THE YEAR IN REVIEW

BY WILLIAM J. QUIGLEY

Against the backdrop of an increasingly fragmented audience, the biggest challenge faced by Media companies in 2003 was attracting and keeping an audience. Fickle viewer attention, continual decline in network ratings, rising production and marketing costs, the Nielsen "lost" young male demographic and technology such as TiVo or Personal Video Recorders mean that Media companies will have to create innovative ways to reach customers that now have the ability to skip, turn off and tune out advertisements. In addition, the increasing penetration of broadband into the home and the digitization of content is creating a sea change in the industry. Concern about theft of intellectual property has become one of the major issues of the day. Old business models and increasing competition for the entertainment dollar are demanding new ways of doing business. This underlying fact is driving profound change in the Media Industry in terms of corporate ownership and mergers, vertical and horizontal integration, program content, "repurposing," synergies and cross-platform deals across all advertising supported media.

However, there is a lot of concern about the consolidation and dominance of the major Media conglomerates by both consumers and Washington, D.C. The Senate passed legislation recently revoking the Federal Communications Commission's controversial new media ownership regulations which were passed June 2, 2003. The looser ownership rules would allow increased concentration of media ownership in broadcasting and permit cross-ownership of newspapers and TV stations in most communities across the country. As usual, Washington is paying a lot of attention to Media companies and vice versa.

The MPAA as well as major studios and networks have spent the past several years trying to lobby Congress and other federal government agencies to help them protect their content as they make the transition to high-definition and digital television. The Hollywood studios put forth a major effort this year to criminalize the taping of movies from theatre screens with a video recorder. This method is the major source of pirated movies distributed over the Internet and by CDs. Similarly, the F.C.C. will require personal computers and other electronic devices including digital TV sets to recognize a code called a broadcast flag that broadcasters can embed in their signal. The flag makes it harder for people to upload programs to the Web. The Federal Communications Commission said it would require all digital television receivers to be able to recognize the flag by July 1, 2005.

Obviously, traditional business models are in transition as new technologies and delivery systems create further fragmentation of audiences. But in change there is always opportunity. Creative people will find interesting ways to attract, entertain and inform audiences and creative businessmen and marketers will find new business models to establish a profitable relationship with that ultimate customer.

BROADCAST

The downward trends of the last several years regarding network viewers have continued and in the words of NBC Entertainment President, Jeff Zucker, "some of the programming just sucked." Much has been made in the media about the missing male demographics, but network programmers admit that the loss of young males was probably due to the fact that most of the programming for the season was aimed at females. That, combined with the non-stop use of reruns of the few hit programs to fill holes and the "repurposing" of product on sister cable channels led to a broadcasting landscape of seemingly all "CSI" and all "Law & Order" shows, and their spinoffs, all the time.

As the barriers to program ownership have been relaxed, the networks are clearly favoring shows that they own outright, to the detriment of independent producers and ultimately to viewers. The impact has been indisputable: A decade ago, less than 20% of prime-time programming was owned by the networks. Today, that figure is close to 80%. It has created a climate for the homogenization of product, with the networks chasing the latest programming trend whether it is reality-based, or some other flavor of the season.

Of the more than 40 new shows launched each year, only about 15% return for a second season. Unfortunately, some of these cancelled programs show promise and win critical praise, but do not find an audience right away. Programs that are difficult or challenging, or simply need time and attention to be nurtured simply get pulled before they have a chance to find their audience. The burn rate is so fast that there is no real way to keep a show that does not immediately attract an audience.

The networks respond that they cannot be that patient in an era when viewers have so many entertainment and leisure time options. With VCR penetration at 91%, DVDs at 37% and broadband becoming common, people do not just channel surf, they will pick an alternative form of entertainment. The average household now has more than 100 channels, compared with half that just five years ago. Once, the networks were willing to keep a low-rated show on the air longer because viewers did not have the alternatives. They do now.

For the first time ever, this Fall the networks attracted less than half of the available audience among adults under 50 due to the lack of new hits combined with the decline of longtime favorites. Only Fox, which benefited from unusually popular baseball playoffs, has gained significant ground over the other networks. CBS ratings have risen slightly, while the other networks are way down in viewers, especially in key demographics. New shows are disappearing faster than ever before, and even veteran hits such as NBC's "Friends" and CBS's "Everybody Loves Raymond" have seen their audiences decline.

Mid-season 2003, ABC was down 5% in adults 18-49 and flat in viewers. The final one-hour episode of "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Daughter," in which the family mourned the death of the character played by John Ritter had 20.5 million viewers and an 8.1 rating and 21 share among adults 18-49. ABC renewed all its new shows except "Karen Sisco," which was put on hiatus until March, 2004. "L.A. Dragnet" which was underperforming on Saturday night by more than 50% compared to last year's theatricals was cancelled.

CBS finished first in total viewers last season and emerged with two hit dramas, "CSI: Miami" and "Without A Trace." Repeats of the two during the summer performed well and continued through the Fall. Although CBS does not use repeats as often as NBC or Fox, it ran four hours of these shows plus "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation" to fill the holes left by the Reagan miniseries. The flap over the broadcasting of this program quickly faded when it was scheduled to run on Showtime early next year. The schedule put together by Les Moonves and president Nancy Tellem continues to be closely watched by Madison Avenue.

NBC will have to face the loss of "Friends" and "Frasier" next year and the end of these long running comedies signal new directions for the network. Franchises such as "ER" and "West Wing" are also fading. There is some concern that NBC might not be able to come up with new hits to replace the shows that are winding down. Good news is that "Law & Order" and its spin-offs, "Special Victims Unit" and "Criminal Intent" are very popular and that a third spin-off is on the way. Programming executives are well aware of the saturation caused by spinoffs of these shows playing non-stop on TNT and USA and do not want to repeat the mistakes made by ABC with "Millionaire."

Corporately, the big news for NBC is parent General Electric Company's acquisition of the entertainment assets of Vivendi Universal SA which will close in early 2004. NBC had been the only major network unaffiliated with a Hollywood studio. Interestingly, Dick Wolf, "Law & Order's" creator is based at Universal Television.

Fox had unusual programming problems in the Fall created by baseball playoffs and the World Series and did not really roll out its Fall programming until November. Last year "Joe Millionaire" and the second American Idol propelled their ratings to the top. This year Fox has a much stronger "24," the second installment of "Joe Millionaire" and built some traction with "The OC" which debuted in the summer. With "Skin" and "Luis" gone and "Bernie Mac" not premiering until November 30, Fox used a lot of double runs to fill its schedule including, "The OC," "Wanda at Large" and "The Simpsons," and repeats of "Joe Millionaire," "The Simpsons" and "That '70s Show."

Both the WB and UPN started out the season struggling. In the middle of the 2003-04 season the WB's viewers are off 21% in adults 18-34 and 11% in total viewers. Younger skewing networks such as the WB and UPN have been hurt by the decline of TV viewing by younger demos, particularly men 18-24. UPN was down 21% in adults 18-49 and 15% in viewers. This is important this year for WB because it will have an effect on talks between Time Warner and the Tribune Company to renew their joint venture which expires in 2004. Still unresolved at this point is who will replace Jamie Kellner when he leaves the WB.

CABLE

There are more than 10,000 operating cable systems in the U.S. that reach more than 70% of households and over 180 million people. The smallest have as few as 100 subscribers and the largest have more than 5 million. For many years, cable has been marked by massive consolidation as big MSOs grew by acquiring new systems. To that point, most of the power in the industry is concentrated in the top ten operators. The pace slowed during 2003 but with an improving stock market and economy, there are signs that there will be a fair amount of shuffling pieces among MSOs. When cable stocks slid 30%-40% after various financial scandals, most notably Adelphia last year, MSOs had little incentive to use their shares as currency. Sellers remember the market in the recent past five when Cox or Adelphia were routinely paying more than 20 times cash flow. That is starting to change and the pendulum is starting to swing back and recent deals have taken place at 10 times cash flow

Clearly, the biggest concern about the health of the industry are DirecTV's and EchoStar's strong subscriber growth. Both satellite services have added subscribers in large numbers while cable operators continue to struggle to squeeze out even 1% gains. MSOs are steadily adding digital and high-speed data services for subscribers, but continual loss of market share to DBS companies is a problem that will not go away.

Despite industry woes, in a very short time after Comcast Cable completed its $58 billion takeover of AT&T Broadband, Comcast CEO Brian Roberts began generating dramatically better results. The AT&T subscriber losses have been reversed, cash flow is increasing and many customers are adding digital services. However, one of the ways Comcast increased-cash flow was by renegotiating license fees for programming, notably the deal with Starz Encore. Obviously, suppliers are pushing back. Comcast's goal is to reduce the programming cost increases to 3%-4% rather than the double-digit increases that had been occurring annually. It will be interesting to see if the company can keep the initial momentum going.

Things changed a lot for Time Warner Cable in 2003 when Time Warner and the Newhouse Brothers ended their eight-year-old system partnership. The Newhouse brothers took control of some big systems, including Orlando and Tampa Bay. While Time Warner kept New York and Houston, the bulk of its operations are now in middle and small markets like Raleigh, N.C., and Upstate New York. The change has not hurt operating results which will be up about 12% in 2003. The Paul Allen-controlled Charter Communications is in financial trouble and is saddled with $18 billion in debt, which is more than 10 times cash flow. A major restructuring is clearly coming, but the stock has performed well recently.

Cox Communications had a terrific year and outperformed all the MSOs in revenue and earnings gains. What has caught everyone's attention is President Jim Robbins's fight with ESPN and Fox Sports over programming costs. Outraged at the cost relative to the number of viewers, he wants to put expensive sports networks on tiers, letting sports fans pay if they want them and not charging those that do not care for sports. The Fox deal ends this year and the ESPN in April 2004.

Adelphia Communications will emerge from bankruptcy sometime after founder John Rigas and his family's trial on criminal fraud charges begins in January 2004. The company faces major challenges but has access to new loans to spend on marketing and upgrading systems. Given Adelphia's financial problems it is very vulnerable to competition from DBS.

Chuck Dolan's son, Jim Dolan, is now running Cablevision. The major question for this company is will the Dolans sell the company when they spin off the much criticized Voom DBS startup. Despite some scandal in the Rainbow division, financial growth is expected to recover

The next six largest MSOs ranked by number of subscribers in 2003 are: Advance/Newhouse Communications, Mediacom Communicatons, Insight Communications, CableOne, RNC Corp., Classic Communications and Bresnan Communications.

SATELLITE

Hughes Electronics has been shopping DirecTV for the last three years, first to the News Corporation, then to Charlie Ergen's EchoStar Communications and then back to Murdoch. Surprisingly, all this turmoil has not really impacted financial results. DirecTV added 7% to their subscriber base to total 12.2 million. Most were defectors from cable. It will be interesting to see if the FCC approves Fox's $6.6 billion deal to buy a controlling stake in the company

In 2003 EchoStar Communications increased subscribers by over 18% to 8.5 million. Still reeling from its failure to take over DirecTV, which was at least partially due to Fox, it is likely that EchoStar will begin fierce competition with them in the coming year. Financial problems among cable operators like Adelphia and Charter made it relatively easy to poach their subscriber base. With an improving economy, more cash available for marketing to its subscribers, more digital services and better stock multiples for the MSOs, competition between EchoStar and DirecTV will only intensify.

Interestingly, the DBS players are not overly concerned by the cable companies recent digital gains. They believe that thanks to high definition, digital video recorders and the adding of local TV station signals in more markets, they will continue to grow their business at a much higher rate than the more mature business of cable.

DVD & HOME VIDEO

The march of DVDs supplanting VHS in the nation's homes accelerated in 2003. Total DVDs, both rental and sell-through, more than doubled the number of total cassette units this year. In fact, by the end of the year, DVD revenue may exceed domestic box office for the first time. This will be no great surprise as DVDs have been growing at triple digit rates for the last five years, domestic boxoffice has slight increases and VHS use steadily declined. While DVD players are replacing VCRs as the movie player in many homes, the main advantage and reason to keep ones VCR is going away. DVDs are likely to become viewers recording mediums as well. Prices for DVD recorders have fallen from $1,000 two years ago to about $500 today and deliver much better quality and perform functions that no VCR can match. In addition they will offer a way to convert VCR recordings to digital. Sealing VCRs fate will be further declines in the price for DVD recorders and blank storage media. The only thing that will slow this trend down is the copyright holders' panic at the thought of their intellectual property being in digital form, available to pirates everywhere. Media companies have been lobbying Congress vigorously to protect the content in all the distribution channels.

DIGITAL TELEVISION

Digital television and the new service offerings have the potential to revolutionize the way we do business, connect to the Internet, entertain ourselves and even in the most fundamental way, communicate. The distinctions among wireless, twisted wire, satellite and cable are blurring and customers are being offered increasingly sophisticated interactive services. Services such as video on demand (VOD), digital video recorders (DVRs), interactive program guides (IPGs), enhanced TV services (ETV), subscription video on demand (SVOD) and of course, cable modem Internet access have all been rolled out. However, the two biggest problems facing the nascent industry remain compatibility and the protection of the integrity and copyright of the programming.

According to the National Cable & Telecommunications Association, over 60 million U.S. households in 78 of the top 100 television markets can receive HDTV signals from their cable operator. However, fewer than 5 million have all the necessary equipment. The Federal Communications Commission has been striving to help solve this problem by adopting rules that require compatibility between digital cable systems and digital sets in the home. The rules adopted in 2003 also address the MPPAA's concern about copy protection measures that the studios want incorporated into digital TV services. The commission also adopted copying rules proposed by NCTA and CEA. Under those rules, all video-on-demand and pay-per-view programming would be designated "copy never," basic and pay. TV services would be designated "copy once," and broadcast programming would have no copy restrictions.

There is still a long way to go among all the stakeholders on the technological front, FCC regulation and copyright protection but it is important to remember that the marketplace will ultimately decide what products and services are needed.

CORPORATE HISTORIES OF THE NETWORKS

ABC, INC. (AMERICAN BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

ABC's predecessor, the Radio Corporation of America (RCA) owned two radio networks, the Blue and the Red. In 1941, the FCC decreed that the same company could not own two networks, so RCA incorporated the Blue under the name of American Broadcasting System and established it as an independent subsidiary. RCA then sold this network to Edward J. Noble, and in 1944, the name was changed to the American Broadcasting Company. ABC's first television broadcast was on April 19, 1948 with "On the Corner." Later in the year, ABC scored two "firsts": the live broadcast of an opera (Verdi's "Otello") from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and a TV documentary, "The Marshall Plan." ABC merged with United Paramount Theatres in 1952. This merger was engineered by Leonard H. Goldenson, then the president of UPT. The new company was called American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc. During the 1950s, ABC began to operate at a profit although it had to struggle fiercely to acquire new affiliates. In 1954, ABC made a deal with Walt Disney to acquire a 35% interest in Disneyland and all TV programs produced by Disney. The following year, ABC signed an exclusive rights contract with Warner Bros. for TV programming.

In the Fall of 1962, ABC introduced color programming for the fall season which was expanded in 1966 to include full color broadcasting. In 1965, AB-PT's name was changed to American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. The 1960s also introduced blockbuster theatrical movies to TV with spectacular ratings results when "The Bridge on the River Kwai" was viewed (in 1966) by 60 million Americans. In 1967, the ABC evening news was expanded from 15 minutes to a half-hour, and Joey Bishop inaugurated ABC's late-night talk show programming.

In 1972, ABC was able to operate at a profit for the first time in ten years. In the 1976-77 season, ABC had its first win in the ratings race. In 1976, Barbara Walters joined ABC, becoming the first anchorwoman in television history. The mini-series "Roots" appeared on ABC in 1977 and became the highest-rated program of all time. This helped immensely in the ratings race, and credit must go in large part to Fred Silverman who, two years before, had joined the company as president of ABC International. He left in 1978 to go to NBC.

The decade of the Eighties was a turbulent one for the networks as cable and home video began whittling away their audiences. In 1985, ABC agreed to be purchased by Capital Cities Communications. The merged company's name was changed to Capital Cities/ABC, Inc. ABC held second place in the ratings from 1979 to 1983, when it dropped to third position. It was unable to rise from third until 1987-88 when it displaced CBS in second place, primarily because of the World Series and the Superbowl. It remained second in 1988-89 and 1989-90. In the latter season, ABC had the distinction of broadcasting the most talked-about new series of the period, "Twin Peaks," and the highest-rated new series, "America's Funniest Home Videos."

Daniel B. Burke replaced Frederick J. Pierce as president and chief operating officer. There were also sweeping reductions in personnel in the interests of economy and streamlining. Budget cuts notwithstanding, Capital Cities/ABC chairman Thomas Murphy pledged ABC would not scrimp on programming.

Profits at the end of 1990 rose about $70 million. Of the three networks, ABC won the ratings battle in news coverage of the war in the Persian Gulf. For two seasons in a row the network could boast having the only new series in the top ten: "America's Funniest People" (1990-91) and

"Home Improvement" (1991-92). Capital Cities/ABC is a partner in ESPN, the highly successful cable TV sports channel, and two other cable TV services—Arts & Entertainment and Lifetime. ABC was the only network in the 1992-93 season to gain ground, moving into second place behind CBS, from its previous third place standing. During the season, Robert A. Iger became the new network president. The network was the first to sign a deal with a cable operator (in this case Continental Cablevision) allowing its stations to be carried on cable without paying a fee. In 1994, the company signed an affiliation deal with E.W.Scripps Company to switch several of their stations over to ABC.

The big event of 1995 was the $19 billion acquisition of Capital Cities/ABC by the Walt Disney Company, said to be the second largest corporate takeover in history. In 1997, Ted Harbert resigned as entertainment chairman of ABC after 20 years with the network. At the end of the 1996-97 season, "Roseanne," one of ABC's sitcom staples, was discontinued after nine years on the air. The producers of ABC's "Home Improvement" sued the program's distributor, Walt Disney, alleging that a $3 million-per-episode renewal was in essence a sweetheart deal benefitting Disney. A lawsuit against the ABC news program Prime Time Live by the supermarket chain Food Lion for trespass, fraud and breach of fiduciary duty was decided in favor of the supermarket by a North Carolina jury. Producers for the evening news magazine got themselves hired undercover as clerks by the chain in order to expose the sales of spoiled food and unsanitary food handling practices by Food Lion, which did not dispute the findings of the investigative report, but instead claimed that the practice of sending in undercover reporters constituted fraud.

ABC's ratings soared when it broke the news in January 1998 that sex allegations were made by intern Monica Lewinsky against President Clinton. Apparently continuing a trend started by the O.J. Simpson trial and elevated by the death of Princess Diana in September 1997, news proved very successful in attracting viewers. Despite its brief victory in the ratings war, the network was scheduled to go through a complete transformation for the 1998-99 season, after losing its number two slot among 18-49 year olds to Fox. For the new season, the network was to introduce remakes of old shows such as "The Marty Tyler Moore Show" and "Fantasy Island," have "Sports Night" for male viewers, and air about 20 made-for-TV movies and mini-series.

ABC finished third in the 1998-1999 ratings war, despite their relentless self-promotion and critical acclaim for new shows like "Sports Night." With the 1999 departure of the embattled Jamie Tarses, it remained to be seen whether ABC's next programmer would be able to resurrect the network's ratings.

ABC's only blue-chip program was Monday Night Football, for which Disney paid the NFL $9.2 billion through the year 2005. In July, 1999, in an effort to reduce programming expenses, Disney combined ABC with Disney's television production studio in order to slot more shows made by Disney onto ABC's prime-time schedule.

In the 1999-2000 season, ABC hit the jackpot with its American spin-off of the British "Who Wants to Be A Millionaire." For the season ending May 24, "Millionaire" took the top three spots in the ratings with its Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday programs, garnering a 29-, 26- and 25-share respectively.

In the 2000-2001 season, "Millionaire's" popularity waned somewhat. Through November 5, 2000, the show was averaging a 20 share, a significant drop. ABC depended on the show to anchor its programming and generate revenue. With spring upfront ad sales estimated at $1.2 billion, about half of ABC's revenue, ABC executives and advertisers had their fingers crossed.

After surging to number 1 in the 1999-2000 season with "Who Wants To Be A Millionaire," ABC has seen its audience drop off, causing the network to fall to number 4 (behind NBC, CBS, and FOX) in overall ratings for the 2001-02 season.

Adding to the network's woes in 2001, ABC was reeling from the worst ad market in years. Buffeted by the Sept. 11 attacks, ABC, CBS and NBC collectively suffered a record loss of $880 million in advertising revenues for the third quarter, a slide of 28.6% from the same period in 2000.

ABC was stung by a number of high-profile disappointments in the fall 2001 season, including "Bob Patterson" and "What About Joan" which were cancelled. ABC is reallocating budget resources in order to develop about a dozen comedies, some of which may help the network recover its viewership in the spring of 2002. Also cancelled after only two weeks on the air was "America.01," the ABC News magazine devoted to covering the changes in the country after Sept. 11. The newsmagazine, which premiered on Nov. 2, was created in order to fill the gap left by reality show "The Mole," which was put on hiatus because of low ratings.

ABC Television Network ranked behind NBC and CBS for the 2001-02 season, and almost lost its third place spot in a ratings battle with FOX. In 2002-03, ABC expects to woo younger audiences with its new season of "The Bachelor" and has high hopes for its slate of new programming.

The network had a few more programming building blocks in 2003-04, including the building "According to Jim" and "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teenage Daughter," which generated a lot of interest and ratings due to the untimely death of John Ritter. ABC sold $2.3 billion of prime-time advertising up-front, which was 15% higher than 2002. Thanks to improvement at ABC, Disney's media operations, which include ESPN and the Disney Channel, brought in $841 million in operating profit for the period ending June 30th. Ratings for the first part of the new television season were flat to last year and may be vulnerable post the baseball playoffs where it was competing in prime time with Fox.

CBS

(COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

CBS began in 1927 as a radio network with 16 stations, United Independent Broadcasters, Inc., founded by Arthur Judson, a concert tour manager and backed by Louis Sterling, president of the Columbia Phonograph Company. Later other investors were invited in, the most prominent of whom was William S. Paley. On September 26, 1928, at the age of 27, Paley became president of the firm whose name was changed to the Columbia Broadcasting System. Paley introduced many innovations to radio broadcasting, the most significant of which was the signing of an agreement in 1931 with Paramount Pictures whereby film stars were heard on radio for the first time. This laid the groundwork for the CBS policy in television from the outset to feature shows built around stars (Ed Sullivan, Lucille Ball, Arthur Godfrey, Jack Benny, Burns & Allen, Garry Moore, etc.).

CBS was in TV as early as 1931 when it began regularly scheduled TV programming over experimental station W2XAB in New York City. In 1941, CBS began weekly broadcasts of black-and-white TV programming over WCBS-TV in New York. By 1948, it had 30 affiliated stations.

In 1951, CBS broadcast the first live coast-to-coast TV transmission between New York and San Francisco. 1951 was also the year that William Golden designed the CBS Eye which was destined to become one of the most famous logos in the world.

In 1952 CBS opened Television City in Hollywood—the industry's first self-contained TV production facility. "Playhouse 90" made its debut in 1956, but the big event of the decade was the 1951 debut of "I Love Lucy", a series regarded as the progenitor of the situation comedy. In the field of soap operas, CBS was both leader and winner, virtually monopolizing that market from 1951 to 1956. In 1951, it introduced "Search for Tomorrow," which was to become the longest-running show in that genre. This was followed by "Love of Life" (1951) and "The Guiding Light" (1952), both overnight hits.

In the late '50s and through the '60s and '70s, CBS reigned as king of prime-time ratings, maintaining its long-running lead with such successes as "Gunsmoke" (1957), "The Defenders" (1961), "The Beverly Hillbillies" (1962), "All in the Family" (1972) and "Dallas" (1978). Also helping was "60 Minutes" the news-oriented show which, by 1995, had remained in the Top Ten prime time shows for 18 consecutive seasons.

CBS began the turbulent 80s with a new president, Thomas Wyman (replacing John D. Backe).

In 1985, Ted Turner made an unfriendly bid for CBS, forcing the network to buy up 21% of its own stock to thwart the takeover. Laurence A. Tisch, a former theatre chain executive, had become the major stockholder in CBS when, in 1986, he instigated sweeping changes in the interests of cost-cutting and efficiency. 700 jobs were eliminated at the CBS Broadcast Group. Tisch also removed Wyman as president, named himself chief executive officer and induced founder William Paley to return to active duty as acting chairman of the board. It was quite a jolt to the company when, in 1985-86, it slipped to second place and stayed there through the following season. In 1987-88, CBS came in third for the first time in TV history. In 1988, Tisch shuffled executive ranks again, naming Howard Stringer, previously president of CBS News, president of the Broadcasting Group. The networks new management team sought to devise a strategy to pull the network out of its decline in the prime-time ratings. Jeff Sagansky, former head of Tri-Star Pictures, was brought in as president of the entertainment division in 1990.

Starting in 1991-92, CBS became the number one network for three years in a row based on the success of such shows as "60 Minutes" (the number one show for both '91-'92 and '92-'93), "Murphy Brown," "Murder She Wrote," and "Northern Exposure." CBS was hit hard by Fox's 1994 purchase of twelve stations from New World Communications, losing eight affiliates.

However, the following summer, Westinghouse Electric Corp. acquired the final independent network for $5.4 billion creating the largest collection of TV and radio stations in America. The 1994-95 season was a low point for the network as it plunged from number one to number three. By season's end, CBS had the dubious distinction of being the first of the three majors to fall into 4th place, coming in below Fox for the last week before the debut of the 1995-96 season. In late 1995, the venerable news program "60 Minutes" and CBS came under fire for refusing to air a controversial segment on the tobacco industry. Critics of CBS alleged that the network capitulated to the threat of legal action, rather than actual litigation. During this season the network placed third again. In 1997 CBS station group president Peter Lund was replaced by CBS radio president, Mel Karmazin.

Continuing the unpleasant trend of the previous several years, CBS continued to lose viewers in all age groups except the 60+. In the middle of 1998, Mel Karmazin made public the restructuring of CBS. Because of the network's failure to turn a profit the radio and billboard companies which account for 60% of CBS' profits, were to be transferred to Infinity, thereby making the TV operations easier to sell, if need be. Infinity Broadcasting was sold by Karmazin to CBS in 1996 after trying to buy the Eye's radio stations himself.

Two years later, the company was several times its former size, and had the cash to grow even more as a result of the CBS deal. Although the CBS president denied considering a TV sale, others have admitted that the sale has not been ruled out. Because of the network's questionable future, president & CEO of CBS TV, Leslie Moonves, was pressured to deliver successful prime-time programming for the 1998-99 season. With the end of expensive shows such as "Cybill" and "Murphy Brown," Karmazin announced that the fall's lineup was considerably less costly than the previous year's. And, with shows such as "King of Queens" and "L.A. Docs" scheduled for the fall, analysts foresaw the possible resurrection of CBS.

In 1999, CBS merged with Viacom. Viacom paid $37 billion in stock for the network, making the combined company the third largest media group in the U.S. Mel Karmazin became the President & COO of Viacom under Chairman, Sumner Redstone.

CBS came in first in the 1998-99 ratings war, but still had a viewing demographic older than the 18-49-year-old group prized by advertisers. Many of its new shows, however, did attract a younger audience.

CBS renewed its contract for men's NCAA basketball, securing the lucrative franchise through 2013.

In the 1999-2000 season, CBS edged out NBC for second place in the ratings war.

CBS was number one in overall ratings for the 2000-2001 season and was ahead in November sweeps for 2001-2002. However, like the rest of the networks, CBS was affected by the September 11th attacks. Without placing an exact number on advertising losses, Viacom President and Chief Operating Officer Mel Karmazin said that the attacks resulted in a "considerable increase in costs at CBS News." He also said that the network would lose additional revenue from the cancellation of NFL games, rescheduling the Emmy Awards twice, and the delay of the fall season.

CBS continues to have the oldest demographic of the networks but has attracted younger viewers and the all important advertising dollars that come with them by way of "Survivor," its very popular reality show.

CBS placed second behind NBC in the 2001-02 TV ratings race after winning the rank of top-rated network for the 2000-01 season (barely edging the previous year's winner ABC).

The Tiffany network turned 75 in 2003 and is still usually the leader in total viewers. In spite of CBS' reputation, series such as Jerry Bruckheimer's two "CSI" series, "The Amazing Race," and "Cold Case" have brought more young viewers, but dependables like "60 Minutes" and "Everybody Loves Raymond" continue to make CBS the most traditional of the broadcast networks. Les Moonves pulled the Reagan miniseries in November after public outcry and a conservative backlash and used repeats of the two "CSI" series and "Without a Trace" to fill the holes.

FOX BROADCASTING COMPANY

Fox Broadcasting, a subsidiary of Rupert Murdoch's News Company and owner of Twentieth Century Fox, began broadcasting with the late night "Late Show with Joan Rivers" on October 9, 1986. The next year, on April 5, 1987, the fledgling network began prime-time broadcasts on Sunday nights only. The initial line-up consisted of "Married With Children" and "The Tracey Ullman Show," which featured animated interludes of a dysfunctional cartoon family named the Simpsons. Three new shows were added in the following weeks, including "21 Jump Street," which helped launch the career of actor Johnny Depp. In July of that year, Fox launched a Saturday night prime-time line-up. From 1989 to 1993, the network steadily added programming and expanded its prime time coverage to a full seven nights a week.

Originally the network aimed its programming at a young urban demographic. Particular attention was given to African-American-oriented programming, with comedy series such as "Roc," "Martin," "Living Single" and "In Living Color" (a weekly comedy-variety show which showcased not only the talents of Keenan Ivory Wayans and his brother Damon Wayans, but also comedian Jim Carrey). The youth market got its first soap opera with "Beverly Hills 90210," and its successful spin-off "Melrose Place." Fox consistently programmed "risky" shows, even in the face of boycotts, most notably aimed at "Married With Children" and "Beverly Hills 90210." The network, feeling strong about its programming, slotted "The Simpsons" against NBC's top-rated sitcom "The Cosby Show" in 1991.

The network was also actively pursuing sports programming. In 1993, Fox won the rights to NFL football for four years, including the rights to 1997's Super Bowl XXXI. In 1994, Fox acquired the rights to broadcast NHL hockey and in 1995, Fox signed an agreement with Major League Baseball to broadcast weekly games, the 1996, 1998 and 2000 World Series, and 1997 and 1999 All Star Games.

1994 saw the creation of FX Networks. In June, FX, a general entertainment basic cable network was launched, featuring marquee sports events, series and films. In October, fXm (Movies From Fox) was initiated to show Twentieth Century Fox films unedited and commercial free.

Also in 1994, Fox premiered "The X-Files," a fiction series dedicated to exploring the bizarre, the unusual and the paranormal, all with a slant aimed at conspiracy buffs. It took a season to achieve ratings success, but "The X-Files" has become one of the most popular series on Fox and is fast becoming the most imitated series on television. All of these programming decisions and experiments have paid off. In the 1994-95 broadcast season Nielsen ratings, Fox finished ahead of pioneer network CBS. Fox beat CBS yet again in November, 1995. On October 7, 1996, Fox launched the new Fox News Channel on cable.

With the appointment of Richard Cronin as president and CEO of the Fox Kids Broadcast network and Fox Family Channel, Fox will be targeting young viewers with "quirky" programs. In its effort to increase its viewership by attracting young people, Fox hopes to also increase the number of older adults watching along with the children. For the 1998-99 season, Fox moved up its prime-time slot on the Fox Family channel to begin at 6:00 p.m. instead of 8:00 p.m., and introduced four new dramas and two comedies, catering to the age group Fox is relying on to push up its ratings.

Fox continued to be the only network showing any real growth. Youth-oriented programming—the recipe for its past success—made up most of the 1999-2000 season. In 2000, Doug Herzog resigned as Fox entertainment president and his duties were assumed by Sandy Grushnow. Fox cancelled the aging show "Beverly Hills 90210" for the 2000-2001 season, relying on David E. Kelley's "Boston Public" and a slate of new shows aimed at the key 18-35 demographic as well as a lock on Major League baseball for $2.5 billion, starting with the 2001 season.

News Corp. agreed to buy the Chris-Craft station group squeezing out UPN, and Rupert Murdoch has said that a Fox 2 network is under consideration. Whether or not a Fox 2 Network is unveiled, it is certain that there will be no more "Who Wants to Marry A Millionaire" specials after the Darva Conger-Rick Rockwell debacle that left the network shame-faced and reeling.

In the 2001 season, Fox placed in the top three, edging out ABC for the first time. Fox TV Chairman, Brian Mulligan, resigned unexpectedly in November. For 2001-2002, Fox continued to cater to its young demographic with returning shows and new programs aimed at hooking the teen and twenty-something audience. Fox also chose to pick up the controversial "Temptation Island" for a second season, drawing unfavorable reviews from media watchdogs and critics alike.

News Corporation's TV revenue in 2003 was about flat to 2002 coming in at just over $1 billion. Higher profit at Fox's TV stations was offset by a ratings fall by Fox Broadcasting as it struggled to make up for last year's hit, "American Idol." The fall baseball series with a potential Red Sox Cubs matchup and the Yankees, Marlins World Series led to strong ratings. "The Simpsons," "The Bernie Mac Show," "Malcolm In The Middle" and "Wanda At Large" continue to be stalwart performers.

NBC, INC.

(NATIONAL BROADCASTING COMPANY, INC.)

NBC was an outgrowth of Radio Corp. of America, General Electric and Westinghouse. These three companies jointly launched a network in 1926 with 31 stations, 25 in a network called Red and 6 in a network called Blue. A year later, it was forced to sell the Blue network to ABC, keeping for itself the one known as Red. Television began for NBC in 1928, when on April 4, it acquired from the FCC a permit to operate an experimental station, W2XBS. Actual transmission from the Empire State Building did not begin until October 30, 1931. Eight years later, the network began broadcasting on a regular basis, beginning with the opening of the New York World's Fair on April 30, 1939.

NBC became a TV network on January 12, 1940, when two stations, WNBC-TV, New York, and WRGB-TV, Schenectady, New York, carried the first network programming. In June, 1941, the FCC granted NBC the first commercial TV license and a month later it had four advertisers signed up. After World War II, NBC scored two big "firsts." On June 19, 1946, Gillette became the first advertiser to sponsor a TV network show, the Joe Louis-Billy Conn boxing match. That same year, Bristol-Myers became the first sponsor of a network TV series, "Geographically Speaking." NBC can also claim to be the first to introduce coast-to-coast network TV coverage. On September 4, 1951, when the U.S.-Japanese peace treaty was signed in San Francisco, NBC cameras were on hand. In 1952, NBC pioneered early-morning programming when it introduced "The Today Show." NBC can also claim the first regularly scheduled network color series "The Marriage," launched in 1954. That same year it achieved the first west-to-east TV transmission with the telecast of the Tournament of Roses Parade in color.

At the start of the 1965-66 season, NBC declared it was the "only all-color network." In 1968, NBC introduced new forms of TV programming with "The Name of the Game," a series that incorporated feature-film elements into a 90-minute show. This then spawned the "NBC Mystery Movie."

In 1972, NBC broke new ground again when it introduced "The Tomorrow Show" shown from 1:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. This was a talk program and it demonstrated that in the early hours of the morning something more than re-runs and old movies could be shown. In 1974, another late-night show called "Weekend" was begun. The 1976 NBC telecast of "Gone with the Wind" drew the largest audience to that date for an entertainment program. In 1978, "Holocaust" attracted 107 million viewers and won 21 major awards. Such programs helped NBC in the ratings, but in 1976-77 it fell to third place, where it stayed until 1983-84.

Along with the other networks, NBC moved into a period of turmoil during the decade of the 80s, fighting off rising costs and competition from cable TV and home video. In 1986, General Electric Corporation purchased RCA (NBC's parent) for $6.28 billion; GE, it will be remembered, helped launch the radio network in 1926 which led to the development of NBC-TV.

This brought personnel changes led by the replacement of Grant A. Tinker as NBC chief executive officer by Robert Wright, although Wright was not given Tinker's chairman title; that being taken by John F. Welch of GE. Instead, Wright was named president as well as chief executive officer. Along with its competition, NBC started cutting staff and budgets in 1986. In 1984-85, NBC edged up to second place, and the following year it was ranked number one in prime-time viewing for the first time in the three decades of Nielsen ratings.

NBC held on to its first place standing for the following five seasons, through 1990-91. Long-time hit series in the five-year period included "The Golden Girls," "Cheers," and "The Cosby Show." Despite the network's number one standing, figures showed a steady decline in viewers. In May of 1991, Brandon Tartikoff, credited with pulling the network up from third place 11 years earlier, departed from NBC to become head of Paramount Pictures. When "The Cosby Show" ran its final first run episode on April 30, 1992, it became NBC's highest-rated series finale episode ever. The 1992 Summer Olympics also gave the network its widest ratings margin of all time. The 1994-95 season found NBC on top with its popular sitcom "Seinfeld" and the two most highly rated new series, "ER" and "Friends," both placing in the top ten. During the 1995-96 season, NBC was again ranked the number one network, with four of its Thursday night shows ranking in the overall top five. In the summer of 1996, NBC, in association with software giant Microsoft, launched a 24-hour cable and Internet news channel, MSNBC.

In October, 1997 the networks adopted an updated "voluntary" ratings system that uses the letters S, V, D, L, SV, which stand for sex, violence, suggestive dialogue, strong language and non-comedic fantasy violence in addition to the age rating. Only NBC and Black Entertainment Television refused to use the new system. Despite pressure from the White House, Congress and advocacy groups, the network had said that the ratings tread on its First Amendment right, and that there was no public outcry for the new system.

With its star show "Seinfeld" going off the air, NBC was faced in 1999 with the seemingly impossible task of finding a replacement. The network did manage to keep "ER," its other highly successful show, albeit at a draining cost of $13 million per episode. Keeping in line with the demand for news television, NBC's Dateline showed 6½ hrs. of programming about Princess Diana and her fatal accident.

In mid-1999, NBC had to ante up again to keep a hit show. The contract for "Friends" was renewed through 2002 at a cost of approximately $5 million per episode. In spite of NBC's attempts to rally after the loss of "Seinfeld," the network slipped to second place behind CBS in 1999. Ratings for the new prime-time shows do not look promising and it may take another hit of the magnitude of "Seinfeld" to bring "Must See TV" back into American homes.

NBC had a tough year in 1999-2000, coming in third for the season. Perhaps worse than the ratings tumble were the embarrassing numbers during the Sydney Olympics. Various reasons for the poor viewership were cited, including the tape-delay that made it possible to get real-time Olympic results everywhere but NBC. In an effort to boost ratings, NBC executives demanded that Nielsen exclude the first half-hour of the Olympics' prime-time broadcast (7:00-7:30) from its calculations. That gambit did bring up numbers somewhat, but it's unlikely that the same tack will work during the primetime season which, with a few exceptions, looked dry.

In 2001-02, NBC faced the prospect of the Winter Olympics and the effect they would have on ratings. Elsewhere, NBC expanded the successful "Law and Order" franchise to include a third program, "Law and Order: Criminal Intent." Even with longtime hits like the original "Law and Order," "Friends," and "ER," NBC placed third in the 2000-01 ratings war. 2001 also saw the failure of NBC's attempt to become a force on the Internet with its NBC Internet (NBCi) venture. The company bought the 61% of NBCi it didn't already own and folded its operations. NBC now plans to court Hispanic viewers through its agreement to purchase Telemundo for $1.98 billion.

NBC took the top spot over CBS in the 2001-02 season ratings. The network improved its ratings in the 2001-02 season, after placing third in the 2000-01 season.

NBC remains the top network in adults 18-49 with the start of the 2003 fall season, as they have in eight of the last nine years. However, there is some concern about the future. Powerhouse programs "Friends" and "Frasier" will end in 2004 and NBC might have become overly dependent on the "Law & Order" franchise with its spin-offs; "Special Victims Unit" and "Criminal Intent. With a third spinoff on the way and reruns of the other three running non stop on TNT and USA, it is hard not to think that NBC may be making the same mistake ABC did with "Millionaire."

The big financial news of 2003 for NBC happened when parent General Electric Co. announced a deal to acquire the entertainment assets of Vivendi Universal SA, which includes Universal Studios and Universal Television, where Dick Wolf, the "Law & Order" creator is based.

PAX TV

August 31st, 1998 marked the debut of PAX TV, the nation's seventh and newest broadcast network committed to airing family-friendly programming that includes original live-action series, daily entertainment and information shows, children's programming, as well as popular movies and off-network shows with proven audience appeal. PAX TV is a wholly-owned service of Paxson

Communications Corp., a broadcasting company whose principal business is the ownership and operation of the largest broadcast television station group in the United States.

Paxson Communications Corp. was an outgrowth of Paxson Broadcasting founded in 1991 by Lowell W. "Bud" Paxson, the co-founder and past president of the Home Shopping Network, Inc., who had been involved in the radio and electronic retailing business for nearly 40 years. Paxson Broadcasting, a Florida-based radio group, initially purchased four radio stations in the fourth quarter of 1991 which were AM/FM combos in Jacksonville and Tampa. Over the course of several years, the Company assembled a substantial statewide radio broadcasting group, and as a result of agreements it had in place on radio stations prior to the 1993 FCC rule change permitting radio duopolies, the Company was among the first to exercise its options and expand its duopoly holdings.

By 1994, the company sought to replicate its success in radio. Paxson looked to acquire two types of television properties: underperforming, undermanaged network affiliates and independent stations in major markets which broadcast long-form paid programming. In April, 1994, the company purchased the equipment and acquired an option to buy its first television property, an independent TV station in Miami. Paxson took his company public in November, 1994, through a reverse merger with the American Network Group, Inc., and subsequently moved the new company, Paxson Communications Corp., to the American Stock Exchange. By December of that same year, Paxson had owned or operated four stations, airing a variety of infomercial and long-form programming which by January, 1995, became known as the Infomall TV Network ("IN TV"). By purchasing independent television stations, entering into time-brokerage agreements, affiliating with stations and extending its broadcast reach on cable via "must carry" requirements, Paxson created a national television broadcasting distribution infrastructure providing long-form programming.

In March, 1997, the Supreme Court upheld the "must carry" legislation, and as a result, all of the company's broadcast stations were suddenly viable as a network and would remain accessible to cable television audiences. In June 1997, the company sold its entire radio interest to Clear Channel Communications in a tax-advantaged transaction. Also in June, the company acquired The Travel Channel an interest in which was in turn sold to Discovery Communications, Inc. later that year.

The company announced in November, 1997 that it would launch the seventh broadcast television network, at that time branded as PAX NET, on August 31st the following year. The network would feature off-network runs of popular shows including the CBS hit series, "Touched By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman," and "Diagnosis Murder," in addition to a number of original programs and theatrical and made-for-television movies.

Between the November announcement of PAX NET and the August 31st launch of PAX TV, the company acquired additional television stations and expanded its distribution through cable agreements. The company also added popular off-network and original shows, and hired a number of executives and hundreds of new employees. In May, 1998, the company announced the appointment of former CBS president, Jeff Sagansky, to the post of president and CEO and the election of William E. Simon, Jr. to the position of vice chairman for Paxson Communications Corp. Paxson also announced that the Simon family would make an equity investment in the company, and one month later, announced the completion of its offering of $275 million of Preferred Stock.

With PAX TV maintaining positive ratings, Paxson Communications Corp. will continue to focus on enhancing the distribution of its network and the quality of PAX TV's programming.

In 1999, NBC bought a 32% stake in Paxson's stations, with an option to acquire control in 2002 for an additional $1.2 billion. Paxson stations, currently without any news programming, will likely carry NBC news as well as NBC programming in secondary timeslots.

In 2000, Paxson continued to do well with its off-network programming, including "Touched By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" and other family-friendly fare. Paxson reported a 25% increase in viewership in the first three weeks of the 2000-2001 season, and plans to continue with its current slate of programming augmented with made-for-tv movies.

Pax continued to enjoy growth in 2001, with its 2001-02 season off to a good start, showing a 57% increase in viewership over the previous year.

2002 was not so lucky, however. After NBC completed its acquisition of Telemundo, Paxson sued the network that holds a 32% stake of its company and then lost the subsequent arbitration action. Paxson's viewers are also slipping with only one program, "Sue Thomas F.B. Eye" showing growth and broadcast operations, as a whole, continuing to post losses every quarter.

In late 2002, Pax decided to close its Hollywood production and promotion offices, but with its significant station holdings, is likely to remain on-air, in spite of its financial problems.

Pax TV greenlit 90 additional episodes of the game show "Shop 'Til You Drop" in 2003. Show, now in its fifth year on the web. Jeff Sagansky, the former CBS president, cut all ties with Pax TV in the summer of 2003. Paxson currently owns and operates 61 broadcast TV stations, which reach all of the top 20 U.S. markets and 41 of the top 50. Company also owns family oriented Pax Network, which reaches roughly 94 million homes through its TV stations and distribution arrangements with cable and satellite systems and broadcast station affiliates. The company continues to struggle with a hefty debt load and ratings challenges at its program network.

PUBLIC BROADCASTING SERVICE

In 1948, the FCC stopped issuing new television station licenses. American educators, fearful of the impact of unrestricted commercial broadcasting, pushed for the Commission to hold open channel slots for non-commercial, educational television broadcasts. In 1952, when the FCC freeze was lifted, 242 channels were reserved for educational television. America's first non-commercial educational television station was KUHT in Houston, started in 1953.

By 1962, 75 educational stations were broadcasting around the country. As these stations shared roughly the same programming interests, a loose distribution network evolved, allowing locally-produced programs like "Children's Corner" to be circulated among these stations. Most of the programming was produced on a shoestring budget. In 1962, the federal government authorized $32 million in matching funds for the construction of new educational television broadcasting facilities. In 1967, a blue ribbon panel urged local and state governments to increase their financial support of "public television" and recommended that the federal government participate in the production of programming. To this end, the first Public Broadcasting Act was passed. This law also created the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, a non-profit "steward" of the public funds committed to public broadcasting, and, not incidentally, a barrier against government interference in programming decisions.

In 1969, the Public Broadcasting Service's charter was signed, with its main intent the establishment of a nationwide program distribution service. 1969 saw the premiere of an hour-long, daily children's variety show, called "Sesame Street," which targeted pre-schoolers with fast-paced educational programming and featured live performers, cartoons and Muppets developed exclusively for the show by Jim Henson.

In 1970, PBS' first year as a "network," its programming included series as widely varied as "Washington Week in Review," "Civilisation," "The French Chef" and "Soul!" By 1973, PBS had more than 1 million individual subscribers. PBS and its member stations were responsible for bringing to U.S. audiences critically acclaimed BBC programming under the flag of "Masterpiece Theatre," which included such classics of television as "Upstairs Downstairs" and "I, Claudius." In 1976, PBS began broadcasting closed-captioned programming for the hearing impaired. In 1978, PBS became the first American network to distribute its programs by satellite.

Although some portion of PBS and its member stations' budgets are provided by federal and state government funding and corporate gifts, PBS and its member stations have continued to rely upon the contributions of individual viewers to stay afloat. In the late 1980s and early 1990s, PBS and the CPB suffered an enormous amount of criticism by government officials for an alleged "liberal" bias, and later in the 90s, for not being "self-sufficient." Although a notable few PBS series have achieved some financial success in other areas (primarily children's programming in the home video and product licensing fields), it is important to note that the production of most of the all-important local educational and public affairs programming never breaks even. In the face of continuing cuts in government funding, PBS programmers have accepted what may have been inevitable, the inclusion of commercial sponsorship (and actual commercials) in programming.

In the wake of the government threat of fund cuts, PBS increased its effort to achieve financial independence. In 1997, PBS president Ervin Duggan announced that the network would use its recognizable brand to market products and services, such as educational videos and distance-learning programs. With this approach as well as using the internet to sell its products and investing in new programming, PBS had a total revenue for the 1997 fiscal year of $239 million, $15 million more than its target.

PBS got caught in a scandal in 1999 involving the sharing of its donor lists with partisan political groups. The GOP complained about the practice, which primarily involved list-sharing with the Democratic Party. PBS admitted that it called into question the independence and impartiality of the public network.

In 1999, Frank Cruz was appointed Chairman of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

PBS continues to be a target of Republicans who are opposed to government funding of educational, informational, and cultural programming. Nonetheless, CPB's funding has been approved at $340 million for 2001, $350 million for 2002, and $365 million for 2003.

PBS' operating revenue has grown from $262 million in 1998 to a projected $324 million in 2003, largely from non-member revenue sources. This revenue growth has enabled PBS to invest more in three key areas: national programming, advertising and promotion, and PBS.org. Interestingly, PBS.org is the most visited dot-org Web site in the world, and the home of comprehensive companion Web sites for more than 500 PBS television programs and specials. The National Programming Service provided by PBS is the major package of programs PBS distributes to its member stations. It features children's, cultural, educational, history, nature, news, public affairs, science and skills programs.

UPN (UNITED PARAMOUNT NETWORK)

UPN began broadcasting on January 16, 1995 as a joint venture between United Television/Chris-Craft Industries, Inc. and Paramount Television/Viacom Inc. The fledgling network's first official hit was the newest entry in the long-lived Star Trek franchise, "Star Trek: Voyager." Paramount TV executive Lucy Salhany was named president of the network. UPN currently broadcasts two nights of prime-time programming weekly, a Saturday afternoon movie, and plans to add an afternoon children's programming block. In the 1995-96 season, UPN debuted 8 new prime-time series. Lucy Salhany, president and CEO of the fledgling UPN network, announced that she would not renew her contract when it expired in September of 1997. Led by the newly appointed CEO, Dean Valentine, UPN's management team had the difficult task of giving the sagging network a face-lift. Not unlike the other networks, UPN had to struggle to keep its viewers in 1998. The network's audience, consisting largely of black viewers, was angered when in an effort to attract a broad Middle American audience, UPN cancelled most of the shows that appealed to black viewers. And, in what seemed like a second slap, the network premiered the sitcom "The Secret Diary of Desmond Pfeiffer," despite protests from black activists claiming that the show trivialized slavery. As explained by Mr. Valentine, it appeared that UPN's problem was with its specific programming, which does not attract the female or suburban viewer.

The 1999-2000 line-up features several sitcoms designed to appeal to black viewers, balanced by the WWF and a couple of one-hour action shows. The Network still has not found its programming niche and is struggling to identify and expand its core audience.

The 2000-2001 lineup seems of less significance this year as UPN owner Viacom is required to sell the UPN stations as part of its merger with CBS. Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. is buying Chris-Craft whose UPN affiliates will likely be turned into either a second Fox network or absorbed into the existing Fox family. In the meantime, UPN has changed its name to The Paramount Network to reflect its new, sole ownership.

In 2001, Tom Noonan, head of programming, left UPN. In a strange twist, the embattled head of UPN, Dean Valentine, will assume his duties. This decision comes at a time when Valentine is suing the network for $22 million over contract incentives.

UPN came in fifth, behind FOX and just ahead of the WB in the November sweeps.

Betting on Buffy and sci-fi fans is paying off in ratings for United Paramount Network (UPN). The network, considered the fifth wheel of television networks, is posting strong ratings with its Buffy the Vampire Slayer program (wrested from The WB in a bidding war) and Enterprise, the newest Star Trek series. The network supplies programming each week to affiliates across the US, including WWE Smackdown!

In 2002 and 2003 "Enterprise" took a ratings dive and "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" ended. UPN is down 15% in adults 18-34 and about the same in total viewers in the season to date. On a positive note this fall, UPN has now picked up four out of its five new series; "Rock Me Baby," "Eve," "All of Us" and "Jake 2.0." UPN also closed an affiliation deal with the Fox Television Stations group which insures its survival for at least the next few years. Talks to renew the relationship had been ongoing between UPN and Fox for several months. CBS president Les Moonves had been involved in the negotiations for several months.

WARNER BROTHERS TELEVISION

In the 1950s when other studios were setting their eyes on television, Jack Warner was not interested in doing the same. But in 1955, ABC managed to make a deal with Warner and create the studio's first pact. The agreement entailed a Tuesday-night one-hour drama program on ABC, called "Warner Brothers Presents." Three rotating series were featured: "King's Row," "Casablanca," and the TV Western that lasted for eight seasons, "Cheyenne." "Maverick," starring James Garner, was introduced in 1957. The western proved popular with both viewers and critics, finishing sixth in the 1958-59 season ratings and being awarded the Best Western Series for the 1958-59 season, giving Warner Bros. TV its first Emmy award.

Although WB produced and created its share of shows in the 1960s such as "Room for One More" (the first situation comedy produced by the studio), "The Bugs Bunny Show" (TV's first animated series), and "The F.B.I." (WB's most popular primetime show of the late 1960s), TV production began drying up. With the appointment in 1969 of Gerald Leider as president of WB TV, the studio went through a revival with such shows as "Alice," "Kung Fu," and "The Dukes of Hazzard." The studio also acquired the rights to "Chico and the Man" and "Welcome Back, Kotter" already successful sitcoms, and the dramatic mini-series depicting the lives of African slaves, "Roots."

In 1988 WB acquired Lorimar Television, absorbing the series "Dallas," "Knots Landing," "Falcon Crest," "Full House," "I'll Fly Away" and others. By 1989, Lorimar Television & Warner Bros. TV represented the biggest supplier of prime-time TV programming to the networks. With the start of a new decade, the Warner Bros. studio appeared to be in good shape. But, the end of the Financial Interest rules, which limited the broadcast networks' ownership in programming and their ability to also produce, put WB in a less-than-perfect position as supplier. With the fear of falling victim to the networks, newly empowered by the FCC decision, WB began considering a network of its own. The first effort resulted in PTEN, which presented series as a syndicated block offered to stations. In January, 1995 and in partnership with Tribune Broadcasting, the WB network took off.

The budding network will be reaching 90% of the country in the 1998-99 season, with five nights of prime-time programming. While CBS and ABC have lost audience members in the 18-49 demographic group, and Fox and NBC have experienced only slight growth, WB has continued on its upward swing and increased its viewership by this (most desirable) demographic group by 60%.

2000-2001 is looking brighter for WB with the likely demise of UPN. While WB doesn't cater to a black audience, it does fill the "youth" programming niche and its new programs are well-suited to continue the WB's stronghold among teen viewers.

The WB was still struggling along ahead of PAX TV and behind UPN for the 2001-02 season. With some new programs on air and more in the pipeline, the net is still trying to get its footing in the highly competitive teen and young adult demographic.

In the middle of the 2003-04 season the WB's viewers are off 21% in adults 18-34 and 11% in total viewers. Younger skewing networks such as the WB have been hurt by the decline of TV viewing by younger demos, particularly men 18-24. This is important this year because it will have an effect on talks between Time Warner and the Tribune Company to renew their joint venture which expires in 2004. Still unresolved at this point is who will replace Jamie Kellner when he leaves the network.

The Canadian Audio-Visual Certification Office (CAVCO) and the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency (CCRA) jointly administer the Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit (CPTC) and the Film or Video Production Services Tax Credit (PSTC).

Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit Program (CPTC)

Under the Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit program, CAVCO performs two distinct functions: (1) Canadian content recognition, and (2) estimation of the eligible expenses of production. The responsibilities of the CCRA are to provide assistance to claimants; to interpret and apply section 125.4 and all other provisions of the Income Tax Act and the Income Tax Regulations that may have an impact on the CPTC; review or audit the film tax credit claims within a reasonable time frame; and provide timely refund cheques.

The CPTC is available at a rate of 25% of eligible salaries and wages expended after 1994. Eligible salaries and wages qualifying for the credit may not exceed 48% of the cost of the production, net of assistance, as certified by the Minister of Canadian Heritage. Therefore, the tax credit could provide assistance of up to 12% of the cost of production, net of assistance. However, the tax credit may not be claimed in respect of a Canadian production if any part of the cost is financed by flowing-out capital cost allowance or other deductions to investors.

FILM OR VIDEO PRODUCTION SERVICES TAX CREDIT PROGRAM (PSTC)

CAVCO's role under the Film or Video Production Services Tax Credit is to determine the eligibility of the production and to issue an Accredited Film or Video Production Certificate on behalf of the Minister of Canadian Heritage. The CCRA's role is to provide assistance to claimants; interpret and apply section 125.5 and all other provisions of the Income Tax Act and the Income Tax Regulations that may have an impact on the PSTC; review or audit the film tax credit claims within a reasonable time frame; and provide timely refund cheques.

The PSTC is a tax credit equal to 11% of salary and wages paid to Canadian residents or taxable Canadian corporations (for amounts paid to employees who are Canadian residents) for services provided to the production in Canada. This refundable tax credit has no cap on the amount that can be claimed, and it is available to taxable Canadian corporations or foreign-owned taxable corporations with a permanent establishment in Canada.

EXEC. DIRECTOR
Alan Brooks

The Alberta Motion Picture Industries Association (AMPIA) is a non-profit professional service association serving the independent motion picture production community in the province of Alberta. AMPIA was founded in 1973 with the single aim of furthering the independent motion picture industry as a viable economic and cultural force within the province.

Historically, AMPIA has been recognized and called upon to serve as a voice for the Alberta film and video industries. In 1994 the Association strengthened this voice by expanding its membership to include a broader base of industry professionals within its voting membership. Likewise, the organization expanded the size and scope of the AMPIA Board of Directors to reflect the various sectors of this dynamic industry.

A monthly newsletter, Keep It Rolling, goes out to more than 500 people in the film industry, both members and non-members of AMPIA. Other Association activities include industry advocacy, professional development and information services.

CANADIAN PICTURE PIONEERS

21 Dundas Sq., Ste. 906, Toronto, ON M5B 1B7
(416) 368-1139, FAX: (416) 368-1130

The Canadian Picture Pioneers was formed in 1940 as an organization dedicated to the welfare of all men and women of the motion picture industry. It has grown to its present-day strength of over 900 members in six branches across the country.

Original membership requirements called for 25 years of service in the industry. This period of service has now been reduced to 15 years. Anyone qualifies for membership – doorman, cashier, caretaker, manager, projectionist, booker, etc. Its Trust Fund helps members of the film industry by, for example, frequently paying additional costs not covered by a health insurance plan and providing for wheelchairs and special treatments.

Aims & Objectives

To create and promote friendly relations among those who have been or are engaged in or connected with the motion picture industry.

To create and promote friendly relations and understanding between the public and those engaged in or connected with the motion picture industry.

To aid those in need who were formerly in the motion picture industry without requiring repayment of any kind from the recipient.

Pioneer of the Year Award – In 1952 the Canadian Picture Pioneers marked the Golden Anniversary of the Silver Screen in Canada, dating it from the establishment of the first successful motion picture theatre – the Electric of John Schulberg on Cordova Street, Vancouver, which he opened in the fall of 1902. At the celebration banquet, held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, Schulberg, Jule Allen of Toronto, George Ganetakos of Montréal, A.J. Mason of Springhill, Nova Scotia, Léo-Ernest Ouimet of Montréal and Fred G. Spencer of Saint John, New Brunswick, were honoured as pre-1910 pioneers who had done the most to advance the motion picture as a popular form of entertainment in its early days.

The next year, the Pioneer of the Year Award was inaugurated.

The most recent appointees were:

2000 - John Bailey

2001 - Doug Isman
