Speaking of chain reactions...

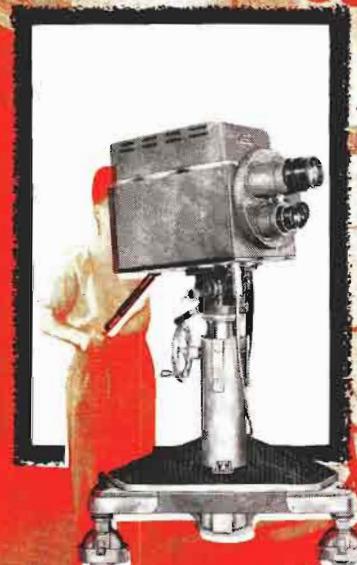

1 Excellent monochrome slides, opaques, and 16 mm film.

2 Superior color slides, opaques and 16 mm film, as well as monochrome.

3 Limited live color in addition to slides, opaques, and 16 mm film. Unlimited Live Color.

4 UNLIMITED LIVE COLOR

And now, the biggest news of all... the Vitascan camera, a portable light source for live color TV broadcasting. The light source is a simple, portable camera assembly that provides unlimited live programming at a cost far below other color systems. Again, Du Mont shows the way for simple, practical television broadcasting.

Here's one
you can control!

the vitascan

Start your scanner operations at any point you need! If you need a source for only monochrome film, opaques, and slides choose the Monochrome Multi-Scanner. If you plan color for later on, you can always convert at minimum expense. At any time, you can add live color with either the fixed or portable light sources. Use of TV by President Heralds New Era

"I'm going directly to the American people and tell them the full facts." With these words President Dwight D. Eisenhower announced his plan to use commercial television to inform the whole nation of the reasons for his decision to run for renomination. And with these words commercial television was accorded its rightful place as the only true medium for vital news in the twentieth century.

The right—and the duty—of every American citizen to hear immediately his elected officials speak their minds on important issues was performed more than ever before in the President's dramatic telecast of February 29, 1956. Sixty-five million people—more than voted in the last election—saw and heard the President on both radio and television. By watching his face for twenty minutes they were able to form their own decision on the essential problem—the President's health.

The impact of the President's preference for television as the medium to reach all the people at once will be felt strongly on the coming presidential election—and most likely on all future elections. He has announced that observation car barnstorming—at least for him—is as outmoded as the era of the big city "bosses." Television and radio will be the primary weapons of the campaign. The hitherto traditional and old-fashioned methods will be used only to supplement his appearances on television.

The President has long been an advocate of television. He was the first President to address the annual convention of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, and at that time expressed his high regard for the medium.

Shown here is a view of President Eisenhower at his news conference as he made public his "affirmative" decision to seek re-election.

Pay TV Starts Greatest Controversy of '55

By
EDWARD J. LOWE
Equipment Editor
Radio-Television Daily

A CLOUD no bigger than the palm of a man's hand appeared on the horizon of American television in 1955, a cloud that can conceivably transform our time-honored concept of broadcasting, and will certainly cause the most violent controversy in the industry's third of a century. That cloud is subscription television, or toll TV, the future of which the Federal Communications Commission has been considering since September 9. The advocates of this new system claim that it will make possible hitherto unreachable fields of culture and entertainment, side by side with the sponsored programs of today. Those opposed say that toll TV will destroy free television, and drive the medium out of range of those that rely on it most.

Three major forms have been advanced, but the underlying principle of all is to make a program available only to those willing and able to pay for it. The broadcaster would transmit his program in a coded, or scrambled, form. The ability to unscramble the signal would be available, for a fee, to those with the required electronic attachment on their set.

Phonevision, the product of the Zenith Radio Corporation, generally held to be the pioneer in the field, would attach to the set a device with five dials, each with seven numbers. Turning the dials to a previously assigned code number for a particular program would unscramble the signal. The viewer would get the numbers by punching out an insert on a card beside the listing for a specific show. The card would be a record of programs seen, which he would return to the company, and would then be billed.

The method of Skiatron, Inc., provides for the insertion of an IBM card with a printed electronic circuit. Pressing a button would simultaneously unscramble the picture and punch the card, making it also a record of shows seen.

The third system, Telemeter, proposed by a subsidiary of Paramount Pictures, differs from the others in two important respects. First, two signals would be transmitted on one channel. An advertisement for the show would be received on existing sets, the show itself for those who wished to pay for it. Secondly, coins inserted before the show into an attached device would directly activate the unscrambler.

September 9 was the closing date for the submission of rebuttals to arguments already submitted to the FCC. The crux of the legal aspect of their problem is contained in Section 3 of the Federal Communications Act of 1934, which defines broadcasting as "the dissemination of radio communications intended to be received by the public." If the Commission finds that the recipients of toll TV are not "the public," but the paying public, then it is debatable if the Commission has the power to decide the issue. In that case the problem would be referred to Congress, and perhaps eventually to the Supreme Court. In addition, the Commission must decide which system is most desirable. In view of all these problems, and the fact that 1956 is an election year, no speedy action is expected. It may in fact take several years.

The controversy made many strange bedfellows. The motion picture exhibitors, organized as the Joint Committee on Toll TV, aligned themselves with their rivals for public favor, the broadcasting networks and the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, who were in turn aligned with the American Federation of Radio and Television Artists. All came out unequivocally against toll TV, the NARTB stating that it is "completely repugnant to the historical concept of public ownership of the air waves." Those in favor are composed mainly of motion picture producers and sporting interests, in addition to the developers of the system.

The most effective action taken by either side during 1955 was in answer to the contention that toll TV will provide to the public many programs that sponsors are unable to afford, among which were cited recent Hollywood features. General Teleradio's purchase of $25,000,000 worth of feature pictures, which the public will see without charge, effectively answered this argument, and showed the vitality of the sponsored medium.

Of one thing we can be sure—the controversy is not over, probably has not really started. Through its purchase of Hollywood features the young, free, medium has struck a strong blow for itself. We can be sure that 1956 will see much more of the same.

You have to see it to believe it!

Reports Over 22,000 Women In Radio-TV

By JEAN GIBSON

Editorial Researcher,
Radio Annual,
Television Yearbook

WOmen are as essential to the broadcasting industry today as the television camera or the studio clock.

The feminine set may have first entered broadcasting as secretaries at radio stations. Then they progressed to become traffic managers and continuity writers. Later, women became commentators on their own programs. Gradually, women in radio were joined by colleagues in television. Women in TV worked up, as in radio, often remaining behind the scenes to help produce or direct. Many women have made the grade in the management end of radio and television.

According to a July, 1955, Survey of Current Business, published by the Office of Business Economics, U. S. Dept. of Commerce, there were 76,000 people employed in radio and television in 1954. An FCC financial statement reports that in this same year, of this total, 29,412 people were employed in television. In other words, although television was barely seven years old, (say it actually got underway in 1947), a little over a third of the employees in the broadcasting industry were in this new media of communication.

Figures aren't available for the number of women employed in radio and television in 1954. But in 1950, the Census revealed that a total of 15,690 women were working in the broadcasting field. Of these 7,980 were clerical; 4,590 were professional, and 1,770 held jobs as salaried managers or officers. Since in 1950, there were 104 television stations and 2,144 radio stations on the air, each station averaged about 7 women employees. Assuming the fairer sex was sprinkled evenly among individual TV and radio stations, women in radio outnumbered their TV sisters by about 21 to 1. In round numbers, there may have been about 15,000 women in radio, and 725 or so in TV.

The story is different today. Television has grown steadily, leap-frogging into big business. The 104 stations in 1950 have jumped to approximately 450 on the air with many others pending FCC approval. If the figure of 7 women per TV station is used here, which is undoubtedly conservative, we find that there are now 3,150 women employed in TV. Women in radio currently lead by only 6 to 1.

This is not to say that opportunities in radio have lessened, however. Even though television has become a competitor to radio for the listening ear, radio is still enjoying growth. Many more stations are going on the air, and other stations are expanding. Radio Advertising Bureau has estimated that the total number of radio sets in the U. S. was 121 million as of July, 1955. Eighty million of these sets are in homes where women can and do listen to some 2,800 radio stations, where about 19,600 women have a part in the operations.

Taking radio and TV together, there are currently about 22,750 women employed in the broadcasting industry. They serve their industry as traffic managers, researchers, continuity writers, commentators, record librarians, secretaries, receptionists and managers, to name a few.

It was mentioned before that television was becoming big business. This holds true for the whole broadcasting industry. In 1954, the U. S. Department of Commerce reported that national income originating in TV and radio amounted to $551,000,000. In contrast to this, automobiles and equipment, a subdivision of manufacturing, showed a total of $6,472,000,000 that year. Utilities, both electric and gas, contributed $5,709,000,000. (National Income Number of the Survey of Current Business, July, 1955.) But women in the broadcasting industry, as well as the men, can take satisfaction in having helped to keep our country prosperous. The huge income of other businesses would not be so impressive without the selling job that broadcasting does.

With the addition of television to broadcasting, and the expansion of radio, more jobs have opened for women, either "behind the mike" or "before the camera." Every indication points toward more women in broadcasting. Wherever women are, it is certain that the broadcasting industry is better for having the help of a feminine hand.

1956 TV's Greatest Political Role

By JOHN DALY

ABC Vice President
in Charge of News,
Special Events, Sports
& Public Affairs

THROUGHOUT the length and breadth of our land, on the farm and in the city, the attention of the country this Summer and Fall will focus on two separate weeks and one day that will make history.

Like Topsy, Television has "grewed and growed," and our citizenry almost as a whole will witness the exciting, significant and dramatic political conventions and elections of 1956.

As a prelude to these events will come the various tests of strength by opposing candidates in state primary balloting. In August, with battle lines drawn, will follow the conventions of Democratic and Republican parties to select their standard bearers.

Thereafter in rapid succession will take place the campaigns by the nominees and the climactic Election Day on November 6.

Television, serving with older and more familiar media, will find itself cast in its greatest role to date. It can and will bring the public the facts, issues and candidates of the conventions and campaigns with the new dimension and greater impact inherent in its visual factor.

Radio with its swiftness and mobility will spread the news to every corner of the country. But television personal and penetrating will make it possible for everyone to be on the scene, to interpret and decide on the basis of first hand information. Honored and acknowledged for its influence and impact in 1952, television will be unrivaled in 1956.

The audience this year will probably include four out of every five TV-equipped homes, or a total of more than 28 million living rooms, almost double that of the 1952

TV audience. Wherever TV goes, it will profoundly influence those who watch. It will have vast influence on their votes and the outcome of the election.

There is little doubt that radio, newspapers, magazines and other means of reaching the people have been able to exert an influence over segments of the population. But never has one media, in the control of comparatively few, been able to affect so many throughout the breadth of the land in such proportions.

This challenge, I am sure, will be met with the highest of standards by television's trained personnel. In planning and execution, the men and women, who have added to the talents with which they served so effectively in the great tradition of radio convention and election coverage, are dedicated to objectivity, depth and breadth of reporting.

Unleashed by government controls as exist in many totalitarian countries, the television industry will be able to present all shades of opinion—an unbiased report of political developments when they happen, exactly as they take place.

ABC's team, of which I can speak personally, provides a typical example of the balance provided. Such veteran and capable newsmen as Erwin D. Canham, George Sokolsky, John W. Vandercreek, Edward P. Morgan, Martin Agronsky, Paul Harvey, Quincy Howe, Bryson Rash, John MacVane, Gunnar Back, Don Geddard and Ted Malone will report for both ABC Radio and television at these conventions and on election night.

Each in his own way will contribute new chapters to the glowing history of journalism in the United States. The long line of traditions which have established the freedoms of press and speech in our country have prepared them well.

In future years, their achievements will likewise aid those faced with even greater responsibility in the continuance of democratic processes.

As our economy and size have expanded, so too have our skills in the field of reporting. Television is the beneficiary of this heritage, and we are determined that the newest medium shall be worthy of its great heritage.

Last year was leap year at ABC Television.

Business leapt with the Disneyland and Mickey Mouse Club sell-outs. Bounded up when Hollywood came to TV on the MGM Parade and Warner Bros. shows. Shot higher with the new adult Western concept of "Wyatt Earp." And wound up with plans for the new Afternoon Film Festival, the day-time show with the big-time, nighttime look.

Advice to advertisers and their agencies: if you want to get the jump on competition, hop to it — get on ABC-TV.

TV "Greatest New Force In American Life"

By
J. L. VAN VOLKENBURG
President
CBS Television

TELEVISION in 1956 gives every evidence of living up to its recent description by U. S. News and World Report as "the greatest new force in American life."

And I do not think it is presumptuous to suggest that advertisers, and we at CBS Television, as broadcasters, have together played a major role in developing this force and, by extension, the vitality of the American system of broadcasting.

We at CBS Television believe that three basic ingredients nourishing this "greatest new force in American life" are: advertising investment; audience interest; and creative activity - in a well-balanced mixture.

Advertising investment in television has grown from $57.8 millions in 1949 to an estimated $1 billion 49.5 millions in 1955. CBS Television leads the industry as the largest single advertising medium in the world, with an estimated gross billings in 1955 of better than $190,000,000. And there is evidence to believe that in 1956 CBS Television will increase this leadership.

Audience interest in U. S. television is one of the truly amazing developments of modern times. The number of stations in the United States has grown from 48 in 1949, to 425 in September of 1955. According to the Bureau of the Census last June, there were more than 32 million television homes in this country, with the number growing daily. This is 67.2 of all the nation's households.

But of even greater significance than the numerical increase in stations and television homes is the fact that in America televi viewing has become a national habit, with the average family spending nearly five hours a day in front of its television set. This is an incredible statistic. It means that they are devoting more time to watching television than they spend on anything else except working and sleeping. And what's more, there seems to be no indication that they intend to stop, since they are watching television today more than ever before.

At this stage, I am sure I don't have to convince anyone of television's impact. No advertising medium in the world can approach it. No advertising medium in the world so closely associates an advertiser's goods or services with entertainment and information which is absolutely free to the viewer beyond the investment in a television receiver. And part and parcel of our national habit of watching television programs is, I believe, the habit of also watching the sponsor's message.

The tremendous increase in set ownership, and the firmly rooted national habit of television watching is of course one of the key factors influencing advertising investment. But we at CBS Television have every reason to believe that behind it all is creative activity, our incessant preoccupation with the problem of providing the best in entertainment, information, and public service programming. It is possible for money, talent and brains to create. That we have succeeded in doing so is quite evident: We are broadcasting the majority of the most popular programs day and night. A recent Trendex report gave CBS Television 9 out of the 10 top shows, and in the Nielsen rating CBS Television had 6 out of 10.

In short, we at CBS Television believe that our industry leadership has resulted from the fact that we have built the best program structure in the country, which in turn has earned loyal audiences, who in turn are buying our advertisers' goods and services.

All of us who participate in the advertising process play a crucial role in the economic health of the nation. For this health is contingent as much on the effectiveness of our activity as it is on any other single factor. The more expertly we employ our knowledge and skills in helping stimulate production and distribution of goods and services, the greater will be our contribution toward making a stronger America.

He was reporter, then editor of the Sioux Falls, S. Dak., Argus Leader and newscaster for Station KSOO, Sioux Falls. He instructed journalism at Louisiana State University and was an assistant professor of journalism at Kansas University and the University of Minnesota. In 1943, Mickelson joined CBS as news editor of Station WCCO, Minneapolis, an outlet then owned by CBS. He was successively director of news and special events, director of public affairs and production manager there. In December, 1949, he transferred to New York to be CBS Director of Public Affairs. Two years later he headed News and Public Affairs for Television. Mickelson was graduated from Augustana College, S. Dak., in 1934 and after obtained his master's degree at the University of Minnesota.

WILLIAM H. HYLAN

Vice President in Charge of Network Sales

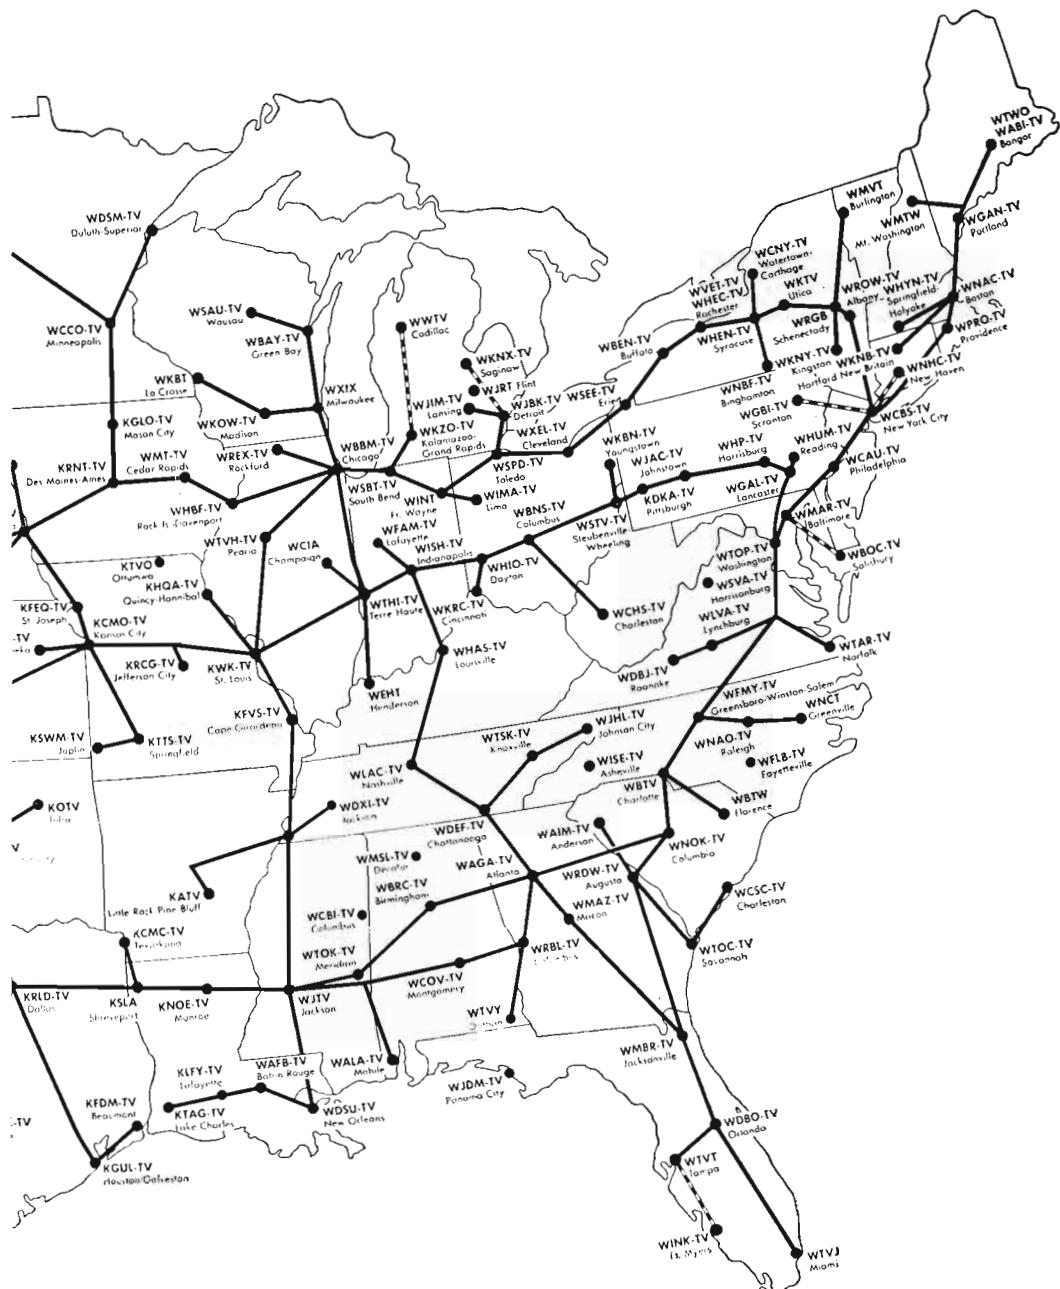

William H. Hylan, who has been associated with CBS for eighteen years, was named vice president in charge of network sales for CBS Television in 1952. Hylan entered military service with the army after four years as an account executive with CBS Radio Sales, from 1937 to 1941. In 1945, he returned to CBS Radio and was appointed assistant to the director of station administration. He switched to the network's new TV sales staff as an account executive in 1948. In 1951, he was named assistant sales manager. Early the next year he was appointed eastern sales manager. Hylan was born in New York City in 1905. He spent a good part of his youth as a resident of the Island of Puerto Rico. Hylan was graduated from Yale University.

Trial and Risk—A Network's Inherent Duty

By
THOMAS A.
MC AVITY

Vice-President
in Charge of NBC TV

HOW many people are using television as a major source of information and entertainment?

This question is far more vital to the future of television than any hassle over day-to-day ratings.

Television can claim success only if it attracts the entire public—the light, finicky viewers as well as the heavy, habit viewers.

And if we are to appeal to this entire audience, we must have fresh vital programming—the kind of programming no one can afford to miss.

But this implies a risk—the risk of new and untried formats, personalities, concepts. It also implies overall planning to insure a balanced viewing diet. For these reasons, fresh programming must be the responsibility of the network.

For only a network can afford the risk necessary to gamble on shows, talent and projects required for providing this type programming to all viewers and as a useful selling medium for every advertiser big and small.

We must refresh and rebuild our programs from year to year, for we know that any known schedule of attractions begins to lose audience and our medium falls short.

The conventional so-called "hit" half-hour shows are great for many types of personalities and for story-telling. But this form can be limiting.

The form that television can do so well is the one-shot or the occasional show—"idea television." First of all, such a show can be worked on longer than the regular series show. It also saves the artist from over-exposure and enables the artists from all fields to meet the challenge of television on an occasional basis.

This irregular, "idea" television is spear-headed by our firm belief that a network is its programming, and sets the responsibility for influencing the minds of its viewers by offering something for everyone.

This means not only presenting a Sid Caesar, a Bob Hope, a Groucho Marx, a "Hit Parade," but also a "Richard III," a "Magic Flute," a Maurice Evans in "The Devil's Disciple," a "Caesar and Cleopatra," an "Assignment: India," a "Twisted Cross," a Wanda Landowska, plus a "Peter Pan" and a "Sleeping Beauty."

But television must have all forms. We should not choose between them. We want them all. In order to do this, we must fight anything that would restrict television, that would limit its usefulness for over 160,000,000 people. We must keep it so that it programs for everyone. And when we find a large segment of women who do not want soap operas in the daytime, then we must create a "Matinee Theatre" or a "Home."

We believe that the television industry must have significance in a time of world crisis. With the talent development projects and the searching programming that we and others have and must continuously enlarge, we believe we will find a great increase in the number of talented people available to us and from them an intelligent direction will come excellence in one-shots and specials as well as hits.

NBC, which pioneered in bringing excitement and expectancy through its Spectaculars, has been joined now by the other networks in 90-minute "specials."

NBC believes this seasoning of programming by means of great cultural events—based by a large amount of hit TV and guided by the network's policy of enlightenment through exposure—will keep the network the rich national service it deserves to be and not merely a product of universal expediency.

DAVID SARNOFF

Chairman of the Board of RCA

Elected president of RCA in 1930 at the age of 39, Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of RCA and director of NBC, was named commercial manager of RCA when it was formed in 1919. He had first entered the communications field at 15 as a messenger boy. As radio grew increasingly more important, he became Chief Inspector, Assistant Traffic Manager and in 1917, Commercial Manager of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America. When RCA was formed, it acquired the Marconi Company. During the following eleven years with RCA, he moved from commercial to general manager and then vice president and executive vice president. General Sarnoff was elected chairman of the board and chief executive officer of RCA in 1947. After the promotion of Sylvester L. Weaver, Jr. to Chairman of the Board of NBC, General Sarnoff continues as a member of the board of directors. During World War II, he served as Special Consultant on Communications to General Dwight D. Eisenhower at SHAEF in Europe.

SYLVESTER L. WEAVER, JR.

Chairman of the Board of NBC

Sylvester L. Weaver, Jr. was named Chairman of the Board of NBC in December, 1955, replacing Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, who became a director. Weaver joined NBC in 1949 to head the television network. He was a veteran of 18 years in the broadcasting and advertising fields, including such positions as Vice President in Charge of Radio and Television for Young & Rubicam and Advertising Manager for the American Tobacco Company. In 1952, Weaver was made Vice President in Charge of Radio and Television for NBC and later that year was elected Vice Chairman of the Board. He was named President in 1953 and Chairman of the Board two years later. The concept of the Spectaculars, which began a regular series in the Fall of 1954, and the magazine concept of the Today, Home and Tonight shows, were first outlined by him. Weaver entered broadcasting as a writer, and later became program manager of the Don Lee network. He was graduated magna cum laude from Dartmouth, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

ROBERT W. SARNOFF

President of NBC

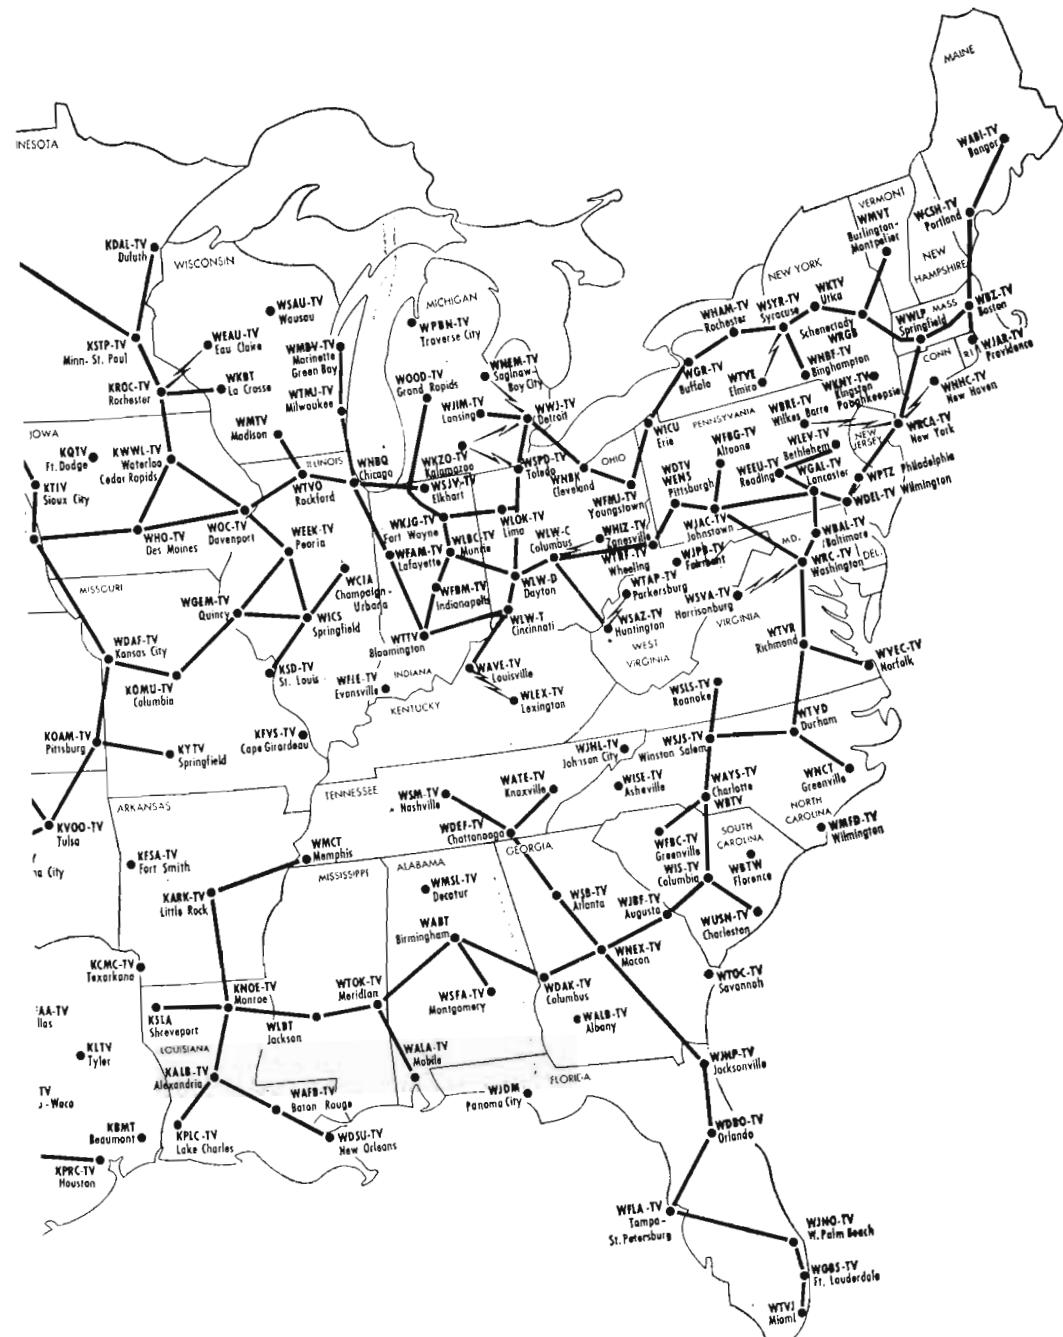

Robert W. Sarnoff, who at 37 can look back on a career that already includes service in the newspaper and magazine media and almost eight years with NBC in executive positions in programming, production and sales, was elected President of NBC in December, 1955. Sarnoff joined NBC in 1948 as an account executive in the Sales Department. After serving in various capacities including programming, production and program sales, he was appointed director of Unit Productions in 1951, where he launched "Victory at Sea," the famous NBC-Navy documentary of the Navy's role in World War II. For this he was awarded the Navy's Distinguished Public Service Award. Sarnoff was elected Vice President in 1951 and a year later was placed in charge of the NBC Film Division. He was named executive assistant to Sylvester L. Weaver, Jr. in 1953 and in the same year was elected to the Board of Directors and named Executive Vice President. In the early Spring of 1955, Sarnoff announced plans for a new radio programming service called "Monitor." This was followed in the Fall by "Weekday."

UHF Death Total Now Numbers Fifty-Three

By
HAROLD H.
THOMS

Former Chairman
UHF Industry
Coordinating Committee

THE UHF-ICC, composed of 70 contributing UHF stations and permittees, was the outgrowth of an enthusiastic effort by UHF broadcasters throughout the country to organize for the purpose of making a vigorous presentation for a solution to the UHF problem in the hearings before the Senate Subcommittee then headed by Senator Potter. Its objective has been the revision of the existing geographic television assignment plan upon a basis which would eliminate the gross competitive disparities inherent in the two spectrum assignments made under that plan and thereby to remove the obstacles inherent in that plan to a nationwide competitive television system. The magnitude of the efforts of UHF broadcasters who came from all over the country to testify in those hearings is now well known history. No immediate results were then achieved but those efforts were continued throughout the remainder of 1954 before the Congress and the FCC and were renewed and redoubled by UHF broadcasters, individually and through the UHF-ICC throughout the year 1955.

In the past year, the UHF-ICC made several recommendations for remedial measures. These included deintermixture, confinement of TV stations to their own markets, private micro-relay facilities for TV broadcasters, refusal of antenna and power increases in Zone 1, revision of the present TV plan to provide for additional VHF assignments, on a case-to-case basis, at reduced separations and power, with use of directionals, a broad network investigation, and a liberal policy of extension of outstanding UHF permits. It is now an active participant in the pending TV rule-making proceedings before the FCC.

Despite the tremendous efforts of UHF broadcasters, the year 1955 will go down as a year when UHF broadcasting and the cause of nationwide competitive television service were dealt a bitter blow. It was in the past year that hope for early and effective governmental measures to solve the critical problem caused by the intermixture of VHF and UHF stations, were dashed to the ground as a result of governmental refusal to pass upon the outstanding proposals for selective deintermixture. UHF broadcasters had been led to believe that remedial measures were on the way and their disappointment was all the more bitter because many of them had kept their stations going at continuing heavy financial loss only by the hope that such measures would be forthcoming soon.

So far as UHF is concerned, the accounting for the year 1955 is a dismal one indeed: 21 more UHF stations ceased operations. The total of UHF deaths now stands at 53 at a cost to the public and investors of staggering sums of money. Although over 125 UHF permits have been outstanding during the course of the year 1955, only 4 commercial UHF stations were constructed during the year. 111 other UHF permits, which were granted since the lifting of the freeze, have been surrendered for cancellation. Grim evidence of the consequences of the present mixed up television situation was provided by the financial data released by the FCC during the course of the year. The UHF stations in operation sustained a loss of 10 million dollars; 104 UHF stations showed overall losses. Only 18 showed a profit. The losses of at least 31 stations were at the rate of more than $10,000 a month. Despite such discouraging developments, at year's end, no remedial plan had been proposed by the FCC itself; but the FCC had invited and received an infinite number of proposals from interested parties all of which recognized the critical need for remedial action.

The year 1955 has therefore figuratively produced a scrambled television picture indeed. It is the fervent hope of UHF broadcasters throughout the country that 1956 will bring forth governmental action which will unscramble the picture by attacking the problem at the core, namely, by revision of the mixed up television allocation. The UHF-ICC will continue to dedicate itself to this end throughout 1956 and for as long as there may be surviving UHF operators with a will to continue the fight.

POWER TOWER

High atop Mount Wilson, in the Angeles National Forest, stands the tallest television tower in Southern California.

This tower, operating at maximum power from a point 6,169 feet above mean sea level, was designed and engineered by RCA to give optimum performance to the 6,000,000 viewers within its range.

PENETRATING PERFORMANCE

High power alone will not cover the unique terrain surrounding the area . . . high mountains, deep canyons and flat plains require height, power and "down-tilted" antenna.

RCA developed a specially designed antenna to meet all the requirements necessary for penetrating coverage . . . and after an exhaustive electronic measurement survey has found the KRCA signal to be the finest in the Los Angeles market.

In laymen's language . . . maximum power sends out a far reaching, clear signal . . . tall tower and special antenna saturate the close in areas with peak performance.

From this great tower, KRCA beams its local programs and those of the NBC network to millions of viewers in Southern California.

Advertisers are assured of penetrating electronic performance, top programming and outstanding promotion support when they buy KRCA-4 in Los Angeles.

KNOE-TV OPENS DOORS TO 280,000 HOMES

Your cost-per-viewer is extremely low in the tri-state coverage of KNOE-TV. Of the 280,000 sets we 'boom into' in North Louisiana, West Mississippi and South Arkansas 145,000 of them are unable to get any other station. Set count is growing all the time, too, as more and more industry moves into this area where income has always been high from oil, natural gas, agriculture, cattle and industry.

Top Shows From 3 Networks

Check the survey reports for the top shows on all three networks ... then check our program schedules. You'll find the first 25 in the industry on KNOE-TV ... plus the best from the syndicated film field.

Powerful Local Programming

Name your product and we have a strong local participation show to sell it. ... News, weather, sports, music, variety, farm or cooking and homemaking.

The "MARKET MAKERS" made

Now... ONE CALL BUYS THE NORTH DAKOTA MARKET

They're spread out in booming North Dakota, but they've got Cadillac buying power from oil, wheat, farming and distribution jobs—a population equal to Seattle, Minneapolis, New Orleans or Providence (and more buying power than most of them.)

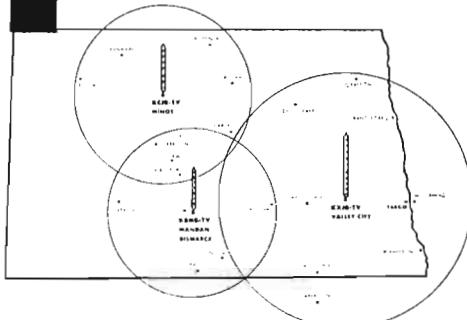

What's the easiest, most impressive, most economical way to reach this boom baby? Buy television on the "Market Maker Stations"—the perfect case of one television operation taking over 700,000 people scattered over 75,000 sq. miles and making a single market of them.

Here's how economically you can cover North Dakota with the "Market Maker Stations." The open rates below include a 15% discount for using all 3 "Market Makers." (Use two, and get a 10% discount):

	10 sec.	1 min.
AA (7:30-9:30 PM)	$64.00	$127.50
A TIME	48.00	96.00
B TIME	35.00	70.00
C TIME	23.00	47.00

Additional frequency discounts to 25%.

A NEW NAME...AND A NEW HOME

A change is being made in WXEL, Channel 8 in Cleveland. A change in name that has a logical association, that makes for easier identity. Sharing the Storer Broadcasting Company banner with veteran radio station WJW, Cleveland's WXEL becomes WJW-TV. And along with the change in call letters comes a change in the home of these two sister stations. In the heart of downtown Cleveland is a handsome new Williamsburg colonial structure—better-than-ever able to serve its clients and the public. Come visit us soon—there's a hospitable welcome awaiting you!

in Cleveland, keep your eye on channel 8

Pittsburgh-TV means...

KDKA 2 TV

Any moment, day or night, KDKA-TV's share of local audience is better than 94%. This is the country's eighth market! The KDKA signal area holds 4,235,994 people — 1,200,000 TV families — retail sales over $4½ billion.

Nothing can sway this market like KDKA-TV. Not over-many availabilities, naturally, but some good ones. Get the facts. Call Lloyd Chapman, KDKA-TV Sales Manager, at EXpress 1-3000 in Pittsburgh, or Alexander W. "Bink" Dannenbaum, Jr., WBC National Sales Manager, MUrray Hill 7-0808, New York.

In Pittsburgh . . . no selling campaign is complete without the WBC station —
