QUIGLEY PUBLISHING COMPANY

This year, as Quigley Publishing Company celebrates its 90th Anniversary and the 50th Edition of the International Television & Video Almanac, we wanted to share a little of our history.

Martin J. Quigley was a 25-year-old drama critic for a major Chicago newspaper in 1915 when he went to see "The Birth of A Nation." He was so enthralled by this new medium and art form that he quit his job and started a publishing company dedicated to the Film Industry, Quigley Publishing Company. He started publishing a weekly, Exhibitors Herald, that year. By 1930 he acquired the other two major weeklies in the Industry, Moving Picture World and Motion Picture News and merged them into Motion Picture Herald. Predecessor publications such as The Bicycle And Nickelodeon Gazette, which started in 1909, were also acquired. In many ways, our corporate history mirrors the growth of the Entertainment Industry during the 20th Century.

Martin J. Quigley was a close friend and trusted confidant of all the early moguls including Cecil B. de Mille, Howard Hughes, Samuel Goldwyn, Darryl F. Zanuck, Walt Disney, Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg, Harry Cohn, and Jack and Harry Warner. He authored the Motion Picture Production Code. He was the publisher of all the Quigley Publications from the Company founding in 1915 to his death in 1964. His intimate knowledge of the Business and the players is reflected in the millions of words of editorial that he wrote personally as well as the writings of the employees of the Company through the years.

Martin Quigley, Jr. started to work for the Company in 1939. He is the author of Magic Shadows-The Story Of The Origin Of Motion Pictures and co-wrote Films In America. He was editor of New Screen Techniques. Initially a reporter and film reviewer, he was editor of the Motion Picture Herald from 1949 to 1966. From then to 1972, he was editorial director of Motion Picture Daily. He has been the editor and publisher of the International Motion Picture Almanac and International Television & Video Almanac for three decades, and was President and Publisher of the Company from 1964 to the 2001. Martin Quigley, Jr., is the dean of American film journalists and historians.

The Motion Picture Daily had a Radio Column from 1930 and began to report on the business of television when the first broadcast was premiered at the New York World's Fair in 1939. When the Industry started to develop in earnest after World War II, a TV section was added to The Motion Picture Daily. Similarly, our annual magazine, Fame, started as an audit of motion picture personalities in 1933 and added television personalities in the late 1940s. We started publishing the International Television Almanac in 1955, changed its name to The International Television & Video Almanac in 1986, and have documented the evolution of the various delivery and distribution systems that created the broadcast, cable, home video and satellite businesses ever since.

As we celebrate our 90th year in this business, we remember our history and all those that have contributed so much to our Company and the Industry they loved.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

BY WILLIAM J. QUIGLEY

Early in 2004, during the Super Bowl halftime show, Janet Jackson's, "wardrobe malfunction," ignited a firestorm that has left many broadcast executives shaking their heads, puzzled about how to operate a business that has attracted the government's ire, yet is losing share to cable and satellite, which are relatively unregulated. Many fundamental questions were raised this year about such issues as Dan Rather's and CBS' involvement in the pre-election broadcast about President Bush's National Guard service, as well as the corresponding partisan attack of the Swift Boat Veterans. Howard Dean's primal scream, played relentlessly in the media, effectively ended his viability as a candidate for President. Michael Moore's "Fahrenheit 911," Sinclair's airing of an anti-Kerry broadcast and many other examples from both sides of the aisle that were intended to affect the outcome of the Presidential election, became huge topics for the media. These incidents illustrate the transformation that was taking place in media during 2004.

Corporations are given the privilege of using the public airwaves in exchange for agreeing to act in the public interest. But the definitions of what exactly constitutes the public interest are changing. This undercurrent of balancing the public's interest with media companies' desire to get viewers and make a profit is an important factor in the forces that are reshaping media this year, and will well into the future.

The challenge of attracting and keeping an audience, differences regarding the programming and content of various media delivery systems and serious questions about society's control of that content were themes that ran throughout the entire year. "What happened to family viewing?" was the question asked on Main Street and thundering from Capitol Hill and the FCC. That commission's aggressive pursuit of "coarse" and "indecent" speech and images, coupled with unprecedented fines imposed and threats of further actions, have chilled broadcasters. In the face of uncertain guidelines, broadcast executives are policing themselves in the hope that Congress will not regulate them further.

Back when there were only three networks, the goal was to offer the least objectionable shows, that appealed to the broadest possible audience. This tended to create mass appeal, but fairly homogenized programs, with obvious societal drawbacks. Lack of viable alternatives for the audience insured that the networks would all toe that line. Cable and satellite, which are relatively free from government oversight, changed that forever. They can show almost anything they want. This helped create the extraordinary diversity in subject matter and content currently available to the public. It also forced broadcasters to try to figure out how to compete with the more adult and special interest programming available on cable and satellite that is chipping away at network share. That process created many controversial moments for media during 2004, including the aforementioned Super Bowl incident and perhaps epitomized by Howard Stern's announced migration to satellite radio to avoid censorship. However, even though cable is not subject to the same federal regulations as broadcast on indecency, recently the commercial cable channels have been trying to self-regulate their content, primarily so that advertisers are not offended.

It seems clear that with the plethora of program choices, the audience is not really that aware of whether they are watching networks, basic or premium cable or satellite. Nor do they really care about the delivery system, as long as it is seamless. What they do want to do is control their content and their time. All media companies face a market that is changing rapidly and in an era where the viewer is more likely to "time shift" and do their own personal programming of their leisure hours, every form of media needs to innovate and push boundaries to attract and keep an increasingly fractionalized audience.

BROADCAST

The business model for the broadcast networks remains a problem; backend profits and audiences are declining, and although 90% of original series programming is funded by the networks, they have no share of the immense revenue stream generated by that viewership on satellite or cable. Also, since most new shows have such a short window in which to attract an audience, it is difficult to make bold programming choices. Audiences seem to have little patience for the glut of copycat programs rushed onto the air, but the favorable production price and the ongoing delivery of a young audience for strong shows like "Survivor," mean that reality shows will not be going away anytime soon.

In 2004, it seems that most of the programming was dominated by reality shows or procedural shows, primarily produced by Messrs. Bruckheimer or Wolf. Network programmers are scrambling to find the latest reality concept or scripted procedural drama to strengthen their lineup. It is noteworthy that reality TV programs may have begun to falter. Audiences are down for "The Benefactor," "The Bachelor," and "The Apprentice." And, "The Next Great Champ" and "The Last Comic Standing" have already been relegated to cable.

ABC overhauled its executive ranks during 2004 after enduring a horrible season last year. Ironically, the biggest hits of the new schedule including, "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Boston Legal" were picked by the very executives who were sacked, Lloyd Braun and Susan Lyne. Part of the network's problem had been the inability to find a scripted megahit on the order of "CSI" or "Law & Order." It now looks like they have them. ABC also did a much better job of scheduling its new shows this year as compared to last year, where it placed one of the best new shows, "Karen Sisco" against the NBC hit "Law and Order," where it promptly got clobbered. "Lost" is doing very well against "60 Minutes," NBC's "Hawaii" and Fox's slipping "That 70s Show." Programming "Desperate Housewives" and "Boston Legal" on Sunday nights was very savvy. "Wife Swap" and "Extreme Makeover" have also been a strong performers. It has been an exciting time around ABC this Fall, and network executives are excited about the opportunity to build on the success into 2005.

CBS only launched five new shows for the Fall Season including "CSI: NY," reflecting their ratings strength during 2004. All of these five benefitted from strong lead-ins, with the exception of the "CSI: NY," brand extension, which faced and did extremely well against "Law & Order" on Wednesday nights. It seems that CBS seems intent on making as few changes as possible to what has been their winning formula. One major concern is that "Everybody Loves Raymond" is in its last season and neither of the new comedies, "Listen Up" nor "Center of the Universe" will be able to replace it. However, perhaps emblematic of CBS' confidence, Les Moonves brought back the "Tiffany Network" label saying, "The title of the Tiffany network, because of the quality of our shows and our performance, once again rings true."

NBC has won eight of the last nine seasons by delivering 18-49-year-old viewers in abundance. What a difference a year makes. Since then, NBC has lost 12% of its prime time viewership and "Must See TV," that once owned Thursday nights, has been shaky. "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" has lost almost 20% of its 18-49 year old against "Desperate Housewives" and "CSI: NY" has taken a 25% bite out of the original "Law & Order." NBC knew that this season would be challenging with two tentpoles, "Friends" and "Frasier," ending and shows such as "The West Wing," "Law & Order" and "ER" showing their age. Additionally, Tom Brokaw announced his retirement after 38 years with NBC News. "The Apprentice" is not what it was last year and the two new crime dramas, "Hawaii" and "LAX" have been disappointing, as has been the CGI effects-laden, "Father of the Pride." On a positive note, "Joey" has gotten off to a steady start and if the "Law & Order" spin-off works, NBC will still have a good lineup going into 2005.

Fox tried something innovative again this year and launched a very ambitious summer schedule; two sitcoms, two dramas and two reality shows. This was done because the October baseball playoffs preclude a regular September launch for new Fox shows. In all, Fox will have launched 15 new programs this year. Fox headed into the Fall with audiences happy with "Method & Red" and "North Shore" and very excited about "Trading Spouses" and "Quintuplets."

Red Sox fever carried over for Fox from the playoffs into the World Series, which attracted 31% more viewers than last year. With the strong return of "The Simpsons" and "The OC" in November and the return of the hit, "American Idol" in January, Fox is poised for another strong year. As the WB approached its tenth anniversary, there have been major executive changes, most notably the departure of Jamie Kellner, and much concern about the ratings decline of the last two seasons. With new chairman Garth Ancier installed, the WB saw good ratings this summer with "Blue Collar TV" and "Summerland" and are looking forward to a combination of older staples such as "Smallville," "Charmed," "Steve Harvey's Big Time," and the newcomer, "Jack and Bobby" to bring a more sharply defined programming strategy to the WB.

UPN has considerably upgraded the quality of its programming and has attracted talent such as Tyra Banks in "Top Model," Joel Silver with "Veronica Mars" and Missy Elliott. With reality smash "Top Model," and the surprisingly strong, "Amish in the City," UPN had substantial momentum going into the Fall season. Programming "Kevin Hill" following lead-in "Top Model" gave the former a nice boost.

CABLE

Last year, the top 60 basic-cable stations drew a larger share of prime-time viewers than did the six networks. With cable launching some of its biggest shows this past June, such as "Six Feet Under" and "Nip/Tuck," the networks programming of reruns and reality shows has not stemmed the migration of the audience to cable during the summer and that strategy needs to be revisited. Shows such as the Discovery Channel's "American Chopper," USA's "Monk," "The Dead Zone" and "4400," and Comedy Central's "Reno 911" all delivered as did Sci Fi's "Stargate Atlantis." "The Daily Show" with their "fake news" coverage of the presidential race, gave more thought provoking insight than did most news programs. "Da Ali G Show" show became a guilty pleasure for many viewers.

A stark illustration of cable's growing influence came during the Democratic convention where cable news networks reached an impressive 8.8 million viewers compared to the broadcast networks 15.5 million audience. Clearly the cable stations have the airtime needed to provide much more extensive coverage than the networks, but a key difference was the obvious insertion of partisan politics into the mix. Fox News has Bill O'Reilly and Sean Hannity; CNN has former Clinton advisor, James Carville; MSNBC has Joe Scarborough; and the list goes on. Unfortunately, all this enhanced coverage did not do much to inform viewers or enhance the political dialogue for the public. Much of the coverage focused on the candidates' "likability" and inflammatory "attack" accusations and not on the real issues that affect voters' lives. A 24-hour news cycle and the emergence of much noticed political comment from bloggers exacerbated the feeding frenzy. This is a trend much in evidence in an election year. Whether it continues, remains to be seen.

Cable networks have been able to push the envelope creatively with shows such as "The Sopranos" and "Six Feet Under" and original programming is growing, but movies remained an extremely important part of the mix. The bulk of the programming on G.E.'s USA Network and Time Warner's TNT and TBS still comes from theatrical films. The fact that cable rates have risen by more than 50% in the last eight years is somewhat of a surprise given the increased competition from satellite and the prospect of telephone companies entering the cable-TV business. Studies show that where there is competition among cable services, prices are 15% less. Perhaps paying more attention to customer service and the industry's transition to digital technology, which allowed cable companies to expand channel selections and add cable modems, video-on-demand and high-definition, has been the strategy for dealing with competition from satellite and the phone companies. Despite the intense competition from the phone company's digital subscriber lines (DSL), cable Internet access remains a popular choice. Currently, there are also over 3.7 million people using cable for phone service utilizing Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP).

Telephone companies are now jumping into an already crowded market. Cable and satellite companies already deliver hundreds of channels and high-speed Internet access to 80% of the country. The entry of Telecoms will probably just cannibalize existing services. It is clear that the Telecoms want to offer video services as a strategy, now that cable companies are offering phone service, but it may prove to be rolled out, too little, too late.

SATELLITE

DirecTV is the nation's largest satellite provider with more than 13.4 million subscribers and, since Rupert Murdoch took control late last year, the News Corp. subsidiary has grabbed more than one million subscribers from cable. The number two company, EchoStar Communications, also grew at the expense of cable and had over 10 million subscribers by the end of 2004. However, this growth has come at a substantial cost. DirecTV and EchoStar are heavily discounting DVRs and digital set-top boxes to attract subscribers. Additionally, DirecTV triggered huge losses when three new satellites designed to provide Internet access were converted to provide bandwidth for high-definition TV. Customer churn has also been an issue as both companies are spending increasing amounts to acquire and retain customers, yet the churn has increased to almost 2% of the base annually.

Interestingly, both major satellite companies have entered into alliances with telephone companies. EchoStar has reported that it has gained a sizable number of subscribers from its partnership with SBC Communications, which is bundling the Dish service with its phone and broadband DSL Internet-access service in a number of markets. They also entered into similar partnerships with Qwest Communications and the Internet service provider, Earthlink. DirecTV has entered into an arrangement with BellSouth in which its services are offered to the BellSouth's customers.

Satellite's competitive advantage over cable mostly has had to do with better customer satisfaction, better perceived picture quality, primarily because it delivers all channels digitally, and more stable pricing. The main difference for customers is that while DirecTV and the Dish Network offer local channels in at least 60 cities, satellite providers only offer the local affiliates of the major networks and do not offer the community access and other local channels found on cable.

DVD & HOME VIDEO

The march of DVDs supplanting VHS in the nation's homes continued in 2004. The DVD industry has turned into a $25 billion a year juggernaut. In fact, it will not be long before the only things available to rent at the local video store, other than video games, will be DVDs. Rental revenue for VHS declined by more than 44% from last year. A movie now released on tape will do about half the business that it would have done last year. This extraordinary fall is happening even though there are many more titles and other content than just movies available. Studios report that in addition to replacing VHS sales with DVDs, DVD revenue grew over 13% in 2004.

Blockbuster's first earnings reported since it was spun off from Viacom were problematic as it took a $1.5 billion write off and reported a net loss of $1.4 billion. The company cited a slowdown in rentals and losses due to investments in new business, such as the aforementioned online DVD service. CEO John Antioco reported in an investor conference call that, "Our success hinges on our ability to transition Blockbuster from a store where you go to rent movies to a brand where you go to rent, buy or trade movies and games, new or used, in-store or online."

Big box retail stores are now responsible for the bulk of the business and generate fully two thirds of all DVD sales nationwide. Wal-Mart alone does 35% of the market's revenue. However, with the huge annual increase of new users powering double digit growth of DVDs the last few years, it remains to be seen if the player market has maxed out at 70 million homes. Regardless, hits like "Shrek 2" and "Spider-Man 2" will break unit sales records this Christmas. The Studios all expect to establish records over the holidays.

Netflix, Inc.'s business model and success in capturing a significant part of the audience that abhorred late fees and liked the convenience of their mail-in selections, attracted significant response from Blockbuster who reduced the fees for its mail-in service to $17.49. This came immediately after Netflix cut their price from $21.99 to $17.99 and anticipates the entry of Amazon into this market. Wal-Mart also entered the fray by under-pricing all of them in November, although this service is only a small part of its DVD business.

While feature films are still the driver of sales, the fastest growing segment of this business is putting TV shows on DVD. Starting only two years ago, sales of TV-to-DVD will surpass $2 billion in consumer sales this year. Retailers such as Wal-Mart, Target and Best Buy continue to use films as loss leaders to lure customers into their stores, pricing many hot titles under $10, but they love the premium prices and higher margins of TV multi-disc packages.

DIGITAL TELEVISION AND NEW TECHNOLOGY

Ironically, the push for digital TV originated as a way to differentiate broadcast from cable and satellite, with broadcasters trying to position multicasting and on-demand services as key points of difference. The government expected the stations to use the digital spectrum to broadcast in high-definition. But the stations learned that they could divide the digital signal into four or more channels, given them the potential of multicasting as many as four channels in the same market. Less than 4 million of the nation's hundred plus million sets are equipped with built-in HDTV receivers, connected to cable set-top boxes, or satellite boxes that include an antenna to pick up local TV. Because so few households have digital capable sets, broadcast digital TV remains more of a promise than a line of business.

In response to the 9/11 Commission's recommendations, Senator McCain introduced a bill which sets a deadline of January 1, 2009, for broadcasters to give up the analog spectrum to free up airwaves so that police and firefighters can communicate during an emergency. Given that most of the viewing public has not bought digital TVs, this explains why broadcasters are reluctant to abandon their analog channels.

The FCC also wants to grant slices of the airwaves to a host of wireless products, including high-speed Wi-Fi networks, Blackberries, and computer printers in addition to the unlicensed consumer products that already crowd the spectrum, including remote controls, cordless phones and garage door openers. This is important because analog transmissions are a lot more tolerant of interference than digital ones are, where even a small amount of interference can wipe out the signal.

90 YEARS

QUIGLEY PUBLISHING COMPANY

This year, as Quigley Publishing Company celebrates its 90th Anniversary and the 50th Edition of the International Television & Video Almanac, we wanted to share a little of our history.

Martin J. Quigley was a 25-year-old drama critic for a major Chicago newspaper in 1915 when he went to see "The Birth of A Nation." He was so enthralled by this new medium and art form that he quit his job and started a publishing company dedicated to the Film Industry, Quigley Publishing Company. He started publishing a weekly, Exhibitors Herald, that year. By 1930 he acquired the other two major weeklies in the Industry, Moving Picture World and Motion Picture News and merged them into Motion Picture Herald. Predecessor publications such as The Bicycle And Nickelodeon Gazette, which started in 1909, were also acquired. In many ways, our corporate history mirrors the growth of the Entertainment Industry during the 20th Century.

Martin J. Quigley was a close friend and trusted confidant of all the early moguls including Cecil B. de Mille, Howard Hughes, Samuel Goldwyn, Darryl F. Zanuck, Walt Disney, Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg, Harry Cohn, and Jack and Harry Warner. He authored the Motion Picture Production Code. He was the publisher of all the Quigley Publications from the Company founding in 1915 to his death in 1964. His intimate knowledge of the Business and the players is reflected in the millions of words of editorial that he wrote personally as well as the writings of the employees of the Company through the years.

Martin Quigley, Jr. started to work for the Company in 1939. He is the author of Magic Shadows-The Story Of The Origin Of Motion Pictures and co-wrote Films In America. He was editor of New Screen Techniques. Initially a reporter and film reviewer, he was editor of the Motion Picture Herald from 1949 to 1966. From then to 1972, he was editorial director of Motion Picture Daily. He has been the editor and publisher of the International Motion Picture Almanac and International Television & Video Almanac for three decades, and was President and Publisher of the Company from 1964 to the 2001. Martin Quigley, Jr. is the dean of American film journalists and historians.

The Motion Picture Daily had a Radio Column from 1930 and began to report on the business of television when the first broadcast was premiered at the New York World's Fair in 1939. When the Industry started to develop in earnest after World War II, a TV section was added to The Motion Picture Daily. Similarly, our annual magazine, Fame, started as an audit of motion picture personalities in 1933 and added television personalities in the late 1940's. We started publishing the International Television Almanac in 1955, changed its name to The International Television & Video Almanac in 1986, and have documented the evolution of the various delivery and distribution systems that created the broadcast, cable, home video and satellite businesses ever since.

As we celebrate our 90th year in this business, we remember our history and all those who have contributed so much to our Company and the Industry they loved.

CORPORATE HISTORIES OF THE NETWORKS

ABC, INC. (AMERICAN BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

ABC's predecessor, the Radio Corporation of America (RCA) owned two radio networks, the Blue and the Red. In 1941, the FCC decreed that the same company could not own two networks, so RCA incorporated the Blue under the name of American Broadcasting System and established it as an independent subsidiary. RCA then sold this network to Edward J. Noble, and in 1944, the name was changed to the American Broadcasting Company. ABC's first television broadcast was on April 19, 1948 with "On the Corner." Later in the year, ABC scored two "firsts": the live broadcast of an opera (Verdi's "Otello") from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and a TV documentary, "The Marshall Plan." ABC merged with United Paramount Theatres in 1952. This merger was engineered by Leonard H. Goldenson, then the president of UPT. The new company was called American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc. During the 1950s, ABC began to operate at a profit although it had to struggle fiercely to acquire new affiliates. In 1954, ABC made a deal with Walt Disney to acquire a 35% interest in Disneyland and all TV programs produced by Disney. The following year, ABC signed an exclusive rights contract with Warner Bros. for TV programming.

In the Fall of 1962, ABC introduced color programming for the fall season which was expanded in 1966 to include full color broadcasting. In 1965, AB-PT's name was changed to American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. The 1960s also introduced blockbuster theatrical movies to TV with spectacular ratings results when "The Bridge on the River Kwai" was viewed (in 1966) by 60 million Americans. In 1967, the ABC evening news was expanded from 15 minutes to a half-hour, and Joey Bishop inaugurated ABC's late-night talk show programming.

In 1972, ABC was able to operate at a profit for the first time in ten years. In the 1976-77 season, ABC had its first win in the ratings race. In 1976, Barbara Walters joined ABC, becoming the first anchorwoman in television history. The mini-series "Roots" appeared on ABC in 1977 and became the highest-rated program of all time. This helped immensely in the ratings race, and credit must go in large part to Fred Silverman who, two years before, had joined the company as president of ABC International. He left in 1978 to go to NBC.

The decade of the Eighties was a turbulent one for the networks as cable and home video began whittling away their audiences. In 1985, ABC agreed to be purchased by Capital Cities Communications. The merged company's name was changed to Capital Cities/ABC, Inc. ABC held second place in the ratings from 1979 to 1983, when it dropped to third position. It was unable to rise from third until 1987-88 when it displaced CBS in second place, primarily because of the World Series and the Superbowl. It remained second in 1988-89 and 1989-90. In the latter season, ABC had the distinction of broadcasting the most talked-about new series of the period, "Twin Peaks," and the highest-rated new series, "America's Funniest Home Videos."

Daniel B. Burke replaced Frederick J. Pierce as president and chief operating officer. There were also sweeping reductions in personnel in the interests of economy and streamlining. Budget cuts notwithstanding, Capital Cities/ABC chairman Thomas Murphy pledged ABC would not scrimp on programming.

Profits at the end of 1990 rose about $70 million. Of the three networks, ABC won the ratings battle in news coverage of the war in the Persian Gulf. For two seasons in a row the network could boast having the only new series in the top ten: "America's Funniest People" (1990-91) and "Home Improvement" (1991-92). Capital Cities/ABC is a partner in ESPN, the highly successful cable TV sports channel, and two other cable TV services—Arts & Entertainment and Lifetime. ABC was the only network in the 1992-93 season to gain ground, moving into second place behind CBS, from its previous third place standing. During the season, Robert A. Iger became the new network president. The network was the first to sign a deal with a cable operator (in this case Continental Cablevision) allowing its stations to be carried on cable without paying a fee. In 1994, the company signed an affiliation deal with E.W.Scripps Company to switch several of their stations over to ABC.

The big event of 1995 was the $19 billion acquisition of Capital Cities/ABC by the Walt Disney Company, said to be the second largest corporate takeover in history. In 1997, Ted Harbert resigned as entertainment chairman of ABC after 20 years with the network. At the end of the 1996-97 season, "Roseanne," one of ABC's sitcom staples, was discontinued after nine years on the air. The producers of ABC's "Home Improvement" sued the program's distributor, Walt Disney, alleging that a $3 million-per-episode renewal was in essence a sweetheart deal benefiting Disney. A lawsuit against the ABC news program Prime Time Live by the supermarket chain Food Lion for trespass, fraud and breach of fiduciary duty was decided in favor of the supermarket by a North Carolina jury. Producers for the evening news magazine got themselves hired undercover as clerks by the chain in order to expose the sales of spoiled food and unsanitary food handling practices by Food Lion, which did not dispute the findings of the investigative report, but instead claimed that the practice of sending in undercover reporters constituted fraud.

ABC's ratings soared when it broke the news in January 1998 that sex allegations were made by intern Monica Lewinsky against President Clinton. Apparently continuing a trend started by the O.J. Simpson trial and elevated by the death of Princess Diana in September 1997, news proved very successful in attracting viewers. Despite its brief victory in the ratings war, the network was scheduled to go through a complete transformation for the 1998-99 season, after losing its number two slot among 18-49 year olds to Fox. For the new season, the network was to introduce remakes of old shows such as "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "Fantasy Island," have "Sports Night" for male viewers, and air about 20 made-for-TV movies and miniseries.

ABC finished third in the 1998-1999 ratings war, despite their relentless self-promotion and critical acclaim for new shows like "Sports Night." With the 1999 departure of the embattled Jamie Tarses, it remained to be seen whether ABC's next programmer would be able to resurrect the network's ratings.

ABC's only blue-chip program was Monday Night Football, for which Disney paid the NFL $9.2 billion through the year 2005. In July, 1999, in an effort to reduce programming expenses, Disney combined ABC with Disney's television-production studio in order to slot more shows made by Disney onto ABC's prime-time schedule.

In the 1999-2000 season, ABC hit the jackpot with its American spin-off of the British "Who Wants to Be A Millionaire." For the season ending May 24, "Millionaire" took the top three spots in the ratings with its Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday programs, garnering a 29-, 26- and 25-share respectively.

In the 2000-2001 season, "Millionaire's" popularity waned somewhat. Through November 5, 2000, the show was averaging a 20 share, a significant drop. ABC depended on the show to anchor its programming and generate revenue. With spring upfront ad sales estimated at $1.2 billion, about half of ABC's revenue, ABC executives and advertisers had their fingers crossed.

After surging to number 1 in the 1999-2000 season with "Who Wants To Be A Millionaire," ABC saw its audience drop off, causing the network to fall to number 4 (behind NBC, CBS, and FOX) in overall ratings for the 2001-02 season.

Adding to the network's woes in 2001, ABC was reeling from the worst ad market in years. Buffeted by the Sept. 11 attacks, ABC, CBS and NBC collectively suffered a record loss of $880 million in advertising revenues for the third quarter, a slide of 28.6% from the same period in 2000.

ABC was stung by a number of high-profile disappointments in the fall 2001 season, including "Bob Patterson" and "What About Joan" which were cancelled. ABC is reallocating budget resources in order to develop about a dozen comedies, some of which may help the network recover its viewership in the spring of 2002. Also cancelled after only two weeks on the air was "America.01," the ABC News magazine devoted to covering the changes in the country after Sept. 11. The newsmagazine, which premiered on Nov. 2, was created in order to fill the gap left by reality show "The Mole," which was put on hiatus because of low ratings.

ABC Television Network ranked behind NBC and CBS for the 2001-02 season, and almost lost its third place spot in a ratings battle with FOX. In 2002-03, ABC expected to woo younger audiences with its new season of "The Bachelor."

The network had a few more programming building blocks in 2003-04, including the building "According to Jim" and "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teenage Daughter," which generated a lot of interest and ratings due to the untimely death of John Ritter. ABC sold $2.3 billion of prime-time advertising up-front, which was 15% higher than 2002. Thanks to improvement at ABC, Disney's media operations, which include ESPN and the Disney Channel, brought in $841 million in operating profit for the period ending June 30th. Ratings for the first part of the new television season were flat to the previous year.

ABC overhauled its executive ranks during 2004. Ironically, the biggest hits of the new schedule including, "Desperate Housewives," "Lost" and "Boston Legal" were picked by the very executives who were sacked, Lloyd Braun and Susan Lyne. Part of the network's problem had been the inability to find a scripted megahit on the order of "CSI" or "Law & Order." It now looks like they have them. The opening week of November sweeps brought good news for ABC and broadcast television overall. "Lost" captured Wednesday and helped ABC be one of only two networks to show a ratings increase in key demos vs. 2003's opening week. (CBS was the other net showing improvement.) According to reports in "Variety," the combined six network 18-49 averages in the first week of the November sweep (19.0 rating/50 share) ranked ahead of the previous year (18.3/49), which was good news considering the steady flight of viewers to off-network programming.

CBS (COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM, INC.)

CBS began in 1927 as a radio network with 16 stations, United Independent Broadcasters, Inc., founded by Arthur Judson, a concert tour manager and backed by Louis Sterling, president of the Columbia Phonograph Company. Later other investors were invited in, the most prominent of whom was William S. Paley. On September 26, 1928, at the age of 27, Paley became president of the firm whose name was changed to the Columbia Broadcasting System. Paley introduced many innovations to radio broadcasting, the most significant of which was the signing of an agreement in 1931 with Paramount Pictures whereby film stars were heard on radio for the first time. This laid the groundwork for the CBS policy in television from the outset to feature shows built around stars (Ed Sullivan, Lucille Ball, Arthur Godfrey, Jack Benny, Burns & Allen, Garry Moore, etc.).

CBS was in TV as early as 1931 when it began regularly scheduled TV programming over experimental station W2XAB in New York City. In 1941, CBS began weekly broadcasts of black-and-white TV programming over WCBS-TV in New York. By 1948, it had 30 affiliated stations.

In 1951, CBS broadcast the first live coast-to-coast TV transmission between New York and San Francisco. 1951 was also the year that William Golden designed the CBS Eye which was destined to become one of the most famous logos in the world.

In 1952 CBS opened Television City in Hollywood—the industry's first self-contained TV production facility. "Playhouse 90" made its debut in 1956, but the big event of the decade was the 1951 debut of "I Love Lucy", a series regarded as the progenitor of the situation comedy. In the field of soap operas, CBS was both leader and winner, virtually monopolizing that market from 1951 to 1956. In 1951, it introduced "Search for Tomorrow," which was to become the longest-running show in that genre. This was followed by "Love of Life" (1951) and "The Guiding Light" (1952), both overnight hits.

In the late '50s and through the '60s and '70s, CBS reigned as king of prime-time ratings, maintaining its long-running lead with such successes as "Gunsmoke" (1957), "The Defenders" (1961), "The Beverly Hillbillies" (1962), "All in the Family" (1972) and "Dallas" (1978). Also helping was "60 Minutes" the news-oriented show which, by 1995, had remained in the Top Ten prime time shows for 18 consecutive seasons.

CBS began the turbulent 80s with a new president, Thomas Wyman (replacing John D. Backe).

In 1985, Ted Turner made an unfriendly bid for CBS, forcing the network to buy up 21% of its own stock to thwart the takeover. Laurence A. Tisch, a former theatre chain executive, had become the major stockholder in CBS when, in 1986, he instigated sweeping changes in the interests of cost-cutting and efficiency. 700 jobs were eliminated at the CBS Broadcast Group. Tisch also removed Wyman as president, named himself chief executive officer and induced founder William Paley to return to active duty as acting chairman of the board. It was quite a jolt to the company when, in 1985-86, it slipped to second place and stayed there through the following season.

In 1987-88, CBS came in third for the first time in TV history. In 1988, Tisch shuffled executive ranks again, naming Howard Stringer, previously president of CBS News, president of the Broadcasting Group. The networks new management team sought to devise a strategy to pull the network out of its decline in the prime-time ratings. Jeff Sagansky, former head of Tri-Star Pictures, was brought in as president of the entertainment division in 1990.

Starting in 1991-92, CBS became the number one network for three years in a row based on the success of such shows as "60 Minutes" (the number one show for both '91-92 and '92-'93), "Murphy Brown," "Murder She Wrote," and "Northern Exposure." CBS was hit hard by Fox's 1994 purchase of twelve stations from New World Communications, losing eight affiliates.

However, the following summer, Westinghouse Electric Corp. acquired the final independent network for $5.4 billion creating the largest collection of TV and radio stations in America. The 1994-95 season was a low point for the network as it plunged from number one to number three. By season's end, CBS had the dubious distinction of being the first of the three majors to fall into 4th place, coming in below Fox for the last week before the debut of the 1995-96 season. In late 1995, the venerable news program "60 Minutes" and CBS came under fire for refusing to air a controversial segment on the tobacco industry. Critics of CBS alleged that the network capitulated to the threat of legal action, rather than actual litigation. During this season the network placed third again. In 1997 CBS station group president Peter Lund was replaced by CBS radio president, Mel Karmazin. Continuing the unpleasant trend of the previous several years, CBS continued to lose viewers in all age groups except the 60+. In the middle of 1998, Mel Karmazin made public the restructuring of CBS. Because of the network's failure to turn a profit the radio and billboard companies which account for 60% of CBS' profits, were to be transferred to Infinity, thereby making the TV operations easier to sell, if need be. Infinity Broadcasting was sold by Karmazin to CBS in 1996 after trying to buy the Eye's radio stations himself.

Two years later, the company was several times its former size, and had the cash to grow even more as a result of the CBS deal. Although the CBS president denied considering a TV sale, others have admitted that the sale has not been ruled out. Because of the network's questionable future, president & CEO of CBS TV, Leslie Moonves, was pressured to deliver successful prime-time programming for the 1998-99 season. With the end of expensive shows such as "Cybill" and "Murphy Brown," Karmazin announced that the fall's lineup was considerably less costly than the previous year's. And, with shows such as "King of Queens" and "L.A. Docs" scheduled for the fall, analysts foresaw the possible resurrection of CBS.

In 1999, CBS merged with Viacom. Viacom paid $37 billion in stock for the network, making the combined company the third largest media group in the U.S. Mel Karmazin became the President & COO of Viacom under Chairman, Sumner Redstone.

CBS came in first in the 1998-99 ratings war, but still had a viewing demographic older than the 18-49-year-old group prized by advertisers. Many of its new shows, however, did attract a younger audience.

CBS renewed its contract for men's NCAA basketball, securing the lucrative franchise through 2013.

In the 1999-2000 season, CBS edged out NBC for second place in the ratings war.

CBS was number one in overall ratings for the 2000-2001 season and was ahead in November sweeps for 2001-2002. However, like the rest of the networks, CBS was affected by the September 11th attacks. Without placing an exact number on advertising losses, Viacom President and Chief Operating Officer Mel Karmazin said that the attacks resulted in a "considerable increase in costs at CBS News." He also said that the network would lose additional revenue from the cancellation of NFL games, rescheduling the Emmy Awards twice, and the delay of the fall season.

CBS continues to have the oldest demographic of the networks but has attracted younger viewers and the all important advertising dollars that come with them by way of "Survivor," its very popular reality show.

CBS placed second behind NBC in the 2001-02 TV ratings race after winning the rank of top-rated network for the 2000-01 season (barely edging the previous year's winner ABC).

The Tiffany network turned 75 in 2003 and is still usually the leader in total viewers. In spite of CBS' reputation, series such as Jerry Bruckheimer's two "CSI" series, "The Amazing Race," and "Cold Case" have brought more young viewers, but dependables like "60 Minutes" and "Everybody Loves Raymond" continue to make CBS the most traditional of the broadcast networks. Les Moonves pulled the Reagan miniseries in November after public outcry and a conservative backlash and used repeats of the two "CSI" series and "Without a Trace" to fill the holes.

CBS only launched five new shows for the Fall 2004 Season including "CSI: NY," reflecting their ratings strength during 2004. All of these five benefitted from strong leads, with the exception of the "CSI: NY," brand extension, which faced and did extremely well against "Law & Order" on Wednesday nights. CBS opened the November sweep with a record shattering performance, winning Thursday by its largest margin in viewers, adults 18-49 and adults 25-54 since 1987, according to Nielsen preliminary affiliate based ratings for Nov. 4.

Also during 2004, CBS' parent, Viacom, Inc., saw the departure of pres. and COO Mel Karmazin and the promotion of CBS chief Les Moonves, to co-pres. and co-COO of Viacom, alongside Tom Freston. Moonves still oversees the network which continues to deliver solid revenues. Viacom's television operations include: CBS & JPN television networks and stations; television production and syndication. During the third quarter of 2004, these operations saw revenues increase 5 percent to $2.0 billion from $1.9 billion, and operating income increase 7 percent to $389 million from $362 million. Growth was attributed to advertising revenue increasing by approximately 4 percent. Solid programming, increasing revenues and a stable management team allow CBS to continue its winning ways with viewers, advertisers and corporate shareholders.

FOX BROADCASTING COMPANY

Fox Broadcasting, a subsidiary of Rupert Murdoch's News Company and owner of Twentieth Century Fox, began broadcasting with the late night "Late Show with Joan Rivers" on October 9, 1986. The next year, on April 5, 1987, the fledgling network began prime-time broadcasts on Sunday nights only. The initial line-up consisted of "Married With Children" and "The Tracey Ullman Show," which featured animated interludes of a dysfunctional cartoon family named the Simpsons. Three new shows were added in the following weeks, including "21 Jump Street," which helped launch the career of actor Johnny Depp. In July of that year, Fox launched a Saturday night prime-time line-up. From 1989 to 1993, the network steadily added programming and expanded its prime time coverage to a full seven nights a week.

Originally the network aimed its programming at a young urban demographic. Particular attention was given to African-American-oriented programming, with comedy series such as "Roc," "Martin," "Living Single" and "In Living Color" (a weekly comedy-variety show which showcased not only the talents of Keenan Ivory Wayans and his brother Damon Wayans, but also comedian Jim Carrey). The youth market got its first soap opera with "Beverly Hills 90210", and its successful spin-off "Melrose Place." Fox consistently programmed "risky" shows, even in the face of boycotts, most notably aimed at "Married With Children" and "Beverly Hills 90210." The network, feeling strong about its programming, slotted "The Simpsons" against NBC's top-rated sitcom "The Cosby Show" in 1991.

The network was also actively pursuing sports programming. In 1993, Fox won the rights to NFL football for four years, including the rights to 1997's Super Bowl XXXI. In 1994, Fox acquired the rights to broadcast NHL hockey and in 1995, Fox signed an agreement with Major League Baseball to broadcast weekly games, the 1996, 1998 and 2000 World Series, and 1997 and 1999 All Star Games.

1994 saw the creation of FX Networks. In June, FX, a general entertainment basic cable network was launched, featuring marquee sports events, series and films. In October, fXM (Movies From Fox) was initiated to show Twentieth Century Fox films unedited and commercial free.

Also in 1994, Fox premiered "The X-Files," a fiction series dedicated to exploring the bizarre, the unusual and the paranormal, all with a slant aimed at conspiracy buffs. It took a season to achieve ratings success, but "The X-Files" has become one of the most popular series on Fox and is fast becoming the most imitated series on television. All of these programming decisions and experiments have paid off. In the 1994-95 broadcast season Nielsen ratings, Fox finished ahead of pioneer network CBS. Fox beat CBS yet again in November, 1995. On October 7, 1996, Fox launched the new Fox News Channel on cable.

With the appointment of Richard Cronin as president and CEO of the Fox Kids Broadcast network and Fox Family Channel, Fox will be targeting young viewers with "quirky" programs. In its effort to increase its viewership by attracting young people, Fox hopes to also increase the number of older adults watching along with the children. For the 1998-99 season, Fox moved up its prime-time slot on the Fox Family channel to begin at 6:00 p.m. instead of 8:00 p.m., and introduced four new dramas and two comedies, catering to the age group Fox is relying on to push up its ratings.

Fox continued to be the only network showing any real growth. Youth-oriented programming—the recipe for its past success—made up most of the 1999-2000 season. In 2000, Doug Herzog resigned as Fox entertainment president and his duties were assumed by Sandy Grushow. Fox cancelled the aging show "Beverly Hills 90210" for the 2000-2001 season, relying on David E. Kelley's "Boston Public" and a slate of new shows aimed at the key 18-35 demographic as well as a lock on Major League Baseball for $2.5 billion, starting with the 2001 season.

News Corp. agreed to buy the Chris-Craft station group squeezing out UPN, and Rupert Murdoch has said that a Fox 2 network is under consideration. Whether or not a Fox 2 Network is unveiled, it is certain that there will be no more "Who Wants to Marry A Millionaire" specials after the Darva Conger-Rick Rockwell debacle that left the network shame-faced and reeling.

In the 2001 season, Fox placed in the top three, edging out ABC for the first time. Fox TV Chairman, Brian Mulligan, resigned unexpectedly in November. For 2001-2002, Fox continued to cater to its young demographic with returning shows and new programs aimed at hooking the teen and twenty-something audience. Fox also chose to pick up the controversial "Temptation Island" for a second season, drawing unfavorable reviews from media watchdogs and critics alike.

News Corporation's TV revenue in 2003 was about flat to 2002 coming in at just over $1 billion. Higher profit at Fox's TV stations was offset by a ratings fall by Fox Broadcasting as it struggled to make up for last year's hit, "American Idol." The fall baseball series with a potential Red Sox

Cubs matchup and the Yankees, Marlins World Series led to strong ratings. "The Simpsons," "The Bernie Mac Show," "Malcolm In The Middle" and "Wanda At Large" continue to be stalwart performers.

Fox tried something innovative again this year and launched a very ambitious 2004 summer schedule: two sitcoms, two dramas and two reality shows. This was done because the October baseball playoffs preclude a regular September launch for new Fox shows. In all, Fox will have launched 15 new programs this year. Fox headed into the Fall with audiences happy with "Method & Red" and "North Shore" and very excited about "Trading Spouses" and "Quintuplets."

On November 12, 2004, Fox parent, News Corporation, completed its reincorporation from Australia to the United States. News Corporation, now a Delaware corporation, is the parent company of the News Corporation group of companies. News Corporation's primary share listing will be on the New York Stock Exchange, under the ticker symbols NWS for Class B (Voting) Common Stock and NWS.A for Class A (Non-voting) Common Stock, and the shares will trade on a regular-way basis. The News Corporation Limited had total assets as of June 30, 2004, of approximately US$52 billion and total annual revenues of approximately US$20 billion. News Corporation remains a diversified international media and entertainment company

NBC UNIVERSAL (FORMERLY NATIONAL BROADCASTING COMPANY, INC.)

NBC was an outgrowth of Radio Corp. of America, General Electric and Westinghouse. These three companies jointly launched a network in 1926 with 31 stations, 25 in a network called Red and 6 in a network called Blue. A year later, it was forced to sell the Blue network to ABC, keeping for itself the one known as Red. Television began for NBC in 1928, when on April 4, it acquired from the FCC a permit to operate an experimental station, W2XBS. Actual transmission from the Empire State Building did not begin until October 30, 1931. Eight years later, the network began broadcasting on a regular basis, beginning with the opening of the New York World's Fair on April 30, 1939.

NBC became a TV network on January 12, 1940, when two stations, WNBC-TV, New York, and WRGB-TV, Schenectady, New York, carried the first network programming. In June, 1941, the FCC granted NBC the first commercial TV license and a month later it had four advertisers signed up. After World War II, NBC scored two big "firsts." On June 19, 1946, Gillette became the first advertiser to sponsor a TV network show, the Joe Louis-Billy Conn boxing match. That same year, Bristol-Myers became the first sponsor of a network TV series, "Geographically Speaking." NBC can also claim to be the first to introduce coast-to-coast network TV coverage. On September 4, 1951, when the U.S.-Japanese peace treaty was signed in San Francisco, NBC cameras were on hand. In 1952, NBC pioneered early-morning programming when it introduced "The Today Show." NBC can also claim the first regularly scheduled network color series "The Marriage," launched in 1954. That same year it achieved the first west-to-east TV transmission with the telecast of the Tournament of Roses Parade in color.

At the start of the 1965-66 season, NBC declared it was the "only all-color network." In 1968, NBC introduced new forms of TV programming with "The Name of the Game," a series that incorporated feature-film elements into a 90-minute show. This then spawned the "NBC Mystery Movie."

In 1972, NBC broke new ground again when it introduced "The Tomorrow Show" shown from 1:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. This was a talk program and it demonstrated that in the early hours of the morning something more than re-runs and old movies could be shown. In 1974, another late-night show called "Weekend" was begun. The 1976 NBC telecast of "Gone with the Wind" drew the largest audience to that date for an entertainment program. In 1978, "Holocaust" attracted 107 million viewers and won 21 major awards. Such programs helped NBC in the ratings, but in 1976-77 it fell to third place, where it stayed until 1983-84.

Along with the other networks, NBC moved into a period of turmoil during the decade of the 80s, fighting off rising costs and competition from cable TV and home video. In 1986, General Electric Corporation purchased RCA (NBC's parent) for $6.28 billion; GE, it will be remembered, helped launch the radio network in 1926 which led to the development of NBC-TV.

This brought personnel changes led by the replacement of Grant A. Tinker as NBC chief executive officer by Robert Wright, although Wright was not given Tinker's chairman title; that being taken by John F. Welch of GE. Instead, Wright was named president as well as chief executive officer. Along with its competition, NBC started cutting staff and budgets in 1986. In 1984-85, NBC edged up to second place, and the following year it was ranked number one in prime-time viewing for the first time in the three decades of Nielsen ratings.

NBC held on to its first place standing for the following five seasons, through 1990-91. Long-time hit series in the five-year period included "The Golden Girls," "Cheers," and "The Cosby Show." Despite the network's number one standing, figures showed a steady decline in viewers. In May of 1991, Brandon Tartikoff, credited with pulling the network up from third place 11 years earlier, departed from NBC to become head of Paramount Pictures. When "The Cosby Show" ran its final first run episode on April 30, 1992, it became NBC's highest-rated series finale episode ever. The 1992 Summer Olympics also gave the network its widest ratings margin of all time. The 1994-95 season found NBC on top with its popular sitcom "Seinfeld" and the two most highly rated new series, "ER" and "Friends," both placing in the top ten. During the 1995-96 season, NBC was again ranked the number one network, with four of its Thursday night shows ranking in the overall top five. In the summer of 1996, NBC, in association with software giant Microsoft, launched a 24-hour cable and Internet news channel, MSNBC.

In October, 1997 the networks adopted an updated "voluntary" ratings system that uses the letters S, V, D, L, SV, which stand for sex, violence, suggestive dialogue, strong language and non-comedic fantasy violence in addition to the age rating. Only NBC and Black Entertainment Television refused to use the new system. Despite pressure from the White House, Congress and advocacy groups, the network had said that the ratings tread on its First Amendment right, and that there was no public outcry for the new system.

With its star show "Seinfeld" going off the air, NBC was faced in 1999 with the seemingly impossible task of finding a replacement. The network did manage to keep "ER," its other highly successful show, albeit at a draining cost of $13 million per episode. Keeping in line with the demand for news television, NBC's Dateline showed 6½ hrs. of programming about Princess Diana and her fatal accident.

In mid-1999, NBC had to ante up again to keep a hit show. The contract for "Friends" was renewed through 2002 at a cost of approximately $5 million per episode. In spite of NBC's attempts to rally after the loss of "Seinfeld," the network slipped to second place behind CBS in 1999. Ratings for its new prime-time shows did not look promising and the network needed another hit of the magnitude of "Seinfeld" to bring "Must See TV" back into American homes.

NBC had a tough year in 1999-2000, coming in third for the season. Perhaps worse than the ratings tumble were the embarrassing numbers during the Sydney Olympics. Various reasons for the poor viewership were cited, including the tape-delay that made it possible to get real-time Olympic results everywhere but NBC. In an effort to boost ratings, NBC executives demanded that Nielsen exclude the first half-hour of the Olympics' prime-time broadcast (7:00-7:30) from its calculations. That gambit did bring up numbers somewhat, but it's unlikely that the same tack will work during the primetime season which, with a few exceptions, looked dry.

In 2001-02, NBC faced the prospect of the Winter Olympics and the effect they would have on ratings. Elsewhere, NBC expanded the successful "Law and Order" franchise to include a third program, "Law and Order: Criminal Intent." Even with longtime hits like the original "Law and Order," "Friends," and "ER," NBC placed third in the 2000-01 ratings war. 2001 also saw the failure of NBC's attempt to become a force on the Internet with its NBC Internet (NBCi) venture. The company bought the 61% of NBCi it didn't already own and folded its operations. NBC now plans to court Hispanic viewers through its agreement to purchase Telemundo for $1.98 billion.

NBC took the top spot over CBS in the 2001-02 season ratings. The network improved its ratings in the 2001-02 season, after placing third in the 2000-01 season.

NBC remained the top network in adults 18-49 with the start of the 2003 fall season, as they have in eight of the last nine years. However, there is some concern about the future. Powerhouse programs "Friends" and "Frasier" ended in 2004 and NBC might have become overly dependent on the "Law & Order" franchise with its spin-offs; "Special Victims Unit" and "Criminal Intent. With a third spinoff on the way and reruns of the other three running nonstop on TNT and USA, it is hard not to think that NBC may be making the same mistake ABC did with "Millionaire." The big financial news of 2003 for NBC happened when parent General Electric Co. announced a deal to acquire the entertainment assets of Vivendi Universal SA, which includes Universal Studios and Universal Television, where Dick Wolf, the "Law & Order" creator is based.

Formed in May 2004 through the combining of NBC and Vivendi Universal Entertainment, NBC Universal is 80%-owned by General Electric, with 20% controlled by Vivendi Universal. The new NBC Universal hoped for the best when filling its 2004 fall lineup. Gone were perennial favorites "Friends" and "Frasier." The network relied heavily on the strength of returning dramas, reality programming and "Friends" spinoff, "Joey," to make it through November sweeps. During Nov. (primetime ratings week of Nov. 8-14) NBC finished a strong number two among adults 18-49 as "Fear Factor," "Las Vegas," "The Biggest Loser," "The West Wing," Friday's "Dateline NBC," "American Dreams" and "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" all set or equaled their season highs in 18-49, according to in-home viewing figures from Nielsen Media Research. Also in 2004, NBC news anchor Tom Brokaw announced he would retire from the network after 38 years on the job.

PAX TV

August 31st, 1998 marked the debut of PAX TV, the nation's seventh and newest broadcast network committed to airing family-friendly programming that includes original live-action series, daily entertainment and information shows, children's programming, as well as popular movies and off-network shows with proven audience appeal. PAX TV is a wholly-owned service of Paxson Communications Corp., a broadcasting company whose principal business is the ownership and operation of the largest broadcast television station group in the United States. Paxson Communications Corp. was an outgrowth of Paxson Broadcasting founded in 1991 by Lowell W. "Bud" Paxson, the co-founder and past president of the Home Shopping Network, Inc., who had been involved in the radio and electronic retailing business for nearly 40 years. Paxson Broadcasting, a Florida-based radio group, initially purchased four radio stations in the fourth quarter of 1991 which were AM/FM combos in Jacksonville and Tampa. Over the course of several years, the Company assembled a substantial statewide radio broadcasting group, and as a result of agreements it had in place on radio stations prior to the 1993 FCC rule change permitting radio duopolies, the Company was among the first to exercise its options and expand its duopoly holdings.

By 1994, the company sought to replicate in television its success in radio. Paxson looked to acquire two types of television properties: underperforming, undermanaged network affiliates and independent stations in major markets which broadcast long-form paid programming. In April, 1994, the company purchased the equipment and acquired an option to buy its first television property, an independent TV station in Miami. Paxson took his company public in November, 1994, through a reverse merger with the American Network Group, Inc., and subsequently moved the new company, Paxson Communications Corp., to the American Stock Exchange. By December of that same year, Paxson had owned or operated four stations, airing a variety of infomercial and long-form programming which by January, 1995, became known as the Infomall TV Network ("IN TV"). By purchasing independent television stations, entering into time-brokerage agreements, affiliating with stations and extending its broadcast reach on cable via "must carry" requirements, Paxson created a national television broadcasting distribution infrastructure providing long-form programming.

In March, 1997, the Supreme Court upheld the "must carry" legislation, and as a result, all of the company's broadcast stations were suddenly viable as a network and would remain accessible to cable television audiences. In June 1997, the company sold its entire radio interest to Clear Channel Communications in a tax-advantaged transaction. Also in June, the company acquired The Travel Channel an interest in which was in turn sold to Discovery Communications, Inc. later that year.

The company announced in November, 1997 that it would launch the seventh broadcast television network, at that time branded as PAX NET, on August 31st the following year. The network would feature off-network runs of popular shows including the CBS hit series, "Touched By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman," and "Diagnosis Murder," in addition to a number of original programs and theatrical and made-for-television movies.

Between the November announcement of PAX NET and the August 31st launch of PAX TV, the company acquired additional television stations and expanded its distribution through cable agreements. The company also added popular off-network and original shows, and hired a number of executives and hundreds of new employees. In May, 1998, the company announced the appointment of former CBS president, Jeff Sagansky, to the post of president and CEO and the election of William E. Simon, Jr. to the position of vice chairman for Paxson Communications Corp. Paxson also announced that the Simon family would make an equity investment in the company, and one month later, announced the completion of its offering of $275 million of Preferred Stock.

With PAX TV maintaining positive ratings, Paxson Communications Corp. will continue to focus on enhancing the distribution of its network and the quality of PAX TV's programming.

In 1999, NBC bought a 32% stake in Paxson's stations, with an option to acquire control in 2002 for an additional $1.2 billion. Paxson stations, currently without any news programming, will likely carry NBC news as well as NBC programming in secondary timeslots.

In 2000, Paxson continued to do well with its off-network programming, including "Touched By An Angel," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" and other family-friendly fare. Paxson reported a 25% increase in viewership in the first three weeks of the 2000-2001 season, and plans to continue with its current slate of programming augmented with made-for-TV movies.

Pax continued to enjoy growth in 2001, with its 2001-02 season off to a good start, showing a 57% increase in viewership over the previous year.

2002 was not so lucky, however. After NBC completed its acquisition of Telemundo, Paxson sued the network that holds a 32% stake of its company and then lost the subsequent arbitration action. Paxson's viewers are also slipping with only one program, "Sue Thomas F.B. Eye" showing growth and broadcast operations, as a whole, continuing to post losses every quarter.

In late 2002, Pax decided to close its Hollywood production and promotion offices, but with its significant station holdings remains on-air, despite its financial problems.

Pax TV greenlit 90 additional episodes of the game show "Shop 'Til You Drop" in 2003. Show, now in its fifth year on the web. Jeff Sagansky, the former CBS president, cut all ties with Pax TV in the summer of 2003. During 2003, Paxson owned and operated 61 broadcast TV stations, which reached all of the top 20 U.S. markets and 41 of the top 50. The company also owned family-oriented Pax Network, which reaches roughly 94 million homes through its TV stations and distribution arrangements with cable and satellite systems and broadcast station affiliates. The company continues to struggle with a hefty debt load and ratings challenges at its program network.

Paxson's net revenues for the third quarter of 2004 (ending Sept. 30) increased 2.6% to $65.9 million, compared to $64.2 million for the third quarter of 2003. This increase was primarily due to increased revenues from long form paid programming. Still struggling to reduce debt and stay out of bankruptcy court, Lowell "Bud" Paxson, chairman and CEO, indicated the network continues to search for a program mix more appealing to advertisers. In that vein, Pax TV jumped on the reality series bandwagon and added two reality shows in Fall 2004: "Model Citizens" and "Cold Turkey." It also introduced two games shows, "Balderdash" (hosted by comic Elaine Bosler) and "On the Cover" (hosted by Mark Walberg). Will these program changes lure more viewers and advertisers and cure Paxson's financial woes? The jury is still out.

PUBLIC BROADCASTING SERVICE

In 1948, the FCC stopped issuing new television station licenses. American educators, fearful of the impact of unrestricted commercial broadcasting, pushed for the Commission to hold open channel slots for non-commercial, educational television broadcasts. In 1952, when the FCC freeze was lifted, 242 channels were reserved for educational television. America's first non-commercial educational television station was KUHT in Houston, started in 1953.

By 1962, 75 educational stations were broadcasting around the country. As these stations shared roughly the same programming interests, a loose distribution network evolved, allowing locally-produced programs like "Children's Corner" to be circulated among these stations. Most of the programming was produced on a shoestring budget. In 1962, the federal government authorized $32 million in matching funds for the construction of new educational television broadcasting facilities. In 1967, a blue ribbon panel urged local and state governments to increase their financial support of "public television" and recommended that the federal government participate in the production of programming. To this end, the first Public Broadcasting Act was passed. This law also created the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, a non-profit "steward" of the public funds committed to public broadcasting, and, not incidentally, a barrier against government interference in programming decisions.

In 1969, the Public Broadcasting Service's charter was signed, with its main intent the establishment of a nationwide program distribution service. 1969 saw the premiere of an hour-long, daily children's variety show, called "Sesame Street," which targeted pre-schoolers with fast-paced educational programming and featured live performers, cartoons and Muppets developed exclusively for the show by Jim Henson.

In 1970, PBS' first year as a "network," its programming included series as widely varied as "Washington Week in Review," "Civilisation," "The French Chef" and "Soul!" By 1973, PBS had more than 1 million individual subscribers. PBS and its member stations were responsible for bringing to U.S. audiences critically acclaimed BBC programming under the flag of "Masterpiece Theatre," which included such classics of television as "Upstairs Downstairs" and "I, Claudius." In 1976, PBS began broadcasting closed-captioned programming for the hearing impaired. In 1978, PBS became the first American network to distribute its programs by satellite.

Although some portion of PBS and its member stations' budgets are provided by federal and state government funding and corporate gifts, PBS and its member stations have continued to rely upon the contributions of individual viewers to stay afloat. In the late 1980s and early 1990s, PBS and the CPB suffered an enormous amount of criticism by government officials for an alleged "liberal" bias, and later in the 90s, for not being "self-sufficient." Although a notable few PBS series have achieved some financial success in other areas (primarily children's programming in the home video and product licensing fields), it is important to note that the production of most of the all-important local educational and public affairs programming never breaks even. In the face of continuing cuts in government funding, PBS programmers have accepted what may have been inevitable, the inclusion of commercial sponsorship (and actual commercials) in programming.

In the wake of the government threat of fund cuts, PBS increased its effort to achieve financial independence. In 1997, PBS president Ervin Duggan announced that the network would use its recognizable brand to market products and services, such as educational videos and distance-learning programs. With this approach as well as using the internet to sell its products and investing in new programming, PBS had a total revenue for the 1997 fiscal year of $239 million, $15 million more than its target.

PBS got caught in a scandal in 1999 involving the sharing of its donor lists with partisan political groups. The GOP complained about the practice, which primarily involved list-sharing with the Democratic Party. PBS admitted that it called into question the independence and impartiality of the public network.

In 1999, Frank Cruz was appointed Chairman of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

PBS continues to be a target of Republicans who are opposed to government funding of educational, informational, and cultural programming. Nonetheless, CPB's funding has been approved at $340 million for 2001, $350 million for 2002, and $365 million for 2003.

PBS' operating revenue grew from $262 million in 1998 to approximately $324 million during 2003, largely from non-member revenue sources. This revenue growth has enabled PBS to invest more in three key areas: national programming, advertising and promotion, and PBS.org. Interestingly, PBS.org is the most visited dot-org Web site in the world, and the home of comprehensive companion Web sites for more than 500 PBS television programs and specials. The National Programming Service provided by PBS is the major package of programs PBS distributes to its member stations. It features children's, cultural, educational, history, nature, news, public affairs, science and skills programs.

In a survey completed in Jan. 2004 by non-partisan, international research company RoperASW, the American public called PBS the most trusted institution on a list of nationally known organizations in the country and the best use of tax dollars, second only to military defense. The opinion study, which included 1,000 randomly selected participants across the country, also found Americans are more satisfied with programming on PBS compared with commercial broadcasting or cable networks and consider PBS news and public affairs series the most trustworthy. PBS plans to conduct this survey annually to keep a pulse on its perceived performance with the viewing public.

On the heels of this positive report, Pres. and CEO Pat Mitchell testified before the House Appropriations Committee during the year to underscore how PBS uses its federal funding to educate and enrich American lives. During her testimony she highlighted PBS's early education, "Ready To Learn" service through local stations, in which PBS distributes over one million free books and sponsors literacy workshops for 900,000 caregivers and 7.4 million children. PBS has even found support in a Republican White House, with First Lady Laura Bush serving as honorary chairwoman of PBS' initiative to build children's literacy skills. The struggle to maintain public funding levels remains constant, although Mitchell cited an uptick in corporate sponsorships. By the end of 2003, PBS had 11 new underwriters all above the $1 million mark and three or four above $2.5 million. PBS also forged ahead with digital delivery of its programming signal. In 2004, PBS reaches 80 percent of the country via digital signal.

UPN (UNITED PARAMOUNT NETWORK)

UPN began broadcasting on January 16, 1995 as a joint venture between United Television/Chris-Craft Industries, Inc. and Paramount Television/ Viacom Inc. The fledgling network's first official hit was the newest entry in the long-lived Star Trek franchise, "Star Trek: Voyager." Paramount TV executive Lucy Salhany was named president of the network. UPN currently broadcasts two nights of prime-time programming weekly, a Saturday afternoon movie, and plans to add an afternoon children's programming block. In the 1995-96 season, UPN debuted 8 new prime-time series. Lucy Salhany, president and CEO of the fledgling UPN network, announced that she would not renew her contract when it expired in September of 1997.

Led by the newly appointed CEO, Dean Valentine, UPN's management team had the difficult task of giving the sagging network a face-lift. Not unlike the other networks, UPN had to struggle to keep its viewers in 1998. The network's audience, consisting largely of black viewers, was angered when in an effort to attract a broad Middle American audience, UPN cancelled most of the shows that appealed to black viewers. And, in what seemed like a second slap, the network premiered the sitcom "The Secret Diary of Desmond Pfeiffer," despite protests from black activists claiming that the show trivialized slavery. As explained by Mr. Valentine, it appeared that UPN's problem was with its specific programming, which does not attract the female or suburban viewer.

The 1999-2000 line-up features several sitcoms designed to appeal to black viewers, balanced by the WWF and a couple of one-hour action shows. The Network still has not found its programming niche and is struggling to identify and expand its core audience.

The 2000-2001 lineup seems of less significance this year as UPN owner Viacom is required to sell the UPN stations as part of its merger with CBS. Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. is buying Chris-Craft whose UPN affiliates will likely be turned into either a second Fox network or absorbed into the existing Fox family. In the meantime, UPN has changed its name to The Paramount Network to reflect its new, sole ownership.

In 2001, Tom Noonan, head of programming, left UPN. In a strange twist, the embattled head of UPN, Dean Valentine, will assume his duties. This decision comes at a time when Valentine is suing the network for $22 million over contract incentives. UPN came in fifth, behind FOX and just ahead of the WB in the November sweeps.

Betting on Buffy and sci-fi fans is paying off in ratings for United Paramount Network (UPN). The network, considered the fifth wheel of television networks, is posting strong ratings with its Buffy the Vampire Slayer program (wrested from The WB in a bidding war) and Enterprise, the newest Star Trek series. The network supplies programming each week to affiliates across the US, including WWE Smackdown!

In 2002 and 2003 "Enterprise" took a ratings dive and "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" ended. UPN was down 15% in adults 18-34 and about the same in total viewers in the season to date. On a positive note, UPN picked up four out of its five new series; "Rock Me Baby" "Eve," "All of Us" and "Jake 2.0." UPN also closed an affiliation deal with the Fox Television Stations group which insured its survival for at least the next few years. Talks to renew the relationship had been ongoing between UPN and Fox for several months. CBS president Les Moonves had been involved in the negotiations.

By 2004, UPN chief Dawn Ostroff began achieving what she set out to do when she came on board UPN a few years ago: give the network an identity. UPN has attracted a strong and steadily growing following among women and is attracting top talent in front and behind the cameras to deliver quality programming across program genres. "America's Top Model," produced by super model Tyra Banks, is enjoying success in the 2004-05 season; and, new dramas, "Kevin Hill" and "Veronica Mars" received strong critical notice as well as a solid Nielsen showing. With these shows front and center, UPN posted double-digit year-to-year growth at the start of the new season with all key female demos, including +19% among females 12-34 (1.9/6), +25% among women 18-34 (2.6/6), +21% among women 18-49 (1.7/4) and +14% women 25-54 (1.6/4), more than any other network. This was good news for advertisers, who are finding their way to a network that now can define itself. UPN remains a Viacom company.

WARNER BROTHERS TELEVISION

In the 1950s when other studios were setting their eyes on television, Jack Warner was not interested in doing the same. But in 1955, ABC managed to make a deal with Warner and create the studio's first pact. The agreement entailed a Tuesday-night one-hour drama program on ABC, called "Warner Brothers Presents." Three rotating series were featured: "King's Row," "Casablanca," and the TV Western that lasted for eight seasons, "Cheyenne." "Maverick," starring James Garner, was introduced in 1957. The western proved popular with both viewers and critics, finishing sixth in the 1958-59 season ratings and being awarded the Best Western Series for the 1958-59 season, giving Warner Bros. TV its first Emmy award.

Although WB produced and created its share of shows in the 1960s such as "Room for One More" (the first situation comedy produced by the studio), "The Bugs Bunny Show" TV's first animated series), and "The F.B.I." (WB's most popular primetime show of the late 1960s), TV production began drying up. With the appointment in 1969 of Gerald Leider as president of WB TV, the studio went through a revival with such shows as "Alice," "Kung Fu," and "The Dukes of Hazzard." The studio also acquired the rights to "Chico and the Man" and "Welcome Back, Kotter" already successful sitcoms, and the dramatic ini-series depicting the lives of African slaves, "Roots."

In 1988 WB acquired Lorimar Television, absorbing the series "Dallas," "Knots Landing," "Falcon Crest," "Full House," "I'll Fly Away" and others. By 1989, Lorimar Television & Warner Bros. TV represented the biggest supplier of prime-time TV programming to the networks. With the start of a new decade, the Warner Bros. studio appeared to be in good shape. But, the end of the Financial Interest rules, which limited the broadcast networks' ownership in programming and their ability to also produce, put WB in a less-than-perfect position as supplier. With the fear of falling victim to the networks, newly empowered by the FCC decision, WB began considering a network of its own. The first effort resulted in PTEN, which presented series as a syndicated block offered to stations. In January, 1995 and in partnership with Tribune Broadcasting, the WB network took off.

The budding network will be reaching 90% of the country in the 1998-99 season, with five nights of prime-time programming. While CBS and ABC have lost audience members in the 18-49 demographic group, and Fox and NBC have experienced only slight growth, WB has continued on its upward swing and increased its viewership by this (most desirable) demographic group by 60%.

2000-2001 is looking brighter for WB with the likely demise of UPN. While WB doesn't cater to a black audience, it does fill the "youth" programming niche and its new programs are well-suited to continue the WB's stronghold among teen viewers.

The WB was still struggling along ahead of PAX TV and behind UPN for the 2001-02 season. With some new programs on air and more in the pipeline, the net is still trying to get its footing in the highly competitive teen and young adult demographic.

In the middle of the 2003-04 season the WB's viewers were off 21% in adults 18-34 and 11% in total viewers. Younger-skewing networks such as the WB have been hurt by the decline of TV viewing by younger demos, particularly men 18-24. Still unresolved at this point was Jamie Kellner's replacement. During 2004, The WB's management, with Garth Ancier at the helm as chairman and CEO, and David Janollari as entertainment president, was able to stop the skid among younger viewers and put up numbers that reflect network television's lowest median age (33.3) and a core demographic of 12-34-year-olds. These young viewers are the hardest to reach and most desired by advertisers because these first-time buyers are just beginning to build brand loyalty. Key affiliates for the network include Tribune Broadcasting (the network's flagship affiliate station group), Sinclair (19 stations), plus The WB 100+ Station Group (a local cable-delivered station group representing markets 100-210, which signed on September 1998). For the 2004-05 season, The WB again planned to broadcast a six-night schedule (Sunday through Friday), featuring such signature series as 7th Heaven, Charmed, Gilmore Girls, Reba, Smallville and Everwood, as well as the highly anticipated Warner Bros. Television dramas Jack & Bobby and The Mountain.

CANADIAN TELEVISION YEAR IN REVIEW

BY DEBORAH TIFFIN

Quigley Publishing Company Canadian Editorial Contributor &
Publisher & Editor - Film Canada Yearbook

The prevailing issue of 2004 emerged early in the year, when a debate emerged over the future of indigenous television programming, sparked in part by Alliance Atlantis' (Toronto) restructuring, which saw more than half of its entertainment division closed down and the closing of Salter Street Films (re-launched in May by principals Michael Donovan and Charles Bishop as Halifax Film Company) and Great North Productions (purchased only three years ago) in favor of a new focus on broadcasting and motion picture distribution, citing a downturn in production revenues. Not long after that announcement, broadcaster CTV scored a huge hit with its first original narrative comedy Corner Gas (Prairie Pants Productions) - so much so that the series' website crashed due to the large number of people trying to log on after the series premiere.

In February 2004, Toronto Star TV critic Vinay Menon wrote a full-page piece on the renaissance in quality Canadian programming, pointing to examples such as Corner Gas, Trailer Park Boys and Rick Mercer's Monday Report, as well as endangered specimens of the long-form drama genre, such as This is Wonderland and The Eleventh Hour (one-hour shows made for four times less than the cost of U.S. counterparts). These stories are interesting in the context of a debate that emerged in the pages of the national trade publication Playback, between Glenn O'Farrell, president of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters (CAB) and Stephen Waddell, executive director of ACTRA.

CAB called on the federal government to form a new strategy, with industry input, to ensure the survival of Canadian programming. The broadcaster's group proposed incentives, such as the full reinstatement of the Canadian Television Fund. Increased funding for production was deemed a necessary measure in an environment that currently sees broadcasters losing up to $100,000 an hour in comparison to the lucrative revenue associated with the broadcast of U.S.-based shows. Such incentives would be seen to offset the high cost of developing comparable Canadian shows. CAB took the position that the Canadian market could best support renewed programming efforts in news, sports and documentaries, but not other more expensive programming such as drama. A dissenting viewpoint came from the ACTRA representative, who pointed to past programming success stories (in both domestic markets and international sales) such as the Degrassi and Avonlea series, and suggested that, funding requirements aside, that broadcasters had an intrinsic obligation, in their use of public airwaves, to commit not only to investment in all forms of indigenous programming but also to reliably schedule it in such a way as to build audiences instead of working around U.S. simulcast scheduling commitments. Waddell proposed incentives such as an allowance of extra ad time for Canadian programming, as well as broadening access by the lifting of drama-programming restrictions on some specialty channels. Both parties agreed on the need to reinstate the CTF funding, and this need was underscored by cancellations of two of the remaining six long-form English-language dramas (Cold Squad and Blue Murder) late in February 2004 - decisions viewed by many in the industry as being primarily due to funding issues.

The crisis was allayed to some degree in March 2004, where the federal budget included a two-year commitment to the restoration of the CTF, seeing an allocation of $85.1 million for 2004 (English language programming). Allocations of the fund were based on performance criteria set by Telefilm, which saw Showcase score the largest production envelope, followed by the CBC, and ironically CTV (with the aforementioned Corner Gas and a huge slate of 37 new Canadian productions for 2004) running third in the allocation amounts. While the announcement restores a sense of stability to the TV production industry, the results of investment decisions by the broadcasters remain to be seen.

The Canadian Audio-Visual Certification Office (CAVCO) and the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency (CCRA) jointly administer the Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit (CPTC) and the Film or Video Production Services Tax Credit (PSTC).

CANADIAN FILM OR VIDEO PRODUCTION TAX CREDIT PROGRAM (CPTC)

Under the Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit program, CAVCO performs two distinct functions: (1) Canadian content recognition, and (2) estimation of the eligible expenses of production. The responsibilities of the CCRA are to provide assistance to claimants; to interpret and apply section 125.4 and all other provisions of the Income Tax Act and the Income Tax Regulations that may have an impact on the CPTC; review or audit the film tax credit claims within a reasonable time frame; and provide timely refund cheques.

The CPTC is available at a rate of 25% of eligible salaries and wages expended after 1994. Eligible salaries and wages qualifying for the credit may not exceed 48% before November 14, 2003 and 60% after this date. (There's an election period, to know more about it you can call CAVCO at their toll-free number above) of the cost of the production, net of assistance, as certified by the Minister of Canadian Heritage. Therefore, the tax credit could provide assistance of up to 12% (or 15%) of the cost of production, net of assistance. However, the tax credit may not be claimed in respect of a Canadian production if any part of the cost is financed by flowing-out capital cost allowance or other deductions to investors.

FILM OR VIDEO PRODUCTION SERVICES TAX CREDIT PROGRAM (PSTC)

CAVCO's role under the Film or Video Production Services Tax Credit is to determine the eligibility of the production and to issue an Accredited Film or Video Production Certificate on behalf of the Minister of Canadian Heritage. The CCRA's role is to provide assistance to claimants; interpret and apply section 125.5 and all other provisions of the Income Tax Act and the Income Tax Regulations that may have an impact on the PSTC; review or audit the film tax credit claims within a reasonable time frame; and provide timely refund cheques. The PSTC is a tax credit equal to 16% since Feb. 19, 2003 of salary and wages paid to Canadian residents or taxable Canadian corporations (for amounts paid to employees who are Canadian residents) for services provided to the production in Canada. This refundable tax credit has no cap on the amount that can be claimed, and it is available to taxable Canadian corporations or foreign-owned taxable corporations with a permanent establishment in Canada.

The Alberta Motion Picture Industries Association (AMPIA) is a non-profit professional service association serving the independent motion picture production community in the province of Alberta. AMPIA was founded in 1973 with the single aim of furthering the independent motion picture industry as a viable economic and cultural force within the province. Historically, AMPIA has been recognized and called upon to serve as a voice for the Alberta film and video industries. In 1994 the Association strengthened this voice by expanding its membership to include a broader base of industry professionals within its voting membership. Likewise, the organization expanded the size and scope of the AMPIA Board of Directors to reflect the various sectors of this dynamic industry. A monthly newsletter, Keep It Rolling, goes out to more than 500 people in the film industry, both members and non-members of AMPIA. Other Association activities include industry advocacy, professional development and information services.

FAX: (416) 368-1130

The Canadian Picture Pioneers was formed in 1940 as an organization dedicated to the welfare of all men and women of the motion picture industry. It has grown to its present-day strength of over 900 members in six branches across the country. Original membership requirements called for 25 years of service in the industry. This period of service has now been reduced to 15 years. Anyone qualifies for membership – doorman, cashier, caretaker, manager, projectionist, booker, etc. Its Trust Fund helps members of the film industry by, for example, frequently paying additional costs not covered by a health insurance plan and providing for wheelchairs and special treatments.

AIMS & OBJECTIVES

To create and promote friendly relations among those who have been or are engaged in or connected with the motion picture industry.

To create and promote friendly relations and understanding between the public and those engaged in or connected with the motion picture industry.

To aid those in need who were formerly in the motion picture industry without requiring repayment of any kind from the recipient.

Pioneer of the Year Award – In 1952 the Canadian Picture Pioneers marked the Golden Anniversary of the Silver Screen in Canada, dating it from the establishment of the first successful motion picture theatre – the Electric of John Schulberg on Cordova Street, Vancouver, which he opened in the fall of 1902. At the celebration banquet, held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, Schulberg, Jule Allen of Toronto, George Ganetacos of Montréal, A.J. Mason of Springhill, Nova Scotia, Léo-Ernest Ouimet of Montréal and Fred G. Spencer of Saint John, New Brunswick, were honoured as pre-1910 pioneers who had done the most to advance the motion picture as a popular form of entertainment in its early days.

The next year, the Pioneer of the Year Award was inaugurated.

The most recent appointees were:

2000 — John Bailey
2001 — Doug Isman
2002 — Cathy Watson
2003 — Sandra Stewart
