Monophonic Translators Via Satellite Threaten Local FM Broadcasting

With the Federal Communications Commission in 1988 allowing noncommercial FM translators to get their programs via translators or microwave, the way has been cleared for the big players in religious broadcasting to set up mini-stations all over the country. Hundreds of applications have been filed by Family Stations, Inc. (primary KEAR *106.9 San Francisco), Moody Bible Institute (primary WMBI-FM *90.1 Chicago), and Bible Broadcasting Network (primary WYFG *91.1 Gaffney SC). Cities where such translators would be located are as diverse as Roswell NM, Paris TX, Marquette MI, Pueblo CO and Lincoln NE. As of this book's deadline, only one satellite-delivered translator has been granted in the lower 48 states—in Schroon Lake NY, to Bible Broadcasting Network. Look for it on the page 15 map, up near Ticonderoga. Public and religious translators utilizing satellite feeds have existed for several years in Alaska. Because of a limited number of transponders and narrow bandwidth on the satellite, most public translators in that state are monophonic. Indeed, the fear is that as satellite-delivered translators spread across this nation, like a plague, they will clutter the FM dial with monophonic signals, cloning a far-away station's programming with no local public service or input. Such stations will most likely have such a narrow audio bandwidth that any SCSubcarriers present on the 67 or 92 kHz sideband of the primary station would also be wiped out.

All this translator activity by only a few parties has gotten public and community broadcasters properly concerned. It has resulted, at least temporarily, in the FCC's not approving any such grants if over 160 km from the primary station—especially if new full-service stations would thereby be precluded. I had a role in publicizing a ploy used by at least one of the groups mentioned above in that they have applied for translators in obscure places, probably so as not to attract attention to the real city of service. Here's what a subscriber to FMedia! newsletter wrote the FCC, about an FM translator application in an Alaskan ghost town:

"There is absolutely no community or village, or even a settlement, on Long Island since the 1940s, when it was manned by U. S. Navy and Coast Guard personnel during World War II. . . What I find most objectionable about the application is the premise to serve an isolated and uninhabited location, only to move, in an undercover fashion, to serve an alternate, more desirable location. Their intent obviously is to 'sneak in' and serve the city of Kodiak. . . If a religious broadcaster can easily use deceptive practices to obtain a translator, think of how easy it would be for a less-than-upstanding commercial broadcaster to use these unenforced procedures to his advantage. The end result may be chaos on the broadcast bands, and the listener gaining nothing."

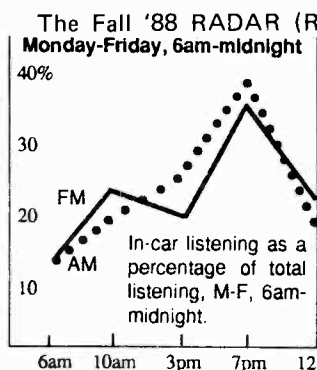

Most of the religious translators are in cities already having religious stations. Some of the comments in support of my opposition to satellite-delivered translators have come from other religious broadcasters concerned about national broadcasters who have no programming expenses in the local market coming in via FM translator and siphoning audiences.

Translators affect commercial FM, too. Responding to pressure from commercial broadcasters, the FCC in 1988 imposed a freeze on new commercial FM translators, or major changes in existing translators. It's anyone's guess as to when the freeze will end, or what will be the outcome. Commercial broadcasters in Arizona and other states complain about translator inundation of their markets by out of town broadcasters, and want stricter rules put in place to assure that local broadcasters are favored. Groups of translator operators want more freedom for translators, including local programming and carrying their own commercials, presaging "low power FM."

Lee Shoblom, KBBC 101.1 Lake Havasu City AZ, writes: "No one is taking bets on the outcome of this hi-tech shoot-out. The only certainty in this electronic range war is the simple fact that no compromise is possible. The banner on both sides clearly states 'take no prisoners'." Whatever role translators take in the future, this book will continue to list them.

FM Listening Up—Again!

Broadcasters Snuggle Up to Bigger Cities

Capitalizing on FM's rapid growth in major cities and its comparative stagnation in small towns, many broadcasters able to do so are upgrading and attempting to cover a nearby major market with an intensive city-grade signal (70 dB, which is a stronger signal than the 60 dB primary given in Part I of the Station Directory). Examples of stations making the upgrade are KOMJ 103.7 Atlantic IA-Omaha NE, WBYS 98.9 Van Wert OH-Fort Wayne IN, and WROV-FM 96.3 Martinsville VA, reaching out and serving Roanoke. Some stations are "rimshooters," trying to serve a nearby larger city with an inadequate signal. WZZT 103.1 Johnstown OH tried to serve Columbus, and has retreated to its city of license and become WEZS. WMKJ 96.7 Newnan GA hopes for a power increase to better enable it to reach Atlanta.

Two Atlanta area FM stations are preparing to take advantage of a relaxing of FCC ownership rules, which allow stations to serve the same area, so long as their 70 dB signals do not intersect. The old rule was that the 60 dB signals could not intersect. An agreement, subject to FCC approval, has been made to merge the ownerships of WEKS 104.1 La Grange-Atlanta and WYAY 106.7 Gainesville-Atlanta. If approved, the move would almost certainly start a precedent in other cities. "The advantage of owning two FM stations is that we now have an opportunity to service both the northern and southern Atlanta communities and all of the small towns adjacent to Atlanta," says Robert B. Green, general manager of WYAY. Options include keeping the programming of the two stations as is, or to program them the same.

Canada's CKO all-news network station in Toronto, broadcast in pseudo-stereo, won't be switching from 99.1 to 580 AM after all. Agreement reported in the last edition was rejected by the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission as not being in the public interest. With the deal not going ahead, and CKO not getting the $4 million it was hoping for, the future of CKO stations in Regina and Winnipeg may be further delayed. The CRTC has admonished CKO to build those stations as soon as possible. You'll see marked on many of the Canadian maps some Canadian Broadcasting Corporation (CBC) stations that have not yet been built. French CBC-FM stereo station CJBC-FM *90.3 Toronto may not even appear during the useful life of this book.

FMX System Embroiled in Controversy

Despite at least one company announcing an FMX generator for transmitters, and several receiver manufacturers saying they're ready to go ahead, the technology reported on in the last edition as a means for better, long-distance FM stereo reception, has been clouded by a study conducted by Dr. Amar Bose and Dr. William R. Short of the Bose Corp. in MA. In a highly mathematical paper, which also mentions "objective field testing at 15,000 locations," they write that this leads "us inescapably to the following opinions.

1. Broadcast station coverage, instead of being increased as originally hoped, is decreased by the FMX system.
2. FMX transmission degrades reception on existing FM stereo receivers.
3. FMX receivers are inferior to existing FM stereo receivers for receiving FMX transmissions."

They go on to say that only in the special case of weak signals, without multipath, involving a serious listener "who is playing the music loudly enough such that the background hiss is objectionable. . . the FMX system offers a reduction in background noise. . . Existing FM stereo receivers with automatic blend circuits offer up to twice as much noise reduction on normal FM stereo broadcasts. We believe that increasing blend to further reduce the noise in this special case is a trade-off that many people will find attractive."

Broadcast Technology Partners, developers of FMX, deny the Bose allegations, claiming that earlier multipath-type problems which plagued the system have been corrected. What all of this means is that a healthy discussion of FMX will be heard, with tests expected to be done more openly in the future.

Selected Comments On FM Atlas-11

"The general tone of your FMusings sections is like a little crusade to advance the general superiority of FM. Why? If there was a 'war' between the bands, FM won, hands down, a long time ago," writes J. T. Anderton, Arlington VA. "Is it not satisfying enough for you that FM now commands an overwhelming 76 percent of the audience, nationwide? Have you no grace in victory?"

"No one I've talked with in the last ten or fifteen years has even begun to question FM's audio superiority. Those who are realistic about the ways the audience uses radio, and the receivers most people use to listen, feel that audio quality is only one factor among many which determine why people listen to a particular station. . .

"AM stereo can sound very good. Not FM quality—no one ever said it would have the full spectrum of response—but it can sound very good. I have a Delco AM stereo radio in my car the last four years, and have generally found the slight degradation of response to be a fair trade-off to get rid of the annoying multipath and picket-fencing so often found in FM reception. Many listeners in my car have been pleasantly surprised when I told them the station to which we had been listening was AM, in stereo.

"If you want to worry about something in the way of a threat from AM, worry about wider-band audio. If you have heard any of the prototypes of the new NRSC AM receivers you know how good seven or eight kHz response can sound. Not FM, not 15 kHz response, but close enough that widespread use of NRSC radios would lessen the audio advantage of FM. And, the NRSC standards are prompting a reduction of AM adjacent channel splatter and a general clean-up of AM transmission facilities. Audio parity can never come, but wider band audio, implemented over the next few years, will help AM, if the station owners program a product a significant audience wants to hear.

"AM stereo, as we all know, has had a rocky launch, and still faces an uphill climb to widespread use. But, wider bandwidth AM is a significant development. . . . The switch to metric makes the book much harder for most people to use; the FCC is leading a very unpopular campaign for metric—most of us use standard miles."

"I note that you have no Foreward and only six pages of FMusings this time, so perhaps you were desperate for material," writes one reader. Quite the contrary: there is so much happening in FM, that even eight pages won't do it justice; that's why I started FMedia! newsletter. In going over the last 12 issues of the newsletter, however, I have selected from items which I think are the most important and timely to use on these pages.

New CA Maps, Aids to Finding Map Inserts Added

The FM Atlas is getting closer to being published at 12-month intervals, with only about 13 months between when the last one went to the printer and when this edition is printed. During that time, 526 new FM stations and 240 translators have been added. Not all those stations are on the air; some are "construction permits," and expected on during this book's useful life. These numbers compare to 480 new stations and 390 translators preceding the last edition's publication. Stations listed are in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Because of comments from readers, some maps which might have been confusing have had little maps in circles added. The circular maps help to locate inserts on the larger state maps, through the use of letter aids. You'll see the circular maps in use for the most perplexing state map arrangement, Texas. Many readers had also complained about the maps of Quebec and Alaska as being confusing, so hopefully the problem is taken care of. I'll extend the use of circular map aids if complaints come about any other map which might seem confusing. California is the only state to be completely remapped in this edition, and it spreads over three double pages. Hopefully, there is enough extra space to allow for showing translators which might spring up at seemingly every street corner! It might be hard to see, compared to the last edition, but the eastern half of Pennsylvania was remapped due to station crowding, and a new British Columbia insert was added.

Objection to the metric system has all but disappeared, save for the first few months after last edition's book came out. I hope you are all making use of the figures as given, and not attempting to convert to feet or miles. The metric system is so much more logical, and is what the FCC has converted to. Our neighbors in Mexico and Canada led the way to metric use on this continent. Speaking of neighboring countries, we get very good information on the new stations of Canada, except for data on antenna heights (which along with radiated power determine station coverages). Information on Mexico this time is largely confined to new stations near the U. S. border, with broadcasters and travelers reporting on developments there.

In these pages you'll find both official and unofficial information about the various stations. Official information comes from FCC press releases and Canadian data, while readers (travelers, broadcasters, DX hobbyists) are very good about coming forward with news of new stations coming on the air, indicating whether those stations have stereo or not, mentioning when a previously monophonic station embraces stereo (or in rare cases when a stereo station goes monaural), format, "nonID," multi-city ID, and SCS information on a subcarrier of 67 or 92 kHz. Because of more stations and more pages of maps, you'll find additional features at the end of this book, including space for writing in stations you hear or might expect to hear in the future.

FM Features Used in This Book Defined

FM Translator. A low power device picking up and relaying an FM station to a city or part of a city where terrain or distance makes direct reception difficult. Usually operates on a different frequency from the primary station. Translators are limited to 10 watts west of the Mississippi and one watt east of that river (unless a need can be proven for more power, in which case the FCC may grant 10 watts). Translators are shown on the maps and in a special, segregated section between the two directories. An FM Booster operates on channel, and within the 60 dB primary signal of a station. Boosters can have up to 20 percent of the power of the originating station. Boosters with powers above 10 watts are shown with large type on the maps, and boosters are included in the "FM Translators" listing. Several readers wrote and said they found the special section listing translators a good addition.

SCS or SCA. A subcarrier, which certain stations have. The SCS, when present, is almost always different from the programming found on the main channel, and could be background music, foreign language shows, reading to the blind, data to computers, or other things. You'll see SCAs listed in Part I of the Station Directory, with the stations having that component identified by the † symbol. One reader reminded me that there are still over 100 unknown format SCA stations (the † without any indication following as to what the SCA is used for). You can tune in FM-SCA with a special adapter or modified radio; if you have such a device, please check the Directory (Part I) for your part of the country, and write in and let us all know what the stations in your area are using their SCAs for. If you don't have an SCA radio, you can use the coupon on the back to write in for our radios and electronics catalog.

NonID information. More than just a "slogan," a nonID is what you see listed in Part II of the Station Directory. Stations which frequently, during the course of a typical hour, mention something like "FM-95" without giving their call letters are said to have a "nonID" (or "nonidentification"). Those that only give their legal, licensed call letters once an hour (usually on the top of the hour, but as early as 10 minutes before or up to 10 minutes after) are called "strict nonIDers." A multi-city identification is listed in Part II of the Station Directory if a station regularly mentions other cities, besides its city of license, on the hour. FCC requires stations to lead off with the city of license, often "burying" it ["KOMJ Atlantic-Omaha weather"] in favor of a nearby larger city. This book is the only source where you will see systematically listed nonID and multi-city identifications. Other features and key to abbreviations used in this book can be looked up on page 8, "Key to Symbols."

Without the valued input from readers who have consistently reported on the FM station developments in their areas, this book would not be as complete as it is. Some of these people have been readers since the FM Atlas first appeared in 1972, preceded in 1971 by the FM Station Atlas.

FMedia! Newsletter Helps Update the FM Atlas

Since January, 1987, I have published a newsletter devoted to FM radio. It generally runs eight pages per month, three columns per typeset page with official and unofficial news on FM radio and related technologies (hence the plural title). It typically includes listings of new FM station grants, call letter and format changes, stations adding stereo or an SCA, and historical information. plural title). It typically includes listings of new FM station grants, call letter and format changes, stations adding stereo or an SCA, and historical information. There's a controversial feature, "AM Happenings Most Likely Caused by FM," a report on industry developments, FM Forum and more.

FM: Far More in Reception if You Do it Right

Despite the crowding of the FM dial by new stations and translators, it is still possible to improve your reception range and search out new stations and unique formats. This is best done if you can install an outdoor high-gain antenna (one made specifically for the FM band of 88 to 108 mhz), and which can be rotated in various directions. It is best to aim the antenna away from your strong local stations to minimize overloading of the receiver. That way, you'll be able to hear broadcasters from other cities. When the signals are strong without multipath, you'll get both stereo and SCA subcarriers (if your tuner or receiver is equipped to pick up the latter).

The best antenna is a yagi or log-periodic made especially for FM, like your local electronics store might sell. Some newer antennas are in kits which are shippable by most parcel delivery services. If interference from strong local stations continues to be a problem you can cut down on that by using a "trap" which attaches in parallel to the lead going to the 300-ohm input of your tuner, or a tunable FM booster which can either cut down the signal of offending stations or amplify weaker ones. Avoid the use of mast-mounted pramplifiers for FM, since those can invite overload from strong nearby signals to creep in and destroy your reception. Even the most rural of residents must watch out for that, as new stations develop to give primary service almost everywhere.

Serving those who have an interest in long-distance FM (and TV) reception is the nonprofit Worldwide TV-FM DX Association, which publishes the monthly "VHF-UHF Digest." That publication lists occurrences of long-distance reception, such as FM skip, sources of equipment and tips on improving your chances to tune in "DX" (or long distance reception). Annual dues are $17 U. S., $18 Canada, and $27 outside North America. Sample copies of their publication are $2.00. Contact the WTFDA at P. O. Box 514, Buffalo NY 14205-0514.

Remember to take this book along as you travel. You're sure to find it a convenient aid to following the programming formats of your choice, as well as indicating approximate clear stereo distances for the broadcasters. By using the maps and geographical directory, every possible station you can tune in should be found. You can plan your radio listening in advance, or just use the book to check on stations as you visit the areas they serve. The listing of stations by frequency should be helpful if you hear an interfering station. You can check in the Station Directory Part II to see what the closest possible station causing the interference might be.

Key to Symbols

- d A station with a directional antenna, listed after height, by-frequency section
- h A station transmitting with a horizontal-only signal
- t An FM translator or on-channel FM booster
- v A station transmitting with a vertical-only signal (receiving antenna should be mounted vertically). Stations without a "v" or "h" in the by-frequency part of the book have both polarizations, or circular polarization, with v and h powers the same unless shown otherwise
- * A noncommercial station, usually educational, "public," or religious
- $ A station broadcasting all or part of its daily schedule in multiplex stereo
- † A station with a Subsidiary Communications Service (SCS, SCA, or in Canada, SCMO). If in parentheses ( ), it is at 57 kHz, if by itself at 67 kHz, and if following a comma: † , at 92 kHz.
- § A station sharing time with a nearby station on the same channel; shown on maps only
- A station with its antenna below the average surrounding terrain

Program [music] codes (given in Part I of the Station Directory after city): b beautiful/easy listening, c classical/"Fine Arts," e ethnic, f folk music, g gospel and religious, j jazz, k country (including polkas), l Latin/Spanish, m middle of the road music, n news, p progressive rock, r rock, including top hits, rock oldies, s soul/rhythm and blues ("urban"), t talk. Up to two letters are used to indicate stations having two distinct types of music, or intermixing records of two main types. Language codes (given just to the left of the program codes in Part I of the Station Directory): E English (for stations in Quebec and Latin America), F French, P Portuguese, S Spanish.

SCA symbols (following † in Part I of the Station Directory): A ABC network relay, B relays of networks other than ABC, C relays of AM, FM stations, cable audio, or campus carrier current stations; D digital paging, usually at 57 kHz; E ethnic or foreign language, F farm or financial (voice), G gospel and religious, H highway data (carrier only and/or tone) at 57 kHz, I information, such as resort area reports, traffic reports, or voice cueing (occasional audio), M music (easy listening), P paging (voice; occasional audio preceded by a tone), Q physician's news (voice), R music (foreground, usually rock), S sports and special events (occasional audio), T talk (usually talking book for the blind, but may include instructional programs), U tones, telemetry chirps or warbles—used for transmitter control—listed only if on a majority of the time; V WWV National Bureau of Standards time, W weather (such as relaying a nearby NOAA weather station), X medium speed data, miscellaneous data, Y slower speed data, Z high speed frequency shift data, or extremely high speed non-frequency shift data. Stations with only an open carrier SCA are not listed.

Canada Coverage Note: Coverages are indicated only for stations where we know the effective antenna height above average terrain. Many stations come on the air or move their towers without an announcement of their antenna heights. You can check the powers of virtually all Canada stations in Part II of the Station Directory.

*Mexico Coverage Note: Coverages in kilometers are calculated for stations where antenna heights above average terrain are known; otherwise, only the effective radiated powers in watts are given. H=horizontal effective radiated power in watt; heights given are in meters above average terrain; (da) means a station transmits with a directional antenna. ## FM Translators

FM translators operate on a different frequency from the primary station. They help give FM service where distance or terrain make direct reception difficult. Translators west of the Mississippi River can have ten watts, while those east of that river are limited to 1 watt, unless they can prove a need for a waiver to operate with the higher power. FM boosters operate on the same frequency as the primary station, and they can have up to 20 percent of the power of the primary station. In the list which follows, city, frequency and call number of the translator are followed by call letters and frequency of the primary. Boosters are identified by call letters of the primary followed by a numeral (such as KMYX-1). Radiated powers of booster stations are given. Only translators and boosters in the United States are listed here.

STATION DIRECTORY

Part II: FM Stations Listed by Frequency, United States and Canada (excluding U. S. territories). Excludes FM translators. Stations identifying with more than one city are listed, as are stations often using a slogan or short phrase in lieu of call letters ("nonID"). [All U. S. FM stations are required to give a proper identification at, or near the top of, the hour. This "ID" must contain call letters and city of license. If more than one city is mentioned, the city of license must be given first.] Selected station logos ("Miscellany") are included on a space-available basis. See Key to Symbols, page 8.

FMemoranda

Here's space to help you make better use of your FM Atlas, as either a trip planning aid, or for noting stations you receive at home. If you travel, you can pre-plan your FM listening, sticking to stations playing the kind of music you enjoy, or those having the widest coverages. Some people like to tune in low-power college stations and FM translators, and by pre-planning, you will discover many stations that you would otherwise ignore. Just write in the stations you expect to hear, in the order in which they should come in. At-home listeners might want to jot down antenna directions or distances to the stations.

There's more room on the next page for you to write in notations for another trip, or for extended notes on one long trip. You might want to use part of this space to make updates to this FM Atlas, based on what you hear, or on what you find out in FMedia! as well as other sources. If you discover new station information, please send it in to help make the next FM Atlas all the more complete.

Suggested information to list below for each station:

Frequency	Call/NonID	Format	Stereo?	Location or Antenna Bearing

A page of 25 horizontal lines for writing.

FM PROGRAM FORMATS

[For other abbreviations, see Key to Symbols, Page 8.]

- b beautiful/easy listening music
- c classical/"Fine Arts"
- e ethnic and foreign language
- f folk music
- g gospel and religious
- j jazz
- k country and western, including stations playing polkas
- l Latin/Spanish music, usually with Spanish announcing
- m middle of the road music
- n news
- p progressive rock
- r rock, including top hits, rock oldies
- s soul/rhythm and blues music, "urban contemporary"
- t talk format

Stations without a program listing usually have a variety format, or may be "construction permits," and not yet on the air.

To be notified about the 13th edition, please fill in the form below or copy it, and send to "FM Atlas," Adolph MN 55701, U. S. A. Feel free to write in any time with news about stations coming on the air, whether stereo or not, their music formats, and stations using slogans or "nonIDs."

This book printed by Thomson-Shore, Inc., 7300 West Joy Road, Dexter MI 48130, the only printer to quote its paper stock in metric dimensions!

Notify me when the 13th edition FM Atlas is available. Also,

- send your new radio and electronics catalog when it is printed;
- send information on subscribing to FMedia!
