The Editor's Page

MANY of the uninteresting radio addresses with which we are afflicted must be so because they were prepared in accordance with suggestions made by the Interior Department's advisory committee on education by radio. The other fellow is more or less of a moron—in fact, everybody on the receiving end is a moron, it is indicated.

That the United States is a nation of sub-normal intellects has been a stock charge of our own local "intelligentzia" for some time. Now comes no less a personage than Dr. A. S. Burrows, superintendent of schools of Kings County, Washington—a position from which he certainly should be able to gauge the mentality of his own territory, at least, with fifteen rules for handling broadcast material which appear to substantiate that indictment.

Some of these recommendations are painful, to say the least, to those of us who have entertained the apparently erroneous impression that we were mature, educated and able to think. It seems we are not. Or else Doctor Burrows is wrong. Or, again, he may have written his rules with the other fellow in mind.

Doctor Burrows recommends that prospective speakers over the air present their specialty "on the level of thirteen year olds" and cautions them not to "overrate the intelligence of your listeners" and to "give informational details of your subject even though these seem too simple to you." To be able to do this, of course, presupposes that the speaker possesses intelligence superior to that of his audience, a debatable question sometimes.

Thus placing us in our proper place, the Washington educator proceeds to inform the would-be radio orators that they, too, are none too brilliant by telling them to do things which they might naturally be expected to know enough to do without being told. "Begin with one or more striking sentences," "avoid too much generalization," and "minimize preaching and advice," he admonishes in his ABC's for orators.

Maybe the doctor is right and we're all 13-year-olds masquerading in grown-up bodies and hiding our lack of intelligence behind grown-up words. But we certainly would like to hear Doctor Burrows deliver a radio talk, just to see if he follows all his own rules.

SOME surprises are in store for a number of broadcasters. The Federal Radio Commission is checking every station in the country to determine how far the service that it gives is of real value to the public. As we all know, there are a lot of stations for whose existence on the air there exists no earthly reason. This Federal scrutiny should bring this plainly to government attention. It is to be hoped that such service will be ended with license cancellations and better stations replace them.

MICROPHONE GOSSIP

Meredith Wilson, KFRC's musical director, Robert Olson and "Mac" have collaborated on a new song called, "In the Land Where the Lost Dreams Go." They worked upon the theory that a song must have at least three names on it to be a success. It's a deep secret which of the trio really wrote the song. At any rate, "In the Land Where the Lost Dreams Go," will be heard on KFRC quite often in the future.

Bobbe Deane has two new pets. They are Jack and Ethyl—not the Associated Motor-mates, Bobbe, NBC actress, has dubbed two tiny Maltese kittens Jack and Ethyl and carted them off to her summer cottage at Emerald Lake, near San Francisco. The kittens are a gift to Bobbe from H. C. Connette, author of "Memory Lane."

Following the compilation of a record of six KJR employees who have, are being or will be married in two months, Leo Moen, control operator, announced that he is in the parade and will be married shortly to Pat Murphy, a Bellingham girl who is now living in Seattle. Sydney Dixon started the marriage parade a few weeks ago. Gray U. Munjar, assistant manager of the Northwest Broadcasting System, following, being married recently to Miss Betty Woodward. Five other KJR employees are now counting the days until they march to the altar.

Virginia Miller, petite concert pianist, who has appeared over KPO in many stellar engagements, has become associated with KFWB, Warner Brothers studio, at Hollywood, according to word received at KPO.

Miss Miller, a charming and dainty young lady, first attracted attention as a child prodigy when she was but five years old. Later she won several important musical scholarships and has appeared in concert and at various theaters in San Francisco.

Miss Miller leaves for Hollywood to become staff accompanist and soloist at KFWB.

Hal McCracken is the "Owl" conducting KJBS's night Owl programs now. Coming from the northwest, where he announced over one of the larger stations, he forms the latest addition to KJBS "Owl" announcers. McCracken is also an airplane pilot, holding a license for transport grade.

Sunny Cohan knows how it feels to say, "Good morning, Judge." She was hastening to the KTAB studio for a rehearsal, and seeing an open roadway she proceeded to burn up the miles with the family chariot. A blast of trumpets, not trumpets, but anyway, enter John Law, and Sunny's blandishments were of no avail. He brought out the papers and proceeded to make a date for her—with the judge!

Little Joyce Coad, child movie star who appears at KNX, Hollywood, weekly, has just been engaged for a new "super-production" on a Hollywood talkie lot. She's been in shows for D. W. Griffith, Frank Lloyd, William Bondeau and many others.

Fred Howard and Nat Vincent, featured harmony team and song writers with KFI-KECA, Los Angeles, have published and recorded another song which is expected to surpass many of the hits from their facile pens.

The new song is "At the End of the Lane," and it deals with that favorite theme of popular song writers and Mr. Rudyard Kipling, mother love.

A KFRC announcer had on his program, "It's Easy to Fall in Love," followed by "Swingin' in a Hammock." His mind wandered and he announced, "The next number will be. "It's Easy to Fall Out of a Hammock." The idea was sound, at any rate.

Salvatore Santaella, director of KTM's orchestra was for six years a pupil of the great Rachmaninoff, and his first important engagement was that of accompanist for Pavlowa. He served for a time as accompanist for Max Rossen, the distinguished violinist, and later was engaged by Paul Whiteman as piano soloist for the great jazz king's orchestra. Santaella also is famous for his arrangement of musical scores for many of the most pretentious moving picture productions, and his work in this connection has made him an idol among the members of the film colony. Though only 33 years old, it may truthfully be said that Salvatore Santaella has run the gamut of musical interpretation. The addition of this great artist to its staff has been quite a feather in KTM's cap.

New Night Eye Adds Safety to Navigation

A NEW "noctovision ray," developed by a British inventor and now being tried out in New York harbor, may revolutionize ship safety beacons, the protective apparatus of air craft and prove a valuable police aid. The new ray is nothing more or less than a means of seeing distinctly at night through fog, darkness, or mist.

The ray makes use of the infra-red rays, the little ultrarapid penetrators of space, which more than any other "beam" appear to fascinate the modern scientist the most. The rays may be sent out from a special beacon—intermittent flashes or a steady light. Viewed with the naked eye, there is not the slightest indication, even on the darkest night, that there burns a light.

But, however, when the ray is viewed through special glasses, a powerful light flashes. Ships equipped with special telescopes sensitive to the infra-red rays can travel through fogs that completely extinguish the most powerful arc light of the most intense glare. The red rays bore through the gloom unhampered.

There are a thousand uses to which these infra-red rays may be put, but the "noctovision" beam appears to have the closest commercial value. In airplane work, the beam is invaluable. Even powerful beacons on hilltops are blanketed by fogs or smoke. Beacons throwing infra-red rays are not hampered by such things, and it would appear that air routes so equipped would be almost 100 per cent proof against atmospheric interruptions.

The device was tried out at Southampton, England, recently where a lighthouse was equipped with the new beam. A ship, traveling through a typical English fog, which completely blanketed out the ordinary lighthouses and shore signals, by using the infra-red rays was able to find its way as easily to an anchorage as though it was broad daylight.

The beam is to be given a thorough trial in New York harbor under fog conditions that almost completely paralyze traffic. It is believed that navigation can be carried on with unusual safety. Marker lights on vessels, using ultra-red rays, it is said, still further add to the safety of ships on regular channels, completely avoiding the dangers of fog collisions.

Amos 'N' Andy Music— A Famous Song

THE "theme song" of the Amos 'n' Andy act, which comes on the air every night, except Sunday, at 7:30 o'clock, is heard before and after the skit by thousands of listeners, many of whom do not know that the melody is "The Perfect Song," a musical tidbit written by Joseph Carl Briel.

So well known has this little songlet become that no other musical organization in the country dares play it without everyone in the audience instantly saying "Amos 'n' Andy." It is, perhaps, the best known and most popular "prefacelogue" ever put on the air.

"The Perfect Song" was first played as a part of the musical score accompanying the picture "The Birth of a Nation." It was taken over as a characteristic melody by the Fresh Air Taxicab Company because it was just the proper length for an introductory and sign-off measure. Night after night radio fans listen to it and wonder: Is it played each time by musicians or is it taken from a phonograph record?

This question is a high compliment to Joseph Gallicchio, director of station WMAQ at Chicago, and the violinist with the group, as well as Franz Pfau, pianist, and Johan Lingemann, cellist. Gallicchio arranged the Briel composition for broadcasting, and the violin on which he nightly opens the national blackface act, is more than two centuries old.

So perfectly have the members of this little studio group coördinated their efforts that each note is presented with the precision of a mechanical transcription. The theme song was not chosen by chance but after nineteen other bits of music had been discussed, tried out and discarded.

Radio Tax Strenuously Fought

THE entire country is watching with interest South Carolina's attempt to tax radio receiving sets, taking a leaf out of Europe's notebook, where this scheme has been for several years both a means of supporting radio and increasing governmental revenues—and a tremendous handicap to radio's popularity.

Tax legislation enacted in South Carolina imposes a charge upon all receiving sets, ranging from 50 cents for sets valued at not more than $50, to $2.50 for sets valued at more than $500. The radio industry is fighting the tax in the courts on the ground that it is unconstitutional as an interference with interstate commerce.

If South Carolina "gets away" with its proposal to tax receiving sets—and it will do so only after the case has been carried to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary, the radio manufacturers indicate—there is no doubt that taxes will immediately be slapped on receiving sets by a number of other states, with the probability that, eventually, every state in the Union will include radio among its sources of revenue.

To this extent, the radio tax will be analogous to the imposts on gasoline. Adopted by one or two states as a means of raising revenues for road building, it proved such an easy way of raising money that other states rapidly followed suit and today the gasoline tax, ranging from two to five or more cents per gallon, is universal throughout the United States, although not in every state is all the gasoline-tax money used for highway construction and maintenance.

Constitutionality of the South Carolina tax is to be tested by suits brought by Station WBT, Charlotte, on behalf of the broadcasters; the Louis D. Rubin Electrical Company, for the radio dealers, and Hugh A. Ray, an individual, for the set owners. Thus, the three parties at interest are represented, the defendants being the state and local tax officials.

The suits are based on the contention that radio is interstate commerce and that the individual states cannot interfere with any phase of the business, and that the receiving set is an integral part of the machinery for this interstate traffic. As interstate commerce, it is claimed, only the Federal government has the right of control or taxation.

Radio control has been tentatively discussed in a number of states, but South Carolina is the first with sufficient temerity to attempt to tax the business, although another state is seeking to control the construction of broadcasting stations.

The question of taxing radio is by no means new. The Senate, a year ago, asked the Federal Radio Commission to suggest fees for transmitting stations, although no consideration was given to the matter of taxing receivers. Suggestions, however, have been made from time to time that receiving sets might be taxed, but it has been the general concensus that radio has been enabled to reach its present great popularity in this country by the freedom from governmental interference which it has enjoyed, and that freedom should not be curtailed.

Receiving set taxes are quite general abroad. One of the most noticeable effects of license and other means of tax imposition has been the slow growth in the number of receiving sets. In Great Britain, annual licenses are imposed, part of the receipts from which are turned over to the British Broadcasting Company, which has a monopoly of radio in the British Isles, but approximately 30 per cent of the revenue is retained by the government. There are now slightly more than 3,000,000 licensed sets in Great Britain. Germany has a much greater population, but also imposes much higher fees than does England, as a result of which the number of licensed receivers in Germany is about the same as in Great Britain. Similar conditions prevail in other European nations.

Radio Journalism Again

RADIO journalism has developed to the point where radio speakers, like newspaper correspondents, will follow the President of the United States on tour in order to describe his activities to the radio audience. Frederic William Wile, Columbia's radio journalist, will accompany President Hoover on his vacation trip to the national parks of the West, recounting the developments of the trip over the network.

Archie, A., San Francisco, Cal.—Goodness me! Archie, I hope you and Spud did not have a real "argerment." It's a good thing your Auntie told you how it could be settled. Yes, the same Jack Keough who now announces over Station KGO is the Jack Keough who was "Big Brother" at KPO. You said you belonged to his club when you were a little boy. How old are you now? And Archie, I don't believe boys are "sissy" because they have pet cats. I think they must be very kind. I know a big, important man who has a cat. He calls her, "Mimi."

D. D., Sunnyvale, Cal.—You will again hear Willard Kimball from Station KTAB in October.

Question Mark, Mill Valley, Cal.—Several Pictures of Edward Fitzpatrick (NBC) have been published in Broadcast Weekly, the most recent one appearing in the June 22 issue. Thus far the camera has not captured that rare smile of his and it is doubtful if future attempts will yield the results you desire. (Not that I want to be discouraging or anything but it seems that sitting for pictures is a dread aversion with E. F.) However, if you really must see those disturbing brown eyes of his light up, with a pleasant display of splendid white teeth thrown in, why not drop in at the hotel where he appears at tea time and—well, if your letter is any indication at all of your technique—

Mrs. W. M., Selma, Cal.—Your answer has been delayed through misdirection. Please address all communications for this department to Broadcast Weekly. Hope this information is not too late to avert bloodshed. The Ranch Hands of KTM and the Hill Billys of KMPC are two distinct and different groups.

Miss F. W., Auburn, Wash.—Morey Amsterdam (KNX) was born in Chicago, December 14, 1908. He is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 150 pounds, has black, curly hair, and his eyes are—he calls them greenish-gray. He is single, has lived in Salt Lake City, San Francisco and all points east. The stations over which he has broadcast would make a long list. He has toured in vaudeville, playing practically all of the circuits, and has dipped into various night clubs in one capacity or another, most frequently as master of ceremonies. Photography is his favorite hobby and writing songs, stories, and "bits" for the movies, his avocation.

N. W., Turlock, Cal.—The Knickerbocker Piano Duo heard on Wednesday afternoons from Station KPO are Emilie McCormack and Charlotte Owens; real sisters.

D., Roseville, Cal.—Lindsay MacHarrie is ever so obliging. Answered the query with reference to his "steady girl" by air mail so you might have it this issue. Here is the letter in part: "Yes, I have a steady girl. I am, however, contemplating a change. Of late I have been terribly harassed by her antics. She whispers my mistakes into the ears of strangers, even, at times, enlarging upon them to satisfy her whims. What does she look like? Well, I must admit she's rather stringy, of a sort of copper complexion, and she seems to derive keen enjoyment from resting upon the top of tall buildings. Right now, she appears to be tired of it all. She sags and stretches with no regard for others around her. Her name? Ah! 'Tis one with which to conjure; An Tenna."

Mrs. H. J. A., San Jose, Cal.—Maude Ford sings exclusively for KQW. She has been broadcasting regularly for one year over this station.

S & W Forum of the Air One of Radio's Most Popular Features

INITIATED some few weeks ago as a new idea in radio entertainment, the S & W Forum of the Air has now established itself as one of the most popular broadcasts on the air today.

While music and song predominate on these programs, broadcast every Tuesday evening between 8:30 and 9:30 from KFRC in San Francisco, KMJ in Fresno, KHJ in Los Angeles, and KWG in Stockton, the S & W Forum of the Air was originated to promulgate the spread of information on state and national issues with which the public at large should be acquainted. This policy has particular reference to those controversial subjects in which the presentation of every side of the issue at stake—direct from those with all the facts at their disposal—will help the public to form their own opinion in an impartial and most intelligent manner. Realizing the importance of the coming Republican gubernatorial nomination, the director of the S & W Forum of the Air has been presenting the three candidates, Buron Fitts, James Rolph, Jr., and C. C. Young, before the microphone as guest speakers. Each candidate is giving, on successive programs, the reasons why he believes he is best fitted to serve the State of California in the capacity of Governor. Other noted authorities on subjects of widespread interest will follow, as guest speakers, on the S & W Forum of the Air broadcasts when this series of political talks comes to a conclusion.

Addresses on the S & W Forum of the Air are short, presented in a concise, easily understood form. The greater part of the broadcast is devoted to musical and vocal entertainment in which are heard many of the West's most noted radio stars. Tune in Tuesday on KFRC, KMJ, KHJ or KWG and enjoy the S & W Forum of the Air broadcast with Governor C. C. Young as guest speaker.

Points of Radio Law In Courts

THIRTY-ONE cases involving the radio law are pending in the United States Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia and the United States District Courts, according to a summary which has just been compiled by Thad H. Brown, general counsel of the Federal Radio Commission.

Most of these suits will be disposed of during the coming fall and winter, it is expected, and the decisions will serve to outline more clearly the course which the commission must take in dealing with other cases involving the points around which this litigation revolves.

The cases before the United States Supreme Court, two in number, were brought by the American Bond and Mortgage Company, operators of Station WMBD-WOK, and Clinton R. White, owner of Station WCRW, both located in Chicago. They involve the question of property rights, both stations having been operating prior to the enactment of the radio law of 1927, under licenses issued by the Secretary of Commerce. Both petitioners claim that they had invested substantial sums in their stations and that refusal of the radio commission to renew their licenses constituted deprivation of property in violation of the fifth amendment to the Constitution. This was one of the first questions raised after the enactment of the law, which provides that there shall be no vested rights to the air.

Cases before other courts raise a number of interesting points. The appeal of the Schaeffer Radio Company, operator of Station KVEP, Portland, Ore., raises the question of the commission's authority to indirectly censor station programs for "indecent and obscene" language by refusing renewal of license. The cases of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company involve the action of the commission in renewing licenses for its stations with the understanding that the cleared channel on which they operated was borrowed from the second zone and would be taken away from the stations should application be made by a second zone applicant. Other suits involve the refusal of the commission to grant an increase in power, denial of construction permits to proposed broadcasters and orders requiring stations to change their wavelengths.

Transatlantic Vision to Be Attempted

ENCOURAGED by certain transmissions which he has been able to effect in Great Britain, using apparatus of his own invention, John L. Baird, Scottish television experimenter, has sent a number of television receivers to New York for an attempted reception of visual radio images across the Atlantic.

Baird, like other television experimenters, is going ahead in his efforts to shoot pictures from point to point, regardless of the fact that the pictures, when received, do not amount to much. This is on the theory that the mechanical difficulties which now produce hazy images, can be cleared up, once the electrical problems are solved.

This may be a fact. In early radio, signals were often sent to great distances without being clearly readable. Later the "mushiness" was cleared up and clear reception was made possible. It is Baird's theory that getting the image across the water is most important. Getting it across with commercial clarity can come afterward.

Baird is broadcasting images from 2LO at London daily. He even went so far as to transmit a radio drama, a couple of weeks ago—the sound portion being transmitted on one wavelength and the visual portion on another. Shadowy figures moved and shifted about, sufficiently clear to be determined as human, yet not clear enough to be of commercial value. But Baird was not discouraged.

Throughout England, at the present time, there are nearly 1000 television receivers in operation. All have the one defect, viz., that the received images have to be viewed through a small aperture under a lens. This makes possible only one person seeing the pictures at a time, much like the old nickel-odion "squin boxes." Baird is now trying to work out a method by which the received images can be thrown on a screen.

One drawback here is that an image to look like anything on a screen must be needle sharp. Movie films, seen under a microscope, are marvelously clear and sharp. They have to be. When television images are enlarged, all the defects are multiplied and the indistinctness of a four-inch screen becomes a wavering fog on a twenty-foot screen.

Yet even this is being worked out by the British inventor, who locks himself in his laboratory near London for days at a time, as did Thomas Edison in his own heyday of inventive creation, to emerge with new and more complicated improvements. Recently in England a television projection was actually thrown on a theater screen, full movie size, with sufficient clarity to make the subject-matter discernible—an important step forward in the television art.

"Wired Radio Gets" License

That experiments are still going forward in the field of "wired radio," is indicated by the issuance of a license by the Federal Radio Commission last week to Wired Radio, Inc., subsidiary of power interests ambitious to exploit the possibilities of sending radio programs into homes via the power lines. Quiescent since its failure to make public demonstrations of its system at Cleveland last October, Wired Radio, Inc., has received authority from the Commission to use eight experimental wavelengths with 20,000 watts power at its station, W2XCU, Ampere, N. J. In addition, it is still taking up numerous patents in various branches of radio.

THE RADIO OF THE FUTURE

● Times will change—but BRUNSWICK'S New Futura Models incorporate all the practical improvements you may expect in radio for seasons to come. It's easy to imagine better cars and homes and aircraft of the future—but it's hard to imagine a finer radio than the new Brunswick for 1931!

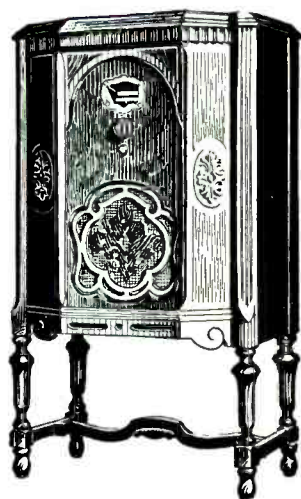

● What more can a radio ever do than bring you your ether entertainment from any distance in any weather; pick it out with ultimate precision from the crowded airways; shield it from all electrical interference; and deliver it to you silken smooth in tone—all at the summons of a single dial control?

Yet all this the Brunswick—and only the Brunswick—does today!

● Four revolutionary features, plus Brunswick's traditional painstaking workmanship, explain why these amazing models so completely anticipate the future. Just to see and hear them is not enough. It will show you only their present perfection—not their extra years of service . . . New Sparton Contest For Boys and Girls

Captain William Sparks, President of Sparton Radio, founds "The Sparton Scholarship Award" to give away 100 juvenile scholarships and European tours. Any boy or girl eligible.

FORTY-SEVEN years ago a frightened, ignorant immigrant boy caught his first glimpse of a new homeland from the deck of a tramp steamer poking its way into New York Harbor. Education, as you know it, even in public schools, was not for this stranger in those days. What he got he dug out for himself. And as he toiled and struggled on through the years, a dominant dream, a great overwhelming ambition gradually took shape in his mind, a determination to some day give to many boys and girls the educational help which had been denied him. Today he is about to realize that dream, that cherished ambition.

J. W. THOMPSON
Sales Manager
H. R. Curtiss Company

Few people either know or would believe that this great executive, this successful business man, this cultured gentleman, was once a poor untutored immigrant boy; but all the world knows Captain William Sparks, President of the Sparks-Withington Co., manufacturers of Sparton Radio and Sparton Horns. The plan that Captain Sparks has perfected for giving boys and girls the educational help which he was denied, he calls "The Sparton Scholarship Award." By its terms and arrangements a hundred University Scholarships and European tours will be given free following the close of the contest April 15, 1931, to as many worthy boys and girls whose pluck and determination and hard work carry them to success through the contest. Captain Sparks in person will conduct the European tour of the group which elects to get its education through travel rather than the University Scholarship award.

Have you an ambitious boy or girl? Think what such an European tour or such a Scholarship would mean to them. Dreams do come true. This one, even now, is bursting into fruitful bloom, its Scholarship and Travel awards living proof of what a boy or girl can accomplish with determination, ambition, and hard work, even though friendless in a strange land. Captain Sparks says:

"These Scholarships and Tours could be given without effort on the part of the boys and girls, but I've always held that those things in life worth having are worth working for. Therefore, I have sought for the means through which this opportunity could be made available to the workers and have found it in the very organization which I head, the Sparton Radio organization, with distributors and dealers throughout the United States and Canada.

"If my own two sons were between the ages of 12 and 19 years I would be proud to have them work for such a reward. The work itself, which promises immediate financial returns, will also help to develop character. Perhaps you, like myself, were denied the privilege of a college training or education by travel, so you can realize the fine advantages of my plan. Have your boy or girl send for the details, talk it over, and let's work together to teach them self-reliance, independence, and the power that lies within themselves to scur the best things the world has to offer.

"Your ship will come into port laden with riches, success and position exactly in the same ratio as you send it hustling out after cargo.

"The hard-working boys and girls who receive helpful scholarships and those who meet me in New York City will value their honors more highly because they have earned them in fair and open battle. Both of these groups, I know right now, will be above the average in many things. They will be the kind of boys and girls I like.

"The kind of boys and girls I like are those:

"Who are clean in mind and body.

"Who are loyal to self, home and country.

"Who are honest, fair and above-board in ali their dealings.

"Who are of known integrity.

"Who attend some church regularly.

"Who are of good habits.

"Who recognize their responsibility to others.

"Who have an open mind for new truth.

"Because of my own lack of so-called book-learning, I know much of the broadening and refining effects of wide contact with strange lands and people. Travel is enlightening in itself, as I well know. That is why I have made the University Scholarship and European Tour the two high prizes between which the winners themselves may choose.

"On this trip to and through Europe, our party will be accompanied by carefully chosen chaperons and experienced travelers, who will help us to get full value and interest from our entire tour.

"Circumstances have placed me at the head of an international business that has been serving the world for over thirty years. Its entire personnel and resources are associated with me in carrying out the provisions of these awards offered by the Sparks-Withington Co. Thousands of Sparton representatives throughout the United States and Canada are cooperating with me to give boys and girls the opportunity to earn the awards by clean, congenial and character building work.

"I remember the terrific cost I paid for one trans-Atlantic trip—hoeing onions at ten cents a row. For the return passage I laid paving blocks on Kings Road, London, at 'tuppence, three farthings' per hour, the equivalent of five cents. No such labor is required from the worker in this contest. The rules are simple and easily understood. The work is pleasant. Rewards for workers are certain.

"The contest is on—now. There are no favorites. The boys and girls who, in their hard-working hearts and souls, want to win, WILL WIN. Wishing alone will accomplish nothing. The field is wide open, so, with my prayers, go to it, and get busy. Next summer I expect to see one group of the kind of boys and girls I like, eagerly awaiting the opening of college, the second group will discuss the trip with me on the liner or ask questions, while in London we linger in solemn awe in the cloistered halls of Westminster Abbey, or in Paris we visit Napoleon's historic tomb or tramp over the sacred battlefields of France and Flanders. Yours for success."

Complete information on this contest may be had from the H. R. Curtiss Co., Northern California Sparton distributors, or any authorized Sparton Radio dealer. Mr. Homer J. Walt of the H. R. Curtiss Co. is devoting his entire time to helping candidates in this contest succeed. If you have a son or daughter, enter them in this contest.

The California Catsup Program opens the Woman's Magazine of the Air today, and brings Ann Holden to the microphone with a recipe for the traditional Saturday night and Sunday morning food standby, baked beans. Ann has incorporated California Home Catsup in the recipe, and it's good, according to Ann.

Bonnie and Amy portray another domestic near-tragedy during the Bon Ami feature today. Little Billy, who sounds very like little Bennie to us, takes an active part in the melee. The Bon Ami Radio Matinee is scheduled in second spot on today's program.

Ann Holden takes the air again during the third period, which is devoted to the Crisco program. Ann's recipe for this period is for egg dishes, souffles and omelettes.

Clarence Hayes, Mynard Jones and the Magazine Melodists will provide the musical entertainment.
