MID surroundings hallowed by in-A numerable patriotic memories the Thirty-fifth Annual Convention of the American Federation of Musicians was formally opened at Boston, Massachusetts, Monday, June 9, 1930, in the Copley-Plaza Hotel.

The clouds hung low and a rain which semed to be a mixture of morning dew and ocean spray was constantly in evidence, but the assembled musicians remembered Bunker Hill and proceeded to battle with the elements. With Delegate James T. Kenney of Local No. 9 as Grand Marshall, the scheduled parade formed in line and with a wonderful band under the leadership of Brother Joseph Freni, the delegates marched until an unusually heavy inundation from the weeping skies brought marching to an end and with the taking of the usual convention 'pic-In connection with this band we ture. wish to say: Many fine marches were played without a single repetition. Too many parade bands start out with one or two marches and repeat them until some cynical observer inquires: "Is their marching repertoire thus abridged?" In this particular Boston set a style worthy of emulation.

Two o'clock found the convention hall filled with delegates and visitors. The balcony was also full. President Thomas H. Finigan of Local No. 9 called the convention to order and introduced the various speakers making addresses of welcome. We wish to compliment President Finigan as a presiding gavel wielder. His own opening address and the manner of his introduction of the other models of g taste brie and squarely to the point.

The invocation was offered by Rev. James F. Kelley of the Church, of Our Lady of Lourdes.

Lieutenant-Governor Youngman welcomed the delegates in behalf of Massachusetts. John M. Casey, representing Mayor James F. Curley, performed a similar service in behalf of Boston. Martin T. Joyce of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor and Nathan Sidd of the Boston Central Labor Union brought welcoming messages from their respective organizations. These were supplemented by Judge William Day, legal counsel for Local No. 9, who gave warm endorsement to the campaign being waged by the Federation for the maintenance of the true cultural standards in music.

President Joseph N. Weber made proper response to the welcome and briefly reviewed the fight for principle now gathering force.

An enlivening feature of the opening exercises was the musical numbers interpolated at regular intervals by a splendid orchestra under the leadership of Brother William S. Dodge. Mr. Dodge is a son of William G. Dodge, assistant to President Weber, and widely known in Federation circles. He is in the front rank of Boston musical directors and certainly made a hit with the visitors who witnessed his work.

The Convention Work

The Credentials Committee authorized the seating of 363 delegates.

Within the time limit, which expired at midnight on Wednesday, 64 resolutions were offered for consideration by the various committees. Of this number, 27 were adopted; 4 modified and passed; 5 were referred to the International Executive Board, while 28 were rejected altogether.

From the standpoint of major importance the unanimous direction by the convention for continuance of the Music Defense League will be accorded first place. The delegates were plainly pleased by the showing made that a nation-wide interest has been aroused in the campaign against canned music. With more than two million personal endorsements in President Weber's office already and large additions coming in every day it was felt that any cessation of activity now would be positively unwise. In this connection it was the sounding of a wholesome and encouraging note in the proceedings when Boris Morros, the general manager of the Paramount Publix Company and Milton Schwarzwald of the Radio-Keith Orpheum Corporation, addressed the convention and predicted that the opening of another theatrical season would undoubtedly reveal decidedly increased employment opportunities for Federation members.

Another progressive step was the order to the National Executive Board to formulate a new appellate code-especially designed to cut down convention appeals to cases only involving expulsion or the imposition of fines amounting to five hundred dollars or more. An unusually large amount of time was utilized in hearing convention appeals and the delegates realized that a continuance of this situation would go a long way toward transforming the convention from a legislative to a judicial body. To the consummation of this reform the national board will undoubtedly give much attention during the coming year. Modification of the transfer law proposals precipitated a lively debate and slight changes were made. Committees worked untiringly and the convention deliberations terminated shortly after Saturday noon. Elsewhere in the columns of the International Musician will be found a detailed report of each day's proceedings. The result of the election of officers constitutes the introductory feature of this convention story. Chattanooga, Local No. 80, will be entertaining host to the next annual convention and which convenes on the second Monday in June, 1931.

Kansas City made a game fight for the honor, but Chattanooga had been pressing the issue for two or three years which, together with the fact that the American Federation of Labor is paying special attention to an industrial organization of the Southland these days, helped to win the contest for the picturesque city of Tennessee.

Just before the sounding of the final gavel, we believe that President Weber expressed the unanimous sentiment of the delegates when he said that from the standpoint of far-reaching constructive effort and because of things left undone, the convention was one of the most important in Federation history.

Bostonian Brevities

The high-water mark of convention entertainment was reached in the manner in which Local No. 9 cared for the Thirtyfifth Annual Gathering of the American Federation of Musicians. Such a program cannot be carried out except by thoughtful pre-arrangement, followed by painstaking execution. In all things there was reflected a unity of purpose on the part of the Local, and a cordiality of manner, which was a source of comment from the delegates and visitors. Local No. 9 may well be assured that it has done its full share in the writing of a red-letter chapter in A. F. of M. convention history.

The stellar day from the standpoint of entertainment was, of course, the Tuesday of convention week when the convention made full surrender to Local No. 9. It was a somewhat cloudy day, but the winds blew in brisk fashion when the delegates and visitors were placed upon a fine steamer and taken to Nantaskett Point-some fifteen or twenty miles down the coast. The ride itself was a tonic for tired nerves and with Brother James T. Kenney constantly at hand to point out places of historic interest the journey was bound to be a memorable one. In passing out of Boston Harbor, Bunker Hill Monument pointed heavenward just as it did more than a century before when Daniel Webster, standing at its base, said to the assembled multitude-"Let it rise, let it rise until it meets the day in its coming! May the first beams of the morning play upon it, and the last rays of the setting sun linger upon its summit!" In another direction surged the waters upon whose bosom the celebrated Boston Tea Party was held. In still another section was the territory made famous as the home of the Adams family, which gave two Presidents of the United States to American history and which now guards their silent dust. Arriving at Nantaskett Point at 1:30 dinner was ready for which the vigorous sea breeze had generated a robust appetite. During the dinner hour a fine orchestra played standard numbers under the direction of William S. Dodge, and dancing numbers under the leadership of Ruby Newman. Accompanying the excursion was a concert band under the direction of Mr. D. A. Ives. The return at eventide was not without its thrills. The sky clouded and a dense fog settled upon the waters. Fog horns and fog bells mingled their jangling voices. We thought of the lines of Lord Byron in Childe Harold:

Roll on, thou deep and dark blue ocean, roll! Ten thousand fleets sweep over thee in vain; Man marks the earth with ruin;

His control ends with the shore. Upon the watery main the wrecks are all thy deed-Nor doth remain a shadow of man's ravage, save his own; When for a moment, like a drop of rain, He sinks into thy depths, with bubbling groan, Without a grave, unknelled, uncoffined and unknown!

At a time when the surroundings looked blackest, we touched the home landing place-in just a few short hours to learn that very close to our own steamer's pathway one of the most mournful sea tragedies of modern history had been enacted in the Fairface-Pinthis for collision. It was an impressive and memorable day for us all. . .

The convention listened with deep interest to an address by Mr. Aaron Sapiro of New York, the attorney who conducted the successful litigation instituted by Local No. 6 of San Francisco in establishing the inviolability of its contract negotiated with the theatre managers. Mr. Sapiro talked like the able lawyer that he is-and yet explained the legal principles involved so as to be understood by every lay mind that heard him. We hope he wins in the highest court to which he may be compelled to travel as another victory there will be one of the most heartening happenings in the realm of labor litigation in a long time. . . .

The Peoples' Symphony Orchestra concert, under the direction of Dr. Henry Hadley, given at the Hotel Copley-Plaza on the Sunday evening immediately preceding the convention opening, was a most auspicious, introduction to the week's entertainment program. It was a cultural keynote. It generated a whole-

TRUMPET TROUBLES?

If you have lip troubles now, and if you had them last year, have you any reasonable assurance that you will not have them next year, and the NEXT, and FOREVER? That's something you should think about!

Many theories, systems, attachments, etc., have been proffered as a means for making better Embouchures, but have they offered anything REALLY practical? The evidence is hardly favorable! They begin wrongly by trying to cure a bad effect while giving little or no attention to the removal of the cause of that effect, and that is why they are impracticable.

Theory is alright, but for Trumpet playing PRACTICAL RESULTS are much better. You wouldn't mind getting better results would you? Then send me the coupon below and learn how easy it is to get them!

President's Report (Continued from the June Issue)

THE FUTURE OF OUR

I have no doubt that this Convention I have no doubt that this convention will, by its actions and decisions, con-tinue to maintain the traditions, of our Federation, which are to meet and prop-erly solve the most serious of problems. I know it will clearly assert its authority I know it will clearly assert its authority in no uncertain terms; that it is expected that the officers of the Federation con-tinue as heretofore to enforce Federa-tion laws and policies as determined upon by a Convention; that all local unions have a like obligation.

I feel as keenly as anyone, the hard-ships heaped upon workers in the present state of development of our economic sys-tem, but I do maintain that this system tem, but I do maintain that this system holds out possibilities of reform and changes which have the tendency to cre-ate true economic justice, without deny-ing the incentive or opportunity for indi-vidual efforts. I hold it to be a question of evolution and repeat that we must rec-ognize the reality that nature, itself, dif-ferentiates in all things and that human beings are subjected to this eternal law, the seme as all else and that any prothe same as all else, and, that any pro-posed economic system which presupposes that men are mentally and physically alike to the extent of permitting the level-ing of their hones and conjusting the ing of their hopes and aspirations is eventually doomed to failure.

ties come under the guarantee of free as-semblage and free speech. I repeat that the present social system has its injus-tices. In it, now, individualism is over-emphasized, which in its results is just as vicious as if entirely suppressed. The proper solution is midway between the two. Social reforms do develop. As proof we need only remember that such reforms as were considered revolutionary reforms as were considered revolutionary twenty-five years ago are accepted now as a matter of course. The same will appear to be the case in the next genera-tion and the generations following. It is of course a pity that social injustices cannot be post-haste corrected, but this will never be found possible. All progress is a question of slow evolution and no matwhat we may say, it has been forever 80.

What the ultimate or final development in the regulation of the economic posi-tion of man to man will be, cannot, with any assurance of right conjecture, be foretold. However, it appears that the capi-talistic system now is preparing the ground through mergers of mastodonic corporations for a system which may bor row much from socialism. It appears to me at least, that if concentration of wealth and a control of the production of me commodities becomes more and more centered in a few gigantic corporations and displacement of workers by machine continues, that eventually the Nation, for its own protection, will be forced to more and more control economic activities in a direction of regulating competition so as to eventually substitute cooperation in place thereof. Together with this, guarantee of employment, living wage, old age insurance and all else necessary to protect the worker will forcefully demand just and proper recognition. In this connection will say that altruism never makes for real progress, is only palliative in nature but sheer necessity for an economic change always means progress, therefore the changes in the direction indicated will not be made with the ideal in mind that the reward of labor shall be more justly apportioned even though about through the necessity of conserv-ing the Nation itself. It is true that such development would be near socialism, but everything is social which has for its purpose the well being of man. Government control of economic activities does not necessarily mean that commodities are held in common. It does mean, however, that the rewards of labor should become more equitable, that is to say, that the producers should not be exploited for the benefit of the few. However, in this the producers themselves would not neces-sarily have to be on one common level, as their mission or more the new set of the set of t their physical or mental powers to pro-duce would in a large degree determine the reward for their labors—in other the reward for their labors—in other words government control over economic activities turning competition into co-operation does not in its last analysis mean that all products of labor must be equally apportioned, regardless of the services of the individual worker in pro-ducing commodities. The economic de-velopment in the direction as above ex-plained would not be a social organiza-tion which holds all goods in common. It would not deny the laborer reward commensurate to his efforts and would not stille the development of the indi-vidual so necessary to the progress of vidual so necessary to the progress of civilization. In final conclusion of this report the In final conclusion of this report the question as to the future of our organiza-tion preemptorily demands considera-tion. We can only judge the future by the past. The improvement in the condi-tions of man, his emancipation from slave and serf to a free man, the prog-ress of which covers the entire known history of the human race from Baby-lon to present Europe and the United States, also includes his present eman-cipation from menial labor through the invention of machines. Naught can be said against the machine itself, as only its control and use in a manner unfavor-able to the masses of the people, is ob-jectionable. It is with this that the pres-ent generation of civilized man has to cope. The machine introduction with its aconomic and acid. ent generation of civilized man has to cope. The machine introduction with its cope. The machine introduction with its economic and social consequences will force a readjustment in relationship of capital and labor, producer and consum-er, employer and worker. All this ought to result in a higher civilization. The first thing that nations will have to cope with is that the machine must not rob the mass of workers of employment. The time is past when it can be held that the worker alone must assume the hardships and results of technological progress as a natural consequence. This position was with impunity assumed in the past as the displacement of workers did not ma-terialize to such an extent as to make it a national calamity with unavoidable in-volvement of the entire nation.

Not a standard of the entire nation. However, as unemployment increases the interest of the nation becomes more involved. The American Federation of Involved. The American Federation of Labor contends for a shorter week day and the curtailing of the hours of work. It appears that only in some such way can unemployment of millions be pre-vented. However, it is not to be expected that the question will be solved today or tomorrow. The more often unemploy tomorrow. The more often unemploy-ment reoccurs; the more often the periods of prosperity which always only affects a part of the nation are followed by pe-riods of unemployment of the many, the sooner will the question of unemploysooner will the question of unemploy-ment demand its proper solving. eventually doomed to failure. Consider history in its retrospect and you will find that the masses have prog-ressed considerably, that is to say, their conditions have been improved, if meas-ured by the yardstick of civilization and compared with those of former genera-tions. Dr. Hadley had evidently studied deeply into the kind of a time which "Lucifer" had and has certainly done fine work in translating the theme into vivid harmonic expression. This orchestra is an all-union organization, is taking a constantly firmer hold upon community popularity, and is plainly destined to secure a fixed place among the symphonic institutions of the East.

Convention delegates learned with sincere regret of the misfortune which has come to Secretary S. E. Desmone of Local No. 417, Connellsville, Pa. At the Denver convention he appeared following the amputation of one leg. Since that time he has lost the other. And yet, as an index of the pluck which has always animated him, he writes a letter to the effect that he "hopes to be with you all next year." Federation members who have become acquainted with him during the many years of his convention attendance will ardently hope that his desires in this respect may be fulfilled.

On a Sunday afternoon we were given opportunity to visit the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Dodge, near North Abingdon, some twenty miles south of Boston. Brother Dodge has been convention delegate from Local No. 9 many times, but in recent years has been one of the assistants to President Weber. This position requires his presence in New York most of the time, but when opportunity affords he hies himself to this picturesque one hundred and sixty acre farm retreat and farms as much as any musician could ever be expected to farm. But "Bill" does not need to farm very much. Nature has provided him a sort of sylvan Utopia where he can eat and hunt and occasionally mow the lawn for exercise. Mrs. Dodge provided her guests with a dinner which was an epicurean dream. May "Bill" and Ethel live long to enjoy their attractive farm home. . .

We had the pleasure of forming acquantance with Bandmaster D. A. Ives, who had charge of the fine band which accompanied the Tuesday all-day steamboat excursion to Narragansett Point. Brother Ives has the unique distinction of having been born in Des Moines. He graciously offered the services of himself and his automobile to show us innumerable points of interest, which the pressure of Federation work made it impossible to accept. He nevertheless showed a fine Bostonian spirit which we fully appreciate. . . .

It was a musicians' business convention in a strictly musical atmosphere. The delegates do not take their instruments to a national convention, as many people imagine, but we know they were all delighted with the manner in which this particular entertainment feature was stressed by the Boston committee.

Many delegates knew Mayor James M. flavor all its own. reputation as a prominent municipal chief executive and were eager to hear the address of welcome which he was expected to deliver. However, a two-year period of illness ended fatally for Mrs. Curley during early convention week, which of course prevented his appearance. The convention passed appropriate resolutions of sympathy and copies of the same were certified and sent to the Mayor Curley home.

Two lady delegates graced the convention deliberations again-Mrs. Mary Rob-ling, Local No. 79, Clinton, Iowa, and Mrs. Fred P. Keyser, Local No. 787, Cumberland. Md. The lady delegates gave close attention to the proceedings, but perhaps the reason they did not participate in the debate was they felt they "could not get a word in edgeways" among so many loquacious men.

From the standpoint of the art of music Boston sill lives up to her finest traditions. In childhood we heard of the New England Conservatory of Music. It still functions. We never saw so many music stores. One can hear a symphony orchestra concert program nearly every night. The prestige of Boston as the Hub of American culture will not soon be wrested from her. . .

We are glad to pay some words of tribute to Boston weather. The first few days the National Executive Board was in session the heat was all that an Iowa corn raiser could possibly desire; but the remaining part of the convention period was delightfully cool and enjoyable. Even what rain did chance to fall did not materially demoralize any program feature and entertainers and visitors were all justifiably happy.

We have known W. A. Barrington-Sargent personally as a national convention delegate a good many years; as a composer of band music because we have played his compositions; as a band-leader by reputation, but had never had the opportunity of seeing him in action until during the convention. On Monday evening of convention week the Barrington-Sargent band of seventy-three pieces played a splendid concert in the ball room of the Copley-Plaza Hotel. It was as fine and capable an aggregation of bandmen as we have seen and heard in many a day. The program included two new marches played from manuscript. One was entitled "The Old Reliable" and dedicated to President Joseph N. Weber: and the other, "National Convention March, A. F. of M., 1930." They are both splendid numbers and as a timely contribution to the current output of concert and military band music we certainly hope "Bill" will see to it that they are printed and published. . . .

Matthew Woll, First Vice-President of the A. F. of L., was a convention visitor; gave a ringing address on unionism generally, and presented the claims of the Union Labor Life Insurance Company, of which he is the head, for consideration of the delegates. . . .

Eight committees, of twenty-one members each, look after the formative work of convention legislative proceedure. Some of these committees could give one new definitions of the meaning of the phrase-"the strenuous life."

The Boston weather man seemed disposed to cater to both the wets and the drys. . . .

It was a pleasure to find genuine Boston baked beans and brown bread instead of the faked imitations so often placed before us in localities which might be named. . . .

If a census of music stores should ever be taken we feel confident that Boston would take the lead.

The man who invented the merry-goround doubtless acquired his idea from trying to thread his way through Boston streets. . . .

We have seen where the Cradle of Liberty was rocked. The vibrations then and there set in motion are still being felt around the world.

If ninety-in-the-shade stands for ideal Iowa corn weather, then the Boston beancrop ought by similar token to assume phenomenal proportions in the 1930 harvest. . . .

On the Friday preceding the Federation convention we witnessed the impressive sight of sixteen thousand high school cadets, marching to the music of fifty high school bands. For two solid hours these young Americans passed the hotel where the National Executive Board was endeavoring to transact official business. The demonstration seemed to evidence that, regardless of how much we are dedicated to the cause of peace, soldierly drill and marching formation continue to be recognized as an essential feature of youthful education and training. Incidentally we had another reminder that the high school band is here to remain and may prove a valuable feeder to the larger and more diversified ranks of the musical profession. . . .

The Boston census announced during the convention period-780,851. . . .

Among other Boston musicians with a penchant for soil-tilling may be mentioned National Treasurer Harry E. Brenton, who presides over a beautiful twentyacre tract twenty miles south. The grass is the most beautiful green the eye ever rested upon; there is a grove in which Aristotle would have loved to wander: and Harry grows strawberries which at first glance might be easily mistaken for tomatoes.

So far as we have been able to learn Delegate Leo Cluesmann, Local No. 16, of Newark, was the first delegate to ever arrive at a convention by airplane. Leo's verdict was-"Fine!" . .

Where were the long-time Federation twins-Berger and Dutcher-from Duluth? is a question which was frequently asked. They were scheduled to appear. Their friends will be anxious to know what happened to them. . . .

Many lady visitors inquired for Misses Eileen and Elizabeth Leeder, who usually accompany their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Leeder of Springfield, Illinois. Examinations and commencement time was the answer. .

Boston Local No. 9, A. F. of M., came into being in 1894. It has a membership , Four today of 2,210. It is the proud possessor of a fine and commodious home at No. 56 Botolph Street. From its ranks many have risen to eminence in the musical profession. It has also made notable contribution to many other walks of life. As an organization it stands like a rock for Federation principles. Its presentday officiary is as follows: President, Thomas Finigan; vice-president, W. A. Barrington-Sargent; secretary - treasurer, Herman P. Liehr; trustees, D. A. Ives, Alonzo H. Merritt and J. Edward North: executive committee, Elmer H. Adams. Morris Gaiben, George Gibbs, George Lee and Bert Nickerson.

After twenty-five years of service as secretary of Local No. 109 of Pittsfield, Mass., and as a delegate to eighteen national conventions, John F. Walsh tells us he intends to retire to the ranks of privacy. We are reluctant to hear John say it. He has been a steadfast defender and supporter of the Federation and we trust that his Local will be fortunate enough to find other officials of the Walsh type as a successor.

One of the best broadcasting contracts. we have heard of is one reported by Delegate Louis Greenberg of Local No. 400, at Hartford. The contract is negotiated by Station W-T-I-C, employs 25 men on weekly payrolls, runs one solid year and give two weeks vacation-one week on full pay. Any one having something better to exhibit in that line will be granted a hearing.

Official business made it impossible for the writer to do much in the way of sightseeing, but one evening did permit acceptance of an invitation from President B. C. McSheehy of Local No. 126 of Lynn to give us a two-hour automobile whirl in company with Treasurer H. E. Brenton, which was a delightful experience and which we hope to repeat at some future day.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Shorb of Local No. 111, Canton, Ohio, were convention visitors and were cordially greeted by their many long-time friends.

The Copley-Plaza Hotel was a commodious and home-like place for the delegates and Manager Gardner told the writer that it was one of the finest conventions the house had ever entertained.

As a farewell to Boston, just before train time, we accepted an invitation from Delegates William H. Stephens of Local 142 of Wheeling and Caesar Brand of Local No. 6, San Francisco, for a stroll down to the banks of the St. Charles River. There we found the same majestic flow as when Longfellow immortalized her in the lines:

River, that in silence windeth.

Through the meadows, bright and free; Till at length thy rest thou findeth In the bosom of the sea!

Beautiful poetic symbolism of the stream of life on whose currents we float through time and into eternity!

THE INTERNATIONAL MUSICIAN

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Of the Thirty-fifth Annual Convention of the American Federation of Musicians

Opening Session

Copley-Plaza Hotel

Boston, Mass., June 9, 1930. Convention called to order by President Weber at 2 P. M.

As a compliment to the American Fed-eration of Musicians, the Columbia Broadcasting System is broadcasting the opening exercises over its entire chain of stations.

The National Anthem, the Star-Spangled Banner, is rendered by an orchestra composed of members of Local No. 9, un-der the leadership of Member William S.

President Thomas H. Finigan appro-priately welcomes the Convention to Bos-ton in a short address and introduces the James F. Kelly, who delivers an invocation.

Lieutenant Governor Youngman of Massachusetts, Acting Governor, at this time extends a hearty welcome in the name of the State and its chief Executive, Governor Allen. The speaker sprang from organized labor and his remarks were well received by the members assembled.

The assemblage is entertained by the Jubel Overture by the orchestra.

John M. Casey, representing Mayor Curley of Boston, is introduced. He assures the representatives of the sincere interest of His Honor, the Mayor, in the affairs of the Musicians, and expresses the hope that this Convention may fol-low the preceding Conventions in the usual wise disposition of questions which may come before it for consideration.

Brother Finigan introduces Judge William J. Day, for many years the legal counsel of Local 9, who delivers a most interesting address on the mechanization of the art of music, and charges the rep-resentatives of all the Musicians of the United States and Canada to continue in the support of the past policy of the A. F. of M. to protect and further that art. His remarks are enthusiastically received.

The orchestra renders the Northern Rhapsody by Hosman.

Martin T. Joyce, representing the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor, is introduced and welcomes the Conven-tion in the name of Organized Labor.

The representative of the Boston Central Labor Union, Nathan Sidd, in turn welcomes the representatives of the organized musicians and states that the entire labor movement approves of the splendid fight made by the A. F. of M. in its efforts to preserve the rights of its membership.

The Festival March is rendered by the orchestra.

President Joseph N. Weber is intro-duced and receives an enthusiastic reception. He responds appropriately to the pre-

He responds appropriately to the pre-vious speakers. He clearly outlines the policies and ideals of the American Federation of Musicians and points out with pride that it is an American institution in every sense of that phrase. He dwells on the present activities the organization in the fight it is waging on the encroachment of mechanized music, and the wonderful results at-tained in securing popular support of our protest against the encroachment on the art of music by the attempt to substi-tute a canned product for living music.

New Laws, Effective August 1st, 1930

THE FOLLOWING changes of laws are among those enacted at the 35th Annual Convention held in Boston, Mass., June 9th to 14th, 1930, and become effective on August 1st, 1930:

The International Executive Board is directed to consider a revision of the law governing Conditional Membership, and therefore all cards issued prior to that date will expire on June 11, 1931. Due notice will be given in these columns of changes hereafter effective in the issuance of said cards.

The International Executive Board was directed to revise the laws to provide that appeals can only be made to a Convention where the original fine involved exceeds $500 or where the original penalty imposed was expulsion.

When an individual member enters the jurisdiction of a Local, establishes a residence and deposits his transfer, all fines or penalties imposed upon him for violation of local laws shall belong to the Local imposing same. (This does not apply to members of traveling organizations).

Locals have the right to insist that local leaders or contractors engage local members to fulfill miscellaneous engagements outside of the local jurisdiction.

Locals shall receive 5 per cent for services in collecting Theatre Defense Fund Tax, not to exceed $75 in any one week.

Any Local which obstructs the Federation or its officers in enforcing the laws of the Federation or carrying out the instructions of a convention, either by scurrilous attacks, circulars or other means, may, after being tried and found guilty by the International Executive Board, have its charter revoked by the authorities of the Federation.

If a member deposits his transfer card and remains in the jurisdiction of a local for a period exceeding four weeks and then withdraws his card and later wishes to re-deposit said card within ONE YEAR, it shall be optional with the local to either accept the card or permit the member to take out full membership.

Members found guilty of the violation of any provision of Sections 9 and 10, Article XIII, or any provision of Article XIV (By Laws) cannot, without the consent of the Federation, return to the jurisdiction wherein they offended to play a permanent engagement as members of the same orchestra or band in the same location or for the same employing parties involved in the violation for a period of two years next after conviction. In each instance before enforcement a local must secure consent of the Federation.

Traveling Musicians (other than those with traveling companies) when playing any engagement in a jurisdiction in which local musicians are required to pay a tax on engagements, shall be required to pay such tax to the local in whose jurisdiction they are playing.

If the members of a traveling orchestra are found guilty of vicating the laws of the Federation, then the local union in whose jurisdiction the violation was committed may, with the consent of the authorities of the Federation, in addition to fining such members, also order them to immediately terminate their engagement in connection with which they had violated the law. Members who fail to obey instructions to withdraw from the engagement suspend themselves by such act from membership in the Federation, and may only be reinstated under conditions as stipulated by the International Executive Board.

If a local submits evidence to the Federation that an employer has in collusion with members of the Federation circumvented the laws of the Federation by paying musicians less than the price, then the Federation may place the establishment of such employer upon the forbidden territory list and advise him that he cannot employ members of the American Federation of Musicians except through the local union in whose jurisdiction he desires to use them. All such cases shall be disposed of under Section 1 of Article 1 of the By-Laws of the Federation.

Rules governing Traveling Orchestras have been changed to provide as follows:

A contracting member or leader, as the case may be, must, if requested by the authorities of a local union in whose jurisdiction an engagement is played, allow the local, if it desires, to collect the money for the engagement and pay the members of the band or orchestra, provided that where the local believes that the law is in some manner being violated, it shall have the right TO DEMAND THAT THE CONTRACTING MEMBER OR LEADER SHALL PAY THE MONEY DUE THE BAND OR ORCHESTRA TO THE LOCAL, NOT TO EXCEED 48 HOURS AFTER SAME IS COLLECTED ACCORD-ING TO CONTRACT, and to hold for such limited period as it may decide, subject to the approval of the International Executive Board or President, the 30 per cent in excess of the local scale as provided by Sections 9 and 10 of Article XIII.

Transportation charges for members with traveling orchestras or bands must be made per man at not less than the lowest rate obtainable by available public transportation service regardless of whether or not members travel by privately owned automobile or other conveyance.

Members of the Federation who, either individually or as members of a band or orchestra, play engagements of one week or less in the jurisdiction of any local, on demand of the local whose jurisdiction they have entered, must identify themselves as members of the Federation by submitting their membership cards to the local for inspection. If they fail or refuse to do this, they may be fined by the Local a sum not exceeding $5.

Members of bands and orchestras other than those traveling with theatrical companies playing engagements over one week shall not later than thirty-six hours after they begin same, submit their local membership or transfer cards to the local for inspection and at the beginning of the second week deposit their transfer cards with the local and are obliged to pay dues from the time they entered the jurisdiction. Members traveling with the atrical companies must identify themselves with the local house leader or a representative of a local during the first day of their engagement as members in good standing (see Paragraph A, Section 17, Article XII).

Members who fail to submit their local membership or transfer cards within the time provided for in this section may each be fined not exceeding $25 by the local in whose jurisdiction they have entered. Members who fail to identify themselves as provided for in this section and in addition fail to deposit their transfer cards at the beginning of the second week of their engagement may each be fined a sum not exceeding $100. Members who in accordance with this section do not deposit their transfer cards with the local may each be fined by the local a sum not exceeding $50.

A local in whose jurisdiction a member traveling with a theatrical company fills an engagement shall, if the engagement extends over four weeks, issue to such member a privilege card, good for three months, for which the member shall pay an amount equal to onequarter the annual dues paid by the other members of the local. This card shall date from the time of the beginning of the engagement and must be renewed every three months on payment of a sum equal to a quarter's dues, until such time that the engagement terminates.

Article X, Section 29, is changed to read as follows: Section 29. Members of the Federation are only permitted to accept, solicit or negotiate engagements to play in bands or orchestras frem members who contract to furnish bands or orchestras, never from the employers or the agents of such to whom the band or orchestra is furnished. Provided, that in States or Provinces where laws exist, which prescribe a different method of contracting, or where the provisions of law are such that to contract as above described would be contrary to the interests of members. Locals are authorized to establish such method of contracting as may best conserve the interests of members.

However, members may accept engagements from traveling theatre company managements direct, provided their contract, in addition to the signatures of the contracting parties, is countersigned by the musical director of the company or the member of the Federation who engages the members for the company. Furthermore, members may contract with symphony orchestra management direct in conformity with all local and Federation laws.

The following increases in salaries for traveling members with theatrical companies become effective August 1, 1930:

With Grand Opera Companies of the first class, increase from $150 to $157; second class, $130 to $137.

Leaders with Comic Opera Companies, Musical Comedies and like attractions, from $95 to $125; with Vaudeville or Vaudeville Acts, from $90 to $100.

The International Executive Board is instructed to advocate through our locals and all affiliated bodies that State laws be enacted, setting up State examinations throughout this country and Canada of a nature that would compare well with the examination of other professions, without which no one could give service for remuneration, in order to preserve our culture and eliminate objectionable, detrimental and unfair competition.

The following resolution was adopted:

In support of labor's demand that to Station WCFL, representing the voice of labor, an appropriate wave length be granted and as a protest against the action of the Radio Commission in giving to said station a wave length of insufficient frequency, the American Federation of Musicians endorses House Joint Resolution No. 334 and instructs our local unions throughout the United States to communicate with all political party candidates for U. S. Senate and House of Representatives in their respective States and by forwarding to them for their information, House Joint Resolution No. 334 as appearing in the Congressional Record of May 19, 1930, for their consideration and reply before the next general election to be held on the first Tuesday in November, 1930.

E. with a view to eliminating any musical reproduction by moving pic-ture machine operators accent the which ture machine operators, except that which is synchronized to the film, this also to include exit marches or "chasers."

The Committee on International Musician reports through Chairman Jarrott and Secretary Bope of the Committee: To the Officers and Delegates of the Thirty-fifth Annual Convention of the American Federation of Musicians:

The Committee on International Musician had before it no resolutions.

The printing plant of the American Federation of Musicians as it stands today cost the Federation in round num-bers $66,000. Men whose opinion and judgment herewith is worth while ven-ture that a duplication of this plant would call for an expenditure of probably $200,000.

The books of the Federation's treasurer carry the fact that, if we disregard the semi-annual charge of 10 cents per mem-ber, the International Musician for the past ten years has sustained an annual loss of approximately $1.000.00 But, in the opinion of the Committee, this loss is hardly more than nominal when consid-eration is given to the worth and value of this publication, first, as a ready medium for, and second, as a messenger of the American Federation of Musicians in all its official and business activities. If, however, we credit the official Journal with the semi-annual charge of 10 cents per member, then it is and has been a money-making institution.

Owing to the depression in all lines of industry the gross business of the Federation printing plant for the current year is less than of prior years. And yet, the International Musician has to its credit a bank balance of $8,696.60, plus accounts receivable to the amount of $17,190.51.

In affirming the findings and reports of prior committees in this behalf, once more we commend Secretary Kerngood for his efficient and businesslike management of the International Musician and the printing plant, and recommend that, for the ensuing year, the present policy remain unchanged.

Respectfully submitted, JED JARROTT.

cut can be made in the number of men employed. The delegation inquires if there can be any restriction on the members selected for lay-off under this pro-viso. Can a first-chair man be laid off and a second-chair man be retained?

The Board holds that under the condi-tions extant in the case, the reduction in the number of men employed may affect any member of the orchestra.

The delegation further inquires as to whether a member can be laid off under the terms of the agreement if there appears to be the motive of punishing a member for Union activities or any simi-lar action? The Board holds that if the evidence is conclusive he cannot be dis-criminated against by discharge.

The delegation further requests advice in the matter of a pending controversy with the management of the Philadelphia Orchestra, which is imparted, and the same is referred to the office of the President for disposition.

Member Milton Schwarzwald, the gen-eral musical director for the Radio Keith Orpheum Corporation, appears in regard to a situation in Cleveland, O. The matter is held in abeyance.

Delegates Samuel P. Meyers, Harry E. Hoffman and William H. Williams of Lo-cal 2, St. Louis, Mo., are heard in regard to claims of Members Chas. P. Seymour and Frederick J. Richt of that Local for reimbursement in the matter of loss sustained by being unable to perform at the Arena, which latter is on the National Unfair List.

The members of the delegation present their contentions as to why strike bene-fits should be paid in this instance.

The law on the subject of payment of strike benefits on other theatre eng ments is explained by the President.

After due deliberation, the Board finds that strike benefits cannot be paid in these instances under the laws of the A. F. of M.

The delegation asks and receives ad-vice in other matters of interest to the Local.

Delegates Chas. P. Theimonge of Local 256, Birmingham, Ala.; Joseph Henkle of Local 71, Memphis, Tenn., and C. B. Bearden of Local 148, Atlanta, Ga., are heard in connection with the competition of orchestras from elsewhere by means of armempentium and but the local broad of arrangements made by the local broadcasting stations with the radio chains. The delegates relate how their individual locals are suffering from this competition.

The matter is referred to the office of the President.

Delegate W. B. Hooper of Local 192, Elkhart, Ind., appears in the matter of a protest against the actions of Local 278, South Bend, Ind., and which is laid over until the representatives of both Locals. can appear.

Delegates F. J. Leibold, Michael Muro and H. W. Waidmann of Local 20, Den-ver, Colo., ask for advice in several local perplexities and the information request-ed is imparted to them.

Delegate D. A. Doty of Local 289, Du-buque, Iowa, is heard in relation to a drum corps situation prevailing in that jurisdiction.

A request is received from Local 278. A request is received from Local 278, South Bend, Ind., for permission to re-instate Russell V. Hupp, a former mem-ber of that local. Permission is granted to reinstate upon payment of a National Initiation Fee of $50, in addition to proper local fees, conditional upon his availing himself of the offer within 30 days from date of potification date of notification. Meeting adjourns.

The Committee on President's Report submits its report through Chairman Walter A. Weber:

Delegate Kelsey in the chair.

To the Officers and Delegates of the Thirty-fifth Annual Convention of the American Federation of Musicians: Greetings:

Another year has passed, one of the most critical and vital in the history of our organization. The developments of the past year make the report of our President an important, illuminating and unique document, one that should be read with care and discernment by our members.

The report begins with a historical resume which is a necessary introduc-tion to the report itself. Following this prelude the President successively dis-cusses the two elements of the profes-sional and semi-professional elements.

Following this, information is given as to the number of men employed in thea-tres and the amount paid in to the defense fund with other vftal figures show-ing loss of employment guring the two-year period of 1928-1930.

The report then treats with the devel-opment of the machine in industry and traces the steady mechanisation of indusfrom the earliest beginnings.

try from the earliest beginnings. A report is made of the tremendous publicity campaign on which we are now embarked and which has made history in the advertising world. This subject is considered in detail and many letters are presented which show the deep inter-est and real sympathy of many people in various walks of life and in widely sepa-rated communities with our problems. The matter of theatrical employment receives a great deal of consideration. Successively we learn many interesting facts concerning the music tax, the im-migration problem and the radio situa-tion.

The Hoover conference is touched up-a briefly, but, in our opinion, most efon fectively.

During the year a situation arose wherein a Local Union presented the unique theory that the opinion of its members was superior to that of the opin-ion of a National Convention of the American Federation of Musicians. Of course such premise is not only fallacious, but entirely dangerous in theory because if every union could set itself up to be the superior to the dictates of the National Officers of the Federation or of a Convention of the Federation, in a very short time there would be no Federation. Presumably, the Local Union, has now realized the weakness of its position and we are confident that such a situation will not soon arise again.

That the business of the Federation is constantly increasing is evidenced by the report of the activities of the officers of the Federation and the report shows that many jurisdictions were visited by Na-tional Officers and many adjustments made throughout the year. In addition to the work of the National Officers it was found necessary to provide the serv-ices at various times of members of the Federation not employed in any official capacity.

The President has treated also of the developments and activities of organized its beneficial results and the rea labor. son of the failure of its general recognition.

We now come to a section of the report that should challenge our most careful attention and consideration. It deals with the attempt to proselyte our members to Communism. Many of our members seem to believe that there is no real danger or menace in Communism, but that it is merely an attempt on the part of certain men high in the ranks of organ-ized labor to cry "wolf" upon every occasion and perhaps divert attention from their own shortcomings. That such is not the case is clearly proven by our Presi-dent. That we should be ever alert and watchful that this red menace may not destroy everything constructive and beneficial for which we have labored these many years, our members should be con-stantly on the alert.

The other subjects treated in this re-port are the "Shorter Work Week," "Our Relations with the I. A. T. S. E.," "Tele-vision," "The Finances of Our Federa-Relations with the I. A. T. S. E., "Tele-vision," "The Finances of Our Federa-tion," "The Executive Board In Its Rela-tion To the President's Office," and "The Laws of Our Organization," wherein ap-pear a number of recommendations for necessary changes of law. The report concludes with the future of our organ-ization in which President Weber sums up many vital items up many vital items. We call particular attention to the final paragraph of this section of the report which reads as follows:

We now have a better organization than we had thirty years ago and thirty years ago Local Unions had better conditions for their members than musicians of previous genera-tions enjoyed and so on. Progress is nothing but a succession of events proving of advantage to the masses. To turn such events in particular to the advantage of the members of our organisation was and is our problem. This is true of entire organized la-Nothing is stationary in life or economic 'relationship. Everyin thing is subject to continual change and even if we may be entirely satisfied with present conditions we will find it impossible to retain same, but must comply and conform to the con-ditions of tomorrow and tomorrow. This remains true for all time. Only by recognizing this can we perform the best possible service to the members of our organisation and fully meet the mission for which we organ-ized, namely, to secure for the indi-vidual member such conditions in life and alleviation from hardships as he cannot secure for himself. As time goes on the present disturbing change in the employment field of our members will become a matter of history, but the successful future of our or-ganization will largely depend upor the constructive manner in which we have met this change.

In conclusion, we recommend a care-ful reading of this report to every mem-ber of the Federation. As usual, the President speaks with clarity, conciseness and authority. More-over he has such a vast and intimate knowledge of every matter connected with the workings of the Federation that any report that he makes is not a mere throwing together of half-baked facts and figures, but becomes a human living docufigures, but becomes a human living document.

Our only regret is that we cannot de-vote more time to the consideration of all the matters discussed by President Weber.

The Committee on Finance reports through Chairman Laffell:

RESOLUTION NO. 8

The introducer asks leave to withdraw the resolution. The Convention consents.

The following further report is submitted:

To the Delegates of the Thirty-fifth Annual Convention of the American Federation of Musicians:

Your Finance Committee begs leave to report that they have carefully checked the reports of the Auditors and the Treasurer and find them correct and submitted in a manner so as to be easily understood by the members of the Federation.

Your Committee regrets to report that for the first time in the history of the American / Federation of Musicians a former trusted employee of the Federa-tion has committed a defalcation of the funds of the American Federation of Musicians in an amount of approximately $15,000.00.

Your Committee, fully realizing the seriousness of this situation, summoned the International President, Secretary, Treasurer and one Mr. Fred Chandler, personal representative of the auditing firm of James T. Swan Company, to ap-near nercenally before them pear personally before them.

Your Committee, after a very thorough investigation, found that while the defai-cation took place in the office of the In-ternational Secretary, that the Secretary was in no wise negligent in the duties of his office, and further, the Secretary had used every precaution that was possible in the matter of handling of the funds of his office. In fact, it was pointed out to your Committee by Mr. Chandler, repre-sentative of the Auditors, that it was it was beyond any human agency to discover the defalcation as practised by Mr. Ostendorf.

Your Committee has appended here-with a copy of the confession as signed by Mr. Ostendorf, which reads as follows:

Newark, N. J., May 7th, 1930. Mr. Joseph N. Weber, President,

Dear Sir:

This is to notify you that during the past four years I have taken from the funds of the American Federation of Mu-sicians approximately $14,260.28. I have covered up this shortage by making false entries on the books of the International Musician. I have kept no details of the amounts so taken, but I have furnished the auditors with a list as complete as I could remember.

All this amount has accrued to my own benefit and no officer of the American Federation of Musicians or the Interna-tional Musician is involved. I am making this statement of my own volition.

(Signed):

HENRY W. OSTENDORF. Witness: JAMES T. SWAN.

Your Committee recommends that here after a periodical audit of all the books of the Federation be made not less than four times in each year, as it is the opinion of your Committee that this rould further safeguard the funds of the Federation.

Your Committee wishes to compliment our Treasurer in the matter of the hand-ling of the detail work connected with his office, which has been greatly increased since the inception of the Theatrical Defense Fund.

> GEORGE P. LAFFELL Chairman;

B. W. COSTELLO, LOUIS J. NETT, SOLON T. KLOTZ, MIKE CELLES, WILLIAM BRAKEMAN, CARL METZ, HENRY SCHULTE, J. D. BYRNE, JOSEPH HENKEL CHESTER S. YOUNG, JOHN MacLUSKIE, JOHN MACLUSKIE, L. A. PROCTOR, HARRY C. MANVELL, VINCENT CASTRONOVO, BARNIE G. YOUNG, FRANK MELLOR, RALPH FELDSER, UNCENT F. SPECIALE VINCENT E. SPECIALE, GEO. A. KEENE. ALFRED TROYANO, Secretary.

Motion made to adopt the report and recommendations.

Amendment offered to provide that the audit provided for shall be at least once each quarter.

Discussed by delegates Keene and Tooher.

The amendment is adopted.

The report as amended is then adopted. The President explains a general plan of bonding all officers and employees:

The Committee on Secretary's Report, through Chairman Bowen, submits the following report:

REPORT ON COMMITTEE ON A. F.

OF M. SECRETARY'S REPORT o the Officers and Delegates of the Thirty-fifth Annual Convention of the To American Federation of Musicians: The International Secretary's Report for 1929-1930 has been carefully considered by your Committee. The statistics contained therein for the general information of the delegates and members of the Federation cover the usual activities of the Secretary's Office, and reveal that 675 cases were before the International Executive Board for their consideration and disposal, which is about seventy-five less than reported at the last Convention. Also, that 672 conditional memberships and twenty-three condi-tional transfer cards were issued. These figures are practically the same as given in the previous year's report.

Your Committee is indeed pleased that t can report that the loss to the Roster of Locals is but eight (8) in number as compared with a loss of thirty-sight (38) last year. This Committee highly com-mends the Secretary upon the excellent appearance and arrangement of the con-tents of his report, as submitted to this Convention Furthermore it is the convention. Furthermore, it is the unanimous opinion of your Committee that the Secretary has conducted the duties of his office with his usual high sense of its responsibility and importance to the members of the Federation.

That portion of the report pertaining to the International Musician and print-ing plant was in the hands of the Com-mittee on that matter.

Respectfully submitted, H. G. BOWEN, Chairman, H. C. CHENNEOUR, SAMUEL P. MEYERS. J. I. PAQUET, CAESAR BRAND, GEO. M. DIEMER, HAROLD F. WILLIAMS,)H HAL 'CARR, WM. W. President's Report

necessity to approach the problem in a constructive manner will finally become a question of the entire nation and the government, and will be hastened in the government, and will be hastened in the same manner as the development of ma-chines took place. Now then, what is the position of the American Federation of Musicians in the economic scheme of our nation? I have pointed out elsewhere in this report that in the question of unemployment of Musicians the professional finds himself in a more precarious con-dition than does the non-professional, as it affects his only opportunity to gain a livelihood. Were all the professional mu-sicians employed in theatres, the present situation of unemployment would indeed have dire consequences upon the organization, but luckily approximately only one-third of the professional musicians were employed in theatres and one-third of these have lost their employment. This of course is more important and farther reaching than it appears to be upon first consideration. However, to consider the future we must, as before said, draw conclusions from the past. Before the mov-ing picture theatres developed into a fering picture theatres developed into a fer-tile field for the employment of our mem-bers, the number of professional musi-cians, even though we were 100% organ-ized, was in no wise as large as it is now. In other words, as already pointed oùt, this field of employment resulted in the development of talent which augmented the number of professional men. It took well nigh 20 years to develop this field. The change in the employment oppor-tunities in same, however, was sudden. tunities in same, however, was sudden. Now then, the question presents itself whether the inroads upon the employ-ment of our members in theatres will ment of our memory in cheates win have serious consequences for the further maintenance of our organization. To avoid an error in its consideration it is necessary that we be mindful of the dif-ferent kinds of employment fields in which our members are active. The fact of the matter is that two-thirds of the professional musicians are not active in theatres but fill engagements of another kind. Still, the reduction of wages forkind. merly earned by members working in the atres to the tune of $16,000,000.00 to $17,-000,000.00 does for the time being retard the progress of our organization, but the misfortune and distress of one-third of the theatre musicians affected by this, which means about one-twelfth of the profes-sional men and one-twenty-eight of the entire membership of the Federation, does not call into question the continued maintenance of our organization, but rather emphasizes that we now need same more than ever. As to the theatrical situation it may be said that if the development of television in which in the pext few years gigantic strides will be made (of that I am sure) strides will be made (of that I am sure) the present development in the amuse-ment field cannot be accepted as station-ary even for the period of time that the silent pictures remained a stationary de-velopment. Television bids well to even-tually create the same problem for the interests controlling the theatres now as the development of canned music created the development of canned music created for us. However, with this difference. Canned music did not represent progress over live music, whereas television un-doubtedly will represent progress over the movie talkies and canned music.

Elsewhere in this report I have stated that the Federation has always con-formed to changed conditions and I am sure it will also do so in this case. If an organization was ever in need of con-structive leadership, both national and structive leadership, both national and local, and with this so far as the National is concerned, I mean the Convention, it is in this case. It appears that here and there the life element is already called upon for the purpose of reestablishing the lost glamour of the theatre, and, in the lost glamour of the theatre, and, in the same degree as this takes place, our prob-lem will become lighter. There is no doubt in my mind that some members will be forced, for the time being, out of the professional field. This would not have been such a difficult problem had nave been such a dimcuit problem had not the development of canned music (during the time that its results were most unfavorable to us) fallen in the time of the depression causing general unemployment.

With it all, there is one factor which should be determining for everyone who has the interests of our profession at heart in its final opinion as to the real value of his organization to him, and that is that with all the wiring of the moving picture houses and the conse-sequent non-employment of musicians, the wages of those who are employed in the start of the second of the second seco theatres, and they represent as yet twothirds of the former number, have not been reduced. Their standard of living remains the same. It does not take much discernment to realize that without an organization this would be unthinkable. This, better than anything, brings forcibly to the attention of every member that in spite of unemployment, in spite of change in conditions, in spite of the change in the amusement field or the nature of musical employment, his organization still remains the only agency which holds out the possibility for him to have something to say concerning the conditions under which he shall work, and for this reason, to his organization is even more necessary to him in time of stress than in time of opulence.

During my observations of three dec-ades the actions of Conventions always did conform to existing conditions, were always progressive, made haste slowly when indicated and were radical when the necessity to be so demanded it. With it all, however, we always realized that we are only an opportune organization, that we cannot post-haste change the ex-isting social system, that all we can do is to work to be helpful and be one of the forces moving in a direction to bring about more just conditions for the workers and never attempt anything that we know in advance would only be a useless gesture with unfavorable consequences to the organization.

As for myself, I keenly feel the re-sponsibilities of the office, but also have the right to be proud of the discernment of the members of our organization which is reflected in the deliberations of our Conventions. Their efforts were at all times made in the direction of bringing more happiness into the lives of mem-bers, their families and dependents and that is after all doing something worth while.

We now have a better organization than we had 30 years ago and 30 years ago local unions had better conditions for their members than musicians of previ-ous generations enjoyed and so on. Progress is nothing but a succession of events proving of advantage to the masses. To turn such events in particular to the advantage of the members of our organiza-tion was and is our problem. This is true of entire organized labor. Nothing is of entire organized labor. Nothing is stationary in life or in economic rela-tionship. Everything is subject to con-tinual change and even if we may be en-tirely satisfied with present conditions we will find it impossible to retain same, but must comply and conform to the con-ditions of tomorrow and tomorrow. This remains true for all time. Only by recognizing this can we perform the best possible service to the members of our organization and fully meet the mission for which we organized, namely, to secure for the individual member such conditions in life and alleviation from hard-ships as he cannot secure for himself. As time goes on the present disturbing change in the employment field of our members will become a matter of history, but the successful future of our organiza-tion will largely depend upon the con-structive manner in which we have met this change.

JOS. N. WEBER.

President A. F. of M. .
