COVER STORY

Brooks & Dunn: Hard Workin' Men

For the past two years, the dynamic duo of Kix Brooks & Ronnie Dunn have become the hottest country music duo to come along in years. Their first Arista album went triple platinum, and their sophomore release, Hard Workin' Man, is following suit.

Jackson Allegations Surface

The entertainment world was shocked this week when it was learned that the Los Angeles Police Department was investigating allegations that King of Pop, Michael Jackson, had molested a 13-year-old boy. At presstime, Jackson was in Thailand, but his reps have denied any wrongdoing.

Napalm Drops Into Theaters

Cash Box movie critic John Goff says director Glenn Gordon Caron may have missed the mark with this strange concoction titled, Wilder Napalm. Boasting such big-name stars as Dennis Quaid and Debra Winger helps the film, but will it catch any box office heat?

Whitney Bowls Them Over

The critics may not have been overly impressed, but the fans went gaga over Whitney Houston's solid performance at the Hollywood Bowl this week. Riding the crest of popularity for The Bodyguard movie and soundtrack, the Arista singer can do no wrong.

THE LAPD HAS LAUNCHED an criminal investigation of pop king Michael Jackson based on allegations by a 13-year-old boy who claims he was abused by the 34-year-old star. Investigators operating under the Los Angeles Police Department's Sexually Exploited Child Unit have seized photos and videotapes from Jackson's Century City, CA condominium and his Santa Inez Valley-based Neverland Ranch. Representatives of Jackson steadfastly maintained that the allegations against the singer (currently on tour in Thailand) are the result a failed attempt to extort $20 million.

While police at press time declined comment on details of the case, the Associated Press reported that the boy's father, a Beverly Hills dentist, reported the alleged abuse to the police child abuse hotline after the boy revealed to a therapist that he had been fondled by Jackson. The mother, who is in a custody battle with the father, said she had no knowledge of the incident until the boy disclosed the alleged incident to the therapist.

BMG REVS $3 BIL FOR FISCAL '92: Bertelsmann Music Group (BMG), the music and entertainment division of Bertelsmann AG, worldwide media enterprise, reported company revenues of $3 billion for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1993. The figure represents a 20% increase over the previous year's fiscal results.

Michael Dornemann, BMG chairman and CEO, attributed the company's gains to the performance of the international division, which reported sales of $2 billion outside the U.S., its Arista Records label led by the multi-platinum worldwide success of Whitney Houston, and the continued development of a successful joint venture partnerships. BMG Direct, the company's domestic U.S. club businesses, also contributed significantly to BMG's gains.

NEW NY NARAS OFFICERS: The New York Chapter of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences announced the results of its annual election for 1993/'94 officers, trustees and governors.

Re-elected as officers were Karen Sherry, president; Jack Maher, 1st v.p.; and Linda Moran, secretary. Stu Ginsburg was elected treasurer. Re-elected veeps were Robbin Ahrold, Ruth Bernal, Tom Frost, Mikie Harris and Ann Johns Ruckert. Maher was also named national vp.

Newly elected Chapter Governors are Thomas Frost, Harry Hirsch, Jim McNeely, Eddie Palmieri, Bob Porter, Ann Johns Ruckert, Sherry and Jon Waxman. Re-elected Governors are Merrill Aldighieri, Linda Goldstein, Maher, Ben Rizzi, Richard Roth and David Spinozza. New associate governors are Rich Appel and Linda Lorence. Moran was re-elected a.g.

Elected national trustees are Frost and Thomas Z. Shepard and re-elected national incumbent trustee was Maher. Alternate trustee is Ray Moore and re-elected national incumbent alternate trustees are Bernal, Ginsburg, Gladys Hopkowitz, Peter Keepnews and Allan Steckler.

VIBE MAGAZINE, the latest brainchild of music icon Quincy Jones, dedicated to urban contemporary music and lifestyle, kicked off its first season with a party at Webster Hall last week. Run-DMC, LL Cool J, Rev. Al Sharpton, and other notables were present. Jones, throwing a party earlier in the year for the magazine with Giant Step at Metropolis and yet another at their headquarters, seems to have a lot to celebrate along with Vibe's co-creator Time Inc. Ventures, given the initial success of the issues. Vibe had originally published a test issue last year which was snatched up nearly in record time.

STEELY DAN played a sold-out show at Madison Square Garden last week. The thirtysomething crowd of fans assembled for this reunion tour may have been old enough to remember the last time Steely Dan toured, hitting Madison Square in 1974. Since then, more recent, slick-production influences like house, hip-hop, alternative, and acid jazz have only further outmoded the commercial viability of the old pros. Still, the loyal, if unfashionable, following assembled was enough to sell out the Garden in less than an hour. The nearly three-hour barrage included vintage Steely like "Hey Nineteen," "Green Earrings," "Third World Man," "Black Friday" and "Bodhisattva." Hits like "Do It Again" were noticeably absent from the set. Singer Donald Fagen and guitarist Walter Becker have recently collaborated on each other's "solo" efforts including Fagen's latest, Kamakiriad (Warner Bros.), and Becker's forthcoming album.

NEW YORK INDIE, C-FOUR RECORDS celebrated the release of R&B/pop artist Laurie Roth at the Water Club in Manhattan last week. Headed by David Sterling, the new label recently signed with BMG-distributed Mogull Entertainment. Roth performed a set from the new album, Always Best Friends, including her debut release, a cover of Rick James' "In My House" (recently popularized by the Mary Jane Girls). The success of Laurie Roth's previous single, "Baby Do The Right Thing" (Sentimental), also featured on the album, was instrumental to her major signing. Mistress of Ceremonies, Downtown Julie Brown was also on deck at the Water Club affair along with New York Post gossip columnist Flo Anthony to characteristically give their piece. Special guests Mark Jackson of the LA Clippers, Tony Campbell of the NY Knicks, Ricky Paul Goldin of Another World, Nerissa of Select/Active Records, and personality Giuseppe Franco also sent greetings and support.

Cash Box WEST COAST

October 19 is the release date for mega-producer David Foster's "Grown Up Christmas List," an adult-targeted holiday collection that will feature, among others, Michael "Phantom" Crawford, Johnny Mathis, Celine Dion, Tom Jones, Tammy Wynette, Peabo Bryson and Wynonna Judd. Seen here is smilin' Tom Jones, on the left, and Foster, wrapping up work on Jones' version of "Mary's Boy Child" at an L.A. studio. Photo was taken by Foster's sister, Jaymes.

THE BIG NAMES JUST keep rolling out for next month's MTV Awards as material gal Madonna and Seattle big shots Pearl Jam have been added to the list of live performers for the ceremony. This makes the fourth appearance for the divine Miss M, the most by any performer in the award's 10-year history, and the second for Pearl Jam, who all but stole the show with its performance on last year's show. Also announced as presenters for the Sept. 2 event were Seinfeld's Michael "Kramer" Richards, the Red Hot Chili Peppers' Anthony Kiedis and Flea, Natalie Merchant, Martin Lawrence (Martin), lonely Tony Bennett, rapper/toker Dr. Dre and culture icons Beavis and Butthead.

THERE'S A NEW MUSIC rag coming out of Hollywood called Music Confidential, and if there's any justice in this weird town this useless waste of paper won't last long enough for a second issue to hit the streets. The mag is basically a rock 'n' roll version of the National Enquirer, full of pointless stories, falsehoods, innuendos, phony interviews and even, according to Ozzy Osbourne's publicist, slander. An uncredited story in the first edition, citing an "exclusive source close to the star," reports that Osbourne recently suffered a "tragic stroke that stopped the rock star in his tracks." The throwaway also claims that Oz was treated at a hospital here in L.A. and that he and his wife/manager Sharon Osbourne, have "managed to keep the stroke hush-hush." Sounds like a pile of dung to me, as well as to Mitchell Schneider, the metal madman's L.A.-based p.r. guy. Says Schneider, "The article is especially insidious because it attempts to damage the credibility Ozzy has with his admirers. As everyone knows, Ozzy has never concealed anything from his fans—in fact, he has always had an intensely honest relationship with them." Not surprisingly, Osbourne is suing Music Confidential for an unspecified amount that is apparently in excess of $1,000,000. Sounds like enough cash to put this bird-cage-liner permanently out o' business, and if you ask me, that can't come a moment too soon. (I'm glad that I declined an offer to write for the tabloid.)

BROOKS & DUNN: Hard Workin' Men

By Brad Hogue

THEY'VE BEEN STARS OF COUNTRY RADIO FOR OVER TWO YEARS. Now, six months after the acclaimed release of their already-Platinum-plus sophomore Arista CD, Hard Workin' Man, which followed the wildly successful (R.I.A.A. certified Triple Platinum) Brand New Man CD of 1991, Kix Brooks & Ronnie Dunn have become firmly established as the duo to watch in the '90s.

In the wake of The Judds' demise, Brooks, 38, and Dunn, 40, have followed a creative vision which has rewarded them with 1991's Top Vocal Duet accolades from the Academy of Country Music, a Vocal Duo of the Year award in 1992 from the Country Music Association, and a 1992 Rising Star award from the Amusement & Music Operators Association. Most recently, the Arista duo was nominated in three categories for the 1993 CMA Awards—Entertainer of the Year, Vocal Duo of the Year and Album of the Year for Hard Workin' Man. Dunn earned an additional nomination for Song of the Year for his country smash, "Boot Scootin' Boogie," which crossed all the way over to disco clubs.

Hot on the heels of the four #1 singles yielded by Brand New Man, two singles from Hard Workin' Man—the title cut and "We'll Burn That Bridge" have already reached the same enviable position on the Cash Box Top 100 Country Singles chart. The release of a third hard-workin' single, "She Used To Be Mine," slows down the pace a bit, revealing a softer side to the popular pair. It's one of only two ballads from the fast-paced best-seller.

In a recent interview with Cash Box, the once struggling songwriters remembered the tough times and reflected on glory. "Anyone in this business," Brooks said, "who says they never thought about giving it up is lying." Dunn echoed his remarks stating, "When the only thing on your resume is music it gets to a point where there's nothing else to do but continue—it's too late to turn back. We've just been hanging onto a rocket here that's doing nothing but climbing. I still can't explain the popularity. As far as the pressure goes, we try to ignore whatever pressure there might be."

If there's any pressure at all, it's dealing with the constant upgrades which stem from overwhelming success. "We're outgrowing ourselves everywhere we look," Brooks explained. "From the band to the crew to the trucks—everything on every level gets bigger. Our biggest challenge now is just keeping up with ourselves." One of the most significant signs of growth has been the duo's live show. "It's just nuts sometimes," says Dunn, the less flamboyant of the two. "The crowds are like those at rock concerts. It's been so loud a couple of times that we couldn't hear the band."

Another significant venture is the duo's endorsement of their own line of Panhandle Slim Western shirts, which recently hit shelves in over 2,500 outlets around the country. Both men have worn Panhandle Slim shirts for years, so the commercial tie-in and cross-marketing strategies came about naturally. The deal, which involves extensive advertising also serves as an additional method of keeping in the public eye. Brooks made a joke in an interview with People magazine: "If it works we're gonna change our names to Ralph [Lauren] and Calvin [Klein]." Well, get ready Kix, because initial orders for the red, black and yellow "flame shirt" prompted retailers to order 75,000 copies. Not bad for a couple of starving songwriters. "What keeps all that in focus," Dunn says, "is that country music is a very hands-on business. You don't become successful in country music by hiding yourself from the public and not associating with people. Once you start hanging out with people and you meet as many people as you should, then the fans will keep your feet on the ground."

For a couple of guys whose recent days off have consisted of going fishing with Dale Earnhardt, milling around the dressing room with Troy Aikman prior to a Cowboys playoff game, or being offered front row roller-coaster seats at Six Flags, the Brooks & Dunn team has remained humble. "How can you not be," they say simultaneously. Brooks explains, "We actually really love the road. We like traveling. Performing we just live and breathe—especially now that the crowd's into it, and we've got a few hits under our belt. We're just real fortunate to get to do this."

Even so, Brooks & Dunn remember when the times weren't so good and understand penny-pinching economics. An admitted fan of Rush Limbaugh, Dunn spoke candidly, "It's a hell of a time for a country boy to hit a lick in life and have Democrats in office taking all your money." Other than that, the Arista duo are happy men, content to take their own brand of turbo-twang (and hopefully a political opinion or two) out to all the people that want to listen. Ride 'em, cowboys and good luck at CMA!

FILM REVIEWS

Only The Strong

By John Goff

Mark Dacascos (in white) and his dirty dozen young followers.

YET ANOTHER MARTIAL ART is Capoeira (pronounce that cop-way-ruh), and it's only taken four centuries to find its way out of the jungles of Brazil to the screen where it looks to be in for a fairly short run, at least as practiced by this Freestone Pictures & Davis Films production, Twentieth Century Fox presentation.

Not that Only The Strong is a bad film. It isn't. It is nicely photographed and well edited, it has a large enough number of tunes to justify releasing a soundtrack album and an attractive cast. It's admirable but it just views more like a nice TV movie attempt rather than a motion picture. What it is is, there is a certain naivete to this than, say, a Steven Seagal, Jean-Claude Van Damme, Arnold Schwarzenegger or Sylvester Stallone film, a certain innocent charm to its characters which is lacking in the aforementioned. It presents a smiling hope, even in the face of dire tragedy.

For example: the setting here is a graffiti-smear school in Miami, Florida where the students are, let's say, obstreperous; drugs are dealt on campus and when something goes wrong these guys settle it by putting some music on—Capoeira's basic move is music-based—and they gentlemanly square off, colorfully spin and kick one another. A knife is drawn occasionally but firepower isn't widely used by these people. Firepower, not used by Miami, Florida drug gangs? Innocent.

The film by Sheldon Lettich, director and co-writer deals mostly in cliché. We've seen every bend of this script's road, usually on TV, except for the music-based fighting: the caring schoolteacher (Geoffrey Lewis and Stacey Travis here), the strong, stalwart (star, Mark Dacascos) who turns the school's "dirty dozen" around through teaching them Capoeira, etc.. Trust me, it's all there. And they're all attractive, mostly with sculpted body muscles and underneath the brash and gruff exterior, they're all good kids at heart. Even the photography by Edward Pei is bright and happy.

Dacascos, a Capoeira expert in real life and screen villain, Paco Christian Prieto, also a real-life martial arts expert, square off in a couple of well staged fights. Dacascos is just...well, nice. Humility in a martial arts hero is rare and seems out of place. Prieto is given to some over-the-top mugging. Old screen pro Lewis gets his licks in and shows them what "pro" means. Best performance of the kids is that of Richard Coca.

Wilder Napalm

By J.G.

FOR A FILM DEALING WITH FIRE TriStar's Wilder Napalm doesn't deliver much heat. The scattered story credited to Vince Gilligan may be fraught with symbolism but if it is probably only director Glenn Gordon Caron—it's a Glenn Gordon Caron Film, O.K.? knows what the symbols are and what they're coyly hiding.

Two brothers, flamboyant Dennis Quaid and regular guy Arliss Howard, have the gift of starting fires by thinking of them, rolling flame balls in their hands like snowballs, etc.. There's not a lot of sibling love between these two. Quaid wants to go public, make some money with their talent, Howard wants it kept secret. Quaid has the hots for Debra Winger, Howard's married to her.

She wears green, paints her cigarettes green. Why?...Who knows. And after about 15 minutes of the nonsense on screen...who cares.

A few good laughs are provided by the singing firemen, The Mighty Echoes, crooning on the fire truck as they roll to and fro on each fire call, and with these two brothers and Winger (under house arrest for arson), around, the Volunteer Fire Department of Midlothian is anything but idle.

Caron has encouraged Winger and Quaid to work hard but it is, as Shakespeare once remarked, "Sound and fury signifying nothing" except professional actors working hard to earn their, undoubtedly considerable, pay. Caron gives Howard the easier road of underplay, and he fares best of the lot. Jim Varney's asked to reprise his obnoxious TV commercial persona under a different name and a layer of tattoos and Ferris wheel grease and M. Emmet Walsh appears at a loss as to which way to go as the fire chief.

Lots of fire gags, not a lot of laughs. Doesn't add up to a lot of boxoffice. A Baltimore Pictures Production executive produced by Barrie M. Osborne and produced by Mark Johnson and Stuart Cornfeld.

Debra Winger and Dennis Quaid want to know what's going on down there—so do we.

FILM TALK

By John Goff

A COUPLE WEEKS AGO I took theatre chains to task about allegedly cutting operating costs by projecting films with short candle power with the results being a very murky on-screen look to a print (Cash Box Aug. 21). Not necessarily so, said William Lustig, a director friend of mine. While he admits that practice has been and possibly is still practiced, it's not as wide spread as it might appear. What really causes the poor quality of most prints being shown today, Bill informs me, is the difference in actual prints, a cost-cutting maneuver utilized by film distributors whereby general public consumption prints are reproduced on lesser quality film or struck from another print with the result being a quality loss from a generational factor.

According to Bill, a percentage of early prints struck are "Show prints, which are designated for critics and press screenings and (releases in) major theatres in New York, Los Angeles" and other major cities. These "show prints" are struck on high quality Eastman Kodak stock and from the film's original negative. After that certain number, depending upon the release, company, etc., the rest become the cost cutters. Certain directors, Steven Spielberg cited by Lustig, have the power to demand and check that all prints of their product be first rate, but those people are less than a handful. THX, Bill informed me, has a "quality control system to make sure the quality of all prints is of a certain high level," whereby the process is checked at every level, "but it's expensive." So let's scratch that for general consumption.

He told me a horror story of a time "when I was less savvy" of going to see one of his early films which had opened on Broadway in his home of N.Y. A proud moment for any filmmaker, right? Opening a piece of your work in your hometown. Bill went to the theatre to watch it with a paying audience, for whom films are, ostensibly, made and "it was my worst nightmare. The entire last reel was discolored." Turns out the last reel of the negative had been prematurely shipped to L.A. for a trailer assemblage and the lab had been striking prints of the last reel from yet another print which caused the discoloration; even though there was an inter-negative sitting on a shelf there which no one had bothered to check.

Basically what it boils down to is "indifference distribution companies have toward filmmakers' work," Bill says. I agree with that assessment, and it also points up the thrust of my other column, indifference toward the consuming audience also, from theatre chains and distributors, by giving them inferior product for top dollars in an attempt to make a buck. That attitude's gonna backfire someday.

NEWS OUT OF TRISTAR: Kevin Misher has been promoted to senior vice president of production for TriStar Pictures according to production president Stacey Lassally. Misher will continue to oversee projects initiated when he was production vp. One of those included is Rudy which has been selected as the closing night film for Toronto's 1993 Festival of Festivals in September. AND Sleepless In Seattle, Tom Hanks, Meg Ryan starrer has hit $106 million dollar mark. In addition to inclusion into that $100 mil golden circle, the S.I.S. soundtrack album continues to remain high on the Cash Box Top Pop Album Chart at number 2 again this week. Let's hear it for the Romantics out there! Romance isn't asleep, it's Sleepless!... See you at the movies...

Chaplin

By John Goff

HIGHLIGHT OF THIS SCREEN BIO of the Little Tramp is Robert Downey, Jr.'s performance of Chaplin. His well-deserved Oscar nomination is the centerpiece of the film and is only part of what promises to be a long and solid career. His mastery of the mime Chaplin was so famous for is wonderful to watch. The Richard Attenborough film attempts to explain the comic's obsession for youthful women via a "first love" fascination...O.K... Also a wistful look at early Hollywood. Live Home Video.

This Boy's Life

By Troy J. Augusto

A TRUE STORY BASED on the troubled teen years of award-winning New York novelist Tabias Wolff, "This Boy's Life" is a riveting and powerful drama that not only shows Robert De Niro in all of his dynamic thespian glory, but introduces 18-year-old Leonardo Di Caprio who, in the film's title role, nearly upstages the Academy Award-winning De Niro. Along with his long-suffering mom, played most effectively by Ellen Barkin, Toby struggles with life under the heavy hand of De Niro's Dwight, a frightening wolf in sheep's clothing who almost SHANACHIE HOME VIDEO has a series of videos out, the 7up series whereby Granada Television has filmed children at age 7 in different parts of the world and will (or have in some instances already) return to re-interview them every seven years. Pair out now, 7up In South Africa and 7up In The Soviet Union are strong viewing; children not allowed to be children, children who deal with issues far beyond what they should have to deal with not only at age 7 but at any age—hunger, bigotry, loss of childhood. The plea of one 7-year-old in Russia, life taken up with caring for her younger brothers and sisters when asked for her greatest wish: "To play, to play." points up the disparity of life quality around the world and makes one ask here in this country, "What's to gripe about?" This is an excellent series to put some spin on perspective at any age, if anyone cares to do such a thing... Also upcoming from Shanachie: Masters of the Country Blues featuring such talents as Lightnin' Hopkins, Roosevelt Sykes, Fred McDowell, Big Joe Williams, Elizabeth Cotten and Jesse Fuller.

Queen: Super charters

RECENTLY THE INDUSTRY in Britain has altered the charts and from a proposal some 18 months previously the BPI instituted a Top 40 plus a Breakers' Chart to replace the Top 75...the result is that the new charts have almost been totally ignored by the retailers and, more importantly, by the buying public.

The chairman of both BPI and Bard, the organizations involved, accused the retailers of apathy but the reaction from the sharp end of the trade seems to be more one of an open grassroots revolt...it appears that many retailers are not only apathetic but actually hostile—if the letter page of Music Week is anything to go by.

The problem seems to be that the Breakers charts run in conjunction with the original charts for more than seven months but it clearly has not changed the public's reaction to records. This means that few major outlets rack out the breakers because they seem to move in and out so quickly and those same retailers regret losing the 40 to 75 positions which can affect sales.

SALES BOOST... The temperature seems to be rising and credited with increasing the sales of those artists short-listed is the Mercury Music Prize—and this is usually slack time of the year. This is probably because Mercury have set up in-store racks at more than 2,000 multiple and independent outlets throughout Britain and have released a low-price 1993 short-list sampler.

This is happening at a time when BPI figures show that music shipments again rose during the second quarter of the year and indicating that the industry is finally emerging from recession.

According to the latest statistics albums shipped rose 15.1% to 30.6m year on year between April and June whilst their value increased 10.9%. Singles were equally impressive with a rise of 17.3% to top the 14m mark—the second highest quarter total since 1986—and their value jumped 14.5%. Overall the total value of the music market rose 11.4% to around $230 million.

Things also look good for the end of the year with retailers Our Price planning to spend a record $1,250,000 this Christmas in national press and TV advertising. December is always their strongest month with around 20% of its sales but they hope the campaign will capture sales over a longer period.

STILL COURTING DISASTER... The legal beagles still seem to be grabbing more of the headlines than the music stars and VPL and IFPI are pledging to fight the High Court action by MTV

Europe in its bid to change the face of rights licensing in Europe...this MTV Europe action came just a few weeks after VPL itself sued MTV for alleged copyright infringements and seeking damages of more than a million dollars.

MOJO WORKING...? The age profile of Britain is getting older and Q magazine, published by Empa Metro recognized this and became successful with a magazine aimed at the slightly older than teenage market—it currently sells 172,000-plus copies but has realized that its original readers had now themselves got older. So it is introducing a new title targeting even older readers in the 30-45-plus age group. The new title will be called Mojo.

CHARTS... The pop world can certainly be hard on the living but it often looks after the dead...or so it seems. Freddie Mercury has his second posthumous No. One with "Living On My Own." This is a remixed version of his 1985 release that only made #50.

Dolly Parton is still doing alright with royalties from "I Will Always Love You"...this time with it is Sarah Washington's version which made its chart debut at #20 and then moved up to the #12 position—yet when it was first released in January it was virtually totally ignored because of the Whitney Houston success.

As for Whitney herself her fourth single from The Bodyguard soundtrack has not had the effect of the previous ones peaking at #15 with "Run To You"...yet it was the only song to win an Oscar nomination. Perhaps we should not be surprised because worldwide the album is reputed to have sold in excess of 22 million.

The album charts see U2's Zooropa actually increasing sales but still being unable to regain the top spot from UB40 because Promises And Lies also increased sales...but U2 can take some consolation from the fact that Achtung Baby, which has already sold nearly a million copies in Britain, is this week's highest climber. Only other act making ripples in the charts currently is Billy Joel's River Of Dreams which entered at #4 and moved into the third position the following week—the highest position he has achieved in the past.

The long-selling life of some acts is truly remarkable. Five acts have been present for more than two years! Queen easily led the way with 342 weeks and sales of more than three million for Greatest Hits; Bob Marley and Legend have been around 195 weeks and are approaching the two million mark for Bat Out Of Hell; Guns N' Roses have kept Appetite For Destruction there for 128 weeks; and REM and Out Of Time for 125 weeks.

NEWS FROM JAPAN

SONY MUSIC ENTERTAINMENT CO. has achieved a record sales milestone for fiscal 1992 (April 1992 to March 1993) with "100 billion yen" ($1,000 million). This represents an increase of 8.44% over fiscal '91. "This result was an exceptional and splendid performance," said a source connected with the industry, "because the economy in general in this country is in a long and continued slump." Together with the total sales, the company has accomplished what amounts to a double net income in this term, $225 million, an increase of 139% over fiscal '91. The income before taxes was $234 million, up 142%. According to the company, many smash hits of local works in this period was the major element of the fine results in this term. "Sotsugyou"/Yutaka Ozaki, "I Love You"/Yutaka Ozaki, "Osaka Suzume"/Miyuki Nagai, "Secchuka"/Natsuko Godai and "Natsudane"/Tube were the top five local titles contributing to the sales. In international repertoires, the best five works were "Vision Of Love"/Mariah Carey, "Swing Time"/Harry Connick, Jr. and his Orchestra, "Kingdom Of Desire" and "Timeless."

IN THE 45 SECTION, "Hadashi No Megami" (B'z, BMG Rooms) has been awarded a quadruple platinum award certification by RIAJ (Record Industries Association of Japan) for July, 1993 followed by "Koiseyo Otome" (Wands, Toshiba EMI) which was awarded double platinum. At the same time, two platinum awards went to two titles each, "Datte Natsujana!" (Tube, Sony) and "Koibito" (Masayuki Suzuki, Epic Sony). Gold award winners were: "Anatani Nara..." (Miho Nakayama, King), "Shima Uta" (The Boom, Sony), "Tsubasao Hirogete" (Deen, BGRAM), "Melody/Baby Baby" (Masaharu Fukuyama, BMG Victor), "Natau No Hi No 1993" (Class, Apollon), "Yume With You" (Yuji Honjo, Victor Entertainment), "Big Wave Yattekitai" (Misato Watanabe, Epic Sony), "Hae Otoko/Memories" (Chisato Moritaka, Warner Music Japan) and "Naked Desire" (Access, Fun House). Tokino Tobira (Wands, Toshiba EMI) has been awarded a quadruple award in albums while a double platinum went to three works: Yureru Omoi (Zard, BGRAM), Single Is Best (Airi Hiramatsu, Pony Canyon) and Roman No Ntau (Tube, Sony). Eleven works including "Juliana Tokyo Vol. 3" (Omnibus, Avex), "Wagamana Actress" (Miho Nakayama, King) and "Diamond Expression" (Seiko Matsuda, Sony), were awarded gold.

The total shipments of video softwares for June, 1993 in Japan, according to a survey conducted by JVA (Japan Video Association), amounted to $152 million, 22.7% down from the comparable month of the prior year. Cassettes were $91 million, 20% down while disks were $59 million, a drop of 26.4%.

ACCORDING TO A SURVEY conducted by Cash Box Tokyo, the total sales of both audio and video softwares here for fiscal 1992 (April 1992 to March 1993) of 26 major record and tape manufacturers was $5,828 million, the highest in history, but represents only a 2.53% increase from fiscal 1991 of $5,634 million. Shown in detail, CDs increased 12.09% with $3,670 million over the prior year of $3,270 million. CD sales represented 63.6% of the total for the term. Vinyl showed a recovery with a 42.7% increase over last year, however, sales were very short with $17 million. At the same time, audio cassettes and video softwares were inert in this term. Audio cassettes showed $277 million, 17.5% down and 4.8% of the total. Video softwares (including disk and tape) were $1,285 million, a drop of 13.5% and 22.2% of the total. Of the total sales in this term, a person concerned with the music industries said, "A ratio of increase in this fiscal term was very little compared to previous consecutive several years. It was due to a smaller number of smash hits than prior years and mostly by the recession of economy in this country lasting for two years." Of the total sales, domestic works were $3,338 million, 79.3% of the total, an increase of 11.7% over the prior fiscal year of $2,989 million. International repertoires were almost even with 1991 with 99.34% and sales of $871 million. Of the 26 record and tape manufacturers (25 companies are affiliated with Record Industries Association of Japan and one label is a non-member), 14 labels showed increase of sales to prior year in which Victor Entertainment, Polydor Japan, Toshiba-EMI, Nippon Crown, Tokuma-Japan Communications and BMG-Victor were members of the top group this term.

REVIEWS By Troy J. Augusto

EN VOGUE: "Runaway Love" (EastWest 2032)
The next chart-topper from these ridiculously popular harmonizing gals is lifted from a soon-to-be-released e.p. of remixes and new cuts. This comfortably groovin' song, seemingly familiar the first time you hear it, features all four Vogue'ers doing what they do best—melting hearts. Super confident vocals, En Vogue's bread and butter, will propel "Runaway Love" to the top of all the appropriate charts and playlists. Don't miss this one.

BUFFALO TOM: "Sodajerker" (Beggars Banquet/EastWest 5214)
Very promising trio from Boston makes its best argument yet for airplay with this well-written and arranged cut from its forthcoming Big Red Letter Day album, the band's first under a new arrangement between its London-based label, Beggars Banquet and Atlantic-distributed East-West. Recalling, at times, R.E.M., the Replacements and Marc Cohn, this tune with its lilting acoustic guitar and smooth vox, is a fine add to any album or modern rocker's playlist. CD single also features two bonus tracks.

LIVING COLOUR: "Bi" (Epic 5308)
An odd choice for single treatment, but a good song nonetheless. "Bi" is a would-be love anthem for the '90s ("Everybody loves you when you're bi!"). Hard funk tune spotlights the vox of frontman Corey Glover (what are you trying to tell us, Corey?) and the nimble fingers of new bassist Doug Wimbish. The New York band's latest album, Stain, has been out of the public eye for quite a while which, combined with this song's almost-risque theme, may prevent "Bi" from making much of a splash.

JULIANA HATFIELD THREE: "My Sister" (Atlantic/Mammoth 5148)
Fans of Belly will eat up the first single from Hatfield, the former Blake Babies singer, and band. Detailing the love/hate relationship that most siblings have, "My Sister" spotlights Juliana's heavy and steady guitar work and waifish vocals, all very radio-ready. Funny angle to this song, despite the picture that it paints, is that Hatfield doesn't have any sisters! The first of what should be many ready-for-playlist cuts from the trio's excellent Become What You Are opus.

PICK OF THE WEEK

Digable Planets: "Nickel Bags (Of Funk)" (Pendulum/Elektra 8810)
Exciting jazz/hip-hop outfit looks to get back on track with the song that should have been the second single from its amazing debut entry, Reachin' (A New Refutation of Time & Space). A consistently swingin' groove propels this smooth and funky jam, which features Doodlebug, Ladybug and Butterfly all working the vocal tip. It's not too late to rescue this album from the chart cellar, and this is just the tune to do it. Fresh buzz from the Lollapalooza tour could also point to some alternative play adds. Check it out.

REVIEWS by Troy J. Augusto

■ BAD BRAINS: Rise (Epic 53951)

It seems unbelievable but Bad Brains have been around, in one line-up or another, for 16 years. That's a long time for any band, eternity for an underground, alternative outfit like the Brains. But, lo and behold, it's 1993 and the band is finally putting out a record on a major label. Rise is a fine follow-up to the band's previous five albums, full of punk attitude, solid musicianship and reggae roots. Key tracks include the ragga rave "Love Is The Answer," the title track, which is the lead single, and the dynamic "Free."

■ SATIVA LUVBOX: Beloved Satellite (Gasoline Alley 10855)

These punky hard rockers are named for singer Patrick Mata's former girlfriend, Sativa (the Luvbox part is open to individual interpretation!). Beloved Satellite is a somewhat inconsistent though, at times, startling collection that touches on lots of different vibes and song themes, including love and hate, life and death and sex. OK, not real original, but decent listening nonetheless. The mid-tempo title track and the raw "Warm Inside" balance the ignorance of "Orgy Inna Bed Of Flowers." Spotty but promising.

■ DEBORAH HARRY: Debravation (Sire 45303)

What year is this, anyway? Duran Duran is triple-platinum, Rod Stewart has the biggest record of his solo career, Cyndi Lauper has made her best album and Steely Dan is touring! So it only makes sense that Deb Harry, who first gained stardom fronting New York punk pioneers Blondie, would return with new material. And, for the most part, it's a solid affair. Single "I Can See Clearly," "Mood Ring," which features the keys of Anne Dudley, and the Blondie-like "Stability" are the best on this surprisingly strong alb.

HALO

HALO, eye. VELOCITY

■ HALO: JAG/eye.VELOCITY (Restless/Kk 72802)

Ultra-modern rock duo is comprised of Scott Feemster and Ian D. Smith, both of whom sing and play simple yet mesmerizing heavy guitar. The group's music is a mix of Brit shoe-gazer bands, Chicago-styled industrial and Pink Floyd-like prog-rock. Best cut, by far, on this unique and challenging album is "River Runs Black," an infectious and noisy tune whose recurring guitar licks and anxious vocals make for lots of thought-altering fun. Also check out "Swallowing Led" and the gothic "Underdrive."

■ VARIOUS ARTISTS: Probe Mission USA (Novamute 3009)

Well, they tried to warn us that this whole techno/rave/industrial thing was going to be a musical force to be reckoned with, and sure enough, the damn stuff is everywhere these days. This is a compilation of new material from the Probe/+8 label, a company that specializes in mind-numbing, very spacey rave stylings. Best of the bunch offered here includes the Dolby-ish "Drone Um Futurisma" by Cusp, "Nightflight" from Up! and "Trac X" by Motor City genre faves Circuit Breaker. Only for the very open-minded.

■ ORIGINAL SOUNDTRACK: Amongst Friends (Atlantic 82530)

This collection supports the new Tribeca film from Rob Weiss and is comprised mostly of previously released material from a gang of Atlantic-associated artists. Included, among others, are Lemonheads, with the title track from their latest, It's A Shame About Ray; Tone Loc, with his hit "Wild Thing"; "Passin Me By," from hip-hop faves The Pharcyde; Mott The Hoople's "All The Young Dudes"; and "Crawl" from Seattle hopefuls Sweetwater. B.A.D.'s Mick Jones adds three new, though rather inconsequential, songs.

■ HENRY LEE SUMMER: Slamdunk (Epic Assoc. 52721)

It's do-or-die time for Summer as he's still looking for the big breakthrough many have anticipated for him ever since his first alb for Epic yielded the catchy hit "I Wish I Had A Girl." Slim pickings since then (two more albums, one semi-hit), but Slamdunk just may be the record to push ol' Hank back to the top of the charts. Mid-America roots-rock is Summer's game, and here he plays to win. His signature song (and first single) "Ain't That Love," "Driving Me Crazy" and cover of "The Boys And Girls Are Doin' It" are key.

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ HOLLYFAITH: *Purr (Epic 53322) Producer: Don Fleming
The latest project from super alt-rock producer Don Fleming (Teenage Fan Club, Screaming Trees) is this distractingly hook-y quartet from Atlanta. Like the other bands that Fleming's worked with, Hollyfaith (named for singer Rob Aldridge's sister) are a guitar-heavy, pop-conscious crew that deftly combine raw, unrefined, punk-fueled six-string noise with melodies that burn themselves into your brain. The spastic "Who Is You," the semi-acoustic "Watching, Waiting, Turning," "Delicacies," with its shameless Beatles lift and emphasis track "Whatsamatta," which is steadily climbing modern-rock playlists, are the best on this most enjoyable band's fine debut.

REVIEWS by M.R. Martinez

■ MAVIS STAPLES: The Voice (Paisley Park/Reprise 925049-2). Producers: Various.

The lady has soul to burn, and it is fully evident on this album, that is given a variety of contemporary treatments under the guidance of His Purple Highness and others. No matter how contemporary the stank put on the music, Staples' delivery is timeless, heartfelt and genuinely churchy. The title track, "House In Order," "The Undertaker" (which features her daddy Pop Staples on guitar), "Kain't Turn Back" and the collaboration with Prince on "Melody Cool" are highlights on this gutsy package.

Those who think dancehall reggae is defined by the work of Shabba Ranks, Supercat, Cobra and others have yet to hear Barrington Levy, who brings forth a hybrid of traditional reggae, toaster style and the crossover funk and groove that Sly Dunbar and Robbie Shakespeare used to establish themselves as world-class producers. It's all in the mix here on Levy's U.S. label debut. Tracks like "Survival," "Work," "Be Strong" and his classic "Under Me Sensi" represent the varied work that has become his trademark.

■ PRIVATE INVESTIGATORS: React Like Ya Knew (Virgin 7243 8 39016 2 3). Producer: Various.

There's an appealing yet skewed flow coming from this quintet of rhymer and DJs. They've got the garrish, provocative humor of The Pharcyde and the silliness of Digital Underground. But make no mistake: this crew is distinctive. Two tracks that stand as a testament to this are "Who Am I? (God)," which features a round robin of lively mic work and haunting textures riding atop a fetching groove, and "Mash Up The Mic," which is an in-you-face, come-step-to-me challenge featuring freestyle and dancehall influences.

■ LAURIE ROTH: Always Best Friends (C-Four/Mogull 73333 35829-2CD). Producers: Various.

A lot of funky dance pop comes out of the Great Northwest. Roth's fellow Portland homies Jeff Lorber, Kenny G and Nu Shooz have all moved forth from those rainy climes to produce some creditable and (in some cases) enduring music. When Roth goes up tempo—like on the collection's first single, "Baby, Do The Right Thing," and her cover of the Rick James/Mary Jane Girls hit "In My House"—she's most definitely funky. She exhibits more of her pop sensibilities on the album's title track, "Always Best Friends" (a duet with Kenny Thomas).

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ BABYFACE: For The Cool In You (Epic EK 53558). Producer: Babyface, L.A. Reid & Daryl Simmons.

Kenny "Babyface" Edmonds has mastered the midtempo and love ballad. He's not so bad on the slower material, either he doesn't rely on any one element—songwriting hooks, instrumental production, voice or emotionalism—to make his formula work. He manages to move forward with the precise melding of all the ingredients. This collection's first single, "For The Cool In You," works from the instrumental and vocal standpoint and has helped propel the album into the top of the pop charts. Other key tracks on this 12-song collection include "Never Keeping Secrets," "Rock Bottom," "Saturday" and "Well Alright" (featured in the Columbia Pictures movie Poetic Justice).

THE RHYTHM

Paisley Park recording artist Carmen Electra and dancer Frank Williams (pictured above) portray key characters in the urban adaptation of Homer's Odyssey, which is called Glam Slam Ulysses. The play features 13 new songs from Prince, or the androgynous, unpronounceable symbol. The play premiered recently at Prince's Glam Slam Club in Los Angeles.

"GLAM-O-RAMA", a complete sensurround presentation of a "Homer-erotic" adventure and fantasy is how Prince and collaborator Kenneth Robins describe Glam Slam Ulysses, and inter-able music and dance/theatre production that was unveiled recently at the Purple One's Glam Slam club in Los Angeles. That Homer's Odyssey was couched in 13 new Prince songs and that Robins (who co-conceived the project and also directed the event) played to carnal senses was not a surprise. It was a marriage of dance, a little theater and canned music by the pop icon. Documentarian David Haugland provided the video portions of the show while serving as producer. Elaborate costumes, lithe and suggestive dancing, with an occasional flourish of hokey drama best describe this show. Although some of the songs deal specifically with Robins' libretto, many of the tracks could easily be on a Prince album. But the only way the public will hear these tunes is if the show hits the road, playing various club venues around the country. None of the songs will be on the upcoming Paisley Park/Warner Bros. album by Prince, Hits Volumes I & II. And so it goes.

DR. BAYAN'S CORNER: More singles reviews from a teen perspective. Babyface "For The Cool In You"—Epic ESK 5345. This song has the tightest hooks that I've heard in a while. It's a surprise to hear something this strong from such a laidback person. It's definitely Babyface material. He sticks to the smooth romantic tone that has made his recent songs a success, but it's so refreshingly different. It's "cool"... Angie and Debbie—"Light of Love"—Capitol C2 0777 7 16492 2 6. This lovely duo gave me the impression that they have the talent and ambition to make this song a big, big hit. Being a well put-together piece, it's the kind of song that never gets played out. This single features five versions, including an instrumental, radio, and remix edit. By the way, Whitney Houston makes a courtesy appearance on the track also... Alex Bugnon—"So, So Happy"—Epic ESK 77154. Mr. Bugnon sounds like he's talking through a mute, which I think is very unique, because it creates an effect which makes the voice seem like one with the music. The display of the keyboard and piano helps to decorate the track, adding to your listening enjoyment. Be sure to look out for this one... Kashan—"Cool Summer Night"—Paragon 4449. This song has totally blown my mind. Much props must be given up to the horn and piano intro. The lyrical flow, which consists of a smooth jazz tone with a hip-hop edge to it is one of the main features, but the background vocals add the right thing to make the whole song seem complete. This song is definitely going to be a classic... Tashan—"Love Is Forever"—Chaos/Columbia OSK 77072. The background vocals are the dominant aspect in this case, but Tashan, a very soulful brother, is well able to flex his vocal chords also. Tashan further displays his capabilities on "Single and Lonely," an additional song which is just as sweet as "Love Is Forever," but it has more of a blues-inspired sound to it.

A.L.T. on the road again.

GOING INNER CITY: Latino rapper A.L.T. (Another Latin Time Bomb) has switched labels and will release his next album, Stone Cold World, on Inner City Music. The first single from this project is "Ridin' High." A.L.T. is also being featured on the State Of Emergency compilation project that is currently in progress. On his forthcoming album, a follow-up to product released as a solo artist on EastWest Records and as part of a 1991 compilation on Virgin Records, Latin Alliance, the East L.A. County native attacks gang violence and other social ills in the same manner that African-American hip-hoppers have demonstrated with their work. While hard-core, the flow is articulate. Tony G co-produced the album with A.L.T.

DR BAYAN'S CORNER, PT.II: More singles from a teen perspective. Mad Flava "Feel Tha Flava"—Priority P4JM 53808. Mad Flava is sure to make a big name for themselves with this single. The microphone performances are an excellent treat for the avid hip-hop listener. The two remixes (including an awesomely smooth jazz remix) by Eric "Vietnam" Sadler are just bursting with flavor. This song has all the elements to be labeled a hip-hop classic. Don't sleep on it!... K7 "Come Baby Come"—Tommy Boy TBCD 573. With a lyrical mixture of reggae, folk, and hip-hop, it's not hard to acknowledge the originality of this group. I found myself stomping my feet and singing along. This jam is not only great to dance to, it also seems to have the right flavor for radio. And it has enough bass to enliven the party when cranked on the stereo... E-Dawg featuring Filthy Rich "Drop Top"—Def American/Rhyme Cartel PRO-CD-6329. This is a gangster cut in which the track used is rather rough around the edges, but the strong lyrical skills and the tasty breaks help to smooth the whole thing out. It focuses on the good times that can be had when rolling in one's ride. Another song featured on the single is "Little Locs," which focuses on the hustling game... Hi-C "Got It Like That"—Skanless PRCD-10352-2. From getting females to getting paid in full, Hi-C explains why he is so privileged to have it "like that" in this hilarious song. I thought the instrumental version was slamming. The instrumental alone would probably be spinning wildly at parties and late-night mixes.

TALENT REVIEW

Whitney Houston

By M.R. Martinez

HOLLYWOOD BOWL, HOLLYWOOD, CA—Whitney Houston performed for her fans among the 17,000-plus that attended the Sunday night show here recently—and not the critics who have traditionally reamed her for not making more tasteful use of her rangy, near pitch-perfect vocal instrument. Houston seemed much more at ease than she has during previous live performances.

The Arista recording artist strutted the stage during the nearly 90-minute set, ripping off a series of tunes from her collection of top-charting singles—including "Savin' All My Love," "The Greatest Love," "I Wanna Dance With Somebody" and (from The Bodyguard collection) "I Will Always Love You," a cover of the Dolly Parton tune, and "I'm Every Woman," a cover of a Chaka Khan tune. She even covered the Jennifer Holliday hit from Dream Girls, "And I'm Tellin' You I'm Not Going."

In nearly each instance, including medleys that featured gospel music and a selection from the classic musical Porgy & Bess, Houston embellished each song with soaring inflections that wowed the audience, but has in the past left critics chilly. The audience continues to be moved by Houston's histrionics (much the way they have been by Anita Baker's interpretive work), and the emotional content she puts into each song seemed calculated to get a rise from fans. Houston repeatedly made note of the fact that "there are no machines" on the stage with her. The backing band, which featured a guest spot by opening act saxophonist Kirk Whalum, and the four backing singers provided a full sound and made Houston's departures into emotional fancy an easy thing to tolerate.

Opening act Angie & Debbie Winans (Capitol) suffered from the highly charged anticipation of Houston's show. But they managed to show that even as the youngest of this famous singing clan, they have inherited the soul of the music.

TALENT REVIEW

Tony Bennett/
Shirley Horn

By Sanford Chambliss

HOLLYWOOD BOWL, HOLLYWOOD, CA—Nostalgia was the watchword last week at the Hollywood Bowl as Tony Bennett, the Shirley Horn Trio and the Count Basie Band treated a remarkably appreciative audience to an evening of music from "pop's" golden age.

Showing that he still possesses one of most commanding presences in the entertainment industry, Bennett opened his set with "Ole Devil Moon" and continued with "It Had To Be You" and "Once In A Lifetime." He was tastefully backed by a trio led by pianist Ralph Sharon. Although the material ranged from Hank Williams to Duke Ellington and included songs by Gershwin as well, he executed it all like the trooper he is.

Shirley Horn's performance, a set of well-chosen standards, surprised those in the audience who had thought of her as a supper club performer. Her voice, her piano playing and her trio clearly got the message over to a mass audience.

While the Count Basie Band played well, featuring well-executed solos by leader Frank Foster, bassist Cleveland Eaton and others, something was missing, as usual. There are never enough musical reminders of The Count.

TALENT REVIEW

Eliza Gilkyson

By Fred L. Goodman

TROUBADOUR, WEST HOLLYWOOD, CA—The old adage, "The apple does not fall far from the tree," certainly applies to Eliza Gilkyson. Daughter of '50s folkie Terry Gilkyson, who gave the world such evergreens as "Greenfields" (a hit for the Brothers Four) and "All Day All Night Marianne" (a smash for Terry as well as the Hilltoppers), Eliza has the voice, looks and charisma to become a success on her own.

With her long blonde hair, lean figure, crystal-clear voice and folk-rock songs with an edge, she reminds one of early Joni Mitchell. Gilkyson opened her set with "Dionysian Love," the same tune that opens her new album, Through The Looking Glass, her first for Private Music. Most of her nearly 90-minute set consisted of numbers from the album, including such standouts as "When We Cross Over," "Lights Of Santa Fe," "Emmanuel" and the title cut.

A four-piece band accompanied Gilkyson for most of the set, but on the songs she performed just accompanying herself on guitar or keyboard, she really shone. Particularly touching was her version of daddy's "Greenfields." Gilkyson's humorous and self-effacing patter between songs added just the right comic relief to the proceedings.

A solo encore of Donovan's "Catch The Wind" was a perfect ending to a wonderful evening. Eliza Gilkyson is on the verge of catching the wind to stardom.

THIRD COAST

By Brad Hogue

THE MOVING PICTURE COMPANY: Keith & Peggy Walton-Walker: A welcome addition to the Nashville entertainment community.

NASHVILLE—Well, it's common knowledge now that America has found its music for the '90s...and it's COUNTRY! Those who were willing to write it off as Urban Cowboy Revisited have been appropriately corrected, if not embarrassed. That's cool, though—no hard feelings. The Nashville music industry is laughing it off modestly and singing all the way to the bank. Country records accounted for over $1,000,000,000 in 1992, and during any given week, approximately 25% of the top-selling albums on the charts are country. Additionally, TNN & CMT invade nearly twice as many homes as MTV, and there are close to 3,000 radio stations now programming Nashville's most valuable commodity—more than any other format. Bravo Nashville!

So what's next for Music City? Well, in addition to the major players and organizations from New York, Los Angeles and London which have relocated to Nashville, another form of popular entertainment is now in its infancy here—motion pictures. Given Nashville arguably contains the largest condensation of creative talent anywhere, this comes as no surprise.

Take for instance the story of new-to-Nashville residents Keith and Peggy Walker. Actually, Free Willy is their story. Screenwriter Keith Walker and his wife actress/writer Peggy Walton-Walker relocated to Nashville over a year ago from Los Angeles and have since formed an independent film production group called The Moving Picture Company. As Free Willy is currently a box office smash, grossing over $58,000,000 to date, and still hanging tight in the top 10 since its July 16 opening, the Walkers will celebrate the film's success right here in Nashville.

"The mission statement of our company," said Keith Walker to Cash Box, "is to make movies that lift the spirit, give people hope and make them feel better."

In an effort to interest Nashville investors in funding their company's projects, the Walkers have been shaking hands and taking names, maneuvering their schedules to lunch with potential business partners and future friends. "Music City, U.S.A. could just as easily become Film City, U.S.A.," Walton-Walker said. Keith Walker added, "A lot of good things have happened in the trade magazines and on shows like Entertainment Tonight to raise investor consciousness to the fact that there is very serious money to be made in making movies—more money today is made in your worldwide release than is made in your domestic release. The markets outside the U.S. are growing at huge paces."

The Walkers are going to investors with (1) The mission statement of the company. (2) The idea to make movies outside the Hollywood studio system, with budgets under $10 million, and (3) Creating something locally that garners ongoing publicity for Nashville, which consequently leads to greater economic development and entertainment industry diversity.

Two films are already on the Walkers' forefront. One is a comedy-murder mystery set in the South called A Real Nekkid Lady. The film is budgeted at 3.6 million. The other film called Catfish, was inspired by a visit to Manuel's Cajun eatery in Milton, TN. Both films will feature young actors in the major roles and both are written to be filmed in and around Nashville.

Other current big screen projects which concern Nashville include Peter Bogdanovich's The Thing Called Love, and of course, George Strait's Pure Country, which was a success at the box office, also enjoyed sales of nearly three million copies of the accompanying MCA soundtrack. Another film called Ieska, a full-fledged Western movie is scheduled to be shot this fall in Middle & East Tennessee. Jim Fargo, whose credits include Clint Eastwood's Every Which Way But Loose, The Outlaw Josie Wales and The Enforcer, will direct. Actor Anthony Quinn's son Francesco Quinn is set to play the lead role. Bravo Film City!

COUNTRY NEWS BOX

Continued Expansion For CMT

STAMFORD, CT—CMT: Country Music Television and CMT Europe, properties of Gaylord Entertainment and Group W Satellite Communications (GWSC) will reach 26.9 million subscribers worldwide by September 1993. It was announced by Hal Willis, vice president and general manager, worldwide, CMT, and Tom Hawley, vice president, international distribution and special markets, GWSC. CMT is distributed to 21.1 million households in the United States and Canada, while CMT Europe is now available to 5.8 million homes throughout Europe. CMT is currently experiencing its greatest growth with CMT Europe, a special European mix of country music videos launched in the United Kingdom on October 19, 1992. In its first 10 months, CMT Europe has continued an aggressive plan to launch its service throughout Europe and currently is available to subscribers in the United Kingdom, Scandinavia, Holland, Moscow and Latvia. Agreements have also been reached to launch the service in Slovenia, Slovakia and Georgia before the end of the year. "CMT Europe is growing aggressively," said Hawley, "There is a large and growing young adult audience for country music videos in all parts of the European community. The strong response from viewers, cable operators, program distributors and record labels has really encouraged us to accelerate CMT's expansion there."

NASHVILLE—INTO THE AGE—Mercury Nashville president of sales and marketing, Steve Miller, has been named one of the nation's top 100 marketers by the editors of Advertising Age magazine. Miller, the only marketer named from the record industry, was cited for his involvement in the marketing plan behind Billy Ray Cyrus and his record-breaking single, "Achy Breaky Heart." Miller joins the ranks of those who spearheaded campaigns for a wide array of notable projects including Crayola, Coca-Cola, Ben & Jerry's, President Clinton, Target and even Barney the Dinosaur.

NASHVILLE—Answering The Call: Mercury recording artist Sammy Kershaw has teamed up with Kroger, Infinity Electronics and the American Red Cross to raise funds to aid Midwest flood victims. They are all part of a new "Answer The Call" program which will offer transportable cellular phones for $25 at 32 Kroger stores in the Nashville area. The full purchase price of the phone will go to the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund, which has committed much of its resources to responding to the Flood of '93, said Tom Costello, chapter executive officer at the Nashville headquarters. Kershaw, official spokesperson for "Answer The Call," bought the first four phones at the program's August 16 kickoff at the Red Cross headquarters in Nashville. Kershaw experienced floods while growing up in Louisiana and recently helped sandbag in Iowa after holding a concert there. The goal is to raise $30,000 by distributing 1,200 phones, said Costello.

REVIEWS by Brad Hogue

■ GIBSON/MILLER BAND "Small Price" (Epic ESK 77169)

From the Epic CD, Where There's Smoke, "Small Price" was written by Austin Cunningham & Thom McHugh and produced by Doug Johnson with Blue Miller from the band. It speaks of a gentle relationship that has grown to a point where mutual appreciation is always apparent. In a chart crowded with cheatin' songs, this strumming ballad is a welcome change. Tasty blues licks.

■ RONNA REEVES "He's My Weakness" (Mercury CDP 976)

Ronna slows down the pace a bit with this one called "He's My Weakness." From her current Mercury CD, What Comes Naturally, the weepy ballad reveals strength in weakness, as Ronna gives a wrenching vocal to the well-written heartbreaker from songwriters Gloria Sklerov & Robin Tapp. Clyde Brooks & Harold Shedd have produced a winner here. Look for steady chart action.

■ JOHN BERRY "Kiss Me In The Car" (Liberty DPRO-79000)

Liberty's latest gem, John Berry should do well with "Kiss Me In The Car." While it's the time of year for ballads, this upbeat country ditty pushes seriousness aside and offers some spirited end-of-summer fun. Written by Berry with Chris Waters, the moody ditty certainly does its part to get the toes tapping, so we're predicting it to climb right up the chart. Chuck Howard produces.

■ MARK COLLIE "Something's Gonna Change Her Mind" (MCA MCA5P-54720)

With the release of his last two singles, Collie has found a style that suits him fine. "Something's Gonna Change Her Mind" provides a mid-tempo hook in all the right places, making it one of Collie's best releases to date. Written with Don Cook, it tells the story of loving, losing and gaining back. Don Cook also produces. "Something's gonna change/Something's gonna change her mind."

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ MARK CHESNUTT "Almost Goodbye" (MCA MCA5P-54718)

The title cut from his latest MCA release, "Almost Goodbye" is an excellent country song pushed high on epic sorrow, somewhere in the same vein as Alan Jackson's "Midnight In Montgomery." A haunting melody blended with Chesnutt's fluent, interpretive vocals insures that this one's gonna be a hit. Maybe a big one—it's one of the best ballads out. Mark Wright mans the production complete with soothing orchestration, cold piano chops and lots more cool stuff.

■ AARON TIPPIN Call Of The Wild (RCA 07863)

Aaron Tippin has come a long way from his first efforts. Call Of The Wild, his third effort with RCA, is better than what we've seen in the past. He follows what has become the basic formula for albums by redneck male vocalists: there are the requisite party/honky-tonking songs—"Nothin' In The World," and "Honky Tonk Superman," the seduction song, "Lets Talk About You," the song about trucks and sweat and work involved in getting a "Working Man's Ph.D" and building strong moral fiber so you won't "Trim Yourself To Fit The World." Two things in particular mark this otherwise good release. (1) The pattern that is used by redneck male vocalists was successful because it broke the pattern that had been used for the previous five or so years. Why is it that some country artists (can the labels be blamed?) find a working formula and then proceed to ride that pony to DEATH!?! (2) Psst, Aaron, please, climb down from your soapbox just a bit. Scott Hendricks produces.

■ CHRIS LEDOUX Under This Old Hat (Liberty 80892)

And on the flip side, we have the cowboy. This album ought to secure Chris LeDoux a secure place in the ranks of today's country artists. To begin with, LeDoux recognizes that, as good a songwriter as he is, there are other songwriters who are just as good or better. He gives us 11 songs that are definitely cowboy tunes—they are not all Chris LeDoux tunes. The infusion of other songwriters gives the album a freshness, a change of perspective within the album that is seldom found when all of the songs on a project come from one source. Next, LeDoux doesn't follow any prescribed formula. The album has a variety of songs and tempos and themes, but they are not so obviously engineered to fit a pattern. There is plenty to dance to on this album from Texas swing to two-steps, with a couple of hard-core boogie-woogie tunes thrown in for good measure, including a hot duet with Charlie Daniels. The title track, "Strugglin' Years," "Soft Place To Fall," and the dance mix of "Cadillac Ranch" are especially good. Jimmy Bowen & Jerry Crutchfield produce.

■ DARRYL & DON ELLIS Day In The Sun (Epic 53559)

This young duo has made an impressive sophomore album. It is gratifying in an industry where, when something is successful, copycats by the dozens come out of the woodwork, to find an act that has their own formula. The lead vocals on this album are slightly reminiscent of Restless Heart, but any comparisons end there. The album starts out with a bluesy midtempo request for the Ghost of Girlfriend Past to "Walk On Out Of My Mind." The second song will doubtlessly have as much success on adult contemporary stations as on country radio. "Lonely People" has been a much-used theme, but the Ellis duo puts things in a slightly different light: "Why can't lonely people find other lonely people in a world so full of them?" "Give 'Em My Number" is a radical shift of gears. Oddly, the weakest song on the album happens to be the first release, "Ten Minutes Till." Other gems are "When It Rains" and "Goodbye Eyes." Doug Johnson & Ed Seay produce.

PICK OF THE WEEK

■ SAWYER BROWN Outskirts Of Town (Curb 77626)

Sawyer Brown's reputation just keeps on growing and growing and growing and... you get the idea. The first thing that grabs you about this album is the cover. Nice work. Inside it only gets better. The opening cut, "Me And The Boys," is just about the best description of small-town weekend nightlife heard in a while. In the next track things get serious. "Farmer Tan" talks about the trials of the American farmer with just as much eloquence as Springsteen or Mellencamp ever mustered. The title track takes us back to town. This isn't one to predict for radio release, but the story is great. Funky guitars kick off "Thank God For You," a tribute to the good woman behind the good man. The love songs on this album range from the mid-tempo "Listenin' For You" to the desperation of "Drive Away." Perhaps the best song on the album is a ballad for mother, "Hold On." The image presented of a son by the bedside of his dying mother is intense, and the evocative vocals pull out every possible bit of emotion in the song. Great job, guys. Sawyer Brown's Mark Miller produces with Mac McAnally.

INDIE FEATURE PICKS

■ IAN TYSON And Stood There Amazed (Vanguard)

Vanguard Records has just released for the first time in this country, And Stood There Amazed, by cowboy singer/songwriter Ian Tyson. Originally a 1991 Canadian release, the album won the year's ARIA's (Alberta Recording Industry Association) for Album of the Year. Tyson was also named Male Vocalist of the Year. The following year, Tyson was named Male Vocalist of the Year by the Canadian Country Music Association and was inducted into the JUNO Hall of Fame. Tyson has been instrumental in reviving the concept of the cowboy as a legend in song, and he is best known for his "cowboy culture" series of recordings. In Tyson's own words, "This album is a collection of songs about bad men, good horses, lonely women, independent magpies, and views from my back porch."

INDIE SPOTLIGHT

Bobby Hood

For the past 15 years the name Bobby Hood has been synonymous with the word "entertainer." A native of Muscle Shoals, Alabama, his early musical influences ran the spectrum from R&B to rock and roll, but his roots were firmly planted in country music. He became, and for a while, remained a constant on the Muscle Shoals music scene as a well-respected songwriter as well as a singer and entertainer.

In 1976 he followed his dreams to Nashville to further his career in country music. The first of his many chart records came in June of 1977. This was followed by his debut on the Grand Ole Opry in 1980. As an opening act for George Jones, The Oaks, John Anderson and a host of others, he worked on the road extensively.

He then decided to focus more on his songwriting and decided to return to Muscle Shoals, where a Country wave was beginning to break. The Shoals had become home to such artists as Hank Williams, Jr., Willie Nelson, T.G. Shepard, Linda Ronstadt, and others. Bobby signed on there with Rick Hall Productions and Fame Publishing for a five-year stint as a staff writer. He has since returned his focus to the performance and entertainment side of the industry. He still resides in Muscle Shoals, but he actively participates in the Nashville music scene as well. With his dreams intact and his dues paid, he recently signed a new contract with Belltune Records and Quad City Publishing.

Arista recording artist Radney Foster is congratulated on a knockout show by his support system backstage at the Arista Records Fan Fair show in Nashville. No doubt all were celebrating Tim DuBois' decision to stay at the helm of Arista Records/Nashville. Foster is currently in thick tours with Vince Gill & Dwight Yoakam. Pictured (l-r) are: BMG's Rick Cohen, Larry Fitzgerald and Bill Simmons (Radney's managers), Foster, DuBois, BMG distribution head Pete Jones and Arista Nashville veepee Mike Dungan.

A benefit for Steve Dukes, who is recuperating from a bicycle wreck which left him partially paralyzed, will take place at Nashville's 328 Performance Hall on October 12. Dukes currently works with API Publishing. He is pictured here pitching songs to producer Kyle Lehning.

Lorianne Crook plays some basketball with country artist Mark Miller at his home in Nashville on Celebrities Offstage on TNN: The Nashville Network. The one-hour special will be telecast on Monday, August 30, at 10:00 p.m.

CHRISTIAN COUNTRY

QUALITY: It's Not A Luxury Anymore

By Joseph Stanley

CHRISTIAN COUNTRY MUSIC, as it has been mentioned so frequently lately, is by no means a new art form. From the back porches of thousands of country homes, from the stages of high school auditoriums, and in the music of countless country churches, what we call Christian Country music has been around for at least four or five decades. What has happened now, though, is that the world at large has turned its eyes on this form of music as an alternative to the more common themes of today's secular country music—cheating, lying, adultery, alcohol abuse, violence and profanity, just to name a few.

In those early days of Christian Country, putting together an album was often accomplished on a simple "home studio" set-up. "Mixing" was not thought of at all. "Marketing" was fans buying the album after a show. Quality in general was not a consideration. At the time, that was not a problem. The consumer of Christian Country was too interested in the lyrical content to concern himself with such things as shoddy production and instrumentation that was barely rehearsed.

Today, however, that is not the case. The market today is the world at large, people who are used to listening to the best that the world has to offer. If the Christian Country industry is to meet the goals it is designed to meet WE CANNOT OFFER THE MARKET ANYTHING LESS THAN THE BEST!!!

What does "Quality" entail? Three things: superior production, superior artistry and superior packaging.

Superior production means a studio. Not an eight-track set-up in a garage operated by owner's manual and fervent prayer, but a studio, complete with an engineer, a producer, proper equipment, and, best of all, that quality lacking in most low-quality recordings, SOUND CLARITY.

Superior artistry means musicians who are used to working in a studio, songs that are crafted, not jotted down or pulled out of thin air to finish an album side, and, again, competent engineers and producers to finely tune the finished product.

Finally, superior packaging means just that: cassette and CD covers that are attractive and pleasing to the eye, packaging that will cause a browser to pick up the product and look at it, clear photographs and liner notes that are, if not extensive, at least informative. You can't judge a book by its cover, to be sure, but if the cover doesn't catch the eye, one never considers the book at all. When a package is done with care, chances are the contents were done with at least as much care.

These steps have been taken by some parts of the industry, and the results are clear. Look at the product coming out of Cheyenne/Homeland Records. Their artists and songs received eight nominations in five categories and were winners in four of the six total categories in the 1993 CCMA Awards. Quality. Look at what TBN Records has done: Higher Than I've Ever Been has sold 75,000 units. Quality. Check out Terri Lynn's CD on Intersound. She won the Female Vocalist of the Year Award. Quality. It tells its own story.

"But..." it costs too much, it's too hard to arrange, it takes too much time etc., etc., etc.... In the words of King David, "I will not give to the Lord that which has cost me nothing." In other words, don't put His name on anything less than the best. If it's His will, there will be a way.

Quality. It's not a luxury anymore.

CHRISTIAN COUNTRY NEWS

CDX INTRODUCES POSITIVE COUNTRY—CDX president Paul Lovelace has announced the introduction of a new disc to be distributed by CDX...Positive Country. These disks are filled with music with a message, songs dealing with family values, positive lifestyles and inspirational songs. The disks will be serviced to radio monthly. Positive Country will offer radio programmers the opportunity to program Christian music in any day part without leaving the Country format.

According to Lovelace, "We've had many radio inquiries concerning the availability of Christian Country music and from Christian record labels desiring radio distribution. In order to present Positive Country with the same CDX quality and service, we have enlisted the services of Rick Bowles and Al Snyder, both of whom have an extensive background in radio.

The initial Positive Country double disk arrives at radio stations this week, providing programmers with a basic Christian Country library, along with a sample playlist. Additional volumes will be added each month.

Integrity Music recording artist Susie Luchsinger was the featured entertainer at a recent Wal-Mart company event. Susie performed for about 900 employees from the company's sales and merchandising divisions. The event was sponsored by Wal-Mart's home office and took place at the Benton County Fairgrounds in Benton, Arkansas. Pictured are (l-r): J.H. Crossingham, CEO for Spencer's Children's Wear; Paul and Susie Luchsinger; Debbie Kocks, Wal-Mart divisional merchandise manager; and Charley Redmond, Susie's manager.

The much-anticipated release of Claire Lynch's Brentwood debut, Friends For A Lifetime, was celebrated with a showcase at Nashville's Hermitage Hotel. Among the more than 150 friends and supporters who attended were people who have all played key roles in Lynch's career or her new recording. Pictured (l-r) are: (Back row) Jerry Douglas, Sam Bush, Larry Lynch, Pamela Brown Hayes, Steve Sheehan; (Middle row) Chris Stuart, Jerry Salley, Paul Craft, Shelton Feazell, Lynch, Bil Vorn Dick, Thom Bresh, Ed Kee, Dale Matthews; (Front row) Fred Carpenter, Terry Eldredge, Pam Daley, Keith Little.

CHRISTIAN COUNTRY REVIEW

By Joseph Stanley

■ BRUCE HAYNES: "No One Worships There Anymore" (Cheyenne)

This song is, perhaps, the greatest demonstration of musical quality in the Christian Country market to date. Not only is the arrangement, production, musicianship and sound quality as good as or better than what comes from the major secular country labels, this song takes it one step further; "No One Worships There Anymore" is INNOVATIVE. The song begins with a description of a hometown church that has fallen into disrepair due to the apathy of its members. As a result, "No one worships there anymore." The beginning of the song has a typical 4/4 beat. The chorus, though, brings about a complete time change appropriate to the remembrance of how things used to be. No one in any facet of country music would be this bold. And it works!

■ MANUEL FAMILY BAND: "Pardon Me, I've Been Pardoned" (MFB)

There's been a lot of talk lately about "hot" country music, like the debut single from Garth Brooks' latest album. "Pardon Me, I've Been Pardoned" can stand its own ground beside these "hot" country sounds any day of the week. This is the kind of country song that makes you want to get up and holler! Steel guitar, fiddles and a well-placed harmonica get the feet tapping like they ain't never gonna quit! The harmonies are smooth and the lead vocals manage (barely) to miss the "Southern Gospel" category.

■ RANDY COWARD: "Crazy 'Bout Jesus" (Expression)

This is a fun, fun song! The combination of country, blues and Texas swing mixes perfectly in this song. The message of God's love and the singer's dedication to Christ comes through loud and clear. The vocals are reminiscent of George Strait. The guitar work at the beginning of the song is just a bit muddy, not quite as clear-sounding as it could have been, but that is a very minor flaw in what is an otherwise excellent song. The song gets inside your head and won't get out; it leaves your feet tapping long after the song is done.

ALBUM FEATURE PICK

■ CLAIRE LYNCH: Friends For A Lifetime (Brentwood)

At the Christian Country Radio seminar held during the CCMA Convention at the first of August, a question was raised about the place, if any, of Christian Bluegrass in the Christian Country field. At the time the consensus was that material should be considered on a case-by-case basis. Friends For A Lifetime from Claire Lynch is a case in point. Although much of the instrumentation on this album is undeniably bluegrass, most of the songs themselves—their themes, their lyrics, and, that vaugest of qualities, their "feel"—are decidedly country. There are some clear exceptions: "Judah Was My Name," "Paul And Peter Walked," and "Who Do You Know" are clearly traditional bluegrass. Among the rest, though, there are some real jewels. Among the best are "Your Presence Is My Favorite Gift," "There Is A Fountain," and the title track, a beautiful song written for her son. Granted, not all of Christian Bluegrass will be suited for Christian Country radio. Not all of the songs on this album are. Many of them will work, though, and Claire Lynch has given us a work that will surely become a classic.

Newsboys—Nationwide

ON AUGUST 13, 1993, THE NEWSBOYS were featured guests on Good Morning America, live from World Youth Day in Denver, Colorado. Interviewed for almost five minutes (the maximum time allotted for the show's celebrity interviews), host Joan Lunden quizzed the guys about their Australian and American backgrounds, but the interview took a wonderful spiritual turn. The group had the opportunity to explain how their faith has grown individually, and how, in turn, the band has evolved and developed their music and their message.

The message of the Newsboys is crystal-clear, proclaiming (especially to youth) that being a Christian is not a boring, underrated lifestyle, and that it doesn't necessarily involve giving money to a televangelist or living by some set of strict rules. The message the Newsboys present in their concerts, in their music, and on Good Morning America, plainly states that being a Christian is the most exciting lifestyle there is.

The Newsboys interview was promoted throughout the hour prior to their appearance, and a clip from their #1 music video, "I Cannot Get You Out Of My System," was shown during the interview segment. In addition to this, Nashville's WAY-FM aired the interview live during their morning show.

Response from the Good Morning America staff was great, with requests for CDs and interest shown in attending a Newsboys concert. Also, a very friendly Joan Lunden spent a good deal of time with the group prior to the interview. Good Morning America is the #1-rated morning show in the country. Later that day, the Newsboys performed for thousands of young people at Denver's Civic Center.

Preparing for the Good Morning America live interview are (l-r): Jody Davis, guitar; Kevin Mills, bass; John James, lead vocals; Peter Furler, drums; and host, Joan Lunden.

Tales Of Wonder Makes History

STAR SONG COMMUNICATIONS recently threw a party for the members of White Heart, celebrating the radio success of their Grammy-nominated album, Tales of Wonder. Reportedly a first in Contemporary Christian Music radio, all 10 songs on the album were released as singles, and all 10 charted!

To date, the singles have gotten three #1's: "Say The Word," "His Heart Was Always In It," and "Silhouette." Three songs gained #2 status: "Unchain," "Raging Of The Moon," and "Light A Candle." There was one #1, "Vendetta," and a top 40, "Gabriella." The final two songs, "Who Owns You," and "Where The Thunder Roars" are currently working their way up the charts.

White Heart's next album, Highlands, is due out in October.

Integrity For the Kids

INTEGRITY MUSIC HAS ANNOUNCED the release of two new albums in the Scripture Memory Songs series.

There is no better feeling on earth than to know that you are unconditionally loved. The first new release of Scripture Memory Songs, "God's Love," affirms the agape love God has for you. From the country sounds of "The Life I Live" to the contemporary jazz feel of "Within Your Temple," these 10 word-for-word Scripture songs paint a musical portrait of the consistent, steadfast, unending love of God. The catchy melodies help tuck away the truth of God's love deep in the heart with every Scripture-built lyric. Featured vocalists include Mike Eldred, Rita Baloché, Cathy Riso and Chris Rodriguez.

After watching one broadcast of the evening news, one could easily be overcome by the realization that the world is not a pretty place. In fact, it can be downright scary. You can lose your job, your health, your family, have a wreck, etc. The list goes on and on of things we can be afraid of. That's where Overcoming Fear from Integrity's Scripture Memory Songs comes in. The songs on this release will strengthen and establish faith in times of trouble. Whether dressed in the lush orchestral backdrop of "There Is A River" or in the jazz groove of "Greater Is He," the comforting words of these 10 songs help fear subside, reassuring us that God is near and eager to help us.

Finally, Rob Evans, the Donut Man, and the Donut Repair Club head for the Zoo on The Donut Repair Club At The Zoo, the new live action video from Integrity Music. The video weaves in a fast-paced storyline with singing, laughing, Duncan's humor, and a lot of animals. Filmed on location at the Dallas Zoo, The Donut Repair Club At The Zoo teaches kids about how God takes care of his creation, and how we should take care of each other. A double-value audio cassette version of the video is also being released.

Al Gore In Good Company

BENSON'S NEW VOCAL GROUP, STRAIGHT COMPANY was recently invited to perform for Vice President Al Gore at a family policy conference held in Nashville. The conference, called "Family Reunion II," was a day-long "kitchen-table" discussion of the pressures and needs of families, the values that drive family policy, and the current response to those needs by the public and private sectors. The conference, moderated by the Vice President, was held at the Tennessee Performing Arts Center.

Straight Company, a uniquely talented a cappella group from Louisville, Kentucky, has already been creating quite a stir. Musically, the group combines street-corner doo-wop, Caribbean calypso, gospel-tinged praise and worship, and hip-hop with creative vocal rhythms and commercial hooks. Straight Company releases their debut Benson project, So Excited A Cappella, in September.

Grammy and Dove Award-winning artists Sandi Patti and Steven Curtis Chapman teamed up recently in Nashville with producer Greg Nelso to put the finishing touches on "He Shall Feed His Flock," one of their contributions to the new Young Messiah recording. In addition to their duet, Steven and Sandi have solo recordings featured on the album and the new tour as well. The New Young Messiah releases September 13, with the tour starting later this fall.

Motor City Gets New Gospel Station

By Tim A. Smith

DETROIT, MICHIGAN, long recognized as the "Gospel Music Capital of the World," will soon become home to a brand new, 24-hour gospel music radio station. Beginning August 23, 1993, WWON 1160 AM will begin its quest to become the talk of the gospel music industry.

Currently carrying 1,000 watts of power, the station, owned by noted Detroit entrepreneur, Larry Robinson, will initially cover the major areas of Flint, Saginaw, Pontiac, and 60% of Detroit. In less than a year, though, Robinson plans to increase WWON's power to 5,000 watts, which will expand coverage to include southern Ontario, Canada, the entire Metro-Detroit area, and parts of Toledo, Ohio.

The format for the new station will be 75% or more music (to include all of the various styles that make up the idiom of black gospel music, as well as 28 hours weekly earmarked for contemporary Christian music), along with several various ministerial and spoken-word programs.

The new WWON staff will consist of: Joyce Cooper-Craig, general manager; Pat Coley, general sales manager; Carl B. Phillips, music director; Tim A. Smith, public relations director; James Williams, promotions director; and a staff of experienced, energetic, God-centered, professional announcers ready to spread the word of God through hot, jamming gospel music.

"Detroit has long been in need of this kind of station," says owner Robinson. "Many of the artists currently on the gospel chart either live in or received their start here in Detroit. Even with the stature the city holds within the industry, it's never been effectively reflected through the radio situation here. Because of that, God placed it on my heart to have a radio station here that reflects the stature that Detroit holds within the industry. With the help of God, we hope to fulfill this through WWON."

The Gospel Beat

THE GREAT CHOIRS OF AMERICA—Ocean Records has announced the launching of a new series of recordings, The Great Choirs of America. The series is designed to showcase and feature the talents of choirs throughout the United States. The premier release of the new series will be the Northern California chapter of the GMWA Mass Choir's Wait On The Lord.

GOSPEL SHOWCASE II—Blackberry Records recently presented its second artist showcase. The two-night affair was held July 24 & 25 at the Greater St. Stephen's Full Gospel Baptist Church of New Orleans, LA. Featured were Bishop Paul S. Murton, St., and the Greater St. Stephen's Mass Choir, embarking on their first live audio and video recording. Also featured were the Williams Brothers, the Canton Spirituals, Pastor Murphy Pace III & the Voices of Power of Atlanta, and Minister Kenton Rogers.

■ THE CHRISTIANAIRES The Vision Becomes Clearer... (CGI)

This talented quartet shows their true colors on their debut for this label. Along with their patented sound of traditional Southern soul are touches of contemporary gospel as well as a backing choir. Of note are the soul-stirring arrangement of the James Cleveland classic, "Two Wings," and the rousing opening cut, "I'm Going To Praise The Lord."

■ MINISTER JEROME FERRELL & THE LIGHTHOUSE INTERDENOMINATIONAL CHOIR Power In The Blood (Ocean/Pepper-Co)

During his brief career as a recording artist, Ferrell has developed quite a following. This record will surely expand that. This album pairs him up once more with the Lighthouse Interdenominational Choir. As before, this collaboration is a success. The album includes a nice mix of soul-touching, thought-provoking, slow-tempo numbers coupled with the slamming, up-tempo jams showcasing the hot band that has become a Ferrell staple. This should be the record that finally puts Ferrell and this talented choir over the top.

■ THE STEELES Heaven Help Us All (Elektra Musician)

These siblings have been heard on recordings by such artists as Kim Carnes, Prince, Karyn White and the Fine Young Cannibals. Finally they have pulled away from the pack to record their own album, and boy, is it hot! There's a mixture of inspirational, straight gospel, and smooth-flowing R&B material here. Prince (or Symbol, or whatever name he goes by now) contributed the tune, "Well Done." For the gospel crowd there's "It'll Be Alright," "Oh, What A Gift," "Big God," as well as the title cut.

KIRK FRANKLIN & THE FAMILY Kirk Franklin & The Family (Gospo-Centric)

This label came out of the box smoking with the smash album by the Tri-City Singers that is still climbing the charts. They've followed with another recording that fits the same sort of hit record mold from one of gospel music's fresh, up-and-coming talents. Franklin and his "musical family" serve up a new and exciting brand of Gospel music which definitely separates them from the rest. If you're looking for a new experience in listening pleasure, put this one on.

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

Deep Forest

By Brad Pressman

Rain forest Pygmy

"I'M ENJOYING THE SUCCESS, but I just take it one day at a time," says Eric Mouquet of the new French duo Deep Forest. Epic Records took a risk on this project and came out smelling like a rose...early sales figures indicate numbers approaching 100,000 after just two months. Born in France, Mouquet grew up listening to French artists, but declares he had a particular fancy for U.S. groups like Yes and Genesis. At 33 years of age, he is now enjoying the fruits of his youthful dreams.

Mouquet and his partner Michel Sanchez recorded the album in France for Sony Music, and the record has apparently gone gold already in Australia. That will be the site of Deep Forest's first touring date, what Mouquet calls a "thank you concert." From there in December, a world tour will follow.

The name, Deep Forest, was Mouquet's creation, simply naming the album after the sampled voices that appear on the effort. It features songs from the Pygmies of the Central African Rain Forest, borrowing voices from the UNESCO library. When on tour, however, Deep Forest will feature a French singer who sings and chants much like the voices of unknown origin on the album. Is Mouquet surprised with their first album success? "Surprised and proud," offers Mouquet, "mostly because French music is not generally accepted that well internationally.

"It's a dream for all musicians to make it in the business," says Mouquet in broken but clear English. "But it's much more important to do your best with each new album." His reference to oversized egos in the business is a point well taken. Too many "overnight" successes let things go to their heads instead of into their next projects. Speaking of projects, Mouquet was already talking about a second Deep Forest release, as he turned to French Music Office promoter Alisa Glick for translation. The question was whether or not Sony would get behind a second album so quickly after the debut release. It is a "go" according to Mouquet, so fans who enjoy this album are in for a treat.

What's the best part about being successful so quickly? For Mouquet and Sanchez, it's the chance to travel the world and meet lots of new people...and be paid for doing what they love most—exposing their music to anyone who will listen. Mouquet enjoys the social life as well, frequenting night clubs and listening to dance and techno music. "When I hear techno music," he says, "I receive a heightened energy. I believe, however, that techno music should be played by musicians, not machines." There are two videos from the album: "Deep Forest," the title track, and "Sweet Lullaby." Promoter Alisa Glick thinks all the success in the world would not change Mouquet one bit. We may just find out.

■ RANDY WESTON/MELBA LISTON: Volcano Blues (Antilles 314 519 269-2). Producer: R. Weston, Brian Bacchus & Jean Philippe Allard.

Weston, who leads an all-star ensemble, enlivens the blusey, roots arrangements by Melba Liston on this 13-composition hit parade. The music demonstrates that the blues can inculcate any music expression, mutating into a separate entity. Witness the progressive jazz modality of "Chalabati Blues," or the Afro/Caribbean-influenced "Volcano." In each instance a strain of the blues showed up where you might least expect it. But after all this is Randy Weston. The best solo turns show up on "Sad Beauty Blues" and "In Memory Of" (trumpeter Wallace Roney), and "Blues For Strayhorn" (tenor saxophonist Teddy Edwards). Weston's piano is tasteful throughout.

■ FOURPLAY: Between The Sheets (Warner Bros. 9 45340-2). Producers: Fourplay.

Although this album is destined for crossover, there's an abundance of creditable traditional jazz sensibilities ("Li'l Darlin'") melded with accessible arrangements. Keyboardist Bob James, guitarist Lee Ritenour and the rhythm section of drummer Harvey Mason and bassist Nathan East are versatile and have honed their interactive playing since their self-titled debut of 1991. A highlight on this album is the Isley Brothers cover "Between The Sheets," which features East and special guest Chaka Khan in a gentle duet. Other noteworthy tracks include "Song for Somalia" and "Chant."

AAMA Wraps Up Successful Latin American Expo In Mexico City

CHICAGO—The fourth annual Latin American Amusement, Music & Games Exposition, held in Mexico City (7/21-7/22) was once again proclaimed a success by AAMA officials who reported the event attracted record numbers of both attendees and exhibitors. Commenting on the show, newly elected AAMA president Steve Koenigsberg (State Sales & Service), said, "It had all the ingredients of a successful show. It looked good, it felt good and most importantly, the exhibitors were moving product!"

Eighty-six companies exhibited their wares in a record 160 booths, housed in the Exhibimex in Mexico City. At 2,213 visitors, this year's attendance represented an increase of six percent over last year's record of 2,080.

As noted by AAMA executive director Bob Fay, "Although the show did not see the dramatic increase in attendance that was evident in previous years, both the association and the exhibitors were pleased with the results."

Highlights of this year's event included the inaugural ceremony featuring a ribbon-cutting ceremony presided over by AAMA president Steve Koenigsberg together with Pedro Garcia Herrera, representative of the president of the Mexico City Chamber of Commerce, and Robert Miller, director of the U.S. Trade Center in Mexico City. The traditional Welcome Reception was attended by over 400 Mexican operators and distributors at the Sheraton Maria Isabel Hotel.

A full line-up of seminars, conducted in both English and Spanish, attracted nearly 300 Mexican technicians and operators. Subject matter dealt with advanced technology, redemption equipment, the whys and wherefores of starting out in the business, and vending; the latter being a first on this year's agenda. A free session on "Counterfeit Video Games: Copyright and Trademark Enforcement Efforts By The Mexican Government" attracted nearly 150 operators and distributors.

Dates of the 1994 Latin American Amusement, Music & Games Exposition are Wednesday, July 20 and Thursday, July 21, at Exhibimex in Mexico City.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Bill Glasgow, Sr., show manager, at William T. Glasgow, Inc., 16066 South Park Avenue, South Holland, IL 60473-1500. Phone number is 708-333-9292; FAX number is 708-333-4086.

Brian Duke Returns To Capcom USA

CHICAGO—Following a brief leave of absence, Brian Duke, who was formerly western regional sales manager for Capcom's coin-op product line, returned to Capcom USA in the position of national sales manager for the factory's coin-op products division. He will be responsible for managing all sales and distribution activities.

Duke, 36, is an 11-year veteran of the industry. During his initial tenure with Capcom, he was credited with expanding sales in his territory from 34 to 43 percent and also helped introduce such hit titles as Final Fight and Street Fighter.

Prior to joining Capcom, he was western regional sales manager at Nintendo of America (Redmond, Washington), where he was responsible for accelerating coin-op video game sales in 11 states including Alaska and Hawaii and expanding sales in the territory from 21 to 25 percent. He also previously worked with Universal USA, Inc. as a developer of electronic entertainment products, in several sales management positions.

"Bringing a wealth of industry knowledge and experience, we are extremely pleased to have Brian back," stated Joseph Morici, senior vice president at Capcom. "His contributions to our team will be significant."

Capcom USA, Inc. is based in Santa Clara, California.

NSM America Expands Training Program To Puerto Rico

CHICAGO—The beautiful island of Puerto Rico, complete with daily 90 degree temperatures (and humidity), balmy breezes and scenic beaches provided the setting for two NSM America service schools (the first of others to come), conducted by national sales manager George Haydocy and service manager Mike Jablonski.

George Vasquez and Orlando Reyes, owner and co-owner, respectively, of Midwest Amusement, served as translators for the more than 40 operators who eagerly attended, to learn as much as possible about the ES 4 and 5 compact disc systems for NSM jukeboxes.

"We covered everything from basics of programming and set-up, and then progressed into the service of the product and the actual tearing down of the individual components, the CD changer and the title display," said Jablonski, a 10-year veteran who has conducted training seminars all over the continent for NSM America.

"These schools are just another example of NSM's commitment to the distributor and the operator," added Haydocy. "We will continue these schools to support our distributors."

The first school was held at the Midwest Amusement offices in San Juan and the second at the Holiday Inn Crown Plaza.

Puerto Rico has produced an increasingly growing market for NSM jukeboxes and, despite the island's popularity among thousands of tourists who visit annually, most of the jukeboxes are installed in local establishments. "They sell mostly floor model machines," noted Jablonski, "no wall-mount machines. And those machines are on 24 hours a day! This makes for an excellent earnings-generating system down there."

NSM products were introduced in Puerto Rico two years ago and have proceeded to attract increasing interest and support among area operators.

Crystal Dynamics Signs 'Bundle' Agreement With Panasonic

CHICAGO—Crash 'N Burn, Crystal Dynamics' first video game specifically developed to take full advantage of 32-bit CD-ROM power, will come "bundled" with the Panasonic REAL 3DO Interactive Multi-player system during its introduction this fall, according to Judith Lange, executive vice president of worldwide sales and operations at Crystal Dynamics.

"Panasonic's decision to bundle Crash 'N Burn reinforces our belief that we have created a game that will drive sales through the roof," said Lange. "Crystal Dynamics entered the interactive entertainment software market with a straightforward goal: to produce original 32-bit entertainment with high-quality game play and a level of realism never seen before."

A 3-D combat racing simulator, Crash 'N Burn will feature a host of digital innovations including full-motion video, 3-D audio sound effects and digitized voices and simultaneous scaling, rotating and zooming of all objects.

Crash 'N Burn will give users a great introduction to the 3DO interactive system," explained Richard Lovisolo, vice president and general manager of Panasonic Company. "The game is lightning-fast, colorful, challenging and takes interactivity to new levels. In short, the game is a great showcase for the capabilities and potential of 3DO."

The 3DO Interactive Multiplier, designed to create a new consumer electronics standard for the home-based multimedia, hooks up to a television set and delivers 50 times the graphics and animation power of any PC or video game platform currently on the market. Panasonic will be the first hardware manufacturer to introduce the 3DO system.

Crystal Dynamics, based in Palo Alto, California, was founded in June of 1992 by former Sega executives Judith Lange and Madeline Canepa along with Dave Morse, former president of New Technologies Group and Amiga Computers. The company is headed by Strauss Zelnick, formerly president and COO of Twentieth Century Fox, who joined Crystal Dynamics as president and CEO in June. The company's second original title, Total Eclipse, will be available in November.
