HUGE SUM FOR MUSIC FOR GOLDEN GATE FAIR

Three-quarters of a Million Dollars is the Estimate Set to Be Expended

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—Three-quarters of a million dollars for music!

That is the staggering sum, it was conservatively estimated by Harris Connick, Chief Director of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, that will be spent by the exposition concessionaires and exhibitors on Treasure Island for music during California's World's Fair, which opens on February 18, 1939, and closes on December 2.

Foundation for the comprehensive program of music was laid several months ago when the Chief Director of the Exposition con-cluded a labor contract between the Exposition and the Musicians' Union, Local No. 6 of San Franwill be for the fanfare of parades, pageants and scores of special events that require a versatile group of musicians.

There will also be a "utility" orchestra of 40 pieces organized from among San Francisco musicians for the manifold duties of an Exposition musical aggregation of this type.

The famed San Francisco Symphony Orchestra will be used for a series of on Treasure Island.

The Musicians' Union contract sets up the agreed scales of pay for the Exposition, Mr. Connick said, and provides conditions under which the Fair is to broadcast radio programs. Another important clause in the contract permits the Exposition to import broadcasting acts so the public may have a chance to see and hear internationally famous radio organizations without charge.

The contract likewise allows for the

The contract likewise allows for the ppearance at the Exposition of non-rofessional groups such as school bands, tc. in addition, the Musicians' Union, as a special gesture to assure success of the Exposition, will permit the Fair to bring in bands from foreign nations to help build the "gate" in the same manner as was done in the Panama-Pacific Expo-sition in 1915.

"There has been no Exposition since as was done in the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1915.

"There has been no Exposition since 1915 which has had anywhere near as elaborate a music program as did the Panama-Pacific Exposition and the music set-up for the Golden Gate International Exposition will surpass even that," Mr. Connick declared.

With the way cleared for the uninterrupted presentation of music during the 288 days of the Exposition, Mr. Connick went into action to obtain outstanding attractions.

First band to be signed was that of Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman, known as the Toscanini of band music and the successor of John Philip Sousa. The Goldman band of 60 musicians, which will come West on a special train, opens its engagement of 15 weeks on Treasure Island beginning March 19, 1933. Composer of more than 80 celebrated marches, Goldman's latest, the "Golden Gate March," has been designated as Treasure Island's official march.

The second famed musical organization has been designated as Treasure Island's official march.

The second famed musical organization to come into the Exposition fold is the Thaviu Band and his presentations. Particularly well known in Chicago and vicinity, this band will begin an engagement of 12 weeks on Treasure Island in September of next year.

From San Francisco will come a "utility" band of 40 pieces which will be available for varied purposes during the run of the Exposition. This local band, according to Mr. Connick, can compete on even terms with any band in the country and will be equally at home on the concert platform and the air lanes as it cast 994 votes for the Providence and Woonasquatucket Woolen and Worsted District Council, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, as their collective bargaining agency, and only 535 votes for the Textile Workers Organizing Committee, affiliated with the CIO.

The election, conducted by the National Labor Relations Board and requested by the T. W. O. C. was publicized by the CIO outfit as the first test of strength with the recently chartered textile workers affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. The test resulted in a definite, positive and overwhelming defent for the CIO and an equally definite, positive and overwhelming victory for the American Federation of Labor.

The defeat was the second blow suffered recently by the T. W. O. C. On November 30 the Superior Court decided that the contract held by the T. W. O. C. taking over the United Textile Workers of America was invalid, and ordered the T. W. O. C. to make an accounting of all the dues and other moneys collected from the locals of the United Textile Workers and turn such funds over to the court.

RINGLING CIRCUS HAS SETTLED LABOR TROUBLE

Big Show Will Be Strictly Union-Jobs for 1,200 Assured—Pact Approved by A. F. of L.

An agreement terminating the American Federation of Actors' difficulties with the Ringling circus interest has been reached and employment of approxireached and employment of approximately 1,200 performers and workers with the Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Circus next season under union conditions assured.

The agreement was made after a series of conferences arranged by President William Green and Vice-President Matthew Woll of the American Federation of Labor, both of whom have approved the settlement with the circus.

The conferences opened in New York City on Tuesday, December 13, and terminated early on Friday morning, December 16.

"All misunderstandings have been eleared away," said Matthew Woll, who acted as arbiter at the conferences, in announcing the settlement. "There will be full co-operation between the union and the circus management. The country during the coming season will see the greatest circus the world has ever had, I am glad that this great American show will operate again under union policies." misunderstandings have concerts during the Exposition. Negotiations are under way for the bringing to Treasure Island of other outstanding symphony orchestras of the nation.

For the Gayway, the 40-acre amusement zone, the Exposition is planning to bring to a mammoth cafe and dance pavilion a succession of "name" bands which will "spell" one another during the run of the Exposition, thus assuring World's Fair crowds a wide variety of dance music, from "sweet" te "hot." When the "name" bands are not in action, a local orchestra will be on hand to handle the dance tempo for Treasure Island visitors.

From far-off lands will come innumerable picturesque bands to add to the galety of the Exposition. One of these is the famed Philippine Constabulary Band; another is the Native Bagpipe Band, which is being sent to Treasure Island by the Suitan of Johore. The Seaforth High landers Band from Canada is also expected to drop into Treasure Island on a musical jaunt, and negotiations are under (Continued on Page Twenty-four)

Swiss National Exposition To Feature Musical Events

Folk music in all its phases will be particularly stressed during the Swiss National Exposition, which will be held at Zurich from May 6 to October 29, 1939. Soon after the opening a "Swiss Boys" Music Day" will be the occasion of a great concert. De luxe eventa are also scheduled by the Federal Music Association, and the Swiss Accordion Society promises a concert in June in the large concert hall of the new Kongresshaus. In September the Swiss Mandolin Orchestra Association will play in the same concert hall.

From June 3 to 5 a Federal Yodeling Festival will be a tuneful attraction, and in the same month the Swiss Drummers and Fifers are also to hold a fete. Scheduled as June events in Zurich are furthermore a "Federal Workingmen's Festival," a "Swiss Railroad Men's Day," and a "First Folk Music Day." June festival plays and Swiss operas will be outstanding offerings during that month.

A series of professional theatre performances will be a July highlight, while folk theatre presentations are promised for August, together with a guest performance by the Goetheanum of Dornach-Basle, and a "Second Folk Music Day." September National Exposition events in Zurich feature a Swiss Costumes Festival, an Appensell Alpine Fete, Folkloristic performances, a marionettes theatre and a concert of songs in the four official languages of Switzerland.

Other noteworthy attractions in Zurich during the National Exposition period include Dalcrose Festival plays; performances of the Exposition Festival play; performances by Trudy Schoop and her ballet; performances by trudy Schoop and her ballet; performances by Trudy Schoop and her balted in Jorat of Lausanne; a Fete of the Guilde; a Lake of Zurich Festival; a number of Cantonal "Days," also performances at Einsiedeln near Zurich of Calderon's medieval religious play "The Great World Theatre." ## Band Concerts Anniversary greetings are in order for two famous bands, Frank Simon and His Armco Band of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Long Beach Municipal Band of Long Beach, Calif.

November 30 a capacity audience attended two concerts celebrating the 15th anniversary of the Long Beach Municipal Band. The original inaugural program of November 30, 1923, was again offered to the city. The concert opened with the "Star Spangled Banner" and closed with "Southern Rhapsody" by Hosmer. The entire program included the Liugini march "Russe"; the Overture, "Il Guarany," by Gomez: Lacome's Spanish suite, "La Feria"; two of Brahms' Magyar dances; the concert waltz of Lehar. "Gold and Silver"; Adams' Transcription on "Bells of St. Mary's"; two compositions of the band's conductor, Herbert L. Clarke, "Long Beach Is Calling," dedicated to Long Beach citizens, and a cornet trio, "Flirtations," played by the Messrs. Tyler, Hoose and Hennel.

In recognition of the millions of tour-ists who visit the city winter and summer, the band plays twice daily, free to the public, except on Sunday evenings and Mondays. At the end of the 1937-38 fiscal year 13,466 public concerts had been pre-sented, the annual quota now being 500.

year 13,485 public concerts had been presented, the annual quota now being 500.

Long Beach owns a band library of over 5,000 numbers; it is said to be one of the largest in the United States, and the city's unwavering support of the band is a meritorious record.

The conductor, Mr. Clarke, has a professional career which covers a period of 50 years and the high esteem in which he is held by his 37 musicians helps to make the Municipal Band the well-integrated musical unit that it is. Twelve soloists are featured weekly with duos, trios, quartettes, quintettes and sextettes included in both brass and reed. Mr. Clarke's creative ambitions lean toward a symphony in wind and he has already done experimental work in that direction. The symphonic effects thus far achieved, combined with popular numbers result in daily programs which add to the city's attractions.

Frank Simon and his famous ARMCO Band will celebrate its 10th anniversary as a radio feature when it returns to the air waves over the coast-to-coast NBC Blue Network Sunday afternoon, January 15, at 3 o'clock, Eastern Standard Time.

b, at 3 o'clock, Eastern Standard Time.

By reputation and brilliance in performance Dr. Simon's organization is one of the world's truly great symphonic bands, and has the outstanding record of reaching its tenth radio milestone under one sponsor, The American Rolling Mill Company (ARMCO), from which the band derives its name.

It is composed of over 50 of Cincinnati's finest professional musicians, and its broadcasts originate in that city from Emery Auditorium, former home of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

Veteran radio unit that it is, Dr.
Simon's band hails back to the days when Radio City was barely a dream, and heavily draped improvised studios were still in vogue. Microphones then were nothing more in principle than the ordinary old carbon telephone transmitter, and a large band could never reach a climax for fear of throwing the station off the air.

In recent years, Dr. Simon's ARMCO Band has taken a leading part in the development of a better band "pick-up." With the aid of modern microphones and expert engineers, Dr. Simon has done much to prove that the full throated tone of the concert or symphonic band can be faithfully reproduced over the air waves.

faithfully reproduced over the air waves. The radio programs of this band are composed of fine music, compiled with a sensible regard for popular appeal... perhaps one of the reasons for the longevity of this organization as a radio unit. The ARMCO Band has millions of fans throughout the United States and Canada; fans that have grown to know that to hear this organization is to hear band music at its best.

Dr. Frank Simon is one of the most music at its best.

Dr. Frank Simon is one of the most colorful personalities of the band world. He was for many years cornet soloist and assistant conductor of the Sousa Band, and is a past president of The American Bandmasters' Association. His activities in the interest of better bands and better hand music take him to practically every part of the country during periods in between broadcasting seasons.

Elizable beliaving that there is room between broadcasting seasons.

Firmly believing that there is room for more good band music on the air, Dr. Simon points out that there are over two million school band musicians in America, who, with their families and friends look eagerly to such programs as his own. This audience aione, Dr. Simon believes, presents a strong potential market for wide-awake radio sponsors, to say nothing of the millions of other Americans who thrill to the stirring strains of a fine band.

They tell this one about the days when "Abe" Cook went to school: "Abe" looked long and thoughtfully at the second examination question, which read: "State the number of tons of coal shipped out of the United States in any given year?" Took him a long time to get over that one but when he did he wrote: "1492—none." P. S. He received zero on that one.

HE HAD SOME SYMPATHY

One day last week my old dad took his flute from the cupboard and started to play a tune. After a few minutes had passed, my brother, aged nine asked: "Why does Daddy close his eyes when he plays the flute?"
"Oh," my brother said, "he doesn't like to see people suffering."

. Name Bands .

The present era of specialisation in radio and screen has engendered the enterprice among name bands for the ultimate in the technique of dance awangements. Of necessity, the number of times that a given song may be played in one arrangement is limited and at a stiff price. Bands must obtain an option on their own individual renditions. The behind-the-scenes stery of various methods by which big name bands tried to meet these expenses is one of interest. Since their sponsors taboo electrical transcriptions, leaders like Russ Morgan, Larry Clinton, Richard Himber and Ozzie Nelson were heard as Russ Morrow, Lenny Carson, Ross Heywood and Olie Norton respectively over small radio stations in transcribed music. Connoisseurs of rhythm, however, from all over the country refused to believe in names and the game was up. Evidently a true swing fan knows his arrangements.

While speaking of radio and technique, the Fitch Bandwages heard on Sundays, 7:30 P. M.; over the N. B. C. Red network, is an education in the treatment of dance tunes by the "Who's Who' in name hands. Starting in September, the series han included Guy Lombardo, Richard Himber, Ted Fic-Rito, Bob Crosby, Abe Lyman, Leo Reisman, Roger Pryor, Fraddy Martin, Eddy Duchia, Omie Nelson, Buddy Rogers, Frankie Masters, Tommy Dorsey, Jan Garber, Benny Goodman and Herbie Kay.

Symphony Orchestras

With the turn of the new year, plans for the New York World's Fair move swiftly, and in anticipation of an audience increased by World's Fair visitors Mrs. Charles Guggenheimer, chairman of the Stadium Concerts Committee, has announced elaborate preparations for the 1939 season of the long-famous summer concerts. As of yore, the main-stay of the concerts will be the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Society; and throughout the season, beginning earlier than usual, the Stadium will once again accommodate a multitude of those seeking the best in music at prices convenient for their budget.

In upholding its standard as a democratic institution, the concerts have brought to the public outstanding soloists such as: Jascha Heifetz, Josef Hofmann, Mischa Eiman, Moriz Rosenthal, Albert Spalding, Efrem Zimbalist, Josef and Rosina Lhevinne, Jose Iturbi, Harold Bauer. Lily Pons, Florence Easton, Paul Althouse and John Charles Thomas. In addition, many young solo artists and conductors have been introduced. Marian Anderson was first heard in New York as a Stadium prize contest winner and Eugene Ormandy, Massimo Freccia, Hans Kindler and Paul Kerby have made their bows there as conductors.

Mrs. Guggenheimer's committee will also cooperate with the World's Fair committee in its plans for opera, ballets

The New York Philharmonic Society will again participate in the 1939 Silver-mine Music Festival which has been planned for the third consecutive sum-mer at Silvermine, Conn.

In one of its mid-winter concerts on December 1, the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra played the "Fidelio" overture to Beethoven's opera of the same name. The program included Mosart's "Jupiter" symphony and the First Symphony of Brahms.

The following week, Mr. Barbirolli undertook the experimental amalgamation of excerpts from the Debussy opera "Peleas et Melisande" offered in sharp contrast to Bach's D Major orchestral suite and the "Eroica" symphony of Beethoven.

The New York conductor revived the Dvorak G Major symphony, Opus 88, for his program of December 15, which was further comprised of Mozart's "Impresario" overture; "Scherzo Fantastique" by Stravinsky, and Respighi's "Pines of Rome."

December 18 Charles Haubiel intro-duced his prize-winning composition of the society's American Composers' Con-test, The Passacaglia in A Minor, on a program which contained the Beethoven C Major plane concerto with Hertense Monath as soloist, and the Cesar Franck D Minor symphony under the direction of John Barbirolli. A New York concert of note in December was that given by the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Ormandy for the benefit of its Pension Fund. On the evening of December 13 "Concert Piece in one movement from the Paganini violin concerto in D Major" arranged by Frits Kreisler made its first appearance in New York with orchestra accompaniment and was played by Mr. Kreisler, soloist, who received a tremendous ovation in appreciation of his art, both in colleboration and performance. Included on this program were Debussy's "Iberia"; a suite of dances and airs from Purcell's "Dido and Eneas," and the Brahms concerto with Mr. Tabuteau, oboe soloist.

Earlier in December the Philadelphia Orchestra made a tour of the South stopping for concerts at Columbia, S. C.; Durham, N. C.; Greensboro, N. C.; Wins-ton-Salem, N. C., and Asheville, N. C.

On November 26 Arturo Toscenini continued his series of NBC concerts with a presentation of Symphony No. 1 in D Minor of Martucci on a program including the overture to "The Bartered Bride" by Smetana; Lisat's symphonic poem "Orpheus," and the second suite of excerpts from Ravel's ballet "Daphnis and Chloe!"

The first haif of the Toscanini series was completed December 3 with a pregram of Beethoven and Wagner. The opening number was an unparalleled interpretation of the "Eroica" symphony of Beethoven, followed by Wagner's "Riensi" overture. The evening's concluding numbers were the familiar "Waldweben" from addition was heard Weber's overture to "Oberon"; Brahms' Variations en a Theme by Haydn; "Waldweben" from Wagner's

"Siegfried," and the prelude to "Die Meistersinger."

On Decembes 27 there was a concert at the Lyric Theatre in Baltimore when Mr.
Toscanini and his NBC orchestra were heard by patrons from Maryland and Washington.

The interim of the maestro's December absence was admirably filled by Artur Rodzinsky, conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra. For his first appearance at Studio 8H. December 10, Mr. Rodzinsky chose an all-Russian program consisting of Glinka's overture to "Russian and Ludmilla"; Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony

Two notable concerts given in Balti-more recently were those by the Philadel-phia Orchestra and the National Sym-phony Orchestra. Eugene Ormandy con-ducted a Niebeiungen Ring program No-vember 3 and Hans Kindler directed a program with Mischa Elman as guest soloist, December 13. In early December the National Sym-phony Orchestra completed a tour which led the members through New York, New England and Canada.

A special Christmas concert was given in Duluth December 18 by the Duluth Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Paul Lemay. Accompanied by a chorus of 300 voices, the orchestra presented "The Messiah" for its first performance in the complete orchestral unit. city with a complete orchestral unit.

Walter Herbert was guest conductor with the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra December 11. He chose a program which included Schubert's Symphony No. 7 and the lighter works of Viennese composers.

On the same date the Tucson Symphony Orchestra gave its first seasonal subscription concert with Emery Darcey, baritone, as guest artist. Mr. Foerster conducted the program which included Mozart's Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro"; Haydn's Symphony in G Major; "Finlandia" by Sibelius, and songs by Shuman, Respighi, Test, Kramer and Warren, sung by Mr. Darcey.

Bidu Sayao of the Metropolitan Opera Co. was soloist at the opening concert of the Tri-City Symphony Orchestra in Dav-enport, Iowa, November 20 when the or-chestra played compositions of Handel, Moussorgsky and Strauss. Robert Quick, violinist, will appear as soloist Jan-uary 22.

Ernst Hoffman is again being received with acclaim by the city of Houston for his performances as conductor of the Symphony Orchestra this season, 1938-39. Mr. Hoffman is in his third year with the orchestra and the steady improvement of the orchestra has resulted in capacity nudiences at all of the concerts this season.

One of the oldest symphony orchestras in the United States is the Belleville, Ill., Philharmonic Orchestra which began its 73rd year December 14. The 324th concert was opened with the "Pro Yalens" march by Cowles and included compositions of Strauss, Rossini, Ganne, Deppen and Sousa. The program further included numbers by the St. Louis University Glee Club and a Fantasia for plano by Glenka-Balakirex, played by Francis Day.

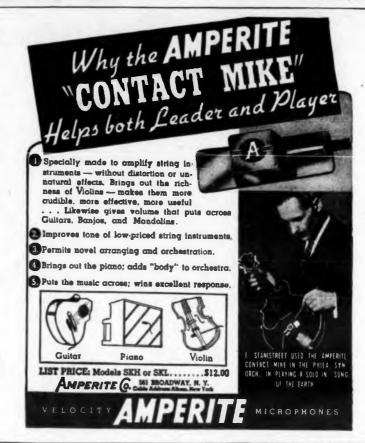

In striking contrast is the unique history of the young Vermont Symphony Orchestra, now in its fourth year, as the first and only rural symphonic ensemble in the United States. Alan Carter, founder and conductor, has achieved nation-wide recognition by his victory over the hurdles of an untrained orchestral personnel, limof an untrained orchestral personnel, limited concert halls, poor transportation facilities and an audience steeped in Yanke conservatism. The members of the orchestra eome from all corners of the state, travel as far as 50 miles for rehearsals, play in community halls, churches and farmers' granges, and wherever they are win the applause of stiff-backed Vermonters, many of them never having heard of "that feller. Tschalkowsky." In four years Mr. Carter has brought such names as Mozart, Beethoven, Haydn, Bach and Schubert to the lips of the inhabitants of the rural communities and has promoted a far-reaching appreciation of symphonic music.

A new season began December 14 for the Symphony Orchestra of Central Florida with the first of four concerts in 1938-39. Organized in 1924 under the direction of Dr. Mary Leonard of Winter Park, the orchestra now provides outstanding symphonic programs for the winter visitors. Under the baton of Alexander Bloch, the orchestra opened its season with Wolf-Ferrari's Serenade for String Orchestra; Beethoven's overture to "Egmont"; the Italian Symphony of Mendelssohn, and the Introduction to Act III of Wagner's "Lohengrin."

Recent guest artists with the Buffalo Orchestra of the Federal Music Project include Emanuel Feuermann who offered two 'cello concertos December 4, and Ro-sina Lhevinne, planist, who played Cho-pin's Concerto in E Minor on December 13.

The Philadelphia Civic Symphony Orchestra has built up a following for its weekly concerts. Many young musicians appear regularly as guest artists and Mr. Leman customarily presents a request number from the multitude of those received from his audience.

December 13 the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra introduced a new work by R. Dean Shure, Washington composer, called Symphony No. 4, Choric. The symphony deals with a legend of the early Pennsylvania outlaw, Simon Girty, and marks an encouraging trend toward the use of native themes for American compositions.

Grand Opera

A product of the late 16th Century, opera as an art has grown with the ensuing years and while many grand operas have passed into obscurity, the masterpieces will live forever. The 1938-39 Metropolitan repertory clearly demonstrates Edward Johnson's wisdom and ideology, and the public response to his enlarged repertory further demonstrates the evolutionary stage of opera in the United States. America now chooses to hear the operas that were once attended by those conscientious souls tormented with a sense of duty. When Mr. Johnson, in 1935, first tentatively mentioned a Five-Year Plan for Opera, he was given a polite nod and that was that. The idea that the distinctly American problems confronting the Metropolitan could be solved was interesting but improbable. In three years, however, the plan is proving feasible as Mr. Johnson pursues his course undaunted.

The matinee "Tristan und Isolde" per formance of December 2 was an example of the remarkable Wagnerian interpretation for which the Metropolitan is noted. With Lauritz Melchior singing Tristan, Kirsten Flagstad's incomparable Isolde, Kerstin Thorberg as Brangaene, and Ju Kerstin Thorberg as Brangaene, and Julius Huehn's impersonation of Kurvenal the audience of Friday afternoon was enthused with the magic that is Wagner.

French opera appeared on the current operatic scene December 8 in the form of Massenet's "Manon." Four continents were represented in the cast of the evening's production. The Brazilian soprano, Bidu Sayao, singing the title role; the American tenor, Richard Crooks, as Des Grieux; John Browniee, from Australia, in the role of Lescaut, and Nicola Moscona, from Greece, singing the Count Des Grieux.

The second half of the December 9 program was the first seasonal performance of Richard Strauss' "Salome" which was applauded vigorously, indicating that "Salome" is no longer the dreaded spectacle of 30 years past. The cast was headed by Marjorie Lawrence as Salome and included Rene Maison, who sang a dramatic Herod, Julius Huehn in the role of Jokanaan and Dorothee Manski as Herodias.

A brilliant "Pagliacci" was presented on the same date with Giovanni Martinelli and Hilda Burke in the leading roles.

A second "Siegfried" was offered Saturday afternoon, December 10, a new Mime, in the person of Erich Witte, was brought to the matinee audience. Familiar figures were Carl Hartmann in the title role, Kirsten Flagstad singing Bruennhilde and Friedrich Schorr as the Wanderer.

A second performance of "Il Trovatore" was given Saturday evening of the same day with Zinka Milanov singing Leonora, Bruna Castagna. Azucena and Jussi Bjoerling, the Maurico.

One of the reviewers summed up the performance of "Goetterdaemmerung" on December 12 in two short words: Wagner and Flagstad. The superlative Flagstad rose to new heights as Bruennhilde in what is believed to be her greatest Wagnerian role. Included in the supporting cast were Carl Hartmann, Julius Huehn, Emanuel List and Kerstin Thorborg.

The presentation of "Lucia Di Lammermoor" December 14 was the occasion of the New York debut of Galilano Masini, Italian tenor. The ever welcome opera was enthusiastically greeted by a large audience. Mr. Masini sang Edgardo to Lily Pons' Lucia and Ezio Pinza's Raimondo. Here is another valuable addition to the "Met." a tenor who is destined to become one of its stars. His voice is warm and manly, and his dramatic expression, enthusiasm and sincerity marks him as one of the best Italian tenors of the decade.

On the following night, "Tristan und Isolde" made its second appearance of the season. Hans Hermann Nissen sang Kurvenal with the otherwise same cast of December 2. Kirsten Flagstad Leavity

The revival of Verdi's "Felstaff" the afternoon of the 16th was another of the artistic achievements noted thus far in the season. The performance was exhilarating with Lawrence Tibbett an adroit Falstaff, Maria Caniglia a keen Mistress Ford, John Brownlee an excellent Ford, and Bruna Castagna a droil Dame Quickly.

In the evening, the third performance of "Orfeo" was presented with Kerstin Thorborg again filling the title role and

Rise Stevens made her first New York appearance with the Metropolitan at the December 17 matinee in the title role of "Mignon." After two years in Europe, Miss Stevens, who studied at the Juilliard School for two years, returned to the United States as the promising young singer of the day. She gave new vitality to the role of Mignon and was supported by Richard Crooks as Wilhelm Meister, Josephine Antoine as Philine, Ezio Pinza as Lothario and Alessio De Paolis as Laerte.

The familiar figure of Lotte Lehmann as the Princess of Werdenberg was warmly welcomed December 19 when Miss warmly welcomed December 19 when Miss Lehmann gave a charmingly significant interpretation of the princess in Strauss' "Rosenkavalier." Rise Stevens was heard with interest in the role of Octavian and Emanuel List as the Baron, Friedrich Schorr singing Van Faninal and Helen Olheim giving an excellent impersonation of Frederic were included in the cast.

On the evening of the 22nd, the Pucchin opera "Tosca" was heard at the Metropolitan for the first time since March, 1936. Maria Caniglia as Tosca brought down the house after her rendition of "Vissi d'Arte" and the new Italian tenor, Galliano Masini made his second New York appearance in a sympathetic interpretation of Cavaradossi. Lawrence Tibbett again sang a strong and forceful Scarpia.

Special performances of the Metropolitan Opera Company were given throughout December, one of which was a children's matinee, December 9, of "Lohengrin." The opera was the first in a series offered by the Metropolitan Opera Guild for children at popular prices range. Guild for children at popular prices rang-ing from 35 cents to $2.00.

The young audience did not stand on ceremony in breaking down the dignified formalities of the opera house. They applauded vigorously the knightly garbed Lauritz Melchior on his first appearance and entered into the spirit of the sword clash between Lohengrin and Telramund, standing upon their chairs to get a better view. Most of the children could be view. Most of the children could described as intensely interested in performance, although some displayed frank boredom, especially when the sing-ing seemed too prolonged from their point of view.

Besides Mr. Melchior, Emanuel List was heard as King Henry. Irene Jessner as Elsa of Brahant, Doris Doe as Ortrud and George Cehanovsky as the king's herald.

George Cehanovsky as the king's herald.

A benefit performance was given on the evening of December 17 for the New York Chapter of Hadassah. The principal roles of "Aida" were filled by Maria Caniglia, Bruno Castagna, Galliano Masini, Lawrence Tibbett and Nicola Moscona.

On December 20 there was a special presentation of "Die Walkuere" for the German-American Relief Organization in Greater New York. The cast was a familiar one composed of Kirsten Flagstad's Sieglinde, Marjorie Lawrence as Bruennhilde. The second performance of the season of Wagner's "Tannhauser" was given on the afternoon of the 22nd under the auspices of the Girl Scouts Federation of Greater New York, Inc.

After 17 years with the Metropolitan, Queena Mario sang her farewell Gretel December 26 in the benefit performance of "Haensel und Gretel" given for the Greenwich House Children's Health Service. Miss Mario began her operatic career more than 20 years ago with Fortune Gallo's San Carlo Opera Company and is planning to teach after her retirement. Also included in the cast of Humperdinck's opera were Irene Jessner as Haensel, Dorothee Manski portraying the witch,

Other mid-winter New York events of interest were the performances of Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" given by the Julliard Opera School, December 14, 15, 16 and 17, and the offering of Handel's "Messiah" by the New York Oratorio Society December 20, both directed by Albert Stoessel. The "Marriage of Figaro" was heard with an alternating cast from the school and was given in the Juilliard concert hall. Each cast sang an enjoyable, fresh English interpretation of the opera.

The "Messiah," the world's most frequently performed oratorio was given for the 115th time on December 20. The chorus, directed by Mr. Stoessel, was composed of 350 spirited and sonorous voices and accompanied by an orchestra of 60 players. Soloists were Rose Bampton, solvials of the solution of the s players. Soloists were Rose Bampt prano; Viola Silva, contralto, W Hain, tenor, and John Gurney, bass. These were both sung by 28 singers at the first concert of the society in Knabe Hall, December 3, 1873, with Leopold Damrosch, its founder conducting.

Recent productions of the Sadler Wells Company of England have been "M Butterfly," "Tannhauser," "Figaro' Carlos" and "The Snow Maiden."

A seasonal opening of note in Italy was the performance of Bruno Barilli's three-act lyric tragedy "Medusa" at Bergamo. This marks the second year of experi-mental opera at the "Teatro delle Novita."

Television

1939-another year has "gone with the wind," and American television still remains in a "conflicting rumorous" state.

"Television is here!" loudly proclaims David Sarnoff of R. C. A. 'Television is not here!" equally loudly protests E. F. McDonald, Jr., of Zenith Radio Corporation.

And so the reports go 'round and 'round, but whether television is or is not ready for the American home there is no denying the fact that tremendous strides have been made during 1938.

The preview of television was the biggest event of the year, announces N. B. C., in its year-end report. Speaking from a technical viewpoint, O. B. Hanson, N. B. C. chief engineer, states that the year recorded two outstanding developments. First, in television, and second, in the international shortwave improvements, advancement being made both technically and in program-ming. The building of new and more modern studios by both N. B. C. and modern studios by both N. B. C. and C. B. S., plus many individual stations throughout the country was another point brought out.

The R. C. A. all-electronic system was tested in more than 100 demonstrations and broadcasts during the year and for the first time, outside witnesses were allowed to view the telecasts. After months of testing, N. B. C.'s new mobile television station, W2XBT, began relaying experimental programs from various points near New York, and with much success. The new television antenna atop the Empire State Building appears to have solved several problems in television, the main one being that of devising an antenna capable of passing, with discrimination, the wide band of frequencies required for 441-line images. Then, too, these past few years of experimentation have given N. B. C. a competent staff of specialized technicians for all phases of television.

New studio plants for N. B. C. have been built in Schaneciady. Philadelphile.

New studio plants for N. B. C. have been built in Schenectady, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Hollywood—a coast-to-coast chain of ultra-modern studios. The Cleveland plant consists of five studios and occupies four floors of the new N. B. C. building there. In Philadelphia there are six studios and offices, and in Hollywood, the plant, which is one of the finest on the west coast, is a small replica of Radio City.

the west coast, is a small replica of Radio City.

Thus television has progressed here in the past year, and though the current excitement over it in this country is "much ado about nothing," in the opinion of Carleton L. Dyer, managing director of Philco Radio and Television Corporation of Great Britain, who is now visiting this country, he must admit that at least there's "much ado" and, after all, that's something.

Television has a more promising future Television has a more promising future here under private enterprise than in England under government subsidy, admits Mr. Dyer, and American television will progress much more rapidly, although he does not expect a common national acceptance and demand in much less than five years. He points out that England has had television for two years, and less than 4,000 people have invested in sets which may be bought for as low as $105.

There are 20,000,000 people living within the area served by British television, he explains, which covers a radius of about forty miles around London, but there have be en innumerable instances of ople being unable to receive television in their homes because of interference in their homes because of interference from buses, street cars, motor cars, Neon signs, elevators, X-ray equipment and other forms of electrical interference.

Because of the extremely short distance of transmitting, the various forms of interference, and the tremendous costs of erection and production of television, America will face the very same problems England has been confronting, Mr. Dyer concludes, and the mere question of how much the receiver will cost is nothing compared to the other obstacles to be overcome.

Having discussed television pro and con from a technical point of view in this column, and having quoted its lords and masters on television's commercial values and immediate possibilities, it is about time to consider sight-broadcast from the advertiser's point of view. It is quite apparent that television's future, as that of radio, may rest a great deal upon its applicability as an advertising medium. In a recent issue of Printer's Ink, Eldridge Peterson writes about television and gives us "some facts, some guesses plus a few fancies about what this new advertising medium will be like."

To begin with, there is little doubt but that television will be operating at a loss for at least ten years. Program service will necessarily have to keep ahead of the sale of sets, and it is most unlikely that such a great expense will be borne by the advertisers. However, it is Mr. Peterson's opinion that there will be some advertisers who will adopt this medium in its early stages for the indirect advertising that their sponsorship of something novel and new will bring.

In the early days of radio exceptional advertising returns were received because sponsors were alert enough to identify themselves with this new medium immediately. It may be that certain advertisers will dealer.

identify themselves with this new medium immediately. It may be that certain advertisers will identify themselves equally quickly with television.

Companies closely allied with radio and television may be early sponsors of sight-broadcast—justifying such advertising expenditures because they would have sufficient financial reasons for building up television.

probably include civic events, style shows of numerous department stores, sports and other programs of local interest.

Through television the monotonous commercial plugs may be eliminated, as the filming of interesting and educating stories of manufacturing processes can take their place. As it is generally conceded that a message delivered simultaneously through both eyes and ears makes from three to six times greater an impression than a message delivered to only one sense, there will be reasonable cause for spending of greater amounts by the advertiser on television.

As the movies, representing glamour, have never had success with educational films of any kind, television, in the home atmosphere, will make people more receptive to this type of material, opening up new sources of which advertisers can take advantage.

Looking ahead, Mr. Peterson notes that the number of hours during the day when television advertising will be effective will be limited, as television will demand concentrated attention from the con-

Early evening hours may be found best suited for television advertising, although for food products and certain household commodities it is possible that afternoon and late morning hours may be more desirable.

Television and radio will complement each other, concludes Mr. Petorson, as the hours for television being limited, there will remain many hours for radio. It has been estimated that the minimum cost for an hour's television program a day on one station for a year would amount to $1,000,000, making television about twice as expensive mechanic-

vision about twice as expensive mechanic as radio ally as radio.

All down the line television will be more costly. "Live" shows will require the building of sets, the memorizing of lines by actors, and many more rehearsals. But the results will probably justify the advertiser's expenditures.

Beyond any doubt, television is going to be one of the biggest drawing cards at the World's Fair. (At least it is if its manufacturers have anything to say about it.) Various companies are making big plans for numerous television demon-

Ceneral Electric's exhibit at the fair will include a studio with a number of television receivers, camera, and transmitting equipment, and visitors will be able to participate in television broadcasts, as well as see them.

Plans for presentation of British television at the World's Fair are also under way following a meeting between fair executives and officials of Scophony, Ltd. Scophony hopes to establish its own transmitting system at the fair and put up a number of screens at different spots on the grounds. They expect to have a new 16 by 20 foot screen ready—this will be a great advancement over the 10 by 12 foot screen they are now using.

The British Broadcasting Corporation will not have a display of visio apparatus at its exhibit because of the cost; they feel there would be no justification for feel there would be nincurring such expense

After two years of experimentation in London, it has been revealed that the most successful types of programs are current event broadcasts from outside the studio, and long plays from inside the studio, writes L. Marsland Gander, London correspondent for the New York Times. American program arrangers for television may do well to beed these discoveries which have been found only by the trial and error method in the London studios. The first showing of newsreels are always popular, as are certain intimate cabaret and magazine features.

The London programs are now drawing

The London programs are now drawing oper to movie and theatre standards, closer to movie and theatre standards and farther from those of broadcasting and hour and one all-star drama lasting an hour and a half seems to give much more general satisfaction than the shorter and more varied numbers. There is now a play presented practically every night from the London studio, and recently a whole play from a West End theatre, namely, J. B. Priestley's "When We Are Married." from a West End theatre, namely, J. B. Priestley's "When We Are Married." Friendly co-operation from the theatre interests is being given the telecasters also, which may seem surprising, but so far television has not progressed sufficiently to prove a menace to the theatre world.

That people must be educated to the nall screen is another important discov-ry made by the English experimenters.

Television made its debut in the White House at Washington, D. C., on December 20th, when a modern receiving set, the first of its kind produced by engineers of the American Television Corporation of New York, was installed in the President's residence.

Now the nation's First Household is equipped with the newest device for sight-broadcast, although Washington is not yet equipped with a public telecasting station. However, there is no doubt but that once television gets into its stride the Capital will be one of the most active cities in this field because of its political importance.

Similar installations were made by Samuel M. Saltaman, an executive of American Television Corporation, in the homes of Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior; Ebert K. Burlew, Acting Secretary of the Interior, and Marvin H. McIntyre, Mr. Roosevelt's secretary.

Of particular interest was the first televising of an ice-skating exhibition which was made by N. B. C. last month, because much more motion was used than in other television tests. Cathode-ray tubes that last longer and give bright and clearer images have been developed, as inventors strive for constant improvement in its mechanics. They expect to go on the air early in 1939 and as a program feature the station will maintain its own motion-picture department with a camera-equipped truck ready to pick up scenes to be telecast nightly at given times.

In discussing the present status of the General Electric Company in television development, W. R. G. Baker, chairman of the radio and television division, states that the primary problem in introducing today's television is that of educating the public in what is to be expected at this stage. As both radio and motion pictures have reached a high degree of perfection, the average person may expect the same high standard in television, and unless educated otherwise they are going to be greatly disappointed. greatly disappointed.

The sound channel of television station W6WXAO (Don Lee Broadcasting System, Los Angeles, Calif.), has been moved from 54 to 49.75 megacycles. This change was made in accordance with the allocation of specific channels to television, under the rules of the FCC, scheduled to go into effect in April, 1939. The images will continue on 45 megacycles.

A deal is practically complete whereby Scophony, Ltd., will establish an American division, financed by American capital to the extent of 75 per cent. and operated as an American company. It is apparent that certain motion picture companies are interested, and Eddie Cantor expects to be actively identified with the company as soon as plans are set. Officials admit that there are only a few details remaining to be settled before the deal will be completed.

Educational programs of practical value are now on London's schedule. In an unusual fashion show entitled "New Clothes for Old," models demonstrate how last season's models may be converted into perk styles of today with a little ingenuity and skill with the needle. London showmen have begun to realize that entertainment alone will not hold a television audience and for that reason are experimenting with programs of more practical value.

Moses Stein, founder and charter member of Local 123, Richmond, Va., passed away at his home on December 3, 1938, at the age of 84 years. Born in Washington, the son of Julius and Mrs. Carolina Stein, he began his musical career as a theatre musician in that city. His work attracted the attention of Bandmaster Sousa, who took him into his organization.

In 1886, E. M. Castine, Washington theatre manager, leased the Mozart Academy on Eighth street, Richmond, and when that house opened on January 14 of that year, he installed Professor Stein as director of the orchestra, a position he held under many succeeding lessees of the theatre.

WILLIAM N. MERRICK

The many friends of the late lamented John P. Rossiter, former President and delegate of Local 73, Minneapolis, Minn, and one of the most active bandmasters in the United States, will be interested to know that John bequeathed his music collection of 12,585 numbers to the Public Library of Minneapolis.

Most interesting is the fact that today, with the music library on a very limited circulation basis because of partial cataloging, budding instrumentalists are calling for the music that Brother Rossiter would have best liked them to—the classical.

From London, England, we learn that Madam Clara Novello Davies, distinguished musician and teacher and mother of Ivor Novello, is writing her Memoirs. Madam Davies would appreciate very much if anyone in possession of information or pictures which might be of assistance to her would write her at her London studio, Stanhope House, Park Lane, London, W. 1.

From the West Coast comes news of the fact that Jack B. Tenney was reelected President of Local 47, Los Angeles, and was also re-elected to the California State Legislature as Assemblyman of his county by more than a 2 to 1 vote. The dispatch states that Brother Tenney is to be a candidate for the speaker of the House.

While on the subject of the West Coast the Editor wishes to pay tribute to the valiant services rendered by President Tenney of Local 47, Treasurer King and Secretary Love, of Local 6, San Francisco; President Kenin of Local 39, Portiand, Ore., and President McLain and Secretary Curley of Local 76, Seattle, Wash., for the tremendous amount of work and energy they put forth in their efforts to defeat the unfair labor bills when they were presented to the voters of the three States by a referendum in the November elections. While they were not successful in Oregon, due to overwhelming odds, in both Washington and California the propositions were defeated by great majorities, and it is the general consensus of opinion that it was the musicians' activities that were largely responsible for their defeat. The Oregon bill is to be subject to court tests, which will undoubtedly result in its being declared unconstitutional. In California and Wash-

Local 608, North Platte, Nebr., celebrated its 26th anniversary on December 18 with a banquet at the Pawner Hotel Crystal Ballroom which was attended by a large percentage of the members of the Local as well as the city officials and officers of the various sivic organizations of North Platte.

Local 609 was organized in October, 1912, and, though a small local, does much in upholding the principles of organized labor and the American Federation of Musicians. Secretary Edwin A. Weeks was recently re-elected and is starting his twenty-fourth year in that capacity.

The Federation was represented by Executive Officer Chauncey A. Weaver whose brilliant speech was, of course, the highlight of the entire affair.

Another West Coast dispatch reveals that Harry M. Keain, brother of Herman D. Mr. Kenin, who is also chairman of the Education Committee of the Portland School Beard, rolled up more than 80,000 votes, and Local 99 is extremely proud of the fact that one of its members has been elected to a state office for the first time.

The affair was widely advertised by radio stations WGNY and WNEW. On the latter station, Martin Block, well known for his New York swing session, gave the Local most valuable cooperation with his comments on the affair.

Local 450, Iowa City, Iowa, which was organised a little over a year age, gave its first annual stag party on December 14. Practically the entire membership of the local, together with a number of prospective members and several baliroom managers, enjoyed the banquet and entertainment which lasted until the wee small hours of the moraing. President Dalsies and Secretary Pickett of Des Moines were guests, and the Federation was repreguests, and the Federation was repre-sented by Traveling Representative Huoper who gave a most interesting and in-structive address on the objectives of the American Federation of Musicians.

The May Rose Broom Company of Louisville, Ky., announces that it has signed a closed shop agreement with the International Broom and Whisk Makers Union of the American Federation of Labor, and in the future all brooms manufactured by this concern will bear the union label. Local 284, Wankegan, Ill., held its annual hard-time party on Tuesday, November 29, with an attendance of 125 persons. Everyone present, with the exception of the orchestra, who thought they had to live up to the union rules by wearing their black coats and ties, came dressed in their old clothes. A couple of the directors came dressed up and were sent home after their work clothes and even the president was forced to change to house after their work clothes and even the president was forced to change to overalls. The evening started with danc-ing to the music of George McMahon's Orchestra followed by entertainment by members of the Local. Following the en-tertainment and lunch, dancing continued until 1:00 A. Secretary Walter Daney and his efficient committee are to be congratulated for the excellent arrangements.

Local 208, Chicago, Ill., did its share to bring Christmas cheer to the needy Negro families on Chicago's South Side the day before Christmas. Bill Robinson and Maxine Sullivan were among those who donated to the Local which raised the major portion of the necessary funds by a dance held on December 21 at the Savoy Baltroom. ## Stage Shows

When musicians and actors talk about the imminent return of flesh to the theatres they are often accused of prejudice, and perhaps at times they are over-enthusiastic in their predictions. But when "Variety," often called the Bible of show business, takes up the cudgel and such columnists as Jimmie Fidler and Ed Sullivan sock the theatre interests right between the eyes for their short-sightedness, then one may say truly the trend is in the direction of live shows.

In an effort to check this trend, the motion picture industry started its $250,000 "Movie Quiz" campaign in connection with "Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment." This, coupled with the continuance of Bank Night, Screeno and other give-aways, was supposed to turn the tidal wave back to motion pictures. However, even the most sanguine now admit that the campaign has been a flop though 5,000 prizes were offered, ranging up to a top figure of $50,000.00.

What do the figures disclose? Approximately 100,000 entries were all that were received in the 17,000 theatres of the United States and Camada; a little less than six per theatre. Nothing could demonstrate more strongly the terrific failure of this campaign, when out of the millions of people who attend theatres in six months less than six for each theatre have even taken enough interest to send in entries. Movies are no longer novel; neither is sound. So now, all the people can be sold is 100 per cent entertainment. Having surfeited their audiences with two and three pictures a day, nothing less than a radical departure in entertainment policy can win back the patrons who have become disgusted with repetitious, dul stories, hashed over and over again.

On the West Coast the American Fed eration of Actors has started a campaign to eliminate gambling and gambling features in the theatres, and early in Decem ber the independent theatre owners of New York together with Loew's and R. K. O. were reported to have banded together for the purpose of eliminating the gambling and give-away features. All the gampling and give-away features. All these things, together with the undeniable fact that more and more theatres are offering live talent, lead us to believe that the movement is definitely on its way and nothing short of another major catastrophe can stop it now.

Leading the return is Kurt Robitschek's
"Vaudeville Marches On" at the Majestic Theatre in New York, offering such stellar acts as Eddie Garr, Al Trahan, Mollye Picon, Fats Waller, Cinda Glenn and the Wiere Brothers. This theatre opened on December 30 with a three-a-day reserved seat policy without any picture whatsoever. Some of the critics took a hard rap at the show on the basis of its first night's showing, when it was overly long and unwieldly. However, that has been corrected and the more progressive writers agree that it is a splendid entertainment, and the first eight performances brought a total gross of $12,577.00 through the box

On or about February 1 Frank Fay will open the Court Theatre, New York, with straight vandsville shows at $2.50 top with seven evening performances and a Saturday matinee. In Boston, the R. K. O. Boston Theatre returned to vaudeville on Christmas Eve and immediately sent the box office receipts skyrocketing. Reports have it that the Capitol in New York will return to an orchestra policy early in February. The "Billboard" states that the tentative plan calls for a 30-plece orchestra with one or two assisting vocalists. The same magazine reports the return of flesh to the Normandie and Kenmore theatres in Boston as well as to the Majestic Theatre in Wyandotte, Mich., and the Temple Theatre in Saginaw, Mich. In Newark, N. J., the Shubert Theatre returned to stage shows with Ben Bernie returned to stage shows with Ben Bernie and all the lads on December 23, playing and all the lads on December 23, playing in direct opposition to the Dow booked Paramount. In Kaneas City, all through December, the Newman Theatre continued its competition with the Fox Tower's stage shows. In Brooklyn the Riveria changed to vaudeville on Christmas Day, opening with Larry Clinton. In Philadelphia the Lincoln and Nixon Grand both returned to flesh about the same time. Loew's Court Square Theatre in Springfield. Mass., and the Hollywood in Fort Worth, Texas, also added stage shows in mid-December. In Atlanta, Ga., the Georgia Theatre was remodeled and opened up on December 30 as the Roxy, booking Fanchon & Marco top-flight vaudeville for its stage entertainment. In Chicago the four-way competition between the Chi-cago, Palace, Oriental and State Lake theatres has resulted in increased inter-est in vaudeville both in the neighbor-hood houses and surrounding cities. Bala-han & Katz expect to return stage shows ban & Katz expect to return stage shows to the Norshore, Southtown and Senate theatres within the next few weeks. Loew's State Theatre in Jersey City played its first stage show in more than three years, opening on December 30 with the Ben Bernie unit. On the West Coast Earl Carroll is lav-On the West Coast Earl Carroll is laying plans to book the productions from his new theatre-restaurant over a western vaudeville circuit, and he is now negotiating for houses in an effort to carry out this plan. The Akron, Ohio, Palace Theatre and the Kansas City Tower have increased their business notably by booking all the top-flight name bands they could secure. Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is another city that is doing its best business in years with stage shows. Both the Parain years with stage shows. Both the Para-mount and Iowa theatres play to capacmount and Iowa theatres play to capacity audiences every time they present vaudeville shows. On Christmas night, Billy Rose opened his Diamond Horseshoe in the basement of the Hotel Paramount with a vaudeville show that has hardly been equaled since the hey-dey of the Palace. This production includes Frank Libuse, Tom Patricola, Della Lind, Clyde Hager, Buddy Doyle, Elizabeth Murray, Joe E. Howard, Lulu Bates, Harry Armstrong, Mangean Sisters, Beatrice Kay, Willie Solar, Emma Frances, the Four Yost Men, Don McGrane and his Orchestra and Fritzl Scheff. The show brought raves from all the critics and capacity business ever since the opening performance.

Another theatre returning to the fold is the Alvin in Pittsburgh, owned by the Harris interests, which reverted to a stage show policy on New Year's Eve for the first time in more than two years. If theatre operators would only look at the record of the Strand Theatre in New York City from September 1 to December 22 we don't believe they would need much more convincing. For the first two weeks ending September 8, the Ben Bernie band grossed $60,000; for the second two weeks ending September 22. Ozzie Nelson, Johnny Davis and Wayne Morris drew $69,000; the third two weeks ending October 6, Jan Garber and Ethel Merman grossed $66,500; for the week ending October 13, Johnny Messner's band drew $23,000; the following three weeks ending November 3, Horace Heldt and his band brought in $125,000, and during the next three weeks, ending November 24. Al. Donahue and Hugh Herbert drew $98,000, while for the four weeks ending December 22, Ted Lewis and his band grossed $138,500. Truly an impressive record.

In Europe we find the Winter Garden Theatre in Berlin in its 50th year of variety. The 50th Anniversary show, which is now being presented, is one of the finest vaudeville bills that has ever played the boards at one of the oldest variety houses in the world.

American exhibitors realize this fact the better off they will be.

In London the Delphi Theatre, which is now playing the revue "Bobby Get Your Gun," will be turned over to the G. T. C. Corp. and become a straight vaudeville house at the close of the present run. In Paris the Gaumont Palace, of late years a picture house. reverted to vaudeville with an 18-piece orchestra in mid-December. In Australia, interest in flesh shows continues unabated; in fact the demand this year is the strongest any time since 1923. The vaudeville and picture combination is becoming extremely popular in both Australia and New Zealand, and Frank Neil, Greater Union Theatres, Sir Ben Fuller and the Snider-Dean interests are all playing stage shows wherever possible. Will Mahoney and his "Why Be Serious" revue made a tremendous hit at the Tivoli in Sydney, playing five weeks in this ace house at a $2.20 top.

For the week ending December 2, the Century Theatre in Baltimore with its featured 30-piece orchestra, grossed $13,000. The name-band pitched battle in Kansas City resulted in Chick Webb grossing $11,500 at the Newman Theatre

Kansas City resulted in Chick Webb grossing $11,500 at the Newman Theatre and Buddy Rogers the same gross at the Tower. Result—a draw. In Indianapolis Tower. Result—a draw. In Indianapolis Roger Pryor brought in $9,000 at the Lyric Theatre and Duke Ellington grossed $15,000 at the Stanley Theatre in Pittaburgh. "Stuff" Smith and his band brought in a fair $19,000 at the Earle in Philadelphia, while Horace Heldt gave the Shubert in Cincinnati its best gross so far this season with $15,500. In New York City, Ted Lewis smashed through at the Strand to a tremendous $52,000, while Count Basie in a single week at the Paramount grossed $30,000.

During the week ending December 9

the Paramount grossed $30,000.

During the week ending December 9 the theatres began to feel the Christmas shopping slump, with the exception of the New York Strand, the Brooklyn Strand, the Kansas City Tower and the Indianapolis Lyric. At the Strand in New York, Ted Lewis drew $33,000 for his second week, while Cab Calloway grossed $16,000 at the State, and Blue Barron, far under expectations, with $34,000 at the Paramount. Duke Ellington drew a fine $13,000 at the Strand in Brooklyn, and Hal Kemp the same satisfactory gross at the Lyric in Indianapolis. Richard Himber's figure at the Earle in Philadelphia was $17,500, while both Baltimore theatres disappointed with a gross of $9,500 tres disappointed with a gross of $9,500 at the Century and only $9,000 for Count Basie at the Hippodrome. Henry Busse managed s fine $14,000 at the Kansas City

Tower.

The week ending December 16 showed little improvement, with the Baltimore Century drawing $8,000, Blue Barron $24,000 at the New York Paramount and Ted Lewis $25,000 at the Strand. Herbie Kay's figure at the Tower, Kansas City, was $8,000, while Gray Gordon and Mike Riley drew only $13,000 at the Stanley in Pittsburgh. A single exception for the week was the fine $13,500 grossed by Bob Crosby and his orchestra at the Lyric in Indianapolis. Indianapolis.

For the week ending December 23, Hai Kemp brought in a fine $13,500 at the Shubert in Cincinnati, and Gene Krupa drew jitterbugs into the Tower in Kansas City to the tune of $12,000. The Century City to the tune of $12,000. The Century in Baltimore improved to $11,300, while Ted Lewis, in his fourth and final week at the New York Strand, drew $20,000. Glen Gray, in his annual visit to the New York Paramount, brought in a fine $47,000 for his first week. In Boston this was the first week that the R. K. O. Boston played

For the week ending December 30 grosses were not available at the time of this writing. However, Glen Gray remained at the Paramount for a second week, while Paul Whiteman did a tremendous business at the New York State. Frankie Masters with Joy Hodges was t attraction at the Tower in Kansas City.

In the legitimate field Christmas week on Brosdway was the biggest since the boom days of 1929. For the matinee on Wednesday, December 28, ten shows sold out and played to 681 standees, while on Thursday, when ten shows gave matinees, five were sold out and three played to standing room only. From the musicians' viewpoint the highlight is that there are more musical shows than at any time since 1929 and they are the leaders in gross receipts. Shows in Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and other cities continued to do a fine business, and if the American Theatre Council is successful in promoting more cities for road shows, legitimate In the legitimate field Christman week

DIES COMMITTEE CHARGES MENACE TO DEMOCRACY

Alien Groups Attempting to Overthrow Government and Seize Control of Labor.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Nazi, Fascist Communist groups are a definite ce to democracy, the House Committee Investigating un-American Activities charged in a report to Congress.

The committee, beaded by Representative Martin Dies of Texas, also charged the Communists have invaded Federal overnment departments and agencies.

The committee asked for $150,000.00 to continue its investigation for two years.

All seven members of the committee, headed by Representative Martin Dies of Texas signed the report, which asserted that:

Communists are trying to overthrow the government, seize control of the labor movement and form a Farmer-Labor party.

Communists have used the WPA writers and theatre projects to disseminate class hatred propaganda.

Important government officials, including Secretary of the Interior Ickes and Secretary of Labor Perkins, sought to "hamstring" Dies' investigation.

Miss Perkins has failed to enforce rig-orously the deportation laws—which, the committee contends, would have stopped much subversive activity—and disre-garded the law in failing to deport Harry Bridges.

A. F. L. OPENS CAMPAIGN TO AMEND LABOR ACT

Representatives of Labor Meet in Washington and Decide on Congressional Legislative Program.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Legislative representatives of the American Federation of Labor, affiliated unions and the railroad brotherhoods met here and decided on a congressional legislative program which includes amendment of the National Labor Relations Act, rail aid measures, extension of Social Security Act benefits and continuance of present relicions.

measures, extension of Social Security Act benefits and continuance of present relief policies.

President William Green announced that Federation attorneys virtually have completed drafting of amendments to the labor act, approved at the A. F. of L.'s annual convention, and said that they will be presented to Congress with the "full backing" of his organization.

The amendments, he said, would take away from the NLRB its present power to determine whether a labor unit is to operate as a craft, plant or industrial group. They also would take away the board's power to void existing contracts between anions and employers, he added.

At the same time, he continued, the labor act program will include organized opposition to senate confirmation of the reappointment of Donald Wakefield Smith, a board member.

The Federation has opposed Smith consistently on grounds that he favors the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Regarding carrier aid legislation, Green said the Federation is prepared to support any recommendations of President Roosevelt's special rail committee, composed of management and labor representatives. He recalled that the A. F. of L. already is committed to such a course.

Misdom

A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying, in other words, that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.—Alexander Pope.

Happy New Year

O all officers and members of Local Unions and to all readers and advertisers, we extend best wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

And what constitutes a Happy New Year? The foremost thought in the mind of every member should be that he should be true to himself and his organization, giving his unqualified support to his Local and its officers in all their endeavors to improve his economic condition, to remain further true to himself by abiding by all the laws, rules and regulations of the organization, never failing to observe them to their fullest extent, re-solving to lose a job rather than become involved in any violation of the Price List and By-Laws. Then, too, he should remember that every member is a brother who is entitled to the same protection and consideration that he expects. Never speak ill of another member. Lend those in need a helping hand that their lot may be made

If these be the aims of our members throughout the year 1939, at its close we will find that we have a finer, better and more efficient organization than ever before in our history, and the members will be surprised at the amount of happiness they will have derived.

The Relief Situation

THE fast-approaching shortage of funds for the WPA should rouse every worker—and every think-ing citizen, for that matter—to the imperative importance of putting Federal relief on as nearly a permanent basis as possible.

If that relief is to be on an American plan, it must be work relief. Reactionaries, both in Congress and in industry, are demanding a "dole"—when they are not trying to stop Federal appropriations altogether. The explanation is simple; the Federal government is the only agency in our land which can tax, successfully, high incomes, excess profits, and huge estates; and reaction always tries to shift public burdens to the shoulders of the poor.

The WPA has made mistakes, no doubt. But it has an amount of permanent, constructive work to show in every State that is nothing less than startling; and its "white collar projects" have added vastly to our available funds for information about our own country. It should be put under civil service, of course. But the unemployment which demands this help has proved clearly that it is likely to last for years.

Changes in Officers

OC) often Local Unions neglect to notify the Secretary's office of changes in officers and, as a result, business of the Federation is badly interfered with. In some cases members of the very Local involved suffer delays in adjudication of their affairs by such neglect. Local Unions are requested and implored to promptly notify the Secretary's office of all changes of officers, as well as any change of address. Secretaries of Locals are also requested to notify us promptly of changes in their members' addresses, as The International Musician is called upon to pay many hundreds of dollars each year for the return of papers sent out to members to wrong addresses. Postal regulations do not permit forwarding of our magazine, and it costs three cents for each and every paper so returned.

Automobile Stickers

HE first supply of automobile stickers has been received and completely sold out. They are beautiful in design, far better than we ourselves expected. A new supply will be received shortly and Locals are requested to send in their orders at the earliest possible moment. Requests will be filled in the order that they

Endless Billions

T' has been said that no one can visualize a billion dollars. It is too vast a sum for the human mind to adequately encompass.

Yet a billion dollars, figuratively speaking, is only a drop in the bucket when you discuss the payments made by life insurance.

Since the beginning of the year 1930, legal reserve life insurance companies have paid to the American people more than $21,000,000,000—over $308,000 for every hour of that eight-year period.

Putting it another way, We've all heard about the great unpaid war debt owed us by foreign nations. The total debt now in default comes to $1,680,000,000. In the last year life insurance has paid out almost twice that

A big business? Yes! But far more important, life insurance is one of the greatest contributors to the American standard of living.

Congratulations

E pause to pay tribute to William Lewerenz, one of our oldest and certainly our most faithful advertiser. Brother Lewerenz, a member of Local 2, St. Louis, Mo., has been advertising in The International Musician for thirty-five consecutive years, having never missed an issue in all that time.

This is truly a remarkable record and one that deserves consideration from our members. We hope to have Brother Lewerenz with us for many years to come.

Nazi Germany Repudiated

ATE in 1938 one of America's foremost German-language papers, the New Yorker Staats-Zeitung und Herold, in an editorial abandoned as "false" y hope that it held to its readers of "decency" from the leaders now in power in Germany. The editorial separates these leaders from the German people and denounces them as "fanatics unworthy to be called Germans." It closes with the hope that the German people may some day in the not too distant future be freed from them.

In translation from the German, verified with the Staats-Zeitung, the text of the editorial, called "Cold Terror," follows:

"The terrible events of the last five days can hardly be erased from the minds of mankind. The hopes we had, often against our better judgment, have proved them-selves to be false. The excesses of the mob, destroying property, maltreating people, are now being followed up by a cold terror which, in its consequences, will be much more horrible than the brutal acts themselves, committed under the pretense and official palliation of 'spontaneous

"We do not believe that the German people, that our relatives and dear friends, are participating in the horror mankind has witnessed. We condemn the murder act in Paris, as we are condemning all violence, all excesses. Because we believe in the inherent decency of the German people, we herewith protest against the dark powers that use this murder as a welcome excuse to let loose the lowest instincts against defenseless people, trying to cover up these wanton acts with phrases like indignation of e people,' which bear the stamp of the Ministry of Propaganda.

"We know that the German-Americans condemn this mob rule. We all have parents, brothers, sisters and other relatives in the old country. We do not wish to part with fond memories we all dearly cherish in our hearts and we do not want them to be trodden upon and to be soiled by elements unworthy of being called Germans. And therefore, in the names of our dear ones, do we protest against desecration of the German name through fanatics in the ranks of the party in power who are trying to drag a great people into the mire of their sadistic lowness.

"We believe in humanity, in decency, in the noble character of our dear ones in Germany as we believe in the decency of the German people. Could it be other-

"We deeply love all that is beautiful, that lives forever in our hearts and that despite all shame and disgrace of this hour will continue to live.

"We hope fervently, through our belief in the German people, for the dawn of a better day which will put an end to all mental agony."

It's Your Responsibility

THE INTERNATIONAL MUSICIAN and its printing plant are your responsibility. When any deficit occurs, it is paid for by your money received in the form of per capita and other taxes. It, therefore, becomes the duty of each and every member and each and every Local to patronize the printing plant when in need of supplies. Our members are constantly buying musical instruments and supplies. Our advertisers are responsible firms, and they deserve your patronage. Whenever buying, either direct or from a local jobber, always make it your business to mention the fact that you saw the ad in The International Musician. The number of members and Locals that buy supplies has greatly increased during the past year, but there is still room for wide improvement. It's your responsibility-do your bit.

Agriculture Speaks

7RITING in the American Fruit Grower, Dean Halliday speaks for the thinking farmers of America when he writes: "When the biggest problem facing the fruit industry is distribution and marketing, there should be no pussyfooting about rallying to the support of the chain food stores in their fight against the Patman bill.

"The bill will be introduced in the next Congress in January. If it is permitted to become law it will tax the chain stores out of business. If the chain stores are put out of business the fruit industry will receive a staggering setback. At one fell swoop growers will be deprived of 37,000 retail outlets. Lost, too, will be the avalanche of advertising which the chain stores can create, almost overnight, to help sell more fruit.

"American Fruit Grower therefore urges all growers to think twice before they permit the closing of 37,000 retail stores—the chain food stores which form a main link between the fruit grower and consumer."

gerous surpluses stimulate consumption with special producer-consumer campaigns. Agriculture knows—as resolutions made by scores of farm groups attest—the absolute necessity of mass distribution in bringing foods economically to market.

It is generally forecast that the Patman bill has a poor chance of passing-because of the growing opposition of the American people to any law that stands in the way of progress, and prevents reducing the cost to the con-sumer of the necessities of life.

"Musts" For Traffic Safety

ULIEN H. HARVEY, managing director of the Na-tional Conservation Bureau, lists six vital "musts" for the solution of America's Number 1 accident problem the street and highway death and injury toll.

First, all drivers must be licensed, and only after stringent tests.

Second, real, not perfunctory physical examinations of drivers at periodic intervals is important.

Third, all high school students should be educated in safe driving, through specially devised courses.

Fourth, there must be more stringent enforcement of laws affecting both drivers and pedestrians by the police

Fifth, ticket fixing must be 100 per cent eliminated. Lastly, all safety organizations should give their rimary effort toward discouraging the speed mania principal cause of the bulk of serious accidents.

These "musts" provide a well-rounded traffic safety program, within the power of any state or community to meet. They touch the all-important high-spots—education, examination and law enforcement. They deal with specific cures—not more or less meaningless generalities, and represent the only kind of program which has a chance for permanent success.

America has had enough of reckless drivers—of ignorant youth taking the wheel for the first time—of the ticket-fixing racket that lets the guilty man with pull go free—of the callous indifference toward others that the speed maniac displays. Every one of the forty-eight States, every one of the thousands of villages and cities in the land, must give its energies to solving the traffic

Every Two Minutes

All the very moment you read this, fire engines are dashing with screaming sirens to someone's burning home. Every two minutes somewhere in America this dramatic tragedy will be re-enacted. So it goes, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Every two minutes a home catches fire.

Here's hoping your home isn't on that list. But hope isn't enough. No one can afford to leave fire prevention to chance. You can have a safe home if you want one, and if you are willing to put a little time to make it safe. In other words, the safety of your home will be largely what you make it.

Fort Dodge is the home of Local No. 504—John J. Donohoe, president, and F. A. Zalesky, secretary.

The author of "Beautiful Snow" was not a native of Florida.

Look who we have with us again—Congress!

"Home Sweet Home" is a sentimental exultation which will have a still broader and more comprehensive signification to the members of Local No. 5, than of yore, after the formal "House Warming" and "Home Opening" which occurred in Detroit. Monday evening, December 12, 1938. Those who have visited Detroit on musical mission bent, are familiar with the pleasant location at 5562 Second Boulevard. To know that the Local has made an expenditure of from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars in a complete over-hauling and re-modeling, will stimulate a curiosity to see the place again, and generate a desire on the part of those who have not, to improve the first opportunity to do so.

The Evening of Festivity referred to brought out a big company of the "home folks," but Wolverines, Buckeyes, Hoosiers and Canadians answered the general invitation to break bread, drink Coco-Cola, and enjoy an all-round revel of formal conversation—well on toward the hour when "Night candies are nearly all burned out, and joound day, stands tip-toe" on the eastern horizon line.

Executive Officers James C. Petrillo of Chicago and Chauncey A. Weaver of Des Moines were present to tender felicitations of the National Executive Board. This is certainly a "Model Musicians Home," and would be a credit to any city or Local in the international jurisdiction. Main floor, upstairs and downstairs have all been adjusted to useful purpose—business and social.

We congratulate Local No. 5 upon reaching a golden mile-post along a thoroughfare reaching toward long cherished

Out on the far-fung Nebraska prairies, in the wide-open spaces where the Indians used to chase the wild buffaloes, until the prairie schooners from the east unloaded pioneers for the founding of a new day, in the City of North Platte, may be found Local No. 609, A. F. of M. Here is a small local but one with a wide range of vision. It has always been well-officered and has displayed marked capacity for meeting home situations in an intelligent fashion. Recently they conceived the idea of effectuating a closer contact with the leaders of civic and community life. As one means to this end they arranged a fine banquet at the Pawnee Hotel; invited the mayor, members of the city council, city club leaders and others prominent in public affairs, and then honored the author of "Over Federation Field" with a request to come out and explain to the banquet guests something of the origin, present-day activities, purposes and aims of the American Federation of Musicians. It was a fine crowd. The people were good listeners. There were many expressions of appreciation of the opportunity to hear "what it is all about." From leading business men we heard voluntary promises of support for future programs of musical enterprise. It was an eminently worthwhile function, and we are happy to have had a place on the evening program. worthwhile function, and we are happy to have had a place on the evening program. The officers of Local No. 609 are: President, W. H. Copeland; Vice-President, Elmer Pesse; Secretary-Treasurer, E. W. Weeks (26 years incumbency); Executive Board: Harry Hart, A. L. Bonner and Victor F. Beck. President Copeland gave the address of welcome and Attorney James T. Keefe was the official toast-master.

The Manitowoc (Wis.) Marine Band—all members of Local No. 195—has just completed 40 years of existence. They celebrated this milestone arrival by a fine concert in the Lincoln High School, and the rendition of a program which was in itself a high testimonial to genuine musicianship. The band has an enrollment of over 50 pieces, and is under the able directorship of Emil C. Sohrweide. It has been a consistent prize winner at musical conclaves and other functions where capability is given a real test. It has appeared at scores of state fairs and patriotic gatherings. The band is the object of deep civic pride. The Herald-Times of that city devotes a page to the historic evolution of the organization and carries photographs of the personnel as of 1905, 1913 and as it appears today. We congratulate Local No. 195 upon its vital connection with such a band and trust that 1939 may prove another banner year for all concerned.

"Who is Henry Woelber?" is an interrogatory which has occasionally been propounded by Federation members here and there after perusing articles on matterimusical emanating from his prolific pen. Brother Woelber is a Bostonian and a long-time member of Local No. 9. His communications appearing in Boston papers have frequently been copied in the International Musician — sometimes in "Over Federation Field," and sometimes elsewhere. In a recent issue of the Boston Traveller, we find the following biographical sidelight, written by Charles C. Samuels of Dorchester, which we believe those who have read the Woelber contributions will be glad to peruse:

You have printed many letters from

You have printed many letters from Henry Woelber on matters pertaining to music and musicians. These have been widely read and commented upon. It seems to me that many people who do not know Mr. Woelber would be interested to know what sort of a man he is, and the many hundreds who do know him would be glad to have an idea of his background.

him would be glad to have an idea of his background.

Born in Monmouth, Ill., May 28, 1873, of German parents, he early developed a love for music, landing eventually in the Park Theatre orchestra with Louis Baer, a lineal descendent of President John Adams. He was with the Boston Opera Company and still later, seconded by Miss Killlea, practically built the WPA Boston nuisic project.

In my association of over 40 years with mm, I have found him always modest and unassuming, uniformly pleasant, absolutely dependable in his work, and never in my memory have I heard him utter an unkind word.

His position as head supervisor of the WPA music project brought many tough decisions, and overwork finally almost brought about a nervous breakdown. Here's to Henry Woelber, a gentleman musician with an inexhaustible fund of musical information and history.

Hitler has banned Mendelssohn music from Nazidom. The English novelist, William Makepeace Thackery, declared that Mendelssohn had the handsomest face he ever saw. Mentioning Mendelssohn and Hitler in the same breath is, therefore, another suggestion of "The Beauty and The Beast."

Out in Wyoming, where the mountains wear a snow-white crest, where oil wells keep up a perennial flow, where rugged pioneers saw to it that the fundamental ploneers saw to it that the fundamental law of the commonwealth should contain the ringing declaration, "Arbitrary power has no place in a republic—not even in the largest majorities," the vibrant note of musical appreciation is everywhere in evidence. For example, we clip the following from a Casper paper (home of Local No. 381); gift to set up a permanent benefit for the organization.

It is highly appropriate that the administrator of the bequest should authorize the erection of a concert shell in the Washington Memorial Park with the funds and that it stand as a memorial to the pioneer musician.

Dedication will take care of that honor, but the city might well go further. Mr. Shallenberger was one of the first and most talented of early-day musicians, and his services, always freely given, were in demand. Music was ever a strong influence in his life, dictating in part his temperament and philosophies. Other influences were literature and rugged experience.

Thus Casper can well afford to expand on a tribute to his memory and it should be kept in mind when music week is again observed. The band, of course, could properly take the lead in sounding a higher note of appreciation for his service.

Trailing along recently through jour-nalistic by-ways and hedges we culled the following communication from the columns of the Baltimore Sun, under the caption—"Those Generous Musicians":

While rehearsing the band I had organized for the army at Fort McHenry during the late war, the commanding officer, Colonel Purnell, told me of a fine gesture that the President of the Federation of Musicians had made to President Woodrow Wilson, "that there would be no strikes among union musicians during the war." After my discharge I met Dr. Cary Grayson and in conversation Dr. Crayson confirmed this fine gesture. Later I saw a confirmation of it in President Wilson's personal papers. For weary souls—a solace,
For those in pain—a baim;
For those who mourn—a comfort,
For every storm—a caim.

The very word is soothing,
It gives each heart a thrill;
From tired babes to soldiers.
It softly croons, "Be still,"

It stirs the soul to action, It leads to heights above; It seeks a fit companion, And finds the "God of Love."

Tis His Great Gift to Nations, To free them ALL from strife; It has a HEALING MISSION, Where hate and war are rife,

He gives this Rhythmic Soul-Food, And bids them all "REJOICE!" For singing praises also, He gives them each—a voice,

LABOR WILL CELEBRATE PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY

Ninety National and International Unions Have Pledged Their Support.

WASHINGTON, D. C .- Organized labor has answered the 1939 Infantile Paralysis Campaign with complete mobilization on the national health front. Over 90 na tional and international unions, representing 4,000,000 members, have pledged their support to the Labor Division for the Celebration of the President's Birthday, January 30.

President William Green, chairman of the Labor Division, stated: "The spirit and enthusiasm shown by the members of organized labor in the fight against infantile paralysis can result only in ultimate victory. Our contribution this year to this most necessary and noble cause shall exceed our generosity of the past. must remember that we are building a permanent and living monument for the common good of all America. We can not and will not rest until our work is completed."

Big Demand for Blanks

The Labor Division has filled a constant stream of orders for the Birthday Greet ing Blanks to the President. Over 50,000 greeting blanks have been ordered by the national unions. Each blank contains a personal greeting to the President of the United States, with space for 100 signatures. Union men and women signing the greeting blanks are to contribute one or more dimes to the Fight Infantile Paralysis Campaign. Every union member will have the opportunity of sending this personal message to the President and contributing to the first against this dreaded disease. It is the goal of the Labor Division that President Green and a commit-dee, representative of labor, may have the mame of every union member on the greet-dering blanks when they present them to the president in person shortly after January 30.

The International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, whose president, David Dubinsky, is a member of the Advisory Committee of the Labor Division, has pledged a complete distribution of the greeting blanks among its 250,000 members.

In addition to the support given the Labor Division by the national and international unions the Women's Auxiliaries have organized their own division and are carrying on the campaign among the 2,500,000 women that constitute the major women's auxiliaries affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Labor Press Aids Drive

As in the past, the labor press of the country is giving full support to the Labor Division of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday. From Reattle, Wash., to Miami, Fla., the labor press is enlisting and exhorting union members to give and give generously to the campaign against infantile paralysis. This support of the labor press of the nation and the understanding and cooperation of every union member assuros operation of every union member assures the Labor Division that the contribution of labor will be indicative of the gener-osity and sympathy of organized labor in

The Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada made the first contribution of $100.00 to the Infantille Paralysis Campaign from its international treasury. From the Bakery Workgers' Union in Chicago the Labor Division received the first filled greeting blank to the President.

Time For All to Help

With over a month left to press its campaign against Infantile Paralysis the Labor Division is far ahead of its schedule. This will give every union member sufficient time and opportunity to participate in the campaign. In this cause union men and women stand united and determined to fight to a victorious finish. January 30 should find the names of all union members signed to the personal greeting to the President, together with a contribution corresponding to their generosity.

RELIEF CUTS WOULD BE SERIOUS, SAYS PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, D. C.-An immediate $875,000,000 appropriation to provide Works Progress Administration jobs for between 3,000,000 and 2,700,000 until June 30, the end of the 1939 fiscal year, was asked by President Roosevelt on January 5.

He asked for these funds in a special relief message, while in his regular budget message he projected a relief and recovery program of $2,266,165,000 for the new fiscal year beginning in July.

Taking cognizance of growing congressional criticism of administration of the WPA, he called for statutory restrictions against improper political practices in relief. But he pleaded against return of relief administration to local authorities and against imposition of restriction that might infringe upon political rights of relief recipients.

The recommendation for $875,000,000 for WPA for the five months from February to June, inclusive, was materially above previous predictions of the cost of financing the relief program for the balance of the fiscal year.

"I urge speedy action on the part of the Congress to, provide these additional funds in order to prevent disruption of the program and consequent suffering and want on the part of the unemployed,

In his budget message, the President proposed expenditure of $9,000,000,000. Under the proposed budget, $2,000,000,000 would go for military and semi-military projects.

Chicago Teamsters Negotiate $1.500.000 Pay Increase

CHICAGO, III.—An increase in pay of about $1,500,000 annually for between seven and eight thousand truck drivers has been obtained, despite the recession under a two-year union shop contract entered into by Local No. 705, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauf feurs, Stablemen and Helpers, an A. F. of L. affiliate, and the Cartage Exchange of Chicago and Illinois Motor Truck Operators' Association.

The agreement boosts wage rates $2.00 a week and limits the work week to 51 hours. Weekly minimums range from $31.00 to $34.00 for motorcycle drivers and $34.00 to $43.50 for truck drivers. Time on the job before 7.45 A. M., when the work day begins, or after 5:15 P. M., when it ends, is considered overtime and is paid for at the rate of time and one-fourth. "The Declaration is of the utmost importance to all American women," Miss Winslow said. "It states clearly and specifically what we all want for women which is the fullest political and civil equality with men and full opportunity for work, while at the same time it safe-guards the special legislation that has been found necessary in all countries to protect women as mothers and to put them on a more nearly equal basis with men in the industrial field."

The resolution on the Inter-American Commission of Women is especially important to the women of the United States, according to Miss Winslow, because it provides that "the Governments which have not as yet appointed their representatives on the Commission, appoint such representatives as soon as possible. ### Famous Conductors and Bandmasters - By Henry Woelber -

IEAN M. MISSUD

Jean M. Missud was born April 25, 1852, at Nice, France. Entering the Municipal Music Conservatory, at 13, he attracted much attention by his talent for composition, and his clarinet studies under Testa.

Very early in life he became well acquainted with the multiplication table.
When he was 17 the United States Schooling Ship Sabine was in the harbor Nice. Missud went aboard, enlisted in the American Navy and played clarinet in the band. After cruising 10 months the ves-sel landed in Boston, in 1870, with Jean, eager and determined, unable to speak English. He was a tar who ploughed his way through the rough seas of life.

One fateful day a call for a clarinet player came from Salem, Mass. Young Missud went and remained. The door of opportunity was opened. "He travels the fastest who travels alone." An irresistible anxiety to escape from a life-environ-ment was burning Missud's spirit like a hot iron. That is why he came to America's shores. The clarinet and Jean sort of grew up together, because, about this time that instrument was coming into its own in the band business. The improve ment of the typical single reed clarinet was so rapid and distinctive as almost to amount to an invention. For eight years, like thousands of other exceptionally industrious youngsters, Jean played where ever and whenever he could, until finally in 1878, really taking up the work Gil-more had so ably started in Salem, he organized the Salem Cadet Band which made its first appearance April 5 of that year with the Second Corps Cadets, Massa-chusetts Volunteer Militia, and played the events of that historic organization 40 years. It also was the official band for 25 years of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company of Boston, visiting many cities and towns of the United States, Canada and Bermuda, chief among them, London, England, in 1896; Richthem, London, England, in 1896; Richmond, Detroit, Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, St. John, New Brunswick, The Thousand Islands, Milwaukee, Norfolk and Atlantic City. He also went to New Orleans with the Boston Lancers and Philadelphia with the Elks. In all the Salem Cadet. went to Washington 25 times for trips which included inaugurals and the dedication of the monument. Other important engagements were the Buffalo Exposition in 1901, Willow Grove, Philadelphia, in 1904, and Savin Rock, New Haven. His band was a fixture at Salem Willows, Mass., for many summers. Probably no local band in the country played so many outside engagements or traveled so extensively.

Jean Missud was a clarinet player of remarkable ability, but, like so many others, he specialized in the band and spent much time composing and publishing his own and other compositions.

Be it to the everlasting credit of our New England bands—they strove for quality rather than quantity—but it shows what can be done with 25 or 30 men, with parts well adapted, and in this the Salem Cadet Band, always thoroughly rehearsed, succeeded.

Missud's distinct achievement was the starting of this pioneer band, composed mostly of young fellows from the Salem district. Endless Sunday rehearsals, which to this day are a band tradition, completed an ensemble that would put a highly professional jobbing, but unrehearsed band, to shame. A band speaks to the will through the emotions, and to the spirit through the intellect it speaks trumpet-tongued with a voice above human, speaks to the noblest part of nature and raises the spirit to a height from which it never afterward quite descends. and raises the spirit to a height from which it never afterward quite descends.

Are those not to be envied who are enabled to hear in their entirety, not once but time and time again, the masterpieces. but time and time again, the master pieces, through an orchestra or band? Missud's library contains a large store of pretty, ingratiating, charming and beautiful numbers, all of which he uses unsparingly. They are most graceful and effective, and appear to the average audience as en-chanting and intense in their tonal wonders to what heights a man like Missad might have arisen had he devoted all his time to equducting. He was his own manager, publisher, librarian, arranger and this meant a multiplicity of duties.

To chat with him about his band experience the past 62 years is to relate the history of America during that time.

history of America during that time.

The names of Missud and Salem are synonymous; he is the chevalier of music there. In another very important way Missud followed Gilmore. He married a Salem girl. Those who knew long remembered the romance of Emma A. Waldron and Jean M. Missud. When at the age of 80 she was laid away November 27, 1932, that union was not dissolved, but she had simply ascended a step higher. She was the bright beacon that guided him into the port of happiness.

stcp higher.—She was the bright beacon that guided him into the port of happiness.

In discovering Jerome N. Procter, Missud showed rare judgment. As a mere boy Procter played with his home town band at Essex, Mass. He was no gilded lordling. He had 10 cents to spend Fourth of July. When the band paid him $2.00 for a job he felt rich. One day Missud happened to hear Procter play a trombone solo. He was 16. Missud took him in his band, encouraged, coached and instructed him, and above all gave him an opportunity. He was a youngster carrying the torch of fiaming youth. Procter remained 14 years, then in rapid succession played as a soloist with Macs Gay, Perkins, Edouarde, Conway and with every band in Boston, including Mollenhauer's. Now after 44 years as a soloist he is rendering the most difficult numbers imaginable with the Walter Smith Band on WEEI in solos from Gioconda, Lohengrin, Carmen, Aida, not to mention the Rigoletto quartette and the sextette from Lucía which are mere set-ups for him. He is the iron man of the trombone. Possessed of a remarkable range and wonderful control he plays "Asleep in the Deep" ten fathoms deep, and "America" in four octaves is a scant workout. His pedal tones are unexcelled in power and tone. After such a routine it is small wonder he played in the Boston Opers Orchestra during the entire five years of its existence. By way of contrast he has a most delicate planissimo as evidenced when Weingartner conducted Mozart's aria "Sarastro" from the Magic Flute. The accompaniment included the sombre trombones and the Globe praised Procter's beautiful legato. Using the same mouthpiece all his life, he blew and blasted his way through the rocky shore of Massachusetts to all parts of the country. Twice coast to coast with the Boston-Rabinoff Opera Company, and two long night stand tours with the Oxford Music Club of six members. He paid, and played his own way, asking no quarter, but giving plenty.

An idea of a perfect trombone section for a band would be three men of the Procter and unit is simply not in the cards.

An idea of a perfect trombone section for a band would be three men of the Procter and Ripley calibre, but such a unit is simply not in the cards.

Procter was at the opera house during the regime of Andrea Caplet. Here was another Frenchman who did not hesitate to tell anybody about notes, rests, accents or anything else. No man ever showed a greater improvement than Procter, after those five years in the Boston Opera Orchestra. Every engagement he played was an added nomentum and contributed to his prestige. his prestige.

More than a century ago there were primitive bands composed of different sized oboes, crude shaped bassoons, drums and cymbals. As time went on the French became adepts both in the making and playing of the clarinet, flute and oboe. No friendly criticism can overestimate the beauty of their playing of the reed instruments.

heauty of their playing of the reed instruments.

As every young string player aspires to be a virtuoso, or fine orchestra musician, he should be encouraged to hear the best of string quartettes and trios, consisting of the piano, violin and cello.

The same applies to a young boy or girl studying a wind instrument. In days gone by Boston had some splendid brass ensembles; also the wonderful Georges Longy Woodwind Ensemble. These latter concerts were events for a number of years, and were somewhat on a par with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, in which Longy was first oboe player.

the Boston Sympnony Orchestra, in which Longy was first oboe player.

In this way, listening to diversified sound, a young music student gets an idea of balance otherwise utterly unobtainable. Fine music is to the emotional life of human beings what summer sunshine is to the growth of a delicate flower, each is essential to the other and without them a full life is impossible.

essential to the other and without them a full life is impossible.

Often the greatest of conductors have no melodic gift, yet are masterful in snalyzing, dissecting and presenting the great works of the centuries. That Missud had that gift is shown in his more than 50 marches; his favorites are "Always Forward," "The Sixth Massachusetts," and "Our Bugler." Of the latter during the war, the government sent 800 copies to France. Two other tuneful compositions of his are the serenades "The Lover and the Mandolin" and the Porto Rican "Manana," Missud also published one of the most popular marches ever written. the most popular marches ever written.
