Labor Day in America was suggested Peter J. McGuire, union carpenter, in 882. It was adopted by the American ederation of Labor in 1884, and has been eclared a holiday by the United States longress and by State Legislatures.

Labor Day Is Social Guide Post Our Labor Day is more than a holiday. is a guide post by which social changes be charted.

These changes become more and more vident. Beginning with the World War, vident. cial students can with safety hold that are entering an era revolutionary in scope and of profound effect on our ational life.

We have passed from the period when bor's warning voice against new ten-encies are unheeded. Speaking nation-ly, we have stepped out of that smug interaction with addividue effort when atisfaction with individual effort-when the people were assured that the single disen is invincible and that organization of wage workers is a sign of dependence.

The force that drove workers into labor rganizations logically enlarges its field of operations that is now including ele-ments of our citizenry who formerly considered themselves entrenched by eir initiative and by their faith in indiidual effort.

We are at the beginning of a new era ause of mergers, combines, labor-placing machinery and centralized splacing anking that controls credit.

These combines have the same effect m so-called "white collar" workers and upervisors of all grades as the labor-lisplacing machine has on workers.

The same forces are operating in re-il business, where chain stores are cing the small store owner, his clerks and other employes on the street.

Machine and Mergers Bring Idleness More unemployment is the result of meral labor displacement. This means iditional non-consumers. Mergers and atic .machinery throw additional on the market, which cannot be utomatic coods on rchased because unemployed cannot ew viewpoints and people no longer laim that a displaced worker can secure ployment in another industry or calls. It is now realized that the forces at displaced such worker is operative rywhere and that no industry is escap the general tendency toward mergers mechanization.

Excerpts from an Address Delivered by Frank Morrison, Secretary of the American Federation of Labor, at a Labor Day Celebration in Baltimore September 1, 1930.

Labor Day in America, 19

The claim that other industries will take up the unemployed slack is no solution. There is no reason to believe that future industries will not also be mechanized

Machine Brings Spiritual Losses

Machine Brings Spiritual Losses Machinery in industry lightens labor, but it often eliminates labor. More than this, it destroys skill that has been ac-quired through generations of workers and eliminates pride in craftsmanship and creative faculties that distinguish skilled workers. This is more than an individual loss. It is a social loss because the workers of the door not pass to the up worker, if he does not pass to the unemployed ranks, secures employment at some repetitive process where skill and initiative are unnecessary. From the standpoint of dividends and huge output, there is no question but that mechanization is a success, but the spiritual values a skilled workers loses, and the passing of a social sentiment based on craft pride and independence, can well be considered.

Another changed viewpoint since the World War is the acceptance of what is termed "stabilization of industry." This This means that industry shall produce only to meet requirements of consumption.

In the days of individual initiative it was considered a social offense and even a statutory crime to agree with one's a statutory crime to agree with one's associates or competitors to decrease output. Workers, when they urged a ten or nine-hour work day, were charged with attempting to lessen production and thereby increase costs.

Today business men meet with govern-ment bureaus to arrange "stabilization" plans while other government officials call on wheat and cotton growers to produce less.

The theory of initiative and no-government aid has been discarded to such an extent that the government has pur-chased millions of bushels of wheat in an effort to hold prices, while farmers are urged to shorten their next crop that the purchased wheat may be disposed of. This government aid, regardless of its effectiveness and its necessity, was un-dreamed of before the World War. Neither was government aid in enforcing "stabilization" policies, which are en-couraged by bureaus and even sanctioned

by courts. Labor's Demands Justified

This summary of present-day conditions and tendencies that are indicative of profound changes in our social and economic life, is an additional reason why labor's demand for shorter hours, higher wages, abolition of child labor, old-age pensions and other demands should be approved.

We are living in a new world. Old policies, old outlooks, old customs, old standards and old shibboleths are useless in the new day. New social and economic paths are being blazed.

The things that labor alone urged even a few years ago are now accepted by citizens in other walks of life. Only recently a United States Senator declared in an address to New York business men that the five-day week and the six-hour day is a certainty. "Improvement in labor-saving machin-ery is the reason for this," he said, as he he said, as he asked: "What are we going to do with the men thrown out of work by this economic change?'

Men are beginning to question the correctness of a social order that displaces workers through machinery, making it impossible for them to buy goods produced by the machine. Business depressions are logical as the machine BCOME more perfect and as new scientific pro-cesses are installed to place more workers on the streets and enlarge the number of non-buyers. Change is the law of life. This applies to the individual and to every activity of groups and nations. Fixity is no part of nature, that expresses itself in silent transition or physical upheavals that ter-rify. In either case men are alarmed when they are unacquainted with the natural laws and forces that cause these changes.

Social Changes Must Be Understood The important question in our country is an understanding by citizens of these forces that are bringing economic changes and to which I have referred.

Such understanding is essential to na-tional welfare if we are to adapt ourselves to new conditions and apply proper remedies. Such understanding is necessary, for instance, in the case of old-age pensions. We are told that pensions develop dependence. pendence. This theory would apply to the individualistic age when we were a the individualistic age when we were a nation of agriculturalists, skilled crafts-men and small traders. Today we are llving in a new world and under new con-ditions. The mergers and combines, the mechanization of industry, the abolition of farm life and the chain stores system, have no place for the men over 40 and 45 years. Their llves, in many instances, are hopeless. They become a charge on society through the poor house system, which government reports show are a failure because of excessive upkeep, or through charity organizations or welfare through charity organizations or welfare societies. To call an old-age pension an incentive to pauperization and an addi-tional burden to society, while ignoring To call an old-age pension an the tremendous wastes and humiliating failures of our poor house system and our institutionalized charities is a reflection on our reasoning abilities and even on our boasted tendency to reckon values from a materialistic standpoint.

Hungry and shelterless men must be cared for, either in poor houses, bread lines, by charity organizations or by a penalon system that will remove the sting of charity and permit these men to retain their self-respect, an essential quality in a democracy. I venture the opinion that an old-age pension system in this country is inevit Sentiment for this legislation will as mechanization of industry is able. grow intensified, and as scientific processes become more general, with the conse-quent enlargement of the number of unemployed

Five-Day Week is Certain

same forces are driving industry The to a five-day week basis. The tendency is irresistible and labor is daily securing recruits to its shorter-work-day cause from citizens outside our ranks. The present business depression, and its 'agreed-to cause, is the best defense of our short week demand. Industries that are on the ten- nine and even eight-hour basis produce more than can be bought. Hours should be adjusted so that the peaks of production are flattened and working time extended, rather than continue the present system of working long hours for a short time and be forced into idleness the balance of the year.

We have become so efficient that we produce not only more than we can buy, but the machine is capable of flooding the markets while men and women vainly seek employment.

Our efficiency and the productivity of our machine system was recently referred to by an Eastern banker as "public lun-acy" because of our unlimited production of indigestible mass s of unc able products.

At the same time the editor of a well-known financial magazine in New York declared that "American industry can easily make in eight months all that can be disposed of in twelve," and that "jobs come scarcer and scarcer."

Similar quotations could be made from Similar quotations could be made from other business man and financiers who are awakening to the need for an adjust-ment of working hours and a solution of the unemployed problem if our coun-try is to maintain an approximate bal-ance between all groups.

This question can no longer be waived aside. It will continue to press for solu-tion. The forces that I have referred to will eventually awaken an enlightened self-interest among men who refuse to face facts.

High Wages Don't Cause Depressions This Labor Day is marked by another unusual situation.

It is the first time that a business depression is not featured by charges that Wages are "too high." It is the first time that we are not hearing of general move-ments for wage cuts and a nation-wide demand for lower pay rates.

People have rejected the theory that wages are responsible for business de-clines. Labor's long effort for the people to realize the value of high wages and the disastrous effect that low wages have on industry is finally accepted.

Let me call your attention to this declaration:

laration: "A reduction in wages compels re-trenchment in the household economy of the workers affected. In other words, it curtails their consuming power which necessarily results in the discharge from employment of those workers who were formerly employed in the production of the very articles theretofore used and consumed. Then follow reductions in wages, resulting as in the first instance; and this process of wage reductions, or retrenchment in household economies, of retrenchment in household economies, of more discharges from employment en-sues, bringing in its wake poverty, mis-ery and suffering, stagnation and an in-dustrial panic, until the lowest ebb is reached and a turn in the industrial tide begins." This declaration sounds familiar. But it was not made by a statesman, an educa-tor or an economist. This declaration was made 23 years ago by workingmen assembled in the American Federation of Labor Convention at Norfolk, Virginia

They were in advance of their time. They refused to accept the then prevail-ing code that low wages reduce produc-tion costs and that the way to shorten

Industrial panics is to cut wages. A quarter of a century ago labor pre-sented the theory of bigh wages, which is now generally accepted by men who at last can understand that when workers can't buy, the merchant can't buy and closed factories are the result.

High Living Standards Not General

One of the popular illusions in this ountry, however, is that we have a high living standard for every family. It is true that high wages are paid in certain industries, but there are startling exceptions

Mr. Paul Nystrom, in his "Economics of Consumption," written before the pres-ent depression, says, there are 5,000,000 families in America today who are living below the minimum of health and effi-ciency level; they need furniture, cloth-ing, food, better housing. If we would ing, food, better housing. If we would say that each of these 5,000,000 families consist of four persons, we have 20,000, 000 persons, or approximately one-sixth of the population of America, who have of the population of America, who have a living standard that jeopardizes their health and their efficiency.

BRILLIANT TRUMPETS

The true trumpet tone is sparkling, dynamic and brilliant. It captivates the player as well as those who hear it. Into every Holton Trumpet the purest trumpet tone is built, tune true to pitch and perfect workmanship. Holton Trumpets created by artists are the choice of artists.

The "NEW REVELATION" Model

Medium Bore. The tone of the "New Revelation" Holton Trumpet has new brilliancy, is more penetrating and has more sparkle. It has new, improved, shorter action. Finer in balance, it has more breadth of tone. . It brings about a realization of absolute mastery-a greater Revelation!

The "LLEWELLYN" Model

Medium Bore. Into this new model Llewellyn Trumpet new features have been incorporated, bringing about an even greater ease of playing, a more wonderful quality of tone, shorter valve action, new, sparkle and brilliancy. The greatest Trumpet of all time.

The "DON BERRY" Model

Large Bore. In this Holton Trumpet are embodied the principles first discovered in the Holton-Whiteman Trombons. Although large in bore, it is extremely light in weight. So accurately is it pro-portioned it takes all you can put into it, producing a big, sparkling, brilliant tone. It is perfectly tuned and perfectly balanced.

Prevent It; Cure Isn't Enough

F all the learned persons and groups that have come forward to tell us what should be done about unemployment no wisdom to speak of has come from any source except the trade union movement. Others have talked about public works and planned employment to be released upon the approach of danger.

But those things are not preventives, though in a sense they may be cures. What organized labor demands and knows how to bring about is a preventive of unemployment. Unemployment can be prevented by a proper relation of wages and hours of labor to the constantly increasing output of our industrial organization. There is nothing else that can even remotely approach prevention. Politicians, looking for votes and fearing to offend great powers, will come slowly to understand that prosperity cannot be made permanent by passing laws.

Wage-earners will come slowly, for many reasons, to understand that we shall get real prevention only when enough are organized to bring into industry generally an effective voice. But in due time the lesson will be learned because depressions that must get worse as time passes will so generate the will to find a way out that the way out will be found.

Ford's Maimed Workers Ask for State Support

AIMED workers at the Ford plant who have been discharged are applying for start compensation. The Detroit Labor News says: discharged are applying for State workmen's "Once again the keen and penetrating rays of fact have punctured the humanitarian claims of the motor mogul." "During the past few weeks," the labor paper continues, "many of these workers have been fired because their days of usefulness were passing. Unable to secure employment elsewhere, the men, suffering from hernia, crippled hands, feet, legs and numerous other ailments resulting from their labor at Ford's, made application for State workmen's compensation."

Ford officials profess ignorance of this situation, but said they will "check up" any claim presented.

"What the Ford Company will do is conjecture," said the Labor News, "but a firm that throws its derelicts upon the State for sustenance, after they have been rendered industrially useless while in its employ, should hardly lay claim to philanthropy and humanitariapism."

A Shocking Spectacle

THE Mooney case is a shocking spectacle to every citizen who has faith in our courts.

Mooney was sentenced to be hung, but was imprisoned for life when agitation against the trial methods began.

After the trial ended it was proven that Oxman, Oregon cattleman and star witness for the State, committed perjury when he testified that he saw Mooney and four other persons drive in an automobile to the scene of the bombing. Oxman said Mooney and Billings carried a suit case.

It is now known that Oxman was at Woodland, Calif., ninety miles from San Francisco, at the time he said he saw that automobile.

The perjury was not proven until after the trial ended. Under California law appeals in such criminal cases must be based on the second of the trial. This makes it impossible to secure a new trial and Mooney's release depends upon the governor.

THE INTERNATIONAL MUSICIAN

Regardless of the bitterness, hate and confusion that has entered this case, Oxman's perjury is an indictment against men who juggle a court of justice for base ends, and who nearly hung a human being.

The infamy of this frame-up was emphasized when former Assistant District Attorney Brennan, who prosecuted the two men, told members of the State Supreme Court that the defendants had been tried on their general reputations "and outside circumstances."

Men Are Idle, There Is Plenty of Money; W<sup>HY</sup> not build millions of homes? Unemployment sets Also Plenty of Miserable Shacks

Unemployment gets no better. Nor is the end in sight.

Interest rates on money are low-plenty of money is to be had for productive effort.

Millions of Americans live in miserable shacks that are a menace to health and decency.

A great deal of every kind of social and civic indecency springs from filthy housing conditions.

It can be wiped out. The nation has the time and the money now.

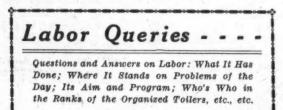

Home construction is a permanent asset. It is not charity, it is not merely for the day.

America could practically end unemployment by building millions of homes to be made available at decent rents or on decent terms. Men would go to work. Money would get out of the pockets of pure speculators and dividend getters.

Primarily such nation-wide, wholesale construction would put the building trades at work, but they would be followed, in some cases preceded, by workers in all manner of trades and occupations. Supplies would move. Mills would have to make them: roads would have to haul them.

Why should not America do a big thing today-for it would be a big thing?

Why not create good homes by the million, raise the whole national living standard-and end unemployment? A dream? Yes, but America itself was once only a dream!

Q.-What is labor's slogan for the coming political campaign?

A .- "We will not vote for a candidate for Congress who is opposed to a law prohibiting the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes."

Q .- What is "idle money"?

A .- This is an expression sometimes used for out-ofwork benefits paid by trade unions or public authorities to workers temporarily unemployed.

Q.-Is there a State federation of labor in every Statet

A .--- Yes.

Q.-How does labor regard the yellow dog contract, by which a worker promises not to join a trade union? A .- The American Federation of Labor holds that such contracts are void as against public policy, that they are signed under duress and coercion, and that they have no place in this nation's democratic institutions.

Q.-When will the 1930 convention of the American Federation of Labor meet in Boston? A .- Beginning Monday, October 6.

Q .- How old is the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor?

A .- Ten years old. It was established June 5, 1920. being a development of The Woman in Industry Service. created in 1918 to safeguard the interests of women during the war.

Q.-Who said: "Every witness who testified against Mooney has been shown by facts and circumstances developed since his trial, and which are incontrovertible to have testified falsely"?

A .- Judge Franklin A. Griffin, of the Superior Court of California, who presided at the trial of Tom Mooney, convicted on perjured evidence of complicity in the Preparedness Day parade bombing of 1916.

Q.-What union has the following quotation from Marcus Aurelius on its letterhead: "Love the art, poor as it may be, which thou hast learned, and be content with it; making thyself neither the tyrant nor the slave of any man"?

A .--- Actors' Equity Association.

tion, sometimes penetrates to truth. Here, where the shallows throw no spray, let us ponder and enjoy the lessons of the art and the work and play of life.

Isn't it about time the slogan-makers were given the air?

And the snappy headline writers and the press agents? What chance is there in these parlous and hectic times for calm consideration, for the forming of mature judgment?

Every sponsor of a stunt, every backer of an ides, starts at once to make the world "conscious" of his stunt, hobby or commercial proposition.

We find we must be made "air-minded," we must be made "motor-minded," we must be made this "minded" and that "minded," until we wish the whole outfit of propagandists would run away and hide.

But hiding is not in mind of the gentry of promotion. Anything but!

So we are battered at and hammered at until our nerves go raw and our brain reels from one idiotic impact after another.

The radio, which grows little more removed from. original inaneness as the dog days come on, has made a bad situation worse. Those who use their own radios with moderation and discretion are bombarded by the wails emitting from the radios of the neighborhood.

In a world filled with serious problems and filled for most folks with never-ending struggle, the array of frivolities and deceptions masquerading under disguises of importance created by well-paid promotion gentlemen hammer away to rob the race of peace and to distract attention from things worth while.

It is doubtful if Abraham Lincoln would have been the Lincoln history knows with today's bombardment of idiocy clanging about him continuously.

We may give praise that Samuel Gompers did not have to come to maturity under the baneful influence of today's radio frivolity and clap-trap.

The yap, yap, yap of special pleaders, special promoters, press agents, faddists and plain nuts that besets. the urban population today is man's most dangerous enemy. That is, the continuous pother and fol-de-rol of the day is the greatest enemy extant to mental development, calm living, sane contemplation, profound thought.

And yet, marvel of it all, profound thought does come from a few, great achievement is recorded here and there, progress does manage to stir the pages of contemporary history-we do get somewhere, in jerky, but persistent fashion.

But how much more purposefully and intelligently might we move, were we less beset by those counterfeit "attractions" that jangle the human brain and tend to throw it off balance! . .

The daily press for the most part contributes its full share to the helter-skelter of the times. Every first page. must be dynamite, every other page must be loaded with sex interest, wise cracks, scandal, hot emotion of one type or another.

More sound thought, more vital news, more decent reading, is put forth each week by the labor press than by the daily press. And the daily press is abetted in its. froth by a goodly number of the magazines which in turn are buttressed on an outpouring of books that serve as diversion for an hour, then to be thrown away.

As a general thing the human brain does not think. profoundly in the midst of high confusion. Solitude, contemplation-whither go these fountains of philosophy? And what shall be the price of their going?

-C. M. W.

Stand By Your Union

RADE unionism is doubly necessary when crafty employers talk of no wage reductions while they silently attempt to undermine work standards.

The unions are also necessary because of their power to mold public opinion in favor of injunction relief, oldage pensions and other social legislation.

Unions are not attacked in times of prosperity. orkers must be especially vigilant in time sion.

Anti-union employers, to a large extent, have aban doned open opposition. Stealth and a destruction of the workers' morale are being used.

The union hall is the forum where present conditions can be discussed and new plans agreed to on how to hold the lines.

"Stand by your union" should be the slogan of every worker who appreciates the value of organization. To become discouraged is to play into the hands of oppon ents of every form and guise.

CHAUNCEY A. WEAVER

Chicagoland, an all-embracive inland empire, which includes Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa in its do-minion, was the place, and Saturday night, August 23, 1930, was the date of one of the most colossal as well as color-ful Music Festivals known to the annals of American musical history. One hun-dred thousand people is a conservative estimate of the human inundation which flooded Soldier Field Stadium—a mighty audience which remained spellbound un-der music's voluptious swell—for two and one-half solid hours.

This Music Festival was sponsored by the Chicago Tribune and thirty-five other mid-western newspapers—apparently as an experimental demonstration to determine whether the interest in matters musical is a superficial or a deep-rooted characteristic. In arranging the great characteristic. In arranging the great event the promoters must have builded far better than they knew, for the re-sponse was so overwhelming that similar events, on an equally gigantic scale, are already foreshadowed. It was an unforgettable scene. In this great stadium, impressive replica of an-cient gladitorial days, within whose arena puglistic combatants had displayed their prowess and then headed for oblivion; and where the football contests of yester-and where the football contests of yester-year were a fading memory, the vast conyear were a fading memory, the vast con-course of humanity began pouring in at 7 o'clock. It was still daylight. Yonder was Lake Michigan, whose peaceful blue suggested the quietude we love at the close of a sultry summer day. At 7:30 the bands from everywhere came march-ing in—finely uniformed—all movements with military precision. We do not know the number of bands. Statistics lose their flavor in the presence of an ensemble like that. By 8 o'clock night's curtains had fallen and the most astounding electrical illumination unfolded itself that ever dazzled a human vision. Far above the deep-toned diapason on the stadium field a roar was heard and glancing upward deep-toned diapason on the stadium heid a roar was heard and glancing upward the great throng beheld a trio of air-planes flashing white, red and green lights and otherwise disporting them-selves as gaily as "swallows on the wing." Speaking of the illumination itself, we quote from the announcer who said:

"You are sitting now in the glow of 392,000 watts of light and in order that you may have a standard of comparison, we will add that it is three times as large a volume of light as displayed at any baseball or football game ever played at night—the greatest artificial illumination in the world's history."

Finally the long column of band and drum corps organizations is approaching an end. Far in the rear is seen an old man marching beneath the folds of a flag and vigorously beating a drum. It is Civil War Veteran W. T. Kimsey, of Douglass, Michigan, playing the drum on which he gave the long roll on the fear-ful, fighting days of Shiloh and Chickamauga. Like a lone sentinel on the ram-parts of a glorious past, the old veteran richly deserved the tremendous ovation which was given him.

Then came the musical program. It was a blend of instrumental and vocal— arranged with a fine perception of the fitness of things.

The band numbers included several of Sousa's best-known marches, Hosmer's "Southern Raphsody," and the "Anvil Chorus" from Verdi's "Il Trovotore," in which latter number twenty electrical an-vils were featured, and which carried older memories back to the days of Patrick Gilmore and his famous band. The massed band numbers were played under the direction of Victor Grabel, one of the well-known bandmasters of Local No. 10.

From the platform chorus of 5,000 voices, reinforced by the 100,000 from the far-flung stadium reaches, a mighty wave of song floated heavenward in such timeor song hoated neavenward in such time-tested favorites as "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord," "Sweet Adeline," and "The Long, Long Trail."

A chorus of 1,000 colored voices sang "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," as only colople can sing it.

Then came the final vocal number— "The Hallelujah Chorus," directed by Noble Cain of the Chicago public school staff. As this moving music lifted the mighty throng to its feet, as it did upon the occasion of its first London rendition when Handel himself wielded the baton, we could not help wondering if the Old Music Master might not be "listening in" from some quiet nook in the realms of light and harmony ineffable?

The grand super-climax of the whole evening was the rendition by a massed band of one thousand players of Tschaikovsky's overture, "1812." Victor Grabel directed. Cannon boomed, sky-rockets shot upward, the audience cheered, the national airs of mightily contending forces were heard, and finally Moscow burst into flames once more under the torch of Russian strategy in order that Napoleon might be deprived of a coveted winter base—a spectacular but inspiring finale of a memorable musical day. -0-

The date of Saturday, August 23, 1930, was made one of radiant memory by vir-tue of the kindly auspices of Brother Al-fred G. Rackett, Editor of the Chicago Intermezzo, to whose kindly beguilement I surrendered and accepted an invitation a surrendered and accepted an invitation to attend the first big league baseball game I ever witnessed. The game has changed considerably since I played in the Hamiet, Chautauqua Gounty, N. Y., nine, but Brother Rackett explained the more perplexing features and at the end of the last inning I could tell by the scoreboard that the Cubs had vanquished the Giants by a score of 4 to 2. There were other interesting features besides Un Another was trying 50,000 ardent fans. 50,000 ardent fane. Another was trying to fathom and understand the lack of emotional control which will cause ap-parently intelligent men to throw fine straw hats from the grandstand into the fals with no hone of their screener. field with no hope of their recovery. I can appreciate enthusiasm, but unbridaled hysteria over any kind of a game—even the holding of four aces in a poker game —is a mental cataclysm quite difficult to comprehend. After the ball game Brother Rackett took me to the Music Festival at night. Without him as an escort I might have been submerged somewhere Visiting Local No. 240, at Rockford, Illi-Visiting Local No. 240, at ROCKIOTG, Illi-nois, it was gratifying to find that sub-stantial organization making satisfactory progress in theatre contract negotiations and all other lines of work showing healthy activity. A call on the boys at the various theatres disclosed a contented bunch of musicians. President E. H. Cox and Secretary A. H. Tubbs enjoy the con-fidence of the membership. Boston Federation Musicians have

Boston Federation Musicians have again arisen to the requirements of a again arisen to the requirements of a great occasion in a most magnificent way. The Boston Evening American of Thurs-day, August 21, 1930, devotes two full pages to an event described as the gift of Local No. 9 to the Boston Tercentenary of Local NO. 9 to the Boston Tercentenary Celebration of "a great band concert and historical pageant depicting the evolution of the band in America." William A. Barrington-Sargent was conductor - in-chief. The concert proper was managed by D. Albert Ives, while the pageant was under the stage direction of James T. Kenney. The pageant was entitled "From Kenney. The pageant was entitled "From War to Peace" and was taken in part from Harriett Bettony's research on the from Harriett Bettony's research on the evolution of the brass band from earliest colonial days to the present period. The first episode dealt with the American In-dian; the second sought to portray musi-cally the "Spirit of 1776;" the third, Gen-eral Andrew Jackson's day and the Battle of New Orleans; the fourth reviewed the Civil War period; and the fourth sought to cover the period following the Civil War. Besides those previously mentioned the Boston paper presents W. Edward

Boyle as master of ceremonies—the gen-tleman who was so untiring and efficient in looking after the welfare of the dele-gates to the June Federation Convention. The same issue contains an appeal from President Thomas H. Finigan, of Local No. 9, to Mayor Curley for civic support in behalf of "closer relationship between music and government." Another full column is devoted to the history of Local No. 9. There also appears a fine cut of Thomas C. Carter, who at the age of 89, is recognized as the oldest active band-master in the United States—known far and wide as composer of "Boston Com-mandery" March. From the Boston Ameri-can story it is plain that our brethren of Local No. 9 have again distinguished themselves in the realm of musical art— the fuller import of which we regret in ability to review because of the limita-tions of space. The Federation at large will again lift its hat to The Hub. will again lift its hat to The Hub.

Federation business recently called me to Duluth. It is quite remarkable what divergent traditions may cluster about one particular spot. In the matter of temperature, many people have been ac-customed on a hot day to pick up the map, look at Duluth, and immediately experience a refreshing chill. Mark Twain once observed that the coldest winter he once observed that the coldest winter he ever passed through was one summer spent in Duluth. Never having been there before I guilelessly followed the suggestion of a "friend" and took slong my overcoat, as "the nights were sure to be cold." Eight hot hours spent in Min-neapolis were succeeded by a northern furnace-like blast which increased in in-tensity upon each successive mile of approach to my destination. Eventually reaching Duluth, I breathed a prayer of profound gratitude that my journey did not extend as far north as Hudson Bay. As a silver lining can usually be found to every cloud, even so a northern Min-nesota heat-wave can take on a cooling fringe. This I found during a wonderful two-hour steamboat ride around the Duluth-Superior harbor. This is well worth any visitor's time. As the northwestern end of the Great Lake System this harbor can boast of a traffic for nine months in the year exceeding that of any other har-bor in the United States for the same period—New York alone beating the annual record by virtue of ability to func-tion twelve full months in the year. This wonderful harbor in a single year handles 35,000,000 tons of iron ore; 150,000,000 bushels of grain, and receives 12,000,000 tons of coal from the east for general west and northwestern distribution. When pending canal dredging and canal widen-ing enterprises are finally completed un-der governmental auspices just watch Duluth and Superior becom

Duluth and Superior boom. President L. F. Berger and Secretary W. J. Dutcher, of Local No. 18, offered to show me the city through automobile medium, but in view of the heat condi-tions, I declined that line of hospitality. Duluth is a fine city eighteen miles long and eight miles wide with a population of 150,000. Superior is just around the corner in Wisconsin. Local No. 18 emaces both cities.

As already intimated the journey northward involved an eight-hour lay-over at Minneapolis, which afforded opportunity to visit the fine commodious headquarters of Local No. 73 at No. 32 Glenwood Ave-nue. Executive Officer Fred W. Birnbach and President John Rossiter gave me a and President John Rossiter gave me a three-hour spin among the beautiful lakes which help to give to that city its suburb scenic setting. We visited Minnehaha Falls. Minnie had shriveled somewhat under drought influences and her some-times fortissimo gurgle was modified to a faint planissimo ripple. We wanted to renew software with the how of Lo faint planissimo ripple. We wanted to renew acquaintance with the boys of Lo-cal No. 30 at St. Paul on the return trip, but another heat wave was inundating the Twin Cities and we hurried on to Des Moines "to find a cool spot," but just in time to discover the mercury register-ing 106 in the shade. -0

Band musicians certainly look cozy and warm in their neat and tightly-buttoned heavy uniforms, playing summer concert programs, while the mercurial indicator gaily mounts heavenward. It is the ladies, heaven bless them, who have the right idea about summer wearing apparel.

Like the newest, speediest motor car, the New Era Trumpet is of and for the new age. It fits the tempo of the times and meets every modern musical requirement.

Hold it in your hand and let its lighter weight and perfect. balance tell you instantly: "Here is an instrument I will never tire of playing." It is fully an inch narrower than the conventional trumpet and much lighter - because of newly invented, more efficient valves with shorter casings.

Breathe into its mouthpiece and marvel at its easy blowing. Get that tone. Brilliant . . . Sparkling . . . with a carrying power never before achieved in trumpets.

Many Exclusive Improvements

Test out this new trumpet in actual playing. Try it on passages that have always seemed difficult. The valve action is so swift and the steps in the scale are so evenly spaced that even the most skilled players tell us they sense a marked improvement in velocity, technic and quality of playing.

Your Conn dealer is now featuring the New Era Trumpet. Go to his store today. Make your own test. Then decide.

Free Trial, Easy Payments

As the Worker Sees His World Summary and Digest of Important Events Here and Abroad.

Denmark has decided, through the vote in the recent elections, to save $10,000,000 a year on naval expenses, by simply eliminating her navy, reducing her naval forces to a mere coastal policy, and a state marine.

Railroads in two regions showed earnings equal to a rate of more than 5 per cent on investments during the first half of 1930. In the New England region Class 1 lines showed a return of 5.23 per cent. In the Pocahontas region the rate was 8.08 per cent. In all other regions the return was below 5 per cent, while in the United States as a whole the rate was 3.61 per cent.

Asserting that the most efficacious method of decreasing unemployment in England is by the protection of home industries, the Prime Minister is seeking to bring about a three-party conference on the unemployment situation.

Contrary to earlier reports, Harvard University has not taken steps toward paying to scrubwomen who were discharged last winter the difference in the wages they received over a period of nine years and the rate prescribed by the Massachusetts Minimum Wage Board.

Cooks and Waiters installed a new union at Duluth, Minn., Organizer Jack Weinberger officiating. A waitresses' union is being organized in the same city. Not only that, but Superior, Wis., has sent for a charter for a culinary workers' union, to be installed almost immediately.

'A. Schulte & Co. officials are to have an average 33 1.3 per cent salary cut, effective September 1. Office workers get a 10 per cent cut at the same time. Clerks are said not to be affected.

Seven miners were killed, 16 hurt in a fall of timbers in a Gilberton Colliery mine at Pottsville, Pa.

Proctor & Gamble, soap makers announce that employes have just been paid $900,000 in "profit dividends."

Latest figures on the number of British unemployed show an increase of 39,270 to 2,050,737.

Plans for world-wide mass demonstrations urging the hastening of disarmament work by the League of Nations were made by the executive committee of the Socialist International at the sessions which closed at Zurich, Switzerland, on August 24.

Eorest fires are costing Uncle Sam more than $19,000 a day this year. In the fiscal year ending June 30, it cost over $102,000 more than it did last year to control forest fires.

The $35,000,000 authorized in the rivers and harbors appropriation bill for flood control work will be expended as far as possible where the unemployment situation is most serious and as far as possible to aid local unemployment, according to announcement by Secretary of War

Hurley. Between December 1, 1929, and April 30, 1930, the government of the Netherlands advanced florins 4,915,097 ($1,966, 039) to various municipalities and building associations under the authority of a law designed to encourage the building of dwelling houses for the working classes.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho will be unopposed for re-election, as the Democratic state organization has voted not to put a candidate in the field.

Brazil is reported to be undergoing an unemployment crisis, especially in San Paulo, where a number of factory shutdowns and other causes have made 100,-000 workers idle.

Labor Day in America, 1930 (Continued from Page One)

These figures are a challenge to those who talk of universal prosperity, while ignoring the millions who are not properly fed and housed.

This is a drab picture for a nation teeming with riches and whose wealth, natural resources and ability to produce is the wonder of the world.

In contrast to the 20,000,000 persons who have insufficient food and who are improperly housed are reports of wealth flowing into the hands of the few through their control of natural resources, basic monopolies and the nation's credit.

No nation can be considered great, in the best sense, when one-sixth of its population have less than the minimum of food. The first essential is to increase the buying power of the heads of these families.

We spend vast sums to maintain a navy that will protect our foreign markets, and certain eastern newspapers indicate a fear that the Congressional investigation of Communistic activities will harm our trade with Russia that totals $100,000,000 annually, and which is conducted by individual Americans.

This business is insignificant when compared with the vast home market that would be developed if the millions of wage workers in this country had wages increased even $1 a week.

No country in the world has such opportunities to develop its home market, which is ignored by business men who insist on ship subsidies and costly navies to maintain a foreign market that consumes but a fraction of our output, and which could easily be consumed at home if the buying power of our people was increased.

"Yellow Dog" Contract Annulled

Since last year Labor Day the "yellow dog" contract has been dealt a hard blow by the United States Supreme Court, which has ruled, in the case of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks versus Texas and New Orleans Railroad, that this alleged agreement is a violation of the Railroad Labor Act.

That law provides that rail managers shall treat with representatives of employes. To evade this law the Texas and New Orleans management organized a company "union" to negotiate a new wage rate initiated by the Brotherhood and refused to recognize that union which represented the vast majority of employes.

The Supreme Court said that collective bargaining under the company "union" system is a "mockery."

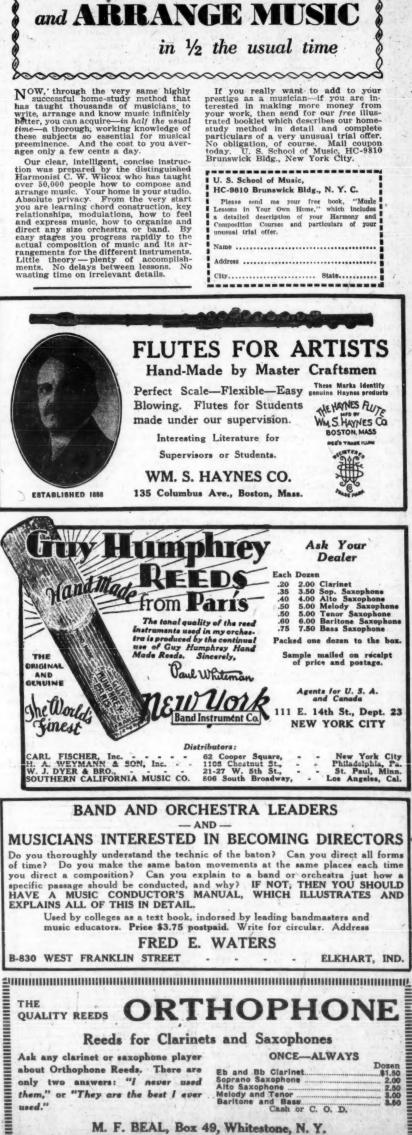

This decision will be far-reaching in its effect, and will encourage trade unionists to continue their opposition to the "yellow dog." Wisconsin is the first state to outlaw this alleged "contract" that compels workers to agree to waive their legal right to join a trade union as the price of employment.

Duress is dominant in the "yellow dog." It contains no element of fairness and permits the employer to take advantage of the workers' necessities. The viciousness of this system was exposed by Senators when the nomination of Judge Parker as an associate Justice to the United States Supreme Court was rejected.

Injunction Evil Continues

The labor injunction, which sets aside government by law, continues, although Labor can report progress in its campaign against this evil.

In the Senate a pending bill regulates the issuance of these writs and will be considered at the next session of Congress. The Senate Judiciary Committee made an unfavorable report on the bill, but a strong minority report, signed by Senators Norris, Blaine, Walsh of Montana, Borah, Caraway, Ashurst and Dill, presented, what we believe, unanswerable arguments in favor of checking judges who issue these writs when employee sus pend work to improve conditions.

Labor's long fight against the wrongful use of the injunction has resulted in a better popular understanding of law and equity.

A law court is guided by the Constitu-tion, by statutes, by rules and by prece-dents that must be observed or the court will be reversed on appeal.

An equity court has no limitations. The judge is guided by his conscience. He has brought labor within his jurisdiction by extending the definition of property, by including patronage and prospective profits. By the simple expedient of ruling that patronage and prospective profits are property the injunction judge claims jur-isdiction over strikers because equity is intended to protect property.

Under this system free speech, free press, assemblage of citizens and every other constitutional guarantee is denied if the equity judge, guided by his con-science, believes that the exercise of such rights interfere with the modern concep-tion of property that has been quietly developed by the courts.

Labor insists that the lawful exercise Labor insists that the lawful exercise of constitutional rights should not be de-nied by an irresponsible judge. The bill now pending in the Senate will, we be-lieve, correct this wrong. We appeal to every right minded citizen to study this question and aid in the development of a favorable public opinion that will as-ourse concentrate to the proposed law. sure enactment of the proposed law.

Labor Demands Collective Bargaining Labor continues its struggle for the right to bargain collectively and select its own representatives in negotiating wage contracts.

This contest will continue as long as there is one employer who accepts the autocratic ideal that he alone has the right to set wages and working conditions for employes.

Employers who hold this view are compelled to make apparent concessions to public opinion. This is shown in the public opinion. This is shown in the effort to substitute their company "union" for organized labor's methods and to install weifare plans and other paternal institutions.

This situation presents the curious paradox of a growing popular acceptance of the principles of organized labor while opposition to organized labor was never more scientific or subtle.

opposition. Our opponents profess friendship to the theory of workers' organiza-tions, but they insist on controlling such organizations. They have changed their policy, but not their principle. They sepolicy, but not their principle. They se-cretly cling to the serf ideal and fail to realize the significance of American lib-erty which permits every man to live his own life.

ter living standards or work conditions. This dependence is shown in their atti-tude as citizens, outside the shop, mill and mine. They lack a civic courage and independence so essential to free men who act as their conscience dictates and not as the employer hints or decrees.

Since last Labor Day our most pronounced gain on the industrial field is the five and one-half year agreement recently signed in the anthracite fields by coal operators and the United Mine Work-ers. This means continuous peace in that industry. The coal operators are to be congratulated for accepting peaceful methods to adjust disputes rather than con-trary methods that continue to disgrace many sections of the bituminous fields where contracts with the miners have been abrogated, the industry is wrecked, workers pauperized and small business men ruined.

Our Southern Organizing Campaign

Our Southern organizing campaign, which was authorized by the last A. F. which was authorized by the last A. F. of L. Convention, is a pronounced suc-cess. The gospel of trade unionism has been carried into a section that has hith-ertobeen marked by a strong individualis-tic outlook on life that was encouraged by low-wage employers. It is inevitable that the South will understand our move-ment and our comparison is marked by as ment, and our campaign is marked by as-sistance from the finest types of men and women in an area that has contributed so much to the nation's life.

Our Forty-ninth Anniversary

This year marks the forty-ninth anniversary of the American Federation of Labor. Forty-nine years ago nine trade unionists in Terre Haute, Indiàna, launched the American Federation of Labor that has grown to a mighty volunteer army now spokesman for the wage earners of our country.

Time does not permit summary of the gains brought to workers through their collective action since that time. Neither can I even refer to the so-cial gains, the civic activities, the battles for liberty, the wars against injustice in every form that the American Federation of Labor has led.

The organized workers are the pickets of progress. They are the advance guard of society that constantly moves forward. We keep alive a holy discontent with things that are, and strive to make today a better today and tomorrow a better tomorrow.

"All VEGA" Trumpet section of Jan Garber's Orchestra playing at the Hollywood Cafe, New York City

70U'LL appreciate the new freedom—a mastery you've never known beforewhen you play one of these famous Vega instruments. You're through the most difficult passages before you hardly realize it-without a doubt of the ability of the instrument to respond to the most intricate movements. There is always a call for the artist who can "out-perform" with superior tonal quality and speed, and Vega artists are consistently triumphing in bands and orchestras everywhere.

The fine precision with which all Vega instruments are constructed make them the easiest to play. These Triumphal Trumpets have an entirely new type of valve action, increasing your speed and smoothing your technique.

The beautiful streamline design-long, narrow, and compact-make this model a favorite. Every facility for producing richer, smoother tonal qualities has been incorporated, and once you've played a VEGA you'll never change.

I'm interested in knowing more about this improved type of Trumpet.

Please send details about the Vega Triumphal Trumpet.
