The Car Inspires the Pen

A Reader, Address on File.

Sirs: Ever since you began putting out Radio Life I have been buying it, when I could get it. I am an old person with very poor eyesight and it is easier to find the programs quickly . . . that is, if it is printed nice and black. It used to be, but lately not so good. In this week's issue, one page is so faint, I cannot read part of it. It is the Sunday afternoon page. Perhaps you do not know this, so in case you don't, please ask the printer to make all the pages nice and black for all the old people who can't see quite as well as they used to.

Best wishes and yours for a good black-out . . . Grandma.

The reason I can write this card, is because I used to be a reporter and still have my typewriter.

Grandma: We've passed your postcard of April 2nd on to the press men. As you probably know, we not only own and edit Radio Life, but we print it, so have to absorb our own manpower problems.

Sixteen of our very competent press men are machine gunners, or something, for Uncle Sam, and not all of the boys that are left are first class.

We'll try to print your logs black for you. Wish our printing were as good as your typewriting.

Paulina F. Allen, The Fredericka, Chula Vista, Calif.

Sirs: I knew you'd do it! When I found the ending of the John Nesbitt article was missing in the May 7th issue, I was sure you'd have it in the next week's Radio Life and you came up to my expectations! Thanks very much!

Thank you for having faith in us.

Mrs. M. D. Hammond, 2626 West 16th Place, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Thank you for printing the pages which were omitted from the May 7th issue. That was a nice gesture. Sometime will you please give us a writeup and pictures of the "Mother and Dad" program. It is much like the old Seth Parker program.

I'm glad you raised the price to 5c. It is worth it.

Mrs. Donald Quisenberry, 2119 Westminister, Alhambra, Calif.

Sirs: As an ardent Bing Crosby fan, I would like Bing to do more singing and less talking. He puts so much feeling into his songs and absolutely none into his seriously spoken script. As a member of his radio family, I would like to hear the "off-on-his-way natural goodbye" that he would leave with his own family. To me, his closing is far from good.

However, I hope that he never works up a closing that leaves us screaming or swooning.

Miss Sondra Solomon, 5317 San Vicente Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Ever since I heard Andy Russell being interviewed by Don Ollis, I have been much interested in this new singer. In my estimation, Andy runs a close second to Frank Sinatra, so how about giving the guy a break by writing an article on him.

Also, can you tell me if he is appearing on any radio program. I think your magazine is grand, and I especially like the column by Jack Lawson, called Diggin' Discs.

Andy Russell's program, "A Boy, A Girl And A Band", heard over the Blue Network at 10:30 p. m., is not carried by a local station.

Frankie Flatbush, 1133 1/4 Logan Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: When are you going to publish an interview with "Her Nibs", Georgin Gibbs, of the Gurr Moore-Jimmy Durante show? I think she tops any female singer in sight; is no copyist; has her own style which is warm and true.

The reason I ask is because I'd like to see a picture of Georgin. If she looks half as sweet as she sings, you have a combination that's going to skyrocket.

Georgin Gibbs is a cute little gal with lots of personality. We'll try to oblige you with a picture of her in a future issue of Radio Life.

M. C. P. JELLS MORE
Fruit or Juice and Sugar
Than Any Other Pectin
You Can Buy

SAVING fruit or juice and sugar is a very important economy in making energy-rich jams and jellies which help relieve the wartime shortage of other rich foods such as meat, eggs, butter, etc. Homemade jams, especially, are excellent spreads which save precious "points" and are far more economical than butter or margarine.

With M.C.P. PECTIN you get more glasses of jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit or juice, for you don't "boil away" these costly ingredients . . . yet, the M.C.P. method prevents spoilage due to too short a boil. Tested, easy-to-use recipes eliminate guesswork . . . save you time and work . . . and, because M.C.P. PECTIN is colorless, odorless, and tasteless . . . you are always assured clear, tender, fine-textured jams and jellies of pure, natural fruit or berry flavor.

THE THREE JOKE-SWAPPING experts on NBC's "Can You Top This?" Harry Hershfield, "Senator" Ed Ford, and Joe Laurie, Jr., here "examine" a joke.

A few days later she received a reply, to-wit:

"Get married and keep your mouth shut."

Know Why

At mess one night in one of the Army camps, a bunch of the boys were speaking of the manners of some of the soldiers.

"Did you ever notice," said one of the boys, "How Zeke always uses his knife when he eats, no matter what he eats?"

"Yeh," answered his Buddy, "I noticed that. Let's ask him why he doesn't use his fork once in a while."

When Zeke came to the table and began eating, one of the boys piped up, "Hey, Zeke, why don't you use your fork instead of your knife when you eat?"

"Well," answered Zeke, "I always use my knife, I tried eating with the fork once, and I found out that the fork leaks."

Good Guess

The subway was crowded. It was a long rush-hour train. The motor-man had quite a time stopping and starting. Every time he turned a curve or came to a stop he threw a meek little man in the lap of a very pompous lady. This happened about five times. Finally the woman pushed the little fellow to the floor and said, "Who do you think you are?"

"Well," he said, "I thought I was an Irishman, but I guess now I am a Laplander."

Didn't See Snakes

The doctor had a new nurse on a case of delirium tremens and after he had succeeded in quieting the patient, left some medicine, instructing the nurse to administer it if the man "Began seeing snakes again." On his next call the doctor found the patient raving. To his puzzled inquiry the nurse replied that the patient had been going on like that for several hours, but she had not given the medicine. "Didn't I tell you to give the medicine to him if he began seeing snakes again?" demanded the doctor. "Yes, sir," replied the nurse, "But he didn't see snakes this time, he saw red, white and green turkeys with straw hats!"

Conservation

Two girl friends, Dolores and Ramona, met and after talking about this and that, the conversation switched to what they were doing for the War Effort.

"Well," said Dolores, "I save all waste fats and tin cans and I conserve on all foods that we have been told to."

"Yes," said Ramona, "I can understand just what you're doing, because I am doing all I can, too. I even save burnt out electric bulbs."

Twelve Jokes That Hit the Laugh-meter

Can You Top These Toppers As Told On Colgate's Show?

Saturday, 6:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI

A WOMAN went into a store to buy a piece of linoleum.

The salesman pulled out rolls and rolls of the stuff until he was practically exhausted. He turned to the woman shopper and asked: "Just what color linoleum would you really care to have? What color scheme is your kitchen?"

She answered: "My kitchen? Why, my dear man! This linoleum isn't for my kitchen. All I want is a small square about five by five for the bottom of my bird cage."

On the stage when "Can You Top This?" is on the air, there stands a box-like object labeled the laugh-meter. Scaled like a thermometer, the Colgate laugh-meter is made to measure the risibility response of the studio audience whenever any one of the programs' three joke raconteurs (Harry Hershfield, "Senator" Ed Ford, or Joe Laurie Jr.) gets off a funny one.

A weak joke will bring 100 on the laugh-meter; a medium one will rate perhaps 500 or 600. The really super stories hit 1,000, top of the laugh-meter. The one above, about the linoleum, was one of these.

As you probably know from listening, fans send their favorite jokes to be read on the program. These are arranged in certain categories, and the best ones of a given category are presented on the program. As soon as they are read, the three famous jokesters try to recall any pet jokes of their own that fit the category, in an effort to top the one sent in by the listener.

Since the program first started about a year and a half ago, there have been some priceless stories told that rated the 1,000 mark on the laugh-meter. Radio Life herewith presents the toppers for your enjoyment.

Good Advice

A young woman sent a letter to the "Advice to the Lovelorn" column. "Dear Advice to the Lovelorn: I have false teeth, and in a short time I expect to marry. I was wondering whether I should tell my intended husband and thus take the chance of losing him, or wait until after we are married to tell him."

Guest stars usually cost from $1,000 to $3,000 a week and radio rights to the pictures dramatized cost another thousand or so. Estimated budget of show, $5,000-$7,000 weekly.

A Night-time Show in Daytime

Bigtime Entertainment Presented Before Sundown Marks New Trend

Monday-Friday, 3 p.m.
NBC-RFI

RADIO is going in for bigger budget daytime entertainment. The opening wedge has been driven, and now the NBC Drest Star Playhouse, heard Mondays thru Fridays in fifteen minute episodes, is splitting wide open the traditional daytime radio menu by offering fans a first-class, night-time-calibre program with the finest of stories and top screen and movie stars in the leading roles.

It had to come sometime. War prosperity has sold out the choice night-time spots and now the day hours, stepchildren of radio, are getting new shoes.

Naturally, it takes money to put on good programs. Blue network's "Breakfast Club" with Don McNeill presiding found that out several years ago. For long the network hesitated whether it was advisable to finance a sustaining program, for early morning broadcast, that required a full orchestra, a comedian, and vocalists. Then, after Don McNeill had sold the network officials on the expenditure and worked like a Trojan to build the offering into the most popular of all daytime shows, he had another hurdle to jump . . . the luring of a sponsor.

Even Lured Sponsor

It was many moons before a big-time sponsor, with bulging coffers, was found who would gamble enough to support McNeill's Breakfast Clubbers at the hour to which they had become accustomed. But a big packer decided to make a test, has been paying the bill ever since, and liking it.

Last July, when Procter and Gamble decided to buy "Star Playhouse" for daytime presentation, it was a distinct bigtime and night quality show aired to most NBC stations at 10:45 EWT (and repeated for Southern Californians at 3 p.m. on KFI). The formula called for a successful and popular romantic screenplay to be serial-dramatized in a week or so with a famous motion picture actor or actress heading the cast.

The budget of the new leader in daytime airings is an unheard of investment in the improvement of radio offerings. The guest stars cost from $1,000 to $3,000 a week and radio rights to the pictures cost another thousand or so. Then there is the supporting cast, music and production costs. All in all, the sponsor is probably spending $5,000 to $7,000 weekly for the NBC "Star Playhouse" and added money, of course, for the network and station time involved.

Uses Fine Talent

To give an idea of the calibre of stars and stories aired, here are a few examples: Jane Wyman did "Fifth Avenue Girl," Agnes Moorehead "The Magnificent Ambersons," Maureen O'Sullivan "Hold Back the Dawn" and Mary Astor "Take a Letter, Darling." Martha Scott played "All This and Heaven, Too," Frances Dee "The Great Lie" and Marsha Hunt "Arise My Love." Brenda Marshall starred in "Ann Carver's Profession," Constance Moore in "Doctor Takes a Wife," and Ruth Warrick in "If I Were Free."

In March, "Star Playhouse" listeners heard "Suspicion," the famous Alfred Hitchcock directed, RKO-romantic thriller, with Margo, the talented Spanish actress and dancer, in the leading role of Lina and Tom Collins, her husband, John Aysgarth.

Next to be broadcast for four weeks was David Selznick's heart-tearing story, "Intermezzo," with George Coulouris as the leading man. Then came "Of Human Bondage," starring Rosemary De Camp and Les Tremayne in their all too-infrequently displayed serious talents.

Beginning June 5 and continuing for approximately seven weeks, Gail Patrick will headline the presentation of "Dark Victory."

A few months ago, 600 radio editors throughout the nation voted the "Star Playhouse" as the best daytime dramatic show. You can't fool the radio editors. They know what's going on, and the "Star Playhouse" is helping to show the way to better dial fare during the sunlit hours.

MISS MARSHALL on the air with "Ann Carver's Profession," played Portia, who saved her husband from a murder conviction. In real life, Miss Marshall is Mrs. Holden, wife of Lt. Bill Holden, U.S.A.A.F. Note service pin and wings on her lapel. ▶

HUMOR is often injected into Dr. Popenoe's advice to problem-bearers. The counsellor has been particularly pleased, in his dealings with family maladjustments, to find persons involved willing to accept the blame he sometimes places upon them. He comments with a grin, "They don't seem to mind facing the music."

Are You Unhappy?

By Shirley Gordon

Write Your Troubles to Dr. Paul Popenoe; Hear Them Dramatized, Solved, KMPC!

Monday, 8:30 p.m.
KMPC

I DON'T pretend to know all the answers, but by now, I think I know all the questions!"

Speaking was Dr. Paul Popenoe, Sc.D., General Director of The Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles and Lecturer in Biology at the University of California. Having spent some twenty-five years in the promotion of education for marriage and family life, Dr. Popenoe is currently offering his counsel to radio listeners who tune in to KMPC's "I Want To Be Happy" dramatizations.

"In the last fifteen years," the doctor informed Radio Life recently, "our institute has handled some 25,000 cases of family maladjustments, but there have been no two of them truly alike. There are always varying factors to be considered with every problem." The chief underlying cause of almost all the problems which people experience, however, Dr. Popenoe pointed out, is the failure of adults to grow up emotionally.

He advises that, in order to achieve emotional maturity, an adult should strive to acquire three fundamentally important qualities—self-knowledge, self-control and unselfishness.

One accepted belief which the expert has refuted by his observations, is that financial reverses often cause marital unhappiness. "A financial difficulty," he declared, "is a symptom rather than a cause."

Something that is surprising to Popenoe himself, is the willingness with which people with problems have accepted the blame that he sometimes places upon them. "They don't seem to mind facing the music," he commented with a grin.

Basis For Program

Dr. Popenoe's radio program, produced by Howard Rhines, is based on the problems presented to the doctor in the many letters he receives daily. Letters suitable for dramatization are selected by the doctor and Walter Carle, who transforms them into entertaining playlets which are heard on each week's broadcast, followed by Dr. Popenoe's analyses and advice.

Here are a few of the problems which have been presented on recent "I Want To Be Happy" programs, with the solutions prescribed by the doctor:

"Please understand to begin with," stated one letter from the distraught father of a 19-year-old girl, "that my daughter, about whom I seek your help, is a well-educated, intelligent girl with really fine ideals. Knowing this to be true, I find it all the more difficult to understand her absolute determination to enter a marital relationship with a man, without benefit of clergy."

In the dramatized playlet based on this man's problem, conversation between father and daughter was presented as follows:

Daughter: If a few words, spoken by a mere man in a court, can bust up a marriage, what sense is there in having a few words, spoken by another mere man, in a church, make the marriage in the first place!

Father: I'll swear I don't know what to say when you argue like this, child. If you were older, I'm sure you would . . .

Daughter: I'm old enough, father, to know that the whole idea of marriage ceremonies and licenses, came from the same kind of ordinary human beings who are performing the ceremonies today—and granting the divorces!

PROBLEMS presented to the doctor are enacted by popular KMPC dramatic players (shown here are Alice Scanlon and Bill Martel). The majority of the problems people face, Dr. Popenoe declares, are due to adults' failure to grow up emotionally.

PRODUCER of the program is Howard Rhines, shown here with Dr. Popenoe. General Director of The Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles, the doctor has spent twenty-five years in the promotion of education for marriage and family life.

Father: That may be true, daughter, about performing the ceremonies and things like that. But the idea of the Christian marriage service—its holiness and beauty—came right out of the Holy Bible.

Daughter: I know that—and it's beautiful! I think a true marriage is made in Heaven—and Heaven is the goodness right inside your own soul.

Father: That's right, child—that's right.

Daughter: Well, then—why is it necessary to go to a tobacco-chewing clerk in his shirt-sleeves, to buy a little piece of paper with some printing on it, as your ticket into the realm of marital relationship . . .

Advisor's Answer

Dr. Popenoe came forth with this reply:

"Some people profess to believe that marriage is a cramping and confining deprivation of liberty; that it is a bondage which they want to avoid; so they propose to go into what they call a free love arrangement. It has been pointed out, time and again, that such an arrangement is not free, nor is it love! But let's ask just what restrictions marriage puts on anyone. Merely this; the state requires that two persons who are legally competent to assume responsibility, announce publicly, in the presence of witnesses, that they are taking each other as partners and are willing to accept the responsibility that goes with this partnership. Once they accept responsibility for the results of their own actions, they can make out of their marriage pretty much anything they please. They can live in one room and never let each other out of sight; or they can live a thousand miles apart and be together only on Fourth of July and Christmas.

Society doesn't care. It's their marriage. They can live it as they like. All that society asks is that they accept responsibility for their actions."

Cousin Problem

Another letter-writer presented this problem:

"Last year, mother and I went east for a visit. While we were away, I spent a great deal of time in the company of a first cousin I had not seen since we were children. We were tremendously attracted to each other and in the course of a few weeks, fell sincerely in love. We want very much to be married, but mother insists that this must never be—unless we are willing to run the risk of having gibbering idiots for our children. She says that history proves her point."

Dr. Popenoe counselled:

"From the purely biological point of view, the fact that the couple are first cousins means that 50% of their inheritance comes from the same ancestors. Their children would get a double dose of those qualities, coming from both sides of the family. Are these qualities good or bad? That's the only question, biologically. If there are no serious defects or abnormalities in the preceding three generations on each side, they are quite justified in being united in marriage. There is a social handicap in cousin marriages, namely that husband and wife do not acquire, in the usual degree, the double circle of new friends and relatives that broaden the acquaintance and enrich the life of the ordinary married couple. Moreover, cousin marriages sometimes indicate that the young people have not had a very wide range of acquaintance, a very broad social life to start with. But biologically there

LETTERS from "I Want To Be Happy" listeners are read by the doctor and Walter Carle, who selects suitable ones for dramatization on their Monday evening KMPC program. Following the playlets, Dr. Popenoe offers his solutions to the writers' problems.

▲ COORDINATOR for each "World's Front Page" broadcast is Volney Hurd, who is in constant contact with the Monitor's overseas staff by cable prior to the news program's airing.

This same tradition has carried over to its current radio work.

The Monitor's staff of skilled analysts, writers and correspondents boasts such men as Mallory Browne, Peter Lyne and Emlyn Williams in London; Ronald Stead, Joseph Harrison and William Stringer in the Mediterranean Theater; Eustace Summers and Guy Natusch in Australia; Quentin Pope in New Zealand; Guenther Stein in Chungking; Edmund Stevens in Moscow; Ole Jodal in Stockholm; C. K. Cumming in India; John Beaufort in the Central Pacific and Gordon Walker in the Southwest Pacific.

Walker was the only American correspondent to cover the initial landing on New Georgia Island; he marched for three days with that battalion of Marines. He saw the epic fighting at Guadalcanal, the attack on Vella Lavella, the air raid on Wake Island, and landed with the Marines at Bougainville.

Women Also Report

Supplementing the skilled corps of male war correspondents stationed in the far corners of the globe to cover the war for "The World's Front Page," are such feminine reporters as Barbara Browne, Melita Spraggs, Judith Cassell and Jane Thomas to view the news from the women's standpoint.

The national scene is handled from Washington by Roscoe Drummond, Richard L. Strout, Mary Hornaday and Neal Stanford; from New York, by Alexander H. Williams, Harold Fleming, Baldwin Garretson and Wyona Dashwood; from Chicago, by Dorothea Kahn and Grace Miller; and from the West Coast, by Rodney L. Brink, Kimmis Hendrick and Kate Archibald.

Volney Hurd, speaking from Boston, serves as coordinator for each

*On-The-Spot Coverage of Today's News
By a Skilled Staff of 850 Reporters*

THE world's largest corps of foreign correspondents for any radio network is poised and ready to cover the United Nations' march on Berlin and Tokyo from every vantage point for the KHJ-Mutual-Don Lee network. They are the Christian Science Monitor's staff of 850 reporters who are stationed in every corner of the world's vast battle area, and their on-the-spot coverage of today's news is brought to radio listeners on Mutual's week-day broadcasts of "The World's Front Page."

Being consistently notable for its vigorous yet impartial handling of news, both national and international, the Christian Science Monitor holds a unique position among strictly sectarian journals in this regard.

HONOR AMONG THIEVES—but so far as NBC's Bob Hope is concerned there's no honor between masters of ceremony because he certainly seems to have the dagger's edge on Al Jarvis. Hope and Jarvis will act as masters of ceremony for the Annual Police Show at the Shrine Auditorium on June 15-26, and they seem prepared to fight out something or other with the weapons Bob uses in Samuel Goldwyn's "The Princess and the Pirate." Everything will probably work out all right, however, and the final result will be a world of fun for audiences at the mammoth programs.

"CALLING ALL SMITHS!" When CBS' Songbird of the South, Kate Smith, sent out a request that all Smiths living in or near the thirty-five blood donor centers cities sign a pledge to donate blood to the Red Cross plasma drive, 2527 Smiths in Los Angeles answered her call. A five-time blood donor herself, Kate is shown here with William T. Sesson Jr., director of the Los Angeles blood donor center.

Blue Buys KECA

Last week the Blue network bought Earle C. Anthony's KECA for $800,000, thus ending the chain's pressure for a local station of its own and Anthony's problem created by FCC's ruling that he should dispose of one of his two stations, KFI or KECA.

On the heels of Blue net President Noble's recent visit to Los Angeles, negotiations were opened for a deal, $600,000 being the price offered by the Blue. Anthony's subsequent appeal to the FCC for an extension of time in disposing of one of his properties and his contention that he was being pushed into a deal at a figure below a fitting price met with a refusal for extension of time and hastened the newly-completed move. As soon as the transfer is okayed by the commission, the Blue is expected to take over the station's operations. Most guesses are that it will be within three weeks.

Said the Blue's Western Vice-president, Don E. Gilman, to Radio Life: "The acquisition of the station was a long-cherished ambition of network officials, not because the station hasn't done a good job but because we are now free to give the public so much more. We plan to do things which we have no right to ask a local operator to do for us."

Tough Luck, Tommy!

"Little Beaver" had to take to his bed last week! Tommy Cook, who plays Red Ryder's little Indian friend on the Blue Network radio program, came down with a bad case of the measles, automatically putting "Little Beaver" out of commission.

Crosby Plug Wins

Frank Sinatra guested on a recent NBC Bob Burns broadcast and when the swoon-crooner declared to the Arkansas Traveler that Bing Crosby was the greatest singer of 'em all, the Groaner himself stalked from off-stage and surprised the Voice by planting a fatherly kiss on his brow.

What's more, Bing slipped Sinatra a dollar bill for the plug. Cracked Frankie: "That's the first time anyone ever won anything on a Crosby plug!" (Meaning Bing's horses, of course.)

Never Aired

A hilarious question for Joe E. Brown's "Stop or Go" radio show which never reached the Blue microphone, because the right answer would best be answered wrong, can now be told. The question was, "What is the person called who brings you in contact with the spirit world?" The $80 answer is: "A bartender."

Green Valley

Curious as to whether there was actually a place called Green Valley, Hi Brown, producer of Mutual's "Green Valley, U. S. A." program, went on a research binge and came up with the fact that there are more than twenty-five towns in the United States so named. In South America, Brazil has one and Argentina has two. Brown discovered that the first time a voice crossed the continent by radio, the historic event took place in Green Valley, Virginia, which adjoins Arlington Cemetery. That particular broadcast was the dedication ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Bible On Records

John Nesbitt, story-spinner on CBS' "Passing Parade" series, will soon undertake another unique project. The distinguished narrator is scheduled to record a reading of the New Testament, which will be duly released by Decca.

Next Best Thing

Like all proud papas, Charles Correll (Andy of NBC's Amos 'n' Andy) is anxiously awaiting the day when his tiny son, Charles, Jr., will gallily display his very first brand-new tooth. Mrs. Correll recently discovered Daddy Charles peering eagerly into the baby's mouth for signs of the momentous event. A shade disappointed, he drew back and murmured: "He sure has got pretty gums, hasn't he!"

Military Objective

Gorgeous Georgia Carroll, soloist with Kay Kyser's NBC "College of Musical Knowledge," recently received a torn and bullet-riddled photo of herself which was sent to her by a Marine in the Pacific war zone. The leatherneck wrote that he had tacked it to the wall of his hut but it had been ruined when a Jap Zero swooped over the encampment and strafed his living quarters.

"Please send me another," he wrote, "I'll promise to take better care of the next one."

Debut

Sandra and Ronnie Burns, the handsome children of CBS' George and Gracie, made their initial bow before a studio audience during the "warm-up" preceding a recent broadcast. To the accompaniment of Felix Mills' orchestra and to the delight of their proud parents, the small troupers did a tap dance.

Whiz Kid

Eight-year-old Joel Kupperman, pert little "mathemagician" of the Blue Network's "Quiz Kids," is returning to the coast this summer to make movies at a $3000 per week salary.

Young Joel didn't score high enough on the "Quiz Kids" show of a recent date to return on the following broadcast. "I got a new dog," smiled little Kupperman in explanation. "Tonight is the first night I've been away from her, and I was worried that my sister wouldn't feed her right. So I didn't hear some of the questions."

Time Out for Teacher

NBC's "College of Musical Knowledge" will continue to be in session during the summer months, but its genial Ol' Professor, Kay Kyser, will be off on his first vacation in six years. It will be a vacation in name

Next Week

There will be a special layout on Arthur Treacher and Jack Carson, in which Carson, in a modern wartime attempt to keep Arthur as his valet, becomes Treacher's valet and even lets him steal gags on his radio show. We present a compact guide for summer listening with pictures of some of the new stars who will be heard on the airlines. Mrs. Royal Arch Gunnison, wife of Mutual's commentator, tells of her life in a Jap prison camp. Her story is replete with poignant details which will be of intense interest, we're sure, to all of our readers. We thumb-nail sketch the vivacious Nilsson twins, and in a twin feature, give a little inside story on radio actress Janet Logan. We reprint excerpts from that recent, hilarious script featuring Victor Borge on "Basin Street," and round out the issue with a picture layout on Lum and Abner demonstrating unique ideas for vacation.

only, however, since Kyser will spend his eight-week's leave from the airlines overseas entertaining the men of the armed forces.

Beginning July 5th, broad-grinned, crinkly-haired Phil Harris, that handsome "That's What I Like About the South" man, will do duty on the home front in the Ol' Professor's place.

THELMA GOES HIGHBROW

KGFJ takes off its hat to nobody, says Thelma Kirchner, petite but forceful manager, in the matter of hot jive. "Our jive music is positively torrid, and we get the records while they are practically still warm from the recording." However she believes many people like finer music at the dinner hour, and among these are workers and office people who don't get a chance to hear news during the day. The result is KGFJ's new program, "Musical Digest," featuring short classical works by Debussy, Rachmaninoff, Beethoven, Brahms, etc., interspersed with any important late news flashes. Time is 6:00-7:00 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

BISHOP STEVENS

Bishop William Bertrand Stevens, Episcopal Bishop of Los Angeles, has ordered a renewal of his weekly commentary, "A Churchman Views the News," for another 52 weeks. The program is heard on KMPC, Saturdays at 5:45 p.m. Prominent figures in the church world are frequent guests on the program. With other commentators covering the military, political and economic significance of the news, "A Churchman Views the News" endeavors to show the significance of the news picture as it affects the lives and thoughts of Christian people. It is said to be the only program in which a full-fledged Bishop talks to his diocese every week by radio.

Diggin' Discs

With JACK LAWSON

IRA COOK button-holed us the other day. He's the young announcer on Washington Motors' "Western Trails" show over KPAS, and also KMPC's Off the Record program Sundays. He said, "Want a scoop for your column, Well, you can predict that Bobby Worth's latest song, 'Fellow On a Furlough,' will be a hit—a big hit." We gave him one of those sidelong glances. "Since when," we inquired, "have you taken up songplugging?"

IRA REDDENED (as well he should) around the ears and protested, "On the level, I'm not a songplugger. But this tune has something. I've watched it grow. And you're always looking for new angles on stories. Well, this one has a pip."

IT SEEMS that Bobby Worth was entertaining at the Hollywood Guild Canteen. He was fascinated by Mrs. Ann Lehr, who operates the canteen and is beloved by thousands of servicemen. She was so sincere in helping the fellow on a furlough have fun that she inspired Worth to write the tune—and he has dedicated it to her.

We haven't heard it ourselves, but according to Ira, Hoagy Carmichael, Horace Heidt, Dave Rose, Freddy Slack and many another in the music biz around town are raving about it. Our interest is in the fact that it has been recorded by Bob Matthews, Heidt's singer, with accompaniment by Al Sacks' orchestra. Sacks is Blue Network musical director.

NEW RELEASES: Decca has scored another scoop with an album of music from "Carmen Jones," the Oscar Hammerstein musical play based on the opera, "Carmen," with the original cast, chorus and orchestra. It's as important to Americana as "Porgy and Bess."

Phil Moore, who wrote "Shoo Shoo Baby," has a new one for the Andrews Sisters called "There'll Be a Jubilee," recorded with "Sing a Tropical Song," a popular songwriter's conception of the Calypso.

Russ Morgan has a solid pair in "Goodnight, Wherever You Are" and "Louise," a revival.

Harmonica virtuoso Larry Adler comes up with "Begin the Beguine" in dance tempo, backed by John Kirby's orchestra. Its plattermate is an Adler original, "Hand to Mouth Boogie" — in other words, harmonica boogie woogie. They can't beat this lad.

Frank Sinatra and Harry James, who had a skyrocket last year in "All Or Nothing At All," have a new potential money-maker in "Every Day of My Life" and "On a Little Street In Singapore," a romantic pair for The Voice and the Horn.

Going strong is a James version of "I'll Get By," the tune which enjoyed a revival in the film, "A Guy Named Joe." Its companion is "Flatbush Flanagan," a jivey treatment and favorite of fans.

Radio Roundup from KFI

Gracie Fields, England's brightest performer and now one of America's more popular entertainers, is coming back on the air June 11. She has just recently been signed to do a summer program to replace Charlie McCarthy and Edgar Bergen, who take a ten weeks' vacation

Gracie Fields on the summer show will be Lou Bring, rising young orchestra conductor and his twenty-eight piece orchestra, and one of the top announcing personalities, Bill Goodwin, handles the announcing chores.

Remember Johnny Mercer? We thought you would. He's the guy who shared Bob Hope's airtime last summer and the same character who found time sometime back to sing an occasional ditty with Bing Crosby.

Now, Johnny has his own show which replaces Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians' 8 o'clock spot on KFI Mondays through Fridays, starting June 12.

Titled the "Music Shop," the new program finds Paul Weston conducting the orchestra and Jo Stafford occupying the stellar song spot. Incidentally, did you know that Mercer has been turning out hit tunes for more than 10 years and in that time has written more than 500 songs, more than 150 were published and at least 55 were big time hits.

That's a once-over-lightly on Johnny Mercer and his new musical crew who'll get together each weekday night at 8 for fun in the "Music Shop."

When Bob Hope leaves the air for a few weeks this summer, 13 weeks to be exact, a really great trouper steps into his 7 p.m. Tuesday spot on KFI.

To those who can remember "So Long Letty," "Linger Longer Letty," and "Leaning on Letty," this announcement will be greeted with joy and hilarity. For replacing Hope this summer will be long and lean Charlotte Greenwood!

Beginning June 13 "Life with Charlotte" brings to the support of the lanky international favorite a cast of radio-wise performers.

BLONDIE FOR PRESIDENT

Penny Singleton, CBS' "Blondie," has been asked to run for the Parent-Teachers Association presidency of the school attended by her eight-year-old daughter, Dorothy Grace (better known as DeeGee).

On Ed "Archie" Gardner's arrival in Pasadena to do his Blue Network broadcasts of "Duffy's Tavern" from the west coast, he was greeted by a freak one-man band led by a drum majorette all its own.

DOUGH-ZY DOATS

During the course of Blue Network's Dunninger program, the master mentalist was asked to sing "Mairzy Doats." He fulfilled the request and the satisfied onlooker donated $1000 to the Red Cross in return.

MECHANICAL MIND

Charles J. Correll (Andy of NBC's "Amos 'n' Andy") has an alarm clock mind. He can "set" it for any hour he wishes and wake promptly at the appointed time.

RATHBONE RECOMMENDS

Basil Rathbone, star of Mutual's "Sherlock Holmes," advises gardeners not to waste garbage. Rathbone declares that it should be mashed up finely with a spade, then watered, to be used as fertilizer.

FARMING COMMENTATOR

With the recent purchase of a ranch in the San Fernando valley, Mutual commentator, Upton Close, has turned farmer in a big way. His ranch is stocked with cows, pigs, chickens and rabbits.

EUGENIA CLAIR
Eugenia Clair of KMTR's "Eugenia Clair Presents" recently officiated as hostess at a dinner of the Masquers Club for 350 service men.

Those interested in having transcriptions made are referred to Lyman Smith at KMTR for commercial, audition or personal recordings.

NEW SONG
Milton Berle, Blue Network comedy star of "Let Yourself Go," has composed a new song, called "You're Not Foolin' Anyone But Yourself," which he wrote in collaboration with Don Reid and Henry Tobias.

Garry Moore, Jimmy Durante's laugh partner in CBS, is scheduled to record for Decca an album of his poetry, including "Roundelay for a Rabbit," "Ode to a Cow," and "Elsie and the Glow Worm."

FATE
When NBC's Edgar Bergen was thirteen years old, he sent for a booklet on photography; received instead a copy of "The Wizard's Manual," a paper-covered book on magic and ventriloquism, which marked the start of a great career.

Are You Unhappy?

is no objection whatever, if the ancestry is good."

For Grip-Loser

Another letter brought Dr. Popenoe still a different type of problem:

"My husband," a distressed woman wrote, "recently has been obsessed with the feeling that he's losing his grip! He's becoming dejected, almost melancholy in fact, at the thought that he's a year older every time another birthday rolls around!"

Dr. Popenoe replied:

"Since this woman has stated that her husband is in good health, I think he is suffering from nothing in the world except a distorted perspective. He dislikes to admit that he is getting old. Let's recognize that there are gains as well as losses in this process of maturing. We undergo three normal changes:

"1. The change in experience and outlook. These increase steadily for a long time.

"2. The change in dexterity. This comes slowly, but we have to recognize, some day, that we can't hit a tennis ball as accurately as we could in high school.

"3. The change in general energy, vitality and health, which is progressive from early life.

"These three changes don't go together very closely; but they have to be faced. It's mainly a question of attitude. This man, like some of the rest of us here, should recognize that he is certain to slow down physically, but that he's a correspondingly better man mentally each year; better in experience, judgment and range of knowledge. If he capitalizes his experience and lets his brains supplement his muscles, the best years of his life will be ahead of him."

"I Want To Be Happy" listeners have found in all of Doctor Popenoe's advice, impressive evidence of his wide experience and extensive knowledge. Talking with the doctor, we wondered what evidence he has received of the results obtained by problem-bearers who have followed his counsel.

The counsellor smiled and said, "A woman whom I advised some twelve years ago returned to my office just recently. She came back to tell me everything had worked out well. Today she is leading a happy, successful life. We hope to help many more people through the medium of radio!"

BARNACLE BILL

Bill Bendix recently drove to San Diego's Naval Station to give four shows a day for three straight days for Uncle Sam's boys in blue; then drove immediately back to Hollywood to appear for his early Sunday rehearsal of Blue Network's "Life With Riley" series—all without having as much as a cat nap for 72 hours!

Twelve Jokes That Hit the Laughmeter

"Burnt out electric bulbs?" queried Dolores, "What on earth do you save burnt out electric bulbs for?"

"Don't you know," asked her friend, "Why we use them during a dim out."

Poor Fish!

Two screwballs were out fishing in an open boat. For the greater part of the day they rowed slowly here and there over the lake. Then a storm came up and rain began to fall. "Looky," said Screwball number one, "It's beginning to rain. What'll we do? If it rains hard, we'll be soaked to the skin."

"Well," replied the other one, "If it rains hard, we can turn the boat bottom side up and crawl under it."

The first screwball thought a moment, then nodded, "That's true, but if we do that, our fish will fall in the water and get drowned."

What For

A very befuddled woe-begone would-be champion staggered to his corner at the sound of the bell ending the seventh round of a ten-round prize-fight. As his seconds were working over him feverishly with smelling salts, court plaster, iodine, one of them in disgust whispered in his ear, "It's alright Biff, we sent for a private detective." The befuddled prize fighter squinted through one eye that was left open and said, "What do I want a detective for?" The second said, "He'll help you find the guy you have been trying to hit for the past six rounds."

Trolley Troubles

This conductor had been with the street car company for a long time. Well, they put a new inspector to work, and as the trolley came to a stop, the new man stepped aboard the car, looked at the register, and said, "What's the idea—ten people on the street car and you've only rung up nine fares, how come?"

The conductor looked at the register and answered, "Well, now how did that happen? Ten passengers, and only nine rung up—well, it looks as though one of you passengers will have to get off and walk!"

Cruel

The goblins and imps were having an outing. One little imp joined a group and as he walked in, he had his hands on his side and he was laughing—he, he, he, he, ho, ho, ha, ha, ha, ha—Another little imp in the group said, "What is the matter with you, what is so funny?"

And the first imp said, "Ho, ho, I just put a woman in a room with a thousand hats and no mirror."

Right Kind

Mandy Lee walked into an insurance office and said she wanted to take out a policy.

The man said, "Well, what kind of insurance do you want, Life insurance, automobile insurance, accident insurance, or earthquake insurance?"

Mandy said, "No, all I want is fire insurance, that husband of mine has been fired four times in the last week."

Knew All Right

A young fellow in the Army was about to be shipped to England. He was worried about the money exchange, so he went to his top-kick and asked for help. The sergeant decided to call the group together and instruct them. "Now, you see, in England they have pounds instead of dollars then they have shillings, pence and ha' pennies and they also have nicknames for their mopey like we have for ours. They use the expressions "fiver," "bob," "quid," and many others." He then went on to explain the rates of exchange. When he finished he said, "And now, Abe, can you tell me the difference between pence and shillings?"

"Sure," said Abe, "You see, you can walk down the street without shillings, but not without pence."

CONNIE IS CHOICE

The 343rd Fighter Group, now overseas, has notified Connie Boswell, Blue Network blues singer, that she's been chosen by them as "The girl we'd like our own girl to be like."

Half Pint Trouper

Comedienne's Three-Year Old Niece Helps Aunt Judy Warm Up Studio Audiences

Tuesday, 9 p.m.
CBS-KNX

THESE are 'papa' notes and these are 'mamma' notes."

Three-year old Juliana Hughes, daughter of Mrs. Ann Hughes and niece of CBS star, Judy Canova, pointed with pudgy fingers to the piano keys to the right and left of middle-C and settled the matter with the candor and simplicity of a child's mind.

It was all quite elementary to Juliana. The base notes being lower and masculine-like were 'papa' notes. The treble notes sounded more like mother—so they became 'mamma' notes.

All this happened six months ago when Mrs. Hughes began to give piano lessons to her precious youngster. Juliana knows all the notes on the scale and dashes up and down the keyboard with gleeful abandon.

Juliana comes from a distinguished theatrical family and is already beginning to show the instincts of a poised trouper. Her mother is an accomplished pianist and musician and does all the arrangements for her famous sister and metropolitan hill-billy, Judy. With Judy and their brother, Pete, the Canova "gang" was a riot on vaudeville and musical comedy stages for over a decade.

Determined

While the pig-tailed Judy made her debut at 12, niece Juliana went her nine years better by going on at three with "Captain Jack's G-Man's Club" of the air. After attending rehearsal, she decided with an emphatic toss of her head that she did not want to be a "G-Man." She was won over when she was told that "Captain Jack" might "lose his job." Heart won over head. She wouldn't hurt a fellow professional!

The youngest Canova was born June 24, 1940. She is named after both her aunt and her mother. The "Jul" part is taken from Judy's "Juliet"—the "Ana" from her mother's "Ann."

Juliana learned to sing early, but was talking even earlier. Words that made sense began to form when she was five months old. She was able to call her mother's name quite intelligibly before six months. At one year of age she sang "Rosy O'Day" with enthusiasm, if not with tone feeling. She gurgled lullabies, or reasonable facsimiles thereof, at 18 months.

From then on, her "career" moved swiftly. She was scarcely more than two when she began to take dramatic lessons. Her coach would have her play small scenes from the movies. Then followed her first radio appearance and the incident with "Captain Jack" when she resolutely stated, "If they do that to 'Captain Jack' (throw him off the air unless she appeared on his program), then I'll have to go on."

Starts In Radio

Last July, Juliana made her first appearance on her famous aunt's CBS production, "Judy Canova Show," by singing "Ragtime Cowboy Joe" in the warm-up preceding the broadcast. She has been on many times since—repeating that song and alternating it with "Mairzy Doats" and "Jesse James." The latter she sings with one foot sticking out over the footlights. Why? No one knows.

She is remarkably at home on the stage, takes cues and direction with the sure instinct of a veteran. Although she still has a bit of trouble pronouncing her own name—her "Juliana Hughes" often comes out something like "Dudnana Foes"—she becomes quite grown-up when it is time for her to perform.

She fairly haunts "Judy Canova

Show" rehearsals in the CBS studios. She comes down with her mother and Uncle Pete and stays for the afternoon. Nothing that occurs escapes her attention. She is director and producer without portfolio. As a matter of fact, Producer Carlton Aloop is toying with the idea of installing a high chair in his control room and consulting with his tiny collaborator.

Juliana paces the stage with hands locked behind her back—a very busy little "Mickey Mouse." She is a mite of concentration—all of her 40 pounds and 40 inches. When Aunt Judy sings—the tike stops and stares in open-mouthed admiration. Then she resumes her trudging.

Likes Mel Blanc

Mel Blanc, whom she calls "Sylvester" after his sputtering characterization, is one of her pets. When he is rehearsing, she gets to one side of him and for once breaks out with a wide grin. She thoroughly approves.

When "Pedro," another of Blanc's roles, comes on and begins his dialogue with Aunt Judy, Juliana listens intently. Then something occurs to her. She runs to Ruby Dandrige (Geranium), whispers into her ear and listens quietly to Ruby's reply. Juliana nods in solemn agreement—and that situation is satisfactorily solved.

She is crazy about Eddie Dean, but sometimes confuses him with Announcer Ken Niles—much to the bewilderment of both. She is very chummy with Judy's husband, Chet

1. CBS-KNX CLAIMS DISTINCTION OF BEING MOST ACTIVE STUDIO in donating blood for the Red Cross Bank. Twice so far this year, a mobile unit for the use of donors has unloaded at Columbia Square, where 227 employees have given 227 pints of blood. Here, waiting for physical check-up are La Verne Burton; Jean Meredith, assistant director of publicity; Cran Chamberlain of "Don't You Believe It"; Jack O'Mara, merchandising manager, Columbia Pacific Network; and Bernice Barrett, CBS-KNX publicity log editor.

4. CBS PERSONNEL ARRANGED to donate blood between the hours of four and eight p. m. Here the actual giving is in process. Girl on cot in foreground is Kathleen Hite, CBS-KNX staff writer of such shows as Vick's "Short Short Story."

5. AMONG THOSE DONATING were staff members of the Burns and Allen show. Here they get a snack of coffee and doughnuts which follows donation. Left to right, Ned Tollinger, producer; Paul Henning, writer; Willie Burns, George's brother and manager; George Burns; Hank Garson, writer; and Bill Goodwin, announcer.

2. EDDIE MARR, "tell you what I'm gonna do" comedian, checks in for his donation. Blood contributors were ushered into Studio 1, where Red Cross workers had miniature hospital set up.

3. PRE-DONOR TEST with lovely nurses' aides surrounding him has Dave Willock of the Jack Carson show all a-dither. Test includes blood pressure and temperature check and sampling of blood.

6. GEORGE BURNS RECEIVES BUTTON while his brother and Goodwin beam approval. Many of CBS-KNX personnel wear the blue ribbon indicating donation of two quarts of blood. Among those wearing the gallon insignia is Seymour Berns of the station's transcription department, who has given his ninth pint.

7. DONATED BLOOD IS PACKED into Red Cross truck. Receiving it from Actor Pat McGechan, left, and Newsman Chet Huntley, right, is Lieut. H. Cummings. CBS plans to have the mobile unit call every ten weeks, recently attracted nationwide attention with its local support of "Smith Week," in which it assisted eleven Red Cross workers in calling 6400 Smiths on the phone and urging them to donate blood. First day, 175 of those called responded.

A Western Station in Wartime

UNUSUAL" is the word for KMTR, Hollywood, a mighty midget engaged in far-reaching civic, defense and offense activities.

The station buildings are a work of art—bringing the old-world Spanish motif to an amazingly beautiful pitch in design and construction, Spanish artisans having been brought from Mexico, spending two years in painstakingly building the artistic structures.

In the tower an ancient 1500-pound Mission bell, cast in Lima, Peru, in 1772, is part of the fitting adornments of a Spanish type and significance.

The entire ensemble, including the patio with its fish pond, is so luxuriously unique that visitors are delighted and often awed by such an unusual architectural creation.

In keeping with the lasting character of its construction, the policy of KMTR, 570 Top-Of-The-Dial, Hollywood, has long been one of serious, as well as entertaining and amusing, broadcasting.

In "Salute To The Services" the station honors returning heroes and others connected with the military effort at home and abroad. One example of this was a recent broadcast in which Corporal Clayton Lenoux, who was bayoneted by a Jap when he entered a cave on the Guadalcanal sector after having tossed a hand grenade into it, gave a special broadcast in behalf of the Air Service Command that keeps the fighting aircraft in operation.

Guide Dog Project

Still another worthy activity by KMTR was the promotion of training "guide dogs," in cooperation with the "Tailwaggers," an organization founded several years ago by Bette Davis and Jim Lindsay with the interests of our canine friends at heart—the "guide dogs" being for blind soldiers to enable them to get back into civilian life—something which seemed to have been neglected, after other wars.

With the aid of a guide dog, Corporal A. Murray Salkin, blinded in action, was able to get back into the business world as a salesman with a well-known eastern corporation.

By its broadcasting influence KMTR was able to place, in cooperation with local and Federal governmental agencies, a large number of "prisoners" who were on "good behavior," in the armed forces.

"Radio News Reel," a copyrighted feature originated at KMTR, has, since its inception, brought interviews and "on the spot" broadcasts, concerning the famous and the great and events of outstanding importance in and around Los Angeles—a fleet of radio broadcasting trucks having been in operation, with "Walky Talkies" being employed by reporter-broadcasters.

War Efforts

In its sustaining of time for the furtherance of the "Victory Hour" Program—KMTR has been very active in promoting the constructive defense and offense work of our organized forces.

Kenneth O. Tinkham, General Manager of KMTR Radio Corporation, was a captain in World War I, having thus attained an insight into the vicissitudes of actual conflict. He was admitted to membership in the famous Adventurers' Club, an organization quite difficult to get into—for his trail blazing in the High Sierras in the vicinity of Mount Whitney, where he surveyed some glacial areas, — and for his sporting feat of fishing from a canoe in the rapids of the St. Lawrence River.

news on the hour, every hour, 24 hours a day. It is edited by a staff of trained news men, headed by Roger Sprague, chief editor, who spent sixteen years in Southern California as a top newspaper reporter before entering the radio field. Assisting Sprague is Carl Blume, who was formerly sports editor for the Wilmington Press and was for five years a reporter-sports writer with the Los Angeles Times.

KMTR's news staff has access to International News Service and the Associated Press teletype machines installed in the news office of KMTR, as well as to many other sources of information, including the "Radio News Reel" feature.

Sprague and Blume also conduct the "Sports Roundup," going out every evening Monday through Saturday, from 6:06 to 6:15 p.m.—a program in which they discuss sports events and enter into arguments in a friendly way, although recently they went to it in earnest when Roger Sprague suggested that the U. S. Federal Government should permit national lotteries on the Rose Bowl game, Kentucky Derby and World Series, to help relieve the tax situation—but Carl Blume opposed the suggestion.

Hostess On Air

Among the outstanding personalities engaged in interesting and informative broadcasting over KMTR is Eugenia Clair, internationally known as "America's Grand Hostess" for her work in various civic and patriotic activities. The Veterans of Foreign Wars officially gave her this title, and it was approved by other organizations such as the Gold Star Mothers, American Red Cross and similar groups.

As one individual who does not believe that all others are without sincerity and purpose, Miss Clair is an outstanding example of a progressive and constructive element in the radio field. Her program, "Eugenia Clair Presents," is a compendium of choice bits about motion picture, radio and celebrities' social life and careers—a constructive effort to present these famous folk in the right light and keep the public correctly informed as to their daily life.

Assisting Miss Clair in this unusual broadcast is Jim Strain, Program Manager of KMTR brought to California from Florida. He was prominent nationally in his work for the Florida Broadcasting Corporation, when Mr. Tinkham saw his intrinsic worth and "imported" him from the rival state.

Englund, and calls him "Uncle Chet." Her grandmother, Henrietta Canova, becomes quite simply "Grandmother Gaa."

In addition to her piano and voice lessons, Juliana has one dancing class a week which she enjoys very much. Quite often, when at home and no one is looking, she'll practice a few steps working in a bit of original choreography as the mood strikes her.

Sweet Tooth

Juliana likes dried figs and prunes—but also must have some candy and cookies as antidotes. She is no lover of vegetables, but on occasions takes tolerantly to spinach or string beans.

She loves to eat out and orders consomme and fruit cocktails every time the waiter comes within hailing distance. Ice cream fairly makes her purr.

She helps select her own wardrobe and reserves the womanly right to change her mind after fittings. She is an out-spoken critic of anyone else's clothes she may not like—but is reasonable about it.

She interjects the word, "really," in almost any conversation. It expresses surprise, wonder, doubt, or approval—depending on her inflection.

Really, this Juliana is quite a remarkable person.

Station in Wartime

"king of Western swing," says he has a face that "looks like it was kicked by a mule." Well, it was, when the popular young fiddler, songwriter, and leader of California's foremost cowboy band was working on his father's ranch near Modesto.

After he got out of the hospital, Spade decided there ought to be an easier way to earn a living. He was meditating on this while rolling a cigarette on a Modesto street corner when a stranger came up to him and offered him a tailor-made cigarette.

"Up to that time, I had never smoked a tailor-made," Spade tells. "This was a real thrill. The fellow turned out to be a banjo player in a night club. Seems he had heard me play fiddle at a picnic. He offered me a job. One fifty a night and a share of the tips. Which sounded great to me. It opened up a whole new career."

Spade was born on his father's ranch in Oklahoma. He's one-quarter Cherokee Indian. Both his father and grandfather were fiddlers of the old school folk dance variety. So it was natural he should take to fiddling. He studied classical music and became an accomplished 'cellist. When he moved to California, he received his first taste of popular dance music.

He got his moniker during a poker game while playing with the Southern Stars in Klamath Falls, Ore. He had a terrific run on spades. The boys in the band handed him the nickname, and it stuck.

He played with the Riders of the Purple Sage, toured around the west and middlewest with various bands, owned part interest in a road show, and finally wound up as accompanist for Roy Rogers on one of the cowboy star's first barnstorming tours.

During these days he used to carry as high as four to five thousand dollars in cash around in his boots! He later became Roy Rogers' stand-in in pictures and appeared in scores of other pictures as an extra in every type of role from an Indian to an Arab. He also broadcast and made recordings with many stars, including Gene Autry, Tex Ritter, the Sons of the Pioneers and others.

Spade organized his present band for the Barn Dance at Venice Pier in June of 1942. Since then, cowboy bands have reached tremendous popularity in Southern California. Almost any hour of the day or night that you turn on your radio, you'll find a cowboy band whooping it up on one or more stations.

Cooley has a record run of 74 weeks at the Venice Barn Dance, broadcasting over KMTR and playing to an average of more than 8,000 western dance fans each week-end. He now is impresario of his own barn dance at the Riverside Breakfast Club, broadcasting Wednesdays thru Sundays over KMTR. He works eight hours a day as a toolmaker in an essential war plant.

Among the personnel of KMTR are some old-timers in the fields of announcing, writing and publicity.

Al Warner, old-time "wireless operator, related some interesting experiences to the writer—including how he got his start pounding a key on an old Russian vessel, the SS Nigini Novgorod, with Telefunken (German) wireless equipment. His first assignment was to send out an "S.O.S." The antiquated equipment shot sparks all over the room and out of the radio room windows—giving Al a "baptism of fire," or a fitting initiation for a neophyte "knight of the key!"

"World's Front Page" broadcast. Director of broadcasting for the Christian Science Monitor, and a former foreign correspondent, Hurd is in constant contact with the Monitor's overseas staff by cable prior to the news program's airing. In this way, he is able to integrate the pick-ups into a pattern against a background of sound analysis.

Comprehensive, Complete

The pick-up points vary, but three are usually included in each of the five weekly broadcasts. "The World's Front Page" listener thus receives a first-hand, eye-witness account of the news from three vital foreign points during each broadcast, in addition to the national scene as viewed from Washington, and a concise news resume and analysis by coordinator Hurd. The program therefore has the completeness and unity of a well-edited newspaper.

It is believed to be the first time that a great newspaper's overseas facilities have been made available to a major U.S. radio network.
