The Ear Inspires the Pen

Mrs. Maud Sherman, Whitewater, Calif.

Sirs: I am another mother who has lost her only son on the battlefield, and I want to protest against Dick Brown. My son wanted many things, also, the same as Brown. But he was fighting for freedom, for fellows like Brown and for me. I too, say that this hero of his own selfishness should be dismissed from the air.

The days I am so saddened, I wish I could again tune in the pro-gram, "Vic and Sade." I hope it will soon return to the air, and I also hope the cheerful Art Baker will always be at the microphone.

Jean Thompson, 10311 Bryson Avenue, South Gate, Calif.

Sirs: Radio is one of my chief entertainments throughout the week so of course, I have my favorite shows. At the top of my list is the Jack Kirkwood show. I really enjoy their nonsense, and I'm sorry their time is so limited. I once listened to daytime serials, but gave them up for on the whole, they are very depres-

Fibber McGee and Molly are favorites of mine, and I also hope "I Love A Mystery" will come back soon. Frank Morgan is the most natural-sounding of all comedians, and a real showman.

R. A. Lambert, 319 West 38th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I would suggest that all who love good organ music tune in on KMPC from 9:05 to 10:00 p.m. every Sunday night. A full fifty-five min-utes of uninterrupted, excellent playing. No commercials to spoil the restful, soothing strains of choice musical compositions.

Elsie K. Coffey, 2222 Hauser Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I used to love radio-but now, I try to find something either really funny or soothing or interesting, and I find very little. Fibber McGee and Molly and Beulah are heartwarming. I also enjoy "Dr. I.Q.," and Phil Spitalny's "Hour of Charm."

Mrs. Nellie Brunskill, 4030 Oakfield Drive, Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Sirs: I recently read your article on "Don't You Believe It." I quit listening to that program long ago. Why should we have our legends and stories that have become a part of our nation's history torn to pieces? It puts doubts in the hearts of our children, and makes them skeptical of everything they read.

I notice the program's writer doesn't want to shatter his own child's faith.

Mrs. J. Dexter Hicks, 73 South Vinedo, Pasadena, Calif.

Sirs: I think the Jack Kirkwood show is strictly off the cob. It isn't even funny. The Danny O'Neill program is really good. That boy has a grand voice and I like the different way that his songs are introduced. I also think it would be wonderful if Ethel Smith had her own program. Almost everyone I know agrees with this. How about it?

Corinne Schafer, Seattle, Washington

Sirs: What has happened to Johnny Mercer and his Music Shop? His former fifteen-minute spot was a "must" to a good many of us and we sincerely miss him. Hope he and the gang come back to the airways

Sorry, the Johnny Mercer crew is not scheduled to return to the airlanes at the present time. If and when it is, we'll let you know,

Lawrence Ferguson, 2297 East Anaheim St., Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Of all the top musical programs of 1944, the series of fourteen San Francisco Opera broadcasts, which were heard over KHJ and the Don Lee network from September 28 to October 29, should take the highest award. As a music lover, I have never enjoyed any broadcasts as much as I did those.

Joan Pfisterer, 335 East Providencia, Burbank, Calif.

Sirs: Here's one "bobby-socker" who has a suggestion for the "Voice," instead of the usual praise. In my opinion, there should be a few changes in Frank Sinatra's new pro-rram. I greatly enjoy his singing, out his poor attempts at comedy low the program down considerably. The guest stars and the vocal numbers are the only redeeming fea: ures, in my estimation. I suggest hat Frankie adopt a show similar to Bing Crosby's-one with more inging and less idle chatter.

Miss M. L. Dailey, 1026 Florida Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: It strikes me the "Fitch Bandwagon" would be lots better with more songs from Dick Powell and less corny humor. This could e a first-rate musical program. Intead, It's a second-rate—or third-ate—comedy show.

Mrs. N. Farrell, 532 South Fremont Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: By all means take Dick 3rown off the air. He is undoubtedly despicable character who commercializes on the hardships and the plood spilled by our fine boys.

This matter is too serious to be aken lightly

Own Despite Arguments Over Everything, Including Who's Playing Straight Man

Wednesday. 7 p.m. Blue-KECA

F YOU think you argue with your boy friend—and you think you argue with your wife—brother, you ain't heard nothin' unless you've heard Niles and Prindle!

They argue anywhere. They argue any time. They argue all the time. They once turned sail boat enthusiasts and even went as far as to enter their boat, the "Vegetable Sloup," in a race. But they never left port because they argued over who was going to wear the captain's hat. And they couldn't decide which way the wind was blowing.

Then there was the time they went Arrowhead for a vacation. They to Arrowhead for a vacation. They didn't see the lake. They didn't see anything but the inside of the ping pong room because they made the mistake of playing one game which led to five hundred. They haven't gotten over it yet—because Prindle won two-hundred-and-fifty Niles won two-hundred-and-fifty.

The only time they don't argue is when they are in the sun. Niles tans but Prindle burns-and so they can't stay together.

The only thing they don't argue about is religion. Says Niles, "We stay away from religion — Prindle stays away from church."

Radio's newest team of gagsters is tickling America's funny bone with the above mentioned competitive spirit. Since their first meeting some twelve years ago they've been rib-bing one another. They haven't stopped-they've just acquired a bigger audience.

First Impression

"So you want to know what my first impression of Niles was, eh?" said Prindle. Carefully looking around, he leaned forward and with his hand to his mouth, answered, "I thought he was a big jerk and still do."

"Eh, what's that bum saying about me?" interrupted his slightly taller partner. "Listen, I picked him out of a gutter and made him what he is today and I'm still not satisfied."

Sitting across from one another in their Hollywood office, Niles and Prindle looked not unlike normal Hollywood citizens. They are of av-erage height with Wendell sporting a few more curly locks than friend Don. Because Niles prefers sport coats and informal shirts, Prindle has labeled him as a "loud dresser."

Believe it or not, their present show is an outgrowth of a "dramer" entitled "Madam Booboo and Serge Pantsky." Prindle was the Madam and Niles was Serge. And it all happened 'way back in Seattle when they first met. Prindle was writing a show called the "Carnival Hour." Niles did the announcing.

But the "Madam and Serge" were shortlived because in 1935 Prindle came to Hollywood to write the Joe Penner show. Niles joined shortly after—"He was a big help," grunted Prindle, "all he did was sleep through the writing sessions."

From there each went his own way, with Prindle becoming one of radio's top gag writers and Niles one of its top announcers. They never gave up hope of having a show of their own. After what they term three "false starts," Niles and Prindle are off at last—in spite of the fact that they're still arguing over who's playing straight man.

Straight Stuff

"So you want to know all about us," asked Prindle leaning back in

"WELL, MAKE UP YOUR MIND, STUPID!" says Father Niles to "Lil' Georgie" Prindle, who probably isn't sure whether he cut down the cherry tree or not. CBS-Ben Polin Photos his chair. "Well you might say that Niles is the tardy one of the team. I've grown gray waiting for this guy to get dressed."

"Yeah," interrupted Wendell, "Don's always on time—except when he's late."

"Umm, we have the same friends," continued Prindle. "Some of them don't count—and that's him—" jerking a thumb at Niles.

"We're good dancers," said Niles.
"You should see him rhumbaing to the waltzes," quipped Prindle.
"Strange he's got no rhythm—used to be a drummer, you know. Believe me it was the greatest brush work since De Vinci. Claims he sings, too, but"—with a shake of his head—
"can't carry a tune in a basket."

"Listen brother, I gave up voluntarily," retorted Niles.

In more agreeable moments, the "mutual irritation society" of Niles and Prindle has a gay time out on the golf course or tennis court. They took up horseback riding but had to give it up when Prindle's horse began losing weight.

When they talk of their hunting expeditions their eyes gleam. Says Niles, "We're trying to make Prindle as manly as possible." A couple of sports enthusiasts from 'way back, they like nothing better than a quick jaunt to Mexico or to their own California ranch.

Niles likes to tell the story about the time Prindle got a little confused and shot his own car. Prindle, it seems, will never live that down. "Yes," solemnly nods Don, "I think you might say Wendell is the better hunter."

In retaliation, Prindle tells about his only time in the air with Niles at the stick. "Uh huh, I've never been up with him since I looked out the wndow and saw the ducks were flying upside down!"

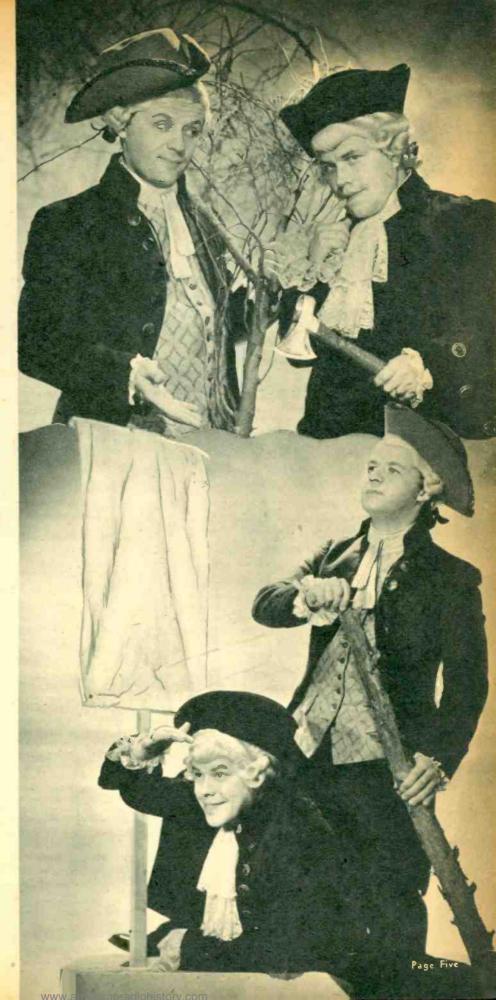

"Oh, you're just jealous because you can't fly," mocked Niles. To date Wendell has several thousand hours in the air and at one time owned his own plane.

The funsters found another thing they agreed upon—food. They love to eat. "I know what it is to starve," said Niles. "I've been to Prindle's house for dinner." Wendell claims Don is a good cook. His specialty is Southern De Prindle—some sort of salad, the recipe of which was never made very clear.

Wishing

Remember the poignant little tune called "Wishing", which the "Princess Snow White" sang in Walt Disney's filmization of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs"? It was Adriana Casalotte who did the singing for the little cartoon heroine. Recently, CBS listeners heard her voice again when she appeared on "I Was There."

Miss Casalotte is still singing the song, "Wlshing", on hospital tours around the country, and a few weeks ago, she and the song performed a miracle. She was singing it at the bedsides of little children crippled with paralysis. As she sang it, she handed the child a picture of the pretty fairy princess, "Snow White".

"Hold the picture tightly, and make a wish while I sing the song," she told each child.

One child grasped at the portrait of the pretty make-believe princess with eager, trembling hands — hands that, one moment before, had been immovable, rendered useless by paralysis! "Snow White" had sung the "Wishing" song again, and a child's wish had come true.

Put the Kettle On

You who heard Mrs. Thurlow read that letter to her son in the Navy on a recent broadcast of CBS' "Meet the Missus" will be happy to know that someone sent her a fourteencup percolator to be forwarded to her boy.

Like the true Americans they are, our sailor lads it seems, treasure their daily doses of coffee. Mrs, Thurlow's son has had several good coffee pots, but, one after another, they've been sent to the bottom of the sea by enemy action. Young Thurlow wrote his mother that, when their ship was hit, the crew exclaimed: "Dammit, there goes our coffee pot!"

Corliss Comes of Age

In the script recently, CBS' "Corliss Archer" assumed the role of "a woman of the world." To meet the occasion, Janet Waldo, who portrays the young serial heroine, arrived for the broadcast wearing high-heeled shoes and stockings for the first time. She's usually appropriately attired for her role in bobby-socks.

Nice People

You're always hearing nice stories about Marian and Jim Jordon ("Fibber McGee and Molly" to you). And it's no wonder we discovered, sitting in on a recent rehearsal. They're just nice people!

For example we noted this. Along the row of NBC dressing rooms, it's customary for the star's name to appear on the first door. But not the Jordon's monicker. It can be viewed modestly hanging on the last while the names of the able supporting cast occupy the first, second, and third doors.

Inside the studio the "McGee" cast grabs a chair, stool or whatever is handy and forms a chummy circle. "Fibber," who laughs loudly at everybody's funny lines, is intent upon his script. "Molly" takes it easy and prefers reading her part as she probably did the first time—"Jim, let's try that the way we did yesterday, huh?"

Shirley Mitchell ("Alice Darling") lives up to her name of "Radio's Fidget Girl" by constantly crossing and uncrossing her legs and pulling at her hair. Marlin Hurt (it's always a shock to hear "Beulah's" gentle voice come from big, manly Hurt) rehearses with his hat on and his pipe clenched between his teeth. He's the only one of the cast who looks dressed up. The others are in slacks or sport clothes.

When lunch time rolls around, Marian might stroll up the street to enjoy a leisurely lunch or visit the beauty parlor. But Jim heads for the "Paris Sweet Shop" across the street. He's crazy about their chicken sandwiches and malted milks.

NEXT WEEK

Radio Life's February 25th issue will offer a diversified magazine for its readers. There'll be a story about "Date with Judy's" young leading lady, Louise Erickson . . . a canary's eye view of Abbott and Costello . . . a profile of Andy Russell, singing sensation . . . an article on "Symphonies for Youth" . . an intimate story on Robert Armbruster, complete with pictures . . . and a sketch on Negro actress Lillian Randolph.

Backstage

Lots of things happen backstage at the Dick Haymes Tuesday airer. Especially when Amos n' Andy are guest stars.

Waiting in the wings for their cue, Freeman Gosden (Amos) and Charles Correll (Andy) were as nervous as a couple of novices. And when their mike stint was over they heaved a big sigh. But they were glad to be helpful to serviceman Frank Fox's pretty wife who was appearing on the show. In one spot Mrs. Fox had to converse with her marine husband via shortwave. And prior to her ether debut, Gosden and Correll were carefully explaining the intricacies of mike technique. Mrs. Fox didn't make a single fluff. Only star Haymes did.

Upon leaving the studio, Dick and a friend were fascinated by announcer Frank Graham's tiny bantam which is always parked at the side of NBC. The friend attempted to pick it up with one hand, but Dick stopped him with a shake of his head. "Huh uh, ya can't do it—" he staggered a few steps backward—"I trled. And look at me now."

"Dr. Christian" Contest

The fourth annual "Dr. Christian Award" contest is now open. Plays for production on Columbia's "Dr. Christian" program, starring Jean Hersholt, will be accepted by the award committee until midnight of March 31.

There will be a grand prize of $2,000 and other scripts selected for use on the program will receive not less than $150 nor more than $350. A board of judges will aid Hersholt and the program producer in passing on the merits of submitted scripts, and decision of the judges will be final.

Contest rules and instructions may be obtained by writing to the program's sponsor, Chesebrough Manufacturing Co., 17 State Street, New York City.

Wild West

It was one of those freak days which Californians enjoy so much. All you had to do was close your eyes and you'd think it was July. Apparently the weather had fooled Arthur Treacher. He could be viewed sprawled on a couch with his head hanging over the edge in his CBS dressing room. His eyes were closed and he was far off into dreamland. CBS employees passing his open door were livid with envy and one soundman on his way into the Jack Kirkwood rehearsal had a diabolical gleam in his eye. And in his hand he had two six-shooters. Yep! He did!

Here Comes the Groom

It was tough on Tommy Dixon, announcer of CBS' Billie Burke program the other evening when, during the Thursday night preview of the show, organist Dick Aurandt surprised him with a solemn rendition of the wedding march. Dixon became a bridegroom the following night.

It was even tougher on him Saturday, when he had to show up at the

Radio Like Lines

By EVELYN BIGSBY

TOO BUSY: One of our favorite radio actors, Mel Blanc, was telling us the other day how busy he's been, skipping from one show to the next with no time out. "I was running down Sunset Boulevard the other noon," he explained, "and was holding onto my pockets to keep my money from jingling. But I didn't have time enough to spend fifteen cents for a hamburger!"

APPROPRIATE: Nelson Eddy's voice coach, who gets a kick out of concocting perfumes, has made up a scent for Shirley Dinsdale's dummy, Judy Splinters. He calls it "Blue Spruce." . . . . .

SMART: Little Norma Nilsson, who has been very air busy for all of her six years, started in school the other day and was jumped from one grade to the next in rapid succession. Last time we heard she was heading for the sixth.

ALONG RADIO ROW: Art Linkletter is still laughing about the answers given him by those high school youngsters. They were frank, in case you missed them, but Art isn't afraid to have 'em on his "House-Party" . . . in fact, he "loved dose kids," especially the girl who said thirty-five was the perfect age because life was practically over. . . . Paul Whiteman was walking down Vine Street in the warm sun and we asked him if he had spring fever. "I called the farm yesterday" (his place in New Jersey) "and they had sixteen inches of snow," he grinned. . . Hedy Lamarr, although expecting a baby, looked lovely at her "Hall of Fame" appearance. She wore a beautiful Chinese coat and black settin Chinese travers. and black satin Chinese trousers. . . . About the most consistently well-dressed feminine star on Radio Row is Gracie Allen. She usually wears black for the show, an afternoon type dress with tiny hat. Her figure is still cute. . . . Spring hit Hedda Hopper, who showed up for her Monday night broadcast in blue crepe and a delirious, but amazingly becoming hat, of bright green maiden-hair fern and pink roses.

Tommy Cook is tickled because Bill Tilden wants to coach him in tennis. . . . Farmers Market Fred Beck, who joined the Navy about a year ago, is now with Armed Forces Radio Service in Hollywood and is writing Dinch Shore's overseas broadcast, "Showtime" . . . KGFJ's manager, Thelma Kirchner, was really pleased by that surprise party the staff members gave her the other night for no special reason except that they like her.

WE'RE UP TO: Stories on several of your favorites. Betty Mills cornered Mel Blanc for an interview the other day, button-holed Harry von Zell and then had tea at Eugenia Clair's lovely home in Beverly Hills. . . . Shirley was able to break down Harlow Wilcox for a yarn and struggled through a zany interview with Dagwood. We enjoyed luncheon with Edgar Barrier at RKO, a trip to Judy Canova's place in the Valley, and a visit with Louella Parsons as she came off the air. You'll soon be seeing something in the magazine about all these personalities.

OBSERVATION: After all those years of Sunday broadcasts, it still seems like the Sabbath when "One Man's Family" members appear around NBC's Corridor. But it's Tuesday, now.

SURPRISED: Mrs. Eddie Bracken was really surprised when the name of her husband's scriptual girl friend came out as Connie, her own name. He did it to surprise her and from her seat, front row center, of NBC's Studio D, she was really jolted. She thought the girl friend, played by Ann Rutherford, was to be called Evelyn.

For the opening broadcast, all the feminine cast members looked very chic. Ann made a splash in green silk with peplum bow in back, Janet Waldo wore a red suit, Cathy Lewis was in purple, and Leone LeDeux, who did the baby cries, was decked out in black trimmed with sequins. Lots of celebs showed up at the party at Ciro's which followed the broadcast. Among them Betty Hutton, Diana Lynn, Robert Cummings, Ann Dvorak, Arturo de Cordova, Marjorie Reynolds, Fibber and Molly, Ed and Simone Gardner, Bonita Granville, Anita Colby.

HOORAY: Radio Lifelines wants to congratulate the Bracken show for giving name credit to all those appearing on the program. We've been campaigning for such credits for a long time and believe they should be given on all big air shows.

Radio

Who is the highest priced singer in the history of radio? I guess it's little 10-year-old Bobby Riggio, infantile paralysis victim who sang on "Truth or Consequences" recently. If you'll remember, the "T or C" emcee, Ralph Edwards, asked listeners to send in dimes to little Bobby for the "March of Dimes." On that program Bobby was asked a question and he missed the answer.

For his 'Consequence,' the boy had to sing "Over The Rainbow." We heard that song and be-lieve us it was simply wonderful. Ap-Ralph Edwards parently a lot of other people thought so too.

At the last count, over $100,000 had been collected and there was more to come.

This story wouldn't be complete without a tribute to Ralph Edwards who has done so much through the medium of radio and his program to help along such things as the "March of Dimes," etc.

The National Broadcasting Company comes in for a share of the glory for making available this program and the sponsor of the show, too. Dial KFI each Saturday night at 8 for weekly adventures into "Truth or Consequences."

Starting on NBC and via KFI, Sunday afternoon at 2 (Feb. 18), Malcolm Sargent, prominent conductor of the London Philharmonic, will wield the baton over the NBC Symphony Orchestra.

Also in this country from Great Britain is the Halle Orchestra and other noted musical ensembles for this series.

A representative list of English works will be included in the Sargent-conducted series on the "General Motors Symphony of the Air."

Yehudi Menuhin will be featured in Elgar's Violin Concerto in B Minor on the broadcast of Feb. 25, and William Primrose in Walton's Concerto for Viola and Orchestra on March 11.

A series we think you'll want to hear is the new program titled "Our Foreign Policy" which NBC will pre-sent via KFI starting Saturday, Feb. 24, to be heard at 4:30 p.m.

The first five or six programs will be under the official sponsorship of the Department of State and Secretary Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., will appear on the opening program.

EARLY START

Alan Young, the Blue Network comedian, was reminiscing about his early days in radio. The comic says he started in radio at such a tender age that the an-nouncer at the station had to change both the records and Alan.

* * DO-NUT LOVER

When austere Basil Rathbone, star of the Mutual's "Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," is at work, he invariably is munching away at a doughnut which he purchases before entering the studio for rehearsal.

* * WONDER CHILD

Bright-eyed Margaret O'Brien works entirely without script. Her mother reads the lines aloud to her, the child learns them in this manner. At the broadcasts, her aunt sits by to act as prompter in case of a possible memory block-but her services are never needed.

* * WARM GREETINGS

Hedda Hopper, who re-ceived gifts from fans all over the United States, says that her most prized present is from a fireman in the East. It's just a card which says that he couldn't afford a real present, but felt he had to drop a line to wish her a "Morro Christ". her a "Merry Christmas."

* * PERFECT ANSWER

Twelve - year - old Ronny Liss, has the key to his penny bank, explaining that if he's due at rehearsal or broadcast and caught with empty pockets, he's always safe. The penny bank yields necessary car fare for the emergency.

SMART GUY

Tuffy Goff, Abner of Lum and Abner, has no trouble at all keeping his script wife's names straight. Reason is his radio wife was named Elizabeth, in honor of the real Mrs. Goff, way back when Lum and Abner first came into existence.

Radio's Newest Comedy Team

nando's being big enough to hold both the Niles and Prindle families. But according to the grapevine, all's quiet on the Valley front. Don, his wife, and their two girls live in a large English farm house. Approximately two miles away, Wendell, his wife and their two boys occupy a Georgian colonial.

The only comment concerning their respective offsprings was — "highly intelligent like their fathers."

"We're dog-in-laws, yuh know," brightly smiled Wendell. "His dog is my dog's mother."

"No, Wendell," patiently said Prindle, "my dog is your dog's brother."

"No, Don," quickly replied Niles, "that's Kenny's dog." (Ken, of course, is Wendell's younger brother.)

Hastening to avoid an inevitable argument, we asked if the team had any picture plans.

"No," grimaced Don, "I think we'd better retire gracefully as radio stars."

"Speak for yourself, Prindle," quipped Niles.

"Are you prepared for television?" we again interrupted.

For the first time we were rewarded with two bright smlles and complete harmony.

"Of course," they mocked in unison, "we're the only handsome men in the business!"

N THANKSGIVING DAY, 1944, "Maxwell House" was freighted with its customary resplendent talent—Frank Morgan, Robert Young, Cass Daley, Carlos Ramirez, Eric Blore, Harlow Wilcox—AND a tall, distinguished-looking gentleman who had a very significant part in the script.

At a given cue while the other cast members looked on in envy and amusement, the td-lg strode up to the mike, settled his broad shoulders and 190 pounds, distended his mouth, AND gobbled like a turkey!

"The pay-off," remarked Bob Bence in speaking of his role, "was that I hadn't had my own Thanksgiving dinner when I gobbled."

But those cognizant of Bence's extensive radio experience and versatile ability know he required no succulent slabs of white meat to produce a realistic gobble. Those who have admired Bob's air activities since 1927 recognize in him a clever thespian, a trigger-quick emcee, and a sonorous announcer. San Francisco benefited by his talents for seventeen of those years. Five months ago Bob finally weakened to the "when you coming down?" queries of his radio pals and moved to Hollywood, where his ad-lib tongue keeps "Rise and Shine" a lively sunrise feature on KHJ and where his animal imitations pull guffaws on many a show. Lately he played a dog on Fanny Brice's program and a horse on "Glamor Manor."

Alcatraz Effect

His sound effects are not limited to fauna. Once in the North he was asked if he could duplicate the wailing siren on Alcatraz. "If you want to pay for it, I'll do it," promptly responded Bence, who achieved the desired effect by covering a piano with canvas, placing a microphone near the strings, clamping his feet on the loud pedal, and himself giving forth with waves of direful hoots.

Bob, who calls himself a "great putterer," is constantly rigging up some unique effect. One of these was a bazooka-type instrument consisting of a length of gas pipe, piece of garden hose, and a radio horn speaker into which he hummed. It was meant to be funny, but he wasn't off 'the air five minutes before one of his buddies telephoned to exclaim: "I didn't know you could play the trombone!"

"Neither did I" responded Bence. "Wasn't it funny?"

"Heck no!" protested his friend, "It was too good to be funny."

Currently, Bence is working on a one-string violin proposition which he plays like a cello. "They call me 'The Magple' because I'm always tinkering. I pick up every nut, bolt, and piece of string I see. It always comes in handy. When anyone wants anything, they tell him to see Bob Bence. I even have handcuffs. Yes, once I locked a man in handcuffs and then discovered I didn't have the key."

That Was It!

And a few months ago he was on the air with "Quiz of Two Cities" before he realized that he had the script for next week's show. "Well," Bob informed his studio and air audience, "there comes a time in every emcee's life and I guess this is it for me. I've got the wrong script and it'll be five minutes before the right one arrives. So we'll just go ahead anyway. The ensuing three hundred seconds were tops in ad-lib brilliance and show merriment.

For Bence is a veteran. Way back in 1927 he ran the "Who Cares?" hour every afternoon on KPO. It was all improvised—no rehearsal, not even the piano. Those were the callow days of radio when an audience response of six or eight telegrams was indicative of colossal success and when the performers' pay was coffee cake and sandwiches after the show.

Becoming an announcer at KPO, he instituted his role of Professor Bob of the morning exercises. "And not from an armchair," he points out emphatically. There followed parts on those well-known favorites,

E SPENT an enjoyable hour with Sid Singer and Jack Bailey one recent afternoon, chatting about their popular CBS quiz show, "Money on the Line."

Sid Singer, writer-originator of the program, says that he literally "dreamed up" the novel show. The scripter keeps an "idea book" beside his bed. He had long been trying to think of a new type of quiz program that wouldn't demand academic knowledge. "I figured people are getting tired of so many brain-teasing quizzes," smiled Singer.

Then, one night after he had gone

Then, one night after he had gone to bed, the thought struck him that almost everybody, at one time or another during his life, has the urge to write a song. He made an entry in his "idea book." In the morning, it took him just three hours to prepare the entire audition script for "Money on the Line"—a quiz show by the program's writer-originator, Sid Singer, who finds an average of three limericks enclosed in every letter. Here, he and emcee, Jack Bailey, look over amusing entry that contained a total of 192 verses!

contestants are chosen from the studio audience just lifteen minutes before airtime. They are interviewed by Jack Bailey, then try to guess rhyming song titles. Sometimes, they have hidden talents and are persuaded to perform.

that simply asks participants to supply a popularly-accepted song title as the last line to limericks sent in by listeners.

Sample Doggerel

Now, after six months of airing, the popularity of the program has proved his point. Singer receives some 1200 letters a week, with an average of three verses in every letter. (One letter contained one hundred and ninety-two limericks!)

Some of the prize-winning rhymes are these:

A certain pen is advertised
With copy very clever.
But just suppose that pen should break

On the Day After Forever.

Paul Bunyan once picked up a cow As if she weighed an ounce, And threw her high into the air Then watched that Jersey Bounce There was a little songbird Whose throat one day went wrong They took his little tonsils out Now he's Without A Song Ever since I swallowed some soap

My friends all call me a dope
And you can bet I'm having troubles
For I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles
When Willia Hill

When Willie Hill Eats his fill The waiter will Give Hill the Bill

It takes Singer four days to read a week's entries. The ones used on the show are selected by an editorial board. The senders receive cash prizes, duplicates to those awarded to the studio contestants who supply the correct last lines. When a contestant misses, the listener who sent in the limerick receives a double amount of money.

Singer has found that seventy-five percent of the listeners who send in limericks are women, fifteen percent are men, ten percent, children. It seems, also, that women write their limericks around the most romantic titles, whereas men will just choose any title in order to write a humorous verse.

How Show Runs

Contestants chosen from the studio audience (fifteen minutes before airtime) to guess the rhyming song titles are interviewed on the air by the show's genial emcee, Jack Bailey. "Actually," Singer said, "the limerick quiz is just a gimmick on (Please turn to Page 31)

BAILEY ADMITS that he sometimes cheats by giving obvious clues when the contestants are servicemen or women. He did so once when the contestant was a two-hundred-and-ten-pound sailor. "I was afraid NOT to," he laughs.

BAILEY WORKS from a skeleton script which merely supplies him with the limericks and the names of the senders. All dialogue is ad-libbed which keeps Jack on his toes. "The folks out front," smiles the genial emcee, "love to see somebody make a monkey out of me."

When Eugenia Baird Would Rather Stay Home and Cook Dinner Than Dress Up and Go Night-Clubbing

UGENIE BAIRD must be the only girl in Hollywood who doesn't like to don her favorite dinner gown and step out to a local night spot for an evening's entertainment. Says this Pittsburgh lassie, "I'm tired of night clubs—I prefer fireplaces."

If you were to catch the twenty-year-old beauty at the old "Kraft Music Hall" between rehearsal numbers, as Radio Life recently did, it would be hard to understand the above statement. Because she is so young and pretty, and apparently likes to dance as witnessed by the lively steps she playfully executed with Bing, we decided to stick around and ask "how come?"

"You'd be tired of night clubs too, if you had spent four years in them, with a couple of Sundays off— may-be," Eugenie pointed out as she comfortably wriggled into a big, easy chair and unconsciously swept

SHE'S NOT KIDDING WHEN SHE SAYS she loathes traveling, evening dresses, night clubs, herself in slacks, and people who think they are putting something over on her.

her long black hair over her shoulders. "I've only been settled for three months but I think the nicest thing about it is sleeping in the same bed every night."

"Of course, singing with the 'Kraft Music Hall' is the most wonderful break in the world. Bing has been marvelous to me," she enthu-siastically said. "He's easy to work with—and thank heavens, we don't have to travel."

Traveling, it seems, is just about the last thing Miss Baird wants to do. Having her own apartment is a new and delightful experience. And she is almost reticent about admit-ting that she loves to keep house and cook her own meals—"People won't believe me."

To Eugenie, it is important that people believe her. She is a very sin-cere person and in her own words is "practical and rather serious." She is tremendously proud of the fact that every luxury she owns was purchased through her own efforts. And she speaks of that car she has always wanted (and which she re-cently bought) with a gleam of pride in her eyes.

As we chatted with Eugenie, we couldn't conceal our amazement at the quiet maturity she displays. During the course of the interview, she relaxed a bit and we saw the real Eugenie. We saw more than a girl of twenty to whom fame and fortune had already come. We saw the beginning of the story—the sixteen-year-old who had eagerly left home. joined a band, and lived on the road while other kids were still slaving over their school-room lessons. It was easy to see why a carefree sense of humor didn't come bubbling to the surface at the drop of a hat.

Before those four years of travel-ing with Tony Pastor, Jan Savitt. and Glen Gray, Eugenie had lived with her family in Pittsburgh. As a daughter of musically inclined parents, singing was inevitable. Mr. Crosby first heard her when she was with the Casa Loma gang. It was after she had terminated her services that he asked her to join the "Kraft Music Hall."

"I wish my family could see my apartment," she wistfully said. The family, consisting of a sister, twin brothers, mother and Daddy, still resides in Pittsburgh Eugenic is very devoted to them an i would like once more to live a "real family" life. She hopes when she becomes more set tled they can join her in California.

Because she has clothed her trim figure in alluring evening gowns for so long, the singer now prefers smart street dresses. "I never wear slacks," she grimaced. "I think I look terrible in them."

"Blue Monday Jamboree," "Happy Go Lucky Hour," and "Hodge Podge Lodge," where he created the popular Brother Bounce, a loud-mouthed guy. But his best-liked character, perhaps, is Soy Kee, the Chinese house boy, whom "Rise and Shine" listeners hear regularly. Bob developed Soy with the aid of his broth er, who travelled in China for thirty years. So true is Bob's dialect that Chinese people clamor to witness his program. Recently an appreciative El Monte fan named her cocker Soy Bence has lived in California all his life. He was born at Bijou, on the shores of Lake Tahoe. His father mined with Marshall and Marshall gave him his gold scales and shot gun which are now in the museum at Sutter's Fort. The Bence family used to own and live in Carey House,-an adobe with iron window shutters-which was the original bank in Placerville.

Turns to Music

In 1914, Bob went to San Francisco, where he had a dance band until 1921, playing drums and bull fiddle himself. Between 1921 and his entry into radio in 1927, he claims he did just about every kind of job in the book. "I'm usually taken for a cop," the six-foot-two, black-haired Bob mused, surprised. "I always carry badges. That's corny,

Although he spent seven years of his life making music, Bence loathes dancing, prefers an outdoor life of tennis, golf, swimming, and riding. He likes to warble in a good baritone, however, and one of his New Year's resolutions was to take singing lessons. Among his inventions was a luminous golf ball to expedite night playing.

Because he possesses a ready wit and considerate nature, Bob, a l-though at first reserved, is invar-iably liked. Conversely, he is a very loyal ally, who says with frank unboastfulness, "I don't believe I've ever let a friend down." His most glaring fault, by his own admission. is procrastination.

Although it has been his lot to draw early morning shows for years, he has never been late for a mike appearance. He sets the alarm for 5 a.m., but always awakens ten minutes before it is scheduled to peel.

Luckily for him, and his tall, brunette wife, Lillian, the Bences found a small bungalow reasonably close to KHJ. He averages five hours sleep nightly. "I'd like eight," he observed pensively. "When I get home from the studio and get drowsy, Lillian kids me. On the air you sounded as if you'd had fourteen hours!'

Both Bob and Lillian like good food, smart clothes, and a wellplanned social life. Mrs. Bence is an expert cook, especially with Italian dishes which her family has handed down. Bob usually buys blue or gray suits which accentuate his hazel eyes. "I go for yellow ties, too. Wow!" he burst out. "Don't ask me my age," he spouted on. "I won't give it to you. But I have the mentality of a seventeen-year-old. Whoopee!", he concluded.

He's glad he moved to Hollywood is wondering about supplementing his air chores with movies. He's been told a thousand times that he'd be swell in the flickers, but so far nothing has happened. Albeit, he's happy with his early morning show, because its ad-lib nature allows so much fun and freedom . . in fact the "Running Wild" theme song of the program neatly sums up Bob's role and the show, Right now he is working on two radio ideas of his own.

But his knack for creating sound effects and characters should not be forgotten. He has stood in front of zoo cages for hours on end studying the animals. So it's inevitable that he took it as a compliment when a script called for the sound of monkeys and the sound effects man protested: "But we have no monkeys or recordings of monkeys." And the producer shot back!

which to hang these interviews that are the most entertaining part of the program." Sometimes, the contestants perform.

Bailey works from a skeleton script, which merely supplies him with the limericks and the names of the senders. There are no prepared jokes. All dialogue is ad-libbed, which keeps Jack on his toes. "The folks out front love to see somebody make a monkey out of me," he told us, adding, "like the time I was hamming up' a limerick (which I love to do, being a 'ham' at heart) and doing a Southern accent. My contestant, a fellow from New Or-leans, called me on it."

But, on the other hand, Jack has sometimes taken his contestant to task. Once, a young fellow stepped up to the mike and Jack asked him, "What do you do for a living?"

"Nuthin'," replied the youth. "I live off my 'old man'." "Alright," laughed Bailey later, after the contestant had correctly completed a limerick, "now, I'll send your prize money to your 'old man. He's the one who needs it."

Bailey has found that men are far more nervous at the mike than women, and civilian men are usually more timid than servicemen about appearing on the show. "Women," he added, "laugh more easily than

Jack admits that he sometimes cheats by giving obvious clues when the contestants are servicemen or women. He did so once when the participant was a two hundred and-ten pound sailor. "I was afraid not to," said Bailey.

But the contestants who find it difficult to supply the winning last lines shouldn't be awed by Bailey's glib tongue. He readily admits that he wouldn't know the answers himself if he didn't have a script.

"We sometimes play the game in the conference room before the show," Jack told us, "and I never guess right!"

Everybody Thinks She's Kidding

She designs most of her wardrobe and complements her olive coloring with vivid shades. Her long black hair is naturally wavy and hangs below her shoulders. And her soft brown eyes have a way of looking directly into yours.

Everything in Eugenie's life falls into an orderly pattern. Every day of the week is set aside for a certain duty-such as Sunday which is reserved for letter writing. She does-n't collect things (another hangover from her traveling days on the road.) And she loves to add new touches to her four-room apartment.

Asked if she had a "fella" she looked up thoughtfully and an swered, "Oh my no! I've never gone steady or been engaged. Don't see anything looming in the near future, either. My career takes up most of my time."

She lists forgetting names as her worst fault and being on time as her best virtue, People who stare at her make her terribly self-conscious and she wishes she weren't so sen-

Living a normal, settled life is a new experience to Eugenie and she wants to make the most of it. And believe it or not, she would rather stay home and cook her own a -ner than go out and eat in the swankiest restaurant.

"I'm a pretty good cook-well, I think I am. Maybe I'm just used to it," she winked. "But to my prejudiced stomach, it tastes best of all."

Ginny Simms had many queries on the piece of jewelry with which she had just been presented. It was a gold pin in the shape of the island of Tarawa. A single emerald marked the spot where the giver, Pat Nerney navy radio-man, was stationed.
