Leslie Tacquaro, 122 East Bay Avenue, Balboa, Calif.

Sirs: I am a Roy Rogers fan, and I sure would like to know if his program is coming back. If so, what time and what program? I think the program is perfect with Roy Rogers,

Roy Rogers Dale Evans

Dale Evans and Bob Nolan and the Sons of the Pioneers. How about pictures of Roy Rogers and Dale Evans? I have one of Bob Nolan from the November 23 issue.

Nothing to report on return of another Roy Rogers show. Here are those requested flicks, however.

Mrs. Mary Swift, 953 West 7th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: We surely would appreciate it if you could print in Radio Life from where programs emanate, so that if we wish to write we know where to address our letters . . . Hollywood, New York or Chicago.

Limited space does not permit printing of this information, Mrs. Swift. However, each program gives its own origination point at the end of its broadcast time. Listen closely next time you hear the announcer start to say: "This program came to you from . . ."

Mrs. A. E. McKown, 4252 Trent Way, Los Angeles 41, Calif.

Sirs: After listening to "The Pause That Refreshes" I had to drop you a line and tell you how very much I enjoy Percy Faith's arrangements, and how, especially, I enjoy Ginny Simms. I've been listening to her since her days with Kay Kyser, but her voice is lovelier now than ever. I believe it is the purest and clearest voice on the air!

Ginny WAS fine on the show. "Too bad she left."

Cora Wagner, Selma, Calif.

Sirs: I have been waiting and wondering why our good story-teller, Bob Burns, is not back on the air. We enjoyed his program so much. And where is Leo Gorcey, who was on the Bob Burns program? He was good too.

Watch for transcription developments on the Bob Burns show. Leo Gorcey, originally one of the Dead End Kids, is still working extensively as a single feature-player in pictures.

▲ CROWDING AROUND THE STUDIO DOORS to watch their talented USC classmates go through their performances were many interested Trojan students who'd dropped by to see what it's like in a big-time radio audition. Two days of campus try-outs had preceded selection of thirteen boys and girls, from which group four were finally picked for the Sunday broadcast.

▲ FINAL BIG-SHOW NIGHT and up to the mike steps one of the four lucky contestants picked from the USC auditions. In this case it's perky little Claire Bartlet, who sang "Deed I Do" for the folks, following her official Horace Heidt NBC introduction.

▼ EVEN WITH THE HANDS OF THE control booth clock moving around closer to final decision time at 9:30, friendly producer Jerry Bowne (left) and bandmaster Heidt assured the youngsters that there was plenty of space for every act. Heidt heard each boy or girl completely through, and usually asked for more, before turning to the next contestant.

*If You're Looking for an In to Show Business!
That's the Invitation Extended Young American Talent on "Opportunity Night With Horace Heidt"*

By Jae Dunn

*Sunday, 7:30 p.m.
NBC-KFI-KESD*

IT'S AMAZING," reflected bandmaster Horace Heidt, "what exceptional talent is waiting to be discovered in our high schools and colleges and youth organizations." You've heard that before, and so had we. But sitting next to showman Heidt through preliminary auditions for his NBC Sunday "Opportunity Night" gave us new respect for the actual, unpublicized efforts which show business will and does make in behalf of amateurs.

While the Heidt program was in Hollywood, countless anxious young people in the area rated their first chance to be heard. Radio Life got a good picture of this by watching typical competition from USC. After two days of hearing Trojan talent, scouts for the show had notified thirteen boys and girls to report at the NBC studios for a final selection of four.

It was rather heart-yanking to watch those nervous young people, gathered in a self-conscious huddle outside the studio doors before 7:30 p.m. One or two were brash, a few seemed speechless with terror . . . they were all nice-looking and eager, manifesting ill-at-easeness in one way or another.

But it was pleasant to sense strain leaving the atmosphere as soon as doors opened and friendly executives asked the waiting hopefuls to come inside. The youngsters made for a line of chairs along the wall, and seated themselves almost of one accord.

First up was a confident young trumpet player with take-off specialties on Clyde McCoy, Harry James, Bunny Berigan. Heidt liked the act. "Very good," he encouraged through SINGER TOMMY BATSON got off to a nervous start on "Peg O' My Heart," but relaxed when Heidt smiled and said "take it again." Next time he really "gave"!

the control booth mike. "Try a few more for me, will you?"

Kindly Help

This same genuine kindness was given each new contestant throughout the two and a half hours of try-outs. Heidt tirelessly spent an average of ten minutes with each routine. He had conversational little additions like "What year are you in at college, son?" and "Any kind of music you're particularly interested in as a career?" for every new participant. Under his pleasant "Fine!" and "I liked that very much" encouragements the competitors visibly relaxed, lost their gulps of embarrassment and performed up to their separate parts.

One demure little girl, with an unusually lovely classic soprano, thought deeply when they asked her for an encore. "Well," she suggested, "I could try 'Cow-Cow Boogie!'"

Heidt firmly switched on his mike again. "No, let's have none of that. Let me hear you in something else classical."

She scored her second success with "Make Believe."

Inside the booth, too, private build-ups were given each boy or girl approaching the mike. "I heard this fellow sing 'Peg O' My Heart,' Horace," enthused rotund little producer Jerry Bowne, "and I think you'll like him too. Nice tone and delivery." Or . . . "Here's an act that only needs editing to be very good and original."

It seemed to be the regret of everyone concerned with the show that all the young people couldn't be chosen as "best." Even when the top four performers had been told they'd been picked for the Sunday show, the rest of the disappointed ones must have felt that their abilities had been observed and appreciated, and passed over only because there wasn't quite room for them all. Instead of the abrupt dismissal which one might expect after seeing movies and stage plays, each of the omitted youngsters was given a personal telephone call by producer Jerry Bowne, explaining why in as helpful, kindly terms as possible.

In his first two air shows, Horace Heidt auditioned more than 700 entertaining people, both amateurs and professionals, looking for a break. He expects to see at least 20,000 more in his present nationwide search before twelve months have passed.

The show began in Fresno and has moved east via Los Angeles, Birmingham General Hospital, the Pasadena Playhouse, Omaha, Des Moines, Minneapolis, Youngstown, Columbus and Cleveland, Ohio, to New York. $250 has been awarded each broadcast-winner, with $500 set for the act which comes through in front after thirteen weeks of open competition, $1000 for the best performance at the end of six months and $5000 for the grand winner of the year. This accumulation will make the yearly winner recipient of the largest prize ever offered on a radio talent show.

How Set Up

Traveling in advance of this giant opportunity sweepstakes are four scouts. Alan Bode is coordinator of the project, and reporting regularly from outlying cities are John Leer, Frank Reeves and Leon Duseau. Managers of local theaters and NBC radio stations are being of active assistance in the many, many auditions which such a wide circuit of coverage entails. The program is greatly interested in collegiate talent, but not to the exclusion of such fine groups as the CYO, Boys' Clubs and other institutions of that nature, all of which are also being contacted along the way.

← PRETTY, QUIET Lorraine Brown sang "Make Believe" and "One Song" in a clear lyric soprano which Heidt and his collaborators called "well trained and very promising."

On the heels of such other 1947-instigated talent shows as Arthur Godfrey's and Eddie Dowling's "The Big Break" (whose time the new "Opportunity Night" has taken) the Heidt program has of course been narrow-mindedly tabbed "just another in the chain."

But Heidt and the intent, interested men who are working with him on this most extensive scouting effort of the season have definite counter-comment. "There are so many still-unknowns waiting for a chance . . . any kind of a chance . . . that even another show offering them opportunity to show their stuff could not possibly be considered 'extra' or 'old hat!'"

↘ COCKY JOHNNY MATSON was quick on the conversation as well as on the trumpet specialties. Following his Bunny Berigan, Harry James and Clyde McCoy take-offs, Heidt asked to "hear some more."

← KECA'S "STAR GAZER," FRANCES SCULLY, gives Radio Life's reporter a "sneak-preview" of the gold hat, created for her by John Frederics himself, which she's saving for the Academy Awards in March.

Monday-Friday, 3:45 p. m.
KECA

I GOT TO DO everything I wanted," exclaimed commentator Frances Scully, speaking of her recent trip to New York City. "Even had a ride in Central Park at three o'clock in the morning."

Apparently Miss Scully continued in New York the feverish round of activity which she maintains in Hollywood, where she clicks off five weekly air programs and emcees or lends color comment to a wide assortment of air and fashion enterbonnets in advance. "Wouldn't you know it?" Frances laughed. "I had to get off the train in New Orleans, had a mike shoved in my hand, and did comment on a preview while wearing my one and only black suit!"

If Miss Scully had been whisked from the train en route west, it would have been a different story: She would probably have furrowed her brow over which New York-purchased outfit to wear. For her bags came back bulging with modish outfits, schemingly selected with a fashion eye on future events. A lavish brocade suit, for example, was bought and stashed away awaiting the Millinery Show, which the commentator emceed again this last December, while a gold hat which John Frederics styled on Frances' head was immediately earmarked for the Academy Awards.

Differences Cited

"There were very few beautiful hats in New York," said Miss Scully, "because inclement weather makes feathers, veils, and ribbons look bedraggled. In fact, the difference in New York and Hollywood clothes reflects the difference in life there and here. Their lunch hour is short, their cocktail hour an accepted part of the day's routine, and night-clubbing is taken for granted. I saw many black faille suits and for evening, very dressy clothes. But in tainment. Reliving her trip, which constituted her first vacation in eight years, Frances divulged that all her hectic scramblings in Manhattan had melted away ten pounds, one way of calculating how busy she was and how much different from the Los Angeles climate was New York's humid weather.

"On account of the eastern weather," Frances pointed out, "the stores in New York are not nearly as glamorous as those here. When patrons have to carry umbrellas and wear raincoats and galoshes much of the time, stores can't cover their floors with luxurious carpeting and indulge some of the frills we enjoy out here.

"But the selection of clothing is wonderful!" the commentator continued. Anticipating a shopping spree in New York, Miss Scully took but one black suit—on her back. Also knowing that alone in Southern California do hat-minded ladies have an opportunity to wear what they want practically year 'round, she shipped two dozen beautiful

Hy Averback

By Judy Maguire

Sideman to Jacks Paar and Carson, and "Tokyo Mose" to Thousands of Ex-GI's, Are the Present and Past of Mikeguy Hy

▲ A FOOTNOTE that the personable Mr. Averback is still a bachelor ought to get some takers. Pressed for his ideas about the kind of girl he'd like to meet and marry, however, Hy answers helplessly: "Honest to gosh, I don't know." (ABC photo.)

HIS, in case it confuses you, is Japanese double-talk, and goes to the tune of "London Bridge Is Falling Down":

*"Moshee-Moshee Ah-No-Nay
Ah-No-Nay, Ah-No-Nay,
Moshee-Moshee Ah-No-Nay
Ah-Su-Deska."*

To announcer Hy Averback, as to any ex-GI in Tokyo during the first American occupations, that kind of gibberish recalls a lot of memories. Particularly to Hy, who as "Tokyo Mose" took over the radio platter and chatter time held by "Tokyo Rose." The jingle was his theme song.

While it wasn't exactly swell to be on that side of the Pacific, Hy and the rest of the AFRS outfit which was staging radio for our troops at that time formed a great comradery which carries over into their civilian friendships today. A lot of those fellows had a lot of fun together. Get George Dvorak, Jack Paar, Bob Leonard, Alan Botzer, Hans Conried and Hy together to talk about it . . . and you'll have a convention of buddies that'll jaw the jeebers out of any "Good old Siwash" reunion you've ever seen!

Plus his "Tokyo Mose" routine, of course, Hy became unusually popular entertainment when he played straight man to Jack Paar in a comedy air show the two of them and Paul Masterson staged in Noumea. Hy first met Paar in Guadalcanal, where Paar was heftily occupied as a ditch-digger. They found they could "really go along with a gag together." When Paar came back to the states and latched on to his own radio time in the summer Jack Benny spot, he immediately looked up Hy for his announcer.

Hy first met Hans Conried in Manila. "Hans had a crew haircut," Hy recalls, "and a tremendous Colonna mustache. He used to lope around the island looking for treasures in the antique shops." It was a "three happy chappies" reunion for the trio of them (Hans, Paar and Hy) on the Paar ABC and NBC shows.

Initial Enterprises

Before the army, Hy started in this town in 1938, as a free-lance actor on "Calling All Cars," etc. He put in another year at KMPC as a combined actor-announcer-writer and worked up to assistant production manager. When he left KMPC it was to head the radio production division of a local agency. A few more months of subsequent narrating and writing for film tracks, and doing some free-lance acting, then came his R.S.V.P. invitation to join the infantry. Hy went out with the first AFRS division, including Dvorak and Botzer and headed by Bob Leonard. The boys formed their own "Mosquito Network" in New Caledonia, and later moved en company to Tokyo for a similar schedule of broadcasting entertainment.

Hy himself originated the "Tokyo Mose" project. Signing on with such cheerful observations as "Running eyes. Running nose. Very unhappy. Tokyo Mose," he endeared himself to thousands of khaki-clad listeners in much a similar condition. Most of his show was slap-happy philosophizing and a wild assortment of records, and Hy spiced it up by adding such campaigns as "The 54 and Under Club" . . . (Points for discharge had lowered to sixty, and the boys naturally felt the next drop would be to fifty. Instead it was to fifty-five. Hy had fifty-four. His immediate radio protest of such goings-on was easily the most popular fan-puller on the air.)

"Mose" unfortunately never got a chance to meet and interview "Rose." The Army nixed a planned program, much to Hy's regret, because of the "Hail the conquering hero" elements of the situation.

But summing up all his army broadcasting, Hy smiles reminiscently. "It was really quite pleasant. The fellows were swell listeners. The gang was full of good ideas. Even the Japanese were nice to us."

Hy joined another agency for a while, following his discharge. But he had to write and announce a baby diaper program and he "wasn't happy." So he started taking on dramatic and comedy parts, and finally was playing straight comedy. Then Paar came back, and they began the recent Lucky Strike show. Bids to announce the Jack Carson-Eve Arden program and "Hit Parade" followed.

In person Hy is rather small and trimly built. He has a close haircut and a gentle, sincere face, and any remark you can draw out of him about someone else is inclined to be well-intentioned. He appears to have an enormous number of good friends. His closest at the moment is Hal March, who's also still a bachelor.

Hy adds, rather wistfully, "I'm terribly eligible."

Melodies America Loves---and Loves

With a Quality That Never Changes, This Fine Musical Program Goes On Supplying The Entertainment Its Listeners Expect

Tuesday 7:30 p.m.
KNX

IF THE SUCCESS of a radio program can be measured by its longevity and the faithfulness of its audience then the Inglewood Park Concert, "Melodies America Loves," belongs to the handful of programs that supply the backbone of radio.

For over seventeen years and in approximately 1,050 broadcasts, this musical show has never failed to please the lovers of the quieter classics and familiar songs of the past.

For the past eight years, Earl Towner has conducted the orchestra on the program.

Maestro Towner studied music in his home town of San Francisco and is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. The greater part of his effort was directed toward composing and conducting, but he did some indifferent vocal studies, as the members of his family were all interested in singing.

Towner's first radio job was with the male quartet on "The Blue Monday Jamboree," famous early West Coast radio show. Earl sang bass. Unable to get away from the singing angle of the business, he became vocal director of KFRC, the San Francisco station from which the "Jamboree" emanated, and had a fine glee club of fourteen voices under his direction. Meredith Willson, musical director of the station at that time, needed an assistant and

NEWS and COMMENT

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Rumors Are Flying

"Point Sublime" is up for sale to the films. . . . Rudy Vallee has a one-hour variety show deal cooking — would be like his old Fleischmann Hour. . . . Hildegard is mentioned for a five-a-week, fifteen-minute show on ABC. . . . Auditioning is a novel news commentary program starring Robert Montgomery and produced by Bill Lawrence. Tentatively set for a Sunday spot, the show will be announced by Ken Niles with Montgomery informally "talking over" the news. . . . Huzza-Huzza! "Vic and Sade," starring originals Art Van Harvey and Bernadine Flynn and written by Paul Rhymer, has been recorded for a fifteen-minute, five-a-week series. We're crossing our fingers hoping that it will be taken locally. . . . Should the New York Directors Guild go on strike, it is rumored that struck shows will be moved to Hollywood, where the directors are still intact. . . . There's talk current that the Ed and Keenan Wynr show has sparked the interest of Lever Brothers. . . . Jack Edwards, Jr., and his singing coach, Sandy Oliver, are collaborating on a Western disc jockey show. . . . Stuart Novins, Director of Special Events for CBS-KNX, spent two days in Phoenix, Arizona, gathering background material for a forthcoming documentary on the California-Arizona water dispute. . . . Billy Rose may tour the U.S. later in the year conducting a one-man Gallup poll on the coming election. . . . The Army may revive "Front and Center" this summer with Garry Moore in the emcee spot that Dotty Lamour held last season. . . . Doris Day's fifteen-minute program which was planned for Sundays has been shelved because of movie commitments. . . . "What's My Name?", the old Arlene Francis-Ward Wilson participation show, has been modernized and optioned by ABC. . . . George Jessel has had a program, "Testimonial Dinner," tailored especially for him. Show calls for a celebrity to be given a dinner each week, toastmastered by Jessel. . . . "True or False" gets an MBS sponsor on a fifty-two-week contract starting February 7. . . . Martin Block has been renewed by Mutual, regardless of previous rumors. . . . Red Ingle has been refused permission to burlesque any of the Jerome Kern tunes — something is sacred! . . . DON'T BE A MissDit*

NEXT WEEK

Why is it a "fizz" and not a fizzle? That's the urgent question we answer next week in our rather different story on the saga of an Alka-Seltzer tablet, whose history we trace from the time it leaves the agency until it is dropped into a glass of warm water in front of a mike.

Who picks the platters you hear and why? Another provocative query, answered in word and pictures next week (and incidentally, you'll see all of the top wax whirlers from KFWE's ace stable).

Who sparks the "University Explorer" program—how did it get started and how do its prognostications stand up? A meaty article for those craving information.

Who are the Modernaires and why? Individually and collectively we inquire into this melodious group with a story guaranteed to satisfy our musical readers.

What's with "Ford Theater"? What kind of programs does it air and how do those connected with the series look? Answered next week.

How and how much are the singers on "Sound Off" paid? Which gal canary has offered her vocal services most frequently and how do the top songsters feel about working on this Army-sponsored show? More disa-and-data.

Who is Mutual's "Reporter in Motion"? and how does he view his on-the-jump job?

All the answers in next week's Radio Life!

Your Cue (Shows You May Like)

"Breaking All Records"

Comedian Steve Allen on his "Breaking All Records" show, KNX, 11:15 p.m. Monday through Saturday, is strictly an acquired taste — but after you've acquired it, you can't let him alone. The first time we listened to him, we heard nothing but an unidentified rattling and a good deal of irritating laughter. The second time, he was devoting the broadcast to running a wind-up train on inadequate track in front of the mike. The third time — we were fans.

Steve is one of the wackiest and youngest (a mere child of twenty-six) of the current air comics and his behavior on this nightly program almost defies description or analysis. It does make his formatted comedy show, "It's a Great Life," seem sane by comparison, however.

As far as we can determine by regular listening, he uses no script, no thought, no notes and hardly any records in planning his air performance. Often he dispenses with even his theme and just rattles cellophane for fifteen minutes. He reads letters from listeners and comments on them — if he's in the mood. He banters with Joe, the engineer, and seems to enjoy himself hugely — though the audience can hear only Allen's part of the conversation. Recently Joe (whoever he is) got an AFRA card, and listeners were able to hear his golden voice on the air. He wasn't bad either. Of course he's no Basil Rathbone when it comes to diction, but he sounded more lucid than many highly touted guest stars we've come across.

Currently Allen is concerned with the circumstances under which tigers will attack human beings and with reading fan mail written on odd materials — the aforementioned cellophane, tin foil, wood, etc. You can expect anything — or nothing — on this program, and get both. If you've relaxed enough by 11:15 p.m. to listen to Allen, and you're not expecting a high-powered comic, you'll probably be amused by his lackadaisical attitude and contrasting incisive wit. And if you like Jim Hawthorne and Arthur Godfrey — you'll love him.

p.m. on Sundays, the first three shows rang the bell with adaptations of Cornell Woolrich's "Black Curtain," starring Robert Montgomery; "Sam Spade," with you-know-who, and James M. Cain's "Love's Lovely Counterfeit," starring James Cagney.

Robert Montgomery, who will be heard in the dramas occasionally, serves as narrator of the series, necessitating a sometime change from the strict first person singular narration of the protagonist.

As in any hour-long dramatic show, much more of the mood and plot line of the original piece are retained. This advantage is especially marked in "Suspense" mysteries which often depend upon devious plotting. The hour programs no longer leave the listener pondering over the unexplained actions or loose threads of minor plots left hanging at the denouement. Thankfully, producer Bill Spier has looked into the field of famous thriller fiction (as you can see from the already listed titles) and taken advantage of the opportunity to present sturdier plots, rather than expand the thirty-minute originals formerly used.

As always, the supporting casts are superb, though familiar through long service on the "Suspense" series. Music, composed and arranged by Lucien Moraweck and conducted by Lud Gluskin, adds immeasurably to the mood.

Only wrong note struck so far was the introduction of author James M. Cain at the conclusion of the "Love's Lovely Counterfeit" broadcast. Author Cain, who uses his typewriter like a sawed-off shotgun when he writes dialogue, delivers it over the air like a Casper Milquetoast.

Now that the field of best-selling thrillers has been tapped, we're hoping that the works of the earlier mystery writers — Mary Roberts Rinehart, S. S. Van Dine, Agatha Christie and Earl Derr Biggers — won't be entirely forgotten in favor of the current vogue for the hardbitten heroes and detectives.

"Home Is What You Make It"

Fraught with possibilities as the title appears, "Home Is What You Make It" (KFI, Saturdays, 1:30 p.m.) is not: (a) a course on interior decoration, (b) a series of lectures on delinquency, religious, social and civic problems, or (c) a John J. Anthony forum for family adjustment.

Yet, as successfully as though they were hearing the best of three such programs, interested listeners may utilize this excellent half-hour as a single educator in all these happiness-concerning topics, plus many more.

Format is extremely flexible on this varying weekly series. An underlying theme, however, seems apparent to us, and we would term it "The Development of Human Harmony."

Subject matter is of world-wide import. NBC has therefore taken itself a job, in attempting to prove that the American home unit cannot function without regarding itself as a small part of the universal whole. To this end, a recent broadcast (January 17) gave one of the finest dramatic analyses of the atomic problem we have yet heard. David Lilienthal's atomic address to the nation, (which your narrator conjectured has probably been missed or disregarded by the average public through general horror of the entire topic) was repeated in its entirety, with pauses for dramatic interpretation of each pertinent point. By the end of the thirty minutes, we, at least, certainly felt a much calmer and healthier curiosity regarding this probable great influence on our futures than we had expressed before. This attitude, the program assured us, was a step in the right direction.

We also found "Home Is What You Make It's" Christmas presentation a deeply influencing religious help in our holiday just past. On that broadcast, the Biblical Nativity history was set forth so significantly that the world at the time of the Christ Coming appeared at once parallel to the condition of the world today. That listeners might again turn seriously to the Saviour's teachings was not "preached" on the program, yet more than one of us must have felt such inclination at the system cue.

These two examples of "Home Is What You Make It" context matter are a far-from-adequate coverage of what may be expected from week to week. Surprise subjects and unusual "angles" are program policies, but "The Home" is "top star."

Lou Hazam writes and Jack Kuney produces the series, which is sustaining and from the East. Both gentlemen are obviously intense and imaginative about their assignments.

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride

... To Abe Burrows's rendition of "Waukesha Natural Bridge" on Saturday night, January 17. It's one of Abe's best numbers and guaranteed to make a fan of anyone who has ever suffered through a movie travelogue. We're putting in a request right now for a repeat.

... To Robert Taylor's sock substitute performance for the absent Phil Harris on the Harris-Faye show, and to Alice herself for her blossoming comedy talents.

... To Sunday's broadcast (January 18) of "The Private Practice of Dr. Dana," which presented an out-of-the-ordinary script with evident relish on the part of the cast, headed by Jeff Chandler.

... To James Cagney's performance as "Ben" in "Love's Lovely Counterfeit" on "Suspense." Cagney's soft Irish-American tones are beautifully tuned to radio — and should be heard there more often.

... To Chico Marx's joyous piano-playing, ad libbing and funning on the Joan Davis show. Often overshadowed by his silent brother and his gabby brother, Chico never fails to wow an audience on his own.

... To Lily Pons on the Metropolitan Opera broadcast for her thrilling "Mad Scene" from "Lucia Di Lammermoor." This is the scene that Miss Pons used for her original audition in 1930, and her repetitions of it on the Saturday broadcast never fail to bring the audience to their feet in a frenzy. The communicable excitement makes for wonderful radio moments.

We View With Alarm

The airing of the public love-fest between Louella Parsons and Ginger Rogers on last Sunday's broadcast of Louella's usually informative chatter show. The patently phony "Well, what in the world were we mad at?" routine that marked the end of the long Parsons-Rogers feud was particularly irritating to those who remember "what they were mad at." It's nice that "the girls" made up, but it would have been even nicer over a cup of coffee at the Derby — without a mike in sight.

Poll Progressing

Listeners of Jeanne Gray's "Woman's Voice" on KMPC have until February 15 to send in their votes for the outstanding woman of the year, due to receive a beautiful bronze trophy award from the program.

To date leading contenders are Frances Langford, Eleanor Roosevelt, Jacqueline Cochrane, and Judge Mildred D. Lillie. If possible, the woman selected will be invited to appear in person on a broadcast to receive her award, a statue created by Ruth Peabody, Laguna Beach sculptor. Miss Gray hopes to make her award a yearly feature of her program, heard Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 4:15 p.m.

"Sublime" Resident

Another regular comedy personality will be added to the "Point Sublime" adventures when the program goes national over ABC network Monday, February 2, (8 p.m.). Producer Robert L. Redd is disclosing no further details until that broadcast date, when "Sublime" listeners will meet their new friend in the script.

That Old Debbil Customs

The mills may grind slowly in the many busy facets of producing a top radio show, but that continued policy of good will to the public is still there.

On November 8 of 1946, pretty red-haired Molly Dawson, a British war worker en route from the Far East to England, stopped off in New York to see a radio program and got tickets for CBS' "Winner Take All." Molly became a contestant and won a number of prizes—so many, in fact, that sailing of the S. S. Washington was held up thirty minutes to permit her to get her awards aboard.

Among her winnings, however, were a $200 diamond ring and an antique necklace worth $300, which the British customs promptly taxed for 150 per cent duty when Molly reached her native shores. Unable to pay, Molly ordered the jewelry to be sent back to the program.

Now, a year and two months later, the two gifts have finally arrived back with co-producers Mark Goodson and Bill Todman. And after due consideration, "Winner Take All" has decided to sell the jewelry and send Molly a check in full.

Still convinced it's a cruel, cruel world?

Visiting Fireman

Eighty-year-old Joe Howard, still going strong as a songwriting celebrity, is currently a visitor to Hollywood. In addition to a rumored guest appearance with Al Jolson, Joe may be heard throughout the week on several disc jockey shows, playing his new Deluxe record album, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." (From the picture, we might add, of the same name.)

DEBITS AND CREDITS

Last summer, Sherlee Turner, who's Hoagy Carmichael's girl Friday on CBS, purchased and operated a hamburger stand at Huntington Beach. She's now the owner of a paying business, but has a personal complaint, anyway. She learned to make such good hamburgers, hot dogs and malted milks that she gained extra unwanted pounds, and had to work hard to regain her figure.

GAGS OF THE WEEK

Miss M. Prinz, Hotel Chandler, Los Angeles 14, Calif.

Heard on the Bob Hope show:

Bob: I understand you have your own radio program now.

Herbert Marshall: Yes, I am "The Man Called X."

Bob: Oh yes, I met your wife, "Virus."

Vera C. Wright, 1619 East 87th Street, Los Angeles 2, Calif.

Heard on "Haynes at the Reins":

Don: Can I dedicate this to my girl friend? I call her "Termite."

Dick: Why do you call her "Termite"?

Don: Because she was born to her parents on their wooden anniversary.

Mrs. Bertha Collins, 1277½ West 37th Place, Los Angeles 7, Calif.

Heard on "Amos 'n' Andy":

Lawyer: You know when the current went off the other day, it made one of my clients very happy.

Andy: It did? How come?

Lawyer: He was sitting in the chair.

Charles F. Schoener, 6261½ South Hoover Street, Los Angeles 44, Calif.

Heard on Bill Leyden's "Music Hall":

"You better be careful where you eat in Hollywood. I hear one place was closed because they served deviled eggs."

Mrs. C. D. McClenathen, 1217 South Highland Avenue, Los Angeles 35, Calif.

Heard on "Breakfast Club":

Sam: Fiction and Fact, From Sam's Almanac. If a street runs for ten miles, how far can a side walk?

Walter J. Revak, 11139½ McCormick, North Hollywood, Calif.

Heard on "Twenty Questions":

(Subject was "First Sergeants").

Bobby: Are they all living?

Bill Slater: Some of them are, and some of them aren't.

Guest Star: Is it the radio audience in the studio?

Mrs. Margarite Talbot, 5716 Virginia Avenue, Hollywood 38, Calif.

Heard on "You Bet Your Life":

Groucho: I sent to Sears Roebuck and Company for a waitress and they sent me a waiter. I forgot they were a mail order company.

Franklyn McKim, 952 South Bonnie Brae, Los Angeles 6, Calif.

Heard on Bing Crosby show:

The Lone Ranger: Hi-yo, Silver... Awayyyyyy! Hey, wait! I didn't get on yet!

NOTES TO YOU

By ANDY MANSFIELD

- 1 note—fair
 - 2 notes—pleasing
 - 3 notes—very good
- Chord in G—tops

KWKW, 12.45 p.m. Daily

ALBUM OF THE WEEK: The title, "A Sentimental Date with Perry" should give you some hint of what's in store when Mr. Como's very relaxed voice goes to work, but here's some of the easiest on the ears in a long time—in fact, it's difficult to select any one outstanding side of the album's eight. . . . They're all tops in pops from yesterday's hit parade with lovely arranged backings by the Lloyd Shaffer and Russ Case Orchestras to give it a well-deserved Chord in G rating. (RCA-Victor)

RECORD OF THE WEEK: Reminiscent of the vodvil days is the Bing Crosby-Andrews Sisters very fetching etching, "Apalachicola, Fla." . . . in spite of the title, the he and shes do a bang-up job on this ditty from "Road to Rio," complete with Crosby ad-libs and asides. . . . Reverse side, "You Don't Have to Know the Language" (from the same flicker) is in the Souse American way and equally well-done with all the pepper this combo has always shown on its platters. . . . No less than three notes on this one. (Decca).

MARGARET WHITING: Tops in the female vocalist department must certainly go to Maggie for the haunting Polynesian melody, "Now Is the Hour" and the potential hit from the above picture, "But Beautiful." . . . Both are done in the easy Whiting manner to excellent backing by the Frank DeVol Orchestra for an easy three notes. (Capitol).

DAVID ROSE ORCH.: Instrumentally, this is Dave's best in a long time. . . . His echo-chambered strings, colored by beautiful woodwind passages, do a masterful job on the favorite "Stardust" . . . while the reverse "Sentimental Journey" is more in slow swing tempo and highlighted by muted brass figurations. . . . Here's a three-note topper. (MGM)

PHIL HARRIS ORCH.: Here's Alice's pride and joy with a pair of curly-haired favorites that any turntable will welcome: "One More Time" and "Old-Time Religion." . . . First is brisk and breezy, but in true revival spirit, Harris' pipes never sounded more sincere than on the old spiritual hymn—and backed by the Sportsmen Quartet, Phil really does a fine job with one of the greatest hymns of all time. . . . Another three-noter! (RCA-Victor)

JUST WATCH ME

When Harlow Wilcox couldn't get his usual golf foursome together recently, the announcer of the CBS "Baby Snooks Show" went out to Bel-Air to play alone. After the second hole he met a fourteen-year-old lad who was having a little difficulty with his game. So Harlow expansively offered to play along with him, giving pointers on the way. Harlow shot 106 . . . the lad, 76!

F.M. and Television Tips

By JANE PELGRAM

Guess it's here for sure. Announcement went out last week that Mutual's "Heart's Desire" was expected to double into television immediately. The changes necessitated in the format would include a new thirty-foot backing of shadow box to display the gift giveaways, costuming of show personnel, identifying sponsor backdrop for Philip Morris, and an "on stage" presentation of the giveaways.

Another television show was added to the roster when "Catch the Act," a Larry Finley Enterprise, teed off on its initial presentation January 13th from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m. over KTLA. This regular Tuesday feature first presented Nancy Norman, former vocalist with Sammy Kaye's orchestra, and Mario and Lillian, a dance act.

The fact that Shirley Dinsdale and "Judy Splinters" are now appearing nightly over television station KTLA at 7:00 p.m. rather than 7:30 p.m. is due to little four-year-old Stephanie Wanger's efforts. Stephanie is daughter of Joan Bennett and Walter Wanger. It seems an argument occurred nightly between mother Bennett and daughter Stephanie about whether or not the child could stay up to see Shirley Dinsdale's show. Little Stephanie decided to settle it for once and for all.

"I'll just ask Shirley to go on earlier!" she said one day. "I'll get your secretary to write a letter for me," she went on airily, "and explain that lots of little girls would probably like to see her if she would appear before they had to go to bed."

The letter was written, and Shirley and "Judy" cooperated!

Also on KTLA, "On the Town," a program telecast at 12:30 Thursday noons will continue indefinitely. Rita LeRoy and her glamorous models are making a hit with the television audience—including the men—so the clinic and quiz go on, henceforth to be telecast from Tom Breneman's Restaurant so that Rita can have free scope for her audience-participation stunts.

Billy Rose, columnist and showman de luxe, has had some funny cracks regarding television credited to him. Here are a couple of Billy's "off-the-cuff guesses":

"I think most of the Hooper-happy stars will still be with us, and some of Broadway's old faces may become Main Street's new faces. Watch for Bobby Clark, Bert Lahr, Maurice Chevalier and Ethel Merman. I wouldn't be surprised if television proved the thing that brought back vaudeville.

"Visual advertising will move certain types of merchandise like nothing the world has ever seen. Something new in shoes may sweep the country in a week. I tremble to think how much eyewash, mouthwash and hogwash the hucksters will sell. The cigarette boys will do everything but blow smoke up your nostrils. The lads who dream up the sales spiels will reach new heights—and descend to new lows . . . as, for instance, singing AND dancing commercials."

Mr. Rose must have read the paragraph we did concerning the retreat from radio into television being beaten by the town's used car kings. The auto men can go crazy over the actual showing of their shiny wares, and it now appears that the car czars may easily become video's number one advertiser.

PLEASE!

Ed "Archie" Gardner wants known that he's not the same Ed Gardner who writes the ABC juvenile adventure strip, "Sky King." It seems that a great quantity of fan mail in childish scrawls is being misdirected into the inappropriate atmosphere of NBC's "Duffy's Tavern."

TELEVISION TIPS

video appearance is as painless as Parker. When KTLA's "On the Town" hosted and interviewed us last Wednesday noon, we decided that if all the actors and actresses who will ultimately give their all for the television cameras have things made as easy for them as host Stu Wilson made it for us, self-consciousness will flee.

The attention we could spare from that friendly chat with Stu was taken by the neatness and lack of bulky equipment necessary to catch the whole series of interviews carried on outside the Hollywood Brown Derby.

After bidding Stu goodbye, we attempted to beat the speed of light and get up to the nearest television set—the one in the J. Walter Thompson office—in order to catch the sequence we'd just helped make. But too late! However, Barry Sullivan was making with the chatter and masculine glamour. (Oh, boy!) That brought up a tip to producers. We discovered something you'll for sure have to watch out for. That's the element so in love with the sight of their own face they'll risk life and limb sneaking up behind television interviewees to wave a cheery greeting at the camera. So far it's been funny, but some day one of these exhibitionists may get carried away.

Contests and Offers

"TOM MIX AND HIS STRAIGHT SHOOTERS," KHJ, 5:45 p.m. Monday through Friday—Tom's new Collie dog needs a name, and 3,101 prizes will be given to the youngsters submitting best suggestions. The dog is a three-year-old, with brown and white markings and a white star on his forehead. First award is a bicycle with a built-in radio, speedometer and siren for the winning youngster, and a brand new 1948 convertible car for his or her parents. One hundred similar bikes, 500 table model three-way radios, 1500 wrist watches and 1000 Tom Mix adventure novels will go to runners-up. Address entries to Tom Mix, care of WGN, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Illinois.

"BEULAH," KHJ, 9:15 p.m. Monday through Friday—$1,000 cash goes daily to winners of the continuing contests now held on the show. Fifty second prizes of portable Motorola radios. Complete in twenty-five words or less "I like new improved Dreft for dishwashing because . . ." and send your entry, with accompanying Dreft boxtop, to: Department 00, Box 2118, Cincinnati 1, Ohio.

"JACK SMITH SHOW," KNX, 8:15 p.m. Monday through Friday—$15,000 cash is first prize and $5,000 cash is second, for the winner who best completes the sentence, "To me, that Oxydol sparkle means . . ." (in twenty-five words or less). See your dealer for entry blank and details. Oxydol box-top must be enclosed, and mailing address is: Jack Smith, Cincinnati 1, Ohio.

"JUKE BOX MATINEE," KXLA, 3:15 p.m. Monday through Saturday—The March of Dimes is the winner in a contest "for the fun of it" now being held by disc-rider, jockey in radio (he's approximately six feet ten), wants his listeners to guess how many dimes it will take to fill a glass tube as tall as he, (sending a ten-cent piece with each entry). All contributions go to the Infantile Paralysis fund. An autographed picture of Bailey will also be given the best guesser.

"THEATRE GUILD ON THE AIR," KECA, 6:30 p.m. Sunday—Nine motion pictures on the subject of steel-making will be sent for group viewing. For further information, drop a card to George Hicks, care of U. S. Steel, 71 Broadway, New York 6, New York.

sports apparel, California fashions are supreme."

Also reflecting weather conditions were New York shoes, for, whereas Hollywood women are able to wear open-toe-and-heel shoes comfortably all four seasons and hence have been reluctant to relinquish the mode, New York ladies have adopted the closed shoes enthusiastically.

Jumping from toe to head again, Miss Scully related with relish one of her most embarrassing moments in Big Town. Dated to attend the theater with another lady visitor as guest of John Frederics, Frances chose one of her most elegant hats, a John Frederics original, naturally, billowing with pink ostrich feathers. Dressing meticulously and adding the plumed hat as final touch, Miss Scully descended to the hotel foyer to find the other feminine visitor chapeaued identically. Both were able to laugh off the coincidence and gamely went through the evening while their escort valiantly steered a course between Scylla and Charybdis.

Telling the story, Frances paused to chuckle. "Picture the two of us," she said. "I am five-foot-two and the other girl was five-foot-seven. And to top it all, we sat in a box at the theater!"

Another incident amusing Miss Scully occurred the night she and her mother were guests of Sherman Billingsley at the Stork Club. Hovering over the duo and anxiously awaiting their beck and call, the famous host asked Mrs. Scully what she wanted to eat and promptly received the frank answer: "Could I have a sturgeon sandwich like they make at Lindy's?"

Laughing at herself, Frances also related the story of the beautiful gray chiffon negligee she spied while shopping in an exclusive Fifth Avenue salon. "Will you please get it and let me try it on?" she asked the sales girl.

Horrified, the attendant informed Frances that the filmy mentionable wasn't a negligee, but a shroud! Frances didn't buy it.

Recalling her post-midnight ride in Central Park, Miss Scully detailed with relish her conversation with the cabby, who found time to chat with his Hollywood passenger while his horses clopped along.

"I guess you've taken lots of celebrities riding through the park," remarked Miss Scully.

"Yep," replied the cabby. "There was Diamond Jim Brady and Lillian Russell . . ."

"Oh, but I mean present-day celebrities," interrupted Frances.

"Gene Tierney," resumed the cabby, "but one I don't like is Bing Crosby."

"You can't say that about Bing," remonstrated Frances. "We love Bing."

"I've got a reason," insisted the cabby. "When he gets in the cab he whistles, and when he whistles the horse stops, so I said to him one night, 'No wonder you never have a winner!'"

Melodies America Loves—and Loves

Towner worked four years arranging music with Willson.

After nine years in San Francisco, Towner spent a year and a half in Chicago as an orchestra conductor. Returning to Los Angeles, he became associated, again as a choral director, at KFI. It was not until he was given a chance to substitute for a musical conductor that he had an opportunity to show his ability with instrumental music. Soon after, he took over the baton on the Inglewood Park program.

Among Earl's past musical assignments have been those of producer of the Horace Heidt show and arranger for the Heidt Glee Club. He has also conducted the Xavier Cugat choir and the Al Pearce and Phil Baker show choirs. At present he is arranging for the staff orchestra at CBS, in addition to his other musical duties. Earl's oldest boy, recently turned professional musician, is now appearing with a dance band. The four younger Towners are still in school.

Notable Predecessors

Preceding Towner as conductor of "Melodies America Loves" have been such outstanding directors as Raymond Paige, Frederick Stark, Gino Severi, Leon Leonardi and Claude Sweeten.

Three of the former soloists used on the program have since become members of the Metropolitan Opera Company—Nadine Conner, Mona Paulee and Emery Darcy. Eula Beal and Olive Mae Beach are the two young soloists who have won distinction on the concert stage. During the past seventeen years such stars as Perry Askam, Paul Keast, Tandy MacKenzie, Tudor Williams and Carrie Jacobs Bond have appeared. Among radio "names" who have been associated with the program in either a writing, announcing or producing capacity have been John Conte, Art Gilmore, True Boardman, Thomas Freebairn-Smith, and the late Gary Breckner.

In addition to established stars, frequent auditions of young unknown talent have played a large part in the success of this perennial show. Paul Winans, who launched the program in 1929 and who still serves as supervisor, Towner and director Cliff Howell listen fully and carefully to each soloist, knowing that their choice of talent to appear on the program may plummet the artist to musical stardom.

Buffoonery With Your Betting

One of the Royal Family of Fun Accelerates the Wagering On His Show With the Same Wit—but a New Personality

ABC-KFCA KFME

By Robbie Cole

WHEN the audience steps into Groucho Marx's fast-moving participation program, "You Bet Your Life,"—you can bet your life a healthy percentage of the gleeful guests show up with no thought of loot in mind. They come to enjoy ace ad-libber Groucho.

The format of this Elgin-American Compact-sponsored show adheres to today's trend: another quiz giveaway, with the give-away noticeably large. But there similarity ends. Three teams of contestants, chosen by the audience from among its own numbers weekly to play "You Bet Your Life" constitutes one departure. The teams are usually composed of outlandish combinations such as a house detective and a switchboard operator; a mother-in-law and a son-in-law; a traffic cop and a lady driver; or a barber and a bald-headed man. To prevent the possibility that there might not be any janitors, cops or other desired types present, weekly ads inviting the different categories to the show are published. Ad answers are admitted sans ticket.

Show Gimmicks

The teams go through ludicrous interviews with madman Marx. They vie with one another at building up their stake. They try to guess a "secret word." They flush and squirm and have a wonderful time. They usually walk off with a pocketful of cash. The games are easy, and the "secret word" gimmick is always a common household word which is mentioned very often in everyday conversation. So chances are good that someone on the show will stumble across it during his appearance. When that happens, the show stops, bells ring, people shriek—and Groucho pays off at once with $250 cash!

Few other shows go all out for the pandemonium paraded under the guise of a "warm-up." No sooner is the studio audience settled in its comfortable seats than "the mustache" zooms on-stage to head a lot of tomfoolery that brings down the house. During this period everyone connected with the show gets into the act. Producer-packager John Guedel, who also assists during the show proper, is prominent through a stunt that never fails to summon gales of merriment from spectators. Groucho bides his time, sneaks up behind the polished-looking Mr. Guedel, and lifts the producer's toupe. Usually a letter or two, ostensibly addressed to Groucho, drops to the floor. Possibilities of this situation are myriad and obvious.

When Bernie Smith, head writer of "You Bet Your Life," is introduced, he saunters from the wings with two heads. A few seconds later, Hy

The Other Side Of the Record

By Jane Pelgram

Genial Al Jarvis Has Been Turning Records Round and Talent Up for Sixteen Years. He Pooh-poohs Any Idea It's a Cinch

Monday-Saturday, 10 a.m., 5:30 p.m.
KLAC

IN THE PAST YEAR, a pebble of wondering resentment dropped into the waters of public opinion to spread circles of comment concerning the vast number of disc jockeys extant, and "how easy those guys who just sit back and play records have it."

Jolly, nasal-toned Al Jarvis, prototype of the wax works successes, pooh-poohs this idea.

"Listen, if I were to sit back, say 'I'm Al Jarvis, the guy who started it all,' and just take it easy as record spinners reputedly do, I wouldn't have a listener left inside of six months! The longer you stick by this work, the tougher it gets. This sixteenth year of mine proved that to me."

Jarvis arrived at the sixteenth milestone of popularity and labor through having regarded each successive year as the "tough one."

The road Al trod leads from a Valley station way back when the Star Outfitting Company was his single sponsor. Now at KLAC's colorful early California structure in the heart of Hollywood, Jarvis houses his "Make Believe Ballroom." That means a huge record room, his three secretaries and their lists of myriad sponsors, a personal publicity man, and himself, in a full suite of smartly decorated rooms. The topography of his course has almost unerringly ◀ JARVIS GETS a result like this when he dumps out the morning mail bag. It's a formidable sight, but Al welcomes every letter.

followed markers set up by the public pulse.

Keeping Up With the Public

Al discovers these "markers" through contests, by open telephone lines into his studio, and by a continuous audit of the sales sheets that reflect Mr. and Mrs. John Q's buying. It's finding out what the hearers want that makes up the work. Playing the preferred platters is easy... even three and a half hours a day.

"It's not a matter of gaining listeners. They're already tuned in or they wouldn't hear the records I do play. But I can lose a lot of that audience unless I try to pick the best arrangements, insofar as listeners are concerned, just as often as I'm able."

So far Al's hit an amazing percentage of prognostications. He's picked winners including Nat Cole, Benny Goodman, and Stan Kenton, long before eminence tagged them. For weeks before Francis Craig's "Near You" stamped buyers into record stores, Al had been spinning the disc on "Make Believe Ballroom."

Frankie Laine had been heard innumerable times both on record and in person with Al before the bobby soxers adopted him to bestow the favor of being catapulted to national fame.

Yet Al's the first to scoff at the suggestion that his prognostications are always true, or that he can spot talent unflinchingly. He tells the amusing story of having attended a Thanksgiving party with his wife, Marilyn.

"Frederick Spielman was playing the guests' requests on the piano. When he was asked to do the 'Habanera' from 'Carmen,' up stepped Marilyn and sang the selection, note-perfect, from beginning to end. I knew she sang popular ballads well, but certainly hadn't spotted her for a classical voice or repertoire. And I've been married to Marilyn for two years!"

VERSATILE JAY NOVELLO started his career playing children's roles in his father's English company of touring actors.

Man About Mike

Jay Novello Is Equally Gifted Playing Serials, Comedy, Heavies, Characters, Not to Mention Skill At Tennis, Riding and Cooking

a featured part with Clark Gable in "A Night in Bombay." Novello entered the Signal Corps when the war came along and ended up writing and producing all GI revues at Camp Crowder. Headliner of the series was a production of Clare Booth Luce's brilliant play "The Women," which, with an all-male cast, toured service camps to provide much-needed hilarity.

Returning from the Army, Jay quickly picked up the reins of his radio career, and today works most of the network dramatic shows. In addition, he is heard as "Uncle David" on the "Aunt Mary" soaper, was the belligerent punch-drunk John L. McGinty on the Jack Paar show and played innumerable European heavies and characters on Don Lee's "Count of Monte Cristo." In fact, at rehearsal the first question Jay asks Carleton Young, who

ONE OF THE richest sources of theater tradition, the touring company of England, is the primary contributor to the vocal versatility that Jay Novello displays to make him one of the busier character actors on the Hollywood scene.

As Welsh as the name Novello, which was familiar on the Wales countryside more than six centuries ago, Jay's mother married a touring actor in the days when touring companies were distinguished principally by the frequency with which company managers absconded with a good week's gate receipts. When a manager stranded the unhappy thespians in such a manner, Jay's father took over the company and set some kind of a record by successfully managing it until the late twenties, when he retired.

Jay was pressed into roles at an early age, for reasons of budget at first, and then because he showed strong signs of inheriting his parents' talent. Since the young boys in the company played both boy and girl roles with little more than a costume change, Jay found himself exceptionally busy. When came the unhappy day his falsetto voice would crack in the midst of a girl's lines or a growing bass would suddenly turn into a maidenly trill during a dramatic scene, Jay knew he could start concentrating on male leads.

The company toured all over the British Isles, and the Novellos traveled throughout Europe on the infrequent vacations they enjoyed, giving Jay a first-hand knowledge of the continent's history, as well as some facility in the languages of the various lands. It was during his travels in Italy that Jay made his most sensational bow. In Venice, he became so engrossed in the cries of various gondoliers as they hawked for passengers that he stepped up for a closer view, and provided the expressive Italians with plenty of exercise, vocal and physical, as they rescued him from the cold waters of the canal that served as a street.

Thirty-eight

In the early thirties, Novello made the trip to America and started an enthusiastic swing of this country with a stock company. Then, one day on a windy Chicago street, a frantic producer grabbed Jay's elbow, asked him if he could act, and without waiting for an answer rushed him to a microphone and jammed a marked script in his hand while throwing the opening cue to a waiting organist.

After giving what might be classified as an "instinctive" performance, Jay realized that he not only liked the mike but that the rapid change from character to character in radio would give him a challenging change from the week-in, week-out routine of the stage.

A top-ranking name on the Chicago scene, Novello came to Hollywood in 1938, joining Burgess Meredith and other stars of the future in the NBC stock company. His NBC work led to motion picture roles and he appeared in some twenty pictures, the roles ranging from comedy dialects and heavies to plays the Count, is "How do you kill me this week, Cam?"

Possibly his weekly immersion in the life of nineteenth-century Paris partially accounts for his love of classics, whether they be music, books or the other fine arts. An ardent collector, he has more than twelve hundred records scattered about his apartment, including more than seventy complete symphonies. Beethoven ranks as his favorite, although several autographed records by Sir Lancelot, the calypso singer, can be found side by side with the works of Haydn and Delius. Outdoors, Jay prefers riding and tennis, and in the latter sport his mean mixture of smashes and lobs is guaranteed to give anybody a good game. Jay excels as a host, for he can overwhelm guests with a combination of classical music, expert cooking and unexcelled abilities as a raconteur. Novello's meals, especially his English roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, are so famed among radio-ites that he often accuses guests of starving for a week before dropping in for dinner, so quickly does the food disappear.

Novello's favorite cooking trick would horrify Fannie Farmer, for he starts out with the ingredients as outlined in a recipe and then lets his imagination have free rein as to what additional components he should add. That his experiments pay off is best attested by the fact that the rest of the cast of "The Count" place him neck and neck with producer Jaime Del Valle when asked "Who's the best cook around?"

The Other Side of the Record

which Al frequently spikes his listener interest in his record parade help keep him near the grindstone. The contests are usually tied in with introducing a new sponsor. Ideas may occur to Al during any hour of the twenty-four, just as does the shaping up of these dreams for air presentation. When he gets a brainstorm, Al pops from his bed or the lunch table to his office, outlines the scheme and lines up the detail to be turned over to his staff.

Typical was his "Lullaby Contest," designed to reward couples longest married through the worst marital adversities.

"I'd been reading the papers one evening, wondering why Joe Smoe's or Maisie Glutz's latest divorce landed them in the news as though they'd done something terrific. The much-divorced always hit the public eye, while those constant to marriage benefit only within their home. If anyone deserves public approbation and a prize, they're the ones."

At Christmas time, three days saw Al featuring unidentified singers on record. Any card sent to him, bearing the correct names of these three mystery voices, and the name of a drug-gist whom the contestant had asked to carry a new sponsor's product, won two coveted tickets to the Rose Bowl game, with the added attraction of taxi passage there and back.

For Christmas Day fare, Al had scouted around and secured the favorite records of the artists themselves.

When Jarvis enjoyed his first vacation in fifteen years, that took as much behind-the-scenes endeavor as a planned parade of visiting talent for a publicity stunt. Rather than introduce a substitute who might or might not adhere for two weeks to the Jarvis policy of friendly public attention, Al gathered up a group of diversified and popular substitutes to host the "Ballroom." Dore Schary, head of RKO, singer David Street, the Andrews and King Sisters, Freddy Martin, Abe Burrows, Eddie Cantor and George Jessel, with others, took a hand at disc jockeying.

"Those two weeks were one time I think listeners did want to hear the disc jockeys more than the records," Al grinned.

"We've talked a lot about what goes on to get appealing records on the air, and 'why is a sponsor,' without mentioning what I think is pretty important.

"I won't say flatly that record program fans don't want to hear a lot of talk. Some probably have favorites whose voices they enjoy . . . but mine, I'm sure, isn't one of them. For all my experience I couldn't walk out tomorrow and get an announcing job. My listeners want to hear their own favorite records."

It was the satisfied listeners who made Al first click, then stick, and he knows it.

"You don't think it would take twelve hours a day or the work of four other people to pick out my own favorites from the record bin and spin 'em. I can hear my preferences at home."

Remember Jarvis' old offer of $1000 to any listener who can correctly tell him the kind of music Al himself prefers? It still stands.

Buffoonery With Your Betting

Freedman, the assistant writer, is introduced. He takes a bow with no head at all!

Even the janitor appears. Then a bucket-and-mop routine of audience-terrorizing involving chasing up and down the aisles is carried on by him and the lively emcee.

A Modified Marx

When the clock above the control board booth has rolled away thirty minutes of antics, director Bob Dwan and the ABC producer, Harfield Weedon, restore order and throw the cue that the show is really on the air.

The immediate change in Marx would mystify the hordes who worked with him and his brothers in their famous stage productions or motion pictures. Long identified with a violence of nonsense and the chasing of blondes (or brunettes—or red-heads!), Groucho Marx manages to subordinate to the purpose of the show what by now must be natural on-stage tendencies, without losing a bit of his personality.

He never stops the ad-lib wisecracks, but they are tempered with a warmth that takes the bite out of them. Even when participants' innocent remarks are snatched up and distorted, for laughs, by the quip-master, the joke is with them, not on them.

Billy May, trumpet man de luxe among contemporary musicians, heads the ten-piece orchestra. After one formal introduction, Groucho refers to Maestro May as "Arturo," "Ludvig," "Wolfgang," "Leopold"—anything other than "Billy." Anyone who has heard Billy May lend his terrific imaginative drive on a trumpet to the work of combos, or on the Capitol Record series, "History of Jazz," realizes the ridiculousness of the classical monikers for him. He's a jazzman to the point of being a purist.

Billy is one of the several on stage during this show who can barely contain themselves at Groucho's wittiness. It isn't an unusual sight to see him, the announcer or the engineers duck out of mike range in order that their laughter not break up a sequence.

It's understandable that this man Marx, who followed a golden career of vaudeville and stage work with his equally frantic brothers since the time they all wore knee pants, might have a hard time playing with the gallery rather than to it. Groucho expresses simple amazement at his own reaction to the show.

"It's the first time an audience has really meant anything more to me than just a sea of faces. Now I'm right in their laps! They're part of the act, and I get to know them." He solemnly admits to being "scared to death of the audience . . . at first," then quips "If I pay 'em enough, they don't hurt me!"

The participants have to earn their money to take it home, but otherwise Groucho really goes all out to please the people who crowd the big studio each week. Even his favorite prop is now the real McCoy. For the first time in his career, the cigar-smoking, gumshoe-gaited comic has forgone the black grease paint on his upper lip—for a real mustache!
