Mrs. W. B. Burns, 146 East 55th Street, Long Beach 5, Calif.

Sirs: Answering W. P. Shepherd's letter in Radio Life, July 13, suggesting you publish an index giving names of sponsors, etc.:

Does W.P. tune off during the commercials? We surely get enough of an index of sponsors, products and on-and-on over the air, until we're ready to tear our hair. No! No! No! Please don't take up space in your very interesting magazine for the suggested index. We enjoy Radio Life very much, and only wish it were twice as large!

Mrs. Ruby Edwards, 240 1/2 West 41st Street, Los Angeles 37, Calif.

Sirs: I do hope you will publish the police codes soon! I try to get one of your magazines each week, but can't always find one. I don't sleep very well, and like to listen to the police late at night, and I would like to know what the numbers mean.

Radio Life visits the vital operating circuit of Los Angeles' police system in the pages of its September 7 issue. Police codes will be included.

Mr. Phil Staats, 416 West 51st Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Fred Haney

nouncer? I enjoy his very fine broadcasts.

Sirs: I've been reading your fine magazine for a very long time, and have finally decided to write and tell you how much I enjoy it.

I have one request. Will you please print a picture of Fred Haney, KLAC baseball announcer?

Harold Anderson, 822 West 64th Street, Los Angeles 44, Calif.

Sirs: We have listened to the Union Oil program, "Richard Davis, Private Investigator" regularly during the past year, not because its stars have the finest voices, because it is good radio, or because we are mystery fans.

No—we've listened to "Richard Davis" solely out of an insatiable curious fascination as a result of hearing the same people (other than the principals) play the same roles week after week.

Some night, a different actor is going to be murdered, a different actor will play the lawyer, the nephew, the spurned lover, etc., and my wife and I WANT TO BE BY OUR RADIO WHEN IT HAPPENS!

We know of no other radio show on the air that makes such an obvious practice of using the same performers so often in the same type roles until their spontaneity is totally lacking, and the listener can very often tell "Whodunit" simply by recalling a previous show.

It can't be that these few are the most competent actors, but rather that the person casting is completely lacking in interest or imagination—or more obviously, is just plain lazy!

Mrs. Virgil Finley, 4119 Jacinto Way, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Too much cannot be said for the scientific programs, of which there are all too few. The war work most of us did gave us an interest in such matters, and I feel there is a definite need and desire to continue this education. Knowledge, to be acquired by a person who has only to turn the dial, should be presented interestingly, with just the right amount of pathos, humor and suspense. "Exploring the Unknown" is one perfect example. May there be many more like it. Also Quincy Howe, heard last week for the first time, seems very good. Any chance of him getting an evening hour?

And for me, there aren't enough programs like "Tapestries of Life," "Tobe Reed's Scrapbook" and "So the Story Goes." By the way, how's for one of the Los Angeles stations putting on the last-mentioned program? It's really good.

Can you tell me where "Something to Talk About" has moved?

You probably heard Quincy Howe on a substituting stint. Mrs. Finley, as he is not regularly carried by CBS out here on the coast. "So the Story Goes" is a transcribed series featuring Johnnie Neblett, who was killed not long ago in a plane crash. As you say, the program is excellent, but some stations are not using it due to the death of its narrator. "Something to Talk About" is currently off the KNX schedule, but may return soon, with either a new time or different call-letters.

Charles W. Schafer, Olive View, Calif.

Sirs: Radio is a marvelous thing, and it is doing good work. It can, and will do much better.

Mystery stories are interesting and entertaining. Some are clever, but there seems a tendency toward an assembly-line pattern, with a soliloquizing hero. I seldom miss the "Johnny Moderos," but such programs as "Menace in White" and "The Sunny Side of the Atom" clearly outweigh the "bang-bang boys."

Here's to radio and its great possibilities. Let's enjoy the odor of the flowers and discount the garbage.

STANDARD OF CALIFORNIA PRODUCTS

Sym-Bo-la, Rt. 2, Box 177, Escondido, Calif.

Sirs: Never have I read a comment in Radio Life, which I feel hit the bull's-eye, dead center, as the interpretation of the ten commandments, by Arthur M. Harris, of Upland, California, in the July 27 issue.

Generation of vipers: How long will decent people have to bow their heads in shame when someone else turns on the radio and they are forced to listen to some of the "stuff" which comes forth? No wonder little children's minds are filled with thoughts of murder, sex, etc. And even parents seem to think it is funny, saying that their youngsters have to hear this sometime, so let them find out what life is all about early. No wonder there is so much juvenile delinquency.

I seldom turn the radio on anymore, except for news and good music, and I refuse to buy the products of sponsors who produce such shows. If all decent people would take a stand against these things, sponsors would come through QUICK with some wholesome programs. Dollars talk loud and fast.

Sponsors claim they give the people what they want, but do they? How do they know what we want unless we tell them? Refusing to buy their products would be a good object lesson. What do you think?

We think you have a point, of course. We wonder too why some of you pen-wise "Ear Inspires" people don't communicate with one another to gain your end. Lots of names on a petition to the sponsor might carry more weight.

Mrs. A. W. Barker, 201 East Beacon, Alhambra, Calif.

Sirs: I have looked in vain in the index of your magazine for a notice about the "Sweet Chariot Hour." I am a white woman, but love this program. The singers are very fine, and the program is far more worthwhile than many regularly on the air. I have no doubt missed many of their programs because I could not find them listed. Please include them always in your future magazines. That is what we are paying for, is it not?

"Sweet Chariot Hour" is heard on KXLA, Saturdays at 6:30 p.m., and is listed accordingly in our Saturday log. The tremendous list of programs makes it impossible to include many of these good but smaller times on the alphabetical booking as well, but you'll generally find what you want on the daily schedule . . . accuracy and helpfulness our object!

Mrs. Dorsey Hunnell, 548 South Normandie Avenue, Los Angeles 5, Calif.

Sirs: I've had the pleasure of attending a "Noah Webster Says" broadcast, and I also listen to the program every Thursday night, if I possibly can. I always learn a new word, or perhaps several!

I must admit that Haven MacQuarrie has a wonderful personality and also a perfect voice for radio. Professor Charles Lindsley is a definite intellectual. But why not mention also Doug Gourlay, who has a charming manner, and one of the most musical voices I have heard among announcers?

Your praise of Mr. Gourlay's announcing talents has been noted, Mrs. Hunnell, and we've already jotted him for a future "Mikeman" story.

HERE'S KIEV'S DICK WHITTINGHILL as he sits at his mike asking a true or false question concerning traffic regulations. This ranks as the most important contest on the air—it gives away Dick!

spur-of-the-moment. "I had a guess-the-vocalist contest on the station, and one morning the listeners had a terrible time guessing. Suddenly I said, 'For the first person who calls up with the right answer, I'll come over and sit with your children Saturday night while you go out.' I meant it as a gag, but people have held me to it," Dick smiled.

So every Saturday night for the last three months has found Dick sitting alone in some Glendale parlor while Daddy and Mommy stepped out for the evening. Along with winning Dick's services from six o'clock until eleven at night, the lucky Mr. and Mrs. also receive a corsage from the Town and Country flower shop in Glendale, dinner (with champagne) at the Monterey, an evening at the Alex theater, two dozen diapers and a week's free laundry service from the Valley Diaper Service. Not only that, they

DICK ARRIVES at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Weatherby who won Dick's services as baby sitter for their two little girls. It was the first night out together the couple had been able to manage in over a year!

Tuesday, Wednesday, Saturday, 6:00 a.m. KIEV

MY program", Dick Whittinghill of KIEV told us, "is the only one that has given away people!"

The person who is given away is Dick himself, of course, and in the last three months he has made a present of himself and his service to twelve different families. Like many bright ideas, this one was strictly may take another couple along on their prize-winning outing.

"Do you now that some people haven't been able to go out together in over a year!" he exclaimed. "I've met so many interesting couples since I've been doing this — and they're all so nice. They trust me completely. They always tell me to make myself at home and look into the icebox if I get hungry."

Wife Helps

Dick didn't know much about children until he got started on his present routine. "I was really scared at first," he smiled. "My wife stays at home with a baby book on her lap. Every once in a while I call her frantically and say 'Check on this . . .!'" Dick's wife, Willy—short for Wilamet—doesn't mind missing out on Saturday night outings with her husband. She's just as enthusiastic as Dick is about giving young mothers and fathers a little leisure. She just stipulates that there be an age limit on Dick's charges—no eighteen-year-old babies!

Dick has had to change diapers three times so far—first time in his life he'd ever tried it. Usually takes his Time Magazine along to read if he gets the chance. Sometimes he doesn't as in the case of a recent five-year-old. Her little baby brother had been put to bed but she announced that she was going to stay up and "help" Dick. Her idea of helping was to go out into the kitchen and mix up her version of a cherry phosphate for Dick. "It tasted awful," he told us, "and when I looked into the kitchen—it was a mess! I spent the whole evening cleaning cherry phosphate off the ceiling." Incidentally, Dick hazards the statement, based on his three months record that little girls are more mischievous than little boys. "They always play me for a sucker. When the parents leave, they usually say, 'Now, the kids go to bed at eight o'clock. Don't let them pester you to stay up later'. I look at the little girl and she has a sly look that says, 'He's good for ten o'clock at least.'" And Dick admits that he usually is.

Another bit of briefing that he is usually given is, "and if he starts to cry—don't pick him up. Leave him alone and let him cry". "But I can't do that," Dick sighed. "I sneak in and pick him up. It's a good thing I'm not around them all the time—I'd spoil them all!" Most kids are good and easy for a baby-sitter to care for, he has decided.

Dick brings quite a background to the business of baby-sitting. He's a graduate of the University of Montana where he played the trumpet in the band and was a Sigma Chi member. He's been a Californian off and on for about eight years. He was one of the original founders of the Pied Pipers singing group when it started out with seven members. He admits that when he plays records he bears down rather heavily on Pied Piper selections, though he can't find copies of "Dixieland Stomp", "Polly Wolly Doodle", "All of Me" and "What Is This Thing Called Love", present-day collector's items which he made with the aggregation.

Dick spent four-and-one-half years in the army, starting as private and attaining a captaincy. He was in New Guinea and the Philippines a great part of the time and became a member of Armed Forces Radio Service in Japan. Hospitalized for six months, he's been home for almost two years and on KIEV for about five months.

Dick hasn't done any singing for a long time—except to the babies when they cry. "They seem to like me", he volunteered modestly. Yes, he's had to miss out on some Saturday night fun himself, including the KIEV party at the Del Mar Club.

Still and all, Dick's final word on the subject is, "Babies—I love 'em!"

➡ DICK HAD to change diapers for four-months-old Dotty Dee. Here Dick and Dotty regard each other with equal perplexity.

➡ CHEF DICK DICKSON AND MANAGER HAP NEILSON of the Monterey in Glendale stop by the Weatherby table to congratulate the winners. The winning couple is allowed to take another couple along to share the evening.

▶ FRANK SUNDSTROM. "HE NEEDS ONLY to be accepted by American audiences. He is a finished actor with a pair of soulful eyes that tell his story to the camera, and that women, everywhere, will swoon over. He has the required experience and it will take but one good role to bring him to stardom—of course, that role that becomes the divine coincidence of person and part. It is my hope he gets it soon. Maybe 'Song of My Heart' is it".—(Mrs. Rogers and Miss Brady are with Sundstrom in this photo).

Eight Week Break

Lela Rogers Takes Over "Skippy Hollywood Theater" for an Eight Week Series Airing Her Selections of Six Stars of Tomorrow

Wednesday—8:30 p.m.
KFI

▶ LELA ROGERS has set an enviable record of achievement, not only for herself but for the young people she has sponsored in careers. She has an international reputation as theatrical coach, discoverer and friend of such stars as Betty Grable, Lucille Ball, Alan Curtis, Russell Hayden, Anita Colby and, of course, her famous daughter, Ginger Rogers.

As hostess for a special series on "Skippy Hollywood Theater", she is bringing to the air young motion picture personalities for whom she predicts stardom. Starred on her eight-week transcribed series were Barbara Lawrence, seventeen-year-old Twentieth-Century Fox actress and her bridegroom of less than a month, John Fontaine; Frank Sundstrom, Swedish actor who recently completed his first American film, "Song of My Heart" in which he plays Tschaikowsky; Ruth Brady, comedienne starlet of stage and screen. To be heard in coming weeks are Alan Hale, jr., son of the famous character star; Audrey Long, familiar screen leading lady; William Roy, composer-actor discovery of Davis.

As a climax to the series, Ginger Rogers will star in "Return to America" and Mrs. Rogers, on the final program, will switch from hostess to actress in the play, "The Check".

In view of her past ability to select those qualities which make for stars, Mrs. Rogers discloses these reasons for her predictions:

"There are several contributing factors to my choice of these particular young actors. It is not that these are the only ones coming forward today that I could believe in. There are many others and most attractive ones, but those under contract to studios were not permitted by their studios to make a contract for a platter show, with the exception of Twentieth Century-Fox's Barbara Lawrence. Hence, the other five are free-lance players.

"Only six could be used—narrowing the choice again. However, all ▶ ALAN HALE, JR. He has all the promise of another Alan Hale, and that's good. These juniors have a tough time of it, for nobody wants to believe in them. But, lightning can strike twice in the same place and I believe it has. Alan Junior has profited much by his close association with his father and the privilege of being daubed, all his life, with grease paint. He's a good actor, sensitive and vibrant. He knows what he wants and has the stickability to master it eventually. He knows the theater and has a healthy respect for it. I predict that he will make the grade."

▶ RUTH BRADY. "Here is a girl with an unusual brand of comedy. She feels it, but as yet has had nothing into which she could set her teeth, though she's been at M-G-M for three years. Her work in the picture 'The Clock', with Judy Garland gave me my first glimpse of her possibilities. She would make a 'different' comedienne—beautiful, a little zany, a giggle provoker, and as her dramatic sinews toughen, an important adjunct to theater and screen. Both mediums are starving for this type. They are not easily come by".

WILLIAM ROY. "He is probably the most talented youngster of his age in Hollywood. He is a finished radio actor and already an important composer in the field of music. He knows the value and meaning of lines. He will undoubtedly become a character leading man doing the type of roles the straight leading men find beyond their scope. He will be an actor in the Paul Muni bracket when age gives him authority as a human being. Bette Davis believes in him, as I do, and he acquitted her faith in him when he played with her in 'The Corn Is Green'. Such know-how is bound to find its place in the sun of this industry."

those appearing on the series were on my original list of selections, and I am most happy with them. In common they have the prime requisites upon which to build a knowledge of their chosen craft, and each, in my opinion, has a chance for success, depending, mostly, upon themselves and the future handling of their careers."

The Schedule

Behind the Rogers presentation is a producing-writing organization that will give these youngsters the best in radio showcasing. Les Mitchel is the producer-director of the series. Announcer Van des Autels and musical director Del Castillo are veteran radio craftsmen. Writers Gerry Day, Ray Wilson, Harry Treveaven, Jr., Maurice Zimm, Helen Sloan Sorrells and Robert C. Dennis supply the dramatizations that give these newcomers their chance on the air.

The schedule of stars heard is as follows:

- August 13—Barbara Lawrence and John Fontaine in "Strange Courtship"
- August 20—Frank Sundstrom in "Distortion"
- August 27—Ruth Brady in "Take It from Mr. Shakespeare"
- September 3—Alan Hale, jr., in "The Great Johnny Rex"
- September 10—Audrey Long in "Out of the Fog"
- September 17—William Roy in "Smuggler's End"
- September 24—Ginger Rogers in "Return to America"
- October 1—Lela Rogers in "The Check"

AUDREY LONG. "She is a leading woman that studios, for many pictures to come, will still be calling 'adequate'. But Audrey has qualities that make for stardom, though she will have to win through the hard way. To me her one great asset is dramatic good taste. I've watched her over eight pictures in three years and in each one she gains more authority and sureness. She studies, analyzes and benefits by the advice of the stars she plays with. She's humble before her craft and realizes the long roadway up. She's lovely to look at, photographs beautifully, and as experience rounds her out and solidifies her knowledge, she will be important to pictures. She has plenty of time and much determination".

BARBARA LAWRENCE. "SHE HAS a piquant beauty and an elfin charm that could be developed. Of course, she is still very young and unformed, dramatically, lacking the experience that develops individual form in acting, but given time and work, using the stamina I believe she possesses, she can go far. Barbara has a good head on her shoulders, she applies herself and takes direction beautifully. On the screen, she photographs like an angel. "(Barbara's husband, John Fontaine, appeared with her on the show when this picture was taken).

LELA ROGERS AND HER DAUGHTER Ginger once donned these similar make-ups for a movie. Ginger appears on the air with her mother for the first time when she is heard in "Return to America" on the "Skippy Hollywood Theater" series.

◀ TED MALONE, THE HUMAN INTEREST story-teller, looked like this as he left his Radio City offices in New York to board the first of a series of planes which carried him more than 15,000 miles in an eleven-day jaunt that took him across the country and back—twice!

left New York again that day and arrived in Hollywood on Monday! Two days later he was off for San Francisco, Seattle and Portland. "How do I budget my time?" he echoed us. "It's easy—a guy without money has no trouble budgeting what he hasn't got—with me it's time. It's the flattery that keeps me going," he laughed. "People say such nice things that they make me feel good all the time."

The only trouble with the Constellation New York-to-Hollywood flying that Ted's been doing is that "you never see the country. You get the impression that New York and California are next to each other."

The Reasons

He admits that the secret of his ability to take this strenuous en-routeing in his stride is because, "until I went overseas I'd never been anyplace before." Another reason for Ted's evident enjoyment of his rigorous schedule is that he is the kind of a person who looks for the best in everything and everyone. And to

I AM A MIND reader," Ted Malone tells the crowds who gather for autographing sessions at the book departments he visits across the country. "I can tell you what you are thinking," pursues Ted. "You're saying to yourself, 'Why, I didn't think he'd look like that!' The laugh I get," Ted told us as he related this tale, "is a positive insult. I always tell them, 'Well, my folks were surprised, too—they thought I was going to be a girl.'"

We met Ted for the second time during his recent cross-country jaunt.

Or jaunts is more like it—he left on a Thursday morning for California, arrived here Friday morning for his show, left Friday night for New York, did his Sunday show in the morning,

Ted "best" is not a synonym for "biggest," "richest" or "most important."

Ted's theory is that "it's the little things in life that make you happy." He thinks it's the homely facts people hear over the air that give them a sense of "being on the spot" with the broadcaster. In Athens, Ted didn't interview the big shots—he told the audience about using a dial phone in the Acropolis and quoted the prices charged to sightseers, one dollar on moonlit nights, fifty cents customarily.

At home, too, Ted's philosophy of the "little things" goes. After midnight, he hates to get up and turn off the radio that plays softly as he catches up on his reading. Recently he bought a clock that performs this

Ozzie and Harriet

CBS' "Ozzie and Harriet" bowed into the new season with the same delightful charm with which they bowed out last season. You'll rediscover that the Nelsons (KNX, Sundays at 2:00 p.m.) are every bit as good as you've remembered them.

We believe the only people who don't go along with us on "Ozzie and Harriet" are those who claim to have been badly bitten by "family shows" and so refuse to listen to this one. If that's what you think about "Ozzie and Harriet"—give a listen and find out how wrong you've been.

Tommy Bernard and Henry Blair as the Nelson children, David and Rickey, invest their parts with the true down-to-earthiness of small fry in contrast to their whimsical, wavering father, Ozzie. Plaintive but reasonable femininity is well represented by mother Harriet.

Perhaps you'll recall that this show received a Distinguished Achievement Award for script writing from Radio Life last season — well, writers Sol Saks, Poot Pray, Ben Gershman and Paul West, headed by Nelson, are still manipulating their characters and situations with humor and taste. And of course the fine cast of radio-ites headed by neighbor John Brown lives up to every minute of it.

You may have foretold the denouement of last week's script, when Ozzie thought himself snubbed by a neighborhood party gotten up to surprise

NEXT WEEK

Jeanne Grey, the very pretty girl who dreamed up and delivered KMPC's "Woman's Voice," has a background story matched by few dramatic fiction tales. Next week read how a little girl who grew up in Hollywood went to New York to find success and returned a one-day bride to witness the tragic death of her flier husband. You'll find, as we did, that Jeanne's courage is matched by her charm.

Present-day stars in their early radio starts and former favorites no longer heard are pictured in a big two-page photo feature with the accent on nostalgia. We went through our own old files to find these precious bits of radio-ana which we're flashing to you under the title "Flash-backs!"

the Nelsons, but the true-to-life humor and real-life characterizations were as fresh as ever.

"Pleasure Parade"

That Dean of American Musical Commentators, Milton Cross, is heading a talent array, Tuesday nights at 6:00 over KFI, that is known as "The Pleasure Parade." Into fifteen minutes, some magic of formatting has packed the smooth vocals of Bob Kennedy and Kay Lorraine, Paula Kelly and the Modernaires, the spirited rhythms of Irving Miller's orchestra, and plenty of Mr. Milton Cross' personality.

Christopher Chocolates sponsor the time, and provide a weekly award for the chosen "Gracious Lady" of the week on whom the spotlight has fallen. The "GL" is a listener, chosen from audience response via the mails, to emcee Cross' suggestion that you and you write and tell him why the spotlight should swing toward the particular lady of your choice.

This air time flies by more quickly and melodiously than most you'll hear.

"Our Foreign Policy"

Whether or not you are in agreement with all points of the U.S. foreign policy will have no bearing on your enjoyment of NBC's "Our Foreign Policy", heard on KFI, Saturdays at 3:00 p.m. You'll be so busy finding out so much you didn't know before that your personal views will be obscured by new enlightenment.

Because the series attacks current problems as they come before the public, most listeners will find themselves fore-armed with enough information to follow the discussions intelligently. Last winter when a pressing question before the public was why we should be bothering to feed the Germans, a representative of the State Department presented the official U.S. stand. More recent discussions have been "Key to the Marshall Plan", with explanations by Willard Thorp, assistant secretary of state, and Major General William H. Draper, Jr., economic adviser to the commander-in-chief of the European Theater, and "Can We Have Free World Airways?" with commentation by two officials of the International Civil Aviation Organization.

Sterling Fisher, director of the NBC University of the Air, is the moderator and questioner on this series. His job of moderation is unlike those whose programs are intended to pit one faction against another. Rather, Fisher asks the questions the man-in-the-street finds himself putting to his friends on these topics or interpolates current public feeling into the discussions.

Because most of the people who appear on this University of the Air feature have an official connection with the government, the listener will seldom find himself lost in theorizing. Official stands are emphasized and explained in terms the layman will find concrete.

"America Dances"

KFWB's "America Dances", Monday through Friday evenings at 6:30, is best identified as Frank Bull's show. Record collectors must go half mad with envy.

Not only does Frank parade a series of off-label records, old and new, that command an audience the winners on a juke-box poll wouldn't reach, he also leaves rhetoric and voice control exercises to the brotherhood less interested in records and listeners than they are in themselves.

Aside from good music, you'll find an element of unwitting entertainment. Because of his unorthodox, relaxed ways, Mr. Bull can get away with more ridiculousness in the way of station breaks, chatter about sponsors Marshall and Clampett, and personalities, than just about any man on the air. But he's always kind.

A small portion of each evening's fifty-five minutes is devoted by Frank to being go-between for estranged romancers, both of whom are "America Dances" followers. "Clem" may write in and want Frank to set him in solid again with "Becky". So Frank calls "Becky", dispatching his message and duty in a way befitting a real diplomat.

Probably Mr. Frank Bull's tremendous following arises not only from his vast knowledge of music, but from his complete lack of that annoying "down-the-nose" attitude that is tingeing some of his fellow jockeys' deliveries.

Mary Lee Taylor

A double-barreled effort aimed at catching the Saturday stay-at-homes is Mary Lee Taylor's combination recipe-drama program, KNX, Saturdays at 11:00 a.m. The first half of the program is given over to domestic dramas usually concerned with a wife's adjustment to a variety of household problems. Two recent plots dealt with a marriage that nearly cracked up because a very young bride objected to her very young husband throwing dirty clothes on the bathroom floor, and how a high-spirited, impulsive housewife learned to calm down and budget her time in order to accomplish something worthwhile. These earthy little dramas are tagged with some realistic advice from Miss Taylor.

Second half of the program is given over to recipes read intelligently and slowly enough by Miss Taylor. Both halves of this program are made en-

Bowing in this week on ABC's transcontinental airplane is that famous newspaper columnist, Dorothy Kilgallen, who will be heard in a weekly quarter-hour of Hollywood and Broadway news, every Thursday morning at 11:30 on KECA. Miss Kilgallen's air column will be sponsored by the Drackett Company, for the next 52 weeks. . . . Also in the new sponsor column is General Electric, who now bankroll the half-hour dramas concerning the adventures and mis-adventures of that lovable but sometimes confused young man, Willie Piper. "Tales of Willie Piper," with Billy Redfield in the title role, is now heard at 9 o'clock on Thursday nights over KECA.

The nationwide trek climaxes with a final broadcast from New York's Madison Square Garden on October 31, after which Tom and company return to his Hollywood restaurant.

tertaining and informative, and though we won't say which is the better, we just can't get last week's recipe for Melon Whip out of our minds.

"Mystery Theater"

If you delight in the occasional cropping up, in your magazine reading, of a really bang-up mystery story, you'll enjoy the weekly tuning to KFI's Friday night at 9:30 "Molle Mystery Theater."

Geoffrey Barnes hosts and narrates the series, and a whole series of really excellent actors and actresses lend their talents to tossing these hair-raisers around.

Typical is the tale in which a masquerade party provided first a handy disguise, and then a trap, for a murderer. Adult listeners always find it easier to imagine unjustly imprisoned convicts, harried beyond endurance spouses, or just plain crooks perpetrating crime, than it is to picture ghouls and ghosts exercising mysticism full force.

Nor, in these varied and tense stories, does the same tired private eye emerge triumphant. Some of the story solutions leave a culprit faced with doom of one kind or another, some carry the popular "Lady or the Tiger" ending. All are credible dilemmas that will satisfy moralists and realists alike. Just ordinary old mystery fans will be more than satisfied . . . they will be jubilant at the find.

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

No Commercial Better Than a Half

The spirited comment which has formerly arisen from commercials will seem like gentle murmurings when the odd-million listeners all get an earful of Arrid's latest horror.

Not revolting enough was the "half-safe" spiel, designed to induce enough terror of being just that . . . half-safe . . . to cause the most calloused hearer to run right out and buy some Arrid. Now friend sponsor has hired a male chorus which intones the stupid chant to the tune of "The Volga Boatman." Chief complaint lies in their not having changed the title to "The Vulgar Boatman."

"Eastside Show"

Gene Norman still parades his marvelous voice and those marvelous records nightly from ten till midnight over KFWB. Both are a pleasure. Added attractions are Tuesday and Friday evenings. Tuesdays, Gene and Daxe Dexter, Jr., exchange mutual admiration and play records holding the kicks for jazz enthusiasts. Between them comes up some of the best in unobtainable waxings. Mary Lou Williams, Bob Zurke, Bix, Tram and Lang records, all mouth-watering, are just a few among the array of old timers we otherwise seldom get to hear.

Friday nights a guest record collector, chosen from the ranks on the merits of his letter to Gene Norman, appears with his pile of beloved discs. He usually gets a tongue-lashing he'll not soon forget, but bravely goes right ahead playing his stack . . . and they have all, so far, been good choices.

Other nights Gene plays it fairly straight for general popular taste. He's managed to generate such a degree of admiration or trepidation among the ranks of performers that they all streak down to KFWB to make personal appearances, so listeners enjoy that treat as often as two or three nights a week.

For several minutes, guest chit-chat runs along the lines of these artists' plans and recent records. Then talk always turns to Gene's forthcoming jazz concert—the latest and fourth in the "Just Jazz Concerts" being September 9 in Pasadena Civic Auditorium (it'll probably be as fine as its predecessors). Gene puts heart, soul, and airtime into promoting the concert and seeing to it that good big-time artists appear. We'd like to have him be a little less patronizing toward listeners and a little more hospitable toward his guests, especially those with current bookings and airshows, for quite frequently we gather the impression that their concert appearances are made only because of Norman. We won't be so mean as to say that it's plug night, every night—with Norman—for Norman.

However, with a faithful audience, his appealing voice, and those rare records, why not?

"Mystery of the Week"

Most occupied "dick" on the dials is Agatha Christie's "Hercule Poirot," French-accented by Harold Huber on KHJ's nightly (9:15 p.m.) "Mystery of the Week."

For Poirot sleuths through not one broadcast per week, but five. A new case ("The Deadly Lover," "The Formal Duck," etc.) begins each Monday and winds itself up each Friday, with the polite little Parisian bloodhound-ing every gasp of the way. Sadly, we feel, the quantity of time allotted to such intent pursuit of crime is not apace with the quality.

A running program like this keeps itself going only by thrill stops and starts. Carlton E. Morse employed the trick on his hurtling "I Love a Mystery" serials, and the same sustained "Cliff Hanger" action may be observed on the "Jack Armstrong" and "Buck Rogers" chapters which pack the kids into the movies of a Saturday. But the Poirot adventures are introduced with too much yattata-yattata and signed off with too much dragged-out organ climax, to sell the continuing suspense element with efficiency.

Scenes blink from hither to thither with bewildering rapidity, and the supporting actors all seem to be reading with soap-opera-ish "You . . . don't . . . mean . . . ? . . . (pause) . . . Not . . . ?" inflection, at each point, away from Poirot, where the action focalizes.

Alfred Bester, who also scripts for "Charlie Chan," writes these maintained situations, and his lines would be lively enough given more intelligent interpretation. Huber's enactment of Poirot is suave and authentic. In our opinions, a more brisk approach to drama and a pitiless chopping of the "summarizing" which precedes each evening's detecting would snap this little show to attention and make it a very listener-commanding article.

"The Story of Holly Sloan"

It's a little too early to tell how adequately the travails of "Holly Sloan," small-town beauty and legal secretary, are going to fill the shoes vacated by "Masquerade."

When Irna Phillips' long-run serial left the air last week and "Holly" took over (10:30 a.m. daily KFI) a fairly hostile audience observed the switch. "Masquerade" was indeed a thoughtful dramatic pattern of exceptional standing. And the line-up of "Today's Children," "Woman in White" and "Light of the World" which complete the hour makes a high-caliber one to match.

So far, "Holly" (Gale Page), and her supporting cast of Bob Bailey ("Let George Do It"), Victor Perrin, and Georgia Backus, have faced this super-critical analysis and collection of hard facts quite well. They are all, we'd like to add, fine dramatists.

A great deal of ecstatic description is being devoted to "Miss Sloan's" classic loveliness. With emotion, the narrator impresses upon you that "Holly's" Aunt Cotura is blind, but valiantly philosophical. Bob Bailey's role of vacationing radioman "Johnny Starr" is a rakishly "hat tilted to the side" one; and "Holly's" old-man-with-young-ideas boss eyes his sec with some pretty disconcerting leers. All these exaggerations are rather necessary, however, for establishment of the characters.

Miss Page's melodious voice is pleasing . . . she has a nice alto, and it's unusual to find a soap opera heroine who can sing. That plans are afoot to spotlight her talent more throughout the story is evident. Nobody needs to hit us over the head with the "coincidence" that the dashing "Johnny Starr" is a broadcasting man visiting from "the big city."

So the ingredients seem to indicate a very tasty recipe. Our suggestion to you, as listeners . . . better hang around the pantry till the cook is really ready to carry his piece de resistance in to the table. We intend to!

On Mike (About Studio Happenings)

Burrows Breaks 'Em

Quite in keeping with the hilarity that reigned on Abe Burrows' program last Sunday night was his announcer's closing station identification.

We don't know whether or not the young man had been as fractured by Burrows as we had, but at any rate, at the close of the program he intoned "This is CBS, the Columbia Broadcasting System!"

Record Cleanup

Let it be hoped that in the wholesale cleanup of songs considered double-entendre that is being undertaken at KFWB, other than lyrics will be taken into that consideration. In getting rid of the few "offensive" platters, some very fine instrumentation and vocal work appearing on only little-known labels stands to get the axe.

It won't be too hard to get along without "Hurry On Down to My House, Baby," "Snatch It and Grab It" or "Aren't You Kind of Glad We Did?," but there are many, many records whose lyrics are as indigenous to the genius of artists who perform on them as their ability to make music. A close scrutiny of these lyrics would find them offensive, but their obscure references are meaningful only to the singers. Casual listeners to music for music's sake wouldn't get it at all. These are the records that could stay. Some of the blues records Jimmy Rushing sang with Count Basie's band are collector's items, yet the lyrics would scarcely bear scrutiny.

Of course the jockeys have brought this on themselves. Let them explain to a disappointed faction that they aired the tunes indiscriminately and against their better judgment of self-censorship, in hope of attracting attention to their air hours. Reserving these records for an hour and a group of listeners from whom no righteous complaint would have arisen might have kept the finger off.

More Darts and Dough

One of the most amazing records of current shows is that held by "Darts for Dough," the ABC audience participation show that combines action and prizes. Orval Anderson, the program's emcee, and his partner, producer Burt Mitchell, started the gay get-together on a small Texas station, and just one year later it was brought to the ABC chain. Since that time, "Darts for Dough" has added an average of one station a week for 160 weeks.

Incidentally, the program changes from Sundays on October 2 to Thursdays at 6:30 p.m. on KECA.

Off Mike (Personalities)

Video Ventriloquist

Young Shirley Dinsdale and her alter ego, "Judy Splinters," seem to have been discovered by the ideal medium, television. Shirley, whose clever ventriloquial act has been heard on many network shows and recently on extensive camp tours, is now heard and seen on KTLA, Monday through Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Red-Heads

Red Skelton's "Junior" will have a "Mother" in his coming fall series. After considerable auditioning, the role was awarded to versatile Lurene Tuttle. "I think they gave me the part because of my hair," says Lurene, whose carrot-top is as fiery as "son" Skelton's is.

Real Life Character

It gave us quite a turn to discover the other day that a sign on a local apartment house revealed that Phillip Marlowe, realtor, was offering it for sale. However, we decided that NBC's "Phillip Marlowe" hadn't gone out of the detective business when we belatedly noted that Realtor Marlowe spells his first name with two ll's.

At any rate, we bet he's sick of jokes about radio and detectives, just as Martin Block, manager of the Hollywood Bookstore, is weary of being asked about his many record programs. Fellas, it's either that or change your names.

Something for the Kids

A new idea for a children's show written by actress-author Marion Graham and titled provocatively "Annie-Mehit" may be heard soon if recommendations and approval from the Board of Education, the Parent-Teacher's Association and Parent's Magazine have anything to do with it.

The title is taken from the nickname of the show's leading character, "Anastasia-Mehitabel," portrayed by Marion Richman, a little girl whose dream-fantasies are the basis of the dramatizations. Music is by Bob Mitchell, a whimsical man at the keyboard. Plans are also in progress to bring out "Annie-Mehit" as a book and as a character doll or puppet.

Ozzie and Harriet in Legit Theater

Ozzie and Harriet returned from their eastern vacation still in the grip of nervousness. It seems that when they made a side tour from New Jersey, where they were visiting Ozzie's parents, they stopped at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, famed summer resort and home of an up-and-coming little theater.

Their re-uniting to do a play for the theater there marks the first stage work on the legit side the two have participated in since their radio show's inception. The play was a one-nighter, an original comedy by one of the little theater members. Doesn't sound too much unlike one of their own air shows, but the medium terrified even these experienced performers.

Alvina and Edward G. Marry

"Just Married" are Alvina Temple, radio actress and daughter of Brooke "Red Ryder" Temple, and Edward G. Bergen, advertising executive. The Bergens are honeymooning on a New Mexico ranch.

NOTES TO YOU

By ANDY MANSFIELD

- 1 note—fair
- 2 notes—pleasing
- 3 notes—very good
- Chord in G—tops

KWKW. 12.45 p.m. Daily

MALE VOCAL OF THE WEEK:

Eight re-issues of Hoagy Carmichael compositions featuring the vocal and piano work of the lad himself comprise "The Stardust Road", "Rockin' Chair", "Washboard Blues", "Riverboat Shuffle", "Hong Kong Blues" and "Stardust" are done with the nostalgic something which is only Hoagy and for collectors they're easily in the three-note class—(Decca Album).

GIRL VOCAL OF THE WEEK

Here is an eight-sided tribute to one of the top song-stylists, Ella Fitzgerald... and eight good reasons why Ella should stay right up with the best... good selection of standard tunes, all superbly done, makes this group outstanding... listen to the warmth and sincerity of "Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man" and you'll see why Mansfield pegs all eight sides as a Chord In G'er (Decca Album).

JUVENILE OF THE WEEK

Maybe you'll buy it for the kids, but the oldsters will get a bang out of Mel Blanc's famous movie cartoon characterizations of "Bugs Bunny", "Porky Pig" and "Daffy Duck"... ably assisted by Elmer Fudd (Arthur Q. Bryan) and Billy May's Orch... Stories are so well produced you can almost imagine yourself in a theatre... and when the ant chorus (Dinning Sisters at fast speed) chimed in, we shouted, "three notes, hey!" (Capitol Album).

WESTERN OF THE WEEK

Tex Williams and his Western Caravan (plus harp, yet) have a new polka album that should make you git up and git—maybe even shake a leg if you know how to polka. Here's western swing at its best with danceable arrangements and nary a yodel... it's tops in its field for a BIG and very pleasing two notes (Capitol Album).

INSTRUMENTAL OF THE WEEK

In their first album, the popular "Three Suns Present", you'll find eight most delightful sides by this top organ-guitar-accordion group... selections are all standards and just what the doctor ordered for a quiet half-hour of soft relaxation... it's the Three Suns shining at their best for a radiant three notes! (RCA-Victor Album.)

"PINNED"

Gene Baker, of ABC's "Lum and Abner" show, has just announced the engagement of his thirteen-week-old daughter, Karen Keith. The lucky "man" is Christopher Michael LeFevre, young son of radioites Ned LeFevre and Barbara Luddy. Master Christopher gave Karen a teething ring via Mother Barbara, to show his intentions are good for the next fifteen or twenty years. "After all our trouble to bring them together," speculates Gene, "wouldn't it be just like them to hate each other?"

NEW ALLEN TUNE

"Barbecued Ribs," latest song-hit by pianist-composer-emcee Steve Allen (CBS' "It's a Great Life") has been waxed by Jack McVea for release in the near future.

ANOTHER CLARENCE DAY?

Announcer Gene Baker is writing a play entitled "Sam Houston" in collaboration with his wife, Nancy Houston Baker. The story is about Nancy's very picturesque great-uncle.

AVOIRDUPOIS

Chubby "Heart's Desire" emcee Ben Alexander talks so much about his added poundage during the Mutual show that his mother is beginning to object. Says Mrs. Alexander: "I do wish Ben would stop discussing his weight on the air. I can't imagine what some of those women must think he looks like by now!" But from Ben's fabulous fan club of feminine listeners thirty-and-over, we'd say his new avoirdupois is "drawin' em" rather than "droppin' em."

KXLA Presents

ALEX Pickupacupplebucks COOPER

12:30-5:00 a.m.
TUESDAY THRU
SUNDAY

LOGIC

"I'm going to play a record now, and I want you to guess what city the singer reminds you of," a New York disc jockey told his listeners recently. Out on the air went the familiar husky tones of Mel Torme. A bright lad in Manhattan immediately grabbed the phone and submitted "London, England." What else to describe "The Velvet Fog"?

DELATED

"Dear Tom," wrote Mrs. Mary Youngs of New Ross, Indiana, to that Breneman man recently. "Your program was the cause of my baby being born in our auto en route to the hospital. I just wouldn't leave the house until I'd heard 'Breakfast in Hollywood' through, and as a result, waited too long!" Incidentally, the baby is nicknamed "Tommy," despite the fact it's a girl.

ASK GIFT FOR TEACHER

A school teacher is getting a token of the regard her former students have for her, thanks to a letter from five of the students to Mutual's "Heart's Desire." The five boys, who preferred to be anonymous, wrote that Miss Vida Kuntze of Escanaba, Michigan, does many things for the poor youngsters in her classes, including giving them tickets to functions they can't afford. "Heart's Desire" agreed with the boys that such generosity should have a reward and is sending Miss Kuntze a console radio.

CENSUS-BREAKER

Winner of Columbia's "House Party" search for the woman with the most children turned out to be Mrs. Esther Tubin of Los Angeles, who at seventy-three was the parent of twenty-two people... eleven boys and eleven girls... seventeen of whom are still living.

THANKS ANYWAY, BUT

Mutual's Erskine Johnson reports this recent conversation between Garry Moore and Gary Cooper. Moore asked Cooper if he knew of an apartment, "Apartment!" scoffed Cooper, "Man, you're getting soft. Why don't you live out in the open air? Let old Mother Nature cover you with a blanket of stars and have the blue sky above for a roof?" "Well, frankly," hesitated Moore, "I had in mind something just a little smaller."

IN REVERSE

Harold (Bud) Swanton and Joel Malone, writing team for Columbia's "The Whistler," divulge a trade secret when they admit they write their plays backward!

Swanton and Malone, who polish every "Whistler" script purchased and rewrite it in the famous and very popular form for which the series has become noted, also write about one out of every five of the originals. "We get an idea for an ending, how the criminal will be paid back in kind," the team explains, "and then we plot the drama back to its start. As we plot, we figure little bits of inside information that the Whistler will know and will tell the listeners as the story progresses. We hope we don't make it sound too easy—because it really isn't!"

★ ★ FOR THE KIDDIES

Fanny Brice is planning to make a record album for children, using her "Baby Snooks" character throughout.

Radio Lifelines

By Evelyn Bigsby

DELAYED REACTION? This time last year, when Bing Crosby made his bow on ABC via transcription, Radio Row earnestly debated whether The Groaner's move would set the pace for other stars, long since wearied of punching the clock for live shows and still more onerous live repeats for the Coast. Some pucker-browed pessimists predicted that Crosby's was the wedge that would result in the collapse of network broadcasting. Then came the first Philco transcribed show, with its respectable but modest rating, and pro-networkers heaved a sigh of relief. No drastic change appeared imminent in radio.

WE'RE WONDERING NOW if the Crosby set-up wasn't like the first innocuous trickle through the dike, for now, a year later, quite a few streams are running through unplugged holes.

There has been a general relaxation of the "no transcription" playing rule on the networks. CBS-KNX was most liberal this past summer, transcribing early Eastern broadcasts for much later Coast release. A couple of weeks ago, when Milton Berle became ill between his Eastern and Western shows, (something he said, no doubt) NBC broke a rule and let the Coast hear a transcription of the earlier broadcast.

RALPH EDWARDS RECENTLY won a long-contended point when the network granted "Truth or Consequences" permission to transcribe its early show for playback on the Coast Saturday night. It was stated with the announcement that Edwards was not setting a precedent—that he would be the exception—but it's difficult to understand how T. or C. would be allowed to transcribe for later release and "People Are Funny" and other such programs would be required to do two live shows.

Meanwhile, ABC and MBS are following through on their usual liberal policies of allowing transcriptions, the former grabbing off, transcribed, Abbott and Costello on a cooperative (different sponsor in different cities) basis, building Whiteman as a transcribed disc jockey, and the latter (MBS) getting "Information, Please", another co-op, with first show transcribed. Latest recruit seems to be Joan Davis, whose deal for a cooperative show, likely transcribed, appears well on the way to air realization.

We are not touching on the merits or drawbacks of transcriptions as to quality and playback smoothness. But these aforementioned trickles have seeped along almost imperceptibly within the past few months, yet they seem, when viewed en masse, to present a rather provocative trend. Maybe those who sat back when Bing went on wax will still live to see some changes made. What do you readers think?

* * * *

SUMMING UP THE SUMMER: It was pretty disappointing, but not as bad as last year. Jack Paar still looks like brightest spot to us and Dorothy Lamour improved so noticeably that she's now one of our favorites. As always, we're sorry to see Romberg and Alec Templeton exit until next year and we wish their personal appearances and other demands made it possible for them to air year-round. Now that Carmen Cavallaro is signing off, we'd like to see him with a fifteen-minute (transcribed?) five-a-week.

* * * *

TUMULT AND SHOUTING: We like the George V. Dennys and "America's Town Meeting" but after attending the broadcast last week at Philharmonic and hearing the Communism issue debated (?) we felt quite hopeless. Certainly no one's opinion was changed... the most to be hoped for was that some remarks would be provocative—provocative of listener thought, and not insult and personal mud-slinging among participants. The latter we thought a disgrace far outweighing any benefits.

PROJECT

Never at a standstill, Perry Como's cross-country fan clubs are now busily holding a contest to select a nickname for their favorite NBC baritone. Among leading stickers are "The Oriole," "The Heart-throb," "The Tone," "The Balladier," "The Mello-Man," and "The Pipes."

GAGS OF THE WEEK

my hands over my head. What do you call that?

Seven-year-old: Silly!

Mrs. Leslie C. Crandall, 1028 West 67th Street, Los Angeles 44, Calif.

Heard on "Noah Webster Says":

MacQuarrie: According to Benjamin Franklin, the hardest word to say has only two letters. Do you know what this word is?

Contestant (unhappily): No.

MacQuarrie: That's right! No is the correct answer.

Richard Amerian, 2041 West 80th Street, Los Angeles 44, Calif.

Heard on "Blondie":

Mr. Dithers: What would you charge to fall in a man-hole?

Dagwood: Cover-charge.

Mrs. R. L. Travers, 1046 Rio Hondo Parkway, El Monte, Calif.

Heard on "It Pays to Be Ignorant":

McNaughton: The first year my aunt was married her favorite song was "Room for One" and she had a boy. Then her favorite song was "Tea for Two" and she had twins. Then her favorite song was "Three's a Crowd" and would you believe it, she had triplets. But now my uncle is worried.

Tom Howard: Why?

McNaughton: Her favorite song is "Thanks a Million."

Malone On the Move

A.M. task for him. "It's wonderful," enthuses Malone, "it's things like that that make me feel like a millionaire!"

Make-believe millionaire Malone was making plans for his August trip to Europe when we talked to him. He was looking forward to taking his listeners to Stockholm, Oslo, Copenhagen, Berlin, Amsterdam and Shannon. Previously, he has journeyed from New England to California and acted as war correspondent in England, France, Germany, Belgium, Italy, Greece and Iceland. After the war, dialers caught him in Casablanca, Calcutta, Shanghai, Tokyo, Manila and other famous spots.

Speaking of his enjoyment of this junketing, Malone smiles, "It didn't even rain!"

On his brief visit here, Ted took his mother and his Aunt Vinnie, who live in Glendale, to see Tom Breneman's "Breakfast in Hollywood." Ted slipped the word to Tom that Aunt Vinnie was afraid that she wasn't going to get a Breneman kiss. That's all Tom needed—he gave Aunt Vinnie a good smackeroo. When she was awarded the wishing ring, she assailed Malone's international reputation for veracity by exclaiming "I wish that Ted Malone would learn to tell the truth!"

Wednesday 9:30 p.m.
CBS-KNX-KSDJ

THEY shine like a bright new penny in a handful of grimy coins—or, if you'll pardon us while we become commercial, like a spanking new Ford among a lot full of jalopies "They" meaning Meredith Willson's Talking People, whose leavening treatment of commercials has been one of the season's most delightfully relieving experiences.

Meredith conceived the idea for his Talking People when he came out of the Army. "We had found out some curious things about commercials," he explained. "The guys had received

The Talking People

de-commercialized AFRS radio programs with mixed feelings. Most of them didn't mind loss of the repetitious commercials which they hated. But they missed 'Jell-O' and other clever sponsor identification which comprised aspects lending a certain aura to radio as they knew it. I felt that commercials could be done in such a way they could be entertaining and would not be tuned out by the listeners."

Willson first thought about using a choir of twelve or sixteen voices, which, instead of singing, would talk and read the commercial. In addition to stressing sponsor identification, this group would also do a selling job, delivering a complete sales message.

Audition Held

Chance to put his idea into use arrived when Willson cut an audition record three years ago for an all-musical program employing a thirty-six piece orchestra and sixteen-voiced male choir. Product to be plugged on the audition was mythical—a motor car—and Willson arranged a clever commercial which his group practiced for three weeks, but somehow or other couldn't read in complete unison.

"Then it hit me in the middle of the night," he said, "and I asked myself, 'Why not write what they have to say like music?' I got up and wrote out the commercial, which started, 'How would you like to have an automobile made of glass, hm-m-m?' The audition was set for the next day. Although up to now the choir had been shaky on delivery, the minute they had the commercial written out like music, they were able to keep together beautifully."

Willson's audition platter attracted widespread attention in the industry, but probably, due to the fact the show was an expensive one to put on the air ($17,500 weekly) and was a musical, which practically precluded the possibility of it getting a husky rating, it did not sell. However, when the maestro-humorist went on the air for Canada Dry last fall, he carried over his idea by installing the five Talking People, whose popularity has grown to fan mail proportions. They're picked People, able to read music readily and with nice sense of humor. They caught onto the trick of talking together, then learned to laugh, to cry, sneeze, snore, cough, and clear their throats together.

They even developed a repertoire of laughs together. There's the five-fold, or dead pan laugh; the six and seven-fold laugh; the jerky laugh, and the biggest, or thirteen-fold laugh.

"If you can sing it, you can say it," intone the Talking People—two gals and three fellows. Grouped closely around the mike, they are directed by Meredith, following a score much like the church chants in the hymnal.

Others Try to Copy

Naturally, others are trying to imitate the Talking People, but without outstanding success or anywhere near duplicating their unanimity. Maybe Willson has a knack or a special trick of making five sound like one! Anyway, listeners like Willson's People, although many letters do accuse Meredith of resorting to a trick mike and his own voice to achieve the effect.

"Ninety per cent of the Willson Show fan mail mentions the Talking People," Meredith stated proudly. "And seventy per cent of our Good Guy mail mentions them."

As the People themselves, always say, "Isn't that interesting, hmmm?"

HAL NICHOLS, KFOX owner and manager, knows the ingredients of a good radio program. He's learned them first-hand from the listeners, themselves.

For more than five years, the pleasant Long Beach air executive has conducted a twilight half-hour from his "Memory Room" study, featuring a type of music and comment which hundreds of letters from listeners have applauded as most acceptable.

"Melodies 'n' Memories," a title given the show by its dialers, started out as something quite different . . . but is now thirty minutes of "remember when" music, casual comment in a light philosophical vein, and random reminiscences by the Memory Room Maestro from his life-long association with both music and radio.

Hal greets KFOX listeners not as a radio executive, but as a friend-to-friend, encouraging notes and suggestions on general station programming and policy as well as about the Memory Room program. The Nichols mail pull is one of the heaviest among local radio personalities.

has learned many things. He's found that most people want to hear songs like "The Rosary," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "The Rose of Tralee," which, with the hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross," are most-requested Memory Room melodies.

Animals Appear

He has found that folks are interested in details of his or another's personal life—hobbies, pets, experiences, and so on. "Barty," Hal's cat, is a star performer on the show, purring a greeting into the Memory Room mike upon provocation. Since "Barty" began making air appearances, dozens of "Barty" namesakes have appeared in the cat population of Southern California. "Dixie and Trixie," Nichols' German roller canaries, also add their voices to the music of the Memory Room phonograph, much to listener delight.

Since its modest beginning, Hal Nichols' program has become quite an undertaking. An offer of membership cards brought thousands of requests, and at the present time Hal mails out several dozen new ones each week. A souvenir calendar folder with Memory Room pictures and information is also mailed each month to the KFOX bossman's thousands of nightly radio guests. All Memory Room mail receives Hal's personal attention and two secretaries to help him handle it.

Hal believes the secret of the program's phenomenal success lies in the fact that he comes to his hearers, not as a performer, but as a person. And that he invites active participation in a pleasurable thing. At the same time, he can thank his fans for their listening loyalty to the Hal Nichols station—and Hal believes radio ought to show more appreciation than it does for such tuning support.

For he's proved that humanizing radio, bringing station operator and listener together on a collaborating basis, can pay off—not just in terms of show success but, more important to Hal Nichols, in terms of personal satisfaction!

FROM AMONG HIS COUNTLESS ALBUMS

of Hit Paraders of the Past, Hal chooses a book of "Memory Waltzes" featuring Frank de Vol's orchestra, and typical of "Memory Room" music caliber. Records are Nichols' own vast private stock, and include every type of the world's varied rhythms.

BESIDE THE MEMORY GARDEN POND, just a few steps from the Memory Room, Hal takes it easy, recalling how he's often picked up the voice of "Hoppy" the frog, a garden visitor, on a special mike, and relayed it to fans of his nightly program.

John Laing

Literally Overnight He Got into a Field Where Training And Experience Are Necessary, Yet He Possessed Neither

By Bobbie Cole

THE CLOSING of business doors, then the questionings of tourists, first put John Laing on the track of an announcer's job. This accomplished, a period of hirings and firings set his heart on becoming established in such a berth.

When he was eighteen, John, who had been brought up in Canada, descended upon New York City with enthusiasm and a yen for journalism. The nearest he got to working for a magazine was to sell it from door to door of the business houses in the metropolis.

When the portatorium came, these portals were closed to everyone . . . particularly salesmen. So despondent John heeded the grapevine, hid himself away to Radio City and into a guide's uniform.

"I guess I got carried away touring around the building describing it to people, and probably hammed it up, because pretty soon people were asking me if I was training to be an announcer. The ideas those remarks set up, dealt, among other things I can't tell you, more with the respective paychecks of announcers' and guides' than with the desirability of being an announcer."

Spiegling the wonders of Radio City to crowds several times each day had done away with any self-consciousness on young Laing's part. Ridded of this encumbrance, being possessed of good looks and a fine voice, John marched through a series of auditions, one of which landed him a staff announcer's job.

A few days later, another station made a more attractive offer. John snapped it up, but three days later, studio politics crept in and he found himself out on the pavement.

Wrong Record

Needing work, he allowed himself to be lured to South Carolina, where he played records, read news and staff-announced on a split shift that was guaranteed to tire. One fatal night, in a haze of fatigue, he recalls, he slipped a wrong record into a series of marches he'd been spinning. The second that "Marching Through Georgia" hit the air lanes, the phones nearly rang off the walls. One of the calls was from the station manager, and next day John was enroute for New York and a brand-new series of auditions. These dervish-like spins of fate occurred in a period of ten days, but with teen-age tenacity, John decided to stick by radio and the where-with-all possible from it.

That was in 1933. Any ten-day period in 1947 finds John Laing, happily married and living in a lovely home in North Hollywood, California, dividing his talents among several air shows and wishing he could get building materials for an eleven-unit housing set-up to be erected right in his own front yard.

The fourteen-year gap is filled with auditions, jobs, more auditions, better jobs, and in 1939 an RKO contract which transplanted him to this preferred clime he calls "home".

"I knew I couldn't act, but the studio didn't, so first thing they had me do was a local playhouse presentation in the role of an old man with a broken leg.

"The lead in the play was little Connie Keane, who, as Veronica Lake, went right ahead. I didn't, and as soon as I got a release from my contract, I started all over again, this time out here, in radio."

His first regular assignment was Rudy Vallee's "Sealtest Show," and John is now in his fifth year as announcer for these products. Between announce stints handsome six-foot Mr. Laing reads the blurbs on "Private Detective Michael Shayne" and "Richard Davis, Private Investigator."

Away from the mike John sticks at home, eyeing his big pool wistfully while he keeps right on with hammer and nails, dividing his house into two separate establishments and converting his garage into a three-room apartment.

Pet hobby, aside from not unsuccessful efforts to satisfy that still-present journalistic bent, is working at the creation of a little center of dwellings on that large one-hundred by three-hundred foot lot the Laing's own.

"I want to make it a place where people with children and dogs can live. The pool is big enough to keep a lot of kids happy, and by building small units around it, a nice little group of apartments could be fixed up. Soon as building materials loosen up I hope to finish the project."

When John and the beautiful Mrs. Laing do sneak off from duties, it's usually for a fishing trip or a visit to the boarding schools of his children, a son and daughter by a former marriage.

While he expresses no decided likes nor dislikes, John does say he doesn't care for motion pictures nor for parties, unless they are given at home. Asked about radio, he declares, "Working in it is swell," then admits, "Listening to it . . . I don't know. I always forget to turn it on."

Bernard Katz

 A NATIVE OF SAN FRANCISCO.
 Katz was such a prodigy that he appeared in recital at U.C.'s Greek Theater when he was only twelve. He came to Hollywood in 1936, is remembered for his old program, "Katz on the Keys".

 HOBBIES OF THE MAESTRO include hunting and fishing and playing piano duets with his son, Nolan, shown here. The boy, however, prefers a radio acting career to music, probably due to the influence of his cousin, Mel Blanc.

Likes to Pioneer Unusual Effects, Builds Bridges with Interest, Does Own Arranging

By Charles J. Levin

AS A youngster, nothing gave me more pleasure than attending an afternoon screening in a silent movie when the orchestra pit was empty. As the plot unfolded, orchestra music would well up inside of me and keep pace with the picture. It was music which I felt was more appropriate than the hackneyed scores of that era."

Bernard Katz, music director of "Mayor of the Town" and "Richard Davis — Private Investigator," was talking about music and radio—and himself, the last under almost continuous prompting. He was at home at his piano and had just completed a duet with young son, Nolan Herbert, age twelve. A few feet away, his charming and devoted wife (the former Florence Beale of New York) was listening quietly.

"Perhaps this interest and challenge," Katz continued, smiling, "have been the reasons I so enjoy my work despite the aggravating difficulties which it often presents."

Though known as one of the most creative and original composers and conductors in radio, Bernard almost wound up a concert pianist. Born and educated in San Francisco, he was a piano student at eight and began playing the instrument at four without formal instruction.

His progress was prodigious. At twelve he was good enough to appear in recital before 5,000 in the University of California's Greek Theatre at Berkeley. Bernard played for two hours and forty minutes. His debut, arranged by his teacher, Louis Felix Raynaud, was a phenomenal success. One month later, Katz made radio history by repeating thirty minutes of his concert over San Francisco's Station KLS, sponsored by the San Francisco News. He became the first pianist to present a live music broadcast in an era when phonograph records were the accepted presentation.

He began to take a music career seriously, and at nineteen he was pianist for the California Theatre, one of the city's best movie houses. In addition to playing with the house orchestra, he was a featured soloist and introduced many of his own compositions. His background of eight years of study in harmony, counterpoint and composition began to yield tangible results.

Into Radio

His first radio job came in 1932 as chief staff pianist for NBC in San Francisco. For the next five years he built up a wide reputation for his keyboard virtuosity.

"I played everything from Bach to boogie," Katz recalled. "Radio fascinated me and I said goodbye to a concert career after four appearances with the very splendid San Francisco Symphony Orchestra."

Following his radio start, he came to Hollywood in 1936 as pianist, organist and arranger for Mutual's

KHJ. His original program, "Katz on the Keys", fifteen minutes three times a week, achieved a large network following.

He began his pioneering with instruments, a research spirit which has not left him, by being the first in Hollywood to use the electric organ and Novachord on the air in solo capacity. Effects which he secured for Arch Oboler's "Lights Out" mystery series have today been accepted as standard practice.

"Although I have the greatest respect for orthodox conceptions in radio music composition and direction," Katz added, "I never hesitate to use original effects so long as they are in authentic support of the script."

A good example of this viewpoint was his alert use of six Balinese drums played by native drummers to augment his orchestra on "This Is My Best" when it adapted the screen's "Passenger To Bali" with Charles Laughton. Another sparkling score was his unusual treatment of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs". Prepared in just two-and-one-half days, it delighted even such a critical producer as Orson Welles.

Incidentally, Katz does all of his own arranging.

His debut as a full-fledged music director and conductor came with "Point Sublime" in 1941. His compositions for it, for "Adventures of Michael Shayne" and other programs were evidences of a new and fresh trend in radio scoring.

Lionel Barrymore, long an admirer of Bernard's work, was specially intrigued by the "Point Sublime" scores. In 1942 he was instrumental in calling Katz to the podium of "Mayor of the Town", a post which he has since held. Bernard was also at one time associated with John Barrymore in "Four Star Theatre."

Other Assignments

In 1944, he became music director for "This Is My Best" and led one of the largest orchestras employed for a dramatic show. He also composed and directed for "Hollywood Players".

As a builder of melody bridges, Katz is one construction man who crosses his bridges before he builds them. His bridges, built of notes rather than steel, have become a recognizable trademark for the nation's listeners. One of his greatest contributions to radio scoring was to make incidental music tuneful in its own right without sacrificing the technical demands of the script.

"I strive to make all my bridges, even the shortest," Katz explained, "complete compositions in themselves—each a sort of a musical microcosm—yet the music must be simple and effective. The timing must be so perfect as to attract little attention from either the studio or the unseen audience."

He is a perfectionist. On "Mayor of the Town" his men have played the Lionel Barrymore theme at least 200 times. Yet before each broadcast, Bernard spends fifteen to twenty minutes polishing it until it emerges weekly as bright and silky smooth as a brand new composition.

All New Material

"I am also a bit of a fanatic in the matter of completely fresh scores for each broadcast," he stated, while on this theme of perfectionism. "I am completely convinced that a new score adds to the brightness of any program broadcast. Under normal circumstances I do not repeat the scoring of any show or any segment of it on another program. It takes more time, but I feel better about it."

To what does he attribute his distinctive style?

"I believe it is through keeping bridges and backgrounds interesting with the use of melodies which develop musically along with the plot."

Lack of rehearsal time was, of course, (and still is) the music director's greatest problem. "I have often had to compose and to orchestrate from twenty-five to twenty-seven minutes of continuous underscoring in less than two days. The screen would have allowed three weeks for this volume of music."

The diminutive but dynamic Katz believes that radio scoring is still in its infancy. He would urge more rehearsal time, better arrangement of instruments, improved studio acoustics, microphone development including more careful placing, and better, more sensitive speakers for reception.

Bernard's hobbies are hunting and fishing, and playing piano duets with his son. The young Nolan, however, is casting eyes on a radio acting career. His idol is Cousin Mel Blanc, possibly radio's outstanding comedy specialist.

The Katz household lives comfortably in Hollywood. The placid "lady of the house" wonderfully complements her more volatile and gifted husband. The couple collects rare china and recordings.

What is Katz' ambition?

It is to lead a symphony orchestra. He eyes this goal with almost reverent fidelity—a fine tribute to his respect for good music and good musicians.
