"In its first four songs, Graffiti Bridge covers more musical waterfront than some bands do in an entire career... a tour de force that reclaims PRINCE'S RARE STATURE AS A POP PLACASSO..."

• Rolling Stone

"Graffiti Bridge is funky-out and sizzling... sensual and spiritual. Better grab it fast!"

• Time

"PRINCE PREFERS A MUSICAL CHALLENGE TO A commercial sure thing, and with Graffiti Bridge he may have both."

• The New York Times

"At almost any place in the album, he can step back and wistfully boast 'I can't touch this!'"

• Los Angeles Times

FLORIDA
RETAILER GUILTY
IN 2 LIVE CASE

On Wednesday, October 3, it took an all-white Ft. Lauderdale jury less than three hours to convict Charles Freeman guilty of a misdemeanor obscenity charge for selling 2 Live Crew's controversial Rap album, Nasty As They Wanna Be. If the conviction stands Freeman faces a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

As he left the courthouse, the irate Freeman shouted "It's unfair!"

Sentencing is set for November 2. Freeman's attorney Bruce Rogow, vows to appeal, saying he was "stunned" by the decision.

MCA Expands to Japan

The MCA Music Entertainment Group and the Victor Company of Japan, Limited (JVC) have announced that they will form a new record company in Japan. Plans call for the company to be equally owned by both parties, and it will market and promoted all MCA, Geffen and GRP product throughout Japan, and sign and develop Japanese artists. As of 1991, when MCA and Geffen's international licenses with Warner Music International lapse, the joint operations will begin.

MCA will release further information after final papers are signed.

HAMMOND MARKETS CAPITOL

Jeremy Hammond, who was Capitol Records' first Director of Artist Development, has been promoted to Vice President, Marketing at the label. He was upped from his position Vice President, International Artist Development.

Hammond's 12-year, three continent career began in 1978 at CBS in Australia, and since then he's covered ground from London to Los Angeles, working for EMI and Capitol. Most recently he developed the overseas career of Capitol chartbuster M.C. Hammer.

"Not only has Jeremy helped build strong foundations for

INSIDE TOP 40

by Dave Sholin

Teachers always remind us that learning is a lifelong process. No matter how much we know, or think we know, there's a lot of information just waiting to be absorbed. Directing high priced and often experienced talent can require Kissinger like diplomacy depending on their willingness to explore new ways of improving an already successful product. Former 49er coach Bill Walsh made this point recently about QB Joe Montana. "He's one of the greatest quarterbacks who has ever played the game. He knows the whole game now. When he comes to the line of scrimmage he can anticipate which way the defense will shift at the snap of the ball. As great a player as he's been, he's always been very coachable. Even now, he listens to his coaches when they tell him ways he can be better."

Though, undeniably, there's some truth to the axiom "experience is the best teacher," even the very experienced can sharpen their skills by listening, learning and practicing. I've always found one of the qualities most appealing about radio and music is how quickly and how often everything changes. New music, changing tastes, technological advances and the industry's fast pace presents fresh opportunities and challenges. Staying ahead of developments in related industries and studying subjects that can enhance effectiveness is an on going process. All that's really required is an open minded attitude with a willingness to accept constructive criticism and picking up new useful information—sometimes from unexpected sources. The goal at the end of each day or week is to gain new insights and perspectives, sharpen old skills or learn new ones and, like Montana, stay at the top of the game.

ON RATINGS & RESEARCH

by Jhan Hiber

DIARY DIFFERENCES:
HOW IT'S DONE
ELSEWHERE

The Arbitron diary is, for most broadcasters in over 260 markets, the Bible.

But is there another, perhaps better, diary technique? My consulting in other nations has allowed me to see other ratings systems, and say "maybe so."

And, if you look to how other nations survey their radio listening using diaries, you'd have to say there are differences when compared to the latest version of Arbitron's research tool. Let's look at different diaries, from Canada and Australia for example, and see how it's done elsewhere. Maybe there's a lesson for us.

SOME SIMILARITIES

What we've done to give you an idea of the similarities/differences between diary approaches is to picture a typical "Thursday" page from Arbitron, the Canadian BBM (Bureau of Broadcast Measurement), and Australia's McNair Anderson diary. You might notice right away some differences, but let's focus first on the similarities:

- Diarykeepers in all these cases keep their booklet for one week

- Each person in the household above a certain age gets their own diary

Basically, each approach relies on the individual to somehow keep track of their listening and record it, hopefully on a current, or at least a daily basis.

DRAMATIC DIFFERENCES

While there are some similarities, even a non-expert can spot some notable nuances that show how each firm differs in their technique. Some of the differences are not apparent just from viewing the diary pages, so here's a sampler:

- Arbitron surveys for 12 weeks, McNair Anderson for either 6 or 8; BBM surveys three weeks out of a six-week window, without telling stations which three weeks are being counted.

- Arbitron and BBM give a station credit for a quarter-hour if the person listens to one station for at least five minutes; in the Aussie system, a station must garner at least 8 minutes within a 15-minute block in order to get credit for that quarter-hour (imagine how such a rule would affect U.S. programmers).

- As you may be able to see from our examples pictured, both the Canadian and Aussie diaries are what's called "closed-ended," namely meaning that they show 15-minute blocks throughout the broadcast day—whereas the Arbitron page is "open ended," meaning the diarykeeper has to supply the listening times. This is a most dramatic difference we'll delve into a little later.

- There's less attention paid in the international diaries to locations of listening.

- Finally, the bottom ages of respondents differs. Arbitron surveys no one under the age of 12. BBM goes as young as 7; McNair surveys those aged 10 and above.

SUPPLY QUARTER-HOURS/STATIONS?

Perhaps the most dramatic difference is the closed-ended layout, wherein the quarter-hours (and, in the case of the Aussie version, the stations shown at the top) are supplied on each page. All the diarykeeper has to do is check off the time block in which they heard a station for the minimum amount of time (8 minutes in Australia, 5 here and in Canada) and the station gets credit for that 15-minute period. No trying to recall when the listening was done, as in the current Arbitron layout where the diarykeeper has to supply not only the station, but also the timeframe listened. And as you'll note in the Aussie version, it's even easier, since stations are supplied too. Just check off the time/station tuned to. Maybe that's one reason McNair has a much better response rate than Arbitron, getting back many more usable diaries.

Given the number of stations in some of our markets, prelisting the stations on each diary page may not be practical—but maybe there's a kernel of an idea there.

Bottom line is that while since the mid-'60s the seven-day Arbitron diary has been the route to ratings success, there may be approaches tried in other nations that might be implemented here.

What do you think? Call me at 1-408-626-3660 with your thoughts. And keep those ratings high! ●

NEW HIP HOP RELEASES by Brian A. Samson

BUFFALO SOLDIERS - Penny (Crewlapoo)

The debut single from Larry Blackmon/Luther Campbell's label, Crewlapoo, has caused an early buzz at college radio. Some of the hype is probably due to the unimpressive Hank Shocklee-like noise woven throughout the track. The production is very basic, relying on the noise and simple breakbeats as foundation. The storyline and lyrics are the highlight of this dope track.

ISIS - Rebel Soul (4th & Broadway)

This single was our Most Added and Top Tip last week. This week it debuts at #34, and it's burning up the college radio charts. A groovin' beat, a light piano riff and dual percussions help keep this track tastefully raw. KPFA-Berkeley, CA's Davey D has already made this one of his top ten tracks of the year. Add it and watch the soul explode. Airplay at WBAU-Garden City, NY, WBUL-Tampa, FL, WHBC-Washington, DC, WXIN-Providence, RI, and KPFA-Berkeley.

TOO SHORT - The Ghetto (Jive/RCA)

"The Ghetto" beat, a favorite cut from the "Short Dog's In The House" album. Short's ability to paint a visual image with his simple but raw lyrics gives this single its impact. The musical appeal is delivered by the loop from the original—Donny Hathaway's 1970 classic "The Ghetto". Too Short extends a respectful tribute to Hathaway by cleverly packaging the sampled material into a '90s Hip Hop version.

2 BIGG MC - He's King Of The Hype (Crush Music/K-Tel)

After earning his fame as Hammer's "Hype Man," 2 Bigg, aka Kevin Wilson, makes his solo debut with this slammin' uptempo dance track. In the traditional, high-powered production, 2-Bigg takes a costly sample off of Heatwave's 1978 hit "The Grooveline" and builds it into a dance floor climax. Check out the video—it's something Hammer "can't touch"!

Ed. Note: The picture of Hank Shocklee in last week's issue on page 30 was courtesy of The Source.

INSIDE URBAN

THE ATTITUDE OF SUCCESS

Troop marches down the road to success with yet another hit, and the Atlantic execs were on hand to celebrate the awarding of RIAA Gold. Shown on location at the video shooting for the current single, "That's My Attitude" are (standing l-r): Reggie Warren of Troop; Atlantic President/COO Doug Morris; Atlantic Sr. VP Sylvia Rhone; Steve Russell and Allen McNeil of Troop; Atlantic VP of A&R/Black Music Merlin Bobb; and David Cook, Manager. Kneeling are (l-r): John Harreld and Rodney Benford of Troop.

KEITH SWEAT's "Merry Go Round" knocks Pebbles out of the #1 position, she might have enjoyed a longer stay at the top had it not been for Sweat. You'll notice that the TEVIN CAMPBELL/PRINCE collaboration from Prince's "Graffiti Bridge" album called "Round and Round" did not appear in either "Up And Coming" or "Chartbound" last week. It missed the cut by one on last week's U&C but was higher in ranking and airplay than both Chartbound records, so it debuts at #37. Gregg Diggs, WKYS/FM-Washington, agrees that this is a hot one, saying, "This young man with a big voice is going to be big—a major force in the music industry." Paul Butler & Chase Thomas, WJDY-Salisbury, want to report on the same record: "Lots of response already from all demos." WHISPERS jump to #21 with "My Heart Your Heart." Thomas Bacote, V103-Atlanta, is looking at ratings, saying "This is perfect for a fall book—a basic tune that will do very well with adult demos." Paul Jackson, WUJM-Charleston, had this reaction: "After you hear it about twice, you start going around and singing it out loud. Just what we need for our station!" Our "Top Tip" TONY! TONI! TONE!, is doing well for Deacon Baker, KKFX-Seattle. Deacon says, "The Tony (i) (e)'s just can't miss with 'It Never Rains (In Southern California)' because this is a definite record for all demos." Also making is his RTW is Roscoe Miller, WXVI-Montgomery. Last week's Most Added, LEVERT, is hot for Larry Green, KRUS-Ruston. "This is reminiscent of George Clinton and Parliament—unexpected, but nice." Rick Stevens, WCKX-Columbus, lists DOMINO THEORY as "A super record!" CANDYMAN's "Knockin' Boots" is showing up well for Madhatter, WGOK-Mobile. "Super rap song with a Betty

by Brian Samson and John Martinucci

WHITNEY HOUSTON - I'm Your Baby Tonight (Arista)

Pop this into your CD player and start groovin'! Initial thoughts: 1) This was definitely produced by L.A. Reid and Babyface; 2) Whitney has tapped into a good pop/funk vein and her voice is working overtime and sounding terrific; 3) This song is HOT! JM

GUY - I Wanna Get With U (MCA)

Pioneers of the New Jack Swing, Teddy Riley and his partners Aaron and Damion have returned to the airwaves with one fresh track from their upcoming album. Funny thing—their hiatus was less than ten months, which is not long considering most of us have been grooving to the recurrents "Spend The Night," "I Like," and "My Fantasy," among others. Guy's style can be found in a lot of recordings released in the past year. Teddy is taking the original to a higher level—"With U!" JM

KIPPER JONES - Poor Elaine (Virgin)

Kipper Jones is trying to make a name for himself. Who is Kipper Jones? He's the former lead singer for the group Tease. Kipper has gone solo and this nice ballad is the second release from his album "Ordinary Story." Though his first single saw some action this stripped down ballad offers no frills—just good ol' traditional R&B. Check it out. JM

TOO SHORT - The Ghetto (JIVE/RCA)

"The Ghetto" is my favorite cut from the "Short Dog's In The House" album. His ability to paint a visual image with simple but raw lyrics provides half the impact this single creates. The other half is delivered by the loop from the original—Donny Hathaway's 1970 classic. Too Short extends a respectful tribute to Hathaway by cleverly packaging the sample material into a '90s Hip Hop version. BAS

THE KENTUCKY

HEADHUNTERS

NASHVILLE'S MOST UNLIKELY
SUCCESS STORY

By Lisa Smith

Last October, Mercury Records was about to release the first single from their newly-signed group The Kentucky Headhunters, and there weren't too many people in Nashville—or anywhere else in Country Music for that matter—who were betting on their success. They didn't sound Country, they certainly didn't look Country—the name of the band didn't even sound Country. Now, one year later, The Kentucky Headhunters are undeniably the surprise success story of the year. Their debut album Pickin' On Nashville has been one of the biggest selling Country albums of the past year, and has already produced three hit singles. The band spent the summer with Hank Williams Jr. on one of the season's most successful concert tours. Last April they picked up an ACM award for Best New Group and are nominated for four awards at Monday night's Country Music Association Awards.

Who would've guessed it? Not the Headhunters, that's for sure. As Richard Young puts it, "There's no reason on God's green earth that this should have worked." When brothers Richard and Fred Young and their cousin Greg Martin teamed up with brothers Ricky and Doug Phelps, their goal was to make the best music possible, have a lot of fun and hopefully "get a little money out of the deal too." While they've certainly succeeded on all counts, it doesn't appear to have changed their lifestyles very much. Richard's biggest purchase in the past year has been his first car (a Nissan Stanza) and he laughs at the thought of buying a luxury car. Obviously, Headhunter mania hasn't gone to their heads.

working in Nashville...

RY: Being an hour and a half or so away, the most logical thing to do was go down there and find work. Our band had played all over the country, but we had never played in Nashville. During that time none of us moved to Nashville, we just commuted from Kentucky. About late 1985 we started getting the itch to play together again. Andy decided not to come back with us so Greg suggested we use Doug who fit in really well. He'd never played in a real band and he worked at it diligently. We worked hard over the next six months and turned into a real good band.

Everybody said we sounded like Savoy Brown or Foghat. About six months later Ricky joined the band. Ricky had that tool, that voice—that hillbilly preaching voice, I call it. When he came into the band, we had a tool to broaden our music with.

LS: You started to jell...

I think what made this band click so fast—aside from Ricky joining us—was that there was something there between Doug and Ricky who had never gotten to play together and always wanted to. I think Fred, Greg and I had a good band before and now, all of a sudden, we saw this stuff transform right before our very eyes. The band went from two sets of brothers and a cousin to five brothers.

LS: At what point did you decide to go in a Country direction?

RY: We didn't decide to be Country, rock 'n' roll, bluegrass... We just got together and played. Whatever happened, happened. (Mercury's) Harold (Shedd) decided what we were going to be. He just said, "Sign here" and we did, so I guess that made us a Country band. (laughs)

LS: Why do you think you worked so well as a Country band?

RY: You tell me. We don't know. There is no reason on God's green earth that this should have worked, and you know that as well as I do. But it did, and that's the magic.

LS: How was touring with Hank Jr.?

RY: That was a tour made in heaven. On the first night we were a little nervous because we'd never played in front of 18,000 people. Hank came to the soundcheck that afternoon and we started talking. By the time the first week was over we were all eating dinner together. Our crew and their crew were working like a machine. We became just one big family.

LS: Do you think you'll tour with Hank again?

RY: I don't know. He walked off the stage and said, "I'll see you guys next year." He lent Greg an $8,000 guitar to play all summer. Greg took it home every week and took care of it. The last night Hank looked at Greg and said, "Take care of my guitar, man." About two weeks ago, I was up at the house and the phone rang and it was Hank. He calls me up now and we talk for hours. We've become good friends. Behind Hank's dark glasses and black clothes is a real soft heart.

LS: How much control do you have of your videos?

RY: We've been awfully instrumental in the making of our videos, and in promoting our records. A lot of performers don't want to get involved in those things, but we've got to keep our fingers in the pie. That's what it took to break the Headhunters.

LS: What do you think the Country industry can learn from your success?

RY: They need to take advantage of the door we opened and find something else just as unique. It's out

LISA SMITH: How did you meet?

RICHARD YOUNG: Greg, Fred and I played together starting in 1968. Greg's our cousin, but we'd never met each other. A guy named Larry Sutherland said, "You know, this guy who's kin to you plays a good guitar." So he set up a meeting with us, and Greg came over the hill with a guitar like Ron Wood of the Rolling Stones would play. We thought that was cool. The four of us (Richard, Fred, Greg, and another cousin, Andy Kenny) played together from 1969 'til 1981. It was a good band but eventually we ran out of steam. We did it and did it and didn't get record deals after coming so close. Finally one day we just said, "We can't do this anymore." We had to have a reliable source of income.

LS: You then started

REVIEWS

SARA HICKMAN

I Couldn't Help Myself (Elektra)

Ms. Hickman is on the verge of superstardom. Her abilities as a songwriter and performer shine on this David Kershenbaum-produced track, sweetened by a mellow Gerald Albright sax.

WHITNEY HOUSTON

In Your Baby Tonight (Arista)

This Arista "franchise" is about to release her third album and this track gets a hot pace under the batons of producers L.A. Reid and Babyface. Out-of-the-box airplay should be huge, if only because millions need to know.

NEVILLE BROTHERS

featuring AARON NEVILLE

Fearless (A&M)

Yet another intrepid soul excursion lead by Aaron Neville's brilliant lead vocal. This track has had critics raving about the Brothers' current album.

LOU RAWLS

It's Supposed To Be Fun (Blue Note)

On this antithesis of his mid-sixties rap, "Dead End Street," Lou has become enlightened and partially spiritualized by this graceful mid-tempo track produced and arranged by Narada Michael Walden.

JULEE CRUISE

Falling (Warner Bros.)

As we said on June 29, from start to finish this single's haunting and hypnotic sound immediately hooks a listener. Unless you've been under a rock lately, you and your audience will recognize the music taken from the smash TV series, "Twin Peaks." Note on your Pro CD single that it contains the instrumental version too.

CELINE DION's "Where Does My Heart Beat Now," has a total this week of 45 stations. Last week's RECORD TO WATCH gathered 13 new ADDS from WBEC/AM, WMBA, WNYR, WPXZ, WTCB, KRDI/FM, WELW, WFAW, WTWR, KMTI and KGY. Already on CKFM, WECQ, WKLJ, WBLG/FM, KYRE, KSBT etc.

RECORD TO WATCH this week, PETER ALLEN's "Tonight You Made My Day," picked up another 19 ADDS bringing his total to 47. Among the new are KOEL, KQAD, KRDI/FM, WJON, WQXC and KMCQ. Look for this AC-based artist to add punch to your rotations.

INSIDE A/C

by Diane Rufer and Ron Fell

As predicted in last week's INSIDE, ROD STEWART takes the top slot from MICHAEL BOLTON. ROD's rotations include 80% in HEAVY and he has nine more total stations than DAN FOGELBERG.

The trio of ROD, BREATHE and DAN will maintain next issue as the top troika, freezing out the BROTHERS RIGHTEOUS under the 200 station mark.

MARIAH CAREY's "Love Takes Time" has used precious little time to enter the top ten, doing so in just six weeks.

ANITA BAKER's "Soul Inspiration" is poised for a major chart move into the middle of the top ten. It's still picking up major ADDS. Among the 22 new this week are WKYE, WFMK, WKMI, B100, KCMJ/FM and KFYE/FM.

HEART's "Stranded" is up another six ranks this week after a thirteen point jump last week, HIT FACTOR in that time leaps from 26% to 72%!!

HOTTEST A/C record at the moment is CARLY SIMON's "Better Not Tell Her." In just two chart weeks it's already at number 21. HIT FACTOR is up to 51% of its 145 players. New this issue are KVIL, KOST, WKMI, KKLD, WIHN, K103 and KFQD.

A former duet partner of CARLY's, MICHAEL McDONALD follows closely at number 22. His 140 stations bring a 55% HIT FACTOR to the table along with 21 ADDS from the likes of WFFX/FM, WAHR, KXLK, KLSS, KLLY and WCPZ.

In each of the past two weeks, BETTE MIDLER's new single, "From A Distance" has won our A/C MOST ADDED hands down. She's picked up a whopping 171 stations including 77 this week.

DAVID CASSIDY debuts at number 37 a mere 25 years and a week after The Partridge Family debuted on ABC TV. DAVID's core of stations expands to 88 A/Cs with 13 new including KAAK, WTWR, KBMG, KYMG, KOST, WMT/FM and KLSS.

WILSON PHILLIPS' "Impulsive" has an "impressive" opening week with CHARTBOUND status out-of-the-box. The 69 first week ADDS include WEBE/FM, KESZ, B100, KSRE, WSKY and KTDY/FM.

Second only to WILSON PHILLIPS for a fast break out-of-the-box is BRUCE HORNSBY's duet with SHAWN COLVIN, "Lost Soul," which starts with 44 ADDS including WZNY, KMJC/FM, WAFL, KHLT/FM, KKOR, KIDX/FM, KBLQ, WSUL, WSKY, WAHR and WMT/FM.

P.D. NOTEBOOK

MAKING YOUR NEWS AN AUDIENCE DRAW

In the last couple of columns we've discussed ways of making news your "secret weapon" on a music station—adding to your cume without tuning out your regular listeners. We've discussed ways of rooting out the important and interesting local/regional news stories that keep the news interesting for your regular listeners, and talked about how to make your newscaster(s) far more productive.

Now comes packaging—presenting the news to enhance the desired listener perception of your station as the one they can rely on for news as it happens.

We've already covered the desirability of having a newscast in all hours, with the length varying depending on the audience's perceived need for news by the audience. Omitting news in some hours torpedoes the listener's expectation that they can count on you for news; even your own listeners will tune elsewhere when they need the news.

I suggest you consider adding more production to your newscasts—a sounder at the start and between specific sections—to increase the profile of your newscast although some programmers will not feel comfortable doing this. The listeners will perceive what you're doing in news more, if you do though.

Next, and very important, news stories need to be sequenced to enhance the local/regional advantage. Many stations will sequence stories to alternate between local and national/international news, blurring any perception of local news leadership, even if there's lots of local content. Sequence the stories from local to regional to national/international, with all national/international stories short (unless events dictate otherwise) to devote most attention to your region. As an escape valve to permit prominence to important national and international developments, consider opening the news with a lead story that can be from anywhere, playing your spot and then observing the above sequence rigidly in the portion of the news that follows.

And I'll take it one step further with a concept of my own which I have not heard used by others, although it's perfectly possible others have developed it independently.

Radio's greatest strength in news is its immediacy. Listeners have been sold a bill of goods by TV that TV can do the best job on news coverage; public opinion polls usually place TV and newspapers ahead of radio as a preferred source for news, but radio is the universally perceived leader in being first with the news—and people will keep track of breaking events using radio.

That being the case, it's astonishing to me that radio has not structured its news to enhance this perceived strength. Specifically, using the newscast structure just suggested, why not require that the lead story always be "here's what's new this hour?" Either a fresh story (from anywhere in the world, but preferably from the station's locality or region, if there's a choice), or an update of a previous important story—never a story that is essentially unchanged from an earlier newscast.

If the news opening line presents that story as something "new this hour" every hour, you not only accent your news leadership image, but you give the listener a very strong reason to keep tuning back to hear future newscasts on your station—they'll always miss something if they don't! But it's essential that last hour's lead story appears someplace, in sequence, in the body of the next newscast or two, so that there is a sense of continuity and evolution to the news.

Probably one reason why stations have been afraid to try this technique is the fear that nothing will be "new" next hour. With news gathering techniques discussed in previous columns, there's a good chance that in many hours your own newscaster(s) will be generating "what's new this hour" locally, but believe it or not, it's actually possible to use this powerful news concept with no newscaster on the staff—just by making creative use of a good news wire service. And in many years of seeing the output of both UPI and AP in many markets, I have to say that AP still seems far superior to UPI in news coverage, local to worldwide, both in quantity and quality of stories. If you have never compared the two services, I do suggest arranging a side-by-side test to judge yourself.

Have those who pull the wire to compose the news not only observe the sequencing mentioned earlier in putting the news together and saving regional stories for continuing use in the body of the news, but specifically watch the wire each hour for the story they will be using as their "new this hour" item. If there is no brand new story, then watch for significant updates on continuing stories. I've implemented this approach with great success on stations with little or no news staff—stations that built a news reputation exceeding that of competitors with substantial news staffs.

The packaging is at least as important as the content in molding public perception about radio stations—and the expectations that motivate tune-in are based on listeners' perceptions that in turn are based on what they've observed the station doing consistently! A postscript for programmers on this subject next week. ▲

HEAR AND THERE

Back to the real world. And believe me, it's tough after being at the cocoon-like Foundations Forum '90. But, I'm back to catching the hot tours. Bad Company came through with those Damn Yankees and sold the place out. The Yanks opened up with a solid set of new tunes sprinkling in a couple of past-hits from their various previous bands. Ted Nugent roared with a sense of abandon while working in harmony and humor with Jack Blades and Tommy Shaw. Before taking a break from touring, they worked with producer Ron Nevison on a song called "Bone Stripper" for "Vulcanvania," a new movie starring Dan Aykroyd, Chevy Chase, Demi Moore and John Candy. I'm not a bit surprised at the sales of their debut album or acceptance of their third single "High Enough"...

Bad Company is 17 years old this year. The original band called it a day in 1982, but in 1986 the band regrouped with Ted Nugent's favorite vocalist Brian Howe, and with producer Terry Thomas at the controls saw Fame And Fortune hit the platinum mark. The audience neither noticed nor cared that the band they were singing along with was not the original band. Simon Kirke is the only original member, but Howe has become the voice over the last few years. Kirke steps from behind the drums to double on guitar on "100 Miles." The material from the new album Holy Water got the same reaction as the older tunes—deafening applause...

Bits & Pieces: Virgin's King Swamp has been asked to open on the six week Go-Go's reunion tour, which begins in November... Robert Palmer fans get ready! EMI is ready to release his new album the end of October and it contains 18 new songs including a Bob Dylan cover recorded with UB40... Joe Ely will open for Little Feat beginning October 5 in Lewisburg, PA, with dates already scheduled through December 10... Three of Chameleon Music Group's artists, Mary's Danish, Ecotour and Ferron will perform opening night at this year's College Media Journal (CMJ) convention. The media, record and radio pros move into New York City's Vista Hotel on October 25...Later this month, Epic will release Adam Ant's Antics In The Forbidden Zone which contains 21 of the most important songs from his six albums for the label. Simultaneously, CMV will release a 13-track home video compilation...The Beach Boys' Brother Records catalog has been out of print in the U.S. for nearly ten years. Sunflower, Surf's Up and Holland are now available on CD and cassette on Caribou/Epic Assoc. The Holland CD and cassette will include six bonus tracks, called "Mount Vernon And Fairway (A Fairy Tale)," which were included in the original release of the album in 1973...The Scorpions have decided to call their album

Crazy World. The first title Restless Nights is gone along with the artwork. They've replaced the portrait of the band and a woman with a more psychedelic cover done by the same company responsible for those great Pink Floyd covers...

A four CD/four cassette boxed set with a 32-page booklet from CBS Special Products covering the career of Roy Orbison is on its way to you. The Legendary Roy Orbison starts, appropriately, with his very first release, "Trying To Get To You," which was recorded on the Texas-based Je-Wel Records. The B side, "Ooby Dooby," landed Roy a contract with Sun Records in Memphis, and the rest, as they say, is history. This set of seventy-five recordings covers almost 30 years (1956-1985) of a remarkable career...

While we are talking about boxed sets: We've mentioned that Roger McGuinn, Chris Hillman and David Crosby have recorded four brand new songs and have been involved in putting together The Byrds, over four hours of music from 90 songs. Well, here's more: The leather covered 6 x 12 box set contains a 56-page booklet featuring dozens of rare photos, personal notes from McGuinn, Hillman, Crosby and Tom Petty, and a family tree. Included are all of the Byrds' hits, 17 previously unreleased recordings, the lost Gram Parsons vocals, studio outtakes and new live versions of "Turn Turn Turn" and "Mr. Tambourine Man," recorded earlier this year at the Roy Orbison tribute, with a guest appearance by Bob Dylan... ▲

RODNEY CROWELL - Now That We're Alone (Columbia)

Although it's always fun to imagine Rodney singing this song about his high-profile relationship with Rosanne, his lyrics apply to most everyone, especially the modern two-jobs-and-a-cellular-phone couple.

SKIP EWING - The Dotted Line (MCA)

Speaking of modern couples...With "The Dotted Line" Ewing captures the desperation hopelessness of a man facing divorce. Ewing, who co-wrote the song, sings his heart out, giving a beautiful treatment to a complex topic.

RICKY VAN SHELTON - Life's Little Ups And Downs (Columbia)

Ricky has once again found a song with lyrics that appeal to everyman. It's about a couple who stay devoted to each other in spite of "life's little ups and downs." His fans will eat it up.

RAY KENNEDY - What A Way To Go (Atlantic)

What a way to tell a story! This song should do well for Kennedy, helping introduce him to listeners. Look for the two different versions on the CD single. One has the line "hog-tied by a hooker in Ohio," the other substitutes the word "redhead."

LEE GREENWOOD - We've Got It Made (Capitol)

Greenwood follows his #1 "Holdin' A Good Hand" with another fun, upbeat love song. Sounds like Lee has hit his stride.

Kevin Welch, one of the new stable of literate Country songwriters, is not exactly new. He's not a hat act and he's not a headhunter. He loves what Travis Tritt is doing, but doesn't feel comfortable in leather pants. He might tell you that he's trying to recreate the feeling and spark of classic country music without rehashing the sound. But then again, he might not. He probably will just tell you he's writing what he feels is true, all the while turning up the amp and turning out the house.

Oklahoma-born Welch first went out on the road as a teenager with the band Blue Rose Cafe. He lived the rock 'n' roll lifestyle for the next few years, touring non-stop. "I had been on the road steady for about four years, which was fine for a kid to do," he laughs, "but when I got to be about twenty-one I started thinking about what it would be like when I was fifty. I could tell I wasn't going to be wanting to do that when I was fifty, and I started thinking in terms of songwriting." So Welch moved to Nashville in 1978, to try to make his living at it. This was at the height of the Urban Cowboy days, and Welch didn't have much luck with his honest songwriting style. He kept his spirits up by hanging out and writing with other struggling songwriters, the likes of Don Schlitz, John Scott Sherrill and Martin Parker (now of Billy Hill), Mark Germino and Steve Earle. "We were all sunken-cheeked and hungry as hell," Welch remembers, "but we fed off each other. We were writing so that when we got to the writer's nights we'd have something to show everybody, and in a pinch I always had that to keep me going." After trying unsuccessfully to fit some sort of Nashville Songwriting Formula, Welch says he finally decided to sit down and write one "strictly for myself." That song, "Everyone Gets Crazy" was recorded by one of Welch's heroes, Roger Miller. Kevin began co-writing with others he had Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, the Judds, Dan Seals and Gary Morris.

Things were going fine, but Welch couldn't help but think about his twilight years again. "Once again I started thinking, 'you know, when I'm fifty, do I want to be doing this every day? Do I want to be coming in and seeing who's looking for songs, and who's cutting?' I realized that the answer was 'no,' that I wanted to broaden things a bit." Welch's debut album is the result. It's full of Welch's descriptive songs, from the character songs "Hello I'm Gone" and "Some Kind Of Paradise," to the simple, honest love songs "Prayin' For Rain" and "I Came Straight to You."

In J.D. Salinger's Catcher In The Rye, protagonist Holden Caulfield said that he likes a book have to stop and think, 'What would this guy do? There's no way this guy would say this.' You try to stay true to the character. Although sometimes the characters come fully formed, as in 'Hello I'm Gone.' Also 'Some Kind Of Paradise.' That song was visited on me—it was like the pencil was moving my hand."

"Some Kind Of Paradise" describes a man who lived always reaching one step further, finally taking his own life. The song is a justification of his suicide—definitely not your average Country radio fare. Was Welch's record label inclined to shy away from such a song? "I think the people at Warner Bros. were intrigued by the song. The people there love music, but at the same time they're there to do a job. Nobody has ever suggested that we try to get it played on Country radio," he admits.

Welch not only shunned studio musicians in favor of using his own band the Overtones, he also chose to record the album live, giving it an immediacy that is missing in a lot of studio productions. "When you cut live," Welch says, "there's blood all over the tracks. There's crashes and bangs, all kinds of realness all over the record. These days, we've slid into technical ways of recording, where everything is real compressed and machined and perfect, which has nothing to do with what Country music's all about, because there's no fire."

A lot has been made lately about Nashville's "new attitude," and it's easy to make a point that the success of Welch and others like him is due to this openness to different styles. Welch, who came to Nashville when it was mired in sugary, pop-Country, has been around long enough to see the city and the industry go through changes. Are things really more creative now, or is it just one more Music Row illusion? "Nashville is getting cooler all the time," Welch says without hesitation. "Maybe I just say that because it suits me better now—because the people that came to town when I came to town have all been here long enough so that we're the ones that are setting the pace. And eventually they'll kill us off and the next batch will come up and do battle. It's a cyclical town." With folks like Welch continually pushing the limits of Country songwriting, we can be confident that the new regime will reign for years to come. ●

KEVIN WELCH: Straight To You

BY CYNDI HOELZLE

met at writer's showcases, including Jamie O'Hara, Fred Knobloch, Gary Nicholson and Kieran Kane, and soon his songs began to be cut regularly by artists like the that—after you finish it—you want to call the author on the phone and be his friend. Welch has created songs that make you want to call up the characters and be their friends. In "Hello I'm Gone" the heroine is so real you find yourself not only liking her, but worrying about her future. Welch laughs and admits the song has the same effect on him. "I found myself worrying about her a little bit the first few times I played the song. That woman reached a point where she was either gonna give in or she was gonna brave it. I'd get to that point in the song and inside I'd be afraid that she was going to give in, even though I knew what the lyric was. I always found myself being really proud of her when she tells him that she's not coming back."

"I like my lyric to be as conversational as possible," he continues. "Sometimes I tend to get sort of poetic and dreamy and all that bullshit, and it's a fault of mine. When I write character songs, I there, believe me. Now's the time to find something else new. We made it cool to be crazy. People want to hear this stuff. So Country should find something else—not another Headhunters—find something else that's just as off-the-wall, and educate Country music, because that's the only way Country music is going to grow.

LS: Who are your fans?

RY: When we first started touring, it was really heavy—we'd walk into those Country bars and have to win people over. There'd be these old guys with their hats and boots sitting out there with their wives, and we were scared. But we won them over. Our audience went from that to kids. I'd say 70 percent of our audience is under 25, and half of that is under 21. This is a kids' band. But, on the other hand, there's just as many of those devils with their wives out there listening too.

LS: I'll bet that makes you feel good.

RY: To be accepted by every age group is an award right there. But the little kids mean the most to us. You can fool people our age a little bit, and you can fool the old people, but kids from 2 to 15 years old—if they don't like you, you may as well hang it up because they're the future of whatever kind of music you're playing. I'll tell you a little story. "Dumas Walker" was a very big song with the kids. There's a place up in Kentucky called Campbellsville. There was a two-year-old little girl up there who was dying from cancer. The only thing that she would smile or react to before she died was "Dumas Walker." Isn't that weird? So they played it at the funeral. There's another story about a little girl who had never walked a step, and she learned to walk by listening to "Walk Softly." So if we had some kind of effect to give those kids courage, who needs an award? We always said when we put this band together that this really wasn't supposed to be. It couldn't happen in Country music and so on and so forth. And everything about it has been 100 percent positive. So we can't help but feel that this wasn't exactly our idea.

LS: Like it was meant to happen?

RY: Yeah. I know it sounds a little crazy, but if any other band hit the obstacles we have they'd throw their hands up and quit. But it's got nothing to do with the band itself—we play the way we always did. This band had to happen for a better reason than just us. That's why we all hold it so dear. I'm no religious freak by any means, but I think this band has brought us all closer to God.

LS: You're keeping busy, aren't you?

RY: Yeah, but it's what we love doing. It's what makes us tick. There was a period time back at the end of summer where we were playing seven days a week and got totally exhausted. We tried not to do any interviews during that time. We've decided that next year we're only going to play about a hundred shows. We're 35 years old. When we were 21 we could have done all this and had three women at the same time. Those days are over. We're just a bunch of old teddy bears now.

LS: I hear you've got Elvis's old bus.

RY: We started out by leasing it and it got to be a little too expensive to lease so we bought it. Elvis gave it to J.D. Sumner. He just got in it one night, drove over to J.D.'s house, pulled it up in the front yard, got out and said, "Here's you a bus" and walked away. J.D. eventually sold it to someone else and we got it from them. What's funny though is we've got this guy who works for us, Big Dave, who's real superstitious. He can't sleep on a bunk because he weighs 295, so he'd sleep back on the star bed—back on the big bed in the back room, where Elvis' stayed. Fred's always teasing him, and one day he said "Dave, I wouldn't sleep back there anymore. The other night I saw Elvis standing over you smoking a cigar." For two nights after that Big Dave wouldn't sleep back there. We finally told him we were kidding.

LS: Do you think you'll win at the CMA awards?

RY: The competition's stiff. I feel like brother Garth is going to clean the plow. But hey, we didn't come here for awards, and if we don't leave here with any it won't make any difference.

LS: You've already gotten an ACM award.

RY: We've already gotten the best award we're ever gonna get in our lives, and that's walking out on stage and having three or four thousand folks out in the audience screaming.

LS: It doesn't seem like you've let success go to your head.

RY: Greg has. You've heard talk that's he's going to get a Cadillac, haven't you? I can just see any of us driving a Cadillac. Actually, I doubt that this affects us in any way. We're pretty much settled into our lives. I don't think we'll get big heads. You can be sure that if one of us does, the rest of us will take care of that pretty fast. We all have a good time.

LS: Do you live in Nashville now?

RY: No, and we never will. We'll always live up there on the farm. It's about eight miles outside of Glasgow in Wisdom, Kentucky. Do you remember our first video? That store building is at a crossroads, and my house sits right beside it. My grandma and grandpa ran that grocery store there in town. They started it in 1921.

LS: Your grandmother gave you "the practice house."

RY: Yes. We've been playing there since 1968. She owned a farm and my father talked her into buying the one next to it. Instead of leasing out the farm on that property, she let us use it to practice in. We ripped all the wallpaper off the walls and made it bare wood paneling.

LS: So it's a special place for you?

RY: When we were in high school we'd rehearse there every Friday night if we didn't have a gig. We didn't go to football games ourselves, and after the games the jocks didn't come around, but the cheerleaders did! (laughs) But then it caught on and everyone started coming. It became a weekend thing. The practice house is where we wrote "Dumas Walker," and all of our songs. It's where I met my wife! We jam there—everything comes together in that place.

LS: Is it true that once when you guys got cheated at a nightclub your Grandma Effie went in there with a pistol and got your money?

RY: It's true. Grandma Effie was a wild woman. Back in the '70s we wrote a song about her called Shotgun Effie that we'll put on one of our albums. She was our saviour. She went out and bought our equipment for us. She ended up paying for everything. It was a big loss to us when she died, because the same year we lost our old band we lost her.

LS: Well, she'd be proud of you.

RY: She would be. She had a lot to do with us being able to stick it out in the business. There were a lot of times when we didn't have any money and she'd always see that we were taken care of. She gave us a house to make our music in, and then died right before all this great stuff happens. We'll always miss her. Jakey, the old Black man in our video, started helping Grandma with the farm after Grandpa died in 1946. He sat on the front porch all his life, but now he doesn't anymore. I asked him why and he said, "Hell, child, I can't sit out there anymore. People are always stopping and asking for my autograph!" ●

JAZZ NEW RELEASES

COME & GET IT - FATTBURGER (ENIGMA)

Fattburger continues to serve up their variety of radio-friendly, electric adult music. In many ways their music reflects the beautiful ambience of their hometown San Diego. Case in point, the breezy opener "Almost Like An Angel," featuring Steve Laury playing a splendid series of octave notes. Fattburger, like their San Diego/La Jolla habitat, is close enough to the mainstream to be considered Adult Alternative high rollers. Yet their music is unique in that they combine elements of both urban and tropical timbres. Other immediate listeners include "Come & Get It," "Night After Night" and a tropical cover of "Feel Like Makin' Love."

FURTHERMORE - RALPH MOORE (LANDMARK/FANTASY)

During a recent visit to New York I made it a point to catch Ralph Moore's act at Fat Tuesday's. His last effort, Images cut with Terence Blanchard, was so spicy and yet so fluid that I was eager to hear the latest from this fantastic tenor man. Being in his early thirties puts Ralph a little outside the "youth" phenom movement currently raging through the New York scene but, ironically, Roy Hargrove's presence looms large on four of the seven trax. During Hargrove's first days of knocking about the Big Apple Ralph Moore served as "veteran" comadre, which shows how young and competitive the scene is these days. And that's not all. Former Bay Area prodigy Benny Green (like that night at Tuesday's) lights things up as well. Furthermore (like Michel Camilo's On The Other Hand) is a prepositional and conversational continuation of what seems destined to be a long and fruitful career, as players the calibre of Ralph Moore prepare to redefine the Jazz power base. What I like about Moore is that, while rooted in the classics, he's certainly no stubborn, commercial neo-bebop purist. I rank him as a futurist. Trax: Ralph's "Hopscotch," Benny's "Phoebe's Samba" and Roy's "Into Dawn," a compositional triumvirate.

DROPPIN' THINGS - BETTY CARTER (VERVE)

Aside from Art Blakey, Betty Carter represents one of most intense Jazz institutions when it comes to stepping in street tough, think-on-your-feet Jazz tradition. Most of Droppin' Things was recorded in front of an adoring audience at the Bottom Line in New York. Freddie Hubbard joins the band on four trax including "Open The Door '90" and the aggro title track. "I Love Music" is a trio testimony, a scattish adventure that takes many tempo twists and mood turns. In addition to the live material, a special nine minute studio meeting of the minds between Ms. Carter and Geri Allen was arranged, which resulted in a soft collision of "Star Dust" into Eubie Blake's "Memories Of You," making Droppin' Things an important (both literally and figuratively) and instrumental Jazz vocal release for the nineties.

BETH NIELSEN CHAPMAN (REPRISE)

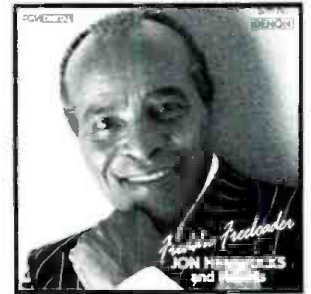

Yet another example of how and why Nashville has become a bona fide music capitol, Country music aside. About the closest thing this young composer has to Country music is that she has three names. Beth Nielsen Chapman takes an artistic "Nestea Plunge" with an intensity and maturity befitting a young Carole King or Billy Joel. The opening "Life Holds On" is a declaration, if you will, of her debut independence. Using a variety of familiar backup men, Beth shows her flair for Adult radio on trax like "Walk My Way," "Child Again" and the beautiful "That's The Easy Part." But it's much more than a few soft AA titles. Here's an extremely well-rounded first outing, a "tapestry" of styles.

FIRST OUTING - SEBASTIAN WHITTAKER (JUSTICE)

Here's a disc that radio has been hipping us to. Sebastian Whittaker feels quite strongly about the Blue Note sound, so he assembled a seven-man orchestra and recorded a dynamic effort with pop and panache. Whittaker, an incredibly swinging drummer, keeps the rhythm portion of the band in tip top form. "Incognito," for instance, is simply atomic. What's even more exciting is that all but one composition (Coltrane's "Impressions") were written "in-house" by the band members. Aside from Whittaker's superb swishes, belts and blasts, there are super cool contributions by twin tenors Shelley Carroll and John Gordon. One of these guys has a mean "Texas" bop tone. Trax: "The One Essential" and "Traces Of Chaser" plus the bluesy ballad "Blues Gone Home."

POINT OF DEPARTURE - MADELINE EASTMAN (MAD KAT) LIVE AT THE JAZZ WORKSHOP - KITTY MARGOLIS (MAD KAT)

A couple of madcap vocal releases from a small label called Mad Kat. Madeline Eastman, a Jazz vocalist in the cabaret, plush room genre, attacks the classics in an amiable scatting style. What really sets Eastman's work apart is her foresight to include Tom Harrell's brilliant rough-around-the-edges trumpet work. On tracks like "Wild Is The Wind" and "I Only Have Eyes For You" Harrell sneaks up behind Eastman and whisks her vocals to greater heights. Since its release last year, not a week goes by when the sultry tones of Kitty Margolis pop up on somebody's Jazz playlist. Her vocal improv is punchy and bluesy; her song arrangements stretch out a little more than Ms. Eastman's do. Margolis employs a confident, gliding intonation where the notes tumble over each other in a technique a bit reminiscent of—believe it or not—Leon Thomas' African inflections. Jazz ravers like the way Margolis flaunts timbre and volume intensity. Check out her cocky versions of "All The Things You Are" and "All Blues."

MARK COLBY/FRANK CARUSO

MANGOTANGO-MARK COLBY/FRANK CARUSO (BEST RECORDINGS)

Mango Tango by saxist Mark Colby and keyboardist Frank Caruso has been drawing both Jazz and Adult firepower out of the box. Commercial stations like the blue fire chops and airplay-friendly jams. With their smooth approach, Colby's tenor and soprano solos scintillate with an urgent fury. His fingerings are acrobatic, and it's common for him to take an extra few bars to fan the flames. On the other hand, Caruso tends to embellish the mood with his lush offerings. Together both make Mango Tango an open-tracked, melodious, full-bodied collection. All the more appropriate when you consider their talents have been heartily endorsed by Stan Getz and Bob James.

SOLAR - LEO GANDELMAN (VERVE FORECAST/POLYGRAM)

Citing Coltrane and Rollins as role models, Leo Gandelman is among the new generation of sax players who look toward current success stories like David Sanborn and Michael Brecker. On songs like the opening title cut and "Traveler," Gandelman delivers a dramatic headlock on the main themes, rendering an increased emotional push as opposed to studied virtuosity. Looking for a companion piece to Ricardo Silveira's jumpin' opus "Marimba Dance?" Look no further than "Baganas," featuring the jangling funk guitar of Silveira himself. "Sax Talk" is an intriguing duet with a samba-charged accordion. Well versed in session work in his native Brazil (Gilberto Gil, Gal Costa and Elis Regina) as both a player and a producer, Leo is proficient in building tight-fitting mosaic arrangements filled with passion and spirited romance. Check out the caring ballad, "Castigo."

ALBUM NEW RELEASES

BY KENT ZIMMERMAN

FAMILY STYLE - THE VAUGHAN BROTHERS (EPIC)

Sure hope the tragic passing of Stevie Ray doesn't cause folks to lose perspective of this Vaughan Brothers project. Like the title implies, this is a homey effort, a down and dirty "progressive blues experiment" using tight drum sounds and funky rock tones. It was a great opportunity to juxtapose the differing styles of Jimmie and Stevie Ray. Stevie usually played with flash and panache—he was a pyrotechnician if you will, while Jimmie (a fast player himself) halves his notes, editing himself for the sake of clarity. So far radio has wisely gravitated toward songs like "Long Way From Home," "Telephone Song" and "Good Texan" while groove slices like "Hillbilies From Outerspace" and the blues jamming "Brothers" (with its hilarious "parental" snips) have been left to the fans. I liken Family Style to Keith Richards' solo album. Both contain all the ditties and tones that each existing careers left on the back burner. Sometimes it's good to hear rock n roll kick back and deviate a little and move far away from the high stakes and seriousness.

"THE OBVIOUS CHILD" - PAUL SIMON (WARNER BROS.)

What's fascinating (and certainly death defying) about Paul Simon's recent music is how he literally grafts Americanized lyrics and guitarwork right on top of international music forms. Graceland used music indigenous to black South African townships. On the Rhythm Of The Saints, Simon journeys to back to Africa (this time West Africa) and South America, mixing Everlyesque strains with what sounds like Third World military-like parade drums. As for "The Obvious Child," like the early tastes of Graceland, it's hard hearing just one song outside of its conceptual universe. But I'm optimistic that radio (which somewhat missed the boat on Graceland) will venture way past the halfway mark when it comes to evaluating this project for airplay. To put it another way, as Pete Townshend once wrote, "so's we won't get fooled again."

NOMADS INDIANS SAINTS - INDIGO GIRLS (EPIC)

Nomads Indians Saints is an avid continuation of the Indigo acoustic celebration. While the Indigo Girls are careful not to plague themselves with over production, they do venture out with more lyrical images, something that no doubt comes with success and more life experiences. "Hammer And A Nail" is a robust opener, a positive decree with a constructive attitude. "Southland In The Springtime" is a literate Southern ode ("When God made me born a Yankee/ He was teasin'") featuring background vocals by the great Mary Chapin Carpenter. Another strong favorite is "Watershed," probably the album's second best track. It features as full a band sound as the Indigos allow. Nice follow-up from a duo that continues to grow within the proper acoustic boundaries of their abilities.

GUITAR TROUBLE - TOMMY CONWELL & THE YOUNG RUMBLERS (COLUMBIA)

Tommy Conwell shifts some major career gears. In a surprising move, he enlists producer Pete Anderson (Dwight Yoakam and Michelle Shocked) and does the blues-soaked boogie woogie. Trax like "Guitar Trouble," "Nice 'N Naughty" and "Rock With You" sound more like the T-Birds than the Rumlbers. In many ways Guitar Trouble is a reality check/pit stop for Conwell, a talented guitarist and singer who has reached a crucial crossroads. The results are songs like "I'm Seventeen" and "Hard As A Rock," trax that are almost primal, getting waaaaay down.

FAST FOOD FOR THOUGHT - WARTIME (CHRYSALIS)

Ironically Wartime is the first major label project by Henry Rollins. Designed as a spinoff from the Henry Rollins Band (which was a spinoff from the militant Black Flag), Rollins and bassist Andrew Weiss split things down the middle. Weiss puts together the sounds while Rollins supplies hard poetry and rap. This is intense stuff alright, but as Rollins himself puts it, "It's truth and forward motion—the groove is severe, but hey, take a good look around." Start with "Right To Life."

WRONG WAY UP - BRIAN ENO/JOHN CALE (OPAL/WARNER BROS.)

I feel fortunate that during my "impressionable" years both Brian Eno and John Cale helped shape my personal concept of who a musician is and what it is he or she does. During his early career with Roxy Music, it was riveting how Brian Eno approached rock n roll, toying with it in a non-musical, purely sonic way, sometimes remixing the entire band through banks of early synthesized technology. After a handful of solo albums, however, Eno seemed to grow bored with the limited frontiers of conventional songwriting, opting to take a freer path of New Music. Ditto John Cale, whose albums Vintage Violence, Church Of Anthrax, Paris 1919, Fear and Academy in Peril also shattered many of the early mores of rock. After years on the conceptual trial, Brian Eno is back putting together consecutive syllables, verses and choruses backed by music. His approach to music is still more an approach to sound, except that songs like "Empty Frame" and "Lay My Love" somewhat conform (a word not usually associated with Brian Eno) to a rock n roll mindset. Still, Wrong Way Up is very experimental and exciting in that it represents Brian Eno's biggest concession toward Alternative Radio in well over a decade. Aging Warm Jet fans and Neo-progressos alike, dig in!

"LOVE & TEARS" - MAGGIE'S DREAM (CAPITOL)

Maggie's Dreams as opposed to her farm. And speaking of Brian Eno and breaking rules and mores, here's a band that seems to be taking their own unique path by recording an unconventional, yet powerful song. "Love & Tears" is a chanty, hypnotic piece that uses acoustic guitars, a sambaish rock groove, close harmonies and McCartneyesque "Hey Jude" singing. Linda (Ryan not McCartney) tells me these guys used to play with Lenny Kravitz. Makes sense. Quite refreshing.

“All the singing along with gospel records I’ve been doing while vacuuming the house has paid off—I have a cleaner house and a better voice.” — Brian Eno

Brian Eno has made a career out of musical exploration—from his early work with Roxy Music, his influential solo albums, the development of Ambient Music and his collaborations with David Byrne and Daniel Lanois to his unparalleled production credits with the likes of David Bowie, Talking Heads and U2.

But now, Eno has joined with artist, acclaimed producer and Velvet Underground cofounder John Cale for a project of a decidedly different kind. Together, they've fashioned a collection of pop songs that will both satisfy longtime believers and welcome new listeners with its rich, engaging melodies.

ALTERNATIVE REVIEWS by Linda Ryan

RUBAIYAT - ELEKTRA'S 40TH ANNIVERSARY COMPILATION (ELEKTRA)

In these days of mergers and bad business deals, it's amazing that a company—any company—can sustain itself for forty years. Elektra's sustained itself, as well as we music lovers, over the years and Rubaiyat serves as a reminder of all the wonderful music the label has supported, both past and present. This, of course, is the beauty behind this brilliant compilation. How can you go wrong with The Cure doing the Doors' "Hello I Love You" or Billy Bragg doing Love's "Seven & Seven Is"? You can't! But don't stop there—Faster Pussycat's version of "You're So Vain" rocks the house! Sara Hickman's calypso-inspired version of "Hello, I Am Your Heart" and Metallica's "Stone Cold Crazy" are also excellent versions too good to put into categories. Have fun with this one and enjoy the spirit in which it was made. LINDA RYAN

MARY'S DANISH - EXPERIENCE (CHAMELEON)

Recorded live at the Ventura Theater, the latest Mary's Danish offering captures the band doing what they do best—playing in front of a large crowd in a hot, sweaty venue. Punchy, and well-balanced, this live offering doesn't suffer from poor production quality. I would've liked a bit more "banter" in between songs, but that's a minor point. Included here are favorites "Don't Crash The Car Tonight" and "It'll Probably Make Me Cry" along with the current single "Foxey Lady." Listen and experience. LR

THE CONNELLS - ONE SIMPLE WORD (TVT)

The Connells past efforts Bolyan Heights and Fun And Games, took the band Top Five, providing a solid base on which to build. Their fourth album, One Simple Word, will no doubt reach the upper end of the scale. Recorded in Wales with producer Hugh Jones One Simple Word finds The Connells as a band with a bit more edge and a lot more punch. After spending some time with the CD, dreamy layers and shimmering textures that went unnoticed the first spin comes into focus. Favorites include "Stone Cold Yesterday," "All Sinks In," "One Simple Word" and "Link." Gets better with every spin. LR

PYLON - CHAIN (SKY)

Listening to this new recording makes it easy to see how Pylon fit into the Athens scene of the early '80s and how that area came to spawn the recent nationally recognized talents of the B-52's and REM. Today Pylon, perhaps by virtue of their long residence in limbo (1983-89), seem a bit like a missing link—a time capsule that neatly fills the gap between the B-52's new-wave quirkiness and REM's jangly, mysterious moodiness. Chain is straightforward and raw in a semi-prehistoric sense, with a basic production approach and brittle guitar sound that gives the record an early '80s aftertaste without its seeming overtly dated or passe. Recommended tracks: "B-Complex," "Sugarpop," "There It Is" and "Sloganistic" SEANA BARUTH

WILLIAM S. BURROUGHS—DEAD CITY RADIO (ISLAND)

William S. Burroughs was born in Missouri but now resides in Kansas. Outspoken but never offensive, cussing and cursing through a Huxley-like stream of consciousness, Burroughs is a type of visionary. From the opening track "William's Welcome (What Are You Here For?)," he sets the tone of this unusual journey through readings delivered in Burrough's unique voice and style. "A Thanksgiving Prayer" is a powerful bit of sarcasm in where he "thanks" the powers (government) that be for the various atrocities plagued by our planet, including, but not limited to, "laboratory AIDS." Check: "Naked Lunch Excerpts" (a film is in the works), "Ah Pook The Destroyer/Brion Gysin's All-Purpose Bedtime Story," "A New Standard By Which To Measure Infamy," "No More Stalins, No More Hitlers," "Scandal At The Jungle Hiltons," and "Love Your Enemies. A don't miss is Burroughs "singing" the Marlene Dietrich classic "Ich Bin von Kopf bis Fuss auf Liebe Eingestellt (Falling In Love Again)." Background music vocals includes John Cale, Donald Fagen, Lenny Pickett and Sonic Youth. ROBERT BARONE

GARTH BROOKS—NO FENCES (CAPITOL)

Unfortunately, another format we Alternative folk overlook is Country. Sauve and sophisticated, Brooks sings self-penned soulful country ballads and ventures into honky tonk and blues. His tones, diction and inflections are right on, causing every word and note to hit its mark. I could listen to "Friends In Low Places" all day. Other tracks: "Unanswered Prayers," "Victim Of The Game," "Two Of A Kind, Workin' On A Full House" and "The Thunder Rolls." Brooks also does a great cover of the Fleetwoods' '59 classic, "Mr. Blue." Fine stuff—check it out. ROBERT BARONE

INSIDE ALTERNATIVE RADIO by Linda Ryan

Since we're in the second week of October, a timely reminder for your audience to register to vote is appropriate. Encouraging listeners to take an active role in shaping our legislative branch of government is a solid start on the road to change. What issues stand out in your mind? Censorship? Pro-choice? The environment? What are your local and national candidates saying on these issues? Do yourself (and a few millions) a favor and spend some time researching the candidates.

Along that same line, registering people to vote is an excellent way for a station to make a little money while doing something worthwhile. (Parties will pay you per-signature for anyone you register.) Setting up registration booths at concerts and station events not only draws attention to the voting issue, it also provides a service to your listeners at the same time.

KUSF had a voter registration concert last week that featured SHADOWLAND and KID FROST. Program Coordinator JUDY ASMAN said the event, "Went really well. A lot of (out of town) students registered to vote in San Francisco, and the campus enjoyed the music." Apparently so, as the somewhat conservative campus called KID FROST back for two encores!

A project you will no doubt hear a great deal about in the coming weeks is RED, HOT and BLUE—a mass media effort aimed at drawing attention to the need for AIDS research funds. In the true spirit of "if you want something done, then do it yourself" (which seems to be the only way to get things done these days) artists have joined together in a well-organized effort to benefit AIDS funding.

To start, Chrysalis Records is releasing RED,

HOT AND BLUE—an album of COLE PORTER tunes sung by some of today's hottest stars, including a duet between THE POGUES and KIRSTY MacCOLL, U2, a DEBBIE HARRY & IGGY POP duet, SINEAD O'CONNOR, NENEH CHERRY, THE NEVILLE BROTHERS, LISA STANSFIELD and LES NEGRESSES VERTES to name but a few. KEITH HERRING has designed a special T-shirt for the project (which will be on sale at the CMJ Convention), and filmmakers have produced pieces for the project as well. Look for more information on this event in the coming weeks.

TIM "JAH MASTER" ZIEGLER has surfaced in the bowels of Los Angeles—better known as the SST offices. Expect a call from Tim soon, as he's doing that Alternative promotion thang. Tim has always held a high regard for the label, but he never expected the fringe benefits of "playing basketball with GREG GINN during lunch." What a life!

Congratulations to JANE'S ADDICTION, who take over the number one position this week. "Go figure," I say because that record has been up and down like a yo-yo. Commercial radio's solidified support for the second single, "Been Caught Stealing," put the band over the top. The main contenders for number one next week are THE COCTEAU TWINS and THE REPLACEMENTS.

THE REPLACEMENTS move 12-7, thanks partially to six new ADDs at KCRW, WSMU, WNCS, WUNH, WVKR and WRUV. Top five phones this week at WMDK, WCDB, KACV, WHTG, WBNY and WICB.

THE POSIES jump 30-14 this week. HEAVY support from KTAO, WUMS, KCOU, WHTG, WWVU, KJHK, WRFL and WXCII help this budding band (Ouch!) bloom.

Moving 32-16 this week are THE DARLING BUDS, who enjoy strong support from both the College and Commercial camps. HEAVY support noted at WWCD, KROQ, WDCR, KTOW, WAPS, WFIT, KUNV and WBRU.

DNA'S "new and improved" version of "Tom's Diner" with SUZANNE VEGA moves 26-24. Top five phones at WBNY, WOXY, WMDK, WBRU, WRAS, KJQ and WHTG.

A strong debut (32) for THE WATERBOYS, who rake in eleven more ADDs this week. Already HEAVY support at WRSI, KOTR, KUCI, WBER, WXPB, WWVU, KTCZ, KUSF and WRAS.

THE LILAC TIME leap 41-35 as WDRE, WKXL, KDVS, WTUL and KZSC come in for ADDs.

Moving 40-36 is REDD KROSS, who rack up four more ADDs this week for a total of thirty supporters. HEAVY action reported from KUCI, WRAS, WXCII, KJHK, WHTG (top five phones!), WWVU, WUMS, KFSR and KUNV.

UNDERGROUND FROM THE

Ahhh! Now this is the life. A white label album pulsates from my stereo as I sun myself to oblivion on a posh London forecourt, flicking indiscriminate insects off my coffee coloured skin. Wondrous.

Alas, all good things must end, and as fast as Saddam Hussein moved into Kuwait, the sly cloaked figure of the English winter has thrust itself on us unsuspecting Proles—effectively ending the third Summer Of Love, leaving vast oceans of unused sunoil in its wake.

So, back in reality and my humble East End abode, I may be rubbing ice fading limbs against a three-bar electric fire, but my spirit remains unbroken. Why? The reason is merely a circular piece of black vinyl with one four-lettered word emblazoned across its label. It reads: RIDE.

Building on this Oxford quartet, Nowhere (Creation) is one of those rare artifacts; a debut album worth losing your best friend to own. Soundwise, it also marks a change in direction—building from the rollercoaster noise of their early sound, with its 'MARY/CHAIN, VALENTINES' edge—into a more distinctive sound, admittedly owing to its influences but dispatched with such verve, excitement and boundless energy comparisons are rendered fruitless.

Nowhere witnesses Ride taking a longer look—from the majestic, evocative (but never so trite as to be specific) "Seagull" to the rollicking "A Different Place" and "Paralyzed" through the pulverizing, vaguely morbid "Dreams Burn Down." All in all, it's an eight course delight that will appease the most colossal appetite whilst having enough flavors to still surprise the most hardened palate. Truly scrumptious!

Summer may be over matey, but that hasn't stopped every two-bit irksome type from fishing into the great pop bible of lies and excuses while privately selling their soul to the bloated gurus of the re-mix/dance fraternity. It's a pretenders market and you have to move ever so carefully to sidestep the dross.

For a moment let's stick with the acceptable side of it all. For instance, our old friend THE JAZZ BUTCHER has made a dance record! Schlock, stock and barrel, it's true! Moreover, like THE SOUPDRAGONS, they turn in "We Love You," a 'STONES cover that gets the full treatment this time 'round.

"We wanted the irony of the lyric, bearing in mind the historical context of The Stones original," says Butch, from his Northampton headquarters. "We thought it would be quite a cute way for the JBC (as the record is credited) to express a certain amused but ambivalent feeling for the current press obsession with Equity culture and love thugs, 1990 style." Deejay reaction suggests a long overdue, if topsy turvy chart stormer for the Butcher, but whether he'll stick to his threat to flee the country if it takes off remains to be seen. Word has it that they may be signing to Island in the States.

As previously championed in this column, both THE FARM and THE CHARLATANS UK are riding waves of homegrown popularity—"Groovy Train" (Produce) and "Then" (Dead Dead Good!) in the charts at 5 and 10 respectively. Following five years in the wilderness (sic), The Farm aren't taking any chances, having reputedly confined themselves to the studio until they can conjure a suitable follow-up.

THE SHAMEN, sadly, have to content themselves with merely threatening the chart bubble, despite having made great dance records for years. "Make It Mine" (One Little Indian) is no let-upon the quality control front—blending sub-Hendrix riffs over a pulse-racing miasma of butt-thumping rhythms. Their label continues to push more quality dance fodder, latest recruits being SOUL FAMILY SENSATION with their luscious, silky, souled-out single "I Don't Even Know If I Should Call You Baby." Also worth investigating is "Kiss & Make Up" (Heavenly), a reggae-tinged grower from the groovy house of ST. ETIENNE.

Hardcore dance floor aficionados should look no further than MEAT BEAT MANIFESTO. "Psyche Out" (Play It Again Sam) has been wooing them in the clubs for ages, and one can but wonder how shy, unsuspecting Joe and Jane public will cope with MBM's artwank buzzbomb. Their new labelmates, Manchester's New Fast Automatic Daffodils, have pitched their fourth single at the dancefloor, but like Meat Beat it doesn't pander to the dimpletricks by stifling any innovations with Soul II Soul-isms. With an album in the cards, it's time to take notice of the new FADS, though HAPPY MONDAYS may steal their applause as they shortly precede a new album with the immaculately titled Kinky Afro.

And finally—keep both eyes and ears open for the return of the Mr. & Mrs. of pop, THE PET SHOP BOYS, who enlisted HAROLD FALTERMEYER to twiddle their knobs on their soon-come (ahem!) LP Behaviour. The single "So Hard" (Parlophone) is in the shops and even non-devotees like myself are heralding it as an understated classic. If it's not number one in less than four weeks I'll stow away to the belting sun shine and oh-so-agreeable political climes of the Middle East. Possibly. ANDY COWAN

PERSONAL PICKS

SINGLES by Dave Sholin

WHITNEY HOUSTON - I'm Your Baby Tonight (Arista)

There should be an airplay Olympics to see how fast PDs can get a song this hot out of a jewel box, into the control room and on the air. Anything over ten seconds is too long. There's nothing light about this sizzler written and produced by L.A. Reid and BabyFace, who give Whitney an opportunity to do some interesting and unexpected twists and turns. Can't imagine any of the millions of fans who've been eagerly awaiting the arrival of this release will be disappointed.

PRINCE - New Power Generation (Warner Bros.)

Though it doesn't seem like it, Prince is well into his second decade of trendsetting musical innovation. Powered by his trademark rhythm, the energy of this song, driven by potent lyrics, insures it never skips a beat.

THE NEVILLE BROTHERS - Fearless (A&M)

Like he was on Linda Ronstadt's recent album, this song features the now famous and familiar voice of Aaron Neville. Why this remarkable group hasn't had more hits in their career remains one of music's great unsolved mysteries. It'd be just as weird if this heartwarming effort doesn't score big.

THE VAUGHAN BROTHERS - Tick Tock (Epic)

Difficult to hear this without thinking about the recent tragic loss of Stevie Ray Vaughn. Wouldn't it be nice if the songs positive message stood as a lasting tribute to this world class artist? In a year that's seen historic events impossible to comprehend, and in the face of current events in the Middle East, this entry is especially timely.

CROSSOVER PICK

JOHNNY GILL - Fairweather Friend (Motown)

Last week's number one song at Urban radio is set to place Johnny on the Top 40 for the third time this year. Picking up the tempo, this easily accessible effort co-written by L.A. Reid and BabyFace and Daryl Simmons may turn out to be his biggest winner yet.

ION BON JOVI - Miracle (Mercury)

One of the week's most added is another solo stroll down melody lane from New Jersey's other favorite musical son. Once again Jon demonstrates his ability and versatility as a songwriter, producer and performer, continuing to broaden an already expansive fan base.

BILLY JOEL - And So It Goes (Columbia)

Beautiful in its simplicity, this touching song from "Stormfront" has that something special necessary to capture listeners' attention. This weeks Record To Watch, it's already generating airplay and chart activity. Seems like a sound perfect for Autumn and Winter.

ALBUMS by Ron Fell

RUBAIYAT-Elektra's 40th Anniversary (Elektra)

The premise is brilliant: current Elektra recording artists choose songs previously recorded by other Elektra/Asylum contract players. Thus come Tracy Chapman, The Cure, Anita Baker, Linda Ronstadt, Jackson Browne, The Georgia Satellites, Faster Pussycat, Pixies, Michael Feinstein, Sara Hickman, Gipsy Kings, Ernie Isley etc. singing tracks made famous by The Eagles, Carly Simon, The New Seekers, Bread, Judy Collins, The Cars, Warren Zevon and such. The potential marketing nightmare of Various Artists packages coupled with a premise that would mean little to the public is practically mute when you consider the swarm of potential airplay within two seventy-five minute discs of contemporary nostalgia created by the people who made and make Elektra the epitome of recorded music. Reviews of albums on this page usually include my subjective favorites—tracks that, dissected from the larger set, would hold their own in airplay situations.

From among the thirty nine episodes, I could only bring the rave-ups to ten. In sequence if not preference: The Cure-HELLO I LOVE YOU, Tracy Chapman -HOUSE OF THE RISING SUN, Gipsy Kings-HOTEL CALIFORNIA, Phoebe Snow-GET OURSELVES TOGETHER, Ernie Isley-LET'S GO, Anita Baker- YOU BELONG TO ME, Sara Hickman-HELLO, I AM YOUR HEART, Teddy Pendergrass -MAKE IT WITH YOU and Leaders of The New School-MT. AIRY GROOVE. Happy Birthday, Elektra. The music becomes you!

BILLY JOEL

AND SO IT GOES...

387-73602

The B-side that's become a No. 1 A/C smash and has Top 40 'flipping' for it in unprecedented style. The new ballad defines Billy's musical signature with a beauty reminiscent of his classics HONESTY and JUST THE WAY YOU ARE.

And So It Goes...

dominating radio for one solid year with the hits WE DIDN'T START THE FIRE, I GO TO EXTREMES, and more from the No. 1 Triple-Platinum album "Storm Front."

And So It Goes across America...

with Billy appearing on the CBS prime-time television show, Grammy Legends, in December, to be honored with a special GRAMMY LEGEND AWARD.

And So It Goes all over the world...

as Billy continues his year-long SRO World Tour and then storms back into the U.S. this November.

AND SO IT GOES... to universal acclaim:

"Billy Joel has returned to the style he created in the late '70's when he wrote some of the greatest standards like 'Just The Way You Are'... 'And So It Goes' is another standard"

Guy Zapoleon, KHMx

WORDS AND MUSIC BY BILLY JOEL
Produced by Mick Jones and Billy Joel.

"Instant phones and fabulous call-out reaction from the beginning" Gary Berkowitz, O95

"Billy Joel is the quintessential mass-appeal artist 'And So It Goes' without saying that this cut will be a major hit! The CD jumped back into the Top-10 after one week of airplay"

Frank Amadeo, Y100

"Billy Joel is the perfect adult Top 40 artist for 1990, 'And So It Goes' is a smash"

Dave Robbins, WNCI

"Women love it"

Jim Ryan, KXYO

"For 15 years I've used as my sign-off the phrase, '...And So It Goes.' Billy Joel's song of the same name is simply grand... The melody gets inside and sticks, as the best ones do, and the lyric turns the knife in the heart"

Linda Ellerbee
