Alice L. Martin,
1312 W 11th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I have been enjoying your little paper for a long time.

As I have not been well for the past few years, my radio and reading are my principal means of entertainment. I especially enjoy the articles giving the background of the programs I listen to each day or week. Would it be possible to print articles on Phil Harris, orchestra leader; Battle of the Sexes, and Stu Wilson of Rise and Shine? Thank you so much for the pleasure Radio Life has brought me.

K. W. Wheeler,
Box 1182, San Diego, Calif.

Sirs: Beg to offer a reader's suggestion for future articles giving the correct pronunciation of foreign names of cities, etc., now current in the news. Some weeks ago you had one article on this subject—a short one. Why not more?

Ed. Note: Soon to be published is a new list of foreign name pronunciations. Thanks for joggng the editorial mind.

H. W. Nielsen,

Sirs: Yes—for World on Your Dial in Radio Life.

★

Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Herbst,
1111 So. Delta St., Rosemead, Calif.

Sirs: Please keep the page World on Your Dial. I vote yes.

Gordon Wahl,
414 N. Formosa Ave., Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: I have bought almost every issue of Radio Life since it came out from my Carty Bros. market (Breewood). We do not take a daily paper and we would be at a loss without it. I believe your 1 cent advance in price is entirely justifiable, but I have always wondered why you didn't have a short wave department which would give the log of the stations and the time they are on. I am sure many people would listen to short wave more if they knew when, where and what to listen to.

C. Webster,
Los Angeles.

Sirs: For me—thumbs down on Albert Hill. Let him read the stuff to the school teachers. They HAVE to listen. We don't.

I'll keep on paying two cents cheerfully so long as you stick to the subject, Radio in Los Angeles. You have covered this field in grand shape so far.

When you get delusions of grandeur and begin trying to turn Radio Life into a magazine of general interest, I quit. What with local newspapers, Saturday Evening Post, Life and Colliers, I get enough general reading. Why wade through reams of culinary recipes, Pan-America, etc., to dig out items about Radio In Los Angeles? I won't.

Marvin Seidman,
Los Angeles.

Sirs: I am an ardent reader of Radio Life. The short wave department is very good. My father and brother are amateurs. But I am interested in getting "veries." Would you please continue your good work? There is one thing I would like to say in regard that there should be a short wave broadcasting list monthly. It should contain the station, Kc., meters, location and the time it comes on and leaves the air. Hoping that you will not discontinue your good work. I have veries from every continent but Africa.

Mrs. A. Jacobs,
2609 Michigan Ave., Los Angeles.

Sirs: My vote for Eddie Cantor. We like his program on the air. We hope he will continue his good work indefinitely.

E. F. DeGraff,
520 McGirk, El Monte, Calif.

Sirs: I am curious to know whether or not Henry, in "Our Gal Sunday," is Leslie Howard of the films. I'm so sure that I just had to write.

In "Portia Faces Life," is Esther Ralston in the part of "Cathie"? I would like to know.

Does Constance Bennett play the part of a nurse in a morning program, "Valiant Lady"?

Ed. Note: Karl Swenson plays "Henry" of "Our Gal Sunday," and is blushing inspired by the comparison with that other good actor, Leslie Howard. It's Winifred Martin in "Cathie's" part, or was last fortnight. Joan Blaine is the nurse in "Valiant Lady."

Mrs. B. L. McSwain,
2500½ Budlong, Los Angeles.

Sirs: Would you please tell me when and where on the dial I can hear the O'Neills. They did come in on KFI about 9 o'clock in the mornings.

Ed. Note: The O'Neills are off the air, have been for several months.

TO INFANTHOOD and proud parent-hood a birthday is a beautiful event, particularly when the child is husky and healthy and bids fair to grow up into competent maturity. It's Radio Life's first birthday and time now to review a few of the events in the child's young life. Right off, we know, 1-year-old Radio Life would never have grown to even a first birthday had it not been that, week after week, it was adopted by increasing numbers of foster-fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers in Southern California homes.

We were worried a few times. The baby showed signs of incipient rickets—of the type called "ricketus financiensis"—but thorough dosing with Readership Vitamins according to a feeding formula of factual radio reporting, cleanly stories of personalities and programs, pictures to acquaint our readers with faces of those they listen to, finally had the wobbly youngster up and about like any normal publishing child.

Whatever 1-year-old Radio Life is today we, on the staff, know that it was done with the acceptance of the magazine by some 189,000 Reader-Listeners currently represented in 60,000 families. What the magazine will be in the coming year will be determined by these charter families and other families to join Radio Life's group of readers. We realize there are other services in radio information we can give, and these will be given as rapidly as we can do it. The magazine has been improved by color, by Chef Milani's expanded department, by the Cooperative Consumers' Club and by an editorial policy of asking and having the readership help with the building of the magazine. In this latter respect the staff is grateful to you who read now. We realize that you have helped with your letters and suggestions to make Radio Life a singular magazine, a magazine that reflects more of your own radio desires and interests than those of the staff, which has depended on you for guidance.

Many persons have written, phoned and wired us to wish us well. Particularly apt it is, we think, that Penny Singleton, representative of cleanly young womanhood, a favorite in California homes, an example for our daughters, should hold the cake on which is the candle from which we learn that Radio Life has come to be, with the generous support of all of you . . . a fast-stepping 1-year-old in whom your confidence may be happily reposed for wholesome fun, terse and accurate information and regard for the homes into which it goes.

So, next to a day when Good Irishmen celebrate St. Patrick's natal hour, Radio Life, with Irish Girl Penny Singleton as a Radio Saintress for it, plans to go on as it always wanted to, doing the best possible job it can to keep you entertained and instructed.

THE STAFF.

Program Changes This Week

Editor's Note: As rapidly as they are furnished by Log Editors of principal broadcasting networks and major western independents, complete program and time changes will be noted, week to week, in this section. Readers are informed, however, that even noted changes may not hold true, because of broadcasting problems, and nearly overwhelming pressure of world affairs, to which the Radio industry, in interests of public service, sacrifices time, money and, in some cases, programs, that ideals of public service shall be maintained. "NP" means New Program. "NT" means New Time.

RETURN OF Kay Kyser's College of Musical Knowledge to Hollywood for a spring and summer series, brings Virginia Shinn, lovely singing star, back to her home state. Ginny, a Fresno girl, is featured as soloist with Kyser's orchestra, and has appeared in motion pictures with the Musical College prexy. Kay Kyser's College of Musical Knowledge is heard over NBC's KFI Wednesday at 7:00 p.m.

IDENTIFYING BEULAH: Somewhat embarrassedly on Saturday evenings shortly after 8 o'clock through the land nervous contestants hear, as do listeners, a raucous sound, much like that of a cow whose dignity and feelings have been injured. The sound they hear comes from Beulah, not a cow, but a property of Truth or Consequences.

Beulah was a nondescript gadget with a half-shot reed before she was discovered, growing old and dusty in a music shop, by Jack Farnell, assistant to Edwards. Today Beulah has been dressed up, repaired, given a fine new reed and is insured for $5000. She is, as a matter of fact, the only one of her kind in existence and part of Soundman Ted Slade's job is to safeguard her between Saturdays.

Before locating Beulah, Farnell combed every sound effects studio in the city. Because there was no telling what it would sound like over the air, he had to buy every possible instrument. He spent over $100, to no avail.

According to Slade, it is a task keeping Beulah to a certain standard.

"We can't put too much effort behind it," he explains, "because it will break like the voice of a man with laryngitis. And if one doesn't blow hard enough, it won't give any sound at all. The right note must be sounded."

Slade keeps Beulah in his mouth during the program, allows 20 seconds for a contestant to answer. Before each program, he secludes himself and practices.

"That limbering up rehearsal session is important," he said. "Serves to put me—and Beulah—in fine voice."

KFI, 8 p.m.

AUDITIONS FOR FUTURES: No ordinary affair is auditioning for a dramatic part on Sunday afternoon's "Your Dream Has Come True" program. This explains, perhaps, why Producer Fritz Blocki to date has obtained best talent available in radio for the "dream" program.

Entire week preceding a broadcast is spent in listening day after day to the many anxious to appear. The agency financing the show has its own studio facilities. There actors and actresses go through preliminary audition, followed by others in NBC studios.

When it is difficult to make a choice between actors, a recording is made of the voices, a meeting of the radio department called to make a decision. Producer Blocki trusts his own judgment, but realizes, when undecided in a choice, it's time to let the public do deciding.

Big name actors and actresses have no meaning on program. It is the dream of the young and deserving actor or actress to audition, be cast for a part. These feel that under Block's tutelage, they will have best chance to make a future in radio.

KFI, 2:30 p.m.

THE CASE FOR SWING: Along Radio Lane, that fancied thoroughfare along which Los Angeles-originating programs air to the nation from CBS, NBC, Mutual-Don Lee and territorially from several lesser but important stations, a controversy waged last week.

Nub of the controversy engaging the humor and wit, the satire and sarcasm, was contained in a simple question:

"Is America through with 'Swing'?"

Opinion of some of the men whose music throbs along the airwaves was asked. Following are opinions from conductors and musicians about swing music last week:

Ben Bernie (Musicquiz): Swing's just sleeping... wait for its lusty comeback!
Al Goodman (Fred Allen's Star Theater): Swing is being absorbed into current musical programs.

Paul Baron (Luncheon at the Waldorf): Softer music is growing in popularity as a reaction to the loudness of swing.

Uncle Dave Macon (Grand Ole Opry): Swing may come, and swing may go; soft music may come, and soft music may go; but Americans will always like good old tunes they remember from childhood days. We find that with Grand Ole Opry, not only Southerners and Westerners, but all Americans from all parts of the country write in and ask for songs that are a real part of this country!

Billy Artzt (Blondie): Good music will always be liked, no matter what it's called. By good music I mean music with a tune the listeners remember.

Billy Mills (Fibber McGee and Molly): Swing was just a little too popular, so the folks got tired of it, but I think it will sneak back by degrees.

Carl Hoff (Al Pearce and His Gang): The hysteria about swing was a case of over-selling. Swing is just one style of playing music. One style, heard too often, gets tiresome.

SERIALS GO AIRING ON: Tenuously plotted are radio's majority of serials to which millions daily listen, get vicarious satisfactions to supply deficiencies in their own lives of romance, struggle, hope and ambition.

For seven years the serial "Ma Perkins" has started promptly at 12:15 p. m. each day from Monday to Friday to air a succeeding episode in the life of a middle-aged woman whose redeeming virtue is a willingness to help others.

This willingness loosely knitted to each succeeding incidental development for the past seven years last week for Ma Perkins listeners had come to this:

A fortune in patents has been bequeathed Willie Fitts by a poor Russian inventor whom one Willie Fitts befriended. The patents make money; the wealth goes to the collective heads of the Fitts family. On a visit to New York they pick up a Mr. Zena Mortimer (Stanley Waxman) who sells them on the idea of building a factory to manufacture electric fuses in Rushville Center. The town goes overboard, visions of wealth tantalizing the good citizens.

Ma, suspicious, refuses to buy stock, the Fitts family rises in wrath, accuses her of jealousy over their good fortune.

One D. Pemberton Toohy discovers that Willie does not own title to some property

To Be or Not

TO BE OR NOT TO BE, is question puzzling Harlan Ware, creator of "Bud Barton." Should he allow Barton to grow up? This is Ware's poser. Radio Life readers are asked to help him out.

which Willie is sure is his. Mortimer convinces Willie that it's just a clerical mistake, but Ma begins to get a glimpse of the swindle being engineered by Mortimer. She finally buys a share of stock and asks to see the books. Mortimer and Willie refuse (Willie's refusal is in all innocence; he's a small town boy who can't take wealth) and Ma sets out to gather enough proxies to compel public inspection of the books. The break with Evey and Willie seems irreparable.

Of such stuff are most serials made. Called in trade "soap box operas" they are radio's contribution to end a characteristic of an older America, a contribution neatly summarized last week by a Western university sociologist:

"The 'soap box opera' streamlines the back fence gossip. She need no longer jabber across back lots. Radio has canned for her and capsuled more nourishingly the same fare she could get in a neighborly talk-out, neighborhood scandals, jealousies, the parade of humans doing their meannesses and their goodnesses."

Ma's family consists of her son, John (Gil Faust); her daughter, Fay (Rita Ascot); daughter, Evey Perkins Fitts (Dora Johnson); Evey's husband, Willie Fitts (Murray Forbes); Fay's fiancée, Congressman Paul Henderson (Jonathan Hole); Shuffle Shober, an old friend of the family and Ma's right hand man in the Perkins Lumber company, which she runs (Charles Egelston); D. Pemberton Toohy, lawyer and devoted friend of the family (Fred Howard).

EXPENSIVE THE GAG: On sound theory that audience laughter is the product that helps to sell products, radio producers and sponsors often spend amazing amounts of money, devote inordinate lengths of time and energy to fabrication of situations to provoke rocking merriment from set-tuned listening air patrons.

Smitten by an idea, Frank Gill and Bill Demling, comedy principals of Show Boat (Mondays, 6:30 p. m., KFI) started out one afternoon the other week to find a man named "Xenophon Zola." Use of Xenophon's name was germane to the idea. In radio, names are not used without having permission of owners.

Xenophon wasn't at home, nor at the barber shop where his wife said he had gone. Nor was he at the pants pressers, although he had been there for a "press while he waited."

Cab fares mounting, the comedians pursued Zola across town, learned eventually he was headed for a radio broadcast. They found him in a show (not their own) grabbed a hasty release for use of his name, raced to their own studio as the theme song began.

When the gag came, involving a word play between "Xenophon Zola" and "xylophone solo," Demling, tongue twisted, uttered sounds faintly like "soprano aria." Completely killed was the joke, falling flat as a waffle. When the audience did laugh, it was because of the mangled whinny Gill uncorked in horror over his pal's "clinker."

KFI, 6:30 p. m.
Mon.

ASCAP STAGGERS UP: Jubilant last week was the United States department of justice. Before coffee had been served at a dinner in Washington's Raleigh hotel, ASCAP's lawyer, Milton Diamond, to justice department's Thurmond Arnold's assistants, Victor Water and Holmes Baldridge, had agreed ASCAP should consent to a decree which would kill an anti-trust suit against ASCAP.

Reason for the justice department's elation: The consent and decree gave the government its sought for power, position, established these points: 1) ASCAP will share licensing privileges with publishers and authors; 2) will no longer exercise exclusive bargaining rights over its songs; 3) prohibits ASCAP directors from perpetuating themselves in offices; 4) makes eligible song writers to membership with one published song.

Hurtful to broadcasters' BMI was sopped to ASCAP: The society is forbidden to truck with BMI.

ASCAP was forced to pay a $5,000 fine, will have its own way on one point, ergo, in time coming, networks will have to pay for ASCAP music they originate, the charges no longer to be passed on to connective stations.

By last week BMI seemed in no hurry to adjust its problems and difficulties with ASCAP, taking time to study the decree in detail.

DOWN SOUTH AMERICA WAY: Short wave has been a powerful influence in drawing together countries of the Western Hemisphere. Probably most potent factor in union of continents has been the broadcasting of news of NBC's and CBS' international programs. American newsgathering services bring happenings of the entire world to the news desks in the International divisions where it is edited, translated into six languages, sent out—unbiased, ungarbled,—to the news-hungry listeners throughout world. Reports from listeners indicate America's short wave broadcasts, because of impartial character, are more widely listened to than news of any other short wave system.

The scope and influence of short wave broadcasting will, in all probability, continue to expand in the months to come. As the United States pursues a policy of fostering Pan-American solidarity, radio will play increasingly important roles in dissemination and exchange of culture, ideas between the Americas. Cognizant was Secretary Hull in saying last week: "In my judgment, every form of international communication which creates closer relationships and a better understanding between the people of the 21 American republics is of particularly great value at this time."

POLLING POLLS: Annual practice of newspapers which have foresight not to be "mad" at radio for its public approved stand that radio is news, and therefore, not to be business-office-bludgeoned for advertising, is to conduct polls of readers.

Last week one such paper (Milwaukee Journal) dove into pool of public opinion, came up with following reader facts:

In landslide proportions, Fibber McGee and Molly were voted "favorite comedy act" and "conductors of the most popular air program."

Eleven first places went to NBC artists or shows.

Classed by Edgar A. Thompson, Milwaukee Journal radio editor, as most successful poll of its type conducted by the Journal, votes were mailed from every Wisconsin community with a post office, and from towns in Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota.

In competition for popularity among balloters, Fibber McGee and Molly made an amazing jump. Last year they were voted third in popularity and fourth in general program popularity.

In the favorite comedian's bracket, Fibber and Molly led Bob Hope, Edgar Bergen, Jack Benny and Fanny Brice in that order among the top five. Hope also was runner-up in the most popular program bracket, a branch that found nine NBC winners in 19 places.

For the third straight year, Wisconsin voters named Kay Kyser's band tops, and also picked Kyser's College of Musical Knowledge as the most popular quiz show.

Bing Crosby staged a runaway race for the third time to be elected the most popular male singer. John Barrymore, "The Great Profile," was chosen best new star of the year for his work on Rudy Vallee's show.

The Journal poll, among others, fortified long held, often stated, conviction of Radio Life's Buck Hathaway, that Jim and Marian Jordan are radio's top funny ones.

HITLER'S RADIO FESTIVAL: Chief among Nazi fearfals in America is PM, sophomoric tabloid, whose hectic editorializing, Nazi-damning Ralph Ingersoll is certain to be a "guest" of the formally clothed Nazi headman, come Hitler. By last week PM's Ralph Ingersoll was counting exultantly the number of Nazi government-paid insults he had encouraged his readers to send to a nation with which America is not yet at war.

Part of America's consciousness had become Hitler's invitation to the United States citizen to radiogram him free, requesting program such a citizen would care to hear from German originations.

Long must have been Dr. Goebbels' face, and those of other high party leaders at reception their invitation got.

Sample radiograms: "Are all Germans as well fed as Goering?" 2) "We would like to hear a funeral march played in tribute to a dead Hitler." 3) "God save the king and help you."

Tedious became gibes at Germany's racial restrictions.

Net end of the broadcast request invitation was the sally of a German commentator:

"Some of the cables were an amazing mixture of good American slang, bad German and excellent Yiddish."

Ignoring the "insults," apparently the German propaganda bureau announced it would this week short wave programs inspired by serious American requests, was certain not to answer the request of two Harvard professors who asked:

"Will Hitler give his peace terms to the world?"

We Don't, Really

Ray Block, maestro of the "Johnny Presents" show heard Tuesdays over the NBC-Red network, was searching for a new musical theme. Absent-mindedly he turned to Johnny, the Call Boy, and asked him his father's name.

"Dante," replied Johnny. Forthwith came the name of the new theme, Tschaiowsky's Andante Cantabile. An-Dante, don't you get it, Mollie?

Here's Glenn Hardy

RADIO

When countless measure thought has leapt
Since that eventful day
When man first found the power that slept
Along the ether way.

A crystal gazer saw the signs
And searched until he found
That hidden force that now entwines
All thought, the world around.

Our hearts acclaim that man who pressed
That button, "Earth-demiled,"
For radio proved the treasure chest
Still waiting to be diled.
CECILE BONHAM.

WHICH WAY
You've got me in a "pickie"
I don't know what to do,
I know that you are fickle
So how can I love you?

Your love says "come"
My judgment bids me stay,
So I am in a quandary
All the quernulous day.

My feet would try new paths
My head does not know,
I want to find happiness . . .
Which way shall I go?

My heart cries "yes"
My caution says "no"—
How can I guess
Which way to go?

JULIA C. MESSAMORE.

KEEP UP WITH RADIO BY KEEPING RADIO LIFE CLOSE

WISH
I would find me a path, an unused path,
Far off the beaten track,
That climbs a hill in a breathless stride
And never once turns back,
But up and on to the very top
I'd let it carry me—
And there with the wind to laugh
and dance,
Free as the wind is free!
MARGARET VAUGHAN.

BEATRICE KAY would spurn attentions of Joe Howard, Gay Nineties' ceremony master, but it's all part of the gaiety that marks this CBS program.

BACK TO THE GAY NINETIES

by Alec Hispano

THE gas lamps are beginning to toss liver-colored light on the corners. Tinier flames burn in the carbide lamps of victorians and hansoms clattering over the cobblestones. After-work crowds are streaming down boardwalks, jamming horse and cable cars, for that man Edison's much-talked-of electric system has yet to web in the city with its acres of poles and wires. There are crowds packing themselves into the nickelodeons, where they are showing those amazing animations in photography. There is some talk along Broadway of what Nikola Tesla said in a newspaper piece the day before—something about it being but a matter of time when wireless will carry human voices as easily as experiments have proved it will carry the terse dots and dashes of the Morse code. It's hard to believe, but, by jiggers, have you ever been in the telephone office and actually listened to voices of people coming from more than 10 blocks away? Well, you just ought to. It's almost unbelievable, but it's being done. And now these moving pictures and electric lights. What's the world coming to? We're certainly living in a great age. Now, those electricians. Serve the oil companies right, sticking the public on kerosene—and the gas company. Tsk. Oh, by the way, have you seen those new mantles they're turning out for the gas jets? It's incredible. You know how fitful and eerie the gas jets are? Dangerous, too. Did you read about that chap who lighted a match in the hallway of the old Ansonia? The flame had blown out. So did he. The darn stuff blew up and tossed him through a hall window, out into the alley. Well, those mantles seem to concentrate the jet and—what a light. You can sit down and read five feet away, almost like in daylight. That'll spell the end of those doggone oil lamps.

The time, you may have guessed, is some years before the turn of the century and down the straightaway of time from 1900. The bustle and the whalebone corset and "rats" for Milady's hair are as fashionable as the minute. On the street corners gay blades stand during rush hours, avidly seeking a glimpse of a neatly-shaped ankle, most of whose shape is effectively disguised by boot tops that run almost halfway to knees which, probably, not more than a baker's dozen of the idlers on the corners even remotely suspect women have. The heads of the women are adorned by complicated assemblies of ribbon, feathers and taxidermed animal hair. Their midriffs are Inquisition-tor-vet-trimmed coats, and diver-reminiscent shoes, who looked upon the button shoe wearer as a "sissy," who surmounted their hirsuted heads with iron fabricated bowlers and derbies and who wore collars that would irk a Percheron. But these were the Gay Nineties, an era of beer and skittles, torchlight political processions, when Dewey took Manila and the Flora Dora sextette was beginning to grow up. This was the era of the stalwart man of he-ish character, the fainting Desdemonas of society; of the dashing Tally-ho, the hard-working "beef, potatoes and bread" times of America's workers, the days of the Held milk bath and champagne parties along the gay White way. What was doing for excitement in those days? What's doing tonight, if we were there in a time whose exact time is hard to

And the men?

Well, they were a walrus-moustached, grease-slicked-down-haired aggregation who wore snappy, skin-tight pants and velfix, but may be approximated by Joseph Howard, the Mizner of the show world?

What's doing?

The Broadway Gardens, its opening. They say there's a dilly dilly soubrette on the program, a peach named Beatrice Kay, who gives a twist and a turn to that tearful song that's going the rounds. Remember? "The Bird In the Gilded Cage." She's a Lolla, if there ever was one. Boy, and it's some show that girl puts on. Listen. She wears tights on her legs—well, you know—her limbs. But what tights! Gee whillikers! They're made of some kind of silk net. You can almost see the bare skin of her—er . . . limbs through them.

And there's Joe Howard, the Gay Nineties song and dance man. He hadn't written by then "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her now," and some half a thousand other whilom favorites . . .

BUT—to get down to realisms about CBS's "Gay Nineties Revue." The revue is largely Beatrice Kay and Joe Howard.

Howard is 72 years old now, a venerable age even in the tinsel-happy show world where people keep gracefully young long after others have desperately let go the illusions of youth. He may not be able to do a shuffle-off-to-Buffalo with the airy zip of 50 years ago, but he can still be counted on to plug a song. Two years ago Billy Rose of Aquacade o' Lovely fame, whose past is a still procession of broken down old music hall favorites hired for a song, saw Joe Howard, hired him to sing his old favorites at New York's gilty- and paste-jeweled Diamond Horseshoe.

Joe Howard did a comeback along the trail. Manhattanites, the bustles, the whalebone corset, the Cudahy Beef Trust chorus ideas have been entertainment for many years. Joe was a great, reviving for oldsters the memory of a departed era, for critical young people a scathing middle-agers a picture of America was like 50 years ago. He sang, how it danced and how it was considered smart talk in those days. He was before the 20th century.

Joe Howard is a great American. He peeped at life from the beaten, rickety-rack of a house in New York Bend, was father- and motherless. He was a runaway from an orphanage before he was 16. His runaway was to St. Louis, where he started with the "Refined Minstrels," singing "A Boy's Best Friend Is His Mother," a breast-racking ditty that caused many a masculine eye to drop rye- and bourbon-diluting tears into glasses. The late William Muldoon saw him, made him his protege. You old ones might remember him: The little fellow whom the mighty John L. Sullivan could keep on the canvas.

Howard is a veritable tune smithy. He has turned out 25 musical comedies, written 500 songs, had the AEF of World War I singing "Somewhere In France Is a Lily" (a fact which gave impetus to many a doughboy's inspiration to transplant a pretty French erotic liaison to marital status in the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave). He has written other songs, most of which are heard on the Gay Nineties Revue, which was brought into air reality by CBS' youngish president, William S. Paley and Producer Al Rinker.

The Revue was originally scheduled as a summer substitute. Two years ago sponsors began to gather what millions of Americans had known for weeks—that Joe Howard, Comic Billy Greene and Beatrice Kay were airing their way to entertainment success.

Any Monday night now at 8:30 o'clock from KNX you can, if you wish, create your own illusion of a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight. Just tune in, put out the incandescents—those new-fangled gadgets Edison is trying to sell—light a good old reliable kerosene lamp (if you haven't one or can't afford one, light a candle) and sit back and let Joe Howard's boom-de-ay take you back (if you're that old) to New York of a half century ago.

The ensemble's gathering in the wings, there's smoke in the air of Broadway Gardens, laughter from a thousand throat-ruffed beauties, perched high on their bustles, a blast of music from the pit . . . and—who's the dame, lads?

It's Beatrice Kay and, in a moment, friends, she'll have you sobbing with that latest song hit:

"She's More to be Pitied Than Censured."

Be seeing you at the Gardens, sports.

CHURCHES

A sadder world, a dreary world indeed It would seem if churches were not here.

Those gracious symbols of our need For God and hope and rest from fear. Slim spires pointing heavenward, they stand

As sanctuaries. Their simple crosses Tell the story of the man Of Galilee, who bore the pain and losses

Of a blighted world. Plain and bare, Or richly lavish, the creed; it matters not.

With saint or sinner, they share Alike—they symbolize man's common lot.

GENEVIEVE ALLEN.

SPRING MELODY

There is a melody that comes with spring—

Sung in the hills by brooks that flow In the merry rhythm of a song That quickened heartbeats long ago; It sounds a glad and hopeful note That reaches to the heart of earth— To echo back from nature's throat The joyous melody of birth.

MARGARET VAUGHAN.

THE LOVELIEST SOUBRETTE of them all is Beatrice Kay, whose rich, throaty voice can pull the last gasping sob and tear from the songs that wring hearts in the mauve decade. Beatrice is in a darling costume of the Gay Nineties' show world. Looks a bit overdressed for these scantied times, eh?

Pageant

God chose the western sky for The stage, and there upon Clear pure blue set the scene With feathers of cloud, wren And white at first, but as The death of day came near He changed the clouds to rose, And hushed the birds songs clear. ELEANORE RANDALL LAMKIN.

Glacial River

By snow-clad peaks I wend my way Daring the cold to have its say, Over meadows of fragrant blooms Into a river's snowy plumes, I travel the hy-ways of time Hearing the harebell's dainty chime Listening to pine symphonies But I am not lured by any of these. ELEANORE RANDALL LAMKIN.

Did you thank your market manager for making available to you Radio Life at so small a cost? Why not? He'd appreciate it.

Spanning Manning

Knox Manning last week greeted a fan from 3000 miles away, Dee Canoll, lately of Midway Island. Canoll told Manning that KNX was the only Pacific coast mainland station which has clear reception on the tiny island airplane base, and added that Manning's 11 p. m. newscasts on KNX are indispensable in the Midway Island social scene, where everything stops for listening at 7 o'clock their time. Canoll expects to resume his Los Angeles contracting business now that he has returned home.

JUNIOR TUNERS, a section for boys and girls, will bring you news about programs for children from the very small, through high school age. We hope that you Junior Tuners will show us how much you like your own department by writing to "Childrens' Editor Evelyn Bigsby with suggestions for stories you'd like to see here. For the best letter each week we will award two tickets for a popular broadcast.

YOUTHFUL, pretty Jane Webb, featured player on the Tom Mix Ralston Straight Shooters program. KECA, 5:45 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and 5:15 p. m. Wednesday.

"TELL ME A STORY" on March 19 will center about the experiences of 14-year-old Nancy Davis, who lives in the Kentucky mountains. Very eager to take her brother, Tom, and sister, Lucy, to hear the governor speak, Nancy manages to get new clothes for them but can't contrive anything for herself. How her old linsey-woolsey makes a hit with the governor will be related on the quarter hour program.

Radio Life Lines

BY "BUCK" HATHAWAY

WHILE THE RADIO GENIUSES of exalted third dimension and low Crossley are blitzkriegering their way into radio's Hall of Fame, a couple of quiet, normal, unsung heroes of radio, without flamboyant heraldry, are inaugurating one of radio's great achievements: Revival of a program similar to the Carnegie-cited "White Fires of Inspiration."

These gentlemen are Harrison Holliday, general manager of radio stations KFI and KECA, and Glan Heisch, their program director.

The case history of this program: In 1936, author and originator, Jon Slott, conceived doing a radio dramatization based on the great moment that inspired the immortal poetry, painting, composing and writing of history's great artists. Amazingly little is known of moments that inspired those immortal handiworks. Jon Slott, using biographer's license, dramatized stirring moments in history, rekindled those "white fires of inspiration" that burned bright in hearts of the great.

The "inspiration" "came" one day when browsing through Van Dorn's anthology of poetry in Ernest Dowson's poem "Cynara," a tribute to one woman that prompted Mr. Slott to research its inspiration, to discover a most dramatic situation.

PEOPLE throughout the nation who wondered about the story behind exquisite, immortal mementos, were to find it in this program. Written with an eye to its dramatic continuity, approached in the manner of a playwright, the program flowered, bloomed.

"THIS WAS MY INSPIRATION" has a new and interesting premise. For example, in the presentation of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland." It has often been said that this was a great political travesty, a story of double meaning. On March 16, Sunday, at 9:30 p.m., "This Was My Inspiration" will show that it was written about a child and for children throughout the world. Carroll's inspiration was little Alice Pleasance Liddell, and he wrote it with no political entendre or overtones.

It is to have the rare distinction of being an artist's program—produced, directed and written by radio artists. This has been a crying need in radio for some time, for stupid commercialism has destroyed many an artistic endeavor. Producer of the program is Glan Heisch, whose long service and wide experience in radio have bedfellowed Shakespeare and Mickey Mouse. A program is no better than the man who craftily correlates its given quantities. He must have a sensitive feeling for what an author is attempting to convey, an understanding of end result. He is, in a sense, a human antenna who senses the temper, qualities and value of every moment of a production.

For the first time in radio history, as far as I know, a program is going to be set up on the lines of a motion picture unit. Mr. Slott will serve as dialogue director rehearsing players' lines. He is sound here, for no one understands line values or characterization better than the author, who has researched and written the character conceptively. Claude Sweeten, conductor of KFI and KECA, is a capable musician. The program is fortunate in having him. His list of achievements is too numerous to mention. Recently, his amazing musical interpolations on the Poe broadcast called for much comment and adulation.

Bright light of the program will be the presentation of famous stage and screen personalities to head the cast. On March 28, Broderick Crawford, star of New York's "Of Mice and Men"; of screen plays "When the Daltons Rode," "Seven Sinners," "The Trail of the Vigilantes," will appear in the role of Paul Gauguin, that world-famous painter, "calm mad man" of easel and brush.

Lurene Tuttle, first lady of radio, will star on the program. I suspect there is no greater talent in America than that exemplified by this beautiful young actress who has appeared in good radio productions as often as any other artist in the business. She is the same Lurene of Rudy Vallee's program, scintillating co-star of Ted Osborne on the stirring program, "White Fires of Inspiration."

MUCH has been said about the various showcase radio programs, such as "The Columbia Workshop" and "Pursuit of Happiness." "This Was My Inspiration" aspires to be an artist's workshop in which the great names of stage and screen can find a medium, unhindered and unhampered by sponsor requirements, and enact a role they have always wanted to do for their art's sake. In the case of Broderick Crawford: Before Universal had cast him in rugged roles of Jack Dalton and The Vigilantes, he had appeared in New York in 101 various parts, but all away from the lusty, fast-riding western star. In his selection of the role of Paul Gauguin, he will portray a role he has always wanted to play. Thus, "This Was My Inspiration" fulfills another function. It brings to the air the talents of stars of stage and screen where in the past they were hidden under a cloud of horse hoof dust, the roar of harmless gun fire.

To Author-Director Jon Slott, Producer Glan Heisch, Harrison Holliday, Broderick Crawford and the cast of "White Fires of Inspiration," I, on behalf of perhaps as critically intelligent an audience as any program could have—Radio Life Reader-Listeners—go off the deep end, praising Mr. Slott for past performances, eager to wish him well on March 16, when the fated hour—9:30 p. m.—clicks into the time cycle. I feel I cannot be wrong in forecasting the rebirth of a great and cerebral air show, mature and inspirational for all family members.

Ending Note: Vanity is self deception. Modesty, coupled with knowledge, is genius' hallmark.

Orpheus Will Have A Holiday

By DON SABRE

WHEN Pierre Monteux raises his baton to signal for the well known fanfare of trumpets on evening of March 18, the Don Lee (KHJ) network Standard Symphony will melodically sound its 700th consecutive broadcast in 13 years.

In 1926 the Standard Oil Company of California made radio history by linking a radio station in Los Angeles with stations in San Francisco for a series of sponsored concerts by the San Francisco and Los Angeles symphony orchestras. From this two-city "chain," serving a limited number of people in the vicinity of the cities, Standard Symphony has become a musical institution in California, Oregon and Washington via 32 stations of the Mutual-Don Lee System.

Inaugurated as a non-commercial, the Symphony Hour has retained its character. Today it gives listeners an hour of quiet relaxation uninterrupted by commercial announcements and non-musical features. The listener has been invited to pull up an easy chair for escape from care and worry, to hear music of master composers brought him by trained musicians led by great orchestral conductors.

Carefully chosen are the programs over air week after week. Listeners with varying musical tastes may find pleasure and enjoyment in hearing old and well-loved selections, hear, also, new ones to add to their libraries of favorite compositions.

Hundreds of musicians have been assured of year-round employment by the Symphony Hour, which, although it originates from San Francisco most of the time, is also periodically broadcast from Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle. During each winter season, the resident orchestras in the four cities are used for the program. Usually the orchestras are conducted by their regular leaders, but frequently they are led by celebrated guest conductors from other parts of the world. When the major orchestras reach the end of their regular season in late spring or early summer, a special Standard Symphony Orchestra takes over the program until the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra is ready to begin its own fall and winter season and so resume the broadcasts.

The memorable 700th program will be conducted by Pierre Monteux, distinguished leader of San Francisco's Symphony, and will be selected from music most frequently asked for. There will be no commercial announcements to break in on the atmosphere of quiet repose.

Supplying air audiences with best in symphonic music, played by skilled musicians under world-famous leaders, the Symphony has furnished nearly 50,000 hours of employment to these artists and performers.

Fashions in dress and furnishings may change frequently, but Schubert, Beethoven, Tchaikowsky, Sibelius, Strauss, and Wagner live ever. Selections of these are to be heard on the 700th consecutive broadcast of the Standard Symphony Hour.

Thousands have written pleading for inclusion of a favorite melody on the all-request program.

Important is this feature: Stressed must be the fact that the Standard Oil music hour gives an hour of uninterrupted entertainment, a noteworthy contribution rare in broadcasting. But Standard Oil buys a solid half-hour Thursday mornings and another solid hour Thursday evenings, with no hint of commercial sponsorship permitted. The Standard Oil Company scrupulously insists that none be made, reason perhaps, why the program has civic approval, is regarded as an outstanding institutional program. National recognition has been given by the Women's National Radio Committee and the Radio Institute of Audible Arts. Recently the program was awarded the Phi Beta plaque for "bringing to the public radio programs of the highest artistic merit."

There is a classroom portion coordinated with the schools in the Pacific area, one of the most thoroughly unified studies in modern education. Features include dramatizations, participation songs by students, new American music, concise reviews, and a Teacher's Manual that ranks as one of the finest text books used in the American school system.

Example: There are school broadcast exhibits, a thorough course in orchestral instruments, rhythm and speed, melody and pitch, harmony and volume, folk song to opera, folk dance to symphony, absolute music, descriptive music, emotional music, and an exhaustive survey of the works of the greatest composers.

Some schools even take students afield to listen to bird melodies as a part of a classroom project coordinated with a symphony.

The Standard School broadcast is heard Thursday mornings, 11:15 to 11:45 a. m., on KHJ, KVOE, KFXM, KGB, KXO and KDB, as well as the rest of the stations of the entire Don Lee network, while the Standard Symphony is heard Thursday evenings, 8 to 9 p. m., same stations, same network.

When the orchestra plays from Los Angeles, Henry Svedrofsky conducts. When the Symphony Hour is heard from San Francisco, Pierre Monteux flourishes the baton, and in Seattle the leader is Nicolai Sokoloff.

Fowl Situation

John Nelson, narrator on the KNX program "Tonight's Best Buys," is hoping some Minah bird owner will list one of the pets for sale within the next week or two. He explains that a regular listener to the program has been waiting for a chance to buy one of the talking black-birds for months—and all he hears offered are ducks, geese, chickens, canaries, love birds and parrots.

HER ROYAL HIGHNESS

Mirandy's Interviewed by Fast-Stepping Callie Romer from the Old Ozark Hills

I'M CALLIOPE ROMER from the Ozarks. Here a spell back Pappy up an' swallowed the bung out'n the sour kraut barrel an' left Chigger Ridge to dwell in the Land o' Glory. He was a sharecropper, an' never had nothin' much, so never left nothin' much. One balky mule, three hawks, an' a couple o' cows—one dry, an' t'other'n so boney she wouldn't of done fer crow bait. But he did leave a fine still an' two barrel o' corn squeezin's powerful enough to tip a feller's hat with both hands in his pockets.

Ever since I seen a copy o' Radio Life I'd been a-hankerin' to git away from the hills. Was wore clean out a-hoein' corn an' follerin' the plow all day lookin' a mule in the tail. So with Pappy gone I figgered to hit the grit for Hollywood, an' git me a job writin' about radio stars. 'Course I ain't zackly what ye'd call edjicated, but a heap o' them publicity writers ain't got brains enough to fry if'n they was put in hot lard. About all they need is a nose long enough to stick in other folks' business, an' a knack for glamourin' things up so the readers swaller it down, an' drool at the mouth fer more. I've got the long nose all right, but I shore 'low to tell the truth.

I had a time gittin' here. Since Mister Rusevelt begun a-handin' out free vittles, most folks don't 'low to work up a lather raisin' a crop. So money is skeeree as cream in pore house coffee. I had to take half price fer the critters, an' the still was harder still to git shet of. Might nigh everbody has got their own. Finally swapped it to Riley Sours fer a gander an' six o' his gold teeth that a mule kicked out. I et the gander and sold the teeth. Jist set the squeezin's outside, told the neighbors to fetch their-own gourds an' go to it. So here I be! (An' I reckon Heaven ain't no nicer a place.)

At first I got sorter dis-encouraged.

Dre'mt Up by June Denby

Most o' them stars is a high-crastic lot. When I went to their houses some of 'em might nigh set the dogs on me. Then one mornin' at 10 o'clock I heered a radio program called "Mirandy's Garden Patch." On KFI it was. Well, I figgered that gal's path an' mine led right through the same cornpatch. She was tellin' when to plant, an' how to keef fer all sorts o' posies an' shrubs an' the like. (My land, I bet that gal loves to scratch in the dirt good as a chicken.)

I knowed she warn't no city-bred gal, fer she was too much like a human bein'. There was sich honesty, horse sense an' overflowin' love in her voice, there I set all puddled up in tears. An' I jist bet she's worth her weight in sugar-cured hams to them sponsors o' her'n.

Pappy allus claimed that the secret o' successful hawg callin' was havin' somethin' in yer voice that convinced the critters ye had jist what they was a'cravin'. That gal Mirandy has got that very thing. She makes a body feel like they jist had to do business with the outfit she's a-braggin' on.

I tore out fer her house like a pullet wantin' to lay a aig. She lives in a little holler in the hills not fur from here. An' her house ain't a-tall big er fine but it's so kivered with climbin' roses, mornin'-glories an' honeysuckle, an' the yard with its whitewashed rocks an' flowers makes it purty enough to have a calendar pasted underneath.

When I got there, I'll kiss-a pig if'n she warn't down on her knees a-buggin' her plants. But she riz an' come to meet me. 'Peared right proud to see me too, fer she was smilin' like a angel. After I told my name she shook my paw like it was a pump handle an' axed was I kin to Pokey Romer of Chigger Ridge.

I says, "Reckon ye might call us kin . . . I was his own gal." There Mirandy an' me had lived 14 mile apart since we was knee high to a doodle buy an' never met up.

We set ourselves down an' she resoomed an' continued the talk. "Happen ye recollect the cuttin' scrape yore Pappy an' my Pappy got into one time an' yore Pappy went home with one yeer a'missin'?"

Says I, "I shore do, but my Pappy never helt no gredge agin yore'n. He sorter took it as a favor. Whilst it did hurt some, in the long run it saved us money. With jist one yeer, a pair o' yeer-muffs done Pappy two seasons."

I told 'er I was a writer an' the interview begun. First off she told me who her sponsors was. Talbot's Insecticides, Coast Federal Savings and Loan Co., Lyon Van and Storage Co., and Vano Cleaner. (Lawzee, I reckon a heap o' folks would think they was lucky to have one sponsor.)

Then she told how her Ma died an' left a mess o' little young'ns, an' a Pappy with the rockin'-cheer dropsy. Her first job was with the Beverly Hill-Billies at KMPC. 'Peared like folks took to 'er right off. Purty soon she was on KNX on the Hollywood Barn Dance. From there to KHJ, an' might nigh ever' station in town. Then got signed up with NBC on the Gilmore Circus. Was there better'n two yeer. I fergot to ax what she done at the circus . . . bein' purty as a paper doll, she might of been a trapeze performer, but with her git-up-an'-git I'd jedge she was the lion tamer.

An' on top o' all her other work, she finds time to make transcriptions fer a

Boy Scout Of Radio

*Paul Elkins Does
His Good Deeds to Win Air Affection*

By ALEC GEORGE

PAUL ELKINS is the "Johnny Appleseed" of radio. Like his memorable prototype in America's early days he wends his way down the west's air lanes, planting his seeds of good deeds, leaving behind him, in place of tender apple tree shoots, a sense of life's finer values, of comradeship and cheer for a great many more persons than one need bother to count.

While life may be, admittedly, a screwy adventure at best or worst, depending how tough the breaks have been for you, Paul Elkins has a notion about it that is not quite as nutty as this Old Apple of a world sometimes gives us reason to believe it is.

His notion is that doing a good turn for a guy or a gal is really some sort of seed; not exactly an appleseed from which will grow the little spheroids which, when pressed, emit a hard-cidery juice to take the edge off trouble, but, nevertheless, a seed out of which will sprout an expanding willingness on the part of people to give the tough-breakers a lift along the seamy road.

Call Paul Elkins a Civic Boy Scout and you've tabbed him accurately. Good deeds spring like beans from mythical Jack's beanstalk from his small talk program every Monday afternoon at 3:45, KFWB. The average Boy Scout is a tyro in contrast to our hero. Not one good deed, but several, does he account for every day in the week. He certainly must sleep well nights, with nothing more startling on his conscience than the memory of helping to make the St. Thomas Parish society's fish-fry a tremendous success by virtue of casual mention of the fish-fry to his increasing afternoon auditors, or suggesting rather warmly that a certain leg-paralyzed newspaper writer might have a decent chance to earn a living if somebody would kick in with a typewriter, or uttering a call to owners of big cars that it would be a swell idea to take a few lonesome souls out for Sunday rides—or . . .

Well—to pull no punches . . .

She was going to die, was this slip of a dame the cops picked up one afternoon from a downtown street. Nothing really exciting or unusual about a dame dying, even though she was a rather attractive sort of a midge. Lots of people kick the bucket, day in and day out. One more or less didn't matter, except, perhaps, to the bucket-kicker and whoever might be around with a little love for him or her.

"T.B.," said the doctors. "Chance to live if properly cared for. Needs rest, proper diet, freedom from worry."

Well, a hospital isn't the most cheerful place in the world, and special diets and attention are always on tap like turning a water faucet and there you are.

Paul Elkins sat down one afternoon before his microphone with his head buzzing with pictures of this little lady, wasting life without hope, certainly skidding to the Great Crossing on a one-way ticket.

Sort of matter-of-fact like he told the little gal's story, said:

"Maybe I'm wrong. Maybe there isn't anybody listening who really cares a tinker's darn about a life like this. But folks—maybe there's somebody listening who might have a stirring of feeling along his backbone, a feeling that would run right on into the heart. Maybe that person would have enough of the good things of this world to be able to spare some of it for a girl like this one. Maybe it's a shame that God's sunshine and the right food can only be had with dough. Maybe. Well, anyway, how's about it, you who can afford to keep this girl where she wants to be—here on this side of the Old River?"

Maybe we're wasting space telling you what is obvious. There was such a person listening. The kid's all right now, or beginning to be all right. It's a caution the way a body'll put on weight and sick tissues mend when the right provender goes into it.

"Port of Hope," Paul Elkins calls his program. Out of the Port along the etheric ocean goes Paul Elkins' good will, his ship. It gathers its cargoes from a thousand and one homes and coastal territories, requests, pleas, responses to air-stated cases requiring help, a cargo of whimsies, desires, dreams and hopes from tiny toddlers to slipping seniles and in between.

Mention of little Tommy, whose dog has been run over by an automobile, stuffs Paul's office with puppies, gifts and cash for Tommy.

Said Paul: "Martha W. is a stranger in L. A. She faces a serious operation. Yearns for a friendly person to give her a bit of courage and a smile." For Mar-

Music In Wax

IF JOAN MERRILL is consistently as good on the air as she is on Bluebird's recording of "Miss Johnson Phoned Again Today," hers is a voice with which one must reckon. Miss Merrill is not only tuneful but dramatic. There is a tinge of Judy Garland it seems, in pronunciation and tone character, but the effective delivery obliterates any suggestion of "copycatting." Being one of the best of the current ballads in conception, lyrics, and even music, there is great hope for its success, particularly among the ladies.

Reverse:

How Did He Look. This recording is as much of a vocal expression of Joan Merrill as "Miss Johnson Phoned Again Today" is a dramatic rendition. This song is sung with much feeling and expression. Like its accompanying title, the orchestra and arrangement are in good taste with both songstress and song.

ACKNOWLEDGING that music is a universal language, The Eddy Duchin Album of Columbia is a universal appeal to music lovers. There are perhaps few peers to the endeavors of Eddy Duchin to please everyone. From a popularity standpoint, Mr. Duchin has to a great measure succeeded in achieving, with soft lights and his very sweet music, a rare harmony among us heterogeneous Americans. Here is a soft, easy flowing piano, expertly played in a pleasing, moody manner. Contents:

The Way You Look Tonight, Lover Come Back to Me, Why Do I Love You, Easter Parade, Lovely to Look At, I Guess I'll Have to Change My Plans, April in Paris, The Nocturne in E-Flat (Chopin), and Time On My Hands.

THE Andrews Sisters are very much in their elemental element in recording "I, Yi, Yi, Yi, Yi, Yi" for Decca. There is much screaming and shouting in harmony which many people like. Vic Schoen and his orchestra play second fiddle to the Andrews Sisters, which is regrettable, but this ever-popular feminine trio has allowed in this arrangement, a chance for the orchestra to slip through, at which time a trumpet or a saxophone or even the drum is quite audible.

Reverse:

I'll Be With You In Apple Blossom Time. (From the motion picture, Buck Privates.) This record was also made by the Andrews Sisters.

—W. MAURICE LOSON.

Ed. Note: The foregoing are paragraphic reviews of late issue recordings selected as among the best of the week, but critically heard. They may be heard and purchased at Music City, Sunset boulevard and Vine street, Hollywood, where one of the world's largest stocks of recordings is available.

tha W. at the hospital: numerous postcards, letters, wires and visitors.

"Made an operation seem like a picnic," she wrote.

Dogs, cats, alligators, white mice, love-birds, skunks (2), canaries and minnows have found homes through Paul's "Port of Hope."

His tip to householders, during a thirsty spell, to wet their shrubs sent local water consumption up over night. He has served as middleman for listeners desiring an exchange of advice, from marital matters to finding the author of a favorite poem. He has been the go-between in swaps from washing machines to bread recipes.

He wields a Pied Piper power over his listeners.

Sympathetic and enterprising, Elkins doesn't know his own strength. But the radio audience does. His program over KFVB prompts a spontaneous flow of letters and phone calls.

Paul's program is reminiscent of a grab bag. During the course of it he has delivered a humorous comment on coloring salt so it can be made easily seen on food, has suggested a way to make catsup pour. It has had a request from a son and daughter to locate a lost father; a request for advice on rug-buying; a discussion as to whether women prefer to kiss men with or without mustaches; an offer to exchange beauty treatments for a pair of chintz curtains; the opinion of optical experts concerning brunettes, red heads and blondes; an offer of four mystery books for some shut-ins to read; a request for the location of a Hindu restaurant; what the eyes of an auto driver do at 45 miles an hour; a request for transportation for a visit to Rancho Los Amigos; a bit of poetry; a request for infant clothes and a baby basket; and a baby offered for adoption.

You might say the guy gets around via the airlines.

Paul's a New Yorker transplanted happily in California, a graduate from the College of the City of New York, has been in radio since 1926, starting on an eastern station with an Orson Welles-ish program, and has done theatrical stock.

Explaining his Port of Hope program, he said:

"Just got to wondering one day about how many people don't get the breaks, not because people aren't kind, but because the people who can help don't know the ones who are having tough sledding. I figured they could be brought together."

Well, it was good figuring, as thousands of letters to KFVB are proving.

I was getting up to leave when Elkins stopped me.

"You happen to know of anybody who has a tame deer?" he asked casually.

Just as casually we said: "Yes, there's one in a back yard on Bronson, third house from the corner across from the Le Conte Junior High."

And that's the truth. There is one. "Thanks," he said, without batting an eye. "I have a request from a group of small fry who want to see one."

When we left him he was making a note of the address.

Recipe for Veal Cutlets in Paper Cases

8 veal cutlets 16 thin slices ham
 1/2 pound mushrooms 1/4 pound butter
 4 shallots 2 teaspoons Seasonettes
 1 small onion 8 sheets plain foolscap paper

Trim the cutlets. Then cook in butter in a frying pan until well browned on both sides, season with Seasonettes. Remove from saucepan when done and drain. On each cutlet spread a little of the following mixture. Chop the onion and shallots very fine and cook in butter, but without browning. When they begin to get to a golden color, add the mushrooms chopped very fine and cook for 10 minutes, mixing very well. Cut the sheets of foolscap paper in the shape of a large heart. The center of the heart being where the sheets are folded. Cut each one neatly, then open and paint all over with salad oil. Lay a slice of lean ham on one side of the paper, spread a little of the mushrooms and shallots over it, then over this place a cutlet, the fleshy part of the cutlet toward the upper part of the heart. Cover with a slice of the ham. Fold the other side of the paper over the cutlet and then fold the edges over, wrinkling them so that the case will not come undone. Put the packed cutlets on a baking sheet and place for a few minutes only in oven at 325 degrees, until the paper begins to brown. Serve cutlets at once on a hot dish in the paper cases.

Recipe for Artichokes Jerusalem

2 pounds artichokes 1 cup white Royal Feast wine
 1 large onion 1/2 cup stock
 1 clove garlic 4 tablespoons butter
 2 teaspoons Seasonettes

Slice the onion and cook in 4 tablespoons of butter until it begins to brown. Then add the peeled artichokes, cut in quarters, then the Seasonettes and the chopped garlic. Cover with wine and stock and let simmer until artichokes are tender.

Recipe for Baba au Rum

1/2 pound flour 1 pinch salt
 1 level teaspoon yeast 3/4 cup seedless raisins
 6 tablespoons butter 3/8 lumps sugar
 3 large eggs 1/2 cup water
 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar 6 tablespoons rum
 3 tablespoons unboiled, but warm milk

Sift the flour in a tureen or a bowl, and make a well in the center, put yeast in the middle and mix with the finger the warm milk and a little flour. Cover the yeast lightly with the flour and let it stand for 6 minutes. Then add eggs, which you have mixed well in a bowl, and work with hands for a few more minutes, adding another tablespoon of milk. Then knead for about another 5 minutes. Then cover bowl and stand in a warm place for 30 minutes. Then add the melted butter, the salt and the 1 1/2 tablespoons of sugar to the paste and work for another 5 minutes, mix in the raisins. Grease a turk head mold, fill that only half way, and set to raise in a warm place. When that is raised almost to the top of the mold, the it is ready to bake. Put in an oven at 325 degrees and bake for about 40 minutes. Remove at once from the mold and put on a wire tray. Make a syrup with water and sugar and as soon as the sugar is dissolved let the mixture boil for 2 minutes. When almost cold, add rum, place the baba in a dish and pour the syrup over that.

THE WEARING OF THE GREEN—Monday is St. Patrick's Day, but that isn't the only reason why green should predominate this week. Friday is the first day of spring, too, when nature herself starts wearing green. Of course we don't think much about it out here in California where there's plenty of green all year round, but it's nice to know that spring is here anyway, and it won't hurt to commemorate it in some way along with St. Patrick's Day.

St. Patrick's Day, of course, is easy on the menu. All you do is fix an Irish or Mulligan stew in a pinch, and there you are, though of course we personally would try something a little more elaborate. As for spring—well, maybe lamb might be nice on the 21st. Lambs begin to frolic when spring is here, so why shouldn't you have a little frolic in the kitchen with some lamb? Anyway, it's a thought.

FROM OUR MEMBERS—Mrs. Evelyn Frank of Los Angeles suggests: Dipping croquettes, cutlets and even hamburgers in left-over waffle or pancake batter before frying them. Mrs. L. M. Bovee of Culver City: Using water instead of sweet milk in cakes when you want them tenderer, lighter, or fluffier.

Then we had a lovely letter from a Mrs. Marshick, also of Los Angeles. It didn't give any food hints, but it was so beautiful, we feel compelled to quote it in part. She speaks of memories of Southern Europe and says: "I remember so well a dish of tiny fish, 'cento in bocca', fried in olive oil on a little charcoal stove and how delicious they were! And wild asparagus, gathered on the hills, and chicken risotto, and so many other beautiful things besides food: The wonderfully blue ocean, the glorious hills and happy, singing people."

Thank you Mrs. Marshick for the poetry of your thoughts. Food was ever meant to be accompanied by other delights.

"Cento in bocca," by the way, means a hundred in a mouthful.

IS THERE ANY NOURISHMENT IN COFFEE?—The answer is, "No." Coffee is a stimulant; not a food. However, there are coffee substitutes that do have food value, and probably the most outstanding of these is Fiego. Fiego is made from the finest selected barley and sun dried, unsulphured California figs, and in addition to having nourishing properties it also serves as a mild laxative.

You'll find Fiego conveniently packed in individual bags for making one or two cups as you do with tea, and for something really worthwhile and different in the way of a meal-time drink, it just can't be beat.

COOKING ADVENTURES—A cooking adventure is a kind of culinary experiment. It must never be performed recklessly, but with a certain amount of discretion and a little epicurean inspiration. One way to enjoy such adventures of course, is with wine. Wine can give a dish a sort of aristocratic quality that places it in a kind of gastronomical beau monde. Try preparing a fish or meat sauce with wine some time, remembering that the wine should be dry and that for fish it should also be white.

Then there's adventure in having a little sweet wine in desserts, and further adventures are possible when foods are marinated in wine, or cooked with wine, or when brandy is poured over them and touched with a flame. We leave the variation of all such good vintage ideas up to you and wish you all kinds of adventurous luck with them.

However, a final suggestion: When you decide on wine cookery, decide on it with Royal Feast wines, a brand especially qualified to make your culinary dreams come true, and for an especially glorious repast, we recommend that you serve Royal Feast wines with your dinners as well as in them.

Chef Milani's Famous Souffle Recipes

Recipe for Souffle with Raspberries

7 ounces stiff raspberry jelly
7 ounces powdered sugar
5 egg whites

Place the raspberry jelly in a small basin and mix slowly with the powdered sugar, so as to obtain a consistent preparation, then put the egg whites in one after another, stirring vigorously with a whisk for 20 minutes. When this is frothy and firm, pour it into a souffle pan, cook for 40 minutes in a very slack oven. Five minutes before removing the souffle from the oven glaze it with sugar. Set it on a large dish and cover with a large hot dish cover, serve immediately.

Recipe for Souffle Creamy with Cheese

12 egg yolks
½ pound butter
1-8 teaspoon pepper
1 pinch nutmeg
¾ pound grated Swiss cheese
5 egg whites
3 tablespoons whipping cream

Place the egg yolks into a saucepan, beat them with partly melted butter. Season with pepper and nutmeg, then stir preparation on a slow fire, the same as a cream, so that it thickens, constantly stir, without letting it boil. When done remove from the fire and stir in grated Swiss cheese. (The preparation should be mellow.) Then add to it first the beaten egg whites, fold thoroughly but gently, and then the 3 tablespoons of whipped cream. Pour this preparation into a souffle pan. Lay on a baking sheet, and bake it for 25 minutes in an oven at 375 degrees and serve at once.

Recipe for Souffle with Swiss Cheese

¼ pound flour
4 ounces butter
5 ounces grated cheese
1 pinch pepper
½ pound Swiss cheese, cut in small cubes
½ teaspoon sugar
1½ pints milk
6 eggs

Put the flour into a saucepan with 2 ounces of butter, 5 ounces of grated cheese, and a pinch of pepper and the sugar. Dilute slowly with the milk. Stir the preparation on a slow fire to thicken. Let dry on a slow fire until it detaches from the saucepan. Then remove and let get partly cold. Now add 2 more ounces of butter, and six egg yolks, beat for 2 minutes on a slow fire without ceasing to stir. At the last moment add preparation of 6 egg whites, beaten to a froth and the cubed Swiss cheese. Pour into a buttered souffle pan, and lay it on a small baking sheet, place in oven and bake for 30 minutes at 375 degrees.

Recipe for Baked Sea Bass with Mushroom Sauce

2 pounds Mexican sea bass
1 can Superio mushroom sauce
1½ teaspoons Seasonettes
2 tablespoons of butter
Place 2 pounds of sliced Mexican sea bass in a frying pan, sprinkle with 1½ teaspoons of Seasonettes. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter and pour over the sea bass. Then open a can of Superio mushroom sauce and pour over the fish. Place in a preheated oven at 350 degrees and let fish bake for 30 minutes.

CHEF MILANI'S DOLLAR (FOR 4) DINNER No. 3

Polenta a la Montagnole
Pork sausage a la Nola
Shredded carrot salad with mayonnaise
Bread and butter
Signet pears
Coffee

Recipe for Polenta a la Montagnole

4 teaspoons Seasonettes
3 slices Oil Fashund bacon
1 No. 2½ can solid packed tomatoes
1-3 cups Parmesan cheese
¼ pound yellow corn meal
1 pound pork sausage
4 slices bread
1 onion
2 cloves garlic
4 tablespoons butter

Mix 1 pound of pork sausage with 4 slices of soaked and squeezed bread, and season with 2 teaspoons of Seasonettes. Form into 4 even flat cakes. Fry with 3 slices of bacon, when brown on both sides remove from frying pan. Then fry 1 chopped onion and 2 cloves of garlic in the bacon fat. When onions and garlic get to a golden color put in contents of 1 No. 2½ can of tomatoes. When tomatoes come to a boil add the 4 meat cakes, and let simmer for 2 hours. Then put 2½ cups of water into a saucepan, add 2 more teaspoons of Seasonettes, and 4 tablespoons of butter. When boiling, stir in ¼ pound of yellow corn meal with a wooden spoon. When corn-meal gets thick let simmer for 30 minutes until smooth. When done put polenta in a platter, cover with sauce that you have made from tomatoes and meat cakes. Sprinkle with cheese and serve.

cosmetic company back east some'ers. She's worked a heap in movin' pitchers, too. One was with Bob Burns' bazooka called "She'll Be Comin' 'Round the Mountain." I dis-remember the others.

Our talk drifted back to gardenin' an' I axed if'n she ever told her radio friends how good manure was to make things grow. She says, "Yes, I have, but them radio big-bugs is mighty nice an' stinkin' perticklar about some things . . . so I have to call it Liquid Fertilizer." Then I axed if'n she'd ever warned folks about plantin' when the moon was right. She shook her head—sad like—an' said she dassent fer fear somebody'd write in an' say she was lackin' in the head. Ain't town folks ignorant?

No longer ago than last summer Mirandy said she planted punkins on a hillside when the moon was full an' they growed so big one of 'em broke loose an' killed a yearlin' s'bdat.

I hope to be with ye agin sometime . . . an' as Mirandy says on her programs, "God love ye all—an' fare ye well!"

Call of the Wild

William Saroyan, the playwright, set a delicate task for Leith Stevens' trumpet player on "The Free Company's" inaugural broadcast from KNX of "The People with Light Coming Out of Them." On page 11 of the script are the following directions:

"From a distance trumpet playing begins. It is unmistakably the blowing of a student. It sounds beautiful and sad and eager."

GAGS OF THE WEEK

For the best Gags of the Week heard over Radio and sent Radio Life, tickets will be sent winners for admission to radio broadcasts and tours of NBC and CBS Hollywood studios. Listen to your favorite programs and then send your best Gag to 1029 West Washington Boulevard, Los Angeles.

Billie Shepherd, 3960 Crenshaw Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: On the Jack Benny program: The Indian guide was taking Jack and his guests on a hike. The guide said: "Come, pale faces." Rochester said: "So long, boss."

E. W. Stiles, 427 So. Union Dr., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on "We, the People": Announcer: "You have heard of the genie of the jug, the genie of the lamp, but have you ever heard of the genie—" I thought he was going to say "With the light brown hair," but the best joke of the week was on me because he said "Of the coffee pot."

Kala Vonn Higgins, 975 So. Hoover St., Los Angeles.

Sirs: On the Showboat program: Gill: "Look at those dogs run!" Dem: "And why shouldn't they run? We're headed north toward the pole."

Mrs. N. Crabtree, 168 W. Valencia St., Burbank, Calif.

Sirs: On Signal Carnival, Vera Vague and Jack Carson: Vera: Tyrone Power called me a kitten in the rain. Jack Carson: Did he really say that? Vera: Well, words to that effect. He said I was a drizzle puss.

Mrs. G. Ruth Linson, 1331 E. 62nd St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on Al Pearce show: Customer: Waitress, I ordered American cheese sandwich—this is Swiss cheese. Waitress: Chef, naturalize this Swiss.

STYLE SLANTS

by
MARTIN BERENS

THAT first swell, sunny day we had after all our "unusual weather" last week Carol Knight, up-and-coming blonde songstress of KMPC, appeared at the station in a combination play dress and play suit. She said she was going to put a hex on Jupiter Pluvius by reminding the sun that we're a-waitin'. If old Sol refuses as lovely an invitation as Carol's, he must be crazy and a menace, floating around up there.

The outfit she wore was in soft rayon jersey and gave the effect of a soft sport dress. The top was in wide jockey stripes of two shades of blue, royal and powder, running up and down, and was collarless. It had a deep yoke all around and the material, gathered all around below the yoke, hung in soft gathers. Shoulders were plain but the sleeve was perked away up, falling to a sporty cuff. The skirt was in all-solid color powder blue, with a wide waist band, and the material again gathered all the way around, giving a soft, full effect. It buttoned all the way up the front and was of knee length, which is this year's play length. A removable belt in stripe was at the waist.

Miss Knight, who is the singing star of "Out of the Hat," Sunday at 6 p. m.; "Song Stories," Tuesday and Thursday evenings, and "Americana," on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 3:30, is about 5 feet 4 inches tall and a very lovely blonde. The jersey, which is a clingable fabric, was soft and flattering on her and I think, will be one of the most successful play-wear fabrics of the year.

When the skirt was unbuttoned and removed the play suit was revealed. This was in one piece, attached to the jockey-striped top and was in the form of a short, very full skirt with tight shorts underneath. This, too, was in solid-color powder blue, and the top and bottom was broken by removing the belt from the full-length skirt and wearing it as part of the playsuit.

When buying your own early sportswear, regardless of whether it's in jersey, cotton, seersucker or denim, or other play fabrics, be wise and look for a combination play dress and playsuit. You'll get so much more wear out of it than from just a plain playsuit, as it's suitable for almost any occasion during the summer.

Style Slants, with Martin Berens, is on KMPC Tuesday and Thursday at 11:45 a. m.

COMING OUT OF THE ETHER by Bernie Smith

WELL, it appears that radio's battle with ASCAP is now something for future students of radio history to study. Let no one conclude that "radio licked ASCAP." Radio did nothing but stick up for its rights. ASCAP licked itself through mismanagement and over-confidence.

We may look forward to hearing all of the best music, including that in public domain, that controlled by BMI and its allied publishing houses, and that written by ASCAP composers, within the next 60 days.

Radio's next step will be to dicker with the musicians. Even now the department of justice is preparing a strong case against James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, who is a virtual dictator of the musicians' realm. We hold no brief for either side in the controversy. We'll merely cite a case, one of many that have aroused the ire of broadcasters who are getting tired of paying through the nose without recourse:

In Chicago, all stations must have a man standing by the machine that plays records. It is this man's sole duty to turn the record over and put the needle in the track. The engineer sits idly by and whistles to himself. Does this sound like democracy? Or does it sound like a racketeer at work?

Such an asinine ruling is being planned for Los Angeles. Radio will fight such a move, of course. Should the agitators who plan the ruling wish to bring their racket into the open and make a fight for it, there is a strong possibility listeners will have music available but nobody to play it for them!

SMITHEREENS: Alec Templeton will be in Hollywood for approximately seven weeks. That makes at least seven weeks of assured sunshine for rain-beaten Southern California! . . . Keep your eyes on "This Was My Inspiration," the new series of dramatic programs on KFI each Sunday night at 9:30. They're sooper-dooper. . . . Could it be that the Barrymore boys, John and Lionel, are building up a terrific air duel? . . . Rudy Vallee's making a movie with Rosemary Lane, the Casa Loma orchestra, Brenda and Cobina (from the Hope show) and the musical Six Hits and a Miss. Sounds like it ought to be okay with a cast like that. . . . Too bad we don't have a local release for Hedda Hopper's CBS program, sponsored by the Southern California citrus industry. From what we've been able to gather, the program's a honey. . . . Gracie Allen says that the all-star band including Tommy Dorsey, Count Basie, Benny Goodman, Harry James, Ziggy Elman, et al., should have made their Victor recording of "Bugle Call Rag" on asbestos. . . . Burns and Allen, by the way, are going off the air shortly. . . . And the Arch Oboler series is ended the first of April, not because of any lack of interest on the part of listeners, but because Arch and the sponsor couldn't agree on the methods of presenting the commercials. Seems like the sponsors insisted on putting commercials squarely in the middle of Oboler's sensitive dramas. . . . The past week has been "headache time" for station managers, what with all the local politicians doing their best to violate every radio law. We know of one guy who had his script censored by station editors only three minutes before he went on the air. "When I am mayor," he shouted, "I'm going to have your license taken away!" Luckily, it doesn't look like he's going to be mayor. The station had deleted about 16 different libel suits from the nut's script and boy! Was he mad!

Both the ASCAP battle and the upcoming "understanding" with the musicians have long been sore spots with the broadcasters, but until this time they haven't been unified to a point where they could strike back.

These are interesting times for listeners and broadcasters alike.

Checked Career

Don Prindle, head gag writer for "Al Pearce and His Gang" on CBS, likes to boast of a "checked career." Don wanted to be a doctor. His family hoped he'd be a lawyer. So Don studied to be a chiropractor, then in turn became a singer and actor, and finally a gag writer. And Prindle says what he really wants to do is to write "a good American tragedy."

Wheat Nuts, The All-Family Cereal, Is Here!

Your grocer now has Wheat Nuts, the new kind of cereal, which contains the life germ of the wheat. By a special milling process part of the starch content, as well as the indigestible bran, has been removed. As a result you get the delicious flavor of the wheat germ — the part in which is concentrated the rich health-giving vitamins and minerals. Through this patented new milling process, Wheat Nuts retain the ingredients usually lost in the old-fashioned milling process. Ask your grocer for Wheat Nuts today. Taste the difference.
