Ralph King, President

The first COMPROMPTER ENR (Electronic NewsRoom) was installed and went into operation in August of 1982. The original system developer, Ralph King, organized a business partnership and in April of 1985, formed the present corporation and became its President. Comprompter was among the pioneers in electronic newsrooms and is the only independent company that still has the original developer as its president.

Bob Proctor, Chief Engineer

We provide complete Concept-to-Production services for Audio-Video-Data products, including Regulatory Compliance, as an outsourcer option for clients who need fast Time-to-Market, earlier ROI, and the best in system performance and reliability. Our in-house engineering staff, and substantial cadre of consulting engineers are able to bring many years of experience, from many fields and disciplines, to bear on any given project. When combined with a tightly controlled and supervised project management plan, IMT is able to offer on-time and in-budget performance. Beyond just product development, IMT also generates a Bill Of Materials very early in the project so that long lead items can be ordered and scheduled for on-time production as soon as the product is cleared from Regulatory Testing, avoiding any lag time in supplying products to the market.

 Since 1977, JSB Service Company has been servicing most makes and models of microwave radio systems, modules and components. We repair all makes and models of major broadcast equipment that is no longer supported by the manufacturer or thats out of warranty. We also repair new equipment. Cable, Satellite, Telephone and Television companies are among our customers. JSB Service Company also assists manufacturers in the service of their customers. Our goal to keep your present equipment-on-line! Rather than buy a new system, send JSB your equipment for service and save thousands of dollars.

From ESPN to the BBC, Orban products are at work in radio and television stations around the world. Designing audio products for the challenges of broadcasting has kept Orban busy, and successful, for over thirty years.
In fact, Bob Orban founded the company because he wasn't happy with the sound of albums being heard on the new stereo FM stations. So he developed the OPTIMOD solution that combines several processing structures into a single box to maximize loudness and still meet government broadcast regulations.

Mullaney Engineering, Inc. and its predecessor firms have been providing consulting engineering services to the radio and television industry since 1948. In the early 1970's, the firm pioneered the computer aided design and optimization of AM directional arrays which minimizes construction costs through the elimination of unnecessary towers. The firm was also one of the first to provide a computer analysis of the allocation conditions for FM, TV, and MDS facilities. With the establishment of its in-house computer facilities in 1974, the firm prides itself on remaining on the leading edge of technology. Mullaney Engineering, Inc. currently provides services in: AM, FM, TV, DTV, MDS/ITFS, LPTV, Cellular, and environmental radiation analysis.

Boies, Schiller & Flexner LLP, founded in 1997, has become one of the nation's premier law firms. Today, with over 200 lawyers practicing in offices across the country, we regularly serve as lead counsel in the most significant and highest profile disputes in the world. While best known for landmark cases such as United States v. Microsoft, Bush v. Gore, and In re Vitamins, we represent some of the largest and most sophisticated organizations in the world when the results matter most. In less than a decade, we have won and saved our clients billions of dollars in trials, arbitrations, and settlements.

The business of communications law and policy today is to attempt to envision and help shape the social consequences of the current revolution in communications technology. To foster the benefits the new technology promises — and to avoid the dangers it may pose — represents the greatest challenge ever to confront communications law and those who make and practice it.

Initially, the firm set out to apply these principles in the context of representing municipally owned and cooperative utility systems that found themselves at odds with private utility companies. In that arena, we found that the representation of municipal and cooperative systems - which are often subject to strict limitations on their legal budgets - required methods and approaches that would give clients the greatest return on their legal dollar. The firm has since broadened this approach to include representation in telecommunications and transportation.

The Law Corporation of Jack Taylor represents those who have been injured. If you or a loved one has been injured it is important to act quickly. Cases can be won or lost on fleeting evidence. Moreover, there are strict legal deadlines for bringing personal injury claims. Unfortunately, delay benefits the insurance company, not you.

For 80 years, since our founding in 1931 we have upheld the same core principles as counselors at law: to provide exceptional service and effective legal representation to our clients. We are committed to the success of our clients and our community in Geauga and Cuyahoga County. Our advice is based upon experience and principles in legal counseling, not simply telling the client what they may want to hear from an attorney.

Willkie Farr & Gallagher LLP was founded more than 120 years ago upon principles that still characterize our practice today. Our founders and memorable colleagues, like Wendell Willkie and Felix Frankfurter, established a strong foundation of integrity, innovation, pragmatism, flexibility and intellectual agility designed to continually meet the ever-changing business needs of our clients. These values form our approach to providing legal and business advisory services today. We continue our tradition of excellence by keeping nimble, working collaboratively together, with respect and professionalism, and by integrating this philosophy into our client relationships. Our clients not only rely on us for our creativity, skill, leadership, decisiveness and high-quality work, but because they know we are solution-oriented and we get the job done efficiently and effectively.

Ares Capital Corporation (Ares Capital or ARCC) is a specialty finance company that provides one-stop solutions to meet the distinct and underserved financing needs of private middle-market companies across diverse industries. Our flexibility, structuring expertise and self-origination capabilities enable us to invest across the capital structure and to meet the full spectrum of our clients' financing needs. As a patient, long-term investor with permanent capital, we have developed a reputation for the flexibility of our approach, a willingness to hold large positions and the ability to offer sponsors and management teams increased certainty of execution. In addition to primarily providing debt financing to middle-market companies, we also provide, on a lesser scale, debt financing for power generation projects and financing to emerging growth companies typically backed by venture capital firms.

BIA Digital Partners is a private investment firm, making both debt and equity investments in middle market companies serving the media and entertainment, telecommunications, and information and business services industries. The firm was originally formed in direct response to the lack of junior capital available for small to medium-sized communications companies. While larger companies can access the public markets, smaller firms have fewer options for a middle or junior layer of capital.

Hungerford, Aldrin, Nichols & Carter, PC is a locally owned and controlled CPA firm, and has served West Michigan businesses since 1941. Our specialty is family owned and closely held companies. We've been recognized as a Small Business of the Year by the Greater Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce and multiple times have been named one of West Michigan's "101 Best and Brightest Companies To Work For." These honors were presented, in part, due to the longevity of both our clients and our employees. That helps us provide continuity of service, something many of our clients have come to appreciate.

ICM Partners is one of the world's largest talent and literary agencies with offices in New York, Los Angeles, and London. The agency represents creative and technical talent in the fields of motion picture, television, books, music, live performance, branded entertainment, and new media. ICM was formed in 1975 through the merger of Creativa Management Associates and International Famous Agency. In 2005, the company raised equity financing from Rizvi Traverse and institutional investors to fund strategic growth, and in 2006, ICM acquired the literary agency Broder Webb Chervin Silbermann. In 2012, the agency completed a management buyout and formed a partnership with the new name, ICM Partners.

The National Association of Telecommunications Officers and Advisors is the premier local government professional association that provides support to our members on the many local, state, and federal communications laws, administrative rulings, judicial decisions, and technology issues impacting the interests of local governments. Founded in 1980, we offer a wide range of advocacy services to individual and agency members representing cities, towns, counties and commissions across the country. NATOA actively analyzes and addresses emerging issues in areas such as local government communications and internet policy; broadband planning best practices; cable franchising; wireless zoning; new technology initiatives and advancements; and operation of public, education and government (PEG) access channels.

To make the New Evangelization a reality is to become pilgrims on a journey or pilgrimage with Jesus Christ- much like the journey of Jesus meeting the disciples along the road to Emmaus. The journey or pilgrimage includes moments for deepening of our faith, increasing our participation in the sacramental life of the Church, and leads finally to our destination of being Christian witnesses.

SDBA is affiliated with the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) which conducts public service programs throughout the country, and supports a variety of community activities to promote the exciting field of radio/TV broadcasting. These PSA activities promote a drug-free society, the environment and education, among many others. Like its national counter-part, SDBA conducts a wide variety of programming to meet the needs of its myriad listeners. From the state-wide United Way television marathons or local heart-fund broadcasts from shopping malls, to public affairs programming of candidates to state legislature or city-wide election results, are all part of the continuous broadcasts efforts of SDBA members to inform, educate and familiarize radio/TV listeners to current issues or pending legislation. But radio/TV programming also entertains. SDBA is proud of its broadcasting efforts, and is pleased to have in its membership the South Dakota Public Television Network, along with dozens of FM radio stations which dedicate much of its broadcast schedule to music and entertainment.

Mostly, the WAB is about working together as a group to keep the broadcast industry strong and viable. It's also about friendship and knowing each other personally as well as professionally. One of the highlights of the year is for all broadcasters and their staffs to come together at the Annual Conference to renew old friendships and spend time talking about their livelihood.... the broadcast industry.

KCTA was founded in 1970 to represent the cable industry, which began as a way to bring television to homes in remote areas that were unable to receive conventional over-the-air broadcast signals. Over the years, KCTA has provided its member companies with a single, unified voice on issues affecting the cable and telecommunications industry in Kansas. KCTA is proud of the role the cable industry has played in development of competition for video, high-speed Internet and telephone services in Kansas.

The Minnesota Cable Communications Association (MCCA) is a trade association of franchised cable television companies in Minnesota. All major companies are represented in its membership. Its 13-person board of directors governs the MCCA. Local communities regulate cable television and the state has a chapter of law governing the franchise process. At the federal level cable is regulated by the FCC. Despite the emergence of competition from both satellite and wire-based competitors, government closely regulates cable operations.

We are the umbrella federation for U.S. unions, with 57 unions representing more than 12 million working men and women. We work to ensure that all people who work receive the rewards of their work-decent paychecks and benefits, safe jobs, respect and fair treatment. We work to make the voices of working people heard in the White House, on Capitol Hill, in state capitals across the country and in corporate boardrooms. We provide an independent voice for working families and ways for working people to be actively engaged in politics and legislation. We also hold corporations accountable for their treatment of employees and ensure the voice of working people is heard in the financial system. We also work with federations of unions in other countries toward global social and economic fairness.

Performing artists live to perform. But their talents, their skill and the beauty they create won't necessarily pay the rent, put food on the table or guarantee the necessities of life. Without forceful advocacy and defense of their rights, artists may be vulnerable to exploitation or illegal discrimination. They need protection. They can find it by joining AGMA, the American Guild of Musical Artists.

The International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, Moving

Picture Technicians, Artists and Allied Crafts of the United States, Its Territories and Canada was founded in 1893 when representatives of stagehands working in eleven cities met in New York and pledged to support each others' efforts to establish fair wages and working conditions for their members. Our union has evolved over the succeeding 119 years to embrace the development of new entertainment mediums, craft expansion, technological innovation and geographic growth.

 Created in 1949 to regulate investor-owned public utilities, the Delaware Public Service Commission (PSC) works to ensure safe, reliable and reasonably priced cable, electric, natural gas, wastewater, water and telecommunications services for Delaware consumers. For those services that are moving toward competitive markets, the Commission makes rules to level the playing field between competing providers, and resolves disputes between these providers. The PSC also assists consumers in resolving disputes with their service providers.

 The Public Utilities Regulatory Authority (PURA) is statutorily charged with regulating the rates and services of Connecticut's investor owned electricity, natural gas, water and telecommunication companies and is the franchising authority for the state's cable television companies. In the industries that are still wholly regulated, PURA balances the public's right to safe, adequate and reliable utility service at reasonable rates with the provider's right to a reasonable return on investment. PURA also keeps watch over competitive utility services to promote equity among the competitors while customers reap the price and quality benefits of competition and are protected from unfair business practices.
