Television Digest with Consumer Electronics

read it before you read anything else!

Since 1945, Television Digest has covered trends and developments of every phase of the broadcast and consumer electronics industries. In time-saving newsletter style — mailed first class every Saturday — no words are wasted to report precisely and concisely what's new and what's important each week in TV/Cable/Consumer Electronics and allied fields. You're first on the scene with Television Digest.

An order card-form — #8 — is bound inside the Stations Volume for your convenience.

Now we can Zip you the answers to these questions:

- 1 How does your early news perform in upper income zip code areas?
- 2 Does your prime-access program reach two-car families?
- 3 Do you reach more professional and managerial people than your competition?
- 4 Do you attract more educated viewers than your competitors?

AID (Arbitron Information on Demand) Zip Codes take you beyond sex/age demographics and give you viewing by income, education, occupation and 18 more demographic characteristics.

AID Zip Codes mean you're no longer limited to whole counties, groups of counties or sex/age demographics.

You can build custom pieces of geography based on selected "zips" to identify key customers for department stores or any other retail prospects.

AID Zip Codes is another industry first from Arbitron Television.

So take advantage of it...now.

When it comes to gas expanded polyethylene dielectric Cerroflex GXX™ has it all. It has low loss. It's lower than just about any other coaxial cable — with an excellent loss of performance. Cerroflex GXX™ is designed for both indoor and outdoor use. It's also available in a variety of sizes for installation. And the jacket has a flexibility to handle sharp bends without the danger of cracking or breaking. It's also available in a variety of sizes for installation. CERROFLEX™ A NEW BONDED SHIELD DROP CABLE THAT WON'T "TIGER STRIPE"

Tiger striping, those radial cracks that appear at bending points in the foil have been a problem especially when installing bonded foil cables.

But no more. Our new CERROFLEX™ Bonded Shield/Braid Drop Cable ends the problem. It has a special aluminum tape shielding that won't tiger stripe, even when given the roughest kind of installation treatment. And because it's permanently bonded to the dielectric, the shielding won't push back either when connectors are stripped. So now you can forget about facing service call backs associated with foil cables.

Instead of just foil — our bonded shielding is composed of a layer of aluminum on each side of a high tensile strength plastic film. The result is cable with more strength and a higher degree of flexibility that can withstand severe bending and twisting without giving way.

CERROFLEX™ is also moisture resistant. So even if moisture should penetrate the jacket, the bonded shield will help keep it from the dielectric.

It comes in RG 59 and RG 6 sizes in all drop cable constructions. Now, finally, there's a way to gain all the benefits of bonded foil cable without any of the drawbacks. CERROFLEX™. It's new. It's better. And it's available from Cerro. Now.

Introducing the S-200R, the best two-way splitter made. It's a modular design that can be used in virtually all installation situations — hung or mounted indoors or out. And it's interchangeable with other splitter configurations.

Our S-200R is also the first two-way splitter on the market that incorporates a built-in frequency configuration with a built-in frequency configuration.

more dB's per dollar.

Our Multi-Output Distribution Amplifier offers the most gain for the lowest cost. Plus it has the features of much more expensive units — and more.

It's modular. Which means that by plugging in the proper feature module and simply connecting a splitter you've increased outputs by eight — without extra cables! Up to 32 subscribers can be serviced from a single amplifier. And here's also the flexibility to handle nearby as well as remote locations from the same amplifier.

The threaded connectors insure electrical integrity better than the plug-in kind. And since all components are in a single case, the IDC can be readily mounted for a single point connection. Built-in 30dB gain and a 40dB gain model are available.

Other features include solid state push-pull circuitry and 31 dBV switchable cable powered or 117 VAC powered units.

So the next time you need IDC's, specify our Modular Internal Distributor Center. The one with the most effective multi-output distribution amplifier.

Introducing two new line extenders.

When new homes get built down the road next year, you'll be mighty glad you used Scientific-Atlanta 6552 Line Extenders this year. Because our new two-in-one design lets you extend service using nothing more than a hybrid chip.

When you want to grow just plug the chip into our 6552. And get a boost from 32 dB to 35 dB just like that. Or you can buy our 6553 with the higher gain chip to begin with if you like.

You'll find that our new line extenders also facilitate speed, accuracy and ease of set up. And feature lower power consumption as well. For more information on how we chip away at systems costs, call Skip Webb at (404) 449-2000.

Let Microdyne turn you on . . .

1100-FFC(X1)

1100-TV(R)(X12)

The 'Let Microdyne Turn You On' theme introducing our SATRO-5M Five Meter TVRO Terminal and companion 1100-TV(R)(X12)/1100-FFC(X1) receivers at NCTA '78 was a tremendous success. The system's high reliability, unsurpassed performance and competitive price — without hidden installation or replacement costs — is continuing to turn on the CATV community.

Here's why . . .

- Microdyne's antenna foundation typically requires only 3 to 4 cubic yards of concrete.
- Our antenna can be installed by two men in only four hours, after the foundation is in place.
- No survey is required to align the foundation with the satellite since the antenna rotates 360°.
- Precision surface contour of the antenna dish permits future 12 GHz satellite reception without signal degradation.
- Proven reliability results in employing the same fiberglass and fabrication techniques that are used in Bell Telephone's horn type antennas.

Over 70% of all CATV Earth Terminals are now using Microdyne Satellite Receivers. So, why not let us turn you on by calling Microdyne Today!

The Inside Success Story of Parameter III

1. Parameter III's copper clad center conductor gives you the highest percentage of copper by volume of any low-loss cable. Plus, Parameter III's solid copper conductor has the highest quality copper commercially available.

2. The aluminum tubing is manufactured with the highest quality-control standards, thus insuring greater uniformity and better mechanicals.

3. With only virgin material used in the low density, black polyethylene jacket, high uniformity and reliability are insured.

4. A major breakthrough in cable technology, Parameter III's polyethylene dielectric has better electricals than other low-loss foam cable and has better compression resistance for better mechanicals. It is extremely clean electrically. It bonds so well to the center conductor that it totally locks out moisture, thus making the cable almost completely corrosion-proof. Yet the firmer dielectric actually strips cleaner and easier than other low-loss cables.

5. Compression and bending radius statistics document the superior quality of this cable's construction. In bend testing, Parameter III resists flattening and center conductor movement.

6. Competitive pricing makes Parameter III truly cost efficient. Just one more reason for the big gains it's achieving throughout the industry.

OAK converters and decoders save you more than money.

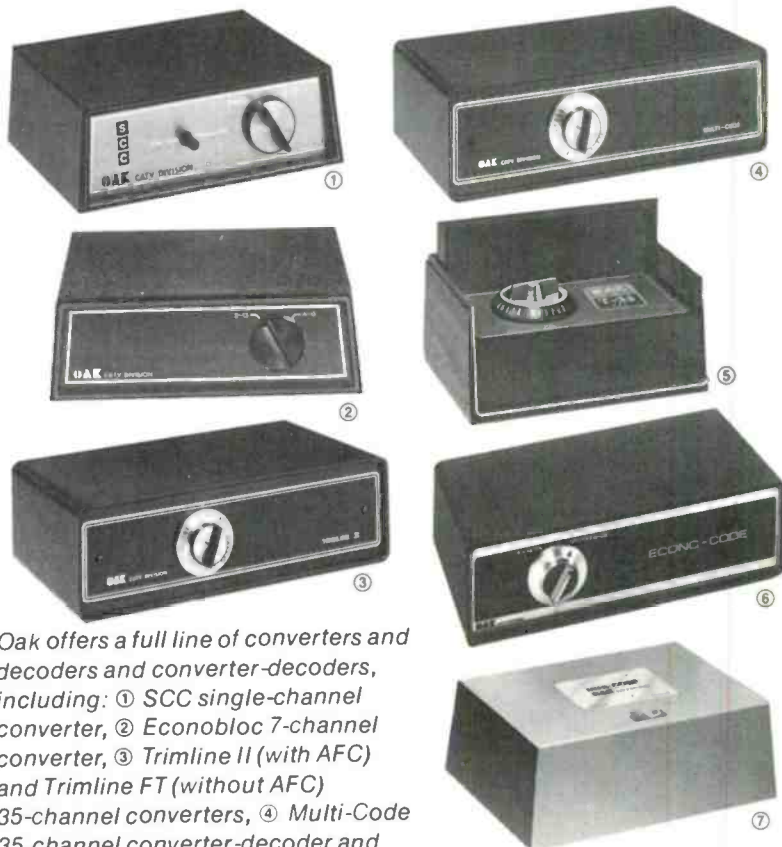

When you're looking for converters or decoders, you have to look beyond price, and look for the best in performance and reliability as well. The lowest priced terminal in the world would be a bad buy if poor performance and reliability caused frequent service problems, lost revenue and lost subscribers. You can fill your system needs without compromise, because Oak offers a wide product selection.

Oak products are designed to save you money and subscribers, by reducing future maintenance costs. Before an Oak converter or decoder reaches your system, it has received exhaustive testing. Our total investment in test instruments for quality control is in the millions.

New from Oak is an optional dual security system with internal modifications that require exterior mounted components to make the home terminal operational.

With Oak, costly delivery and service delays don't happen. We back our commitment to cable system operators with rapid service turn-around, reducing your need to keep spares on hand. Every customer receives a solid one-year product warranty. But perhaps of greater importance is that when you buy from Oak, you know you'll be having fewer service calls and less chance of lost revenue.

Oak offers a full line of converters and decoders and converter-decoders, including: ① SCC single-channel converter, ② Econobloc 7-channel converter, ③ Trimline II (with AFC) and Trimline FT (without AFC) 35-channel converters, ④ Multi-Code 35-channel converter-decoder and ⑤ companion Jewel Case remote unit, ⑥ Econo-Code single- and two-channel converter-decoder and ⑦ Mini-Code single-channel low-band decoder. Contact Oak for all the details.
