Sony Releases Famine Relief Benefit Music Video

By Gregory Dobrin

LOS ANGELES—With a street date of Oct. 27, Sony Video Software is releasing Aid - Feed The World Compilation, a 21-song videocassette featuring Britain's top music acts.

Sony is donating all of its profits from the video, which retails for $29.95, to the Aid Trust famine relief campaign.

To keep cost low, the company will supply the release with a minimum of promotional merchandising. "We don't have a separate merchandising piece for Aid," said Sony merchandising manager Michael Rudich, "(although) there is a promotional one-sheet that was sent out to retailers. Obviously, we're trying to keep costs down, because we want to make sure the profits from this go to charity."

Sony's retail focus for the tape is on retailers, some of whom will engage in advertising for the release. Most other advertising will be solicited on a donation basis.

Among the top-name music videos included in the tape are clips from Wham!, Eurythmics, Culture Club, Elton John, Phil Collins, Duran Duran, Peter Gabriel, Bananarama, Paul McCartney and the music video of "Do They Know It's Christmas," the Band Aid song of two years ago credited with starting the African famine relief campaign. Also included on the tape are messages from such artists as David Bowie, Boy George and Band Aid organizer Bob Geldof.

Video Aid marks Sony's second charity release. The first was the primarily heavy metal Hear 'N' Aid, released earlier this year, the profits of which went to USA For Africa. "We are strong supporters of the music video format," said Rudich of Sony's charity efforts, "and where we can, we want to help out."

Cypress and Soundwings: New Labels For A Special Audience

LOS ANGELES—With the discovery of the baby boom market as a sizable one accounts for a high percentage of CD buyers, two new labels, Cypress and Soundwings, will join a growing number of labels which cater to this specialized crowd. Cypress Records, headed by former CBS Records executive Craig Sussman, was established as a home for artists from the "boomer" generation. The first of five albums to be released in the next six months is the Jennifer Warnes album, "Fabric of Blue Raincoat," featuring material produced by Leonard Cohen, including three compositions written specifically for Warnes and Tim Weisberg's "High Risk" also on Cypress. The two albums are scheduled for release in mid-October, with international distribution arrangements to be announced soon. The artist roster also includes singer Kenny Rankin and the John Land.

Sussman, who spent six years in the business affairs department at CBS Records' Los Angeles office prior to launching Cypress, sees his label appealing to the 25-45 age-old consumers that are not traditional CD buyers. "Cypress is an extension of the new age music market," says Sussman. "Target consumers are the people who are buying CD's, and these are artists that those people grew up with and can relate to. They represent a strong positive image for this audience."

Ted Cohen, formerly with the Westwood One Radio Networks and Warner Bros. Records, where he held various artist development positions over a 13 year period with the label, will handle marketing responsibilities.

Cypress will operate out of The Complex, a recording and broadcast production facility which has the latest in digital recording equipment. All Cypress recordings will be digitally mixed and mastered.

Soundwings, launched by Patrick Williams, veteran film-television-record composer and arranger, is also an all-digital record label that is "geared for the audiophile compact disc market."

Williams is now among a handful of working musicians who own their own labels including Herb Alpert of A&M, Quincy Jones of Qwest, Dave Grusin of GRP and Will Ackerman of Windham Hill. "Soundwings is designed to create innovative musical experiences using the latest state-of-the-art technology," says Williams. "All our recordings are digitally recorded and digitally mastered and everything is done live, with all the musicians working together."

We Are The World Exceeds $50 Million Goal

LOS ANGELES—USA For Africa president Ken Kragen announced last week that We Are The World, the organization's first charity project, has topped its original $50 million goal by more than $1 million. The figure to date, with money still coming in, rests at $51,265,721.

A recent cheque from CBS Records for $2.5 million from the sale of the "We Are The World" album and single was the amount that helped exceed the $50 million goal.

The organization also announced a forthcoming merchandise catalogue covering all the benefit products, as well as a semi-documentary TV special funded by Karl Lorimar called From Sea To Shining Sea. No broadcast or cable deal has yet been set for the special, but Kragen hopes to air it around Thanksgiving. A home video of the special will be released by Karl Lorimar Home Video in early '87.

CMJ Announces New Music Award Finalists

By Brian Kassan

NEW YORK—The College Music Journal (CMJ) has announced the finalists for their fourth annual 1986 New Music Awards. The winners will be announced at the awards show November 1 at the recently refurbished Twelfth Rose Theatre in New York City.

The finalists, selected in 26 categories, were announced by CMJ president Robert Haber and vice president Joanne Abbot Green, co-producers of the event. The finalists are voted on by CMJ readers through ballots, compiled through charting and editorial decision, which run in the publication for seven weeks. According to Green, "It's the only awards show of its kind that recognizes the new and developing artist—the up and comer as well as the established artist." Green notes that it took 10 years for the Grammy awards to recognize Bruce Springsteen.

"We discover talent and follow it from its inception through stardom," Green cites the Police as an example. "We had the first American coverage of them back in 1978. College students have their ears to the street and they're the ones who should be credited with discovering a lot of the new acts." Green says that AOR stations claim they do, but that it is college radio that fills the gap between when an album is released and when it finally shows up on AOR playlists.

The awards show is the climax of the CMJ Music Marathon, a convention which is an industry event to be held October 30 to November 2 at the Roosevelt Hotel. The show will again be taped for a national television broadcast to be aired over the Thanksgiving weekend. Last year, the show was televised as a 90 minute special on MTV, hosted by Cheech and Chong. The host for this year has not been completely finalized, but Green, who will announce it soon, says she is "very excited."

A complete list of finalists is included here:

Solar Sues Elektra/Asylum, WCI

LOS ANGELES—A breach-of-contract/discrimination suit to the tune of 200 million has been filed by Solar Records against its distributor, Elektra/Asylum Records and E/A parent, Warner Communications, Inc.

The suit, said to be 56-pages in length and covering nineteen counts, was entered September 23 in Federal District Court for the Central District of California, and is reported to name three defendants: Warner/Elektra/Asylum Music, Inc., Warner Bros.

Music International, Inc. and Warner Communications, Inc.

The suit is rumored to be related to the anti-discrimination campaign against WCI and its labels lead by Rev. Jesse Jackson. Alleged wrong-doing cited in the suit include the defendant's illegal interference with Solar's artist relations and failure to uphold distribution contract terms because of race discrimination.

CBS Posts Third Quarter Profit

NEW YORK—CBS Inc., buoyed by a strong showing from the CBS Records Group, earned $28.6 million in the third quarter, compared to a loss of over $114 million during the same period last year. CBS attributed the strength of the quarter to a number of factors, including the termination of CBS toys, theatrical films, and computer software, and the showing at CBS Records—which, thanks to such hits LPs as the latest Billy Joel album and the Top Gun soundtrack, posted a 54% increase in operating profits, to $19.2 million. The CBS Broadcast Group displayed a 2% rise in operating profits, with the Publishing Group showing a 14% increase.

RCA And Miller Team For 2nd Compilation LP

LOS ANGELES—As part of the Miller Brewing Company's overall Miller Music sponsorship campaign, RCA Records has joined the company in producing a second compilation LP featuring promising unsigned acts from all corners of the U.S.

Called "Miller Music II", the 16-song album was produced at the RCA's New York studios, and features a variety of music, including pop, r&b, rock'n'roll and soul. The collaboration, which gives unsigned artists a chance to negotiate with RCA, was arranged by Gary M. Reynolds & Associates, the promotion and marketing firm that coordinates the Miller Music Rock Network and other Miller programs.

Acts featured on the LP include San Francisco's Dynatones, Boston's Del Fuegos, Nashville's In Pursuit, Raleigh, NC's, The Entertainers, Kansas City's The Rainmakers, Austin's The Tail Gators, Cleveland's Fayrewether, Minneapolis' The Metros, Peoria's Kool Ray and the Polaroidz, Detroit's Caruso, Shreveport's "A" Train, Birmingham's Telluride, L.A.'s The James Harman Band and Seattle's The Rangehods.

PBS To Air Miles Davis Special

LOS ANGELES—Miles Davis will be the subject of a special performance documentary airing on the PBS program Great Performances on or around October 17.

The special, titled Miles Ahead: The Music of Miles Davis, was produced and directed for Great Performances by Mark Obenhaus, and covers the jazz trumpeter's 40-year career with rare archive footage, interviews with colleagues George Benson, Herbie Hancock and Keith Jarrett (among others), and recent concert footage shot at the 1986 New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival, which includes selections from Davis' recent Warner Bros. LP, "Tutu." The special will air on most of PBS' 308 stations with radio simulcasts in some areas.

MCA Launches Red and Black Line Labels

LOS ANGELES—MCA Records plunges into the classical music arena with a 15-album release on the newly-formed Red Line and Black Line classical labels.

The Red Line label will feature a popular classical repertoire, according to MCA, including new digital recordings of such pieces as Vivaldi's "The Four Seasons," Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture" and Handel's "Messiah." In addition, MCA Classics has licensed new recordings from Britain's Innovative Music Productions for the new label.

MCA Black Line will be an artist-oriented label, set for at least four releases per year. The first two Black line releases are The Royal Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Andre Previn, performing a two-selection William Walton program, and The Royal Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Yehudi Menuhin, performing Handel's "Water Music," "Royal Fireworks Music" and "Amaryllis."

In making the announcement, MCA vice president of classical and theatrical Tom Shepard, said the new labels mark the beginning of extended relationships with The Royal Philharmonic and the London Symphony.

MCA Classics intends to release more than 20 Red Line albums and 4 Black Line albums in 1987, as well as a comprehensive series of double-length cassettes drawn from its library of Decca, Kapp, Command and Westminster Records.

Cypress and Soundwings

The company's first three releases include, jazz-fusion from trombonist Bill Watrous and saxophonist Tom Scott as well as an orchestral work based on "Gulliver's Travels." Watrous, on his "Someplace Else" LP and Scott, on his "One Night/One Day" LP are delving into pop/jazz fusion and symphonic works with a symphony orchestra for the first time in their recording careers. Indeed, Watrous, who played with 87 players in the symphony made up of members of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, thought Williams was "kidding" when he suggested recording with that large an orchestra. Scott says playing with the symphony on his album "was an experience which cannot be duplicated." The orchestral work, titled "Gulliver," which took Williams six months to compose, features a story adaptation by noted writer Larry Gelbart with narration interpreted by Sir John Gielgud. Patrick Williams wrote the score performed by the Royal Philharmonic.

Several projects are currently in the works including LPs from flautist Hubert Laws which Williams will arrange and produce, a big band date led by Williams featuring all-star players which will be recorded in

New York with Phil Ramone at the production helm, and a concept album from vocalist Ronee Martin who makes her debut on Tom Scott's LP. Williams and Oscar-winning lyricist Will Jennings, who wrote the tune Martin sings, "New Orleans Knows," and is now riding the pop charts with his lyrics for Steve Winwood's current smash single "Higher Love," are collaborating on material for the concept LP.

"Soundwings," notes Williams, "is designed to break through the conventional way of doing things by marrying great artists with great sound and by taking chances."

Electrosound of Sun Valley, California, will manufacture all LPs and chrome audio cassettes, while the compact discs will be manufactured by Daio Kosan Co. Ltd. of Japan.

The label will be distributed in the U.S. and Canada by the Welk Record Group of Santa Monica, where Soundwings is headquartered. For Welk, Soundwings will be the first audiophile label specifically oriented toward the compact disc distributed by Welk.

OUT OF THE BOX

BIG AUDIO DYNAMITE—No. 10, Upping St.—Columbia BFC 40445—Producers: Mick Jones-Joe Strummer—No List—Bar Coded

With Strummer's and Jones' friendship apparently on the mend, the two join forces in producing this powerful B.A.D. vinyl. It does have a Clash-like energy. Jones' unique musical vision is again in focus. Politics, rap and enigmatic rock combine in a formula that foment with urgency.

OUT OF THE BOX

JOAN JETT AND THE BLACK HEARTS—Good Music—Blackheart/CBS Associated BFZ 4054—Producer: Kenny Laguna—List—Bar Coded

Propelled by the booster-rocket of a single, "Good Music," Jett's latest collection is her strongest in years. Her gravelly voice and Laguna's buzz-saw guitar reduction are a one-two knockout. The record is a sassy, swaggering collection of power pop.

OUT OF THE BOX

A-HA—Scoundrel Days—Warner Bros. 25501—Producer: Alan Tarney—List: 8.98—Bar Coded

The Netherlands' favorite sons come off their extraordinarily successful debut with this compelling set of new songs. This LP should establish the trio as solid contenders in the pop sweepstakes. With a slight Bowiesque manner, a-ha here balances well the experimental and the commercial.

OUT OF THE BOX

WANG CHUNG—Mosaic—Geffen 24115—Producer: Peter Wolf—List: 8.98—Bar Coded

Wang Chung has matured into a more sophisticated and potent pop group. The songs here are strong and their performances aggressive and convincing. "Everybody Have Fun Tonight," "Hypnotize Me," and "The Horizon" are heady proof. Finely woven strands of textures and accents that blend together seamlessly.

FEATURE PICKS

PETE TOWNSHEND—Pete Townshend's Deep End Live!—Atco 90553—Producer: Not Listed—List: 8.98—Bar Coded

The unprecedented reception of a four-track radio sampler to accompany Townshend's long-form video has prompted the release of this full-length live LP. Townshend and his band are muscular and assured on the LP's 10 cuts.

BILLY IDOL—Whiplash Smile—Chrysalis OV 41514—Producer: Keith Forsey—No List—Bar Coded

This Idol's most confessional record yet. Plenty of snarls and growls, but beneath the bravado, in his own clenched-fist way, a message of the heart emerges. The most satisfying Idol vinyl to date for its songs and its production.

BUCKS FIZZ—New Beginning—Polydor 831 096—Producer: Andy Hill—List: 8.98—Bar Coded

"The English Abba," Bucks Fizz has scored handsomely with several hit records in Europe but messed here. Their Polydor debut, featuring the third world splendor of "New Beginning" should correct America's oversight.

LUTHER VANDROSS—Give Me The Reason—Epic FE 40415—Producers: Luther Vandross-Marcus Miller—No List—Bar Coded

Vandross' golden, sensuous voice graces every track of this sumptuous banquet of crossover treats.

SAMANTHA FOX—Touch Me—Jive 1012—Producers: Various—List: 8.98—Bar Coded

Sex kitten Fox has an international hit with "Touch Me." This bouncing, teasing album includes that song plus "Wild Kinda Love," "Hold On Tight," "Do Ya Do Ya (Wanna Please Me)" and "He's Got Sex."

UNTIL DECEMBER—415/Columbia BFC 40438—Producers: Ken Kessie—Until December—No List—Bar Coded

Until December is a new dance rock trio from San Francisco. They have a decidedly modern sensibility with a high-tech sheen.

PIERRE BENSUSAN—Early Pierre Bensusan—Lost Lake Arts LL-0088—Producer: Pierre Bensusan—List: 9.98—Bar Coded

Here is one of the true frontiersmen in modern acoustic guitar. This Frenchman influenced the likes of Michael Hedges and others. His first two albums are condensed into this Lost Lake Arts release.

TAJ MAHAL—Taj—Gramavision 18-8611—Producer: Taj Mahal—List: 8.98—Bar Coded

Taj Mahal makes a triumphant return to recording with an eclectic collection of international, blues, jazz, calypso and pop. A striking and uplifting work.

JAMES BROWN—Gravity—Scotti Bros. FZ 40380—Producer: Dan Penn—No List—Bar Coded

Brown's big comeback hit "Living In America" proved there was a lot of soul left in the godfather. This album offers further evidence. Hot and steamy R&B played with a funky beat.

KURTIS BLOW—Kingdom Blow—Mercury 830 215—Producer: Kurtis Blow—List: 8.98—Bar Coded

The original rapper in another rocking set of social conscience with a beat. Blow even makes his rapping debut. "I'm Chillin'" is already burning up the charts.

7 SECONDS—New Wind—Better Youth Organization BYO 014—Producer: Kevin Seconds-Ethan James—List: 8.98

Hard core is drifting into the late eighties with a maturing sense of purpose as anand wanes. 7 Seconds leads the way with meaningful songs aggressively played.

VENETIANS—Calling In The Lions—Chrysalis BFV 41555—Producer: Blyten—No List—Bar Coded

The Venetians debut with a sparkling LP of inspired, melodic and well-produced pop contemporary leanings.

OUT OF THE BOX

THE POLICE (A&M AM-2879)

Stand So Close To Me '86 (Virgin/ASCAP) (Sting) (Producers: Latham-The Police)

Police's updated version of its first lead-off the upcoming holiday hits package. The new version is a sensuous, less percolating, approach. While not necessarily an improvement on the original and is startlingly different, it nonetheless stands next to it. The brooding reworking of the chorus will take listeners by surprise. The record is sure to hit the mark.

OUT OF THE BOX

HUEY LEWIS & THE NEWS

HUEY LEWIS AND THE NEWS (Chrysalis VS4 43065)

Hip To Be Square (4:03) (Hulex/ASCAP) (B. Gibson-S. Hopper-H. Lewis) (Producer: Huey Lewis and the News)

The band continues its romance with the charts as its latest offering becomes this week's high debut. Utilizing the "Power Of Love" formula, "Hip To Be Square" jumps off to a quick start and drives home the populist message of its title. If there were such things as sure bets, this would be it.

OUT OF THE BOX

RATT (Atlantic 7-89354)

Blending rock and CHR are like essential lovers—they usually only meet on an occasional drink. Ratt has been on the scene ("Round And Round") and is back again with "Dance," a high-octane rocker with a universal hook.

OUT OF THE BOX

ELTON JOHN (Geffen 7-28578)

Heartache All Over The World (3:33) (Intersong/ASCAP) (Elton John-Taupin) (Producer: Gus Dudgeon)

After the high-tech/rap intro, John's latest settles into a perky groove. Sterling production and arrangement augments John's trademark voice in what promises to be yet another chart coup for the rock veteran.

FEATURE PICKS

GUTHRIE (Polydor 885 362)

In The Rain (4:08) (Colgems-EMI-Lem-Thom/ASCAP) (D. Conley-B. Jackson-D. Thompson) (Producer: Gwen Guthrie)

Multi-talented Guthrie scored her first hit with "Ain't Nothin' Goin' On But The Boogie." This cut has a greater chance at BC/Urban than crossing to CHR, but is a sensual, soulful song nonetheless.

NEVIL (Manhattan B-50047)

La Vie (3:28) (MCA-AFG adm by Bug/ASCAP) (Nevil-Pain-Holding) (Producers: Phil Spector-Philip Thornally)

Unproven newcomer in a solid debut. Nevil has a sexy fragility in his voice and the song is a good shot at radio.

ALLEN (21/Atlantic 7-99497)

Is (3:40) (Triage-Living Disc/BMI) (L. Pace-D. Allen-Blitz) (Producer: Lou Pace)

The grooving bass line sets up this steamy dance cut for heavy club play.

THOROGOOD (EMI America B-8357)

'N' And Rockin' (4:34) (Arc/BMI) (C. Berry) (Producers: Terry Manning-The Deltones)

Thorogood in a hard-driving live version of the Chuck Berry classic. Thorogood brings a road-seasoned grit to the tried and true tune.

HAYES (Columbia 38-06363)

Tap (3:22) (Super Blue/BMI) (I. Hayes) (Producer: Isaac Hayes)

Hayes returns to active duty with a sensuous, slow spoken word song. Calling it a rap is misleading. The spoken word aspect is the only thing this record shares with records commonly called "rap." This is like a Barry White sexy soul-to-soul chat and not at all a Run-DMC rap.

The Traveler (4:07) (Soda Fountain/ASCAP) (Earl Klugh) (Producer: Earl Klugh)

A sensuous and well-produced instrumental featuring guitarist Klugh. Right for easy listening, easy jazz and adult formats.

JIM WHITE (Paylode PL-2005)

My My Maria (3:42) (Jim White/BMI) (James A. White) (Producer: Jillian Gold)

Sluggish production and lyrical problems mar the verses of this otherwise catchy pop song. The hook-laden chorus is its redemption. Good AC fare.

Set Me Free (3:36) (Virgin/ASCAP) (Derek Bramble) (Producer: Derek Bramble)

British soul singer in a high energy dance explosion. Watch for club and crossover action here.

MAZE FEATURING FRANKIE BEVERLY (Capitol B-5643)

When You Love Someone (4:30) (Amazement/BMI) (Frankie Beverly) (Producer: Frankie Beverly)

Another richly emotional and smooth-as-silk love ballad from Frankie Beverly and Maze. Solid AC and adult BC record.

HITTING PRIME-TIME—Well, it's not that they sold-out or anything, but gosh, L.A.'s own Billy Vera & The Beaters sure are a hit with the prime-time crowd, that lowest common denominator of TV land programming—which is not meant as a slur. It's meant more as, well . . . an explanation (of the shows themselves, not of the audience's appreciation of Billy & The Beaters). And hey, Points West has been known to find itself glued to a rousing episode of Kate & Allie every now and again. 227, even. Does wonders for the psyche. Rids the mind of that old bugaboo, thinking. Be that as it may, Points West wouldn't be caught dead near a set blaring Family Ties across the "rec" room, which might be considered a matter of taste if we weren't talking about prime-time sitcoms. Anyway . . . how did I get onto this? Uhhh. Billy & The Beaters. Billy & The Beaters have a song called "At This Moment" (from their "By Request: Billy & The Beaters" LP) featured recurrently on Family, uh, Ties, and according to the band's label, Rhino Records, NBC has been swamped with positive feedback about the tune. Are Billy & The Beaters about to pull a TV coup a la Phil Collins and Miami Vice? Stay tuned.

THE SOVIETS AT MY PLACE—They've been there and gone, but Matt Kramer, proprietor of Santa Monica's At My Place says not only was he exceptionally pleased with Soviet rock band Stas Namin's recent appearance at his club, but that his dream is to bring some American acts to the U.S.S.R. "I was over in Russia last year," he told Points West, "and I figured that if I could take people that were in themselves very communicative, as well as good players . . . and just on a grass-roots level get to know people, a lot of good will could be done." A large step in the good will direction has already been accomplished with Stas Namin's At My Place show. Kramer colared the Soviet act (one of the country's most popular) to play in Santa Monica through his involvement with the recent "Peace Child" performance at L.A.'s Wilern Theatre—the show has been touring the country, with Stas Namin providing instrumentals. Originally, the Soviets had misgivings about playing L.A.—for various reasons, including the political climate of the city's environs. (Ever hear the expression, "behind the Orange curtain"?—that's Orange as in County—Well, think about it). Anyway, the Peace Child organization asked Kramer and others to write letters to the Soviets encouraging them to perform here. "The particular day I wrote my letter," says Kramer, "was the day my son was born, and I tied that in—I said, 'an hour ago my first son was born, and I want him to grow up in a world where we are all friendly.' And in that letter I made an invitation saying that when they were in L.A. doing the "Peace Child" concert, maybe they'd like to do a show of their own and meet some American players." The show was received by an enthusiastic crowd, everything went smoothly, and no, that wasn't the KGB situated near the backstage door. With more people like Kramer doing their part in educating the American public, perhaps the "super powers" will one day drop their war games in lieu of something a little more humane, like music, ya know? And maybe we'll see an end to such American obscenities as Red Dawn and Rambo and those funny (in a sneaky kind of way), but equally detrimental, Wendy's commercials. Knowhutlmean, Vern?

TIME WARP—L.A. doo-wop rockers Big Daddy have a jingle included in a Nerds cereal commercial that debuts this week.

IN PARTING—Okay, okay, so enough has been said about Elton John's Universal Amphitheatre shows in this space. But he keeps adding dates, all right? The new one's are October 14 and 15, and they sold out as fast as they were announced, which makes a total of seven sold-out shows for the guy with sequined palm trees growing out of his horn rims . . . Guitarist Roy Buchanan, who's just released an album, "Dancing On The Edge," on Alligator Records (his 2nd for Alligator) is coming to the Palamino in North Hollywood Saturday, October 25, so prepare to journey into the nether reaches of the (gulp) valley . . . San Francisco's R&B revue, The Zazu Pitts Memorial Orchestra, hits The American Music Hall on October 17 and 18. Also at the American Music Hall, New Orleans' famed Neville Brothers make an appearance December 12 and 13 . . . "Crack Killed Applejack," the Motown anti-drug "rap" single by General Kane (aka Mitch McDowell) has inspired "Crack Killed Applejack" day in San Diego, as well as in five other American cities (Albuquerque, San Antonio, Houston, Louisville and Newark). Gregory Dobrin

The first thing that hits you is how much they sound like Abba. But a closer listen will reveal a harder edge and a looser sound that is distinctively their own. Bucks Fizz has had twelve hits in Europe, but in the States they are virtual unknowns, though their debut album on Polydor, "New Beginnings," should change all that. That album is a collection of songs previously unavailable in the States and it will be followed at the end of this month with a studio album of brand new material.

Things were not always so promising for Bucks Fizz. Two years ago, the four vocalists were seriously injured in a bus accident, and one member, Mike Nolan, was in a coma and had to have brain surgery. But they have recovered and are approaching their music with a newfound determination that's evident on such songs as "Magic" and "Land Of Make Believe."

For all their development though, comparisons to Abba still linger. "We've had those comparisons from day one," says Mike Nolan, "because both our careers stemmed from the same concept. About twelve years ago Abba did the Eurovision Song Contest. It's a big contest where all European countries choose somebody to represent them and sing their songs. In 1981 we were chosen to represent England in the song contest. And we won it. It's the same contest that Abba won. And ever since we won we started having hits all over Europe and became extremely popular."

Nolan's pop sensibility was shaped on by The Beatles. "When I was a always used to follow The Beatles' reer," he says. "I just started carryin' with it from the moment I left school playing all the pubs and clubs here in land and joining various groups until I tually joined Bucks Fizz." Bucks Fizz v perfect fit. Nolan's seamless harm with Bobby Gee, Cheryl Baker, and addition Shelley Preston seem almost pure to be human at times.

"New Beginnings" serves as a solid duction to Bucks Fizz. Songs like the track, the poignant "Now These Days Gone," and the guitar rock of "Mag should lay the groundwork for the succo their upcoming studio album. Paul I

Richard Thompson, The Daring Adventurer

By Stephen Padgett

LOS ANGELES—Richard Thompson has always led a daring life, musically speaking. In his first band, Fairport Convention, he pioneered the contemporary use of British traditional music. The plan drew critical acclaim and little else. Fairport Convention's four albums, though, continue to be seen as a high-water mark in the efforts to advance the cause of British, especially Celtic, traditional music.

Later, in a series of solo records and duo records with his former wife Linda on the Hannibal Records label, he wove a compelling fabric of folk-influenced rock. While never capturing the mass audience his brilliant craftsmanship deserves, he has steadily peeled back the veil of obscurity and now stands at the brink of his greatest commercial zenith.

Two years ago Thompson signed with Polydor. The deal has seen him release two of his strongest artistic statements, the most recent of which is the aptly titled "Daring Adventures."

"To me, what happens to records once they're released is less important than how satisfied I am with the record," Thompson says. He has never caved in to commercial considerations. "If I was asked to make a very commercial record I would fail, 'cause I'm just not equipped for it," he says with a slightly self-effacing sense of reality. According to Thompson and his a&r rep Bill Levenson, his goals as an artist and the label's goals as a business co-exist amiably. "The game plan with Richard, to be fair, is to let him make the record that he wants to make," stresses Levenson. After that, the plan includes allowing Thompson to do what he does best—tour—and attracting as much attention at radio as possible.

What Polydor and Thompson have to work with are two splendid albums that display the guitarist's skills as writer, singer and performer. He creates an evocative swirl of emotion with his simple, direct guitar style. His mix of Celtic strains and British blues-based rock and roll has influ guitarists such as Mark Knopfler.

Thompson records live with a ban little or no rehearsal, similar to the way Dylan is said to record. What you get raw sound that "feels" human. Wh get, according to Thompson, is "a with mistakes on it."

"I don't think perfection is the right t aim for. The perfection has to be in the s it. If the spirit's right, well then the r occasional note in the guitar or s doesn't matter, it can even help." T son's commitment to the rough edges sic goes even deeper: "I think that records are unmusical in the sens they've taken too many of the corners o the corners are music. It's a mistake to t the corners as mistakes or as something sirable. That is the music," urges Thom counterparts. And from there on out, the country music skies were aglow with a nova—a bright new star with a brilliant future.

Two more singles ensued from his first album, "Storms Of Life," both of which followed the path blazed by "1982" to the #1 position in the country charts. First of the two was a result of a bold marketing move by the label's Nashville execs—the re-release of the former fizzler, "On The Other Hand" (we told you to remember that title), which met with little resistance this time out. His third cut released from the album (and probably his strongest, so far) has been "Diggin' Up Bones," currently in its third straight week atop the CB country singles chart. The "Storms Of Life" LP, released on June 2 this year, itself has been #1 on CB's country album chart since Aug. 9.

Additionally, the LP is now in its 17th week on the CB pop LP chart, a result not so much of any "crossover" appeal as of the intense response of country loyalists and even closet country fans to his refreshing, uncomplicated adherence to purism. (No small following, either, since that album has already been certified gold.)

Travis is one of those country artists, unusual in today's arena, who knows exactly who and what he is. No daydreams of synthesizers and heavy rock percussion for this native North Carolinian. "I, for sure, am doing traditional-type country music. I don't care to do anything else, really...That's the type of music I've always done, and always will do."

The thing that most people notice immediately when meeting the 27 year old singer is his realness, his amazing resemblance to one of the guys down at the plant or to the dishwasher down at the local honky-tonk. (Part of that resemblance can be attributed to the fact that one of his first gigs when he came to Nashville was as the dishwasher at the at the Nashville Palace.)

His professional career started when he was 10, and by the time he was 14 he was playing solo in North Carolina clubs "where you'd see a fight just about every night." Sometimes he, himself, was in the middle of the fracas. "I was fighting and drinking" and generally getting into teenage trouble, he reveals, "and I'd run away from home because mama and daddy wouldn't let me do what I wanted to."

What he wants to do now is make music—country music. "That's the only thing I ever listened to, to tell the truth. As far back as I can remember, it was country."

And it still is—for sure!

GEFFEN RECORDS will release the new album by Slayer, "Reign In Blood," which Columbia Records reportedly pulled at the last minute because of its potentially offensive lyrics. Apparently the PMRC didn't even have to fire a shot. What next? Will the PMRC fig-leaf Michaelangelo's David? After all, doesn't the statue encourage nudity among impressionable school children? And while we're at it let's make sure that no one under seventeen can see Gianbologna's Rape Of The Sabinas or read Salinger's Catcher In The Rye. That way we can rest assured that our children will grow up to be as ignorant about art as Tipper Gore seems to be. The way to defeat the PMRC is to organize against them not to bow under. Kudos to Geffen Records for having the guts to stand up to these bozos.

THRILLERS—Naked Spur recording group Trigger and The Thrill Kings wowed 'em at Maxwell's with an original blend of blues, country, and raunch-rock October 4.

HOMECOMING KINGS—What a homecoming it was. After busting ass for the better part of a decade, The Smithereens earned a particularly warm hometown reception when they opened for Lou Reed at Radio City Music Hall October 1. The foursome, riding the crest of a top sixty album and an active rotation video, handled the Great Stage with arena-rock aplomb while still retaining their essential folk-rockish intimacy. Guitarist Jim Babjak has become a major part of this band and he nearly stole the show with a searing jam at the end of "Time and Time Again" ("Especially For You"/Enigma), and by the time they closed with "Blood and Roses" there were hoots and applause from orchestra to balcony. The story continues: a second airplay single, "Behind The Wall Of Sleep," is ready for radio, and their first-ever headlining gig, at the Ritz, happens this Friday (18).

This was Lou Reed's first time at Radio City too and he played an exciting set similar to his recent Ritz show, which was reviewed in the August 1 issue of Cash Box.

PEOPLE LIKE US—David Byrne's film True Stories (Warner Bros.) presents a deceptively simple and jarring vision of the mid-American quotidian, and some of its scenes and characters are memorable. The film is a 'travelogue' through smalltown Virgil, Texas, that looks at some of its eccentric residents: a woman who never gets out of bed, a married couple who don't talk with one another, and a man who advertises on television for a wife. The film's fragmented, episodic structure recalls nothing so much as Robert Alt- man's Nashville, though it has little of that film's unity or cohesiveness. But what it lacks there it makes up for in its unusual imagery and surreal sense of the everyday. The most sharply drawn and likeable character is Louis Fyne (John Goodman), a butterball of romantic vulnerability who, in one memorable scene, stumbles over the words to "People Like Us" while singing it to a girlfriend. Later, Fyne plays the song with The Country Bachelors in a performance that in itself makes the upcoming soundtrack album (which is not the "True Stories" LP) a must-buy. In fact, "People Like Us" might well have made a more appropriate title for this film, because that's exactly what this movie's for and about.

TRIGGER & THE THRILL KINGS—What makes Trigger and The Thrill Kings (Naked Spur Records) so compelling is that they effectively vary their club-rock with blues and country. At Maxwell's October 4, they sounded like a cross between Big Brother and The Holding Company and a countrified Lene Lovitch as vocalist Truce DeGroot sang with a smoldering passion that flamed in such tunes as "I Want A Man" (a Raunch Hands answer record?) and "Tension Swing." But the high point was a smoky rendition of the blues standard "St. James Infirmary" which probably made true believers out of anyone who was ever a Janis Joplin fan. Speaking of true believers, The True Believers, who headlined, blasted away with charisma-to-burn as they fused roots rock with punk on

BY POPULAR DEMAND—The music in the home video for Peter Townshend's Brixton concert has created such a demand that Atlantic Records has released "Peter Townshend's Deep End Live!," a ten song album that includes live versions of "Barefootin'," "After The Fire," and "Pinball Wizard." Explains ATCO gen'l mgr Marco Knesz: "We decided we'd pull four tracks to give to radio-only, as a marketing ploy to sell the video. But people wanted to buy it (so) we thought, we'd better put out an album.... We didn't anticipate the demand." The album has turned into a pleasant surprise for the label: it shipped at 140,000 units.

UK BUZZ

Those who were at a recent CBS conference were given a preview of the Bruce Springsteen and The E Street Band Live 1975 - 85 set. The forty track set contained some live classics like "Because The Night" and a cover of Edwin Starr's "War" which is to be the single in the U.K.

Other highlights included a preview of the The album, "Infected." Matt Johnson of the The says "it's about the economic colonisation of Britain by America." A video accompanying the entire album was shot on location in Peru and New York and features Johnson dangling overboard in a Peruvian river. Images from the video and the songs on the album are full of compelling paradox. Both are highly technical and primal, tender and vicious. The album was two years in the making and is worth every second.

Also worth waiting for is the new Paul Young album "Between Two Fires" which contains the ballad "Wonderland" written for him by Betsy Cook, best known for her work with Linda Thompson.

The BAD album has Mick Jones once again united with Clash co-hort Joe Strummer who produced the "Number 10 Upping Street" album. Spandau Ballet, newly signed to CBS, have recorded the lush sounding "Through The Barricades." It's a definite change in style for them.

The biggest single influence in London at the moment is rap music. Following tours by The Beastie Boys and Run-DMC, Full Force is expected soon. Not only do they have sell-out dates to perform but Bowlegged Lou will produce the former tabloid pin-up girl Samantha Fox, who is launching a singing career. Already she has had two smash hits but felt she needed a more credible image. "We will bring out her full potential, make sure she's taken seriously. I was attracted to her personality and I love controversy," explains Lou, who has written a song for her titled "Naughty Girls Need Love Too."

This is the season of the record company conference. This year's CBS UK bash in Eastbourne was not filled with the usual celebration. It seems CBS's fortunes have changed and it must fight harder than ever for the year ahead.

Managing director Paul Russell could not escape mentioning recent retail traumas. "I know you expect me to say something about our change in trading terms so I will," he said. "Over the last two years the face of the UK retail market has changed. Essentially, the big were getting bigger and the independent sector shrinking - it's now down to less than 20% of the market."

He went on to say the British record industry had become boring because no new talent was breaking. "Finding, breaking and developing new talent is what makes and keeps the industry fresh, interesting and exciting. One of the most important ways to break new talent is by the legendary and elusive hit single."

"Retailers started to adopt a restrictive stocking policy, especially with singles. As the big retailer got bigger, more was being stocked of less. We believed that these policies were contributing to the boredom that produced only endless compilations. More was being stocked by the big chains but only from superstar acts."

"I am now pleased to tell you that we have concluded our arrangements with all segments of the retail trade. We have ensured a wide stocking policy with an emphasis on singles."

He went on to review the more positive events of the year. "1986 has been a Twiggy as far as sales are concerned, but as far as change and consolidation it goes down as a Dolly Parton."

In April of this year CBS completed the move of the entire distribution center to Aylesbury. Now all computer, MIS, and finance operations are run from that site. Last week the European headquarters of CBS was moved to London from Paris which will greatly facilitate the promotion of UK artists throughout Europe. Despite the difficulties of the last year, CBS has managed to come up with a very impressive display of new product. As Russell commented: "The only CBS artists not to come up with new product for Christmas are Michael Jackson and Mozart."

CBS Records International Names Four

CBS Records International has announced a reorganization of their New York-based marketing department.

Mason Munoz has been appointed director, marketing and sales, Columbia label. He joined CBS in 1975, became a product manager for Columbia Records in 1980, eventually rising to director East Coast product marketing.

Steve Ripley is on special assignment from CBS Records U.K. and has been appointed director, Epic, Portrait, Associated labels. He joined April Music in 1978, as was transferred to the CBS Records sales office in 1980. He joined the CBS label in 1984 and was named product manager in 1985.

Frank O. Hendricks has been appointed director, marketing and sales, classical and jazz product. He will still be responsible for CD marketing for CBS Records International. He joined CBS in 1965 and has held various positions of increased responsibility in the areas of finance, accounting and marketing. Most recently, he was director, marketing administration, CBS Records International.

Alan J. Street has been appointed director, marketing and sales, special products. Mr. Street joined CBS Records U.K. in 1983 as marketing manager, where he was responsible for catalogue sales in the U.K. as well as for the U.K. classical division.

Corporate Publishing: A View From Down Under

NEW YORK—Since the days of The Easybeats, breaking the U.S. market has been the goal of most Australian bands. Some Australian groups, like The Church, seem to be only an album away from major Stateside success. Other bands, like Men At Work, broke suddenly and then faded just as fast. Corporate publishers play a key role in bringing about breakthroughs for artists, as CBS Songs Australia managing director John Anderson learned when he helped sign Men At Work.

"Our biggest success was with Men At Work," he says. "We became involved in the publishing. We played a major part early on in the success of Men At Work to create an awareness in the field. But you can't expect every band to happen like they did—very quickly. It's usually a building process."

Jimmy Barnes is one artist Anderson puts in the 'building process' category. "Now my Barnes is a superstar in Australia signed to Geffen Records. With Jimmy building process. He toured with ZZ Top he's a real dynamic performer and so. The right attitude to hang in there has there because it takes a while. Even wants to break the U.S. marketplace that's the toughest there is."

Currently, Anderson has several projects, among them PolyGram's (for world, excluding USA and Canada) Dr. Chrysalis's Icehouse and The Vengedicians that's just signed to Chrysalis States," he says, "and we were involved before they even had a record. Again, Anderson says that the key to success with these bands is patience. have to lay some foundations."

WEA Bows CD Plant

Warner Communications Inc. recently opened their first compact disc manufacturing plant in Alsdorf, West Germany. The opening was celebrated with unique community-wide festivities which included an estimated 10,000 locals. The town mayor and other local, governmental and business community dignitaries witnessed a ribbon-cutting ceremony which included carnival rides, games and street entertainers. International record, cassette, CD production and distribution activities employ 700 Alsdorf residents. The plant, took only nine months to complete, is projected to produce some 40,000 units with 8 million units annually once the plant is at full capacity.

TALENT ON STAGE

David Lee Roth

SON SQUARE GARDEN, NYC—Mr. showmanship came to New York October 4 and lasted through nearly two hours of exuberant rock 'n' roll. Fans came as much for the music as to watch him play the role of a twisting mega-star, dwarfing all stages, with no boundaries. It didn't seem to matter what he played or even that he played because the audience cheered everywhere he did. Even when he just stood there, the crowd went crazy. Though only about half the music was really any good, the show was exciting because you never knew what he was going to try next.

At one point, Roth even left the stage and came in the round. He suddenly materialized on a mini-platform in the middle of the stage, rapped to the audience, and played a response with Steve Vai, his guitar-wielding vintage Roth on display, saying showbizzy things like "Hello Madison Square Garden" as fans chanted "Da-vid!"

When he launched into "Panama" he roared the aisles, threw things onstage, unfurled "Sammy Who?" banners. A version of the song was more natural than Van Hagar's, and the crowd showed its allegiance. When the song ended there was an extended ovation and Roth came in the adulation like a guy savoring it at the end of a four hour concert. This was only his third song. Ninety minutes later the energy level was still full blast as Roth jumped off a stage and into a scorching "Yankee (Eat 'Em And Smile)" (Warner Bros.). It may be October but it sure feels like summer, said Roth. "I'm talking about cones, bikini lines. I'm talking about ice cream." In fact he created a kind of summertime mood that had fans bouncing on balls while he donned sunglasses for "California Girls." And the dynamic chord changes on the set-closing "Going Crazy" had everyone feeling the heat. Unfortunately, though, a guitar version of "Jump" was the mark, and too much of the material was played with the same super-quick "For Teacher" (not performed here) tempo.

All told, though, it was a night of arena magic as only Diamond Dave could do it. Roth flirted with the women, and generally strutted his stuff, while making his campy and excessive showmanship count for even more than the music.

Richard Thompson

THE PALACE, L.A.—One thing for sure, I haven't seen a more moving, interesting performance in a long time than the one singer-songwriter Richard Thompson and his five-piece band gave here recently.

Thompson, an alumnus of the seminal English folk-rock band Fairport Convention, is generally recognized by critics as one of the most gifted writers in England, yet he has only achieved a cult following here. His intense emotional lyrical landscapes mixed with his unusual marriage of folk, country, classic rock and traditional Celtic and English sensibilities were always captivating.

Thompson, a tall, gangling, bearded figure, is a strong, enigmatic performer. His talent is really overwhelming to behold. He possesses a rich, deep, expressive baritone voice, complimenting his varied works such as the rockabilly growl on "Valerie," a bouncy new song from his latest LP "Daring Adventures" to the heartfelt emotional vocal on "When The Spell Is Broken" from his last LP "Across A Crowded Room." His guitar work, I will venture to say, cannot be matched for sheer inventiveness and originality. His open string guitar style drawing on folk, rock and Celtic and even Arabic modality always kept the audience guessing what would come next, and when it did, the results were often mesmerizing. While his picking phrases sound much like Dire Straits guitarist Mark Knopfler, it must be emphasized that it is Thompson who has been around longer and it is he who has influenced Knopfler. Often, during a single solo, Thompson would close his eyes, almost in a trance, and unleash a wash of bright country licks and then suddenly, the notes would move to the outer limits of the song structure which felt at once unfamiliar, even unsettling at times, but always worked to enhance not draw from the composition.

Although Thompson is known to be somewhat shy, he seemed comfortable with the audience, often making humorous and witty remarks. It's not surprising that Thompson's band is also a unique, highly talented group who are largely responsible for the multi-textural sounds that filled the club. Singer-guitarist Clive Gregson and vocalist-percussionist-guitarist Christine Collister are accomplished, vocalists and instrumentalists whose presence was always felt and allowed Thompson to be the focal point or just linger while they each sang lead on a couple of their own songs. Concertina player, John Kirkpatrick, pumped the folk flavor into the sound with the small accordion which gives Thompson's work its Celtic flavor. For a band who relies mostly on acoustic and traditional instruments, the melange of sounds created are seemingly impossible to accomplish.

With songs that have been wrought from Thompson's own hardships, his themes are often cynical and depressing which probably would be too challenging or even frightening for American mainstream tastes. Although the music is rock based, and highly listenable, it seems that only those who are adventurous in their tastes will ever experience Thompson's brilliance and after witnessing it during this performance, that is a real shame.

Tony Williams

THE VILLAGE VANGUARD, N.Y.C.—Joe Segal, the noted Chicago jazz impresario, has for years been claiming that bebop is the music of the future. Maybe so, but it's beginning to look like hard bop is the music of the present. Ten years ago jazz musicians of every stripe were looking to plug in and funk out—using Miles Davis as the model. Now, it seems that jazz musicians are turning to Art Blakey and the pre-fusion Miles Davis—forming Jazz Messengers-styled units to play the kinds of razor-sharp, heated things that Blakey has been purveying for the past 30 years and that Miles abandoned while Tony Williams was still a member of his band. Herbie Hancock's VSOP heralded this return to conservatism and Wynton Marsalis' extraordinary success brought it all home. All of a sudden, everybody is interested in the music of the late-'50s and early-'60s—the hard bop and early modal sounds that were recorded so diligently during that era by Blue Note. Tony Williams—who, of course, recorded for Blue Note then and records for them again now; was a charter member of VSOP; and led the pioneering fusion band Lifetime—pulled into town a couple of weeks ago and, sure enough, he's got himself a Messengers-style unit of his own. Three ex-Messengers—trumpeter Wallace Roney, tenor saxophonist Billy Pierce, and pianist Mulgrew Miller—and one ex-Wynton Marsalis Quinteter—bassist Charnett Moffett—joined the master drummer at the Vanguard.

The four young members of Tony Williams' band are well-schooled players and fluid soloists. Yet nothing before could have prepared them for the rhythmic fire and brimstone served up by Tony Williams. Tony would count off his twisting, craggy compositions at tempos that would scare Carl Lewis and proceed to make time disappear, setting up an impenetrable, almost unbelievable, percussive wall. Roney and Pierce dug in their heels and managed to slingshot several interesting solos into the club, but they seemed, at times, to be playing too quickly to think. Mulgrew Miller fell back on tried-and-true runs once too often, and young Charnett Moffett looked as if he'd need a healthy dose of oxygen after each set, but, somehow, the music glistered—it was waxed to a shine by the seamless brilliance of the drummer. No matter who was soloing, attention turned to Tony Williams—how does he produce so much sound?, how can his arms not fall out of their sockets?, how can his playing remain as clear and imaginative and swinging as it does when he's doing so much back there? He only took a solo on the last number, but it was superfluous—he was the band's soloist throughout the set, he's what separated this band from the other Messengers clones.

It was heartening to hear Tony Williams lead a mainstream jazz combo in the cozy confines of the Village Vanguard. With the possible exception of Jack DeJohnette, no other drummer can play with as much versatility and fire and still manage to keep the pots on, to swing. One hopes he makes himself a more regular visitor to Manhattan jazz clubs in the future.

JAZZ

ON JAZZ

WHITHER PBS?—This week Great Performances will present Miles Ahead: The Music of Miles Davis, an hour-long show which features the trumpeter playing with his current band, in 1960 clips with his Quintet featuring John Coltrane, and in conversation about his work. I have not seen the show, but, no matter how good or bad it is, it's a large step in the right direction for PBS. Miles Davis, by anybody's definition, is one of the dozen most important jazz musicians in history and one of the two or three most important living jazz musicians. A PBS show dealing with his career is, to put it mildly, long overdue.

In my opinion, PBS deserves a lashing for the way it has neglected jazz. PBS is supposed to be the alternative and is supposed to be particularly strong in presenting "art" on television. Grand opera, symphonies, ballets, and serious plays fill the PBS roster. PBS has single-handedly made across-the-board superstars of Barishnykov, Pavarotti, Tharp, Perlman, and other purveyors of "high art." Lately, PBS has shown itself in tune to the contemporary avant-garde—filling up its airwaves with the likes of Phillip Glass, Laurie Anderson, Naim June Pak, and Keith Haring. Yet when it comes to an important American art form like jazz, PBS generally displays only ignorance. All surveys indicate that the size of the audience for the so-called classical art forms is about the same as it is for jazz—about five percent. So why hasn't PBS been as filled with Monk as Wagner, Dizzy Gillespie as Yo-Yo Ma, Ornette Coleman as Robert Wilson? Because the powers-that-be at the major corporate PBS sponsors feel that a) the "classical" art forms present a sturdier company image and b) the audience for opera is small but wealthy. Jazz is caught in its usual conundrum: those involved in "art" consider it a popular entertainment, those involved with popular entertainment consider it an art. The screwing comes from both sides. And something like a Live From the Village Vanguard series seems as far from PBS' mind as The Price is Right.

Miles Ahead—following, as it does, on the heels of that fine Billie Holiday program of a couple of months ago—might be a signal that PBS is waking up. Or it may just be the usual dog bone. We shall see.

BERLIN, BERLIN—The Berlin Jazz Festival, which takes place this year from October 29-November 2, is one of the more interesting, and one of the longest-running, of the European jazz extravaganzas. The promoters, led by the fine Swiss musician George Gruntz, are not content to just present the same old same old. Among those appearing at this year's Festival are Herbie Hancock's Round Midnight Band, The Charlie Watts Orchestra (look for that English megaband to make stateside appearances before the year is out), Arturo Sandoval, Milton Cardona and the Eya Aranla Ensemble, Loose Tubes, the West German Radio Big Band with guests Kenny Wheeler, Bob Brookmeyer, Jim McNeely and Trilok Gurtu, Lester Bowie's Brass Fantasy, Bobby Hutcherson, Sweet Honey in the Rock, The Steve Lacy Sextet, The Globe Unity Orchestra, and, believe it or not, a collaboration between Don Cherry and Jabbo Smith.

CON ALMA—Dizzy Gillespie (upper r) recently fell by N.Y.'s Village Gate to jam with Tito Puente (lower l) and his Latin Jazz Ensemble, including Mario Rivera (l) and Chuckie Lopez (tr).

BOPPING AROUND—New on the jazz bookshelves: In The Moment: Jazz in the 1980s by Francis Davis ($18.95, Oxford), American Musicians: 56 Portraits in Jazz by Whitney Balliett ($22.95, Oxford), and a paperback reprint of Good Morning Blues: The Autobiography of Count Basie as told to Albert Murray ($10.95, Donald I. Fine)...Suite Beat has just reissued three prime items from the Vee-Jay catalogue: "Introducing Wayne Shorter," the tenor titan's first as a leader; "Gettin' Together," a Mel Lewis-led jam session; and "Django Reinhardt 1910-1953"...The American Jazz Radio Festival, the syndicated show originating out of Newark's WBGO-FM, will feature a live broadcast of a new composition by David Murray, which he will perform October 25 at Northeastern University with a jazz orchestra...The Willard Alexander Agency has signed an exclusive worldwide representation agreement with the Crusaders, who are about to head out on a national tour...Chicago's Orchestra Hall will be the setting for "Symphony In Black," an October 15 performance featuring Wynton Marsalis, Hubert Laws, The Boys Choir of Harlem, and Yolanda King with members of the Orchestra of Illinois...New York's Universal Jazz Coalition will host its third annual Asian/Asian-American Jazz and Cultural Festival, at the Jazz Center of New York, October 20-26...A quartet of first-class warblers will be belting 'em out at L.A.'s Vine St. Bar & Grill over the next few weeks: Rosemary Clooney (10/14-16, 18&19), Morgana King (10/17), Annie Ross (10/21), and Carmen McRae (10/22).

JAZZ FEATURE PICKS

ROYAL GARDEN BLUES—Branford Marsalis—Columbia FC 40363—Producer: Delfeayo Marsalis

When does it take a dozen men to make a quartet album? When Branford Marsalis—rapidly coming into his own as one of the best tenor saxophonists of his generation—decides to work out with five separate pianists, three bassists and four drummers. The results are worthwhile indeed.

HOMECOMING—Denny Zeitlin—Living Music LM 0011—Producers: Paul Winter, Denny Zeitlin

Denny Zeitlin possesses one of the sweetest, most lyrical piano sounds this side of Bill Evans and on this LP—his Living Music debut—he reveals the deep emotional well—he's a psychiatrist, after all—that underpins his music. Beauty with depth, a rare combination.

REDWOOD RANGE—Francis Vanek Quartet—Valentine 1952—Producer: Francis Vanek

A nicely-wrought LP from a tenor-led

Northwestpost-bop quartet. LIVE AT SWEET BASIL VOL. David Murray Big Band—Bl Saint BSR 0095 (dist. by PolyGram Special Imports)—Producer: David Murray

The wildest and wooliest big band on the block in a loose, raucously-swinging session. The band is chock-a-block excellent soloists—some of the best temporary jazz players in New York—many of them have room to shine.

THE CONDOR—Steve Lacy Sextet—Soul Note SN 1135 (dist. by PolyGram Special Imports) Producer: Giovanni Bonandrini

Lacy—a veteran of the jazz and pop scene of the late-'50s—here sets five gems by four writers (in three languages) music and, like the bird of the title, Sextet makes them soar.

ABOUT CHARLIE—Gorb Brisker—Discovery DS-923—Producer: John Sullivan

Brisk modern bebop from the veteran West Coast tenorman and a blue-chip

SOMETHING ABOUT HIM-Capitol Records has unleashed another ja-talented recording artist. This in-ible talent can be found in the per- of Beau Williams. Until now Beau Williams was best known as the great ovey of television's star search. It his stellar performance during the 4 competition that abruptly toppled record 13 week reign of contestant n Harris. Beau recalls, "every- re I went, people remembered that, n if they did not know my name they ld say, you are that guy from star ch! It felt good." This is not one of se overnight stories. Beau started lecting his craft at an early age in his ve Houston, Texas via the baptist rch where his father presided as ster and his mother as choir direc- Beau comes from a closely knit reli- family who always supported him- ing his developmental years in pur- of a music career. Having spent sev- years working the chitlin circuit in uston, Beau decided to move to Los geles, the focal point of the entertain- business. The move resulted in e seasoning via the same musical uit. Despite the many years of obse- ty Beau refused to add any tricks or micks to his performances. He gar- ed a loyal following through his powerful performances on the circuit by displaying his enormous raw talent. Having enjoyed success on television's star search, Beau big break came in 1986, when Hush Productions, recalling the thunderous performance sought out the singer, coincidentally just as he was looking for a recording contract. The official signing of a contract Beau had prayed for has subsequently resulted in a hit album titled "No More Tears" featuring the self-penned hit single "There's Just Something About You." Beau has just completed a successful eastern tour. Very soon this compassionate young man will do a benefit concert in conjunction with WKXI Radio, Jackson, Mississippi, where Tommy Marshall program director and president of the YBPC is raising money for the needy families in Jackson. Beau continues his quest toward full-service entertainment. "I just want to grow," he says. "One day I would like my live show to be a full production, something exciting for everyone. Beau is also looking forward to movie roles. I am studying; when the time comes, I want to be ready." Ladies and gentlemen of the entertainment business, introducing Beau Williams, a man marked for success. IRENES' SILVER-When you think of radio and legendary people, the name Irene Johnson Ware, general manager, WGOK Radio, Mobile, Alabama is one of the first to be mentioned. This marvelous lady has done so much, for so many people, in and out of the entertainment business. In order to chronicle her many achievements, awards and campaigns to help others one would have to compile several books. To say a heart felt thanks to this radio pioneer, there will be a special silver anniversary dinner and tribute, Friday, November 14, 1986, 7:30pm at the Mobile Hilton. Those who know the man are saying that he has very carefully and methodically plotted his course and whoever the artist is, the song will almost certainly be a hit. Bell is back! INDUSTRY ACTIVITY-Ed Eckstine vp a&r Arista moves to Casablanca/Wing as senior vp/gm. Jean Riggins promoted to product manager Capitol west coast.

YOUR INFORMATION—The National Cable Television Association (NCTA) has issued its latest National Cable Network Directory, this being the August update. Oddly enough, the directories don't follow any schedule. They are compiled at random, actually, according to the NCTA (Except when convention time comes around each spring. There's always a directory compiled for the NCTA convention). Anyway, the following is a rundown of the basic changes in the cable industry network map since the last directory appeared in February: A total of 54 video cable networks are now listed, up from 51 in February, the largest new one being Cable News II, which reaches 8 million subscribers in 300 cable systems. There are three new channels in the Home Shopping Network, and several new "pay-at-home" services are in the planning stages. The most substantial change among cable networks since February was clocked in by The Discovery Channel and Black Entertainment Television, both of which are watched by approximately 2 million subscribers, and according to statistics from the NCTA's Research and Policy Analysis Department, cable is now preferred by 47.8 percent of all TV households, up from 45 percent tallied in July 1985.

WIT—CBS/Fox Video releases Ripping Yarns in November, featuring Mel Palín.

P THIEF!—The National Association of Video Distributors (NAVD) and The Motion Picture Association of America (MPAA) have teamed up to help combat video piracy by formulating a new plan of action. "Actually it's pretty simple," NAVD president Marty Gold told Audio/Video in a phone interview from his office in Vermont (He's president of Artec Distributors in Shelburne). "All it really calls for is for the various distributor members of NAVD to report any incidence of suspected video piracy to the NAVD offices, who will send those on to the MPAA Film Security Division for action. We're not doing anything complicated. We're just trying to coordinate the communication of . . . any suspect activity." The new plan was organized at the behest of several distributors and manufacturers, who urged that aggressive steps be taken by the NAVD board in curtailing widespread video piracy by individuals or companies. The program will be administered through the NAVD Washington, D.C. office. Meanwhile, the NAVD has come out great guns in favor of legislation that requires all home video product to contain anti-duplication technology, a cause shared by the VSDA and the MPAA. While several home video labels are now using the Macrovision anti-piracy process, Gold says Macrovision hasn't been perfected yet. "We are also disturbed," he says, "to see that at least two companies are marketing devices designed to defeat the safeguards of the Macrovision system." Gold sent letters outlining his support of anti-piracy technology to Senator Strom Thurmond, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee and Representative Robert Kastenmeier, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice.

ROCKING THE ALPS—The Christmas In Montreux Rock Special, a production of The Entertainment Network (TEN) slated for syndication from December 11 - 24, 1986 is now undergoing its final stages of postproduction, according to TEN. Quite a line-up of acts turned out for the taping, which was done in a resort at the foot of the Swiss Alps, including Eurythmics, Genesis, Queen, Pet Shop Boys, Billy Ocean, Julian Lennon, Frankie Goes To Hollywood, 5-Star, A-Ha, INXS, Bonnie Tyler, Level 42, ELO, Big Country, The Outfield, Elvis Costello, Depeche Mode and Art of Noise. Former MTV VJ Nina Blackwood hosts the two-hour show. Gregory Dobrin

THE RELEASE BEAT

fresh home video music from MusicVision includes three new cassettes from Monkees, namely, Monkees A La Carte and The Prince And The Pauper, Here Comes The Monkees and I Was A Teenage Monster (two programs each on cassette). The tapes retail for a suggested $19.95 ($29.95 after January 1, 1987), on VHS and Beta. If these Monkees aren't enough, MusicVision also has The Monkees - Digging Your Video, in their home video debut, with four music videos from the hit "Animal Magic" LP. Suggested retail is $14.95 (18 min.), HiFi Stereo, Digitally remastered, VHS and Beta (Dolby Stereo on VHS) . . . Vestron Video releases Neil Diamond's I'm Glad You're Here With Me Tonight, a four-hour long tape featuring performances and off-stage segments. Suggested retail is $19.95, HiFi, VHS and Beta . . . From Embassy Home Entertainment in November comes The Trip To Bountiful, the film for which Geraldine Page was honored with an Academy Award for Best Actress. Suggested retail is $79.95, on VHS and Beta

DO IT YOURSELF DISTRIBUTION—How many independent labels distribute their own product? While most still rely on independent or major label affiliations for distribution, New Jersey-based Shanachie Records, in a bold maneuver, is opening Shanachie Distribution to better service west retail accounts. A regional office located in Minneapolis will be headed by market development specialist Aug Ackerman, whose fifteen-year experience in promotion, market development, sales and merchandising has been highlighted by major pioneering market developments with Lieberman Enterprises, Navarre Distributors and Streetside Marketing. Shanachie representatives will give on-spot service, personally visiting bins, one-stops, and retail accounts supplying them with product from Shanachie's varied roster of reggae, funk/folk, pop, African and other styles in releases from the likes of Rita Marley, The Chieftains, Ricky Skaggs, Seldom Scene, Flatt and Scruggs, Steeleye Span, Grateful Dead guitarist Jerry Garcia's Old Timey Band, Yellowman, Bun B, Wailer, Makem & Clancey, Doc Watson and Tony Rice among others. Shanachie Distribution will also handle a select group of complementary labels including North Carolina-based Sugarhill and Rebel/County, the latter featuring bluegrass and country catalogs.

WY CHEESE!—EMI America Records has come up with a unique promotional giveaway for Corey Hart's new album "Fields of Fire." The contest titled, "I Am By Your Side," will include fifteen national retail chains who will display a lifesize die-cut stand-up of Hart on a 1987 535cc Yamaha Veri-ago motorcycle. To enter, customers must take a photo next to the teen heartthrobs' likeness, fill out the registration blank and drop both in the display slot in the dump bin which will be strategically placed in the stores. The bin holds 20 LPs, 30 cassettes and 10 CD's. Each store will give out a Yamaha Veri-ago 535 motorcycle, several compact disc players, CD's and concert tickets. The first 100 registrations drawn by each chain will automatically receive a t-shirt.

AUTOGRAPH AUCTION—Autographs Records & Tapes, a one-year-old Kansas City-based record store which focuses on recording artists/personalities and their autographs, recently raised over $700 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association with a benefit auction which featured 50 record albums signed by some of today's and yesterday's biggest acts. Owner Connie Vitale reports that the hottest bidding occurred for autographed LPs by ZZ Top, Van Halen, Elton John, Tina Turner, Kenny Loggins, John Cougar Mellencamp, Neil Diamond and The Mamas & The Papas. The auction was part of the Crown Center Shops' "Back to the '60s" Labor Day weekend promotion. Preceding the auction was a "Name That '60s Tune" contest. The store used in-store promotion prior to and during the holiday weekend. With such a good response, Vitale will make the auction an annual event. Located near the back of the store is a stage and the "Wall of Fall," featuring various autographed albums from recording stars who have visited Kansas City or which Vitale has collected over the years. The store has been the site of autograph parties for numerous recording stars who have appeared in Kansas City.

FRANKIE INVITES YOU TO HOLLYWOOD—The man who seems to ruffle the feathers of talk show hosts and Senate subcommittee is now available on CD thanks to the good folks at Rykodisc. 10 (count 'em) Frank Zappa albums, some rerecorded, many remixed, and all digitally remastered are now available exclusively on Rykodisc, one of several smaller disc oriented companies buying up catalog from those artists you won't find on larger label CD catalogs. Rykodisc, MUSICIAN Magazine, and Akai are sponsoring an unusual contest in conjunction with the release of the discs which will invite one lucky person who will be flown to Los Angeles to take on Mr. Zappa in his first "Nincompoop Interview." If the winner does an acceptable job, the magazine may publish it in a future issue. Other prizes include Akai compact disc players and complete catalogs of Zappa CD's. The contest is being promoted through over 2000 retailers and in the November issue of MUSICIAN. All nincompoops are invited to enter by December 13, 1986.

Brian Kassin

AUCTIONEERS—Mike White (l) of KCFX-FM and Connie Vitale, owner of Autographs Records & Tapes in Kansas City ask the assembled crowd, "How much do we hear for Kenny Loggins?" as the pair host the store's 1st Annual Benefit Auction for Muscular Dystrophy, where more than $700 was raised over the Labor Day Weekend to combat MD.

Music City's Music Society Events

Since Nashville, Tennessee is synonymous with country music, October (country music month) is profoundly appropriate as a backdrop for Music City society's most exclusive events of the year. The CMA Awards and Post-Awards Party, the ASCAP Dinner, BMI Dinner, NSAI Hall of Fame Induction, etc. highlight the month of the harvest moon.

Even societal events centered around music beyond the boundaries of country take place or are announced during this time. Following are some of the offerings of Nashville's various music-based associations.

Country Music Museum Opens New Exhibit

NASHVILLE—The Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum is celebrating the opening of a new gallery on Nov. 1. The 1,000 square foot addition to the Country Music Foundation's museum will debut with a collection of photographs taken by Kenny Rogers.

"Kenny Rogers' America," an exhibition of 35 duotone photos snapped by Rogers on his touring travels of the U.S., will be on display through Oct., 1987 in the museum's new Thomas Hart Benton Gallery. The new gallery is now the permanent home for Benton's final masterpiece, "Sources of Country Music," a painting commissioned by the CMF in 1974.

The photos in Rogers' display are also among those in a 100-picture, 128-page hardcover volume titled "Kenny Rogers' America: Sights and Insights," recently published by Little, Brown and Company.

"Kenny Rogers' sensitivity to our land and people has heretofore been evident in his songs, songwriting and acting," said CMF Director Bill Ivey. "With these photographs, we see that he is also a gifted photographer who utilizes the same sensitivity to capture the moods and rhythms of our country and its citizens through a camera lens.

"This collection is the first in a series of country music-related art exhibitions

BMI Awards Young Composers

NASHVILLE—Once again, BMI is gearing up for its Student Composers competition, which awards $15,000 to young composers. Deadline for entering the Foundation-sponsored competition be Tuesday, February 10, 1987.

According to BMI President and Frances Preston, the awards program was established by the licensing organization in cooperation with music education and composers in 1951. It is designed to encourage young composers in the creation of concert music and, through prizes, to aid in continuing their music education. Prizes vary from $500 to $2,500 and are awarded at the discretion of the final judging panel.

To enter the competition, students must be citizens or permanent residents of the Western Hemisphere including

GIVING THE FUTURE A BOOST—Belmont College student Julie Ann Piper got scholarship help with her education recently. The Nashville Chapter of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences presented Piper with the NARAS/Brenda Lee Merit Scholarship. Each year, a music or music business major is awarded the scholarship, named in honor of her lifetime contribution to music. Taking part in the presentation are (l. to r.) Nancy Shapiro, NARAS executive director; Roger Sovine, president; Piper; Merlin L. Field, education chairman of NARAS.

planned for the Benton Gallery," Ivey said.

The Rogers photographs join the museum's other exhibits, including "The Grand Ole Opry: The First 60 Years," celebrating the Opry's 60th birthday, and "The Willie Nelson Exhibit," a five-part multimedia show documenting Nelson's life and career.

NSAI Hall of Fame Induction

NASHVILLE—The Vanderbilt Plaza Hotel Ballroom was the scene for the Nashville Songwriters Association International's 17th Annual Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony and Dinner on Sunday, October 12.

During this major event of the year for the NSAI, two songwriters were added to the list of greats in the NSAI Hall of Fame.

The Honorable Albert Gore, Jr. also received an award. The President's Award is given periodically to individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the cause of songwriters and to the music industry as a whole. Gore's help with the Source Licensing Bill helped to win him the award.

At press time Hall of Fame inductees could not be released.

North, Central and South American Caribbean Island nations. They also receive under 26 and enrolled in accredited secondary schools, colleges or conservatories or engaged in private study. Recognized and established teachers from where in the world. There are no limitations as to instrumentation, style, consideration or length of work submitted.

Students enter one composition, using a pseudonym, and these are considered by a preliminary panel of judges before going to a final panel. Judges are carefully selected and final judges last year included Jan M. Bach, Larry T. Bell, Robert Black, Eleanor Cory, Donald Crockett, Mario Davidovsky, Donald Erb, Frank Husa, David Koblit, Vincent Mott, Phillip Rhodes and Frank Wigmore, with Ulysses Kay as presiding judge. William Schuman and Milton Babbitt are chairman emeritus and chairman, respectively, of the judging panel. May 15 winners ranging in age from 17 to 25 were presented awards at a reception at the St. Regis-Sheraton Hotel in New York City.

FEATURE PICKS

GIRLS NEXT DOOR (MTM PB-72078) Baby I Want It (2:54) (Uncle Artie—ASCAP)(B.N.Chapman) (Producer: T.West)

Tommy West is getting closer and closer to the top with the Girls Next Door, and this side, flouncy and 50ish as it is, may just be the ticket as far as grabbing the brass ring is concerned. The girls want it, they say, and they just may get it.

GARY MORRIS (Warner Bros. 7-28542) Leave Me Lonely (3:48) (WB/Gary Morris—ASCAP) (G.Morris) (Producer: G.Morris)

From the self-produced "Plain Brown Wrapper" LP comes this latest single offering by Gary. It's a pretty ballad and more than a few stations will be jumping on just because it's Gary. So he won't be lonely after all.

LYLE LOVETT (MCA 52951) Cowboy Man (2:48) (Michael H. Goldsen/Lyle Lovett—ASCAP) (L.Lovett) (Producers: T.Brown, L.Lovett)

Is this guy gonna get hot, or what? A fresh sound, with a taste of Jimmie Rodgers and some of the old folk balladeers—Seeger and such—and his won lyrical characters sketches mark him as a $ale$ commodity to latch onto early.

DAN SEALS (EMI/America 7PRO9851) You Still Move Me(4:47) (Pink Pig—BMI) (D.Seals) (Producer: K.Lehning)

Ditto Morris. If this nice, airy ballad doesn't do as much for you as some of Dan's previous offerings, give it a second and third chance. It's very possibly one of those sleepers that may move you after all.

RAY CHARLES (Columbia 38-06370) Dixie Moon (3:45) (WB/Two Sons/Warner-Tamerlane—ASCAP/BMI) (T.Seals,E.Setser) (Producer: B.Sherrill)

The blues in Ray still shine like a Dixie moon, but the song as a whole takes a step still deeper into country, with only a touch of the horn to hang onto.

ALBUM REVIEWS

GEORGE JONES—Wine Colored Roses—(Epic E 40413)—(Producer: B. Sherrill)

Yep, this album is going to cause problems. Before it's even on the turntable you can tell. Artist: George Jones. Producer: Billy Sherrill. Writers: H.Howard, C.Putnam, M.D.Barnes, D.Knutson, etc. See what I mean? Problems. All right, let's get on with it and choose a radio cut (No, the title song doesn't count.) Well, "You Never Looked That Good When You Were Mine" is a duet with Patti Page, so it's a cinch. Wait a minute, look at that title—"The Right Left Hand"—another cinch. Yea, but have you heard "The Very Best Of Me"? It's definitely a must play. Then there's "Ol' Frank" and "These Old Eyes Have Seen It All..." Oh, dear.

THE BELLAMY BROTHERS—Greatest Hits Volume Two—(Curb MCA-5812)—(Producers: E.Gordy,Jr., J.Bowen, D.& H.Bellamy, S.Klein)

How do you know when you're a successful recording artist? When you can put out a greatest hits album containing a cut you're planning to release. This LP features the Bellamy Brothers current whiplash single, "Too Much Is Not Enough," with the Forester Sisters. For Bellamy fans, "Greatest Hits Vol. II" is a definite keeper.

REBA McENTIRE—What Am I Gonna Do About You—(MCA MCA-5807)—(Producers: J.Bowen, R.McEntire)

The saucy little redhead, our Loretta Lynn of the 80's, has gathered some good songs around her for this LP. "Take Me Back" is a country tune, but subtle little echoes of early 60's rock punctuate the story line. The ballad "My Mind Is On You" is second only to the title cut, and "I Heard Her Crying" is a must even for non-parents. The bluesy swing of "No Such Thing" and soft revival of "Let The Music Lift You Up" get that job done.

B.J. THOMAS—Night Life—(Columbia C 40476)—(Producer: S. Buckingham)

In his travels from pop to country to gospel to country, B.J. Thomas has made a stopover visit to an intriguing, dimly lit attic of country classics. Some of these timeless tunes work in Thomas' style and some don't. "Husbands and Wives," "Crazy," "Am I That Easy To Forget" and even "I'm Sorry" mold well to his vocals. However, Jim Reeves and Marty Robbins haunt the attic and cloud the listener's enjoyment of "He'll Have To Go" and "Don't Worry ('Bout Me)." Despite the ghosts, this is a wonderful collection of memories.

"It's a good basis, it help me to get a better feel of what's happening on the indie records and gives me another incentive to re-listen to an indie record—if it does well on your indie chart, it deserves another listen."

—Kerry Wolfe, WRNS-FM

NEA Pop/Rock Extravaganza '87

NASHVILLE—The Nashville Entertainment Association will once again sponsor a two-day showcase at The Cannery on Oct. 15 and 16. The 2nd Annual Nashville Music Extravaganza is designed to spotlight unsigned talent from Nashville's rock/pop sector, and to lend support to Nashville's more established entertainment figures and businesses to the local music scene.

Several Nashville-based artists in the local "alternative" music arena have recently signed to recording contracts with major labels. These include: Jason and the Scorchers (EMI-Praxis); In Pursuit of the Sun (Arista); The Sluggers (Arista); Walk the Line (EMI); Tommy Deluca (Epic); Tom Donahue (Polygram); Steve Earle (MCA); and Bil Lloyd (Throbbing Lobster). The Extravaganza '86, held last January, was considered a success by the NEA, attracting nine major label representatives, national and international press, and almost 2500 people over both nights. In addition, 20 Nashville companies bought "VIP Sponsorships," helping defray production costs. The NEA enjoyed support by BMI and ASCAP as well when the licensing organizations entertained the press, bands and out-of-towners with luncheons and cocktail receptions.

Steve West, of Neo West, will again chair the Extravaganza Committee which will also include Teena Camp, Jennifer Bohler, Rick Champion, Dave Cannon, Jane Cleveland, Sue Patton, Randy Talmadge, Kay West, Jim Zumwald, Mary Matthews, Lynn Gillespie and Diane Rankin. Co-chairs of the Talent Screening Subcommittee are Rick Champion and Dave Cannon.

The NEA's Music Committee, Nashville label A&R representatives, local radio station music directors, and local music writers will have input in the initial screening process. By mid-November, ongoing screening will narrow the competition down to ten bands which will take part in the showcase.

There is no criteria for type of music, but bands must be Nashville-based, working, and have representation of some type. Interested bands can send a cassette, ep, or lp, itinerary and press information to The Extravaganza '87 Committee, The NEA, P.O. Box 25309, Nashville, 37202. Last year's winners are not eligible until 1988.

The showcase will be presented upstairs and down at The Cannery. National music industry members (label reps, managers, agents, promoters, publishers, etc.) will be invited and VIP Sponsor packages will again be sold.

think it's a very good programming tool for those in the industry concerned with the expanding world of music available for airplay."

CHIT CHAT: Marty Haggard is more impressed by his father now than he was as a child. When Merle's records came over the air, Marty's grandmother would proudly point them out to the youngster; but, Marty says, "I still got him confused with George Jones..." Mississippi State University will have a special guest for their homecoming celebration this year. Alumni Jerry Clower, who graduated in agriculture, left MSU to become a fertilizer salesman. Due to unforeseen events, however, Clower will probably never realize his potential in that field (excuse the pun)...Jerry Lee Lewis and a hundred friends had a blast at his 51st birthday party Sept. 29 in Marlee's Lounge in his hometown of Memphis...The Statler Brothers video of "Only You," shot on location in Opryland Park, is the first music video to air on the Opryland Hotel's informational in-room TV channel. The clip also features Lane Brody, Rebecca Holden, Robin Lee and Lorrie Morgan...Speaking of Lorrie Morgan, it's not official yet, but be watching for a wedding announcement by Morgan and Keith Whitley...Fans in Parsons, W. Va. were so impressed by Holly Dunn that they named a stage after her. The townsfolk of the little burg celebrated the performance of their first-ever real live Nashville act that they christened their newly-built plywood platform in her honor...The Massachusetts Country Music Association recently voted Liz Boardo Female Vocalist of the Year...In conjunction with a series of events planned by Mercury Records during CMA week in Nashville, country music veteran Donna Fargo and newcomer Kathy Mattea will meet fans together at Conway Twitty's Record Shop on Music Row on Oct. 16.

BENEFIT CONCERTS: Another entertainer making appearances in Nashville this week is Kris Kristofferson. After he hosts the CMA Awards on Monday, he will perform on Wednesday's broadcast of Nashville Now and afterwards give a benefit concert at the Boardwalk Cafe to help raise funds for the Exchange Club Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse in Nashville...When Michael Martin Murphey arrives in Palo Duro Canyon State Park near Amarillo, Texas on October 18, his visit will have a two-fold purpose. The concert appearance that day will benefit the High Plains Food Bank and the Panhandle Plains Historical Society, and afterwards Murphey will use the Texas location to film a music video for his forthcoming Warner Bros. album...The National Entertainment Journalists Assoc. benefit in Nashville recently, which headlined Schuyler, Knobloch and Overstreet, Frank Dycus and Max D. Barnes, raised enough money in one evening to award a full scholarship to a journalism student currently studying at an area college...This is not really a benefit, but promoters of the Service Merchandise Battle of the Bands have given the event a creative promotional twist. All the bands will write a song about the problem of missing children, and when the eight finalists perform their compositions at the Grand Finals in Nashville, Irlene Mandrell will introduce pictures of eight missing children. Louise Mandrell and Sammy Davis, Jr. will co-host the event which, not surprisingly, has been picked up by 120 television stations already.

NASHVILLE NEWS: James Yelich has joined the Halsey Company as an agent based in the Tulsa office, while R.C. Bradley moves to the west coast to assume the position of vice president at Century City Artist Management...Songwriters Max D. Barnes ("Who's Gonna Fill Their Shoes") and Chick Rains ("Somebody Should Leave" by Reba) have both signed exclusive songwriting agreements with Terrace Entertainment Corporation...Frequent Nashville Now performer Darlene Austin has signed a management agreement with Chuck Dixon of Chuck Dixon/Craig Morris Promotion...Sharon Dengler and Curtis Pittman recently announced the formation of Multi Talent Entertainment, Inc. booking agency with offices in Nashville and Tyler, TX...Ronnie Sessions has been signed to the roster of Compleat Records.

INDIE FEATURE PICKS

MARCIA LYNN (Soundwaves SW-4780-NSD) Just When (2:48) (Tree—BMI) (B.Caswell) (Producer: T.Jennings)

Just when you were ready for a new release by this girl, she gives you a ballad that should waltz its way onto lots of turntables.

DAN DAVIS (Kansa KA 630) Nine Out Of Ten(3:40) (RI VON) (Y.Norman, R.Grimm) (Producers: R.Light, C.Ivey)

No, there's no horn section, and yes, he almost out-McDowalls Ronnie; but in spite of that, Dan's got a very strong release that definitely deserves a listen.

DANA HUDSON (Cleo 1003) Another True Love (2:10) (DeLory—ASCAP) (A.DeLory,L.Johnson) (Producer: A.DeLory)

Some interesting production touches almost put this in the "new grass" category. Good, catchy tune and vocals that fit well.

DALE SALMON (Player PI-121) Music City U.S.A. (3:10) (Greydepot/Lights-witch—BMI) (D.Salmon) (Producer: J.Fisher)

Smooth vocals ease through a well-written story ballad about the cold side of the street down on 16th Avenue.

BONNIE NELSON (Door Knob DK86-257) Don't Let It Go To Your Heart (2:47) (Chip'N'Dale—ASCAP) (B.Stamper) (Producer: G.Kennedy)

The sound steps back a couple years, but great vocals and a catchy hook will make this popular, especially with female listeners.

Once again the crop of strong indie releases forces us into extending the feature picks. The team reviewed 24 singles and the following honorable mentions complete the list of top 10 scorers.

ALSO MENTIONABLES

WYATT BROTHERS (Wyatt W-103) Wyatt-Liquor

BILL ANDERSON (Southern Tracks ST 1067) Sheet Music

CRAIG SOUTHERN (Royal Master RM8607) What's A Little Love Between Friends

GINNY MITCHELL (Sweet Briar) Go My Way

INDIE SPOTLIGHT

A.J. MASTERS (Bermuda Dunes C-115) I Don't Mean Maybe (3:10) (Desert Sands/Uncle Artie—BMI)(B.Thornbury, A.Masters, D.Moor-digian) (Producers: G.Barber Jr.,A.J.Masters)

One of our Indie 'discoveries' this past year has been riding a hot horse—here he comes galloping by with another stakes winner. Look out on top of the Indie chart! Masters is on the loose again and he's heading for #1.

And he don't mean maybe.

INDIE LP REVIEW

TOM CHAPIN—Let Me Back Into Your Life—(Flying Fish FF401)

This folk-flavored LP by the late Harry's brother has a good collection of acoustically pure cuts. "Crystal Dream" is a story song with beautiful lyrics that's worth a listen if you're in a folksy mood. Other good choices would be "She's Just A Woman," an acoustic honky tonky tune that sounds like it could have come from an other-era Broadway play—you can almost see the kicking chorus line at the end. "Summer Song" is one that might make a good radio cut; listen for yourself.

TERRY CARISSE—None Of The Feeling Is Gone—(Savannah SRL-9827)—(Producer: M.Francis)

Open the door to Canadian country music a little wider to let Carisse through. What an import! Before the first song was half over, reviewer curiosity went into action and turned up the fact that this talented singer/songwriter (he co-wrote all the cuts) has been Male Vocalist of the Year in Canada five times in the last six years. No surprise—just confirmation. This indie offering from the north is a healthy rival to most major label product on the home front. The best thing about Carisse is that he isn't "the Canadian equivalent of..." anybody.

"In a day and age where everybody is trying to make it as a star, it helps to see what the rest of the country music professionals think of independent product. It's good to see a country magazine that cares about the people who will be the country music of tomorrow."

Pete Brier, KFH

"As far as I'm concerned, it is so terrific to have an abundance of quality indie product so that we may let the listeners choose what is and isn't a hit."

Bill Wright, KPQX

HARMONIC CONCENTRATION AT WORK—James and Michael Younger were hard at it in L. Welk's Champagne Studio recently. The brother duo was caught adding overdubs to an upcoming LP on Air Records.

DARK HORSE CONSENSUS

JIM COLLINS—Romance—(TKM 111217)

Another Indie Spotlight-turned-Dark Horse Consensus this week as the heads nod to Jim Collins' "Romance." Dark Horse picks from KKTC, KKYX, WDZC, WHIM, KFRD, WSDS, KYXX, KVGB, KFEQ, WGTO, KJJR, WQTE, and KBFS.

HIGH PRIORITY

JOHN FAGOT
Columbia
The Bangles "Wolk Like An Egyption" is reddy to explode. One of the strongest immedote reacion records. Gregory Abbott — This Top 5 urbon record has already crossed over with huge femole phones— The 80's Morvin Goye! Watch out for Paul Young coming next week.

JOHN BRODEY
Geffen
 With the Peter Gabriel ond Ric Ocasek records already Top 20 and Wang Chung explading on the charts, everybody is having fun in more than one way, most notably Berlin's "Like Flames" which is meeting with very positive oceptionce following their number one single. Lost, but of course, NOT leost, the hottest act on the road right now is Elton John whose "Heortoche All Over The World" had a massive first week.

THE DEFINITIVE HISTORY OF ROCK AND ROLL
The CASHBOX Singles Charts, 1950-1981, a complete history of all the records to appear on the CASHBOX charts. This historic volume contains an alphabetical listing of all artists who appeared on the charts and includes the week it first appeared and all subsequent chart positions. Cross referenced by song title. Also compiled in this spectacular reference book are the top ten records of each year, the most chart hits by an artist, the most #1 hits by an artist, the most weeks at #1 by an artist, the most weeks at #1 by a single record, the record with the longest chart run and a chronological list of #1 records. An incomparable reference tool.

Tommy Smith—Program Director
WANS Radio

It's autumn in the south" and Tommy Smith, program director of WANS, just "loves the southern weather"! He likes "the killer week" WANS just had too, sponsoring a Chris Christopherson concert on Tuesday night and a Jeffrey Osborne/Anito Boker concert the next. In fact, the only thing better than spending a late night shopping at the "megastore," is the business of radio programming, according to Tommy.

During his first stint in radio he began six years ago, when Tommy bopped into a small radio station and proclaimed, "Hey, I got a job." They said, "Fine, you can't get by burning the trash and vocuuming the lobby—without pay of course." Did Rick Dees start out this way? "As a matter of fact, I think he did."

Apparently this was the start of something big; for both Tommy and Rick Dees. Each enjoys a prestigious broadcasting career; Tommy at WANS and Rick at Dees, well, we all know where he is. Tommy's career is what we're interested in here.

He started with 107 WANS-FM as an announcer and then took over the PD position after his boss left "to go into professional wrestling." In a few short years he's moved up in the business, and he plans to keep "movin' up and movin' on—hopefully to a larger market."

He doesn't agree with the stereotypical view that 'pleasure and business' don't mix. Mixing work and play isn't difficult to do in a business that deals with personalities, music and entertainment.

"I try to keep it prison-like here," Tommy jokingly says, when in reality the atmosphere of WANS is total team work. There's a spunky bunch over there at WANS where everyone's involved in the total effort of putting together a top-notch southern hospitality-type radio station. "Whether it's promo's or playing music—everyone has a say in what goes on."

It appears that WANS is a close knit family-team. The community emphasis on 'home townyness' has rubbed off on this team and Tommy likes it that way. He likes interaction in radio programming. In fact, he still does a weekend spot just so he doesn't lose the ability to communicate with his listeners, dj's and staff in general. This PD's on the ball "home towny" kind of guy.

Born and raised in the south, Tommy's in tune with the market—Greenville, SC. A city that sits 'smock-dob' in the middle of the "bible-belt." It's a community that's "Conservative America" all the way. Serving as one of the major textile centers in the country—the market demands community awareness and loyalty. WANS provides this with a "we care image" and relies on this community perception in competing with a three region market; Spartanburg, Greenville and Anderson.

With layoffs in the mills and industry/labor conflicts, WANS is the station "the community counts on to pick them up." There's a strong sense of social responsibility at WANS and they take their media position seriously. WANS participates and co-sponsors events such as "Childs Day" or organizes media softball games to get out—in front of their audience. By doing this, the community of Greenville views WANS "as their friend." The result is loyal listenership.

Working at a station that's large but independently owned, inspires experimentation and individual expression among the WANS team. "The owners and the management basically let us do whatever we want. If there's something new that we think is right for this market, we don't get any gripes about it—we just play it."

WFBC is WANS major competitor. They're an AC outlet based in Greenville and owned by Multi-Medio. They've got big bucks to back anything they do and Tommy's the first to say they're on "an awesome station."

But WFBC promotes a much different image than WANS. They're a hot and young adult oriented station and go for the "WOW" promotional packages to grab their audiences attention. "The first time they did a mail out promotion, a half-million dollar give away, we weren't prepared for that. But that's when we really doubled our efforts in the streets."

WANS forced WFBC to get involved in community events by putting together a major softball game involving all the local media. "When the ticket sales hit the 5,000 mark, WFBC wanted to get involved."

Tommy thinks "give-aways can be an enticement but you're product has to be good first." WANS is still working to make their product what they would like it to be. He believes that a station "would be silly to get involved in a major give-away without having their product right."

Some of the ways Tommy is trying to improve his radio product are; "listening more to what the audience is saying, watching the request line much closer and researching the record stores more extensively." In addition, Tommy likes to provide the market with alternative programming such as briefing the community on upcoming events that aren't the obvious. "We put 'Twist and Shout' by the Beatles on our list because the movie was airing on HBO." The Beatles charted at #1 in requests that week. "Imagine that! Getting a chance to chart the Beatles at #1."

Local groups have a much better chance to "strut their stuff" at WANS. R.E.M. is really starting to take off. "I'm glad to see it, because it seems like radio stations waited until an artist was a major star before adding them to their play list, now local groups are getting better opportunities."

In the last year, PD's at smaller stations are taking more risks. "They aren't watching just the larger stations to see what they do but instead are introducing local artists to their listeners."

Dove Adams, a new artist on Elektro, joined Tommy for dinner last weekend and this PD thinks Adams along with New Edition are "gonna be hot in his market."

Tommy is 'hot' in his market and his unique awareness of the community he serves and an impressive dedication to the industry is sure to take him to the top.

FLASHBOX

THE ZOO—Amy B. Schneider has been appointed to the position of promotional director of WHTZ-FM/New York. Our congratulations to the newest member of the Zoo family.

STERN GRIP—Alice Cooper was in New York City recently on a promotional tour to deliver his new album "Constrictor" to various radio stations there. Alice decided to make new friends with WXRK morning man Howard Stern (r).

JUST LIKE EDDIE SAID—While in Los Angeles rehearsing for an upcoming tour with Cyndi Lauper, Eddie Money stopped by the KIIS-FM studios to chat with morning personality Rick Dees (r).

INTRODUCING

THE O'KANES

*Their forthcoming album is "Hypnotic," "Extraordinary," "Genius," "Revolutionary," "Innovative," "Delicate," "Jarring," "Great"

Jamie O'Hara and Kieran Kane are The O'Kanes.

Two brilliant songwriters who originally got together to cut demos of their songs. ("Gonna Have A Party," "Grandpa (Tell Me 'Bout The Good Old Days).") They liked the way they sounded together. And soon, so will everyone else.

*Quoted from nationally syndicated column by Jack Hurst.

THE O'KANES. B6C 40459. A specially-priced introductory album. Including the debut single "Oh Darlin'." In store October 20. On Columbia Records and Cassettes. ☎

Chart Analysis

The chart, any chart, is based not solely on the information received, but the final product relies heavily on the interpretation of that information (data.) With that in mind, the following are some of our observations of this Top 10, for instance, as well as of a number of "live" records in this week's Top 20:

1. Randy Travis—This record is the awesomest we've seen in the past year or so. A broad base of stations with drops almost negligible. And it's maintaining with resounding audience response and still plenty of stations yet to take it to #1. Maybe two weeks before it withers; it's a giant.

2. Tanya Tucker—The only record at the moment that outguns Travis in station numbers, but she's losing ground in number of stations, as drops are starting. Any other time this probably would have made #1. (This record, by the way, climbed from 11 to 2 in four weeks without benefit of a bullet.)

3. Osmond/Davis—This is the one shaping up to be the eventual giant-killer, it would seem. A powerful base claims 96% of this week's station reports. That, plus growing response from a vocal audience makes it appear coiled for a pounce. But it might take two weeks to claim #1.

4. Crystal Gayle—Strong sales and lots of strange station numbers keeps us hanging with this single. Only 79% of our stations still on it, though. The base is eroding.

5. ETC/Pointer—This one has just 84% of our stations reporting it this week, but strange numbers and wholesome listener response keep it fueled.

6. Exile—Like the previous record its stations-reporting base is fair—only 81%, but it's still getting lots of Top Tens where played.

7. Barbara Mandrell—Excellent base of 94% of reporting stations shows that radio is still with Mandrell. However, it might be slowing at this juncture. Or we might be too far in front of her audience support.

8. Restless Heart—At this point, running neck and neck with Exile and maybe growing by an extra hair. Too close to tell for sure, yet.

9. Lee Greenwood—Also a narrowing station base. (82%). Same good climbing numbers, but drops are beginning to mount.

10. John Schneider—Schneider's red-hat pace with radio (94% base) brought him this far. Now he needs to consolidate those gains and add some strange audience support.

11. T. Graham Brown—About ditto far T.

12. George Strait—Strait boasts 99% station base (the best this week) and a powerful audience response developing. Look for afterburners to ignite momentarily.

14. Steve Wariner—Wariner is actually ahead of Strait in a lot of playlists, though he appears to be slowing at many and his base (92%) is not as wide. Nonetheless sales re-parts are also strange.

16. Janie Fricke—Even on the way "down," this is still a strong record. Probably her strangest in a long while.

17. Larry, Steve, Rudy: Still growing as expected.

18. Holly Dunn—Very broad station showing (95%) this week and same favorable audience response have made this an impressive entry from Dunn. Starting to level off, however, at a good many stations.

19. Alabama—Whot Top 20 is complete without the Champs. Excellent radio base (93%) and, as to be expected, BIG audience response.

20. John Anderson—Base okay

(89%), but lots of stations leveling off in the teens.

* * * * *

Oh—my—gash! I put my foot in last week, didn't I? Well, as we know by now, George Jones, et al. involved in "He Stopped Loving Her Today" were not the first to take Sang of the Year (CMA Award) twice in a row. Actually, it was Freddie Hart—a man I don't want meet me—and he did it in '71 and with, what else? "Easy Living," course. Something any junior editor for an international trade publication should know, right?

Tom McEnt

COUNTRY PROMOTION OF THE WEEK

CITY—EUGENE, OR

STATION—KEED—Community Pacific Broadcasting

D.J.—Entire station from 5:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.

PROMOTION—KEED MUSIC SWEEPSTAKES

People write down 5 favorite songs in a letter to station (along with any comments they want to make about station), and the time they're listening. The station reads names and 5 favorite songs during the time the listener states. Listener must call in within 16 minutes for instant prizes: albums, t-shirts, pairs of tickets, etc. They are then automatically eligible for the Grand Prize, which has a drawing every Friday at 7:20 a.m. They must be listening to the station at that time and again, must call within 16 minutes to claim the grand prize, which is termed as "lifestyle prizes" such as household appliances, vacations, etc. The sweepstakes runs through the end of October.

When he gat the brainstorm to take a plunge into the nightclub business, he taak what wauld prave to be another shart hiatus fram braadcasting. It taak only six months ta go brake and be looking back, fandy, taward radia.

Marc gives a lot af the credit far influencing his programming philasophies ta Jay Albright, who put him back to work immediately (after his nightclub fiasco) at KEEN in San Jase and shartly afterward recommended him far the pasition that he now holds at KTOM.

Hahn believes in spicing his music rotation with such troditional names as Charlie Walker, Bill Anderson and Honk Williams, Sr. While they dan't necessarily get heavy rotation, he daes insure that truly "country" artists get a shore of the air time. "If you're gonna play Alobomo far the yaugner folks, you also gatta give the older listeners what they grew up on. We need the yaugner demographics, af
course—but not to the exclusion of everything else."

He likes ta hire farmer PDs and currently has three an his staff. "I hire people wha have mare knowledge than I do.
I like to be surrounded by experienced people." The learning never stops.

DICK DENO—Operations Manager
KBFS—Belle Fourche

BELLE FOURCHE, SD—Ask a yaugnster what he wants to be when he grows up and he might say, "a cap." Or then again, he might say "a deejay" (which, in this case, is an all-inclusive term far braadcasting per-san). It wauld be the strange child, indeed, wha might say "a deejay/cap" (ar a braadcasting persan/law enfarment officer"). The twa just dan't seem ta belong in the same sandwich.

Well, maybe Dick Dena was a strange child, after all. I mean, he is a braadcasting persan (and sametimes even a "deejay") and he is a cap, er, a law officer. Well, mare specifically, Dena's the aperations manager at KBFS, up in Belle Faurche, SD, and is also a member af the Belle Faurche reserve palice farce. Haw's that?

The part-time paliceman role has been going an far 10 1/2 years, and includes a stint as part-time Chief af Palice. Well, actually, as Chief af the part-time palice farce (af Millstan, WI), where he wauld put in 4 nights a week as well as weekends fighting Millstan's crime wave. The radio career though, has been going an a lat langer, but it also has had a certain part-time quality, in that, while he started in 1968 (at KFIL in Prestan,

MN,) he also drapped aut in 1972 (far a short ten-year period) and rejoined the players in radioland in 1982 at WCCN in Neillsville, WI. The latter mave was ane encouraged by singer
Glen Barber, wha was convinced that Dick's lave far the classic country artists such as Ray Price and Darrell McCall (and, Barber, himself, af course), was needed back in radia.
(Barber even helped convince Dena's recent bride Kyle that "Life With A Ra-dia Persan" was something af a pasitive idea. Well, she was young, you know.) Dena maved up to KBFS this year.

He firmly believes that it's the responsibility af radia people ta help sell albums, by playing cuts, mentioning
the product, etc. "Rarely da you hear anything aff the artists' latest LPs," he says. And he offers this challenge to yaugn music directors: Play same af
the standard artists in the marning.
You'll be surprised at the reaction you'll get.

HIGH PRIORITY

Bob Saporiti—National Promotions
Director—Warner Bros., Nashville

Our main emphasis is on moaintaining the progress of our recently-established new stors, os well os cultivating the creative forces of our long-established superstors. And to continue to promote Warner Bros.' New Tradition of discovery and development of high quality talent.

We'd love to toke this opportunity to thank radio far their incredible acceptance and support of Randy Travis' "Diggin' Up Bones," as it tops the charts far the third consecutive week.

Shelia Shipley—Vice President of Promotions—MCA, Nashville

Three of the hottest records we have are:
John Schneider, George Strait and The Bellamy Brothers.

All three ore pulling phones and heading far the Top. Barbara Mandrell and Steve Warner ore closing in on Top 10 ot radio,
Waylon Jennings is pulling # 1 phones ot KUSA after 7 doys—Reba McEntire is hot! Nicolette Larson and William Lee Golden are building. New this week: Steve Earle and Ray Stevens, with Lyle Lo-

GOSPEL LP REVIEWS

KIM BOYCE—(Myrrh 7-01-83606-1)—Producer: B. Bankersly

Contemporary Christian music up-and-comer Kim Boyce has released her first LP, which could easily be crossover material with its pop flavor. For example, the first single, "Darkened Heart," has a Madonna-like sound with a danceable beat and echoing vocals. Boyce had a hand in writing that one, as well as "Love Knows," "Sing and Dance," "I Want His Heart" and "How Will They Remember?"—all of which illustrate that newcomer Boyce knows what she's doing. And she's good at it.

OCTOBER—Various Artists—(Sparrow SGL ROC)—Executive Producers: B. Angelotti, M. Gaugherty

This album will turn your October into a Roctober! The best of Sparrow's Christian rockers are put together here: Whiteheart's "Read The Book (Don't Wait For The Movie)," Rick Cua's "Wear Your Colors" and Steve Camp's "Threshing Floor" and "Life Of Time." Not only is there great music on this LP, there are also in-depth interviews with each artist. This isn't just a promotional package—it's informative and will be appreciated by fans of Christian rock.

Giant Kick-Off For Rosey

Rosevelt "Rosey" Grier, star of pro football, movies and television, has now made his mark in the music and publishing industries. Word, Inc., has recently released "Committed"—Grier's first Gospel record; and concurrently, Harrison House Publishers has released his new book, "Rosey, An Autobiography: The Gentle Giant." To kick off the releases, the two companies sponsored a reception at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Beverly Hills. Guests included Dallas Cowboys Head Coach Tom Landry by way of a special phone hook-up.

During the evening, Grier was presented with special commemorative plaques by both Word Records and Harrison House, and he also performed several songs from his R&B Gospel album. The evening was videotaped, and segments were recently replayed on The Nashville Network.

Grier first came into prominence as the leader of the famous "Fearsome Foursome" with the Los Angeles Rams. He has starred in various movies and numerous television roles, including "Kojak," the "Daniel Boone Show" and "Make Room For Granddaddy." (By the way, the real life hero also has to his credit the bagging of Robert Kennedy's slayer.) Currently, Grier is the founding director of "Are You Committed"—an L.A.-based non-profit organization which offers free educational and spiritual programs and classes to inner-city youth.

Dwight Yoakam

1986 is Dwight Yoakam's year. He's had chart-topping singles and an album along with sold-out cross-country and overseas tours. Yoakam has already won a shelf full of honors, including the Cashbox Country Music Awards as Best New Male Vocalist for both single and album. People like Dwight Yoakam don't come along very often in country music. Cashbox knows that, which is why they put him on the cover last March.

Dwight thanks Cashbox for their continued support. And remember, this is one singer who's just getting started.

The Indies: Where They're Coming From and Where They're Going

By Valerie Hansen

The indies. The entrepreneurs of an elusive, fickle industry. The Thomas Paynes of the 80s. The cowboys of the music business.

Why do people start an independent record label? What do they expect to achieve in a marketplace where six huge corporations hold the clout: the money and the power that goes with it? The indies are a phenomenon that could only happen in a society where stepping out from the crowd and doing something with its roots firmly implanted in a dream is still within the realm of reality. That James Dean attitude that made our good ol' ancestors leave their familiar surroundings and travel to unexplored lands armed with nothing but a belief in themselves and their ideals is still, contrary to popular belief, alive and well and living in tiny offices from New Hampshire to California, Oregon to Nashville and beyond.

Most of the indies are not competing with the majors as much as they are working on different levels of the same world. Sometimes parallel, sometimes in opposition, sometimes in conjunction they dance around each other like planets revolving around the same sun. That sun is the radio listening audience.

"We got started as entertainers," explains Frank Fara of Comstock Records in Shawnee, Kansas. "To get anywhere as an entertainer, you need records. We ended up doing it all ourselves."

Many independent labels begin just so. They are molded into existence as a building block for an artist's career, as a stepping stone, sometimes, to a major label contract. The Fara's Comstock Records, Boots Clements' West, Blane Gauss on Saturn, T.C. Roberts on db records, Dave Plummer's Cypress label, Dwight and Cathy Moody on Lamon Records and many more started as vehicles for the artists.

Sometimes, however, after that building block is formed, the artists realize it can be a cornerstone of their own, freestanding structure rather than being a single brick within someone else's skyscraper.

Comstock Records is a perfect example of this. From its beginning eight years ago as a way for Frank Fara and his wife/partner Patty Parker to get their music heard, it has developed into a business encompassing production, promotion and publishing of music in the country, gospel and pop fields and has expanded its geographic boundaries to include the U.S., Canada, central Europe and, recently, England. Five Comstock records made the Cash Box Top 100 in 1986, and they have had similar success in Canada.

"We started out just wanting to get exposure for our music," Frank explains, "but at the time we started the label we were touring and met people in Reno who wanted to get some product out, so we did that. Then we met a Canadian artist who needed exposure there."

Gradually, the Faras found themselves in a different area of the music business. About three years ago they moved their office to Shawnee, Kansas because of its central location—they preferred the sounds coming out of the Nashville studios to those of L.A. At that point they hung up their entertainer hats.

"The reality set in that we couldn't do both," Frank explains. "We could only go so far without records, and there's no time to record when you're on the road. Plus, there weren't many indies set up to produce and promote and that's what we're best at."

Thus Frank and Patty Fara found their motherlode not on stages across the country but in the studios of Nashville and an office in Kansas.

"Studio work is exhilarating to Patty, and I love the promotion side of the business," Frank says. "We found this way we can get our highs every day instead of just Friday and Saturday nights."

Another Family Affair

Years before the Faras even glimpsed their first spotlight, another musically compatible couple was performing to a different era of country fans. In 1962, the Dwight and Cathy Moody Show was a popular one in North Carolina and the surrounding region. The Lamon record label started with a two-fold purpose.

"The Methodist church was trying to raise funds for a building project," Dwight explains, "and we decided to make a record to sell as part of the fundraiser."

The Moodys had been thinking it was time for that step in their career anyway: they wanted a recording contract. But it never quite happened that way. Major label deals have always been hard to land, and indies back then were pretty strong in their own right. Those factors, combined with the fact that the Moodys discovered they enjoyed helping other performers get their work down on disc, changed the direction of the label.

Through the past 24 years, Dwight and Cathy have lent their support to artists in rock, religious and beach music, developed three publishing companies with 500-600 titles and started a teaching business for aspiring talent. Now their sons, The Moody Brothers, are one of the main acts on the Lamon label, as well as producers for other Lamon artists.

Dwight and Cathy would like to see some of their protoges hit big on a major label, of course, but their goal for Lamon is to continue with the chart success they've had — and to keep shooting for that No. 1 slot.

Cypress in the Swamps

While the Moodys were helping the Methodist church get their new building, a kid was erecting a structure of his own in the swamps of Florida out of an old dock that had been knocked down by a tugboat. Dave Plummer was tired of hearing his folks complain about the noise he and his guitar were making in the house. So, with the entrepreneurial spirit that would grow with him into adulthood, the boy built his studio in the swamps of Big Cypress in 1962.

"When the tide was in," Plummer recalls, "you had to roll up your pant legs and wade through the water to get out of where the studio was. People laughed at me, but somehow I managed to get Jimmy Stricland in there and he cut a song called 'Gonna Buy Me A Record That Crys' that sold more records than he ever had. Kenny Price (Hee Haw) cut there, and we also had an award-winning jingle come out of that studio in the swamps."

Dave went into the construction business to make money for the studio and ended up working in that field for 15 years. During that time, the 17-year-old came out of the woods and went to visit his sister in Memphis. While he was there, sis talked him into going to Sun Records. "They were interested in recording me," Dave says, "and I passed it up. I was just a green country boy coming out of the woods for the first time and didn't really know what was happening. Besides, I was homesick, so I went back to Florida."

But the trip gave him the bug again, and he started working on his studio idea once more. Now, Cypress Records has moved from the swamps onto the beach and is pushing other artists, although Plummer still records on the label often.

Indie Label of the Year

Gene Kennedy didn't realize that his company was going to be getting an anniversary present this year. The celebration of Door Knob Records' eleventh birthday in October will be sweetened by the honor of being named Cash Box Independent Label of the Year.

Door Knob's success on the national charts is no new phenomenon. The introductory release on the label — by Peggy Sue (Loretta and Crystal's sister) — was the first of 12 consecutive chart records on the artist. Since then, Gene Kennedy Enterprises has had over 125 chart singles, with many of those belonging to Door Knob artists including Perry LaPointe, Bonnie Nelson, Jerry Wallace, Sue Sheppard, Bobby G. Rice, Wayne Kemp and Gene himself.

A Growing Commitment to Country Music

The commitment of Broadcast Music, Inc. to Nashville and country music is historic and continues to grow. In 1986 Roger Sovine completed his first full year back as vice president, Nashville operations, and the growing staff continues to be highly visible in the Nashville music community, servicing the songwriters and publishers whose catalogs of hits are the heart and soul of this entertainment center.

The Nashville office of BMI gained an important ally at the top of the corporate ladder when Frances Preston was named president this year, filling the vacancy left by the retirement of Ed Cramer. When BMI named Frances Preston to head the new BMI office here in the 1950s, it was a milestone in the commitment of the resources of a formal presence to the music community in Nashville. In so doing, the performance rights organization marked the first of an unending series of innovative and constructive efforts on behalf of country, R&B, soul, rock, gospel and Kennedy is proud of this accomplishment, but not really surprised by it. After all, Gene Kennedy Ent. began as a promotion business built on more than 16 years of experience promoting records for other people.

"I started the business to produce records and to promote them," Kennedy says. "Door Knob was pretty much an accident. I was trying to get a major label deal for Peggy Sue, and when I got turned down, I decided to release the single myself."

That accident paid off. Gene and his wife Karen are partners in a business that consists of Door Knob Records, Door Knob Distribution, Swanee Recording Studio, various publishing companies (Karen's forte), Senator Records and a TV marketing department. In addition to Door Knob and Senator, Kennedy also promotes Playback Records.

"I feel very fortunate," Gene says. "I'm in a business I thoroughly enjoy, and in Karen I have the best partner a man could have."

"I don't want to be the best — people shoot at you when you're the best — but I want to be in that category."

Well, if chart records are any yardstick to measure by, Door Knob has already reached that peak. Congratulations to the Cash Box Indie Label for 1986.

pop, the many special music forms that are affiliated with BMI through their Nashville office. Mrs. Preston's promotion this year to president of BMI was a source of pride for the organization and represented the ascendance of a friend of the music industry who has long understood and worked directly with a unique creative community.

In the past year the BMI/Nashville staff has grown to 35 full-time personnel, and building plans are currently under study for an expansion of the BMI offices.

One of the leaders in the legislative fight to protect copyright holders' rights in relations with broadcasters, BMI has grown with the Nashville community of talented and successful writers and publishers. BMI/Nashville looks forward to more growth as they expand to meet the challenges of tomorrow in performance rights protection, ever mindful of one of its unchanging original goals here: to enhance the recognition of all forms of music and its creators.

"We're working on some things that should give us the money we need to seriously compete with the bigger labels," Plummer says. "We've got the knowledge and the background, and some great material sitting in the publishing company. All we lack is the bucks, so that's what we're concentrating on."

Plummer says he realized a while back he was never going to be on a major label. "If I would have given up the studio and the construction business, I could have been an artist, but I love this end of the business too much."

Another Changing of the Goal
When R.T. "Tabby" Crab started Doctor

Bob Records in 1982, he had his eye on a major label contract. That's not unusual, but he didn't foresee the future of the label in its own right.

"People started coming to me," Tabby says with a hint of surprise still in his voice. "Before I knew what was happening the label had become an entity that couldn't be denied."

Through its first two years, Doctor Bob Records grew so strongly that, in 1984, Tabby changed the name to db records and had it trademarked.

"We needed a more professional image," Tabby explained. "What started as an alter-

New Kid On The Block

When Dr. D.C. and Lynn Dirks formed Premier One Records (a division of The Dirks Music Group) just over six months ago, they knew they had done their homework, but they didn't quite expect the first release on a new label to sweep into the 20s in the Cash Box Top 100.

In discussing their goals, the Dirks state that they want Premier One Records to be synonymous with quality product. They feel that the initial label single releases by Mason Dixon ("Home Grown") and Roger Martin ("Almost Gone") have upheld this philosophy.

"When radio stations receive a Premier One record," says Dr. Dirks, who serves a president of the label, "we want them to equate it with top quality — so much so that they will automatically play it."

This belief carries through their choice of office staff as well. Record executive Dan Mitchell heads up the day-to-day operations of the Nashville office. Mitchell, with numerous production and songwriting accomplishments to his credit, is excited about the future of the music group. "I feel we have something special here at Premier One. There's a sense of excitement both with what we've accomplished and what we have to look forward to."

Assisting Mitchell in the Nashville office of Premier One are Gary Frazier, promotion director, and Sharon C. Patterson, executive secretary. They also utilize a network of independent promoters and marketing people to supplement their in-house efforts.

Immediate plans for the label include releasing albums on their two artists, but longer term plans are much more ambitious. These call for penetration into overseas markets, investigating the area of artist endorsements and a complete review of new product distribution areas such as direct mail and telemarketing. Plans also call for additions to the label roster and maintenance of the label's open-door policy for reviewing new material.

The Dirks feel that the key to success in the music business is a combination of excellent product, talented artists, financial stability and a desire to succeed. That looks like a pretty good formula from here.

Doing Things His Way

If Cash Box had an award for "most liked independent label owner," Boots Clements of West Records would be a heavy contender.

Boots and his label exude a "good ole boy" charm and a professional yet down-to-earth image. When his name comes up, MDs are usually saying something positive about this California-based operation. Even the label graphics themselves are colorful and "fun."

For all his youth, Boots has a lot of experience behind him in the industry. He started "hanging around" radio stations as a teenager and started a publishing company as an outlet for his songwriting at the age of 16. And he's been doing things his way ever since.

business also encompasses an in-house graphic arts department to enhance its "look."

"I feel professionalism is very important," Boots explains, "the pride we feel as a label must come across to radio stations in our look as well as our sound."

Boots also wants the label's artists, Jerry Naylor, Ren Ashley and Scott Carpenter, to be proud of their association with West.

"Our goal is to set a standard of excellence for indie labels," Boots continues, "quality, top-notch production, wonderful graphics, concentrated promotion and thoughtful marketing."

Part of this marketing, besides an impressive list of promoters and distributors, is another in-house project: a newsletter that Boots sends out to nearly 2,000 radio stations—the same stations that get his releases in the mail and his calls on the telephone.

"They are ALL important to me if they are playing country music," he emphasizes. And that ain't just hype, it's the "West"ern way.

ASCAP's Story of Growth

ASCAP, a steadily emerging force on the Nashville music scene, has in recent years blossomed into a leading country performing rights organization. "I know ASCAP's strength in Nashville as a story of continuous growth on the charts, important new additions to the ASCAP membership roster, and a professional and dedicated membership staff," says ASCAP Southern Director Connie Bradley.

"According to Bob Doyle, Nashville director of membership relations, "This has been a banner year; the number of ASCAP licensed songs on the country charts achieved an all-time high." Spokesman Tom Long noted that the organization is making its mark in the gospel arena as well, an area that has been a high priority.

Another source of pride for the organization is the numerous awards garnered by its members during the past year. They made a strong showing in the Academy of Country Music Awards, including Song of the Year ("Lost In The Fifties Tonight") written by ASCAP members Troy Seals and Mike Reid along with Fred Harris, and published by Lodge Hall/Wo-Sons/WB/Llee Music.

ASCAP country and gospel members were also honored with numerous Grammys (including Best Country Song for Jimmy Webb's "Highwayman"); Dove Awards (Songwriter of the Year was Gloria Gaither); and Music City News Awards. And all five nominees for this year's CMA Award for Song of the Year were written or co-written by ASCAP members.

ASCAP's Nashville office aims at both providing a high standard of service to members and at developing and guiding new talent. "We sponsor writer workshops, make available 'writer rooms' for writers to work on their songs, and membership reps are ready to assist with writer/publisher concerns," says membership representative John Briggs. In order to sustain a continuous influx of new and promising talent, the Nashville staff is also out in the field, making the rounds of local writer/performer venues.

Activities which point up members' achievements are also an integral part of the ASCAP picture in Nashville. They include the annual ASCAP Country Music Awards Dinner (honoring the writers and publishers of the most performed country songs) and the annual Gospel Music Awards Luncheon (in honor of members nominated for Dove Awards).

Connie Bradley sums it all up: "ASCAP's success in Nashville is based on the great music of our members, and the role they play making their Society the best it can be."

One Step At A Time

Ray Pennington, VP of Step One

Meeting with Ray Pennington in the Division Street offices of Step One is like listening to Ray Price sing—he's cool and comfortable, country boy suave. As he sits back behind his big desk tapping tobacco into his pipe, Pennington doesn't apologize for the boxes and stacks of tapes along the walls and behind the desk in the huge room. It's obvious that this is a working office. Pennington is earning his keep.

"I've known Ray Price for a long time," he says, drawing on his pipe. "And when I got involved with this label, I called him and told him that he should seriously consider heading up our roster."

Step One began two years ago as an offshoot of a large, Texas-based corporation. Texan Mel Holt is the president of the company and Pennington is vice president, but he has control over the actual operation of the business.

"We're fully funded, with our own in-house sales, promotion, TV marketing and distribution. Even our shipping is done from here," Pennington explains. They also have a publishing company, though it's not very active as yet. "The only thing that makes us different from a major is that we haven't been here as long."

Step One mails to 2400 radio stations and does heavy magazine and TV advertising. So far, their album sales are the strong point of the organization.

Others on Step One's roster, besides Price, are Cal Smith, Ronnie Reno and the Reno Brothers, Curtis Cotter, Buddy Emmons, newcomer Dave Holladay and Pennington himself. Ray also produces and oversees the production on all the label's recording projects.

"We're selling a lot of product," Pennington says, "and those sales will keep the doors open, but we still need to gain strength on the charts and that is our goal right now. We also want to break some new artists at the same time that we continue to expand in sales."

Step One is building from a solid foundation, one that many indies would give their eyeteeth for. Of course, no road through the music industry is without its potholes and Pennington has his work cut out for him—but then again, the work ethic is healthy in that office on Division Street.

Top 40 Country Radio? It's Time To Grow Up

Commentary by M.D. Jeff Gill

Somewhere around 35 years ago, deep in the annals of broadcast history, the D.J. mode of programming came into prominence. With its built-in adaptability and low cost, limitless opportunities were anticipated by aspiring broadcasters and musicians alike. There was expectation and excitement in the air, much like the arrival of a new baby. Ah, but in those days, America as a whole was also a lot younger (demographically) and less mature in its tastes as well. Often, securing the support of a huge 21 population determined financial success or failure.

After a few years, famous radio programmers and consultants like Bill Drake appeared on the scene. They began to realize that young America not only preferred a different music, but also desired a different form of music radio. Young teens are less patient and less tolerant than most of their adult counterparts. They cannot simply enjoy music on the radio in the moment it occurs in an ever-changing flow. They tend to latch on to only a few songs and want to hear them over and over again. So, the top 40 format came into existence and soon dominated most of the airwaves...not only with hyperactive jocks, but also with repetitive power rotations and short, restricted playlists.

During this period, full time country-formatted stations were also beginning to appear. Our demographics were much different from those of the top 40 stations. Our listeners spanned a much broader age group, were intensely loyal, and tuned in for long periods. Our music included a broader variety of styles. It was more historically rooted and exalted more timeless values. But alas, we too were also young and less mature. Like awkward teenagers, we lacked confidence and self-worth. We badly wanted to be accepted by the "in crowd," to enjoy the same spiraling success the pop scene was enjoying (AND, to land those big national accounts the pop stations were getting!).

But in seeking this acceptance, I believe we made a terrible mistake. We are continuing to make it. I believe we in country radio have swallowed hook, line and sinker a programming model that at the very least, was never intended to suit our actual and psychographic audience, and at best, is obsolete and no longer thorough enough to expose the breadth of today's country product. After thirty years of immersing ourselves in this error, we are now reaping the benefits with abandon: sagging record sales; domination of the charts by a few major-label superstars; dull, repetitive country radio for an aging, unintelligent audience; and sparkling new talents who can't make a living from their music.

I realize there are programmers and consultants out there who achieved a modicum of success using the top 40 model, complete with a strict 35-40 record playlist. Some of you have even achieved double digit ratings or the number one slot in your market. But I'm going to rain on your parade with the cold truth...your "success" is limited, superficial, and vulnerable. You haven't given your audience what it really wants. You've only made it more "accessible" through promotional hype and bribery. You are thriving on the hype of perpetuating music ignorance...a very shaky foundation indeed.

Before those of you in this category totally explode, allow me to explain the logic behind my attack on your professional integrity. Let's pretend that there was only one manufacturer of AM tuners in the entire world and that these tuners were so poor that even 50,000-watt stations could not be received at distances greater than 35 miles. Suppose I came along and found a way to manufacture a tuner with the same miserable performance, but for a price tag of $50 less. Suppose I then conducted a massive advertising campaign to promote that fact. I'd probably beat my competition easily. I'd probably even get rich. But I wouldn't have lifted a finger to improve the lackluster state of the art in AM tuners. If someone came along with a tuner that could clearly receive stations from the other side of the country at night, and sold it at my price, my success would go right down the tubes...if you pardon the pun.

Nevertheless, I suppose I have to give the pied-pipers of the broadcast status quo their due respect. After all, you guys have managed to seduce most "programmers" into adopting your lifeless, Pharisical programming models in knee-jerk fashion. You have told us not to program oldies that didn't make the top 20, and most have complied. You have told us not to play LP cuts because they are not "hits," and most have complied. You have told us not to play any new "untested" artists unless they first

A New Name and New Goals

By Maureen Miller

We're not just music anymore! That statement may just be the premise for the Nashville Music Association's decision earlier this year to become the Nashville Entertainment Association. The six-year-old non-profit organization's intention is to promote not only music, but the spectrum of entertainment in Nashville.

Within the twelve categories of membership, the 1100 members of the NEA represent every facet of the entertainment industry. The newest category is the recent addition of the Actors/Models division, which features an ongoing series of professional development seminars and showcases.

Every year, the NEA sponsors a variety of activities, and this year's calendar of events was no exception. In January, the two-day Rock Extravaganza spotlighted local rock bands, providing their talents with the necessary exposure, which led many to recording contracts.

February's Entertainment Banking Conference joined the banking and entertainment industries in an exchange of ideas; their combined efforts making the growth of entertainment endeavor possible. The prestigious Master Tribute Award, which acknowledges talent in sustaining contribution to the entertainment industry, was awarded to Billy Sherrill. In May, Music on the lawn at Belle Meade featured acoustic music, and there was summer fun in August at the NEA/Sounds Baseball Night, one of the many events that helps to support the W.O. Smith Community Music School.

NEA strives to work within the entertainment industry as well as for the community, in co-sponsoring events, as with MCA Records with the debut of their Master Series label, and with NSAI and BMI for the 3rd annual Harlan Howard Birthday Bash, a celebration of songwriters.

In another project, the Nashville Entertainment Association is working in conjunction with the Metro Nashville schools to produce The Nashville Songbook to supplement the vocal music program in the elementary schools.

The goal of the Nashville Entertainment Association is to be a catalyst in helping Nashville firmly establish itself as a total entertainment center.

make the top 40 national charts or a major label (May I ask how they would even get that far if everyone followed your advice?) and most have complied. You have told us not to play local artists because none are "good enough" for our stations, and most have complied. But since you have set yourselves up as such "experts" and claim that your ways are the only ways to success in this business, I have a few nagging questions in store for you to answer...if you can.

I have been in broadcasting for 14 years and have worked for a total of nine stations. Since 1979, I have worked almost continuously through four full-time, commercial country stations in large and small markets in the tough Northeast, serving as music director at two of them. I have heard countless complaints over the years from listeners that a station was "too repetitious." But how come I have never, not once, heard from someone outside the broadcast industry that a station was playing too much "unfamiliar music?" If people want to hear just the major hits by the major artists on the major labels, then why, pray tell, am I getting just as many requests at my station for the newest and most obscure artists as I am for the big superstars? Why do I keep getting compliments from listeners because we play album cuts? Why do people request local artists? How come they want to hear oldies that didn't make the top 20 (as if the average listener keeps up with the char anyway!) or oldies that are more than ten years old?

How come they want to hear talented new acts...as many as may exist at a particular time? How come they want to be entertained by jocks who talk like real people, not hyperactive hyenas or cue card wind-toys? If your programming model is the only true successful one, then how come every time I have been given a free reign over music at a station, I have seen a corresponding increase in listenership and advertising revenue? (Once, the audience tripled in three years, according to Arbitron.) How come the logs at my current station have been saturated since last year, right after I expanded my list beyond 65 titles...even with an advertising rate increase? How come two weeks after I had my playlist cut to 90 titles, I learn that WCMX was sold for the next two months?!

I think it's time we country radio programmers finally shed our stubborn, adolescent adolescence and grow up. It's time to stop viewing our work the way the immature view life...always through the maze of inflexible formulas instead of plain, specific realities. It's time to recognize, through a display, the legitimate talents of all our artists instead of exaggerating the talents of a few who can get rich and ride in limousines. I think it's time we started to use our ears and our eyes to program our stations instead of charts and "consultants" who care little for the country. The very survival of our music depends on it.

If there are 100 current songs out there that you as a programmer think are worth playing, then for heaven's sake, make your playlist 100 titles long! (Considering what come across my desk the past couple of months, if you can't find at least 60-70 current selections you feel comfortable playing, I seriously question your decision to become involved in programming this format or pursuing a career at this end of the business.)

So what if your station is suffering from short average listening periods? If your turnover time is only 15-20 minutes, why don't you finally admit the obvious truth: your station's music is too boring for most people to listen to for more than 15-30 minutes at a clip. It has nothing to do with "pace of life" in your market. Radio these days is more portable than the average perback book. If people really want to listen for longer periods, they'll find a way. Imposing a tighter playlist as a solution to short listening time is like putting a block of ice in an already frigid room.

Yes, it was three decades ago, back in those adolescent days, that the first payola scandals hit our industry. In order to protect us naughty kids, a whole oppressive programming mentality began to emerge. We still find ourselves subjected to today. Why don't we now, in the wake of a second series of payola scandals, come to realize that this punitive "system" did not prevent it from happening again, but actually contributed to it?

Let's do away with the "system"...and the systems. Let's finally mature and make our country radio alive with music that's vibrant and real, and let's do it in our own independent, objective way. Let's take command of our jobs, show some pride and responsibility in our work, and stop letting the "system" do our thinking for us. We will not experience true success, happiness, and accomplishment through our work until we do. So, I think that now is the time for Country Radio to grow up. Programmers—your part!

Jeff Gill was music director at CB radio station WCMX when he sent this commentary to the Indie Bullet in March, 1986.

ot all independents are begun by aspir- artists, although the majority seem to be of goals other than the label itself. Bob- Fischer's F&L grew out of his distribu- and promotion business; L.C. Parsons MSR wanted an outlet for his publishing pany; Door Knob gave Gene Kennedy ething of his own to promote. All of e men have one thing in common—an accumulation of years of experience in the music industry.

Bobby Fischer and Joe Lucas first joined forces in the 70s to promote and distribute a song called "A Little Ground In Texas," written by Bobby and recorded by The Capitals on Ridgetop Records. This first project went to the twenties in the charts—and they were bitten.

Each had brought different experiences to the team—Bobby in songwriting and publishing, Joe his years with Mercury Records and then Acuff-Rose. Together they helped launch IBC Records, promoting and distributing its first release, "Cheaper Crude Or No More Food," with claims of 300,000 copies sold for the new label. Then IBC signed Jeannie Pruett and Fischer and Lucas took her first release back onto a chart that hadn't seen a Pruett record in some time. The second and third releases both climbed well into the charts.

Realizing that they made a pretty good team, the two men formed International Marketing and Record Distribution to market album products—and thus the formation of Fischer and Lucas. F&L started their first two years with 34 nationally charted records, using a strong national promotion team.

Bobby Fischer was hit hard by the death of his partner in 1981, but F&L Records continues to grow both as a label and as a distributor for other independents.

Stepping In To Fill A Void

Like Bobby Fischer, L.C. Parsons of MSR also began as (and still is) a songwriter. He worked for studios in Nashville in the late 60s and early 70s, having some success as a writer and forming three publishing compa- nies. He moved to Bakersfield in the early 70s because that's where the music was happening, what with the likes of Merle Haggard and Buck Owens recording there. Moving on to Dallas in 1974, he worked at radio stations in Texas until about 1978.

In 1980, Parsons found himself full circle and back in Nashville.

"Country music has gone through a lot of stages," L.C. notes, "but in the early 80s it had reached a point where the music was too pop for country and too country for pop. I saw a void there that needed to be filled, so I started MSR Records in 1983."

MSR is a subsidiary of Main Stream Productions which also controls his publishing companies, Parton Music, Chigger Hill and Pic to Clip; his gospel label, Advocate Records, which hasn't been activated as yet; Chance Records, his custom label; and his management firm, Blue Chip Talent Agency.

Things were slow for MSR at first, perhaps because of the traditional flavor of the releases, but the label was reactivated this year and has had chart success for the first time with Jim and Jesse's release, "Oh, Louisiana." Parsons is looking forward with anticipation to releases by the other MSR artists, "Hoot" Hester, Big Ernie Gib and Clate Parsons (L.C.'s son).

"What I'd like to see," L.C. says emphatically, "is country back in country music, radio stations playing good music, no matter the label, with no hype."

Amen.

A Reputation for Honesty

Joe Gibson's office at Nationwide Sound Distributors are spacious and calm, uncluttered, organized and give a feeling of quiet efficiency. Perhaps that is a clue to his popularity and the reputation for "doing just what he says he'll do" that Joe has garnered over the years.

This reputation stands whether it's Nationwide Distributing—which handles product on a quantity of independent labels to wholesale distributors—or the company's record labels that's being discussed. In a time when custom labels are looked on dubiously at best, Soundwaves and NSD are considered among those run "straight."

Joe Gibson and George Cooper III started Nationwide Distributing in January, 1972.

"George had been trying to talk me into this for a long time," Joe explained, "but I was involved in a small label about then. When it folded," he laughs, "I had nothing to do; so I went along with George on Nationwide."

"We started out with a borrowed thousand dollars and a borrowed desk and chair," Joe reminisces behind a big desk in his spacious office. "Bobby Fischer [of F&L] loaned me the desk and chair." Ironically, Fischer has become one of the few other distributors of independent product in Nashville, although their operations are not exactly alike.

Joe Gibson, president of Nationwide Sound Distributors

"We were the first company to be a manufacturers' rep firm for the small manufacturers," Gibson continues. "We found we could do the job better than they could for less than they were spending doing it themselves. Besides, it's the least popular part of the business," he chuckles. "People are always willing to give us the job because they don't want to do it."

NSD is a real family affair. David Noel Gibson, Joe's son, started the Soundwaves record label in 1973, which is now affiliated with Nationwide Distributing. Joe's wife Betty is in charge of the independent promotion arm of the business, and they also own various publishing companies and three other record labels—NSD, Grand Prize and the inactive Phono label.

"We're one of the oldest continuous operations in town," Joe says in his unpretentious manner. That statement in itself supports Gibson's hard-earned reputation for honesty and follow-through—a rare one in this business and one of which he can be proud.

'I have never, not once heard from someone outside the broadcast industry that a station was playing too much "unfamiliar" music.'

Building on a Firm Foundation

A third category of indie labels exists which has nothing to do with being an exposure tool for the owner/artist, the own songwriter or the owner/promoter. A smaller group of indies includes labels such as MTM, Encore, Premier One, Step and others who are backed by a substantial amount of money. What separates them from the majors is distribution—and history. The majors have been around a long time. They're settled in, they are experienced, and they're not going to move for any upstarts. Not without a fight.

... and they make the rules. Nevertheless, capitalism still struggles for existence in the good ol' USA, and financiers like Robert Andreoli, who started the multi-media Encore Entertainment Group with an initial capitalization of $20 million, are not willing to stand by and let them relax on the top.

Encore was formed in April, 1985 with the purchase of the state-of-the-art Kendun orders studio in Burbank, changing the name to Encore Studios. Andreoli appointed Ed Palmer executive vice president of Encore Entertainment Group and Billy James (formerly with RCA, CBS and Elektra) vice president of Encore Music Productions and manager of the studio.

Through the last year and a half, the company has been laying its groundwork, and in August they released their first single, "Two Sides" by Jimmy Murphy, which is currently enjoying considerable success on the Cash Box chart.

"Encore intends to be a multi-faceted entertainment entity," says spokesperson Debra Johnson, "with interests in motion pictures, record companies, the CD market and laser video on a retail level."

Obviously, those involved are pleased with the indie label's accomplishments so far. "We've released one single and it's a hit," says Billy James matter-of-factly.

Indies come in all shapes and sizes. They all have different backgrounds, different goals, and different ways of working towards those goals. The one thing they have in common is, like the name says, independence. They're free of formulas and bureaucratic bogs. It's what they do with that freedom that tells the tale, that governs what they offer the industry, the radio audience and the market — and determines the success or failure of the indies themselves.

What I'd like to see . . . is country back in country music and radio stations playing good music, no matter the label . . .

Konami Moves To New Facilities; Expands Its U.S. Operations

By Camille Compasio

As you will recall, in the fall of '85, when AMOA convention was about to open, Konami, Inc., had just broken ground for a modern, spacious new facility in suburban Wood Dale, Illinois. The early projections were that construction would be completed mid or late summer of '86 depending solely on weather conditions. Wood Dale is a suburb of Chicago and the winter season could play havoc on even the best laid plans; however, as it turned out, everything seemed to progress on schedule, give or take a few weeks. The company settled into its new home in early September, just a couple of months prior to the opening of this year's AMOA convention. And from what company president Ben Har-El told Cash Box, they will be introducing a couple of very interesting new dedicated games at the '86, which will reflect what they are doing in their new premises. The structure of the building, though, makes a definite statement in no uncertain terms.

"We are very bullish about the market," declared Ben, "we feel the market will be very strong and we are preparing ourselves in that direction. As you can see by the investment we have put into this building, we are very committed to the industry."

When Cash Box visited the new site we were impressed by the size and potentiality of the structure for production capability as well as future growth. But taking one step at a time, we asked Ben if Konami would be doing production here. "Definitely yes," he responded, explaining that the target date for production is contingent upon how soon the plant area could be made ready.

As to their product roster, Ben stressed that while Konami has enjoyed a great deal of success with kits, it is not a "kit only company" and will further define this factor with the dedicated games they are preparing to introduce in early November. "Our product line will include kits . . . it will include dedicated games," he said. "Our primary objective is to react to market demands and our capabilities here in Wood Dale will allow us to do this."

To give you a little background information, Konami Inc.'s parent company is based in Japan. Its licensed games have been marketed in the U.S. by such firms as Stern, Centuri and Interlogic. The company established U.S. facilities in the early 1980's, initially in Torrance, California and ultimately in the Chicago area. "We decided to move to Chicago after Konami bought Interlogic," as Ben noted.

The Wood Dale facilities are fully equipped for total in-house function. Both of their upcoming dedicated games are in-house products. "Konami, Inc. has its own R&D department," he explained. "We are developing our own games here, in tune with the requirements of the American market. However, the R&D group we have out here is only a very, very small portion of the huge R&D group in Japan. Konami is notably the largest R&D company in our industry," he added. "We have hundreds of engineers on our staff in Japan. As a matter of fact, our headquarters in Japan recently relocated to a large, eleven story building, which should give you an idea of the magnitude of Konami's total operation."

The two new games mentioned earlier peaked our interest but no matter how hard we tried it was impossible to penetrate the veil of secrecy that will not be lifted until AMOA Expo '86 opens on November 6. However, we did learn that one of the pieces, which is currently being tested in Japan, has been earning $500 per day—and that's in American currency, mind you. As we chatted with the executive team, including Steve Kaufman, Frank Bundra and Frank Pellegrini, in Ben's office, the conversation frequently reverted back to this upcoming game. The gentlemen all pointed out that player preference in Japan is not always in sync with the American counterparts; however, they emphasized that this particular piece will bridge the gap, with its universal appeal—besides which, it is geared to the American market, in the first place. Distributors will get their first glimpse of the model at the October JAMMA trade convention in Japan; but, as Ben pointed out, "we still have another rabbit in our hat for the AMOA show."

You can bet we'll make haste to stop at the Konami, Inc. booth on opening day!

AT THE NEW KONAMI, INC. PLANT.—

The backbone of a successful company is its staff of dedicated, hard-working people. When Cash Box visited the Konami, Inc. facilities in Wood Dale, Illinois, we met and photographed a number of individuals, who help to make things click at the company.

It's not heavy . . . it's our new sign, sportin' our new logo . . . at the entrance to our new plant! Vice president Steve Kaufman (l-r), vice president Frank Bundra and national sales manager Frank Pellegrini posed for the CB photog, shoe-deep in mud! Thanks, fellas!

When you call Konami's market research department, which documents testing data, market trends, et al, you will most likely speak with (l-r) marketing research coordinator Carol Seitz or m.r. assistant Mary Hermanson.

This is Jerry Korbecki, parts and service manager (l-r) and Joe Bundra, purchasing and operations manager, who struck a relaxed pose for the CB photog.

This is the accounting department and here you see (l-r) Tami Nelson, Roberto Ambubuyog and Kay Mielneczek hard at work.

This is another wing of the coin-op department in the administrative sector, and pictured are staffers (l-r) Laura Burlingame and Rose Hartnett.

In the warehouse area with (l-r) Pat Romano, John "Stein" Malek, warehouse manager, and Carl Llamas, who are loadin' those kits for shipment!

In the executive office with Konami, Inc. president Ben Har-El and his secretary Linda Turney. Notice the picturesque view of the grounds that surround the new building—and are available for any possible additional expansion.

October NAMA Convention Marks Association's 50th Anniversary

CHICAGO—When 13 small businessmen gathered together for lunch in New York City's Commodore Hotel in September of 1936 to form a vending machine association, the seeds of a trade show fifty years later, for 100 people in Chicago's McCormick Center, would have sounded far-fetched.

During the period of Oct. 23-26, 1986, the modest beginning will be cause for an exciting look to the future, says G. Harold Schreiber, president of the National Automatic Merchandising Assn. (NAMA), who will celebrate its 50th anniversary as well as the centennial year of the vending industry in the U.S. at this year's Convention of Vending and Foodservice Management.

Schreiber explained that it was 100 years ago that the first patents for vending machines were granted in the U.S., while commercial use of coin-operated machines came in 1888 when gum machines were installed at elevated train stations in New York City.

The idea of starting a national vending industry trade association sprang from the founders' desire to disassociate their fledgling companies from the "slot machine" business and to combat discriminatory taxes which were supported by retailers who saw in vending machines a competitive threat to their business, according to Schreiber.

One of the 13 founders, and NAMA's first president, was Chicagoan Nathaniel Leverone, who also was one of the founders and long-time chief executive of Canteen Corporation, now a division of Transworld Corporation.

In the Depression-era business climate, NAMA almost didn't make it past the original meeting because the 13 organizers had trouble raising the $5,000 nest egg which they had pledged to contribute within 30 days.

Operating at first without an office and with co-founder Clinton S. Darling as a part-time employee, the association eventually established its headquarters on Chicago's LaSalle Street and has operated from that city through its history, now with branch offices in Virginia and California.

The growth of vending into a major industry has coincided with the development of NAMA as its national association, says Schreiber.

During the 1930s, cigarette vending and candy, cookie and soft drink machines became popular and they proved their value in defense plants during World War II as workers utilized them for relief during long hours on the assembly line.

By 1946 annual sales of products through vending machines had grown to $600 million and the establishment of many new vending companies by veterans of the war and others laid the foundation for phenomenal growth through the 1950s and '60s.

Partly fueled by the invention and widespread installation of hot beverage machines and improved cup soft drink venders which served ice with the beverage, sales volume ballooned to more than $6 billion by 1970 and more than doubled again ten years later to 13.9 billion.

This year, total sales are expected to surpass $18 billion from vending sales alone and many vending companies have diversified into catering, concessions and cafeteria operations.

NAMA has grown to a membership of more than 2,400 companies, including operators of vending machines, contract food service companies, vending machine manufacturers and those which provide products and services to vending firms.

It conducts two conventions and trade shows annually and has chartered more than thirty affiliated state groups.

Bally Sente "Night Stocker"

In describing the new Bally Sente "Night Stocker," Jolly Backer, director of national sales for the California-based Bally subsidiary, pointed out, "Driving and shooting games, separately, do well. Now, Sente has achieved a design 'first' and combined these two winning elements with a good storyline, great graphics and vibrant sounds. Night Stocker is sure to bring in a lot of players." Backer bases his optimism on highly favorable earnings recorded at arcade and street locations where the game was tested during the last few months. And, according to Dennis Koble, who headed up development of Night Stocker and who is Sente's director of software engineering, these promising reports are due to two factors: "We've changed the traditional arcade game and we've heightened player involvement."

This most recent addition to the Sente Library of Games for the SAC I interchangeable game system is packaged in the now familiar SAC PAC format. It is a kit which includes the electronic cartridge and the header and the control panel graphics that quickly convert a Sente upright cabinet from one game into a new one.

As play begins, the player drives at high speed across an alien landscape. Mines, craters and other dangerous obstacles obstruct the journey to reach one robot installation after another. A constant attack of airborne and land-based robot ships and weapons also add to the difficulty. The only defense is to shoot at enemies and their armaments with the handheld gun that is secured to the game cabinet. Designed by Sente's vice president of mechanical engineering Howard Delman, the gun incorporates important design improvements. It is lighter in weight and is a very sophisticated electronic piece that is an accurate light pen operating in either single or "UZI" mode. Its futuristic exterior does not represent any "real life" weaponry and it is secured to the cabinet with a high-tensile security cable run within a protective coil. This feature makes it nearly indestructible and "near-to-vandal-proof." A rubber tip helps to minimize cabinet damage. Careful mechanical design minimizes typical operating problems but, should repair be needed, the gun is easy to disassemble and is fully field serviceable. Parts are readily available within a 48-hour turnaround from Sente's Franklin Park, IL. service department.

During initial game play, the object is to capture colored energy crystals in the electrical claw mounted on the front of the armored car and to use the gun conservatively to field off aliens. In subsequent waves, the car stops in front of robot installations. Each outpost increases in size, complexity and deadliness and has a unique enemy with a variety of weaponry. At these points, the challenge is to "clean out" the installation before the car is destroyed. Scoring is based on number of enemies hit and bonus points earned by recharging the car with the variety of "energizers" that are presented throughout each game wave.

Night Stocker background sounds include the rumble of the cars motor and the skid of brakes, the "zing" of gunfire and the blast of targets hit. Sound designer/composer Jesse Osborne is responsible for adding auditory excitement and reality. The screen graphics were created by senior vice president of engineering Roger Hector and graphic designer Gary Johnson.

The new model is available through Bally Sente's distributor network.

PARTYING AT THE BALLY GRAND—The Bally Grand Hotel in Las Vegas provided perfect setting for the annual Bally Sente distributors meeting (Sept. 18-19) which drew outstanding turnout of factory distributors. The main event, of course, was the introduction of exciting new "Night Stocker" game which has the distinction of combining two of the trade's popular game themes, — driving and shooting — in one model, and the response was fantastic. Attending distributors were completely taken by this "one of a kind" piece and unhesitatingly expressed their approval during the presentation. Among Bally luminaries who presided over two-day conclave were Maury Ferchen, president of Bally's Coin-Op division, whose recent work centered on the state of the industry; Bally Sente chairman Nolan Bushnell, who served as emcee and Bally Sente president Bob Lundquist, vice president of sales Steve Blattspieler and director of national sales Jolly Backer, who demonstrated the "Night Stocker" and explained its features. In addition to the product presentation, Bally Sente provided a full menu of social activities. On Thursday night, there was the "Jubilee" musical in the hotel's Ziegfeld Room. This Donny Osmond production focused on the golden age of Hollywood musicals. On Friday there was the "Night Stocker" musical, the availability of sight-seeing tours and, of course, all of the built-in attractions for Las Vegas is noted worldwide. Some of the highlights of the two-day event are depicted in the accompanying photos, starting with the business meeting which was slated to take up as little time as possible so that distributors and their spouses could enjoy all that Las Vegas has to offer. Photos above in the top row are (l-r) photo 1: emcee Nolan Bushnell; photo 2: Bally's Maury Ferchen; photo 3: sales veepee Steve Blattspieler, and photo 4: national sales director Jolly Backer who addressed the distributor assemblage. In the bottom row senior vice president of engineering Roger Hector demonstrates "Night Stocker" for a group of interested distributors as Nolan Bushnell on in photo 5. At the show with (photo 6 l-r): Bob and Pam Lundquist (Bally Sente); and Vicki Kraft (Shaffer Distg.); photo 7: Jeannette and Ray Galante (Music-Vend Distg.); Coutu, (Laniel Automatic); and Blattspieler; And in photo 8 seated are: Harvey Weinberg (Kentucky Coin); Steve Koenigsberg (State Sales & Service); Rick Kirby (New England Amusement); and standing are Bob Haim (Belam Southeast Dist.); Jon Brady (Brady Dist.); Paul Russell (Brady Dist.); Joe Cirillo (Betson Enterprise); David Gilfor (Active Amusement); and Jolly Backer.

will be concerned even more with the future than with the 50th and 100th anniversaries of the industry, Schreiber explained. The trade show will include new vending machines which the consumer can activate with debit and credit cards as well as others which accept dollar bills. Computerization of vending company headquarters operations and further development of electronic circuitry in the machines will be shown by various exhibitors.

In the convention meetings future planning will focus on a research report by the Hudson Institute on "Vending in the Year 2000" and experts will explore the opportunities for vending companies in the pay-phone market.

"Consumer research several years ago identified vending machines as being a logical component of modern life and marketing," stated Schreiber. "While we're pausing to celebrate our history and the people who made it possible, our eyes and minds are looking at the future and it looks very promising."

CONVENTION HIGHLIGHTS

Keynote speakers for the October 50th Anniversary NAMA convention were Henry Kissinger and U.S. Rep. Dan Rostenkowski. The show will occupy a record amount of space in Chicago's McCormick Place, playing the latest in vending machines, components and vended products (including debit card applications, computerized french fry vending machines); plus a complete photo museum of antique vending machines.

Among topics to be discussed during business meetings are "Implications of the Judson Institute Research on Vending in the Year 2000"; the "Payphone Market"; Jesse Meyers' "Predictions On The Drink Market."

Exhibit hours are: noon to 5:30pm on Thursday and Friday; noon to 5pm on Saturday and 10am to noon on Sunday.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the NAMA headquarters at 20 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago, IL. or phoning 312-346-0370.

Vending machines which talk sound like a novelty but they were in use more than 50 years ago during the first heyday of vending in the late 1920's. Placed in drug and retail stores by the Consolidated Automatic Machine Company of New York, this bank of vendors dispensed confections and cigarettes for 15, 25 and 30 cents. The American vending industry is observing the 100th anniversary since the first U.S. patents for coin-operated machines were granted in 1886.

Alcon saves the world and reaches new profit heights!

Unspeakable evil was born in a distant galaxy when the wicked brain "Gaudy" came into being. Gaudy created a brutal force and embarked on a quest to conquer the universe. Now it is the year 2059, and this inhuman aggressor has arrived—to conquer our world!

The Allied League of Cosmic Nations (ALCON) has met and resolved that just one lone pilot must stand against this invader, flying the experimental aircraft SW475—which builds up various weaponry by defeating certain enemy forces. The player is the pilot, and while he struggles to think and move fast in the heat of battle excitement, you'll be reaping the profits!
