstoria), and Lithops is the work of Jan St. Wenner (no, not that Jan Wenner), better known as one-third of Mouse On Mars. The former is a bizarre concoction of mostly warm and bleepy sounds that might, in fact, be used as a device to call pigeons with, but it remains versatile enough to also work as the soundtrack to a Japanese tea ceremony... on Venus. Lithops's Script, meanwhile, is layered with a volcanic rumbling that sounds like a computer with a stomach virus. Gentle tones are occasionally revealed, but for the most part, this is music seemingly made with a rusty Brillo pad; a sound stylistically similar to that of a herd of elephants walking over bubble wrap.

CHRIS LIBERATOR

CL 03 (Trust The DJ)

Chris Liberator, along with his fellow Liberator DJs (Aaron and Julian), is best known for spinning some of the best acid-soaked techno. From the Latino beat-down of Simon Digby's "Fiesta Del Sol" to the happy hardcore of Guy McAffer and Stirling Moss's "Raw" and the squelching acid lines of Magnum Force's "Blow The Bloody Doors Off," with his latest mix, Liberator has created a collection of music fitting for a party at the Axis chemical plant.

TOUR TIDBITS

Oh yes, Pilot To Gunner is a band of traveling fools. With shows scheduled for the upcoming weeks, you can see Pilot play a few dates with Lake Trout (Sept. 17 in Brooklyn, New York and Sept. 18 in Philadelphia), two shows with Retisonic (Sept. 20 in Albany, New York and Sept. 27 in Boston), a night with Dropsonic in NYC (Sept. 25) and a gig on Sept. 27 with Hero Pattern in Hoboken, New Jersey. Stop by www.pilottogunner.biz for all things PTG, including demos of a few new songs for your downloadable pleasure.

Fans of Radiohead, Slowdive and all other purveyors of dreamy alternative rock, take notice: A Northern Chorus (pictured) is playing a slew of Canadian and American dates this fall. The indie chamber-pop collective, straight out of Hamilton, Ontario, is on the road promoting its disc, Spirit Flags (Sonic Unyon). Make sure you mark your calendar for the group's lush show when it hits your area. Mosey on over to www.anorthernchorus.com for all the dates.

As you probably know, Thursday has a brand new album, War All The Time, due out this week. A string of dates in support of the record will be taking the band through Sept. 28, after which it will head off to the U.K. for more touring fun. Before the current jaunt ends, you can likely catch the boys in your city — for the full tour itinerary, just head to www.islandrecords.com/thursday. The next show is slated for Atlanta's Masquerade on Sept. 15.

The Everyothers, a New York-based quartet slanted towards Bowie and that flashy, classic modern rock sound, are on the road now in support of their upcoming release, due Nov. 4. The band can be caught until Oct. 1, with shows ranging from a gig at the Lime Spider in Akron, Ohio on Sept. 23 to the final date at Pianos in New York City. Click over to www.everyothers.com for more information, and don't forget to pick up the band's debut album when it drops.

HART OF THE MATTER

As Fingerprints-LINCS-CIMS mad-hatter Rand Foster left the NYC indie confab a few weeks ago (tripping over the extension cord on his way out, plunging New York into darkness—thanks Rand) he caught a glimpse of a CNN ticker racing along the bottom of his hotel room TV screen: “Five California indie retailers file class action against Best Buy.” He couldn’t believe his eyes. Called everyone he knew, vaguely disbelieving it made the national news. Upon landing back in California, and as if to reassure Rand that he hadn’t lost his mind to five nights of rock-induced sleep deprivation, CNN ran the ticker again—it was true.

Most of you have read the smattering of reports detailing the official complaints lodged by the official plaintiffs (Mad/Rhino, Boo Boo Records, Lou’s Records, Dimple Records and Fingerprints); namely that Best Buy has been violating state and federal antitrust laws governing loss-leader practices and using its heft to leverage favorable pricing and advertising benefits from major labels that are unavailable to its competitors. This is war.

This is a major legal campaign with life-and-death consequences for many retailers (both indie and major) cross-country. I recently sat down with the man helping head the battle to behead retail’s modern day Goliath. In Rand’s own words:

What impact have Best Buy practices had over the years on your own business?

Well, I think the impact has been much more than local. Certainly they’re having an impact on LINCS stores and Fingerprints, but this is a national issue. Best Buy is playing a major role in devaluing music. If consumers are consistently bombarded with a $9.99 list price on an $18.98 list item, it gives them a false sense of an album’s worth. Secondly, if they’ve paid more than $9.99, they feel like they’ve been ripped off. I don’t think loss-leader pricing increases sales. It just moves sales around.

What was business like before Best Buy made loss-leaders an institution?

Well before, Tuesday was an event. But now, much of the excitement and anticipation for new-release-Tuesdays is absent. People who traditionally would come in and get exposed to new and developing artists aren’t coming in day-of-release—more than anything they’re kind of coming in throughout the week. The real rabid diehard fans are being siphoned off and redirected to Best Buy because of pricing.

How do you think labels have responded to the practice?

It’s been one of the worst things that could have happened to the industry, and the labels surprisingly embraced it with open arms because it helped frontload sales. I think it’s one of the leading factors in the music industry turning into the movie industry—it’s all about those first-week sales. I don’t want to say, however, that labels necessarily abandon every artist after the first week, but the reality is that if it’s not having a big first week, they withdraw support. A record that, with a little bit of time could have been a profitable record, a record that does well for a lot of people including the artist, becomes this week’s Gigli because it had a bad first week.

If Best Buy has proven anything, isn’t it that records sell at $9.99?

That’s one of the messages we’re hoping to get there. We’re not against the $9.99 CD by any stretch. I would love it if we could sell new releases at $9.99, but we can’t do it at a three-dollar loss. And that really is the crux of the issue for us. It’s not about the price, I love $9.99, but the fans are being siphoned off for nothing more than price. They’re not going to Best Buy for the experience. That being said, our stores still definitely see traffic. It’s not, to use the quote from your column last week, like there are tumbleweeds blowing through our stores. But things have definitely changed. Best Buy’s loss-leader pricing has siphoned of the bulk of the hit sales. Traditionally, the ones who came in to buy the hits were the ones we were able to expose to new artists and to the experience of finding them. They are losing those opportunities now.

What do you hope the suit will accomplish?

Certainly our primary directive is to make this behavior stop. It’s devastating for retail, bad for the industry as a whole, incredibly short-sighted and terrible for consumers. In the end, it’s going to mean a lot less choices for consumers because they’re going to places that sell shitloads of the top 200 records and stock very little of the rest. That’s the direction Best Buy’s headed and it’s taking the business with them. We’re not looking for MAP, we’re just looking for Best Buy to operate within the law.

Next week, part II: How far is this band of retailers prepared to go?

Avid and active fan network street-teaming for all things Ruth.
Notes	L.A. band is very much an artist development project for Virgin. Ima Robot snipes all over New York and L.A. Band also included on Diesel and Urban Outfitters samplers, exposure at Puma stores. Available tools for retailers include buttons, stickers, window clings, stencils and poster flats.	One of the most original wordsmiths in the game—spitting a rapid-fire, neo-literary verbal deluge over self-produced avant-scuzz—this is one of the most awaited indie hip-hop records of the year. Def Jux says Tooth may be the biggest in their history. Limited edition 24"x22" poster of cover art, 11"x17" retail posters, 5"x5" postcard stickers all available. Contact: djl@definitivejux.net	Soul-baring Modest-Mouse-enthusiast/ Minneapolis MC Slug pours out confessional lyrics of love and loves lost, Muggs-meets-Morricone producer Ant drops darkly hued crackle. Lovelorn kids treat these tracks like sacred texts, and Slug's punk rock work ethic makes Epitaph (releasing their first rap record ever!) the perfect home. For in-store and display material contact gina@epitaph.com .	Bottom line is Ruth sells live. You get 50 people to a living room show, 30 will walk away with multiple CDs. If you haven't gotten a copy of this record, you have to hear the whole thing—some real beauty here. Posters and three-song samplers available for retailers. Email nearmintrecords@aol.com .

CMJ Retail's New Music Mobile: Reach 50,000 active music consumers through our new in-store play disc.

Deadline: September 10. Contact: Gerry at CMJ Retail (917.606.1908 ext. 254 or gheart@cmj.com)

After traveling to the Big Easy to see the reunited X, the gang at St. Petersburg, Florida's Daddy Kool decided to make their stores a little more tightly knit. "[In New Orleans] you'd be like, 'Do you have these shoes in black?' And they'll say 'We don't have 'em in black in your size here, but go to our other store right around the corner,'" says Daddy Kool operator Manny Matalon "That happened three or four times. That was our philosophy: If it's good enough for New Orleans, it's good enough for St. Pete!"

Both Daddy Kools—one a vinyl-only retailer—are on Central Ave., which also houses premier St. Pete venue State Theater (whose shows are booked by DK owner Tony Rifugiato). When DK settled in St. Pete—after stints in the sleepier suburbs of Bradenton and Sarasota—the new venue meant an updated store name. Albeit a confusing one. "When the St. Petersburg store opened up in 1999, they decided to call it Daddy Kool.com," Manny says. "We have a big neon sign in the window that says Daddy Kool.com. Don't ask me why. There is really no Web site."

Q&A with Manny Matalon, operator, Daddy Kool

What local press affects sales most?
I would have to pimp part of our universal empire, [regional monthly] Focus Magazine.

The guys that own this store put it out. The guy that used to work here is now the music editor at [Tampa alt-weekly] Weekly Planet.

What radio station affects sales most?
Our community radio station, 88.5 WMNF. The one that drives the most quote-unquote alternative rock is commercial station, 97X.

Do you have in-stores?
We don't really do in-stores. We're so close to the State Theater. The bands are coming to perform already. Seventy percent or more of the bands come in the store anyway. They hang out, give us props, spend their per diem. And they're always gracious to the kids. I try to create a more laid-back atmosphere for the musicians to hang out.

If you shake the magazine, this picture looks normal.

What is your most effective program?
The listening station program. It's 100 percent discretionary: who wants to pay and do we like you.

What other programs do you offer? Are any of them discretionary?
We're part of the Concrete Corner. We do counter space and whatever else floats our fancy. The thing that most kids come in here for is free samplers.

What types of non-traditional promotions have worked best?
We have a store next door called Star Booty. They have local bands play outside on our sidewalk. So if there's a big long line at the State Theater and there's some band that couldn't get on the bill, they'll play the sidewalk. 'Fuck you! you're gonna listen to us anyway!'

What display materials work best for you?
We put up posters and flats, poster boards, banners, mobiles. We try to be pretty accommodating, considering we don't have a lot of space. We don't charge to put up a mobile or a poster. We've got a window cling from 1999 from the Beastie Boys—hey, cool window cling. I'm not gonna take it down because someone is gonna offer me 50 bucks to put up Boo And Gotti

What records are your current and all-time favorites?
The new Outkast [single] and Prince's Sign O' The Times

What's the first record you bought and where?
J. Geils—that album with "Freeze Frame" or whatever—on cassette, at the mall.

What's the best concert you've attended?
The first Lollapalooza. Nine Inch Nails was just mind-blowing. They were on at three in the afternoon. I'm fuckin' tripping my brains out, drinking rum out of a garbage bag.

Kid Koala And Girlfriend To Kook For Customers

To promote his latest album, Some Of My Best Friends Are DJs, Kanadian kut-up Kid Koala—the illest DJ to ever scratch free-jazz records without using headphones—is having the kooltest contest this side of the Coalition Of Independent Music Stores. Dates have yet to be determined, but the grand prize is a private show by the only DJ demented enough to open for Radiohead... held at the champion's house!

And while Koala will be slicing up records in your living room, his girlfriend will be slicing up carrots—she's making dinner for everyone! "I haven't had her food," says Scott Register, CIMSter and winner of the Most Eerily Appropriate Surname For Retail Employee Award every year since the unfortunate and unexplained death of Peter "Co-Op" Advertising, "but word is she's a wonderful cook."

As an added bonus, the decks that Koala wrecks will stay at the winner's house, so the winner can create sonic mindfucks all of his/her own (if he or she can get that damn eucalyptus smell out). All battlers in this competition need to register at any CIMS store—one winner from each store will get a whole pack of Koala yummys, including a T-shirt, autographed swag and custom designed playing cards.

But what's in it for retailers? Well, the store that comes up with the best display wins a pizza/beer party hosted by Koala (a fine chance for a meet-and-greet, but, please, be careful with scheduling, koalas sleep 18 hours a day), a Rane DJ mixer and other goodies to be announced. Our suggestion for a winning display: no foxes or dingoes. Koalas hate that shit.

Concerts To Benefit Alejandro Escovedo

The folks at Bloodshot Records are asking the retail community to help raise awareness of some recent benefit events. Alt-country pioneer Alejandro Escovedo (San Francisco punkers The Nuns, cowpunks Rank And File, Texas roots-rawkers True Believers, oodles of solo stuff) is currently suffering from Hepatitis C. Alejandro is unable to tour because of the virus, thus cutting off a significant supply of income for the Americana road dog.

After two successful benefits in Chicago in June (raising over $10,000), there are currently benefit concerts being organized across the country. Recent shows in Brooklyn, Manhattan and San Francisco have featured performances by artists such as Dave Alvin, Levon Helm and The Last Hombres, Los Lonely Boys, Jon Langford, Star Spangles... and more are on the way! For details, see www.alejandrofund.com.

Answer: 1,066 and 2/3 yards of rim

Will Work For Food: At the confab, the Music Monitor Network celebrates their fifth anniversary. (From left) Brett Wickard of Bull Moose Music, Judy Negley of Independent Records And Video, Scott Perkins of Cat's Music/Pop Tunes, Don Rosenberg of The Record Exchange, Music Monitor Network honcho Michael Kurtz, Dilyn Radakovitz of Dimple Records and Joe Nardone Jr. of Gallery Of Sound.

Andele, andele, mami! T.I.! T.I.! Southern rap sensation T.I. took a much needed respite from "money, hoes, cars and clothes" and "blowin' 'dro [on] 24s" at [nothin'-could-be-finer-than-] North-and-South-Carolina retailer Manifest Discs And Tapes. The rapper rolled up into the Columbia, South Carolina store and 400 fans followed. Therefore, if each one of those fans has 24" rims on their cars, how many yards of rim would be parked outside the Columbia store? Answer below!

REPORTING DATES

Aug. 29 – Sept. 2

CMJ REPORTING HOURS

6 a.m. Friday – 2 p.m. Tuesday EST

www.cmj.com/reporting/

NOTE TO REPORTERS: Printed playlists reflect airplay reported to CMJ two weeks prior to the magazine's cover date. The number of station playlists printed each week in CMJ is randomly determined by available space.

CMJ REPORTING GUIDELINES

CMJ Airplay Reporters must submit reports weekly, via the online interface located at www.cmj.com, prior to 2 p.m. (ET) every Tuesday afternoon, abiding to the following guidelines:

- "Adds" are the new and current albums that a CMJ Airplay Reporter makes available for airplay and reasonably expects will receive airplay during the forthcoming week.
- Albums reported in a CMJ Airplay Reporter's Top 30 playlist must represent the 30 most played current albums on the station during the preceding week. Because we are a "new" music publication whose charts are album-based, reporting re-currents (or recordings more than a year old) or singles is not necessary.
- Airplay reports that do not correlate with actual airplay, also known as "paper adds," are not permitted under any circumstances.
- When CMJ cannot vouch for the accuracy of an artist and/or recording on a station's airplay report (we do so by investigating our own internal database, searching the Internet and/or consulting with online music retailers), the listing in question will remain in its position on the playlist — however, it will be preceded by an asterisk, as in *Beatles, to designate that it could not be verified at press time. CMJ will then utilize all available resources to verify the unverified listing either prior to the week's reporting close or before the next week's reporting period commences.
