HOW TO APPLY FOR A FCC LICENSE

Official FCC Procedure for AM, FM and TV Licenses

ANY qualified citizen, firm or group may apply to the Federal Communications Commission for authority to construct a commercial standard, frequency modulation or television broadcast station.

Licensing of these facilities is prescribed by the Communications Act of 1934, which sets up certain basic requirements. In general, applicants must satisfy the Commission that they are legally, technically and financially qualified, and that operation of the proposed station would be in the public interest, convenience and necessity.

The licensing procedure is detailed in Part 1 of the Commission's "Rules Relating to Organization and Practice and Procedure," while station operation is covered by Part 3, "Rules Governing Broadcast Services," and "Standards of Good Engineering Practice."

The application procedure is substantially the same whether the facility sought is an FM, television or standard broadcast station.

Selecting a Frequency

The Communications Act recognizes broadcasting as a competitive industry and invests the Commission with the responsibility of allocating facilities so as to provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

Standard broadcast stations operate on "local," "regional," or "clear" channels. Local stations are of 100 to 250 watts power and serve smaller communities; stations of 500 watts to 5 kilowatts cover larger centers of population and surrounding areas; stations of 10 to 50 kilowatt maximum power are for large area coverage, particularly at night.

To determine whether an AM frequency is available for assignment in a particular area, it is necessary for the applicant to have a channel study made by a competent engineer. The Commission's engineering personnel cannot undertake to make such studies for prospective applicants.

In the case of FM, the Commission has tentatively allocated geographic blocks of frequencies to accommodate Class A stations (community) and Class B. Stations (metropolitan and rural). Except in the larger cities, the demand for FM stations has not yet exceeded the supply of available frequencies.

Television channels are apportioned for "metropolitan," "community," and "rural" service.

Applying for a Construction Permit

Once a prospective licensee has decided the type of station he wants to apply for, the next step is to make application for a construction permit. This application must be in writing, on a form (No. 301) supplied by the Commission. This form requires information about the citizenship and character of the applicant, as well as his financial, technical and other ability to construct and operate a station, plus details about the transmitting apparatus to be used and the proposed new service. Triplicate copies are required, two of which must be executed under oath or affirmation.

Application Processing

Applications are, in turn, studied by the Commission's Engineering, Law, and Accounting Bureaus, which make their respective recommendations to the Commission. The system of processing is so designed that applications are considered by different categories in the order in which received.

If, upon examination of an application, the Commission determines that there are no engineering conflicts and that all other requirements are met, the application is granted and a construction permit is issued.

Conditional grants are made to qualified FM applications subject to their filing, within 90 days, engineering details concerning their proposed operations, after which construction permits are issued. Television and FM stations are permitted interim operation with less than the prescribed power.

All construction authorizations are subject to approval of transmitter site and antenna system by Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Hearings

However, where it appears that interference would be caused to another station above the degree described in the Commission's "Standards of Good Engineering Practice," or if other serious questions are involved, a hearing is usually required before a determination can be made. Sometimes, also, a hearing is necessary because two or more applicants request the same frequency.

In designating an application for hearing, the Commission gives public notice of the issues raised for the information of the applicant and other parties who may be concerned. Prior to the hearing, requests may be made for enlargement of the issues, to amend the application, or to permit other parties to intervene.

Usually the hearing date is not fixed until after the applicant agrees to such a hearing and has filed for his appearance. It may, however, be designated in the original notice. The notice generally allows the applicant a period of 30 days or more in which to prepare. Even after being designated for hearing, an applicant may find it possible to satisfy the issues raised by amending his application, especially if there are engineering considerations.

Hearings are customarily conducted by a presiding officer designated by the Commission. He can be a Commissioner or an examiner. He has authority to administer oaths, examine witnesses and rule upon the admission of evidence. Individual or partnership applicants may appear in person or by counsel, but cooperate applicants must be represented by attorney.

Request for Argument

Within 20 days after the close of the hearing, each party has the privilege of filing proposed findings of fact and conclusions in support of his contentions. After review of evidence and statements, the Commission enters its proposed decision.

In the event he wishes to contest the proposed decision, the applicant and any other interested party then has 20 days to file exceptions and to request oral argument before the Commission. Oral argument is granted on request. After oral argument the Commission may adopt, modify or reverse its proposed findings.

In event that no exceptions are taken, the Commission issues an order making its proposed findings effective. Within 20 days thereafter, any party involved may file a petition for rehearing. Such a petition may be filed whether or not the decision is based upon a hearing, but the petition does not stay the proceedings unless ordered by the Commission.

Construction Permit

When and if an application meets statutory and other requirements, it is granted and a construction permit is issued. The latter specifies a date for commencement and another for completion of construction. A maximum of 60 days from date of grant is provided in which construction shall begin, and a maximum of six months thereafter as the time for completion (or 8 months in all). If the permittee is unable to build his station within the time specified he can apply (on Form 701) for additional time, stating the reasons. Upon completion of construction, the permittee can engage in equipment tests.

License

The final step is to apply (on Form 302) for the actual license. The applicant must show compliance with all terms, conditions, and obligations set forth in the application and the construction permit. After applying for a license, the holder of a construction permit can conduct program tests for a period not to exceed 30 days. A station license is then issued if no new cause or circumstance has come to the attention of the Commission that would make operation of the station contrary to the public interest.

Standard and FM stations are licensed for the statutory limit of three years; television stations for one year.

MANUFACTURERS IN WONDERLAND THROUGH THE VIEWING TUBE

by

ERNEST E. STERN

Associate Editor, Radio Annual

SOMEDAY in the future, when the whole history of the vast television industry has been told, the year 1949 must certainly be set down as the beginning of the mass production of the cathode ray tube—the year in which manufacturers built more television tube plants than in any previous year and possibly—than in any future year, and the year in which assembly lines in these new plants rolled off some 2,900,000 TV viewing tubes, accounting for $175,000,000 in business. These 2,900,000 tubes, combined with the backlog that existed at the beginning of 1949, accounted for the sale of 3,029,000 TV receivers last year, with a total of 3,764,000 sets in use at year's end.

Some 30 odd manufacturers were responsible for this turnout of tubes. The big four of these 30 odd manufacturers being RCA, Sylvania, G.E. and DuMont, in that order, but individual production figures of tube manufacturers remained a closely guarded secret and were not made available to the trade.

1949 saw many technical advances in the production of TV tubes, but perhaps what shaped the greatest change, was the sudden demand on the part of the buying public for a larger picture. There evolved the rectangular tubes, 16 and 19 inches in size, replacing the early 7 and 10-inch round-faced tubes and even the 12½-inch tube, which in reality took the place of the 10-inch tube and became the "small" set. The 10-inch tubes practically disappeared from all production lines, except as a replacement item and the race was on for larger picture tubes on a mass production basis.

As this article is being written, 70 per cent of all of RCA's TV tube production is devoted to the manufacture of 16-inch, round-faced tubes (RCA makes no rectangulars) and 60 per cent of Sylvania's production is devoted to turning out 16-inch tubes, with every likelihood that by the end of 1950, 70 to 80 per cent of their production will be devoted to 16-inch tubes. The same pattern prevails at DuMont and G.E., as well as other manufacturers of video tubes and it appears now that the public is favoring the 16-inch tube in preference to all other sizes, since this seems most compatible to the average size room in which TV sets are installed.

Briefly breaking down production figures, the industry indicates at the present time that 18 to 20 per cent of all new tubes are being used as replacements in sets already installed (average cathode ray tube life being five years, based on a daily operation of 3½ hours). The balance of all production going into new sets.

A quick glance at 1950 indicates a production figure of 4½ million tubes—a conservative estimate by all standards, with a possibility that some 6 to 6½ million tubes may be produced by the end of 1950, although it seems unlikely that such an astronomical figure will be maintained. However, this figure has maintained for the first 3 months of 1950!

Thus far it has been established that (1) the 16-inch tube is the best current seller. (2) Rectangulars are in greater demand than round-faced tubes, and (3) the possibility of color is now nearer than ever before through RCA's latest tube development in this field, but best estimates are that it will be at least another 18 to 24 months before color television begins to become a reality.

There is no doubt that the industry can more than adequately fill the greatest expectant demand for TV tubes by all video manufacturers—and come color—they can and will meet this challenge. In the meantime, TV tube plants throughout the country will continue the mass production of monochrome video tubes in a quantity and quality that cannot be matched anywhere else in the world.

The Market with a FUTURE!!!

MEXICO has stepped towards a new and extensive industrial program; its remarkable development in the manufacturing activities has created a new growth below the Rio Grande.

Millions of dollars are being spent in the United States in machinery, up-to-date equipment and raw material, destined to busy centers of production down in the Mexican territory.

American manufacturing concerns whose products enjoy ample demand South of the border, are making big investments, opening large new plants.

This industrial "bonanza" in a prosperous land of 25 million people, together with a fast-growing consumer's market, means the opportunity for a real new business.

The U. S. advertisers will find out that for selling in this promising market, nothing is better than radio for a nation-wide campaign . . . and the network of Radio Programas de Mexico . . . if looking for immediate results.

RPM broadcasting system, through its 88 stations, assures the advertiser a national coverage, carrying the message to every corner of the land.

APPLAUSE!

Coast-to-Coast Broadcasters enthusiastically acclaim the Lang-Worth Program Service

NEW YORK, N. Y. (WNEW)
Congratulations for a brilliant contribution to the radio and recording fields.

EAU CLAIRE, WIS. (WEAU)
We are programming "Cavalcade of Music" and "Through the Listening Glass" against top network shows and, according to the latest surveys, they are holding up well against their competition.

ROANOKE, VA. (WDBJ)
Your Lang-Worth script service is still "tops."

KANSAS CITY, MO. (KCKN)
We like the full tone range...the uniformity of the cue ins.

KNOXVILLE, TENN. (WKGN)
We especially enjoy your Holiday Script Shows. They are truly good—just what we want.

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO (WIZE)
Thanks again for your "superior" service all down the line—excellent quality of discs and excellent recording of them.

OMAHA, NEBR. (KFAB)
The quality is very good. The lack of distortion is amazing.

AUGUSTA, GA. (WRDW)
Lang-Worth is tops in the field—choice of music and production aids makes for easy handling and ready sales.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. (WOOD)
"Orchids"! Your scripts are well written...used "as is" they really seem WOOD-tailored!

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. (KECA)
The new Lang-Worth 8-inch recording has proved entirely favorable in all respects. Thanks, too, for solving our space problem.

HAGERSTOWN, MD. (WJEJ)
All of us here are of the opinion that Lang-Worth has outdone them all with the new library. The quality is perfect.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (WRNY)
Lang-Worth is the best musical investment we have ever made.

MISSOULA, MONT. (KGVO)
Technically speaking, the Lang-Worth Program Service is very good. Extremely low surface noise...in fact, none at all; it is a great improvement over the older types of transcriptions and records.

OCALA, FLA. (WTMC)
Your production shows are excellent! The writing is good and the shows easy to produce. The music is well selected and it SELLS itself.

MEMPHIS, TENN. (WVHM)
Your new 8-inch transcription library service is very much to our liking, not only because of the size but because of the excellent reproduction.

MIDDLESBORO, KY. (WCPM)
Accurate timing makes your scripts a pleasure to use. When they say 15 minutes—they mean it! That in itself is worth its weight in gold.

PHILADELPHIA, PA. (WCAU)
Your new library service is sensational! Congratulations!

TEMPLE, TEX. (KTEM)
"Music of Yesterday and Today" by Blue Barron has been sponsored, continuously—6 programs per week—for the past 2 years. It holds listeners and is easy to sell and keep sold.
