this man McCANN...

THE LATE FAMED O. O. McIntyre once wrote, "To my notion the best radio speaker is Alfred W. McCann, Jr." There may be people who'll debate that, but few can argue the long-lasting popularity and pulling power of this remarkable WOR personality.

The facts? Listen—Every weekday morning at 9:30 more than 300,000 WOR listeners hear Alfred W. McCann devotedly as he makes vitamins and minerals, and the science of nutrition, sound as interesting as a news-flash and as simple as saying, "Hello."

When 300,000 people are exposed to such air magic, something must happen. And it does! For instance, 16 brief announcements pulled 200,000 requests. The sale of one sponsor's product was spurred from 250,000 cans a year to more than 10,000,000 in less than 4 years.

Surprising? Not particularly. It's mostly the power of a simple, sincere, intensely ethical show plan merged with the skillful scrutiny and smart scheduling of WOR's gifted programmers.

If you would like to take advantage of the advice of people who make a habit of consistently doing things like this, you simply phone PE 6-8600, or write...

WLS EXPLOSIVE RESULTS

STARTING AN ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN WITH WLS IS LIKE TOUCHING A MATCH TO A DYNAMITE FUSE; RESULTS FOLLOW, SURELY AND EXPLOSIVELY.

FIRST DAY... $431.80 IN DIMES

Repeating a listener-service instituted early in World War II, Julian Bentley and WLS News Staff edited a new, up-to-the-instant war map especially for WLS friends in Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Illinois. We offered this map (on newscasts only) for ten cents, November 29, 1944. In our mail bags November 30 were 4,318 dimes! Explosive results from the first announcement!

SECOND DAY... $791.90 IN DIMES

Like a snowball rolling down Pike's Peak, WLS News staff's War Map offer gained momentum. Second day's mail, December 1, contained 7,919 dimes. Two-day total, 12,237 requests, each backed by ten cents!

FIRST WEEK... $3,998.90 IN DIMES

Wednesday, December 6 (one week of announcements on news broadcasts only) showed a total of 39,989 dimes. Practically FOUR THOUSAND DOLLARS in ten cent pieces, sent to WLS for its new war map in one week. (By December 18, with no more announcements, the total had reached 45,744.) Listeners in four states (including huge Chicago) have confidence in WLS news-men; confidence built over twenty-one honest years of sincere service; confidence extending to the products we advertise. See any John Blair man and arrange to try this four-state response for YOUR product. Learn why so many of our customers, past and present, say WLS GETS RESULTS!

The unbiased news editing of Julian Bentley (in his eleventh year at WLS News microphones) and his aides, Gil Hix and Lew La Marr; the fine broadcasts from Europe by Associate News Editor Ervin Lewis; the WLS policy of covering all important events on the spot; these have built the confidence that gets quick mail, that generates sales; that gets EXPLOSIVE RESULTS!

Today's children

-tomorrow's leaders...

WITH the right start in life, any healthy and normal boy or girl is sure to become a good American citizen.

To give Boston's boys and girls the chance to develop under practical, spirited leadership, the Hearst newspapers in Boston recently organized the Massachusetts Youth Committee. The MYC, knowing the accomplishments of WEEI's Youth on Parade (which has successfully grown to be a CBS coast-to-coast favorite), asked WEEI to help.

A brand-new radio "station", MYC-WEEI, Jr., was born. It is the first of a complete "chain" of 14 intra-school stations to be built and operated by Boston boys and girls. Each is fundamentally an ingenious amplifying system which WEEI's chief engineer, Walter Stiles, Jr., designed for easy construction by students from spare receiver parts.

Dolphe Martin, director of WEEI's

Youth on Parade, has written a manual showing students how to organize and operate a miniature "station" which incorporates all the basic elements that make up big league broadcasting.

This practical plan for uniting the interests of myriad young people has caught on fast. The first MYC-WEEI, Jr., went "on the air" recently with hundreds of proud parents among the studio audience at East Boston High School.

Soon 14 MYC-WEEI, Jr.s, will be operating in Boston—building radio's men and women of tomorrow...but, above all, building better citizens and community leaders for tomorrow.

Results in Omaha!

Mr. Gordon Gray,
Radio Station KOIL,
Omaha 2, Nebraska.

Dear Mr. Gray:

We are pleased to pass on to you the results of an interesting promotion sponsored by us and using KOIL exclusively.

Coincidental with the overseas mailing dates, we offered listeners to our early morning programs at 6:15 and 8:15 A.M. a service man's sewing kit without any obligation on their part. Results were beyond expectations. In a short period of about fifteen days we gave out nearly seventeen hundred of these sewing kits to parents and friends of men in the service. These were enclosed in packages sent overseas.

It brings into sharper focus the picture of radio in retailing, and what a wonderful job radio is doing for us. For building good-will and attracting new customers, we firmly believe, radio offers unlimited possibilities.

Sincerely yours,

Sam Greenberg

ALTHOUGH Frank Haas, timebuyer of Erwin, Wasey & Co., had an erudite schooling in Switzerland, Brookline, Mass., and Columbia U., he immediately followed this academic background with a post-graduate course in that venerable institution of highest learning, the University of Glancing Blows.

Most of these were absorbed at WCNW New York, where Frank worked during the summer and after graduation from the Business Administration School at Columbia U. At the station he did everything from sharpening pencils to sweeping up the shavings in the transcription room. He even did some acting and filled in as a sound effects man.

When WCNW went off the air Frank joined Ruthrauff & Ryan doing account detail work on the American Tobacco Pall-Mall radio campaigns that were running at the time. After a year and a half or so, Clarke Brown, radio director of Lake, Spiro & Shurman in Memphis, offered him the job as timebuyer, handling primarily the placement of the Plough Propritary business. Plough Inc., handled by that agency, is one of the largest users of spot radio.

But the three B's—Basin Street, Boogie Woogie and the Broiling heat combined with a nostalgia for New York, prompted Frank to return when the opportunity to become timebuyer at Erwin, Wasey presented itself.

FRANK

In the past year Frank has bought time for Erwin, Wasey's long list of accounts: Musterole, Pertussin, Forhan's Tooth Paste, Kreml hair tonic and shampoo, Barbasol, Primrose House products, Dutch Master Cigars Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets, K. R. O., Johnson's Wax, Carnation Milk and Lydia E. Pinkham.

Frank is interested in radio production. He usually manages to be at the studio when Erwin, Wasey is producing a show or transcription. He is watching and studying from the agency viewpoint, the changes that will be brought about in radio by television as well as FM. He usually manages to get in a couple of week-ends of skiing, and confesses that he "plays a lousy game of tennis."

Lea Probe Demands Sweeping Law Change

Joint Legislative Study, Scanning of Sales and Press Ownership Urged

By BILL BAILEY

ALTHOUGH GIVING the FCC what amounted to a clean bill of health, the House Select Committee to Investigate the Commission last Wednesday closed its hectic life of two years with recommendations for sweeping revision of the antiquated Communications Act. Preponderant opinion was that the FCC had won its case, although it suffered a few bruises.

Splitting along party lines, minority reports castigating the Commission were filed by Reps. Louis E. Miller (R-Mo.) and Richard B. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.), but the two Republicans joined their Democratic colleagues in urging that Congress define the Commission's powers and rights of broadcasters. Highlighting the majority recommendations were:

Four Main Points

1. Creation of a joint committee composed of representatives of the FCC and of all branches of radio to confer together with a view to concurring so far as practicable in legislative changes that will "contribute to the improvement of the present law and its better administration."

2. Congress should reappraise the "public interest, convenience and necessity" clause of the Communications Act and determine whether Secs. 311 and 313 [antimonopoly and antitrust] should be strengthened or modified in light of the May 10, 1943 Supreme Court decision upholding the chain broadcasting regulations.

3. The appropriate Congressional committee "might well consider" station sale prices and financial methods with a view to requiring a uniform system of accounts and, if necessary, divorcement of station accounts from other businesses of licensees.

4. Congress should review the newspaper ownership question with a view to providing necessary or clarifying legislation. Mere ownership of a newspaper should not exclude ownership and operation of a station.

Clearcut indications that Chairman Clarence F. Lea (D-Cal.), who heads both the Select Committee and the Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee, proposes to seek new legislation this session was given promptly after release of the report. He said it was his plan to have his Committee plant the Communications Act of 1934, or simply introduce a series of amendments as a vehicle for the proposed hearings, apparently had not been decided last week.

FCC Found Derelict

The Committee found that the FCC was derelict in many instances and that former Chairman James Lawrence Fly placed "broad interpretations" on various sections of the Communications Act, but it blamed lack of proper definitive legislation, rather than the Commission. The report was replete with conclusions of debatable interpretations and of bickerings, even among Commissioners, and in nearly every citation the Committee recommended overhauling the present Act.

Differences of opinion among Commissioners, though not a matter for condemnation, were brought about because various Commissioners interpreted the Communications Act "according to their different philosophies of Government," said the report. Led by Chairman Fly, the predominating group represented the "more liberal interpretation of the Act as to the broad powers conferred on the Commission."

conduct hearings at this session on general revisions of the communications law, including the controverted subject of newspaper ownership.

"That (newspaper ownership) is one of the main things this Congress should decide," he declared. "It is a matter of policy which Congress, and not an executive agency, should define by law."

Lea's Plans

Chairman Lea also said he would not ask the House to extend the life of the Select Committee and that he proposed to work through standing committee channels. A subcommittee on communications of the Standing Committee in the 78th session was headed by Rep. Alfred L. Bulwinkle (D-N.C.). Whether Chairman Lea will draft an integrated bill designed to sup-

"Under this interpretation," said the report, "powers that might be of debatable validity were claimed for the Commission. The other viewpoint believed in the strict construction of their powers with a view to restricting the Commission's activities and the exercise of caution in the exercise of debatable powers."

In spite of his leadership of the "broad interpretation" clique, Mr. Fly was commended as a "very able, resourceful man, strong in his convictions, aggressive and persistent". His zeal for work met with increasing opposition and "sometimes he was arbitrary in the conduct of hearings, to the irritation of persons appearing before the Commission and to some members of the Commission itself. His general assertion of the full powers of the Commission that might be claimed under the Act was from time to time a matter of bitter criticism directed at his activities."

Defines Basic Needs

Broadcasters contacted by the Committee and its staff expressed the collective desire to have broadcasting's relations and duties to the Government clearly defined in order that stations might operate with more certainty, the Committee disclosed.

Most of the bitterness involving the Commission, the Committee concluded, was based on personal likes

Main Recommendations by House Select Committee . . .

RECOMMENDATIONS by the majority of the House Select Committee to Investigate the FCC, extracted from the 53-page report, follow in the order of their appearance in the document, released last Wednesday:

1. Every practical effort should be made by the FCC to limit use of temporary licenses.

2. Congress should review newspaper ownership question with a view to providing necessary or clarifying legislation.

3. Congress should reappraise the "public interest, convenience and necessity" clause of the Communications Act in light of the May 10, 1943, Supreme Court decision upholding the chain broadcasting regulations and "might well determine whether or not the 'determination of the composition of that traffic' language of the Supreme Court opinion calls for any strengthening or modification" of Secs. 311 and 313 of the Act.

4. The appropriate Congressional committee should consider station sale prices and bookkeeping "with a view of giving authority to the Commission to require uniform systems of accounts and, if necessary, divorcement of station accounts from other businesses of the licensee".

5. Protests involving stations should be placed in open and not "confidential" files, the person "adversely affected" should be informed and "given an opportunity to reply".

6. As to the sale of WFTL Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., by Ralph A. Horton to the Fort Industry Co., of which Lt. Comdr. George B. Storer is president, "the Committee is of the opinion that there was deception and double dealing on the part of persons negotiating in behalf of the purchaser for this sale. . . . The Committee does not charge that the Chairman (James Lawrence Fly) intentionally or knowingly participated in aiding the fraudulent purposes, but wittingly or unwittingly his attendance at a private confer-

NABET Walks Out of Net Negotiations

Carries Case to NLRB On Charge of Unfair Labor Practice

AFTER WALKING OUT of its negotiations with the NBC and Blue networks, the National Assn. of Broadcast Engineers & Technicians last week carried its case to the National Labor Relations Board to force the networks to honor the NLRB certification of NABET's jurisdiction over platter turners.

Assured of speedy action by NLRB, Martin F. O'Donoghue, NABET counsel, took steps Friday to file an unfair labor practice charge with the regional board of New York, charging the networks with "wilful and deliberate refusal to bargain with NABET and to honor the certification of NLRB that NABET is the bargaining agent of NBC and Blue in the operation of all technical equipment including turntables."

Complaint Expected

NLRB is expected to issue a complaint early this week against the networks and will probably order a hearing to be held within 10 days at which the American Federation of Musicians as well as the nets will be called on to answer NABET's charge. Under usual Board procedure an order would then be issued giving the nets a definite time limit to bargain with NABET in accordance with NLRB certification of its jurisdiction. Should the nets refuse to abide by this order, the Board would go to the Second Circuit Court of Appeals to compel the nets, by judicial decree, to sign.

NABET decided on its course of action after carefully considering the seriousness of a strike against two networks and its effects on more than 330 affiliated stations and 10 owned and operated stations. Although the membership was unanimously in favor of taking the step and in one key station was on the verge of walking out, it decided to handle its case through the NLRB rather than to risk the public censure which might well result in having its fight go before the War Labor Board whose decisions Petrillo has seldom respected.

The showdown on the NABET-network controversy came Wednesday when Allen T. Powley, NABET president, demanded that the contracts being negotiated include platter turner jurisdiction. He told BROADCASTING that the network officials meeting with him in New York advised that they "couldn't say" whether they'd give him platter turners. Mr. Powley and his bargaining committee thereupon walked out of the negotiations, advising the networks he could be reached at his hotel until 1:30 p.m. in the event they changed their position. He received no call.

Earlier, NABET had received from the networks copies of contracts containing counter-proposals to demands it made during negotiations which began about a month ago after their jurisdiction over turntables was certified by the NLRB decision of Nov. 24. Upon examining the counter-proposals, Mr. Powley said, he was convinced the negotiations were little more than a waste of time, although, he said the network officials with whom he had conferred indicated they were agreeable to NABET's demands.

The counter-proposal, he said, contained practically the same terms as to wages, hours and working conditions as the old contract except that it did not include the turntable jurisdiction which the old contract contained. This section was designated "for discussion".

NABET's action was preceded by an overwhelming demand from broadcasters that NBC and Blue recognize the NLRB certification of the technicians' jurisdiction over turntables regardless of threats made by Mr. Petrillo to call "a series of wildcat strikes" if the nets signed with NABET. Despite a statement by Mark Woods, Blue president, pleading for a hands-off policy by the affiliates 65 Blue and 217 other affiliated and nonaffiliated stations sent telegrams to J. Harold Ryan, NAB president, urging a united front by the industry in taking a firm stand against Petrillo [BROADCASTING, Dec. 18, 25].

NAB Convention Is Cancelled By Byrnes War Travel Edict

THE OFFICIAL edict from War Mobilization Chief James F. Byrnes last Friday banning all gatherings of more than 50 persons requiring travel effective Feb. 1, will mean cancellation of the NAB's 1945 Executives War Conference, tentatively scheduled for the first week in May.

Director Byrnes announced appointment of a committee, headed by ODT Director Johnson, to pass on applications for all conventions or trade association meetings of more than 50 persons. On the committee will be representatives of the Army, Navy, War Production Board and War Manpower Commission. Mr. Byrnes said he hoped all meetings not necessary to the war would be cancelled voluntarily, thus precluding "further steps" by the Government. President Roosevelt approved the travel ban.

With the announcement of the ban, in the interest of the tightened war effort, NAB President J. Harold Ryan said there appeared to be no alternative but to cancel the 1945 sessions. Should war conditions brighten, it was thought, the war conference might be rescheduled later in the year.

The fact that the NAB session draws upwards of 1,000 delegates (the last was 1,100) places it in the category of large meetings, which would unduly strain transportation and hotel facilities.

Mr. Ryan doubted whether the ban would affect the NAB district meeting schedule, which gets under way Jan. 15 in Memphis. It was thought that by limiting attendance to one representative per out-of-town station, the letter of the Byrnes mandate could be met.

In view of the determination to call off the national convention, it was thought that Travel Board approval could be procured on district meetings. The matter will be surveyed this week, Mr. Ryan said.

Senate Expected to Approve Quickly Porter Nomination as FCC Chairman

QUICK SENATE approval of the nomination of Paul A. Porter for the FCC is seen this week following consideration today (Jan. 8) of the Presidential nomination by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee in executive session. Mr. Porter, who has served as chairman of the FCC succeeding Mr. Fly under a recess appointment since Dec. 21, was renominated by President Roosevelt last Wednesday. Confirmation by the Senate is expected later this week, following which the President will name Mr. Porter chairman for the unexpired term of James Lawrence Fly until July 30, 1949.

Whereas Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) had indicated following the original Porter nomination last session that public hearings would be held, Committee attaches said last week the proceedings on confirmation would be in executive session. No formal protests had been made, it was pointed out, and it is customary to hold public hearings only when there are such protests.

Immediately following the original Porter nomination in mid-November the Socialist National Committee telegraphed Chairman Wheeler in opposition. This, however, was not regarded as in the category of a formal protest.

While several Republican Senators also were disposed to question the appointment as premised upon political factors, there was no semblance of organized opposition. The fact that Mr. Porter as an attorney

MBS Up 41%

MUTUAL Broadcasting System's gross time sales for 1944 totaled $19,533,650, up 41% from the 1943 gross of $13,841,608. Leading advertiser was Sinclair Refining Co., whose MBS gross time charges were $1,301,917. Leading agency was Erwin, Wasey & Co., with billings on MBS of $2,406,501.

Robards Promoted

SIDNEY M. ROBARDS, for seven years a member of the RCA information department, has been named manager of the department, moving into the job vacated a year ago when Orrin E. Dunlap Jr. was appointed director of advertising and publicity.

specialized in radio and that he had served with distinction in important Government posts since the war tended to dispel Senatorial opposition.

Sen. Brooks (R-Ill.), a member of the Committee, said it seemed to him "a pity that one who has been so prominently identified with partisan activity should be appointed to a semijudicial post." Minority Leader White (R-Me.), ranking Republican member of the Committee, however, had indicated he was not disposed to contest the appointment.

Following Senate confirmation of Mr. Porter, President Roosevelt is expected to fill the one remaining vacancy on the Commission, created when T. A. M. Craven resigned last July to become executive vice-president of Cowles Broadcasting Co.

A number of names are under consideration, with that of Rosel H. Hyde, assistant general counsel in charge of broadcasting, remaining in the forefront. He is an Idaho Republican.

Another name mentioned for the Craven vacancy is Col. Theodore L. Bartlett, Army Air Forces communications officer in the European theater, and former chief of the FCC Law Dept. administrative section. Col. Bartlett returned from overseas duty a fortnight ago and is now assigned on special duty at the air communications base at Orlando, Fla. He entered the service as a major three years ago and has been decorated for distinguished service in combat. He has been with the FCC from its creation in 1934.

Mr. Porter in the interim has been familiarizing himself with the duties of FCC executive head. He has assumed his predecessor's place as FCC member of the Interdepartmental Special Committee on Communications, functioning through the State Dept., and also will head the Global Communications Subcommittee and the Shortwave Broadcasting Subcommittee. The Special Committee will meet this week with the newly-appointed Assistant Secretary of State, Will F. Clayton, in charge of telecommunications. Commissioner E. K. Jett will continue to serve as alternate for the FCC chairman on the main and the subcommittees.

Feltis Named Measurement Bureau Head

Leaves KFAB Post; Will Tour NAB Meetings

HUGH M. FELTIS, who sparked the drive for a standard audience measurement plan for radio, is the new executive head of Broadcast Measurement Bureau Inc.

Mr. Feltis has resigned as general manager of KFAB Lincoln. He assumed his new duties Jan. 2, following appointment by officers of the BMB board.

Mr. Feltis, whose selection was approved unanimously by the Bureau's board, was persuaded by BMB officers to accept the assignment after he had repeatedly asserted that someone else should be selected. Familiar with the entire history of the BMB he, as chairman of the NAB Research Committee, introduced the resolution at the association's War Conference in Chicago Aug. 28 setting in motion the new organization.

To Explain Details

It was voted unanimously then to create, in cooperation with the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies and the Assn. of National Advertisers, a radio bureau of circulation which would utilize a standard method of coverage measurement.

The plan generally calls for a ballot count of listeners every two years, using one million ballots at a cost of $1 each. Total cost of the biennial survey, estimated at $1,000,000, is to be absorbed by station members.

Mr. Feltis, pursuant to his selection to head the new bureau, is dividing his time presently between Washington and New York, consulting with board members of BMB preparatory to presenting the plan in detail before district meetings of the NAB. These district meetings get under way Jan. 15 with the inaugural parley at Memphis.

Original financing for BMB was provided by the NAB, which appropriated $75,000 as a loan to the new organization to see it through its first formative year. It has been announced by J. Harold Ryan, president of NAB, that the AAAA has agreed to underwrite 20% of this original amount. At the present time NAB is scheduling two hours at each afternoon session at district meetings for presentation and discussion of the BMB plan, making it the top order of business. Mr. Feltis will submit to the board of BMB in New York at the office of the AAAA at 2:30 p.m. Jan. 9 his detailed proposal for further steps in obtaining funds to finance the bureau studies.

It is understood a program for assessing station members will not be announced until the first meeting in Memphis. However, at the time the plan was adopted by the NAB conference, it was said that cost to member stations would be based on station rates with a possible starting point of $150 per year.

Actual selection of Mr. Feltis was made by BMB board officers, including NAB President Ryan, chairman; Paul West, ANA president, 1st vice-chairman; Frederic R. Gamble, AAAA president, 2d vice-chairman, and Roger Clipp, president of WFIL Philadelphia, secretary-treasurer. The four officers of the board were authorized by the entire membership of the body to name the executive head. It is understood that Mr. Feltis will be permitted to make all other official appointments to the BMB. At the present time, candidates for the important job of research director are being considered.

Speaking of Mr. Feltis' appointment, Mr. West said: "Advertisers are naturally gratified with this move toward standardization of the data on which radio time purchases are made. They feel it fortunate that Mr. Feltis has agreed to become executive head of the organization. We are sure that he will do the same splendid job in this position that he did as chairman of the committee in charge during the formulation stage of this project."

Seeks Industry Aid

First aim of the bureau is to enlist the universal acceptance and financial support of broadcasters. Mr. Feltis' qualifications to take on the task are a matter of record. He is a director-at-large of the NAB. Well-known in the broadcasting industry, with more than 15 years of experience in station operation, he comes to the new job from KFAB, where he has been general manager since 1943.

It was considered originally that Mr. Feltis would be asked to take a three- or four-month leave of absence from this post in order to do a selling job at the district meetings, subsequently stepping aside so an executive head of the organization could be selected. This plan was discarded as impractical by members of the BMB board who agreed that the person who did carry on as executive head of the organization must be the one who would make the original appeal for membership.

Mr. Feltis started his radio career in 1929 as a salesman at KVOS Bellingham; the following year he became acting manager of KXRO Aberdeen, Wash. He then succeeded to the management of KPQ

Wenatchee and after three years moved to KFBB Great Falls as sales manager. Later, after a period as sales manager of KIDO Boise, he joined the staff of KOMO-KJR Seattle as commercial manager. He remained there for five years, when he was called to New York by the Blue Network in 1942 to serve in the station relations department. He left this post in 1943 to become general manager of the Central States Broadcasting Co., operating KFAB, KOIL and KFOR. When these stations were separated as a result of the duopoly order of the FCC, he became manager of KFAB

Mr. Feltis was one of the pioneers in organizing plans aimed toward measurement of radio audiences. He was a charter member of the NAB sales manager steering committee, predecessor to the NAB sales manager executive committee. During the time he served these committees he campaigned for a uniform method of standard measurement for station coverage.

On Coast Group

In 1939 the Pacific Council of the AAAA appointed him to serve with its media committee to standardize methods of radio audience research. His background in this phase of broadcast operation resulted in his selection early in 1945 to succeed Mr. Ryan as chairman of the NAB research committee.

Mr. Feltis appointed a technical subcommittee, headed by Mr. Clipp. It was the report of this subcommittee that Mr. Feltis presented to the executive war conference in Chicago. Other members of the committee were: John Churchill, CBS New York; Edward Evans, Blue New York; Kenneth Greene, NBC New York; Barry Rumble, NBC New York; Frank Stanton, CBS New York; Richard Puff, MBS.

Serving on the research committee with Chairman Feltis were: Mr. Clipp, Edward F. Evans, WJZ New York; G. Bennett Larson, WWDC Washington; John McCormack, KTHS Hot Springs; Mr. Rumble; Frank N. Stanton, CBS New York; Jack Williams WAYX Waycross, Ga.

Action of the new board of BMB to have six rather than five representatives for each of the participating associations was taken at the last organization meeting. Mr. West becomes the sixth member from the ANA. Mr. Gamble is expected to appoint a Chicagoan as the sixth member from the AAAA. Mr. Ryan made an interim appointment of Robert T. Mason, general manager, WMRN Marion, as the sixth NAB representative on the board. Mr. Feltis will continue to serve as a member of the board, since his resignation from the group cannot be accepted until there is another meeting of the NAB board of directors, which appointed him originally.

Attack by Divebombers Brings Realization Of Utter Terror

By JAMES CASSIDY
WLW War Correspondent with the American Forces in Belgium

The author of the accompanying report is director of international broadcasting of WLW Cincinnati. Since arriving on the European scene a few weeks ago, he has scored numerous radio "beats"—among them the first broadcast from German soil and the first eyewitness radio account of American shelling of the Nazi home territory, both carried by WLW and NBC.

TWO DAYS BEFORE Christmas the full utter terror of war came home to me as it never has before. Two days before Christmas, with a number of friends of mine, I was caught in a German divebombing attack.

The bombing was a small part of the tremendous counter-offensive which has been launched against the First Army and of all the events that have happened to me since I came over here this was the worst. A number of us were in a building somewhere in Belgium. We had just finished lunch. It was a clear bright day. The sun was coming out and because most of us were tired after all that had happened we decided just to rest a few hours before moving again. I was looking at a copy of the Stars and Stripes.

The Dive

Suddenly there was a tremendous explosion a short distance away. Having been blasted out of a building by a buzz bomb earlier in the week I thought that this was another that had gone safely overhead and landed beyond us. But it wasn't a buzz bomb. It was German plane divebombers, three or four of them. There were quick frightened shouts from the men in front of the building, a modern building with good strong walls but also with huge planes of glass in front. There was a frenzied terrible scramble as all of us in the front room of the building dived into a corner. George Hicks jumped in right on top of me and dug his head into the scramble of people who were huddled in a corner.

Then the German plane came down. It dove down in the long terrible drone, dove and dove until it seemed that it must crash right on us.

Then the blast came. It came in a horrible, stunning explosion. The building rocked as the bomb went off directly outside and the walls, the windows, the plaster came tumbling down upon us.

My own senses went numb. I felt nothing and I thought nothing except one thing—that more bombs were coming and they did. There was a second I heard a cry of pain, not a loud cry but a surprised private cry of pain as the building rocked again and the air was filled with the uncontrollable earthshaking cataclysm of sound. Then another explosion came rocking the building a third time.

By now the building was a white fog of dust, dust scattered over uniforms of men lying on the floor, dust over the remains of somebody's noontime meal and mingled with the dust and plaster, thousands of slivers of glass, glass everywhere.

My eyeglasses had fallen off. Stupidly I fretted because I thought they were broken next to me. I saw a table and dived under it for protection. I remember saying to myself, "Oh God, Oh God" and sweating with fear in case the ceiling should cave in.

We could still hear the bombers. Is this the end of everything, I wondered—of home life and the future.

Strafing

Another came down but this time there was no bomb. This time it was the loud rattle of strafing. The shells spattered against the walls and then it was over.

Slowly, we picked ourselves up. What I remember most, even more than the front wall blown away, was the whiteness of everything changing its appearance as the first snowfall changes the look of the field. The building was unrecognizable. It had been modern. Now it was a shambles of concrete, draperies, glass on the floor and light coming in where the front wall had been.

One man was moaning and clutching his arm. Others were bleeding. I felt myself to see if anything had happened. There was a little blood on my arm but that was all. I had been one of the lucky ones. I was alive.

Out on the front yard four men were dead; one of them was my roommate Jack Frankish of the United Press. I didn't know he was dead until somebody wandered up to me and asked me if I knew it. I remember saying, "Oh my God" again and then wandering around in a kind of dull stupor, not quite certain of what I was doing.

Two trucks were in flames reaching fifty feet high. Outside the ambulances came and carried away the dead and the wounded. I found another correspondent Jack Wilhelm of Reuters whose leg had been bruised a little but he and I and Harold Denny of the New York Times found a jeep and climbed in and got away from the hellish place.

Radio Correspondents Assn. to Fete High Government Officials on Jan. 11

TO ACCOMMODATE several high government officials who will be honor guests, the Radio Correspondents Assn. has changed the date of its annual dinner from Jan. 13 to Jan. 11, Earl Godwin, president, and William Costello, chairman of the dinner committee, announced last week. The dinner now is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday at the Hotel Statler, Washington.

Bob Wood of CBS Washington, chairman of the entertainment committee, said all four major networks will combine facilities to present a program of top-ranking stars. On the committee with Mr. Wood are William Hillman, Blue; Charter Heslep, Mutual; Carleton Smith, NBC.

Acceptances already have been received from several Cabinet members and heads of Government departments, as well as heads of the networks, according to Mr. Costello. Among the dignitaries who will be guests of the association are Vice-President-Elect Truman; Associate Justices Reed and Douglas of the Supreme Court; Gen. George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff; Adm. William Leahy, chief of staff to the Commander-in-Chief; Lt. Gen. Alexander A. Vandergrift, commandant, U. S. Marine Corps.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, and Postmaster General Walker also will attend. Secretary of State Stettinius tentatively accepted.

Niles Trammell, president of NBC, and Paul W. Kesten, executive vice-president of CBS, also have notified the Committee they will be present. Invitations have gone to President Roosevelt, heads of the other networks and all Cabinet members, as well as to associate members of the association, more than 100 of whom live outside Washington.

Transfers Effective June 15; Follow Cowles Shifts

KSO Des Moines and KSCJ Sioux City, both present affiliates of the Blue Network, will join CBS June 15, Herbert V. Akerberg, CBS vice-president in charge of station relations, announced last week. A sequel to the recent announcement of the Blue Network that the Cowles stations, KRNT Des Moines and WNAX Yankton would transfer their affiliation from CBS to the Blue on June 15 [BROADCASTING, Dec. 18], the CBS statement confirms the predictions made by BROADCASTING at that time.

KSO to Be Basic

KSO, 5,000 w on 1460 kc, will be a basic CBS station, with a nighttime hour network rate of $210. KSCJ, 5,000 w on 1360 kc, will be a basic supplementary CBS outlet with a nighttime hour network rate of $160. Current CBS rate card shows KRNT, 5,000 w on 1360 kc, as a basic station with a network rate of $220 per evening hour, and WNAX, 5,000 w on 750 kc, as a member of the northwestern group with a network evening hour rate of $250.

WJEF Grand Rapids, Mich., which will join CBS as a supplementary outlet when it goes on the air, has postponed that date from Jan. 15 to Feb. 1 because of construction difficulties. Station, owned by John E. Fetzer, operator of WKZO Kalamazoo, will operate with 250 w on 1230 kc with a network evening hour rate of $75.

TSN Renews MBS

TEXAS State Network has renewed its affiliation contracts with Mutual for another two-year period, effective Jan. 1, 1945. Contracts cover the complete TSN line-up, comprising the six-station north-south group and the three-station east-west group.

Continental Can on Net

CONTINENTAL CAN Co., New York, on Jan. 6 made its debut as a radio network advertiser when it assumed sponsorship of the CBS documentary feature, Report to the Nation on 142 stations plus CBS outlets in Toronto and Montreal from 1:30-2 p.m. Continental Can, in its weekly program, will use institutional commercials as well as tin containers commercials. Agency is BBDO New York.

Wisc. Net Appoints

WISCONSIN Network Inc. has announced appointment of Burn-Smith Co., New York, Chicago and Los Angeles as exclusive national sales representatives. Network, organized in 1941, is affiliated with Mutual, and comprises eight Wisconsin stations: WCLO Janesville; WRJN Racine; WIBA Madison-Poynette; KFIZ Fond du Lac; WLBL Sheboygan; WBY Appleton; WFHR Wisconsin Rapids; WSAU Wausau.

Heavy Weather

That big picture certainly gives you an idea of what "heavy weather" can mean to a ship.

We're using it to try to remind radio advertisers that when sales start to hit heavy going . . . they'll need to check all the media they buy. And the time to start thinking is NOW.

Our interest is radio in Baltimore . . . W-I-T-H, the successful independent. Authenticated facts prove that in this 5 station town, W-I-T-H produces the greatest number of listeners at the lowest cost.

These facts are available to anyone interested in getting the jump on the storm . . . NOW!

High Figures Hardly Reveal Story of Radio's Effort

By GEORGE P. LUDLAM
Chief, Radio Bureau, OWI

RADIO last year contributed $66,141,600 of time and talent to the war effort through the OWI Radio Bureau allocation plans, as the statistical table on this page demonstrates.

The figures are imposing—and some 20% better than last year.

But figures barely begin to tell the story. They reveal little of the thought and time and intelligence put into radio's effort, and even less of the significance of this joint industry-government weapon of war.

Through radio's war information machine, the Government has, in effect, a direct wire into practically every American home. It can bring war messages and appeals right into the family circle, presenting them through the voices of radio personalities who enjoy the affection of the listener, or in the form of dramatizations which not only make the messages interesting and easy to understand, but which illustrate and greatly point up their urgency.

The fact that this effort is voluntarily assumed on the part of advertisers, agencies, networks, stations, writers, producers and talent—and the fact that the great majority of those in the actual production end of the machine undertake their assignments conscientiously, and with a full awareness of the importance of their work—has brought to the radio war information program a success comparable only to the great success of commercial radio itself.

The listener is not only not annoyed—but every survey ever made to discover whether there is a surfeit of war messages on the air has not only turned up with a negative answer, but has disclosed a large body of listeners who think that there are not enough.

That this public acceptance of war information on commercial radio is due in large part to the high quality of presentation is attested indirectly by the continuing results of the Radio Bureau's monitoring service, which show that about 65% of the war messages rate either "excellent" or "good," 30% "fair," and only 5% "poor."

As of the end of 1944, in short, radio's war information machine is running smoothly and effectively. It is performing a most valuable service in the country's war effort.

What of 1945?

In looking forward to the coming year, the Radio Bureau can see ahead only a continuing war job, the gravity and urgency of which will demand the very best that radio has of brains, imagination, showmanship, and ingenuity.

The German conflict, apparently so near its end in August, demands constantly increasing quotas of vital materials of war. And beyond victory in Europe, twin enemies face us across the Pacific—distance and Japan. The potency of neither is yet clear to many of us. Throughout 1945 we shall need every possible ounce of effort in war production, every possible seaman to man our cargo ships and tankers, nurses for battlefronts and hospitals, sharpened awareness by all of us of the continuing necessities of wartime living at home—food rationing, bond buying, price control, security, to mention but a few.

It is our hope, therefore, that we will continue to receive—indeed, if war needs are to be met, the war agencies and the armed services tell us that they must receive—the same enthusiastic, conscientious and intelligent support of our OWI facility plans that has made radio's war participation on the domestic front for the past three years something of which it has every right to be proud.

VIDEO SNOW STATIC

Electronic Flakes

SNOW STATIC is the latest interference marring a television picture, according to Dr. Orestes H. Caldwell, editor of Electronics Industries and former member of the Federal Radio Commission, who observed snowflakes carrying strong electrical charges appearing as black-white flashes on his television screen during a recent snow storm at his country home near Greenwich, Conn.

With the air dry and cold, each flake collects electrons as it swirls downward, and when these flakes strike a shortwave antenna, the electrical charges imparted to the antenna are strong enough to impair communication. Part of the electrical charges on the snowflakes may have been produced at the birth of the snow crystals in the upper atmosphere as the myriads of tiny water droplets combined into a common mass with a relatively small surface area which was then charged to a higher potential, Dr. Caldwell revealed.

To avoid future impairment of his television reception, if further electrified snow is to fall this winter, Dr. Caldwell has arranged a special insulated dipole antenna. By keeping the snowflakes out of contact with any metal parts of the antenna the television image will still be received, without any snow static to mar the picture.

WAR INTERVIEWS

KRNT Xmas Program Creates

Series of Live Shows

AS A RESULT of statewide acclamation for a special Christmas broadcast of interviews with 20 Iowans sent live from Alsace in the Strasbourg sector in France, KRNT Des Moines is completing plans for a biweekly series of the live broadcasts from the European front, Phil Hoffman, manager of the Cowles station, announced last week.

The interviews were conducted by Gordon Gammack, Des Moines Register & Tribune war correspondent, who will continue with the series. With the aid of Army public relations, men were brought in directly from the front. Rebroadcasts and recordings permit relatives and friends to hear the program. To insure full coverage throughout the state, WNAX Yankton carries it also.

Pulse Experimental Studies of BMB Suggest Day Rather Than Week Plan

THREE experimental studies to check on the plan the Broadcast Measurement Bureau intends to use in establishing a single standard station coverage measurement, conducted by The Pulse Inc., are reported in a supplement to the December issue of The Radio Audience, monthly newsletter of The Pulse.

In the first experiment, eight independent stations were listed on a card which was shown to the respondent and the list read aloud. The respondent was asked to indicate those stations heard in the last week. Only two stations in the list had primary coverage in some of the counties covered by the survey (12 counties of the New York metropolitan area), according to the BMB definition of mentions by 50% or more of the returns in a county.

"While it is true that these results do not completely cover the entire family as the NAB plan intends," The Pulse comments, "these results were obtained in a personal interview in which only selected independent stations were shown. This probably results in more mentions of independent stations than would be obtained in a mail survey employing unaided recall and offering competition with the 'big' stations."

A second study consisted of one question: "How often do you listen to station X (an independent station)?" Reporting that in seven counties, half or more of the respondents state they never listen to that station, The Pulse asks, "What percentage can this station expect in the NAB method?"

Results of a third study, in which respondents were asked to which of five independent stations they or their families listened to within the preceding 24 hours, suggest the possibility, says The Pulse "of using a day basis rather than a week basis in the method," adding that perhaps Saturday and Sunday listening habits are different enough from weekdays to justify separate figures.

Results are offered to help evaluate the NAB plan, The Pulse states, pointing out that further experimentation seems needed before the plan is finally adopted.

MYERS HITS PULSE FOR BMB CRITICISM

LIKENING the trials of the NAB Broadcast Measurement Bureau to the early days of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, C. W. Myers, president of KOIN Portland, Ore. has written to the Pulse Inc., New York taking issue with the Pulse's comments on the NAB method of measurement. In his letter, Mr. Myers said the Pulse's criticism of the NAB method "seems to be based on the assumption that the listener is too dumb to know what stations he tunes in for his favorite programs."

Mr. Myers assured Pulse Inc. that radio, especially in rural areas, is taken quite seriously. Mr. Myers said he felt the new measurement plan might give non-network, independent stations a "break" but that "we are not going to worry about that."

Pointing out that advertisers as well as agencies and the stations themselves have agreed to try acceptance of the NAB method, Mr. Myers recalled the opposition the ABC had at its inception in 1925 and reminded the Pulse Inc. that the ABC "is still the accepted form of newspaper circulation measurement."

Parker Campaign

PARKER WATCH CO., New York, starting a 1945 radio campaign running into almost seven figures, on Jan. 1 began sponsorship of Johannes Steele news commentator, for 52 weeks on WHN New York, Monday through Friday, 7:45-8 p.m. Mr. Steele, who shifted from WMCA to WHN Jan. 1 [BROADCASTING, Dec. 25], is under contract with the watch company to do news commentaries on stations they select. Berne W. Wilkins, radio director of agency handling account, Sterling Adv., New York, late this month will make a nation-wide tour to purchase the outstanding program or best series of shows available for sponsorship in each of 45 Parker markets. According to Mr. Wilkins, the company feels that programs do a better selling job and are more effective than time-signal announcements. In the latter case, he said, there are too many time-signal announcements by several watch companies, and this helps to lose sponsor-identification. Parker also currently sponsors These Are Our Men, a weekly half-hour dramatic program on NBC.

Postwar Plans Survey* FORECASTS WORCESTER'S

*Worcester Federal Savings and Loan Association under the direction of Albert-Frank Guenther Law of New York.

Among Worcester home owners and renters alike, 70% have expressed specific preferences for postwar purchases. One third in each group want a new car, although renters give first choice to a washing machine. Education is the second most popular item among home owners, mentioned by 24%. From 10% to 27% of each group will be ready to buy furniture, radios and television sets, travel, refrigerators, and vacuum cleaners. Over half expect to pay cash out of current income. In general Worcester people are keenly home-minded. Aids to better living will strike a responsive chord with the WTAG audience, the major Central New England market, reached fully and only from the INSIDE—through WTAG.

PIVOT POINT OF DEMOCRACY

YES or no.—This or that.—Pick and choose.—This is the essence of democracy:
—which is the essence of competitive American radio.

By Government decree and economic edict, each radio station and network must compete with the other—and at the same time—for the ears and attention of those they would serve. Should they fail to interest, they fail to serve. Should they fail to serve, they fail.

So with his thumb on the dial, the American listener controls the pivot point of democracy. Your ideas, your politics, your talents, your wares, your religion, are welcomed or denied to his home as he elects, at the switch of a dial.

He's in the driver's seat, because competitive American radio has put him there, and will keep him there.

In the past twenty years, WSM has had a part in developing our American system of radio; has had to compete for a loyal and substantial following now numbering in the millions which tune to WSM for both sides of public questions, and politics; for their type of religion and inspiration; for their informational and educational needs; in sheer hunger for diversion and entertainment. With our frequency and our assignment, we have been privileged to bring these services to the listeners of rural America, to accept or reject as they please.

We are proud to report that more have been served than have not been served. No other radio station can report more. No other radio station should report less.

This is clear channel broadcasting.

This is WSM.

The substantial business we have done with advertisers willing to pay 50,000 Watts rates, has long since taught us they don't tackle their important job of time-buying blindfolded.

It is because they do want to know who listens, from where they listen and how many listen, that WWVA is doing a top-ranking 50,000 Watts business.

Coverage and market data figures, backed solidly by results, prove WWVA one of America's greatest per-listener buys!

RADIO WORKSHOP Winston-Salem Group Made Regular City Activity

THE COMMUNITY Radio Plan of Winston-Salem, N. C., started over a year ago, has been incorporated into the regular structure of the Community Council as one of its central services, making the city the first to organize such a program as part of its regular community planning. The plan is made possible by the cooperation of local stations WAIR and WSJS and is financed for a three year period by the United War Chest and the Junior League.

Under the leadership of radio consultant Charlotte Demorest, the workshop was opened after studying the needs and possibilities of the city for interpretation by radio. Free to all citizens of the county and biracial, it has trained 140 members, with the help of the staffs of both stations, to write, direct and act their own shows.

Programs are produced for all ages, types and purposes. Most recent is a series for children on local history. Others deal with the city's role in the war, books, music, and dramatic skits. The workshop also has assumed full responsibility for the Chest Campaign radio publicity and has cooperated with the Public Library, Red Cross, Girl Scouts, Tuberculosis Assn. and others.

KALE Farm Service

A FARM service department, first of its kind in the city, is being established by KALE Portland under direction of Burton S. Hutton who has resigned as assistant general agricultural development agent for the Great Northern Railway, to accept the position. Mr. Hutton will give timely and practical farm facts and market news on weekday morning and afternoon programs. Mr. Hutton has been director of agricultural broadcasting on KOAC Corvallis, Ore. and farm editor of two Oregon newspapers.

Z. Zimmerman Hugus

Z. ZIMMERMAN HUGUS, 55, assistant vice-president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., New York, died Dec. 28. Following his graduation from Washington & Jefferson College in 1910, he entered the telephone business as a salesman. After serving in the Signal Corps in World War I, Mr. Hugus joined Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania as assistant publicity manager. In 1925 he joined AT&T in an executive capacity. Surviving are his wife and a son.

Returns to WSPA

STERLING WRIGHT has returned to WSPA Spartanburg as director of special events and a member of the sales staff after a two and a half month absence while associated with a Charlotte advertising agency. Mr. Wright also will air the 7:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. newscasts. He formerly was program director of the station for four years. Marshall Pack of the WSPA sales department has shifted to the announcing staff replacing Wayne Davis, resigned.

NEW YORKERS will hear FM programs emitted by this new two-bay General Electric circular antenna, installed by CBS atop the 700-foot building at 500 Fifth Ave., for the network's FM station, WABC-FM. Provision has been made to add two more bays to the 14-ton structure, which rises 100 feet above the rooftop. The antenna cost $15,000, most of which went for labor, installation services, scaffolding and modification of the steel structure. When the antenna goes into use it will give CBS the first FM station in New York to cover its assigned area, according to William B. Lodge, CBS general engineering supervisor.

Net Committee Named

PRESIDENT J. Harold Ryan of the NAB has announced the following committee to coordinate radio's 25th anniversary observance on behalf of the four major networks: Dr. Frank Stanton, CBS vice-president; Robert D. Swezey, MBS assistant vice-president and assistant general manager; Frank E. Mullen, NBC vice-president and general manager; Mark Woods, Blue president. Committee will determine general network policy and correlate programming, advertising, publicity, promotion, sales, public relations and station relations during this anniversary year. Meeting is scheduled for January.

WOR Video Board

A TELEVISION program planning board of nine has been set up by WOR New York to enable the station to familiarize itself with the demands and techniques of television. Board includes Norman Livingston, program director; J. R. Poppele, chief engineer; "Tiny" Ruffner, assistant program director; Dave Driscoll, director of war service and news; Charles Oppenheim, publicity director; Joseph Creamer, promotion director; Eugene King, daytime program manager; Robert Simon, continuity director; Robert Emery, producer and director of WOR television programs.

KCMO Kansas City has appointed John E. Pearson Co., Chicago, as national representative effective Jan. 15.

Popularity Check—Announcer Data
RCA Book—CHUM Tumblers

A SUCCESSFUL as well as economical method of measuring program popularity at small stations has been devised by Fin Hollinger, general manager of KDB Santa Barbara. On the radio page of local newspapers was inserted a "coupon" listing 30 of the regular KDB programs, both sponsored and sustaining. Coupon also listed sponsors, time of program, and a blank space in which the listener was invited to write its order of popularity. Contestants submitting the lists most closely resembling popular choice were awarded War Bond prizes. Plan not only measured program popularity, but also provided all programs considerable publicity. KDB expects to make such a poll an annual event.

KMBC Mail Piece

MAILING PIECE, accompanied by a letter from Sam H. Bennett, vice-president in charge of sales for KMBC Kansas City, has been sent to all local, regional and national advertisers to boost late programs. Reprint of station advertisement in Kansas City Star, mailing piece promotes idea that clock has been pushed back in Kansas City to hear Kate Smith, Nelson Eddy, Kenny Baker and other major programs broadcast after 10:30 p.m.

WOR Announcers

FOR the use of advertising agencies, and the station's sales and executive staff, WOR New York is distributing a booklet on its announcers which may be used in conjunction with a master recording of their voices available for reference. Announcers read commercials heard regularly on WOR. Issued in the form of a mimeographed stapled 6 x 8 inch paper-saving pamphlet, the written data includes material in the announcer's radio experience and general background.

WBT Story

BUGS BUNNY sits on the front cover of the folder "WBT's Happy Ending Dept., Grady Cole, Mgr." Listeners to Decide

OPINIONS of radio listeners will be a factor in determining the grand prize winner in a symphony contest sponsored by Henry H. Reichbold, chairman of the board of Reichbold Chemicals Inc., Detroit, and president of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, sponsored by the company on Mutual, Saturday 8:30-9 p.m. Prizes totaling $32,500 have been posted by Mr. Reichbold for the best "Symphony of the Americas," the contest open to composers in both North and South America. In the interest of Pan-American cultural unity, each nation will be asked to submit an unpublished symphony, the finalist compositions to be played on Symphony programs prior to the announcement for the winner.

CHUM Gifts

CHUM, new Toronto 1,000 w station on 1050 kc, distributed sets of six tumblers among advertising agency executives to call attention to the new station. All the glasses had decals affixed with the legend "Hey Chum! What's going on at 1050?" and scenes of revelry, bargain counters, etc. The glasses were distributed at Christmas time.

KNX Booklet

"HERE is Europe, twelve feet wide . . ." runs the opening copy in a promotion brochure issued by KNX Los Angeles describing a battle map or display in the window of the station. Illustrated booklet tells how KNX reports the war. Photographs of KNX and CBS commentators and correspondents are included.

"...but what about Belleville, Kansas?"

Big things were happening in the vast KFAB area! "Advance men" had been setting up shows for the celebration of KFAB's big 20th birthday party.

They had contacted Oakland, Holdrege, and Wilbur...typically rich Nebraska communities... and the wealthy Denison farming area over in Iowa. Everywhere, a glad hand...everywhere, KFAB was definitely "one of the family"!

BUT WHAT ABOUT BELLEVILLE, KANSAS? What kind of a reception could be expected in the southern KFAB area? Here's what happened!

The entire Belleville territory through its Chamber of Commerce welcomed KFAB and were glad of the opportunity to help celebrate the station's big 20th birthday party. The "Belleville Show" was a humdinger...just like all the others.

Yes...KFAB is a household word throughout the vast 200 county area it serves. If you are interested in profitable coverage, why not let THE BIG FARMER STATION sell your product to its 340,808 listening families.

New Video Lights

TELEVISION STUDIO lighting will be more efficient, less expensive and longer-lived as a result of recent developments by Norman Hall, plant engineer of Allen B. DuMont Labs., N. J., according to an announcement by DuMont last week. Mr. Hall has worked out a system for operating water-cooled mercury vapor lamps on direct current instead of the alternating current now used. Experiments conducted by DuMont indicate that the new method completely eliminates the objectionable flicker in the old lamps. Installation of these new lamps will soon get under way in the studios of DuMont television station, WABD New York.

Storm Co., New York; Frances Hughes of Mademoiselle; Thomas H. Hutchinson of RKO Television Corp. and Bud Gamble, president of the Television Producers Assn. Chairman of the production panel will be Irwin A. Shane, of the Television Workshop, New York, who organized the television session.

New ETO Station

DIRECT RADIO news service between America and the European war zone was amplified Jan. 2 when Press Wireless Inc., New York, began transmission from a mobile unit somewhere in Holland. Designated as Station PV, the new unit is similar to Station PX, the first in Europe to begin service from the Normandy beachhead June 13. A special 400-watt transmitter is used. A third Press Wireless station is in operation from Leyte in the Philippines. All were developed for the press under authorization of the FCC, the war theatre commands, the Board of War Communications and other agencies.

Chrysler Donates

CHRYSLER Corp., Highland Park, Mich., due to the illness of Maj. Edward Bowes, m. c. of the amateur program, has turned over its program time on CBS, Thurs., 9-9:30 p.m., to the Red Cross. Product Boycott, Nonlistening Caused by Spots, Listeners Say

Active Dislike Shown in Letters to Bannister; Other Stations Commend Transcription Ban

ACTUAL boycott of advertised products; turning off of radio sets during commercials and general disgust leading to little use of sets are some of the reactions inspired by poor commercials, letters to Harry Bannister, manager of WWJ Detroit, reveal in commending him on the station's ban on all transcribed commercials [BROADCASTING, Nov. 27].

About half of almost 200 letters received during the month after the announcement was made show the writers to be aggressively resentful and hostile towards certain spots to the extent that they would "take it out" on advertisers. Mr. Bannister's action is looked upon as an example of intelligent and courageous leadership and he is called "one of the great benefactors of mankind" who has shown "mercy toward the feelings" of the audience.

High Calibre

Many of the messages are from women, written on postcards; others are signed by professional groups—scientists working together on a project; business firms and several from servicemen. The quality of writing and expression indicate that the writers generally fall in the educated group. Many refer to the Time magazine article on the ban.

General concern is expressed about WWJ's ability to survive the action financially. One letter had a $10 check enclosed to "partially defray expenses" and another a dollar bill. Writers also were quite specific in naming sponsors of offensive material. The soap announcements for Rinso and Duz and "LSMFT", the Lucky Strike tobacco auctioneer chant, came in for criticism.

Following are some actual quotes:

From a bank—"unlike the motion picture industry, you realize when your medium should abandon short pants." From a couple—"a smart business man would know they build up gall instead of good wishes."

"Personally I would rather pay 10 cents per diem and eliminate all advertising on the radio," writes another who cites Ford Motor Co. as an example of good advertising. One believes "They'll make us willing to pay not just .05 a day for Muzak but any amount." Another says now she'll try turning on the radio again . . . sometime next year" to see what its like. One broadcaster states that while loyal to industry and company "I have been afraid of the practices of the last five years" of certain agencies and advertisers; another, who has taken certain modified steps on spots says "It is however,

THESE ARE THE MEN responsible for These Are Our Men, NBC series sponsored by Parker Watch Co. Program dramatizes the highlights in the lives of America's military leaders, with commercial time turned over to the Treasury for War Bond appeals. First program, dramatizing the life of President Roosevelt, was recorded and presented to his Hyde Park library. In conference are: (standing, l to r): Joseph Cherniavsky, musical director; Berne Wilkins, radio director, Sterling Adv. to you stronger operators that industry must look . . ."

A writer complaining about a soap commercial (Duz), turns the radio off when the ad comes on, says others at the bridge and pinocle clubs have the same reactions.

In Upstate New York a club has been formed whose members are pledged never to buy a product, if it can be helped, that has a singing commercial.

DOWNEY DISCS SET FOR LOCAL STATIONS

COCA COLA Co., Atlanta, Ga., will augment its network broadcasts of Songs From Morton Downey, starting Feb. 5 on 240 MBS stations, by making transcriptions of the show which will be sent to local bottlers for placement on about 200 stations in cities not serviced by MBS. On MBS, show probably will be heard from 12:15 to 12:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

In announcing last week that Coca Cola's Victory Parade of Spotlight Bands would remain on the Blue when the Downey program shifts to MBS, Blue Network officials said that the network "has a general policy against the use of transcriptions for network originated programs, except in cases where technical difficulties preclude the presentation of live broadcasts." The policy was adopted in October 1944.

While Mr. Downey is entertaining servicemen overseas, his program is being continued on the Blue with guest stars appearing each week and when he returns, he will be supported by the same cast, Jimmy Lytell's orchestra, Leah Ray, and David Ross. Last week Mr. Downey was reported hospitalized in Paris but his illness is said not to be serious enough to keep him from returning to this country in time for his first Mutual broadcast. Agency for the Coca Cola Co. is D'Arcy Adv., New York.

Salsbury Plans

DR. SALSBUARY'S LABS., Charles City, Ia., is sponsoring a one-minute transcribed spot announcement campaign on approximately 60 stations starting in the middle of February to run through the spring of 1945. N. A. Winter, Des Moines, is agency.

HOME Products International, Ltd., New York, subsidiary of American Home Products Corp., New York, has appointed McCann-Erickson Inc., New York, to handle all Latin American advertising effective Jan. 1.

There's good advice for radio listeners in the caption of this January poster. Starting off the new 1945 series of outdoor boards for KXOK, its appeal for the New Year is, "Don't Toy Around . . . dial KXOK." Following last year's animal series of illustrations, this outdoor board effectively carries out its copy point pictorially with little toy dogs. The poster is currently showing in St. Louis, Mo., on 100 locations in high traffic areas.

NBC Committee to Discuss Labor, Postwar Projects

FRANK E. MULLEN, NBC vice-president and general manager, will discuss "Labor on the Air" at the first meeting of the network's 1945 Stations Planning & Advisory Committee, called for Jan. 9 in New York by William S. Hedges, vice-president in charge of stations.

Following an address of welcome by Niles Trammell, NBC president, the agenda calls for W. F. Brooks, director of news and special events to talk on "NBC's Postwar Plans Abroad"; S. B. Hickox Jr., manager of station relations, to discuss NBC's "Welcome Home Auditions"; C. L. Meiser, vice-president in charge of programs, to outline program developments; James Nelson, manager of network promotion, to review the 1944 all-county survey; Charles P. Hammond, director of advertising and promotion, to outline his department's plans for 1945.

New members of the Stations Planning & Advisory Committee, elected in recent balloting by affiliates in their respective districts, are Clair McCollough, WGAL Lancaster, Pa., District 1; Nate Lord, WAVE Louisville, District 3; Harold Wheelahan, WSMB New Orleans, District 4. Re-elected were G. Richard Shafto, WIS Columbia, S. C., District 2; Stanley E. Hubbard, KSTP St. Paul, District 5; Edgar Bell, WKY Oklahoma City, District 6; Richard Lewis, KTAR Phoenix, District 7; Arden X. Pangborn, KGW Portland, Ore., District 8.

WQXR Business Soars Despite Song-Spot Ban

TOTAL YEAR'S business of WQXR New York in 1944 exceeded the income of 1943, its previous largest year, by more than 40% despite the ban on "singing commercials", according to an announcement by the station last week. It was also stated that the business for the last quarter of 1944 was the biggest in the station's history, exceeding the next best 1944 quarter by over 12%. WQXR said that "policy barring the 'jingle' from WQXR was adopted in March of 1944 because it was felt that since WQXR specialized in good music, the 'singing commercial' was too much of a contrast with this good music and thus would create ill will for the advertiser and the station. Advertiser's using the 'jingle' finished out their contracts as permitted by the station and renewed using live announcements without singing accompaniment."

BOOK-OF-THE-MONTH CLUB, Inc., New York, in stepping up its use of radio advertising, on Jan. 15 begins sponsorship of Author Meets the Critics on WHN New York, Mondays, 8-8:30 p.m. Book club also sponsors a weekly hour and a half musical program on WQXR New York.

CONSIDER Ease of Maintenance
WHEN YOU SELECT A NEW TRANSMITTER

Modern transmitters require little maintenance—but when they do, ease of maintenance is important.

In Westinghouse Transmitters all units are easily accessible, both for inspection and maintenance.

Complete protection to operators is assured by interlocks on doors to all compartments in which dangerous voltages are present. Controls are of the dead front type, instruments at ground potential for maximum safety.

Indicator lights flash circuit conditions to the operator in case of overload, making it easy to check up for the possible cause of the interruption.

We will gladly furnish complete information on these and other advantages of the HG-5-KW and HG-50-KW Transmitters, such as: Low Operating Cost, High Fidelity Signals, Continuity of Operation, Simplicity of Control.

PLACE YOUR ORDER NOW FOR YOUR POSTWAR TRANSMITTER

By placing your order today for a Westinghouse Transmitter, you assure yourself of the fastest possible delivery following the lifting of wartime manufacturing restrictions. GRAND IN WATTS

The Milky Way

THE MAJORITY report of the House Select Committee to Investigate the FCC, which absolves the Commission of wrong-doing or malfeasance, makes the best of a bad situation. If nothing else, it points up irrefutably the need for a new radio law which will spell out in simple language the precise regulatory functions of the Commission and frustrate the arrogation of powers never intended by Congress.

To say that politics didn't figure in the report would be to gloss over obvious facts. The majority report was signed by the three Democratic members. The two Republican members joined in the recommendations for new legislation to supplant the archaic provisions carried over from the 1927 radio act, when radio wore diapers. The majority slapped the Commission on the wrist ever so lightly. The minority members sneered truculently.

The inquiry, during its stormy two years, was smeared in its effort to smear. The main performers—Rep. Cox of Georgia and James Lawrence Fly—were not in the act at the final gun. Few, if any, Congressional inquiries in history have been afflicted with the pressures to which the Lea Committee was subjected.

To the credit of Chairman Lea, the proceedings have not concluded as a total loss. The proposal that a joint committee representing the regulators and the regulated be set up to collaborate on legislative changes is wholesome and constructive. The proposal that the Supreme Court decision of May 10, giving the FCC implied powers going far beyond the Congressional intent, be reviewed legislatively conforms with the demand of broadcasters since the day the decision was handed down. Congressional review of the newspaper ownership question, an Administration obsession, likewise is a crying need, to head off any further class discrimination in station licensing.

The fact that the majority veered away from biting criticism of the Commission is a tribute to the manner in which Commission counsel performed, and particularly to General Counsel Charles R. Denny Jr., who was on the ball every second of that two-year ordeal.

While we think the inquiry went wrong from the start in tackling individual cases rather than broad policies and issues, we feel some good can result from the recommendations.

Lip service given by the majority to a uniform system of accounting for stations and to control of sales prices is a danger sign. It would be the first step toward rate regulation and would place radio in the common-carrier category—something the law specifically says it is not. The suggestion was smuggled in by Mr. Denny at the Committee's final session. We think a lawyer-like legislative study by an expert staff is imperative before definitive legislation is projected.

The task now is the follow-through. The Committee is on record—unanimously—in favor of new legislation. The old personality feuding between the FCC and Congress is at an end. The job can be done with follow-through, headwork and perhaps a little of that milk of human kindness.

Jimmy's Broken Record

IN ONE RESPECT the Congress that expired last month and the one that convened last week were the same. Both observed, doubtless with some inquisitiveness, the quaint Washington scene which finds top executive boards of the Government waltzing to the shrill and discordant fiddling of James Caesar Petrillo.

Before the last Congress ended, the Senate unanimously passed a bill which its author, Senator Vandenburg (R-Mich.), said would "remove Petrillo's foot from the necks of the nation's school children". The House didn't have time to act.

That, however, was only one isolated reaction to the Petrillo campaign of conquest. But it was symptomatic of the thinking in official circles and of the new determination to move legislatively against the AFM Czar.

Senator Ball (R-Minn.) is prepared to sponsor a law making the Government's wartime labor policy apply to labor unions and to establish a "legal basis for action against union defiance". "Assistant President" James F. Byrnes, in his recommendations to the President and to Congress, pleads for power to enforce orders of the War Labor Board in the courts in a manner "which will treat Petrillos and Averys alike".

Jimmy Petrillo has an unbroken record since the war began of defying Government orders. Where Montgomery Ward officials have been pitched out on their ears for WLB defiance, Jimmy has gone his merry way unmolested, using his monopoly on musicians to track down new quarry under threat of strike. He told all and sundry, including the President, to go to grass in the recording ban. He ignored the NLRB's mandate that striking musicians at KSTP return to their posts. He has defied committees of Congress and War Stabilization Director Vinson. He ignored also the WLB order giving to NABET jurisdiction over record-turners at all NBC and Blue owned stations except Chicago, and he's forcing the nets to knuckle down or suffer possible boycott by his musicians.

It has been evident since Jimmy became AFM czar five years ago (and he was a power even before) that he proposed to take over control of radio via his union, through stand-bys, make-work, fixed quotas of musicians, fixed quotas of pay, his private Social Security system on recordings and transcriptions, and, lastly, platter-turner control. He has won his intra-industry battles through threats and coercion. He has won those battles with the Administration through political power and the abject unwillingness of the Government to act. To some degree he has gotten away with it because the laws exempt labor unions from anti-trust proceedings. But they do not exempt them from the emergency wartime statutes.

Now, for the first time, Congress seems aroused. Justice Byrnes wants action. The President is embarrassed. The public is indignant, and has lost confidence in the WLB. Certainly all of the factors necessary for legislative relief are present. And certainly this is no time for radio, or any part of it, to fall for Petrillo's platter-turner booby-trap.

THEODORE CUYLER STREIBERT

IN 1933 Theodore C. Streibert deserted the academic post of assistant dean of Harvard Business School to become assistant to Alfred J. McCosker, president of Bamberger Broadcasting Service Inc., owner and operator of WOR New York, with the anything but academic assignment of reorganizing the station's operating set-up to enable it to meet the growing competition of the network-owned stations in New York. With the turn of the year Mr. Streibert became president of the corporation, succeeding Mr. McCosker, now chairman of the board.

Rounding out that one-paragraph success story with a few "Who's Who" statistics, let the record show that Theodore Cuyler Streibert, named for a prominent Brooklyn minister, was born Aug. 29, 1899, in Albany, N. Y. After early education at Albany schools, Ted was graduated from Wesleyan U., Middleton, Conn., in 1921 and subsequently received his M.B.A. from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

In 1923 young Streibert became a member of the research staff of the Bureau of Business Research at the Harvard Business School. Later he was associated with the late Guy W. Currier, noted Boston attorney, and when Joseph P. Kennedy asked Currier's aid in financing FBO Pictures Corp., which later became RKO Pictures, Streibert was named assistant secretary of the company to represent Currier's interests.

After a movie career that included service as treasurer of Cinema Credits Corp. of New York and as a board member and subsequently assistant to the executive vice-president of Pathe Exchange, in 1929 Streibert returned to Boston and to Harvard Business School as assistant dean.

Four years later, when the owners of WOR were searching for a man with both business and show business experience and Ted was offered the job, he again deserted Harvard's cloistered halls, and this time the desertion stuck. He was in radio for good.

1933 was a mayoralty election year in New York and Ted's first job at WOR was to supervise political sales, bringing him immediately face to face with some of the most difficult problems of commercial radio. The result was a revamping of WOR's policies not only for political sales, but for all the station's business. Then Ted moved over to the program side, effecting a similar reorganization of WOR program policies.

In 1935 he was elected a member of the station's board of directors and the following year he became vice-president and general manager of WOR. Meanwhile, Streibert played a major role in the formation of the Mutual Broadcasting System, started in 1934 as a four-station hook-up with WOR as the New York outlet. First treasurer of MBS and a member of the network's board, he was later elected executive vice-president of Mutual, a post he still retains. He is also a member of the network's executive committee.

In charge also of the operations of WBAM, WOR's FM affiliate, Streibert in 1940 assisted in the formation of FM Broadcasters Inc. Vice-president and director of FMBI, he also represents that organization as an alternate member of the Radio Technical Planning Board.

Despite his FM interests, however, Ted does not believe that FM will replace AM as the standard type of broadcasting, except possibly for some low-powered stations. "The only thing that will possibly replace AM broadcasting is television," he declares, "and that will take a long time to happen."

Looking ahead, Streibert sees the next decade as the most interesting and exciting in radio history. Where the last ten years have seen merely the expansion of AM broadcasting, the next will see the introduction and development of new types of radio service—FM, television and facsimile. "The next decade is it in radio," he predicts, "when the character of broadcasting will be set for a generation or more to come."

One of the most pressing postwar problems of radio, Streibert believes, is the establishment of a policy for international broadcasting that will insure the expression of a unified national foreign policy without the necessity of Government operation or ownership. The solution of this problem is one of the most important tasks of the broadcasting industry, he says.

Ted lives in Glen Head, L. I., with his wife, the former Margaret Grout of Brooklyn, and their three children, Catherine, 9; Marshall, 6; and Theodore P., 3. His hobbies—tennis, golf, riding and an occasional Sunday afternoon following the hounds with the Buckram Beagles—afford a strenuous balance to long working hours.

In college Ted was a member of Alpha Delta Phi social fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa. His clubs are Raquet & Tennis, and Harvard, in New York; Piping Rock, in Locust Valley, L. I.

JOHN PEARSON, owner of John Pearson Co., and RALPH FOSTER, general manager of KWTO Springfield, are touring Mexico with BUCKY HARRIS, radio director of Grant Adv. Agency.

DUNCAN MILLER, formerly with the promotion department of Time Magazine and previously with J. Sterling Getchell, has been appointed program manager of WJZ New York. He succeeds JAMES MURRAY, who left to become sales manager of KQV Pittsburgh.

PAUL M. HOLLISTER, vice-president in charge of advertising and sales promotion of CBS, will speak on the place of radio in department store advertising when he addresses the national convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Assn. in New York at the Hotel Pennsylvania, Jan. 11.

BEVERLY MIDDLETON, released from the Army and former sales manager of WABC New York, has joined CBS Hollywood as account executive.

ROGER M. WISE, for two years director of engineering for Sylvania Electric Products Inc., New York, has been appointed to the newly created post of vice-president in charge of engineering. He previously served as the company's chief radio engineer for 10 years.

MAJ. JAMES C. HANRAHAN, former vice-president of the Scripps-Howard radio enterprises and general manager of WMPG Memphis, a Scripps-Howard station, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel. Lt. Col. Hanrahan received his promotion while on duty in Germany.

JOHN SALT, North American director of the BBC, will attend the Commonwealth Radio Conference in London the latter part of this month.

JIM TURNER, former program director of WING Dayton and WIZE Springfield, O., and more recently general manager of WINK Ft. Myers, Fla., has been named vice-president of State Capitol Broadcasting Assn. Inc., operator of KTBC Austin, Tex.

ED HALE, formerly with the Blue Network in Chicago, has joined the sales and merchandising staff of WKRC Cincinnati.

BERNARD (Barry) KEIT, member of the sales staff of Hoadley-Reed Co., Detroit, has been named eastern sales supervisor of Mutual succeeding TORRENCE W. (Ted) DANLEY, named sales service manager.

D. WORTH CLARK, former Idaho Senator, has announced a law partnership with THOMAS G. (Tommy the Cork) CORCORAN, former adviser to President Roosevelt. They will maintain offices in Washington and engage in general practice. Senator Clark holds a minority interest in KJBS San Francisco, acquired last year, and was a fellow student with Mr. Corcoran at Harvard.

HARVEY ANHALT, chief engineer of FM station WGYN New York, operated by Muzak, has taken on additional duties as general manager. Mr. Anhalt has been temporarily in charge of the station since last November when HAROLD ROSEMONT, director and program director of the station, resigned to join CBS as an assistant director.

BOB HOPE LEADER IN HOOPER REPORT

BOB HOPE had the largest audience of any evening network program measured by C. E. Hooper Inc. during the latter part of December, according to the Hooper Dec. 30 report, which showed an average evening audience rating of 9.5, down 0.3 from the Dec. 15 report and down 1.3 from the year before. Average evening sets-in-use was 29.7, down 0.8 from the last report and 1.2 from the year before. Average evening available audience was 78.8, down 0.3 from the last report and 0.9 from the year before.

Following Bob Hope, Fibber McGee & Molly had the second highest audience rating, with Bing Crosby, Charlie McCarthy, Joan Davis-Jack Haley, Walter Winchell, Radio Theatre, Abbott & Costello, Mr. District Attorney, Eddie Cantor, Jack Benny, Screen Guild Players, Hildegard, Kay Kyser and Your Hit Parade, following in that order to comprise the first 15 programs.

Jack Benny had the largest number of listeners per receiving set, 3.15. Blondie was second with 3.13; Fannie Brice third with 3.06; Adventures of Ozzie & Harriet fourth with 3.01, and Radio Reader's Digest fifth with 3.00.

The Family Hour had the largest number of women listeners per set, 1.63; Drew Pearson had the most men per set, 1.05, and the Lone Ranger had the most children per set, 1.12.

Radio Theatre had the highest sponsor identification index, 91.5, with 91.3 also identifying the product correctly. Misidentification was 0.9 and those who didn't know totaled 7.6.

Tibbett on Parade

LAWRENCE TIBBETT, Metropolitan Opera baritone, replaced Frank Sinatra on Your Hit Parade, sponsored by the American Tobacco Co. for Lucky Strike cigarettes on CBS, Saturday 9-9:45 p.m. Mr. Tibbett is understood to be under long-term contract with the tobacco company which feels that it can reach a more mature and appreciative audience through Mr. Tibbett. This marks the second program change for Mr. Sinatra in three days. On Jan. 3 he began a program on CBS for Max Factor cosmetics [BROADCASTING, Jan. 1]. Reason for Mr. Sinatra's discontinuance on the tobacco show is reported to be that he makes less than $2000 a week and since his broadcasts originate from the West Coast, contract calls for his paying the line charges which amount to over $3000 weekly. Agency for American Tobacco is Foote, Cone & Belding, New York.

ANN HUNTER, WAIT Chicago news commentator, leaves in early February for the European Theatre of Operations as a war correspondent for the station.

GARY GRAY, announcer and newscaster for WCAX Burlington, Vt., is the father of a girl.

TOM HARGIS, producer of NBC Hollywood, has joined KNX Hollywood as program director. He replaces GLAN HEISCH who resigned to join McCann-Erickson in an executive capacity.

Top WOR Agencies

RUTHRAUFF & RYAN spent more with WOR New York last year than any other advertising agency, the station reported last week. Rest of ten top agencies, in order of volume, are: Young & Rubicam, BBDO, Duane Jones Co., Donahue & Coe, Chas. W. Hoyt Co., Lake-Spiro-Shurman, Arthur Rosenberg Co., Erwin, Wasey & Co., J. Walter Thompson Co.

GOLD & KASS ENTERPRISES, Hollywood, has opened at 1805½ N. Western Ave., headed by Sydney Gold and Murray Kass.

LT. COMDR. HOLMAN FAUST, vice-president of Mitchell-Faust Adv. Co., on leave to the Navy, has returned to Chicago on leave from the South Pacific where he served as commander of the Welfare & Recreation Squadron. He was the guest speaker at the Jan. 3 Chicago Radio Management Club luncheon.

FRANK W. MAHAN, copy writer, Foote, Cone & Belding, Chicago, is recovering from a broken leg suffered in a fall.

PAUL A. RICKENBACHER, an executive in the motion picture division of Foote, Cone & Belding, New York, has taken on additional duties as director of the radio and television department, a new position due to the reorganization and merging of the two departments. Lee Strahorn will continue as manager of the New York radio department and will be in direct charge of shows produced in New York. Mr. Rickenbacher, who joined the agency in Sept. 1944, formerly was manager of radio talent for Young & Rubicam, New York, and prior to that was associated with J. Walter Thompson Co., New York.

E. A. W. SCHULENBURG, media director of the Gardner Adv. Co., St. Louis, and Robert B. Donnelly, former vice-president and manager of the Minneapolis office of McCann-Erickson, have been named vice-presidents of Gardner Adv. Co. J. V. SALES FOR A SONG!!!

Sales for a song? You bet!—because you can participate as a sponsor on one of these programs at a cost that is unbelievably low for the job done.

Think of reaching the big and appreciative audience these personalities have built up among the great new WJZ radio family . . . now totalling more than 18,000,000 people within range of WJZ's louder, clearer signal! And think of the favorable impression on your own dealers, on jobbers and brokers—for they know that these programs move goods in the world's richest market! Here's why they know it . . .

BREAKFAST IN BEDLAM—Ed East's early-morning show recently proved its sales ability when one 50-word announcement for razor-blades brought returns 49% higher than a similar announcement a couple of years back, despite the fact that today hundreds of thousands of shaving-age men in this area are away in the armed forces. Monday through Saturday.

WOMAN OF TOMORROW — Nancy Craig's after-breakfast show has frequently pulled more than 40,000 letters a month! One participant in Nancy's program received 13,000 requests for a booklet after a few announcements! Monday through Friday.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE — Alma Kitchell's after-lunch program recently doubled the number of contest entrants for a sponsor who ran the same contest on another major New York station last year! Monday through Friday.

HOUSEWIVES PROTECTIVE LEAGUE and SUNRISE SALUTE—Galen Drake's double-barreled package of selling. The show Billboard Magazine calls one of the greatest theories of product selling in radio! 6 A. M. and 1:45 P. M., Monday through Friday.

STAN SHAW'S SHOW—The Voice With a Record—and what a record! Stan ran a 30-day try-out job into a seven-year record of sales! Now on WJZ, Saturday mornings only.

THE FLUTE

...Coloratura soprano of the woodwind choir

Outstanding characteristics of the flute, as we know it today, are its beautiful mellowness of tone—which has been likened to the cooing of the dove—and the facility it offers for the rapid "coloratura soprano" execution of runs and shakes.

Since the dawn of history

Though naturally in far cruder forms, the flute dates back to the days of primitive man, who connected it with ideas of fertility, rebirth and love. In Melanesian history we find the flute—East Indian tribes used it too. And the ancient Egyptian "nay"—a rudimentary flute, the tone of which is excited by blowing directly across the cut end of the reed—is still played by natives about the Nile today.

Used in early opera

In one of the earliest operas—Peri's "L'Euridice," which was performed in Florence in 1600—there was a "Sinfonia for three flutes." From that time on, the use of the flute for short instrumental passages in symphonic works increased rapidly.

Today's flute is a far finer instrument than the flute of Haydn's day or Bach's. The modern mechanism of keys and levers has made possible more sure and rapid fingering—and structural changes have resulted in far mellower tone.

The mellow voice of the flute—covering a frequency range from 250 to over 10,000 c.p.s.—loses much of its true tonal quality in any but the finest recordings. You'll find that the most nearly perfect transcriptions now available for broadcasting are: VERTICAL CUT RECORDINGS!

War Ad Council Support Is Praised by President

VOLUNTARY contributions of advertising men and women under the leadership of the War Advertising Council are lauded by President Roosevelt in a message to the Council which states that the "organization has performed splendidly in achieving its patriotic purpose of 'mobilizing the forces of advertising to assist in winning the war.'"

"The need for this wartime aid," the President wrote, "will continue until the last shot is fired. I cannot emphasize this point too strongly. Those who are assisting in bringing information to the people have a responsibility to help prevent any letdown on the home front. And after the war, there will be many critical national problems requiring the understanding and cooperation of every American. It is vitally important that the working partnership between business and Government which has so successfully brought information to the people in wartime, continue into the postwar period."

VOICE OF THE COTTONTAILS

Ingenuity of Boys at B-24 Base Builds

Up-to-the-Minute Radio Station

THERE is a B-24 Base in Southern Italy that is so out of the way that boys who had brought radios or built them couldn't get any reception but the wailing wind or the guard snoring. They decided to do something about it.

Scoured the Corners

So they got themselves two transmitters that operations had turned in for salvage. They got "beat-up" amplifiers and wires and plugs and burned up microphones from wrecked planes. And they built themselves a good transmitter. They moved into an old broken down Italian storehouse, sound-proofed everything with sand, grass and GI blankets, and produced a first rate station—two studios, control room, an office and a shack to house their borrowed generator.

After getting over the difficulty of frequency allocation and permission to operate, aided by their C. O., Col. R. R. Gideon Jr., they began operations on Sept. 16.

Because of the number of rabbits constantly running around the station, the boys called themselves "The Cottontails", with the jive tune "Cottontail" as their theme. Music is supplied by records and a small organ loaned by the chaplain.

The Cottontails operate 10 hours a day now, with news four times daily, all types of musical programs, quiz shows, hometown gossip, and even poetry. Every Sunday they broadcast their own chapel of the air. And they air local sports events direct as well as big games picked up from the States and re-broadcast.

After bombing missions, many of the ships tune out the homing beacon and ride in on the "Voice of the Cottontails".

Blue Assignments

JACK O'MARA, Blue western division sales promotion manager, in addition to his regular duties, has taken over supervision of the network's guest relations and audience mail departments in Hollywood. Virginia Samuels, secretary to Mr. O'Mara, has been placed in charge of guest relations operations. Duties of Ernest Felix, Blue western division auditor, have also been augmented. In addition, he has been placed in charge of all government contracts, personnel work and general service at the network's Hollywood headquarters.

Announcer Award

BRONZE STAR Medal has been awarded S/Sgt. Eugene Kelly Slutz, former sportscaster of WCHS Charleston, W. Va. "for meritorious service in support of combat operations . . . as radio announcer, United States Armed Forces Radio Station in Assam, India." The citation, issued by the Commanding Officer of the Tenth Air Force further states, "Sgt. Slutz . . . exhibited . . . a high degree of technical knowledge, zeal, and devotion to duty." Sgt. Slutz was known as Gene Kelly at WCHS.

7. As to the 1940 sale of WMCA New York by Donald Flamm to Edward J. Noble, Blue Network chairman and former Undersecretary of Commerce, the Committee absolved Mr. Noble, William J. Dempsey and William C. Koplovitz, his Washington counsel; Thomas G. Corcoran, former White House confidant; the White House and FCC of any "pressure" as charged by Mr. Flamm.

8. For the Commission, adequate engineering staff, adequate monitoring staff and adequate personnel to handle applications promptly for postwar needs.

9. Former Chairman Fly (who resigned last Nov. 15 to enter private law practice and become chairman of Muzak Corp.) "is a very able, resourceful man, strong in his convictions, aggressive and persistent . . . and assumed unquestioned leadership . . . Sometimes he was arbitrary in the conduct of hearings. . . . It is probably true that Mr. Fly contributed materially to the better functioning of the Commission. He left it better than he found it. His resignation from the Commission has removed him as an element of controversy from its future activities."

10. Continuation of the investigation "is not contributory to good administration".

Clear Definition

11. As for overall legislation "the uncertainties of interpretation, so far as possible consistent with the exercise of the reasonable discretionary powers of the Commission, should be removed. The rights and duties of the industry should be more clearly defined; likewise the powers, duties and limitations of the Commission should also be considered, and necessary amendments made to conform to good practice as developed by experience."

12. As a practical method of approach to new legislation the Committee recommended appointment of a joint committee from the FCC and radio profession to suggest necessary amendments to Congress "that will contribute to the improvement of the present law and its better administration".

KFJI to Miller

TRANSFER of control of total stock interest in KFJI Klamath Falls, Ore., from George Kincaid, deceased, and Rachael J. Kincaid to Willard D. Miller, local businessman, for $115,000 was granted by the FCC last week. Commissioner Durr voted for a hearing on the case. The 100 w Mutual-Don Lee affiliate on 1240 kc was established in 1932 by John A. Kincaid, upon whose death the station was transferred in July 1944 to his son.

HOW TO SELL YOUR PRODUCT TO THE 5,000,000 PERSONS IN CUBA

Many national advertisers have found out that the most effective way of stepping up distribution and increasing sales in Cuba is by using RHC Cadena Azul, the dominant network in Cuba.

For RHC, day in-day out, delivers the target audience in Cuba.

And in Havana the RHC outlet is the station people listen to most.

A recent impartial survey made by six large national advertisers shows that RHC has twice the audience of its nearest competitor.

Our New York offices will be glad to show you the latest Cuba audience survey, a comprehensive survey similar to the Crosley ratings in the United States.

Wigglesworth Fears Possible Federal Ownership of Radio

Supreme Court Decision Gives Powers to FCC Beyond Intent of Congress, He Tells House

DECLARING that the Supreme Court decision of May 10, 1943 gave the FCC powers over program content and business practices of stations not intended by Congress, Rep. Richard B. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.) last Wednesday filed a minority report on activities as a result of hearings by the House Select Committee to Investigate the Commission.

Rep. Wigglesworth

Although taking sharp issue with the majority report, Mr. Wigglesworth in some aspects joined his colleague Rep. Louis E. Miller (R-Mo.) and the majority in calling for remedial radio legislation "which will give proper effect to and provide for the faithful enforcement of the will of the Congress in respect to radio broadcasting".

Regulatory Power

As a result of the Supreme Court decision, "the Commission appears to have been found to possess the power to regulate the contractual relations between the stations and networks and, in fact, to demand fundamental changes in their business methods, as incidents to passing upon individual applications for permission to operate a radio station and to use a specified wavelength, the authority being found under the broad standard of 'public convenience, interest or necessity,'" said Rep. Wigglesworth.

"How far the Court would go in respect to other regulations is not apparent. It would appear, however, that carried to a logical conclusion, the functions of the Commission would become in effect those of Government operation, if not Government ownership as distinued from proper Government regulation. This, I am sure, was not the original intent of the Congress; this, I am confident, is not the intent of the Congress today. In order, therefore, that the Commission may be governed by the will of Congress, clarifying or remedial legislation appears to be imperative. This matter assumes particular importance in view of the fact that the FCC is by no means the only agency with licensing powers under the Federal Government."

Criticizing the majority for not making a draft of its report available until 4½ hours before filing deadline, Rep. Wigglesworth submitted a 22-page dissent in which he charged the Commission has permitted "trafficking in licenses". He criticized the Committee for "failure to examine more thoroughly" into alleged abuse of its licensing power by the FCC.

Rep. Wigglesworth charged that the Committee received no cooperation from the Commission but on the other hand "met with constant obstruction, intimidation and behind-the-scenes action, in an apparent attempt to hamstring the work of the Committee and to suppress the truth". He cited several instances where he said the Committee was blocked in its investigation by executive orders.

Hits WMCA Sale

"Generally speaking, the full force of the Administration has been directed against the work of the Committee," he asserted. "Whether or not, as a direct result of Administration opposition, there has been sharp disagreement within the Committee itself, serving, in my judgment, to impair materially the progress of its work."

Rep. Wigglesworth saw no justification for executive sessions in the WMCA sale inquiry and concluded that "the Commission cannot escape condemnation for its conduct in this case. Either the Commission was guilty of gross negligence, and failed to live up to the trust reposed in it, or it was guilty of malfeasance in office." He recommended a law, "in light of developments" in the WMCA hearing, prohibiting employees of any Government agency from practicing before the agency which he served for two years after he leaves the Government service.

Rep. Wigglesworth disagreed with the majority report which he said "appears to be based, in large measure, on a digest prepared by the legislative reference service at the Library of Congress, no member of which has had an opportunity to hear the testimony, or observe the witnesses, or to obtain the background essential to evaluating and digesting the evidence."

The Massachusetts Congressman asserted that abuse of licensing power "can readily lead to Government operation if not Government ownership, as distinguished from proper Government regulation of the radio industry". He pointed out that "some 450 out of a total of some 900 stations" were on temporary licenses from June 1, 1941, to May 31, 1943. "The danger in the use of this type of license as a club over radio stations is self-evident," his report stated.

Called Inadequate

He, too, criticized Andrew W. Bennett in the WFTL Fort Lauderdale transaction between Ralph A. Horton and the Fort Industry Co. Setting forth various parts of testimony, he concluded: "The Committee has given no consideration to the question of whether or not the Communications Act was violated with the Commission's consent and approval, by the Storer interests having become the owners of so many licensed stations, or whether or not those interests may have been engaged in trafficking in licenses."

Rep. Wigglesworth held the Arde Bulova one-day investigation was inadequate. He concluded in the WNNY Watertown, N. Y. case that the letters of protest sent to President Roosevelt by Democratic leaders "motivated the action, and that Black River's construction permit was cancelled on political considerations".

He charged that Chairman Fly and Dr. Robert D. Leigh, former chief of the Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service, violated the law by soliciting aid in Congressional appropriations for the FCC.

Himself a member of the House Appropriations Committee, Rep. Wigglesworth said, "it is but fair to assume" that the Select Committee probe was "largely responsible" for a 2-million-dollar slash in the 1945 fiscal year FCC appropriation.

He called for an investigation of a regional grant to KSJB Jamestown, N. D., a local outlet, charging that John W. Boler, principal owner, at the behest of Mr. Fly, attempted to bring political pressure on Rep. Francis Case (R-S. D.) of the Appropriations Committee to get the cut restored.

Concurring with the majority, Rep. Wigglesworth called for remedial legislation to preclude the FCC from discriminating against newspaper ownership of radio.

"Only by a continuation of the work under the new Congress can the essential work contemplated in the resolution creating this Committee be carried to a proper conclusion," his report stated.

Miller Asks Protection for Industry

Uniform Books System Held Dangerous by Lea Prober

JOINING the majority in a demand for definitive legislation, Rep. Louis E. Miller (R-Mo.), in a minority report of the House Select Committee to Investigate the FCC, released last Wednesday, took issue with the majority in one respect and called on Congress to "put a stop" to "apparent attempts" of certain Commissioners to "put radio in the same category as public utilities with the Commission having the power to control rates, purchase prices and earnings" of stations.

Asserting the Commission had attempted to accomplish that end by "calling for a uniform system of accounting," Rep. Miller said that such a system would be impractical because of the "various types of ownership". As for control of sale prices, the Missouri Republican commented: "There is no more reason why the Commission should have the power to pass on the sale price of a station than it should have to pass on the sale price of a newspaper."

Need for Law Clear

Evidence adduced at the Select Committee hearings justified the conclusion that the 1934 Communications Act is "obsolete and unsuited to the needs of a rapidly expanding industry," said Rep. Miller's report. He pointed out that since the present law was enacted, many new problems have arisen and since they could not be anticipated by the original lawmakers, the FCC has "been obliged to write special rules to meet current conditions".

"The industry feels that this rule-making by the Commission has been abused in many cases and at times has been used as a threat over the licensee. . . . The yardstick of 'public interest, convenience and necessity' is as broad as the ends of the earth and defines nothing with any degree of certainty, yet it is the rule used by the Commission to measure the grant or refusal of a license.

"What the industry needs and what the Congress should enact is a definite law so that the industry may know and abide by the rules of the game. Why let the industry get down on the 5-yard line and then have the Commission change the rules?"

Rep. Miller reported that "probably the most controversial issue between the industry and the Commission has to do with the control of programs and business". He cited the recent decision in which WOI was granted permission to begin broadcasting at 6 a.m. and pointed to the dissent by Commissioners E. K. Jett and Norman A. Case on the grounds that the action violated the Commission's own rules.

Rep. Miller set forth 20 derelictions which his report said the evidence brought out. In a five-point recommendation he declared that "further controls are necessary in the procedural part of the Act to keep the Commission within definite and ascertainable limits," that Congress should prohibit the Commission from discriminating against newspaper ownership and that Congress, and not the FCC, should fix any limit of stations any one licensee may own.

Miller's Conclusions

"Today, the American people are in danger of being told by a Government agency what they may and may not hear over their radios," said his report. "Freedom of speech by radio—freedom from Government interference—is in jeopardy. American broadcasting is the finest in the world. It has brought us the finest entertainment, the best news coverage, and a full and fair presentation of public questions. We need a new radio law which will define, in clear and unmistakable language, the role of the FCC."

Among Rep. Miller's findings were these:

That the FCC has practiced political favoritism; has employed its powers to reward its political friends; that acting through its former Chairman Fly, it endangered the public welfare and particularly the lives of merchant seamen by refusing to turn over to the Dept. of Justice the fingerprints of radio operators.

That the Commission sought to punish newspapers politically opposed to the Administration by seeking to restrain certain newspapers from owning and operating radio stations for 2½ years and to control program content of stations owned by certain newspapers by requiring said stations "to give a listing of the personnel who perform, arrange, write or create program material who are in any way connected with a newspaper," notwithstanding the FCC is specifically forbidden by law from censoring the program content of radio broadcasting.

That the FCC has made misrepresentations to Congress to procure appropriations; that in arrogating itself certain war activities, the Commission has drawn upon needed manpower and critical materials and procured the exemption from military service of a large number of its personnel under the questionable pretext that such personnel was skilled and indispensable.

Charges Derelictions

That the Commission has unlawfully and capriciously exercised its powers to further its own political ideologies and those foreign to our form of Government; that the Commission has without warrant or authority kept the radio industry in a constant state of fear by placing and keeping more than one-half of all stations on a temporary license.

That former Chairman Fly accepted gratuities from Comdr. Storer in the way of payment of his hotel bill while assisting his friend Storer in purchasing station WFTL for approximately half its real value; that the FCC in undertaking monitoring activities in military theatres has interfered with the prosecution of the war, that in the judgment of a competent naval officer (Rear Adm. Stanford C. Hooper, former Naval Chief of Communications) the Commission was in part responsible for the disaster at Pearl Harbor; that the FCC, and particularly former Chairman Fly, endangered the national security and interfered with the prosecution of the war by opposing transfer of control of radio intelligence from the FCC to the War Dept., in defiance of the recommendations of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

That the Commission has exceeded its powers by unlawfully attempting to censor radio programs and by attempting to investigate persons for subversive activities.

That a majority of the Commission under Chairman Fly was completely dominated by him and subservient to his will; that the Commission deliberately has refrained from seeking from Congress powers which it exercised but did not possess because of the fear that the grant of such powers would be refused by Congress; that the Commission did not abuse its powers of discretion in approving the sale and transfer of station WMCA . . . and that the charge of alleged duress in the sale . . . is not sustained by any credible evidence.

and dislikes and on the two schools of thought within the Commission as to interpretation of the Communications Act. Summarizing its investigation and findings, the Committee reported:

"The Communications Act has not been substantially changed since 1934 and in many respects not since 1927.

Should Reexamine

"The basic need now, from a Congressional standpoint, is for a reexamination of the provisions of the Communications Act with a view to their modification as demonstrated by the needs of the industry and the Commission since the original Acts were enacted. The uncertainties of interpretation, so far as possible consistent with the exercise of the reasonable discretionary power of the Commission, should be removed.

"The rights and duties of the industry should be more clearly defined; likewise the powers, duties and limitations of the Commission should also be considered, and necessary amendments made to conform to good practice and as developed by experience.

"The investigation by this Committee has made it conscious of these conditions. The problems presented, however, are important and worthy of thorough consideration, and are primary matters for the appropriate legislative committee of the House.

"As a practical method of approach to such legislation, this Committee would recommend that representatives of the Commission and a limited number of representatives of the various branches of the industry confer together, with a view of concurring, so far as practicable, in legislative changes that will contribute to the improvement of the present law and its better administration. The Committee hopes and believes, by patient and friendly cooperation and consideration, a substantial number of the difficulties that now exist can be eliminated or greatly minimized."

Urges Law Reappraisal

Considerable space was devoted to the chain broadcasting regulations as well as to the Supreme Court decision, which itself has been one of controversy among legal minds. That decision "would have supported a denial of license to applicants owning newspapers if the existence of a monopoly or restraint of trade in the news was established." Chairman Fly had testified, the Committee recited.

In the light of the Supreme Court decision on the monopoly rules, it might be advisable for the Congress to reappraise the public interest, convenience, and necessity clause of the Communications Act of 1934 and Sec. 326 [anticensorship] of that Act, which section prohibits censorship powers to the Communications Commission," said the report. "Congress might well determine whether or not the 'determination of the composition of that traffic' language of the Supreme Court opinion calls for any strengthening or modification of either of those existing provisions (Secs. 311, 313) of the Act of 1934.

"The Committee also wishes to call to the attention of the Congress the recent action of the House of Representatives in passing a bill to override a decision of the U. S. Supreme Court holding that insurance companies are embraced within the purview of the Federal anti-trust statutes. For the Committee feels that the Congress may find a degree of similarity between facts involved in the insurance matter and the subject of this recommendation for study by the Congress."

Cites Newspaper Ruling

On newspaper ownership the Committee pointed out that Chairman Fly stated the Commission's authority over such questions remained unsettled despite dismissal of the proceedings in January 1944 [BROADCASTING, Jan. 17, 1944].

"He declined to answer a direct question as to whether or not the Commission had authority to issue a general regulation proscribing owners of newspapers or persons owning an interest in newspapers from becoming station licensees," the Committee reported. "In response to an inquiry by the chairman of the Select Committee the Commission's chairman claimed that its authority to protect against monopoly stemmed from the language of the Communications Act of 1934 with respect to public interest and as supported by other provisions of the Act, asserting there was a strong antimonopoly policy threading through the Act."

legislation, the Committee asserted: "In the light of known facts as disclosed by this record and from other sources as well, such a vital question should not be left to the undefined responsibility of the Commission under broad, general terms of the public interest, convenience and necessity clause of the Communications Act."

Should newspapers be excluded from owning radio stations, then "such exclusion should be effected pursuant to a clear-cut expression of such a policy by Congress," the Committee contended, adding, "This Committee believes that the mere ownership of a newspaper should not exclude such person from owning and operating a radio station."

Station Sales Studied

Contending that "it is clear when a station is sold at fabulous figures in excess of physical values and the goodwill element, the franchise or right to use the frequency is uppermost in the mind of the purchaser and of the seller," the Committee recommended a review of station sales. It was disclosed that "frequently basic records relative to the financing, ownership and operation of radio stations were intermingled with the records of other business activities of the licensees."

Since the Commission has no authority to require licensees to keep uniform systems of accounts, nor any authority to require them to keep accounts relative to radio separate from other business activities of the licensees, the appropriate Congressional Committee "might well consider this situation with a view of giving authority to the Commission to require uniform systems of accounts by licensees so far as proper administration of its duties makes such uniformity necessary, and also, if necessary, to require divorcement of station accounts from other businesses of the licensee, or placing such a responsibility in each case directly on the licensee himself."

Wright Bryan Safe

FIRST word from Wright Bryan, war correspondent for WSB Atlanta and NBC, who was wounded and captured by the Germans several months ago, has been received by John MacVane, NBC newsmen in London. Mr. Bryan reported that his injured leg is healing and that he is comfortable in a prisoner of war camp. He was taken Sept. 12 with Edward W. Beattie, UP correspondent, while with the U. S. Third Army near Chaumont, France.

Flamm to Edward J. Noble, now Blue Network chairman and former Undersecretary of Commerce—were given wide coverage in the Committee's report. In the WFTL case the Committee found "there was deception and double dealing on the part of persons negotiating in behalf of the purchaser" and that Chairman Fly "wittingly or unwittingly" tended, by advice given, "to serve the purposes of those participating in the deception of the owner".

Consuming 10 printed pages for the WFTL report, the Committee recited details leading to and including the 1943 sale to Fort Industry Co., of which Lt. Comdr.

George B. Storer is president and J. Harold Ryan, NAB president, is executive vice-president on leave. "The Commission, including the chairman, was involved in this case with no small measure of responsibility," said the report. It severely criticized Andrew W. Bennett, Washington attorney. The Committee found that Mr. Bennett, while on a retainer from Mr. Horton, represented Fort Industry in the transaction. Mr. Bennett had testified he informed Mr. Horton of the Fort Industry connection.

Noble Absolved

It was a different story in the WMCA sale, however. Mr. Noble, his Washington counsel, Dempsey & Koplovitz; Thomas G. (Tommy the Cork) Corcoran, former White House confidant; the White House itself and the Commission were absolved of any wrong-doing. On the contrary the Committee concluded that Mr. Flamm was not under "pressure, coercion or duress" as he had charged; that Dempsey & Koplovitz had a right, under the Act, to file for any frequency in behalf of a client; that Mr. Flamm's counsel, William Weisman, advised him he did not have to sell and that "Mr. Flamm has, therefore, grossly exaggerated the effect upon himself of the stated intention of Dempsey & Koplovitz to file an application for his frequency into threats of coercion, pressure, duress and fraud, resulting in such phrases as 'greased from the White House down', etc."

Urges Bigger FCC Staff

Other conclusions of the Committee follow:

The Commission, to handle postwar expansion of all broadcasting, should have: (1) Adequate engineering staff to make technical examinations of applications and to engage in research and keep abreast of all new developments; (2) adequate monitoring staff to insure against unauthorized use of radio and to eliminate interference to authorized radio circuits and (3) adequate personnel to handle applications promptly and procedures designed to permit expeditious discharge of this function.

Gave the Radio Intelligence Division a clean bill, pointing out that "unauthorized operations in the radio spectrum cannot be tolerated. In order to achieve these results there must be an adequate and competent staff for policing the radio spectrum. In peacetime this work should be performed by a civilian agency."

Concurred in recommendations by Charles R. Denny Jr., FCC general counsel, that Congress set up a joint body to review loyalty records of individuals broadcasting in foreign tongues to avoid future quarrels between Government agencies as to jurisdiction, such as those growing out of alleged operations of the now defunct War Problems Division of the FCC and the OWI.

Upheld the Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service by commenting: "Obviously the United States could not conduct an intelligent program for counteracting enemy propaganda without a reasonably accurate knowledge of that propaganda" and it was "perfectly natural and logical" that the FCC be selected to do the monitoring job.

Mr. Doolittle also announced promotion of Harvey Olson, chief announcer to become program manager, succeeding Mr. Haase. Mr. Olson joined WDRG in 1935 and became chief announcer in 1942. He is an instructor in radio speech at Hillyer Junior College, Hartford.

Found that temporary licenses are necessary in many instances, but the Committee "believes every practical effort should be made to limit the use of temporary licenses, but it recognizes that under a variety of circumstances the issuance of temporary licenses is not only desirable, but necessary."

IRAC Status Questioned

With reference to the Interdepartment Radio Advisory Committee, the House Select group wasn't inclined to disturb the present set-up during the war but felt that before the President delegates powers to an independent agency to allocate Government frequencies, "the whole problem should be considered by Congress". IRAC at present is a Government advisory group and a part of the Board of War Communications.

The Committee passed off the fight between Chairman Fly and J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, over fingerprints of ship operators which were delivered to the FBI six months after Pearl Harbor, following more than a year of correspondence between Attorney General Biddle and Mr. Fly, with this comment: "The Select Committee believes that both the Commission and the FBI should have cooperated more promptly instead of engaging in a time-consuming jurisdictional dispute."

Certain draft deferments within the Commission were questioned but the Committee believes that "any abuses" which might have existed have been "substantially corrected long before the date of this report".

The majority report was signed by Chairman Lea, Reps. Edward J. Hart (D-N. J.) and J. Percy Priest (D-Tenn.). Rep. Miller signed it also but with this reservation: "I approve the report insofar as it is not inconsistent with the separate conclusions stated by me in the additional views presented herewith."

Harried Staff Factors

Fraught with dissension both from within its ranks and without almost since the day of its inception, the Select Committee has had two chairmen, three general counsels, a Committee replacement and huge staff turnover.

Created by resolution (H-Res. 21) introduced by Rep. E. E. Cox (D-Ga.), the Committee was authorized Jan. 19, 1943, to "conduct a study and investigation of the organization, personnel and activities of the FCC, with a view to determining whether or not such Commission in its organization, in the selection of personnel, and in the conduct of its activities, has been, and is, acting in accordance with the law and the public interest."

Rep. Cox was appointed chairman and Reps. Hart, Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), Wigglesworth and Miller completed the Committee. Chairman Cox named Eugene L. Garey of the New York law firm of Garey, Desvernine & Garey, as general counsel. Establishing headquarters in Washington, Mr. Garey immediately assembled a large staff of attorneys, investigators and clerks and went to work.

At the outset Commission personnel tangled with Chairman Cox and the Committee staff. Then came charges and counter-charges, topped with the Commission's allegation that Rep. Cox accepted a $2,500 fee for representing WALB Albany, Ga., while a Member of Congress. Judge Cox retorted that he immediately endorsed the check to a local charity, that it was sent to him without his knowledge or solicitation and that Chairman Fly needed investigating.

Aided by the Washington Post, which editorially assailed the Committee chairman and general counsel, a campaign to oust Rep. Cox reached a climax when Commissioner Clifford J. Durr released for publication a letter he had addressed to Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), demanding Judge Cox's removal.

President Intercedes

Meanwhile the wartime executive powers of the President were brought into play. Charges that the Army and Navy wanted the RID transferred to the military could never be substantiated. High-ranking Army and Navy officials were precluded from testifying by executive order. The Committee sought executive permission to investigate income tax returns. That was denied by the "no-action" routine, but approved last fall.

In late September 1943 Rep. Cox, in a dramatic speech on the floor, resigned. Speaker Rayburn immediately appointed Rep. Lea chairman. The veteran Californian for 14 terms has been the unanimous choice of both Democrats and Republicans in his District. Cries of "whitewash" were heard. Chairman Lea vigorously denied them.

Chairman Fly offered his "co-operation" to the Committee, contingent upon Mr. Garey's resignation. But Mr. Garey didn't resign, although Chairman Lea and Rep. Magnuson felt a new staff would help to bring about harmony. Reps. Hart, Miller and Wigglesworth refused to join in the resignation demand.

In February 1944 the Committee opened the WMCA case. After two days, in which Mr. Flamm poured out a story of "duress" and "coercion", the Committee majority voted to suspend hearings pending litigation in the New York County Supreme Court. Reps. Miller and Wigglesworth issued a stinging minority protest, took the fight to the floor and Mr. Garey and his staff resigned, charging the action had become a "sheer whitewashing affair".

Harry S. Barger, chief investigator and veteran Washington lawyer, was named acting general counsel. He conducted hearings for some time. In April 1944 John J. Sirica, prominent Washington attorney, was appointed general counsel. Harmony marked Committee sessions.

In August Mr. Barger resigned to join the Republican National Committee and Robert B. Barker was named chief investigator.

The WMCA hearings were reopened in December. Rep. Magnuson, who had vigorously opposed

Varied Reaction Is Expressed To Report of Lea Committee

REACTION to the report of the House Select Committee to Investigate the FCC was varied, President J. Harold Ryan of the NAB expressing gratification with the Committee's findings, while some saw in the conclusions a "whitewash".

There was no comment from the Commission, although unofficially it was learned that the FCC as a whole was pleased, particularly in view of the Committee's concurrence in recommendations proposed by Commissioners and FCC personnel during the Select Committee hearings. Following are the comments:

MR. RYAN—The NAB is very pleased with the suggestion contained in the report of the Lea Committee with regard to radio legislation. As the report points out, the structure of the present legislation dates back to 1927 with amendments passed in 1934. The art of broadcasting has progressed tremendously since 1934 and we thoroughly agree with the report that there is a need for legislative clarification. The NAB is at all times prepared to discuss such proposals with the FCC and to cooperate to the fullest extent in the public interest.

JAMES LAWRENCE FLY, former FCC chairman (referring to findings that Mr. Fly helped "put the heat" on Ralph A. Horton to sell WFTL Ft. Lauderdale to Fort Industry Co.)—The testimony directly contradicts that statement. The evidence of all the witnesses is clear that an agreement was made and a price fixed before I had any conversation with the seller on a purely collateral matter. (Mr. Fly declined comment on the overall report.)

EDGE L. GAREY, former Committee general counsel—At the time I resigned as general counsel of the Committee, in making public my reasons therefore, I stated that neither I nor my associates could be a party to a whitewash. It then appeared to me that the investigation had become a sheer whitewashing affair, wholly responsible to political pressures. The Committee, by its report, has now fulfilled the prophecy I then made and justified my resignation. The whitewash is now complete and the Congress, as I foresaw, has been dishonored.

JOHN J. SIRICA, Mr. Garey's successor who also resigned charging "whitewash"—I have not read the report and am not in position to comment.

SEN. WARREN G. MAGNUSON (D-Wash.), former Committee member—It was a good report, and one borne out by the evidence presented to the Committee. Congressman Miller submitted some splendid recommendations, although I cannot agree with parts of his minority report. It appeared to me that the greatest difficulty between radio and the Commission has been due to misunderstandings, some doubtlessly created through broad interpretations of the present radio Act.

EDWARD J. NOBLE, chairman, Blue Network—The complete refutation by the House Select Committee to Investigate the FCC of the charges made against me in connection with my purchase of Station WMCA in 1940 is naturally most gratifying to me. There was never one iota of truth in these charges. I am happy that the matter has been fully investigated by a Congressional Committee and that the public may now know that the charges were wholly without foundation.

HANDELMAN & IVES, attorneys for Donald Flamm—Well knowing that the Lea Committee investigating the FCC would utilize its position for the vindication of its political friends, such as Corcoran and Noble, we were reluctant to have it delve into the WMCA matter. When the character of its investigation became an open farce and secret sessions were resorted to, so that the public could not hear the evidence and so that portions of the evidence unfavorable to Corcoran and Noble could be deleted from the record, we made strenuous objection to the continuation of the so-called investigation. It is now very apparent that our objections were well-founded. Once again a Congressional committee has ignored the public interest and wasted $120,000 of the taxpayers' money. Its whitewash of its political friends Corcoran and Noble is a farce, the extent of which will be clearly demonstrated before a jury in the New York Supreme Court this coming spring when the case of Flamm vs Noble comes to trial. [NOTE—The Committee spent $105,000, not $120,000.]

open sessions, wired his resignation to Speaker Rayburn and Rep. Priest was named his successor. After three days of open hearings the Committee voted, 3-2, Chairman Lea and Rep. Wigglesworth dissenting, to go underground.

Mr. Sirica resigned in an ad-lib statement in the hearing chamber, charging "whitewash". Mr. Barker was immediately appointed general counsel and hearings continued behind closed doors. Only one more open session was held—that into the sales of WLWL and WOV New York to Arde Bulova. No mention of that phase was made in the majority report.

WHITE HOUSE OF THE CONFEDERACY, RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

HERE CAME THE COURIERS...

For four battle-scarred years, this Richmond landmark was the hub of the Confederacy. To it came Generals for conference, and the couriers bearing news. Here lived Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

As his home, it was "The White House of the Confederacy" Today it is a museum housing invaluable relics and heirlooms of the Old South a living link between a modern city and the charm and dignity of the past. Such an indestructible binding together of the Old and the New presents a clear and true analogy of WRVA's respect for tradition, faith and competence for progressive future.

Music, Music Everywhere

Reprinted From Christian Science Monitor

By VOLNEY HURD

WHEN is a musician not a musician? James Caesar Petrillo's latest efforts spotlight that question. In fact they practically demand its rephrasing into "Who is not a musician?"

The current threat of a strike by his musicians' union, if the networks sign with the National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians for the purpose of record changing in radio stations, makes that question pertinent. Record changing or "platter turning" as it is called in the industry, is logically an engineering job. There is absolutely no musicianship involved. But having managed to get the Chicago radio stations to submit to the idea of union musicians being paid union musician fees for this unmusical task, naturally James Caesar, not being James Alexander, sees new worlds to conquer—and the promised lands of those worlds are the major radio networks.

Now the Engineers and Technicians Union is making a fight for its rights. In fact the National Labor Relations Board awarded to that independent little union jurisdiction over platter turning. So this is not a case of Petrillo against employers but Petrillo against labor—Petrillo against a decision by the very government which passed the legislation which has given him so much power.

For it is not only the case of the Engineers trying to hold on to the rights to turn platters that is involved. It really is the bigger issue of what constitutes a musician—and how far will the Musicians' Union go in claiming jurisdiction and control? If the turning of a record is musicianship, then much more so is the handling of the apparatus which electrically translates the record indentations into music. Thus the Musicians should take over the radio station engineering control boards. There would be more musicianship involved in that case than record turning, because they could at least make the music loud or soft at will.

Then surely they should also handle the transmitter engineering, for that is how the music is sent into the air!

But we are not at the end yet.

Symphony Plan

OF INTEREST to those concerned with broadcasts from large concert halls will be the next two Sunday programs of the Detroit Symphony, when Mutual will invite listeners to judge the effectiveness of a new method of electrical compensation for acoustical effects in large auditoriums. New system to be tried out on the Jan. 13 program, for comparison with preceding Sunday's program, has been developed by Edward J. Content, assistant chief engineer, WOR, Mutual's New York affiliate. Mr. Content explains that high sounds lose much more energy than basic tones in large auditoriums; that a way has been found to rejuvenate overtones through compensation by means of electrical filter equalizers in the audio circuits.

Going back to the radio station we must trace this extension of the boundaries of musicianship backward as well as forward in order to get the whole picture.

And that takes us back to the pressing plant which made the record. Surely the machines turning out these musical engravings are doing a musician's job. And if so they belong to James Caesar, too. And so do the studios where the records are originally made, with another set of engineers there to be turned into musicians.

Now by this time James Caesar Petrillo, of course, would have complete control of all American radio stations, not only in the performing musicians but the engineering staffs as well. But would he stop there? Judging only by his methods to date he would then cast about and suddenly discover that the sales department that had sold a client a musical show was certainly trafficking in music and if that doesn't come under the Musicians' Union, what does?

To paraphrase another Caesar, "I came, I saw—and darned if I didn't hear music all the time!"

Religious Series

INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL of Religious Education, Chicago, has recorded 234 5-minute dramatic shows based on current events with strong religious appeal. There is time allowance for a local church identification on each record. Approximately 175 stations are expected to carry the bi-weekly 39-week series, effective Jan. 2. Recording expense is borne by 42 denominations of the organization and interdenominational agencies of churches in local communities. Stations agreed to carry the series as a public service feature are: WGY WPRO WGBI KANS KWOS WARM WFDF WRVA KVOO KADA WJPF WTAX KWBW WLLH WTAG WBCM WFEA WHIO KCRC WBBZ WFAA KGKO WKBB WSOY.

Accuses Trammell

IN A STATEMENT released by National Newspaper Service, syndicate handling his column, Upton Close accused NBC President Niles Trammell of inaccuracies in his statement explaining why the commentator was dropped. Mr. Trammell's reason for dropping Close was a matter of network operations but Close declared, "I shall be able to point out to the Senate and House Interstate Commerce Committees, members of which have asked for them, the pressures brought upon NBC and made known to me either through executives of the organization or sources outside the organization ever since the time of Pearl Harbor when I was improperly barred from station KPO in San Francisco . . ."

Navy Radio Discussion

CAPT. J. B. DOW, USN, will discuss "The Navy Electronics Program and Some of Its Past, Present and Future Problems" at the joint session of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers scheduled for 8 p.m., Jan. 24 at the Engineering Societies Bldg., New York. The AIEE will present its Edison Medal to Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson of General Electric Co. at this session [BROADCASTING, Dec. 25].

Stewart-Warner Promotions
THREE promotions of men who have been with the company about 25 years have been made by the Stewart-Warner Co. Arden LeFevre has been named vice-president and director of engineering of division one (alemite, instruments and radio); Fred R. Cross, advertising manager and George W. Oehlson Jr., assistant director of engineering, division one.

GROUND FLOOR OFFICES of KQV under new ownership have been opened in the Union Trust Building Arcade, Pittsburgh. Pete Wasser, vice-president, announced a rotation of window displays featuring KQV and Blue Network programs. KQV was sold by Hugh J. Brennen, also owner of WJAS Pittsburgh, to four businessmen under the FCC duopoly rule [BROADCASTING, Aug. 21]. New owners are William S. Walker, president of Walker & Downing, advertising agency; Irwin Wolf, vice-president of Kaufman's Dept. Store; Earl F. Reed, attorney, and Charles T. Campbell, former head of a ship transportation company. KQV is one of the nation's pioneering stations.

PRINCE ENGINEERING HEAD IN GE SHIFTS

SEVERAL promotions, shifts in responsibility and a change in the management of the Apparatus Dept. have been announced by the General Electric Co.

David C. Prince, vice-president formerly in charge of application engineering for the department, has taken charge of the engineering laboratory, activities of which are being broadened to include requirements of the entire company. E. D. Spicer, vice-president responsible for apparatus manufacture, is now a member of the president's staff in New York supervising employee relations and consultant on general manufacturing matters. William R. Burrows, a vice-president since 1927 and chairman of the labor relations committee, retired Dec. 31.

The apparatus operating committee was discontinued at the close of the year and Roy C. Muir, a vice-president of the executive staff, has relinquished his special duties to become general manager of the whole department. Earl O. Shreve, vice-president and chairman of the defunct committee responsible for all apparatus sales, is now a member of the president's staff in charge of customer relations.

Mr. Muir has named H. V. Erben, commercial vice-president and manager of the Central Stations Divisions, assistant general manager of the department; C. H. Lang, vice-president, as manager of sales; H. A. Winne, vice-president, manager of engineering; Neil Currie Jr., manager of manufacturing; Guy S. Hyatt, assistant comptroller, head of accounting; and W. W. Jenkins of the law department, counsel.

In San Francisco, Frank P. Barnes who for several years was specializing in industrial electronics and radio communications for the company, has been appointed district representative for the transmitter division. Mr. Barnes' territory includes northern California, Pacific Northwest and Rocky Mountain areas.

STEAK AND PORK CHOPS

Stock raisers are big business in the tri-state section of Arkansas-Louisiana-Texas, served by 50,000 watt KWKH. Purebred cattle and hog culture is a large and expanding industry here, where mild climate and fertile soils solve most housing and feed problems. Today, in this developing region, nearly 600,000 head of cattle and calves and some 400,000 hogs and pigs representing millions of dollars of potential purchasing power, are growing and fattening for the central market, Shreveport, to help supply war meat needs. Powerful KWKH serves this area and influences the buying habits of its prospering millions!

Navy Thanks Radio

REAR ADM. A. S. Merrill, USN, Director, Navy Office of Public Relations, sent the following letter to NAB President J. Harold Ryan: "The year 1944 has seen the United Nations make great strides toward the ultimate victory, for which we are all striving. During this eventful year, the NAB and its many member stations have assisted the Navy both in telling its story and in procuring personnel. I wish to take this opportunity of thanking you, your staff and membership for your cooperation during 1944, and to extend to all hands best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a New Year that will bring us closer to our ultimate goal."

1880 Ruth Hanna Simms 1944

RUTH HANNA SIMMS, 64, president of Rockford Broadcasters Inc. and owner of WROK Rockford, Ill., died Dec. 31 at Billings Hospital, Chicago, as a result of a pancreatic ailment. Daughter of Mark Hanna, Ohio's famed President maker, Mrs. Simms was a national political figure as a liberal Republican, serving as secretary to her famous father in the early days of her career. Mrs. Simms' first husband was the late Sen. Medill McCormick of Illinois.

Mrs. Simms was first chairman of the GOP Women's National Committee. During her long career in radio, politics, business, agriculture and civic affairs Mrs. Simms managed to devote much time to operation of her 242,000-acre Trinchera Ranch, near Ft. Garland, Colo. In 1928 she was elected Congresswoman-at-large from Illinois. As Republican National Committeewoman from New Mexico, Mrs.

Simms was active in the support of Gov. Dewey for Republican Presidential nominee.

Entering the Rockford newspaper field in 1928, Mrs. Simms obtained full ownership of WROK in 1940, two years after the station became affiliated with the papers.

Survivors include Albert G. Simms, her husband, a banker, lawyer, and former Congressman from New Mexico, and two daughters, Mrs. Peter Miller and Mrs. Courtlandt D. Barnes. Funeral services were held Jan. 4 at Albuquerque, N. M.

Many Radiomen In Pacific Theatre

Col. Dyke on Month Leave Tells of Jungle Station

"RADIOMEN seem to come right out of the woods the minute word gets around that a radio station is starting, no matter how remote the Pacific island," Col. Ken Dyke told BROADCASTING last week just after his return from the Philippines.

Col. Dyke, promoted to that rank on Dec. 22 before he left Leyete, is a former NBC advertising and promotion director. He also has been advertising director of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co., and before he was commissioned, was OWI Director of Bureau Campaigns.

After 16 months in the Pacific Area as commanding officer of the Information and Education Division, U. S. Armed Forces in the Far East, Col. Dyke is back in the States on temporary duty. He plans to return to the Philippines and supervise operation of the latest Armed Forces Radio Service station, scheduled to go on the air within the month. Capt. Harmon O. Nelson, formerly with Young & Rubicam, is to be officer in charge of the station, according to Col. Dyke.

"I left the Philippines," he said, "the night before Christmas, and all through the house the Nips were dropping bombs. In spite of the war, though, we did manage to have a real radio get-together at Tacloban with Abe Schechter and Art Feldman. The three of us were together at NBC before the war."

Maj. A. A. Schechter, former NBC news and special director, is now in charge of public relations and radio work in the Philippines. Arthur Feldman is there as a Blue war correspondent.

"There are a great number of radiomen in the Pacific," Col. Dyke remarked. "Practically all of the men at the AFRS stations are ex-industry men. My radio officer for the area is Maj. Ted Sherdeman, who was with NBC and CBS, and station managers, engineers, announcers are radiomen from all over the country."

Col. Dyke said that though there had been a problem of getting receivers to the troops, the Signal Corps had recently developed an all-wave receiver that works on AC or DC currents or on battery.

Under his jurisdiction are 12 AFRS stations of the Jungle Network—soon to be joined by the Philippine station. His section supplies a weekly news map to the troops, supplemented by a "map talk" pamphlet, posters, and news feature service operated like a syndicate for over 100 camp newspapers in the Southwest Pacific Area. The field section of the U. S. Armed Forces Institute which gives correspondence courses, comes under his direction. In addition, he supervises the SWPA edition of Yank.

Government May Back WLB Orders

Byrnes, Ball Ask Right To Compel Petrillo Compliance

STRONG PROSPECTS that the Government will be given power to enforce the decisions of the War Labor Board developed last week as an outgrowth of the seizure of Montgomery Ward stores following defiance of a Board directive by Sewell Avery, board chairman of Ward. War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes and Sen. Joseph Ball (R-Minn.) both cited the refusal by James C. Petrillo, AFM president, to obey the WLB in the recording case in calling for legislation which "will treat Petrillo's and Averys alike".

In his first report to the President and Congress on the operations of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, Director Byrnes recommended that the authority of the WLB "be strengthened to enable it to enforce its decisions without resort to seizure". Last October when the President had requested Mr. Petrillo to accept the directive of the WLB in the recording case, he had stated that neither the Board nor the Director of Economic Stabilization recommended Government possession since it could not be found that non-compliance "unduly impedes the war effort".

Agrees 'in Substance'

At his press conference Tuesday, President Roosevelt said he agreed in substance with the recommendations of the Byrnes report but he made no specific mention of the proposal to enforce WLB orders. It could not be learned whether the President would urge such legislation in his "state of the union" message which was to be sent to the new (79th) Congress Saturday.

Sen. Ball, who endorsed the Administration action in the Ward seizure, advocated legislation to require Mr. Petrillo as well as Mr. Avery to submit to WLB decisions. In a statement issued shortly before the convening of Congress, Sen. Ball referred to Petrillo's defiance of the WLB in both the recording case and the KSTP dispute, in which a strike of musicians at the Minneapolis studios of the station is now in its eighth month.

"Defiance of the WLB by Petrillo threatens employer-worker and public confidence in WLB machinery just as effectively as does that of Montgomery Ward", Sen. Ball asserted. "I believe the Government has an obligation to act in both cases."

Defense by Davis

Chairman Davis, at a news conference, defended the WLB action in the recording dispute and said the two cases were not alike. When the Board took jurisdiction in the Petrillo case, he said, there was testimony that the ban on recordings and transcriptions threatened to interfere with the war effort because small radio stations were dependent upon the transcriptions for a large part of their revenue and continued operation of the stations was a necessary part of the war at that time, particularly as a part of the civilian air raid warning network.

"However," he continued, "when the case was sent to the Economic Stabilization Director, after the Board had failed to get compliance, all but one of the transcription companies in the case and one of the three large record companies (Decca) had signed contracts voluntarily with the union and were operating. This particular threat to the war effort had been removed.

"The strike in the Montgomery Ward case had epidemic possibilities. . . . In the Petrillo case there were no such contagious possibilities. . . . There were no picket lines, no riots, no moves toward sympathy strikes or other actions by other unions."

Mr. Avery took issue with Chairman Davis' explanation of the Government's failure to force compliance in the recording case. "Under the War Labor Disputes Act," he declared, "the WLB found, in issuing its order against Mr. Petrillo's union, that the union's strike would lead to substantial interference with the war effort."

"Mr. Petrillo's defiance of the WLB was not challenged by Presidential action," he pointed out.

Meanwhile, Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) planned to reintroduce his bill to prevent Mr. Petrillo from interfering with the broadcast of noncommercial cultural and educational programs by educational institutions. Such a bill (S-1957) had passed the Senate in the closing days of the last Congress but failed to reach the House before adjournment [BROADCASTING, Dec. 4, 18].

Tape Firm's Debut

INDUSTRIAL TAPE Corp., New Brunswick, N. J., through Kenyon & Eckhardt, New York, will begin its first nationwide radio campaign starting Feb. 15. Participating women's programs will be used three-weekly for 26 weeks on 39 stations throughout the country and one-minute spot announcements will be used 10 times weekly on four stations. New stations will be added from time to time. According to George Chisholm, advertising manager, radio was selected as the main medium because of its ability to capture the quickest and most widespread consumer action.

Better Church Programs Goal Of Radio Religious Workshop

Score of Ministers Attend First Session in N. Y.; Aim to Set Standards for Future Broadcasts

RADIO'S FIRST religious workshop got under way yesterday morning (Jan. 7) in New York, when a score of ministers and religious educators from the eastern states attended the broadcast of the Columbia Church of the Air as the first session of a course of radio training that will continue through Saturday afternoon, with a panel of 22 experienced radio and church executives as instructors.

Workshop, goal of which is to acquaint church leaders with professional standards for religious use of broadcasting, is the first major undertaking of the recently announced joint radio committee of the Congregational Christian Churches, the Methodist Church and the Presbyterian Church U. S. A. It is conducted by Everett C. Parker, radio director of the committee, and Elinor Inman, CBS director of religious programs. Later in the year similar week-long workshops will be held in Chicago, Hollywood and another city as yet unnamed. Plan is to repeat the workshops annually in each city.

Seek Improvement

To carry on its experiments toward the improvement of religious broadcasting until it can successfully compete with any other type of radio fare, the committee plans to file applications for several FM stations as soon as the FCC has determined the frequencies to be allocated to FM. Several cities have already been selected as logical locations for these stations, Rev. Parker told BROADCASTING, stating that although they will be church owned and operated they will not devote themselves exclusively to religion, but will carry a balanced program schedule. Operating policy has not been decided as yet, he said, but they probably will not sell time to advertisers.

Another committee project, which is already under way, is the production of several series of transcribed programs which will be made available without charge to local church councils which already have sustaining radio time allotted to them. Stressing the fact that the committee is not encouraging church groups to ask for more air time, but rather to make the most effective use of the time they now have, Rev. Parker said that these transcriptions, which are written, produced and performed with top professional talent, should serve as models for better live religious programs as well as comprise good program material of themselves. First of these series, now being recorded at NBC, is a dramatization of the Bible, using the biblical text as the basis for the scripts.

Another phase of the committee's educational program calls for a series of one and two-day seminars to be held in cities throughout the country to explain to ministers, directors of religious education and key laymen how to utilize both religious and other educational programs on the air to build religious thinking and church attendance.

Highlights of this week's workshop will be the Thursday luncheon meeting to be addressed by Dr. James Rowland Angell, NBC public service counsellor, and the Monday dinner at which Dr. Lyman Bryson, CBS director of education, will speak. Classes will be conducted at CBS, NBC and WHOM studios and at the Gramercy Park Hotel. Studio tours, visits to broadcasts and a television demonstration are also scheduled.

Others who will address the workshop include:

Dr. Samuel McCrae Cavert, general secretary, Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; Sterling Couch, educational director, WDRG Hartford; Dr. Truman Douglass, executive vice-president, Board of Home Missions, Congregational Christian Churches; Davis Edwards, professor of speech, Federated Divinity Faculties of University of Chicago; Sterling Fisher, NBC assistant public service counsellor; Rev. James Flint, formerly responsible for religious programs, WHA Madison; Frank Goodman, director of radio, Federal Council of Church of Christ in America; Ed Greif, feature editor, NBC press department; Dwight Herrick, manager, NBC public service department; Robert Landry, CBS director of program writing; Lt. Hazel Kenyon Markel, director of radio for WAVES and Navy Chaplain Corps; Julius Matfield, CBS director of music library; John McKay, King Features Syndicate director of advertising and promotion formerly manager of NBC press department; Dr. Ralph Sockman, national radio pulpit officiating minister; Dr. Ross Snyder, professor of religious education, Federated Divinity Faculties of U. of Chicago; Dr. Ralph Stoodly, Methodist Church director of Information; Florence Warner, Cowles Broadcasting Stations, director of public service, and Wynn Wright, NBC national production manager.

Named by Blue

JAMES G. BENNETT, formerly of Blue spot sales, has been appointed merchandising manager of the network. Robert Sewell, of the Blue promotion staff, has been made manager of exploitation. Promotions were announced by Fred Smith, Blue director of advertising and promotion, who also announced the resignation of Jesse Thompson as director of promotion of the cooperative program department.

BLUE SALES NAMES MACHARRIE, CAPPER

TRANSFER of Stuart MacHarrie and Guy Capper from the WJZ New York local sales staff to Blue spot sales, which will henceforth handle both national and local business for WJZ under the direction of Robert I. Garver, WJZ sales manager, was announced last week jointly by John McNeil, station manager, and Murray Grabhorn, assistant general sales manager of the Blue and supervisor of Blue spot sales operations.

A separate WJZ sales staff will be organized under Mr. Garver's supervision to concentrate on special sales for the station sales of a particular program or for a particular account, which cannot conveniently be handled by the spot sales staff which services all accounts of WJZ and the other Blue O and O stations. Jack Soell, formerly with KXOK St. Louis, and two other salesmen still to be announced will comprise this new special WJZ sales staff.

Jack Brooke, recently discharged from the Coast Guard, has returned as New York manager of Blue spot sales, serving under Ralph Dennis, national manager.

Pekor Aids Crandall

CHARLES F. PEKOR Jr., who joined the CBS department of press information a year ago after seven years with NBC's press department and has since traveled the country visiting more than 100 CBS station cities, has been appointed assistant to the director of the department, George Crandall. Before entering radio Mr. Pekor worked for the New York Sun.

Hauser To Head New MBS Section

Plan Co-Op Series Expansion; Merchandising Service

CREATION of a separate department of cooperative programs and appointment of B. J. Hauser, former sales promotion manager of the Blue, as its director, were announced last week by Phillips Carlin, program director of MBS. Mr. Hauser, who was recently placed in charge of audience promotion at the Blue after serving as sales promotion manager since the Blue's separation from NBC in January 1942, will join Mutual Jan. 15. He is the fourth Blue executive to move to MBS in recent months.

Mr. Hauser

Merchandising Service

Mutual, which pioneered in the field of cooperative programs, currently carries more of this type of show than any other network and plans further expansion under Mr. Hauser's direction. The new department also will offer stations a complete merchandising service to aid them in selling the programs to local sponsors and to aid sponsors in merchandising the programs to the public.

A Dartmouth graduate, Mr. Hauser was associated with American Thermowar Co. and Robert E. Ramsay organization in sales promotion capacities and wrote articles for advertising publications before joining NBC in 1931. With NBC he worked in program promotion and merchandising, subsequently becoming manager of station promotion. He joined the Blue as sales promotion manager in January 1942. Jean Russell of the Blue promotion staff has been named acting audience promotion manager.

Lt. McGlogan of WJR Killed in Bomber Flight

LT. FRANK J. MCGLOGAN, 26, former newscaster and announcer of WJR Detroit, has been killed in action over Germany on one of his first missions as a bombardier. He came to WJR from KSTP St. Paul in October 1941. He enlisted in the Army Air Corps and was sworn in on the air following presentation of his afternoon news one day in January 1943.

After two years in OCS and bases in this country, he arrived in England less than a month ago. Writing to George Cushing, WJR news editor, he said, "Well, I'm finally at a station where I can at least see some action."

News of his death was wired from St. Paul to WJR General Manager Leo J. Fitzpatrick by Mrs. McGlogan.

Colorado has established its importance in Manufacturing

THE manufacturing establishments of Colorado have done some amazing things in the past few years, taking in their stride orders for destroyer escorts, landing ships and sea barges. More than 160 Denver factories alone are producing supplies and equipment for war ranging from delicate instruments to heavy-duty machine tools, from rubber rafts to 8-inch shells.

Denver today is the largest center for the production of 115-mm. and 8-inch shells in the world.

With few exceptions, the factories producing for war today will return to production of peacetime needs in the Denver region.

The manufacturing facilities and know-how of the Denver area, together with the mining, agricultural and livestock industries are still in economic balance; they're fundamental and basic assets which earmark this region as a stable market under practically any economic circumstances.

The Denver market is a sound one in which to make advertising investments, and a basic medium through which to make such an investment pay off is KLZ. This can be backed up with no more pointed a statement than that more advertisers—local and national—buy more time on KLZ than on any other Denver station.
