The Ear Inspires the Pen

Mrs. Jack Hicks, 4415 Elizabeth Street, Bell, Calif.

Sirs: In all the years and weeks that I've bought your magazine I've never made a complaint, so may I do so now? Is it necessary that Skinnay Ennis sing? I think he's got a wonderful band, and I enjoy his music very much, but he spoils it when he sings. I'd like to know who told him that he could . . . Bob Hope? I know I can't stop him, but I can certainly turn the dial! Is Skinnay really skinny, or does he just naturally sing all out of breath? You have a great little magazine, and I enjoy reading every article.

Skinnay is as willowy as his name implies. We'll let your comments stand uncontested on the merits of his singing voice . . . some folks like it, other folks don't. Meanwhile, Skinnay croons on.

Mrs. Dorothy S. Weber, Route 1, Box 495, Yucaipa, Calif.

Sirs: I completely agree with your comment regarding Fred Allen and his "ad libs." If he isn't careful, he's going to lose a lot of friends and fans. Besides ad-libbing, he often nearly "dies laughing" at his own jokes before he's even read them to his audience. Red Skelton is getting that way too, and in my opinion Bob Hope has always ruined his jokes by waiting a few seconds for the audience to laugh, then making some crack if they don't.

Jack Benny's program is always good. He seems so nonchalant and never laughs ahead of time. We wish his program could be a whole hour long. Even his commercials are funny and interesting.

As long as Howard Duff is going to get married in real life, how about "Sam Spade" breaking down and marrying "Effie?" It's spring you know, and she's so cra-a-a-zy about him! Is he a woman hater, or just plain dumb?

Could be that "Sam Spade" originator Dashiell Hammett has the answer to that! Meanwhile, guess poor Effie will have to pine and sigh ad infinitum. P. S. The suspense is killing us, too!

Mr. L. J. Bergere, 209 19th Strand, Manhattan Beach, Calif.

Sirs: To radio "voices". At age 82, and so knowing somewhat of real values, and the probably laborious years devoted to attaining them, I sometimes do what too many thousands do not do—drop a line of appreciation. That postcard one-word ("Thanks") costs only one cent and a moment of time, and is likely to prove a good investment in the intangible gold-mine called popularity.

Jo Elyn Chambers, 2299 MiraMar, Long Beach 4, Calif.

Sirs: Too bad so many people hate those "soap operas" and jingle jangles. Me? I like everything. Love radio from number to number, from murder to safety programs. My advice to some of those people with pet peeves . . . try moving the dial around. Amazing what you can find.

True, some things are too silly, too gruesome, and maybe too boring. Well, aren't we all sometimes? Anyway, next week's programs may be different.

Oh, by the way. To settle a difference of opinion in our family, is Bob Hope going to keep "Brenda and Cobina" for the summer? Where'd they go, anyway? Spare a few pictures?

Bob Hope, himself, goes off for the summer. Brenda (alias Blanche Stewart, and Cobina, alias Elvia Allman) are heard separately in many varied parts and on many shows. Whether they'll return to the air again as a duo is one of those "heads or tails" propositions. We'll advise you if and when we know.

Mrs. Cora Nell Byroad, 2034 East Chevy Chase, Glendale 6, Calif.

Sirs: Several weeks ago, I read a request in your magazine for a story about a very fine Sunday program, "The Voice of Prophecy." I too enjoy the program and would also appreciate more information about the speaker and the splendid male quartet. I am sure that many would like to know more about them, for in my opinion there is no better program on the air.

"Voice Of Prophecy" has been stated, in answer to the many previous requests you mention, and you'll be seeing the story soon.

Mrs. V. P. Gianella, University of Nevada, Reno, Nevada

Sirs: My daughter has become blind the last two years, in addition to being diabetic and not very well. So, much of her waking time is spent with the radio turned on. She rarely misses the news broadcasts, quiz programs, etc., and the popular entertainment shows. These all mean so much more to her when we read the newsy items found in Radio Life. She only wishes there were a similar magazine that would cover the Eastern programs as well as Radio Life covers the Western. Yours is a fine little weekly. Keep it up.

STANDARD OF CALIFORNIA PRODUCTS

Rodger A. Hadley, 290 E. Glenarm Avenue, Pasadena, Calif.

Sirs: I have been an avid reader of your fine magazine since the one-cent days. Now, I have a couple of "orchids" and a couple of "cactus" remarks for those interested in better radio.

Let's have another contract for Meredith Willson's "Sparkle Time". Such music, such wit, and especially such commercials should always be on the air.

An orchid, too, to that public-spirited network, The Mutual System, and KHJ for its fine "Family Theatre". It is with programs such as this, free from "commercial chatter", that Mutual warrants the public faith placed in radio's individual ownership.

As for the "cacti", why don't the networks look before they leap? Two of the better detective programs, both with superior dialogue, are now on at the same time... "Sam Spade", CBS, and "Pat Novak", ABC. Who was the original "Pat Novak" and why, oh why! was he replaced? Again on Wednesday night two top vocalists, Bing Crosby, ABC, and Frank Sinatra, CBS, compete in a time-race in which he who listens loses either way.

You'll be as delighted as we were, then, to hear that Meredith Willson was returning to the air on KNX, 9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, starting June 18. Original "Pat Novak" was Jack Webb, who now covers Pier 23 as Johnny Madero on Mutual. He was replaced when he left San Francisco for Hollywood.

Mrs. Clyde Butterfield, Homosa Housing, LTA-583, Santa Ana, Calif.

Sirs: In Radio Life, May 11, a reader asked what the lady said in the record "Open the Door, Richard". I believe I understood it to be "If he was only mine. If he was only mine."

I still can't see the objections to those cute songs. For my part, I'm a busy housewife with two children, and it always gives me a nice pickup when I hear one. Of course they don't make sense, but they always have a good rhythm and tend to take my mind off more serious and trying things. Maybe I'm just one of the few crazy people who enjoy being silly once in a while.

Mrs. Dorothy M. Hayes, 331-B North Alta Vista Avenue, Monrovia, Calif.

Sirs: There is a new program at 11:15 a.m. over KXLA, featuring Jack Norman (singer), Billy Wright at the organ and Joe Greene as announcer. In the near future could you do a story on them? Billy Wright also has a very good program of his own over KIEV at 1:30, playing organ solos which are very good. He has been on the air for over six months. Would enjoy a story on him too.

I also would like to have Evelyn Bigsby back on the air. Her programs were very good. Best wishes for your continued success from a Radio Lifer for Life.

Thanks for your listening tip on the Jack Norman-Billy Wright show. We'll dial in for a radio news review soon. Evelyn Bigsby also makes a low sweeping bow and says thankyouverymuch for your nice appreciation.

Mrs. Myrtle Weekley, 3952 Massachusetts Street, Long Beach 4, Calif.

Sirs: May I suggest to mothers of pre-school children a program suited to this age at 8:00 a.m. Saturdays, KFI? It's "Jump-Jump of Holiday House." "Jump-Jump" is a little elf only "no-feet-three" (3" tall) who jumps constantly (complete with sound effects) and chatters unintelligibly until gently checked by "Mary Holliday," who also tells delightful little stories.

My three and four-year-olds are real "Jump-Jump" fans. It's the only program we've found that makes "sense" to the pre-school set. Congratulations on a fine magazine. Your delightful listings are most helpful.

Doris I. Bateman, 526 West Walnut Avenue, Monrovia, Calif.

Sirs: Please may we have a story on Miss Eula Beal, whose beautiful contralto is so often heard on "Melodies America Loves?" I would treasure a picture of her. Her performance with Alfred Wallenstein on the "Standard Hour" sometime ago was an unforgettable pleasure. Thank you for all the real news you give us on our favorite radio stars each week.

Miss Beal is not heard regularly on any radio series, and we do try to give first coverage to the folks who are. But we'll note your request and do something about it as soon as we possibly can.

Louise MacDonald, 823 South Beverly Glen, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: The lady on the record of "Open the Door Richard" said, "Oh, man, if he was only mine." I hope Jimmy Elsas isn't disappointed.

Jeanne Morgan, 1107 Arapahoe Street, Los Angeles 6, Calif.

Sirs: Honestly, it seems as though some people enjoy making things difficult for others. Radio, for instance, apparently gets a fiendish satisfaction out of making up the new daylight saving time schedules.

Quite a bit of it is fairly simple to figure out. On Sundays, the programs are only moved back an hour. But come Wednesdays . . . ouch! Before, the only general argument the family had was over Carson, Crosby and Dennis Day. M'gosh, I hate to think of future Wednesday evenings at home! Crosby vs. Sinatra . . . Carson vs. Day . . . Gildersleeve vs. Cisco Kid (with three small cousins, guess who wins that!) . . . Dinah Shore vs. Henry Morgan. Ooooooh, my shattered aerial!

Why don't they leave things alone? So they get an extra hour of sunshine back home. Do we? No! Their radio logs stay settled. Do ours? No! There ain' no justice, tha's all!

Hedy Alperin, 1048 Superba Avenue, Venice, Calif.

Sirs: I get your magazine every week and read it from cover to cover. Radio alone is wonderful, but with your magazine it is even more so. Even the COMMERCIALS. In your Precasts and Previews you have been naming Tony Martin's guest stars a week after they have appeared. I hope you do something about it.

Sometimes networks give us long advance lists on guest stars, and neglect to tell us when one or three make other arrangements. We've been particularly checking the Tony Martin show after a few mistakes of this kind, and think you'll find it's quite correctly precast now. Thanks for your help in calling it to our attention.

T. L. Revie, Lemongrove, Calif.

Sirs: Would it be possible for you to tell me the name and address of the emcee who conducted the "Tell Your Neighbor" program formerly over Mutual? Also, could you give me any information re Alexander's "Mediation Board" which was on MBS until daylight saving time went into effect. Has it been discontinued?

Emcee on Mutual's recent "Tell Your Neighbor" feature was Walter Mason. Alexander's "Mediation Board" has been temporarily discontinued, but will reappear quite shortly. we are informed.

Mrs. W. E. Ellis, Descanso, Calif.

Sirs: Could you please tell me if Louise Johnson, an astrologer, is still on the air? Or what became of her? She used to broadcast over KNX.

Complete checking of KNX's old and new records fails to reveal either what became of Miss Johnson or when she broadcast. Are you positive about the station? Any of you readers know?

Barbara Bond, 1502 Cartagena Street, Long Beach 7, Calif.

Sirs: Could you give us some information about the radio show Al Jolson is to have?

I find Bob Hope's jokes very raw, and wish if anyone could be censored it would be him. I have never heard anything of the kind on Red Skelton's show, which is only too good. Enjoy "Ladies Be Seated" very much, think it's very nice to give prizes to the good losers.

Roses to you. It's a good magazine.

Al Jolson's new radio show, if and when, remains the Question of the Year. With $5000 per for each guest appearance meantime, we doubt that he'll tie himself up soon on regular contract and rehearsal commitments.

Mrs. Roberts, Inglewood, Calif.

Sirs: If you would list some short wave stations I would appreciate it, as would many others, as my radio has the short wave band. If you cannot do this, please publish where the information can be obtained.

We discontinued this service during the war, due to special government request. We shall be glad to feature short wave listings again if enough listeners ask for them.

Janet Todd, South Laguna, Laguna Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Would like to know if the Sammy Kaye "So You Want to Lead a Band" program is coming out to the West Coast. Would you also please tell me how one may attend the "Queen for a Day" broadcast? By the way, I liked the little poem in the May 4 Radio Life. Keep up the good work with your swell magazine.

So far as we or the network know, Sammy Kaye has made no definite plans for traveling to the coast in the near future. Tickets for "Queen for a Day" are available on written request to Station KHJ, 5515 Melrose Avenue, Hollywood 38. Be sure to mark your envelope "ticket request".

Vivian Fae, 1559 South Rexford Drive, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Cheers for Harriet and Ozzie and their winning award for contributing so notably to the American Family scene.

And boos to the Phil Harris-Alice Faye show, following an hour and a half later over another network. To them should go a medal for intended disintegration of the home! The children have no respect for their parents, refer to their father as "Old Hot Shot". The script is rampant with booze and Phil's prowess as a woman chaser. The show abounds in questionable characters.

A fine home this portrays. Fitch should dump this "family scene" back into the garbage can, where it belongs. Perhaps then, Fitch products will find their way back to many family medicine chests!

HAWTHORNE! THE FIRST DISC JOCKEY to broadcast from a wastebasket, where he met a high class wad of paper with which he still carries on conversations.

HAWTHORNE! BLISSFUL in a state of Utter Confusion, here plays his theme song, "So Long Letty," on a whistle. He's afraid some day his show will be sold, by mistake.

The Hawthorne Story

As Told to Hawthorne by Hawthorne for Radio Life

By Hawthorne

Monday-Saturday, 11:30 p.m.
Sunday, 11 p.m.
KXLA

ALWAYS reluctant to mention my name more than four times at the beginning of a story about myself, I have eliminated one of the "Hawthorne's" from the title of this tome (that's a word for story, they tell me) and will now present a strictly unbiased report on Hawthorne.

First of all, I am a genius, although as yet unrecognized. Being backward about telling people this (okay, stop twisting my arm, I said it), I hesitate to reveal the fact in this story, so I will present just the simple, uncolored truth about Hawthorne.

Did you know I was the first disc jockey to broadcast from a wastebasket? You didn't . . . well, let me tell you about it. This unusual, extraordinary and sensational event occurred on the night of January 13, 1947. Tired of the conventional studio, I set up a special microphone in the control room wastebasket. It was very comfortable and I met a high class wad of wastepaper with which I still enjoy long conversations, since no one else in the radio business will speak to me.

My mother's name is Marie.

PORTRAIT OF HAWTHORNE sent him by George Biastre, who wrote . . . "It was done by the great Transylvanian artist, Boris Smicasso . . . possibly the greatest thing Smicasso has ever done . . . he got his inspiration from your program. He listens to it every night and thinks it is keen. He also thinks you are very funny. He does not understand English. Smicasso spent two months on this picture and had quite a time deciding whether to draw your head flat or pointed. He finally chose the latter, as he is a realist."

If this is boring you, may I suggest you turn to page thirty-four where there is a really good story?

In my own unbiased opinion, I would undoubtedly be a sensational flagpole sitter, and would much rather do this than play records and talk funny over the radio. However, as I am still undiscovered, I'll continue to mess up KXLA's airwaves.

Father's name, Jack.

I was born with a gold nugget in my eye (which the kid next door threw) twenty-eight years ago in a small Colorado mining town, which shall be nameless. The Chamber of Commerce of said town threatens dire results (lovely communiques via carrier pigeon inviting me to "drop dead") if I besmirch the town's good name. Three months after being born, I consented to moving to Denver,

▲ LIGHT-HEADED AND LIGHT-HEARTED IS MARIE WILSON as "Irma." Her moonstruck comedy characterizations have brightened such movies as "Boy Meets Girl," "Shine On, Harvest Moon" and "Music for Millions"; as well as Ken Murray's "Black-outs."

▲ CY HOWARD, WRITER, PRODUCER AND DIRECTOR of this bright comedy series, is the man responsible for the happy blend of personalities, situation and humor that makes for laughs. Star Marie Wilson evidently appreciates those laugh lines, too.

"There's an old saying," says "Jane" on "My Friend Irma", "that wisdom comes from suffering—if that's true, Irma has never had a sick day in her life."

Roommates "Irma" and "Jane" are providing some of the brightest comedy on the air this season. Marie Wilson, master of the soft (and dumb) answer that turneth away wrath as "Irma", and Cathy Lewis as the sharp-tongued "Jane" may not be the perfect roommates, but they're certainly the perfect comedy team.

Forced together in a grubby apartment because of the housing shortage and at the mercy of "Mrs. O'Reilly", a landlady of gargantuan proportions (Jane Morgan), the girls and their misfortunes become hilarious comedy material.

"Irma," says "Jane", "doesn't it disturb you at all that we have to live in a place like this?"

And "Irma" replies, "Jane, I realize that our apartment is not fit for man or beast, but we can live in it because we're girls."

Further comedy complications are added each week by "Irma's" poor but dishonest boy friend, "Al" (John Brown).

In the following stories, radio roommates Marie Wilson and Cathy Lewis write their impressions of each other. Can you tell where "Irma" and "Jane" leave off and Marie and Cathy take over?

I O HEAR me talk about "My Friend Irma" on the radio show of the same name, you might get the idea that I think she's dumb. You might even get the notion that she irritates me at times . . . unless you know that a soundman can tear hair out by the roots just by spinning a record!

As "Jane," "Irma's" friend and long-suffering roommate, I commit vocal mayhem on that girl every time I open my mouth. I gnash my teeth, make horrible gasping noises with my throat, mutter under my breath. I do these things partly because that's the way I'm supposed to feel about "Irma" . . . and partly because I'm a radio actress by trade and am used to vocal gymnastics.

Sure, "Irma's" a hare-brained little gal with a penchant for getting my life crossed up; she's a naive trick with the face of an angel and the brains of a gazelle. "Irma," that is.

But Marie Wilson, the behind-the-script "Irma"? Listen kids . . . anybody that sells that gal short in the intellect department belongs in the alley behind Information, Please!

Dumb like a fox, that's what. She's a prize package . . . and neatly gift-wrapped, too, I might add. Let me tell you about her.

The first distinction Marie gained in her life wasn't her fault and happened a long time ago. She happened to be born in California . . .

(Please Turn to Page 32)

My Friend Jane

Marie Wilson Relates the Cathy Lewis Saga in Her Very Own Words

By Marie Wilson

▲ AS "JANE," PRETTY CATHY LEWIS supplies the brain power missing in "Irma's" motivations—and with an acid tongue, too. "Jane's" final verdict on "Irma"—"Well, it's everyone's privilege to be dumb, but sometimes Irma abuses the privilege."

FIRST of all, I guess we'd better talk about names. Because you can't very well introduce a person without mentioning her name . . . unless, of course, nobody's listening . . . and that's not very polite.

Cathy Lewis is my co-star on "My Friend Irma." But her name isn't Cathy. It's "Jane". On the show that is. And actually, her real name isn't Lewis. I mean . . . Cathy was a Lewis from the beginning. Then she got married, and changed her name to Lewis. So you see, it isn't the same thing at all. Lewis is her husband's name. Cathy married Elliott and changed her name from Lewis to Lewis.

But before that, she did lots of things. Cathy's so logical. She started out by being born, in Spokane, Washington. She was an incubator baby. When her sister Madge saw Cathy for the first time and discovered that her head could be covered with a teacup and her ear with a dime, she uttered a remark that's been a classic in the Lewis family ever since. Madge said: "Oh, Ick!"

Since then critics have been much kinder.

When Cathy was about six, she went with her mother to Wenatchee, Washington, where Mrs. Lewis opened a costume and design shop. Cathy took one look at all the pretty materials and the quaint styles and, then and there, decided to be an actress. Her mother helped her along, because she advertised the wares of her shop by giving shows and prologues before the showing of silent pictures in the local movie theater. The next year, Cathy gave her first public performance. It was at the Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival. She took it by storm, even if she couldn't pronounce it!

Her first paying job started when she was seven and the Jensen-Von Herberg theater chain hired her as The Jazz Baby, featuring her songs and dances. Cathy doesn't like to talk about it much. She still turns green at the sight of long curls and patent leather slippers . . . and is likely to burst into an hysterical chorus of "Barney Google, With the Goo-Goo-Googly Eyes."

In School Play

Cathy's family didn't much like the idea of one of their girls going on the stage, and they started moving around a lot after that. Cathy didn't have much of a chance to pursue her career until they moved to St. Paul, where a priest named Father Thomas Moore discovered her natural dramatic ability when she was enrolled in the Nativity Parochial School. Her talent for mimicry almost got her into serious trouble when she was caught lampooning some of her teachers. As a punishment, she was called before

(Please Turn to Page 32)

MARIE WILSON, CATHY LEWIS and John Brown chuckle over a script. Looks like they've just caught sight of the line where John, as "Irma's" boy friend "Al," says: ". . . there's a thin line between genius and insanity and it's going to give me a nervous breakdown the way that girl keeps swinging back and forth!"

Pre-Law Student Turned Actor Turned Music Commentator Thinks Good Classical Program Doesn't Have to Be Pompous to Be Effective

Monday-Saturday, 6 p.m., 10 p.m.
Monday-Friday, 5:45 p.m.
Saturday, 5:45 p.m.
KGFJ

GWO years ago when David Ballard started announcing KGFJ's "Musical Digest", he didn't know a concerto from a sonata. Although he had studied Latin and French in school, he was pretty shaky on pronouncing names of composers and their works.

"I must have sounded very careful," he smilingly recalls, "because some of my listeners drew a mental picture of me as being quite fat, middle-aged, and slightly pompous. A classical music program doesn't have to be done pompously to be effective," he added.

Essentially, David is an actor. For this he can blame or thank "Death Takes a Holiday". Not so many years ago when he was majoring in speech at Menlo J. C., young Ballard played the part of "Death" in the fantastic drama, and from then on threw his pre-law career into the junk pile. The campus radio station, where he directed and acted, was his first stepping-stone to a year at Pasadena Playhouse and a summer (1939) with the Little Theater in Laguna, where he played everything from crotchety old men to fresh juveniles.

David moved on to the next step, just as if he were caught in a crowd, with no way to go except with it. He enrolled with Marie Ouspenskaya, of whom he said, "If you did anything to offend the stage, she was right there with her big club." One night David attended a party at which Barbara Luddy's mother was hostess. Molly Luddy asked young Ballard if he had done anything about radio. As a result of her encouragement, the rich-voiced David enrolled with Celeste Rush and acted on her "Confessions of the Corsair" on KHJ, a dramatization of her life of Lord Byron.

Time out for service with the Marines, and Ballard then went back to radio, slipping into a job in the Mutual station of his home town, Seattle, the day after his discharge.

A year later, when he came south to make Hollywood his oyster, David found the going tough and cooled his heels for six months before rating a contract at 20th Century-Fox. Eventually, KGFJ's manager, Miss Thelma Kirchner, saw young Ballard's radio possibilities and hired him as a straight announcer, then shortly thereafter put him at the "Musical Digest" mike. Now, he not only announces both the "Digest" and "Concert Nocturne", but also handles the important job of programming. Listeners also hear him on "If They Had Lived" and "The Law Is Your Servant" and the "National Safety Council".

Has No Collection

"I've developed a terrific appreciation for classical music," Ballard confided to Radio Life. "I can't wait to start my own record collection."

"Don't you have any records?" he was asked.

"Been spending money on other things," he replied. "You see, just before I came down here from Seattle, I saw the picture of a girl at a pal's apartment. 'Hey, you'd better watch out,' I told him, 'because I'm going to marry that girl.'" Sure enough, two months later Ballard had won a lovely wife, Lorraine. Now, in the Ballard home in North Hollywood, you'll also find Michael, who was two on Washington's birthday, and tiny Susan, who'll be a year old July 15.

Good-looking (five feet eleven, 165 pounds), Ballard laughed when we told him we'd gotten several calls from bobby soxers who'd heard him, liked him, and wanted to know more about him.

Twenty-eight-year-old David laughed, a little pleased, embarrassed laugh, and answered lightly, "Well, it's encouraging. Someone's listening."

Admittedly a "chow hound", Ballard likes everything good to eat, especially "Mom's chocolate pudding".

Sometimes, when his schedule at the station runs quite heavy, he brings his dinner in a paper sack. But lots of times he eats at Har-Omar, whose program, "Caucasian Memories", he announces. "I tell them their commercials are so convincing I've talked myself into putting them into action," he smiles.

NEWS and COMMENT

Your Cue (Shows You May Like)

Ted Bentley

Enough to revive our childhood pre-occupation with the sport page is the punchy fifteen minutes of sports news offered by Ted Bentley on KECA, nightly at 10:00.

Ted, the new editor of the Thrifty series, misses no bets in delivering and clarifying the most controversial news of the sporting realm. Why has Lou Moore been censured for winning the Indianapolis race? Why did the Lawn Tennis Association give Pauline Betz a dirty deal? Why are newspapers hiding the fact that the fighters sponsored by Frank Sinatra were the two most important boxing opponents that Los Angeles will see for a long time to come? Why is boxer Tommy Garland losing so many fights that he should win?

In case Bentley's provocative questions have aroused your interest, perhaps we'd better give you his answers before we go any farther! Lou Moore, who had the first two winning cars in the Indianapolis classic, was accused of holding one back to let the other win. Bentley labels this as nonsense, pointing out that the driver of the number one car got a much smaller percentage of the winnings than the driver of the second car would have collected in first place. Therefore, if Moore had been able to hold one of his drivers back, it would have been to his interest to do it to the number one driver. The shortsightedness of the Lawn Tennis Association in suspending Pauline Betz for merely discussing the possibility of turning pro, forced this player to do so, according to Bentley. He also labels as unfair to sports lovers the way in which the fight event promoted by Frank Sinatra was buried by the scribes because of Sinatra's run-in with a newspaperman. Bentley gives as the reason that promising boxer Garland is not stepping into those punches, the fact that Garland is such a good-looking guy that he doesn't relish the thought of a smashed physiog.

Now, you may or may not agree with Bentley on these sample stories (and if it makes you mad, write him, not us), but you'll have to admit that he makes the sports question into the exciting subject it is, without getting hysterical. Ted also includes a short interview with a current outdoor celebrity and up-to-the-minute news flashes in his action-packed segment. But it's the Bentley editorializing that will whip up your interest in the whole sports picture.

NEXT WEEK

Did you feminine admirers of handsome Bob McLaughlin know that a motorcycle smash-up was the disaster sending Eob air-ward? Who knows? If he hadn't suffered that accident, he might still be a hard-riding motor cop in Beverly Hills. Next week's story tells you how McLaughlin wandered into radio and how he stays there.

"C. P." has done it again—"C. P." meaning MacGregor, of course, and next week we tell you about his newest transcribed success, "So Proudly We Hail." Did you know that weeks before the European invasion by our troops MacGregor and his corps were busily waxing D-Day transcriptions to be played to our men on that important day? Others of his war-time activities are also divulged in next week's article.

What's the best prescription for summer listening? We think maybe Pat O'Brien in the role of a druggist, with Lynn Bari as his assistant. Anyway, we tell you all about their new show in next week's Radio Life.

Imagine the "Fishing and Hunting Club" receiving 48,000 letters in one batch! That's how strongly this out-of-doors program rates, especially with you men, for whom we especially did next week's story, "Bull Sessions."

Are radio actresses as fetching in sun and bathing suits as they are in their air roles? Yep! Quite a few of them, and we've pictured some next week.

Ever wondered how "Dr. Christian's" town, "River's End" or "Lum and Abner's" "Pine Ridge" looks? Both places are mapped for you in next week's Radio Life. Verne Smith is our Mikeman and you'll find a whole page of Seen on the Radio Scene.

*She wanted to read it but she missed it!

"Summerfield Bandstand"

Another popular evening listening time where they aren't slapping together "just anything" for summer-fill entertainment is Wednesdays on KFI at 7:30. "Summerfield Bandstand" is the show, featuring Jack Meakin (regular "Great Gildersleeve" maestro) as host, during his boss's vacation.

A soda-pop and ice-cream social atmosphere is carried off neatly through the half-hour. While the "Summerfield" men and boys "play ball," pitch horseshoes, and gab in their shirtsleeves under the trees . . . and the "Summerfield" women busily put together their picnics . . . the band plays on, clarinet solos and all. And the possibilities of such a wholesome "Our Town" setting, radio seems to have been a sucker to miss, until now!

A voice over the speaker-system announces the music, with Ken Carson and a guest girl-singer featured as soloists. Ken's voice is tremendously special, by itself and in harmony . . . rather slow, soft, sentimental . . . and infinitely "easy"!

Between songs, Ken bashfully traces the ground with one foot, while "Summerfield" teen-ager Marjorie (Louise Erickson) stands admiringly by, and sighs and sighs. In such scenes, he is a little nervous . . . dialogue perhaps not yet his forte as much as singing. A few more programs should help him past that slight self-consciousness which comes with combining talents. He certainly has the goods to be one of NBC's "big" winter names, before the straw-hat season ends!

"Gildy's" young pal, Leroy (Walter Tetley) adds further youthful verve to Andy White's light dramatic lines, and still continues to be one of the show's favorite citizens. A definite amount of trouble has been taken by producer Fran van Hartesveldt to make this production a pleasurable spot on neglected warm-night dials. Hoopers and hooplas should prove the effort worthwhile!

"Jump-Jump of Holiday House"

Hobgoblins, pixies and gremlins have a language of their own. If you doubt that, listen to "Jump-Jump," the tiny three-inch-high man "Of Holiday House," who gyrates and jabbars fantastically over KFI Saturday mornings at 8!

"Jump-Jump," brave pilot of a model airplane and happy little friend of humanity, comes zeroing over the horizon each week for one of "Mary Holiday's" quaint old-time folk tales. All through his visit he chatters Don-

BY VIRGINIA WEST

Hailed by the trade as the largest single sale in radio history . . . anticipated by radio fans as the greatest daily hour of music on the air . . . ABC's new "Paul Whiteman Club" bows in on Monday, June 30th. To be heard Mondays through Fridays, from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m., over KECA, the hour-long programs will be sponsored by National Biscuit Co., Nestle's Milk Products, Inc., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., and Wesson Oil and Snowdrift.

ABC, Monday through Friday, should be a must.

... Always a Best Bet ... 790 ...

A novel new audience participation show, originating in the College Inn of Chicago's Hotel Sherman, will replace the Kenny Baker Show on ABC-KECA at 9, Monday through Friday mornings, beginning June 30. . . . The title, "Welcome Traveler," is almost self-explanatory. . . . Emceed by Tommy Bartlett, who will serve as quizmaster, the guests and participants will be persons who are stopping in Chicago between trains, planes and buses. The program's visitors will form an interesting cross-section of America. . . . It is estimated that 48,000 travelers daily stop over in the Windy City. . . . The kids will be glad to know that "Terry and the Pirates" (KECA at 5 p.m.) will go right on through the summer. . . . A 52-week renewal of the adventure series has been received from the sponsor . . . Quaker Oats . . . Also in the renewal column by the same breakfast food manufacturer is the five-a-week audience show, "Ladies, Be Seated."

... Always a Best Bet ... 790 ...

You may have read it already, but at ABC-KECA we're mighty proud that we won five first places in the amusement business mag, Billboard's annual radio editors popularity poll. A poll of 500 of the nation's radio eds gave "Theatre Guild on the Air", Bing Crosby and Henry Morgan, the first place nod, with the widely acclaimed "Hiroshima" series receiving two firsts for the outstanding single broadcast of 1946 and the year's best public service program . . . Just back in New York is that globe-trotter and storyteller, Ted Malone (KECA at 10:15 a.m. Monday thru Friday) . . . Ted traveled more than 15,000 miles in 11 days, via the air, criss-crossing the continent four times, and not missing a single broadcast en route . . . Here's Drew Pearson, now heard over KECA at 8 p.m., every Sunday night . . . Pearson's "predictions of things to come" tag is one of the most-talked-of news features.

AROUND RADIO: Gerald Mohr, who plays the title role in "The Adventures of Bill Lance" (KECA, Saturday nights at 9), is superstitious about only one thing . . . a diamond ring given him on his 13th birthday . . . Mohr wears the ring constantly, claiming it brought him luck in getting his first big job when he decided not to pawn it! . . . Larry Marcus, writer of ABC's "Dark Venture" plays, has received his first movie writing assignment . . . a mystery story for Roy Del Ruth.

aid-Duckishly in an unintelligible but thoroughly intriguing manner. The sentences don't make sense, but five-year-old and younger listeners have a way of understanding such things, and will probably interpret, if you get a bit confused.

That gentle "Mary Holiday" voice belongs to Mary McConnell, who works with her spouse, Harry Hickox, on the program's birthday messages and story-narration. Sound for the fairy-tales is extremely well done by a sympathetic technician, obviously following his script with an imaginative eye.

A speeded or backed-up record may be responsible for "Jump-Jump", but we prefer to believe, with wide-eyed young listeners, that the star of this show is a funny little character absolutely independent of such studio control!

"The Clock"

Monday p.m. at 8:30 should be a time for lovers of mystery dramas. KECA presents "The Clock", an eastern emanation, written by Lawrence Klee, directed by Clark Andrews, and utilizing the talents of a different cast of top-flight eastern artists each week.

The whole bunch, including music maker and sound effects men, take the show ingredients, whirl them around their heads a few times and let fly with a show novel in excellence and, usually, in plot.

A recent Monday nighter plucked the cop and robber combination from their usual New York slum or San Francisco waterfront setting, endowed them with normalcy, and made use of actor interpretation (rather than a redundancy of similes or a trite jargon) to sharpen characterization.

The story carried culprit and policeman, via plane, to an island in the China Sea. Here the plane was forced down, and the criminal found opportunity during the plane crash to switch identification and adopt the captor's role, thinking to expedite his escape through enlisting the aid of the island's only dweller. The twist we are all learning to expect came when the unwilling host turned out to be an escaped convict who hated the law and had been waiting for just such a chance at doing in one of its long arms.

Adapting music to locale rather than trying to establish the eerie by its use adds immeasurably to the show.

"Easy Listening"

It makes us feel slightly traitorous to say so, but often we get the most enjoyment out of the most unpretentious air offerings, which is why we're passing along the information that "Easy Listening" on KFI, Sundays at 3:30 p.m. is very easy listening.

Light classics and musical comedy medleys both old and new are just right for that Sunday afternoon feeling. If you've got a good memory for lyrics, you'll probably find yourself trying to sing the soprano part in Herbert's "Just Because You're You" along with the Victor Light Opera group or supplying your own version of the Cole Porter lyrics to "You're the Top".

In case you're allergic to classical music and basic jazz here's a sample of a recent listing: "Dancing Tambourines", "Body and Soul", "The Whole World Is Singing My Song", "Always", "A Love Like This". That should give you a rough idea. Or rather a very smooth idea.

And speaking of smooth, we called to find out who possessed the slick tones behind the opening words "Easy Listening" and discovered that the show is announced by staff members, and whoever happens to be on duty gets the assignment. See how easily pleased we are?

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

"Two-Ton Baker"

If all the energy expended by Two-Ton Baker on his daily fifteen minutes over KHJ at 4:30 p.m. were distributed among all the other radio singers, everybody would sound like Jack Smith. Which is just another way of saying that Baker's singing and piano-playing style is extremely explosive.

Music-maker Baker smacks of vaudeville with a good loud smack. We always get a mental picture of him sitting sideways at the piano, tapping one foot heavily and singing straight out at the balcony sitters.

There aren't even enough lyrics in most of the songs Two-Ton sings to keep him satisfied—he fills in with bangs on the side of the piano, laughing, wheezing sounds, rumpety-rumpety-days and various other spur-of-the-moment noises. You can see that he is at his best in a novelty tune that allows room for all this activity.

Two-Ton's piano playing is in the same vein. He puts all of those two tons behind some of those runs and pounding chords. In between his musical moments, he talks, laughs, reads letters from friends and fans and laughs some more.

You might not be able to label Baker as "restful" but he's certainly cheerful. In fact, he works so hard at being jolly, it's amazing that he's managed to retain those two tons.

On Mike (About Studio Happenings)

Another Judge

We were extremely saddened by a statement made over the air recently by one of our long-time favorite disc jockeys. He played Maurice Chevalier's record of "Ma Pomme" ("I'm a Bum") and ended up with remarks concerning the record with an ambiguous statement that we, and many other listeners we've spoken to, felt said in effect "... that's right, Mr. Chevalier, you are."

Regardless of personal opinions on the subject, the fact that the French star was completely cleared of collaborationist charges by the courts should be enough to make the jockey in question abide by the official stand — at least on the air.

And isn't there some sort of ethics that prevents a discer from earning his salary by playing the records made by people he feels this way about?

Mars Next?

The first round-the-world honeymoon flight in history will be the happy experience of a lucky June bridal couple to be married this month on ABC's "Bride and Groom" program.

Leaving New York City on June 27, the flight will take six days, with stops at Gandor, Newfoundland; Shannon, Eire; London, Istanbul, Karachi, Calcutta, Bangkok, Manila, Guam, Wake and Honolulu, and is the first commercial flight of Pan American Airways to circle the globe.

The history-making honeymoon flight will be a gift of Joan Fontaine and the cast of her latest flicker, Sam Wood's "Ivy", with the winning couple to be chosen by this cast. Bridal planners for June '48 better watch the science columns for the word "rocket".

Pinch-Hitters for Louise

Busy little Louise Erickson was slowed down last week by the measles. Two other members of radio's younger set substituted for her in her well-known roles on "Date With Judy" and "Summerfield Band Concert." Jane Webb ("Liz" of "Those Websters") was heard as last week's "Judy" and Janet "Corliss Archer" Waldo was "Gildersleeve's" niece, "Marjorie" on the "Band Concert" summer show.

Contest Excitement

Listeners to KMPC's "Three Alarm" were almost as excited at Marine veteran Stanley Popelesky's winning of the new 1947 Nash as he was himself. The last half-hour of the show was given over to a dramatization of Popelesky's war experiences in which he sustained a disabling leg injury, and led up to presentation of his big prize.

The car, which the young veteran won by writing a letter on the subject. "I would like a new Nash because—", has had an automatic clutch installed for his convenience.

Voices on Vine Street

"The trouble is that people who listen to my kind of program don't write letters" . . . "I could have had the lead in that show, but I had a rehearsal conflict" . . . "You weren't in vaudeville, you weren't in nightclubs—so how do you know what's funny?" . . . "It was a swell part, but they were running short so they cut it to three lines." . . . "They said that my show was the greatest thing they'd every heard, but it was too advanced for radio audiences." . . . "I've got a wonderful idea for a radio show—all I need is somebody to write it." . . . "Call me up and we'll have lunch some time." . . . "It isn't generally known, but his secretary does all his work for him." . . . "Of course he's the biggest thing in radio, but what else can he do?" . . . "Television is the coming thing." . . . "Television is a washout." . . . ad infinitum!

Day for Day

During Dennis Day's recent eastern visit, the popular singer was gifted with a fine, shiny 1947 automobile of a very popular make. While car company officials smiled and flash bulbs popped, Dennis obligingly posed at the side of his grand present.

Then, opening the door, he stepped in and gave the starter a poke. Immediately the whole car burst into flames and burned up. Dennis unceremoniously joined the unnerved and embarrassed group who watched the expensive bonfire. Just a day in the life of Dennis Day.

Sitting Pretty

Sometimes a letter is a story in itself. Like this one, recently received from The Card Family in Los Angeles:

"Being an average housewife of an average (?) family of four, (including me . . . and try and get out of it!) I don't have much time for any recreation, save the radio. Mother to three dynamos (one big and two small) and in the average financial bracket, I do all my own housework, and I just can't sit with my own babies while taking in a good movie.

"So consequently, I don't go out with my husband. We sit home every night, tune in to the same air shows, week after week, and it makes us very tired of it all, and we turn off the radio! With the radio off, we don't need Radio Life, and you've lost a customer."

(Note to Card Family: If you read Radio Life every week, your radio won't be turned off!)

"I suppose you're saying 'So What?' Well, the worm turns. I say 'I'm not the only one!' Baby sitters nowadays want to go to the show themselves Saturday nights, or they want a fabulous price for the job. So there we are . . . stuck! But . . . we've found a solution!

"We let Dick Whittinghill do it . . . for a song! (Or to be specific, a vocalist). All we do is tune to the 'Alarm Clock Club,' KIEV, every Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday morning, and try to guess the vocalist. If we do, Dick, the 'Clock,' comes over and sits with our small fry from 7:00 p.m. till 11:00 p.m. Saturday. No kidding now, this is on the up 'n' up! We won last Tuesday, and over Dick came Saturday night. And boy, can he sit babies! He made a beeline for the nursery, popped a bottle into Karen's (six months) mouth, swooped Steven (one and a half) into his crib, sang 'em a lullaby, and went into the den to read his baby book. Whatta man! Incidentally, he's nice-looking, young . . . I almost sat home with the sitter, until he called his wife (who briefs him when he gets in a spot with the kids).

"Now, I ask you . . . what more could you ask from radio? Refrigerators, furniture, and now baby sitters! Now we listen to the radio with pleasure, buy Radio Life, and you've saved a customer . . . or Dick Whittinghill has. I think it's swell, and I know you will too. He's got my vote for the sitter of the year . . . and he makes a good alarm clock too. He's on from 6:00 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. and the music is fine."

Well, we hardly know whom to thank . . . Mr. Whittinghill or his enthusiastic endorsers. At any rate, it's a brand new bright idea for saving both subscriptions and listeners!

"Everybody in His Act!"

There's another great profile floating around Hollywood . . . a dead ringer for Jimmy Durante. "Schnozzola" discovered his double right in the front row of CBS' "Durante-Moore" show last Friday p.m. The resemblance so unnerved him that Jimmy lost his head, and shouting "My very livelihood is in jeopardy!" ordered the innocent offender out of the studio and away from his sight!

But the truth came out when Jimmy could no longer contain his delight at others' amazement. It seems that one day recently a carpenter, Joe Theiss by name, wandered into the agency office to do a bit of repair work. Astounded by his resemblance to the comedian, the agency people detained him while Mr. Durante was hustled to the scene. After the initial shock, Jimmy fell on Mr. Theiss with glad cries, immediately arranged a part in the last Friday night's warmup (during which he pulled the ordering-out act), and is now generously and busily arranging that his double work with him in other fields of entertainment.

Wasn't it Leigh Hunt who was responsible for the old quotation "The beautiful attracts the beautiful"?

Unscrambling a Team

Offhand we'd say that when the members of a team become so identified with each other that we can't tell 'em apart, they're really a successful merger. 'Cause look what we did to Steve Allen and Wendell Noble in our Father's Day issue of June 15!—we mixed up their identities so thoroughly that it gives us a headache when we try to unscramble them. But here goes:

In the first place the man we called Steve Allen is Wendell Noble and the one we pegged as Wendell Noble is Steve Allen. Are you following us? Well, here comes the hard part. We said, "The young lady in Steve's arms is daughter Kathleen. . . ." It was Kathleen but she was cuddled happily in the arms of Father Noble. And continuing, "just seventeen days younger than Steve's boy, Brian, right," thereby wrongly identifying both kiddies as members of the Allen clan. Got it straight?

We think we'll go and lie down for a while.

McNeill Mots

It went by too fast for us to write it down word-for-word, but we liked this observation by ABC's Don McNeill on "Breakfast Club" the other ayem.

"I am a quarter," announced Don. "You can't get into a theater with me. I'm not big enough for a tip. You can't spend me for much candy or go any place in a taxi with me. You can't buy a sandwich with me at lunch . . . but on Sunday mornings in the collection plate—I'm some dough!"

NOTES TO YOU

By ANDY MANSFIELD

- 1 note—fair
 - 2 notes—pleasing
 - 3 notes—very good
- Chord in G—tops

(This week's column is by Andy's capable little missus, Virginia Lee, pinch-hitting for Andy, who was called east by the death of his mother.—Editor.)

ALBUM OF THE WEEK

Margaret Whiting, with warmth and feeling, sings eight memorable show tunes by Rodgers and Hart. A pleasant diversion is Miss Whiting's rhythmic singing of "Thou Swell" and "This Can't Be Love"—and backed by Frank DeVol's excellent arrangements, it easily slides into the Chord-in-G class. (Capitol Album.)

KAY KYSER & ORCH.

Mr. Kay has been turning out some mighty fine numbers lately and this definitely is one of them. His relaxed style combined with the dreamy voice of Harry Babbitt and The Campus Kids make "Dreamland" out of this world. However, the whole organization comes back with a bang on the reverse novelty side, "A Trout, No Doubt." The combination rates a good three notes. (Columbia.)

JO STAFFORD

The new rhythm ballad "I'm So Right Tonight" is just that for Miss Stafford. This is one of Jo's best and is aided immeasurably by Paul Weston, giving out with an irresistible beat . . . reverse "Passing By" done in the usual smooth Stafford style makes three notes a must. (Capitol.)

JOHNNIE JOHNSTON

"You're Not So Easy to Forget"—a smooth ballad showcases the dulcet baritone voice of that up-and-coming young man, Johnnie Johnston. He has a very pleasing style and the lilting "Ain'tcha Ever Comin' Back" on the reverse side helps nudge this one into the three-note department. (M.G.M.)

DESI ARNAZ

If you like your music South American style, then you'll like this double release. "Brazil" and "Babalu," with vocal by Arnaz . . . "Tabu" with vocal by Arnaz—and "La Cumparsita." All numbers are good, but it took "Brazil" and "Tabu" to put this double header in the three-note class. (RCA-Victor.)

GAGS OF THE WEEK

Mrs. C. D. McClenathen, 1217 South Highland Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.
 Heard on "Breakfast in Hollywood":
 Tom: Some people believe you can get rid of bunions by burying a cat.
 Conny: I believe it. Especially if the bunion is on the cat!
Mrs. R. E. Talbot, 5716 Virginia Avenue, Hollywood 38, Calif.
 Heard on "Glamour Manor":
 Aunt Jane: Don, I want you to know
 I'm really attractive. Men go for me!
 Don: I know they go for you . . .
 but do they come back?
Mrs. Isabelle Noble, 4366 Westlawn Avenue, Venice, Calif.
 Heard on the Bob Hope show:
 Bob: I had dinner at the White House the other day, and I nearly starved. I sat beside a senator, and he refused to pass anything.

Mrs. Mabel Padgett, 1271 1/2 West 37th
 Place, Los Angeles, Calif.
 Heard on the Bob Hope show:
 Hope: Tell me, General, are you speaking from the front?
 Colonna (as General Washington):
 Certainly . . . that's the only way I know how!

SEASONAL TIP

"The bigger the summer vacation, the harder the fall," wisely quips
 Vaughn Monroe, bandleader starred on CBS.

MAKE HIM WORK FOR IT

Severest critics of MBS performer
 Jan August are his three young daughters, who leave their comments in a long white envelope in his room every night. Following a recent show, he hurried home as usual, ripped open his communique and found: "Daddy, use a hot iron to learn what we really think." Nonplussed Jan applied the necessary heat, and read the following message, penned in lemon juice:
 "You were great, but if we told you right off, you'd have a swelled head.
 The Kids."

WHISTLING HIGH

CBS' "The Whistler", advancing steadily in rating since going national a short time ago, continues to be one of the Coast's top ten air shows, checking in at 20.7 on latest count.

"WHISTLER" CHANGES TO WEDNESDAYS
Most Popular Program in West Coast Radio History on Tonite
KNX 8 P.M.

At this time, when so many popular programs are going off the air for the Summer, it was good news for mystery fans when Signal Oil announced that The Whistler would remain on all summer. During the past winter this unique mystery passed all other mystery programs in popularity and established a new record for ALL Pacific Coast Programs. The Whistler is sponsored by Signal Oil Company. Fans can hear The Whistler tonite at 8:00 P.M. on the Columbia Network.

STOESS EXHIBIT

William Stoess, musical director for ABC's "Greatest Story Ever Told," has shipped his entire collection of religious wood-carvings out here for the Southern California summer art exhibit. Stoess first learned woodcarving from his father, a cabinet maker, and for more than twenty years has been credited for some of the finest religious statuettes in the country.

REPEAT THAT QUESTION

"How long have you been married?" ventured quizmaster Phil Baker, with a recent woman contestant on his CBS "Take It or Leave It" show. "Eleven years," she countered. "Would you say that your husband is the ideal man?" Baker inquired.

"I beg your pardon?" she replied.

★ ★ CRASH!

Quite accustomed to the hullabaloo of Mutual's "Superman" adventures is organist Johnny Gart's dog, "Brandy." Frequently a visitor at rehearsals, "Brandy" lies quietly at his master's feet unperturbed by the worst of blasting sound effects. Last week, however, he broke the show with a piercing, surprised yelp . . . Jackie Kelk had dropped his script!

MODERO SCRIPTS

EXEMPLARY

Scripts on Mutual's "Johnny Modero—Pier 23" show are now being used as classroom examples of solid writing at Los Angeles City College, in the radio department. "Slick similes" and fast-paced story plots are credited for making the series such an important dramatic success.

PRACTICED PREACHING

Caroline Leonetti, charm expert appearing on CBS' "House Party", is her own success example. At sixteen, she was five foot-four, weighed 160 pounds, and was an outright wallflower. Diet, courses in fencing, make-up, diction, and design transformed her into one of Hollywood's most alluring women.

PETER IN FLICKERS

Peter Lind Hayes has returned to New York for the first time since his Copacabana debut last May, but not for another night club engagement. Peter will face the lenses in his first starring screen vehicle, Universal-International's "The Senator Was Indiscreet." He will also probably discuss plans for the forthcoming White Way musical, "Cross Town," in which he's to co-star with his actress wife, Mary Healy.

DOUBLE DOG-BISCUITS

CBS newscaster Bob Garred owns a pair of twin dachshunds that weigh exactly the same, and do the same tricks simultaneously.

My Friend Jane

the faculty and ordered to "go into her act." The teachers were so amused at her clever caricatures of themselves that, instead of expelling her, they gave her the lead in the Christmas play.

Later Cathy went on to St. Joseph's Academy, and her performance in the senior class play while she was still a freshman gained such enthusiastic reviews from the St. Paul papers that she was offered parts by the Bainbridge Players, a leading stock company. She couldn't leave school, of course, but she did keep on with drama by appearing with the St. Paul Civic Repertory group while she continued her academic training.

Some place along here, Cathy got to be a singer. She auditioned with fifty other girls for Bandleader Herbie Kay. She won, of course, and was given the prize of six weeks on a CBS radio revue originating on WCCO, Minneapolis. For quite a long time, singing replaced drama for Cathy, and she finished school while thrashing for such visiting orchestras as Ben Pollack, Herb Stern, Red Nichols, Johnny Davis and Glen Gray.

A trip to Chicago finally started Cathy on her way to Hollywood. It seems like the long way 'round, but she explains that while she was in the Windy City for guest appearances with the Kay Kyser band, she discovered that she'd gone just about as far as she could go on the Midwest circuits, and if she wanted to graduate from the singing class, she'd better head west.

Gets Screen Test

She came to Hollywood. She sang once in a while with Ray Noble's band, but mostly she just sat and waited for a break. No dramatic school would take her as a student because she was too experienced, and she couldn't break into movies because she didn't have enough experience. Finally, things began to clear up a little when she got a leading role at Ben Bard's, where Jack Carson and Alan Ladd were also getting their start. It happened that Ida Koverman, assistant to Louis B. Mayer at MGM, was in the audience one night and arranged a screen test for Cathy.

Out of that came a six-month contract as a stock player at MGM. She did one scene with Spencer Tracy in "Fury," but aside from that there wasn't much action. With girls like Greer Garson and Rita Johnson, she sat around waiting for a part. They did each other's nails and experimented with glamorous hair-dos, waiting for calls from the studio that never came. After a while Cathy got tired of that, and when option time came along she resigned. She entered competition at the Pasadena Playhouse and wound up with a leading role in its laboratory presentation of "The People's Choice."

After that, Cathy was very active at the Playhouse, joining hopefuls like Don Defore, Wayne Morris, Dana Andrews and Victor Mature in their first big-time tryouts.

But she worked too hard, and following her peak performance as star of "To Quito and Back", Cathy broke down. Her health and her money ran out at the same time, and she and her mother set up a "home for tired actors" in Hollywood, where Cathy was probably the most tired and the most talented of the patients.

She was free-lancing at Warners and Universal after she recovered, when Maxwell Anderson suggested she try a Broadway play. She joined the Coast company of "The Man Who Came to Dinner", gambling that it would wind up in New York. But after six months on the road, Alexander Woolcott, the star, suffered a heart attack and the show was disbanded in San Francisco.

Then Cathy came back to Hollywood, discovering that her roommate, June Wilkins, had become engaged to the eminent radio producer, William N. Robson. He encouraged Cathy to enter radio as a dramatic actress and she answered a call to appear on the Woodbury Playhouse, where she met Elliott Lewis, whom she married in 1943, just after he joined the Army. So you can see how important it is for a girl to have a nice roommate, though this was long before she had me, of course.

Well, anyway, since then she and Elliott have become one of Hollywood's busiest acting teams—and they write, too.

Cathy certainly deserves the star billing she gets on "My Friend Irma". She gets mad so beautifully! Sometimes I'm so fascinated at how well she gets mad that I forget it's me she's mad at.

'Cause, after all, I'm "Irma".

Contests and Offers

"QUEEN FOR A DAY," KHJ, 11:30 a.m. daily—You're asked to send in a postcard with the name and address of a "best friend of the show," together with your own identification. Cards will be chosen at random by "Queen" contestants during July and August, and each lucky "friend" will receive the same royal gifts accorded "Her Majesty." Address "Queen for a Day," Hollywood.

"BREAKFAST IN HOLLYWOOD," KECA, 9:30 a.m. daily—A genuine "wishing ring" will be awarded by hearty Tom Breneman on each of his Monday through Friday programs, to the writer sending in the best-expressed "wish." Address your entry, postcard preferred, to Tom Breneman, "Breakfast in Hollywood," California.

"PORT OF MISSING HITS," KFI, 4:15 p.m. daily—Cash and jewelry prizes, in addition to merchandise orders, if you can send in a "best letter" requesting your old-time song favorite. Address Jerry Lawrence, "Port of Missing Hits," Station KFI, Los Angeles.

"HOLLYWOOD PLATTER PARTY," KHJ, 11:00 p.m. nightly—"Smile Time" guys Steve Allen and Wendell Noble invite your decision in a once-and-for-all contest to pick the west coast's star disc jockey. Send in votes, one per person, to "Hollywood Platter Party," Station KHJ, Hollywood 38, including your name and address. Steve and Wendell, nat-urally, withdraw from the running.

My Friend Irma

Anaheim, to be exact. That was on December 30, nineteen hundred and none-of-your-business.

She went to school in the home town, spending her days in the classroom, her daydreams behind the footlights. She wasn't one of those precocious children who went in for parlor theatrics . . . you know, the Mother - wants - you - to - recite - for - the - nice - people - dear type thing. For Marie, acting was strictly from dreams until she was fifteen. Then she went to Hollywood, where the dream became a nightmare for a couple of years! At that time, Sarah Bernhardt could have sat in, a casting-office waiting room until she turned to stone . . . and then they'd probably have shooed her away with a chisel and a "no casting today."

So Marie decided to spend the time between studio tours taking dramatic lessons. She went to a coach by the name of Sandy Saunders, who recognized in our comely miss a young lady with a great deal of talent . . . not all of it showing, either! As a matter of fact, she was so sold on Marie that she went on giving her lessons for nothing during the hard times, content to wait for her payment until the ship came in.

Got Brush

And when the ship arrived, finally, it was christened "Miss Pacific Fleet." That was Marie's first picture after she won a contract with Warner Brothers.

Until then, Marie had never quite made up her mind whether to be a dramatic actress or a comedienne. Her many tests and a quirk of fate solved that. Hollywood was over-run with dramatic artistes, but good comediennes were as scarce as snowmen in Panama. Voila, she became a comedienne. And she was so all-fired good that she's been one ever since.

One of Marie's few experiences in radio stemmed from a guest appearance she made with Ken Murray when Ken had his own air-show. When, in 1942, Ken got his million-dollar idea for the "Blackouts" revue, he remembered Marie and decided she was the perfect lass to fill his leading lady role. So our Ir—. . . I mean, Marie . . . went, saw and conquered another field of endeavor, the vaudeville stage.

She's been starring in "Blackouts" ever since . . . and no matter how bad your arithmetic is, you know that five years is a pretty good run.

"My Friend Irma" is her first regular radio series. She says it's all very new and she's terribly confused . . . she says. Confused like a streetcar on its trolley. She's as excited as a schoolgirl about the whole thing. Next to her husband, actor Allan Nixon, Marie likes radio best!

That's "My Friend Irma."

SHE PINT-SIZED blonde girl, hardly more than a child, used to wander almost daily into the music shop in the center of Long Beach. The young lady in charge at the sheet music counter made friends with the little patron, and learned that she was Helene Smith, who had recently moved to the coast with her parents from Burlington, Vermont.

It was as natural for Helene to turn into a music store for her fun as for most young people to wander into a movie. For already music was a matter of recreation to the talented youngster, rather than a chore. Helene's mother was a concert pianist, and had been training her daughter since the time Helene was just a tot.

The music store acquaintance grew over the mutual interest, and one day Helene was invited by her new-found friend to visit a radio station. It was during that visit to KFOX (then known as KFON), that she met Hal Nichols. He appreciated young Miss Smith's enthusiasm over the quiet studios and big pianos there, and suggested she drop by any time to play piano. You must remember this was in the days before radio became a commercial thing. Helene was glad enough to avail herself of the offer, and that began her growing up in radio.

And as she grew she increased her talents. "I'd wanted so much to learn to play the organ, and here was my chance. I went to a business school and learned enough shorthand and typing to get a little job, so I could take my lessons on first a Hammond, then a Wurlitzer. I studied under Walter Freed. It was all completely baffling at first. I didn't think I'd ever be able to work with my feet and my hands, but one day it just happened and there I was, playing the organ to beat the band!"

Now Helene's playing both piano and organ "to beat the band" with KGER. She remained at KFOX for almost seven years before joining KGER's staff as mistress of the Wurlitzer. When KGER decided it needed a Los Angeles studio in addition to the Long Beach outlet, along she came for a three-day-a-week piano stint.

To see Helene it's hard to believe she's been in radio that many years. A trim little person (Helene is only five feet tall), she favors tailored suits and smart accessories. They go well with her very blonde hair and fair coloring. Probably it's her gay and cheerful spirits that make her work still seem like play to her. That and the fact that she really loves all music. Helene herself picks out all the music she will play during a week, and turns it in to the station, which fits it to the script. Everything from Wagner's "Evening Star" to "Tico Tico" that she plays more than twice is a matter of memory. That's all it takes. Twice over and the tune is hers.

You can see that her daily program of two shows, on piano and organ, would lead to a heap o' musical learning. Too, almost every network in the city has at some time or another had Helene's touch on the keyboard responsible for some of their shows' musical backgrounds. Possibly best-known was her place on KHJ's "Uncle John," or "The Saturday Afternoon Frolic". On the latter we heard her as part of a piano team, Wilbur Hatch being the other two hands. Now you can hear her doing the background music for "Life Begins at Seventeen", over KGER. Mondays at 5:30 p.m.

"I guess I've worked in radio about as long as anyone I know. Probably one reason I love it so. Having started at the time everyone else was more or less groping around, I'm as much at home in a studio as I am in my own kitchen." But the kitchen in the Hollywood apartment she occupies as Mrs. Lamb leaves much to be desired, Helene feels. "As soon as we are able to secure materials easily, we plan on building, and believe me, the two things I really want in my home are a Hammond organ and a good big kitchen."

The "we" she uses means Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lamb. Her husband, Dick, is the well-known actor who has just returned from his latest trip abroad with the USO. "Dick is trying to spirit me away to Paris to live for a year. I'm almost tempted, too, when he tells me of the Champs Elysees or the funny shops along the 'Left Bank'. And the wonderful perfumes he sent me from there." (One of Helene's indulgences is perfume. The other is shoes, and we couldn't help thinking her shoe rack must look like a doll's with all those tiny size three's neatly in rows.)

The Lambs' working schedules allow them to enjoy the pleasures they happily both favor. Musical comedies, dancing, nearly any stage presentation, Frankie Carle's music, and those Sunday morning breakfasts that are the highlight of their week. "With the limited time and kitchen space we can make a project of only one meal each week, so we choose Sunday breakfast as our favorite time. Then we surround ourselves with all the Sunday papers and have a great wonderful breakfast with cups and cups of coffee."

Time must be limited for the busy little musician. She treks Mondays and Thursdays to Long Beach for the Wurlitzer session, and Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday mans the Hammond here in Los Angeles. And a quarter of an hour with her piano on the air every weekday. But it's all taken in stride. Working means "playing", to paraphrase and that's what she likes.

"It took those twenty-some years before I really felt 'in' about radio, though," says Helene. "Then the other evening when I was playing the organ, it happened, and I had that baptism by fire that nearly everyone appearing on the air undergoes sooner or later. I had turned to the last page of my last selection for the evening, and there in front of me lay not a neat organ arrangement written for hands and feet, such as is used in playing the Wurlitzer. The page lying before me was a violin arrangement!"

WITH THE VOICE of James Melton, the symphonic leadership of Dr. Frank Black, and our tested system of assembling programs objectively . . . I figure our shows are seventy-five per cent together before the work's even begun," is the cheerful view of thin Glan Heisch, producer of NBC's Sunday "Harvest of Stars."

And certainly the healthy audience of this novel light classical concert series attests to the effortless pace of its development, proof assured that "The Harvester" has swung smooth and low in reaping audience appeal. Founded in October, 1945, the "Harvest" is one of radio's few privileged all-around-the-calendar shows. By planting its musical crops in fertile listening ground, by thoughtfully nourishing the soil in the best and proven tradition, the series weekly takes its astounding Hooperate as nonchalantly as Aunt Nellie's blue ribbon preserves.

The original thought of McCann-Erickson agency executive Russ

Johnston, "The Harvest of Stars" has, from its first wholesome brochure avoided slap-dash choice in its style of entertainment. "Pop" tunes have been almost completely nil, save for such established favorites as the scores from "Oklahoma," "Carousel," "Annie, Get Your Gun" and other like current box-office breakers. A few operatic choices, streamlined to the modern taste, of course, find their way into each program, due to Melton's stirring Metropolitan tenor . . . but any tilt towards "highbrow" gets a stern blue pencil. Deliberately, the entire musical format goes out to, and reaches, the vast "middle public" which leans to neither over-flourish nor under-estimation in its song preference.

What Audience Likes

An interesting process is the method of musical "pre-testing" which assures each half-hour its success. After huddling studiously together in cooperative reflection, Heisch, Melton and Dr. Black put together the fundamental melodic skeletons of a few future programs. Then, before a sort of junior "Gallup Poll" panel, carefully composed of folks from every age, income, education and intellect group, these "shows perhaps to be" are tentatively auditioned. As this unbiased "special audience" listens, red buttons register "no," green buttons register "yes" in a lively "thumbs up, thumbs down" session which helps ascertain the best and the not-so-good. Too-unfamiliar pieces have regularly failed in these tests, as have selections too sad, too obscure, too blatant.

Verbally and musically, once these reactions have been noted, an entire quartet of programs is put together four weeks in advance. Occasional guest stars are arranged for and contacted. Best "tempo" numbers of the lot are put into the hands of Harry Simeone, who arranges them for the unusual sixteen-voice "Harvest" chorus, which opens and closes each program. Remainder of pieces are put into harmonious sequence and finally presented to the continuity writer, who looks the frameworks over, emits an "mmmm-hmmmmmm" of comprehension, and dresses things up properly, in words befitting the occasion. Heisch has, in the meantime, been going over stories and sketches for the five-minute dramatic interludes which divide the shows. His preferences are sent to Bernard Herrmann, prominent motion picture composer and creator of the "Harvest of Stars" theme song (which often draws as much fan mail as the program). Herrmann in turn, develops dramatic background music, sends it to Heisch, and an entire month of shows has been completed in hardly five days.

The rest is up to rehearsals, which are broken into two periods of two and a half hours each over Saturday and Sunday in advance of the 10:30 a.m. deadline. In order to meet Melton's many busy commitments, each section of the show is coached separately . . . the dramatic cast, the chorus, and finally the star and orchestra. A brief half-hour "dress" ties all of it together neatly, and Heisch still has moments for that relaxed smoke before air-time.

In New York "The Harvest" gets underway in studio 8-H before a regular audience of approximately 1000. On this last big tour out to the coast, sell-outs were just as gratifying. For the April 6 Easter show from NBC Hollywood, halls and the studio were jammed. At Seattle's Moore Theatre, the entire seating capacity of 1200 overflowed. San Francisco's War Memorial Opera House, seating 3000, turned a good half of that same number away. Earl Carroll's Hollywood restaurant with its 1200-chair tables was crowded to the hilt. Back to New York for a week, and then on to the Memphis Cotton Carnival, the program was followed every roll of the way by more ticket requests than it could possibly handle. Obviously not for beans was Melton picked "the most popular operatic tenor in the country" by the recent combined poll of newspaper radio editors transcontinentally!

Only Quartet Travels

We wondered aloud about moving all those people across the country and back again, visioning private railroad car after private railroad car packed screaming full of music-making, jumping, thumping humanity on its way to appearances. After a pleasantly hearty laugh, Heisch assured us that no such cramming and jamming was necessary. "As a matter of fact," he enlightened us, "only four of us actually travel . . . myself, Dr. Black, Simeone and Melton." It sounded like a mighty small cast for such a mighty big show, but Heisch explained that the entire orchestral, choral and dramatic casts for each broadcast on tour were contacted and assembled "way ahead of time" through telegrams and phone calls to every city where they were to stop. All that was finally requisite was for Dr. Black and Simeone to "front" their newly-organized musical groups for rehearsals and the final curtain, and for Heisch to give the go-signal to the dramatic personnel already thoroughly versed in its script.

Such efficiency in every detail is not only abashing to failure, but an "accentuation of the positive" which is a magnet to success. Heisch himself is a hardened radio "sharpie" who has never been known to miss. Former program director for both KFI and KNX, chief of overseas production for OWI during the war, and lege and a first inking on his "police record" file.

How It Started

The boy saw the coupe parked off campus, keys in the ignition switch. Just for fun, he wondered why he couldn't take a spin into town, tour around a bit; then park the car on a side street and anonymously call the police.

As he drove off, the owner spotted him and phoned in an alarm. Only a few miles up the highway, the boy ran out of gas. He hopped out to thumb a ride and was picked up by an obviously honest citizen. The police stopped them both shortly afterward, with routine questions regarding the reported theft. His public duty working full-time, the driver pointed to the boy beside him, "That's the one, officer. Fits the description perfectly." Without further interrogation, "Dick" was yanked down to the station, finger-printed and marked "tentative criminal tendencies."

The boy reported his misdemeanor of his own accord, as soon as he returned to college, and of course the semi-sympathetic dean countered with "You know the rules." With his credits only half-good, "Dick" left college in the middle of an important term. It was his second suspension; the first had been from a bottle of liquor found in his room the year before. Teachers and fellow students shrugged "Not really a bad sort, just couldn't help getting in a jam."

A frank perusal of the boy's home life revealed many causes. The youngster had had an abnormal but continually rebuffed affection for his mother. In frequent tiffs with his younger brother "Dick" had rarely received the benefit of the doubt, and often had been strapped with a leather belt at his mother's insistence. His dad, the youngster admitted, sometimes stood up for him, but this spasmodic championship had failed to compensate for an overwhelming desire for the love of his mother.

He had never had close friends; didn't know why, just too shy, he supposed. His brother, on the other hand, had been quite athletic, quite popular. They had barely tolerated each other throughout school, but during later years rifts had been increasingly bitter, particularly after "Dick" had helped his brother buy a car, then had been told he couldn't use it. Following this last disappointment, "Dick" had made an actual threat to kill his brother. "Some day," he had warned, "I'll stick a knife in your heart."

He had had no girls until college. (Please Turn to Page 39)

How Guilty Are You?

Of the Laws and Lives Broken Every Day? Crime Cracker Lukas Abruptly Tells You On Mutual's Series, "I Was a Convict"

By Jae Smith

Sunday, 4 p.m.
MBS—KHJ-KGB-KVOE

AS shattering to compare as an unannounced push past the guarded and closed doors of human failure are the probings of an intense little man whose steady voice comes to you each Sunday afternoon at 4 through your Mutual radio speaker.

Contending that crime takes a moment to commit but a lifetime to precipitate, energetic lawyer-investigator Edwin J. Lukas has dedicated himself to the enormous job of taking over an unwanted problem where society leaves off. And, since there is much which the ordinary citizen can do to help, he enlists your listening and thinking aid on a jolting airways series called "I Was a Convict."

During these weekly interviews with fast-becoming delinquents, or men and women recently paroled from the prisons of our country, Lukas works with intent to prove that detecting a crime will not avert it; that an analysis of motivation might. With the kilocycles jangling from cop-and-robber stories, super sleuths and triple mayhem, it's a new twist . . . and a constructive one.

Each week, an unidentified "Case History" visits the Mutual studios. After hearing a short dramatization of the crime which sent him to prison, he then takes part in a personal interview with Lukas, covering his school, home and social-life background. Names are fictitious, but events are authentic, and as the listener you may have the unsettling feeling that it "could happen to you . . . and you!" At some point or other in the script, you are going to detect a chance for your own personal services in the present "botch" of public endeavor along these lines; and intelligent recruits are the desired end of the show.

For instance, count yourself "in" on this typical recent case of a twenty-one-year-old minor offender called "Dick," who was fundamentally honest, but whose half-way pilfering of a car resulted in suspension from col-

"Woman in White"

*Another Former Chicago Show
Now a Hollywood Production*

SARAJANE WELLS, "Eileen" of "Woman in White," came to Hollywood to continue her role when the popular soap opera moved from Chicago. Miss Wells had long been a favorite leading lady in that city of serials, and those who have followed her in her present role have probably recognized her voice on many other Windy City presentations like "Guiding Light" and "First Nighter."

A native of Kentucky, Miss Wells fostered first ambitions as a writer or painter. She studied at both Northwestern and the Chicago Art Institute before a part in an Oscar Wilde play at the Goodman Theater pointed the way to professional acting.

Perhaps as "Betty Fairfield" in "Jack Armstrong," Sarajane is best known to a generation of young radio listeners. She played the part for thirteen years and relinquished it only at the time of her move to the west coast. "Louise" in "Right to Happiness," "Claudia" in "Road of Life" and "Mary Rutledge" in "Guiding Light" are parts which should recall Sarajane to the minds of soap opera fans.

children's stories. Many of her books have been published, and she devotes herself to improving the selection of books available to children.

"Woman in White" left the air some years ago and returned after a hiatus with a new cast of characters and a new story. Since that time, three and a half years ago, Sarajane Wells has been your "Eileen."

How Guilty Are You?

His dad had sternly forbidden "dates," a command which the younger boy had breezily overlooked, but which had visibly impressed "Dick." During his first college year, he had fallen in love with a girl who had "sort of reminded" him of his mother. She had jibed him continually for being "such a fool," and finally, after many succeeding hurts, "Dick" had stopped seeing her, when she had broken a date on her birthday, one he had planned with special care.

Lukas usually ends his interviews at about this point. There, he infers, are the cards on the table. Is "Dick" your problem, or the state's? If you had been the parents, the girl, the college dean, the police officers, even the man who had picked the youngster up on the highway, would you have reacted exactly in the same way . . . "an unwelcome situation," something to be turned over to "somebody else?" Maladjusted "Dick" had met this same attitude all through school and in every sort of social contact . . . an identical expression of distaste for his inability to cope with circumstances. The public, Lukas insists, must mount a horse of a different color if the alarming and rising high-jump of crime increase is to be hurdled.

Cold Arithmetic

To drive his message home more emphatically, Lukas concludes by "calling in another specialist," usually an outstanding probation officer or noted psychologist who views the case and offers his co-diagnosis. Together he and Lukas offer many important conclusions which both state and individual would do well to copy. Many weeks ago, the interviewee was a man who had spent a good portion of his fifty years in jail—crime, petty thievery. He had stolen a sum totaling under $200. It had cost public taxes over $75,000 to detain him. Such arithmetic ought to be a shock of cold water to any measure of staid complacency!

Another week, the ex-offender was an aspiring young writer who wrote the dramatization of his own crime for the program. What might have been a promising career in journalism had suffered a ruinous end in prison.

The weekly mail and telephone responses on the series provide more material than even Lukas or his writers can handle. From all over the country aroused listeners address Lukas personally, and in four or five pages, or fifteen-minute long-distance calls, ask for help on their own problems. Some queries come from mothers who are wary of certain tendencies in their own children; some from young people themselves, who have situations similar to those on the air. Lukas answers all requests himself, if only to refer individuals to men or agencies trained in the work in their own localities.

As supplement to the "I Was a Convict" broadcasts Lukas has also published a pamphlet under the auspices of his position as executive director of the National Society for the Prevention of Crime. Copies, entitled "Crime Takes But a Moment to Commit," are available for fifteen cents, sent to Lukas at MBS, New York. In the straightforward pages of this vital extra piece Lukas again repeats the message which has become a standard slogan of his air program, "We prevent crime only by preventing criminals."

The Hawthorne Story

where the gals were much prettier anyway.

Radio is keen.

So what, I like to foul up records. If you want to hear 'em straight, listen to KFWB. It's my show and if I want to speed 'em up or slow 'em down, that's my business. Personally, I think the Wayne King-Franklyn McCormick waxing of "Melody of Love" sounds much better played fast.

I will now be a seal. (SOUND: SEAL BARKING.)

Mom stages style shows for the big Denver department stores and is a big shot. Dad is in charge of the Denver detective department or something.

I call my Grandmother Maggie because her name is Jesse.

Recently the manager of KXLA, Loyal King, provided me with a special ventilator from which I do remote broadcasts. It is much cooler there and I enjoy air-conditioning first hand. The boss said I needed air-conditioning anyway, which I am repeating because I think it might make an impression on him.

Program Director Norman Rogers never listens to me, which goes to prove one person at KXLA has kept his sanity.

Egbert plays records through no fault of mine, but the Union has a contract with the station and we have to keep him.

Glamour of the theater intrigued me (hey, look, I'm using big words) so I got a job as theater manager. Then I went to work for a couple of Denver radio stations for less money (all right, Freud, I'm coming). June, 1942, saw me in Hollywood, where I received credits on nine feature pictures as assistant director, which naturally gave me the groundwork for my present job.

Enlisting in the Army Air Corps in October 1942, I saw foreign duty in Arizona and Texas.

KXLA finally snagged me in 1946 after dickering with me for two and a half minutes. I agreed to work for staff pay and also throw in a few hours a week on the microphone.

This I am still doing. However, some day one of the salesmen is going to sell my show by mistake, thinking he has a "spot" contract. How do other shows get sponsors?

I am not married (which means I'm single) and am going to retire at the age of forty and go around the world. I might even go to Alaska before then. I've an offer to do frost warnings on a station there.

Recently I did a television broadcast over Don Lee's W6XAO and shortly after it was announced that there would be a year's delay in general television programming. I still don't understand the significance of this statement.

This story came to you from hunger . . . this is the net-to-net coast-work of the Oh So Peachy Broadcasting System . . . this is Hawthorne . . . Egbert plays records?

producer for one and a half years of radio's famed "Vox Pop," he's now been with "The Harvester" since March, 1946. An accomplished piano artist as well, his more-than-the-layman's regard for good music has been of immeasurable aid in his first all-musical program. A spry little man with jabbing eyes and essential gestures, he counts careful allotment of time and consideration of listener response the most indispensable in making a hit.

In fact, when he stood up after our interview, slid some important papers into his briefcase and precisely snapped the clasp shut, it seemed to us that he had just as characteristically put away for safe-keeping the entire success of all "Harvest of Stars" shows for many seasons to come!

Sirs: I have been a reader of Radio Life for some time, and enjoy it greatly. I wonder if you could do a story and pictures on Frank Lovejoy ("Murder and Mr. Malone"). Have also heard him numerous times on the "Sound Off" shows, among many others, and feel that his characterization of "Hank Peters" on the "United Nations at Work" program a few weeks back made it the great success it was. Enjoy (both) "Pat Novak" programs also. Best wishes for continued success.

A large two-pager went to the entire "Mr. Malone" cast (inclusive of authoress Craig Rice and Frank Lovejoy) in our February 23, 1947, issue. Guess you "Missed it." We agree about Frank's interpretation of "Hank Peters." It was excellent.
