FIFTH AND LAST INSTALLMENT OF PRESIDENT'S

By JAMES C. PETRILLO

President of the American Federation of Musicians

WIIS is the fifth and last installment of the President's Report on the canned music fight and the Interlochen High School Orchestra matter.

The members of the American Federation of Musicians, through these reports, have learned the type of people with whom your officers had to do business. It has been proven without doubt that some employers will stoop to anything to destroy an organization or an individual. However, we have nothing to fear through eir tactics so long as we remain clean and upright.

With the help of God to guide us and to give us strength, we will continue to make progress and maintain our success. I am proud that I had the honor of serving as the President of the American Federation of Musioians during this most crucial fight, a fight during which, as I told you in one of my articles, we could not have survived the vicious attacks perpetrated upon us had we not been unified in spirit and honest in purpose. Not only did we survive, but ve came out victorious.

Right here I wish again to say what I said in my first article, that the officers of the American Federation of Musicians give full credit to membership for its magnificent and loyal support in this fight, and rightfully so; and to the artists who have lost many thousands of dollars because they were not permitted to make recordings, and did it without objection or protest. The memberthip of the American Federation of Musicians should be proud of their International Executive Board, as I am, who throughout this entire controversy stood together as one man wercizing the best of judgment and having at all times but one objective, the welfare and interests of the membership. Need I say more?

Also I wish to thank Joseph N. Weber, William J. Kerngood, and the assistants to your President, Harry Steeper, Ed Canavan, Rex Riccardi and Clair Meeder, for their grand support; as well as Attorneys Joseph Padway and Henry Friedman, who were on the job at all

I have tried to explain the entire controversy to the membership as best I could. I hope I have made myself clear and understandable. It took much time and patience to write and compile this report, with all my other duties. If there are any parts of the five installments I have writan that any member would like to up in any way, I will be very happy to do so at the member's request.

This fight has proved one thing above all else—the employers and their "stooges" can't harm our Federation as long as we are right, and the record proves we are right. The only people who can harm our Fedestion, or any similar organization, ere the members themselves. When a union becomes weak or deteriorates you will find that in most cases the members themselves are responsible. I have no fear that the members of

cians will ever be charged with any such offense. Also, it is well for us to remem ber that as long as an organization keeps making progress, it will be subjected to continuous attacks by the big interests; so you can look for more smearing of all kinds because we are going to continue mak-I cannot overemphaing progress. size that all of our recent attainments in this struggle have been achieved in time of war, which made the task doubly hard.

There are up to this date fiftynine recording and transcription companies signed with the American Federation of Musicians, which is practically everyone in the business with the exception of RCA-Victor and Columbia Recording companies. These companies are subsidiaries of the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System, respectively. These two companies did not sign the Decca contract with the Federation, which means one thing—that the contract is a good one for the Federation.

Other benefits have accrued to the Federation due to this canned music situation. While our contracts have nothing to do with the Hollywood studios where films are made, we found that they were making disc recordings of the orchestras simultaneously while playing for moving pictures, in other words, doing two jobs for one scale. These recordings would be put on a radio station in whatever city the picture in question was to be shown in order to advertise the picture; yet the musicians who made same did not receive one penny for the recordings. Of course, this was immediately stopped, and the musicians in Hollywood now will receive extra pay over and above their regular studio salary if and when a record such as I describe above is made. The wage to apply will be the regular recording The Hollywood studios followed the same policy in the publicizing of their songs. Our men would make recordings while doing their regular film work. These records would be delivered to music publishers throughout the country to publicize these songs, which was also done without extra compensation to the men. Of course, this was also stopped, and the recording scale is to apply over and above the moving picture scale il this practice continues.

In the past our members in most cases were not paid for repeat broadcasts. I will take for example the Jack Benny broadcast, which is played Sunday afternoon at 4:00 P. M. in Los Angeles for the Eastern audience due to the difference in While these musicians on the Jack Benny show were playing the original broadcast, a transcription was made off the air and this transcription of the entire broadcast was played three hours later from Los Angeles for the West Coast radio audience, without any extra compensation to the musicians who played the original broadcast. Since the signing of our contracts, the musicians now receive for the second show, even though they do not work, a transcription scale of $36.00 per man. In all such cases the musicians now receive compensation for the repeat broadcast whether they play same in the flesh or whether it is done by recording or transcription.

I now quote a letter received from the Secretary of War, the Honorable Henry L. Stimson:

QUOTE

WAR DEPARTMENT WASHINGTON

September 8, 1942.

Mr. James Petrillo, President American Federation of Musicians New York, New York Dear Mr. Petrillo:

Last week, representatives of the War Department conferred with your counsel, Mr. Henry Kaiser, in connection with the recent announcement that after August 1, members of the American Federation of Musicians would no longer render musical performances for broadcast by me-chanical reproduction.

It was our desire to explore the mat-ter to determine what effect the ban on the manufacture of records and electri-cal transcriptions would have upon the ability of radio stations in overseas bases under the American flag to continue

Reports from our field commanders indicate that these radio stations rely upon mechanical music to fill 75 per cent of their program requirements.

We desire further to know what effect this ban would have upon the operation of radio stations which are part of the interceptor air raid warning service, or in areas which may become critical thea-

Mr. Kaiser tells us that there exists a supply of records sufficient only to meet the requirements of the next three months.

In view of this, and in view of your statement that you would see that the armed services met their needs, we are communicating with you to inquire what definite arrangements have been or can now be made with the broadcasters to in-sure a continuous flow of recorded music to these stations after the present supply is exhausted.

I am also addressing a similar communication to Mr. Neville Miller, the president of the National Association of Broadcasters, as representative of the broadcasters, and the manufacturers of transcription and recording companies. The continuous daily operation of these stations in our island bases and in other theatres of war, abroad and at home, is extremely important to the Army which extremely important to the uninterplaces great reliance in their uninterpreted operation. As indicated, the continuance of these programs is important, not only for the maintenance of civilian and military merale but in many inand military merale but in many in-stances for reasons of military security as well, as the continuous operation of trust that steps will promptly be taken to insure the continuance of the service, and I would appreciate your ad-vice as to what steps will be taken.

Sincerely yours, HENRY L. STIMSON.

My reply to Secretary Stimson follows:

September 22, 1942.

Honorable Henry L. Stimson retary of War r Department Washington, D. C. Dear Mr. Secretary:

I acknowledge your letter dated September 8th but which was received at this office in today's mail.

The matter referred to in your letter has been the subject of discussion between representatives of the War Department and Mr. Henry Kaiser, associate of ment and Mr. Henry Kaiser, associate or Mr. Joe. A. Padway, counsel for the American Federation of Musicians in this mat-ter. However, certain references in the letter present new questions which require further information from your de-quire further information from your department, therefore I have asked Mr. Padway and Mr. Kaiser to call on you promptly and consult with you.

I assure you that it is my desire to fulfill the pledge of the American Federation of Musicians made at the last convention in Dallas to cooperate fully with the Armed Forces of the United Nations.

Respectfully yours, JAMES C. PETRILLO, President, American Federation of Musicians UNQUOTE

When Joseph Padway and his associate attorney made proper explanations to the War Department, that Department was very happy to know that the American Federation of Musicians would at no time interfere with the making of records for the armed forces of this country and our Allies.

NOTICE:

To All Licensed Agents of the American Federation of Musicians:

A year or so ago the American Federation of Musicians permitted the inclusion in the standard form management con-tract between agencies and band leaders, the following clause:

"Inasmuch as the commissions specified in the original agreement between us are less than the maximum commissions allowed by the American Federa-tion of Musicians, it is agreed that the difference between the commissions as set forth in the original agreement and such maximum commissions shall be applied toward the deductions for traveling expenses, Union taxes, etc., as provided by the Federation regulations; it being understood that in no event shall the net commissions exceed the rates set forth in the original agreement be tween us. For the above purpose all credits and deductions shall be computed at the end of each year during the term hereof. In all other respects the agreement between us shall continue in full force and effect."

At a recent meeting of the Executive Board in Chicago, the above ruling was reviewed and ordered rescinded.

I am, therefore, officially advising you that all contracts either on file with the Federation or new ones that you contemplate consummating with members of the Federation containing this clause will be deemed defective and/or void.

Many agencies took it upon themselves to include in their contracts with band leaders the following clause:

Reeds . . . Once tried. no other reed will do. . .

• Select DERU REEDS! They merit quality performances at all times. Sult-able individual strengths... from No. 1 Soft to No. 5 Hard... for sax and clarinet.

"It is further understood and agreed that in the event that you enter the Armed Forces of our country, either through voluntary enlistment or draft, making it impossible for you to accept engagements as contemplated, that our management agreement during such period of inactivity shall be suspended and a time equivalent to such period of inactivity shall be added to the termination date of the management agreement between us."

This particular clause never had Federation approval and is in contravention of Federation law.

Therefore, all contracts past, present or future, containing such clause will be deemed defective and/or void.

Trusting you will be governed accord-

Very truly yours,

JAMES C. PETRILLO, President, American Federation of Musicians.

WE like the way new compositions written here in America are keeping pace with the times. Daniele Amfiteatrof's "De profundis clamavi", an expression of "the fundamental emotions of the present generation living under the tragic conditions of a world upheaval", Collins' and Heming's "Threnody for a Soldier Killed in Action", the outpouring of grief welling in millions of hearts, Bernard Herrmann's "For the Fallen", "a lullaby for those who sleep on the battlefields in humanity's present struggle", these are but a few examples of great works articulating our times. Their production is both logical and promising, proof that American com-

Worth Clark of Idaho to hold hearings beginning September 14 upon a resolution asking for an investigation of Mr. Petrillo. Other members of that committee are Senators Lester Hill of Alabama, Charles O. Andrews of Florida, Chan Gurney of South Dakota and Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire.

It is of the utmost importance that those of you who are club presidents immediately communicate with your senators by letter and telegram stating the Federation's viewpoint with relation to the Petrillo matter, asking them to take whatever action is necessary to insure immediate revocation of the recording ban, and that you urge all your club members to do the same. Those who are not club presidents are asked to do this as individuals. It is especially important that large numbers of the constituents of all senators get in touch with them, because the resolution to investigate Petrillo will come before the Senate within the next week or ten days. We have approximately 450,000 citizen-voters on the roster of the Federation, and each one of them should make his or her influence felt.

Our campaign will, I believe, be much more effective if we base our protest upon two grounds: one, the harmful effect upon military morale if our soldiers, sailors and marines are deprived of what is in some instances their only source of musical entertainment: and two, the threat to American musical culture inherent in the discontinuance of classical recordings, which will (a) bar small radio stations which cannot support their own orchestras from the performance of any symphonic music; (b) deprive not only many of the present generation of music lovers, but posterity as well, from hearing the greatest artists of our times; and (c) deprive the music departments of elementary and secondary schools, colleges and conservatories of valuable educational material.

Incidentally immediate commendation of local stations giving classical concerts is urged, to be followed by public protest if they are obliged ultimately to abandon these concerts because of dearth of recordings.

The course of action recommended to music clubs and members embraces not only immediate communication with your own Congressional delegation but also with Scnator Clark's committee. This is the eve of election, and voting strength counts. Therefore this is the strategic moment to acquaint candidates for reelection with the Federation's views on this important matter.

It is also imperative that you contact the members of the local Musicians' Union affiliated with Mr. Petrillo's union. Report to them the action taken at Providence. Make clear that you sympathize with Mr. Petrillo's desire to insure employment for unemployed musicians, but that you do not believe this is the way to go about it, and that you think the recording ban is likely to be a boomerang which reacts against union musicians in their own communities. Try to impress this upon them so strongly that they will communicate this point to Mr. Petrillo.

Although the resolution condemning the recording ban was presented to the Board upon recommendation of the Executive Committee, the action was prompted by the flood of protests from members which reached my office in advance of the Providence meeting. Never since I have been connected with the Federation have I seen our whole membership so deeply stirred upon an issue. It is therefore in manifest response to your wishes that I urge you to make this protest effective in the indicated ways.

Of all the organizations affected by the Petrillo ban, we alone have no selfish interest to serve; we alone represent the public per se, and we have sufficient numerical strength to make our will effective. Let us not miss our great chance.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) ANNE M. GANNETT.

BOOKS OF THE DAY

By HOPE STODDARD

The Stream of Music, by Richard Anthony Leonard. Biographies of Bach, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, Berlios, Chopin, Schumann, Wagner, Verdi, Brahms, Mussorgsky, Tchalkovsky, Debussy, Strauss, Stravinsky and Sibelius. 454 pages. Doubleday, Doran and Company, Inc. $4.50.

"Realistic" is the word for this volume, if by "realistic" is meant equal emphasis on frailties and strengths, on virtues and vices and the unswerving purpose to present the whole man, in elation and depression. in development and disintegration. It is an approach which deserves popularity because it does give one a sense of actuality—not that achieved when the spade so candidly called a spade is used to throw dirt in one's face, but that come at when the spade in question is used to dig down to the very roots of genius. At the end of each biography, the composer looms greater for transcending whatever weakness he has been shown to possess. As a case in point, in the biography of Mussorgsky, the man's drunkenness and his erraticism are used to outline his ruggedness in all its gloomy grandeur. A just appraisal of the compositions of each is given and, what is rarer, an entirely judicious and intuitive parallel between output and individuality.

Tchaikovsky. by Herbert Weinstock. 386 pages. Alfred A. Knopf. $5.00.

Tchaikovsky died in 1893. It has taken exactly fifty years for posterity to bring him to life again. Nor can this be attributed to mankind's reluctance to ascribe human frailties to the Godhead. It lies in this case in simple lack of adequate biographies. The public has had no chance of coming by information without which forming any adequate picture of this great and tragic figure has been impossible. We therefore are indebted to Herbert Weinstock who has not only conducted a tireless research through the composer's supendous correspondence

(the letters between the composer and Nadezhda Filaretovna von Meck alone comprise three huge volumes) but has also put to service his very real skill in psychoanalysis. For here, undoubtedly, one needs all that modern psychology has to offer in order to sketch a fair and temperate picture of this grievously beset soul. As every psychic conflict develops—that concerned with his mother's death, that of his disastrous marriage, that of his "love" for Madame von Meck—the author stands by to render just the interpretation which modern science warrants but which the man himself, his friends, his public and posterity have heretofore failed to give. If the atmosphere of the laboratory is sometimes a bit pervasive still we must give the author credit for allowing Tchalkovsky to emerge in the end both a noble and a very human figure.

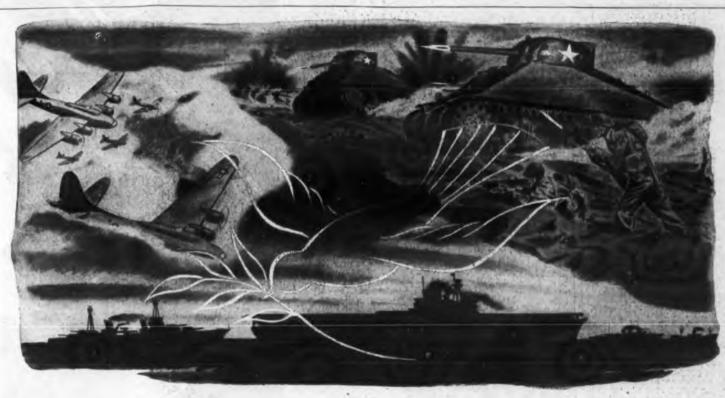

Music On My Beat, an Intimate Volume of Shop Talk, by Howard Taubman. 267 pages. $2.50. Simon and Schuster.

One is apt to think of music clothed in its Sunday best: the music scored, the instrument in tune, the concert in progress. But the Muse has her curl-paper intervals, too, and it remains for the present author to show just how charming she can be also at these times. Racily he achieves this end: with a shoeless Landowska here, a bubble-blowing Swarthout there; with a note on base players' gasless diet, a word on Szigeti's snift. Then, too, he presents as intriguing a collection of freaks as ever were assembled in the Eden Musee's palmiest days, among them the screwball nightingale, the apoplectic subscriber, the inflated prodigy.

Not that he lets the whimsical cavalcade obscure the real and the earnest.
This he deals in, too, with a most effective touch. His chapters on rehearsals, on the recording dispute, on agents and managers and on children's concerts give first-rate information and do it with rare comprehension of all the aspects involved.
One passage especially deserves a bit of pondering. "No radio station, however small, would dare to take the contents of a daily newspaper and read it piecemeal over the air. The newspaper owners would be up in arms, for the courts have upheld ownership in the news. I submit that the musicians who make records have scase that should appeal with special force to believers in private-property rights."

A fine, knowing book, in short, which dares to tread palaces as well as scramble over back-lot fences.

CHICAGO MUSICAL ARTS CLUB INCORPORATED

September 22, 1942.

Mrs. Guy P. Gannett, President National Federation of Music Clubs Press Herald Building Portland, Maine

My dear Mrs. Gannett:

I have the letter issued by the National Federation of Music Clubs together with copy of the Resolution adopted condemn-ing the recent ban placed on recordings

by Mr. Petrillo.

Pending a meeting of our Executive Board, I am writing to say that I personally dissent from the position taken by the National Federation of Music

Clubs.
In my opinion the time has come when In my opinion the time has come when this country must consider what it will do about its musicians. Either (1) they must be supported by private patrons or Government subsidy; or (2) they must be enabled to be self-sustaining and independent financially.

In foreign countries and in times past, musicians subsided on the natronage of musicians subsisted on the patronage of wealthy people. In this country very little of the wealth reached the stage of culture which protected art; certainly the days of outright gifts such as were made to a few concert artists of a generation ago have gone forever and today 1.3 I see the redistribution of wealth through our tax systems (which I grant are necessary) I see no hope of any such patronsary) I see no hope of any such patronage for musicians, nor any endowment plans which will support and open up opportunities for musicians.

Isn't the work of the National Federation of Music Clubs an adequate and discouraging example—claiming 450,000 so-called patrona of music yet from these resources able to offer scholarships which are only a paltry drop in the bucket compared to what a music education costs?

Since there are no private patrons who

Since there are no private patrons who can or will support music to any tangible extent, let us turn to our Government and see what it can or is doing.

There are no national orchestras, no national opera houses, no national sub-sidy for composers, nor any national assistance for students or performing musi-cians whatsoever that I know of. What is left then except that musicians may hope to become self-supporting by charging for their services in the same manner that any other competent professional service is compensated?

At present, musicians are considered

At present, musicians are considered about the poorest credit risk of any profession in the country. This individual disgrace is felt by them very keenly but no one knows better than I that they do not pay their bills because they do not want to, they do not pay them because they cannot.

Music by its very nature absorbs the Music by its very nature absorbs the sensibilities of any musician talented enough to be termed an artist; it requires full time attention in study and practice so that no energies remain for routine work which might bring in a livelihood.

I have on innumerable occasions fed musicians whom I knew were hungry and too proud to do more than tremble in my presence; I have known of physical and nervous breakdowns due to malnutrition and the disillusion that came when after great sacrifice and expenditure of money the part of parents and others, a mu-cian reached a stage of development sician ready for public performance only to find that most of that performance must be gratis.

No, it is my honest opinion that musicians wast be paid. If the great gift they give mankind, the world in general, our soldiers and armed forces, is worth so much—as I know it is for I cannot live without music myself—then some means must be found to pay them so they may live in the dignity afforded by a demonstrate. live in the dignity afforded by a demo-cratic government

It is interesting in these times of war o remember that England has subsidized its musicians.

Among the details I think the Senate Committee should consider are:

- The amount of profit in a recording.
- The percentage paid to performing
- The percentage paid to the composer. The salaries of officers of broadcasting and recording companies.

If these percentages are in the propor-on Mr. Petrillo believes them to be. wouldn't it be better to pay our symphonic orchestras, for instance, more for the use of their recordings and help them get off the list of organizations which year after year must beg for funds? Why should most of the profit of a recording go to a company manufacturing or distributing the records? Or to a broadcasting sta-

I feel that every musician and every music lover should be wholeheartedly in support of his effort. True, music is necessary to the people; so are food and woolen cloth-ing but no one even suggests that these necessities should be supplied free of Charge.
Our Government is now investigating the matter. I only hope that they will find the solution of a problem which is gnawing at the very root of music-the subsistence of our living musicians. With my personal regards, I am

Grand Opera HEADLINES

The Metropolitan Opera Company began its fifty-eighth presentation of Wagner's unabridged Ring Cycle with "Das Rheingold" on February 8th. "Die Walküre" was presented February 15th, "Siegfried" February 22nd and "Götterdämmerung" February 29th. George Szell, conducting this cycle for the first time at the Metropolitan, gave new life to the scores musically and dramatically. Because of an unprecedented demand for tickets, "The Ring" will be presented again, the last four Saturday evenings of the season beginning March 18th. George Szell will again conduct.

Patrice Munsel in the role of Gilda, and Francesco Valentino in the title role made the February 17th performance of "Rigoletto" something worth remembering. Miss Munsel's acting of the part was excellent throughout and, if her voice in coloratura passages showed signs of immaturity, this is a fault which time and the young lady's evident musicianship and determination will cure. Mr.

the young lady's evident musicianship and determination will cure. Mr. Valentino gave his part the pathos it requires. Bruna Castagna's portrayal of Maddalena was a joy to hear and see. Cesare Sodero conducted.

The first performance of "Parsifal" was given on March 8th for the benefit of the Metropolitan Opera Fund.

Mayor La Guardia's contention that New Yorkers are hungry for opera at cheap prices has been borne out by the goodly audiences come to City Center to hear "Tosca" on February 21st (Dusolini Glannini in the title role and Laszlo Halasz conducting), "Martha" on February 22nd (Ethel Barrymore Co!t displaying a sweet and accurately placed soprano), and "Carmen" on February 24th (Jennie Tourel in the title role and Mary Martha Briney making her debut as Micaela).

What is probably the first New York performance of S metana's opera, "Dalibor", was sung in concert form in English at Town Hall. New York, February 26th, the receipts going partly to United Czechoslovak relief. Dalibor is a semi-legendary hero representative of the "invincible Czech national soul".

Bizet's "Carmen" was presented February 18th at the War Memorial Opera House. Trenton, New Jersey, with Marjory Hess in the title role, Armand Tokatyan as Don José and Igor Gorin as Escamillo. Michael Kuttner conducted.

The Hudson Grand Opera Association presented Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" on February 16th in Union City, New Jersey, with Salvatore Baccaloni in the title role. The performance marked the first appearance of Mr. Baccaloni and his ensemble on a ten-week nation-wide tour.

A gala concert to help the 11,000 Danish refurees in Sweden, who have found safety there from the Nazi Gestapo, was held at the Metropolitan Opera House February 17th, under the sponsorship of Scandinavian and American officials and dignitaries. The concert was arranged by a committee headed by Lauritz Melchior. The Metropolitan Opera Company orchestra was in the pit.

Goldentone Mouthpiece

Since it was introduced last fall, it is reported that thousands of saxophone and clarinet players have purchased Selmer's Goldentone mouthpiece combinations.

Your inquiring reporter learned that since changing to the Goldentone combination, many players who formerly used only cane reeds now use "plastics" and like them. These players found this right combination of mouthpiece, ligature and plastic reed gives them top performance out of a plastic reed.

The Goldentone mouthpiece combination consists of a special plastic mouthpiece, a Goldentone plastic reed, and a Magni-tone ligature, all in a tailored-tomatch working team. The mouthplece is in ivory white to match the reed. Goldentone matched combinations are available at leading music stores everywhere.

News From the Big Three

Of course it's not news to say "Mairzy Doats" has developed into a landslide, the Miller Music Corporation in less than a month having given out orders for the printing of more than 500,000 copies. Or, to put it "mairzishly": "Mairzy Doats has may do wreck or din them you sicks fear." The question everyone is asking Milton Drake, Al Hoffman and Jerry Livingston is "How did you write it?" and here is the answer they give:

KIDEECH ANTS ONG FAR THE RITE SIT MILYINK OPPEES OLD

The story is that Neila Drake, fouryear-old daughter of Milton Drake, came home one day chanting a nursery jingle that went something like "cowsy tweet and sowzy tweet and liddle sharksy doister". Drake recalled a similar nursery rhyme with such double talk which he had learned as a kid. That started the wheels going, and with the assistance of Al Hoffman and Jerry Livingston, resulted in the record-selling song.

BOSTON SYMPHONY JOINS THE FEDERATION

December 18, 1942.

To the Members of the International Executive Board

Dear Sir and Brother:

No doubt by now you have heard or read about the Boston Symphony Orchestra, comprising 111 musicians. being unionized 100 per cent. This includes Dr. Koussevitzky, the conductor, and the assistant conductors, all of whom became members of Local No. 9, Boston.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra man-

The Boston Symphony Orchestra management insisted upon one change in the Federation law so that they would not be required to obtain permission from the Boston local in order to import a symphony player from some other jurisdiction for the Boston Symphony Orchestra. This proposition, of course, was a matter which solely concerned the Boston local and I submitted that question to George Gibbs, the President of the Boston local, who attended some of the meetings with me, and he immediately agreed to permit the orchestra to import any symphony players from any place in the country to Boston without the permission of the Boston local, always keeping in mind the requirement that such importations would be only from within the ranks of the American Federation of Musicians.

The Boston Symphony Management wanted this change in the law because they felt that if they engaged a fine con-

The Boston Symphony Management wanted this change in the law because they felt that if they engaged a fine conductor in order to keep up the high standard of the orchestra, it would be up to that conductor to employ desirable men from any jurisdiction where they could be found.

The orchestra was represented by five of its own members, who argued that if the symphony management could import musicians, the law should work both ways so that if an orchestra member lost his job in the Boston orchestra, he should then be permitted to go to another jurisdiction to accept a symphony job without permission of the local board in whose jurisdiction the new job would be located. Of course you can understand the soundness of that argument because the law should work both ways. However, before any change in the law was made, I invited to my office on September 29, 1942, representatives of the locals concerned in the proposalities as follows:

Presidents

Ferents. Detroit
Repp, Cleveland
Hunt, Baltimore
Wallace. Los Angeles
Gibbs, Boston
Schwars, Washington
Meyers, St. Louis
Meeder, Pittsburgh
Rosenberg, New York
Campbell, Rochester
Hild, Cincinnati
Murdoch, Toronto
Caldwell, Buffalo

Secretaries

Riccardi, Philadelphia Love, San Francisco Ballard, Minneapolis

I did this because these locals were directly affected by this question, and they unanimously concurred in the President's idea that the requested change be made.

without the Boston Symphony Even Orchestra being in this picture, this new law is sound and necessary and I am for law is sound and necessary and I am for it 100 per cent because the symphony men are the only ones discriminated against and, as you know, they are the only men who are not, in most cases, in competition with anybody. For instance, a man in the New York Philharmonic Orchestra who has played in that orchestra for thirty ware and naid due; in the tra for thirty years and paid dues in the Federation that entire time, cannot play in the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra because the Los Angeles local says it has a man there who can ill the engagement. However, a man can join the Los Angeles local as a new member and immediately thereafter can accept the symphony engagement without any restrictions, paying only his first quarter's dues, while the man who has paid dues for thirty years and is fully qualified as a capable musician, cannot accept the engagement, believe this to be very unfair. As matter of fact, in nine out of ten cases where the local says no musicians can enter from other jurisdictions for symphony positions, permission eventually is granted. In most cases, it is simply a question of a local board trying to save its face with the local musicians, knowing in their own hearts that in most cases they are trying to wish on the symphony orchestra an inferior player. This change in the law will take the heat off the local board and place same on our national organization.
Unionizing the Boston Symphony Or-

Unionizing the Boston Symphony Orchestra, in my opinion, came at a most opportune time and I know that is likewise your opinion. It gave us some very fine newspaper publicity.

The Senate Committee which proposes

The Senate Committee which proposes to investigate the American Federation of Musicians will meet on January 12th next. I assume that questions asked of the American Federation of Musicians will be why the Boston Symphony was stopped from going over the air, from making recordings, from stopping solo artists and conductors from playing with them and for stopping their road tour. With the orchestra unionized, these questions are eliminated.

Mr. Cabot, the Treasurer and one of the

Mr. Cabot, the Treasurer and one of the Trustees of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, about three months ago said that the orchestra was offered a contract to make recordings and that if they joined the union, they would follow the same policy on this subject as did the rest of the or-

CHICAGO, Site of 1944 Convention

On Monday, June 5, 1944, the Forty-eighth Convention of the American Fed-eration of Musicians will meet, as it did in 1918 and 1933, in Chicago. In extendin 1918 and 1933, in Chicago. In extending its heartiest fraternal greetings to all other locals of the Federation, Locals 10 and 208 of Chicago are confident that every delegate will find in that city not only the facilities for a fruitful convention, but the opportunity as well to enjoy a week of entertainment unparalleled in Convention annels.

a week of entertainment unparalleled in Convention annals.
One of the world's greatest cities, Chicago is remarkable for the extent to which its development of beauty and culture has kept pace with the progress of its commerce and trade. Today, it is as famed for its beautiful parks and boulevard systems, its great shore development, its fine museums and its entertainment arenas as for its important position in the world of business and industry. Over arenas as for its important position in the world of business and industry. Over thirty miles of beautifully planned parks, playgrounds, boulevards, golf courses and bathing beaches stretch out in an unbroken line along the wind-bathed shore of Lake Michigan. Climatically, too, Chicago is fortunate. The records of the Federation Weather Bureau show that the mean average summer temperature in this city is lower than that of any other large metropolis, and that the days in large metropolis, and that the days in June are especially pleasant. As a rule this month can boast skies clear of clouds and air cooled by lake-borne breezes, qualities made to order for the sight-seer. It is, moreover, no point to be over-looked in these days of restricted travel, that Chicago for the greatest percentage of Americans is the one great city which can be reached with the least average mileage. This city, in other words, is descend to see the miners at their daily work. Ancient civilizations—those, for instance, of Babylon, Thebes, and Nineveh—are recalled in the displays at the Oriental Institute at the University of Chicago Finally, there is the Shedd Aquarium where 10,000 fish ripple behind glassy walls.

Orchestras and Bands

An eighth wonder, but one which Federation members will probably not find available in June, is the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, which, during the season, gives concerts in Orchestra Hall weekly on Tuesday and Friday afternoons and Thursday evenings. One of the oldest ensembles in the country (it was founded by Theodore Thomas in 1891), it is at present conducted by Désiré Defauw who is proving himself worthy to carry on the tradition of the founder and of the late Frederick A. Stock, the orchestra's conductor for thirty-six years. In Grant Park every summer are given

In Grant Park every summer are given a series of out-of-door concerts sponsored by the Park Board in cooperation with Local 10. Countless thousands thus listen to and enjoy the best in symphonic and band music. Inaugurated by Local 10 in an effort to give Chicago musicians work during the slack summer months, these outdoor concerts through the enjoyment they provide citizens of that metropolis, have proved their right to continue. Each of the bands and orchestras employed has distinctive characteristics, yet each is excellent in interpreting the works of symphonic proportions, as well as lighter ones, which find a place on the programs. Leading artists of concert and opera ap-within a single night's ride for 60,000,000 Americans. More people can hoard a train and travel to Chicago without change of cars than to any other city on the continent. Moreover, for local transit Chicago offers the most comprehensive street car network known to man, with a well-equipped line every three blocks, an elevated railway system with sixteen routes extending 231 miles, one of the finest subway systems in the world, a motor coach system with twenty-seven branch lines, and two thoroughly established lished taxicab companies

Seven Wonders

The "Seven Wonders of Chicago" need The "Seven Wonders of Chicago" need little commentary. They speak so eloquently for themselves. The Adler Planetarium, located on the Lake Front, has brought the study of the heavens within the scope of every amateur star-gazer. There, on the dome-like ceiling of an inner room, glitters the whole celestial orbit, not in a single phase, but in transition, a whole day's heavenly changes occurring, "quickie" fashion, in the course of a few minutes. of a few minutes.
The Brookfield Zoo, in which the animals actually roam mountains, guilles and forests, with deep ditches taking the place of cages and bars, is in its way quite as marvellous. In the Chicago his-torical museum the visitor may look upon dropped by Columbus when he discovered America, the death bed of Abraham Lincoln, and relics of the Spanish Explorers. The Field Museum of Natural History traces in material remains man back to his origin. The objects include rare exhibits found in the tomb of King Tut, and tools used by various races of men. the Neanderthaler, the Oriental. the Eskimo, the Indian and the Bush-man.

At the Museum of Science and Industry are preserved the technical exhibits of the World Fairs of 1893 and 1933-34, unique among them a real coal mine in actual operation, which a person can pear as guest artists on almost every program.

Then there are, of course, the Loop Then there are, of course, the Loop theatres, the restaurants (Chicago has more than 4,100 of them, French, Italian, Spanish, Russian, Chinese, Greek, Kosher), and the shops. Landmarks which the visitor must not miss are the Soldiers' Field, the Merchandise Mart, and, crossing Chicago's famed Link Bridge, the Wrigley Twin Buildings.

Chicago's Friendly Hotel

The hospitality for which Chicago is so noted finds its heart in The Stevens, "Chicago's friendly hotel", which will stand host to members of the A. F. of M. during Convention Week. It is the object of each employee here to serve the guest in every possible way and in a friendly, hospitable spirit. The food at the hotel's numerous restaurants is delicious, the prices moderate. At the information desk well-trained assistants answer questions about shops, theatres, sight-seeing and all other forms of entertainment. The meetings of the Convention will be held in the spacious Grand Ballroom of the building itself with a seating capacity of 3,000. The hospitality for which Chicago is so itself with a seating capacity of 3,000. Here the delegates may meet and keep alert for hours, refreshed by a constant circulation of clean, cool, dry air. No drafts! No damp cellar-coolness! The air is as invigorating as the br air is as invigorating as the preezes usually blowing across the lake at the hotel's door. At night, up in one of the Stevens' 3,000 rooms—it is the largest hotel in the world—one may throw open the window to the breeze and wake to the panorama of Grant Park and the blueness of Nature's own air conditioning own air conditioning system, Lake Michigan.

Thus the opportunity is afforded—an opportunity little short of miraculous in these war-torn days-not only to carry to what will doubtless be the evement-crammed convention achievement-crammed yet held, but also to study, at first hand, "city of conventions".

Freedom of speech is ever the symptom as well as the effect of good government.

-BENTAMIN FRANKLIN.

Praise Where Praise Is Due

N World War II, as in any conflict, the warrior, in his hazardous, adventurous role, receives the public's highest acclaim. Songs are written in his praise, parades are held in his honor, money is collected for his entertainment, statues are erected in his memory. This is as it should be, since his is the loneliness, his the uprooting, his the extreme hazard. We would not by the slightest breath diminish that flame of gratitude.

Still, one must concede the sober truth that wars are won not by the fighter alone. That other "indispensable", the worker, passing on to the fighter's otherwise futile fingers the gun, the gas mask, the hand grenade, must receive some part of the praise accorded those who make possible the final victory. Yet, not only do the worker's fellow citizens expect him to face without encouragement the difficulties of his calling, but, worse still, they have for his achievements-extraordinary even by the most conservative estimates—only thin-lipped criticism and the censorious eye. High governmental officials must take much of the blame for this attitude. Secretary Stimpson, in a recent radio address from Washington, had a great deal to say about 135,000 man-days lost in a week, but forgot to mention that in that same week 200,000,000 man-days were worked.

It is a sad commentary on the unscrupulousness of the press, moreover, that it is actually trying to foment hatred between soldiers and war workers. This is brought out clearly in an editorial recently published in a United States paper in Hawaii, The Midpacifican: "Note must be taken", the editorial reads, "of the way certain periodicals reaching soldiers have begun a campaign against labor. This is not new. As in the present case, such drives are based on half-truth, omissions and a paternalistic 'this hurts me more than it does you' attitude. Soldiers are generally concerned about this unfair carping. Most of them are working men. It is estimated that nearly a million are trade union members. . . . The soldier asks that both sides be given an even break.

Why this carping attitude toward the worker by those who fully recognize the psychological fact that, if anyone is given appreciation, he will do his job better; that, if he is unjustly criticized, he will grow sour and inept. Why not the encouraging approach? Why not a little praise? Thy not even a bit of understanding? It is high time folk became aware of the hardshipsdangers, even-with which the worker must daily contend. The fact that industrial casualties between Pearl Harbor and January 1st of the present year aggregated 37,600 killed, 210,000 permanently disabled, and 4500,000 temporarily disabled—sixty times more than the military wounded or missing in action overse reason enough to give the serious thinker pause.

Encountering such hazards the war worker, of course, considers but a part of his duty, something to be taken in his stride. What embitters him are the unnecessary obstacles that are put in his path. Administrative conditions, systems wherein are allowed profiteering and mismanagement such as should be indefensible even in peace times, form the chief of his complaints. Management is handled by the government with kid gloves; abuses are winked at; anything goes, so long as the output remains constant. In order to line already welllined pockets, management grants the worker daily less and less consideration, subjects him to more and more coercion. Under such circumstances clashes between worker and management are inevitable. The public can eliminate these only by seeing that the resources of management and labor are pooled, through the services of government-industry facilities. The resultant constructive attitude will put a different face on the whole matter, will end both physical and psychological factors causing accidents, strikes, slow-downs-all last resources of the eager but bewildered worker-will, finally, "up" production to unheard of heights following on the worker's realization that his efforts are at last being appreciated.

Labor Backs the Attack

PHOMAS A. MURRAY, president of the New York State Federation of Labor, made a statement con-cerning the Fourth Bond Drive which we feel each member of the A. F. of M. would like to hear. He stated: "I note with pleasure, though not with surprise, that all reports show that the American Federation of Labor unions are responding more wholeheartedly than ever to the Fourth War Loan.

"The trade union movement is demonstrating once again that it realizes fully that everything it has fought for and achieved over so many years is at stake in this war. We consider it not a sacrifice but a privilege to be able to contribute to the financing of the fight to preserve democracy and the very basic standards of human decency.

"Labor's dollars as well as its blood and toil will be in there backing the attack.'

We are proud to say that the American Federation of Musicians has done its share in the Fourth War Loan Drive in the United States and the Fifth Victory Drive in Canada by investing a million dollars, $800,000 in the United States and $200,000 in Canada.

Soldiers Roll Their Own

THE million and more soldiers coming home from overseas after the war may not be able to hum the Fifth Symphony nor yet give the dates of Tchaikovsky's birth and death, but they will have discovered none the less one important truth, namely that playing tunes bucks up the spirit, that singing them makes life rosier, that joining in the chorus gives a feeling of camaraderie that no other medium offers. Not that any one of them, after a day's tramping through mud and slush, has lifted his Stradivarius from velvet casings and fingered through a Mendelssohn Concerto. G. I. music doesn't come that way. Our Bob Joneses and Cy Bensons and Jimmy Thorntons merely have ocarinas and tonettes tossed their way by a chorus leader and in the next ten minutes have learned to carry, however haphazardly, some sort of tune. And they have liked the experience so much that they have never been very far from their instruments after that.

Understand, these men, most of them, have never laid hands on a musical instrument previously in their lives. In teaching them to sound out a melody the simplest method is used. The holes on the tonette are numbered. Those numbers are written in a certain arrangement on a blackboard, an arrangement which, when followed, produces a simple tune. Instruction booklets give other sequences. All that the player need do is to cover corresponding numbers on his instrument.

It's a game—and it's loads of fun.

According to Captain George S. Howard, A.U.S. this is the very best way to keep men interested and happy. He cites one occasion when, on a three-month tour of North Atlantic bases, he encountered a bored group of about 100 G.I.'s. "Working on the supposition that, if you can get a group to sing for 30 seconds they will sing for 30 minutes", he tells us, "I called for 12 volunteers from the audience, none of whom was musically trained. I gave each a tonette. In about five minutes they were playing in unison. Soon the audience joined in the singing and sang for nearly 30 minutes. When it was time for the showing of the film that they had come to see, they stamped and howled until the picture was taken off. Then we continued singing."

Far-Flung Comfort

THE American Red Cross goes to every service man wherever he may be on duty. Its long arm of mercy embraces the globe. With it go the affection, sympathy and help of the American people to all those in the Army and Navy who are bearing for us the real burdens of this war. Thousands of Red Cross workers, men and women, are now serving our armed forces at home and abroad. They are not trained to fight and kill, yet they live the lives of our soldiers. Theirs is a mission of mercy to help maintain morale in the armed forces.

A chance to talk it out with someone when worried; a cigarette lighted by a friendly hand when one is lying wounded in an evacuation hospital; a Red Cross kit-bag when all of one's personal possessions have been lost on the battlefield; a hor cup of coffee and doughnuts in the cold gray morning when one has returned from a nervewracking bombing mission. Little things? Yes, but how important to the fighting men! The Red Cross performs these services and many more in overseas clubs, on the battlefields and in the military and naval hospitals. Help by your contribution to bring the home touch to your soldier overseas!

NEWS from the HOME FRONT

Corporal Abe Kosakowsky writes from Hawaii, "This letter is to let you know the gratitude I feel for Fritz Hart and Konrad Liebknecht, two musicians who are keeping music alive in Hawaii. Fritz Hart is the conductor of the Honolulu Symphony Orchestra. while Konrad Liebknecht is concertmaster as well as head of his own chamber-music organization. The caliber of the music excellent elebents the procedure in music in excellent elebents. music is excellent, although the orchestra is make-shift and must be reorganized each year, since a majority of its personnel consists of service men."

News from the Italian sphere indicates that most News from the Italian sphere indicates that most G.I.'s in Naples and elsewhere will return home with the satisfaction of having heard opera on its home ground. In Naples, last November, more than 2,000 American troops attended "La Boheme", the opera chesen by a majority vote in the area. "Madame Butterfly" and "Rigoletto" are other favorites. The difficulty of getting sufficient singers was overcome by a magning of the remaining members of the La Scale and merging of the remaining members of the La Scala and San Carlo opera casts.

Nor is music lacking for those still in America. Nor is music lacking for those still in America. The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Reginald Stewart, gave a concert for over 3.000 officers and men at the Bainbridge Naval Training Station last month. Other orchestras have been as generous in contributing their time and talent. Musicians' talents have provided comfort and pleasure to Service Men in still other ways. Private First Class Leonard Pennario played the Tchaikovsky Concerto No. 1 with the San Francisco Symphony on February 19th, in order to help raise funds to provide libraries of records for servicemen overseas. Ezio Pinza, Metropolitan Opera basso, turned over his two Dalmatians, Boris and Figaro, for training with the Army's K-9 Corps at Fort Robinson, Nebraska, at the same time presenting an album of his operatic recordings. He explained that the dogs were used to hearing him sing around the house, so "if they used to hearing him sing around the house, so "if they get lonesome play one of these records for them".

Profits of nearly $7,000,000 have gone to the Army Emergency Relief and $322,100 to British charities from the performances of "This is the Army". Composer Irving Berlin, who will appear at the Algicrs opening, played in every performance abroad except once when he went to a Bristol hospital to bring to the performance Captain Henry Dick a Broadway dencer, who had ance Captain Henry Dick, a Broadway dancer, who had lost his leg in a plane crash.
It is now Captain Frank L. Drye. The promotion

LIEUTENANT COLONEL HOWARD C. BRONSON

In June, 1941, the War Department orders brought him from Camp Forrest, Tennessee, to Washington, D. C., as Music Officer, Morale Branch, a newly-created position intended to serve the musical needs of our rapidly expanding Army. Then he became the Officer-in-Charge of the Music Section, Athletic and Recreation Branch, of the present Special Service Division. He was promoted to the rank of Major early in 1942, and to that of Lieutenant Colonel in October, 1948.

When we read the story of the recent symphony concert at Kingston, New York, we had the feeling that ton, New Jork, we had the feeling that here was an exhibition of community enterprise worthy of exploitation. We accordingly took our pen in hand. The article disappeared. It was intended for use a couple of months ago. Cole, with the enthusiastic backing of Local 215 membership, spared neither time nor effort. The concert was played in the Municipal Auditorium. Local 802, New York, gave its hearty cooperation to the enterprise. Citizens entertained the orchestra members at evening dinner. Dr. Artur Rodzinski did great work as conductor. Beethoven's Overture to Leonore from "Fidelio"; Tchaikovsky's classic "Symphony No 4 in F Minor"; the "Anxious Bugler", by Carpenter, and Gershwin's "An American in Paris" was the musical menu provided for the 3,000 people who crowded the concert hall Kingston's capacity for meeting a noishle cultural event has set a challenging pace for other cities of the nation—both small and large. Let us hope that the entire series will prove the master-stroke in raising the curtain on a new dawn in American musical appreciation.

Jim Byrne, president of Local 69, Pueblo, Colorado, and delegate to many conventions of the A. F. of M., is quite ill and confined in the Corwin Hospital of the A of that city. He would like very much to hear from his friends. We are sure it needs only this suggestion to start messages of encouragement coming from our members all over the country.

Alice Nadine Morrison, 720 Queen Anne Avenue, member of Local 76, Seattle, Washington, has a little garden in which she occasionally plants a seed. She aids Nature in the cultivation thereof and in due time there blossoms a flower. The garden might be called, "The Garden of Poesy". She sends us a sample which she names "A Pensive Mood". Here it is:

Ah, let me play my song of life, In happy melodies; Let not my fingers find their way To sadder minor keys.

For I am turned to happy things— To laughter, music gay; How did I get so out of tune. That jangling sounds dismay!

Let not the "jangling sounds" disturb your muse, Alice Nadine. Silver chimes sometimes reverberating seem out of tune. Occasionally, close by the fairest flower an ugly weed will raise its head. Keep mind and heart in harmony with the finest ideal; and from time to time the blossoms of neetly melody, pure and the blossoms of poetic melody pure and undefiled will grow.

ricious appetite before the quadrennial campaign is ended. From Chief Executive to Municipal Dog Catcher the contest will be fierce.

Perhaps when Hamlet, the melancholy Dane, in mood for soliloquy, used the expression, "sickled o'er with the pale cast of thought", he was struggling with his income tax return.

Local 2, St Louis, is mourning the loss of member Guy M. Daily, who passed away on January 5, 1944. He was president of the local four years, from 1926 through 1929, and was national convention delegate in each of those years. He was a popular member of the organization and his capabilities were widely recognized.

We are conscious of a sense of personal loss in the death of A. W. Luyben of Local 34, Kaneas City, announced in the INTERNATIONAL MUSICIAN a month ago. He was delegate to many national conventions; was a local officer for many years; and had a prominent place in the many notable musical organizations of that city. Fred E. Kretschmar, who was a member of Local 18, Duluth, since its formation on September 30, 1898, passed away on January 29, 1944, at the age of seventy-eight. One of the most widely-known musicians in Duluth, he played (clarinet) in theatre, ensembles, and symphony orchestras and with the 3rd Regiment and 125th Field Artillery bands during his fifty-four years' residence in that city and had besides held various offices in the local. Surviving him are his widow, and his daughter, Mrs. Harry J. Weir, Oakland, California.

On January 26, 1944, Herbert L. Straub, vice-president of Local 5, Detroit, passed away after several months of acute suffering caused by stomach ulcers. Born in Bellaire, Ohio, on July 21, 1894, Brother Straub settled in Detroit with his parents and six sisters, at the age of four. Soon, under the tutelage of Fred R. Brown, dean of Detroit drummers, he became a splendid percussionist and played in this under the tutelage of Fred R. Brown, dean of Detroit drummers, he became a splendid percussionist and played in this capacity in the Straub Orchestra. His first theatre engagement as cellist, an instrument on which he likewise became proficient. was played at the now razed Fox Washington. During World War I he enlisted in the Navy, and, after a period at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, served on the Flagship "Chicago" and later on the "Savannah" as assistant band master. Following the Armistice, while on tour with a band of his own, he accepted a position as permanent conductor at "Shea's Buffalo" and also held posts of musical director of the Buffalo Broadcasting Corporation and conductor of the Civic Symphony in that city. In 1935 he became successively director of the Detroit W.P.A. Symphony Orchestra and State Supervisor of Music Projects, W.P.A. Thousands flocked to his home church, St. Anne's, to pay their last respects to a fine friend and a gifted musician.

Mrs. Lucia Kerngood, wife of Secretary-Emeritus William J. Kerngood, passed away peacefully in her sleep on February 13th at the couple's home in Smithtown, Long Island. Born in New York City on September 7, 1875, she and her first hus-band, "Blutch" Cooper, became famous throughout the country for a clever vaudethroughout the country for a clever vaude-ville act characterized by rich humor and a rapid-fire dialogue. Her marriage to Mr. Kerngood, two years after the death of her first husband, was solemnized by Mayor Fred C. Breidenbach of Newark, New Jersey, on May 1, 1925, and the couple's honeymoon was spent at the Niagara Falls Convention where she made the acquaintance of the delegates and Niagara Falls Convention where she made the acquaintance of the delegates and their wives. Following Mr. Kerngood's retirement eight years ago the couple spent their summers on Long Island and their winters in Florida.

Mrs. Kerngood is survived, in addition to her husband, by a daughter of her first marriage, Mrs. Henrietta Guterman of Boston, Massachusetts, and by a brother, John Cuerbo, of New York City.

John William Hundertmarck, well-known violinist and for thirty years secretary of Local 222, Salem, Ohio, died at the age of sixty-three at his home in that city on February 20, 1944. A member of the Quaker City Band for thirty years, its director for fifteen, organist at the Baptist Church, a teacher of violin. Brother Hundertmarck had a rich and full musical life. chestras, but if they did not join (it was a question of money with them) they would make records. So that joining the Federation came at an opportune time and certainly prevents the recording and transcription companies from having this orchestra to bargain with on that subject.

I enclose a copy of the agreement made with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, an examination of which will show you that we gave nothing away and I am sure that the orchestra will be very happy with us and I know that you, as well as all the musicians of the country, are as proud as I am of the result. I am of the result. According to the telegrams, telephone calls and letters I have received, it is the general consensus of opinion that a swell job has been done not only for the American Federation of Musicians, but also for the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and I personally take great pride in being able to so report.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF MUSICIANS

AMENDMENT OF BY-LAWS

JAMES C. PETRILLO, duly elected I. JAMES C. PETRILLO, duly elected President of the American Federation of Musicians, pursuant to the powers conferred upon me by Article I, Section 1, of the By-Laws of the Federation and all other powers, do hereby declare that an emergency exists and do hereby decide that such emergency requires the adoption of the amendment to the By-Laws of the Federation have leaders to the presenting set forth and the Federation hereinafter set forth and, to give effect to such decision, I do hereby promulgate and issue the following executive order, which order I do hereby find and declare to be necessary to conserve and safeguard the interests of the Fed-eration, the locals and its members, and as necessary because existing laws are inadequate or provide no method of dealing with the situation:

THEREFORE, BE IT ORDERED

That the By-Laws of the American Federation of Musicians, as heretofore amended, be and they hereby are amended by inserting at the end of Article XIII thereof a new article to be designated Article XIII A, such article to read as follows

ARTICLE XIII A. Symphony Orchestras.

Section 1. Definitions.

(a) The term "symphony orchestra" as used in this Article means and includes (1) each orchestra shown on the list appearing at the end hereof and headed "List of Symphony Orchestras" so long as it meets the requirements hereinafter set forth and (2) any other orchestra organized as a philanthropic community project and maintained in substantial part by public subscriptions and contri-butions and being of the same general character as the orchestras listed herein-above which is a full orchestra with a substantially permanent conductor and a substantially permanent conductor and a substantially permanent personnel of not less than sixty (60) players with a scheduled annual season in its home city of not less than fifteen (15) concerts of the character performed by symphony orchestras of the class listed hereinabove.

(b) The term "symphony player" as used in this Article means and includes (a) all persons who now are members of symphony orchestras as hereinabove defined; (b) all conductors or instrumental symptomy orchestras as hereinadove de-fined; (b) all conductors or instrumental artists who perform with such symphony orchestras on a substantial number of occasions each season and (c) all persons occasions each season and (c) all persons who after such examination as may be given by a symphony orchestra as herein defined are found by it to be qualified and are accepted as members of such symphony orchestra and who are otherwise eligible to membership in the American Federation of Musicians and do not stand suspended or expelled from the Federation of any local thereof. tion or any local thereof.

Section 2. Provisions Peculiarly Applicable to Symphony Orchestras and Symphony Players.

The provisions of this Article herein after set out are applicable to symphony orchestras and symphony players. In the orcnestras and symphony players. In the event that any inconsistency exists between any of the approximation. tween any of the provisions of this Article and other provisions of the Constitution. By-Laws, Standing Resolutions, General Orders or other laws, resolutions or rules of the Federation or of any local, as now existing or hereafter amended or added to, then the provisions of this Article shall prevail insofar as symphony orchestras and symphony players are con-cerned. Except as aforesaid, symphony orchestras and symphony players are sub-ject to the provisions of the Constitution, By-Laws, Standing Resolutions, General other Laws, Resolutions and the American Federation of Orders, other Musicians.

Section 3.

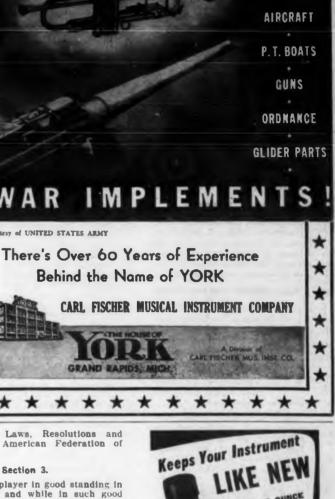

A symphony player in good standing in the Federation and while in such good standing may as of right transfer from standing may as of right transfer from the jurisdiction of one local to another, but only for the purpose of accepting membership in a symphony orchestra. He may apply for such membership or be invited to apply and may give auditions at any place without transfer or further formality or payments; but he shall at the time of beginning work in such orchestra, deposit his card and the current dues of the local having jurisdiction of such orchestra. Upon such deposit and payment he shall, for the purpose of performing with such symphony orchestra. forming with such symphony orchestra only, but not otherwise, have all the rights and privileges of all other sym-phony players who are members of said local. In other respects his transfer shall be subject to such general regulations as may from time to time prevail in respect to transfers, but, if any such symphony player is otherwise generally qualified for membership in the local and bona fide transfers his home to the jurisdiction of the local, the local having jurisdiction shall not refuse full membership to such symphony player later than six months following deposit of transfer card and upon payment of the regular initiation fee. Neither the Federation nor any local shall impose any discriminatory burdens upon symphony players.

Section 4.

A symphony orchestra may travel freely A sympnony orcnestra may travel freely for the purpose of giving concerts of a symphonic type and without payment by it or its members of any tax or other fee therefor to the Federation or the local in whose jurisdiction such concerts are given, and without interference from, or impositions of burdens or pretrictions. imposition of burdens or restrictions by, such local, and without submitting its contract or the details of its engagement to such local; but it shall remain subject to the jurisdiction of its home local. All engagements for symphony orchestras may be arranged without the intervention of a licensed agent or other intermediary and at such terms and prices as the management and the person making the engagement may mutually agree upon, it being understood that at no time shall the players receive less than the minimum rates provided for the particular type of engagement in their contracts.

TONEX PADS Improve Tone and Volume

You won't believe your ears when you first try your clarinet or aax properly padded with ToneX Pada. The tone has more volume and clarity. This is because ToneX reflects tome instead of absorbing it.

The patented laminated (sandwich) truction of ToneX also adds to the life of your overhaul job. Exhaustive tests have definitely proved that ToneX will outlast two or three sets of ordinary pads.

FINE ARTISTS PREFER THEM

Many of our finest clarinet and saxophone players are using ToneX with utmost satisfaction. Once an instrument is properly padded with ToneX, it plays so freely that an equally good instrument with regular pads plays stuffy by comparison.

Be sure to specify ToneX Pads with your next overhaul job. Any good repairman can install them. How much extra to get ToneX? The additional cost usually runs about one dollar—that's all!

Section 7. Citizenship.

The provisions of Section 9 of Article The provisions of Section 9 of Article IX, which require citizenship or first papers for membership in the Federation, are waived for the duration of the war with the Axis Powers upon which the United States is now engaged and for a period of six months thereafter.

Section 8. Conductor.

Symphony conductors must be members of the Federation. Provided, that the Executive Board of the Federation may, on application therefor, permit any such conductor to conduct symphony orchestra concerts for a period not to exceed one season. Conductors who have conducted symphony orchestra concerts for a period of one season must become members of the Federation forthwith.

When, in the opinion of the Executive Board of the American Federation of Musicians, circumstances warrant it, the Executive Board may permit a non-mem-ber guest conductor to conduct more than one season and may waive, for such a period as the Board determines to be proper, the provisions of Section 9 of Article IX which require citizenship or first papers for membership in the Fed-

Section 9. Orchestra Associations.

FOUR HOURS' PAY!

The American Federation of Labor has pledged to raise $15,000,000 for the present Red Cross campaign. Federation officials recommended a minimum of four hours' pay as the individual A. F. of L. Red Cross contribution.

BLOOD DONORS WANTED

The American Red Cross still needs blood donors for the purpose of saving the lives of wounded members of our Armed Forces in the world-wide battle arena. Seldom a night passes that you don't hear some wounded man, home on a furlough, tell about the number of lives of our boys that have been saved through blood transfusions.
