Roundup On Welles

W. E. Brokaw-Vaughn Bachman Brokaw, Equitist League, Del Rosa, Calif.

Sirs: We wish to give our approval of Orson Welles' article in May 4 Radio Life. It is the spirit of democracy.

Emerson Symonds, 420 N. 10th Ave., Upland, Calif.

Sirs: I have carefully read and re-read the script of "His Honor, the Mayor" in Vol. 3, No. 8 and am convinced that Mr. Hearst is 100 per cent wrong. As for being radical, that is ridiculous, notice the poke taken at radicalism in the incident of the town red, Joe Enoch.

I think this play represents and propagandizes for a type of Americanism which is altogether too rare these days. I am of the opinion that in real life too many of our mayors are members of or sympathetic to groups like Colonel Egenhorn's White Crusaders.

V. R., 1919 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Congratulations on presenting Orson Welles' play in Radio Life. It's a pip. One vote for you and O. W. versus W. R. H.

J. E. Nissen, 570 N. Rossmore, Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: Whether Mr. Orson Welles is right or wrong should depend on the proper "time" he chooses to propagate his satire on the public.

You will agree, that everything has its time for being. The time to plant, to seed, sow and to reap, just as the time for the sun to rise and to set etc. and this is certainly the time for tact with genuine loyalty to our country with understanding Americans rather than tyrannize at the wrong time a public already entrenched in a panic of fear!

Mrs. Anna Standafer, 700 W. 41st Place, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I can see nothing that could be construed as propaganda in "His Honor the Mayor" at all. I think the mayor handled and solved his problem in a wise and understanding way. By keeping cool, siding with neither side, he prevented a riot and possible bloodshed, won the respect of his opponents, and the meeting of the White Crusaders certainly did no harm whether or not they intended any. I think it shows plainly the truth that one man in authority who keeps his head can, by patience and no criticism, do much more than any number of excited, criticising people can do.

Philip A. Birdick, 2821 Menlo, Los Angeles. (L. A. School of Optometry).

Sirs: What happened to the "Free Company?" Is there anything listeners can do to get the program back on the air?

Have the powers that are afraid of free speech put "the clamps" on one of the best programs the American public has ever heard?

Ed. Note: The CBS "Free Company" series has gone through its air allotment of 13 weeks. From all indications the program will be resumed this fall over the same network.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Morrison, 4957 Melbourne Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: "His Honor the Mayor" is excellent as are the other Free Company productions. We see nothing controversial about it. In fact, it might be well—on the same basis—to make less of the speeches of the America First committee; if the wisdom underlying Welles' play was more generally appreciated, how much bolder relief realities would stand out.

To Radio Life—keep up the good work.

Mrs. Robert Rector, Los Angeles.

Sirs: Regarding the Orson Welles broadcast "His Honor the Mayor", I should like to say the question "Is this script American?" is a bit superfluous. Proof being the statement of Knaggs, columns two and three on page twenty-three of Radio Life issue May 4, 1941:

"Germany was a young democracy. Don't forget it, her republic was only a few years old and it lacked experience. We're the oldest democracy on the planet. We know our way around. Gosh, I got too much faith in America to think Colonel Egenhorn, or any reasonable facsimile, could march in and start givin' us orders. Look at the way our folks are risin' up against this White Crusade business, right here in town!"

E. H. R., Alhambra, Calif.

Sirs: Your "Best Bet" staff choices for May 11-17 contains one program which, in my opinion, is hardly worth listening to, namely, the Pope's encyclicals. Since they are neither entertaining, informative, laughable, educative, critical or what have you, and at the same time top your list, it puzzles me. I would place them at the foot or omit them entirely. The Nat'l Barn Dance, the Chicago University R. T. discussions, any Quiz, Puzzle, Marriage Club, Open Forum B. C. is worth a carload in comparison, in my opinion. But—de gustibus non est disputandum.

"In every country and in every age, the priest has been hostile to liberty. He is always in alliance with the despot, abetting his abuses in return for protection to his own."—Thomas Jefferson.

Were the Hearst papers true critics of the technique of radio script writing and not of the people who disturb status quo, they would have pointed out the extreme ick in these words which leaves no doubt that the character of Knaggs, let alone the writer and the Free Company are so unquestionably American that they fell over backwards saying "Gosh, I got too much faith in America. . ."

To me it is very amusing to think any one of the mentality below or above

Hearst would walk two steps out of his normal path to waste precious heart-beats on anything so unequivocally naive. In writing this play, Welles was no doubt so ridden by his very sensitive critical self that he let it edit all his creative flow before it rolled off the conscious pen. The play fairly creeps along with big, wide, fearful eyes, lest it say something "radical". It is too bad Welles has been so much a public child since his flight from Mars: it is regrettable that he cannot be unknown for awhile and therefore daring to the point of "No one will want to read this stuff anyhow, so I might as well say what I'm thinking".

As for my general reaction to the play, I feel it was at least a welcome relief from the pathos ether we breathe everyday from nine to one and four to six. I hope he will write more plays of this kind, and the more he writes the freer he will feel he can be. Certainly this tension of criticism he is living under is not conducive to a "normal" life for even Mr. Welles.

George H. Brown, 565 Walnut Ave., Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: I know that all radio broadcasts of eminent private citizen Charles Augustus Lindbergh are paid for in advance and serve the purpose of a few, but I rise to inquire should they not in the future be replaced by broadcasts designed to serve the need of the less eminent many?

Specifically speaking: Though I do not wish Lindbergh had lock-jaw, I am greatly disturbed by his hotcha; I feel freedom of speech, we at times over-reach, and 'twere best Lindbergh spoke sotto voce.

Mrs. J. L. R. Rickey, 200 S. Glassell, Orange, California.

Sirs: I'm a steady user of the product sponsoring "Mary Marlin." That was the program that really introduced me to Ivory Soap, but what a program it's turned out to be. Just repeat, repeat, and repeat. Can't something be done about letting the story go on?

Dick Henderson, 4920 Bancroft Dr., La Mesa, Calif.

Sirs: Sure, we like your mag. It's worth more than 2 cents. We place Fibber and Molly at very top of our list of enjoyed programs. The list of 10 by the San Pedro kids does not agree with our ideas, but maybe we are getting old.

I was surprised that Leon Janney and the Parker family didn't get nod from the kids. Bob Hope is not so hot. He seems to have a claque which applauds before he finishes his joke.

If Charlie McCarthy would "can" Donald Dixon and his 70 H. P. voice, trying to equal Nelson Eddy (I don't like him either, but Pearl does).

If Cecil B. De Mille would cease and desist using so much sweetness when he says "Good night, from Hollywood," with Hollywood pronounced like Irene Rich used to before she got tangled up with "Dear John."

Program Changes This Week

Editor's Note: As rapidly as they are furnished by Log Editors of principal broadcasting networks and major western independents, complete program and time changes will be noted, week to week, in this section. Readers are informed, however, that even noted changes may not hold true, because of broadcasting problems, and nearly overwhelming pressure of world affairs, to which the Radio Industry, in interests of public service, sacrifices time, money and, in some cases, programs, that ideals of public service shall be maintained. "NP" means New Program. "NT" means New Time.

Broadcast discussions are prepared with painstaking objectivity and accuracy. Monday mornings the experts go into a huddle, choose a newsworthy development for the following Sunday, decide which of them is qualified to tackle research, write script, take the air.

On European issues Vera Micheles Dean or John C. de Wilde do research and handle program, far Eastern affairs by T. A. Bisson. Others on board are David H. Popper, James Frederick Green, A. Randie Elliot, Louis Frechtling and Helen Moorhead.

Whenever a national issue comes up William T. Stone, FPA vice-president, takes over and speaks from the nation's capital, where the Association's Washington Bureau maintains close contact with Congress, government departments and foreign embassies.

FPA was founded 22 years ago to provide Americans with impartial and accurate information on world affairs so that, as citizens of a democracy, they would be equipped to reach their own conclusions concerning issues of foreign policy. Today the vast potentialities of radio are helping to further that important objective.

BY PLANE, RAIL AND FEET: Crackling words of nimble, white-haired 41-year-old Leland Stowe have shaken governments with revelations of first-hand information personally garnered by the Pulitzer Prize winner, (1930).

Stowe it was whose disclosure of the predicament of British forces in Norway in face of Nazi aerial attack, lack of anti-aircraft defenses, rocked Chamberlain regime when the London press reprinted it in part.

Other American and foreign observers were on spot when Oslo's gates were opened by the Fifth Column for Hitler brown shirts. Witness was Stowe, who put pieces together to give the world an inside history-making story of betrayal.

Brilliant, Stowe writes history. At 30 his account of the Young Reparations Conference won him Pulitzer's Prize, from France a rosette of the Legion of Honor.

Marching with Finnish forces, Stowe covered four of five major fronts of the Finn-Russ battle.

Said Chicago editor, Paul Scott Mowrer, of the agile, strong-legged reporter's success: "When he can't get a plane, a car or a horse, he starts to hike." Stowe won his letter in track at Connecticut Wesleyan University 21 years ago. He can ski, skate, and snowshoe. The indomitable news gatherer fought his way through miles of mud and snow across a mountain pass to a ravaged Finnish city for first-hand information when other methods of transportation failed him.

Born November 10, 1899, at Southbury, Connecticut, he was educated in that state. His first newspaper job was with the Worcester (Mass.) Telegram. Later he served with the New York News, New York Herald and Pathe News. In 1926 he began his 13-year stint with the New York Herald-Tribune. He's married, has two sons, born in Paris. He left his comfortable 13-year-old job to join Col. Frank Knox's Chicago Daily News far-flung European staff September 10, 1939, boarding the Atlantic Clipper to become the first "Richard Harding Davis" of the Second World War.

THE NEWS IS AIRED: Modern miracle is instantaneous news coverage in a world shrivelled in size by a generation's growth of rapid communication. So shaken by great events in the past decade, that major news happenings are known by foresters and shepherders in the Sierras just as fast as they are by city dwellers.

Here is a brief picture of what happens before westerners breakfast and turn to first broadcast of day's news from KNX, west key station of CBS.

The News Bureau is on the fifth floor of the KNX building at Columbia Square, Hollywood, in a large, plain room with six teletypes, a clock, two radio sets, one a powerful short-wave unit for picking up foreign broadcasts.

The "news day" begins at 2:15 a. m. A member of the staff arrives, lights up the office, turns on teletypes, opens up wires from Europe and the East, sorts material, edits a mass of copy for the day's routine, assists in writing the 6:45 a. m., 7:30 a. m. and 8:15 a. m. news broadcasts.

At 9 a. m. a second staff member arrives, plunges into the mass of overnight copy of file value prepared by the earlier arrival.

Radio news, especially from foreign centers, comes in definite cycles during the day. Breakfast broadcasts include important bulletins because the first wave of big news stories from Europe usually reaches KNX between 5 and 8 a. m. Dispatches include early-evening summaries of the day abroad (Pacific Coast time is 10 to 11 hours "ahead" of London and the Continent) and first important dispatches of a new day beginning in New York and Washington, D. C.

Carefully editing material, News Bureau bears in mind different types of audiences listening "around the clock." Audience type has such an important bearing on the presentation of news broadcasts during day that KNX prepares various types of news programs for certain periods, selects newscasters on basis of vocal attributes, uses certain voices for morning programs, others for afternoon broadcasts, still others for late evening.

By late afternoon the trend of news in Europe, Africa and the Balkans is established. The KNX teletypes from 3 to 6 p. m. start pouring news to be published in the morning papers. Much material, too late for evening papers, six to twelve hours ahead of morning publication, is available for immediate news broadcasts.

BASEBALL'S PREDICTOR: Among the Nation's shrewdest judges of sports and what can be prophesied to happen in sports from day to day, week in and week out, is Mutual-Don Lee's (KHJ) Sam Balter.

Last week Sam Balter in interview did what no nationally-known sports authority had up to then dared to do. Casting a quizzical but analytical eye eastward, where baseball's major league teams are ball-batting themselves toward summer's end and championship honors, Balter said:

"While the month of May is certainly no time to be predicting the participants of an October World's Series, there have already been many indications that point this year to a renewal of a 21-year-old feud in the great Fall classic.

"In 1920, teams from Brooklyn and Cleveland engaged in a Series that saw many astonishing things: an unassisted triple play for the first time, by Billy Wambsgans; a home run with the bases full for the first time in a Series, by Elmer Smith; and three victories by one pitcher, by Stanley Coveleske—an unusual number of unusual happenstances for one World's Series.

"It begins to look as though we will now be in on a repeat performance . . . Brooklyn only this month picked up Pitcher Mace Brown from Pittsburgh for a reported $20,000 and Secondbaseman Billy Herman from Chicago for an amount that must have been much more, and I believe these two new acquisitions will see the Dodgers through. If not, Generalissimo Larry McPhail has certainly spent his stockholders' cash in vain, for no man has ever—excepting perhaps Boston's Tom Yawkey—spent so much money for baseball talent within the space of a single season. Since the 1940 season opened, McPhail has spent almost half a million dollars for Joe Medwick, Curt Davis, and Mickey Owen from St. Louis, Paul Waner from Pittsburgh, Kirby Higbe from Philadelphia, Alex Kampouris from Newark, and he now has welded together a combination of speed, hustle, pitching, and power that ought to justify the expenditures. Brooklyn's closest competition will come from St. Louis and Cincinnati, the latter the World's Champions but somewhat on the down grade.

"The Reds have been having some outfield trouble, with Ival Goodman's illness and Jim Gleason's failure to hit, and Paul Derringer has not been in his customary pitching form. But these items may be corrected any moment and the Reds will be in there all the way. St. Louis has great power in Mize, Moore, Slaughter, and Cooper, and has come up with a surprising nugget-full of rookie pitchers, so Brooklyn's path to the crown will by no means be easy. I think all the other teams are already out of the race. . . . In the American League, I believe Cleveland has the edge through experience and a fierce desire to redeem itself for blowing the pennant last season. The Indians have a fine infield, the best pitching in the league, and good enough catching and outfield. Now that Hank Greenberg has gone into the Army and thus wrecked the Detroit team, only the New York Yankees stand in the way of the Indians. It will be close, but the Yanks have no 25-game winning pitcher such as Bob Feller, and therein, I believe, will lie the difference. . . . So, qualifying again with the hedge that this is awful early to be doing any World's Series prognostications, I nevertheless suggest . . . BROOKLYN AND CLEVELAND for October!

GUIDING EYES: Greatest problem of the otherwise physically able blind is always that of safe and efficient movement from point to point.

Last week, to make a contribution to the aid of Los Angeles and Southern California sightless, makers of a dogfood, Vita-pep, sired the first of a KHJ series entitled "Guiding Eyes"—dramatizations of experiences of the blind, offered at end of each four weeks' programs a trained blind-protecting dog to the person whose dramatized experiences, in opinion of listeners, was most worthy.

The public was asked to write KHJ in behalf of deserving cases, giving fact regarding the story of the subject. From such public nominations, each week the most outstanding case is selected for dramatization by a committee: Mrs. Rena Borzaga, president of the Tailwaggers Foundation; Alice Faye, the motion picture star; Lee Shippey, columnist, Los

THE SHADOW STALKS THE WILD AIRPLANES

By Harry Hanson

TO WRITE about a person who isn't there is not the easiest of tasks. Somewhat interested in the Shadow series airing from KHJ at 8:30 p. m., Tuesdays, we trotted over to Mark Finley's office to get the lowdown on the gentleman who weekly is engaged in raising hob with criminals and confusing the dickens out of them with his ability to become invisible to suit the purposes and ideals of wholesome justice.

The thrillers aren't much different as radio fare from any number of others on the air, but provide interesting situations and are airworthy for that great section of the public whose literature runs to such titles as "The Case of the Cooked Goose" or "The Mystery of the Squeezed Oranges."

We weren't too hopeful about getting a story until we made the discovery that the series provides a lot of posers for writers.

The Shadow is invisible when he wants to be, but if you are thinking of writing a Shadow script there are some things you must bear in mind. Among these are that the Shadow makes a ripple when he swims, electric-eye doors open for him, watch dogs growl when he approaches, and ladies are supposed to scream if, inadvertently, he brushes them as he goes by.

Contrary to impressions the broadcasts leave, the Shadow is not a superman. In actual life he is Bill Johnstone, a veteran actor who is a member of that small and select circle of accomplished thespians who face microphones daily in the networks' constant running grist through the air-mills. These prolific portrayers of heroes, villains, kindly old doctors and suburban sages are heard more often on the kilocycles than the assorted singers and comics whose names are better known.

Johnstone was born in Paisley, Scotland, a place famed for colorful shawls, and came to these shores when three years old, to break into show business accidentally.

After graduating from prep school, Johnstone had time on his hands, became a charter member of the Sidewalk Superintendents Club. He was busy at this delightful occupation one day watching workmen erect the Guild Theater in New York. Before he knew it, someone yelled "Stop gazing and get in line with the others." He obeyed. Soon he had a spear in his hand and a walk-on role in the Theater Guild's production of "Caesar and Cleopatra," which starred Helen Hayes.

He appeared in 24 more theatrical productions after that—some hits, some flops, and then turned to radio.

When Orson Welles gave up playing "The Shadow," auditions were held for his successor. Johnstone was one of 45 who tried for the part.

Marjorie Anderson, the Margo Lane of the show, is a winsome miss and one of the top flight of radio actresses. It's her air destiny to be a boon companion to the redoubtable Shadow when he is on his crime solving escapades. She occasionally gets into situations reminiscent of the old movie "Perils Of Pauline." Neither Bill nor Marjorie spares the listeners' credulity. They will haul melodrama in by the neck, if they can't get it in peacefully, but it turns out to be fairly passable stuff. Poe might have had a good time with some of the situations that have been developed.

There was, for instance, the Shadow's case of "The Voice of Death." Marjorie got herself well mixed up in a sequence that spoiled the night for thousands of listeners. Not ones to do things by halves when they can be done by wholes, the writers conjured up the idyllic fantasy of an embittered doctor who sought by operations to transfer characteristics of animals to human beings. A sweet and inspiring thought just before bedtime. Marjorie managed to get her graceful torso in the clutches of this diabolical doctor. The good doctor, with Marjorie in his trap, decided to exchange for her vocal arrangement the deep growl of a St. Bernard. Of course, the Shadow slithered in in the nick of time to put a stop to this terrible piece of business. There is no record that, having saved the dog and Marjorie, he managed to put a halter on the wild, galloping nightmares in this salutary bedtime story brought to life.

Marjorie is a rather flippant good girl Friday to the Shadow and sometimes has better sense than to get herself into compromising situations with scientists who are satanically engaged in extracting human souls and putting them in bottles, or with fiends whose wicked designs are more or less obscure but which, you may be sure, minute by minute, seem to grow more like poor Pauline strapped to the cow-catcher of the runaway train as it roars toward the cliffs and stops in time for the announcement of the next installment. . . .

Oh, yes! If you are thinking of submitting a script for the Shadow don't make him too absent minded. For instance, it's shivery to see a fork and knife moving across a plate, a switch being thrown, a chair being moved, a shade rolled up—all without benefit of guiding hands. But, remember, these are atmospheric and complicating devices, intended to set the cast howling in good melodramatic style, to give the villain a chance temporarily to get away with his nefarious desires, as well as to be turning points for the action. . . .

You get it? It's a bit Shadowy.

LUM AND ABNER: An oversupply of blackface acts at station KTHS, Hot Springs, Arkansas, in the spring of 1931, brought about Lum and Abner, changed two rising young business men of Mena, Arkansas, into radio stars. Lum and Abner, after their first ad libbed broadcast over KTHS, went on to become nationwide favorites. Starting as a one-station feature, Lum and Abner moved first to a network after a short time, and in 1937, they moved to Hollywood.

For more than a year Chester Lauck and Norris Goff have been making movies. Their return to the Pacific Coast NBC-Red Network (KFI) signals their eleventh year as "interpreters" of life in Pine Ridge.

Chester Lauck (Lum) was born February 9, 1902, at Allene, Arkansas; Goff May 30, 1906, at Cove, Arkansas. Both families moved to Mena, where the boys met at school. "Tuffy" Goff worked in one of his father's wholesale grocery stores, and Chet Lauck stacked pine planks in his father's lumber yard.

During high school Lauck developed art talent, and after graduation went to Chicago to enroll in the Academy of Fine Arts.

Later, Tuffy Goff enrolled at Arkansas University, was pledged to Sigma Chi, Lauck's fraternity. Their paths separated again, however, Lauck leaving school for a fling at commercial art, Goff transferring to University of Oklahoma.

Goff and Lauck met again in Mena, where Tuffy was helping his father to run the wholesale grocery business, and Lauck had become manager of an automobile finance company.

In local entertainments, Lauck and Goff teamed as blackface comedians, and now and then tried talents at portraying rural Ozark characters. After eight broadcasts over KTHS, Goff obtained a letter from his father to the president of a cereal company in Chicago. One audition landed them a job as summer substitutes for Gene and Glenn, NBC comedians, and on July 20, 1931, they began a long series of programs from Chicago.

Lum and Abner will be heard over KFI from 7:15 to 7:30 p. m., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, beginning May 26.

BACK OF AGATHA: Playing the role of Agatha Meek in CBS' "Meet Mister Meek," has been a course in home conduct for Actress Adelaide Klein.

Agatha (as followers of the Wednesday night program know, is the wife of the long-suffering Mortimer Meek—much of Meek's "long-suffering" is due to her nagging tongue.

"It results in a lot of kidding at home," said Agatha. "If my husband happens to want to take a Sunday drive up the Hudson and I suggest going out to Long Island, it's 'Now, Agatha Meek'—and we drive up the Hudson."

Sister and a brother has Adelaide, both close followers of her radio career, frequent visitors at her home to "check up on family relations."

"They maintain they're afraid I'll start playing Agatha both on and off the radio," explained Adelaide this week, "and

Girls, They Call Him Breneman

By Evelyn Bigsby

THE ANDREWS SISTERS, gay singing melodists of the air, try hard to embarrass the personable Tom Breneman. find it a tough job to do, since Tom knows his women, as 50 of them each day discover.

THE AMAZING Mr. Breneman is M.C.'ing "Breakfast on the Boulevard" and is obviously in his element as he cavorts before 60 gardenia-ed women, all in expansive mood from just finishing toast and eggs at world famous Sardi's. Nervously he strides from table to booth, his keen eyes singling out ladies who indicate promise of being quick on the verbal up-take; he levels an accusing finger at one and demands, "Did you ever milk a cow?"; he pounces on another and booms, "Did you ever see a discontented cow?"; he whisks over to another, pokes the hand-mike under her chin and probes, "What was your first embarrassing moment?"; he rumbles a deep bass as he leads a song; he's in a tight spot and mops his forehead; he's pleased, gives a quick, chummy wink and rubs hands together briskly; in short, he's a one-man show and the ladies eat it up.

Amazing?, you question. Positively, in any event, but particularly so in dynamic Tom Breneman's case, because seven years ago he was a broken man, unable to speak a word for six weeks, and considered by all Hollywood know-its as "all washed up."

Tom's all-time low came after he had been hit at the studio by an insecure curtain rod, which dealt a paralyzing blow at the base of his neck. After many weeks of effort, when dormant sound finally labored from his throat, the best he could do was to jerk out high-pitched tones, stuttering pathetically. So Hollywood wrote "30" for a man who had been earning a living by talking and singing on the air.

Months disappeared, and so did all of Tom's cash hoard, as he tried this and that treatment, remedy, doctor, all to no avail. Eventually the situation became so critical that he scraped together what he could to provide for Mrs. Breneman and baby Gloria, took $200 for himself, and headed his car for Chicago. He was alone through choice, the very desperation of his plight curbing him from inflicting his company on another human.

He says he'll never forget the night of July 4, 1934. He pulled into Albuquerque at 7 o'clock, walked up to the hotel desk, and said in a big, bass voice, "I want a room for the night." Startled by the deep-toned request, Tom looked around to see what burly he-man was talking. The realization that it was he and that he had spoken in his natural voice for the first time in months drove him in a panic to his room.

Outside the sky rockets swished and cascaded; inside the little hotel room, Tom Breneman paced the floor, periodically and fearfully testing his voice to see if the miracle still held.

This was the only way he could explain the transformation: he had been driving incessantly for more than 24 hours, inhaling hot desert winds past vocal chords which had formed sound to none but a gas man; as he had entered the hotel, he had been completely relaxed, dog-tired.

At 11 o'clock he felt sufficiently secure to place a call to his wife. Recovering her composure after the first shock of hearing her husband speak naturally Mrs. Breneman helped Tom decide that the best thing for him to do was to drive on to Chicago, where he might make a fresh start. Two days after he landed in town, Breneman was sponsored and started the come-back trail. It was months, though, before he stopped worrying about losing his voice, and months, too, before he saved enough to get back to Hollywood.

This tragic interlude mileposts for Breneman a 15 year connection in radio and a much longer prelude in the entertainment world. Native of Waynesboro, Pa., he was born into a musical family and as student at Columbia university he majored in music and aimed for a career in musical comedy.

His entrance into vaudeville was the outcome of a quarrel which the famous team of Van and Schenk had precipitated by demanding $2000 a week from Keith circuit. During that summer vacation, instead of working in his father's electric clock manufacturing plant, young Tom exposed himself to the entertainment world and teamed with Donnelly, Shubert leading man whom he had met at a party and had fallen in with musically. Keith executives decided to groom the pair as replacement for hold-outs, Van and Schenk.

The boys began a three months' contract on a blazing hot night in New Brunswick, N. J. Tom was so nervous and perspiring that he had to apply his make-up four times. He and Donnelly danced out on the stage in double-breasted tuxedos, the last word sartorially, with jauntily perched Sennett hats and dapper canes completing the picture.

"I sang 'Sunrise and You,'" Breneman recalls a bit fondly, again painfully as he continues, "And I sang it every night for the next 54 weeks, because we hit the bull's eye and our three months extended into a complete run of the circuit. When it ended in Philadelphia more than a year later, the show was paying us $525 a week for the act."

Breneman's entrance into radio was equally as unexpected as his vaudeville debut. After the run closed he came here to visit an uncle, who had suffered a stroke. With two months to kill in Hollywood, Tom invested in a crystal set, found his imagination radio-piqued, and hied over to studio KFVB for an audition. This was in 1925, when the "studio" was a two-room shack on the Sunset lot.

Here romance eased into the set-up. Tom was interviewed by Billie Dunn, charming audition manager, who took him on for two programs a week for Star Auto company. For $7.50 each broadcast, Tom gave songs interspersed with patter. Within six months he and Billie were married.

"Yes," Tom shrugs laughingly, "she met me at the studio, put me to work, and I guess she decided to keep me that way the rest of my life."

Diversity has distinguished Breneman's radio experience since 1925. After eight months with KFVB, he made connections at KNX and offered one of the first continuity programs, "Tom and His Mule," for Hercules gasoline. Hattie McDaniel, a Negro singer then lately come westward, was introduced to coast radio by Breneman, who nick-named her "High

COMING OUT OF THE ETHER by Bernie Smith

JUST AS THERE IS A SMALL GROUP of misguided and ill-advised persons who are dissatisfied with the American system of government, so is there a small group of misguided and ill-advised persons who are dissatisfied with the American system of broadcasting.

We feel it is time to explain to them some of the benefits which they evidently are overlooking.

In the first place, each person in the United States pays for his radio entertainment to the tune of one dollar a year. For his dollar, he receives, in Los Angeles at least, roughly 170 hours per day of diversified programs. He receives the finest music, the finest drama enacted by the greatest actors, more education than could be obtained by a week at college, he is entertained by the most talented personalities and he automatically receives a course in his native tongue... all in a single day. And all for a dollar a year. ($150,000,000 is invested annually in the radio industry by advertisers, paid for by those who buy the advertised products).

This is the American system of broadcasting, controlled in the final count by the people who listen to it but operated and managed by trained specialists who receive higher wages than in any other American industry.

The small group of misguided, selfish individuals who believe that the government should own and operate the broadcasting industry are related to the small group of reformers who continually cry that capitalism is beating them into pulp.

Government ownership would mean that taxes would pay for radio. It would mean that uneducated, untrained politicians would dictate what we should hear and we would have no recourse. Because there would be no advertising, there would be no high salaries. No longer would the big names of the entertainment industry be interested in radio appearances. Jack Benny could make more by sticking to pictures. Kate Smith could tour the nation making personal appearances and clean up big. She wouldn't need to go on the air. Kay Kyser could make triple the amount the government could pay him, by playing dance dates. There would be no reason for these personalities to go on the air.

The news that we would hear would be censored. The speeches we would hear would be made by those who have more to sell than any present advertiser. The music that would stir our emotions would come from orchestras under the direction of the government.

In other words, the standard of broadcasting would be lowered to such an extent that nobody would pay any attention to it. And it would cost each person more, in actual cash, than it does today!

Next time you get mad at an advertising message, turn to another station. Don't cuss the whole industry. Sure, we admit there are a lot of lousy programs on the air. We admit that screaming announcers are a pain in the neck. We admit that blood-and-thunder dramas are bad for children. We admit the morning serials are moronic. We admit that there are a great number of evils connected with radio today.

But when we hear Bing Crosby sing... when we hear Fred Allen make fun of Kenny Baker... when we hear the Lux Radio Theater... when we hear the Standard Symphony... when we hear Fibber McGee and Molly... we're inclined to forget those evils and thank God that there ARE advertisers, and that we enjoy the greatest show on earth.

For only a dollar a year.

BIGGEST CONTEST NEWS OF THE YEAR is released by sponsors of the daily KFI serial, "Story of Bess Johnson," heard at 9:15 a. m. A deal has been made with the national Girl Scouts council, whereby the girls will be given the opportunity to win $27,500 in cash prizes. Listeners may share in the awards. If a Girl Scout in your community asks for assistance, you'll be doing a worthy deed if you help out. Details of the contest are revealed on each "Story of Bess Johnson" program.

KFI, 9:15 a.m. Mon.-Fri.

I've had fun helping along their fears."

Adelaide nags them into helping with dishes, nearly got them launched on an impromptu housecleaning campaign before they noticed the twinkle in her eyes.

The character of Agatha has been not only fun, but a help, says Adelaide. Anyone is apt to flare up at one time or another, but whenever Adelaide starts to get peevish about something—Agatha serves as a stop-gap. And if she happens to forget, a "Now, Agatha" from the family serves as a quick reminder.

Her household, however, has chosen to overlook one little item. Adelaide plays a totally different role as Hilda, the housekeeper, in CBS' "We, the Abbotts." But they don't kid her about that. Hilda is soft-spoken and thoughtful—and not very good material for family quips.

MYSTER, IN BLOSSOM: Radio experts point professional fingers toward new network trend: mystery shows. Any kilocycle safari will easily pluck a thespian thriller out of air.

Recently Mutual popped up with pair of pulse-pulverizers—"The Amazing Mr. Smith," a lightning-paced whodunit, co-starring Keenan Wynn and Charlie Cantor as a team of amateur adventurers (Mondays, 8-8:30 p. m.) and "Bulldog Drummond," a streamlined version of H. C. McNeile's famed stories of the master English sleuth. This series is heard Sundays from 2 to 2:30 p. m.

"Bulldog Drummond" marks first time that these stories have been adapted for radio, although they have been recreated on stage and screen. Each episode is complete, settings transformed from England to America.

Production technique has been borrowed from the theater. Once the "on the air" sign flickers, the Mutual Radio Playhouse darkens, save for a spotlight beaming down on announcer Henry Morgan, who stands before a black curtain. Backstage sound effects of fog horns, footsteps, gun shots are heard. Curtain rises and "Bulldog Drummond" appears to set the scene. Then the rest of the cast come on stage. Announcer, production men and sound-effects crew take places in the wings.

The cast is made up of members from Orson Welles' highly-touted Mercury Theater Group, led by George Coulouris in title role, Everett Sloane, Paul Stewart, and Ray Collins. The part of the heroine is changed weekly, divided among blonde (Continued on Page 19)

HERE'S a typical morning scene with Bob Garred, CBS newscaster. From this to the handsome gentleman at bottom center column is just a matter of assorted alarm clocks, sighs, yawns, healthy reluctance to start the day.

BOB GARRED IN PICS AND WORDS!

By Angus White

BOB GARRED, Columbia's topflight news-broadcaster, has an audience of only one person.

Pshaw! That's just another way of starting an article to grip attention, you say.

Honestly—it's no nonsense, as far as Bob Garred's concerned. He's conscious that millions may be listening to him when he takes off twice daily along air-lanes with the world's late developments. Millions probably are. But, actually he's playing to his mother and is thinking hardly at all of the others who are ear-tuned to him.

Talking directly to his mother is Bob Garred's precautionary anti-mike-fright antitoxin. He seldom has mike fright, he avers, because he speaks directly to his mother. It's psychological, but sensible. You can open your heart to your mother, and, when you really want to get in the groove, isn't it logical to wrap enthusiasms around some one who knows you better than anyone else in the world? So, talking directly to Mrs. Garred, Bob keeps happy and pert, keeps his delivery delightfully pertinent and healthily vibrant, giving full value to tonal nuances necessary to point up significant bits of drama or comedy in the mill-race of life and events.

Mrs. Garred is quite proud of son Robert and for good reason. His early boyhood was marked by a worrisome psychosis—he wanted to grow up and be a garbage wagon driver.

Since then, of course, he has learned the bitterness of a garbage man's life—but by observation only.

"Every man to his place in life," commented the 6-foot 2-inch 210-pounder. "It was a good boyhood ambition. Now, from a maturer point of view, I take only a dilettante's interest in the art of tossing a can full of residual testimony to yesterday's forgotten dinners. I do oc-asionally carry a handful of orange peel to the club chute or empty an ash tray..."

Drama played an important part in his early life, starting perhaps when he appeared as train-bearer at a Tom Thumb wedding, and managed to halt the ceremonies twice and focus all attention upon himself—first by dropping the train, and then by picking a fight with the ring-bearer.

"It was a good fight while it lasted," he grinned. I was only a half head taller than the bridegroom and about 10 years younger. He was oldish, about 26, I'd say. Youth had its usual advantage until the bride-to-be butted me and all the midgets took this as a signal to gang up on me. Funny part of it was some of the grownups thought I was one of the midgets. One woman, especially, couldn't get over the idea...

"'Why, he looks just like a six year old boy,' she kept repeating in an enthralled sort of way."

Age six marked a turning point in his career. His birthday party was highlighted by an announcement that he intended to become an aviator and a baseball player.

He maintained interest in sports throughout grammar school and high school. Drama seriously claimed his attention during his last two years of high school. Drama and sports also were favorite activities at Stanford. He established a record for the University by playing 18 leading roles in campus productions in one year, plus several performances for the nearby Palo Alto Community Theatre.

On October 10, 1937, he made his network debut over CBS as announcer for a piano recital from San Francisco. His first full-time radio job materialized immediately after graduation. He returned to his birthplace in Walla Walla, Washington, where his father operates a drug store, and secured a job reading news over KIJ. A month later he was made program director of KRLC in Lewiston, Idaho. This job led to more valuable experience in the news field, since he also served as local correspondent for

Radio Life Lines

BY "BUCK" HATHAWAY

Cancellation With a Catch? Partly because of his indisposition the President cancelled his May 14 address. But from a radio commentator in Washington comes this startling information: Roosevelt was advised to duck the Wednesday, May 14 talk in favor of a Fire-sider, Tuesday, May 27, at which time, the commentator reports, the people can be softened up to have the President tell them to get set—we are going into the war. . . .

The Week's Most Pungent Line: Credit Hollister Noble, CBS publicity, with it. Seems that when the fantastic story broke of Rudolph Hess' fleeing Hitler Land for Britain, Mr. Noble could hardly believe it. "For a moment," he said, "I thought Orson Welles had taken over the war." Neat, eh?

Bricks Are Heavy, But Didn't Know They Mailed Them: Advised that Louella Parsons, the Pontiff of Piffle, has engaged two secretaries to land her radio fan mail.

Observations on Up-and-Comers: That young Larry Carr who sang "Walking By The River" fortnight ago on Hollywood Showcase. . . . In the street after the show to hear an audience member say: "The boy'll never walk by any River of Failure" . . . Right. From this ear-vantage he's a song-star bound star-ward with a piano singing in his heart and liquid music where other people only have voices. . . . Dick Nelson (who, incidentally, has been in radio for eight years instead of one year as here reported recently) can take a bow for the portrayal of that stream-of-consciousness role in "Nobody's Children" two weeks ago. . . .

Mary Gordon: Veteran character actress who plays the role of Mrs. Emmett on the CBS dramatic show "Those We Love," came by that Scotch accent legitimately. She once toured with Harry Lauder, probably the greatest Scotch comedian who ever appeared in the theater.

Reason Why Mutual Jumped ASCAP Gun: Dear Republicans and Democrats: You may have been surprised when Mutual made peace with ASCAP. . . . Here's why it happened: NBC and CBS didn't like the idea of Mutual jumping the gun . . . but if Mutual had not they would have come out a poor third best in any deal ASCAP would have made with the Net Biggies. So they went ahead and signed, strengthening ASCAP's position in dealing with CBS.

It Happened But Incredible Note: They had just finished airing across the Nation "Those We Love" when Gladys Gwynn, veteran of radio, sat down pensively and waited. "What you waiting around for?" asked a show producer. "To go on the air, of course," replied little Gladys. "Go on home, baby," gasped the incredulous S. P. "You've just come off the air." Miss Gwynn gasped herself, clasped her brow, made strange sounds and staggered out. She had thought the T. C. was a last dress rehearsal. . . .

Dorothy Kilgallen (Voice of Broadway) would bring shudders to grand dames of Victorian-antimacassar days if they were alive to see her mid-20th Century negation of their firm belief that a "lady's place is in the home." Night clubs, theaters, smart shops, places where important persons gather and the news is made, whiz by like telephone poles along the railroad tracks when this pert-and-pretty girl is on the job. And, if you don't think it takes an athlete's conditioning to set this pace and keep it—well, try it yourself sometime.

And, incidentally: Know what an antimacassar is? It's a doily put across backs of chairs to protect them from stains of macassar oil; stuff mauve decade swains wore on their locks. . . .

Lum and Abner, the Arkansas operators of the "Jot 'em Down Store" will hang out the business-as-usual sign May 27 when they come back to NBC's KFI.

Fanfare to Van C. Newkirk, KHJ program director: For a life membership awarded him by California Congress PTA. His certificate's No. 4500. Got it for cultural broadcasts. . . . Aside to the Ladies: What about us? We've batted heavily for you.

Fanfare Also to Hi Brown, "Inner Sanctum Mystery," for the best possible dig at some of these wierd-brained radio writers. Said Brown to an aspiring writer: "This story needs a detective in it." "Why?" asked the writer. Said Brown: "To find the plot."

Note To Warner Brothers, Burbank, California: Did you give permission to Kate Smith or anybody else to sing or write a song entitled "Everything Happens To Me?" Maybe you have forgotten that this title belonged to a picture, starring Max Miller, that you produced in 1938 at Teddington, Middlesex, England. Don't you, therefore, own the international copyrights? Thought I'd just ask.

JUNIOR TUNERS

Jot down, "We, the Abbotts" and give it a trial when it starts as a new day-time serial June 2. In the cast of this show, which revolves around the parents, John and Emily Abbott, are three satellites which should interest Junior Tuners. These are the teen age twins, Jack and Barbara Abbott, and nine-year-old Linda. Triumphs and tribulations of a typical, small-town American family will be aired on the program.

★ KFI, 1:30 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

Recommended for worth-while listening is the new series of 22 dramatized human interest programs about each of the 20 Central and South American republics. The broadcasts, which started May 16, are aimed to cement more firmly the United States' "good neighbor" policy.

★ KFI, 6:30 p.m. Thurs.

Dan and Diana Dangerfield in a nest of savages on an unexplored jungle island will experience many exciting adventures this coming week on the Captain Danger program. Among other things, the youngsters will try to soothe the natives with mouth-organ music. Toward the end of this week a strange message will be discovered on the walls of a cave.

★ KFI, 3:30 p.m. Sun.

JACK BENNY takes spotlight at Los Angeles' Hotel Biltmore to cut his cake in presence of 2,000 luminaries of entertainment's world.

JACK'S $25,000 PARTY

By Don Sabre

A FORTNIGHT ago a grateful and publicity-wise National Broadcasting Company threw a $25,000 party in the garish bowl of Los Angeles Hotel Biltmore.

Guest of honor was a medium sized chap who ran an embarrassed but canny line, delivered in 1932, when he faced his first microphone, into a national institution.

"Let the other fellow laugh at you!"

The institution was — still is — Jack Benny.

Surrounded by satellite celebrities of stage, screen and radio, he listened to wordy praise from co-performers in radio. Around him champagne corks popped to punctuate the sallies of wit and witlessness.

Hundreds of beautifully gowned women — some beautifully and some lovely, some merely attractive and other only comely

(to use only the accepted superlatives) — cheek-powdered the formally clothed shoulders of big-wigs and little in the entertainment industry. From their satin and silk sheathed torsos the odors of Hudnut, Coty, Babani, Lenthéric and Arden wisped up and out to distract attention from verbal malodeurs wafting about the ears of the man they had come to honor.

Jack Benny was celebrating his tenth anniversary in radio — his 10th, too, as a topflight poll king, a fact that was only slightly marred by two simple souls from Wistful Vista who had been poll-determined that day as the leading comics of radio for any time — night or day, anywhere and everywhere.

But Jack Benny was deservedly reaping adulation as the Crown Prince of radio. The ascension, mayhap temporary, of Encino's Chamber of Commerce president, Jim Jordan, and Marian, his wife, as King and Queen merely served to intensify the white light of respect and affection about the distinguished gray head of an ace of comics.

Who is the man who could bring 2,000 important persons into the leading ball-and-dining-room of one of America's great hotels — for whom his radio hosts cheerfully shelled out $25,000 (estimated) for dinner, gifts, testimonials — who gave even blase show-world sophisticates, young and old, a dramatic back-view of entertainment's kings of today and other days as these kings and their queens paraded past the microphones to pay him homage?

Well —

Jack Benny is a Waukegan, Illinois boy born on St. Valentine's Day. His family moved to Chicago when he was a tot. There Jack attended Central Grade and High School, in leisure hours practicing on the violin. During vacations he worked in his father's haberdashery business. The lure of the theatre was wild in his blood. There came a time to choose between business and stage. Benny joined an orchestra.

He has played the violin since he was six years old. His familiarity with the instrument was his only stock in trade when he set out to woo the elusive muse. At first he played with a small orchestra at school dances, and then back in Waukegan he attempted to crash the gates of the only local theatre with his orchestra and got no farther than the door, being taken on as doorman. Later he thought he might have better luck crashing the rear door of the theatre. This strategy won him the job of property man. When the theatre finally gave out from old age, Jack got into vaudeville. When world war No. 1 broke, he was just another vaudeville fiddler.

He had always wanted to see the world, and here, he thought, was his chance. "Join the Navy and See the World". The slogan had a twofold meaning for the young fiddler. See the world. Join the colors, your patriotic duty for your country. It was to turn out that his enlistment changed the future course of his career.

At Great Lakes Naval Training Station, he volunteered for an affair given by navy relief society. He put his soul into the bow to raise money for a seamen's benefit, but didn't get a thin dime. Undaunted, he tucked the violin under his arm and began talking. The sailors roared, filled the hat he had passed. Jack Benny, comedian, was born.

For years the Benny violin was mute, the comedian just talking, keeping the fiddle under his arm. After the war, he talked his way right out of vaudeville to Broadway, motion pictures and radio. Recently the trusty fiddle has come back into play as just another gag, its purposely distorted tones sending millions of radio listeners into laughter gales.

Benny's knowledge of what will make people laugh is as sound as his philosophy of humor. He is a situation comedian. He uses gags only when they fit into a situation. He has an uncanny sense of the length to which a situation can be carried before it goes stale. The recent broadcasts with the Quiz Kids were an example. Jack personally took such a liking to the Quiz Kids he would have kept them indefinitely. He knew the situation, wherein he tries to befuddle the kids into losing the big contest with the cast, could only stay fresh a short time. When he saw the kids off for Chicago on his show it was because he knew the situation had reached its climax and bidding them goodbye was the only logical thing left to do.

Jack Benny considers January 12 his red letter day, for that is the anniversary of his marriage to Mary Livingstone, who is his partner on the air as well as his life-partner. This year the Bennys celebrate their thirteenth year of wedded bliss. "Marvelous" is Jack's favorite word, and his favorite dish is cold asparagus well seasoned with mustard. His closest companion is a black cigar, and his pet sport is golf, at which he's no piker.

Jack and Mary and their adopted daughter, Joan Naomi, aged 5, live in the home the NBC comedians built two years ago in Beverly Hills, and Jack himself had no mean hand in the actual construction of the house and the landscaping of the grounds.

That Jack Benny is to be estimated in other terms than as comedian was something George Jessel saw and commented on during the party.

"Jack Benny exemplifies democracy," Jessel said. "On his program appear Jews and Catholics and Protestants, and out along the airplanes the laughter is democratic from Jews, Catholics and Protestants."

Benny situations are perennial. His ragged playing of "The Bee" is such an accepted thing that he can work it into his program any time without wearing it thin. This is true of the Fred Allen feud and of the Maxwell Carmichael the Bear proved almost as hardy, whereas Trudy, the Ostrich, never clicked. The man who knocks on the door and brings a telegram for Mr. Benny is likewise an institution. So are Don Wilson and his six delicious flavors. They're good any time, on the air or on the table.

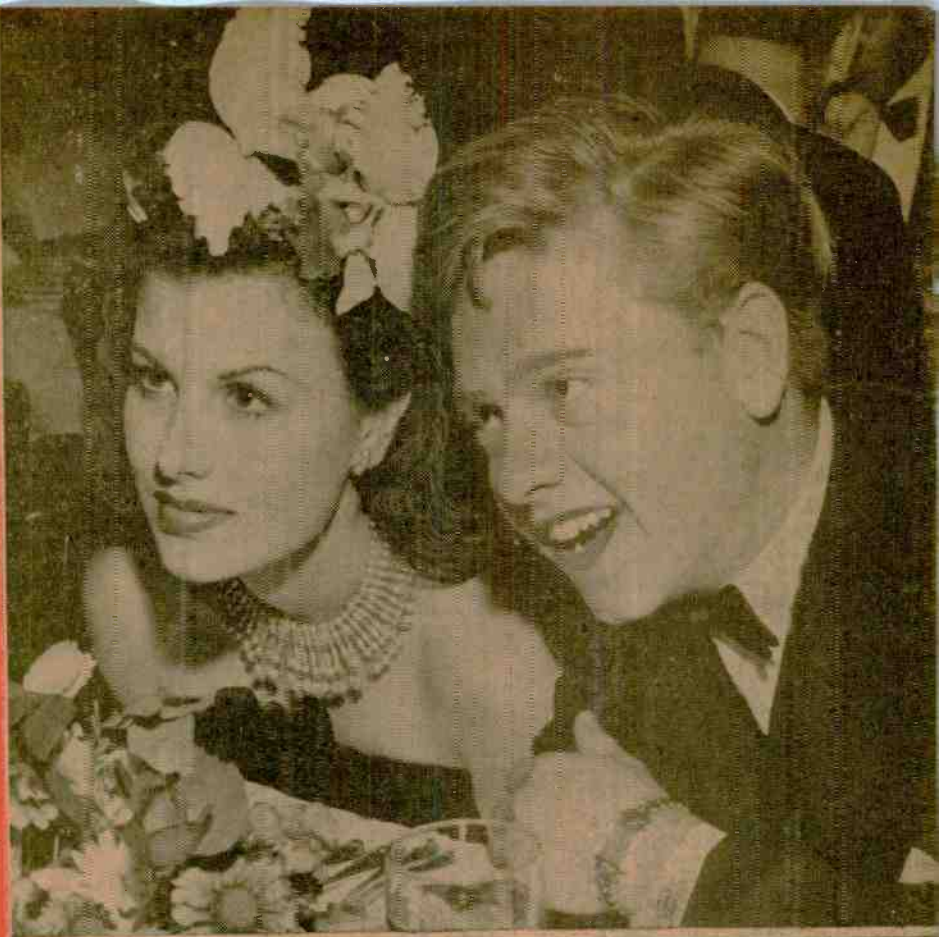

Most constant of Benny's perennials is the comedy formula, "Let the other fellow laugh at you." It has not failed him.

It is this formula that two weeks ago had brought the Waukegan kid up the tortuous road of fame to sit accepting, with strangely shy demeanor, the gay greetings of hundreds of fellow showmen and women who were not laughing at him, but, for this night at least, laughing with him in pleasure over a career well earned.

Arsenal Radio Problem

When Mutual broadcast a special program from the Picatinny Arsenal near Dover, New Jersey, recently, officials thoroughly searched all broadcast participants and confiscated all matches. The five-minute program from the powder and shell reservation originated from an assembly line where metal fuses are turned out twenty-four hours a day. It was impossible for the broadcast to take place from the powder assembly line, because electric battery boxes necessary for remote broadcasting are taboo near explosives.

screen actress Jean Muir, Agnes Moorehead, Ann Shepard, Ann Seymour, Helen Mack, and Elspeth Eric.

Triple-threat man is George Coulouris, 37-year-old British-born actor. In addition to his "Bulldog Drummond" assignment, he has a featured role in the widely-discussed film, "Citizen Kane," plays the villain in Lillian Hellman's anti-Nazi drama hit, "Watch on the Rhine."

★ DLBS, 2 p.m. Sun.

"DOUBLE OR NOTHING": Glittering quiz feature with flourish and dash of a variety show is "Double or Nothing," contender for first place among quiz shows. It is heard over a hookup of 117 Mutual stations, largest network thus joined in history of radio.

Each Monday night, 8:30 to 9, under the leadership of Walter Company, "Double or Nothing" comes to KHJ-Don Lee listeners on West Coast, with music, comedy, fun-making and brain-testing.

Tenor is Frank Forrest of opera, screen and broadcasting note, who solos musically, with Nat Brusiloff directing orchestra in splits between question sessions. Alois Havrilla announces.

Contestants are plucked from the studio audience gathered in the Mutual Playhouse atop the New Amsterdam Theater, in Times Square, New York (or audiences elsewhere when the company leaves home port for occasional originations in other cities).

Contestants are asked questions worth $5 by quiz-master Compton. A correct answer allows him to talk on the topic of the question for one minute. As the seconds tick away, pretty blonde Jane Bishir, who incidentally, is continuity writer for the show, tosses silver dollars into the contestant's yawning individual strong box. These additional prizes are based on how often the speaker makes interesting or informative statements.

At the minute's-end, Compton tests the participant's sporting blood. Will he or she answer another question for "Double or Nothing"? If a correct answer is forthcoming, the victor usually wins a handsome sum. Losers receive nothing, but the prize money they accumulate during the questioning is given to the charity of their choice. Biggest single recipient to date has been the American Red Cross. Winners can win as much as $60 or $70.

Each week there's a special celebrity as guest contestant, providing additional fun when it turns out to be a George Jessel or Martha Raye.

Listeners are paid $5 for each question submitted that is used.

IF YOU HAVE ASPIC ASPIRATIONS—An aspic is a meat or fish stock jelly made with or without the addition of gelatin. It is usually tart and spiced and serves to imprint other foods. Many tasty morsels can be molded in aspic. Among them, olives, tomatoes, eggs, cold meats, truffles, peas, capers and cooked vegetables in general.

Aspic preparations have the virtue of making deluxe dishes out of ordinary left-overs and can be extremely decorative. You'll often find them listed on elaborate and expensive menus. Any budget can afford them however, and one of the tastiest and most economical of aspics is made by simply using the stock from boiled pig's feet.

Try it sometime. You'll really relish it as a relish.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU COOK?—Cooking is the application of heat to food, and different methods of cooking are merely different ways of doing this. In broiling or roasting, for instance, the heat is applied directly, while in double-boiling it is applied indirectly. Between these two we have a number of other methods that use an agent.

Boiling or stewing, obviously enough, uses water as a means of applying heat to food, while frying or sauteing uses fat. Pan broiling, on the other hand, uses hot metal, while steaming uses vapor, and baking uses hot air.

Then again, some of these methods are combined, as in fricaseeing, which is a combination of stewing and baking.

Keep these elementary ideas in mind when you cook and see that you do not confuse one method with another, as is often the case between baking and roasting, or frying and pan broiling.

WHAT ARE OLYKOEKS?—This question has come up from time to time and we now hasten to assure you that olykoeks do not taste half as bad as they sound. On the contrary; an olykoeck can be a pretty swell mouthful, especially when soaked in rum.

Olykoecks are small pieces of sweet dough made into small balls with branched raisins in them. These are allowed to stand until light and are then fried in deep fat, and powdered with sugar while still warm.

That's all the mystery there is to them. You can call them hole-less doughnuts if you like. It's a longer name, but much easier to say than olykoeck.

THAT BEFORE BED-TIME HUNGER OF THE FAMILY—Why not provide for it in the afternoon instead of discommoding yourself later? You could easily fix a second dessert along with the one you prepare for dinner, or maybe have a tray of sweet sandwiches made up, or some home-made candy, and a little forethought about coffee or cocoa or lemonade or apple juice, will allow you to enjoy the late evening along with everybody else instead of having to start working in the kitchen all over again.

For Eight Persons

- Rahm Suppe (Cream Soup)
- Gans-Leber (Goose Liver)
- Paprika-Kalbs-Schnitzel (Paprika Veal)
- Kartoffel Knodel (Potato Balls)
- Stangen Spargel (Asparagus)
- Gurkensalat (Cucumber salad)
- Wiener Gugelhupf (Vienna Gugelhupf)
- Kaffee mit Schlagsobers (Coffee with Whipped Cream)

Recipe for Rahm Suppe (Cream Soup)

1 pint of shelled peas
 1 pint of sour cream
 1 pint of stock
 2 tbsps. of butter
 1 tbsp. of flour

Put the shelled peas in an earthenware casserole with butter, 1 tbsps. of water, salt, Seasonettes, and the pinch of sugar and the caraway seeds. Cover casserole and stew till peas are tender. Then add the flour and cook to a golden color without browning. When done, rub through sieve into a bowl. Put the puree into a saucepan, pour the stock and the cream over it hot, stir well and simmer for 1/2 hour. Serve with croutons.

Recipe for Paprika-Kalbs-Schnitzel (Paprika Veal)

16 thin slices of fillet of veal 1/2 pint sour cream
 5 onions 1/2 tsp. salt
 2 tbsps. paprika—some flour 1/2 tsp Seasonettes
 2 tbsps. Wilson Oil Fashund Bacon

Fry sliced onions in hot chopped Oil Fashund Bacon. Sprinkle them with paprika and when they begin to brown, add the sliced veal filets dipped in flour. Season with salt and Seasonettes. Then add the sour cream and mix well. Serve with dumplings.

Recipe for Dumplings

1 1/2 cups of flour
 4 Lynden eggs—1/4 lb. butter—a pinch of salt

Put the flour in a salad bowl leaving a bare space in the center of the bowl. In this put the yolks of Lynden eggs, mixed with melted butter. Work with a wooden spoon, gradually mixing in the flour with the whites of the eggs and butter till the flour has been used. Finally, add the very firm although light. Shape into small balls, either with the hands or with a soup spoon, and poach in boiling stock for 10 minutes. When the balls rise to the surface, they are done.

Recipe for Wiener Gugelhupf (Vienna Gugelhupf)

3 cups of flour
 1/4 cup butter
 2 1/4 tbsps. of powdered sugar
 About 1 oz. yeast
 3 eggs, Lynden brand
 Just under 1/2 pint of milk
 2/3 cup of raisins and currants
 2 doz almonds

Dissolve the yeast in the warm milk. Put the flour in a bowl, make a well in the center, put in the eggs, the melted butter, the sugar, and the dissolved yeast. Stir all well together and finally add the raisins and currants. Pour the mixture into a fancy fluted cylinder mould, which should have been well buttered and in which the almonds, blanched and sliced, have been strewn, filling the mould only 3/4 full. Put in a warm place, cover, and let the dough rise till it comes to the top of it. Now place the mould in a thick baking pan, and put in a moderate oven and bake for about 1 hour. When sufficiently baked, it should come out of the mould very easily. Stand on a wire tray and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

There's hardly a home where somebody doesn't get hungry before going to bed, and no surprise is half so welcome as an unexpected treat of some kind, but make it easy on yourself and get such things ready while dinner itself is cooking.

DRY APPLESAUCE—This is a Budget Pack product that comes in a cellophane container. It's put up by the Grocers Packing Company and consists of dehydrated apples, minced, and ready for making sauces and cakes.

It's amazingly economical! A four and a half ounce package will give you over a pound and a half of applesauce. And it's convenient too! It eliminates the usual fuss and bother that making applesauce involves.

Ask for Dry Applesauce the next time you go to market and be sure you get the Apple Orchard brand.

FOR BRAIN AND BRAUN IN OLDEN DAYS—They say that some of the Greek philosophers went in for boiled beets fixed with oil and salt to improve their minds, and Pharaoh is supposed to have fed his pyramid-builders on radishes.

Chef Milani's Aspic Recipes

Recipe for Aspic

- | | |
|---|---|
| 4 tbsps. gelatine | 2 tbsps. minced thyme |
| 1 cup water | 3 bay leaves |
| 1/4 cup diced celery | 6 cloves |
| 1/4 cup diced onions | 1 cup weak vinegar |
| 1/2 cup diced carrots | 1/2 tsp. salt |
| 2 tbsps. minced parsley | 3 tbsps. lemon juice |
| 1 qt. hot stock, veal or chicken (Lynden chicken broth) | 2 egg whites, beaten slightly (Lynden Eggs) |
| 2 egg whites, beaten slightly (Lynden Eggs) | |

Soak gelatine in water 5 minutes. Mix vegetables, strain and keep liquid to a boiling point, boil slowly 5 minutes, strain and keep liquid. Dissolve the relative in hot stock, add salt. Add lemon juice and strained liquid to the slightly beaten egg whites. Set over fire, add 1 cup of the hot mixture, mix, then add the rest, stirring constantly and let come just to boiling point. Then let stand in warm place for 30 minutes. Strain first through a fine wire, then through double cheese-cloth or jelly bag. Cool.

Recipe for Fish in Aspic

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|-----------------------|
| 1 cup cooked flaked fish | 2 tbsps. lemon juice |
| 2 tbsps. cream | 1 tsp. of Seasonettes |
| 2 small anchovies, boned | 2 cups aspic, melted |
| 1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce | |
| 1 hard-cooked egg yolk (Lynden Brand) | |

Round the fish to a paste with all the ingredients except the aspic, then add 1 cup melted aspic. Mix well, put through a sieve, set over hot water to keep warm. Dip mould in cold water. Cover evenly with a coating of aspic and put about 1/4 inch in bottom of mould; let set. Add 1/2 inch layer of fish. When this is set, add 1/4 inch aspic and continue in this way until mould is full, allowing each layer to set before putting in the next. When cold, turn onto plate and garnish. Mayonnaise is often served with this. And you can use the best if you use Lady's Choice Mayonnaise.

Recipe for Tomato Aspic

- | | |
|------------------------------|--------------------|
| 4 cups tomato pulp, strained | 1 tsp. sugar |
| 1 medium onion | 2 tbsps. vinegar |
| 3 peppercorns | 3 tbsps. gelatine |
| 3 cloves | 1/2 cup cold water |
| 1 piece bay leaf | 1 tsp. Seasonettes |
| 2 tbsps. salt | |

Soak the relative in the cold water. Heat the strained tomato pulp and season with all the ingredients. Cook for 20 minutes on a gentle fire. Then strain and add gelatine. Pour into a mould and let chill. Serve with Lady's Choice Mayonnaise, if you want the best.

Chef Milani's Super-Economical Dinner for Four, for A Dollar, No More!

CHEF MILANI'S DOLLAR (FOR 4) DINNER No. 1

Recipe for Spareribs With Eggs and Peas

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 2 lbs. spareribs | 1 lb. sweet tender peas |
| 2 eggs | 2 tbsps. Seasonettes |
| 2 slices of Wilson Or Fashund Bacon | |
- Cut the spareribs in 2" widths. Then saute them in a thick skillet with Wilson Bacon. When spareribs get nice and brown all around, put in a cup of water and the spiced peas. Season with Seasonettes. As soon as the water begins to boil, lower the heat and let simmer till spareribs are nice and tender. Ten minutes before serving, break two Lynden eggs, and beat them well. Mix them with spareribs, bacon, and peas. When eggs are set, serve.

|----------------------------------|----------------------|
| One jar of Lynden Cottage Dinner | 1/2 cup bread crumbs |
| 2 eggs Lynden brand | 1 tsp. Seasonettes |
- Open the jar of Lynden Cottage Dinner, beat the eggs with one tsp. of Seasonettes. Then mix beaten eggs with the Cottage Dinner and put into a casserole. Sprinkle over the bread crumbs, and put to bake in the oven. Bake for 20 minutes at 350 degrees or until the bread crumbs get almost brown.

CHEF MILANI'S DOLLAR (FOR 4) DINNER No. 3

- Sea Bass Tamale Pie
- Lettuce with French Dressing (Lady's Choice)
- Bread and Butter
- Coffee (Monarch Brand) or Fiego
- Gelatine for Dessert

Recipe for Sea Bass Tamale Pie

- | | |
|-------------------------|------------------------|
| 1 1/2 lbs. sea bass | 1 medium size onion |
| 1 cup corn meal | 2 tbsps. Seasonettes |
| 5 cups of boiling water | 1 cup of grated cheese |
| 1 1/2 tbsps. of salt | 4 tbsps. of butter |
- 2 cans of Superio mushroom sauce
- Pan-fry in butter, the Mexican sea bass. When it is cooked, flake it. Then make some meal mush by boiling one cup of corn meal in 5 cups of water, and 1 1/2 tbsps. of salt. Put the 4 tbsps. of butter in a saucepan and fry 1 medium size onion, chopped up, for about 3 minutes. Add the flaked sea bass, and saute with onions, and season with Seasonettes. Then place half of the corn meal mush in a buttered pan to make a layer. Then lay the sea bass over the mush and cover with the rest of the mush on top of the fish. After that, open a can of Superio mushroom sauce, and pour the sauce over the pie. Then sprinkle over 1/2 cup of grated cheese and put to bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. When you serve this tamale pie, warm the other can of mushroom sauce and use on the individual serving dish, and sprinkle with the rest of the cheese.

Tom Breneman

Hat Hattie." Hattie's brother worked on the show as "the deacon."

During a New York vacation in 1930, Tom signed with NBC and broadcast from the big town over a year; 18 months before his accident he managed KFAC and KFVD; in 1935, when he had recovered his voice and returned to California, he originated the "Feminine Fancies" program from San Francisco; the following year when Harrison Holliday resigned as manager, Breneman took over the post at KFRC; then shortly after Columbia changed affiliation he headed south again. Since 1938 he has been a free lancer, doing on the average of three shows a week for Columbia network, plus other assignments.

He and Mrs. Breneman live quietly in North Hollywood with Gloria, now 12, musically inclined and fond of horses, and Tom Jr., a rugged seven-year-old. Breneman must spend so much time at the studios that he devotes most of his leisure hours to the family. He has a golf handicap of five at Lakewood, likes to bowl and write short stories.

His present air commitments are "Spelling Beeliner," "What's on Your Mind?," "Answer Auction," and "Breakfast on the Boulevard". Which brings us back from where we started.

One thing that intrigued us was to see how at ease Tom is with more than 50 hits of femininity. He is so spontaneous, full of wholesome fun, so in accord with the woman-mind. He believes that three sisters, a wife, and daughter have contributed much to his ability in handling a show like "Breakfast on the Boulevard". Then his "Feminine Fancies" program was fruitful of thousands of letters, written by women on their problems and interests.

By careful study of these letters he virtually absorbed feminine psychology.

Sometimes he gets in some pretty tough corners and has to do some blitz-thinking. His mental dilemmas are usually provoked by the winner of the wishing ring, like the charming lady who air-voiced a desire for "twins this year." "I hope you have 'em and name one of 'em after me", Tom recouped, or again the childless matron, who made a fervent wish but refused to disclose it openly... "I hope it's a boy" Tom reassured.

But amazing Tom Breneman can take care of himself and any program exigencies. We're sure of that. It's just as he cracked to the guest who volunteered that "Breakfast on the Boulevard" was "one of the swellest programs on the air". Tom stalked over to a nearby table, reached for a sample can of Planter's Peanut Oil, and handing it to her remarked, "You really don't need this, honey. You're smooth enough without."

Bob Garred in Pics and Words

the United Press.

His thorough understanding of sports brought announcing assignments at north-west athletic events. In one year he did descriptions of 65 professional baseball games, 14 football games, and 90 basketball games, and was brought to San Francisco as an "Associated Sportscenter," to describe important games of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Hollywood got him in November of 1939. Now he broadcasts his two Columbia Pacific Network news periods from the KNX studios at Columbia Square, Monday through Saturday at 7:30 a. m., and Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 4:45 p. m.

He has one physical defect, a pictorial description of which surrounds this article. He is constantly taking treatment for it with varying degrees of success. This treatment is a standard one in cases of this kind, the only difference being that dosages are doubled, tripled and sometimes quadrupled. The defect is as you see, that old Latin horror, corpus supinum snorionum.

"Best treatment I've devised so far is a pair of standard alarm clocks, to which is added an infused mixture of Swiss and ship's bells plus a rope tied to my big toe for my room-mate to yank on when the clocks go off," he declared.

Sidelights on this handsome young practitioner of anti-somnambulism:

Since 1936, Garred has read more than 6,000,000 words of news each year . . . is so well informed on world events that he recently was able to ad lib for six minutes on a transcontinental network while waiting for another announcer to "take over" from the Philippines during a search for a missing airplane . . . speaks 13 different Indian dialects native to the northwest . . . his grandfather was Indian Commissioner for the area . . . collects beer steins as a hobby . . . his musical tastes, popular and classical, lean to Duke Ellington and Claude Debussy, respectively . . . he's single, with brown wavy hair, tan complexion and a robust smile . . . lives on the top floor of the Hollywood Athletic Club, but prefers San Francisco for a home. . . .

On leaving we stopped at the club desk where he was given a note from the manager.

"Oh, the dickens," he exclaimed. "Here, read this. Can you imagine?"

I read:
"Dear Mr. Garred:
We are, naturally, sympathetic with resident guests' wishes, but in this case we must say no. A fire or police siren, we feel, would be out of the question in your quarters."

Gags of Week

Helen Garvey, 2250 W. 20th Street, Los Angeles, California.

Sirs: Last week on the "All Aboard" quiz program one of the contestants received eggs every time she answered a question correctly. After she had her hands full of eggs Art Baker asked her this question: "Now all you have to say is true or false on this statement: 'The oldest thing on earth is right here in Southern California.'" The woman answered, "I hope it isn't these eggs." (The correct answer was the Sierra Paloma Mountains in Death Valley).

Mrs. Teckla K. Werth, 6129 E. Allston St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on Bob Hope's program: Bob Hope answering telephone: Colonna: "Have nothing to report, isn't it dramatic?"

Bob Hope: "What's so dramatic?" Colonna: "I'm collecting cream puffs on the farm."

Bob Hope: "How can you collect cream puffs on a farm?"

Colonna: "Well, the cow was smoking!"

Wallace Kellogg, 2307 E. Huntington Dr., Monrovia, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on the Signal Carnival: V. Vague: "I'm sorry I took the advice of that old miner yesterday. I almost drowned."

Jack Carson: "How was that?" V. Vague: "He said to hold my pan under water for ten minutes."

Mr. Laurence L. Joachim, 11259 Westminster Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: From the Pepsodent Show: "You fellows are the fastest eaters I ever saw," said Bob Hope. "I lowered my head to say grace, and when I looked up the cook asked me what I wanted for dessert."

Mr. Arnold Post, 4254 E. Lemon Drive, Whittier, Calif.

Sirs: Heard on the Kate Smith Hour:

Chick: "She's a blood hound bargain hunter."

Min: "How's that?"

Chick: "She's always trying to pick up a scent."

Best Bet Previews

Ed. Note: The critical advance notices given below are the result of careful estimates of air events during the week in which Radio Life is dated. They are offered as air-worthy "bests" and to assist Reader-Listeners in choosing one or more bright spots each week-day or evening.

SUNDAY, MAY 25

A. M.

VARIETY:

10:15—KHJ: "Romance of the Highways," Pacific Greyhound's radio feature with Commander A. W. Scott, famous world traveler as Master of Ceremonies, has run for a longer continuous period than any other radio travel program.

P. M.

4:00—KNX: "Lip Service," story of a harmonica player who made good. A Columbia Workshop conception. Should be good. Story by Norman Corwin.

4:00—KFI: Edna Mae Oliver, guest on Charlie McCarthy.

3:30—KFI: The Fitch Bandwagon, with Phil Harris as guest conductor. More new songs and music. Highlights of Harris' life.

7:30—KFI: Jack Benny reviews vacation plans for studio and air audience. Last show from Hollywood with one to go from San Diego.

P. M.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

6:30—President Roosevelt speaking to nation following deferment of his scheduled May 12 speech. Opposition Liberals believe he will inform the people that they will go to war. May be the most important talk ever made by a human being. . . . KFI, KNX, KECA.

P. M.

DRAMA:

2:00—KECA: "With Charity Toward All," Catholic Hour Dramatization. Usually high standard presentation of common humanity theme.

A. M.

OUTSTANDING MUSIC:

8:30—KECA: Radio City Music Hall. Jan Peerce guest tenor.

P. M.

3:45—KECA: Music for Listening. Concert arrangements of popular tunes, Charles Dant, conducting.

MONDAY, MAY 26

P. M.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS:

6:30—KECA: National Radio Forum.

More enthusiastic, near-to-blows discussion of national issues. Rousing debates on policy and economy.

VARIETY:

7:15—KFI: Lum and Abner back with bucolic doings in their Jot 'em Down store in old Pine Ridge. New theme song written by Sybil Chism, their organist.

10:00—KECA: Happy concert arrangements of wild swing tunes by the Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin street. Program notes and all for the sake of good melody and fun.

6:45—KHJ: Citizens who like to express their views will have a field day now that Art Linkletter's famous show, "What Do You Think?" will originate at KHJ for Roma Wine.

P. M.

MUSIC:

4:00—KFI: Helen Jepson, guest star of The Telephone Hour. James Melton, tenor, and 57-piece Bell Symphonic Orchestra.

TUESDAY, MAY 27

A. M.

VARIETY:

10:15—KHJ: "Hollywood Whisper." (Also Thursdays). Interesting and entertaining stories and tidbits of gossip about Hollywood's stars.

P. M.

5:00—KFI: Frances (Speaking of Glamour) Scully in Fashion Comments observed after a day spent in watching the ladies at Holly Park's Opening.

7:30—KECA: Information Please. Clifton Fadiman has tables reversed on him. He joins experts to answer questions with Deems Taylor taking his place.

7:45—KHJ: "Strollin' Tom," a twice-weekly program features songs and philology.

DRAMA:

9:30—KFI: Latitude Zero winds up three week battle for recapture of the stolen statue of Kali, Hindu Goddess. New series starts next week.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 28

P. M.

DRAMA:

5:30—KNX: Edward G. Robinson as "Steve Wilson," Managing Editor of Big Town's Illustrated Press in dramatization "The Story Is Dynamite."

ROMANCE MUSIC:

7:00—KFI: Tony Martin in usual program directed at girls in audience and to blazes with the folks out on the air-planes. Interesting because program is written for Tony's singing all through.

7:30—KECA: Manhattan At Midnight, original dramas that boil up out of busy streets and backways of New York. . .

8:30—KFI: Mr. District Attorney takes another crack at criminals in a warm and racy drama based upon authentic incidents in the lives of criminals.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS:

10:00—KECA: Town Meeting of the Air. No subject announced—but this program is always thrill and thought crowded. The people speaking their minds with politicians not able, apparently, to understand them. . .

THURSDAY, MAY 29

P. M.

OUTSTANDING MUSIC:

5:00—KECA: Rochester Civic Orchestra in a program featuring works of American composers only.

COMEDY:

7:00—KECA: Priscilla Lane, sweet member of the sweet Lane sister trio, guest with Rudy Vallee. . .

5:30—KHJ: "Shafter Parker's Circus," Mutual's popular coast-to-coaster (Mon. thru Fri.) is built around the adventures of a circus owner and his pretty sister. The troupe is constantly besieged by one menace after another and the action is so swift that adults, as well as kids, tune in.

VARIETY:

12:30—KECA: Club Matinee.

4:00—KFI: Pot o' Gold, Horace Heidt.

6:00—KFI: Xavier Cugat's Orchestra.

7:30—KFI: Maxwell House Time, Frank Morgan and Fanny Brice.

8:30—KFI: Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou.

FRIDAY, MAY 30

P. M.

DRAMA:

5:15—KHJ: "Captain Danger," is a South Sea Island tale of high adventure, hilarious fun, magic and mystery. The story aims at two very important things, namely: sustained interest plus parent and teacher approval.

6:00—KNX: "Hollywood Premiere." What happens when a poor but attractive girl suddenly inherits a million dollars affords the basis of "Million Dollar Baby," Stars are Priscilla Lane and Jeffrey Lynn.

6:00—KFI: Wings of Destiny. Dramatization of an actual case from records of the U. S. Army Air Corps. Piper Cub plane given away.

5:30—KFI: Uncle Walter's Doghouse. More laughable situations men can get themselves into in not arranging alibis that appeal to the woman in the house.

SATURDAY, MAY 31

P. M.

DRAMA:

2:45—KECA: Edward Tomlinson in expert and dramatically conceived review of problems rising out of Central and South America which have serious portents for America.
