As EDDIE CANTOR might tell it to Harry Von Zell: "It's getting to be a small world, Harry. The other morning I was flying around Beverly Hills when I spied an unfamiliar speck in the distance. I started flying toward it, and what do you think? I found myself in Oklahoma looking at the biggest radio tower I ever saw. Harry, my eyes got bigger than banjos. It's 910 feet high . . . so big you have to look twice to see it all!"

"Harry, when the juice starts through this new WKY antenna, more people in Oklahoma than ever before are going to be wearing the 'Smile of Beauty' and the 'Smile of Health.'"

WKY's new transmitter, now nearing completion, will be one of the finest in the nation. Its antenna will be one of the two highest in the Western Hemisphere.

These new facilities will add still more coverage and listeners to WKY's already dominant superiority in both coverage and audience.

The results which WKY produces for advertisers are no less eye-opening than the magnitude of its facilities.

IN studio speech input equipment RCA has led the field for the past ten years—in recent years by a wide margin.

RCA studio equipment predominates in the studios of all major networks and in a large proportion of the outstanding station installations—large and small.

All of the RCA studio equipment, and all of the RCA broadcast transmitting equipment, sold in the last ten years was designed from scratch by RCA engineers and built exclusively in RCA plants.

RCA experience in broadcast equipment—studio and transmitting—is unequalled.

And note especially—

All of the RCA studio equipment models current at the beginning of the war were designed for the wide response and high standards of FM broadcasting.

John E. Fetzer Named Broadcast Censor

WKZO Owner Will Take Position in April

CONTINUING his policy of selecting practical executives for key positions, Byron Price, Director of Censorship, last Friday announced the appointment of John E. Fetzer, owner of WKZO Kalamazoo-Grand Rapids as Assistant Director of Censorship for radio succeeding J. Harold Ryan. Mr. Ryan is expected to report by April 15 as president of the NAB, to which post he was recently elected by the NAB board of directors.

The new broadcast censor, a veteran of a quarter-century in radio despite his 42 years, will assume his new position about April 15. The appointment, it is understood, is for the duration.

Began as 'Ham'

Active in radio affairs, Mr. Fetzer now is serving his fourth consecutive term as an NAB director representing the 8th district, comprising Michigan and Indiana. In addition to his ownership of WKZO, he is vice-president and part owner of KXEL, 50,000-watter in Waterloo, Ia. He is a former radio "ham" and held an amateur radio license when he was 17.

Mr. Ryan, who takes over the NAB helm from Neville Miller, former mayor of Louisville, is vice-president of Fort Industry Co., operating six stations in Ohio, West Virginia and Georgia. He left Fort Industry Dec. 26, 1941—shortly after Pearl Harbor—having been drafted by Mr. Price for the censorship post. The voluntary Code of Wartime Practices for American broadcasters, invoked originally two years ago and modified three times since, has been administered under Mr. Ryan's immediate direction without a single major incident.

Mr. Price paid high tribute to the retiring broadcast censor in announcing the Fetzer appointment.

"The outstanding service rendered to this war agency by Mr. Ryan is well known throughout the broadcasting industry," he said. "He came to us in the first difficult days just after Pearl Harbor, organized the Broadcasting Division, and has given unsparingly ever since of his time and rare ability. Great credit is due him for this patriotic effort to make voluntary censorship of radio a success.

"I have accepted Mr. Ryan's resignation with great regret. It is fortunate that Censorship has been able to command the services of so able and experienced a successor as Mr. Fetzer."

Mr. Fetzer will take over the organization built by Mr. Ryan without immediate change. Chief assistants are Robert K. Richards, formerly of WSPD Toledo; Lester Halpin, formerly of KOIN-KALE Portland, Ore.; Edward H. Bronson, WCOL Columbus, O.; Charter Heslep, ex-managing editor of the Washington Daily News and assistant to A. A. Schechter, NBC director of news and special events.

Mr. Ryan has maintained silence regarding his immediate plans on NAB reorganization, declaring he desired first to acquaint himself thoroughly with the trade association's operations. A former member of its board of directors and chairman of its finance committee,

Mr. Ryan has more than a cursory knowledge of NAB operations, budget and personnel. The immediate task, he has indicated, is that of pursuing legislation to amend the Communications Act of 1934, now pending before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

While Mr. Ryan resigned his Government post, he is on leave from Fort Industry Co. Selected by the NAB board on Feb. 2 as its new president, he agreed to serve only until July 1, 1945, as the interim executive. Upon fulfilling that mission, it is presumed he will return to Toledo to direct the operations of WSPD and of the other Fort Industry stations—WWVA Wheeling, WMMN Fairmont, WLOK Lima, WHIZ Zanesville, WAGA Atlanta.

Mr. Miller, who was under contract to serve as NAB president until June 30, which would have concluded a six-year tenure, advised the board he would leave Feb. 15. The absence from Wash-

Counsel Charges That Lea Whitewashed House Probe

A FEW hours after Eugene L. Garey resigned last Friday as general counsel of the House Select Committee to Investigate the FCC, Rep. E. E. Cox (D-Ga.), former Committee chairman, in a speech on the floor of the House declared that the "evil the Committee started out to correct must be corrected soon if all media of communication are not to be paralyzed and the right of free speech and free press be lost forever."

In a written resignation, addressed to Chairman Clarence F. Lea (D-Cal.), who succeeded Rep. Cox, Mr. Garey directly charged the Californian had "repeatedly ignored the mandate of the House, stymied the staff in its work, and converted the investigation to a sheer whitewashing affair". Resigning with Mr. Garey were his assistants, Fred R. Walker, Ambrose

V. McCall and Milton I. Hauser.

Chairman Lea left Washington Thursday night for a weekend rest, according to his office. Other Committee members were noncommittal, pending return of the chairman. Rep. Louis E. Miller (R-Mo.) and Rep. Richard B. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.), who broke Feb. 16 with the majority [BROADCASTING, Feb. 21] over procedure of Committee hearings, indicated that action of the majority in postponing hearings in the December 1940 sale of WMCA New York, plus Mr. Garey's resignation is "just the beginning" of sensational developments.

Rep. Wigglesworth has asked permission to address the House Tuesday (Feb. 29) and Chairman Lea will follow him. Rep. Miller also said he would have "something to say" this week. Both Republicans promised that the investigation, though temporarily halted and probably forced to discontinue, will

Record Rule Entails Cost of $750,000

Shortage of Equipment And Manpower Also Are Factors

By BILL BAILEY

ADOPTION of a proposed FCC rule, under Order 119 promulgated Feb. 1 [BROADCASTING, Feb. 7], to force networks to record all programs and keep such records one year would cost the nation's four major and 35 regional networks three-quarters of a million dollars for the first year, according to a trade survey.

Oral argument on the proposed regulation, intended as a new Sec. 3.409 of the FCC Rules & Regulations, has been set for March 15 before the Commission en banc. Deadline for filing briefs and requests for oral argument is Wednesday (March 1).

Equipment Not Available

Aside from the cost, adoption of the rule would confront networks with the possibility of daily violations, inasmuch as equipment and materials necessary to carry out such a regulation are not now available. Officials of the War Production Board, though not formally apprised of the proposed action by the FCC, have conducted their own investigation to ascertain if sufficient equipment is held by the 39 networks to record all programs, BROADCASTING learned last week.

WPB declined comment, but it was reliably reported that should the FCC rule be put into effect, the only means of assuring the networks of sufficient equipment to record all programs would be to divert several hundred recording machines from necessary military operations to civilian use. Since the country is at war, it was said, WPB would take no such action.

There also exists an acute shortage of the elements which go into the making of recording discs and tape, especially vinylite and shellac. In that connection the WPB is understood to be strongly opposed to diversion of short supplies from essential industries to the networks.

Another factor which would work hardship, should networks be required to record all programs, would be local fire regulations. Since materials used in both instantaneous and other methods of disc recording, as well as film, are inflammable, fire prevention laws require that such materials be stored in metal fireproof containers, approved by the Fire Underwriters Assn.

Again it was pointed out that the necessary metal for the manufacture of sufficient approved filing cabinets and cases to handle a year's supply of recordings is not available. Thus, if the rule is adopted, networks would be faced with violating local fire prevention ordinances.

In announcing the proposed rule the Commission's public notice said "it does not require stations to record local or non-network programs since to require recording of all local programs might impose a hardship on many of the smaller stations. No similar hardship would be involved for the network programs, it is felt."

Regionals Hard Hit

But the same announcement said that the proposed new section "would require that every radio program broadcast over a regional or national network be recorded by the station at which the program originates". In that connection the trade survey disclosed that the 35 regional networks comprise 280 stations, of which 229 either originate network broadcasts or are potential originators.

Inasmuch as at some time or another virtually every affiliate of the major networks is called upon to feed programs, adoption of Sec. 3.409 would mean that every network-affiliated station in the country would be obligated to install recording equipment to be ready for any eventuality.

Most programs on the Blue, CBS and NBC originate in New York, Chicago, Hollywood and Washington, while MBS network is fed by affiliates throughout the country. Available figures indicate that the proposed rule would entail a minimum cost to the major networks of $400,000 for the first year, including some 60 to 85 recording sets in addition to those on hand, and from 90 to 100 technicians and clerks. Those figures take into account only the necessary requirements for recording in New York, Chicago, Washington and the West Coast. Cost of recording the normal originations at affiliated stations was estimated at $50,000.

The major network estimates were based on continuous operation, whereas the regional networks would be faced with the problem of parttime engineers or working regular staff technicians overtime, inasmuch as many of the smaller nets feed programs only at intervals.

In virtually all of the 39 networks, one or more engineers above present staffs would be required. Broadcasters have been faced with an acute shortage of technical personnel. Scores of stations are training women to handle studio controls. Some have lost their only transmitter engineers to the military services and with induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, radio faces a still more acute manpower problem.

Motive behind the proposed regulation brought from the various FCC Commissioners divers interpretations. While there was a general denial that the FCC had program supervision in mind, the public notice issued Feb. 1 said, in part: "In carrying out its obligation under . . . the Act, it frequently becomes important for the Commission to know what was said on a particular program."

Political Angle?

In some quarters at the Commission it was reported that the proposed regulation is meant to appease certain individual Senators and Representatives whose names have been used frequently by certain commentators. Those Congressmen have called on the FCC to produce transcriptions of the commentaries in question. Because of the recent increase in such demands from Capitol Hill, the Commission majority was reported ready to acquiesce by adopting Sec. 3.409.

Another version was that the Commission wanted to be sure that in the coming campaign the networks are giving equal time to all candidates.

Should the rule be adopted it was pointed out that it could be the means of terminating some regional network broadcasts. Even the major network programs might necessarily be confined to the four top centers of origination.

Regional networks, which have provided rural and small urban

CANCELLATION by three Baltimore stations of C. E. Hooper Reports was confirmed last week, but without formal explanation from the station managements. It was reported that WBAL, WFBR and WCBM had notified Hooper of their decision to discontinue the audience measuring service, reached at an informal meeting attended by the executives, along with a representative of WCAO. WITH, the fifth Baltimore station, was not represented.

Whether current discussions over audience service had a bearing on the action of the Baltimore stations was not disclosed. At Hooper headquarters the resignations were acknowledged, but it was said the matter would be explored promptly with the stations.

Wanted—An Industry-Wide Trade Group

I AM happy that the NAB Board has indicated it would accept the applications for membership of stations with which I am associated. Tom Symons (the late T. W. Symons of KFPY Spokane; KXL Portland and KGIR Butte) and I resigned during the St. Louis debacle because we felt that the NAB was not representing the interest of independent stations. Its management, in our opinion, was under the direct control of the networks. Their domination of the St. Louis meeting and in the copyright controversy, I believe, bore out our convictions.

Recalls 1939 Meeting

This year, I believed the networks when their spokesmen said they were going to get rid of Mr. Miller at the Chicago Board meeting. Then some of the Board members came to Washington following the FM meeting in New York and I learned of the activities of certain well-known broadcasters in Mr. Miller's behalf. These broadcasters kept the long-distance telephone lines hot until I began to think Mr. Miller was going to "stay in", at least until July 1, when his contract expires. I must be getting soft to underestimate the networks' ability.

During the 1939 Atlantic City NAB Convention the networks seemingly went along with the idea of clearing music at the source. At a meeting in Washington, immediately following the convention, Mr. Miller learned that the networks considered the Convention just so many words and had no intention of assuming responsibility for program content. From that time until now, in my opinion, Mr. Miller was so definitely under the networks' domination on every major issue that it became virtually impossible for him to adequately represent the viewpoint of the independent broadcaster.

The reason, of course, for Mr. Miller's "resignation" is not the apparent one that was widely advertised at the Board meeting. It goes much deeper than that. The plain fact is the Board members were sold a "bill of goods" in a clever campaign preceding the actual meeting. In my opinion, probably for the first time, Mr. Miller did not follow the networks' bidding when he refused to insert all the suggestions of the networks into NAB's own proposed changes of the Bill, S-814. He opposed the networks, I believe, because he maintained that the networks proposed amendments were for their own particular benefits and not necessarily for the benefit of the whole industry. It wasn't until this happened and until he disagreed with the networks with respect to future policy on Mr. Petrillo that

Craney Says Networks Are in Control Of Present Association

By E. B. CRANEY
General Manager, Z-Bar Network, Butte, Mont.

the networks really went to work on Mr. Miller.

But enough of the past; let us look and build for the future. Startling as this statement may seem to many broadcasters, the independent stations have no one; let me repeat that, absolutely no one who is their recognized representative before Congress and the administrative departments. By this, I mean that the NAB as now constituted never has, does not now, and there is no immediate prospect that it will represent what it purports to represent—namely, the independent broadcasters of America.

A Voice Needed

Our problem—the problem of the broadcasters—is not Mr. Miller or Mr. [J. Harold] Ryan or any other successor. Our problem is to make the Washington head of NAB a recognized representative of the independent stations of America so we may have at least as powerful a voice in our Nation's Capital as does any one of our national networks.

Contrary to what one may hear from some network officials, I am not opposed to networks as such nor do I have any personal feeling toward any individual connected with any network. There can be no disagreement that network broadcasting has performed a noteworthy service for the people of the United States.

The networks have made available to America instant communication and exchange of a few selected ideas from coast to coast; they have brought the city to the country and made available to all our people entertainment and information which in the past has been available to but a few. However, no one will contend that all network policies are such that they have made for "good" broadcasting. I believe some of their policies have led to very bad broadcasting and at times the networks have rendered a very distinct disservice to the American listening public.

I do not want to see American broadcasting government-owned or government-operated. Neither do I wish to see a broadcast system which is privately-owned but is subservient to any one particular political, social or economic ideology, or to the ideologies of a few men in a single metropolitan area who attempt to run our media of national mass communication.

Radio's Duty

Today a free people cannot maintain a free government unless they have a free radio—a radio available alike to minorities of all races and creeds. Frequencies, we must remember, whether they be AM, FM, facsimile or television, in use or out of use, are not the personal property of the radio station owner. Radio frequencies belong to no one and to everyone—the butcher, the lawyer, the garbage collector, and their wives and children have just as great a proprietary interest in them as the station operator.

Under our system it is not the prerogative of the licensee to earn as much as he can from exploitation of a temporary grant. Rather it is his duty to make it a useful medium of communication for the use of the representatives of majorities and minorities alike. Radio must be a medium of information, education and entertainment for all the people; a frequency is licensed to a station only so long as its use is administered with the judgment of a Solomon and from the use of which a licensee is allowed a very fair profit for his endeavors. That is the American Way—let us protect it.

Congress is conducting hearings which began in July, 1943, affecting American radio. Dirty linen is being dragged about. Let us hope, for the good of the American people, that it is properly cleaned.

During November and December of last year the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce held hearings on a radio bill, S-814. Many people paraded before this Committee. A few independent broadcasters, representatives of the FCC, some labor officials, heads of two major networks (the other two networks refused to send representatives even after receiving verbal and wired invitations), officials of the FCC Bar Association and of the NAB—these were the people who testified. A transcript of those hearings is now available. I do not urge that every word of the hearings be read, but I do emphasize that there are some paragraphs that should be read by every broadcaster.

Good and Bad

There are paragraphs from which station operators will learn what members of Congress and qualified witnesses consider bad broadcasting—broadcasting which is not in the public interest and for which a renewal of license could and should be refused.

There are paragraphs from which broadcasters may learn what is considered good broadcasting.

There are paragraphs from which the whole industry may learn that no intelligent person should interpret a 20-page Supreme Court decision on the basis of five words in one of its paragraphs. Those five words "the composition of that traffic", even in themselves, do not mean Government control of program content.

There are paragraphs from which the broadcaster may learn that there are limitations on the power of the FCC—limitations, I should add, which have not always been observed by the FCC and for which they have been publicly censured. Lack of proper reporting by the trade press and in the NAB bulletins is the reason why a majority of the industry does not know all the facts, and why the cold factual record should be read by every broadcaster.

Many may be amazed to learn that those who are supposed to represent the industry said they wanted an FCC with power only to grant licenses and yet agreed that such broadcasters as Baker, Schu-

Mr. Craney

ED CRANEY is no stranger to broadcasters. Identified with practically every major controversy of the craft for a dozen years, he quit the NAB at the stormy St. Louis convention in 1941, announcing he wouldn't return until there was a change. With the departure of Neville Miller as NAB president, he applied for readmission, which was approved by the NAB board Feb. 3.

Friend and confidante of Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.), Mr. Craney in characteristic fashion, volunteers his views herewith from his vantage point as unofficial attache of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee now writing a new radio law.

NBC Seeks Change in Video-FM Rule

Philco and WGN Apply For Visual Service; WKY-KLZ File

WITH filing of applications for five commercial television stations and a like number of FM outlets in cities in which it now maintains owned and operated standard stations, NBC last week petitioned the FCC to liberalize its regulations limiting the number of high frequency stations which may be operated by a single company. The regulations now set a limit of three television and six FM stations to the same company.

Indicating heightened interest in these new services, 18 applications—eight FM and ten television—were filed last week with the Commission. In addition to the 10 applications by NBC, Oklahoma Publishing Co. and KLZ Broadcasting Co., affiliated organizations, filed applications for both television and FM outlets in Oklahoma City and Denver. Philco Radio & Television Co. at the same time filed for two new commercial television stations, a Channel 4 outlet for Washington, D. C., and a Channel 9 station for New York. Likewise, an application of WGN Chicago requests a Channel 4 television outlet for the Chicago area. The sheaf of NBC applications reflected the intention of that network to parallel each owned station in the standard band with a television and FM station.

Two FM Pending

NBC already has pending two applications for new FM stations in Chicago and New York, and a commercial television application for Washington. NBC application which has been pending for a commercial television outlet in Philadelphia was dismissed at NBC's request on Feb. 17.

The new FM applications of NBC request stations in Washington, Cleveland, Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles. The television applications filed last week are for Cleveland, Chicago, Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles outlets. Standard broadcast stations now owned and operated by NBC are WEAJ New York, WRC Washington, WTAM Cleveland, WMAQ Chicago, KOA Denver and KPO San Francisco.

Applications in behalf of properties of the Oklahoma Publishing Co. for both television and FM outlets to supplement existing standard facilities also were filed with the FCC last week. In Oklahoma City, where the company operates WKY, applications were filed for a television station on Channel 1 and an FM station on 44,500 kc with coverage of 21,000 sq. mi. In Denver, where KLZ is affiliated with Oklahoma Publishing Co. management, applications have been filed for a television station on Channel 3 and for an FM station on 43,500 kc with coverage of 31,400 sq. mi. unlimited time.

NBC's application for a New York FM outlet requests 45,100 kc with coverage of 8,500 sq. mi. This application was originally filed in 1940, along with an application for a similar outlet in Chicago on 46,300 kc with 10,800 sq. mi. coverage.

NBC's video application for Chicago calls for a Channel 1 station with unlimited time. The network already operates a commercial television outlet in New York, WNBT, which is a Channel 1 station.

Application for the NBC Washington FM outlet requests frequency of 44,300 kc. Television application now pending for Washington is for a Channel 2 station. Original application filed in June 1941 was granted in December of that year and assigned call letters of WNBW. The construction permit subsequently expired and was cancelled by NBC request. The application was refiled in May 1943.

West Coast NBC applications call for a new FM station on 43,900 kc and a Channel 4 television station for San Francisco, and a 44,100 kc FM outlet and a Channel 3 television station for Los Angeles.

The Cleveland NBC applications are for an FM station on 43,700 kc and a television station on Channel 1. FM application for Denver asks for 43,900 kc and the requested Denver video outlet is for Channel 2.

The Commission was asked in the petitions accompanying the NBC applications to amend, through deletion of certain provisions, those sections of its regulations which specify that the ownership, operation or control of more than three television stations or six FM stations by the same company constitute a "concentration of control" inconsistent with public interest.

Other applications for new broadcast facilities received by the FCC last week included WICA Ashtabula, Ohio, for an FM station on 48,900 kc with a coverage of 3,116 sq. mi. The Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, licensees of WHAS Louisville, filed for a construction permit for a temporary Class II experimental broadcast station to be operated on 45,700 kc with power of 1 kw, utilizing special emission.

York County Broadcasting Co. of Rock Hill, S. C., applied for a new local standard station. Outlet is to operate unlimited time on 1380 kc with 250 w. Reinstatement of an application for a new FM station was made by Cherry & Webb Broadcasting Co. of Providence, R. I., licensee of WPRO, seeking 47,500 kc with 6,207 sq. mi. coverage.

NAB Legislative Committee Slated for Senate Meeting

POSSIBILITY that a revised version of the White-Wheeler Bill (S-814) to amend the Communications Act of 1934 will be ready for consideration of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee late this week or sometime next week appeared likely last Friday following a series of conferences between the co-authors, Sens. Wheeler (D-Mont.) and White (R-Me.). Whether legislation will be passed by this Congress appeared to be a toss-up.

Following a conference last Friday between Neville Miller, retiring NAB president, and J. Harold Ryan, president-elect, NAB called a meeting of its Legislative Committee for Tuesday (Feb. 29) in Washington. The broadcasters will meet with Sens. Wheeler and White after their own session.

Committee members were notified by wire last Friday of the call. They are: Don S. Elias, WWCN; Clair R. McCollough, WGAL; Joseph H. Ream, CBS; Frank M. Russell, NBC Washington; James D. Shouse, WLW; James W. Woodruff Jr., WRBL; G. Richard Shafto, WIS; Nathan Lord, WAVE; Ed Yocum, KGHI.

Officials of CBS and NBC conferred last week with Sen. Wheeler, Committee chairman. Meeting with him Wednesday were Paul W. Kesten, CBS executive vice-president; Joseph H. Ream, vice-president and secretary, and Earl Gammons, director of Washington operations. On Thursday Niles Trammell, NBC president, and Frank M. Russell vice-president in charge of Washington operations, met with Chairman Wheeler. Mr. Trammell and William S. Paley, CBS president now on leave overseas for the OWI, testified before the Committee during hearings on the measure last November and December.

At a Standstill

Sen. Wheeler said Thursday that he and Sen. White were "still working" on the bill. Sen. White said Friday that progress on the measure appeared to be at a "standstill". He indicated there still remain several points in the proposed law over which he and the chairman differ. "I haven't talked with Senator Wheeler for several days," said Sen. White. "I know what I think should be in the law. Just when the bill will be ready for the Committee is largely up to the chairman."

Pall Mall Acquires Jack Benny Series

Comedian Understood to Get $25,000 Weekly for Show

AMERICAN CIGARETTE & Cigar Co., New York, will sponsor Jack Benny in his present 7-7:30 p.m. Sunday spot on NBC, beginning next fall, the comedian announced last Thursday. He has signed a three-year contract with the company to broadcast a weekly program for Pall Mall Cigarettes, he stated, with his 10-year association with General Foods which he described as "10 of the happiest years of my career", coming to an end with the broadcast of June 11.

The Sunday evening period on NBC is controlled by Benny under the terms of his last contract with General Foods, a situation believed to be unique in radio. When the contract was signed the comedian received from NBC a letter specifying that should he not continue under the same sponsorship at the conclusion of the contract, he should have the right to turn that choice spot over to any other sponsor—as long as the company is acceptable to NBC.

Pay Boost Claimed

Financial details of the new contract were not disclosed but it is understood that the cigarette company will pay $25,000 for the program each week, that sum covering the orchestra and all other talent on the broadcast, which is produced and sold by Mr. Benny as a package. His current contract reportedly is for $22,500 weekly.

White's New Post

SEN. WALLACE H. WHITE Jr., of Maine, co-author of the Radio Acts of 1927 and 1934, and best informed man in Congress on radio, is expected to become the Republican leader of the Senate with the death last Friday of Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon. He has been acting minority leader since last November, when Sen. McNary underwent a brain operation. He is co-author of the White-Wheeler Bill (S-814) to rewrite the Communications Act, and is ranking minority member of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Wildroot Plans

WILDROOT Co., Buffalo, makers of toilet preparations and hair tonics, has completed plans for the largest advertising campaign in its history. The 1944 budget calls for an expenditure of $1,000,000, the largest proportion to be used for radio.

Haven (Conn.) Central Labor Council, opposing "the absorbing of the radio industry by the newspaper industry" and urging legislation "to prevent the continuance of this monopolistic trend" has been referred to the Committee. It was presented in the Senate by Sen. Maloney (D-Conn.) Feb. 17.

Dick Connor Quits MBS Station Post

Future Plans Not Divulged; Godwin Acting Director

RICHARD F. CONNOR has resigned as director of station relations of MBS to return to his home at Manhattan Beach, Cal., the network announced last week. Charles Godwin, manager of the southern division of Mutual's station relations department, has been named acting director of the department until a successor to Mr. Connor has been appointed. Mr. Connor's plans were not divulged.

Mr. Connor joined MBS last spring, leaving the post of station relations chief of the Office of War

Mr. Connor Mr. Godwin

Information to accept the network assignment. A former West Coast newspaperman, he broke into radio in 1929 at KMIC Inglewood, Cal. (now KRKD) and subsequently served as general manager of KMPC Beverly Hills.

He later organized his own advertising agency in Los Angeles, which he operated until January 1941, when he accepted a special assignment to broadcast affairs of state on the Don Lee Network. After Pearl Harbor Mr. Connor was chosen as Radio Coordinator of the Southern California Broadcasters Assn., developing a wartime emergency radio plan which was widely copied in other areas. In December 1942 he joined the OWI.

R. H. MACY & Co., New York, has opened offices in the Chicago Merchandise Mart to operate in conjunction with the May department stores. Combined purchases of these companies was estimated at $400,000,000 annually by the Chicago general manager, Simon M. Jacobs.

Fate of NAB Convention Next August May Hinge on Travel Appeal of ODT

ALTHOUGH plans tentatively have been made for the 1944 NAB convention in Chicago Aug. 28-31, final determination will be withheld pending consideration of the latest appeal of the Office of Defense Transportation that American business "hold the line" against conventions, trade shows and other meetings as a means of curtailing travel.

J. Harold Ryan, president-elect of the NAB, told BROADCASTING last week that he would canvass the war conference-convention matter as one of his first orders of business in taking over the NAB post, probably early in April. Mr. Ryan has not set the definite date for his departure from the Office of Censorship, where he is assistant director in charge of broadcasting, pending the breaking-in of his successor.

ODT's Viewpoint

In an announcement Feb. 21, Joseph B. Eastman, director of ODT, urged against holding of meetings not connected with the war effort, because of the unnecessary burden on transportation and on hotels. He said many conventions have been cancelled in the past in response to his earlier requests, but that some organizations have declined to call off their meetings. As a result, some organizations that have previously cancelled meetings "have felt they could not conform with our convention policy."

Mr. Eastman made it clear that ODT has no power and "certainly no desire to infringe on the exercise" of the right to hold meetings. Cancellation of a convention, therefore, he said, must be a voluntary act on the part of those responsible for the organization's affairs.

He pointed out that the transportation problem is extremely serious now because of the tremendous volume of military and highly important business traffic. He urged all organizations scheduling meetings to reconsider their plans, irrespective of the relationship of the organization to the war effort. The months ahead will be "a very critical time for transportation in this country," he said.

Mr. Ryan declared that the whole matter of the NAB annual meeting will be reappraised in the light of then prevailing conditions. It is presumed he will first take up the matter with the NAB board of directors and possibly with the membership. The fact that radio is so directly tied into the war interest and that other media organizations, such as the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., have scheduled conventions, will be taken into account.

The convention originally was set for April 10-13 at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. Because of indications from ODT on the critical travel situation, the NAB board, at its meeting in Chicago Feb. 2-3, established the tentative August 28-31 dates at the Palmer House in Chicago.

Rubens Now Captain

WALTER L. RUBENS, president of the Walter L. Rubens & Co. Adv. Agency, Chicago, now on leave with the Army, has been promoted to captain. Warren Seelye and Helen Shaney are currently in active charge of the Chicago agency. Mr. Rubens enlisted in the Army in July 1942 and subsequently went to Officer's Candidate School. He was commissioned a 2nd lieutenant last March and is now stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Gain in Farm Listening Causes Battery Shortage

INCREASED radio listening by farmers was indicated in a report issued last week which gave that as the reason why farmers have been unable to buy batteries as often as desired, rather than because of restrictions on production or distribution of batteries. To the contrary, WPB pointed out that last year the dry battery industry produced the equivalent of 3,750,000 radio battery packs, compared with 3,500,000 in 1940. Possibility of increasing the supply of dry batteries above the 1943 figure appears remote at this time, the WPB reported.

Shipments of No. 6 (6-inch) type batteries, including multiple types, were almost exactly the same in 1943 as in 1940. These batteries are used to a large extent in rural areas. Thus the hope of meeting farmers' battery needs in 1944 [BROADCASTING, July 26, 1943] is still slight, according to WPB.

Nets to Aid Red Cross In Campaign for Funds

NETWORKS will take an active part in the annual Red Cross Drive to raise $200,000,000. War Fund Meeting in Madison Square Garden Feb. 29 at which Thomas E. Dewey and Eleanor Roosevelt will speak, is to be carried by Mutual. The same day Mutual will carry story of blood donated in Red Cross Center to the interviewing of soldiers saved by plasma in Halloran Hospital, New York. Mrs. Jimmy Doolittle will speak on This Is Fort Dix, MBS show and drive will be highlighted on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports boxing matches.

Experiences of Red Cross workers in England with former Blue producer is scheduled and Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, Surgeon General of the Army, will speak on CBS. A dramatic sketch by William Robeson, CBS director, will be heard. A two-way broadcast from United States and fighting fronts is scheduled for NBC, with John Vandercook narrating. Tallulah Bankhead will play leading role in repeat broadcast of I Served on Bataan.

U. S. MARTIME Commission has named a Liberty ship for Raymond Clapper, Mutual commentator and Scripps-Howard columnist who was killed in a plane collision during the invasion of the Marshall Islands.

Stabbed in Back

BROADCASTERS attending the 12th NAB district meeting in Tulsa last Monday found themselves lampooned via their own program offerings. A presentation of "Dr. Holderman, of the Huffman Research Institute" covered a scholarly discourse, supported by sample off-the-air recordings panning soap operas, multiple-spotting, radio preachers and commentators. "Dr. Holderman" was later introduced as Ben Henneke, professor of speech and dramatics at Tulsa U. and parttime KVOO announcer.

The noisy little building that keeps things

QUIET

The keen ear of FM is one of the reasons for its superior reception. This very accuracy presents an engineering problem, for every sound is picked up and accurately relayed . . . even the faint rumble of a machine in the building.

So WMFM engineers worked closely with the architects and builders of Milwaukee's Ultra-Modern Radio City. They determined to keep every studio absolutely sound-proof. They succeeded.

Hence the building in the back of Radio City. Here are housed the generators, heating plant, air-conditioning equipment and other necessary, though noisy, machinery.

Perfection is the goal at WMFM. Perfection that combines the miracle of static-free, crystal-clear FM, with the finest broadcasting equipment and facilities . . . perfection in programming WMFM to the wants and needs of its community.

These ingredients have won the approval, enthusiasm and listenership of thousands of Wisconsin families.

Broadcasters, Publishers Are Asked To Supply Trained Men for Overseas

ELMER DAVIS, OWI director, called upon broadcasters and newspaper publishers last week to provide 450 trained men to assist OWI in psychological warfare operations overseas in connection with "impending military operations".

Following a two-day meeting with members of the Radio News & Policy Committee, the Newspaper Advisory Committee, and the War Advertising Council, during which OWI's special needs were reviewed in detail, Mr. Davis issued an appeal for 100 newsmen; 60 radio engineers; 30 radio announcers, script writers and producers; 20 radiophoto editors and reproduction editors; 20 picture editors and photographers; 150 language specialists; 50 publication writers, artists, layout men and printing experts; and 20 Morse code operators.

Committee Named

To assist OWI in recruiting these men, Mr. Davis appointed a special committee representing the broadcasting, newspaper and advertising industries. The committee includes: Earl Gammons, CBS Washington; Kenneth Berkeley, Blue, Washington; Charles C. Barry, eastern program manager, Blue; Lewis Allen Weiss, vice-president, Don Lee; Carlton Smith, NBC Washington; William Brooks, director, news and special events, NBC; Palmer Hoyt, publisher, Portland Oregonian (KGW-KEX); Paul West, president, Assn. of National Advertisers; T. S. Repplier, general manager, WAC.

Mr. Davis assured the Committee the State and War Departments not only endorsed the program, but called upon OWI for its fulfillment. He announced that the majority of those recruited would go abroad before many months pass, that many would go overseas within a few weeks and that others would replace OWI men in America who are urgently needed abroad.

Specific types of candidates required for "this pressing program" were described as follows:

Radio Engineers: All types of qualified radio engineers can be used for the creation and repair of transmitters, recording, studio and operation work. Men with five to ten years of experience in this field can be employed for overseas duty. They should be at least 25 years old, preferably older. . . . These men will be sent overseas as rapidly as they can be cleared as training in this country is not essential. Men experienced in sending and receiving radiophotos, or interested in this subject, are badly needed.

Radio Announcers, Script Writers, Producers: These must be top-notch men with long radio or related experience if we are to get them cleared. Men experienced in operating small radio stations can also be used to take over and run radio stations in liberated areas.

Radiophoto Editors and Reproduction Editors: These men should be experienced in reproduction processes as they will actually produce airborne and other leaflets on the field. Training is given on portable Davidson presses which operate close behind the lines in conjunction with radiophoto receivers. Technical skill and experience are important factors.

Language Specialists: Men truly bilingual can be used in many ways: interrogation of prisoners, obtaining intelligence, control of foreign newspapers, announcing, translations, liaison with local press and monitoring fall within this field. Some of highest capability can be employed. Perfect language ability is recognized as a rare skill and therefore carries considerable weight in obtaining permits to go overseas.

Morse Code Operators: Eventually 200 of these men will be required to receive news broadcasts and to intercept enemy transmissions. Ability to handle 25 to 30 words a minute is essential although training courses are conducted for those not up to this speed.

OWI stated that men aged 38 to 45 are preferred but that men from 30 to 37 who are especially qualified will be considered for jobs as radio announcers, script writers, producers, radiophoto editors and reproduction editors. Candidates should write to Ralph Stillman, OWI Outpost Service Bureau, 250 W. 57th St., New York.

Salaries for men overseas range from $2,600 to $6,500 with the bulk falling in the $3,800-$4,600 range. In addition, living allowances will practically cover costs abroad. Working conditions were described by OWI as "hard" and "trying" and living accommodations generally "scarce and poor". OWI also cautioned that "people are crowded together and illness is frequent. Ability to withstand hardships and changing conditions is essential to effective work and personal satisfaction".

The inclusion of engineers in the recruiting program, OWI officials explained, carries the six-month rotating privilege previously offered to broadcasting stations by James O. Weldon, Chief of the Bureau of Communications Facilities, as an incentive to releasing technicians for overseas service [BROADCASTING, Jan. 31]. Since the publication of BROADCASTING's article, a number of stations have offered to make engineers available, it was stated, and from 10 to 15 men are being considered as definite prospects.

Qualified men are hired within 10 days to two weeks and are sent abroad within six weeks. Part of this delay, it was pointed out, is due to difficulties in obtaining transportation but efforts are being made to improve this situation. In the interval between appointment and departure for overseas, the men are given various inoculations and a short period of training to fill in gaps in their experience. At present, engineers are sent to the European and Mediterranean theatres of war.

Health Standards

Engineer applicants must enjoy generally good health for the OWI overseas posts but handicaps which do not interfere with the ability to carry on work are no bar to acceptance. A number of 4-F's have been sent overseas and men so classified because of minor disabilities are eligible. While OWI prefers men not eligible for military service, candidates are considered regardless of their Selective Service status.

In addition to radio, newspaper and advertising men, the following OWI officials attended the meeting called by Mr. Davis: Edward Klauer, Associate Director; George Healy Jr., Director, Domestic Branch; and Philip H. Cohen, Chief, Domestic Radio Bureau.

Grocers Laud Radio

"BEHIND THE FIGURES," bulletin of the U. S. Wholesale Grocers' Assn. cites 1943 radio advertising as it affected the popularity of leading processors' brands. Under the heading, "Increasing Sales for Food Products," the bulletin points out that General Foods spent $4,868,710 on 1943 radio advertising, General Mills, $2,879,392, Kellogg Co., $1,803,079; Quaker Oats Co., $1,580,328; and Campbell Soup Co., $1,540,680. "These comments," the association's bulletin reveals "merely state statistically what every wholesale grocer knows: Extensive and persistent publicity has created and developed consumer demand for national brands."

Caution Is Urged In Handling News

Price Tells of Danger From Careless Rewriting

BROADCASTERS who rewrite both domestic and foreign news before putting it on the air were cautioned last week by Byron Price, Director of Censorship, against injecting any new information or meaning, without appropriate authority, into overseas or accredited correspondents' dispatches. "Such rewriting," Mr. Price pointed out, "can force correspondents to accept responsibility for material which they did not originate, and may cause the curtailing of their privileges." There is also the security danger, which is apparent, Mr. Price's statement pointed out.

The memorandum, which went out to all correspondents and broadcasters, follows:

The handling of material received from abroad and from accredited correspondents can present a danger not only to national security, but to wartime news operations, if in rewriting the material, the meaning is changed or new information is added which conflicts with the Codes without appropriate authority.

The security danger is apparent. Also, such rewriting can force correspondents to accept responsibility for material which they did not originate, and may cause curtailing of their privileges.

There is no objection to normal editing and handling, but any new information or meaning added without appropriate authority to overseas or accredited correspondents' dispatches should come from the same source as the original. Cooperation is earnestly requested.

Shortwave Rebroadcasts

UNITED NATIONS Radio Algiers (North Africa) and Radio Bari (Italy) began a regular schedule of rebroadcasts of a number of CBS musical programs, including the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, Philadelphia Orchestra, Andre Kostelanetz Orchestra, Invitation to Music, Family Hour, Your Hit Parade and several dance bands. Transmitted in English by shortwave, the programs are picked up and rebroadcast by the stations at Algiers and Bari, with cut-in announcements in French and Italian, respectively. Most of the programs are also beamed to Latin America in Spanish and Portuguese, CBS reports, so they are now heard in five languages.

Westinghouse on Blue

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC & MFG. Co., Pittsburgh, will start a quarter-hour thrice-weekly musical show, starring Sally Sweetland, formerly heard as one of the Music Maids on the Bing Crosby broadcasts; the King's Men, male quartet heard on the Fibber McGee & Molly programs; a 16-voice male chorus and a piano duo, on a Blue Network of 165 stations, on March 13. New series is in addition to the Sunday afternoon series on NBC. McCann-Erickson, New York, is agency.

BLONDIE originates at KNX ...so does MEET JOE PUBLIC

COLUMBIA'S STATION
FOR ALL
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

THERE'S no nobler folk-cry on the air than Dagwood Bumstead's anguished S.O.S.: "Blon-dee!" There's no more satisfying program: as sure as Morgenthau's collections you know that Dagwood is going to get into new trouble—probably with Mister Dithers—and Blondie is going to get him out of it. Hats off, men and women, to Blondie. Dials on, folks, to Blondie, from Portland, Maine to the same in Oregon.

And why has the program taken America? Superb writing, of course, and notable acting by Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake. But what converts a perfect studio-performance into a flawless broadcast is the smooth, professional handling of KNX' highly unusual facilities—a quality of electronic showmanship that polishes some two dozen of radio's best shows across the continent.

This same polish turns out Art Baker's Meet Joe Public for local listeners throughout Southern California. It's a unique interview-program—it picks audience-listeners, analyzes their reactions to questions of the day, enlists them in songs, and keeps good-nature in high gear from sign-on to sign-off—with Art Baker bouncing up and down the aisles every minute. Unpredictable...all ad lib...and yet the show has a clearly defined and unusual pattern.

You can't buy in on it—it's sponsored. You might whistle at it, but only in fun. But by all means listen to it as an example of KNX production skill...the skill that KNX will put to work for you on your next program. Ask us or Radio Sales to tell you about the KNX shows that are for sale, too.

FCC Finds 52 Clear Stations Averaged '43 $1,000,000 Sales

Analysis, Released Without Explanation, Shows 50 kw Station Return of Almost 50 Millions

THE NATION'S 52 stations operating with 50,000 w on clear or duplicated clear channels had average individual net time sales of approximately $1,000,000 during 1943, according to an analysis released last Wednesday by the FCC. Aggregate net time sales totaled $49,793,000 for the calendar year, an increase of 18% over the 1942 figure.

The FCC study, prepared by its accounting department, covered the location, ownership, networks and affiliations of the 52 stations, in addition to the business breakdown. It marked the first time the FCC had released such a study.

Reason Not Cited

Inquiries at the Commission failed to reveal the reason for the compilation at this time. In some quarters it was viewed as an effort to spotlight the status and revenues of the bigger stations. Whether the release has any relationship to pending legislation for revision of the Communications Act of 1934, now under consideration by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, was the basis for some conjecture.

It is known that consideration has been given to a possible limitation on power of clear channel stations of 50,000 w, as a means of thwarting higher powers for standard broadcast stations.

It was stated at the FCC accounting department that the clear channel analysis is the first of a series covering all classes of stations. Case history breakdowns of regionals, locals and high-power regionals, by power categories, are being prepared and will be made public as soon as completed. Any association with pending legislation was disclaimed.

Net time sales, under radio accounting practice, represent gross billings less frequency and promotional discounts and therefore constitute gross receipts from the sale of time. These receipts are before deduction of agency commissions.

The full text of the FCC release follows:

RE: CLEAR CHANNEL 50,000 WATT STATIONS

During the year 1943 there were 52 standard broadcast stations operating with power of 50 kw., one of these stations (WTOP) being located in the District of Columbia, and the remaining 51 located in 25 states, as follows:

1 in each of 14 states: KIRO Seattle, Wash.; KMOX St. Louis, Mo.; KOA Denver, Colo.; KOB Albuquerque, N. Mex.; KSL Salt Lake City, Utah; KVOO Tulsa, Okla.; WBAL Baltimore, Md.; WBZ Boston, Mass.; WHAS Louisville, Ky.; WJR Detroit, Mich.; WRVA Richmond, Va.; WSB Atlanta, Ga.; WTIC Hartford, Conn.; WWVA Wheeling, W. Va.

2 in each of 5 states: Iowa: KXEL Waterloo; WEO Des Moines; Louisiana: KWKH Shreveport; WWL New Orleans; Minnesota: KSTP St. Paul; WCCO Minneapolis; North Carolina: WBT Charlotte;

WPTF Raleigh; Tennessee: WLAC and WSM Nashville; 3 in each of 3 states: California: KFI and KNX Los Angeles; KPO San Francisco; Ohio: WKCY and WLW, Cincinnati; WTAM Cleveland; Pennsylvania: KDKA Pittsburgh; KYW and WCAU Philadelphia. 5 in the State of Illinois (Chicago): WBBM WENR WGN WLS WMAQ.

5 in the State of Texas: KRLD and WFAA Dallas; KTRH Houston; WBAF Ft. Worth; WOAI San Antonio.

8 in the State of New York (5 of which are located in New York City): New York City: WABC WEAF WHN WJZ WOR; Schenectady: WGY; Rochester: WHAM; Buffalo: WKBW.

This is an increase of 19 stations operating with power of 50 kw over Jan. 1, 1938, and an increase of 3 over the year 1942. The 19 stations added since the beginning of 1938 are: KIRO Seattle; KOB Albuquerque; KRLD Dallas; KSTP St. Paul; KTRH Houston; KVOO Tulsa; KWKH Shreveport; KXEL Waterloo; KYW Philadelphia; WBAL Baltimore; WKCY Cincinnati; WHN New York; WKBW Buffalo; WLS Nashville; WOAI San Antonio; WPTF Raleigh; WRVA Richmond; WTOP Washington, D. C.; WWVA Wheeling.

The three stations added in 1943 are: KTRH Houston; KVOO Tulsa; KXEL Waterloo.

There are also two outstanding construction permits: KWBW Baylor University & Carr P. Collins, Corpus Christi, Texas; WINS Hearst Radio Inc., New York City, N. Y.

The 52 stations reported "net time sales" amounting to $49,793,000 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1943, and the same stations reported $42,029,000 for the year 1942, an increase of more than 18 percent, or $7,764,000. One of these stations reported a decrease in "net time sales" and the remaining 51, reported increases ranging from $30,000 to $540,000.

These stations may be grouped as follows:

1 station reporting a decrease of $52,000.

14 stations reporting increases of $30,000 to $75,000.

21 stations reporting increases of $75,000 to $150,000.

16 stations reporting increases of $150,000 or more.

These stations are outlets for the four major networks, as follows:

Blue (5 stations): KXEL Waterloo; WJZ New York City; WWVA Wheeling; WENR and WLS Chicago.

CBS (20 stations): KIRO Seattle; KMOX

1 Includes one station that operated with 5 kw and another that operated with 10 kw during 1942.

2 Includes one station that operated with 25 kw during 1942.

To the Rescue

SHORTLY before a transcribed broadcast of the NBC-Ronald Colman Everything for the Boys was to be aired over KDYL Salt Lake City recently, it was discovered that the disc was faulty, with one of the actor's voices badly garbled. But all ended well, for to the rescue came announcer John Wolfe. A new record was prepared, with John's voice dubbed into the bad portions so well that KDYL program director George Provol didn't even notice the repair job.

St. Louis; KNX Los Angeles; KRLD Dallas; KXL Salt Lake City; KTRH Houston; KWKH Shreveport; WABC New York City; WBBM Chicago; WBT Charlotte; WCAU Philadelphia; WCCO Minneapolis; WKCY Cincinnati; WHAS Louisville; WJR Detroit; WKBW Buffalo; WLAC Nashville; WRVA Richmond; WTOP Washington, D. C.; WWL New Orleans. NBC (24 stations): KDKA Pittsburgh; KFI Los Angeles; KOA Denver; KOB Albuquerque; KPO San Francisco; KSTP St. Paul; KVOO Tulsa; KYW Philadelphia; WBAL Baltimore; WBAF Ft. Worth; WBZ Boston; WEAF New York City; WFAA Dallas; WGY Schenectady; WHAM Rochester; WHO Des Moines; WLW Cincinnati; WMAQ Chicago; WOAI San Antonio; WPTF Raleigh; WSB Atlanta; WSM Nashville; WTAM Cleveland; WTIC Hartford.

Mutual (2 stations) WGN Chicago; WOR New York City.

The remaining station (WHN New York City) received revenue from intermittent network connection during the year 1942.

Fourteen of these stations are owned and operated by major networks:

Blue (2): WENR Chicago; WJZ New York City.

CBS (7): KMOX St. Louis; KNX Los Angeles; WABC New York City; WBBM Chicago; WBT Charlotte; WCCO Minneapolis; WTOP Washington, D. C.

NBC (5): KOA Denver; KPO San Francisco; WEAF New York City; WMAQ Chicago; WTAM Cleveland.

Radio in AT&T Saving

BROADCASTING stations participated in the $35,000,000 saving to users of certain interstate services furnished mainly by the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, according to the annual report of the AT&T for 1943. The Long Lines Department rates are under the jurisdiction of the FCC, which has jurisdiction over interstate rates only, the report stated. Operating revenues of the Bell System were $1,648,077,000, which showed an increase of $178,814,000 or 12.2% over 1942.

JUNGLE BROADCAST from Vella Lavella, in the Northern Solomons was conducted by Staff Sgt. James O. Hardin, Jr. (extreme right), former announcer-news man of WATL Atlanta and now a Marine Corps Combat Correspondent transcribing activities of his Marine Air Wing. For this broadcast he utilized five miles of telephone wire, strung between the chapel and his mobile trailer-studio. Marine personnel and natives, in the natural amphitheater, look on while Capt. A. H. Voyce, New Zealand chaplain, addresses the native choir in Roviana, the literary language of the Solomons. Staff Sgt. Hardin, a graduate of Emory U., was also affiliated with WMGA Moultrie, Ga. and WSB Atlanta.

Denver Delivers

STEEL

BEFORE the war, the outside world knew more about the scenery than the steel production of the Denver region.

Before the war, most everyone knew about its mountain playgrounds; few knew of its mines and minerals.

Before the war, you thought of wild game and trout; you heard little of Colorado's livestock industry and farm production.

Backstage, in peacetime, Colorado was a manufacturing, mining, agricultural state all the while.

It was because of this that, as early as 1941, a group of Denver manufacturers were able to begin fabricating destroyer escorts. These same firms, 1000 miles from the nearest salt water, are fabricating two-thirds of the nation's entire LCT (landing craft tank) production today.

Colorado's manufacturing facilities and its natural resources are producing at top speed. And there are more people working, earning, and spending today in the Denver market than ever before.

THE STEEL PLANT of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at Pueblo smashed all production records in 1943, shipping 895,872 net tons of steel. Its open hearth furnace output was a record 1,207,401 tons. Sharp increases will result this year from new equipment installations.

DENVER DELIVERS ... FOOD

Denver is one of the biggest livestock markets in the U. S. It led all other markets again in 1943 in number of sheep handled.

Shipments of fruits and vegetables increased 50% in 1943 over 1942.

Colorado is one of the nation's biggest producers of beans, onions, potatoes and sugar beets.

DENVER DELIVERS ... SALES

Dun & Bradstreet in mid-February reported Denver's retail trade to be 8 to 10 percent better than in the same month a year ago, compared with a national average of from 2 to 5 percent. In total retail trade, the Denver market ranks among the top twenty of the U. S. in volume.

An advertising agency writes —

"We feel that the record you are making is a good indication of the pulling power of your station. We want you to know that both our client and ourselves are well pleased with results."

Fifty Thousand Watts expertly aimed at 123 primary area counties in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland and Virginia, are making successes such as the above rather commonplace at WWVA.

Tower Leveled

A HIGH wind tore off the 300-foot vertical radiator of CFNB Fred-erickton, N. B. Feb. 15. Damage was complete, but the station did not have to go off the air for long, as the power lines between the trans-mitter house and the site of the vertical radiator were used as an-tennas, which gave a powerful tem-porary signal.

Hooper's Report Shows Slight Listening Drop

AVERAGE evening program rat-ing of 11.0 is down 1.4 from a year ago, it is reported by the Evening Network Hooper ratings for Feb. 15, which show similar declines in sets-in-use (32.1), down 1.8, and available audience (79.2) down 2.7 from a year ago. Bob Hope, Fibber McGee & Molly and Charlie McCarthy are the top ranking programs, with Red Skel-ton continuing to lead programs broadcast after 10:30 p.m. and not measured in the eastern time zone. The Great Gildersleeve was reported to average 3.15 listeners per set, topping Saturday Night Serenade, with 3.14, by only .01 as a whole-family program

Serial for Nations

WOV New York claims a wartime radio first in its production of a serial drama designed exclusively for broadcast over captured trans-mitters for the entertainment of the native population. Serial, com-prising 39 quarter-hour transcrip-tions, is based on the classic Italian drama Romanticism, plot of which concerns the 19th century libera-tion of Italy from Teutonic domi-nation, a theme with special signifi-cance for present-day Italy. It is entirely produced at WOV and de-livered at cost to the OWI which ships the recordings abroad for broadcasting over such transmit-ters as Radio Palermo, Radio Naples, etc. Upon completion of this series, other programs, both musical and dramatic, will be pro-duced by WOV, the station reports.

Bombing Victim

AIR RAID over London on the night of Feb. 18 resulted in the death of a teleprint operator in the London office of FCC's Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service. A British girl, Gertrude Elizabeth Bott, was the victim. Further de-tails are lacking. Editor in charge, John Mitchell, of Washington, and his staff of five were unharmed the same night when shrapnel from an anti-aircraft gun shattered a window in the office.

A DISCUSSION of fundamentals of electron-optics is presented in Electron-Optics (American Photographic Publishing Co., Boston, $3), by Paul Hatschek, translated from the Ger-man by Arthur Palme. It provides a conception of the whole field without resort to mathematics.

Progress of Video Explained by Beal

RCA V-P Tells How War Has Advanced Radio Art

WARTIME electronic research in RCA Laboratories has greatly sharpened the television camera's eyesight Ralph R. Beal, assistant to the vice-president in charge of RCA Laboratories, told the San Francisco Engi-neering Council Feb. 24.

Mr. Beal

Mr. Beal told the council that FM offers great promise in bring-ing new realism and tonal quality into sound broad-casting. Stand-ards established for the transmis-sion of sound by

FM stations make possible the true transmission of all sounds within the frequency range of the human ear.

Coasts to Be Linked

East will be linked with West through the medium of the televi-sion camera, which will be sensi-tive to the point of recording the flight of a bee, he said. Post-war improvements in home television, he added, and the conversion of the nation's theaters into television outlets, are "one of the brightest prospects of the art." Automatic, unattended radio relay stations, spaced at intervals will enable the people across the country to witness presidential inaugurations, national political conventions, sports class-ics and the like, he stated. Further-more, he informed them it was within reason to estimate that sev-eral hundred television stations can be placed in operation within the first ten years following the war, and that television receivers will be within the range of the average pocketbook, due to ingenu-ity in design and production.

Women Directors of the NAB Initiate American Home Campaign in New York

THERE'S an urgent job on the home front for radio, it was emphasized repeatedly at the inauguration ten days ago of "The American Home" campaign of the Assn. of Women Directors of the NAB. More than 200 women engaged in broadcasting, advertising agency, civic and cultural work, gathered Feb. 19, at the send-off luncheon at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York to plan for the task ahead—a nationwide project to channel to the American public, informational and inspirational messages on many phases of home life, through the radio programs of AWD members, starting in March and continuing through May. Some 23 national organizations in such fields as education, music, religion and youth guidance, will supply and broadcast material.

Dorothy Lewis, NAB coordinator of listener activity, characterized the drive to strengthen the American home, as a history-making event—as an example of a trend in broadcasting away from activity on debatable or controversial matters, towards constructive, editorial effort. She read expressions of interest and support from J. Harold Ryan, newly-elected NAB president, and from Wendell Willkie, presidential candidate for Republican nomination. Other national figures to pledge support to the project included Gov. Earl Warren, speaking over NBC from California; and Roy Carlson, author.

The American home is "challenged and threatened by many conditions bound up in the war effort," and broadcasters have a tremendous opportunity to counteract them, the audience was told by Katharine Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor. Juvenile delinquency, and similar trends, are symptoms of the fact that there was no firm basis of community life to "take up the slack" when homes began to disintegrate with the war, she said. We must look forward to a time of awareness of child and youth problems, and we will have to make American leaders as aware as we are, she concluded.

With AWD president Ruth Chilton presiding, representatives of a number of other cooperating groups discussed "American Home" campaign objectives in terms of their own activities. Mrs. Guy Gan-

School Session

RADIO section of the Wartime Regional Conference of the American Assn. of School Administrators meets Feb. 29 in Chicago. A display of equipment, both FM and AM, exhibits of work done by school children after hearing radio programs, and a photograph exhibit of station WBOE, Board of Education station at Cleveland are planned.

nett, president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, paid tribute to radio's role in bringing good music into the home, and to its influence on family standards of good taste. She told of the Federation's interest in performance of music in the home, as a home-building factor. In these musical families radio has a ready-made listening group—a nucleus of music-conscious audience which welcomes fine music on the air, she said. The Parents Magazine contest for the best 300-word letter to broadcasters on "What I am Doing in My Home to Strengthen the Promise of a Happier Post-War World," was described by Clara S. Littledale, editor.

Women Directors

Mildred Bailey, of WTAG Worcester, AWD secretary, led an informal panel discussion in the morning on mutual problems of women program directors. The broadcaster's responsibility towards commercial copy on her program, was discussed, the feeling being that it was important to check the accuracy of the claims in order to retain the listener's confidence. As one commentator put it, "Do only what you believe, or you won't be there at all!" Speaking from the point of view of an agency time buyer, Linnea Nelson, of J. Walter Thompson Co., said "We like to feel listeners are as sure of you as we are when the products go on the air."

It was agreed that afternoon time was more profitable than the morning hours. Women's programs should come up to the afternoon period and go on to the networks more than they have, it was said. A burst of applause followed when Mary Mason, WRC Washington, said that there was no call for a conscious effort toward "spiritual uplift" or preaching in women's programs. Public service programs, such as parent-education series, should be "built to sell," according to Jane Tiffany Wagner, of NBC. All of the women questioned on the desirability of having a "radio name" in addition to their own, agreed they didn't like the practice.

KBND to Mutual

KBND Bend, Ore., owned and operated by the Bend Bulletin, becomes an affiliate of Don Lee Broadcasting System effective March 1, bringing that network's total to 35 stations. KBND operates on 1340 kc, with 25 watts.

REWARDS totaling $1,000 per week are being offered WINX Washington listeners for providing information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone committing a serious crime in the District of Columbia. The 10-minute program of information and description of persons wanted by the police, as well as reports on stolen cars and other items, is broadcast by WINX five days each week in the mid-evening period. Official approval for WINX Crime Clues has been obtained from the Board of Commissioners and the Police Department.

Entertainment Service

WMCA New York has replaced its quarter-hour Civilian Defense News with a program featuring news of entertainment offered the average family by the city's museums, zoos, public libraries and sports programs. Included are interviews with leaders in the recreational field, children who have creative hobbies, and others.

WLAC Quiz

NEW QUIZ show, Stump the Cadet, is now being presented by WLAC Nashville. Cadets are selected from a nearby Army Air Center to participate on the program. The contestants render a sample of any particular talent they may possess, as well as answer questions, the winner receiving a free phone call home.

This is the fourth of a series highlighting the cities of the lush KFYZ area here in the Great Northwest. Individually, these cities are relatively small markets . . . but, taken together, they form a tremendous market which the alert advertiser cannot afford to overlook.

Listening figures are based on a recent survey by Commercial Service Company of Bismarck. A cross-section of listeners was asked, "What is your favorite daytime station? . . . favorite nighttime station?" The percentage of those replying in favor of KFYZ proves that KFYZ is dominant in the Northwest.

Employment Program

"FIRST to set the trend in new employment programs," says KOY Phoenix in launching its series of Can You Help a Veteran? programs on Tuesday evenings. Arranged through the cooperation of the local U. S. Employment Service and the War Manpower Commission, war veterans are interviewed on the program and their background and experience presented. One of four men heard so far on the program was placed immediately. Phone calls succeeded in finding positions for two others shortly after the program was off the air.

Hushed Plugs on Washington Stations Prove Effective Medium for Moving Firm

WASHINGTON listeners with jumpy war nerves are frequently startled at the end of a program to hear the announcer caution them: "Don't make a move . . . without calling Smith's."

A year ago this week Courtland D. Ferguson, of the agency bearing his name, devised the now famous slogan for Smith's Transfer & Storage Co. which has become a household phrase to harried Washingtonians, who are always on the move. Two years ago, Arthur C. Smith, president of Smith's Transfer & Storage Co., placed all the firm's advertising in newspapers and car ads, until a radio salesman refused to give up in his efforts to persuade Mr. Smith to use spot announcements.

Now the company makes a day-to-day check on how new business is obtained. Company drivers quiz householders on how they heard of Smith's. The predominant portion of new business has been found to be directly attributable to announcements on Washington stations. It is not uncommon, after a year on the air with four or five daily spot announcements, for the company to receive telephone inquiries prefaced by the remark, "I want to make a move, so I'm calling you."

Although the announcements are heard locally, the slogan has spread. Wherever Mr. Smith goes, he is confronted by someone who has heard of "Don't make a move". On the West Coast, when Mr. Smith was talking with his friend, Edward Arnold, Washingtonian who has made good in Hollywood, the film star asked if he "could make a move".

FULL PRODUCTION AFTER WAR SEEN

WARTIME production of over $200,000,000,000 annually, double the highest pre-war levels, with 52,000,000 civilians, proves the possibility of the same amount of civilian goods by the 57,000,000 who will then seek employment, working at a 40-hour week level, Arno H. Johnson, director of media and research of J. Walter Thompson Co., stated in a talk given Feb. 18 before the American Marketing Assn.

Demonstrating that the revenue from this full-scale production can, in addition to taxes and carrying charges on the public debt, provide enough purchasing power to enable consumers to buy the full production, he declared that such an economy can produce an average weekly income of over $50 a week, in contrast to the pre-war average of about $25, doubling the ability to consume.

But, he stated, "mass education in the form of advertising, publicity and all forms of competitive selling will be an essential factor in establishing the demand for the higher standard of living made possible by the increased productive capacity. It is only through an increased consumer demand—approximately double pre-war living standards for the mass of the population—that the nation can provide full employment for this largely increased labor force when the war is over and the returning soldiers must be provided for."

RCA Booklet Foresees Bright Post-War Period

RCA lists some of its new products and services, which America's industrial scientists see on the post-war horizon, in a new promotional booklet, "Industrial Science Looks Ahead." The new booklet covers homes, house furnishings, farms, food, textiles, and transportation, as well as radio, television, and electronics.

David S. Sarnoff, RCA president, in his introduction to the 32-page booklet, writes in part as follows: "I am aware of the social implications inherent in new developments such as are here indicated. Better 'gadgets' in themselves cannot make better lives. We shall have a better world only to the extent that our social thinking and social progress keep pace with the advance of the physical sciences."

NBC War Telecasts

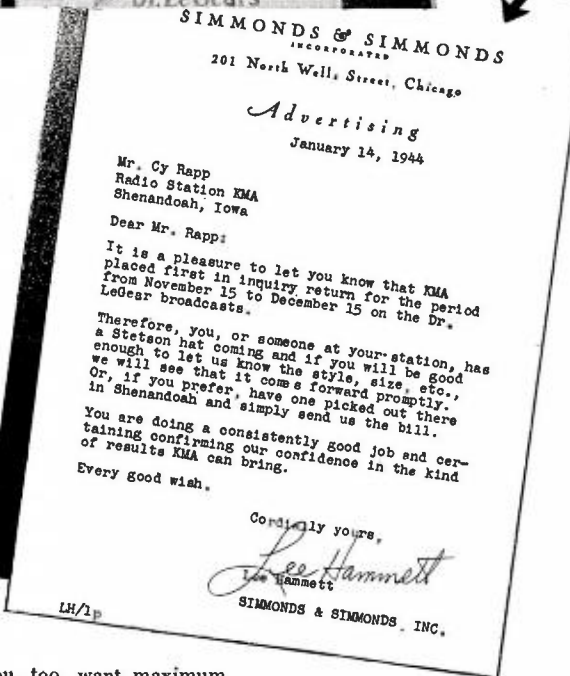

WNBT, NBC video station in New York, last Monday telecast the first of a series of news films direct from war zones, titled "See the War as It Happens". WRBT WRGB, General Electric television station in Schenectady, retelecasts these programs by direct pickup from WNBT.

Electronics Future

ADVANTAGES of electronics in manufacturing and merchandising fields are too numerous to be ignored by successful sales executives in competitive, post-war conditions, according to David J. Hymes Successor To Spire at OWI

Radio Bureau Deputy Chief Quits on Doctor's Advice

AFTER TWO YEARS in Government service, William M. Spire has resigned as deputy chief of the OWI Domestic Radio Bureau, it was announced last week by Philip H. Cohen, chief of the Bureau. Mr. Spire's resignation was prompted by ill health and his decision to leave the Bureau was made at the advice of his doctors, who urged him to take a much-needed rest before resuming radio work.

Mr. Spire will be succeeded by John D. Hymes who will continue as chief of the Bureau's station relations division. Government liaison functions formerly handled by Mr. Spire will be taken over for the time being by Mr. Cohen, with the assistance of the two program managers of the Bureau, Lee House and Mrs. Marion Sabatini.

Praised by Heads

Tribute to the service performed by Mr. Spire was made by various OWI officials, including Elmer Davis, OWI director; David Frederick, chief of the Office of Program Coordination; and Mr. Cohen.

In formally accepting his resignation, Mr. Cohen stated: "Certainly, all of us recognize that no man has made a greater contribution than you to the Government's radio war effort. Were it not for the procedures which you have set up, and the contacts which you have established, I frankly do not believe this operation could have succeeded in the way that it has'.

Mr. Spire entered the Government in March 1942 when he joined the old Radio Branch of the Office for Emergency Management. When this operation was taken over by OWI in June of the same year he became coordinator of campaigns for the Radio Bureau, later becoming Chief of the Allocations Division and then taking over the post of Government liaison which involves contact with all government agencies on their radio needs. He was promoted to Deputy Chief when Mr. Cohen was appointed Chief of the Bureau last October.

Previous to joining OWI, Mr. Spire was radio director for McCann-Erickson, New York, for four years, writing and directing programs for Ford, Gruen watches, Esso and National Biscuit Co. His previous experience included three years as studio manager and program director for WHOM Jersey City, N. J. He is 33 years of age, married, and has one child.

Was Timebuyer

The new Deputy Chief was time-buyer and manager of station relations for Foote, Cone & Belding for eight years before joining OWI about eight months ago. He was on the original radio committee of the War Advertising Council and was a leading figure in drawing up the Network Allocation Plan by which OWI channels war messages to network shows.

Mr. Hymes was president at one time of the Radio Executives Club of New York. He is a graduate of Haverford College (Pa.), is married and has two children. He is 35 years of age.

As Deputy Chief, Mr. Hymes will take over all of the administrative functions previously handled by Mr. Spire and will work closely with the various allocation operations of the Bureau, in addition to supervising the activities of the twelve regional offices of the station relations division.

Treasury's Spots Attract Sponsors

WIOD Finds Discs Salable; Campaign Nets $1,683

STATION enterprise in obtaining sponsors for transcriptions prepared by the Treasury Dept. for the Fourth War Loan drive netted WIOD Miami $1,683, according to a report received by John D. Hymes, station relations chief of the OWI Domestic Radio Bureau.

John M. Outler, OWI regional consultant for Georgia, Florida and Alabama, submitted the report as illustrating how "a different approach to a difficult problem can produce staggering results." He stated that he was informed that WIOD "had really gone to town" in the sale of the two types of War Bond transcriptions, "Treasury Salute," a 15-minute show, and "Treasury Song for Today," a 5-minute program, when they were given permission.

All Types of Sponsors

Mr. Outler, who is manager of WSB Atlanta, pointed out that while the revenue received from the sponsors was incidental, it guaranteed delivery of 89 programs emphasizing the Fourth Loan drive.

WIOD sold 68 of the 15-minute discs and 21 of the 5-minute spots during the drive. It found sponsors among all businesses, principally automobile dealers, banks, utilities, dairies, and stores. The bulk of the spots were sold for daytime or late night periods.

WCHS BOND STUNT Gabby Street Catches Ball From Building

SPORTSCASTING from the stands hasn't dimmed the eagle eye of 61-year-old Gabby Street, former star catcher of the Washington Senators when Walter Johnson was at his peak as a hurler, according to Howard Chernoff, general manager of WCHS Charleston, W. Va., and managing director of the West Virginia Network.

Gabby was visiting Sam Molen, WCHS sportscaster (sponsored at 6:15 p.m. daily by Frankenberg's Men's Shop), to help Sam plug War Bonds on the air. Then came a bright idea. Gabby once caught a baseball tossed from the top of Washington Monument by Walter Johnson. Could he still catch?

From the top of Charleston's tallest structure, the 350-foot Kanawha Valley Bank building, Watt Powell, owner of the Charleston Senators of the Mid-Atlantic League, tossed a baseball on Feb. 12. Standing in the street below, the Great Gabby caught it. Sam auctioned the ball for $5,000 in War Bonds, then auctioned Gabby's mitt. On the air the old-time catcher, now a baseball announcer, described the sensation of catching a ball after being out of the game several years.

"This radio stuff is duck-soup," commented Gabby. "On the diamond a fellow has to be on his toes. In radio I just sit and watch the game and tell the listeners what's going on."

HEART OF AMERICA

Where Metropolis Springs
From Golden Wheat Fields

Doubtlessly one of this country's most vital regions is that of the "Heart of America." Long recognized as being the foodbasket of the nation, it took a war to fully emphasize its importance in the manufacture of materiel and consumer goods. Through its transportation arteries have flowed the needs of a world at war. Great have been the demands on its peoples—but theirs has been the privilege to serve, for how true is the statement that in the "Heart of America" can be found everything on earth—except ocean and desert.

In this thriving metropolis population is up over 60,000 since the 1940 census. Latest rationing figures show greater Kansas City's population as over 700,000 with an effective buying income per capita 100% above that of 1938. Missouri leads the West to the coast in non-agriculture employment per 1000 population.

"More trains are switched, broken up, cut in and cut out in the Kansas City yards than anywhere in U.S.A."

CROSSROADS

One of the country's most unusual population breakdowns is that found in the "Heart of America"—the crossroads of this country—and thus of the world. Census reports uncovered the surprising condition that 51% of the population is urban and 49% rural. Thus within one compact area are located the two important phases of American life—each with its own peculiar likes and requirements. The throb of metropolitan hustle-bustle mingles with the tractor roar as the "Heart of America" puts its back to the wheel of Victory, doing its share and then some.

Within a few minutes of metropolitan Kansas City one finds spacious, high-production farms such as this of KMBC Service Farms, located over the Missouri line in Kansas.

The greatly broadened and diversified interests of today's "Heart of America" farms are largely responsible for the cash farm income increase of 25% in the past year.

Working from sunup to sundown such livestock producers as Phil Evans, director of KMBC Service Farms, have again made Kansas City this country's leading cow town.

How To Make Each Advertising Dollar Do the Work of Two

A dollar spent in advertising on KMBC assures a "hearing" with the urban thousands in the "Heart of America." Accredited surveys tell the story—giving KMBC a greater audience than any of the five other radio stations.

A dollar spent in advertising on KMBC pays the way, too, into the homes of the 49% potential audience that is rural. There is no secret as to why this is so—KMBC programming is patterned with this population peculiarity constantly in mind every hour of the broadcasting day.

That is why each advertising dollar spent on KMBC does the work of two. Radio's finest programs—those of the Columbia network—exclusive farm features—two full-time farm authorities, a livestock farm operated in service to rural America, and the exclusive right by the Kansas City livestock interests to broadcast official market reports direct from America's largest livestock building—all this adds up to radio's best buy in the land "Where Metropolis Springs From Golden Wheat Fields."

KMBC OF KANSAS CITY

SINCE 1928—CBS BASIC AFFILIATE FOR MISSOURI AND KANSAS

By Deed & Word

POLITICALLY, radio, like Andy Gump, wears no man's collar. Individual broadcasters, as free Americans (except perhaps where the regulatory authority is concerned), have their own political leanings and their favored candidates. But politics are kept apart from their micro-phones.

It doesn't take clairvoyance, however, to detect radio—freedom of radio—as a political issue in the political campaigning just ahead. Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, an avowed candidate for the GOP nomination, a few days ago sounded the call for legislative checks upon the FCC lest it stifle freedom of radio. Other Republican spokesmen, prospective presidential timber and party workers alike, have picked up the theme.

It is plain that Republicans regard the constant bearing down on radio's freedom (and that of the press) as a liability, politically, to the party in power. The Democrats have, thus far, made no issue of it, or even any defense of the policies or current manifestations.

Radio, over the years has been regaled with a super-abundance of lip service by the "ins" as well as the politically ambitious. "Freedom to listen" was a battle cry just a few weeks ago by the incumbent forces, but it fell upon deaf ears, because past deeds made such talk a mockery.

Radio, as an art and medium, doesn't particularly care what the parties call themselves or each other. It is interested in one fundamental thing—the right to engage in free competition and to conduct Radio by the American Plan. We suspect that before the final gong, both parties will declare themselves four-square for freedom of speech and of the press.

What's more important, however, is what they intend to do about it.

AFM—Pancake Style

THINGS appear to be relatively quiescent these days in the Petrillo-Radio front. Reports trickling from the closed sessions of network representatives with the AFM locals on renewals of contracts for network originations are that "progress" is being made. There are the union demands for increased pay scales and increased quotas of musicians, which probably will be compromised. There's no talk, these days, of a strike, and presumably no dire "or else" threats from Jimmy.

Local 802 in New York, it appears, wants "platter-turners" to be AFM members. All 802 asks is that platter-turners be paid $90 a week—as they are in Chicago. In St. Louis, last reports were that they get $60 a week. And the redoubtable Jimmy himself has said that "a child could do the job".

A year ago, when Jimmy testified before the Senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee investigating the then existing full-scale AFM recording ban, he admitted the record-turner requirement was "not sound". He confessed he would not have called a strike if the Chicago stations had refused his demands. The stations "okeyed" the demand, he declared, because the Chicago local (of which he also is president) was "powerful". Under questioning by Senator Tobey (R-N.H.) he said he had made a "mistake" in forcing the hiring of union platter-turners.

Mr. Petrillo's New York union now makes the same demand. We presume locals in Los Angeles, in negotiating network originating contracts, will follow suit. Other locals, of course, can be expected to take the cue.

Practically all stations now hire fixed quotas of musicians because of Petrillo fiat, and the threat of strike. Many stations never use their musicians, who in most instances have other jobs anyway. AFM epitomizes the "made-work" formula at its worst.

If independent stations are forced to hire union record-turners at $90 or $60 per week, it may be the difference in many cases, between profit and loss.

But what we would like to know now is how Mr. Petrillo can reconcile his statement to the Senate Committee with the current demands of his locals? Maybe the subcommittee, of which Senator Clark (D-Idaho) is still chairman, will make the inquiry.

Unsound Dollars

MONEY give-aways attract people. Motion pictures have used bank night variations to build audience. Newspapers have given away everything from model homes and automobiles to carving sets in prize-contests dependent upon paid subscriptions. Magazines have sent youngsters scurrying from door to door selling subscriptions for that brand-new racing bike.

Radio, too, has had its flings. The latest is the money give-away variation of the late and none-too-lamented "Pot O' Gold". It builds audience, to be sure. But that audience is artificially stimulated. And that's bad radio.

The older media have found that give-aways don't pay. In normal times, the movies soon noticed that it was only on "bank night" or "country store" that the customers flocked in. The public expected the premium; the movie feature was only incidental. Newspapers and magazines, by and large, found that renewal of prize-induced subscriptions was more than difficult.

Many stations, to meet the competition of network programs, have resorted to the give-away, although the practice is far from restricted to the independent group. It is short-sighted policy, however, because when the give-away goes off, the audience usually takes a nose-dive. Besides, such features soon run their course and die.

There are many examples of independent station operation of a highly successful character. A station isn't disposed to drop a money feature unless the competition drops too. Smart listeners have thrown surveys askew by reporting the money station tuned in when it isn't.

Money-giveaways may be legal—probably are—though the question of borderline lottery has been raised. Irrespective of legality, anything that doesn't build soundly doesn't belong on the air.

IVOR SHARP

EFFICIENCY is the keynote in the life of Ivor Sharp. When he is called upon to untie the knots from Government red tape or simplify the Bell Telephone Co. mileage rates or perfect the organization of KSL, Ivor Sharp is in his element.

He took over the business management of KSL, the 50,000 w Salt Lake City station in November 1938, working with Earl J. Glade in directing the affairs of the station. When Mr. Glade assumed office as Mayor of Salt Lake on Jan. 1 of this year, Mr. Sharp succeeded to the position of vice-president and station manager.

The Mormon country around the Great Salt Lake Desert claims him. He was born on a small farm in Vernon, Utah in 1893, attended a rural Utah school, and in those early days absorbed much of the practical, down-to-earth philosophy that thrives in that pioneering section of the country. Added to this was months of intense farm work, mining, some road building and surveying.

While working with the AT&T, as toll rate engineer, he was in charge of inter-telephone rate considerations and the preparation and distribution of rate material required in handling the long lines traffic of the Inter-Bell System and the associate telephone services.

The multitude of rates and the method of determining them was a challenge to the logical mind of Ivor Sharp. He spent months experimenting for simplified method, and finally succeeded in devising an ingenious means of calculating the mileage rates between inter-exchange points, that has won wide acclaim by the telephone company.

The two small books contain mathematical tables that eliminate the necessity of keeping thousands of charts and maps and volumes of calculated rate data. They are the result of three years of intense study and calculation by a searching mind that demands and creates order out of confusion.

Mr. Sharp attended high school in Salt Lake City and received his early college training at the Utah State College in Logan. Several years later, he attended The New York Graduate School of Business, where he got his Master of Business Administration.

In 1917 he enlisted in the Army and from his original unit, the 145th Field Hospital Regiment, he became a second lieutenant in the Field Artillery and an instructor for replacement troops at Camp Taylor, Ky. At the end of the war, he returned to his native Utah.

This is No. 7 in a series of stories of KOIN PUBLIC SERVICE

Subjects of preceding stories were...

- 1) KOIN-presented summer series of City Park concerts.
- 2) "Wartime Women"—award-winning nightly broadcast of women's war activities.
- 3) "Million Dollar Club"—the big weekly half-hour, year 'round War Bond promotion program.
- 4) Special educational and farm service activities.
- 5) Broadcast coverage of special events.
- 6) Public relations work in community interest.

Here's... ART KIRKHAM

Vice-President of KOIN

... For 16 years this station's perpetual "ambassador of goodwill" and the Pacific Northwest's best known and best loved radio personality.

Art's contributions to community service commenced with his connection with KOIN in 1928. He started the first radio news service in Portland—"Newspaper of the Air"—now oldest program in the area and always high in public favor. On it Art broadcast over 1300 community service news items in 1943. Another still popular program which he created in 1932 is "This and That" with Art Kirkham." Throughout the years his civic activities in addition to broadcasting have been many and varied, such as:

1943—President of "Presidents' Council"—composed of all civic and service club presidents.

President of Kiwanis Club.

Member, Board of Directors, Oregon Roadside Council.

Chairman, "Know Your Portland" committee and member "Tourist and Convention" and "Recreational Resources" committees, Portland Chamber of Commerce.

In 1941 and 1942 he was Chairman of the "Members Forum" and member Board of Directors, Portland Chamber of Commerce.

In 1941 he planned and created for the Portland Chamber of Commerce a map-folder of city and nearby trips which visitors endorse as one of the best available in any locality.

● Another reason for the dominant position of KOIN in its community.

Sept. '43—Kirkham confers with delegates to Northwest Trade Association meeting—all Chamber of Commerce heads in their communities. From left to right: R. E. Schaub, Tacoma; S. S. end of the war, he returned to Utah. For a while he worked with the Secretary of State in Salt Lake City. But desiring wider training and experience, he journeyed to the Nation's Capital for graduate work at George Washington U. In Washington he secured a Civil Service appointment as assistant investigator of the U. S. Bureau of Efficiency, a position which called for the fullest use of Mr. Sharp's abilities as a red tape cutter. He had to familiarize himself with governmental departments and their functions—with an eye for improvement in operations.

This work set a pattern for the immediate years which followed and took him to New York where he became special investigator for the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau.

AT&T offered him a position as forecaster in the Long Lines Commercial Department in 1922. He accepted the pioneering post, which was largely statistical and required the planning, forecasting and estimating of traffic loads for the telephone company.

Back to the West

But the West called again, and in 1925 he returned to teach in the School of Business at the U. of Utah. He remained there until 1930, when he went back to the telephone company as toll rate engineer. It was in this position that he developed the Inter-Exchange Mileage Rate Guides. Their creation is a real contribution to simplification of communication rates.

And so when Ivor Sharp accepted the position of manager of KSL, he brought with him the solid background of industry, forecasting and administration that form firm foundations for an efficient business. His policies have shown themselves in the maintenance of a high standard of broadcasting and better programming.

Although the station demands most of his time, Mr. Sharp likes to go off into the Utah hills prospecting for the rich ores to be found there. And, true to form, his mind revels in developing mathematical and mechanical gadgets.

His affiliations include membership in the Salt Lake Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

He married Marianne Clark in 1927. They have three daughters: Lucine, 16; Louise, 11; and Annetta, 9.

Christens 'Musick'

CLEO MUSICK, of NBC's guest relations department staff, New York, was invited recently to christen a Liberty ship in Richmond, Calif., named in honor of her husband, Capt. Edwin C. Musick, pioneer aviator, who was killed in an airplane accident in Samoa while investigating new routes for Pan-American in 1938.

Miss Eddy Heads KGFF

MAXINE EDDY, commercial manager of KGFF Shawnee, Okla., has been made general manager after seven years with the station, replacing Joseph W. Lee, who resigned as secretary-treasurer and general manager effective Feb. 15. Miss Eddy was acting manager when Mr. Lee was on leave of absence in the Navy during the winter of 1942-43. Mr. Lee announced he is no longer connected with the Oklahoma Network, presidency of which he resigned in 1942 to enter the Navy.

GOOD RESULTS have been obtained from use of the Idea Box at WHO Des Moines, with prizes ranging from $3 to $20 going to employes submitting useful suggestions. Joseph O. Maland, vice-president and general manager of WHO, points with pride to one of the suggestion boxes.

Case Succeeds Neuworth At WBBM; Kilian Named

GEORGE CASE, former WBBM Chicago production manager, has been appointed assistant program director, replacing O. J. Neuworth, who has resigned to devote fulltime to the production of WBBM-CBS' The Romance of Helen Trent. Mr. Case has been with WBBM for the past two years, joining the staff as producer and then, becoming production manager six months ago.

Fred Kilian, for the past ten months WBBM producer, has been named production manager for the station. Prior to joining WBBM, he was program director for WIZE Springfield, Ill.

Grizzard Resigns WLAP

TED GRIZZARD, with WLAP Lexington, Ky. for the past ten years, has resigned as manager of the station and is replaced by another ten-year veteran, former commercial manager J. E. Willis, it was announced last week by J. Lindsay Nunn, owner of the station. Mr. Grizzard is moving to California. His future plans have not been announced. Mr. Willis will take over his new duties March 1.

Blue Operations Aired

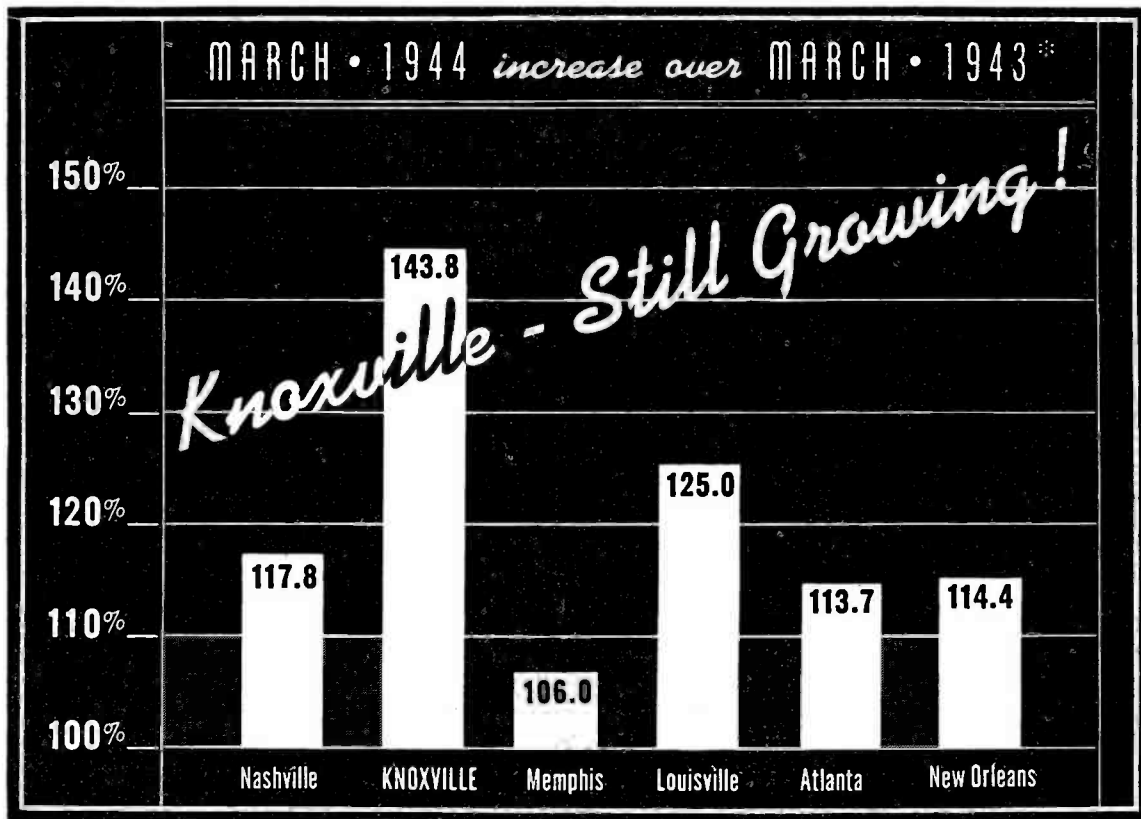

EXECUTIVES of the Blue network are explaining the operations of the company to their listeners through Alma Kitchell's Meet Your New Neighbor program each Friday. Fourth talk was given last Friday by Phil Carlin, vice-president in charge of programs.

Ogilvie Test

OGILVIE SISTERS, New York (hair preparations), on Feb. 12 started a 26-week series of daily spot announcements on WEVD New York, with other stations to be added if the test is successful. Agency is Abbott Kimball Co., New York.

BEAUTY SPOTS

FEMININE BEAUTY is the theme of two transcribed programs, Here's Looking at You and Charm Session, prepared by Harry S. Goodman, New York production firm, for department store use. Both are five minute series which can be combined to form quarter-hour programs. John Robert Powers, model authority, and Jessica Ogilvie, hair specialist, are interviewed on Charm Session, while Here's Looking at You features a beauty clinic, with Richard Willis interviewing women.

* According to Sales Management's "Retail Sales and Services Estimates for March, 1944".

Sales Management's "Estimate for March, 1944" gives KNOXVILLE an increase in Retail Sales and Services to total 143.8%, with March, 1943 as base of 100%. Compare this increase with that of Nashville, Memphis, Louisville, New Orleans, or Atlanta! KNOXVILLE is now second, in increase, in the Nation's leading market centers, surveyed by Sales Management. Sales Management's "1943 Survey of Buying Power" showed that WNOXVILLE, the booming trade area covered by WNOX, is greater, in retail sales, than Nashville, Memphis, Louisville, New Orleans, and Atlanta! Take advantage of this growing, moneyed market! Sell WNOXVILLE, through WNOX!

Art Contest Conducted For Students by WOR

THE broadcasting medium as an art subject is the theme of a contest WOR New York is conducting among art students in five New York City art schools. Students have been taken on a tour of WOR studios to collect picture material on all phases of broadcasting operations. For the final judging March 3 a total of 13 paintings have been selected from the entries.

Paintings will be on public view at the Advertising Club of New York for two weeks, starting March 7. A private show for the press will be held the preceding afternoon. The entries represent a variety of techniques ranging from impressionistic and surrealistic to factual interpretations of rehearsals, engineering operations, and other aspects of radio station activity. Judges are Hilda Loveman, art critic of Newsweek; Henry McBride, art critic of the New York Sun, and Joe Creamer, station promotion director. The winners will receive War Bonds as prizes.

MORTON WISHENGRAD, scriptwriter for NBC's University of the Air, will conduct Columbia U. classes in radio writing, and Neal Hopkins, formerly of NBC's production staff and script division, will instruct a radio production class. Classes were formerly instructed by Erik Barnouw, now on a special mission for the War Dept.

NOW YOU CAN REACH AMERICA'S MOST ACTIVE NEW MARKET

ALASKA

THINGS are really happening in Alaska. Much of the amazing development is a military secret. You'll have to wait until we win the war to hear about it. ★ It is no secret, however, that the population of Alaska is many times as large as it was three years ago and will be larger after the war. ★ With the completion of the Alaska Highway which brings Alaska within a few days drive from any part of continental United States, the Territory has suddenly become a rich new market which progressive advertisers are losing no time to capture. The ground work laid today will determine the new buying habits of Alaskans for the next generation. ★ New airports, new airlines, a projected railroad, new ship service, will make Alaska the fastest growing spot on the American continent. ★ Alaskan men and women buy nearly four times as much merchandise per capita as your neighbors in the States. Wages are high and money is plentiful. Nowhere in the world do folks depend so completely upon their radio stations for news and entertainment. And they show their appreciation by buying the advertisers' merchandise. ★ A test campaign will convince you. The cost is low, the results truly startling. Wire or write for availabilities.

If you have any questions regarding Alaska, don't hesitate to write me. We have eight men in our Seattle office who know the Territory thoroughly. Between us, we can dig up the information you request, whether it pertains to radio, bear hunting, steamship schedules, the weather, salmon fishing or gold mining. ★ By the way, I have a few hundred additional copies of the Annual Pictorial Edition of Alaska Life, which I publish. It's just off the press and, I believe, gives a rather complete analysis of Alaska in 1943. If you'd like a copy just send me your request on your company stationery.

Arthur H. Kudner Dies of Pneumonia

ARTHUR H. KUDNER, leading advertising executive and head of his own advertising agency, Arthur Kudner Inc., New York, died of pneumonia Feb. 18 in Los Angeles at the age of 53. His wife, Magdalen Thayer Kudner, who had accompanied him on an extended business trip, was with him at the time.

Born in Lapeer, Mich., Dec. 7, 1890, Mr. Kudner started as a reporter on his father's paper there, and after a brief career as a concert singer returned to journalism with the Detroit Free Press and the New York World. He entered advertising in 1915 as a copy writer of Cheltenham Advertising Agency. A year later he joined Erwin, Wasey & Co., becoming chief copy writer in 1919 and serving as president from 1929 until 1935, when he left to establish his own agency.

Received Award

Author of several early tire advertisements which are considered classics, Mr. Kudner in 1917 created advertisements for the Red Cross and Liberty Loan drives which are still recalled and quoted. In 1929 he received the Harvard Award for having prepared the best advertisement of the year.

During his association with Erwin, Wasey, Mr. Kudner was active in developing a number of outstanding radio programs in the early days of commercial broadcasting, including the Morton Downey and Evangeline Adams programs. Last fall he personally induced Question Reynolds to go on the air as narrator of war stories on NBC's Salute to Youth series for Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and he was instrumental in bringing about General Motors' sponsorship of the Sunday afternoon broadcasts of the NBC Symphony Orchestra, under such noted conductors as Toscanini and Stokowski.

In addition to the General Motors symphonic series, current radio programs placed by the agency also include the Goodyear The Star and the Story on CBS and Gay 90's Revue, also on CBS, sponsored by U. S. Tobacco Co.

Arthur Kudner Inc. will continue its agency operations under the direction of the corporation's six vice-presidents, who had been associated with Mr. Kudner for periods ranging from 14 to more than 20 years and who are all stock-holders in the organization. These are: J. H. S. Ellis, executive vice-president, Edward J. Owens, Samuel D. Fuson, Charles F. Gannon, Robert D. Stewart, Hayward Anderson.

In addition to his widow, Mr. Kudner is survived by a son, Arthur, 9, a daughter, Karyl, 7, his mother, Mrs. H. C. Kudner of Lapeer, Mich., and two brothers, Dr. Don Kudner of Jackson, Mich., and Schuyler Kudner of New York.

THE PACKAGE IS YOURS IN ROANOKE!

When you "buy" any radio market, you're usually thinking in terms of the whole radio audience. But in most markets you have to admit that 10%, 25% or even 80% of your audience is listening to some other station.

But not in the Roanoke market! WDBJ is the only station that gives satisfactory listening service throughout the Roanoke-Southwest Virginia Area—an area containing 23.9% of Virginia's radio homes! That's why a good many advertisers prefer WDBJ to "larger" (but more competitive) stations in other cities. Ask Free & Peters for all the dope!

History of Communications Number Four of a Series

SMOKE SIGNAL COMMUNICATIONS

While the puffs of our early American smoke Signals were not as complicated as the Morse Code, this type of communication was a speedy and effective means of communication at that time and could be seen for scores of miles on a clear day. Used for transmitting their battle messages, smoke signals in the days of the early American meant a progressive means of communication.

Restricted by climatic conditions this type of communication was limited in its use. Universal microphones in the part they play in modern electronic voice communication must withstand the climates of the Arctic and the Tropics all in a day's work. Built to accomplish a specific job, Universal Microphones are "getting the message through" on every Allied front.

Model T-45, illustrated at left, is the new Lip Microphone being manufactured by Universal for the U. S. Army Signal Corps. Shortly, these microphones will be available to priority users through local Radio Jobbers.

Radio Is Aid in Solving Delinquency of Juveniles

WOMEN'S NATIONAL Radio Committee, through its newly-formed subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, is submitting four suggestions to networks and local stations on the use of radio in combating juvenile delinquency, according to Mme. Yolanda Merio-Irion, chairman and founder of the organization.

Programs such as those of Bing Crosby, Edgar Bergen and Frank Sinatra, have a large following among juvenile listeners and will be requested to include in their shows material which will be "helpfully stimulating to young people". This has been tried successfully by Eddie Cantor, Bob Hope and others, it is pointed out.

The use of spot announcements in directing young people to recreational and useful war effort activities, will be suggested, along with radio forums on aspects of other programs. The committee also suggests that radio figures such as Kate Smith and Ginny Simms might stress the importance of maintaining the right sort of home relationships.

Annual radio awards will be made by WNRC on the basis of contribution to the juvenile delinquency problem.

Halpin Opens Agency

JOHN L. HALPIN, former Deputy Commissioner of Conservation, State of New York, has resigned and will establish an advertising agency in Schenectady. COMMANDO TOUGH Military Sets Withstand Weather Extremes

MILITARY radio sets are now "commando tough" and possess the ability to withstand the rigors of the tropical sun or Arctic blasts, according to Wartime Engineering, an annual publication reporting on the technical contributions to the war effort by the engineering staffs of Westinghouse E. & M. Co.

Sets are now packed in dust-and-waterproof cases and go overboard into the surf with invading troops. The weight is an important factor in their manufacture, the magazine stated, as they are often flown to the front in planes where every ounce of extra weight is a military handicap.

Railroading Seen For Press Subsidy

Cannon May Call Up Measure When Time Is Propitious

WITH ELECTION coming up this year and opposition waning, the Cannon newspaper subsidy bill (HR-3693) directing the Treasury to spend 12½-15 million dollars annually for War Bond advertising in small newspapers, is expected to be pushed through the House, it was disclosed last week.

When the original measure, patterned after the Bankhead Bill (S-1457), which passed last session by a 5-vote margin in the Senate, was introduced last Nov. 18, and referred to the House Ways & Means Committee, the Committee voted to table both the Bankhead and Cannon bills after considerable opposition was registered.

Without fanfare the Committee on Feb. 9 reported out the Cannon measure, completely rewritten. It was committed to the Committee of the Whole House and placed on the Union calendar, which means it may be called up momentarily. According to Capitol Hill reports, Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.), the bill's sponsor, plans to call it up when opposition is least likely.

Wide Opposition

Despite protests of the NAB on behalf of radio that small stations also are suffering from lack of revenue, as claimed by small newspapers, both the Senate and House authors ignored broadcasting in the proposed bills. Opposition from the metropolitan press and various newspaper organizations also was registered. Both the Bankhead and Cannon bills were sponsored by the Newspaper Editorial Assn., comprising small newspapers.

The revised Cannon Bill directs the Treasury to place advertising in daily, weekly, semi-weekly and tri-weekly newspapers published in communities of 25,000 population or less and in weekly, semi-weekly and tri-weekly newspapers published in cities of more than 25,000, providing such publications held second-class mailing permits on Jan. 1, 1944.

The subsidy would be cut off six months after the war ends.

Noxon Placing

NOXON Inc., Ozone Park, N. Y., has appointed Rose-Martin, New York, to handle advertising for Noxon polish, now promoted on WEAJ New York. Schedule of participations on women's programs in 10 areas in Ohio and Pennsylvania to start around the last of March, is under consideration.

NEW radiotelegraph service between the United States and "Somewhere in Southern Italy," has been opened by RCA Communications. Originally restricted to Government and press messages, service has been expanded to include messages to and from American troops and other official personnel in the Italian war area, the company announced last week.

PLANS of Pepsodent Co. to originate broadcasts of the weekly NBC Bob Hope Show from military bases outside the continental U. S. have been abandoned and Hope will tour military bases in southeastern U. S. He also plans to take four-day plane hops between broadcasts for personal appearances in Cuba, Puerto Rico, Nassau, Haiti, the Virgin Islands, Trinidad, Panama and Guatemala City.

War Dept. policy, enunciated at the outbreak of war, forbids the origination of regular commercial or sustaining broadcasts at posts outside the continental U. S. because of difficulties involved. Although many requests have been filed by sponsors to originate their respective programs overseas or at outposts in the Western Hemisphere, the War Dept. has rejected them.

Transportation Involved

It was pointed out that excessive transportation is a big problem. In most cases extra Army planes would have to be diverted from necessary military operations to transport entertainers and production equipment. Limitation of movement also is a factor, since radio facilities are not available at all outposts. By adopting a blanket policy against all regular broadcasts involving transportation and broadcast facilities the War Dept. escapes the possible accusation of discrimination, it was pointed out.

Both Hope and Jack Benny, while entertaining troops overseas, did special broadcasts from London and North Africa, the War Dept. explained. They used Army bands and those broadcasts did not involve special transportation.

The War Dept. welcomes and appreciates entertainment of troops overseas as well as within the U. S., a spokesman said, but when entertainers go outside the U. S. there is no assurance that definite schedules can be maintained. Thus the restriction.

Callahan's New Post

VINCENT F. CALLAHAN, former director of advertising, press and radio for the War Finance Division of the Treasury Dept., is currently directing promotion activities for the First National Labor-Management Production Exposition, sponsored by the WPB, and to be held in Washington Feb. 28 - Mar. 11. Included in the public presentation of many sorts of war products, to be supplemented with movies and other special exhibits, will be war materials produced by various radio manufacturers. Mr. Callahan was previously associated with NBC Washington and is ex-manager of WWL New Orleans and WBZA Boston.

Sound Effects Wage Hike Is Granted WGN by WLB

REVERSING its decision of April 27, 1943, the National War Labor Board has notified the American Federation of Radio Artists that it has approved 10% salary increases for sound effects technicians at WGN Chicago, retroactive to Dec. 15, 1942. Board's refusal to approve these increases last spring when other increases were approved [BROADCASTING, May 10, 1943] was based on the premise that the sound effects men had received increases of more than 15% since Jan. 1, 1941, which would prohibit further increases under the little steel formula.

Board's letter to AFRA, dated Feb. 17, 1944, states that since these other increases had been made in 1940 prior to the inception of the little steel formula, they should not prevent the further increase, which is now approved.

AFRA's application to the board for reconsideration of its original ruling was not opposed by WGN, which had previously agreed with the union to the increase.

AFRA last week announced the renewal of all its contracts with St. Louis stations, including $5 weekly increase for all staff announcers.

CBC Plans Net Support For Red Cross Drive

SUPPORT for the forthcoming Canadian Red Cross Drive to raise $10,000,000 has been arranged by the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. through network programs describing the numerous functions and wartime services of the Red Cross.

Feb. 20 broadcast told the story of the use of blood plasma in the front lines; coming programs will consist of short dramatizations of true stories of the work of the Canadian Red Cross. Some will depict the work done for prisoners of war, post-war reconstruction in the many devastated areas as well as personal observations of workers who have operated under fire in Italy and other war theatres.

Fourth Week of Red Cross Fund, Drive For Victory Gardens on OWI's Packet

THE CAMPAIGN for the 1944 Red Cross War Fund enters its fourth week on the OWI Domestic Radio Bureau packet for the week beginning March 20, with messages scheduled on both the Network and Station Announcement Allocation plans. The drive, which seeks to raise a minimum of $200,000,000, will impress upon listeners the vast scope of the organization's activities, stressing the importance of lesser known operations.

The 1944 Victory Garden campaign, which began March 13, continues for a second week, with transcribed messages scheduled through the Station Announcement plan on the "KW" group of stations. Announcements carry an appeal for 22,000,000 gardens, a 10% increase over last year, with emphasis on bigger and better gardens to produce most vitally needed foods. Sponsorship possibilities include hardware stores, nurseries, seed dealers, department stores, five and ten-cent stores, bookshops, and other dealers selling gardening supplies, fertilizers, insecticides, etc.

Gasoline Back

Two other subjects, scheduled on the Station Announcement plan, are included in the packet. Save Paper, also allocated to Network programs, emphasizes the continued urgency for salvaging every type and kind of waste paper and selling it or donating it to a local charity or salvage committee. Sponsors for the announcements may be found among grocers and supermarkets, waste paper dealers, department stores, laundries, and local industries requiring paper for packing.

Save Gasoline returns to the packet after a month's absence, with messages scheduled on the "OI" group of stations. The extreme importance of conserving gasoline as war requirements increase is urged in the appeals. Sponsorship for the announcements may be found among service stations, transportation companies, supermarkets, shopping centers and other stores which promote group marketing by their customers to save fuel.

Other subjects on the schedule are Home Front Pledge and Fight Waste. The former, assigned through Network and National Spot allocations, urges adherence to ceiling prices and ration regulations and emphasizes the effect of higher prices on people with fixed incomes, especially the dependents of more than 3,000,000 soldiers and sailors receiving allotment checks. The latter, assigned through National Spot, carries an appeal to buy only what is needed, conserve, share and salvage.

Video Discussion

DR. ALFRED N. GOLDSMITH, consulting radio engineer and chairman of Panel 1 of the Radio Technical Planning Board, dealing with the overall problem of spectrum utilization, will discuss "What Channels Should Be Given to Television" at the February luncheon meeting of the Television Press Club, to be held Feb. 29 at the Blue Ribbon Restaurant, New York.

ROBINSON PRESENTS A RADIO RECKONER

A NEW service for radio time-buyers, Robinson's Radio Reckoner, has been introduced by Cecile L. Robinson, former timebuyer at William Esty & Co., New York. Designed to do for timebuying what the milline did for space-buying, the reckoner consists of a set of tables combining station coverage, rates, discounts and ratings to give "the number of radio homes per dollar for spots at any possible rating, in every rate-bracket, for every discount," Miss Robinson explained.

Taking a mythical station, KRUM, as an example of how the tables were prepared, she continued. "KRUM claims a primary audience coverage of 100,000 homes. So if you reach 1% of KRUM's audience you reach 1,000 radio homes—for each additional 0.1 per cent of audience you reach another 100 radio homes. A certain spot on KRUM costs $10. Divide the audience by $10 and you find that if the rating is 1 you get 100 radio homes per dollar. And, for every 0.1% more audience you get 10 more radio homes per dollar."

First volume of tables published last week, deals with one-minute announcements. Next volume, now in preparation, will treat 15-second spots. Robinson's Radio Reckoner has opened headquarters at 19 W. 44th St., New York. Telephone: Murray Hill 2-4257.

RCA N. Y. Studio

LEONARD JOY, musical director of popular record repertoire for RCA Victor, is in charge of recording studio operations at the company's New York studios at 155 E. 24 St., New York, according to J. W. Murray, general manager of RCA Victor record activities, describing the New York organization following transfer of some personnel from Camden. Others in New York include: Herbert Handler, manager of popular record artists relations; Frank Walker, in charge of development of hillbilly and race records; Dixon Gayer, New York publicity representative. RCA Victor also recently opened offices and reception rooms for artists and their managers in Room 1444, RCA Bldg., New York.

PHONE SURCHARGE VIOLATORS SUED

SUIT to prohibit collection of surcharges or service charges on foreign and interstate long distance phone calls was filed last week against 33 New York hotels, the American Telegraph & Telephone Co. and the New York Telephone Co. by the Dept. of Justice at the request of the FCC. This followed the Feb. 19 suit filed against 27 hotels and telephone companies in the District of Columbia.

Complaint alleges that hotels are illegally collecting such additional charges, $1,700,000 each year, from the public in violation of tariffs of the telephone companies now on file with the FCC prohibiting their collection.

Decision issued by the FCC Dec. 10, 1943 stated that surcharges on long distance phone calls at hotels, apartment houses, and clubs in the District of Columbia came under its jurisdiction. Following this decision all Bell System companies in the U. S. filed tariffs with the FCC prohibiting the collection of such charges after Feb. 15 and an FCC public notice of Feb. 16 made collection of these surcharges a violation of the law.

Publicity Merger

MERGER of two publicity firms prominent in radio—Earle Ferris and Constance Hope Associates—was announced last week. Clients and facilities will be combined and negotiations for a corporate name are under way, but both concerns will maintain their separate offices in New York and Hollywood. Plan calls for a division of responsibilities, with each firm handling certain specific operations. There will be no change in personnel. Change went into effect Feb. 18.

Film Shows Music Aid

FILM portraying the uses and accomplishments of industrial music, titled "Manpower, Music and Morale" and made in the Botany Worsted Mills, Passaic, N. 'Maountain Music'

CULTURE works in mysterious ways its message to impart. A fortnight ago the mournful twang of "maountain music" wailed through the staid old halls of the St. Louis City Art Museum when Cousin Emmy and Her Kin-folks broadcast the KMOX program from there. Cousin Emmy warbled her ballads to "illustrate" the lecture given by Prof. Robert M. Schmitz of Washington U. English Dept. Heard on KMOX every morning at 5:25, and at 8:15 Sundays. Emmy, an authentic product of the hills of Kentucky, plays 14 backwoods instruments, and is "right proud of her talent".

KRJF DAY TIME COVERAGE:

- 85 percent cannot get outside reception
- 83 percent are constant KRJF listeners

KRJF NIGHT TIME COVERAGE:

- 42 percent are constant KRJF listeners

Being a non-network station, we naturally were interested in knowing how the 15% of daytime listeners and the 50% of night time listeners who could get outside reception, divided their reception time between the networks. We found out that:

NBC got 93% of the 15% daytime listeners and 91% of the 50% night time listeners

CBS got 00% of the 15% daytime listeners and 3% of the night time listeners

Mutual got 7% of the 15% daytime listeners and 6% of the 50% night time listeners

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE in promoting good will among Americans of all faiths brought to WHP Harrisburg, Pa., CBS affiliate, the radio award of the National Conference of Christians and Jews as the outstanding individual radio station in 1943. Awards were made at a luncheon Feb. 21 at the Yale Club, New York attended by (l to r): A. K. Redmond, WHP general manager; Dr. George N. Shuster, president of Hunter College, who delivered the citations; Mari Yanofsky, WHP script writer for many of the station's good will programs; and Dick Redmond, WHP war activities director.

NCCJ Confers Awards to Industry For Broadcast Programs on Tolerance

By HELEN HOUSE

NATIONAL Conference of Christians and Jews formally conferred five awards on the radio industry for helping to create greater tolerance and understanding among Americans of all faiths, at a luncheon at the Yale Club in New York last Monday, Feb. 22 as part of Brotherhood Week. Dr. George N. Schuster, educator, who presided, said the winning programs had shown "the same kindness, the same courtesy," and the same desire to build good-will, which were the objectives of the NCCJ. Present were the script writers, producers and directors, as well as agency, advertiser, and network executives who had a part in the presentation of the winning broadcasts.

Everett R. Clinchy, NCCJ president, who was unable to attend because of illness, said in a statement read at the luncheon: "The restraints and decencies so necessary in a democratic society are vastly strengthened by the content of broadcasts." Those selected for citation were "conspicuous examples of radio's contribution to civilized living. . ." Representing the NCCJ was Robert A. Ashworth, director of Brotherhood Week.

Carl Van Doren, author, who conducts The American Scriptures intermission feature of The N. Y. Philharmonic Symphony-CBS broadcasts, accepted the citation for the outstanding program series in 1943. Mr. Van Doren's talks, the citation read, "depict dramatically . . . the struggle of generations of patriotic men and women to establish and sustain the American principles of equality, of opportunity and fair play . . ." The broadcasts are sponsored by U. S. Rubber Co. Agency is Campbell-Ewald Inc., New York.

Citation for the Sept. 7 broadcast of Salute to Youth, former NBC series sponsored by Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., was received by Dr. Max Jordan, NBC director of religious broadcasts. A dramatization of the work of army chaplains in Tunisia, the program "paid tribute to the devoted chaplains of all creeds who inspire and strengthen our fighting men and women," according to the citation. Arthur Kudner Inc., New York, handles the Goodyear account.

Theodore Streibert, Mutual executive vice-president, received the award for Mutual's Minute of Prayer, a daily feature which "has brought to the American people prayers of clergyman of all religious groups."

Selected as the outstanding individual station, WHP Inc., Harrisburg, Pa. ". . . performed outstanding public service in dramatizing for its listeners the story of America's unity in diversity, the heritage of American equality and fair play . . ." the citation read, making special mention of Dick Redmond, war activities director, and Marie Yanofsky, script writer, both of whom were present, for production of American in Action, The Blood of Patriots and What Is This America? The award was accepted by A. K. Redmond, general manager.

In the absence of Dr. Walter V. Van Kirk, the citation for his Religious News Reporting on NBC was accepted by Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America. Dr. Van Kirk was personally cited for having "interpreted to a wide audience the fundamental Judeo-Christian principles on which our American civilization is built."

Guests, many of whom were personally commended, included: J. K. Hough, director of advertising, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.; E. J. Owens, vice-president, and Myron Kirk, radio director, Arthur Kudner Inc.; Tex Weiner, script writer of Salute to Youth; Everett C. Parker, NBC public service department; and Allan Kalmus, NBC press. Representing Mutual were: Elsie Dick, religious director; Adolph Opfinger, program director; Julius Seebach, WOR program director; and Christopher Cross, press.

CBS was represented by Paul M. Hollister, vice-president in charge of advertising and sales promotion; William C. Gittinger, vice-president in charge of sales; Arthur Perles, assistant director and Morris Hastings, press information. Present were Earl McGill, director and William King, producer of American Scriptures. From Campbell-Ewald, New York, were Richard Hackenger, Willis Blodgett and Marie McConaugh. T. H. Young, director of advertising of U. S. Rubber Co., was represented by Harold Rosenberg, assistant chief of the special assignment division of the domestic branch.

"Brotherhood Week," a project of NCCJ, was celebrated on some 30 network programs, many of which were rebroadcast overseas, along with special background stories, and the text of President Roosevelt's proclamation.

ington of C. E. Arney Jr., secretary-treasurer and temporary managing director, however, resulted in Mr. Miller's decision to remain until March 1. He has not revealed his future plans.

While Mr. Fetzer serves in Washington, John W. O'Harrow, general sales manager, will direct the operations of the Kalamazoo-Grand Rapids station. WKZO maintains offices and studios in both cities.

A Versatile Executive

John Earl Fetzer has served in virtually every radio capacity—engineer, announcer, program director, sales manager, and general manager. Born in Decatur, Ind., March 25, 1901, he took his undergraduate work at Purdue and Emmanuel College and was a graduate student at the University of Michigan. He attended the Hoover radio conferences in the early 20's, when the pattern was set for standard broadcast allocations.

In 1925, at 24, John did research in Europe, covering the radio field in England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and France. His studies of the economic, social and engineering aspects of European radio contributed in a measure to the early development of American radio.

WKZO had its beginnings during World War I, as an amateur station operated by the 6 foot 2 youth. It wasn't until 1931 that the station was established. Two years ago he participated in the establishment of KXEL, at Waterloo, and owns approximately 25% of the station's preferred stock and about 12% of its common stock.

Serves On Committees

Mr. Fetzer incorporated his policies of station operation in a 72-page treatise entitled "Standards of Practice" covering all phases of business administration, programming, copy writing, news, and engineering.

Mr. Fetzer, in addition to his stewardship on the NAB board, is chairman of its War Committee. He is also a radio consultant to OWI and is national Councillor to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and a former president of the Kalamazoo Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Institute of Radio Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineering.

The Fetzer family goes back to one, Joachim Fetzer, who came to America from Bavaria about 1760 and fought under Washington at Valley Forge and Yorktown.

John Fetzer played basketball at school and is still keenly interested in all athletics. His wife, the former Rhea Yeager, whom he married in 1926, plans to move to Washington with him. They have no children.

PROFITS OF RCA INCREASE IN YEAR

RCA PRODUCTION of radio, sound and electronic equipment for the armed forces increased in 1943 more than 100% over 1942, according to its annual report.

Net profit of RCA in 1943 was $10,192,452, compared with $9,002,437 in 1942. After payment of preferred dividends, earnings per share of common stock were 50.5 cents. Total gross income from all sources amounted to $294,535,362, compared with $197,024,056 in 1942, an increase of $97,511,306. Operations for 1943, compared with 1942, show an increase in gross income of 49%, net 13%.

Year was marked by "a substantial increase in the number of commercial sponsors and advertising agencies using the NBC network," the report states, adding "the average number of stations used per-program also increased." Of the network's total program hours, 46% were commercial and 54 sustaining%.

Retailers' Guide

RETAILERS problems and queries relating to radio and radio advertising have been openly presented and answered in a "Handbook For Success in Retail Radio Advertising" written by Frank Parke Wright, of the Oakland and San Francisco agency bearing his name. Handbook was distributed by the San Francisco and Oakland Broadcasters' Retail Committee at the January "command performance" repeat showing of the NAB's "Air Force and the Retailer" presentation. Reasons for traditional retail "no sale" defenses are explained and their remedies presented in the handbook along with suggestions of programs suited to retail advertising and numerous case histories.

Ellis Succeeds Kudner

JAMES H. S. ELLIS, executive vice-president of Arthur Kudner Inc., last week was elected president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the firm's founder, Arthur H. Kudner (see story page 46). Mr. Ellis is well-known to advertising, having entered the business in 1915, and was associated with Mr. Kudner for 15 years as copy chief of Erwin, Wasey & Co. before becoming vice-president in charge of copy when Arthur Kudner Inc. was formed in 1935. In 1942 Mr. Ellis became executive vice-president of Kudner agency.

Broadcasters also will be amazed to learn that a system of fines to be imposed by the FCC was advocated by broadcaster spokesmen—and yet—these same spokesmen never raised the question before the Committee of why the FCC pursued its doubtfully legal policy of using a system of granting "temporary-licenses" as a penal instrument designed to make licenses conform to some particular idea.

Fines and Penalties

Unquestionably, this "temporary-license" policy has been the major cause for the much advertised FEAR of the regulatory agency by the broadcasters. It may well be asked why this point was not raised by broadcaster representatives. Could it be because no one appeared before Congress with "clean hands" and could say he was representing independent broadcasters. Certainly NAB couldn't afford to speak loudly after a breakdown of its income became public.

The networks are opposed to permitting independent broadcasters to organize as a free group which will honestly represent independent stations because they are afraid of what we may do without their ever-present "advice" and pressure. After all, most broadcasters get together only once or twice a year in a district or a national meeting. Most of them get to Washington only once a year or possibly only at the time of a hearing. What then, say the networks, can the individual broadcaster know or do for the "good of the industry"?

After all, whose business is this radio industry? Let us nail this down once and for all. Who speaks for the radio industry in America—the licensees of 900 broadcast stations, small and large,—or the licensees of a half-dozen stations who also operate a network? Why, if we take the spokesmen of the networks at their word at the Senate hearings, the networks are actually not in the broadcast business!

Their spokesmen contend they are "program producing organizations", they are a business like a grocery store or a gasoline station, selling service. They complained bitterly because such businesses are not licensed and that they have to be, because they happen to run a few stations. Why, they argued, we run these stations only incidentally; these stations are necessary only because we have to have some place to originate programs. Does this sound fantastic? Well, then, read the testimony of the network spokesmen.

And yet these are the people who insist on speaking for the "industry". By whose permission? Who gave them authority? Isn't it clear that the present situation is unhealthy and dishonest? Isn't it clear that we now have a situation where the tail is wagging the dog—where a couple "program producing" organizations, to use their own definition, are attempting to speak for 900 independently owned stations about whose problems, policies, and listeners they know little and care less?

Capitol Lobby?

Who is it that placates the local listener when a popular serial program is abruptly discontinued in a particular area?

Who is it that soothes "irate" sport fans who have been glued to a radio for 30 minutes listening to a boxing match and then are suddenly cut off and shifted to another program because of "prior commitments"?

Who is it that sends out the alarm and asks for volunteers to fight a forest fire, or a cricket invasion, or asks for help to aid in any community disaster? Who is it that furnishes the local weather reports and local time signals? Who is it that is interested in the local School Board election—the community's social, economic and political problems?

Isn't it clear that local problems cannot be understood and handled by men 1,000, 2,000 or 3,000 miles away? Milwaukee, Peoria or Butte can neither be served nor "built up" from New York, Washington, or Hollywood.

Most broadcasters know Frank Russell who is vice-president in charge of NBC in Washington. They also know Earl Gammons, formerly of WCCO, who took over Harry Butcher's Washington position for CBS. These men might deny it—but deny or not—they are, in my opinion, exceedingly expert lobbyists for their companies in the Nation's Capitol. So expert are they, in fact, that no group of broadcasters could suggest legislation which might be against the interest of their companies which these two men could not kill or have altered to an extent that all the "sting" would be removed.

And by the same token, neither should these men be able to suggest any legislation for their principals that might be detrimental to the interests of independent broadcasters (such as a network being allowed to own all of its outlets—and don't think it hasn't been talked about) without there being on the job another man, as astute as they, but representing independent stations who should be able to take the "sting" out of their suggestions.

Think how this check and balance system would bring to the broadcasters a guarantee against concealed aggression from within which has ever been our nemesis. Think also of the strength we would have as a whole industry when we, as duly organized and recognized independent stations, joined with an organization of national networks and their owned and operated stations to support some special law or proposed Commission order that would work to our mutual advantage and consequently the welfare of our listeners.

Separate Interests

I mention networks and their M&O stations? Yes, I am certain their interests are distinct and separate from those of independently owned stations. Neither Mr. Gammons nor Mr. Russell will assert that they vote either in a NAB Convention or as a Board member with the welfare only of the Washington station they represent in mind. In fact Mr. Russell, if the vote were an important one, would have to look even beyond NBC and find out what might be the overall interests and policies of RCA, with its myriad of subsidiaries.

This is one of our very vital problems of the moment. I am certain the networks are well able to take care of their own interests in Washington through their present representatives. I would like to see them organize an association of all networks and their M&O stations with which our association of independent stations could collaborate from time to time. There are many problems that must have our combined thoughts and efforts; there are likewise many problems which can be better thought out, argued and voted upon without the presence of individuals from M&O stations.

Industry Welfare

These are individuals who must lay aside their thoughts as individual station managers and think instead as those who are concerned with the welfare of a recording or a transcription company, or as a licensee holder of many shortwave stations, or as a manufacturer and therefore a holder or negotiator of millions of dollars in government contracts. These are the kind of individuals who, for example, after an exhaustive hearing on a bill would suggest that it might be wise to forget all about such a bill because "the 'industry' wouldn't go for it."

I am fully convinced that the independent stations should maintain their own association and also should hire someone as competent as a Russell or a Gammons to head its Washington office. This representation should be exclusively for the independent stations—for US and not with the interests of a network or a great manufacturing or communications company always in the background.

Or Else

Don't you see that when Russell or Gammons go in and talk about NBC, RCAC, RCA, Victor, Columbia, CBS, NAB, BMI, or any other combination of the alphabet that everything they talk about is immediately interpreted as being connected with network ownership and it can't be otherwise? What independents must do is to take the three little letters "NAB" out of the networks' repertoire. And we must do it now because the broadcasters are probably not going to be given more than just one more chance at self regulation. If we can't cure some of the ills and alleviate some of the criticism that is now prevalent, it may be Government ownership in the not too distant future.

What can we do for the benefit of ourselves? How can we raise enough money to support an NAB without the networks? Representation in Washington is of primary importance to us. But we need not carry on alone all the work of the present NAB. Many functions can be usefully and properly collaborated between our independent organization and a networks' organization and funds can be supplied jointly for that work. NAB used to operate on much less than the $350,000 budget of today; under wise and competent management it will not be difficult to do so again. Moreover the industry will have better standing if it is not running an expensive Washington corporation lobby.

Of course, many station owners are going to have to take a great deal more interest in their public responsibility. We, as an independent group of broadcasters must see that the standards of all broadcasts, local and national, be raised above the reproach of any one.

Who Is One

DEFINITION of a radio station manager may be either problematical or axiomatic, but whichever it is (or both), Pat Buford, manager of KHBG Okmulgee, Okla., may be quoted as classifying said manager according to the following:

"He must be the chief air raid warden, take care of the War Loan Drive, attend all of the PTA meetings, and stay in his office to receive all visitors. . . . He should also get around to see all of his friends and accounts each day, particularly his board of directors, just to let them know that he is still interested in them.

"He must be a man's man, a lady's man, a good father, a plutocrat, a Democrat, a Republican . . . a New Dealer, an old dealer, and a fast dealer. . . . He must be an expert on the OPA, WPB, SWPC, Internal Revenue, Withholding Taxes, OAB, and still remember the NRA. . . . He must belong to all the clubs and do a great deal of entertaining . . . pay his bills and never appear to be tight or a spendthrift. . . . He must always stay in the lead but always stay in the background, and know that radio is news while a newspaper is history."

Way Is Re-elected 12th District Head

Discontinuance of Cow-Catcher And Hitch-Hikes Is Praised

WILLIAM B. WAY, vice-president and general manager of KVOO Tulsa, was unanimously re-elected as NAB director for the 12th district, comprising Kansas and Oklahoma, at the annual district meeting last Monday in Tulsa. Mr. Way was the sole nominee.

Mr. Way

Resolutions adopted at the one-day conference, attended by 55 broadcasters and radio representatives, commended broadcasters who had taken steps to discontinue "cow-catcher" and "hitch-hike" announcements — a move inaugurated last year by Mr. Way.

Following the pattern of previous district meetings, the 12th district urged an even stronger and more competitive BMI through investment of funds otherwise applied to reduction of fees. The Cannon-Mills bill was condemned and opposition was voiced to Government buying of either time or space for promotion of the war effort. The broadcasters also commended NBC Thesaurus, Columbia Recording Corp. and RCA Recording Co. for their refusal to accede to the demands of James C. Petrillo, in the recording fight.

After hearing a review of the current problems confronting radio from C. E. Arney Jr., secretary-treasurer and temporary managing director, as well as reports from other NAB department heads and from spokesmen in the music field, the meeting expressed confidence in the NAB Legislative Committee's ability to obtain remedial legislation. Neville Miller, outgoing president, was thanked for his stewardship, and J. Harold Ryan, his successor, was pledged the allegiance and support of the district. The board was commended for selecting a practical broadcaster as NAB president.

On the business side, Lewis H. Avery, director of broadcast advertising, and Clark Luther, KFJH Wichita, chairman of the district sales managers, covered the reaction to the Retail Promotion Committee plan and outlined proposals to cover the motion picture and building industries with similar presentations. A proposed conference with the Proprietary Assn. also was announced. Recommendations covering advertising agency contract provisions which contain objectionable and impractical terms were debated, along with discount provisions.

6th NAB District Reelects Wooten

Support of BMI, Opposition To Press Subsidy Voted

HOYT B. WOOTEN, WREC Memphis, was reelected for another two-year term as NAB director representing the 6th district at a meeting last Friday in Memphis. The district comprises Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

At the closing sessions Friday of the two-day meeting, a series of resolutions were adopted urging full-scale support of BMI, opposition to newspaper advertising subsidies, and endorsement of remedial legislation. Wiley P. Harris, WJDX Jackson, Miss., was nominated from the floor for the directorship but with drew in favor of a unanimous ballot for Mr. Wooten.

Status of Hillbillies

The status of the hillbilly musicians, popular in southern areas, as a factor in negotiating musicians contracts, was fully covered at the meeting. Overall copyright and music matters were discussed by Carl Haverlin, BMI, and Frank

Radio Men Meet With Farm Heads

CALLED together by War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, farm service directors of 10 radio stations in northeastern states met with WFA and Dept. of Agriculture officials in New York last Monday to discuss problems facing farmers in 1944 and to assist the agencies in meeting food production goals. Meeting, which also included sessions the previous day, was the first of a series of four regional conferences to enlist cooperation from radio stations and farm journals in bringing essential information to the farm front.

The presence of the farm radio men was also the occasion for "exploring the possibilities of a national organization dedicated to the interests of better farm broadcasting."

Farm service broadcasters attending the meeting included, in addition to Mr. Markham and Mr. Haeg, Stanley Flower, New England Radio News Service, a public agency; Jesse Buffam, WEEL Boston; Mert Emmert, WEAJ New York; Joseph Bier, WOR New York; Tom Murray, WHAM Rochester; Roland Foley, WGR-WKKB Buffalo; Homer Martz, KDKA Pittsburgh; Charles Shoffner, WCAU Philadelphia.

Canadian Surveys To Start by May

CBS Ballot Method Chosen to Measure Radio Audiences

THE BUREAU of Broadcast Measurement, which Canadian broadcasters unanimously voted to establish at their annual convention at Quebec, Feb. 14-16 [BROADCASTING, Feb. 21], is expected to be functioning by early May. The Bureau is to be incorporated with the Assn. of Canadian Advertisers (ACA) and the Canadian Assn. of Advertising Agencies (CAAA) to elect three representatives each for the nine-man board. The Canadian Broadcasting Corp. has not yet decided whether to join the independent broadcasters in the venture and appoint a member to sit on the BBM board. Consensus is that the CBC will come in, and that the BBM will open its offices in Toronto by early summer.

The BBM plan of obtaining coverage data will be based on the CBS ballot method with premium selected families in various income groups and rural and urban areas on a proportionate basis. The frequency of listening as well as the stations heard will be listed, and daytime and night listening will be separately listed and plotted on coverage maps. Because CBS statistics have shown that those who listen at least one night a week actually listen several nights a week, one night a week listening GRADUATING CLASS of a nine-week course in studio control operation, sponsored by the NAB in cooperation with Mutual and WOR New York and under the direction of Howard Frazier, NAB director of engineering. The nine young ladies graduated Feb. 23. Here they are, with their instructor, Harold L. from a sufficiently large number will be taken as evidence of coverage.

Interesting Formula

Listening intensity for night primary area will be composed of counties which have 50 to 100% of the radio families stating that they listen at least one night a week; night secondary area will show from 25 to 49% of the families listening at least one night a week; and night tertiary area will be composed of counties where 10 to 24% of radio families listen at least one night a week. The same applies to daytime listening habits.

The Canadian broadcasters decision through the Canadian Assn. of Broadcasters to go ahead with the BBM will provide advertisers and agencies with a standard method of obtaining coverage data. The formula will be used to obtain coverage data and listening habits on all Canadian station members of BBM, and the method will be available for special purposes to any other agencies or advertisers who are members of BBM. An insignia of membership will be used by broadcasting station members as part of their published rate schedule, and may be used by all members on their stationery.

be resumed with full vigor by the next Congress.

In some Capitol Hill quarters the denunciation of President Roosevelt by Sen. Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky.), when the veteran legislator resigned last Wednesday as floor leader, was linked to the recent development in the House Committee.

Those sources contended that both Sen. Barkley's resignation and his immediate re-election by majority Senators, which they interpreted as tantamount to a vote of confidence, coupled with reports that Reps. Wigglesworth and Miller will resign this week from the House Committee, are definite indications that Congress objects to the powers allegedly usurped by the Executive Branch of Government.

In his speech Friday Rep. Cox told his colleagues that "things done to cause the resignation of Gene Garey are, with one exception, shameful beyond comparison". He indicated great pressure had been brought to oust the New York attorney as counsel when he said: "Robespierre never employed greater force and fear to undermine the psychological foundation of moral freedom."

"There can be but one purpose in this move and that is to stop the investigation," declared the Georgian who himself was under fire during his tenure as Committee chairman. "It will stop," he continued, "for the time being. The investigation will be renewed, however, but under different circumstances. Congress will not forever tolerate this kind of outside interference in the exercise of its constitutional powers."

He paid tribute to Mr. Garey as a "great lawyer and a good man", adding: "No braver nor more honest man ever lived."

"Mr. Garey's leaving the Committee is all that he can do, for under the circumstances his task is an impossible one. It is unfortunate, however, that the public should have to take the loss that is involved."

Franklin S. Wood, attorney for Edward J. Noble, chairman of the board of the Blue Network Co., defendant in a suit filed in the New York Supreme Court by Donald Flamm, former owner of WMCA, last Friday wrote Rep. Edward J. Hart (D-N. J.), thanking the majority for postponing the investigation pending litigation. It was on Mr. Hart's motion Feb. 16 that the Committee majority, Reps. Lea, Hart and Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), voted to postpone the WMCA case. Mr. Wood previously had written the Committee, protesting it was unfair to his client for the House Committee to air its investigation of the WMCA sale by Mr. Flamm to Mr. Noble during litigation.

Philip Handelman of Handelman & Ives, representing Mr. Flamm, wrote Chairman Lea last Friday protesting the postponement as "unfair, inequitable and unjust". He said Mr. Flamm objected to appearing before the Committee while his suit was pending and that "it was only upon the assurance of your Committee that there would be a full disclosure of both sides of the case that we consented to reveal our evidence."

Writing that "we are now shocked to learn that Mr. Noble has been able to terminate this investigation," Mr. Handelman said "the spirit of fair play requires that there be the same amount of revelation on both sides and that we have the immediate opportunity of examining the statements made by Messrs. Noble, Corcoran, Dempsey, Koplovitz, et al, at the private examination conducted by Mr. Garey and Mr. Hauser."

Reports on Capitol Hill were that should the FCC investigation collapse, as freely predicted, then testimony taken in executive session in the WMCA case and others may be read into the Congressional Record by the minority.

Floor Speeches Hinted

Although informing the chairman that his conclusion to resign "became crystallized by the Committee majority's action in postponing hearings into the WMCA case, Mr. Carey asserted his action "has long been under serious consideration."

"From the beginning of your chairmanship your hostility to the investigation and its purposes has been clear to me," the general counsel wrote. "To continue as counsel to the Committee in these circumstances would serve no useful public purpose, would merely produce waste and futility, and would end in shame and dishonor to the Congress."

When Rep. Lea, who also is chairman of the House Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee, was named chairman of the Select Committee last October [BROADCASTING, Oct. 11], replacing Rep. Cox, resigned, reports circulated that his appointment was a move to whitewash the inquiry. That charge was denied by Rep. Lea, who declared at the time that the Committee would conduct a thorough probe.

Throughout the intervening time, however, dissension was evident in Committee ranks. Rep. Miller clashed with the chairman in several executive sessions and once he directly charged the Californian with "whitewashing" the investigation. The bitterness between Chairman Lea and the general counsel flared in the open last December when Mr. Garey charged, in open hearing, that "the chairman of this Committee and the chairman of the FCC" had taken arrangements for presenting the Commission's case out of his hands

Following Mr. Lea's appointment, Charles R. Denny Jr., general counsel of the FCC, held frequent conferences with the Committee chairman. In open hearing the Commission general counsel told the Committee he had been instructed not to negotiate with Mr. Garey.

Mr. Garey, member of the New York law firm of Garey, Desvernine & Garey, and Mr. Hauser, member of the same firm, plan to return to their private practice. Mr. Walker, a Detroit attorney, and Mr. McCall, also a New York attorney, will return to their respective practices.

Mr. Garey's letter to Chairman Lea follows:

At your express direction, public hearings were opened in the investigation into the sale of Radio Station WMCA.

I am now in receipt of what purports to be a copy of the minutes of an alleged meeting of the Committee from which it appears that a majority of the Committee have determined to discontinue further hearings in this matter. No other communication or notice of such action has been received by me from you.

The pretended reasons advanced for such action are puerile. I am sure they will not fool anyone, because they rest on shadow and not on substance. They ignore the paramount public interest which far transcends any private interest that might be claimed to be involved. They create a dangerous precedent in respect of the legislative function whereby the essential constitutional investigatory powers of the Congress always can be thwarted merely by adopting the same subterfuge which you are putting forward as a basis for your action in this matter. To such a patent fraud on the Congress and the public I cannot and will not lend my aid.

A year ago I was requested to serve as general counsel to the Committee. I was persuaded to act only after I was convinced that the investigation was in the public interest and only after I was assured that it would be conducted without fear or favor and free from political interference. During your chairmanship, I regret to say that has not been the situation.

Despite the many efforts to frustrate, interfere with and discredit the work of the Committee, the Committee's public record contains conclusive evidence respecting the arbitrary and unlawful functioning of the Commission and the high-handed manner in which it has abused its powers and usurped authority. The great mass of the material gathered has not yet been made public. It seems to be the evident purpose to conceal, by one means or another, this material from the Congress and the public.

While the conclusion reached in this letter became crystallized by your action in the WMCA matter, it has long been under serious consideration. From the beginning of your chairmanship your hostility to the investigation and its purposes has been clear to me. You have repeatedly ignored the mandate of the House, stymied the staff in its work, and converted the investigation to a sheer whitewashing affair, wholly responsive to political pressures and dominated entirely by political expediency. To continue as counsel to the Committee in these circumstances would serve no useful public purpose, would merely produce waste and futility, and would end in shame and dishonor to the Congress.

Since I and my associates, Messrs. Fred R. Walker, Ambrose V. McCall and Milton I. Hauser, who share these views, are unwilling to contribute our support in aid of your objectives, I now submit in their behalf their respective resignations, together with my own.

Keese Is Appointed As Aid to Taylor

To Headquarter in Amarillo,
According to Ted Taylor

APPOINTMENT of Alex Keese, manager of WFAA and the Dallas studios of KGKO, as executive assistant of the Taylor-Howe-Snowden stations, headquartered in Amarillo, was announced last week by O. L. (Ted) Taylor, general manager.

Mr. Keese

Mr. Keese will assume his new duties April 1.

Stations in the group are KGNC Amarillo; KFYO Lubbock; KTSA San Antonio; KRGV Weslaco. KFMB San Diego, not directly in the group, is identified with the Taylor operation by virtue of his 50% ownership. Mr. Taylor recently announced sale of his minority interests in the Taylor-Howe-Snowden stations but remained as general manager under contract. He also is purchaser, subject to FCC approval, of KTOK Oklahoma City [BROADCASTING, Feb. 7].

Mr. Keese has been with WFAA since 1930, when he became the station's musical director. Afterward he became program director, regional sales manager and sales manager. A native of Georgia but reared in Chattanooga, Mr. Keese was in theatre music for many

WJW Names Sylvester

WALLEN J. (Long) SYLVESTER has been placed in charge of local sales for WJW Cleveland, according to an announcement made by William O'Neil, president of the new Blue Network's Cleveland station. Mr. Sylvester, a native of Cleveland, had been associated for more than 25 years with the advertising department of the Scripps-McRae, later the Scripps-Howard paper, the Cleveland Press. In 1939 he established his own advertising agency under the name of Sylvester-Seltzer. The following year he was put in charge of advertising sales in northern Ohio for the American Weekly, coming to WJW from that position.

Mr. Sylvester

A & P in Market

GREAT ATLANTIC & Pacific Tea Co., national food chain stores with headquarters in New York, is understood to be in the market for a network program. A thrice-weekly quarter-hour show with Burns Mantle, drama critic, is being considered. Transamerican, production agency, is understood to be packaging the radio program. Paris & Peart, New York, handles the account.

years. He began as a violinist but became a top-rank conductor in the Paramount-Publix theatre circuits. He has functioned under Martin B. Campbell, managing director of WFAA-WBAP-KGKO, in Dallas.

TWO DRUG FIRMS BOOST NEW ITEMS

TWO DRUG firms, both major radio advertisers, are each introducing a new product.

L. M. Van Ripper, president of McKesson & Robbins, Bridgeport, last Thursday announced the appointment of Benton & Bowles, New York, as advertising agency to prepare market studies and advertising for an unnamed product, and the Vitamins Plus Division of Vick Chemical Co., the preceding week started test newspaper advertising for Primes, a Vitamin B complex tablet.

Morse International, New York, is handling advertising for Primes. There are no radio plans at present, though Vitamins Plus is presumably in the market for another network program after discontinuing Dr. I. Q. on NBC March 27 [BROADCASTING, Feb. 21].

J. D. Tarcher Co., New York, handles the major portion of M & R radio advertising which includes a heavy spot schedule and a projected weekly Blue network program to start March 23 for Bexel, vitamin tablet and other products, while Ivey & Ellington, New York, places business for an expanding campaign for another vitamin product, Bax.

RADIO DID IT AGAIN WLW Smashes Attendance For Disney Revival

THEATRE men throughout the Midwest are shaking their heads over the power of radio to create audiences. If they had any former skepticism, it was shattered last week by WLW's ability to create a record breaking audience for a revival of the six-year-old film, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in Cincinnati.

Box office receipts in 60 cities of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia soared as a result of WLW's far-reaching promotional efforts in bringing to the attention of theatergoers in the area that the Disney classic was being revived. Credit for the promotion goes to Roger Baker, WLW publicity chief.

Baked in the Grand Theatre for a four-day run, the terrific opening day's business caused the management to extend the run to four weeks. Despite a drenching rain, the box office opened at 8 a.m. to accommodate the first day crowd of 9,000, representing nine groups of customers for the 1,000 capacity theatre.

Attendance records for the Disney film broke those made on the occasion of the WLW-sponsored premiere last year of "Hitler's Children" in the city's largest theatre, and "Behind the Rising Sun," six months later. In pulling "Snow White" out of mothballs for their latest assault on box office records, RKO and Disney's set up publicity headquarters in Cincinnati.

RADIO telephone was opened between the United States and the British Island possession of Trinidad on Feb. 23. Service is handled through the short wave radio telephone facilities of the AT&T centered at Miami.

ESSO TRIES SPOTS IN BASIC ENGLISH

STANDARD OIL Co., of New Jersey is experimenting with "Basic English" commercials on its Esso Reporter programs on 37 eastern stations, and has already received a fan letter from a Washington, D. C., instructor in the new 850-word-language. According to a spokesman at Standard Oil, Basic English copy is not a permanent feature, but is being tried out from time to time. Account is handled by Marschalk & Pratt, New York.

On the first announcement Jan. 5, the announcer told about the new language and identified the commercial as such, following with a 45-word spot, which in ordinary English would run about 103 words. The copy ran:

"Esso motor oil is uncommonly good because it has a great number of qualities to give you safe oiling over a wide range of conditions. The balance of good points in Esso motor oil is all together in your interest. Make certain you get the great help that Esso motor oil can give. Talk about it to the man at the Esso sign and say to him: 'I need Esso motor oil!'"

CBC Network Changes

FOUR stations in the Atlantic provinces were added to the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. Dominion network, it was announced at the CBC Board of Governors meeting in Ottawa, Feb. 20-21. This brings to a total of 28 stations the CBC Dominion network, which began operations on Jan. 2, and cuts the CBC Transcanada web to 25 stations. CBA Sackville, CBC-owned 50 kw station was transferred from the Transcanada to the Dominion network, and CKNB Campbellton, N. B.; CJFX Antigonish, N. S.; and CJLS Yarmouth, N. S., were added to the CBC Dominion network, effective at once. Difficulty in obtaining lines is understood to have been the reason for delay in extending the Dominion network east of CHLT Sherbrooke, Que. It is understood that more stations may be added to Dominion in the near future, and some more changes in the structure of the two networks may be made in the next few months.

RADIO ROOTER

8 Newscasts Weekly Aired

By Real Estate Man

REAL ROOTER for radio is real estate dealer Jack Wehner of Denver. He sponsors three morning newscasts a week at 7:15-7:30 and Pace of the World Today 5:45-6 p.m., Monday through Friday, both on KFEL, Denver's Mutual outlet. Both contracts are handled by Lane - Freiberger Advertising Agency.

"We've had remarkable success with the two programs," Mr. Wehner said. "We feel very definitely that the newscast and the commentary are more than paying their way by far . . . I have become a confirmed rooter for radio. I certainly recommend it to the rest of the trade." Mr. Wehner, who has three Denver offices, is a member of the Real Estate Exchange, the Brokers Division of the Exchange and the Realty Board.

The newly-formed International Picture Corp. signed Mr. Lindsey.

WMCA Adopts Policy of Time Sale To Both Sides of Controversy Groups

ADOPTION of a policy permitting the sale of time for controversial discussion, but only if responsible groups on both sides of the question are willing to buy time, was announced last week by Nathan Straus, president of WMCA New York.

Designed, WMCA explained, "to open the doors of commercial radio to unions and other self-interest groups while protecting the public against one-sided answers to two-sided questions," the new policy of the station represents a departure from the NAB code which prohibits the sale of any time for the discussion of controversial subjects, except on political issues during pre-election periods.

Democratic Control

"In determining this policy," Mr. Straus said, "we have been mindful of the statement by Mr. Fly, chairman of the FCC, that there is no danger in allowing all responsible groups in a democracy to be heard, even though the discretion of management will be heavily taxed. This policy is an effort on our part to create a democratic control of radio for WMCA so that all elements of the community may be equally and effectively served."

In a six-point "freedom to listen" statement of the new policy, WMCA states that in addition to offering disputants the opportunity to buy time to air their opposing views, the station will continue to allot free time for discussion of controversial issues of wide public interest and to reject programs which the station management feels would promote intolerance or discrimination. Station also will prohibit the combining of entertainment features with the controversial discussions which might serve to "glamorize propaganda for particular social or economic views."

WMCA's "freedom to listen" policy statement follows in full text:

1—Every station has a paramount need of a program structure that is balanced in accordance with a pattern that promotes listener interest within a format that guarantees to the public "freedom to listen." The acceptance of any program at a given time is conditioned by this requirement.

2—It is desirable that programs dealing with controversial issues should reach the American people but only if both sides are given equal representation. Only in this way is the public protected against one-sided answers to two-sided questions. Accordingly, time should be granted free where the subject is of wide general interest.

3—When a program upon a controversial subject or by a propaganda or pressure group is offered on a commercial basis, it should be acceptable only if the other side of the question is presented on a similar basis. Otherwise the self-interest group with the greatest means would be allowed a monopoly of presentation. For example, organizations seeking increased benefits have a direct interest in spending money for propaganda but citizens' groups, able perhaps to make a convincing reply, have no such interest in spending their money to do so.

4—Programs of controversial public issues should not be combined with entertainment features. From the point of view of true freedom of the air, groups with the most money, able to hire the most appealing artists and offering attractive entertainment should not be permitted to "glamorize" propaganda for particular social or economic views or one-sided presentations of controversial issues. There should be no effort to insinuate views sugar-coated by entertainment.

5—Programs which are likely to promote racial or religious intolerance or to encourage discrimination on account of creed, race or color shall be rejected. Whether a program has this effect is naturally a matter of judgment. This judgment must be freely exercised by the station management upon its responsibility to the public unless and until standards are created by law.

6—Where no controversial issue is involved, any responsible organization may buy time provided that its programs meet the standards of other commercial broadcasts. In that event, the program will be considered entirely on its entertainment or educational merits in accordance with the overall program balance of the station and the public interest.

School Extends FM

WBEZ, FM station owned and operated by Chicago Board of Education, presented during the first semester of 1943-44, October through January, 206 total hours of programs for in-school use, with 1,370 students from Chicago schools taking part. WBEZ has increased its total daily hours of operation for the second semester by 75 minutes, according to George Jennings, acting director of the Radio Council and WBEZ.

COMPTON'S RADIO STAFF REVAMPED

WITH resignation of Lewis H. Titterton as manager of the NBC script division to become assistant head of the radio department of Compton Adv., New York, Richard McDonagh last week was appointed acting manager of the NBC script division.

As part of a major reorganization of Compton's radio department, still in process last Friday, Mr. Titterton will work on current and prospective radio programs, including scripts. Lee Graves is manager of the radio department, answering to John E. McMillin, vice-president. The timebuying division, under supervision of Guy Richards, vice-president and director of media, is headed by Murray Carpenter.

Frank Kemp handles network timebuying of all Compton accounts while Fred Apt buys for Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co., and Wheatena Corp. Jean Lawler buys time for Proctor & Gamble's Duz, American Home Products Corp. and Kelly-Springfield Tire Co. Harriett Belille's buying includes Crisco and other P & G products, Krueger Brewing Co. and Wm. S. Skull Co. Julia Brown and Harriett Kirby handle the rating analysis positions in the Compton time buying division while Renee Gould and Aida Schiaffino function as estimators.

Mr. Titterton joined NBC in 1932 as manager of the literary rights division. He was appointed

NBC REVISES CARDS FOR ITS STATIONS

NEW rate cards for NBC-operated stations WEAF New York, WMAQ Chicago, WTAM Cleveland, WRC Washington, KOA Denver and KPO San Francisco were issued last week by the network, dated March 1, 1944, with current advertisers protected at former rates until Feb. 28, 1945.

Chief change in all cards is the establishment of a new time classification, covering the time between midnight and sign-off and between sign-on and 7 a.m. which has a new rate of 25% of the Class A rate, covering the 6-10:30 p.m. period. Class C (with a rate of 50% of Class A) now covers daytime and from 10:30-11:15 p.m., instead of to midnight as formerly, and Class D (whose rate is 1/3 of Class A) now covered 11:15 p.m.-midnight and 7-9 a.m., instead of midnight-9 a.m.

Rate increases are shown for several stations: WTAM's Class A rate has risen from $500 to $520; WRC's from $240 to $300; KOA's from $280 to $320 and KPO's from $420 to $480. There have also been comparable increases for announcements on these stations and in the weekly expenditures necessary to earn volume discounts.

New rate cards for Westinghouse stations KDKA Pittsburgh, KYW Philadelphia and WBZ Boston, effective March 15, will be released shortly.

RADIO IS INCLUDED IN 'ESSENTIAL' LIST

RADIO broadcasting, radio communications and televisions are continued as essential communications services in a revised list of essential activities issued last Friday by the War Manpower Commission.

The list continues radio and radar, electrical sound equipment and vinylite transcriptions as essential production; and radio repairing as an essential repair service.

The list serves as a general guide for the Employment Service in allocating labor to employers and for Selective Service boards in reviewing requests for occupational deferment. The new list consists of 35 broad categories and includes all changes up to Jan. 15, 1944.

Morgenthau Lauds Radio's Part In Putting Across 4th War Loan

"RADIO has once more demonstrated its place in the social structure of this nation, as well as its ability to move people to act" Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau stated in an open letter to the radio industry last week thanking stations and networks for their Fourth War Loan contribution.

Best Job Yet

"Now, with the impact of its role still fresh in my mind, I want to pay tribute to the part that radio stations, the major networks and advertisers have played in the success of the Fourth War Loan. Because of the total number of people it reaches and the effect which it has on these people, radio as such is indispensable to the success of War Loan drives", Mr. Morgenthau stated, adding "I commend to you a report on radio and its people which I have just received from Ted R. Gamble, national director of the War Finance Division."

Mr. Gamble's report to the Treasury chief said: "Because radio is so equipped to talk in personal terms to people, it was able to be so successful. And, because the people of radio placed the job of the Fourth War Loan above their personal jobs, radio was so successful." In his letter Mr. Gamble stated that the Hooper figures on the opening broadcast (Full-hour four network kick-off program of Jan. 17, BROADCASTING, Jan. 17) of the Drive show an "unusually high rating of 44.4. In other words, 14,000,000 families or 42,000,000 people heard that one broadcast." Mr. Gamble also stated that in the OWI report received on the Loan, it is shown that "radio beat the job it did in the Third War Loan by 20%; it beat its Second War Loan performance by 50%."

OWI Record

It was shown by OWI in its consolidated report on Fourth War Loan activities allocated through that agency, that a total of approximately 1,390,543,000 listener impressions were estimated to have been effected in the Drive. Breakdown of this total shows 961,100,000 under the network allocation plan; 257,592,000 under the special assignment plan; 120,600,000 under the station announcement plan; 33,651,000 under the national spot plan; 27,600,000 under special events. It should be understood that these figures do not include the recorded Treasury programs, or the large number of programs initiated individually by stations or nets. Time and talent estimated on the OWI allocated programs and announcements is estimated at around $2,574,000.

Program allocation resulted in a total of 87,466 programs and announcements during the four week Campaign, the OWI report states. These included 395 network, 86,994 local station transcribed announcements and 77 national spot and regional programs. The latter composed 2,441 station broadcasts.

Formal Petition for Four-Way Transfer Of WBT and KFAB Stock Filed at FCC

FORMAL applications in a four-phase transaction involving transfer of WBT Charlotte to the KFAB Broadcasting Co., Lincoln, Neb., and acquisition by CBS of 45% of the KFAB Co. stock [BROADCASTING, Feb. 7] were filed last Wednesday with the FCC.

Stations Affected

In the proposed transaction, which needs only FCC formal approval, WBT will be acquired by the KFAB Co. and CBS becomes 45% stockholder in the Lincoln firm, on payment by the company of $455,000 to CBS and depositing in escrow in the First National Bank of Lincoln $100,000, pending completion of all phases of the deal, at which time the $100,000 will go to the stockholders of KFAB Co.

Affected by the transaction are

Ready for Easter

REV. George Sonneborn, of the Central Reformed Church, Dayton, is now in a position to inform his congregation that grape juice will be available for Holy Week Communion. Rev. Sonneborn walked by a display window in Dayton which contained a picture of Irene Rich and a plug for her Sunday program over CBS and WHIO. The grape juice was the sponsor's product and after phoning the assistant manager of the station he was able to locate the local man who provided the precious liquid and make arrangements for securing it for his parish.

Du MONT ANNIVERSARY

ALLEN B. Du MONT LABS. Passaic, N. J., started its Five-Year Club Feb. 15 with a dinner-dance held at the Upper Montclair Country Club. Du Mont five-year pins were presented by Mr. Du Mont to every employe five years or more with the organization.

4TH LOCAL GRANTED UNDER FCC-WPB ACT

LUDINGTON Broadcasting Co., Ludington, Mich., last week was granted a construction permit by the FCC for a new local 250 w outlet in that area. Grant is the fourth to be handed down under the FCC-WPB statement of Jan. 26. The new station will operate unlimited time on 1450 kc. Ludington Broadcasting is owned by Karl L. Ashbacher, president and 48% owner of WKBZ Muskegon, Mich., and his son, Grant F. Ashbacher, (51%), WKBZ general manager.

First three local station construction permits to be authorized under the Jan. 26 order are held by Sacandaga Broadcasting Corp., Gloversville, N. Y.; KNOE Inc., Monroe, La.; and Fort Hamilton Broadcasting Co., Hamilton, O.

Applications received by the Commission last week for new stations were filed by Harold H. Thoms, Durham, N. C., for a 1 kw standard outlet, and Cherry & Webb Broadcasting Co., Providence, R. I., licensee, 25 of WPRO, for a new FM station to be operated on 47,500 kc with a coverage of 6,207 sq. mi. Mr. Thoms is chief owner of WISE Asheville, N. C., and is part owner and general manager of WAYS Charlotte, N. C.

WBBM Chicago, which will get clear-channel operation on 780 kc; KFOR Lincoln and KOIL Omaha would be sold by the Sidles Co., the State Journal Printing Co. and the Star Printing Co., present owners of KFAB Co. to Charles T. and James Stuart of Lincoln; KFAB, changing frequency from 780 to 1110 kc; and WJAG Norfolk, Neb., limited time station, changing frequency from 1090 to 780 kc.

At present WBBM and KFAB synchronize at night. The transaction opens the way for WBBM, 50,000 w CBS key, to terminate the synchronous operation as an unrestricted, clear-channel outlet.

The Sidles Co., which now holds 51% of the stock in KFAB Co., would relinquish control under the transaction. Ownership of the Lincoln firm, which would continue to operate KFAB and take over operation of WBT, will be as follows: CBS 45%; Sidles Co. 27.5%; Star Printing Co. and Journal Printing Co. 13.75% each.

Construction work on the KFAB transmitter will begin immediately upon FCC approval, the application filed by Segal, Smith & Hennessey stated. Under Order L-41 the WPB has granted authority for the necessary construction, inasmuch as all critical materials are on hand. Shift of KFAB from 780 to 1110 c also will pave the way for an increase in power from 10,000 to 50,000 w.

Under terms of an agreement filed with the FCC, Columbia is to provide all materials and bear expenses of changing WJAG from 1090 to 780 c. WJAG is operated by the Norfolk Daily News.

Transfer of WBT to the KFAB Co. was attributed to the FCC network anti-monopoly regulations which prohibit a chain company from owning facilities in other than key station cities or where network competition cannot acquire competing facilities. The KOIL-KFOR transfer was necessitated under the Commission's "duopoly" rule, which becomes effective at midnight May 31 and which bans multiple ownership.

MACY DRUGS NATIONWIDE

R. H. MACY Co., New York department store, is planning national distribution of its Supremacy drug products through retail druggists. Following trade promotion through direct mail and other media, directed to the dealers, a national consumer advertising campaign will be initiated. Store will issue its advertising locally. Radio may be used, but will be a secondary medium. Grey Adv., New York, is the agency. Account executive is Herschel Deutsch.

Lost His Shirt

TOP COVERAGE was what WMBD Peoria wanted to give the $90,000 early morning fire in the Kennedy laundry. But coverage went too far. All through the fire, Ed Cooper announced the latest news from the disaster. Then as he left the mike, the engineer in the control room heard him mutter, "And I lost my shirt—all 12 of 'em."

America's NEW Frontier

● IN AMERICA'S EARLY DAYS of growth, opportunities for progress lay in the ever widening frontiers. In the fertile lands of the great plains . . . in the timber of our forests . . . in the metal of our mines.

Today, we have reached the limit of our physical frontiers. But new frontiers lie before us—new opportunities for exploration—new resources, in our research laboratories. Here in the multiple world of the electron tube are being born the scientific advances that will make our world immeasurably safer and happier.

Pioneering on this new frontier of research are RCA Laboratories in Princeton, New Jersey. Today RCA Laboratories are devoted to providing the fighting forces of the United Nations with the best radio and electronic equipment available. Tomorrow, this same skill will continue to serve America in creating new and finer peacetime products.
