EDITORIAL A Matter Of Giving

At the recent membership meeting of the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers, better known as ASCAP, the treasurer's annual report revealed that record levels had been achieved in total receipts and domestic receipts. Both figures exceeded $100 million, the domestic receipts topping that level for the first time ever.

However, it was also noted that inflation had "tar-nished" the Society's true revenues and that there had been little true growth. Perhaps that is a sign of the times.

In a utilitarian sense, music surely occupies one of the lower rungs on the ladder. After all, you can't eat a song, drive a commercial jingle to work or wear the score for a television drama.

Still, music occupies an important part of our lives. It offers comfort and inspiration, as well as pure entertainment. In such troubled times as we are living in now — with turmoil on the international political level and chaos within the worldwide economic community — perhaps what we need is more of the human and creative side of life.

ASCAP members should feel proud for that reason. All financial aspects aside (after all, who other than oil shieks abroad and oil magnates at home can genuinely claim economic growth today?), the members of the music community are among the few who give more to society than they can ever ask in return.

EPIC INKS DAN HILL — Epic Records has signed singer-songwriter Dan Hill to an exclusive worldwide contract. His new LP, "If Dreams Had Wings," which includes the single, "I Still Reach For You," will be released next month. Shown at the signing (l-r) are: Marvin Cohn, vice president of business affairs for CBS Records; co-manager Bernie Finkelstein; Bruce Lundvall, president of CBS Records Division; Hill; Don Dempsey, senior vice president and general manager of E/P/A; co-manager Bernie Fiedler; Allen Davis, president of CBS Records International; Arnold Gosewich, chairman and chief operating officer for CBS Records Canada; and Lennie Petze, vice president of national A&R for Epic Records.

Change Of Government Stalls Canadian Tax Break Program

by Kirk LaPointe

TORONTO — The topsy-turvy fate of legislation to assist the Canadian music industry seems once again to be temporarily shelved as a result of the Feb. 18 federal election that saw Pierre Trudeau's Liberal party convincingly return to power after a nine-month stint as the opposition party.

The Liberals' dramatic return to

Capitol/UA/EMI Group Realigns Promotion Units

by Richard Imamura

LOS ANGELES — In a move designed to provide what Capitol/United Artists/EMI America Records Group president Don Zimmermann called a "better focus and better direction," the promotion staffs of both the R&B and country divisions of Capitol and United Artists/EMI America were consolidated last week.

In the R&B division, Don Mack, Capitol director of national R&B promotion, will head a new team to handle promotion duties for the Capitol, United Artists and EMI America labels. The new staff, whose final size is still "under advisement," according to Zimmermann, will most likely consist of up to nine field reps.

In the country division, Lynn Shults, Capitol's Nashville general manager, will head the Capitol/UA country operations, with Jerry Seabolt, United Artists' Nashville head, in charge of the entire country promotion team.

As a part of the consolidation, "three or four" staffers from the United Artists/EMI America R&B promotion team, including Jack Shields, the label's director of national R&B promotion, were terminated. However, the company is "attempting to relocate the others," according to Zimmermann.

R&B Relocates

Varnell Johnson, A&R head of the United Artists/EMI America R&B unit, and the rest of his staff have relocated their offices to the Capitol Tower.

In addition, three members of Capitol's Nashville staff, including Ed Keeley, the label's country promotion head, and one staffer from United Artists' Nashville unit were also terminated.

According to Zimmermann, the consolidations mean that the Capitol team will Parliament, taking 148 of 281 seats in the federal House of Commons, has been cause for reserved apprehension initially from leading spokesmen for the music business in this country.

Now, it seems, much of the work in conjunction with the Conservative party during the last Parliamentary session, which included various tax incentives for record producers and other programs in support of the industry (Cash Box, June 16 and Dec. 30, 1979), has been undone, or at least stalled, as the new regime assumes the reins of control.

Industry Booster Ousted

The biggest blow to the industry, and one of the more shocking upsets for Joe Clark's Tory machine on election day, was the defeat of David MacDonald, Secretary of State and Minister of Communications. MacDonald, a prime mover in the Tory government's music industry programs, was ousted from his seat representing the Egmont riding in Prince Edward Island.

Canadian Recording Industry Association (CRIA) president Brian Robertson expressed dismay at MacDonald's defeat, adding that the Cabinet member "showed a great deal of awareness and interest in our industry."

"I'm pessimistic about what is going to happen now," Robertson added in regard to the impending capital cost allowance legislation before parliamentary sub-

WEA To Adopt Bar Coding For All Product During 1980

by Marc Cetner

LOS ANGELES — Following the lead of its Warner Bros. label, WEA will adopt bar coding for all of its product some time after July 1, 1980, thus joining Capitol, CBS A&M, and Chrysalis in the move to the computerized numbering system for merchandising and inventory.

Already adopted by approximately 25% of the record market, according to estimates of the National Association of Recording Merchandisers (NARM), WEA's commitment to bar coding is a major step towards the adoption of the system by the industry as a whole.

"As far as WEA is concerned, we are in the process of doing a study that will give us a compatible numbering system for our three companies," said Jack Reinstein, Elektra/Asylum vice president and treasurer, who also served as WEA spokesman on the issue.

Universal Numbering System

"The study is about 95% done," Reinstein explained. "Once it is done, we will then be able to go to a universal numbering system that can be used among all of our companies and will lend itself to being bar coded as well."

Although Reinstein expressed reservations about the cost to retailers for the installment of the sophisticated data processing equipment required to read a bar code and the use of the OCRA and OCB systems by such WEA customers as the Korvettes and Sears department store chains, he maintained that WEA will continue in its move to bar coding "at the request of NARM and our customers."

"If there is something that the merchandisers need, then we will attempt to give it to them," Reinstein stated.

Polygram is also attempting to convert to the bar coding system, but has run into problems with its multi-label catalog. "We are holding off on bar coding until we resolve the dilemma of our numbering scheme," explained Art Whitmore, vice president of information systems at Polygram. "The main problem is that our digit scheme is 12 digits, and we have to squeeze it down to five for the bar code."

"Once we get that resolved, we can go ahead," Whitmore added. "We haven't applied for our number yet, but we can do that anytime."

Other Companies

Other companies are also considering the move to bar coding, but various reasons — including graphics and the readiness of the retail community — are currently causing a wait-and-see attitude.

At MCA, one of the main obstacles to the bar code transition has been graphics. The company has already acquired its bar code number, but questions of aesthetics have temporarily halted any further action.

"We're waiting to see if the art department has any further input or output on the subject," said Dan Westbrook, MCA vice president of manufacturing. "We're ready to move on it, but we've put it on the back burner for awhile. The graphics people questioned the decision of the RIAA subcommittee to put the bar code in the upper right hand quadrant."

"We're not opposed to it," Westbrook summarized, "we just want to make sure we're doing the right thing."

Arista and Motown are also looking closely at bar coding, but both labels expressed doubts that retail was ready to convert to the system.

Justice Department Expands Counterfeit Records Probe

by Leo Sacks

NEW YORK — The Justice Department's national probe into record counterfeiting is not limited to the recently subpoenaed Polygram Distribution product returned from the Pickwick International and Sam Goody chains, according to officials involved in the investigation. It is known that a number of record manufacturers and retailers have been requested to appear before a federal grand jury in Brooklyn, including prominent executives from such labels as CBS, Casablanca, RCA and RSO.

Although it is not known which retailers have been subpoenaed, a federal court transcript of a conversation between an FBI informer and George Tucker, recently indicted by a grand jury in connection with the FBI's seizure of counterfeit recordings in December 1978 (Cash Box, Feb. 16), revealed certain links between counterfeit product and the legitimate industry. According to the transcript, Tucker noted that "some of the best retail stores in the country," including some Sam Goody and Korvettes stores, had received counterfeit recordings. Federal investigators estimate the annual street value of counterfeit product to be around $600 million.

It is also understood from reliable sources that a representative of B.C.F. Productions Inc. of Bohemia, N.Y., one of 13 sites in New York raided by the FBI in December 1978, had discussed with a federal informant identified as Norton Verner the sale of large quantities of counterfeit cassettes to a party in England. Verner is the individual who purchased 60,000 counterfeit eight-track tapes from Tucker last year for approximately $80,000 in cash, according to a federal indictment.

Tucker, 49, president and secretary of Super Duper Inc. of Hasbrouck Heights, N.J., is scheduled to appear before U.S. District Court Judge Thomas C. Platt on March 7 for trial on two counts of obstruction of justice and one count each of perjury and extortion. He is also expected to be sentenced in connection with his guilty plea last August to one count of wire fraud and one count of copyright infringement.

Indie Promotion People Hurt By Record Label Cutbacks

by Leo Sacks

NEW YORK — As a result of recent cutbacks at most record companies in the promotion area, contracts for the services of independent promotion personnel have declined, according to a Cash Box survey. Top 40 and especially AOR independents have been forced to a changing scene, marked by new economic realities that have drastically curtailed the number of projects available to them.

Most AOR independents privately concede that Top 40 indies are airing better than their counterparts partly because "the very nature of the business revolves around the single," as one Buffalo-based independent put it. This situation, they contend, is compounded by the fact that AOR promotion does not offer the immediate results at the retail level that an add at a Top 40 station can bring. Consequently, the hiring of AOR independents is viewed today as an ancillary expense because "labels want bottom line results which AOR promotion — as a relatively new phenomenon — can't give them," according to one New York-based independent.

Faced with these new realities, a growing

Capitol, Ariola End Distribution Pact For U.S.

NEW YORK — Capitol Records and Ariola America Records have terminated the agreement under which Capitol distributed Ariola America product in the U.S.

According to a Capitol press release, Ariola America has indicated that certain titles in its catalog are being distributed by Arista Records in the U.S., but that formal arrangements for U.S. distribution have yet to be announced. Neither Arista or Ariola would say which titles were being distributed by Arista. However, a source at an Arista distributor said that he had received a single by Ariola recording group The Three Degrees from Arista.

Returns Dealine

Capitol will continue to accept returns on Ariola America product that is distributed by Capitol until March 15, 1980. Returns are to be made through the local Capitol branch.

At presstime, Arista had not committed itself to take back any Ariola America product other than that being distributed by Arista. A clarification on this point, however, is expected when definitive arrangements are made for the distribution of Ariola America product in the U.S.

number of AOR indies are turning to managers, music and book publishers, and regional artists on smaller labels to replace some of the business lost to them in recent months. They noted that this has as much to do with the majors' concern for the bottom line as it does with the dramatic consolidation of the business in the past year.

Top 40 Encroachment

Comments from a cross-section of national and regional independent promotion workers revealed some basic differences in the perception of their roles within the industry. For example, most of the Top 40 promotion firms who were surveyed said that, by adding one or two persons to handle album promotion, they could increase their influence in certain markets and their importance to the record labels. This is naturally viewed as an encroachment by AOR independents, who feel that the Top 40 specialists are already given preferential treatment by most labels. One AOR independent, based in Boston, said the situation smacked of "the move on the part of the major networks into the cable television field. The networks see the handwriting on the wall, as do the people in Top 40, who know that today's kids are listening to FM with greater frequency than ever before." Similarly, he asked, "Why are AOR promotion budgets taking a back seat when an increasing number of artists' contracts contain provisions for independent budgets. That does nothing to buttress the common promotion executive's contention that Top 40 is the future of the business."

One prominent Top 40 promotion executive, based in Philadelphia, argued that major record companies are leaning to the Top 40 reps more today because of a changing musical climate that is more conducive to cross-over material. "In realigning their financial priorities," he explained, "the labels know that their money will be

by Marc Cetner

LOS ANGELES — American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers (ASCAP) total receipts exceeded the $100 million level for the third year in a row in 1979 as revenues jumped to $127,935,000 from $116,651,000 in 1978. 1979 was also a record year for domestic receipts, which topped the $100 million mark for the first time.

The figures were revealed in the ASCAP

ALBERT GREETSS DAVIS — Cash Box president and publisher George Albert (l) greeted Arista Records chief Clive Davis at a recent west coast luncheon inaugurating the T.J. Martell Foundation's 1980 activities. Davis will be honored with the foundation's fourth Humanitarian Award.

Alfieri Appointed Chief Financial Officer For RCA

NEW YORK — Frank T. Alfieri has been appointed chief financial officer for the RCA Corp. In addition, he will be recommended for election as executive vice president of finance at the company's board of directors meeting on March 5. Alfieri will report to Maurice Valente, RCA's president and chief operating officer.

Charles Ellis, former chief financial officer for RCA, will remain with the company as senior vice president. He will report to Edgar Griffiths, chairman and chief executive officer for RCA, and will undertake special business studies and assignments.

Alfieri, who had been senior vice president and chief financial officer of the Buchanan, Michigan-based Clark Equipment Company since 1978, spent 14 years with International Telephone and Telegraph, where he was corporate vice president and controller of ITT's European operations. Previously, he was associated with Arthur Young and Co. and the Sperry Rand Corp.

treasurer's report presented at a membership meeting Feb. 20 at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

ASCAP president Stanley Adams explained that although "revenues in 1979 hit an all-time high," the financial growth was "tarnished by inflation" and could not be precisely described as "all growth." In those areas where ASCAP fees have been on a flat dollar basis — the most important being network television — the society has not been able to keep pace with inflation, Adams added.

Distribution

Despite inflation, ASCAP members received domestic pay-outs of $79,427,000 and foreign pay-outs of $21,212,000, for a

MCA Sues Stephen Bishop Over Contract

LOS ANGELES — MCA Records has filed suit in Los Angeles Superior Court against pop artist Stephen Bishop charging breach and repudiation of contract. MCA is asking for $1.2 million in damages.

The suit contends that an agreement made by Bishop with ABC Records before the label was purchased by MCA called for six more LPs from the artist before he could record for Warner Bros. Records, where he recently signed. The initial 18-month contract, made in Feb. 1976, called for two albums, and two LPs during each of the three option periods stipulated in the agreement.

The suit claims Bishop repudiated the contract in April, 1978.

Dick Griffey's Solar Records is really beginning to burn on the charts. Classy Doo-Wop cum R&B vocal group The Whispers are currently residing at the #1 position on the Cash Box Black Contemporary Album chart and the #9 spot on the Top 200 Albums chart. In addition, the L.A.-based group's single, "And The Beat Goes On," has just captured the top spot on the B/C Singles chart as well entered the Top 40 on the Pop singles chart.

However, The Whispers isn't the only Solar act to come into its own of late. Shalamar, a lively R&B/Pop oriented trio, has also fared well in the pop and B/C trenches. The threesome's new LP, "Big Fun," aided by the top charting B/C single, "The Second Time Around," has cruised into the #6 position on the Black Contemporary Album chart. The single is sailing smoothly on the Pop Singles chart too as it is at #16 bullet.

The Whispers and Shalamar's latest vinyl efforts are receiving strong promotional help from a current tour that includes Lakeside and Dynasty in the entourage. Billed as "The Solar Galaxy of Stars," the four-band lineup will visit 70 cities during the ambitious national tour. The Solar caravan, which got underway Feb. 14 in Baton Rouge, La., is reminiscent of the "bus 'n' tuck" tours of the early Motown days.

"By putting together this self-contained tour," says Solar president Griffey, "our artists will receive concentrated exposure in each city. We feel that this is far more beneficial than having to rely on occasional headlining dates and random guesting on other acts tours."

While acts such as Carrie Lucas and Dynasty have already established credibility in the black marketplace with charting singles and albums, the Solar roster also contains up and coming acts, such as Juanita G. Hines, Midnight Star and Vaughn West.

NEW FACES TO WATCH

The Specials

How do seven lads from working class backgrounds in Coventry, England get together and form a highly successful band and label on a shoestring in just a little over a year? Ask The Specials, whose 2-Tone label has notched up five Top 20 singles in the U.K. alone, while their own self-titled debut album, released in the U.S. via Chrysalis Records, has rocketed to #80 on the Cash Box Top 100 Albums chart on the merits of its infectious mixture of ska, rock steady, punk and R&B.

"We don't just play ska, but mix a lot of different sounds into our music," says Horace (Sir Horace Gentleman) Panter, bassist for The Specials. "We started out playing quite a bit of reggae, but we also had punky songs. Then we took everything down to the lowest common denominator, where rock meets reggae. I guess you'd call it '80s ska."

Panter, rhythm guitarist Lynval Golding and keyboardist Jerry (General Dankey) Dammers joined forces for the first time in mid-1977 and in a few months added lead guitarist Roddy (Roddy Radiation) Byers and vocalist Terry Hall and Neville Staples to the line-up. The unit was fully completed a year later when John (Prince Rimshot) Bradbury decided to join after sitting in on a few sessions.

The Specials hit the road by the summer of 1978, touring with a number of bands in England, including the Clash. That pairing brought about a short-lived business involvement with Clash manager Bernie Rhodes, one of many partnerships that were to fall through, prodding the band to go into business for itself. The group, with some outside financial backing, set up the 2-Tone label (the name was borrowed from a suit fabric) and recorded a single, "Gangsters," with the B-side supplied by a band of Coventry friends known as The Selector.

"We set up 2-Tone following the punk tradition of having your own label," notes Panter. "We'd been through quite a few managers and went through a period of disillusionment. Then, a reasonably 'hip' businessman gave us some money to help us do the recording. It was the end of a vicious circle for us."

The single took off, principally from the base audience of mods and skinheads the group initially attracted, and soon every label in England was clamoring to sign them. The band resisted, deciding instead to maintain their label, eventually inking a licensing deal with Chrysalis.

"We wanted to have autonomy over what we released, but also have the distribution ply," says Panter. "I don't think we could've done it all ourselves."

Elvis Costello produced the band's debut LP in his very first project behind the boards. "He was a fan," says Panter. "He heard the single and liked it. We had signed a deal with his publisher, Plangent Visions, which is how we got together. But the LP was co-directed more than produced. I think it was important to have someone reasonably objective working with us."

Panter says that the playful band disdains being labelled "mod" or "skinhead," viewing those monikers as trendy fads.

"The Specials are a dance band, an alternative to disco, if you will," Panter points out emphatically.

Gary Numan

Atco recording artist Gary Numan, whose electronic music spins stark tales of human alienation in a machine-made future, had his first electric revelation at the age of four. It occurred while he was communing with the most important mechanical servant of the electronic age — the television. "That's where I first saw an electric guitar," he recalls. "What fascinated me even then was that it had dials and was plugged in."

Seventeen years later, Numan arrived in New York, the electric nerve-center of America, fresh from last year's phenomenal success in his native England. He has had two number one albums in the U.K. — "Replicas" and "The Pleasure Principle" and two number one singles, "Are 'Friends' Electric?" and "Cars."

"America is unbelievable, it's great, I'm even thinking of moving here," he says. In England, Numan and his brand of techno/pop-rock, derived from David Bowie's "Ziggy Stardust" period and the defunct group, Ultravox, was a subject of controversy on the musical scene. "In England we were completely unfashionable," he says. "It isn't nice to be pulled apart each week by snide comments."

Numan's synthesizer melodramas, replete with references to android love, the pre-eminence of machines, and the presence of extra-terrestrial beings on Earth, ran counter to the back-to-basics realism of London's punk-wave scene. Ironically, Numan's original band, Tubeway Army, played straight-ahead punk rock "just as a way of getting signed up." Although Numan was still playing guitar in 1978, his initial exposure to the recording studio led to an experience which would change his career.

"I was just fooling with the Moog synthesizer in the studio, and I happened to hit on this certain sound which was very deep — it had the power of ten guitars just from pressing a button. From then on, I decided to play a synthesizer instead of guitar, or mix the two of them together."

What emerged from Numan's fascination with the mini-Moog was a dense, rhythmically hypnotic sound reminiscent of Robert Wyatt's Soft Machine and Syd Barrett's Pink Floyd — although Numan claims to have never heard their music. The ethereal, all-enveloping sound was the perfect vehicle for delivering Numan's fragmented, highly personal world-view of a desperate future which is all too similar to the present.

Numan professes to have a greater fondness for the predictable "purity" of computers than the "twisted" impulses of mankind. He has reluctantly accepted exposure to a mass audience as a prerequisite for success in the music business, but he says that he plans to drop from public view in two years time.

His current American tour will offer audiences an evening of "escape" through an elaborately staged show featuring synthesizers mounted on twenty-foot towers and glowing walls of light synchronized to the music. Although his latest LP, "The Pleasure Principle," abandoned guitars altogether, Numan says that his next album will reincorporate a synthesized guitar and viola, as well as a mini-moog, bass, drums, and rhythm machine.

Publishers, A&R Execs Seek To Reconcile Divergent Aims

by Aaron Fuchs

NEW YORK — Publishers and A&R people have traditionally enjoyed a mutuality of interests. When a recording artist is looking for a song to record, both the publishing firm, which may provide the song, and the A&R man, who helps choose the song, both work towards the same end. But the growing proportion of rock groups who write their own material, coupled with the recent, norm-upsetting popularity of disco, have made the interests of the two groups increasingly divergent. A Cash Box survey of both groups indicated that, while there is a uniform consensus among publishers about their traditional role with artists who need songs, there is a diversity of attitudes towards music and artists whom they cannot service through traditional channels.

Rain Takes Toll On California, Arizona Retailers

by Michael Glynn

LOS ANGELES — A series of heavy rain storms drenched large portions of southern California and Arizona Jan. 13-20, triggering mudslides and minor flooding that generally cut retail traffic, as well as causing water damage to several stores.

While 12 inches of rain were recorded in Los Angeles alone for the seven day period and California Governor Jerry Brown declared a state of emergency for Los Angeles, Orange, Ventura and Riverside counties, the bad weather did not completely deter record buyers in most southland metropolitan markets.

According to Bob Delaney, manager for Tower Records' Sunset Blvd. outlet, business was down as much as 20% for the weekend of Feb. 16-17 at the West Hollywood store, as mud covered much of the parking lot, and rain from "minor roof leaks" destroyed some product. The rains also prohibited a large number of employees from getting to work.

"We usually experience a normal dip in sales during the month of February, with business moving back up in March," said Delaney. "But, fortunately, during the rain our storewide sales and the regular tourist traffic we receive kept things alive."

Delaney added that some of the newer Tower outlets in the Los Angeles area also experienced roof leaks and that Tower's Panorama City store was "particularly

This diversity of approaches among publishers is heightened when it comes to dealing with the growing phenomenon of self-contained rock bands. More than any other phenomenon, the reliance of these groups on their own material has cut into the publisher's traditional share of the royalty pie. Rick Smith, vice president and general manager of April Blackwood, estimated that in 1979, roughly 80% of publishers' royalties went to groups who wrote their own material. Similarly, Leeds Levy, vice president of MCA Music, observed that, "in the past five years I would estimate that most income producing songs, as reflected on both the charts and in our own earnings did not come from pure songwriters, but rather from acts that wrote their own material."

Eileen Rothschild, vice president of the RSO Music Group confirms, that "while we are always on the lookout for pure songwriters, the economic realities of today's market give the writer who can wear another hat, as either an artist or producer, an advantage." Rothschild remarked that "the record end is paramount" and could not remember when Stigwood Publishing had last had a pure songwriter under contract.

Shrinking Share

This feeling is shared on the A&R side. According to Lenny Petze, national vice president of A&R for Epic, "while we're always looking for material for artists like Meiba Moore, Patti Labelle and Engelbert Humperdinck, it's become a shrinking share of the pie. I can't think of any publisher that has had a track record of placing rock and roll songs with rock and roll bands. A pure rock and roll song is one that tends to evolve from the group's live performances, Signal Tenders Bid To Acquire Ampex Corp.

LOS ANGELES — Signal Cos. Inc., a manufacturer of aerospace and industrial products, has tendered an offer to acquire Ampex Corp., the Redwood City, Calif.-based firm that manufactures and markets professional equipment for the audio, video and computer industries. The offer involves an exchange of common stock valued between $347.6 million and $511.7 million.

Under the terms of the agreement, Signal would exchange 0.79 shares of its common stock for each share of Ampex Corp. common stock. Ampex currently has approximately 11 million common shares outstanding and 1.7 million shares reserved upon exercise of employee stock options and conversion of convertible debentures.

The proposed merger between the two companies is subject to termination by either party if, at any time up to 10 days before becoming effective, the average closing price of Signal common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for any consecutive five-day period is above $51 per share or below $40 per share.

The merger is also subject to approval by the boards of directors and shareholders of each company, various government regulatory agencies and a favorable tax ruling. The two companies said that the acquisition should be completed by the middle of this year.

A spokesman for Signal Cos. said that the firm does not "contemplate any changes" in Ampex' operating philosophies or in "its existing management." Signal's subsidiaries, which include Garrett Corp., Mack Trucks, Inc., Dunham-Bush and UOP, Inc., are allowed to operate independently, while the parent company retains legal and financial controls.

Ampex Corp., which suffered heavy losses when involved in the recorded music business, has rebounded solidly. Most recently, earnings before tax credits for the three-month period ended Jan. 26, 1980, increased to $6.4 million, up 34% from the $4.8 million reported during the same period of the previous year, while net sales and other revenues jumped 28% from $92.9 million to $118.9 million.

Net earnings increased 70% from $6.2 to $10.6 million for the same three month period, including a $4.2 million benefit from utilization of tax carryforwards as compared to a similar benefit of $1.5 million for the same period a year previously.

Sales of audio-video and magnetic tape product lines were cited as being particularly strong during the quarter, as orders were reported to be up 12% during the last quarter.

V.R. Records Formed

LOS ANGELES — Joe Rosanova, Jr., president of Rosanova Productions, Inc., has announced formation of the V.R. Record label, which will be located in the Rosanova Productions building in Southfield, Mich.

Gordon Price, Jay Butler and Etta St. James have joined the label to establish national distribution and promotion.

V.R. Records will deal primarily with R&B and pop oriented music. The label will also include its own publishing and management divisions.

ABKCO Posts First Quarter Revenues

NEW YORK — ABKCO Industries Inc. reported last week that its revenues for the first quarter ended Dec. 31, 1979 rose to $3.3 million from $2.3 million in the first quarter of 1978. This resulted in a profit of $35,865, compared to a loss of $14,647 in 1978.

total distribution of $100,639,000. The figure represents an increase of $9,173,000 over last year's $91,466,000. The sum represents the amount left after salaries and office expenses of $24,349,000 were subtracted. In 1978 those expenses totalled $21,349,000.

Domestic distribution of the $79,427,000 — up from $75,586,000 in 1978 — was made in four quarterly installments, all higher than the previous year. By quarters, the payouts were $14,695,000 for the three months ended in March (up from $14,315,000), $16,646,000 in the second quarter (up from $15,104,000), $22,070,000 in the third quarter (up from $20,127,000), and $26,016,000 in the fourth quarter (up from $22,159,000).

Domestic receipts for 1979 increased to $103,473,000 from $97,577,000 the previous year. Included in the breakdown are: licensees, including symphonic and concert, $99,765,000 (up from $95,033,000 in 1978); interest on investments, $3,319,000 (up from $2,178,000); and membership dues, $389,000 (up from $366,000).

Receipts from foreign societies showed an increase over 1978 to $24,462,000 from $19,074,000.

Integrity Reports Losses

LOS ANGELES — Disc retailer Integrity Entertainment has announced first-half losses and a second quarter profit slump, blaming the decline on "the general depressed conditions in the industry."

For the six months ended Dec. 31, Integrity, Big Ben's and The Warehouse reported a net loss of $535,000 (18 cents per share) compared to a net profit of $1,127,000 (36 cents per share) the previous year on 6% less revenue of $39,300,000 against $41,700,000.

The company's profits dropped in the second quarter to $621,000 (21 cents per share) from $932,000 (30 cents per share) as revenue was flat at $24,300,000 for both periods.

Glankoff And Wishner Communications Formed

NEW YORK — Peter P. Glankoff and Howard E. Wishner have formed Glankoff and Wishner Communications, Ltd., a public relations firm servicing corporations involved in product, services and communications endeavors. Among the firm's clients are the Don Kirshner Entertainment Corporation and the Chajet Design Group marketing, a firm specializing in package design and corporate identity.

The firm is located at 342 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017. Phone number is (212) 883-0001.

K-tel Posts Figures

NEW YORK — K-Tel International reported that operating income for the second fiscal quarter of 1980 was $1,974,000, a drop from $2,071,000 for the same period in 1979. In addition, operating revenues for this quarter were $65,288,000, up from $61,999,000 for the same period last year.

For the first half of fiscal 1980, K-Tel reported profits of $2,167,000 on sales of $97,439,000, up from a profit of $1,427,000 on sales of $91,569,000 from the same period last year.

Boutwell Starts Own Merchandising Firm

NEW YORK — Ron Boutwell has resigned as chairman of the board of Boutwell Inc./Niocua Merchandising Ltd. in order to start his own merchandising firm in Hollywood's Berwin Entertainment Complex.

Burdsal

Ramsey

Friedman

Burdsal Promoted At 20th — Bill Burdsal has been promoted to director of administration, 20th Century-Fox Records Corp. He has held similar positions at Motown Records and Capitol Records. He served six years at MGM Records Corp. and was vice president of administration, leaving to form his own firm, Burdsal Enterprises.

Lider Named At Polygram — Polygram Distribution, Inc. has announced the appointment of Dorothy Lider as regional credit manager-west for PDI. Most recently, she was national credit manager for 20th Century-Fox. Prior to that she worked at ABC as regional credit manager.

Ramsey Promoted At MCA — Roger Ramsey has been appointed southwestern regional country promotion manager for MCA Records. He joined MCA Records last March as Houston's local promotion manager, working with MCA's pop, R&B and country artists.

Blundo Promoted At Polygram — Polygram Distribution has announced the appointment of Lisa Biundo as national advertising administrator. She joined PDI in May of 1979 as advertising coordinator. Prior to that she worked as advertising director of a retail record chain in New York.

Friedman Named At Arista — Arista Records has announced that Michael Friedman has been appointed director, product management, associated labels, as well as director, video services for the label. Prior to this appointment, he was assistant to the president of Arista, and before joining the label he was a personal manager for a number of recording artists.

Archibald To Marvin Josephson — John C. Archibald has been appointed vice chairman of Marvin Josephson Associates, Inc. where he will be in charge of corporate planning and development. He comes to his new position from The Chase Manhattan Bank, where he was senior vice president and group executive responsible for six lending divisions that dealt with major U.S. corporations.

Remer Appointed — Doc Remer has been named national promotion director for Mirus Music, Inc. Prior to his appointment he was midwest regional promotion manager for Ariola America Records and has been involved in marketing, management, writing, production, and publishing.

Changes At T.E.C. — Billy Hendricks, executive vice president of T.E.C. Records announces the appointment of Cynthia Jeffers to national promotion director; Gene Burleson as regional director of promotion/southeast; Darryl Williams as local promotion manager/southwest. Prior to joining T.E.C., the above personnel were with Arista Records; Hendricks as regional director east coast; Burleson as regional director southeast; Williams as local promotion/southwest, and Jeffers as national R&B promotion coordinator/New York.

Rosenberg Named — Silver Blue Productions has announced the appointment of Roy Rosenberg to director of national promotion. Most recently, he was northeast pop promotion director for Atlantic Records. Previously he was local New York promotion manager for Atlantic Records and Mercury Records.

Cheech appointed — Record Plant Studios in New York has announced the appointment of Cheech Lero as traffic manager and Randi Greenstein as production coordinator. Most recently Lero was associate editor of "Modern Drummer" Magazine. Greenstein was in production area at Masterdisk Inc. and most recently at Infinity Records.

Jefferson Starship

ROYCE HALL, UCLA — Memories of San Francisco in the '60s may be slowly turning into myths, but the music of that time is still very much a viable entity, as evidenced by the Jefferson Starship's performance here recently.

With the departure of vocalist Grace Slick and vocalist/songwriter Marty Balin, many fans predicted the group's demise. New vocalist Mickey Thomas, formerly of the Elvin Bishop Band, proved more than capable of filling Slick's vocal roles, although her charismatic presence was missed.

From the opening plunge into a charged version of "Ride The Tiger" from the "Dragonfly" LP, sparks flew from the searing guitar leads of Craig Chaquico and the inspired dynamics of ex-Journey drummer Aynsley Dunbar.

Versatility was much in evidence as David Freiberg and Pete Sears traded keyboard, bass and vocal duties throughout the two part-16 song concert. Sole original founding member Paul Kantner supplied driving rhythm guitar and, in conjunction with tenor Mikey Thomas, vocal harmonies comfortably reminiscent of the Airplane days.

The young audience remained surprisingly quiet during most of the first set, which consisted primarily of songs from the Starship's newest LP "Freedom At Point Zero." During the last song of the first set, however, excitement quickly rose when a percussive explosion by Dunbar introduced "Have You Seen The Saucers" from the "Spitfire" LP, during which Sears received a standing ovation for his gut-wrenching, speaker-destroying lightning quick bass solo.

"Jane," the current single, opened the second half, followed by a beautifully sung "Wooden Ships." Songs from the "Earth" LP and the new album further entertained the crowd, but when the band downshifted and accelerated into rock 'n' roll from the latest album, it was apparent a fuse had been lit.

As the Starship sequed into "Ride The Tiger," everyone got on their feet and undulated to the music as Kantner, with wireless guitar in audience, exchanged spirited riffs with Chaquico. Like a '60s flashback, everyone surged forward when the band ripped into the Airplane classic "Somebody To Love." There were no doubts in the audience about this band's vitality.

Johnny Cash Waylon Jennings

OPRY HOUSE, NASHVILLE — Even though it was a benefit concert where the artists donated their talents, no one in the audience saw anything less than a top notch performance from all those involved. Staged at the Grand Ole Opry House to an SRO audience, the talents of Waylon Jennings, Johnny Cash, Tammy Wynette and George Jones shined like beacons in the night.

Waylon was first on the bill, and his band was as tight as a wound clock as it backed him perfectly through songs such as "Good Hearted Woman," "Amanda," "Mamas Don't Let Your Babies Grow Up To Be Cowboys" and "Ain't Livin' Long Like This," as well as several new, unrecorded songs. He then invited Cash on stage for duets on "Ain't No Good Chain Gang" and "I Wish I Were Crazy Again."

Next on the bill was Tammy Wynette, who performed a string of her hits, such as "D-I-V-O-R-C-E," "I Don't Wanna Play House," and "Till I Get It Right," before getting George Jones on-stage for a duet on "Golden Rings." It has been several years since the duo's divorce, as well as their recording and performing together, and when he walked on stage, it was sheer magic. The audience literally went wild, and there was electricity in the air as the incredible voice of George Jones resonated throughout the Opry House, trading lines with Tammy in one of their most popular duets.

Wynette was gracious in giving Jones time to sing some songs solo before joining him again to sing their new single, "Two Story House." Jones left to thunderous applause as the audience acknowledged that the King of Country Music had returned.

Wynette finished her set with "Stand By Your Man," where she went out and mingled with the audience, singling out some lucky fellows to sing to.

Johnny Cash closed the show, performing over an hour with the Tennessee Three as well as June Carter Cash and his son, John Carter Cash. Cash did songs such as "One Piece At A Time," "Old Chunk Of Coal," and "Give My Love To Rose," as a movie was played occasionally in the background that illustrated such songs as "One Piece At A Time" and "John Henry."

June Carter Cash performed some songs alone, as well as the duet "Jackson" with her husband, before John Carter Cash joined them to share some jokes and sing a couple of songs. One of the highlights of the evening was when piano player Earl Ball played "The Music Box" and the horn players performed "Ring of Fire."

All in all, it was quite a memorable evening with four giants in country music performing to an enthusiastic audience, who appreciated the legend behind each artist as well as the fact that each is still in their prime.

Lenny White and Twennynine

ROXY, L.A. — Quite casually, Lenny White and Twennynine blitzed the Roxy with their peculiar brand of funky jazz-rock, offering a clean and competent show. Almost too clean, competent and casual.

During the constantly uptempo show, White never appeared to bust a sweat as his hands blurred across the drum skins, propelling the band's fusion sound to the delight of the audience. It was fusion music from previous Lenny White LPs that roused the audience more than material from Twennynine's current hit Elektra/Asylum album, "Best of Friends."

The guitar work of Nick Moroch and Eddie Martinez gained consistent ovations from the audience while stretching out on solos driven by White's blazing drums.

The band's delivery on material like "Citi Dancin'," "Best of Friends," and "Betta" was coolly received by the audience. "Morning Sunrise" was the only cut from the current LP that seemed to draw genuine pleasure from the listeners.

Throughout the set, bassist/vocalist Barry Sonjohn played and sang tastefully and spontaneously. Along with Martinez, Sonjohn appeared totally engaged with the music.

Always a treat at Lenny White sets are instances when veteran White tourman Don Blackman lapses into supple, sensuous acoustic piano work. With the aid of keyboardist Skip Anderson, Blackman helped create a well-rounded sound and provided much of the music's jazzy quality. Lynn Davies' vocals smoothed already creamy harmony on songs like "Morning Sunrise" and "Best of Friends."

And what would a Twennynine show be these days without the piece de resistance, "Peanut Butter." Blackman, amid the audience's clapping, led the band and audience in a banquet of peanut butter, but in a casual way. After all, it ain't nuttin' butta sarnich.

The Romantics

BOTTOM LINE, N.Y.C. — The Romantics are a four-man unit from Detroit who play a basic type of rock 'n' roll derived from the sound of the first-wave English invasion in the mid-sixties. Listening to the band performing songs from their self-titled debut album, the influence of seminal groups like the Who and the Kinks on the Romantics' instrumentation and vocal harmonies was obvious.

Sporting skin-tight red leather suits, the band opened with "When I Look In Your Eyes," and followed with "Hung On You" and "Gimme One More Chance." Lead singer/rhythm guitarist Wally Palmar acted-out the tunes with bouncy enthusiasm, and his cohorts Mike Skill (lead guitar), Rich Cole (bass) and Jimmy Marinos (drums) displayed a commendably relaxed stage presence.

The act's strongest point was the Romantics' ability to project a sense of togetherness. However, their entire set consisted of unvarying material constructed around the tried and true combination of a 4/4 beat and cute vocal harmonies. Numbers like "Till I See You Again," "Little White Lies" and the single, "What I Like About You," were distinguished mainly by the band's natural exuberance, but lacked genuine excitement and originality.

The Romantics are a group who display the potential to mature into a creative unit, but for the moment, there is little in their repertoire to mark them as a stand-out band.

The Specials

THE WHISKY, L.A. — The Coventry, England-based septet known as The Specials exploded on the stage of the Whisky Saturday night for one of four SRO evenings here and the invigorating blend of ska (or bluebeat, a predecessor of reggae), roots reggae, punk and R&B gave new meaning to the genre loosely described as "dance music."

While The Specials' Elvis Costello-produced debut LP is a more than enticing introduction to their own distinctively infectious and vibrant music, the band comes alive on stage with all the mod energy of a West End street gang. Appropriately kicking things off with "(Dawning Of A) New Era," the "rude boys," led by vocalists Terry Hall, and Neville Staples, dove head first into a continuous stream of cuts from their LP, with equal amounts of fun and fervor. And the tightly-packed crowd reacted in kind with a high-pitched enthusiasm usually reserved for rock superstars.

Although the band does occasionally exercise a punkish attitude in numbers such as "Blank Expression" and "Stupid Marriage," the overriding impression one gets is that these are sensible lads who are partial to having a good time. They certainly spread that feeling during songs such as "Do The Dog" ("Do the Dog/Not The Donkey/Do The Dog/Don't be a jerk!") and "Monkey Man." The more sensible, but equally appealing and hardly preachy side, shown through on the tunes "Doesn't Make It Alright," "Too Much Too Young" and "Message To You, Rudy." "It's Up To You," both musically and lyrically, is a most engaging invitation to all the different trend groups, such as "punks," "hippies," "skinheads," and others, to rally, if you like, around such broad-based music. "Little Bitch" was the group's homage to their rock roots and, of course, the Rolling Stones.

But perhaps the most affected moment of the evening came after the band was called back for a second series of encores and wound up with "You're Wondering Now," the perfect closer, which found the audience pumped up to the limit, singing the chorus of the song long after the band had left the stage. If that was any indication of the band's power and strength, then The Specials could easily prove to become as big an act here in the States as they already are over in the U.K.

L.A.-based female new wave unit The Go-Go's offered a disappointingly sloppy opening set that displayed little but obnoxious trendiness, especially on a tune called "English Boys." A poor cover of "(Remember) Walking In The Sand" proved conclusively that many new wave bands still have a long way to go before they can come close to capturing the essence of '60s rock 'n' soul.

Charlie Haden and Bobby Bradford

CENTURY CITY PLAYHOUSE, L.A. — When jazz bassist Charlie Haden comes to town you never know what he is likely to play, and in many instances you won't know who he'll play with. The suspense thickens and does not let up until the final number.

Appearing recently at the Century City Playhouse with veteran trumpeter Bobby Bradford, Haden and Bradford went about creating music as the audience watched in awe. In fact, if the set had not promised to be an opportunity for creativity, Haden wouldn't have showed.

"I have a desire to discover, to enhance, to create something new," Haden says, "It's important to play with various people to enhance your creativity."

With Bradford, from the moment Haden tuned his bass harmonically, the audience was entranced by their subtle displays of technique.

Bradford's instinctive feel for blues and sophisticated be-bop, with Haden's responsive stylings, made for interesting interplay. The small venue of the Playhouse made the audience a part of the performance. The duo did not frown upon overt audience reaction to the music, especially when it was apparent they'd been touched.

Haden says, "I believe it's important to communicate meaningful human values with music, something that preserves innate creativity in the listener."

During an intermission, the audience delighted as much in talking to the artists as they did listening. Both Bradford and Haden seemed to enjoy the conversation as much as they did playing.

When the duo struck the final note in the final song, the audience was reluctant to applaud, knowing Haden and Bradford had just completed a set that may never be duplicated.

so that rock songwriters are generally artists themselves.

Smith also confirmed that "what A&R men really want is to sign an artist." Irwin Schuster, senior vice president of Chappell Music, agreed that "A&R men are in fact looking for a package. They're looking for you to come in with the next Knack."

Whether to pursue the self-contained artists' share of the pie is the question that, more than any other, measures the differing attitudes of publishers. Schuster feels that, regardless of trends and the eminence of self-contained artists, "you never lose sight of the fact that there are always people who are open to outside songs and who will help you build a copyright." To Schuster, this means enduring even the leanest of times. "I would never discount the possibility that an artist who has had a hit record once can come back. Look at Dionne Warwick. I will continue to service Bobby Vinton and Wayne Newton with material, and I would bet that we haven't heard Bobby Vinton's last hit. He has millions of fans out there waiting for his next hit."

Filling Gap

At the other extreme, Leeds Levy felt that, "with record companies cutting back in areas like artist relations and dropping very good acts, an astute publisher can move in on those areas and get involved with bands on a grass roots level." Leeds pointed to the company's strategy with Robin Lane, who recently secured a label deal with Warner Bros. "We pressed up a record by her on our own Deli-Platters label, helped set up distribution for the record, and helped promote it as well. Suddenly, labels that had initially passed on her took an interest and we wound up getting a deal for her."

"There are only so many Barry Manilows," concluded Levy, "and it's a more productive arrangement to work with a band whose album will yield ten songs that you own, than it is to work towards a single cover record."

Smith's strategy combines elements of both approaches. "If you want to maximize your share of the business, you do have to have one foot on the side of the fence of the creator. While we continue to work with pure writers, we also allocate a substantial amount of investment money to self-contained groups. For example, even though Pink Floyd's material is not coverable, there's no arguing with the kind of mechanical royalties that they earn. If you're going to think of yourself as a large, growing organization," concluded Smith, "you have to have a foot on both sides of the fence."

NMPA's Board Of Directors Set To Meet

NEW YORK — The Board of Directors of the National Music Publishers' Association will meet in Beverly Hills on March 12. Eighteen executives from New York, Atlanta, Nashville and Hollywood will assemble at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel to consider a broad spectrum of domestic and international projects and problems. The NMPA will assemble next in California in July and again in Nashville in April.

MCA To Release Eight Classical Albums In March

LOS ANGELES — MCA Records has announced the following classical releases for March on the MCA/Westminster label: "Czech Suite, Op. 39, and Serenade in D Minor, Op. 44," both by Antonin Dvorak and performed by the Musica Aeterna Orchestra; William Walton's "Facade," featuring poems by Edith Sitwell and recitations by Hermione Gingold and Russell Oberlin; "Brandenburg Concertos" by Johann Sebastian Bach, performed by the Vienna State Opera Orchestra; "Fidelio" by Beethoven, featuring Sena Jurinac, Jan Peerce, Maria Stader, Murray Dickie and the Bavarian State Opera Orchestra and Chorus; Pagnini's "Concerto No. 2 in B Minor For Violin and Orchestra," "Op. 7" and "Saints-Saens' "Concerto No. 1 in A Major for Violin and Orchestra," featuring the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra with violinist Ruggiero Ricci as guest artist; Haydn's "Symphonies Nos. 57 and 86," also featuring the Cincinnati orchestra; and Mozart's "Concerto in C Major for flute and Harp," "K. 299," and Handel's "Concerto in B-flat Major for Harp and Orchestra Op. 4, No. 6," featuring Musica Aeterna Orchestra with Marcel Grandjany on harp and Samuel Baron on flute.

Final releases in the February series include "Choral Masterpieces of the Baroque," featuring Scarlelli's "Stabat Mater," Purcell's "Music for the Funeral of Queen Mary," and J.S. Bach's "Cantata No. 118, O Jesu Christ, mein's Lebens Licht," performed by the Amor Artis Chorale.

HERE NOW THE SHMOOZ — Ron Delsener has just cancelled his proposed Clash dance concert at the Felt Forum. Reportedly, Delsener was unable to actualize plans to remove the Forum's seats and is looking for a similar venue. The proceeds from two dates at Emerald City in Cherry Hill, N.J. and the Motor City Roller Rink in Detroit, will go to the Jackie Wilson Foundation. . . Dave Edmunds will join country-rocker Joe Ely for his live-in-England album . . . George Clinton is producing albums for Parliament, Parlet, Bootsy, and the inimitable Phillipe Wynn at Superdisc in Detroit. . . Despite Percy Sledge's absence, soul week at the Mudd Club was a mighty success if only for the brilliant performance by Clarence Carter. Although Carter's Atlantic and Fame recordings made for some of '60s soul's finest moments, they only suggest Carter's talents, which includes a gripping guitar style and a song repertoire steeped in the blues. Buoyed by the gig's success, Mudd club owner Steve Mass is considering stepping up the booking of soul and R&B artists and developing a resident band (shades of England's Marquee Club) to back them up. . . We were delighted to learn that Miami Steve Van Zandt is helping with arrangements on the new album by our personal favorites, the Iron City Houserockers. Van Zandt's tastefully funky arrangements (and compositions) were sorely missed on the last Southside Johnny LP. . . Al Green, who made the best soul music of the '70s, is currently sitting on both a gospel album and a double live-in-Japan album, pending his decision to pursue either the religious or the secular life. . . Sylvester was in town to record recently. Assisting were Ron Carter, Steve Gadd, John Tropea, and the Harlem Community Choir. One of the tunes recorded was "Cry Me A River." Speaking of Sylvester, his two fine backup singers, Martha Walsh and Izora Armstead, "the two tons of fun" are set to release a solo album, produced by the venerable ex-Moonglows' leader, Harvey Fuqua. . . Speaking of session players, ace studio guitarist Elliott Randall (remember the solo on Steely Dan's "Reelin' In the Years"?) was arrested recently for opening fire from his eleventh floor window on a thief he spied breaking into a friend's truck. . . Because manager Mike Lembo and MCA Music had so much success with their Deli-Platters release on Robin Lane (it secured her a deal with Warner Bros.), Lembo and MCA have agreed to do at least six more per year. Look for the next on ex-Road Apples member David Finnelly. . . Todd Rundgren needed some dances for one of his videos, so, in the tradition of Muhammed, he cruised the New York DOR club scene and bussed three loads of patrons up to his Bearsville video studio for a taping. . . In a dramatic loosening of the reigns of control, Gamble and Huff will have Joel Dorn produce the next Lou Rawls album for Philadelphia International. The album, according to Dorn, will be blues-oriented and will feature guest appearances by the likes of Roomful of Blues. . . Ron Scott, lead singer of AC/DC, has died. (For further information, see Points West).

VISITS AND MORE VISITS — Our humble offices were graced by the visits of two very different, but equally engaging entertainers, Harold Melvin and Nicolette Larson. We offered our congratulations to Harold for his Source Records hit, "Prayin," and for finally developing a sound that exorcised the ghost of Teddy Pendergrass (whose vocals dominated such Melvin hits as "Bad Luck" and "If You Don't Know Me By Now"). "When our new singer, David Ebo, joined, it was hard for him to develop his own sound because he was doing so many of the songs that Teddy had sung lead on," said Melvin. "We've finally developed material that is uniquely suited to him." Melvin expects to have an album out by April. . . Though Nicolette Larson has no immediate plans for a new album, she is nonetheless quite busy with a myriad of projects that include touring session singing and writing. Larson has just written some tunes with John McVie and Lauren Wood, and she also contributed background vocals to new albums by Graham Nash and John Stewart. Other highly interesting plans for Larson include a shared tour with Linda Ronstadt in April, on which Danny Kortchmar will open, and a March 2 date at the Aladdin Hotel in Las Vegas with the Doobie Brothers. We asked Larson why the L.A. scene is looking increasingly like one big extended family. "With this recession, everybody's in the same boat," she replied. "I'm touring with Linda, for example, because with tour support money being cut, I wouldn't go out and tour on my own."

BENATAR AND NEILSEN JAM — Chrysalis recording artist Pat Benatar was joined by Cheap Trick guitarist Rick Nielsen during a jam at the Poison Apple Club in Rockford, Ill.

READ TO THE BEAT — If you'd like to know how Doctor John cooks Jumbalaya, Anchor Press has published "Mary Frampton and Friends Rock and Roll Recipes" . . . which also includes recipes by the likes of Ringo Starr, George Harrison and Frampton's ex-old man, Peter. . . Greenwood Press has published a stunning four-volume discography of Atlantic Records, a tome that is as valuable to lovers of rock and roll and rhythm and blues as it is to jazzophiles. . . Quick Fox, which has already published the excellent "Sun Records" history, is set to release several rock-related books including, "Rock Family Trees" by Pete Frame who developed the concept of tracing the roots of rock groups when he edited the British fanzine, Zig Zag; "Elvis Presley: An Illustrated Biography"; "The Who In Their Own Words"; "How To Make and Sell Your Own Records"; and "The International Guide to Music Festivals."

BULLETIN BOARD — Bettylynn McIlvain and Gary Franklin have both left Capitol. McIlvain, formerly East Coast press coordinator, can be reached at (212) 874-2775. Franklin, formerly merchandising coordinator, can be reached at (212) 261-2368. . . Finally, a belated thank you to Ehet Roberts for her fine photography at the Cash Box party.

MAD LOVE — Linda Ronstadt — Asylum 5E-510 — Producer: Peter Asher — List: 8.98

Lovely Linda has adapted a tougher, more brazen rock sound to assist her soaring torch-styled vocals on "Mad Love." While the California style that she made famous is still in evidence here, there is a decidedly mid-wave feel to this 10 song collection. Her choice in using several songs by Elvis Costello and Cretone Mark Goldenberg shows that the Malibu thrush has her broad right in the curl of music's current wave. A must for Top 40, A/C and AOR.

THE DUDEK, FINNIGAN, KRUEGER BAND — Columbia JC 35770 — Producers: James Newton Howard and Andy Johns — List: 7.98 Bar Coded

The Dudek, Finnigan, Krueger Band is a new breed of trio that backs up its Dobie Bros.-like pop/rock sound with musicianship of studio ace quality. All three have strong credits as back-up musicians, but they come around as a strong cohesive rock force on their first official release. They handle vocal chores with equal ability and harmonize well as a unit. For Pop and AOR.

WILLIE NILE — Arista AB 4260 — Producer: Roy Halee — List: 7.98

Willie Nile is a curious fellow. He has the moves, the music and the magic of a Springsteen or a Petty on his first fell swoop. His songs have all the passion and excitement of the wild night and his aim is as true as any rock 'n' roll desperado around. This is dramatic, uncomplicated rock 'n' roll music driven by a man who could be in the running for songwriter of the year. An assured, totally original winner for AOR. Best cuts are: "Behind The Cathedral" and "Vagabond Moon."

JOHN STEWART IN CONCERT — RCA AFL1-3513 — Producer: John Stewart — List: 7.98

This album, recorded live at the Phoenix Symphony Hall in Arizona in 1974, was made in the days before Stewart made friends with Stevie Nicks and Co., and it reflects his folk roots. The album contains many Stewart standards such as "California Bloodlines" as well as two unreleased tracks, "Let The Big Horse Run" and "Freeway Pleasure." This is vintage Stewart.

COMPUTER GAMES — Mi-Sex — Epic NJE 36349 — Producer: Pete Dawkins — List: 7.98

This avant-pop band has taken the sound first pioneered by Eno and Ultravox and molded it into more of a hard rock sound. Like its predecessors, the band employs witty future-oriented lyrics to augment the swirling synthesized sound. MiSex is spearheaded by the neurotic vocals of Steve Gilpin and the synthesizer inventions of Murray Burns. If this debut is any indication, then the five-man Australian configuration should be around for some time to come. A winner for AOR.

FOXES — Various Artists — Casablanca NBLP-2-7206 — Producer: Giorgio Moroder — List: 13.98

Performances by Dorna Summer, Janis Ian, Cher and Angel highlight the double album soundtrack to the film about a group of nubile Hollywood pubescenters who are sweet sixteen and never been kids. Giorgio Moroder composed the delightful original score, and the synthesizer wit could be close to an anti-trust suit as he has all but sewn up the soundtrack market of late. While Moroder's keyboard oriented music dominates the record, the album's finest moment is Summer's classic "On The Radio."

TWO YEARS IN A PADDED CELL — Earth Quake — Berkeley BZ-10065 — Producers: Kaufman, Laguna and Earth Quake — List: 7.98

Earth Quake has been one of the staples of the San Francisco Bay Area music scene for more than ten years, and yet has never received national acclaim. However, "Two Years In A Padded Cell" could break this melodic, heavy metal rock machine as a major act. The band is using more of a pop approach these days and fans of Boston and Foreigner should shimmy and shake when they get a hold of Earth Quake.

TELL ME ON SUNDAY — Marti Webb — Polydor PD-1-6260 — Producer: Andrew Lloyd Webber — List: 7.98

A sophisticated folky-ballad quality, coupled with Marti Webb's clear voice and lush orchestral productions, best characterize this disc. Switching from classic big band to more funky ensemble arrangements gives the music a pop quality quite different from normal rock or country-pop sounds. With the help of pioneer British rocker Rod Argent on keyboards and Barbara Thompson on woodwinds, "Let Me Finish" and "Nothing Like You've Ever Known" are bets for A/C playlists.

PEOPLE — James Brown — Polydor PD-1-6258 — Producer: Brad Shapiro — List: 7.98

Funk maestro James Brown is not ready to stop the funk yet, but this LP is a departure from his previous uncult funk. "Regrets," recently released as a single is perhaps the most sensitive piece he's done in years. "Don't Stop The Funk" and "Let The Funk Flow" are sure bets for B/C playlists, while "That's Sweet Music," helped by tasty female vocal back-up, would work in Top 40 and B/C formats.

GET HAPPY!! — Elvis Costello and the Attractions — Columbia JC 36347 — Producer: Nick Lowe — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

What can you say about the new wave kingpin except that he gets better with age. The sound on "Get Happy!!" is a lot sparer than Elvis' past two outings, but it adds to the urgency of the music and Costello's rebellious vocals. Elvis and producer Nick Lowe have crammed 20 new ditties on to a long playing 50-minute album that should make any record buyer happy with the quality and quantity of the material. The moods for moderns on this LP are "The Imposter," "B Movie" and "Beaten To The Punch."

MUSIC IN THE AIR — Bohannon — Mercury SRM 1-3813 — Producer: Hamilton Bohannon — List: 7.98

Songbird Elizabeth Landis joins the Bohannon fold on "Music In The Air" and the new addition is a more than welcome one. Bohannon's percussion filled funkathons are rendered with their usual flair, but it is on the Landis-sung ballads like "Spring Is In The Air" and Marvin Gaye's "I'm For Real" that the album really comes alive. Bohannon has mastered the art of writing the sensual slow dance song.

RAISIN' CAIN — Johnny Winter — Blue Sky JZ 36343 — Producer: Johnny Winter — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Johnny Winter is akin to Ireland's Rory Gallagher in that he is still keeping the Blooze-rock tradition of yesteryear alive and well. Winter still plays with a fury and abandon that few guitarists can touch with a ten foot bottle neck, and songs such as "Sittin' In The Jailhouse" and "New York, New York" are concrete examples of that. Other highpoints on the album include a strong version of Dylan's "Like A Rolling Stone" and "Rollin' and Tumblin'."

INNUENDO — Danny Kortchmar — Asylum 6E-250 — Producer: Danny Kortchmar — List: 7.98

Kortchmar (known as Kootch to friends like James Taylor) is a member of the notorious L.A. back-up band The Section, and on this solo outing he delivers a collection filled with invigorating rock songs. The guitarist has a keen ability for writing memorable hooks and although his voice isn't his greatest asset, he belts out each number with a lot of enthusiasm. A posse of Hollywood friends like Jules Shear, Linda Ronstadt and Lee Sklar help out on the LP.

PRIVATE LIGHTNING — A&M AP-4791 — Producer: Robin Geoffrey Cable — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Private Lightning has come up with a beauty of a debut LP for A&M. The six-piece group rides closer to the mainstream than to the new wave, but there is no absence of adventure in its lyrics or music. Adam Sherman has a distinctive vocal style and the band, led by Paul Van Ness and Eric Kaufmann, possesses a clean progressive guitar/keyboard sound. Finest moments are "Cultists Of The Sun" and "Physical Speed."

IN 'N' OUT — Stone City Band — Gordy G7-991R1 — Producer: Rick James — List: 7.98

A dramatic film score-like intro opens the debut album by Punk funksters The Stone City Band, and from then on the LP's essence is the joy of funk'n'. Brother Rick James wrote most of the material and it is his guidance that leads his fine back-up band to a successful first album. Funk extravaganzas like "Little Runaway" and "Party Girls" are engaging, but the album's masterstroke is the beautiful "Havin' You Around."

JACKSON HIGHWAY — Capitol ST-12044 — Producers: Jimmy Johnson and David Hood — List: 7.98

This is the latest production from the famous Muscle Shoals recording complex in Alabama. Jimmy Johnson and David Hood's stylish booth work totally enhances the driving rock of this five-piece band. Lead vocalist Dennis Gulley is right out of the Bob Seger shriek and growl school, and he is at his best on "Drive Me Home" and the old rock standard "Rave On." For AOR.

MIDNIGHT DESIRE — Randy Brown — Chocolate City/Casablanca CCLP 2010 — Producers: Homer Banks and Chuck Brooks — List: 7.98

Brown has the potential to become a suave master of the contemporary R&B vocal. At times on "Midnight Desire" he sustains his notes like a young Al Green. Brown's vocals are given a lift by the arrangements of Tom Washington and some musical help from The Muscle Shoals gang. While the music seems dated at times, southern R&B programmers will be hot to trot with this one.

QUEEN OF SIAM — Lydia Lunch — ZE ZEA 33006 — Producers: Bob Blank and Lydia Lunch — List: 7.98

Lydia Lunch's musical world is slightly off kilter. Chords and notes distort and her schizophrenic vocals switch from mad-little-girl-in-the-asylum meek to Queen-of-Siam powerful. She belongs to the avant-garde New York school that fostered people such as James Chance, and Blood Ulmer. Chance handles the funk, Ulmer the jazz and Lunch the punk. Why she might never attain the commercial or critical acclaim of her contemporaries, she's come up with an interesting LP here.

Lenny Scheer, Arista vice president of sales and distribution, explained that bar coding would eventually be helpful as far as inventory was concerned and that the label had gone as far as to apply for a number, but he felt that the next move was up to the retail community. "I guess we'll just wait and see," Scheer said, "and as the retail community gears up for it, we'll proceed like everyone else."

These sentiments were echoed by Mike Lushka, Motown's senior vice president, marketing. "If you've been listening to consumer reports about grocery stores and the problems they are having with bar coding as far as exact pricing is concerned, then you know it's something that every label must take a look at," said Lushka.

Financial Burden

"Additionally, we're dealing with a great number of free standing stores that have to change," Lushka added, "and I don't know if they are financially capable."

Nevertheless, like many retailers and rack jobbers, Lieberman Enterprises president Harold Okinow felt that the main hindrance to the total adoption of the system was the lack of bar coded software.

"Once all bar coding goes into place, it's going to give retailers and rack jobbers the capability of managing their inventory, their cash and their shrinkage to a far greater extent than they can today," Okinow explained, "but it requires that a great deal of the product in the field be bar coded. It can't work with just 25% of the product being bar coded."

Emerging Technologies

"Technology in the next couple of years will offer a lot of potential savings that we won't be able to take advantage of unless the product is bar coded," Okinow added. "The cost of electronic devices is going down every day, but unless we bar code, the industry is not going to avail itself of this emerging technology."

This potential for savings is already being realized by the Handleman Co., which is currently using its own bar coding system. "I think retail will be supportive of bar coding because it helps in terms of inventory management," said Bud Jack, Handleman assistant vice president. "I also think more manufacturers will be going towards it in the future, but the original im-

hurt."

In the case with The Warehouse retail chain, problems were confined to leakage and no stores had to be shut down.

The Pacific Northwest was relatively unscathed by the storms, although business was slow at D.J.'s Sound Stores of Portland and Seattle. "We aren't hit too badly," said Jamie Cruver, regional manager for D.J.'s Seattle. "We didn't have to shut down any of our stores, but our warehouse was closed due to the snow."

In San Diego, Tower manager Wayne Ennes stated that business had been up for the past week due to the chain's storewide sale, adding that, as a rule, bad weather generally did not inhibit sales in the region.

In Phoenix, Ariz., however, two weeks of intermittent showers and four consecutive days of rain storms presented an altogether different retail picture.

"Very basically, the town is at a standstill," said Sal Siciliano, owner and manager of Charts in downtown Phoenix. "There are two bridges open out of 15 coming into the city, and trucks can't get across either the Salt or Aqua Fria rivers. We're getting held up on product from the west coast. We've already run out of some product and haven't received a lot of new releases. But we've remained open just the same."

Siciliano added that the heavy rains in Phoenix have cut sales as much as 40% at Charts, but Rick Yerman, general manager of retail for Alta Distributing, which services Scottsdale, Mesa, Tempe and Phoenix retailers, as well as its own World Records and Tapes chain, stated that the rain had "stimulated sales slightly." Yerman added that while World Records had experienced some power outages as well as phone problems, there were no major store damages.

In other parts of the country, notably the northeast and midwest regions, unseasonably mild winter weather contributed to general increases in sales.

"The weather has affected sales positively," said Hal Horowitz, store manager for the Record Theatre in Rochester, N.Y. "We've had consistently good sales. It has rivalled the least vicious winter in the history of Rochester. We usually have three major storms, but we haven't had one this year."

Dennis Cutler, store manager for Cutler's Records in New Haven, echoed Horowitz' remarks, stating that it had been "a great winter, sales wise."

In Detroit, Sue Burns, operations director for the Music Stop, said, "Business is way up from last year. We haven't had to close down once this year. Usually, we have to close down once before Christmas and once during January, which results in a sales dip, but it's just been a great winter."

AC/DC LEAD SINGER FOUND DEAD IN LONDON — Bon Scott, the feisty lead singer for Australian raunch and roll band AC/DC was pronounced dead on arrival at a London hospital on the morning of Feb. 19. The initial cause of death was thought to be alcohol poisoning, but at press time an autopsy was underway. The 34-year-old Glaswegian had fronted many R&B bands in England and also worked as chauffeur for many rock groups before joining AC/DC in 1974. In addition to being the Aussie fivesome's head vocalist, Scott also wrote AC/DC's lyrics. The tragedy is made even more untimely by the fact that AC/DC's last album, "Highway To Hell," achieved gold status, and the hard-working band was just coming into international acclaim. Scott's gritty high pitched vocals were an integral part of the group's sound. He will be sorely missed.

ZZ'S HOT TAMALE — ZZ Top's first national tour in three years was honored at its Long Beach Arena stop by Bill Hamm's Lone Wolf Productions. This came in the form of party in the main ballroom of the Queen Mary. To go along with the theme of ZZ Top projects such as "Deguello," "La Grange" and "El Diabolo," the fete featured a Mexican motif replete with enchiladas, guacamole, stuffed jalapenos and a mariachi band. On hand to help the Texas trio celebrate the L.A. show were Van Halen, Joan Jett and comedienne Carol Burnett, who sported a ZZ Top t-shirt. More than 300 people attended the fiesta.

BEATLES RARITIES DUE — Capitol will release an album entitled "Beatles Rarities" on April 7. The album will contain altered versions of songs that were previously released in America, and U.K. versions of some songs as well. A special poster inside the album jacket will feature a print of the actual slide used for the famous "Butcher" cover graphics, which was originally the cover of 1966's "Yesterday And Today" LP. The poster features a "cropped at the shins" photo of The Beatles sitting down to dinner with parts of dolls and pieces of meat in stages of disarray around the table. The picture was not on the "Yesterday And Today" album because it was thought to be in poor taste by many of Capitol's retail accounts.

EAGLES ADD TWO TO ENTOURAGE — Roy Orbison, "the lonely one," will open for the Eagles on the band's early March dates in L.A. and San Francisco. The quintessential Southern California rock band is currently rehearsing with sax man extraordinaire David Sanborn for its March 1-4 gigs at the Inglewood Forum. Sanborn will cut loose on "The Sad Cafe," a song the Eagles will add to their repertoire as a gift to L.A. fans.

SOGGY BIRTHDAY TO YOU — Although she didn't suffer the hardships that many Californians did during the recent rain storms, Melissa Manchester felt that the precipitation did put a damper on her 29th birthday party. "It was a great party. We spent it keeping the L.A. River from my door," reflected Manchester, who lives in the mud-ravaged Hollywood Hills. Guests Burt Bacharach, Alan and Marilyn Bergman, Mark Rydell, and Allee Willis were given fresh pairs of socks in place of party favors, and many guests had to abandon their cars for the evening because of the muddy dilemma.

CHOCOLATE CITY SIGNS BROWN — Former Parachute recording artist Randy Brown has shifted to the Casablanca subsidiary label, Chocolate City. The label will soon release the single "We Ought To Be Doin' It" from the LP "Midnight Desire," which is also slated for shipping soon. Pictured are (l-r): Ron Bookman, Brown's manager; Cecil Holmes, Chocolate City Records president; and Brown.

GORILLA ON THE DANCE FLOOR — Rock 'n' roll black humorist Warren Zevon, who penned the uproarious autobiographical tale "Gorilla, You're A Desperado" for his latest album, has also had some bad luck while dancing onstage. Zevon likes to leap about while performing live, and his in-concert zeal cost him some bad knee injuries during his "Excitable Boy Tour." However, when Zevon tours in support of his new "Bad Luck Streak In Dancing School" LP, he'll be prepared. It appears that the rockin' werewolf has started to take dancing lessons that combine elements of Tai Chi and other martial arts. He works out on a portable dance floor installed in his rented Hollywood home. . . . Meanwhile, Zevon told NBC Radio recently that he was planning to do a remake of Clint Eastwood's Dirty Harry, starring flaming guitarist Waddy Wachtel. The film would, of course, be retitled Dirty Waddy, after the axe man's searing guitar style.

BY REQUEST — Louisiana's Le Roux, by special request of newly elected Louisiana Governor Dave Treen, will perform at his inaugural ball in Baton Rouge on March 10.

UPCOMING RELEASES — Steely Dan's follow-up to "Aja" should be released in May . . . Avant-garde Robert Fripp will have his latest waxing released on Polydor on March 17. One side of the album will feature "Frippertronics," made during his "Anti-tour" last summer. It is entitled "God Save The Queen." The other side of the LP will be called "Under Heavy Manners" and showcases his "Discotronics." The album will sport reversible covers for AOR and dance promotional purposes . . . "Livin' For The Music," Tony Orlando's latest, is set for a March 17 shipping date . . . The Little River Band's "Backstage Pass" album, a live set, will be in the stores on April 7.

STUDIO TIME — It started out as a solo album, but now it looks as though Brian Eno's sessions with David Byrne at El Dorado studios in Hollywood will turn into a joint effort . . . An 111-piece orchestra conducted by David Blumberg was in at Wally Heider's Studio A recently for work on Nell Young's score to the new Universal film Where The Buffalo Roam . . . It'll be another month before Jackson Browne finishes sessions for his follow-up to "Runnin' On Empty." . . . The Shirts are presently recording their third album at Capitol's Studio A with producer John Paladino . . . Louisiana's Le Roux is cutting tracks for its latest LP at Cherokee Studios in Hollywood. Jai Walding is producing . . . Source Records group Chuck Brown and The Soul Searchers, Polydor artist Roy Ayers and Mercury act David Oliver are working on their respective projects at Total Experience Studios in L.A. All three of the studio undertakings are being produced by Wayne Henderson.

WAM BAMMIES THANK YOU MA'AM — The Bay Area Music Archives and BAM Magazine will present the Third Annual Bay Area Music Awards in San Francisco's Fox Warfield Theatre on March 25. Proceeds from the show will go to the Bay Area Music Archives, a non-profit professional library dedicated to the recognition and preservation of The Bay Area's musical heritage. Howard Hesseman, WKRP in Cincinnati's own Dr. Johnny Fever, will be the event's master of ceremonies. The awards show will be co-directed by Joni Levin and Marty Ballin.

Capitol/EMI/UA Group Revamps Promotion Units By Consolidation

now handle R&B promotion for the Capitol, United Artists and EMI America labels; while the United Artists Nashville team will assume country promotion duties for Capitol and United Artists.

In the new set-up, Mack will continue to report to Bruce Wendell, Capitol vice president of promotion, and Shults will report to Zimmermann. In addition, crossover product in both divisions will be the responsibility of Wendell for Capitol acts and Charlie Minor, UA/EMI America vice president of promotion, for his labels' acts.

In the R&B unit, the acts that fall under the aegis of the consolidated promotion team include Natalie Cole, Peabo Bryson, Tavares, Maze, Nancy Wilson, Sun, Mystic Merlin, Pyrymyd, Angela & Rene, Donna Washington and Eddie Henderson on the Capitol label; Ronnie Laws, Earl Klugh, Noel Pointer, Brass Construction, Southroad Connection, Quick and Dayton on United Artists; and Wilson Pickett on EMI America.

In the country division, the acts that will be covered by the consolidated Nashville team are Kenny Rogers, Charlie Rich,

NARM Will Award 21 Scholarships

NEW YORK — Twenty-one scholarships will be awarded at the 1980 Scholarship Foundation Dinner on Monday, March 24, at the annual NARM Convention at the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada. This is the greatest number of scholarships ever presented in the foundation's thirteen-year history.

Kenneth Gamble, Chairman of Philadelphia International Records and president of the Black Music Association, has contributed a $6,000 scholarship in honor of BMA.

CBS has contributed a $6,000 scholarship in memory of Andre Kostelanetz. The Kostelanetz Memorial Scholarship brings the total of CBS scholarships to three, including the Goddard Lieberman Memorial Scholarship and one in the name of the corporation.

Cristy Lane, Billie Jo Spears, Dottie West, Bobby Smith, Sandra Steele, David Willis and Bobby Wright on United Artists; and Glen Campbell, Anne Murray, Jessi Colter, Dr. Hook, Deborah Allen, Lee Clayton, Billy "Crash" Craddock, Kenny Dale, LaCosta, Mel McDaniel, Diane Pfiefer, Don Schlitz, Keith Stegall, Chip Taylor and Gene Watson on Capitol.

Zimmermann denied rumors that a further consolidation of the R&B units of Capitol and United Artists/EMI America was in the works. Industry speculation centered on a total merging of the R&B divisions of the labels, with the new entity to be headed by Dr. Cecil Hale, currently head of Capitol's R&B unit.

Zimmermann emphatically stated that no further consolidations in any divisions of the Group are planned in the foreseeable future. Zimmerman did confirm, however, the closing of "a small distribution branch" in Miami. He added that the southeast region will now be serviced by Capitol's Atlanta branch.

Jazz Consortium Open As Non-Profit Group

NEW YORK — The Consortium of Jazz Organizations and Artists (CJOA), has opened. The CJOA is a not-for-profit service organization whose purpose will be to hold funding seminars for jazz projects with visiting experts from city, state and national funding organizations, private corporations and utilities.

According to Mari-Jo Johnson, the organization's executive director, "One of CJOA's interests lies in the revitalization of jazz in general and of the Harlem community in particular." The consortium is located at 2090 Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. Boulevard. Phone number is (212) 866-9000.

Jackson 45 Is Gold

NEW YORK — Epic recording artist Michael Jackson's single "Rock With You," has been certified gold by the RIAA. This is the second gold single from Jackson's platinum debut solo album, "Off The Wall."

FEATURE PICKS

JOURNEY (Columbia 1-11213)

Any Way You Want It (3:20) (Weed High Nightmare Music — BMI) (S. Perry, N. Schon)

Short, smart drum shots and quick, choppy guitar licks pace the first single from the upcoming "Departure" LP. If this record is any indication, the Bay Area platinum powerhouse quartet hasn't so much shifted direction as it has re-structured its musical stance and tightened up the rhythm section. This new economy should see them achieve new pop, AOR heights.

STEVE WALSH (Kirshner ZS9 4287)

Schemer-Dreamer (3:20) (Don Kirshner Music/Blackwood Music Publishing/Rightsong Music — BMI) (S. Walsh, A. Crudup)

Kansas' lead singer and keyboard man Steve Walsh steps into the solo spotlight with the title track from his recently released debut LP. Combining a re-working of Arthur Crudup's early rock classic "That's All Right" with a neatly fitting boogie beat intro.

JIMMY RUFFIN (RSO RS-1021)

Hold On To My Love (3:36) (Stigwood Music, Inc., admin. by Uni-chappell Music — BMI) (R. Gibb, B. Weaver)

David Ruffin's younger brother Jimmy should receive massive B/C and pop attention with this track co-written and produced by Bee Gee Robin Gibb and Blue Weaver. Ruffin gives the glistening melody a tough vocal workout and Gibb adds one of his patented high vocal swoops just for good measure. Already grabbing numerous adds.

ISAAC HAYES (Polydor PD 2068)

A Few More Kisses To Go (4:05) (Rightsong Music — BMI) (I. Hayes)

Following the surprise Top 20 success of "Don't Let Go," the hot buttered soulster lets his sexy crooning talents loose on this jazzy R&B ballad and the result is a solid crossover effort for pop and A/C, as well as B/C lists. Hayes' distinctive breathy bass vocal is balanced by subtle female backup work and the thick mid-tempo instrumental is just right.

DARYL HALL & JOHN OATES (RCA PB-11920)

Who Sold The World Was Fair (3:30) (Hot-Cha Music Co./Six Continents Music Publishing, Inc. — BMI) (D. Hall, S. Allen)

A pounding, Latin-tinged dance beat kicks off the bright, tumbling second single from Hall & Oates' "X-Static" LP. This is an extremely lively affair, and the swinging percussives are nicely complemented by clicking guitar and jumpy keyboard fills, making for a finger snappin' pop-dance addition.

THE ISLEY BROTHERS (T-Neck ZS9 2290)

Don't Say Goodnight (It's Time For Love) (part 1 & 2) (4:32) (Bovine Music, Inc. — ASCAP) (E. Isley, M. Isley, C. Jasper, R. Isley, O. Isley, R. Isley)

A most fitting first single from the Isley Brothers' forthcoming "Go All The Way" LP, this sinewy R&B-flavored ballad is virtually brimming with sensuality, aided by the silky, luxuriant lead vocals of Ron Isley. A feathery instrumental bed buoys this sturdy multi-format effort.

CLIFF RICHARD (EMI America 8035)

Carrie (3:42) (Unart Music Corp./Cookaway Music, Inc. — BMI/ASCAP) (T. Britten, B. Robertson)

A foreboding opening sets the playfully menacing tone for this offbeat single from the "We Don't Talk Anymore" LP. A brooding bass line and eerie synthesizer bring out the ghostly charm in this tune, which has a strong reference to the Brian DePalma film thriller. Already charting, look for more pop adds.

AIRPLAY (RCA PB-11738)

Should We Carry On (3:43) (Garden Rake Music/Foster Frees Music/Irving Music — BMI/Cotaba Music-PRO) (D. Foster, J. Graydon, B.J. Cook Foster)

Producer/songwriter David Foster steps out from behind the boards with Jay Graydon, and the first single from the duo's self-titled debut LP shows that they have the sort of commercial pop/A/C-oriented musical sensibility to justify their name.

SINGLES TO WATCH

ELLEN FOLEY (Epic 9-50839)

Sad Song (3:30) (April Music, Inc./Heath Leavy Music/WB Music Corp. — ASCAP) (M. Middler, P. Mason)

Foley's last single, "What's A Matter, Baby," scored well on international charts and playlists but this early '60s styled pop ballad should help build her audience further at home. Phil Spector-like production.

SANTANA (Columbia 1-11218)

All I Ever Wanted (3:26) (Light Music-BMI/Urnila Music — ASCAP) (D.C. Santana, C. Solberg, A. Ligertwood)

The second single from Santana's "Marathon" LP finds him and his crew in perhaps the hardest rocking groove ever, as a pummeling drum beat and supersonic guitars cut through the song like a blowtorch. An extremely hot AOR track.

PATTI LABELLE (Epic 9-50852)

Release (The Tension) (3:01) (Warner-Tamerlane Publishing Corp./Marsaint Music, Inc. — BMI) (A.R. Toussaint)

Allen Toussaint wrote this most timely track for Labelle's upcoming "Released" LP and the funky New Orleans musical flavor suits the soulful Labelle well, as it has in the past with the Labelle hit, "Lady Marmalade." Look for B/C, dance play.

SLAVE (Cotillion 45011)

Foxy Lady (Funky Lady) (3:23) (Cotillion Music, Inc./Wayne Watts Music — BMI) (J.R. Wilson)

Slave scored heavily on B/C lists the last time out with the title track from its "Just A Touch Of Love" LP and this equally funky follow-up should gain quick adds right out of the box. Heavy bottom and steady dance beat could also spell crossover success.

ROY SUNDHOLM (Polydor PD 2065)

Waiting For The Night (3:07) (Dizzy Heights Music Publishing Ltd.-PRS) (R. Sundholm)

This track from Sundholm's current LP, "The Chinese Method," has the kind of breathless vocal edge and tumultuous musical intensity that rock 'n' roll dreams are made of. A wall of rock for AOR, pop lists.

SUE SAAD AND THE NEXT (Planet P-45912)

Won't Give It Up (3:33) (WB Music Corp. — ASCAP) (S. Saad, T. Riparetti, J. Lance, B. Anstatt)

Planet rookies Sue Saad and the Next rank high among the recent bumper crop of new rockers to watch, and this single shows they have both the style and power to back that recommendation up. Fast but not flashy, this has the drive and substance to make it on AOR and pop lists.

CROWN HEIGHTS AFFAIR (De-Lite DE-803)

You Gave Me Love (3:38) (Delightful Music/Crown Heights Affair Publ. Co., Inc. — BMI) (I. Reid)

This record, from CHA's "Sure Shot" LP, was recorded very loud, presumably for the benefit of disco/dance play, but this should suit the tastes of B/C programmers and audiences as well.

NANCY WILSON (Capitol 4839)

Let's Hold On To Love (4:35) (Funky Caroline Music — BMI) (C. Johns, L. Farrow)

Longtime Capitol R&B veteran Nancy Wilson is back with a unique mid-tempo ballad harkening back somewhat to Dionne Warwick's earlier hits. From "Take My Love," her 41st LP for the label, this could cross to pop lists.

ZAMFIR (Mercury 76045)

The Lonely Sherherd (3:09) (Happy Music-Verlag) (J. Last)

Internationally known orchestra leader/composer/producer James Last has come up with a very unique track for an artist known only as Zamfir, who plays the unconventional Pan pipe of Greek extraction. A bit-sweet, oddly affecting melody could make this a novelty sleeper.

QUIET STORM (Tamla T 54310F)

Only You — Part 1 (3:47) (Bertram Music Co. — ASCAP) (R. Rancifer)

This Smokey Robinson-produced R&B/dance outing is long on rhythm with rock steady bass and conga work behind jazzy female harmonies. A tasty sax break fits right in the pocket. B/C and dance programmers are urged to give this a listen.

MARC TANNER BAND (Elektra E-46614)

Hot And Cold (3:27) (Otherwise Publishing — ASCAP) (M. Tanner, R. Edwards, J. Romersa)

E/A has quickly followed "Hold Your Head Up," Tanner's last outing from his new "Temptation" LP, with this muscular rocker. Crackling guitar work weaves throughout the big power chords here, as Tanner's vocal cuts deep. A pleasure for AOR, pop lists.

JOAN ARMATRADING (A&M 2224)

He Wants Her (3:15) (Rondor Music, London, Ltd., admin. in the U.S. and Canada by Irving Music, Inc. — BMI) (J. Armatrading)

The second single from Armatrading's "How Cruel" EP strikes a most distinctive balance between a lazy reggae beat and a lyric filled with the sexual tension of the male on the hunt. Well-handled by the English-Jamaican songstress, this deserves AOR, B/C and pop play.

NAZARETH (A&M 2219)

Holiday (3:35) (Panache Music Inc. — ASCAP) (Mc Caferty, Cleminson, Charlton, Agnew, Sweet)

The first single from Nazareth's new "Malice In Wonderland" LP is truly a group effort, with each member contributing to the composition. The band's new pop-oriented approach also owes a debt to such original posters as T-Rex here. Slick enough for pop, but not too light for AOR.

THE CLASH (Epic 9-50851)

Train In Vain (Stand By Me) (3:00) (Riva Music, Inc. — ASCAP) (J. Strummer, M. Jones)

This is without a doubt the most commercial effort The Clash has released to date, but it hardly represents a sell-out to attain mass appeal by the punk veterans. An infectious rhythm has supplanted the three chord guitar attack and Joe Strummer is more restrained but equally as effective. An AOR, pop sleeper.

KENNY DOSS (Bearsville BSS 49197)

Sugar (3:26) (Every Knight Music/Unichappell Music — BMI) (M. H. Bryant)

The first fruit of a production pact between Bearsville and blues great Willie Mitchell, this track from Doss' upcoming "Movin' On A Feeling" LP is highly infectious.

RADIO NEWS

AIR PLAY

THOUGHTS ON RADIO — "A new age has dawned for America and the press is already calling it the 'age of uncertainty.' For radio broadcasters, I'm happy to observe that the term in vogue for us in the next few years appears to be 'new beginnings.' As our nation faces some of its greatest challenges, radio, too, is embarking on a new decade with a renewed sense of purpose underscored by our continuing commitment to serving public needs." These statements and other comments on radio deregulation, AM stereo and optimistic outlooks for the radio industry in the '80s were made by ABC Radio president Ben Hoberman in an article appearing in the February 1980 issue of the California Broadcasters Association Magazine. On deregulation, Hoberman said, "ABC endorses the concept that the Commission should eliminate burdensome requirements not essential to operation of radio stations in the 'public interest.' ABC believes that current mandatory requirements which could properly be eliminated include ascertainment procedures, minimum program percentages, restrictions on commercial practices and program log rules . . . We believe that the public interest standard has worked well and should be retained. The FCC has not, however, provided the regulatory guidance under which the radio industry can pattern their operations and be reasonably assured that they have met the public interest standard and that license renewal will be forthcoming. . . Deregulation, therefore, as endorsed by ABC, should not be accomplished without the concurrent development and adoption of a regulatory standard, which, if voluntarily followed, would provide the licensee a basis for renewal expectancies based on public interest standards." With regards to AM Stereo, Hoberman commented, "We are awaiting rule-making from the FCC concerning AM stereo, a technical advancement which we view as significant if AM is to remain competitive with FM broadcasting in the future . . . Once AM Stereo equipment standards are established, manufacturers can begin to move forward." In conclusion, he said,

"Multiple audio links of high quality between networks and stations give new meaning to the word 'network' and a new definition of such service. Program offerings will have many opportunities to enlarge audiences, to attract new and additional advertising dollars; and, to create a new level of public service."

AVAILABILITY OF JOBS — Columbia School of Broadcasting has high hopes for its announcing and engineering grads for the jobs that will be available according to figures from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. According to Bureau figures for the 1980s, the rate of growth for radio and television announcers is expected to increase 29.8%, and electrical engineer openings will increase 21.1%. The Bureau indicated that successful job seekers in the new

by Mark Albert and Michael Martinez

LOS ANGELES — Competition between radio networks and syndication companies for national advertising dollars, has been heating up over the last several months, a Cash Box survey has revealed. New network programming featuring exclusive interviews with artists and live recorded concerts has become a viable product in an area that has traditionally been the main staple of syndicated companies.

"The biggest competition is in the sales area," said Ron Cutler, president and executive producer for Golden Egg. "The networks saw that special programming was very viable, especially for the national advertising dollar."

While much of the competition at this point consists of short-form features, networks are also beginning to compete with longer formats such as live concerts and rock personality profiles like NBC's recent feature on Chuck Berry. Some observers believe that networks will eventually compete with more personality features like the Wolfman Jack Show, Dr. Demento and the Charlie Tuna Show, which are currently in syndication.

Cutler also pointed out that the advertisers themselves cited networks and not other syndicators as Golden Egg's prime competition. Golden Egg, like some of its contemporaries, relies heavily upon the barter system, by which the shows are made available to each station at no charge, with the company retaining a portion of commercial time for national advertising.

"In employing the barter system," Cutler explained, "We live and die on the advertising dollar. That's where the battle is. There are more networks than bartering syndication companies. We're outnumbered."

Competition Boosts Quality

Those surveyed generally agreed that radio stands to gain from this competition. "From a programming standpoint, the product can only get better, and this is obviously good for the industry," stated Harvey Mednick, vice president of RKO Radio. "Both networks and syndicators will have to be more creative in providing radio with top quality product."

Networks may have an edge with their affiliates in providing the immediacy of news feeds, but there seems to be an overlapping in special programming.

"We're absolutely in competition with the syndication companies," stated John McGhan, production coordinator for The Source, NBC's youth-oriented network. "In special programming of live concerts and recorded live concerts, I would consider DIR Broadcasting our #1 competitor."

The Source also provides daily short form, commercial free features like Rock Report, a 60-second interview with a rock star; Today in Rock History, a rock trivia show hosted by Dan Formento, and a coping feature discussing the type of stress experienced by 16-30 year olds. McGhan

Former FCC Attys. Deny They Want RKO Stations

LOS ANGELES — A spokesman for three attorneys, who last week vacated their FCC posts to form a broadcast company, has firmly denied speculation that the partnership was interested in purchasing RKO stations on the market due to a commission decision.

Sam Cooper, 32, former assistant general counsel for legislative liaison, said, "It has never been our intention to pursue any property on the market as result of the RKO decision. You won't see an application from us."

The FCC last month ruled that RKO General was not qualified to hold TV and radio stations, a decision that affected three TV stations, WNAC-TV/Boston, WOR-TV/New York and KHJ-TV/Los Angeles.

Cooper, with Jim Winston, 31, former assistant to Commissioner Bob Lee, and Booker Wade, 35, former assistant to Commissioner Tyrone Brown, report that they are merely planning to form a partnership aimed at acquiring viable communications properties. Cooper said that the group was not looking to any particular market.

The attorneys have retained counsel to spot potential properties and have begun consulting financial sources.

Cooper said that because of their work with the commission, there has not yet been proper time to organize their own efforts.

MERCHANDISING

WHAT'S IN-STORE

TOWER PROMOTIONS — A check with the Tower Records stores in the San Francisco Bay area turned up these activities. A Pearl Harbor contest is in progress at the Berkeley, Concord, San Francisco, Mountain View, Fresno and Campbell stores. There will be a drawing that will result in ten couples being awarded a "Pearl Harbor cruise" on the Blue and Gold Fleet around San Francisco Bay. . . . A second contest is being held in conjunction with KKH radio, Columbia Masterworks and United Airlines. The grand prize will be a weekend for two in New York, March 24-31, with accommodations at the Plaza Hotel. The couple will be given tickets to see "Don Pasquale" at the Metropolitan House and "Mefistofeles" at the New York City Opera.

NEW YORK PROMOTIONS — Some new activity has been reported from the New York CBS office. The 28 Record World/T.S.S. locations and WLIR-FM are conducting a major Molly Hatchet promotion. A drawing will be held in which there will be 21 consumer prizes. The grand prize will be a "Flirtin With Disaster" gold record, picture discs and autographed Hatchet albums. Ten second prizes will also be awarded: picture discs and autographed LPs, with ten third prizes of picture discs and Hatchet albums. In addition, there is a merchandising contest for the chain. The store manager who does the best job of displaying the LP will receive a gold record with five runner-up prizes of picture discs. . . . A second promotion involving the Romantics album is being conducted with the seven Crazy Eddie's stereo outlets and three college radio stations, NYU, Fordham and Rutgers. A New York City "Weekend Spree" is being offered to the winner. This will consist of tickets to a play, dinner and a horse and buggy ride for each night of the weekend.

MORE STAR TREK NEWS — Several more chains have announced promotional activity involving the Star Trek LP. Korvette's in New York is displaying a pinball machine in its 34th Street store that forms the basis of the promotion. The contest, tied in with WKTU radio (92 AM), will work as follows: Contestants will mail entries to WKTU or fill out forms at the Korvettes stores. Ninety-two winners will be selected at random, each receiving a Star Trek album. They then will be allowed to compete in a pinball playoff during the following week. The 20 highest scorers will receive customized tote bags designed at the New York CBS office. They will then participate in the finals, with the winner receiving the machine itself, valued at $1,800. . . . The Music Plus stores are conducting a Star Trek and Pink Floyd promotion under the slogan, "Even the Walls Have Ears." A drawing on Nov. 26 will determine the four winners, each of whom will receive pairs of RSL Formula 30 speakers.

OTHER ACTIVITY — Peaches, Kansas City, conducting a large push for Nutts and Butts, a local group. The LP is being given a heavy storeplay along with distribution of buttons and sale of t-shirts. . . . Some creative merchandising of the new Heart album. Sound Warehouse, San Antonio, is having customers complete entry forms with three trivia questions about the group. There then will be a drawing with a grand prize of free membership to the International Fitness Center; and Peaches, Oklahoma City, with a charity push, is donating $1 to the Heart Association for every Heart album sold between Feb. 14 and Feb. 28. . . . Radio Doctors, Milwaukee, is holding a promotion along with WPLX. The station has formed a "Rock 'n' Roll Air Force" club and any patron who comes into the store on a Wednesday and shows the club's emblem will receive a discount. . . . Peaches, Indianapolis, has a Bruce Cockburn "Dancing in the Dragon's Jaws" kite contest. Entrants will register during February to be eligible to win six Chinese kites.

CUSTOMER QUOTE OF THE WEEK: "I'd like to exchange this album. I listened to it, and frankly, I don't like it at all."

IN-STORE — Toto made an informal appearance at Charts, Phoenix, Feb. 4. . . . Jane Olivor, with a huge in-store, Feb. 8, at the new Sam Goody store at Moorestown, New Jersey, drew close to 1,000 patrons. . . . Whispers showed up at National Record Mart, Oakland, Penn., Feb. 23. . . . Lydia Lunch was at Tower, Seattle, Feb. 29.

REGIONAL ACTIVITY — New Heart is strong everywhere, particularly in the midwest and west. . . . Latest John Denver has strong reports from the midwest and west. . . . New Warren Zevon is powerful in the west, with new Sister Sledge selling best in the east. . . . Lene Lovich is strong on both coasts, and Brothers Johnson are breaking out of the east and south.

ENDS AND ODDS — More sales and openings: Gary's Records, Virginia, is holding a special sale to celebrate the 25th anniversary of Motown Records. All the "Greatest Hits" packages will be run on special sale during the last weekend in February. . . . Disc Records, Texas, is going with a "Leap into the 80's with the best music of the 70's" sale at its 13 stores. Albums from the 7% WEA program will be sold at reduced prices. . . . Radio Doctors scored with a four-day "Honest George Washington" sale in which all albums were featured at $1.00 off the normal price. . . . National Record Mart ran a grand opening sale at its new Columbus, Ohio outlet, Feb. 21-24. The first 1,000 customers received free t-shirts.

TEAM WORK — Recording duo Nickolas Ashford and Valerie Simpson are in the process of producing Gladys Knight and the Pips' upcoming Columbia LP. The husband and wife team are producing the album at A&M studios in Los Angeles. Pictures are (l-r): William Guest and Edward Patten of the group; Simpson; Ashford; Knight; and Merald "Bubba" Knight of the group.

THE RHYTHM SECTION

NEWS FROM ARISTA — At the recent Arista Records regional meetings held in Los Angeles, label president Clive Davis announced that Aretha Franklin had been signed to a contract. Other highlights of the meeting included presentations of upcoming product from Raydio, The Three Degrees, The Average White Band, Gene Page (featuring Charlene Sylvers) and Dionne Warwick. Warwick's new effort was produced by Steve Buckingham.

NEW ARRIVAL — Casablanca's Jehryl Busby and his wife Carolyn are the proud parents of a bouncy baby girl named LaVonne Frances.

BLACK OPINION COMPANY FORMED — Data Black Public Opinion Polls Inc. is the first black-owned national survey and research organization devoted entirely to the study of the black American public. Data Black will focus on conducting four scientific local and national surveys annually for distribution to subscribers. Data Black is jointly owned by Dr. Kenneth Clark, president of the Clark, Phillips, Clark, Harris research consulting firm, and Percy Sutton, chairman of the board of Inner City Broadcasting Corporation. For more information call James E. Booker Associates, Inc. at (212) 755-0842.

FCC CHANGE EEO RULING — After April 1, the FCC will start to review stations with five or more employees, to determine whether minorities or women are employed at a ratio of 50% of their availability within the local work force. Stations that have 11 or more employees will be required to have a 50% ratio of minority and/or women in its top four job categories. All stations with 50 or more employees will be subject to a complete EEO review.

RANDY BROWN TAKES OFF WITH CHOCOLATE CITY — Randy Brown's first album for Cecil Holmes' Chocolate City Records, "Midnight Desire," is really off to an excellent start as several major stations including WOL, WWRL, KGFJ, WWIN, KATZ, WGIV and others have added the single "We Ought To Be Doin' It." Gearing up for a heavy push on Brown's career, the company is organizing a showcase to make more of the public aware of what a fine performer he is.

BOOTH CHALLENGES FCC — Booth American Company informed the FCC that it will fight to keep its broadcast license and not succumb to the easy out with a "distress sale." The two organizations will meet April 15 at a hearing that has been set by the FCC to determine whether this organization will keep its broadcast license and the two Detroit stations, WJLB and WMZK. John L. Booth II has been quoted as saying that the company is confident that when that organization's total record is reviewed, the FCC will agree that Booth America Company is indeed qualified to hold the licenses of its two Detroit stations. Booth has owned WJLB since 1941, and it was the first station in Detroit to program specifically for the black community.

THE ENTERTAINMENT COMPANY MAGIC — The Entertainment Company, which has worked its magic on such top artists as Cher, Captain and Tennille, Tom Jones, and Thelma Houston, to name a few, is now waving that wand over a new group on MCA Records called Heat. The album was produced by Tom Saviano and David Wolfert and will be released in early March in an album cover that is mirror black, embossed with burning letters that spell out H-E-A-T. The executive producers on the album are Gary Klein and Charles Koppelman.

NEW HYMNAL PROMOTION — Ralph Carmichael (c) president of Lexicon Music is joined by sales representatives and executives of Word Record and Music to display new promotions for "The New Church Hymnal." Promotional plans include a special point-of-purchase emphasis including display racks, a four-color brochure for churches, and circulars for store hand-outs.

Word Music Notes Increase In 1979 Copyright Income

NASHVILLE — Word Music, the publishing division of Word, Inc., has seen a 20% increase in total copyright income for 1979, according to Don Cason, assistant director of A&R and music publishing. Cason attributes the increase to growth in the areas of sheet music and performance royalties.

Under the direction of Stan Moser, senior vice president of records and music, and Buddy Huey, vice president and director of Music, the publishing division has seen continued and constant growth over the past several years.

Established in 1955, Word is one of the country's major gospel music publishers, holding more than 30,000 copyrights. The major catalogs, Word (ASCAP) Dayspring

Dates Set For 1980 Estes Park

NASHVILLE — The annual gathering at Estes Park of Christian artists and gospel industry leaders will take place July 27-Aug. 2, according to Cam Floria, head of the Christian Artists Corp., sponsor of the event. This year will mark the sixth annual Christian Music Seminar.

More than 1,500 registrants are expected to attend the week long event, including over 400 artists, with 45 states represented as well as several foreign countries.

Concert Shows

Nightly concerts will feature artists such as Andrus/Blackwood & Co., Reba, The Archers, Wendell Burton, Act One Company, Dave Boyer, Cynthia Clawson, Andrew Culverwell, Jamie Owens-Collins, Jessy Dixon, Continental Singers and Orchestra, Amy Grant, Dino and Debby, John Fischer, Rusty Goodman, Phil Johnson, Larnelle Harris, The Hawaiians, Phil Keaggy, Kathie Lee Johnson, David Meece, The Imperials, Barry McGuire, Jeremiah People, Kelly Willard, Karen Laferty, Nielson & Young, Walt Mills, Doug Oldham, Bill Pearce, Michael & Stormy O'Martian, Sweet Comfort Band, Leon Patillo, Sharalee, Don Francisco, Pat Terry Group, Mike Warnke, Steve & Maria, Wings of Light, The Sharretts and Dan Whittmore.

Registrants will have over 100 seminars and workshops to choose from, many especially for music leadership. Classes will be lead by publishers, artists, songwriters, recording company executives, agency and management personnel, and church music professionals. Reading sessions will be hosted by most of the leasing publishers of gospel music with over 15 companies presenting new and standard material from their libraries.

(BMI), the Rodeheaver Co. (ASCAP) and the Norman Clayton Publishing Co. (SESAC) are administered and promoted out of the Word home office in Waco, Tex. under the supervision of Cason, who notes that Word is planning expansion of its publishing offices to Los Angeles and Nashville within the coming year.

Print Division

Word Music's printed division has expanded its market in the area of artist related folios within the past two years, while sustaining its position as a major publisher of church music through choral books, anthems and keyboard literature. Under the direction of John Purifoy, director of music publications, and Ken Barker, associate editor, the printed music division saw a sales increase of 30% in 1979, moving over one million units of choral anthems alone.

In Nashville, a division of Canaan Records, which is a division of Word, has publishing operations that include Canaanland Music (BMI), First Monday (ASCAP) and Promiseland (SESAC) as well as the Journey Music catalog. This branch, established in 1972, is under the direction of Aaron Brown. His staff includes Dave Lehman, Donna Barham-Emmons and Gaylynn Reeves.

Last year, Brown was named the recipient of the Mahalia Jackson Memorial Award for his humanitarian contribution to the career of the late Rev. Clavant Derricks and for his efforts to further gospel music.

In addition to representing writers Aaron Wilburn, Kyla Rowland and Rusty Goodman, Canaanland also represents the sheet music for Marjohn Wilkin, Larry Gatlin and Johnny Cash. Canaanland's newest project is "55 Gospel Greats," which includes Bob Dylan's "Gotta Serve Somebody" as well as other copyrights.

PTL Under Investigation

NASHVILLE — The Federal Communications Commission is investigating the financial records of the Charlotte-based PTL evangelical television network, headed by Rev. Jim Bakker. The FCC is investigating allegations that the organization, which produces the nationally syndicated PTL Club religious show, solicited money from supporters for specific purposes but spent the money elsewhere, in violation of FCC rules. PTL denies the allegations.

Bakker testified in a closed FCC hearing during November, 1979, but on Jan. 8 he allegedly refused a subpoena directing him to testify again and turn over more PTL documents.

The FCC has jurisdiction over the PTL.

GOSPEL

GMA Week Set For Late March; Will Culminate With Dove Awards

NASHVILLE — The Gospel Music Association has finalized plans for its 2nd annual Gospel Music Week set for March 23-26. Executives from all facets of the gospel music industry and numerous artists will be on hand for the four-day event, spotlighting fellowship and learning experiences during the expanded agenda of seminars, workshops and showcases and culminating with the 11th annual Dove Awards presentation and banquet, March 26.

Artists James Blackwood, Pat & Shirley Boone, the Boone Girls, Terry Bradshaw, Shirley Caesar, Chris Christian, Andrew Cuilverwell, Dino & Debbie Kartsonakis, Hovie Lister, Dottie Rambo, George Beverly Shea and Marijohn Wilkin will join RCA's Tony Brown, Gospel Music Association executive director Don Butler, gospel deejay Bishop Al Hobbs, BMI vice president Frances Preston, and Manna Music president Hal Spencer to present Dove awards to the winners in 16 categories. They will also present Dove awards and announce inductees to the Gospel Music Hall of Fame.

Seminars slated include "Elements of Good Song Composing," "Innovative Bookings in the '80s," "Trade Papers: Their Charts and Your Song," "The Christian Bookstore: Its Link to the Gospel Music Consumer," "Records: The Next Decade," "Gospel Radio: Where Do We Go From Here," "Television and its Potential in the

'80s" and "Christian Journalism: How To Use It Effectively."

Label Showcases

Various labels will present new artists at two showcases on March 24 and 25. Each evening will feature the Gospel Music Spectacular 1980, a concert by top talents in the black, contemporary, inspirational and traditional gospel fields. Among the artists appearing are the Imperials, the Florida Boys, the Williams Brothers, and Aibrecht, Roley and Moore.

The week will climax with the March 26 Dove Awards presentations, when music will be provided by Roger Breland and Truth with Paul Sparks as guest conductor. Co-hosts for the evening will be the husband and wife teams of Bill & Gloria Gaither, Walter & Tramaine Hawkins and Paul & Katie Lee Johnson.

Registration for all Gospel Music Week activities including the Dove Awards is $100 per person. For further information contact the GMA office at P.O. Box 23201, Nashville, Tenn. 37202 (615) 242-0303.

PTL Under Investigation

because it owns a television station; otherwise, Bakker and his counterparts could not be held responsible for any alleged wrongdoing since their only involvement with the show is in a production capacity.

The FCC investigation stems from broadcasts on PTL-owned WJAN-TV in Canton, Ohio. The FCC is trying to determine if the money solicited during that broadcast was spent for the purposes intended.

Bakker contends that PTL has disclosed all financial information, but the FCC and Better Business Bureau disagree. On a BBB list of charitable organizations, the PTL is listed among those which do not meet the BBB's standards for charitable solicitations.

Chalace Music Pacts With Distrib. By Dave

NASHVILLE — An exclusive western region distribution pact has been announced between Chalace Music and Canoga Park, Calif.'s Distribution by Dave, according to Lew Andrews, president of Chalace Music.

Chalace, based in Tacoma, Wash. has albums by Bob & Joy Cull and Keith Hawson in its catalog, with a new release by Bob Cull slated for April.

REVIEWS

LIFELINE — B. W. Stevenson — MCA Songbird MCA-3215 — Producer: Chris Christian and Brown Bannister — List: 7.98

The soulful voice that brought us "My Maria" and the original "Shambala" is here with a gospel release, and the music never sounded better than when B.W. sings it. This album has a lot of soul in more ways than one. Best cuts include "Headin' Home," "Fiddle and Bow," "Paradise," and "One True Way." An excellent album all the way.

COME TO THE QUIET — John Michael Talbot — Birdwind BWR-2019 — Producer: J.M. Talbot and Phil Perkins — List: 7.98

John Michael Talbot spends most of his time in a monastery and these songs reflect the quiet reflection and contemplative worship that distinguishes that solitary life. Divided into "Morning" and "Evening," each side is composed mainly of Psalms set to music, usually the guitar of Talbot or a tastefully lush orchestra. This album will fit not only the regular gospel market, but also the Catholics.

HEAVEN — Genobia Jeter — Savoy SL-14547 — Producer: Milton Biggum — List: 7.98

The incredibly talented Miss Jeter hails from Washington D.C. and this, her debut solo release, sparkles with bright, soulful tunes. There's a lively beat behind the spiritual message in the words and the R&B sound fits Jeter's voice perfectly. Best cuts include "Call On Jesus," "Master I Know You Can," "Try To Realize" and "So Good."

MOVIN ON — The Dixie Hummingbirds — Gospel Roots 5050 — Producer: Ira Tucker — List: 7.98

The Dixie Hummingbirds are an institution in gospel music. They have been around for over 50 years and are still going strong. This album shows why they are as popular as they are — it contains songs that are timely today while still appealing to their long time followers. Best cuts include "After The Rapture," "Mother's Crying Again," "Moving Up" and "The Dollar And The Devil."

Birdwing Announces Easter Discounts And In-Store Merchandising Campaign

NASHVILLE — Birdwing Records has created a new Easter display that will feature self-supporting floor displays colored a bright red, blue and yellow. It is designed to hold 80 records and tapes.

The display is designed to feature six albums on Birdwing: "Come To The Quiet" and "The Lord's Supper" by John Michael Talbot; "The Messiah" by the London Philharmonic Orchestra and Choir; "New Every Morning," "Joy Of The Lord" and "Communion" collections from the New Creation Singers. The display is offered free with any order of 50 or more pieces of these albums from Birdwing, a division of Sparrow.

Birdwing is also offering a special discount of 43% for orders of 50-99 pieces and a 45% discount for orders of 100 or more pieces. The special discount merchandise and display ships March 3.

Word Releases Catalog Guide To Black Gospel

NASHVILLE — Word Distribution has produced a special "Complete Guide To Black Gospel" catalog for its music distributors and retailers, to emphasize and promote their heavy involvement in the black gospel record and music field.

Artists featured in the catalog include Andrae Crouch, Walter Hawkins, Danniebelle, Jesse Dixon, Tramaine Hawkins, Teddy Huffman and the Gems, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, and his "Push For Excellence" album, Leon Patillo, Billy Preston, Nedra Ross and Bili Thedford.

JETER HAS AUTOGRAPH PARTY — WYCB radio personality, Vashti McKenzie (l) poses with Genobia Jeter during an autograph party at Washington D.C.'s Soul Shack. The party was sponsored by WYCB to promote Jeter's new album, "Heaven." Plans are in the works for a new album to be released in spring.

Capitol And UA Consolidate Country Promotion Staffs

by Don Cusic

NASHVILLE — The United Artists and Capitol labels combined their country promotion staffs Feb. 19 in Nashville. In a consolidation move that also affected the R&B promotion teams for the labels in Hollywood (See separate story, page 7), Capitol/United Artists/EMI America president Don Zimmermann announced that Lynn Shults will head the Group's Nashville operation, with Jerry Seabolt in charge of country promotion.

As explained by Zimmermann, the consolidation under Shults, head of Capitol's Nashville operations, and Seabolt, head of United Artists' Nashville unit, means that the UA promotion team will now handle acts on both labels.

As a result of the consolidation and UA's assumption of country promotion duties, four employees were terminated on Feb. 19. Among the staffers terminated were Ed Keeley, head of Capitol's country promotion unit, Jack Pride and Chuck Flood, also with Capitol; and Pat King from UA.

'Better Focus'

Zimmermann stated that the consolidation would provide a "better focus and better direction" for country promotion.

A total of 24 acts will fall under the wing of the new promotion set-up. These acts include Kenny Rogers, Charlie Rich, Christy Lane, Billie Jo Spears, Dottie West, Bobby Smith, Sandra Steele, David Willis and Bobby Wright on the United Artists label; and Glen Campbell, Anne Murray, Jessi Coulter, Dr. Hook, Deborah Allen, Lee Clayton, Billy "Crash" Craddock, Kenny Dale, LaCosta, Mel McDaniel, Diane Pfieter, Don Schlitz, Keith Stegall, Chip Taylor and Gene Watson on Capitol.

Capitol-EMI manufactures and distributes both Capitol and United Artists product and the labels share a common sales force. Also, since January 1980, both labels have shared offices at 29 Music Square East in Nashville in a building owned by Kenny Rogers.

Cates, Hagen Open Production Co.

NASHVILLE — Producers Joseph Cates and Chet Hagan have announced the formation of Cates/Hagan, Inc., a Nashville-based production company. Located at 25 Music Square West, the firm will be headed by Barbara Hill, a native of Nashville who is an associate of the parent company, Joseph Cates Co., Inc., of New York and Los Angeles.

According to the producers, the facility is an indication of their involvement with and commitment to the Nashville music and entertainment community.

Cates and Hagan have in the past worked on such television specials as the CBS Johnny Cash specials; "Fifty Years of Country Music," with hosts Dolly Parton, Glen Campbell and Roy Clark; "Country Night of Stars," with hosts Crystal Gayle, Eddy Arnold, Tennessee Ernie Ford and Charley Pride; and most recently, "Country Superstars of the Seventies," a program for President and Mrs. Carter which aired from historic Ford's Theatre in Washington, D.C.

Cates and Hagan have also scored big with separate production ventures. Cates lined up some impressive credits for his work on the motion picture, "The Last Married Couple In America," and many television specials, including "George M" and "S Wonderful, 'S Marvelous, 'S Gershwin."

Hagan was the producer of "instant specials" for 20 years with NBC News, which included "American Revolution of '63" and "The Cuban Missile Crisis." Hagan was also the first producer of the Country Music Association Awards Show.

Thunderbird Signs Three Artists To Roster

TULSA — Thunderbird Artists, a division of the Jim Halsey Company, has added Kenny Dale, Riders in the Sky and the Thrasher Brothers to its growing roster of talent.

Formed in late 1979, Thunderbird's roster now includes: Sheila Andrews, Badfinger, Randy Barlow, Ed Bruce, Helen Hudson, Rodney Lay and the Wild West, Mission Mountain Wood Band, John Wesley Ryles, Joe Sun, Jim Sweeney, James Talley, The Shoppe, Tweed, Jacky Ward, Freddy Weller and Don White.

STATLERS APPEAR IN SMOKEY AND THE BANDIT — Mercury recording artists The Statler Brothers are among several country artists set to appear in the sequel to the highly successful film "Smokey And the Bandit." The group recently traveled to Las Vegas to tape their cameo appearance in the film, where they perform their hit song, "Do You Know You Are My Sunshine," as well as a new tune, "Charlotte's Web." Pictured after the recording session (l-r) are: Harold Reid and Don Reid of the Statlers; Snuff Garrett, who is in charge of music supervision for Smokey II; Phil Baisley and Lew DeWitt of the Statlers. Seated is Jerry Kennedy, vice president of A&R, Phonogram/Mercury's country division.

■ CASH BOX ANNOUNCES:

a spotlight
on gospel music

issue date
march 29, 1980

In recognition of Gospel Music Week and the annual Dove Awards presentations in Nashville, the Cash Box Spotlight on Gospel Music will explore in detail how spiritual/inspiration music has become a dominant industry force in the 1980s.

It's the only vehicle that will guarantee maximum exposure for your advertising message. The story of your participation and success in the exciting gospel music scene will reach the widest possible audience through bonus distribution of this year's Gospel Music Week celebration.

The Cash Box Spotlight on Gospel Music will provide an authoritative, in-depth look at all facets of this dynamic industry through timely articles and interviews with the individuals who are making it happen. Also included will be a directory of gospel music, a who's who of the industry: artists, record companies, booking agents and much more.

Act now by contacting Don Cusic in Nashville: (615) 244-2898, or the Cash Box representative in your area, to tell the world about the significance of your involvement in the gospel music scene.

CMA Is Promoting Worldwide Popularity Of Country Music

NASHVILLE — In an effort to further promote country music in the international market, Country Music Association (CMA) executive director Jo Walker and IBC recording artist Jeanne Pruett attended several country music festivals in Australia in January. Walker extended her travels to cover New Zealand in early February, where she met with principles in the country music industry in that country.

Walker and Pruett kicked off their two-week stay in Australia with the Australian Country Music Jamboree in Melbourne, a week-long festival which is part of the city's Free Entertainment in Parks (FEIP) program. The Jamboree began Jan. 14, and offered several days of entertainment by country artists and musicians, including the Hawking Brothers, 1901, Colin Millington, Denva, Country Outcasts, Rupe Adams, Silverwater, Jean Stafford, Kevin Hannah, Cash Backman and Ambush and Barry Leuders and Stoney Creek.

On Jan. 20, following the Australian Grand Old Opry show, Presidents of Country Music Clubs' Awards and the Southern Hemisphere Awards were presented, with Walker and Pruett taking part in the ceremonies. Winners of the awards were as follows: Most Popular Soloist — Chad Morgan; Female Vocalist — Donna Fisk; Male Vocalist — Johnny Chester; Album — "Wandong;" Instrumentalist — George Xanthos; Potential Artist or Band — Peter Caulton; and Country Band — The Hawking Brothers.

Hank Williams Play Premieres In Houston

NASHVILLE — The premier of "Hank Williams — The Show He Never Gave" has been set for Houston, Tex. where it will play at the Tower Theatre for four weeks, beginning March 10.

This play has been brought to the U.S. from Canada, after a national tour in 1977-78, by Wesley Rose of Acuff-Rose in Nashville, owner of the copyrights for the Hank Williams' catalog. Star of the show is Canadian-born performer Sneezy Waters, who portrays Hank Williams.

The show was written by Maynard Collins and the production has been newly staged and directed for its Houston premier by Milton Moss. Supporting cast members include George Essery, David Harvey, Doug Orr and Joel Zifkin.

The show takes place in the fictitious setting of a concert hall on New Year's Eve, 1952, which is the day before Williams died en route to a concert in Canton, Ohio.

Before continuing to Tamworth for the Australian Country Music Festival and Awards, Walker and Pruett made side trips to Sydney, where they gained exposure through various newspapers and radio stations, including 2UW, 2SM and 2KY. In Brisbane, Pruett and Walker taped a segment of Reg Lindsay's syndicated television show.

Australian Awards

On Jan. 27, Pruett and Walker attended the Australian Country Music Awards, sponsored by Radio 2TM in Tamworth. The awards were presented to the artists receiving the most votes from a panel of industry judges. Nominations for the awards are made by record and publishing companies for material wholly recorded and released in Australia and New Zealand by recognized country artists between Nov. 28, 1978 and Nov. 26, 1979. RCA country artist Charley Pride who was on a 16-date tour of New Zealand, attended the Awards show and presented Male Vocalist of the Year Reg Lindsay with his award.

The categories and winners are as follows: Best New Talent — Allan Caswell; Best Vocal Group — 1901; Best Female

Hall Raises $50,000 For Carter Campaign

NASHVILLE — Tom T. Hall recently hosted a fund-raising event for President Carter that featured special guests Lillian Carter and brother Billy Carter as well as country music stars Johnny Cash, Skeeter Davis, Helen Cornelius and Hank Snow. The $250 a plate gala raised over $50,000 for Carter.

Hall and other country artists have performed at the White House during the Carter administration as well as being instrumental in raising support and funds for the President's re-election.

Parton And Reynolds Set To Star In Film

NASHVILLE — Dolly Parton and Burt Reynolds will head the cast of Universal's "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," according to an announcement made by Universal's Ned Tanen.

Produced by Peter Masterson and Tommy Tune, the film is the screen adaptation of the musical comedy hit, which has been running on Broadway for two years. The Sunburst Production, which will be choreographed by Tune, is scheduled for filming on location in Texas and at Universal Studio in Los Angeles. Stevie Phillips will produce the film.

THE KENDALLS STRIKE CANADIAN PLATINUM — Ovation Records artists The Kendalls were recently honored with their first Canadian platinum album at a Jan. 31 concert appearance in Hamilton, Ontario. The LP, "Heaven's Just A Sin Away," is only the fifth country album to certify platinum in Canada. Pictured (l-r) are: Jeannie Kendall; Dick Schory, president of Ovation; Royce Kendall; Jack Feeney, RCA/Canada country A&R director; and Ed Preston, RCA/Canada vice president and general manager.

Bruce Talent Agency Now Bringing Many New Advertisers To Nashville

by Jennifer Bohler

NASHVILLE — Patsy Bruce is no neophyte when it comes to the music business. She and Ed Bruce are the composers of such country classics as "Mamas Don't Let Your Babies Grow Up To Be Cowboys" and "Texas When I Die." They are also founders of the Bruce Agency in Nashville, a successful talent agency which places entertainers with national advertising accounts, television series and movies.

Handling some 300 clients, the company has effectively established Nashville as a hotbed of talent, and has enabled the city to crack the lucrative market of radio and TV commercials.

Serves Major Accounts

National accounts the Bruce Agency has supplied talent to reads like a who's who in the advertising business. Among its clients the agency claims Master Charge, Kellogg's, Chrysler, Datsun, Levi Strauss, Frito-Lay, Sears, Firestone and Stroh's Beer.

Television and movie credits are equally impressive. Patsy Bruce has casted extras in the movies "Coal Miner's Daughter," "Murder in Music City" and "Concrete Cowboy." She also had a hand in the Carol Burnett and Dolly Parton special filmed in Nashville last year.

Bruce helped husband Ed land a major role in the television mini-series "The Chisolms;" and she served as assistant casting director to Sheri Rhodes for the "Dukes of Hazzard" television series and "Urban Cowboy," the upcoming motion picture starring John Travolta.

The Bruce's started the agency in 1975 as a catalyst for Ed's budding career. In an interview with Cash Box, Patsy Bruce, the overseer of the talent, recalled the formation of the agency and its growth and discussed Nashville's potential importance in the world of advertising.

"I started the agency and built it around Ed because I always believed he could do commercials and movies," she said. "There really wasn't anybody in town representing the local talent to national advertisers. Ed had done a few local commercials, so I put together a reel, went to New York and called on nine of the ten largest ad agencies in the world. Within six months we had worked for eight of them."

Spurred by that initial success, Bruce decided to take on more clients. Finding talent to represent wasn't a difficult task for her; she had been in the business some time, and had attracted a veritable storehouse of talented friends.

"The people I initially sought out were friends of ours — writers and singers in town," Bruce recalled. "The person I actively sought was Nat Stuckey. Basically I was looking for a voice to replace Ed's. I had to have another male voice that was really great — a substitute the advertiser would be happy with. So Nat Stuckey was the first person I added. From there I began to add women and other types of voices — deeper, higher, more country, more mid western, etc."

Bruce surmised that perhaps one reason her talent is finding a home with so many national accounts is the recent popularity of the southern dialect. So far as trends in advertising are concerned, Bruce said she has noticed a "back to the basics" attitude.

"Believability in commercials and in a commercial voice is important," Bruce noted. "Somebody who sounds like your uncle or the wise old sage from the small town — that's a very popular sound. Believability is a voice you feel like wouldn't tell you a lie about a product."

"I think that having a southern President, and having more southern voices on television has made the voice with a Southern accent more saleable," she added.

In the past, New York and Los Angeles were the towns to go to when trying to break into show business. But Bruce sees Nashville edging its way into that marketplace. More and more advertisers are looking to Nashville when planning the strategy of their sales programs. Why?

"There are two things I sell when I talk to people — talent and Nashville," asserted Bruce. "I am one of Nashville's biggest supporters so far as the creative people here go. If I can get an advertiser to work here, they come back; the reason is the talent is so great. Nashville is building a good, solid reputation for having a lot of talent."

NSAI Sponsors Awards Dinner And Symposium

NASHVILLE — The Nashville Songwriters Association, International will kick off its second annual songwriter's symposium Feb. 29 with a songwriter's showcase at the Tennessee Theatre here. Featured guests include Felice and Boudleaux Bryant, Randy Goodrum, Sonny Throckmorton and a special guest artist.

Saturday, March 1, the Hyatt Regency will play host to a panel discussion, "Three Sides of Songwriting." Topics will cover songwriting, publishing and royalties, plus a song critique.

Following the symposium will be the Songwriter Achievement Awards dinner, when the Songwriter of the Year and the Song of the Year will be announced. Sonny Throckmorton, Bob McDill, Rafe Van Hoy, Rory Bruet and Steve Dorff are the top five nominees for the Songwriter of the Year.

SINGLES REVIEWS

JOHN ANDERSON (Warner Bros. WBS 49191)

She Just Started Liking Cheatin' Songs (2:22) (Pi-Gem — BMI) (K. Robbins)

A super country song from the singer whose "Lyn' Blue Eyes" climbed the charts. It's a country sound all the way with a toe tapping beat and a hook big enough to grab any ear. This could be a very big record for Anderson — it's perfect for jukeboxes and radio.

EDDIE RABBITT (Elektra E-46613-A)

Gone Too Far (3:22) (DeeDee/Briarpatch — BMI) (E. Stevens-E. Rabbitt-D. Malloy)

Some nice guitar work opens up this pop-flavored sound from Rabbitt that has a peppy beat. It's about falling in love and it sounds like he's going all the way — and so is this record.

JEANNE PRUETT (IBC IBC 0008A)

Temporarily Yours (3:19) (Bobby Fischer — ASCAP/Tuff — BMI) (B. Fischer-S. Throckmorton)

Her follow-up to "Back To Back" should assure Pruett of having back-to-back hits. Her sweet country sound wraps itself around a solid song with a strong chorus. Will be a permanent favorite.

BILLY "CRASH" CRADDOCK (Capitol P-4838)

I Just Had You On My Mind (3:56) (Ensign — BMI) (S. Richards)

Craddock sings ballads convincingly and on this one he wrings emotion from the incisive lyrics. The song is long, but well worth every measure.

BEN COLDER (Sunbird S-104-A)

The Rambler (3:52) (Writers Night, ASCAP) (D. Schlitz-S. Wooley)

It's been awhile since Ben Colder's been heard but he's making a strong comeback with this comic take-off of "The Gambler." The record is a scream and listeners will scream for more.

LARRY GATLIN AND THE GATLIN BROTHERS BAND (Columbia 1-11219)

Taking Somebody With Me When I Fall (3:20) (Larry Gatlin — BMI) (L. Gatlin)

Gatlin's expansive vocal range is amply displayed here as he sings a soft paced number about falling in love with another consenting party. Nice, MOR type sound.

ED BRUCE (MCA MCA-41201)

Diane (3:45) (Newkeys/Sugarplum/Sister John — BMI) (R. Rogers)

The deep resonant voice of Bruce never sounded better than on this number about a cheatin' woman he'd like to cheat with.

SINGLES TO WATCH

EDDY RAVEN (Dimension DS 1005)

Dealin' With The Devil (2:33) (Milene Music ASCAP/Acuff-Rose Publishing, Inc. — BMI) (Eddy Raven/Sanger D. Shafer)

PAUL EVANS (Cinnamon IRDA 580)

Good Neighbor (3:03) (Port Music, Inc./Trajames Music — ASCAP) (Paul Evans)

MELISSA LEWIS (Door Knob DK 80-122)

The First Time (2:25) (Limmo Publishing — BMI) (Mac Phillips/Doug Zepp/Ophelia Casper)

ALBUM REVIEWS

FREE AND EASY — Faron Young — MCA MCA-3212 — Producer: Eddie Kilroy — List: 7.98

The smooth country voice of Faron Young never sounded better than on this collection, produced by Eddie Kilroy. The selection of songs is superb, allowing Young to show his versatility. Kilroy's production aids each song with just the right touch. Best cuts include "Took It Like A Man, Cried Like A Baby," "As Usual" and "The Woman In My Bed."

BEAN BLOSSOM '79 — Bill Monroe — MCA MCA-3209 — Producer: Walter Haynes and Ron Chancey — List: 7.98

The Daddy of all the bluegrass pickers has released this album, recorded at his annual Bean Blossom festival in Indiana, one of the premier bluegrass festivals held. There's some fast pickin' and hot licks here and the best include "Little Cabin Home on the Hill," "The Little Girl And The Dreadful Snake," and "Molly and Tenbrooks Medley."

TOGETHER WE DRIFTED APART — Freddy Fender — Starflite 36284 — Producer: Huey Meaux — List: 7.98

The Tex-Mex sound of Freddy Fender is as soulful as ever and on this collection Freddy and producer Huey Meaux mix it up with ballads and up tempo toe tappers that are well suited to Freddy's voice. There are also some songs sung partly in Spanish and partly English — a Fender trademark. Best cuts include the title, "Give me Another Tequila," "It's Gonna Be Easy," "Give It All To Me" and "Please Talk To My Heart."

THE COUNTRY COLUMN

EL PASO WAS NEVER LIKE THIS — If anyone happened to catch funnyman Steve Martin's last special (and we're sure quite a few people did) you probably noticed there was something strangely different about the old west. Chimpanzees running the town . . . Martin riding off into the sunset on an elephant . . . Come on now. All this craziness was a spoof of Marty Robbins' cowboy classic, "El Paso." Said Robbins after hearing about the comical little skit, "I suppose it's all right with me. I'm sure I could do a much better job of performing my song than a monkey, but it that's the way they feel, let it fly."

It's not every young girl in Alabaster, Ala. that has her own rehearsal studio. As a matter of fact, Wendy Holcombe is probably the only one. Her father Bill recently built a rehearsal studio behind their home in Alabaster. It's constructed of 250 cross ties, with brick from a pre-Civil War home, and stairs built by a 70-year-old neighbor. The hall should make preparation for the 1980 tour season much easier for Holcombe and her five-piece band.

Marty Robbins

FAMILY REUNION IN LOS ANGELES — Several of Warner Bros.' country artists crossed paths in Los Angeles in the past few weeks. Con Hunley was making appearances at the Palomino, as well as guesting on KLAC's "Coffee With Sammy Jackson." Margo Smith was taping "Hollywood Squares" and "The Merv Griffin Show." And Gail Davies was appearing at the Palomino Feb. 19.

The Column was informed that Deborah Pardee will now be representing the publishing companies and catalogs of Shoe Productions, Inc., in Memphis, including Fallin' Arches Music and Bootchute Music.

Randy Barlow and The Kendalls recently taped interviews for the Air Forces Radio Show, which will be distributed to over 1800 country-oriented radio stations in the United States and overseas.

On Feb. 19 RCA here hosted a noon gathering to present Ronnie Milsap with a gold album for his "Ronnie Milsap Live." Producer Tom Collins, RCA's Jerry Bradley and Don Reeves were also presented with gold albums . . . Congratulations.

Vintage Finds — George Gruhn of George Gruhn's Guitars recently followed up on a hot tip he had received regarding a pawnshop in Peoria just busting with vintage banjos, fiddles and mandolins. The instruments are judged to be at least 30 years old. Many of the instruments need Gruhn's professional touch, while a few are beyond repair, but Gruhn feels the best six instruments will sell for enough to recover his original investment of $8,000.

MOE BANDY A STOOLIE? — Bandy's certainly no stool pigeon, but his song sure tipped the vice squad officers off when they conducted an after-hours raid of a Nashville club looking for illegal liquor. When the officers entered the club, not a bottle of liquor was to be seen. The police did get a bit suspicious when Bandy's song "It's A Cheating Situation" was playing on the jukebox. And sure enough, when they opened the top of the juke, they found six bottles of illegal liquor inside.

LITTLE BIT OF COUNTRY IN THE CITY — Country crooner Elwood Bunn has been granted permission by the city of New York to perform a country music show in Central Park each Sunday afternoon from May 1 through Sept. 30.

Remember last week when we mentioned Roy Clark's upcoming special? Well, we've recently learned that Louie Prezlin, a special effects photographer with Jacques Cousteau for 12 years, has been retained to film select underwater scenes for the special. One sequence will team Clark's instrumental "Ghost Riders In The Sky" with a fast-paced underwater ballet featuring costumed divers riding torpedos. Now how many times has that been done?

Helen Cornelius

SCOTS INVADE CASH TAPING — Well, it wasn't exactly like that . . . but a group of 300 Scottish soldiers training in the United States did comprise a good percent of the audience attending the filming of Johnny Cash's Silver Anniversary Special. During a break in the taping, Cash treated the Scottish lads to a bit of an old Scottish folk song he had picked up during his travels. And after the taping, he invited all of them to park their buses behind the Opryland complex (where the special was filmed) so that he could hop aboard to meet and greet each and every one of them.

SIGNINGS — The Weik Music Group has entered into a co-publishing agreement with Gary S. Paxton Publications, inc. on compositions written by Mark Wright . . . Leona Williams has signed a booking agreement with Encore Talent in San Antonio.

RCA artist Helen Cornelius is allowing her songwriting career to take flight. She has a song to her credit on the new Oak Ridge Boy's "Together" LP (MCA). The song is "Ready To Take My Chances." Also, Cornelius is busy working on her own album with singing partner Jim Ed Brown. According to Brown, the duo is busy working on a follow-up single to "Morning Comes Too Early," which was slated for release Feb. 22.

KENNY DONATES GAMBLER COSTUME — Singer, actor and performer Kenny Rogers recently donated the costume he wore in the TV movie "Kenny Rogers As The Gambler" to the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum. Set to air in April or May on CBS, the film will feature Rogers as the lead character in the movie based on his #1 record. Pictured with the costume and Rogers is Bill Ivey (r), director of the Country Music Foundation.

KFDI LISTENERS DONATE TO SAVE LIVES — Two policemen were recently shot in Wichita, Kan. One was fortunate to be wearing a bullet-proof vest and was saved; the other was not so fortunate and was killed in the line of duty. The incident prompted KFDI/Wichita to begin an on air promotion Feb. 16 to raise money to buy bullet-proof vests for the police department, according to station PD Don Walton. Little did the station realize that it would not only collect enough for the police department, but also enough to equip the entire sheriff's staff. When the day was over, listeners donated over $45,000. This combined with a $12,000 donation from a local businessman was enough to provide vests for both the city and county police and sheriff departments. Good work, KFDI.

MUSIC DIRECTOR PROFILE — Bob Guerra MD at KNEW/Oakland has been involved in radio for 10 years since graduating from Brown Institute in Minneapolis in 1970. Bob graduated with a degree in broadcasting, as well as electronics. He has a first class FCC license. His career started with KCEK in Lincoln, Neb. as a jock in February 1970. Bob stayed for two years then moved to KOOO/Omaha as program director in 1972. The next year he joined WLOL/Minneapolis as music director. He was with WLOL until January 1976, when he moved to the west coast to join KNEW as MD. Bob also does the seven to midnight shift for the station.

NEW JOB OPENINGS — Terry Wunderlin MD at WIRK/West Palm Beach reports that the station needs an afternoon newperson. Send tapes and resume to Terry Lee, WIRK, AM/FM, P.O. Box 3828, West Palm Beach, Fla. 33402 . . . Steve Gary, MD, states that KOKE/Austin has an opening for a multi-talented air personality, preferably with country music top 75 market experience. Minimum of four years in the business is necessary. Send tapes and resume to Jonathan Fricke, operations manager, KOKE, P.O. Box 1208, Austin, Tex. 78767 . . . According to Scott Seiden, MD, WQQT/Savannah is looking for a day time personality. Opportunity for a small market person to move up. Send tapes including a production sample and resume to WQQT, P.O. Box 2026, Savannah, Ga. 31402.

MARCH OF DIMES HORSEBACK RIDE — Lonnie Bell PD at KOYN/Billings, Montana discovered a unique way to raise money for the March of Dimes. Its called the Yellowstone Valley March of Dimes Horseback Ride, and it started quite by accident back in 1965. Lonnie was given a horse from Don Todd, a rancher from Reed Point. Bell did not have a trailer to transport the horse; so Todd challenged Bell to ride the horse the 68 miles from Reed Point to Billings. The fourth Sunday in January was decided for Bell to make the ride. Hal Thomas was on the air at KOYN on this Sunday, and January being March of Dimes month, he suggested that Lonnie collect coins in his saddlebags. Because of advance publicity and Hal Thomas' radio coverage that day, the idea caught on and people were pulling over in their cars and putting money in the saddle bags. By the end of the journey Lonnie was joined by 40 other riders. Each year the event gets bigger and the fourth Sunday in January is of such significance that the Mayor of Billings has proclaimed it "Lonnie Bell Day." Approximately $100,000 has been collected over the 16 years since the drive began.

WDAF/Kansas City announced that Stephanie Pflumm has been promoted to director of music research and evaluation. Stephanie is starting her third year at the station and previously held the position of programming assistant. Prior to joining the station she was involved as a television director at WDAF Channel 4, also in Kansas City.

According to Joe Patrick, MD at WQYK, the station has a new all night personality. His name is Tim Harper and he's formerly with WQXM/St. Petersburg. country mike

Radio Seminar Awards Two Scholarships To Students

NASHVILLE — The Country Radio Seminar has awarded its 1980 scholarships to two students majoring in broadcasting, according to Charlie Monk, scholarship chairman.

Receiving grants of $1,000 each are Cheryl Croyle of Marshall University and Cliff Wilson, of the University of Kansas. Both students are actively involved in the broadcasting field.

Croyle has held a variety of positions and responsibilities at the campus radio station, WMUL-FM. She also has an on-air job at WKEE AM and FM, a local Huntington, W. Va. radio station.

"My career goals are all related to the broadcasting field," Croyle said. "I've been working in radio since high school and have loved every minute of it. A broadcasting career is one of the most exciting and dynamic fields today."

Wilson is the PD of the university station,

KJHK, and is an intern at KYYS, Kansas City. "There are so many responsibilities that lay before me at this point," Wilson said. "My main goal now is to get myself as ready as possible to handle them all."

Grant Qualifications

To qualify for a grant, students must be enrolled at an accredited institution of higher learning; be pursuing a degree in broadcasting or telecommunications; be an upperclassman maintaining a B average; have a financial need; and work a minimum of 10 hours per week for the school's communications department.

To date, the Seminar has awarded $15,000 to deserving students over the past five years. In addition to this year's universities, schools which have benefitted from the scholarship fund include Texas Tech, Seton-Hall University, Middle Tennessee State University and the University of Nebraska.

THE OAKS MEET THE BLUE DEVILS — The Oak Ridge Boys recently invited the coach and assistant coach of the ACC's Duke Blue Devil basketball team to their concert at Fayetteville's Cumberland County Arena. The day before the concert, "The Boys" had attended the Duke-Carolina game at Durham. ON JAZZ

COMINGS AND GOINGS — For a working jazz musician, the bar blues is your bread and butter as well as a means of apprenticeship. Sequestered off to the side of the action on a bandstand, often playing for inattentive audiences, a real musician is challenged to pull the people into the spirit of the music. Visiting the charming Seventh Avenue bar, the Angry Squire, one night recently for a quick snort, Cash Box was surprised to see pianist/vocalist Amina Claudine Myers holding forth with a trio on the elevated bandstand. Though she's usually associated with the avant garde through her work with people like Lester Bowie, Muhai Richard Abrams and Leroy Jenkins, Amina's grasp of the jazz tradition and her regal, dignified beauty recall the great Mary Lou Williams. We came in on the heels of Ellington's "Take The A Train," which Meyers invested with a rich bluesiness and driving two-handed harmonies. On "Summertime," bassist Bob Cunningham's immaculate arco melodies steered clear of the usual cliches, propelling the tune from deep melancholy to exultant swing; and guest drummer Phillip Wilson provided gossamer colors and intricate accents at a dynamic level so soft it felt like the human breath. Trombonist Joseph Bowie is no stranger to the bar blues either, his early mid-western musical experiences having been dotted with carnivals, rock and roll and late night R&B. His new punk jazz band, Defunkt, is dedicated to the dance impulse, and their performance at the rock disco Hurrah reflected both the rolling rave-ups of seminal Detroit rock bands like the MC5 and the very rawest of pre-"Are You Experienced" Jimi Hendrix. The dance elements in Defunkt's music are still evolving, and more often than not they work up to loping, violent exchanges between guitarists Kelvin Bell and Vernon Reid and bassist Melvin Gibbs. Bowie's singing was a triumph of style over content, but his trombone playing — both acoustic and electronically altered — was muscular, highly vocalized and humorous. If Defunkt is dutch for, the St. Louis Ensemble — Bowie's collaboration with funky-buff altoist Luther Thomas — is a complete delight right now. Featuring Alex Blake's quicksilver Alembic bass lines, Donald Smith's sanctified piano and vocals (his ecstatic solo rendition of Billy Strayhorn's "Lush Life" was one of the evening's high points), and the Cajun rhythms of drummer Phillip Wilson, the St. Louis Ensemble's Public Theatre performance was an ebullient historical progression from cottonfields and country churches of the deep South to the swaggering hiposity of the urban blues and jazz traditions. Bowie seemed more comfortable with the old-timey R&B of the Ensemble, evoking images of Miles in his solos, while Luther Thomas sounded like Lou Donaldson being pistol-whipped in the bathroom of an East St. Louis precinct. Their free jazz explorations were also worthy, but the theatrical gesturing and deep gospel overtones of their church parody ("Won't you accept Jesus, brother?") made everything else pale by comparison.

HELPING HANDS — The Universal Jazz Coalition, Inc. (UJC), under the leadership of executive director Cobi Narita, has been providing guidance and practical assistance to New York jazz musicians for many years, with an emphasis on opening up a dialog between the creative and business ends of the music industry. Last month at the Jazz Gallery (55 W. 19th Street), the UJC held a conference on the jazz record industry with panelists Vernon Slaughter (CBS), Elliot Horne, (RCA), Bob Hurwitz (ECM), Andre

MAGICO — Haden, Garbarek and Gismonti — ECM ECM-7-7757 — Producer: Manfred Eicher — List: 8.98

There is much drama on this LP from these three journeyman jazzmen. Jan Garbarek's mournful sax, Charlie Haden's responsive bass work and Egberto Gismonti's flavorful guitars and piano set a mood and never let go. There is nothing obvious about the music, but the sound flows from tempo and melodic phrases effortlessly. "Bailarina" and "Palhaco" are powerful enough to demand more than casual listening, while the rest of the LP becomes a single, haunting mood piece.

WITH ALL MY LOVE — Wilbert Longmire — Tappan Zee/Columbia JC-36342 — Producers: Bob James and Jay Chataway — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded

Easy-going, building inevitable conclusions, Wilbert Longmire's quality for musical understatement lends much character to this often melodic LP. With the help of producer Bob James on keyboards, Longmire delivers a sensitive product with mass appeal potential. "But I Love You," "Crystal Clear," "Take Your Time," the theme from the TV show Taxi, and "Strawberry Sunset" are the best tunes on this disc.

YOU'LL NEVER KNOW — Rodney Franklin — Columbia NJC-36122 — Producer: Paul Buckmaster — List: 7.98 — Bar Coded Progressive ensemble jazz, spiced with unobtrusive, yet luxurious orchestration, makes this LP a jazz-pop must. Never hurried, Rodney Franklin manages to touch base with nearly all established facets of jazz interpretation, while forging ahead into his distinct style. "Felix Leo," "The Watcher," "The Groove," and the title track are prime cuts from this fine album.

JAZZ ALBUM PICKS

DUKE ELLINGTON/SONG BOOK ONE — Sarah Vaughn — Pablo Today 2312-111 — Producer: Norman Granz — List: 8.98

The rich, dusky singing of jazz diva Sarah Vaughn is showcased in a variety of ensembles and moods on this excellent new Norman Granz production. The Divine One shines in luxurious string settings like "In A Sentimental Mood" and "Lush Life"; rich, pensive ballads like "Solitude" and the amazing "Day Dream"; and heavy swingers like "In A Mellow Tone." Excellent jazzmen like J.J. Johnson, Joe Pass, Jimmy Rowles and Zoot Sims offer homage to Duke and Strayhorn and orchestrate every vocal slur and moan to perfection.

THE DUKE ELLINGTON SONGBOOK — Ella Fitzgerald — Verve VE-2-2535 — Producer: Norman Granz — List: 8.98

This is a vital, vibrant jazz recording. Fitzgerald's impeccable swing, and trombone — like intonation are perfectly couched in the matrix of voices and counterpoint which Duke Ellington conjures from this powerhouse 1957 orchestra. The selection of tunes illustrates just how totally Ellington dominates the American song form, and the "Portrait of Ella Fitzgerald" is a magisterial example of his prowess with extended forms. Ella is particularly sweet and slashing on "Rockin' In Rhythm," and "The E And D Blues," a blue suede coo on "I Didn't Know About You."

ALIVE! — Alive — Urana Records/Wisc Women Enterprises ST WWE 84 — Producer: Althea Waltes — List: 7.98

A spirited romp by this five-woman jazz group comprised of drummer Barbara Borden, percussionist Carolyn Brandy, bassist/cellist Suzanne Vincenza, pianist Janet Small and vocalist Rhiannon. The music recalls the insistent modal designs of the '60s with fine, lyrical playing and Afro-Latin overtones, not to mention some fine vocal arrangements with A/C radio promise.

Women Jazz Stars To Appear In K.C. For Jazz Show

LOS ANGELES — The third annual Women's Jazz Festival has been set for March 20-23 in Kansas City, Mo., the Women's Jazz Festival, Inc. has announced.

The Kansas City-based non-profit group will host the event in a variety of locations and will feature a varied fare highlighted by a showing of rare film footage of live Billie Holiday.

On March 21, the WJFI will host the 1980 Combo Contest winners, the Los Angeles-based group Quintess, at the Top New Talent (TNT) Concert. The band features Ruth Kissane on trumpet and flugelhorn, Kay Blanchard on tenor sax, pianist Janet Jones, bassist Carrie Barton and Marilyn Donadt on drums.

The annual Main Concert this year features Cleo Laine and John Dankworth, the Carla Bley Band, Joanne Brackeen and the WJFI All-Stars. Join-in jam sessions are also scheduled throughout the festival, which will be moderated by jazz critic Leonard Feather.

NARM Sets Panel On '80s Challenges

NEW YORK — A panel of noted music industry executives will discuss "Challenges of The '80s" at the general business session of the NARM convention on March 25 at the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas.

The panel, which includes keynote speakers at past NARM conventions, will consist of: Irwin Steinberg, chairman and chief executive officer of PRO USA; Clive Davis, president of Arista Records; Stanley M. Gortikov, president of RIAA; Jerry Moss, chairman of A&M Records; Joseph Smith, chairman of Elektra/Asylum Records; and Walter Yetnikoff, president of the CBS Records Group.

According to Joe Cohen, executive vice president of NARM, topics to be covered by the panel will include: the economic aspects of the recorded music industry; competition with other leisure time industries; the impact of new products such as video and audiophile recordings; and changing marketing philosophies and merchandising techniques.

For more information write NARM at 1060 Kings Highway North, Cherry Hill, N.J. 08034. Phone (609) 795-5555.

B'nai B'rith To Hold Music Meet March 3

NEW YORK — The music and performing arts lodge of the B'nai B'rith will hold a panel discussion on "The Direction of R&B Music In The '80s" on March 3 at the Sutton Place Synagogue.

The scheduled guest panelists are: Bernice Block, vice president of marketing and sales for De-Lite Records; Roy Harris, director of special markets for RCA Records; Joe Loris, editor and publisher of "Impact"; Andre Perry, director of promotion for Arista Records; and Sonny Taylor, director of promotion and special markets for Polydor Records.

Vassy Single Released

LOS ANGELES — International Artists Records has just released Kin Vassy's single "Makes Me Wonder Why I Ever Said Goodbye." Composed by Mickey Newberry and produced by Kenny Rogers, the single is from Vassy's upcoming LP, "Old Friends And New Beginnings."

O'Jays LP Platinum

NEW YORK — "Identity Yourself," the latest album by Philadelphia International recording group The O'Jays, has been certified platinum by the RIAA.

plementation prediction of three to five years was off. Personally, I don't see it happening for another five to ten years."

However, this time lag could prove harmful to the entire bar coding movement, according to Lieberman's Okinow. "If we don't get a lot more people doing it, then the people who are already committed may give up. That's what I'm afraid of," Okinow explained.

Also feeling concern over the less-than-complete record industry adoption of the bar coding system is NARM. One of the prime movers in the bar coding movement, NARM recently sent a questionnaire to its membership designed to give an accurate picture of the "state of computer art" in the music industry and to compile data that will be released to the industry as a bar coding motivational tool (Cash Box, Feb. 16).

NARM Objectives

"We're concerned with the manufacturers' ultimate acceptance of bar coding so that it can be used by merchandisers to capture information that will streamline their whole operations," said NARM executive vice president Joe Cohen. "It will enable them to operate effectively, efficiently and profitably, and hopefully aid in evaluating marketing decisions made on an everyday basis."

Cohen's work on the bar coding issue will also be evident at this year's NARM convention in Las Vegas at the end of March. One highlight will be the introduction of a piece of ADVCO bar coding equipment that costs less than anything the industry has seen before. "It will print bar code, do price hook up and capture information for sales," Cohen explained. "And it is priced such that any retailer in the country will find the cost justified."

With such a piece of equipment available, complemented by the results of the NARM survey, the movement to bar coding may well be accelerated.

"I think you'll see retailers and rack jobbers converting to it much more rapidly because the advantages for all of us are pretty great," commented Larry Mundorf, vice president of retail operations for the 97-store Canton, Ohio-based Stark/Camelot retail chain. "And if bar coding can be accelerated by a study that proves that everybody wants the system, then a commitment is made to speed up the adjustment."

Perry (Arista), Irv Kratka (Inner City) and Hank O'Neal (formerly of Chiaroscuro) taking questions from the audience and discussing topics which included the self-production and marketing of jazz albums, advances, royalties and deductions for expenses. A future conference is scheduled for March 19 at the Jazz Gallery, but in the meantime, the UJC is striving to provide the kind of services that aspiring and established musicians consider essential. "Musicians tell me all the time that they wish there was a central location they could use," Narita told Cash Box. "Which is why we've been trying to set up a Louis Armstrong community service center where musicians could gather to share experiences, put on concerts, have cheap rehearsal space and make affordable demos." As always with jazz, money is the problem. "We got $15,000 from the National Endowment for the Arts and $14,000 from the State Council for the Arts, which only accounts for a quarter of our budget; we make up the rest as best we can through contributions at concerts and small service fees." Why can't more funding be arranged, we wondered? "I think it has to do with the fact that the funding sources don't recognize the need to fund lesser-known, emerging artists; the funding sources will say, well, cut down on the number of concerts, but you can't deny new artists the chance to work out their ideas before an audience. When one of our member artists gets a gig at a club for no money, and with no promotion, we feel that the appearance has to be supported. As a result, we provide a communication service with direct mailings and technical assistance, concert presentations of our own, a young musician's institute, and assistance in the preparation of grant proposals and the like." But of all the work Narita does, perhaps nothing is as important to her as her presentations on the behalf of the women in jazz. The UJC's Salute To Women In Jazz will take place June 1-8, and will feature appearances by Joanne Brackeen, Amina Claudine Myers, Sheila Jordan, Melba Liston, Jane Ira Bloom, Jay Clayton and many others in the only real, coordinated effort to showcase female jazz artists in New York City.

BUENOS AIRES — Record piracy in Argentina suffered a severe blow when police forces in the cities of Rosario and Merlo recently sized bootlegged cassettes that were produced at illegal plants. Heclo Cuomo, president of the local CBS branch, reported that his company and the rest of the industry are involved in an all-out effort to attack piracy in this market, with the cooperation of the police and government.

Hille Hillekamp, general manager of promotion and advertising for Polydor, visited briefly in Buenos Aires and will return here March 3 as part of a business tour covering the affiliated companies of his group. In Argentina, a series of meetings with the trade press and an exchange of points of view have been prepared by John Lear, managing director of Phonogram.

Micronon awarded a gold record to TV artist Carlitos Bala, who has entered the charts with two albums and two singles during 1979. Bala has starred in a highly rated program on Channel 7, which operates as head of a network covering the entire country.

Alberto Caldelro is now in charge at his new post on EMI. Last year he resigned from CBS after many years in that company. He is working in the A&R section headed by Roberto Rulz, handling the development of catalog projects.

Tonodisc general manager Francisco Vidal, a few hours after returning from MIDEM and a brief visit to the States, received a new visit from French star pianist Richard Clayderman, this time coming to Argentina with trumpet player Jean Claude Borelli. Tonodisc reports the signing of several catalogs at MIDEM, which will be launched soon in the local market.

RCA's Jorge Schutt reports that everything is being readied for the April convention of RCA International, to be held in Buenos Aires. The event includes not only the Spanish-speaking countries, but also Italy, Japan, Brazil and many licensees. A cocktail party will open the gathering, which is expected to be very important.

Hugo Plombl of Sicomericana has also returned from MIDEM with several label arrangements and projects. The company has aggressive plans for the '80s, and expects to increase its share of the market sharply in the oncoming months.

Buddy McCluskey, also coming from Cannes, was previously at Stockholm recording tracks with top group ABBA for the oncoming album in Spanish, scheduled to be released later this year.

TORONTO — Celeste Mulhern has resigned her post as Capitol Records' national press and artist relations officer, effective March 1. . . . Some of the Capitol's domestic properties are readying product. Prism is in the studio. Lisa Dal Bello is getting set to enter for her third disc, as is Surrender for its second. The company's brightest project at the moment is Red Rider, with the company confident it has a hit on its hands. Extensive marketing is slated. The band's first single, "Don't Fight It," is a special-sleeve fold-out poster package, being counter merchandised selectively with retailers.

committee review. "If there hadn't been an election, I really think the program might have been implemented by the end of the year."

Under the proposed capital cost allowance program, there would have been complete tax write-offs on recording costs for producers of domestic talent.

There have been early indications that the new Secretary of State will be Jeanne Sauve, a former Minister of Communications in a recent Trudeau government. While neither Sauve nor the Liberal party has a past history of support for or aid to the recording industry, Robertson noted that Sauve "hasn't demonstrated hostility at all, but it will be almost impossible to get anything done for awhile with a new government in power."

Tax Incentive

Nevertheless, John Watt, president of the Canadian Independent Record Producers' Association (CIRPA), told Cash Box that he expects the Liberals to make good on the capital cost allowance scheme, citing an election campaign statement by Liberal culture critic Jim Fleming supporting the Tory-suggested tax incentive.

"We intend to make sure he lives up to his promise," Watt stated.

It is believed that Fleming is being considered for the post of Minister of Communications in the new government.

CIRPA, which represents more than 100 producers, managers, and engineers in the country, presented the first policy paper to the federal government on the capital cost allowance subject, which has encompassed the Canadian film industry for years.

Apparently, revisions to the film industry program are planned. Since much of the music industry plan is designed to conform with the film scheme, a further delay in the process may occur.

"Then, we'll have to worry about the Finance Minister," Robertson from CRIA said. Once the legislation has been hammered out at the civil service level, it must then go before the relevant Minister for approval, then to Cabinet, before being introduced in the legislature.

Very few bills introduced through other channels pass the House of Commons.

Private members' bills are rarely given more than a first reading.

"It's very hard to say what'll happen next," Watt said. "We've never been able to pin down the Liberals on the subject."

Robertson agreed, adding, "Right now, with the worry about the federal deficit, it's doubtful any Finance Minister is going to be willing to give money away. He or she will come under fire from the Conservatives for doing so."

That is the ultimate irony of the situation. While the Tories have been working with the capital cost allowance program since its inception in the legislative process, it is likely they will be in opposition to it should the Liberals try to carry it through. With the potential of increasing the federal deficit, the capital cost allowance could be attacked by its creators as a part of the ever-political waging of economic warfare.

LOS ANGELES — Raiph Peer II has been named to the post of senior vice president of the Peer-Southern Organization.

Smurf Sales Up In Scandinavia

COPENHAGEN — Following a trend that first took hold in Scandinavia two years ago in Norway, Smurf albums have become a significant outlet for local talent. Initiated by Geir Borresen's debut on Ole Sorli's Decibel label, the Smurf craze has accounted for more than one million album sales in Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

The originator of the Smurf trend on the continent was the German artist Fader Abraham, who in turn, was influenced by the Wombles on the UK. The Wombles, which featured Mike Batt (who currently records for Epic), was an ecology-minded fad group of the late-'60s and early-'70s that popularized "silly" pop music along the lines of the Banana Splits of the USA.

Smurf sales have been the strongest in Norway, where, in the last two years, Borresen's releases on the Decibel label have accounted for more than 500,000 sales.

Smurf sales in Denmark have also been significant in the last two years, with Johnny Reinmar's releases on his own Starbox label accounting for more than 200,000 sales.

In Sweden, which was the last of the Scandinavian countries to pick up the smurf trend, Klasse Molberg and Stefan Ruden have accounted for more than 250,000 sales in the last year.

New Zealand CMA

Following Pruett's departure for the States, Walker continued to New Zealand, where she met with CMA International Committee Development Chairman for

New Zealand, Dennis Brown. She also met with several of New Zealand's country music organizations, including the New Zealand Country Music Association, whose annual awards were presented in December; and the Kapi-Mana Country Music Association.

"After three weeks of observation in these two countries, the growth, the interest and the need for support from the industry here are very much in evidence," noted Walker. "As in the United States, country music may very well be a dominant force in these countries' music communities during the next decade. We in American country music need to do all we can to help develop the trend, for Australia and New Zealand are very important markets."

ASCAP Monies Up Again In '79

For the sixth straight year, ASCAP reported on advances made to members to be recovered from future distributions due these members. As of Dec. 31, 1979, total outstanding advances to members were $4,512,000, up from $3,467,000 a year earlier. According to ASCAP, the management reviewed the status of expanded advances and an amount totalling $112,000 was considered as non-recoupable. However, $70,000 from advances written off in prior years was recovered.

ASCAP's cost of operating for 1979, based on domestic and foreign receipts amounted to 19.03% in 1979.

Foreign Installments

Foreign distributions were made in two installments. A July 31 disbursement of $9,716,000 was distributed as follows: England, $4,176,000; France, $2,472,000; Germany $2,355,000; Sweden, $529,000; and South Africa, $184,000.

On Dec. 28 another foreign installment was made totalling $11,496,000 for the following countries: Australia, $1,372,000; Austria, $516,000; Belgium, $461,000; Canada, $3,645,000; Denmark, $303,000; Holland, $1,082,000; Italy, $933,000; Japan, $848,000; Spain, $237,000; and Switzerland $523,000.

Adams also formally announced that he would retire as president of ASCAP in April. Although he said he would continue "to remain a boyfriend," the announcement ends a 17-year reign as the society's head.

Networks Battle Radio Syndicators

cited Westwood One as his #1 competitor for short form features.

Westwood One, a major syndication firm that relies on the barter system, distributes Star Trak, a 90-second rock news show; an interview feature hosted by Candy Tusken called Off The Record; a rock interview show hosted by Mary Turner; and the Dr. Demento show.

Westwood One founder and president, Norm Pattiz said, "The situation is competitive in the strictest sense. The only difference is in distribution."

It was felt by everyone surveyed that the bottom-line beneficiary of increased competitive quality programming is the listener. "When the listener is the winner," Golden Egg's Cutler said, "then radio has successfully done its job."

NARM To Hold Merch Panels

NEW YORK — The 1980 NARM Convention will feature merchandising panels on cutouts and accessories at its breakfast sessions on March 25 and 26.

The March 25 panel will be moderated by Scott Young, executive vice president of Pickwick International's retail division, and will focus on the merchandising of such goods as carrying cases, record care products, needles, sheet music, and music books. Members of the panel will include Dr. Bruce Maier, president of Discwasher Inc., Marty Ostrow, national record marketing director for Rolling Stone magazine; Steve Spooner, national sales manager for Warner Publications; and Peter Wish, executive vice president of the Recoton Corp.

The following day's panel will discuss the merchandising of cutouts and will be moderated by Norman Hausfater, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Music Company. Participating in the session, which will feature a slide presentation prepared by Joe Bressi, vice president of marketing for Camelot Music, will be Dave Crockett, president of Father's and Sun's Inc., Peter Hyman, vice president of Surplus Record and Tape; David Schlang, president of One Way Records; and Martin Spector, president of Spec's Music.

Conference Held On Jazz Record Business

NEW YORK — The Universal Jazz Coalition, Inc. (UJC) held a conference on the jazz record industry last month at the Jazz Gallery. UJC executive director Cobi Narita produced the conference and acted as moderator.

Topics covered included advances, royalties and deductions for expenses, with a major portion of the conference given over to questions from the audience. The self-production and marketing of jazz albums was also discussed.

The panelists were: Vernon Slaughter of CBS Records; Elliot Horne of RCA Records; Bob Hurwitz of ECM; Andre Perry of Arista Records; Irv Kratka of Inner City; Hank O'Neal, formerly with Chiaroscuro; and artists Byard Lancaster and Rosetta Reitz of the UJC.

The UJC has scheduled a second recording conference for March 19 at the Jazz Gallery. For more information, write to the UJC at 156 Fifth Ave., Suite 817, New York 10010. Phone: (212) 924-5026.

Consumer Electronic Imports Decline In '79

NEW YORK — United States imports of most consumer electronics goods declined in 1979, according to the marketing services department of the Electronic Industries Association's Consumer Electronics Group.

Imports of record players, record changers, and turntables for the year dropped to 6,995,627, a decline of 36.7% from the 11,057,646 units brought into the U.S. in 1978. Imports for this product category in the fourth quarter of 1979 also declined to 1,761,027, a 37.4% decrease from the 2,812,598 figure reported in the same period of 1978.

In the video tape recorder/player category, U.S. imports increased to 629,280 units, representing a 23.6% increase from the 509,155 total reported in 1978. Fourth quarter video tape recorder/player imports also rose, jumping to 221,942 units from 133,723 units in the same period last year.

Deli Label Issues 45

NEW YORK — Deli Platters has issued the single "Hold On" b/w "Don't Turn Out The Light," by David Finnerty and The Jackals. In conjunction with the release, Finnerty has been signed to an exclusive publishing agreement with MCA Music, who will be assisting with the promotion of the record.

The Deli label, which was conceived by its president, Michael J. Lembo, as a showcase vehicle for promising acts, is distributed by JEM Records.

Heilman Loses Appeal

NEW YORK — A Federal judge has upheld the conviction of David Heilman, former president of E-C Tape Service, on charges of criminal copyright infringement. In a decision issued on Feb. 8 by Judge John F. Grady of U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, the Court rejected Heilman's contention that the U.S. Copyright Act is "constitutionally vague" and that he was selectively prosecuted.

Liabe For $4 Million

Heilman was convicted of 18 counts of copyright infringement in February, 1979. More recently, a Federal judge in Milwaukee ruled that Heilman and E-C Tape were liable for more than $4 million in damages to record companies whose product was illegally duplicated by the company.

In his decision, Judge Grady stated that Heilman's knowledge of numerous civil actions taken against illegal duplicators invalidated his contention that his infringements were not willful. "Instead of conforming his conduct to the bounds of the law, (the) defendant chose to persist in conduct which he knew had a high likelihood of being held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be a violation of a criminal statute." That is surely sufficient to meet the accepted definition of willfulness.

ASCAP Sets Deadline For Writing Awards

NEW YORK — ASCAP has set March 1 as the deadline for the receipt of entries in the 14th Annual ASCAP-Deems Taylor Awards. Prizes of $500 each will go to the authors of the best non-fiction books about music and/or its creators published in English in the U.S.A. during 1979. Prizes of $250 each will be awarded to writers of newspapers and/or magazine articles on similar subjects.

Publishers of the winning works will be honored with plaques at the annual awards ceremony at ASCAP's New York headquarters. Writers, editors and publishers may enter works, and four copies of each entry are required. An entry in the articles category may be between one and ten articles. Entries should be addressed to ASCAP-Deems Taylor Awards, American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, One Lincoln Plaza, New York, New York 10023.

Gottlieb Unveils New Pinball Lineup At Distributors Meet

CHICAGO — The introduction of Star Series 80, an entirely new generation of Gottlieb pinball games, was announced by Robert Bloom, senior vice president of D. Gottlieb & Co., at the company's national distributor sales meeting, held Jan. 9 at the Oak Brook Hyatt Hotel in Oak Brook, Ill. The meeting was attended by distributor principals and their sales staffs from the United States, Canada and Japan.

"The new Star Series 80 games feature our exciting new solid state System 80 and Dimension 80," declared Bloom. "System 80 brings smashing new playfield power plus versatile and expanded memory capability to Gottlieb games. Its potential for intriguing new game designs is virtually unlimited. We call it the 'Game with a Brain,'" he continued, "and the distinctive sounds and lighting attract features are starting to say the least.

"Dimension 80 is the direct result of extensive research and experimentation with playfield sizes. We've determined that 2 feet by 4 feet is the ideal dimension for our Star Series 80 games. By adding 5/8 inches to the length and 3/8 inches to the width we've added another 292.5 square inches of additional playfield area. The new dimension is 34% larger than the previous standard, yet the game does not require additional space at the location."

Audiovisual Presentation

On the day preceding the presentation Gottlieb hosted a cocktail-reception and dinner party for distributors from the United States and Canada. The product show began at 9:00 a.m. the following day. After introductory remarks Alvin Gottlieb, executive vice president, presented a sound and slide film review of Gottlieb's 52-year history highlighting the early days of the company and its founder, David Gottlieb. The presentation also included a review of major Gottlieb innovations like the flipper, roto target and four-player game format.

Bloom followed with his keynote speech in which he painted a broad picture of the company's product and marketing plans through the '80s, culminating with the inroduction of key Gottlieb executives on the stage. Singled out for special mention were veteran game designer Wayne Neyens, past vice president of engineering and current technical consultant; Ed Krynski, the company's director of design; Gil Pollock, newly appointed vice president of operations; Bill Kwasniewski, controller, and Bob Smith who recently retired as operations vice president.

The presentation of System 80 electronics and Dimension 80 followed with an on-stage dialog between Dick Finger, director of engineering, and George Offshack, field service engineer, who began by detailing the variety of new features that were made possible through advanced

NAMA President Hits New USDA Regulation

CHICAGO — Charging that the U.S. Department of Agriculture regulation of competitive foods in schools "won't do a thing to help increase participation in the school food program or to discourage the plate waste criticized by members of the Congress", G. Richard Schreiber, president of the National Automatic Merchandising Association, predicted that the issue "may well wind up in the courts."

The regulation, which is expected to go into effect by July 1 of this year, prohibits the sale of all soft drinks and items of "minimal nutritional value" until after the last lunch period throughout the school grounds, as noted by NAMA.

Schreiber cited USDA's own documentation, issued Nov. 28, 1979, as a curious contradiction since it went to great lengths to show that the regulation would have virtually no effect on the dollar volume of confections and soft drinks sold in schools.

"This regulation is an obvious attempt to split the opposition," Schreiber said. "Most candies and snacks can be sold from kindergarten through high school but soft drinks are prohibited completely, whether they meet the nutrient density test or not."

Futuristic Design Highlights Bally's New 'Silverball Mania' Pinball Game

CHICAGO — Bally has taken pinball a step beyond with the creation of "Silverball Mania," the factory's newest and uniquely attractive conventional flipper. In this new model the Bally art department has provided an outstanding visual experience for players with dramatic artwork and graphics depicting a futuristic pinball world in a large silver pinball.

Combined with the physical appeal of the game is the exciting play action it offers and the various scoring options to match the visual effects. Players must try to light all letters of the words SILVER-BALL MANIA on the playfield; each letter is worth 1,000 points with additional points for each completed sequence. The first completion lights the Wizard Bonus for 15,000 points; the second lights the Supreme Wizard Bonus for 30,000 points and the third awards a special and lights a letter in the backglass SILVERBALL carryover feature. Any lit letter in the carryover feature (whether activated by player or operator adjustment) will remain lit from game to game to attract player interest.

The game also has a center hoop feature with two rollovers and one target which help to light the playfield letters. The rollovers also increase the bonus up to 5x and the target can also award an extra ball. Additionally, there is a disappearing kicker beneath the flipper which can be activated by the top center lane or the center hoop as well as a kicker special light that can be lit.

Further information about the new machine may be obtained by contacting a Bally distributor or the Bally Pinball Division at 90 O'Leary Drive, Bensenville, Ill. 60106.

AMOA Sets School For Indiana Ops

CHICAGO — AMOA, in cooperation with operators throughout the state of Indiana, is sponsoring a 10-day service school on digital pinball machines, which will be held March 3-12 at the Ramada Midtown (1530 N. Meridian) in Indianapolis.

The course will be conducted by Don Miller, who has served as AMOA's instructor since the school program was initially launched by the national association. Full specifics on how to read, understand and apply schematics will be covered during the course; as well as troubleshooting, the use and function of parts, preventive maintenance, how to prevent player abuse and other pertinent service information.

10 Day Classes

The registration fee is $200, which covers tuition only. Students must pay for their own accommodations and personal expenses. Classes will be held for 10 consecutive days during the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., with a one-hour lunch break, and enrollment is limited to 20 persons.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Leo Droste or Bonnie York at AMOA headquarters (312) 726-2810.

Exhibitors Sign Up For Int'l Trade Show

CHICAGO — As of mid-February, 18 firms have signed up to exhibit at the April 18-20 International Coin Machine Trade Show being held in the New York Statler Hotel.

Ben Chicofsky, the show's producer, listed these exhibitors as follows: Betson Dist., Mondial International, Albert Simon, Inc., U.S. Billiards, Coffee Mat, Inc., Tornado-All Type, United Billiards, Inc.,

Referring to NAMA members' experience in serving high schools and to the USDA consumption statistics, Schreiber said the regulation will serve only to drive junior and senior high school students off the school premises in search of the prohibited products, without in any way solving whatever school lunch participation problems may exist.

The NAMA membership comprises more than 2,400 firms which provide vending and foodservices throughout the country, as well as many manufacturers of food, confections, snack products and beverages.

Gottlieb Introduces New Pinball Lineup

microprocessor technology adapted into the new Gottlieb system.

Terming it "The Game With a Brain," the Gottlieb engineers described an expanded memory potential that enables the game to restore the playfield to the exact condition it was in at the time the player lost his previous ball. Pinpoint accuracy in scoring with no "skips" and multiples was also stressed and demonstrated as well as the ability of the system to absorb new ideas and concepts.

Additional Features

Also detailed was a new and more versatile 15-step bookkeeping system which has added automatic calculation of the replay percentage and continuous averaging of playing time per game — features many games operators had requested. The engineering team also spotlighted a redesigned and more powerful pop bumper to produce what they called "the fastest, hardest hitting play action in the field." It was also pointed out that each pop bumper has its own power source, an individual circuit board independent of the main control board of the game.

Finger and Offshack also recounted the ability of System 80 to attract players while in its idle state with a fresh sound and sight mode that sports "ear level" sound and the sequenced flashing of playfield lamps when the game is at rest. To provide individualized sound, the lightbox was designed so that the high fidelity 6-inch speaker is located behind a grill at the top of the lightbox that accentuates and personalizes the sound even at a low level. Game speakers have traditionally been located on the under side of the main cabinet, which has a tendency to muffle and diffuse the sound.

New game sounds were dramatized in a musical score conducted by the mythical Maestro Microprocessor. The company will make a cassette of the Gottlieb symphony available to its distributors to demonstrate the new sounds.

New Playfield

Another major characteristic of the game, the revolutionary new size playfield called Dimension 80, was given full presentation. The company has expanded the playfield to a size 2 feet wide by 4 feet long after months of experimentation. The objective of the research was to settle on the new ideal playfield size: large enough to accommodate the expanded versatility of the new microprocessor system yet smaller and more compact than the wide body. The new standard Gottlieb Dimension 80 size provides over 30% more game area than the old standard size playfield, with a cabinet which requires no more floor space in width and is only a few inches longer. It will go comfortably through a standard door without disassembly. The company predicts the Dimension playfield will become a new industry standard recalling that the single-player Gottlieb cabinet size of the '30s as well as the company's four-player format of the early '50s both evolved into the industry standard.

New Lightbox

The redesigned lightbox also features a new and functionally designed swivel panel that accommodates all of the solid state boards and components and puts them within easy reach of the service man.

The company also pointed out that the new system uses only 60 volts of power in its blue Futuba displays and that it is possible to skip the 15-step bookkeeping and go directly to the self-test features by pushing a "test switch."

Finally, the new Star Series 80 line of Gottlieb games provides for several optional new features including a triple coin chute to accommodate dollar coinage, a non-resettable coin counter and a tape printout unit for income totalizing.

The climax of the morning session was a dramatic unveiling of the first new game in the Star Series 80, "Spider-Man." To dramatize the presentation a professional actor in a brilliantly colored Spider-Man costume leaped on to the stage and hailed the new product. After announcing a distributor pinball contest at the end of the show he led the distributors to the back of the ballroom where a bank of ten new games was ready for demonstration.

Marketing vice president Tom Herrick's presentation after lunch included an outline of the company's ambitious advertising and merchandising programs. He was assisted by Cliff Strain, Gottlieb's assistant sales manager, who presented a six-minute review of the basic features of the new line.

Jack Mittel, newly appointed vice president and general sales manager, concluded the marketing presentation with a speech that outlined the factory's warranty program and various equipment support programs.

At the conclusion of the product presentation all Gottlieb distributors participated in a pinball tournament which was won by a team composed of Frank Ash (Active Amusement), Al Rodstein (Banner Specialty), Bob Nims (A.M.A. Dist., who is president of AMOA), and Bob Miller (Shaffer Distg.).

Distrib. Banquet

The concluding event of the day was a distributor banquet hosted by Judd Weinberg, Gottlieb president, and Alvin Gottlieb. Weinberg spoke enthusiastically of the company's preparation for the '80s, "the third golden age of pinball and the greatest decade in Gottlieb history." He pointed out that the American consumer will be staying closer to home in seeking entertainment and urged the distributors to "... be sure that Gottlieb games are on location everywhere"

At the conclusion of Weinberg's remarks each Gottlieb distributor was presented with a brass plaque as a token of appreciation from the company to its distributors.

Prior to the commencement of the evening's entertainment there was the presentation of a silver cup to a select group of distributors whose association with Gottlieb has extended over a period of 25 years or more. Recipients included: Joseph Ash (Active Amusement Machine Co.); Albert Rodstein (Banner Specialty Co.); Al Toronto (Birmingham Vending Co.); Ronald A. Gold (Cleveland Coin International); C. A. Culp (Culp Distg. Co.); Mor-

CHICAGO CHATTER

See the new "Silverball Mania" pin currently in release by Bally. It's gorgeous to look at — exciting to play.

LOEWEN AMERICA president Bert Davidson happily notes that the NSM "Festival" phonograph has been making quite an impact in the domestic market. Music sales thus far, he said, exceed last year at this time — attributable largely to the improved features of the phono and Loewen's expanded national distributor network.

GOTTLIEB'S UPCOMING "SPIDER-MAN" pin, which was a sensation at the factory's recent distrib meeting, should be ready for domestic delivery in April. Watch for it.

WILLIAMS PRESIDENT MIKE STROLL and marketing chief Ron Crouse played hosts Feb. 24 at a cocktail party-reception in Paris to announce the appointment of Ets. Salmon s.a. as the factory's exclusive distributor out there. Occasion also marked the introduction, in prototype, of the firm's next "revolutionary new pin" called "Firepower." Look for another outstanding industry innovation on this model. More details later. At present, of course, there's "Gorgar," which is doing extremely well according to Ron; and "Laser Ball," which is currently in export.

AFTER WRAPPING UP a successful Midway service school at Game Sales Co. Inc. in Memphis, Midway's service technician Bob Norton headed for Green Bay, Wis. to conduct a session at Empire Dist., Inc.

NICE HEARING FROM songstress Toni Arden, who was on the long distance phone last week to tell us how pleased she is that her record "My World Is You" (GP) is starting to happen on jukeboxes. Ben Arrigo of Glenn Productions in New York has been servicing ops with promo copies. he can be reached at (212) 265-6585.

ALSO ON THE SUBJECT of records, Keith Medin of Tony Galgano Records One-Stop, recommends the following for jukebox programming: "Stay In Time" by Off Broadway (Atlantic); "What I Like About You" by The Romantics (Nemperor); and, for country locations, "Two Story House" by George Jones and Tammy Wynette (Epic).

EASTERN FLASHES

A full entourage of Rowe International execs will be in Anaheim, Calif. March 14-16 for the NAMA Western Convention. The team will include president Merrill Krakauer; executive vice president Paul Pellegrino; sales vice president Ed Wiler; sales manager Ted Lloyd; members of the sales staff and director of design Walter Koch, who is chairman of the trade show advisory committee. Rowe will have a huge exhibit booth this year, displaying its current vending line as well as the VAN (Vending Audit Merchandising), which is a highly sophisticated new monitoring system and there'll be audio visual presentations as well as demonstrations of some new concepts relative to cold drinks — it'll be a very active exhibit, needless to say.

WE WISH A SPEEDY RECOVERY to Stanley Knoll of Cleveland Coin-Columbus, who took a mean fall at work and suffered some painful injuries. Stan was hospitalized for awhile but is now recuperating at home. Hope you're back in the office real soon, Stan.

SPOKE WITH TONY YULA OF Mondial-Springfield last week on what would almost be considered a balmy day at this time of year. Thus far, the winter has been the mildest they've had in quite some time; we hope it stays that way. Productwise, Gottlieb's "Buck Rogers" is the hottest seller of the moment and a big money earner, according to Tony, who added that the new "Roller Disco" wide body just arrived and is looking good. They're now expecting "Torch" which will be followed up in a month or so by "the amazing new 'Spider-Man'." Mondial is heavily back-ordered on Atari's "Asteroids," which is a phenomenal seller and the distrib is very enthusiastic about Gremlin's "Dual" (Head On II/Invincible) and "Monaco GP" and Exidy's "Tailgunner 2."

BEN CHICOFISKY, producer of the 1980 Int'l Coin Machine Trade Show, reports that several firms, including a number of East Coast distributors, have reserved exhibit space for the convention. Show dates are April 18-19-20, at the New York Statler Hotel.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

Peter Bettl of Portale Automatic sales still maintains that the big news in L.A. is Atari's "Asteroids." Portale is also selling Gremlin's "Monaco GPs" and Exidy's "Banditos" at a rapid pace. The Portale president also reported that he is constantly being flooded with offers for the Japanese-manufactured "Space Invaders." "I get a phone call a day from Japan or Hawaii asking me if I want to buy the cocktail versions," explains Bettl. "It makes you wonder how long 'Space Invaders' is going to last in America." Aside from that dilemma, Bettl feels that operators are quite content with the quality of the games. "There are a lot of quality games out there, and no one seems to be dominating the competition," added Bettl. Portale is currently planning a promotion for Gottlieb's "Spider Man," which should hit town soon.

C.A. ROBINSON'S IRA BETTELMAN pretty much echoes Bettl's sentiments as far as Atari's "Asteroids" are concerned. "It's amazing," says Betteiman, "the picture has not changed for weeks. The demand for 'Asteroids' is still far exceeding the supply."

STATE ASSOCIATION NEWS

AMUSEMENT AND MUSIC OPERATORS OF VIRGINIA held its first quarterly meeting of 1980 recently, with association president C. H. Hudson presiding. While this long established state association has a very substantial membership, as brought out at the meeting, there are still a number of non-member operators in the state and this group, of course, is the target for AMOV's current drive, which has full membership support as well as that of area distributors. In this regard, one prominent distributor suggested that the state group provide background information and full specifics on the state association's function to all distributors in the area for circulation to customers throughout the state as a source of enlightenment for non-members and an inducement for them to join up. AMOV is also concentrating at present on an impending amendment proposal to clarify the state's gross receipts tax. The state group recently changed the site of its 1980 convention from the Holiday Inn to Howard Johnson's in Richmond. Dates are Oct. 10-11 . . . The Illinois Coin Machine Operators Assn. recently launched its 1980 pool tournament and hopes are high that it will surpass even last year's record event. Some 16,800 persons participated in the 1979 competition. A point of great pride for ICMOA is the training course for coin machine mechanics which was instituted at Washburn Trade School in Chicago, through the combined efforts of the state group, area distributors and operators. The first graduating class was due in February so ICMOA is urging operators to contact association headquarters if they are in need of a good mechanic . . . The dates of April 14-23 have been confirmed by the Ohio Music & Amusement Assn. for the group's first Digital Mechanics School of the year. The 10-day course will take place in the Cleveland area at the Harley Holmes Hotel. Members will shortly receive full details from association headquarters.

Gottlieb Hosts Distributor Meet

ton Hyatt and Joel Smeyne (General Vending Sales Corp.); Hymie Zorinski (H. Z. Vending & Sales Co.); Stephen E. Lieberman (Lieberman Music Co.); Pierre Laniel (Laniel Automatic Machine Co.); Marion M. Mitchell (Morris Novelty Co.); Chuck Arnold (Rowe International, Inc.); Ron Rood (Southern Music Dist.); and Abe Susman (State Music Distributors).

As a final commentary on the distributor meeting and plans for the '80s, Bloom remarked that "with System 80 and Dimension 80 incorporated in our Star Series 80 games, we fully expect the great Gottlieb tradition of quality and high return on investment to become even more important to operators in this new decade. We are entering a New Decade of Stars with the best reputation and greatest capacity and resources in the industry. With our imaginative new products and features we fully expect to increase our leadership position in the world of pinball."

Exhibitors Announced

Gremlin-Sega, Coin Acceptors, Dynamo, Wico, Twelve Signs, Game-a-tron, J.S. Sales, Hamilton Scale, Inc., E&B Metals, Inc., Zemperla and Green Duck. With some time remaining before deadline, he expects additional firms to reserve space.

Full information regarding advance registration and other specifics may be obtained by contacting Chicofsky at (212) 581-2031.

Mac Brier

Brier Named VP, GM At Loewen

CHICAGO — The appointment of coin machine veteran Mac Brier to the position of vice president and general manager of Loewen-America, Inc. was recently announced by company president Bert Davidson. Brier's relationship with the firm goes back many years.

During his 30-year tenure in the coin machine business he has gained experience in all levels of the industry. Prior to joining Loewen he was associated with Empire Dist., Inc. of Chicago and before that with National Coin, also of Chicago.

In his new position he will be working closely with Bert Davidson, concentrating largely on the firm's growing U.S. distributor network and on strengthening Loewen's domestic sales force.

Loewen America's recently established U.S. base of operation is located in Franklin Park, Ill.

Benny Goodman Headlines At Ninth Globe Fest

LOS ANGELES — The ninth Boston Globe Jazz Festival will feature Benny Goodman and his sextet opening at the Symphony Hall on March 7. Goodman was show opener for the first festival 14 years ago.

Scheduled to run between March 7-15, the festival was organized by George Wein, who has been responsible for other worldwide jazz events including the Newport Jazz Festival. The nine-day series will feature blues, traditional, avant-garde and Latino jazz from a variety of international and local jazz artists.

Some of those scheduled to perform include: Dizzy Gillespie, Carmen McRae, Sonny Rollins, Freddie Hubbard, Benny Goodman, Muddy Waters, Carla Bley, George Shearing, Dave McKenna, Scott Hamilton and Bill Evans.

Lester Young and Billie Holiday will be honored in a special concert tribute, complete with live recreations and film performances of the singer and tenorist.

Jack Jones Signs To Polydor-MGM Records

LOS ANGELES — Singer Jack Jones has signed a one-year recording contract with Polydor-MGM Records. The deal calls for a minimum of two albums to be released within the year. Jones' last LP for the label, "Nobody Does It Better," yielded a single, the theme from the popular television series The Love Boat.

Hamlisch To Compose Score For New Movie

NEW YORK — Marvin Hamlisch will compose and conduct the score to the forthcoming Paramount Pictures film, "Ordinary People," which will star Donald Sutherland, Mary Tyler Moore, Judd Hirsch, and Tim Hutton. Robert Redford will direct the film, which is based on the Judith Guest novel of the same name.

Kool's 'Ladies' Night' Gets Gold, Platinum

LOS ANGELES — De-Lite/Mercury recording group Kool & The Gang's "Ladies' Night" LP was certified platinum by the RIAA. The platinum certification, coming 120 days after release, was accompanied by a gold certification at the same time.

Gayle LP Goes Gold

NEW YORK — "Miss The Mississippi," Crysta! Gayle's debut album for Columbia Records, has been certified gold.

NARM To Hold Press Relations Presentation

LOS ANGELES — Continuing cooperation between the newspaper and recording industries will be the topic of discussion at the business session of the National Association of Recording Merchandisers' (NARM) 22nd annual Convention to be held March 25, at the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas.

An original audio-visual presentation, titled, "We're Playing Our Song," will be introduced by Newspaper Advertising Bureau representative Henry K. Wurzer, vice-president of sales at the New York Daily News. The presentation will illustrate the relationship between newspaper editorial and advertising content about the recording industry and the industry itself. The first NARM/Newspaper Advertising Bureau Awards will also be announced and presented to winners from a field of nearly 300 entries.

Culminating a year-long campaign to develop further cooperation between newspapers and the recording industry, Joseph A. Cohen, NARM executive vice-president, said the convention program offered by NAB climaxes an effort to "integrate the editorial and advertising potential of newspapers into a meaningful program."

Blackfoot LP Is Gold

NEW YORK — "Strikes," the current album by Atco recording group Blackfoot, has been certified gold by the RIAA.

best spent on product that receives the maximum amount of exposure, which a single, as opposed to an album cut, can give them. The companies know that they can't scattershoot anymore, that they have to funnel their dollars where the rotation and penetration can lead to album sales. A good album with a marginal single isn't good enough anymore, because the labels want immediate Top 40 play. That's why so much of today's music is falling into AM's sphere of influence. We're seeing more rock and A/C tunes being cut with a lighter feel that fits comfortably into the Top 40 format."

Less Product

Another Top 40 independent cited the decline in the release of AOR-oriented product in the past year as a reason for the lack of monies allocated for independent AOR budgets. "There was a time when some of the majors were issuing between 30 and 40 albums per month," he stated. "Now that this pace has decreased, the companies don't see the need to support the AOR indie because they feel that if the product is good, it will sell itself."

Nevertheless, it is widely believed by most Top 40 independents that AOR specialists are in greater need than ever

Greenhouse Wins For Fourth Time

NEW YORK — The New York Local of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) has re-elected Martha Greenhouse to her fourth consecutive one-year term as President.

Other officers elected, also for one-year terms, were first vice president Ann Loring; second vice president Brad Phillips; third vice president Stan Burns; fourth vice president Elizabeth Morgan; and fifth vice president Stanley Greene. Incumbents Jerry Roberts and Natalie Priest were returned to their respective posts as treasurer and recording secretary.

Incumbent Members

Incumbent board members re-elected for terms ranging from one to three years were Rita Morley Harvey, Conrad Fowkes, Jackson Beck, Leslie Shreve, Stan Burns, Roger Sharp, Duncan Pirnie and Mercedes Ellington. New board members elected were Lois Davis, Gilbert T. Hodges, Shirley Howard, Mart Hulsit, Ruth Last, Janet Rose, Stephani Shelton and Hattie Winston.

before. "It's a shame the AOR people are hurting," commented one Los Angeles-based executive, "especially in light of the fact that so many regional and local album specialists have been cut by the majors. Still, it comes down to the fact that hits are the name of the game, and an AOR artist without a crossover hit is going to have a harder time making a dent in a given market when a vehicle such as concert promotion is not readily available to the artist."

Adjusting To Changes

Just how are some of the country's leading AOR independents adjusting to these new economic realities? According to one Buffalo-based specialist, who said that his business had declined 50% since 1979, most of his clients have come to him from either management companies or small independent labels. "One or two years ago, a manager could pressure a company into hiring one or two AOR indies into testing the waters in a particular section of the country. But that's just not the case anymore, and we're seeing a lot of product getting lost in the shuffle because of it." He added. "I've had some of the more empathetic AOR promo execs call me to apologize for the lack of business."

The lack of projects for certain AOR independents has forced many of them to wait out the first quarter in the hope that business will pick up in the spring. "One company told me that their indie promo budget was 160% over their allotment," stated an entrepreneur in San Francisco. "I'm sure that label wasn't alone, either. The companies smelled a lot of hit product last year that they supported through trade and tip sheet advertising but didn't happen. The labels got burnt, and so did we as a result."

"Unfortunately, the labels are depriving themselves of some very important follow-through because of their shortsightedness," he concluded. "Being an AOR indie doesn't mean scoring your station and collecting your bonus. That's only the beginning. The real trick is letting the station and the client know you're doing everything possible to take the record to every potential pop format in addition to reworking it on the album level. Building a broad enough airplay base is the name of the game. There are too many instances where an album is added at the AOR level out of friendship and then, when the sales aren't there, the album is dropped from the rotation."

MCA To Co-sponsor Hooper Drum Contest

LOS ANGELES — MCA Records and radio station K-97/Memphis will host the Stix Hooper Drum Contest March 1 in Memphis. Also sponsoring the event will be Peaches Records and the Drum & Strings store.

The contest, in part to promote Hooper's MCA LP "The World Within," will attempt to determine the most talented drummer in the Memphis area.

Hooper, a member of The Crusaders as well as a solo artist, will be among the judges.

Performance Rights Bill Moves To Mark-up

WASHINGTON — The performance rights bill, which has always been quashed in the hearing stage in its previous incarnations, will progress to the crucial mark-up phase in the next few weeks, according to House Judiciary subcommittee counsel Bruce Lehman. Rep. George Danielson (D-Calif.), who introduced H.R. 997 and has gained 47 co-sponsors for the bill, will act as chairman of the mark-up sessions on dates to be announced.

Fox Plans Major Restructuring Of All Its Divisions

LOS ANGELES — Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. has announced plans to restructure its movie, music and television strategies.

According to published reports, the company plans to substantially expand its record business by acquiring independent record companies to enhance Fox's record division, which has experienced difficulty in its attempts to crack the competitive record market.

Most of the restructuring effort is aimed at boosting the company's home product output, which includes pay-TV, and video cassettes and discs.

The company feels a strong foothold in the record business is essential because many record companies are gearing up for distribution of video cassettes and discs.

In announcing the strategy change, Alan Hirschfeld, vice president at 20th, told the Wall Street Journal that soon the company will spend as much money on home entertainment as theatrical film product.

Among other plans is a sharp increase in theatrical films, a departure from previous policy under Fox movie division lead Alan Ladd, Jr., who felt the company should make just a few quality films. Fox currently has $75 million movie production budget.

Ovation Signs Pact With PRT, Intercord

CHICAGO — Ovation Records president Dick Schory recently announced that northwestern product distribution for the label will now be handled by San Francisco-based Pacific Records and Tapes. The shift follows the closing of Sound Records and Tapes in San Francisco.

The label has also retained Intercord Records as its German licensee. Under the arrangement, all Ovation Records product will be released in Germany under the Ovation logo, and manufactured and distributed by Intercord. The agreement provides for the German release of the entire Ovation artist roster.

Classic-Rock LP Set

LOS ANGELES — RSO Records has announced it will release "The Second Movement," the second classic rock LP from the London Symphony Orchestra, this week.

The album contains selections like Pete Townsend's "Pinball Wizard," Lennon and McCartney's "A Day in the Life," and Brian Wilson and Tony Asher's "God Only Knows."

Nitzche To Release Four New Projects

LOS ANGELES — Jack Nitzche, who scored the film One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest, will soon release four projects, including soundtrack LPs from a John Byrum film, Heartbeat, and William Freidkin's Cruising. Both LPs are set for release later in the year, as is Nitzche's "St. Giles Cripplegate," featuring the London Symphony Orchestra. The composer is also producing the debut album for Elektra/Asylum artist Sumner.

Polydor To Issue LP With Lyrics By Weber

NEW YORK — "Tell Me A Story," an LP with songs sung by Marti Webb, lyrics by Don Black, and music by Andrew Lloyd Weber, will be released internationally by Polydor Records.

Weber is the composer of scores for "Jesus Christ Superstar" and "Evita." Black has written songs for films like "Thunderball" and "To Sir With Love," and Webb currently has the lead role in the English production of "Evita."

In advance of the album, Polydor will release the single, "Take That Look Off Your Face."

12" And 7" Singles Are Certified Gold

NEW YORK — For the first time, the 12-inch disco single and the 7-inch regular single versions of the same song, Donna Summer & Barbra Streisand's "No More Tears (Enough is Enough)," have been certified gold by the RIAA. The 12-inch single was released by Casablanca Record & FilmWorks, and the 7-inch version by Columbia Records.

QCA, Somboretz, And Madden In Partnership

NEW YORK — QCA Records, Inc., a Cincinnati production house, and the songwriting-producing team of Dave Somboretz and Chris Madden have formed a three-way partnership covering exclusive songwriting, recording and publishing rights. The BMI-affiliated publishing division of the Madden-Somboretz Company will be known as Dinner Music.

Denver, Muppets Xmas LP Goes Platinum

NEW YORK — John Denver and the Muppets' album, "A Christmas Together," has been certified platinum. The platinum certification is RCA's first for the year.

Zappa Honored For '79 Norwegian Sales

LOS ANGELES — CBS Records International (CRI) recording artist Frank Zappa was recently honored as one of the top international artists of 1979 by the Norwegian daily newspaper Verdens Gang.

Among the awards garnered by the CRI artist in the newspaper's year-end polls were #1 International Act and #1 Album Artist Of The Year. In addition, Zappa's "Bobby Brown" was named #1 Song Of The Year and #1 Single Of The Year, while "Joe's Garage" was cited as #5 Single Of The Year.

The "Joe's Garage, Act I" LP was named #3 International Album Of The Year, and "Sheik Yerbouti" was #4.

New Way Productions Opens L.A. Offices

LOS ANGELES — New Way Productions, headed by Dan Sugerman and Ray Manzarek, recently opened its L.A. headquarters to complement its New York offices, which are already in operation. Sugerman will be handling the firm's management and public relations, while Ray Manzarek, former keyboardist for The Doors, has been named music director/producer. The company can be reached at 140 South Roxbury Dr., #9, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. The phone number is (213) 858-6093.

Paul Jabara Signs With Publishing Firm

LOS ANGELES — Composer Paul Jabara has signed an exclusive songwriting and co-publishing agreement with The Entertainment Company.

Jabara, who won an academy award for Donna Summer's "Last Dance," will work with The Entertainment Company on his next project, which is to write and perform a song in the upcoming John Schlesinger film, Honky Tonk Freeway.

McGovern To Perform Theme From New Film

LOS ANGELES — Maureen McGovern performs "We Can Have It All," the theme song for The Last Marriage In America, a Cates Brothers-Edward S. Feidman Production, which Universal opened last week. McGovern also is noted for her recording of the theme from the ABC-TV program Angie.

'Tusk' Gold and Platinum

LOS ANGELES — "Tusk," the double LP by Warner Bros. recording group Fleetwood Mac, has been certified gold and platinum by the RIAA.

School Formed For Musicians

NEW YORK — Donald Frost has formed The New York College For Recording Musicians. The school is geared to musicians seeking a career in the music industry. Simulated recording sessions will be held at several major studios here, and a lecture-demonstration series will feature such artists as Ron Carter, Bucky Pizzarelli, Garry Sherman, Jim Progris, and Joe Morello, among others.

Registration forms for the school year beginning Sept. 6 can be obtained by writing to N.Y.C.R.M., 125 Village Circle West, Paramus, N.J. 07652. Tuition for the 20 lecture-demonstrations and unlimited session observations is $350.

Chicago Cuts Dacus, Signs New Producer

LOS ANGELES — Columbia recording group Chicago has released guitarist Donnie Dacus and signed a new producer, Tom Dowd.

The 27-year-old guitarist joined Chicago in June 1978 following the death of original band member Terry Kath. In announcing Dacus' release, the band members said that the only differences with him were musical. There was no announcement of an immediate replacement.

Dowd will begin production on Chicago's 14th LP, with recording to start in early March.

MILLENNIUM PICKS ROSE—Millennium Records has signed Rose and will release the group's debut album, "Worlds Apart," this month. Pictured at the signing are (top row, l-r) are: Serge Perathoner and David Rose of the group; Jimmy Jenner, president of the label; Dennis Oppenheimer, manager of the group; and Joe Cohen, manager of international product management for RCA Records. Shown in the bottom row (l-r) are: Gerard Prevost, Steve Shehan, and Claude Slamieri of the group.

UA SIGNS DAYTON — The group Dayton, from the city of the same name, was recently signed by United Artists, which will soon release the group's self-titled debut LP. The band is currently planning a national tour to promote the album. Pictured seated are (l-r): Richard Goldman and Shawn Sandridge of the group; and standing (l-r): Don Grierson, vice president, A&R, EMI-America/United Artists, and Varnell Johnson, general manager, R&B division, EMI-A/UA.
