THE COVER

"The Five Pennies," new Dena Production for Paramount, is the dramatic life story of trumpeter Loring "Red" Nichols. Starring Danny Kaye as Red, the pic also features Barbara Bel Geddes, Louis Armstrong and Bob Crosby. Red's brilliant trumpet will, of course, be heard on the soundtrack and in his new Capitol album "Meet The Five Pennies." Ray Anthony plays part of one of the original "pennies," Jimmy Dorsey.

Jack Webb listens to playback of Herm Saunders' latest album on Warner Bros. label, "That Celestial Feeling." Saunders is also associate producer of TVer "Pete Kelly's Blues" which is produced by Webb's company.

EXPOSE VS. LIFE

On July 25, the citizenry of Moscow will have a chance to view a "complete picture of American life" as represented by hi-fi and stereo music, Pepsi Cola, a doughnut machine, symphonic music, the products of some 500 exhibiting manufacturers, and possible ad lib performances by any American performers who happen to be in Moscow at the time.

The American National Exposition will open simultaneously with the Russian counterpart which takes place in the New York Coliseum. Directing officials of the Moscow exhibition stated that since the exhibit was intended to be unbiased and without reference to political, military or other controversial matters, "some aspects of rock and roll music would not be suitable." However, some of the recorded music will be rock and roll and jazz, since "these could not be entirely omitted in a representation of American life."

Kingston Trio's great new album is titled "Kingston Trio at Large." They escaped from "Tijuana Jail."

"Sounds Like Gene Vincent" is the title of that gentleman's newest Capitol package, and it's true.

TOO HI-FI

The start of my hi-fi was modest enough,
A changer and one
amplifier,
And little by little I added
some stuff
For making the "fi" slightly higher.
A tweeter, a woofer, a few
odds and ends,
But still the disease wasn't chronic
'Till one night I heard, at the home of some friends,
A rig which was stereophonic.
Two amps and two pre-amps
and multiple horns,
I just couldn't wait 'till
I bought 'em,
With all the components
no true addict scorns . . .
You name 'em, my friend,
and I've got 'em.
But that's all behind me,
I'll purchase no more,
I know when the time comes
to give in,
I just had to rent the apartment next door
In order to have room to live in.

Mavis Rivers makes her Capitol album debut with an album titled "Take a Number." Tunes all have numbers one to twelve in titles.

● WANTS LESS JAZZ

Composer Aaron Copland would like to see more symphonies and operas and less jazz exported to other countries. Copland suggested to a recent meeting of the Congress of Cultural Leaders that perhaps too much emphasis goes on jazz in U.S. overseas efforts. "I don't mean to suggest," said Copland, "that jazz is not the proper interest of intellectuals, but I am thinking in terms of balance."

Ferlin Husky insists that he was "Born to Lose" in his new album of that title. Blue-type tunes.

HI-FI CABS

Taxicabs in Toronto, Canada, are providing their customers with music . . . in stereo, yet! The cabbies say that the two speaker music set-up which plays classical music attracts rides. They also say that some of their fares will sit in the cab longer to hear the end of a symphony. It also builds tips.

Janice Harper's initial album on Capitol is fine collection of tunes by Miss Harper "With Feeling." And that's the title of the album.

PRONE TO PLAY

Lazy musicians will no doubt applaud the results of recent research into the physical strain of trumpet playing. The medics decided that a trumpeter ideally should be lying flat on his back and that it is safer to sit than to stand. It was also determined that the trumpet requires greater pressure to play than any other instrument and that the holding of high notes can cause dizziness or blackouts.

We have a mental picture of Stan Kenton's trumpet section lying flat on their collective backs during a concert. This could give rise to a new art form called "horizontal jazz."

The Louvin Brothers step out of the country field and right into the pop market with their new single disk "Blue From Now On."

June Christy recalls "Those Kenton Days" in her new Capitol album of that title. They were good days.

● BATTLE LOOMS

The oft used "battle of the bands" gimmick is about to receive a new twist. Mercury is releasing a stereo LP which features the orchestras of Buddy Rich and Max Roach on the separate channels. Thus the "challenge" will be hurled through one speaker and the "answer" through the other.

Ray Scott was recently signed by Antler Records and will wax soon.

● 'DIXIE' ANNI

On June 26 it will have been 100 years since Daniel Decatur Emmett penned the "anthem" of the South, "Dixie." It is interesting to note that Emmett was a "Yankee," having been born in Mt. Vernon, Ohio. The town is having a two-day civic celebration on June 26-27 to commemorate penning of the song.

Jonah Jones' new single is swinging "I Dig Chicks" from his recent album of that tag. Flip: "Cherry."

The globe-trotting Platters take off for "down under" to make Australian tour. Most recent single is "Enchanted," album: "Remember When?"

COP HOP

An enterprising Pittsburgh policeman has found a way to help keep the kids off the streets and build up a hi-fi rig as well. A cop's salary being what it is, the gendarme began holding record hops for teenagers in localities where recreational centers are scarce, in order to help defray the cost of his portable sound equipment. The success of the hops has convinced him that they help keep the youngsters off the streets and build goodwill for the police.

A new kind of policeman's ball?

AHEM

Coughers and throat clearers, long the bane of the concert performer's existence, were recently given a sharp rebuke by George Szell, conductor of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra. The conductor stopped a performance by walking off the stage after announcing: "I'll give you five minutes to clear your throats."

The reaction of the audience was mixed.

Peggy Lee has biggest hit since her "Fever" smash in most recent Capitol disk, "Hallelujah, I Love Him So." Flipside of the swinger is "I'm Looking Out the Window."

● PIX SIGN DISKERS

Looking for another Elvis Presley, Pat Boone or Tommy Sands, the movie industry continues to dip into the reservoir of young artists to find box office attractions. Some of the youngsters recently signed to motion picture contracts are Fabian, Frankie Avalon, Paul Anka, Bobby Darin, Jimmy Clanton and Jimmy Rodgers.

Ricky Nelson recently scored in "Rio Bravo," a pic which also starred a gent of considerable vocal talent, Dean Martin.

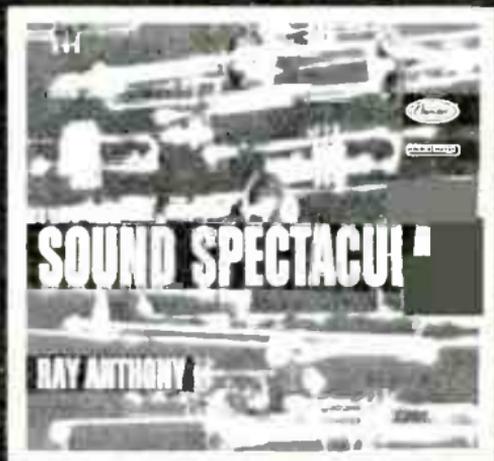

Ray Anthony's fine trumpet and swinging ork are again given fine showcase in Anthony's latest album for Capitol, "Sound Spectacular." You may rest assured that it does.

New 'Capitol' of the World album features the great French performer, Edith Piaf, in a fine package which is titled, simply, "Piaf!"

SHOT

Members of the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, who recently left on a tour of Central and South America, feel they got stuck! Before leaving the country they were all inoculated for small pox, typhoid, tetanus, yellow fever and polio.

The 72-day tour started May 20, and includes 62 concerts.

● JOCK REHIRED

Hell hath no fury like a teenager scorned, as witness the case of a Baltimore disk jockey who was publicly fired for spinning a record which conflicted with station policy. The station was inundated with calls from the jock's teenage fans. Letters and petitions followed, until the station yielded to pressure and re-hired the jock.

At least that's what the advertisements in the local newspapers stated.

"Warm and Wonderful" is the enticing descriptive title of new album by the lovely King Sisters.

Making strong bid for a hit single is Stan Kenton's new Capitol waxing "Whistle Talk" & "Tamer-Lane."

Les Baxter has fine new single showing definite hit signs of Cap, Piccolissima Serenata" backed by urope import "Tell Me, Margarita."

'ROCK' OF AGES

While the clergymen of many countries frequently look on rock and roll music with a jaundiced eye, a London, England, parson is serving up hymns with the "big beat." Rev. Geoffrey Beaumont recently held services in a local tavern backed by a teenage combo.

Said Rev. Beaumont. "I see no reason why we should not use the rhythms of the day to sing hymns and I see no reason why the congregation should not sip beer if they want to."

Talented guitarist Jack Marshall has fresh new sound on his latest Cap single, "The River Kwai March."

● DE ROSE MEMORY

Times Square, New York, was recently designated "Peter De Rose Memorial Square" for four days during "Peter De Rose Memorial Week." The event commemorated the composer's death in 1953.

It should be noted that "Peter De Rose Square" is a name, not an opinion.

Pretty Wanda Jackson has strong new coupling, "You're the One For Me" and flip "A Date With Jerry."

Dixieland stars Ray Bauduc and Nappy Lamare have bright new album on Cap, title of which is a spoof of the beatniks, "Two Beat Generation."

WHO?

It had to happen eventually: Zsa Zsa Gabor has become a recording artist! The Hungarian actress has been signed by Imperial to record a special "kiddies album for adults." A kiddies album for adults?

How about "Cha Cha by Zsa Zsa?"

Bob Bain explores some exciting rhythmic concepts in his new album under Capitol banner, "Latin Love."

● SPAETH ANNI

Sigmund Spaeth, the "tune detective," recently celebrated his 50th year in music. The author of many books on music and long-time moderator of the Metropolitan Opera Quiz on radio also celebrated his 74th birthday.

● 50 FOR SEGOVIA

Famed classical guitarist Andres Segovia this year celebrates his 50th anniversary as a concert artist. The artist has been re-signed to recording contract by Decca and plans a concert tour later this year.

Humorist Andy Griffith, currently starring in the Broadway musical, "Destry Rides Again," has new Cap single, "Once Knew a Fella" from the show. Flip: "Don't Look Back."

Zany songstress-comedienne Martha Raye was recent guest on NBC-TV's Milton Berle show, "Music Hall."

Britisher Ron Goodwin has swinging new single, "Martians on Parade" & "The Venus Waltz." Sides from Cap album "Music in Orbit."

JAZZ BLUEPRINT

It remains to be seen what effect will be on the future design of buildings, but student architects show a marked leaning toward modern jazz. A recent scholarship competition for jazz musicians uncovered the fact that more jazz players were found among students of architecture than any other single group on the campuses. In one school, 50 per cent of the competitors were architectural students.

QUELL BELL

A Toronto, Canada, paint manufacturer is convinced the townfolk are not music lovers. After paying $66,000 for a carillon which was played every 15 minutes, Rupert Edwards was fined $5 and ordered to cease the concerts.

Citizens complained they could not sleep during the day and that the "concerts" were driving them crazy.

"People just don't like sacred music or hymns," lamented Edwards.

Ruth Welcome's newest Cap album is collection of tunes with a Continental flavor and carries the apt title, "At a Sidewalk Cafe."

● TWO-FACED PREVIN

Pianist Andre Previn will attempt to reach both jazz buffs and classical music enthusiasts in his new LP on Contemporary's new Society for Forgotten Music label. One side of the disk will feature Previn with a jazz group playing selections from the film score "Gigi," while on the other side he will join the Roth Quartet to perform the first known recording of Ernest Chauson's "Quartet in A Major."

Johnny Olen and the Blockbusters look for hit with Antler waxing of title song from Warner Bros. new motion pic "Born Reckless."

WOW!

Dancers in Columbus, Ohio, had better watch their steps ... literally! A 1922 city law was recently uncovered which directs the safety director to "formulate rules and regulations for the correct position to be assumed by dancers."

It isn't difficult to understand why this should be a function of the safety director, the way some of the rock 'n' rollers dance a person could break a leg, or clobber an innocent bystander.

Newest album by Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians asks the question, "Do You Remember?" We do.

Actor-singer Earl Holliman's new single on Capitol is rhythm version of evergreen "I'm In the Mood For Love." Tune is featured in MGM motion pic, "Ask Any Girl."

● VALENTE'S TONGUES

Catrina Valente's new album on the Polydor label is something of a linguist's delight. Titled "Cosmopolitan Lady," the West German songstress sings in five different languages.

● DISTAFF TUNESMITH

There have been several tunesmiths who penned hit songs for their wives, but seldom does a wife write a hit for her husband. Jesse Belvin's hit disk, "Guess Who," was written by his wife, Jo Ann. That's really keeping the royalties in the family.

"A Pair of Scissors (And a Pot of Glue") is title of Dean Reed's new single on Capitol. Looks chart-bound. Flip: "I Kissed a Queen."

Orkster Bobby Hammack has sparkling instrumental version of "Little Child" as Capitol singles debut. Flipside is beat-filled "Rhythm."

The fabulous new group, The Eligibles, has a bright teenage novelty with which to make its Capitol debut, "Car Trouble." Disk has a gimmick in which the girl's father makes a comment when given the age-old excuse for being late. Dad's comment is real, but it is run backwards.
