NEW RULES TO REDUCE STATIONS

ENFORCEMENT next year of the requirement that all broadcasting stations maintain their assigned frequencies to within fifty cycles is expected to result in a material reduction in the number of stations.

Measurements by the radio division of the Department of Commerce indicate that a steady increase is being made in the number of stations reducing their deviations from the present permissible maximum of 500 cycles to less than 50 cycles, slightly less than 40 per cent of the stations now having achieved sufficiently close adherence to assigned frequency to meet the requirements of the radio commission order which becomes effective June 22, next. Another 21 per cent have reduced their deviations to less than 100 cycles and 22 per cent have brought their signals to between 100 and 200 cycles of assigned frequency.

It is expected, naturally, that a large proportion of the stations still deviating more than 50 cycles will get within that limit before the order goes into effect, but radio officials in Washington express the opinion that, for one reason or another, a number of stations will be unable to comply with the requirement, the penalty for violation of which is revocation of license.

While the major objective of the commission in promulgating the order was to reduce interference, it was recognized at the time that some of the stations now broadcasting would not be able to meet the 50-cycle requirement, some of them because of the great expense which would be involved in the replacement of equipment rapidly approaching obsolescence. Thus, it was argued, there would be given opportunity for reducing the number of stations, particularly in heavily congested centers where keen competition makes profitable operation impossible for the poorer stations.

Radio officials in Washington are watching closely the monthly reports issued by the Department of Commerce. While only about half of the stations are measured each month, it is believed that the department's figures fairly reflect conditions in broadcasting as a whole. More than 18 per cent of the stations measured are still deviating more than 200 cycles, and while the percentage is being reduced steadily, it is believed that the deadline date will see one or two per cent of the broadcasters unable to comply with the order.

It is estimated unofficially that from fifty to one hundred stations will be operating with a greater deviation than 50 cycles when the order becomes effective, and plans are being made to issue complaints against them without delay. Some of the stations probably will be able to show that failure to meet the requirements is due to physical difficulties involved in the installation of new equipment and will be given additional time to comply with the order, but it is probable that the number of broadcasters will be reduced by twenty-five to fifty before the opening of the 1932 fall broadcasting season.

PERSONAL PICKUPS

BY GYPSY

A n n a, Sacramento.—Benay Venuta (KPO) is a vivacious blonde with blue eyes, a fair complexion, a copious supply of energy and the healthy faculty of throwing off disappointment-ments with astonishing nonchalance. She is in her early twenties, about 5 feet 6 3/4 inches in height, goes in for sports and does not marcel her hair. Her parents were not professional folk, but her grandmother, with whom Benay spent much of her childhood, was an artist, who, recognizing the little yellow-haired girl's natural talents, encouraged her to study. She learned to play, sing and dance and even studied painting for a while and with the first whiff of the theatre surrendered herself completely to the come what may of a musical career. In the spring of 1928 she went to a finishing school in Geneva, took a course in music at the Conservatoire, traveled all over Europe, and came back late the next year to join a Fanchon and Marco company. Her radio debut was made early in 1930, and now in addition to broadcast activities she appears at various night clubs and theatres. Benay insists she is single and, despite the fact that she features "blues," prefers symphonic music.

Jack Keough Fans.—Jack has left for Pittsburgh, Pa., where he will describe sports events over Station WCAB.

Bill R., Hollister.—Wint Cotton (KTAB) hails from Shreveport, Louisiana, is twenty-five years old, rather slightly built, a study in tans (if you know what I mean), and is very, very reserved. Something about Wint gives one the impression he has encountered bleak, unsunny roads, yet he never as much as hints at frustrated dreams and is anything but a pessimist. He is in the jewelry business and sings as an avocation, likes to go horseback riding, enjoys basket ball, and intends to have a rose garden when he owns his own home. Brown is his favorite color, fried chicken heads the list of most palatable dishes, good poetry interests him, and of course you knew about Gerda Last I heard, the wedding date had not yet been set, but I hear it is not far off.

B. C., Los Angeles.—Gus Arnheim (KFWB, NBC) is about 5 feet 9 inches in height, with dark, smooth hair and blue eyes, somewhere in his thirties, and looks as though he does his gym work regularly. He is married and has a daughter aged seven. June Parker was born in San Francisco, educated in Boston, and began her radio career six years ago. She is brown-eyed, quite tall, and has decidedly blond hair. Sherlock Holmes is played by Richard Gordan.

Mrs. G. W., Portland.—Memory Lane has no theme song at present—it was formerly introduced with "Memories"—but each character is associated with a melody. For instance, when Rosemary Smithers and Muriel LaSalle are before the microphone, you hear snatches of "Beulah Land." Mr. Smithers' melody is "There Is a Happy Land," and Billy is identified by his jews harp. Mr. Connett's newest series, Uba Rooga Island, is presented each Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The cast includes Tom Kelly, Rilly Page, Anita Calfot, Floy Marget Hughes, and Jack Cowden.

Constance, Sacramento.—Ted Husing (CBS) was christened Edward Britt, is of German origin, has been broadcasting seven years, and is married. His height is 5 feet 11 3/4 inches, his weight hovers between 158 and 164 pounds, his eyes are hazel, and his hair is brown. He pretends to be blasé, is superstitious about lighting candles in a hotel room, professes a fondness for blondes, brunettes, red-heads, and Rye, and cooks mulligan for his friends on the slightest provocation. His aversions are radio announcers, Roxy ushers, and soda dispensers. He cannot resist impersonating people, reads everything by Joe Williams, likes all types of music, the color gray, chrysanthemums, and is admittedly irascible.

Helen, Modesto.—Paul Pitman is now managing director for The Forum over in Oakland and is not broadcasting at present. However, he plans to come back to the air shortly after the holidays. The opening date is, I believe, January 6, and the station selected is KTAB. No arrangements for a Big Brother period have been made, but you will hear again his "House of Dreams."

Mary, Seattle.—Al Schuss acts as master of ceremonies on the Mardi Gras program (KJR). Others heard during this feature are Bob Monson, Elmer Vincent, Homer Sweetman, Olive Reynolds, Grant Merrill, Abe Brashen and Spencer Adams. Homer is still eligible, Mary.

Hilda, Compton.—Harry Morton (KFOX) is better than six feet in height, weighs 188 pounds, has gray eyes, dark brown hair and is approximately thirty-nine years old. His ancestry is English and Scotch-Irish, he is the grandson of George Morton, the opera singer, and is related to the Four Mortons of vaudeville fame. Harry had few advantages, but a definite musical sense guided him through many seasons of professionalism before he finally arrived at a place where he could afford to study. When theatrical contracts were not forthcoming, he blithely shouldered whatever task presented itself. For a while he worked as a railroader and a number of years went to professional baseball. He was a star pitcher for the Laramie, Wyo., team, and although he liked this means of livelihood, music was his first love. Since 1924 he has been associated with radio and when the baseball urge overtakes him he packs his family in the car and away they go to root for their favorite team. His daughter is seventeen and the boy is eight years of age.

Greta Gahler Fans.—Greta left Station KYA several months ago and does not intend resuming broadcast activities until next January. This is her first vacation in nearly four years and your little red-headed friend is making the most of it, flying thither and yon to places she has long wanted to see, learning to play games for which she has never had time before, and writing hurry-up notes from swanky southern resorts. I'll advise you the moment she comes back.

SILHOUETTES

MANY a homesick Southerner, hearing for the first time NBC's Cross Cuts from the Log o' the Day, has sat right down at his writing desk and indited a long letter to Dr. Laurence L. Cross, pleasant-voiced "Colonel" of this program. The microphone setting of twittering birds, soft breezes in trees, the sawing of logs, and the rich voices of the darky quartet, the Southern Harmony Four, which forms a background for the "Colonel's" quietly humorous comments upon new topics, has reason for its heart-pulling authenticity. Dr. Cross, who created it, was born in Gastonburg, Alabama, of a family whose roots go deep into the soil of the South. His mother's father, in the days "befo' de wa'," owned 30,000 acres of plantation and 700 slaves.

Dr. Cross made his first appearance before the NBC microphone shortly after he had come to Berkeley, California, where he is the pastor of the Northbrae Community Church. He enacted the rôle of the "Colonel" in a program called "Plantation Echoes" and did it so well that Don E. Gilman, vice-president in charge of NBC's Pacific Division, suggested he put on a program of his own. He already was writing a newspaper column called "Cross Cuts from the Log o' the Day," and he patterned his radio column after his newspaper one.

The bird choir which is heard in Cross Cuts is made up of four real Alabama mocking birds and two California ones. Strangely enough, however, it requires the presence of eight other birds to train the sextet of mocking birds for the NBC program. Four Japanese robins, two German canaries, one Indian thrush, and a grosbeak from Mazatlan, live in the NBC aviary with the mocking birds. The eight "trainers" cannot be depended upon to perform when required; the mocking birds can; hence the combination.

Almost as interesting to Cross Cuts followers as the personality of Dr. Cross himself are the five little Crosses, one of whom occasionally appears before the microphone with him. Their mother, a charming, dark-eyed, dark-haired little person, was sent out to California from New York by the National Presbyterian Church eleven years ago to supervise certain aspects of the work here. Dr. Cross married his "superior officer" after a courtship of three weeks, and the success of this marriage-in-haste makes it pretty difficult for him to advise young couples not to marry until they know each other better, he admits.

ROY LEFFINGWELL thought music would be his career as he left the family home in the mid-west and journeyed to New York. There he played the piano in an old music hall. That is, he did until his brother bade him forsake music and study engineering. ,

So Roy became an engineer in time. His brother, W. H. Leffingwell, is well known in efficiency circles as a consultant and author of "Scientific Office Management" and other tomes.

But ten years ago music again called and Leffingwell moved from Chicago to Los Angeles. Gradually he drifted into radio activities and for the past four years has been on the air—first at KFVB, then at K M T R, later managing KPSN, and now for a year he has done a week-day morning program of music-philosophy over KECA at 10:30 o'clock.

Out of some two hundred published compositions perhaps his best known is "My Malibu Rose." "Like a Harp of Gold," "I'm Afraid That I'm Falling in Love," and "Gosh, But I Wish That Spring Was Here." In this number Roy, Jr., wrote the lyrics.

His KECA broadcasts have won for him a legion of home friends. He plays his own numbers, talks the songs, and expounds a bit of homely philosophy. One of the thoughts from his philosophy is that he should not "plug" his own tunes. So the minute they are published he stops using them over the air, though others may, and do, sing them to their heart's content.

In a few weeks he will observe his twenty-fifth wedding anniversary over in Pasadena from where he commutes daily to Los Angeles. His oldest daughter is the wife of L. Scott Perkins, NBC continuity writer and producer. His son is with him in the music business, and two daughters are still in school.

With greying hair, a firm but kindly mouth, piercing black eyes, and a resonant voice, Leffingwell is usually pictured by his fans as a heavy-set rotund, chubby individual. But he weighs about 125 pounds and is not overly tall.

Last year he wrote and produced a color symphony which was given its premiere by a well-known symphonic group in Pasadena. But he much prefers the popular ballad type of song, some with a little pathos, others with a tinge of sentiment.

And it is just this type of melody that seems to please his listeners most, if a study of his fan mail is any criterion.

THE initial mystery about Caltana Christoph, KFRC coloratura soprano, is the one of her name, Caltana. She is the youngest member of the family and was born in Montana. Her sisters were born in California. Mother Christoph, out of loyalty to the Golden State, sought to bring her children closer together in the last-born daughter's name and called her Caltana, Cal for California and tana for Montana. Now the secret is out.

Caltana's schooling was obtained at a private school for girls in Chicago. First she studied the violin and piano.

CALTANA CHRISTOPH

After several years of this she to give it up for a year and it was then that she discovered she had a voice.

She decided she wanted to be a dancer and began the study of that art. Illness interrupted, when she was forced to do imitations of famous stars at parties and one day a pianist discovered that she had a natural trill and staccato. She pointed out that ordinarily a singer required a long period of study to acquire what Caltana had come by naturally. Vocal lessons followed and after six months she was singing at recitals and clubs.

She went to New York and did some concert work with Giamme Spidone as accompanist. He was assistant conductor of the Chicago Opera Company.

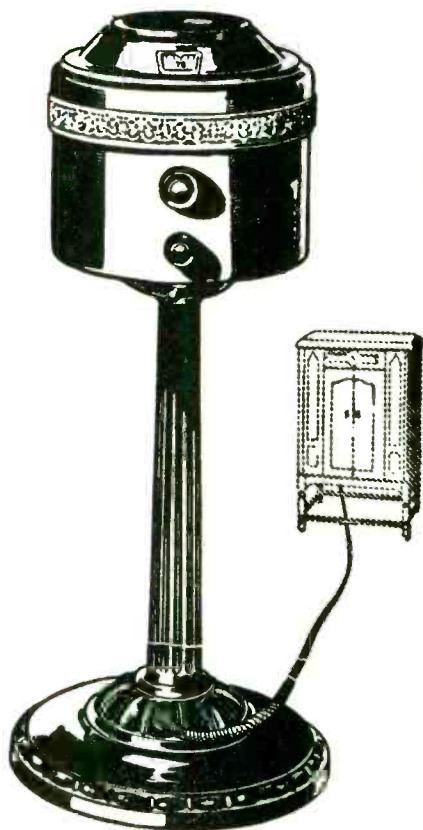

Vaudeville engagements followed. She was several years on the Orpheum and Keith circuits. Radio then claimed her unusual talents and she found a place with the famous Nat Shilkret on the NBC network. She was with him for a year. Then marriage.

Caltana Christoph's husband is the well known organist, Chauncey Haines, who has been featured in some of the largest picture palaces in the country. At present he is organist at the new United Artists' Theatre in Los Angeles.

Caltana has brown eyes and hair that match. She is five feet tall and almost, but not quite, plump. Pleasingly plump might describe her.

Her favorite stone is the diamond—her birthstone. She likes the outdoors, with golf, swimming, and hiking. She is also very fond of the theatre.

MICROPHONE GOSSIP

• • • Now and then an announcer misses a program. Seldom, but it does happen. The new penalty at the NBC Chicago studios resolves itself into an early morning broadcast on Sunday. It's proving effective. Programs are missed no more.

• • • It isn't just pleasant story-telling. The Eskimos are listening to radio. R. Harris, secretary of San Jacinto Chamber of Commerce, who has just returned from an expedition down the Mackenzie River to the Arctic Ocean, reports that the natives of this region, one thousand miles from the pole, are not only regular listeners, but excellent mechanics with their receiving sets as well. Of two hundred radio owners with whom Harris talked at old Hudson Bay trading posts all said that they heard station KFI clearly and distinctly, and preferred Los Angeles stations to almost any other. One of the customary places for the Eskimo receiving set is aboard the boats in which they gather furs.

• • • In Dick Rickard's few hours spent outside his busy managerial office at KGB, you will find him busy with his collections of first editions, etchings, and phonograph records. Strangely enough, the records are of the blue rhythm type—hardly in keeping with the dignity of the books and etchings with whom they share Dick's avocative time. One moment Dick will tell you of the rarity of this style of typography and the texture of these pages, and the next moment—"Now, when Joe Vinuti was out here with Whiteman . . ." and so far into the night as long as you'll listen—and you'll enjoy listening.

• • • "You are being entertained by J. Warde Hutton's Concert Ensemble. This is the Columbia Don Lee Broadcasting System." Mr. Hutton is rapidly becoming a seasoned broadcaster. His programs, released to the Don Lee chain by KGB, are winning new listeners among those who demand that certain deft touch of musicianship in the arrangement of popular concert selections. Mr. Hutton's attractive theme melody is one of his own compositions.

• • • A San Francisco studio for station KROW, Oakland, will be maintained in the lounge of the Casino Theatre, W. A. Miller, general manager of the station, announced.

As yet only brief periods of broadcasting have been arranged for presentation from the new studio, which has been partitioned off to provide for a control room, director's booth, and an artists' lounge.

Along with its main studio in Oakland, KROW also maintains an auxiliary studio in Richmond, where is located the station's transmitter.

• • • Dorothy Desmond, who plays the harried mama in "Raising Junior," NBC serial which is heard six nights a week through the NBC-KPO network, goes home to two pretty babies of her own when she finishes her program.

• • • Cressy Ferra, popular KJBS pianist, when not broadcasting or teaching music spends most of her time painting and designing motifs for interior decorators. She is quite skillful with the brush and palette. In fact, it is said that this young lady's artistic genius even surpasses her musical accomplishment. In addition to Miss Ferra's art and music, she has won no little recognition as a danseuse, having danced for Fanchon and Marco at old Tait's on O'Farrell Street when she was a mere child.

• • • Not knowing the difference between a hoop skirt and a silver fox tail did not bother Jean Paul King, popular Chicago announcer, when he was assigned to "cover" a half-million-dollar style show recently staged in the Edgewater Beach Hotel, and describe it over a public address system. Jean spent four and a half hours in a dress rehearsal. His visible audience gave him a big hand when he told of the thousandth gown, which was trimmed in ermine to the tune of $1000, and was named "Depression."

• • • Rudy Vallee's wife sits in a different seat at the "scandals" each night so she can check up on the audience's reaction for the NBC singer.

• • • KYA's On With the Show, heard nightly at 8 o'clock, has taken on the atmosphere of the theater with the addition of a spotlight to the "cast."

The studio lights are darkened and the artists have to strut their stuff under the glare of the "spot."

The orchestra boys are not so hot for the idea. No light means they have to know their music before they go to work in the dark.

Incidentally, On With the Show, which has gone on six nights a week since last June, continues to "pack them in" to capacity every night, with the house "sold out" six and seven nights in advance.

• • • Here he is, girls, Wayne King in person. Wayne is 31 years old, lives in his own home in fashionable Highland Park, has 150 pipes, and owns and pilots his own cabin airplane. His spare time is devoted to composing popular songs, some of his successes being: "The Waltz You Saved for Me," "Until the End," and "Beautiful Love." He can be heard in the Wayne King and his Orchestra program over NBC.

• • • People who offer advice to the public are often accused of failing to practice what they preach, but Blanche Wood, the voice of KGB's Shopping Tour is an exception. Her attractive home is a testing laboratory for the useful domestic suggestions broadcast in her daily programs. On several occasions the staff of KGB has been given the opportunity to endorse her cake recipes, having approved of the recipes by eating the cakes.

• • • Barton Yarborough, NBC actor whose characterization of Sergeant Jack Long is familiar to radio listeners, played in the London production of "Interference" with Sir Gerald Du Maurier.

• • • Radio today is serving as a traffic lane for the air. Many of the naval aviation planes flying from San Diego to Los Angeles plot their course directly by the carrier waves of KFI's new 50,000-watt transmitter at Buena Park. Immediately on taking off from San Diego the pilots pick up the carrier waves on their receiving sets, which are equipped with directional antennae, and for the entire journey make use of this novel radio "beacon."

• • • Speaking of sportsmen, Sydney Dixon, program director and tenor-in-chief of KYA, has one to contribute to the year's best fish stories. Only this one is a bird story—a bird of a bird story, in fact.

Sydney, we are told by the genial singer himself, and verified by witnesses assumed to be reliable, was out hunting with Gene Sullivan near Sebastopol, California.

The general objective was to bring home some quail to decorate pieces of toast, but the sturdy huntsmen were prepared for anything from elephants down.

A large bird, it is said, suddenly rose from a thicket directly in Dixon's path. Throwing his trusty musket to his shoulder, he blazed away. He hit his mark and, upon reaching the kill, found it to be a large Cooper hawk, which was carrying in its talons a freshly killed quail.

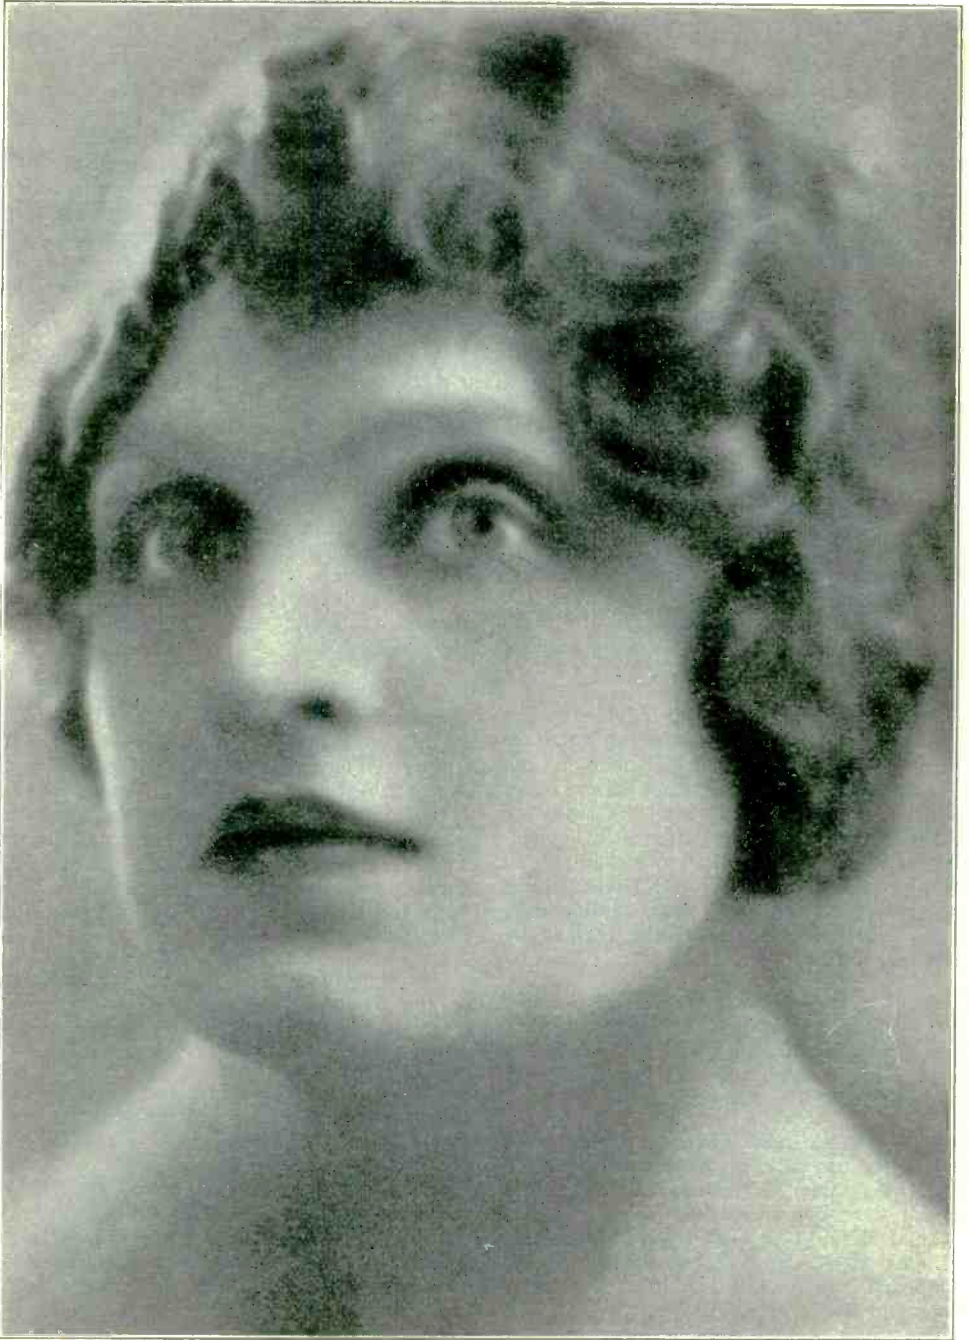

So the Dixons, believe it or not, had quail on toast and a stuffed hawk for the parlor at one crack.

"That's depression hunting," sez Sydney, the canny Scot, "Two birds, and only one shot wasted."

• • • Parents among KGB listeners are particularly glad of Lloyd Peck's return to the air as "Uncle Lloyd, KGB's Funny Paper Man." Mr. Peck's ability to dramatize the colored comics has been acquired over years of Sunday morning experience with his own children, and his attractive program is relieving many fond parents from answering that dreadful Sabbath morning request, "Read me the funnies, Daddy."

• • • Gus Arnheim, who is now heard on the Lucky Strike Dance Hour each week from Los Angeles over an NBC network, wrote "Sweet and Lovely," popular song.

• • • Fred Howard and Nat Vincent have come to the fore and written two great songs for the "Prodigal" Hillbillies at KMPC. These numbers have already started to click with the music buyers and one of them, called "On the Old Black Mountain Trail," looks to outdo the now international hit, "When the Bloom Is on the Sage." If you don't know it already, Nat and Freddie are also the Happy Chappies, who take the noon hour alone every day and sing more songs to the minute than any other group on the radio.

HAZEL WARNER, KFRC

CRITIQUE OF THE WEEK

By DYAL TURNER

SAW a swell bargain in radios the other day, so I bought a set for Amelia. Intended givin' it to her at Xmas, but you know how curious wimmen are. . . . I opened the box to make sure all the parts were there an' she hadda see. Kiddled me into demonstratin' my mechanical powers an' before I got wise the thing was up. 'Course I explained I wouldn't stand her another trinket later. She said that was okay with her. She's sweet that way. Gosh, I don't know why I didn't think of it a long while back. Now she can listen to her fav'rites an' I can hark to mine without the customary domestic static. Grand arrangement.

* * *

KGO's sportin' another fine organist. Comes on 12 o'clock at night. The manual manipulator 's sure there with individual style an' character. Plenty o' color an' imagination, too. Knows just what to give us at that ungodly hour. It's well worth sittin' up for. An' I don't mean maybe.

* * *

Just for a change—I'd kinda like to hear a mystery drama where only one guy gets bumped off an' the murderer doesn't turn out to be crazy.

* * *

Built a window-box last week on the strength o' the "Your Garden" man's talks over on KFRC. He's been sorta gettin' me with his salt-o'-the-earth personality. Gives his hearers somethin' besides information. So far we haven't planted anything. Waitin' for the garden man to tell us what'll do best this time o' year. If he says it's all right, Amelia's gonna try her hand at pansies. I'm more practical. My side's gonna grow onions.

The lady o' the house is allowin' her old idols to gather dust since Nelson Case came over the horizon. He's one o' the announcers on NBC, should anybody happen to ask. Has that "I-kiss-your-hand-madame" kind o' voice. You know—fulla promise. 'Melia says he makes her feel she's a movie version o' Cleopatra or somethin'. I'm not kiddin'—when he's up for bat, she gets the same expression on her face she used to use on me when I first met her. Rapt approval or somethin'—an' she pats her hair in back the way wimmen do sometimes when they're all dolled up, waitin' for you to notice the new dress.

In some instances a singer or musician does not lose caste by masquerading under a sponsor's cognomen, but when a voice of undeniable beauty is introduced as the "Snowdrifted" baritone—I ask you—Is that good taste?

* * *

After all the indescribable rubbish that's palmed off as humor, it's certainly refreshin' to hear Charlie Leland again. Bounces in an' out o' the KHJ studios. If the time ever comes that I don't respond to his genuine wit I'll hot-foot it to the nearest doctor 'cause I'll know I'm comin' down with somethin' pretty serious.

* * *

Wanna get the low-down on your radio stars? Then don't miss Personal Closeups. Time—9 p. m., Monday. Place—KGO or KTAR. Girl—Gypsy. Gypsy's got a wheedlin' way 'bout her an' a voice. Guess it's just's well I don't hang round the office.

Broadcast Weekly,
726 Pacific Bldg.,
Attention, Dyal Turner:

Dear Sir:—It is very seldom that I get excited about a mistake in a magazine or paper. In looking over your page in the November 15 to 21st edition of Broadcast Weekly I notice you have led us to believe that "The American Tobacco Company" puts on the "Camel Pleasure Hour." Please correct this, as any program as good as "The Prince Albert" and "Camel Pleasure Hour" should not be mixed up with any programs as rotten and misleading as the ones the "American Tobacco Company" put on the air. The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company sponsors the "Camel Pleasure Hour" and "The Prince Albert Dream Girl."

Yours truly,

J. R. H.

Imagine my chagrin. Can't figure out what made my pen slip. The Reynolds people do put on the Camel and Prince Albert programs. You'll pardon me, won't you, brother, it's the Camel Quarter Hour. The American Tobacco Company pays for the Lucky Strike broadcast. Say you oughta go great on the new KHJ "Medley of Errors" contest.

Dyal Turner.

More of Norman

For many months I have been a reader of the BROADCAST WEEKLY and enjoy the criticisms made by radio listeners in The Open Circuit (that is, when they don't slam my favorite artists). Now I would like to add mine.

My pet station is good ole KFRC, and in my opinion Norman Neilson is the most talented artist on their staff. I have been looking for his well-earned compliments in your magazine and as yet have not found his listeners reacting, as they do on the air. He is a versatile character, as is shown in the various programs when he changes from an entertaining wisecracker to a most serious vocalist, from actor to announcer, etc. (words fail me).

What happened to the full-page portraits? I would like them back with one of Norman. The best of luck to BROADCAST WEEKLY.

Helen McN., San Francisco, Nov. 27.

Accident—Drag—or Break

Three cheers for BROADCAST WEEKLY. For all the many things that others have written about it and in this last issue for one thing in particular and that is, in giving publicity to a matter that is causing the radio fans no small amount of conjecture and allowing them justifiable grounds for censure and criticism of the stations.

Dyal Turner voiced our sentiments exactly in his criticism of the miscasting of a recent play at NBC. In all fairness to the lovers of radio plays, why do they do it? It is too frequent a happening with their splendid group of artists. However, their tendency lately seems to be toward quantity rather than quality. We too, like Dyal Turner, pause to ask, is it "accident, drag, or a break." Surely the producers should give their public credit for having ordinary intelligence. So the matter, if given consideration, proves itself a two-edged boomerang than returns to its starting point.

We wonder too, Mr. Editor, if it was because of a multitude of conjectures such as ours that caused you to conceive of the clever idea of having your inimitable Gypsy interview the artists for you? When this program of interviews was given us once before, we got so fed up on listening to the same selected few talk about themselves so frequently that the condition of affairs became rather amusing.

Gypsy's interview of Ted White was quite delightful. Our appreciation to you, Mr. Editor, and also our hope that the days of the "accident, drag, or the break" are limited. Radio has grown away from small-town stuff. It's too far-reaching for it.

Charles L., San Francisco, Nov. 27.

All for Us

As usual, on Wednesday morning I waited anxiously for my BROADCAST WEEKLY and all duties stop until I have glanced through it quickly. Well, my eye caught the letter from A. K. S., Oakland, California, with the unjust "panning" of the editors of your interesting artist identification contest.

I have entered many contests and this one is the most interesting and fair one I have tried. It takes work, yes; but do we expect one of those nice prizes for sitting back and criticizing? No! I call it a most pleasant pastime, and working with the artists' pictures help to make their work over radio more enjoyable. The face-o-graphs are decidedly not mutilated as A. K. S. mentions, but only takes a little concentration to work out correctly. Such people as A. K. S. do not, in my estimation, deserve a prize.

I am sure most of your readers are really enjoying the contest, and I hope you conduct a similar one in the near future.

The face-o-graphs are in the "Key Book," of course—every one—and I for one, A. K. S., have the "nerve," as you call it, to tell BROADCAST WEEKLY what I think, and that is, it is a hundred per cent perfect magazine and contest.

Mrs. W. R., Hollister, Calif., Nov. 18.

KNX Take Notice

Almost weekly I purchase a copy of your interesting magazine and am well pleased with the radio programs as well as the editorial and other articles preceding the same.

May I say to you that I observe the programs given by you have not been followed the past two weeks, so far as the Arizona Wranglers are concerned? The last time we heard the Wranglers I noted they were shut off in the midst of their closing song, "Going Back to Arizona."

With thousands of others we have enjoyed the Wranglers, especially the good work of the sheriff, and if he is no longer with KNX, trust he with his company may soon find another opening and thereby enabled to again afford the listeners-in the pleasure of hearing his drolleries and a program which is unique and distinctly different.

Wants Luckies Back

I beg to endorse every word of Mrs. F. E. J.'s letter in the BROADCAST WEEKLY Open Circuit of the week of November 29 to December 5, with the heading "How Come, KNX?" So many lovers of good music, and haters of ordinary jazz, yet enjoyed every minute of the real Lucky Strike Orchestra. Their music was a great pleasure to listen to as they are musicians, not jazz hounds. Also Mike and Myer were really funny, but Walter Winchell! Oh dear! No wonder Dyal Turner lost all ambition to talk into a "mike." Have Lucky Strike cigarettes lost their sale value, so that they can't afford the good program any more? Please come back. We have to miss that hour, which we always enjoyed. Hoping to hear the popular program again soon.

Has the Nerve to Tell the Truth

Just read the letter in Open Circuit of current issue by A. K. S. of Oakland, California, and it made me so furious that I can't refrain from a "come back." Some of the accusations made by A. K. S. are not only absurd but unjust, and whether a he, she, or it, is certainly not a "good sport" and should, therefore, take to tatting or cutting paper dolls instead of entering a contest and then "crabbing" about it.

No one can be more interested than I am in this Face-o-Graph Contest, and at times I have certainly been all "hot and bothered," but not due to any unfair tricks on your part.

Enlarging, reducing, reversing, and cutting down to just portions of the faces are legitimate moves in the game, as I see it.

Even if I do not win a "fur-lined bathtub," I've had a heck of a good time trying, but of course "here's hop'n'!

A subscriber who has the "nerve to tell the truth about the contest."

E. R. G., San Francisco, Nov. 19.

Many Thanks! . . . We've Received Hundreds of Letters Like This One

I just want to add my bit by saying that I think C. W. R.'s suggestion the most sensible, equal and just, in regard to the contest, of any that I have seen. I am glad to see that you have adopted it. Now, for instance, if four tie for first place they will be supplied additional face-o-graphs until the ties are eliminated and the three that fail for first place will receive second, third, and fourth place. Am I right? I think that they should be given several days for answering the additional face-o-graphs, as there is a difference in time in which they will receive their copies. I don't receive my mail until afternoon, although some no doubt receive theirs in the morning. I am enjoying the contest immensely.

Mrs. D. T. M., Roseburg, Ore., Nov. 30.

Editor's Note.—You are quite correct in your assumption. Additional face-o-graphs will be supplied tying contestants. There will be fifty in number, and a limited time for answering. However, every contestant will be given a fair chance.)

Mary and Bob on Eastern Network

A year or so ago, if I remember correctly, station KFRC gave us dramas from the True Story Book, featuring Mary and Bob. Is it possible to get them on some other station near California?

Helene P., Zamora, Calif., Nov. 20.

(Editor's Note.—Mary and Bob are broadcast on Monday nights at 7 p. m., Pacific Standard Time, and come as far west as WOC, Davenport, Iowa. You may be able to get this station on your receiver. If not, then try WTAM, which is a more powerful station.)

"HOW TO CATCH KIDNAPERS"

By CARLTON E. MORSE
NBC Mystery Dramatist

THERE were plenty of witnesses who saw Barbara Horne kidnaped. It was eight o'clock in the evening in the thickest of the city's traffic. Kidnaped in her own car. Scores saw two smartly dressed individuals leap onto the running-board and throw themselves into the car. Twice that many heard her terrified scream as she was torn from the wheel and the car his listeners. Partly he grinned at the scare-heads he had just repeated and partly because he was always in good humor when he had an audience.

At headquarters these men were lined up and examined one at a time.

shot away under the guidance of a masculine hand.

Witnesses on all sides swore to it. The police were called. Conscientious citizens raced their cars about the city in fruitless search. Sirens shrieked and wailed. The newspapers were informed and raced to press with flaming headlines:

Beauty Snatched Away Before Crowd!

Red-Headed Beauty Kidnaped!
Two Thugs Kidnap Beauty in Car!

Bill Hogan, technical engineer for one of the Coast's largest radio stations grinned at

The first the radio station had known of the kidnaping was when the detective bureau advised Hogan to notify the prowler cars to be on the watchout for a big blue car of foreign make. It would contain a man with a light hat and dark overcoat; a second man with a bowler hat, a white silk scarf and dark overcoat; and a red-headed girl. This much the police had gotten from the witnesses.

There were surprisingly few foreign-make cars about the city. The police records revealed seven. And out of the seven there was but one driven by a red-headed girl. That was Barbara Horne, daughter of the banker.

It had all the earmarks of a "kidnap for ransom" case, and the police acted accordingly. Seven minutes after the actual deed all the highways out of the city were blocked by motorcycle patrolmen. All the garages, public and private, were being systematically searched by uniformed officers. Records were searched for names of all criminals adept in the art of kidnaping and plain-clothes men in pairs made swift and unexpected visits to haunts that only they and those close to the underworld knew existed.

Patrol wagons in all sectors of the city suddenly became alive. Quicker than would seem possible to the uninitiated, they were filled with hangers-on, addicts, stool-pigeons, and all the riffraff of each district and shot down to headquarters. Long, dark, enclosed cars jammed with muttering, cursing men, raced through the night like insane shadows.

At headquarters these men were lined up and marched one at a time before a gruff, inquisitorial body of higher-ups who swiftly weeded out those who by their attitude or words indicated they might hold the key to the situation. The rest were either booked as "vags," "drunks" or "addicts," or else sent back into the street with curt warnings to watch themselves.

Within an hour after the kidnaping the routine of the Police Department was working as smooth and swiftly as oiled machinery. Two dignified officials visited the home of the father, talked in subdued, sympathetic vein with the unhappy parents, and received a list of her more intimate male acquaintances. A meager list true, for what modern parent can name offhand more than an infinitesimal part of their debutante daughter's acquaintances?

But in spite of all this efficient activity one hour passed, then two, then three, and still no clue to the big blue car nor word from the red-headed girl.

Bill Hogan nodded at the special equipment in the plant room for broadcasting notices to prowler cars. Every fifteen minutes the station was sending out new instructions to the searchers. Car No. 7, take such and such a sector; car No. 14, retrace unlighted streets in given district; car No. 8, go to headquarters of such-and-such a division and pick up two men being held there and rush them to Central Station. It was like that until midnight. And still no signs of the kidnapers. Blue car, red-headed girl, kidnapers! They all had apparently vanished out of existence.

And then suddenly they found the blue car! The station was ordered to send out an emergency call for all prowler cars to concentrate on a certain house in an out-of-the-way sector. The car had been found in a dark driveway alongside an old-fashioned but pretentious-looking house. The car was hidden in the shadow of overhanging trees.

Five minutes later a cordon of set-faced men surrounded the place. Silently they closed in, guns drawn. Every door and window was doubly guarded and behind the guards were two circles of men. The first circle was armed with revolvers and bombs. The second with machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and rifles. No man could have broken through those lines and lived to tell of it.

A selected group advanced on the front door. Grimly determined and yet cautiously they approached the porch steps. For a moment they hesitated. A neat sign under a small porch light read, "Howard M. Curtis, D. D." It was only a momentary hesitation. A blind, of course.

Without further ado they mounted the steps and threw their combined shoulders against the door. There was a rending, tearing crash; the tinkle of broken glass and in another instant all had vanished in the darkness within.

Hogan grinned broadly. "Beautiful piece of work."

The group had scattered, each man alert and instantly ready to sell his life dearly. There was light seeping under the big double door leading into the darkened living room. Silently the raiders assembled before this door, ready for instant battle. There was a deadly silence. What was on the other side of the panels they could only guess.

Suddenly without notice the doors parted and slid wide open. There was a gasp from within the lighted room. Stunned silence from the armed men.

Seated about a crisp, white table weighted with steaming food were the red-headed girl, two men answering the description of the kidnapers, a second girl, and an elderly woman. Beside the doorway stood an elderly man in the frock-coat of a clergyman looking very white and agitated.

"You—you broke in my front door," he managed to assert, but without much conviction.

"Put 'em up—all of you," the officer with the gold braid snapped. "You are Barbara Horne," he demanded of the red-headed girl as hands went reluctantly into the air. The red-head bobbed stiffly.

"Fan 'em and put the cuffs on, boys." And then as his men watchfully advanced, "Fine nest of kidnapers."

The strained expression on the group about the table flashed to one of amazement. The red-headed girl found her voice.

"Who's been kidnaped?"

Every policeman in the room suddenly became inanimate. Gold braid's round cheeks were a shade whiter and then slowly a pink flash crept up from his neck, growing pinker and pinker as it mounted to his forehead.

The huskiness was gone from the red-headed girl's voice now.

"Can't folks even put on a quiet wedding party any more without being raided," she complained.

Wedding party! Gold braid was righteously wrathful now. Hadn't Miss Red-head been kidnaped more than four hours ago by those two so-and-sos sitting there beside her with their mouths hanging open? Of course she had! At least thirty-seven honest God-fearing citizens had seen it all. What did Miss Red-head think she was pulling off, intimating that she hadn't been kidnaped. He (gold braid) had been in the service too long to swallow anything as thin as that!

Miss Red-head smiled bewitchingly. One of her Kidnapers, she said sweetly, was her own fiance. The other, James Whittiker, even though rather dumb, was her best friend's fiance, or had been until about an hour ago, when he'd transformed himself into a bridegroom.

Nonsense! Mr. Whittiker and his fiancee had had a tiff on the evening before the wedding and after the manner of the nitwit that he was, he was going to call the whole thing off. Miss Red-head had got her fiance to round up the truant bridegroom and meet her at a certain downtown corner. The meeting had taken place and Mr. Whittiker against his wishes had been forced into the car and carried protestingly to this place, the residence of Doctor Curtis, where the quarrel was patched and the ceremony performed.

"As a matter of fact," announced Barbara Horne defiantly, "if there are any kidnapers around here I'm it!"

"Which only goes to prove," finished Bill Hogan with a flourish, "that people's imaginations are a lot better than their eyesight."

CLOSE-UPS

By GYPSY

BETTY KELLY looks exactly as she should—with such a name! She has wide blue eyes—such a lovely blue—rich brown hair, is all sweetness and charm and has the most appealing way of curling her under-lip over certain words you ever saw. As a high school student she began making herself, partially, at least, independent, by annexing herself to a radio station. Her bow was made on KFUU, then in Oakland. Later she went to KLV, where she appeared on the Brother Bob programs, and still later she sang at KGO. From KGO she went to KTAB, zigzagged between that station and KGO for a while, and two years ago gave her services to the National Broadcasting Company exclusively.

She has studied both voice and piano, but has never taken

NO PREMIUM PRICE FOR QUICK-HEATING, 4-PILLAR TUBES

NOW you can bring your present radio up to date, with new tubes of the most advanced design . . . strong, sturdy, 4-pillar tubes. Quick-heating tubes that get on the job in seven seconds after you snap the switch. When buying a new radio set, be sure it is equipped with the new quick-heater type tubes such as Eveready Raytheon. 1. Is this a new-type tube.
2. Is it a quick heater?
3. How quick? (Should be under 10 seconds.)

Yes, a whole new world of radio! The most amazing addition to radio enjoyment you have ever seen! The supply of these marvelous new converters is limited. Philco dealers have a new shipment just in but demand is heavy and stocks will be exhausted quickly. Go NOW and see how much this marvelous new device will add to your radio enjoyment. No obligation, of course, and you can protect yourself on delivery. Do it NOW! Late comers will be disappointed.

Carrying an All-Olympic games idea, the greater portion of the revue, musically, will have little connection with the theme of the program, since few melodies have been inspired by this great contest of athletes. The continuity alone will tie in with the "Games" idea. A short comedy skit with Michael Raffetto and Harold Peary gives a comedy sidelight to some of the things which don't happen during the Olympic games. Peary will also present the comedy number, "You Rascal," which has been running the gamut of popularity of late. "Numb and Dumb," a comedy duo recently added to the Spotlight cast, will contribute further levity, as will those taking part in Walter Beban's burlesque of an old-time melodrama. Prof. Pettifogg will be on hand to put the "kids" through their paces during the "School Days" sketch. Iky Lazschinsky, a little Jewish boy character, portrayed by Irving Kennedy, will be called upon by the professor to recount what he did to make Christmas a happier one for a boy friend of his. Jack and Ethyl in another romantic play will complete the dialogue portion of the production.

CLOSE-UPS

the latter seriously. Her parents were born in Scotland; her father's ancestors were all Irish, and her mother's Scotch. Betty tells me that even now, 'though her mother came to this country as a young girl, she still drops into a little accent sometimes. There are three or four sisters and Betty had a brother who was lost in the war. Her mother is president of the Gold Star Mothers over in Oakland—you may have seen something in the papers about her a year or so ago—she was of that great army who went to France when the government arranged those sad, strange pilgrimages.

Those of you who heard the broadcast—didn't you love Betty's description of her wedding? She had six bridesmaids, two flower girls, a ring bearer, a maid of honor, and an assistant maid of honor. Think of it! The wedding took place on the 28th of October in a Piedmont church and was one of the most talked-of events of the season. Betty made many of the exquisite things in her trousseau—she likes to sew—and her presents were stacks high. She enjoys cooking, too. Her specialty is black-berry pie. Lucky for the bridegroom, wouldn't you say?

Not long ago she had an invitation from the Hal Roach studios to make a test. Mr. Roach heard her over the radio, liked her voice, wired her to forward pictures, and wired right back again for her to come down. She hurried south between broadcasts, taxied out to Culver City, chose some gowns from the largest wardrobe she had ever seen, went through her "numbers," and made a dash for a train north. It all happened so quickly she never once thought of being nervous and isn't excited about even now, for she is so happy in her radio work.
