Charles F. Schoener, 6261 1/2 South Hoover Street, Los Angeles 44, Calif.

Sirs: I was surprised to receive so many letters from Radio Life readers interested in the type of program I mentioned in a recent letter to you, which you published. I had written it some time before I listened to "Start the Day Right" with Maurice Hart on KFVB from 6:00 to 7:00 a.m. each day. He gives you the correct time, reads your letters, says "Happy Birthday" to you or your friends, and you will enjoy his wit. I suggest you send him your short poems and perhaps he or Miss Charlotte Davis can be persuaded to read some each day.

I would like to suggest listeners also turn to John Lake on "Melody House" each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4:15 p.m. and perhaps your poems will win you a Majestic radio.

Anne Neal, 2625 March Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I get so tired of the same style of affairs that the serial, "The Strange Love of Evelyn Winters" brings each day. We know she loves her guardian, and he loves her, so why not get her married so we can listen to her marital affairs? Surely all the housewives would like that better than hearing about her going with this boy or that one. Or am I wrong?

I enter "Heart's Desire" every week and never win a thing. Do you know of anyone who ever had their "Heart's Desire" granted?

One lucky individual has her "Heart's Desire" granted each day, five days a week. Winners are chosen on the merits of the desire they express... so keep trying.

Dorothy Sparks, 2053 Eleanor Drive, Glendale 6, Calif.

Sirs: One of my favorite religious programs is "The Voice of Prophecy", heard over Mutual each Sunday morning. I would appreciate it very much if you would give us a story on this outstanding and enjoyable program. I am sure that many others would enjoy hearing the fine speaker and the fine quartet, "The King's Heralds." I shall look forward to hearing more about them. Thank you.

Dee Randall, Sunland, Calif.

Sirs: Last September I wrote to you, asking for a picture and a story about Norwood Smith, whose grand program is heard daily at 3:30 p.m., KECA. He had his first anniversary on the air February 20th, and sang a group of four songs that he used on his first program. I hope you haven't forgotten that you said you would consider my request and that you can comply soon.

Our January 26th issue of Radio Life carried a full story, with pictures, of Norwood Smith. We hadn't forgotten. Guess you were a Miss Dit!

Mrs. L. H. Cook, 3240 McCarthy Drive, Los Angeles 41, Calif.

Sirs: I think Radio Life gets better with each issue. I want to give you a big "thank you" for the Sunday Religious Programs you recently listed. They are wonderful to have.

As for commercials, some of them I enjoy. Others cause me to wonder if the firms advertising think the listeners are morons. They certainly sound like it.

I, too, would like the return of "Those We Love."

ON OUR COVER

Film beauty Jane Russell, a recent addition to Kay Kyser's NBC "College of Musical Knowledge," trained herself for her present radio assignment, as vocalist on "Kyser's College" (NBC-KFI-KFSD, Wednesday, 6:30 p.m.), by singing to the accompaniment of the Old Professor's recordings. So, when it came time for her to audition with Kay's band, she didn't even have to learn their arrangements. She knew them already! Jane is a local girl who made good—and sorry, fellas, she's married. Her husband is football star Bob Waterfield.

Six-Week Citizens

"Dr. I.Q." and His Broadcast Troupe Encounter Touring Difficulties Worse Than "One-Nighters"

By Delle Hunter

Monday, 6:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI-KFSU

RECENTLY, Hollywood's famed Grauman's Chinese Theater underwent once more the elaborate technical preparations (the placement of close to a dozen microphones throughout the auditorium and the installation of some two thousand feet of wiring beneath the floor) required for the several-week series of Hollywood-born broadcasts of NBC's popular eight-year-old air offering, "Dr. I. Q." Movie patrons in attendance to view the theater's current screening were supplemented by throngs of radio fans welcoming this rare opportunity to view one of the quiz show's broadcasts and perhaps to participate in its question-and-answer sessions.

Radio Life took equal advantage of the program's arrival in our city to arrange an interview appointment with "Dr. I. Q." himself, Mr. Lew Valentine. Getting together with him one afternoon during his stay in Hollywood, we found the good "Doctor" to be a sturdy-figured, hearty-mannered youngish fellow who was not at all as one might picture the quizmaster to be. Mr. Valentine explained.

When "Dr. I. Q." was conceived, the brain-child of Texas business man Lee Segall and advertising agency head Will C. Grant, an audition record was cut by the agency's vice-president, Lew Valentine, who had just retired from a long and varied radio career "to get away from the microphone." But when an agency client, Mars Candy, chose the "I. Q." program, Mr. Valentine was drafted into the "Doctor's" role for the initial test broadcast at Atlanta, Georgia. From that experimental starting point, however, the program zoomed immediately to top radio popularity with no time to pause for a switch of quizmasters. So, Mr. Valentine found himself back in radio, although for over a year after assuming the broadcasting assignment, he retained his agency vice-presidential duties as well.

TIME-OUT FROM his radio chores, but "Dr. I. Q." has a "busman's holiday" at a party given in the show's honor. He quizzed air actresses Nancy Gates, Lucille Norman and Barbara Eiler on the location of "Glocca Mora". Looks as if no one agrees.

▲ ANNOUNCERS STATIONED AT STRATEGIC POINTS throughout the audience pass hand-mikes to participants for their answers to the "Doctor's" queries. This white-haired gentleman seems bent on winning some silver dollars—or maybe it's that box of Snickers he has his eyes on.

▲ JOHN STORM DOLES OUT A HANDFUL of silver to this scholarly-looking gentleman who evidently proved that his appearance wasn't deceiving. (Lady in foreground isn't scornful, just flash-bulb shy). "Dr. I. Q." doesn't give contestants hints to make them winners. Audience participants are on their own. Show is educational one, put to classroom use by many schoolteachers.

"You see," he smiled, "our original intention was to get someone who looked more like 'Dr. I. Q.'"

Wrote Soapers

Although Mr. Valentine may be lacking in a physical resemblance to one's mental picture of "Dr. I. Q.," he is well qualified for the role, in view of his long and varied radio background. Starting out as an announcer-singer ("if vaudeville hadn't folded, that's probably where I would have landed"), he worked his way into the production manager's post at WLW, Cincinnati. That was back in 1935, when that station was the origination point of such shows as "Famous Jury Trials" and "Hymns of All Churches" (both of which Valentine directed), and boasted such talent as Jay "Mr. D. A." Jostyn, Jane Froman and many others. In those days, Valentine's radio chores included writing soap operas—"and getting up at four in the morning to trudge miles through the snow to the station for choir rehearsals."

Ever since his acquisition of the "I. Q." role, Lew Valentine has been active in the entertainment field—even during the three years he served in the Army, when Jimmy McClain took over his radio part. In the Aleutian Islands, Valentine appeared in "Dough Girls" (as the crew stage shows at veterans' hospitals. Here, "Dr. I. Q." is at McCormack General Hospital in Pasadena, quizzing Tech. Sgt. Robert Black, whose bomber was shot down over the South Pacific. Veterans like this one especially prize those cartoons of Mars candy bars!

Young Bob Corley Has Journeyed from Georgia to Hollywood Radio to Take Marlin Hurt's Place at Beulah's Side

By Joan Buchanan

Monday, 9:00 p.m.
ABC-KECA-KFMB

GHOUGH Marlin Hurt has been dead for over a year, miraculously he has left his big-hearted gal, "Beulah", to keep us happy and laughing. Twenty-three-year-old Bob Corley from Atlanta, Georgia, has undertaken the role of the beloved "Beulah" and is currently heard carrying on Marlin's great characterization.

Never before in radio has a character survived its creator, and that "Beulah" should be first of all

Bob's idea. As an announcer and entertainer on an Atlanta station, Bob had a program on which he did five to seven voice imitations a broadcast. One of these was the voice of a jolly colored woman. Bob was a great "Beulah" fan and was able to mimic her perfectly. When Marlin Hurt died, Bob wrote to Ken Dolan, head of the agency that handled the "Beulah" show, and enclosed a record of his imitation, suggesting that it would be nice to keep "Beulah" on the air as a memorial to Marlin.

Last August he was called to Hollywood where he auditioned again. He went back to Atlanta and waited. And waited. "I was ready to give up," he smiled, "when the call came through." When we talked to Bob he had been in Hollywood only two weeks.

He admits that his "Mom" back in Atlanta is a little worried about him. "She doesn't want me so far from home," he said. Bob, who is six feet four and weighs two hundred and twenty pounds, looks as if he could take care of himself in any situation. The fact that he found an apartment his first day in Hollywood by merely walking down the street until he came to an apartment house and then going in and asking to rent one, should prove to his "Mom" that her worries are groundless!

Bob's previous network air experience has been much less glamorous than his present assignment. "I was one voice of a two-voice commercial on 'Spotlight Bands' when they were in Atlanta, and Cedric Foster's announcer on Mutual," he answered when we asked about his air background.

Is Aggressive

Though no one in his family has ever been associated with show business in any form ("I come from a long line of audiences," is the way Bob puts it), Bob had been eager to get into radio from his high school

Girl and Boy Next Door

*They Speak Softly Now—
But It Wasn't Ever Thus*

By Eleanor Corrigan

Wednesday, 6-7 p.m.
CBS-KNX-KSDJ

WE USED to shout each other. But these days, the softer we can make it, the better," admit Dinah Shore and Frank Sinatra when they reminisce about their not-so-good old days as a pair of singing hopefuls.

Now top favorites of the Columbia network and stars of half-hour programs, with Frank's show just preceding Dinah's airtel every Wednesday evening, Dinah and Frank are known to their millions of radio listeners as the airwaves' "girl and boy next door." Since their rise to fame, their fans have heard them chit-chat amiably and sing duets many times when they guested on each other's show. But what most of them never heard was the combined Shore-Sinatra program back in 1939, when the chit-chat wasn't so amiable and the duets far from the soft, sweet blends of today.

It all happened this way. Dinah, just out of Vanderbilt College in Nashville, talked her father, the late S. A. Shore, into letting her try for a singing career in New York. Father Shore wasn't sold on the idea of his daughter warbling with a band, so Dinah plugged hard for a radio commitment and wound up with a half-hour daily morning show at WNEW.

A Passaic, New Jersey, merchant sponsored the time slot, and though Dinah's only reward was the opportunity to make herself heard, she was happy about the whole thing. In fact, she didn't even mind when she learned that the station had decided to add a male voice to the program to give it a more romantic tinge.

He Predominated

Dinah greeted the new singer, a lad named Frank Sinatra, with true Nashville hospitality. "But my enthusiasm died," said Dinah, "when Frank got too enthusiastic with his singing. Because he and the sponsor were both from New Jersey, he concluded it was more important for him to be heard than me. Isn't that so, Frank?"

"Aw, now, Honey Chile," Frank said, "I don't believe that was it. Could be I thought that, according to age-old tradition, the male should predominate—so I just went ahead and predominated."

"Maybe so," Dinah said, "but it certainly was a blow to my pride when I'd had the program all to myself and then had to put up with such loud competition—plus the fact that they gave you carfare since you commuted from Hoboken. That landed you in the paid entertainer class, boy. Of course, when the station informed us that our duets were far from romantic and we could go bellow somewhere else, do you remember how we felt?"

"Yeah, we didn't get the word in time, did we? We were so anxious to get our own golden tones right out there in front of everybody that we forgot to give a listen to the combined effect. And what an effect! About as sweet and lovely as Durante's piano-wrecking act—only very unfunny!"

"Despite our sudden exit from WNEW, Frank, I always knew you'd be famous."

"Oh, sure, you were all the time telling me I wouldn't have any trouble getting ahead, on account of my name being Sinatra. You insisted I'd get there, riding on Ray Sinatra's glory, remember?"

"Touché," Dinah said, "and you kept saying, 'Oh, you. You won't have any difficulty either. That molasses southern accent of yours isn't exactly chop-liver, sugar.'"

On that note, it seems Dinah and Frank parted. Friendly, but neither one too sold on the idea that the other would make the grade on merit alone. Dinah went to the Strand Theater, where she appeared with Leo Reisman and his band and, as a result, won a recording contract. Frank joined Tommy Dorsey and made records, too. Dinah's discovery that she and Frank were on the same recording team occasioned the first Shore swoon.

Walking down the hall toward a record-cutting session, Dinah chanced to hear a familiar and pleasing voice singing "I'll Never Smile Again." Dinah stopped dead and whirled around, as thrilled as anyone could be when she realized it was the other half of that former duo of

NEWS and COMMENT

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

There Goes That Song Again

We've decided that radio singers should stop worrying about how they sing and spend a little more time worrying about what they sing. A song like "Managua Nicaragua" isn't such a work of art that we can spend a whole evening listening to various renditions of it!

We've had an uncomfortable feeling about popular songs for quite a while now, but it took the combined efforts of Jack Smith and Perry Como to bring it forcibly to our attention. Twice in the last week singers Como and Smith have duplicated each other's tunes within the same half hour. One was the aforementioned "Managua Nicaragua" and the other, "Old Devil Moon". Both these boys are fine singers with a large following, so far be it from us to urge them to be a little more adventurous in their selection of material. But, after all, if you'll consider how many thousands of popular songs have been penned in the last few years you'll see how foolish it is to go on being "To Each His Owned" and "Open the Door, Richarded" to death. What's wrong with tunes like "Someone to Watch Over Me", "Just Couldn't Say Goodbye", "I'm Through with Love", "I've Got Five Dollars" and "Love Walked In", outside of the fact that nobody bothers to sing them any more?

Help! Help!

We don't want to get involved in an argument about states' rights vs. the federal government. It's way too hot and we've got too much else to do. But we feel as low as a stripped Christmas tree the day after New Year's. All on account of daylight saving time whamming into action this week. It makes West Coast radio logs look like a pan of scrambled eggs. Why can't all the states stick together and either have (or have no part of) daylight saving time, together? An extra hour of daylight here would make for better leisure, better listening, and better dispositions among radio log editors.

Whaddaya Bet

We've long lamented the fact that radio's excellent actors and actresses have so seldom been allowed to showcase effectively their extraordinary abilities on the screen. Even Hollywood's foolish commercial idea that a girl has to be pretty and a man handsome to attain film fame can't be blamed for this oversight. There are a lot of Afro gals and guys who can easily pass the good-looks test and at the same time have more talent in their little fingers than some of screendom's so-called stars. Why aren't girls like Shirley Mitchell, Janet Waldo, Cathy Lewis and Sharon Douglas, and fellows such as Elliott Lewis, Pat Patrick, Tip Corning and Hans Conried being brought before motion picture audiences in the versatile roles they could so skillfully handle?

Attempting to call to mind radioites who have managed to make any headway toward satisfactory screen careers, we can think of but a few—notably Agnes Moorehead and Rosemary De Camp. More recently, we have been heartened to hear that gifted Lurene Tuttle will bow before the cameras in an effective character assignment in "Heaven Only Knows", and handsome Howard "Sam Spade" Duff has now joined the ranks of forthcoming film heroes.

But these are certainly few in number in contrast to the crowded ranks of Afro-ites who deliver so capably on your loudspeakers as many as four, five and six times a day. That their ability so often surpasses that of top flicker personalities is oft-proved when the two join ranks for many of our guest-star-peppered programs. But that Hollywood is still more concerned with a commercial "name" than with real artistry will be demonstrated again—we can pretty safely bet—when the feminine star is chosen for the upcoming screen adaptation of the Lucile Fletcher "Suspense" story, "Sorry, Wrong Number".

It would be just too simple and too smart to bring Agnes Moorehead to the screen in the role that she has portrayed so brilliantly on the radio that listeners have requested that it be repeated four times to date and that she record it in album form for their home phonographs.

Surfeited

It was more than a gag . . . it was truth as bitter as quinine when Al Jolson made a crack on Bob Hope's show. Bob said, "Why don't you get your own radio show?" and Jolson answered, "What! And be on the air only once a week?"

So far, Jolson's popularity, which has engulfed radio like a tidal wave hasn't subsided with dialers. They can't seem to get enough of him. Every time he has guested on a show, he has hoisted the ratings anywhere from 2.2 (with Burns and Allen) to 8.7 on his most recent appearance with Bing. Ride 'em cowboy!

With the exception of Jolson, how-

Something to crow about, if we do say so ourselves, is the Friday night lineup of entertainment on ABC and KECA. Starting with "The Sheriff" at 6:30, and ending with the quiz show that pays off in big money, "Break the Bank", from 9 until 9:30 . . . It's no wonder all wise ears all Friday evening are literally glued to 790 on their dial!

There's Champion Roll Call with ace sportscaster, Harry Wismer, and the headline fight of the week from either New York's Madison Square Garden or St. Nicholas Arena on "Cavalcade of Sports," the adventures of that frontiersman, "Lightnin' Jim" . . . and "This Is Your FBI." Speaking of the latter show . . . here's Stacy Harris who plays the role of Jim Taylor, special agent, in the authoritative radio production. Harris is a recent arrival on the coast, along with Jerry Devine, writer-producer-director, Dean Carlton, narrator, and Fred Steiner, orchestra leader, on "This Is Your FBI," aired over KECA at 8:30 p.m.

ever, there's been entirely too much business of exchanging guest shots during recent weeks. Of course, everybody's interested in winding up the season with sensational ratings and adopts this formula to achieve results. We gave up in dismay the other night: we'd heard wonderful Jimmy Durante on his own show Friday night. Then Sunday he guested on Phil Baker's program. Wednesday, there he was again on Bing Crosby's opus. Suddenly we were very tired.

Everybody, it seemed, was getting into the act . . . on someone else's program.

"The Mighty Casey"

Whether or not you're familiar with the old ballad concerning the Mighty Casey of baseball fame, his further adventures on Mutual's new show provide something in the way of entertainment for nearly everyone whom you may have packed into your home over the weekend.

Casey himself is a big, stumbling, kind-hearted guy with a delivery William Bendix could be proud of, and all the appeal of a basketful of puppies. The object of his affections, widow "Gladys", is a comic of the Brenda-Cobina school, tempered by her love for her son, "Artie" a snide little soul who usually has a hand in arranging the predicaments in which poor Casey becomes embroiled. The suspenseful part of the show is provided by your own wish that poor Casey emerge triumphant. His characterization acts that way on you.

For instance, Artie recently persuaded Casey that "Old Betsy", his time-honored bat, was so worn that "its termites were collecting social security", and that what he needed was a new Greenberg bat. Of course Artie fell heir to "Old Betsy", and too late Casey discovered that Artie's conception of a Greenberg bat meant that endorsed by Horace Greenberg, the local high school baseball idol, and not Hank Greenberg!

Casey's would-be helpful sidekick, the stupid Coomby; his team, the Mudville Sluggers; and other oily-tongued, quick-witted characters brought in to add to the strikes against Casey, add, too, to the honeyed funniness of this show.

Try KHJ at 6:00 p.m. some Saturday, but watch the Junior in your home from that day forward. "Artie" is done well enough to get across with the kids.

"California Caravan"

A blending of the two ingredients history and human interest, in our estimation makes for fairly sure-fire entertainment. "California Caravan" (KHJ-Don Lee, Friday, 8:45 p.m.) is

Ben Alexander

BEN ALEXANDER has gained the title of the busiest artist on radio row. He writes two full shows a day, is emcee on an audience participation program, announcer on a mystery show, narrator on another program, and has just created a new show which he writes. As a sideline, he operates two of the largest filling stations in Hollywood. Ben can be heard on "The Baby Snooks Show," Friday night at 9:00 over KNX.

Frank DeVol

FRANK DeVOL has suddenly become a comedian after years of success as an orchestra leader. Ginny Simms' writers discovered DeVol's dry wit during a rehearsal. Comedy lines were written for him and he clicked overnight in the new role. Three motion picture companies are now offering DeVol contracts — not as a musician, but as a comedian. He's heard every Friday night at 6:00 on the "Ginny Simms Show" over KNX.

Wes Battersea

WES BATTERSEA was in his second year as a law student when he decided to trade courtrooms for radio. Famed dramatic coach Herbert L. Drake heard Battersea pleading a case in a mock court session. He told him, "With delivery like that you should be on the stage, not in a musty courtroom." Wes finally gave up law and entered the field of radio. Battersea is master-of-ceremonies on "Free For All," heard every Saturday at 1:30 P.M. over KNX.

Evelyn Knight

EVELYN KNIGHT has received more honorary titles than any other radio songstress. The Armed Forces bestowed more than 150 honorary titles on her for personal appearances in camps and hospitals. She has appeared on three "Command Performances" for President Truman, and has received the Treasury Department's Silver Medal for her untiring efforts in selling War Bonds. Evelyn is featured vocalist on the "Tony Martin Show," Sunday nights at 6:30 over KNX.

Radio in Review

an unpretentiously pleasant quarter-hour of radio fare brewed of these interesting ingredients. Californians (native or otherwise) should find it of particular fascination, as it dramatizes little-known stories of our state's colorful past, spinning romantically embellished but basically factual tales set in local territories familiar to us all.

Produced and written (by free-lance scripters) under the supervision of Lou Hoizer, "California Caravan's" weekly skits are realistically enacted by familiar Afra-ites (Virginia Gregg, Paul Frees, Hy Averbach and others), with Bob Purcell as announcer-narrator. The program's sponsor is the California Medical Association, which inserts public service-spirited messages which are also of particular interest to this state's residents.

Our criticism of the show is that its musical score, so vital in establishing and enhancing the mood of any dramatization, is "canned" (previously recorded) and resultantly sounds "tinny" and false.

Friend Irma

For months now we've been hopefully eyeing bulletins about the audition of this show, and at last, on Friday, April 11 (CBS-KNX, 7:30 p.m.), "My Friend Irma", featuring Marie Wilson and Cathy Lewis, made its official microphone bow—although, unfortunately, still minus sponsorship.

We feel certain, however, that this comedy series will sell and will be a part of your regular radio diet for a long time to come, so if you haven't yet heard it, do so soon. You'll regard roommates "Irma" and "Jane", and their boyfriends, "Al" and "Richard", as old friends and you'll enjoy being in on their happy goings-on right from the beginning.

The program is expertly put together by Cy Howard, its creator-writer-producer, with musical embellishments by Lud Gluskin and orchestra, and a song insert by The Sportsmen. Best of all, the cast members fit their roles like two pairs of trim, hand-tailored gloves—George Neise as the rich young employer who finds the "wit" of his secretary's roommate (that's "Irma") highly "refreshing"; John Brown as a blow-hard no-good whose ambitious talk meets with only one receptive listener (that's "Irma"); Cathy Lewis as the sensible, indulgent, barbed-tongued young lady who says she puts up with her zany chum (that's "Irma") only because apartments are hard to find; and Marie Wilson as "Irma", the cause of all the hilarity.

It's surely high time that someone did the obviously smart thing in bringing Marie Wilson's inimitable dumb comedy delivery to radio. This program idea, with Marie's rollicking naivete perfectly complemented by Cathy Lewis' smooth interpretation

(she's getting—and very much rates—kudos from every direction for her skilled delivery of laugh dialogue) appears to be the perfect vehicle.

"Museum of Modern Music"

Milton J. Cross is undergoing an extensive musical education at the hands of a group of jazz musicians on ABC's "Museum of Modern Music", heard at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesdays. Milton, that hardy perennial of the opera and symphony seasons, has been taken in hand by the Hank D'Amico band and drummer George Wettling in particular with the purpose of teaching him how to introduce the jazz numbers on the program.

You'll find all this more than slightly reminiscent of the two excellent programs of this type that preceded this edition, "Bughouse Rhythm" and "Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street," with the added attraction of a much better musical crew than either of the earlier series boasted. The Buddy Weed Trio and the Hank D'Amico Quintet alternate between the big band numbers and lovers of their type of music will need no explanation of what to expect. Those who have no great affection for hot music may find some of the band numbers too brassy for their blood, but the Trio and Quintet work is of the quiet, melodic variety. Happily, the bass and guitar in most of the arrangements are audible—a nice departure from the usual musical set-up which manages to wall them in behind the louder instruments. "Stompin' at the Savoy," "Big John Special," "Sweet Lorraine" and similar jazz classics are given a whirl every once in awhile and supply the best musical moments.

A rattling barroom piano plays "St. Louis Blues" behind Milton J. Cross' whimsical announcements and sets a nice mood for the music that follows. And hearing Miltie expound in his best modulated tones such phrases as, "Don't bring me down, man—grab a squat and dig my lingo" will make you realize just how far he's gotten under Wettling's influence. In fact, Milton himself signs off with, "This has been 'The Museum of Modern Music,' or 'The Unhappy Adventures of Milton J. Cross'".

Heaven knows what condition he'll be in for next season's Metropolitan Opera series!

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

"The Big Story"

The glamorous business of being a newspaper man is given another chapter in the new series airing from New York, "The Big Story," heard on KFI, Wednesday nights at seven. Whatever its faults, this series presents this popular American hero type in a much more sensible portrayal than he usually gets in the movies, where, as everyone knows, he wears dirty shirts, keeps a portable bar in the bottom drawer of his desk and spends less time writing stories than he does catching murderers.

Each week a "Big Story" award is presented on the program to a newspaper reporter for "outstanding service in journalism." Then through the narration of Barry Kroeger the listener follows the steps that the reporter took in order to get his "Big Story."

Though the writing isn't too original (sample dialogue from an aging crook: "The doc says I have a bum ticker,") the element of suspense is well retained with the payoff usually supplied by a personal telegram from the actual reporter concerned. The background music is excellent as supplied by Vladimir Selinsky. We were particularly cheered by hearing a rendition of that fine old forgotten tune, "Was That the Human Thing to Do?"

Where the program really takes a nose-dive is in the commercial department. On a show with so much masculine appeal, the commercials sound as if they had wandered over from the "Lady Esther" series, background music and all.

Leave It

Jimmy Durante is a very funny guy. And a very welcome guest on every show he visits. And Phil Baker, quizmaster on "Take It or Leave It" has not missed much that show business has to offer, and is also a very funny guy. So, when we heard that Jimmy was to visit Phil, we made sure we would be by our radios to catch this artistry in ad lib.

From the moment Jimmy stepped to the mike and announced that he wouldn't pick a category, it was fun. Phil said that was o.k., that Jimmy could just answer general questions. Of course Durante blurted out, "General! I don't know nothin' about the army!"

In answer to the sixty-four-dollar question, "What three men contributed the most to music?" Jimmy highlighted his visit with his inimitable rendition of "Toscanini, Iturbi and Me."

Maybe we're the greedy type, but we found ourselves unconsciously putting us in the possible contestants' places, and unwillingly wondering if the comedy, good as it was, wasn't taking up an awful lot of time that otherwise would be spent by some lucky soul taking a crack at that sixty-four dollars. Of course Jimmy walked off with none of the loot. Had he even been answering legitimate questions, he still wouldn't. He's not that kind.

But we took a small neighborly poll, and the result substantiated our conclusion. Breaks our hearts to say it about Durante, but he (and the other guest artists who have visited this show) really would do better to stick to non-prize, non-participation shows. It's like ordering mince pie, then halfway through your treat, having chocolate ice cream substituted. Both are delicious, but you'd ordered mince pie . . . and wanted it all!

On Mike (About Studio Happenings)

Knights' Right

On the May 4th broadcast of the CBS Tony Martin show, Evelyn Knight intends to sing a tuneful little number entitled "Two Little Fishes and Five Loaves of Bread". As the title indicates, it is a melody based on the Biblical incident, Miss Knight's interpretation of this spiritual-like melody will be patterned to the contours of her own particular song styling, but she hopes that any modern improvising she may do will not be regarded as disrespectful of the song's content.

Our own thought is that Miss Knight, who so frequently gives voice to such highly listenable and seldom-heard melodies as this, deserves a nod of appreciation for taking a refreshing turn away from the stereotyped paths trod by so many of today's vocalists.

Off Mike (Personalities)

Long May He Wave

Haywood Charles, the young man who sits on the flagpole on our front lawn, courtesy of "People Are Funny" and the cancer drive, informs us that one of the hazards of flagpole sitting is not boredom.

Conducting an informal interview at the top of our voice we learned from the handsome Haywood that he usually goes to bed between ten and eleven at night and gets up about six in the morning. The first night things were a little more hectic and he didn't get to sleep until two o'clock in the morning.

Meals aren't too much of a problem—he doesn't do enough to get hungry. He does a little exercising to keep in shape and eats one meal a day at seven o'clock in the evening. Breakfast is merely orange juice and coffee and lunch is a sandwich about two in the afternoon.

The heat wave that rocked the city the first few days of Haywood's ascendancy didn't bother him at all. He was already fortified with a tan (which grows darker by the minute) so he didn't even get sunburned. He scorns the umbrella placed on the pole, prefers to get the full benefit of the California sun (how full can it get!)

He says he's met lots of people in the last week and they drop by every once in a while to see how he's getting along. Question most often asked him is "Where are you from?" The answer is Williamsburg, Virginia, which is a far cry from the top of a flagpole in Hollywood, California.

When we wondered if there was anything he particularly missed from a street-level existence, Haywood insisted that he didn't miss a thing. "I like it up here," he shouted through cupped hands, "and I'm willing to stay up as long as they want me to."

Haywood isn't married and hasn't received any proposals since gaining his glamorous spot. "Met some pretty girls, though," he added.

Incidental information we gleaned from him is that he's twenty-eight, six feet and one-half inch tall when he's not on a flagpole, went to William and Mary College and was in the army for two years.

He passes some of his time in reading and occasional singing—usually something by Romberg, Friml or Herbert, we discovered.

He isn't going to write a book about flagpole sitting after he gets down. He claims his first move will be to get a good haircut and then soak for a long time in a nice hot bath.

By the time this is in print, Haywood should have the public address system promised him. Drop around and say hello.

Lost and Found

Remember the way Hal March raved about his beautiful brand-new automobile in the story Radio Life recently carried on CBS' "Sweeney and March?" Well, last Saturday (April 12) we met Hal in the corridor at Columbia Square and he was looking like he'd lost his last friend. His beautiful brand-new automobile had been stolen!

All's well now, though. The University Street police station found the car two days later, its bright beauty marred only by one crumpled fender. The thief was a twenty-two-year-old youth who had tried it before but still hadn't learned.

Contests and Offers

James Abbe, KECA, 7:30 a.m. Monday through Friday. A car a month will be given away for the best entry completing the sentence "I like Fisher's Cake Flour because . . ." in twenty-five words or less. Each entry must contain one Fisher's Cake Flour box top or facsimile. Entries will be judged for aptness and originality. Anyone living in the eleven western states may participate. Address: James Abbe, Box 84, Seattle, Washington. Closing date for first contest: May 31, 1947.

Ted Malone, KECA, 10:15 a.m. Monday through Friday. Ted Malone reads five poems on his program and asks listeners to write to him indicating which poem they prefer. His object is to determine whether romantic, adventurous, intellectual, contented or humorous poems are preferred. He will send copies of the poems to each writer. Address: Ted Malone, American Broadcasting Company, New York 20, New York. No closing date indicated.

"One Man's Family", KFI, 12:30 p.m. Sunday. Tenderleaf Tea offers eight packages of flower seeds containing many new varieties for twenty-five cents and a box top from a package of Tenderleaf Tea. Send with your name and address to Tenderleaf Tea, Box 4, New York City, New York. Closing date indefinite.

"Carnation Contented Hour", KFI, 7:00 p.m. Monday. For free recipe book, Velvet Blend book and Baby Book, send name and address to Carnation Company, Milwaukee 2, Wisconsin.

Fred Waring, KFI, 8:00 a.m. Monday through Friday. For booklet, "Basic Beef Cuts and How to Cook Them", send name, address and ten cents in coin to American Meat Institute, Box 1133, Chicago, Ill. No closing date indicated.

GAGS OF THE WEEK

Jim Elsas, 2812 Rosanna Street, Los Angeles 26, Calif.

Heard on the "Red Skelton" show:
Junior: You hit me, and you broke the teeth . . . you broke the teeth!

Grandma: Don't be silly. How could I break your teeth?

Junior: Not mine . . . Grandpa's. They are in my back pocket.

Mrs. T. Brubaker, 546½ East Verdugo Avenue, Burbank, Calif.

Heard on the "Charlie McCarthy" show:

Ray Noble: Can you guarantee to get me up bright and early?

Charlie: Well, in your case, just early.

Norma Ward, 111 North Lamer Street, Burbank, Calif.

Heard on the Bob Hope show:

A telephone conversation between Jerry Colonna and Bob Hope:

Hope (answering phone): Hello.

Colonna (whispering): Hello.

Hope (yells): Hello.

Colonna (still whispering): Hello.

Hope: Say, Colonna, what's the matter with you?

Colonna: No nickel.

Mrs. Isabelle Noble, 4356 Westlawn Avenue, Venice, Calif.

Heard on "It Pays to Be Ignorant":

Mr. Howard: You should pay your income tax with a smile.

Mr. McNaughton: I tried that . . . but they wanted cash!

Cyril Wiener, 818 South Broadway, Los Angeles 14, Calif.

Heard on Phil Harris show:

Alice: I wonder where Phil is?

Julius: Probably the wolves ate him.

Alice: No, Julius, they never eat their own kind.

PLEASE NOTE:

This week, with daylight saving time going into effect in many states (but not California) radio time schedules are undergoing their annual upheaval. Some programs will be heard an hour earlier here on the coast to accommodate the greater portion of listeners east of the Rockies. Other broadcasts will be transcribed and played at opportune times during the broadcasting day. There seems to be no rule in general. Right up until press time, Radio Life's log editor was busy poring over schedules sent in by networks and stations. Within all human bounds, he endeavored his best to correct logs and Program Finder. We trust his results meet with your approval and help straighten out your topsy-turvy radio world. With an eye to conserving space, no attempt has been made this week to give time changes. You'd better keep Radio Life right on top of your radio for easy reference during the coming weeks.

Close-Up of KSDJ

James L. Graham

(Editor's Note: Elsewhere in this issue, on Pages 36-7, appears an introductory story on San Diego's new CBS-affiliated station, KSDJ. Objectives of the outlet and typical local programs are discussed. The following account, detailed by Mr. Graham, who is also responsible for the photographs of Miss Randy Stuart, gives a more informal picture of KSDJ and its personnel.)

WITH FIVE times the power of any other station in San Diego, KSDJ first filled its collective lungs and aired its well-modulated voice over the ether lanes on—of all days—Friday, December 13, 1946.

Considerably impressed with the shows emanating from this new CBS outlet, Randy Stuart, lovely starlet (formerly with the CBS Jack Carson show) boarded an American Airliner and winged her way southward to investigate KSDJ personally.

She found there an organization functioning with the efficiency of an atomic bomb and the unity of a loyal family.

Deane Long, glib, jovial production chief, was the first to greet Randy as she stepped from the elevator.

They sat down to discuss the interview which she was to give on Long's "1170 Club" show. Midway in the talks, the red sweep hand on an electric clock across the room approached another jumping-off point and Long bolted, leaving behind him as clever and witty a cohort as any production chief ever found: Dan Cubberly, complete with bow tie, horn-rimmed glasses, and an unusual understanding of things radio.

There was still a little time before the "1170 Club" went on the air, and although a radio station's commodity is time, there never seems to be enough to go around. So when Randy and Dan found some precious minutes to spare, they embarked upon a tour of the spacious studios, picking up, en route, the man responsible for and subservient to quality, Ed Tidwell—KSDJ's veteran program director.

Tidwell is a veteran in all senses of the word. He came to KSDJ backed with experience gained under some of the most difficult circumstances. A veteran of five years' Army service, he was discharged with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He served thirty-seven months in the South Pacific, partly in the 41st Infantry Division and later as radio officer in charge of the Armed Forces Radio "Jungle Network." As a member of General Douglas MacArthur's special staff, he installed radio stations from New Guinea to the Philippines, rated a Combat Infantry Badge and the Bronze Star Medal. It seems a little superfluous to mention here just how much the Jungle Network meant to our men in the Pacific area. The fame of that chain has been affirmed far more effectively by the men who listened in during odd moments when a radio was available. Prior to his Army service, Tidwell was production manager for KGB, another San Diego station.

Into Studio

Graying slightly at the temples, tall and a little on the lean side, with serious, penetrating eyes, Tidwell laughed when Randy Stuart and Dan related a gag they had cooked up for the "1170 Club" program. That old red sweep second hand on clocks all over the station approached another jumping-off point again and the little party dashed into the auditorium just two strides ahead of your reporter.

Deane Long and Dan Cubberly, who together write and produce the show, went into their routine designed to wring the last laugh and cackle from the predominantly feminine audience of three hundred and fifty which attends this daily fun fest. For a while they quizzed, joked, and passed out gifts to the housewives. Then they brought in Randy.

The highlight of the interview was Randy's first public announcement of her marriage to Ed George of Santa Monica. She also related how, when Frank Sinatra appeared as a guest star on the Carson show, she had looked forward to the event as a means of seeing, for herself, "just what makes the hobby-soxers swoon like they do." She said, "Frankie was scheduled to sing, and then my line was to be 'Oh, Frank, that was wonderful!' I sat there, listening to him sing. Then as he neared the end of the second chorus, I walked to my place at the microphone to wait for my cue." She chuckled a little as she recalled it. "The applause died out—time for my line. I didn't say a word. I was speechless. Frank nudged me back to my senses just in time to avoid a major disaster. I guess that proves that Frank is really a great artist!"

Accompanied by photographer Larry Miller (incidentally, his baby daughter is named "Randi") and steered by Lisle Shoemaker, public events director, Randy then visited Mike Gould, who is general manager of KSDJ. Mike is a quiet, unassuming executive who has been in radio for fourteen years, the last ten with station WFBR in Baltimore. He left the Gould & Kuff Advertising Agency, Baltimore, to take over managing chores for Clinton D. McKinnon, owner of the station. Like Tidwell, Gould was recently discharged from the Army a lieutenant colonel. At that time he was chief of the Broadcast Service Section of the Armed Forces Radio Service in Los Angeles. Prior to that assignment, he established and operated seventeen AFRS stations in the Pacific, which were dubbed by grateful GI's the "Mosquito Network."

Earlier the same day, while breakfasting at the U. S. Grant Hotel, Randy had noticed a column in the "Journal" which attracted her attention, and which was written by Forrest Warren. Chiefly, the column seemed to be devoted to securing relief for some of the more unfortunate families in San Diego. Randy wanted to see Warren.

He had just been visiting the county relief agency, scanning its rolls for outstanding cases of need. Family No. 2 attracted Randy's attention. It consisted of a mother with eleven children, deserted by the father; the circumstances Warren described were indeed bleak.

We found Warren's office in the Journal Building strewn with gifts which had been sent in by his faithful readers for the families he wrote about. He told us that he had received unbelievably large amounts of money destined for families which were identified only by a number in his columns. It was clear to me that Randy and Forrest had things to talk about and so I left.

Soon Randy came from his pleasant, small office. She wore a soft, warm smile.

Forrest Warren, a short, rotund, pleasant little man in his fifties, perhaps because of the humanitarian work he has always been associated with, resembled old St. Nick without the beard.

Be that as it may, we think he is the embodiment of the goal which KSDJ has elected to achieve. "The Voice of the San Diego Journal" will indeed articulate with a heavy accent on public service.

BERGEN PREXY

The newly-formed Academy of Television Arts and Sciences Bergen recently elected NBC star Edgar Bergen as their first president. He will serve for six months. The choice was by virtue of unopposed nomination. Bergen's long interest in television also resulted in the completion of a suite of modern video studios in his building on Sunset Boulevard, Hollywood.

DUFFY A BIRD

There's a new sea-going mascot acting as caretaker on Ed "Archie" Gardner's yacht when Ed, the star of NBC's "Duffy's Tavern", is away at the show. This mascot is a Galapagos island penguin, obtained by Ed on his recent visit to Florida, and naturally the bird's name is "Duffy."

ROY ROGERS, DESIGNER

Western singing star Roy Rogers finally decided that formal events do come up that demand full evening dress, so conceived a sketch for a cowboy tuxedo. Black serge, satin lapels, but cut in true western fashion. He'll top the costume with a black western hat.

REAL STORIES

Bob Garred, dynamic young CBS newscaster and four-year Navy combat intelligence veteran, is one of the most sought-after speakers for the high school students of the many schools in the hundred-odd cities and communities of Southern California.

WHICH TO SMOKE?

CBS' Frank Sinatra has just received a fan letter from Sofia, Bulgaria, requesting an autographed picture and several recordings. In exchange for same, wrote young Dimiter Siberski, Frank can expect some oil of roses and Bulgarian cigarettes.

SWEET SALESMANSHIP

When Fanny Brice was twelve years old she got a job in a candy store so she could eat candy all day long. A brilliant stroke of salesmanship occurred when Fanny found stacked on a shelf a very long penny stick of candy that children left unbought in favor of sacks of candy. Fanny cut each stick into sixteen pieces, wrapped each in tissue paper and sold them!

REAL COWBOY
 Joel McCrea, who recently starred in the western saga, "Smoky", on CBS' "Lux Radio Theatre" is right at home in the saddle in real life as well as on the screen. He arrived at "Lux" rehearsals in full cowboy regalia, from his three-thousand-acre ranch just north of Hollywood. Joel explained that during round-up time on his ranch, he's just another cowboy.

 KXLA 12:00-5:00 a.m.
 TUESDAY THRU SUNDAY

BECK'S BAG
 CBS' early morning columnist of the air, Fred Beck, has invented an avocado picker. It's a long aluminum pole with a bag on the end. You reach up, hold it so the avocado will fall into the bag—which it does unless you miss when you pull the string that releases the knife blade that snips off the avocado! Now Fred wants to convert it into a clam digger.

V-8 CALYPSO STYLE

Because of the tricky rhythm and rhyming of calypso singing, Sir Lance-lot, famous Trinidad Calypso singer heard on the Ford show every Wednesday, has been given a free hand in composing the delightful commercials he renders during the show.

VERSATILE

Phil Baker, of CBS' "Take It or Leave It" renown, has been a vaudeville comedian of headliner proportions, a stellar night club attraction in both New York and London, and a musical comedy star. He has been in several successful motion pictures and also appeared on the legitimate stage in "Idiot's Delight" in the role Alfred Lunt created for Robert Sherwood, the author.

FOR MEN ONLY

The "Crew-cut Club", its purpose being to induce men to wear crew haircuts for comfort, has been formed by charter members Peter Lind Hayes of CBS' Ford Show, and Garry Moore, Jimmy Durante's sidekick. Honorary memberships will be awarded to Edgar Bergen and Jimmy Durante if they can have crew-cut toupees made for them.

MAESTRO TO MAESTRO

KECA's Sammy Kaye has just acquired the personal music library of Isham Jones, famous bandleader, now retired. One of the many hit tunes Jones wrote, "No Greater Love", is currently being revived.

'MELODIES AMERICA LOVES'

Beginning next Tuesday, "Melodies America Loves" will be heard over KXX one hour earlier. The new time is 6:30 p.m. Tuesday's concert features Eula Beal, prominent Southland contralto with the orchestra conducted by Earl Towner.

LEWIS JAZZ HISTORY

Elliott Lewis, winner of Legion of Merit for Armed Forces Radio Service chores, is narrating thirty-three discs telling the history of jazz music. He continues appearances on NBC's Harris-Faye show as Frankie, the guitar player.

ANOTHER DRAGON BALLAD

"Another Day Goes By", romantic ballad written by Carmen Dragon, with lyrics by Jack Brooks of "Ole Buttermilk Sky" fame, will soon be published, and will be on the nation's stands about the middle of July.

MOTHERS' MR. ANTHONY

Impressed by Jack Barry's success in handling children on Mutual's "Juvenile Jury" Sunday afternoons, mothers throughout the country write asking for advice about troubles with their offspring. None realize, of course, that Jack is a bachelor and has no children of his own.

YOUNG MAN'S FANCY

Spring has turned the thoughts of NBC's Bob Burns, and he is spending all of his spare time aboard his boat, fishing.

RECORD NOTES TO YOU

By ANDY MANSFIELD

- 1 note—no
- 2 notes—maybe
- 3 notes—yes
- Chord in G—tops

OUR COMMON HERITAGE

With stars such as Bing Crosby, Brian Donlevy, Walter Huston, Fredric March, Agnes Moorehead and Pat O'Brien reading great American poems commemorating milestones in our country's history, here is really something different and outstanding in record albums. Poems that we used to recite in school, like "Sheridan's Ride", "Columbus", "O Captain, My Captain" and "Old Ironsides", take on a new and bigger meaning. . . . in fact, the sixteen sides in the album are almost a condensed history of America by its great poets, covering the time from its discovery by Columbus through the Civil War period. Particularly outstanding are Fredric March's "Paul Revere's Ride" and Agnes Moorehead's "Nancy Hanks", while the original musical settings by Victor Young and Lehman Engel, as well as the forty-eight page booklet of explanatory notes by Louis Untermyer, add immeasurably to the warmth and beauty of the presentation. Anyone who has any doubts about the future of America should listen to the masterful interpretations of these poems by these great artists—for "Our Common Heritage" is truly inspirational and easily rates a magnificent Chord in G!

(Decca A-536).

ANDY (and DELLA) RUSSELL

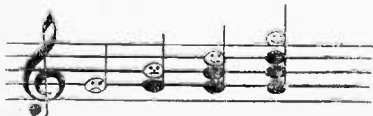

Andy and his missus have a very listenable side in "Unless It Can Happen with You" . . . especially on the repeat chorus with its special Mr. and Mrs. lyrics . . . Reverse has Andy soloing "Dreams Are a Dime a Dozen" for a good 3 notes. (Capitol 386).

VAN JOHNSON

Cutting his first sides as a vocalist, Van offers "I Wonder, I Wonder, I Wonder" and "Goodnight, Sweetheart" backed by Sonny Burke's Orchestra . . . He hasn't a great voice, but it has warmth and sincerity—and when he says "Good night" on the second side, you gals will love him . . . uh-huh. 3 notes' worth. (MGM 10018).

PHIL HARRIS ORCH.

When Phil does a tune like "Pray for the Lights to Go Out", he's a minstrel man at his best . . . and couple that with the fast-tempoed "If You're Ever Down in Texas" (complete with southern drawl, v'all) and you've got one of Phil's top 3-noters. (RCA-Victor 20-2207).

Shore and Sinatra. "And he sounded terrific," Dinah said.

Reunited in Hollywood

Frank had the same opinion of his erstwhile feminine partner when he caught her recording of "The Breeze and I" and decided that the little Shore gal was really going places. Both had really gone places before they found themselves singing together again on an AFRS Command Performance in Hollywood in 1944. From then on, they were only too glad to exchange guest spots on their air shows and sing duets, too. "But soft," Dinah said, "is the music we make today. We're taking no chances on being termed an unromantic pair again."

Since Dinah and Frank record exclusively for Columbia, they have many opportunities to make notes on each other's voices. And what do they think?

Well, according to Dinah, it's impossible for Frank to sing any song at all and not feel it. It doesn't make any difference, she said, whether he's been vocalizing for hours and is tired or if he's fresh and rested, his melodies always have meaning. She also considers his voice quality excellent and his phrasing perfect.

Frank allowed as how he can go overboard any time he's queried about Dinah.

"There's nobody who can sing a fast tune like Dinah, and when she chooses a ballad—it's as sweet and soft as the jive song is groovy. Her tones are full and deep and her style is so individual that she can make any song sound good. In fact, I kinda like the gal and my 'verce' has a definite affinity for hers . . . so the more often we duet, the better I like it."

"But," Frank added, "I still maintain that southern charm wasn't exactly chop-liver."

"And," Dinah rejoined, "that name Sinatra didn't hold you back either, Frank."

Six-Week Citizens

hotel manager) and in "Kiss and Tell," and conducted quiz sessions for his fellow servicemen. Later, he toured with Dashiell Hammett, writing and lecturing for the morale division.

Today, he continues to entertain servicemen, by taking his "Dr. I. Q." show into veterans' hospitals between broadcasts.

He laughs about people who say to him, "How lucky you are—having to work only thirty minutes a week!"

Smilingly, he related the difficulties of touring with a radio show which camps in each city for six-week periods. "I've done one-night stands," he told us, "and believe me—this is worse. Six weeks gives you just enough time to start wanting to stay where you are. That is, if to begin with, you can find a place to live! We're not permanent tenants and at the same time we're not exactly transients, so nobody wants us."

Colonial Group

There are three families who travel with the "Dr. I. Q." troupe—Lew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Anthony (the program's announcer), and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Flaig (promotion manager for Mars).

The Valentines' permanent home is in San Antonio, Texas, but Lew seldom sees it. "Once," he recalled cheerfully, "when I hadn't been home for five years, the Mars people gave me a Christmas present by having the show staged in San Antonio for a few weeks. It was wonderful."

The Valentines have a nine-year-old son, Gary Lew, who tours with them during the summer, staying in San Antonio for school the rest of the year. "He understandably gets annoyed about my being on the road all the time," Lew related, "and he isn't at all impressed about my being on the radio. In fact, when he once suggested that I stop traveling and come home, and I explained that I couldn't because I had to be 'Dr. I. Q.,' he answered with abrupt frankness, 'Well, they got somebody else before, they can get somebody else again.'"

Beulah, the Second

days. After graduation he took a job operating a printing press at twelve dollars a week, and haunted the local radio stations in his spare time. He took an announcer's competitive examination on one station and though he didn't win, an executive from a Cedartown, Georgia, station expressed an interest in him. Tired of waiting for the promised telephone call from the executive, Bob called him about an announcing job. When he asked Bob how much he was making, Bob bravely upped his salary to sixteen dollars a week. "Then he asked me if I could write continuity. I said yes, and he hired me. So I called an Atlanta station and asked, 'What's continuity?'"

They told Bob, and as part of his new job, he wrote it. It's as simple as that. You can see how Bob would be the only man in Hollywood to discover that the simplest way of getting an apartment is to ask for it!

Bob's Southern accent is very slight. Realizing that to make good as an announcer he would have to eradicate any accent, he made a list of the words that he knew he was mispronouncing. "I put down words like 'tin', 'gii' and 'Michigan' and then learned to say 'ten', 'get' and 'Michigan'" he explained. "But occasionally Ah still crop up with a wrong one," he drawled.

BELOVED BY RADIO LISTENERS is Bill Hay, whose reading of the Scriptures evokes thousands of letters from appreciative listeners.

KMPC

THE MAN who "Reads the Bible" on KMPC is Bill Hay.

For the past nineteen years, Bill Hay has read the Scriptural passages of the Bible to radio audiences in Chicago and Los Angeles. The script for these radio broadcasts is a leather-bound edition of the King James version of the Bible, which Mr. Hay has used since the inception of this program. A record of the various Biblical stories and passages quoted throughout the years is maintained on the Bible's margin so that Hay rarely repeats himself unless specifically requested to do so by his listeners.

There is no stringent outline for the daily broadcasts. Biblical stories are selected from either the Old or New Testament or both, or an entire Psalm or story may be read. Bill Hay does not interpret any of the Bible stories, but reads them verbatim.

The theme for this program was conceived in Chicago during the summer of 1928 over WGN as a summer replacement show. Because of the astonishing response to this kind of program, it became a regular feature of the station's schedule. From 1928 until 1937, Bill Hay "read the Bible" for midwestern listeners on stations WGN and WMAQ.

The Bible on the Airways

*The Scriptures, Read by Bill Hay,
Have Brought Solace to Thousands*

By Betty Hudson

He moved to California in 1937 and five years ago convinced Forest Lawn Memorial Park that this program was ideal for its requirements. It has been under continuous sponsorship since 1942 and has been broadcast on KMPC since last summer from 12:45 to 1:00 p.m. The popularity of the program is evidenced by the thousands of letters which Mr. Hay receives from listeners who experience spiritual encouragement from his reading the Bible.

Tremendous Background

Born in Scotland, Mr. Hay had no presentiment that he would carry the Bible message to millions in the United States. Educated at Dunfries Academy in Scotland, he sailed to America in 1909 and made Chicago his initial home. From 1909 to 1921 he resided in Chicago and then moved farther west to Hastings, Nebraska, and became a staff member of KFKX, learning the things that make a radio station function, such as announcing, programming, music and office procedure. He later returned to Chicago and became general manager of WGN for two years, then commercial manager of WMAQ from 1929 to 1936.

A great fan of "Amos 'n' Andy", and a co-worker for many years, Bill Hay decided to come out to California when their show was transferred to the West Coast. He remained with them as chief announcer until five years ago, when he introduced his "Read the Bible" program to Los Angeles listeners.

During his residence in Chicago, Mr. Hay met his future wife while he was singing for a professional church quartet for which she was the accompanist. They have been married for thirty years and are now confirmed California enthusiasts.

To further carry the message of the Bible, Bill Hay made two record albums of "Transcriptions" in 1945, which consist of Bible readings. These recordings contain popular Bible stories such as the story of Adam and Eve; Story of the Creation; Abraham and Isaac and the Song of Solomon.

Extremely interested in athletics, Mr. Hay schedules much of his available time to participating in some sport. His most dominant interest is lawn bowling and he is international president of the American Lawn Bowling Association and president of the Southern California

▲ "THIS IS HOW THE PROGRAM LOOKS WHEN WE'RE ON THE AIR", Sherlee told us. Sherlee loves "Mr. C.'s" voice and listens attentively to his every word. She claims to have learned much from Hoagy's singing and line reading. Her secret ambition is to sing, too.

Sunday, 1:30 p.m.
CBS-KNX

LET'S talk about my boss", suggested pert Sherlee Turner. Sherlee's "boss" happens to be a certain Hoagy Carmichael, to whom she plays secretary on his weekly radio series—and what better spot could you find for a Carmichael fan? "Cause, golly, I haven't done very much," she added. "Have you heard his new song, 'Ivy'? No? Oh, you'll love it! And wait until you hear his newest one, 'The Old Man's Sleeping'. It's just darling!" Which should give you an idea of Sherlee's enthusiasm for the talents of the guy with whom she trades banter every Sunday afternoon.

Like everyone else from Indiana, Sherlee's been a Carmichael fan since she can remember — Hoagy's the number one favorite Hoosier son. Sherlee won the air spot over dozens of other aspirants, however, not because she was a fellow-Indianian, but because of the warm, chatty quality of her voice.

Most fan letters sent to Sherlee ask for her picture—people want to see the face that goes with that voice. To say that they're not disappointed is a masterly understatement. Sherlee's peaches-and-cream complexion, big brown eyes and mass of shining brown hair add up to a piquant appearance that matches her air personality.

When Sherlee bemoans the fact that she's really "done nothing" in radio, she paints a very dim picture of what is a very bright career for one still in her very early twenties.

"No" Becomes "Yes"

At fifteen she decided to go into radio. So, matter-of-factly, she went to station WLBC in Muncie, Indiana, and presented her idea of an air show. Though the first answer was "no", Sherlee hung around until, after an audition, the answer changed to "yes". Every Sunday afternoon she dished out fifteen minutes of Hollywood gossip and philosophic wisdom for the younger set.

After a year, station WIRE in Indianapolis invited her to do a fifteen-minute spot called "Mostly About Hollywood". The next step was as impresario of a half-hour program, "Sub-debia", a variety show featuring a band and visiting celebrities.

All this sandwiched in between classes at Shortridge High School and later Northwestern University! When we asked Sherlee if she still called this "doing nothing" in radio, her wide-eyed comment was, "Now, how in the world did I talk them into all of that!"

THIS COMELY "QUEEN for a Day" turned out to be quite an accomplished songstress—so Pearson (Fort, that is) and Bailey (Jack, that is) joined her on the show to make it a trio. The girl is Donna Keeter of Ogden, Utah.

I THINK almost all announcers are disappointed singers," smiled Fort Pearson. "At least, it seems that way, and I'm no exception." Top air spieler Pearson first started in radio as a singer, on a Shreveport, Louisiana station. "Now," he concluded, "I sing only for my own amazement."

His musical aptitude even led him to a period of involuntary violin playing as a child, but is today confined to a relaxed position near his radio-phonograph, where he listens in contented inactivity to his pet musical programs and prized Bix Beiderbecke waxings.

Nevertheless, his singing assignment at a microphone led to a good deal of activity in the realm of radio—a busy career which is now well into its second decade.

It was in Chicago, on NBC, that Pearson's progress gained real momentum and made Fort's pleasing voice and easy manner at the microphone familiar to every dialer. During the ten years he was located there, Fort Pearson was prominently identified with such popular Windy City air offerings as "First Nighter" (with Don Ameche), "Beat the Band" (with Ted Weems, Perry Como and Garry Moore), "Fitch Bandwagon," Alec Templeton, and the Irna Phillips daytime serials. In addition, football fans throughout the country soon became familiar with his smooth sports announcing as, with such fellow sportscasters as Graham McNamee and Bill Slater, he related with speed and clarity the thrilling details of gridiron classics.

Inconspicuous Start

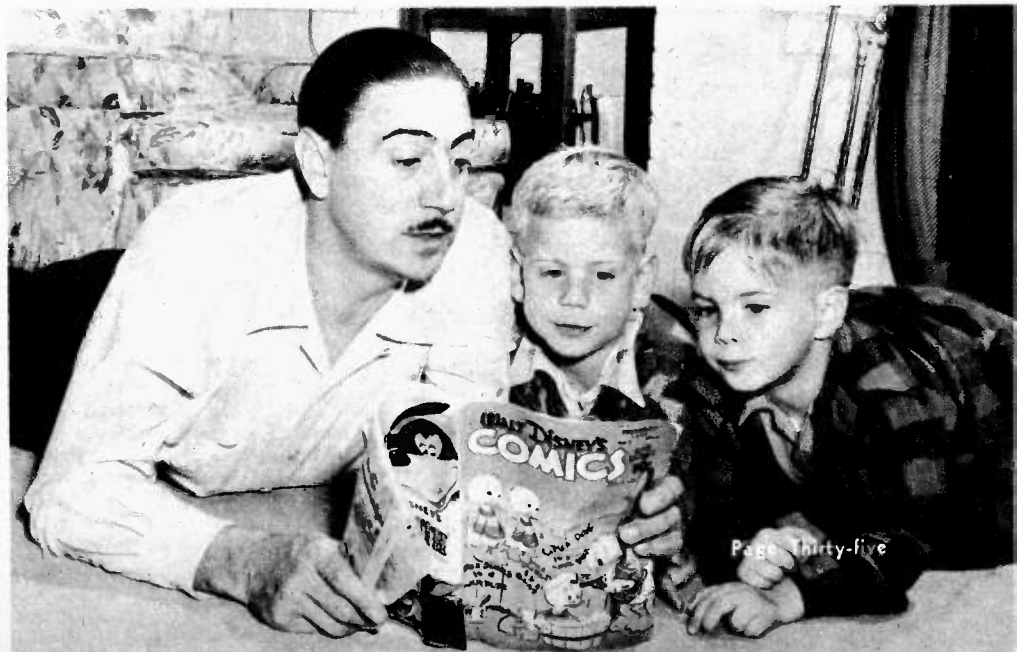

In this vein, Pearson recalled two amusing memories. One was concerned with his initial assignment to cover a football game in Texas. It was a clash between Rice U. and Arkansas, and Fort was relating it in great style until the moment that the paper on which were written the names of all the players, was somehow lost. Pearson was left with the ticklish task of giving an accurate play-by-play account of the game's action in spite of the fact that only two of the players were known to him. Somehow, he surmounted this somewhat overwhelming handicap, and this calamitous broadcast marked the start of a notable sports-casting career that later included spicing stints at the Indianapolis race meets.

The other amusing incident Pearson recalled for us concerned the day he first met and worked with his idol, Graham McNamee. Introducing him on the microphone, McNamee gave him an elaborate verbal build-up, then turned and asked bewilderedly

POWER BEHIND SAN DIEGO'S new Columbia-affiliated station is Clinton D. McKinnon, energetic publisher of the San Diego Journal and owner of KSDJ.

Introducing KSDJ

*San Diego's Newest Radio Station
Is CBS Affiliate, Dialed at 1170*

"Junior Town Meeting" are originals in San Diego and help in realizing a well-rounded radio service for the community. The station's CBS affiliation has made it possible for network shows to be heard more effectively by many owners of small sets.

Guiding the programming are two radio veterans: "Mike" Gould, general manager, and his right-hand man, Ed Tidwell, program manager. Gould has a background which includes station, agency, and operation of seventeen AFRS stations in the Pacific, the Mosquito Network. He also served as chief of the Broadcast Service Section of AFRS in Los Angeles. Tidwell served as radio officer in charge of AFRS' Jungle Network and was also on General Douglas MacArthur's special staff. Both men held the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Programming of KSDJ has been no haphazard affair. With an eye to DAN CUBBERLY, staff announcer, defied Friday the thirteenth in every possible manner, still has made success of "1170 Club", which he co-emcees with Deane Long.

WE GUESS they can just about do anything they please down in San Diego's KSDJ — walk under ladders, spill the salt, bust all the mirrors, and ignore coal-black cats who wander across the pathway.

KSDJ, you see, flaunted superstition by taking to the air on Friday, December 13, 1946. Its 5000 watts are now going greater guns than ever and its 1170 kilocycles have fast become a popular dialing spot for San Diegans.

A little digging around below the surface of things routs out plenty of reasons for KSDJ's success. First should come its owner, Publisher Clinton D. McKinnon, a thirty-nine-year-old, diminutive Irish power house of personality. Starting less than ten years ago he, alone, built a fine newspaper, the San Diego Journal. When his KSDJ took to the air, he topped his spectacularly successful journalistic empire with a radio empire which might well be the pride of a generation of builders.

Following McKinnon's ideas, KSDJ set its course to become indispensable in public service and entertainment to listeners of its locality. Its ultimate realization is to be far and away the outstanding instrument for community service in San Diego.

Wide Appeal

Another factor aiding the station's growth is its studio theater which makes it possible to offer such audience participation shows as the "1170 Club" and "What's the Word," programs of a type San Diegans have long wanted. Furthermore, the station's 5000 watt power and "Home on the Ranch" have given KSDJ many regular listeners among the city's rural population. Three weather reports are also an added service of KSDJ.

"Civic Center Reporter" and

WOMEN'S EDITOR, Sally Dean, is "Aunt Sally" on the Saturday morning kiddie talent hunt, "Junior Talent Revue". In real life she's Eleanor Kennedy.

Diego City Zoo and KSDJ. Heard at 9:30 p.m. every Tuesday. Has an "Information Please" set-up without the idea of trying to stump the "experts." San Diegans send in questions about the zoo itself and about the animals, and Ken Stott, C. B. Perkins, and Jacqueline Schermerhorn give them all the answers. Stress is, of course, on items that are of most interest to the layman. The aforementioned persons are heads of the different departments of the zoo.

"1170 Club"—Audiences are growing daily on this across-the-board week-day program heard at 10:30 a.m. This audience participation show uses both the studio audience and the listeners — the latter are contacted by phone while the show is in progress. Prizes are given daily by the sponsors. The ladies love it—which is due in large measure to the crackling, pace-setting atmosphere created by Dan Cubberly and Deane Long, co-emcees.

"Junior Talent Show" — New radio show for San Diego. Gives kiddies twelve years old and under a chance to exploit their talent and win a prize. Produced every Saturday at 9:30 a.m., starting February 15. Program sponsored and prizes given by Boldrick's Fine Shoes, San Diego. Auditions are held a week prior to each broadcast, all kinds of talent considered. Program is very informal and everyone has a good time.

"Nasty Naybor" — Early morning grouch-dispersing platter show, daily except Sunday, 6:15-7:30 a.m. — starts 6:30 Saturdays. Features the biggest "nasty" of them all, announcer Bill Thompson. Hear it once and you won't miss it again—a laugh-a-line performance. Mail response is one of the largest. People are writing in requesting membership in the "Nasty Naybor Club." Amount of mail is all the more significant in that there is no "come-on" attached to it.

"Home on the Ranch" — Heard Monday through Friday from 12:30-1:00 p.m. A program slanted to the ranchers and farmers of San Diego County. Contains news and information from national and local agricultural associations; weather report direct from Lindberg Field, San Diego; about meetings and activities of local organizations; interviews

"Junior Town Meeting of the Air" — A public service show jointly sponsored by the County and City Boards of Education and KSDJ. Heard Monday evenings at 7:30—audience welcomed in the studio theatre of the station. One high school is represented on each broadcast by four students. As participants on the program, they have a round-table discussion of topics of local, national, and international interest to them. Program is moderated by Peter Samson, minister of the First Unitarian Church of San Diego. With Willson

Like any other business man, upon graduation from college Dragon started in earnest on a musical career. For nine years, this ace arranger scored for Meredith Willson. It was while Carmen was doing the scoring of the Johnson Wax summer show, "Show Boat," and MGM's "Good News" that he became associated with Mr. Willson. A more important meeting during this time was with pretty, dark-eyed Eloise Rawitzer, who was in the chorus of "Show Boat". She is now Mrs. Dragon, and the mother of three little Dragons, Douglas, Daryl and their new little brother.

Carmen Dragon

Makes Music a Business, but While One Show Goes Like Clockwork, the Other Sometimes Keeps Him Humping

By Jane Pelgram

*Sunday, 6 p.m.
NBC-KFI-KFSO
Friday, 8 p.m.
CBS-KNX*

ONE DAY recently, Radio Life stopped backstage at the El Capitan Theater after a rehearsal of Fanny Brice's "Baby Snooks" show. We had dropped by to talk to Carmen Dragon, the Brice show orchestra leader, and by this came across at least one departure from the legendary temperamental Hollywood musicians.

We knew Carmen was an accomplished musician, furnishing compositions and arrangements for two top-flight radio shows, and we could see he was a handsome six-footer. We discovered for ourselves that here among musicians was a sane, sensible business man who has organized his music-making into a pleasurable vocation.

The husky maestro is a native of Antioch, California, and majored in music and psychology at San Jose Teachers College. "Majored in music" hardly tells the story of his playing bass in the symphony orchestra, and trombone in the military band, performing on accordion, tuba, piano and trumpet.

At the same time he was leading his own band, a purely extra-curricular bit of business, which traveled up and down the coast playing fraternity dances. Carmen still speaks fondly of that little group.

"That was a great little band. We used to get old Duke (Duke Ellington, of course) records, or Basie, or the old Goodman bunch, and copy them note for note. I still like those old records. I still think the Duke offered a lot to popular music."

That experience augmented Dragon's study of the classics in school, and probably helps account for his fine handling of music on the Drene Show, for which he also composes and arranges the music for Danny Thomas' weekly wacky lyrics, and for Carmen's musical specialties, privacy of his father's long hoped-for, and finally realized, "study," to interrupt while Daddy is working out scorings for two radio shows and such motion pictures as "Dishonored Lady", his latest, or "Strange Woman". For his excellent handling of the latter, Carmen is holder of the 1945 Academy Award for movie music. "But I still like radio work better. Radio is a quick, clean process . . . once a show is done, it's done."

Stardust for Sherlee

arship in the speech department at Northwestern and terminating her final program for station WIRE, Sherlee decided to strike out for Hollywood and big-time radio. Like hundreds of others, she found that it wasn't an easy job. She won her first part on "Hollywood Mystery Time" and followed with "Nero Wolfe" and "Blind Date".

With dozens of others she auditioned for the "Hoagy Carmichael Show"—and won.

Lives Modestly

Sherlee's sitting on top of the world these days. On the show since last fall, she was as excited about it when we talked to her as she had been the first day of the broadcast.

She lives at the Hollywood Studio Club with many other movie and radio aspirants while her parents reside in Long Beach. Back at Yale is her boy friend, whom she is planning to marry—in the meantime she goes dancing with her oldest brother. ("He's a wonderful dancer!" adds Sherlee).

Her name is spelled in that original manner "because mother wanted it that way—don't ask me why." She likes to dance, swim and play tennis. She wears low heels all the time in spite of the fact that she is a mere five-foot-two-and-one-half, because she likes them. "I guess I'm really a low-heel personality", she laughed. "And, after all, there are enough high-heel personalities in Hollywood already!"

of him, "Say, kid, what's your name?"

Fort Pearson departed from his NBC Chicago announcing post in 1943, when he went into the Navy. He served for two-and-a-half years, in the Photographic Division.

"It was quite a switch," the mikeman pointed out, "from radio to motion pictures. Suddenly, I found myself an actor, writer, and director of movies. I learned a lot, and I liked it."

Pearson's previous experience along these lines had been restricted to radio-acting assignments on such shows as "Lights Out," and a writing-producing stint for a series of air adaptations of Edgar Allan Poe stories.

May Enter Movies

Today, there is a possibility of his utilizing the motion picture experience he gained while in service. He may soon augment his radio work with movie roles. "I'd be the 'heavy' (the villain)." Fort smiled, which means the camera would accentuate the mikeman's dark moustache and sleek black hair.

Actually, the genial Mr. Pearson bears no real-life resemblance to any villainous character. He is a likeable guy with an enthusiasm for such outdoor pastimes as hunting, fishing and riding, and such indoor sports as gin rummy and backgammon. He has been married for sixteen years and has two sons, six-year-old Fort Jr. and four-year-old Jimmy. He confesses to a genuine enjoyment and questionable skill at the kitchen range, and to a firm ambition to own some day a range on which cattle will roam.

"I really know a little something about cattle-raising," he explained more earnestly. "My father was in that business, and back in Illinois, I had a farm."

Fort Pearson transferred his talents from Chicago to Hollywood radio upon his discharge from the Navy in 1945. (Yes, of course, he's now sold on California!) Since then, listeners have heard his voice on "An Evening with Romberg", the Carmen Cavallaro show, "The Alka-Seltzer Newspaper of the Air", and broadcasting Rams games.

Oh yes—and since December of 1945, he's been Jack Bailey's right-hand man, ministering to the wants and wishes of Mutual's lucky "Queen for a Day"!

Men of Music

But he's never too busy to stop and help Daryl. "Daryl loves to conduct," commented his father. "He'll creep in and spend long minutes conducting while I'm recording or playing records. I like to encourage him . . . more because it helps him overcome a certain amount of shyness he has than because I hope he'll turn out a musician. Both the older boys seem musically inclined, but if they choose another field of work, that's all right, too. I made my choice . . . I had started out to study medicine."

Being a smart young business man, Carmen stays conversant with, and studies the trend of, modern music. "Just now it tends toward a classical touch, with a good deal of tenderness in the popular ballads, and I try to follow this, with my own ideas. And I don't ever hold back any of my own ideas on arrangements. I feel that my musicians, either here in this eleven-piece outfit for the 'Snooks' show or the bigger band on the Drene Show, can execute any departure in arrangement. Too, there are a lot of the same fellows in each group, and they know my work."

Many Interests

Both the Dragons are strictly homebodies. Into Carmen's conversation comes one reference after another to doing this or that "at home." Knowing he liked gardening, amateur motion picture-making, and using his television equipment or home recording outfit, we asked in what he found the most enjoyment. He grinned . . . "the children."

Carmen admitted that nearly every musician has a dream of some day having his own complete show, and that he was no exception. "But I have a lot to learn in radio before that." Then, forgetful entirely of his own musical ability, diligence and extreme charm, he self-abnegatingly assured us, "I've had some good breaks." He continued half-jokingly, "And half the fun of my work now is seeing how it comes out each week. You see, one show goes off like clockwork . . . I get the script on time, have plenty of time to set up new tunes, arrange for the band, cue the show, and rehearse. The other . . . well, let's say there's an occasional slip. Things don't go quite as smoothly, so it keeps me busier. But as to which is which . . . I'll let you guess."
