Mrs. Lucile Tiefel, 829 Marcile Avenue, Glendora, Calif.

Sirs: Withdrawing favorite programs without any notice, and five-minute fillers, are chief annoyances. Why not give us a full half-hour of drama? Why not devise more fair means of choosing contestants? On "Queen for a Day" the women practically become beggars, and some parts of the building have no chance at all.

Carroll Van Court, 226 West 46th Street, Los Angeles 37, Calif.

Sirs: Do you want to know what's the matter with radio? Well, I haven't many complaints (except for the same gags over and over) but there is one sad thing about it which could be corrected by the application of one of the greatest proverbs ever written—namely "Moderation in all things."

This is what I mean. Recently, in the space of only a few weeks, two good radio emcees dropped dead and two others collapsed from exhaustion, etc., and if I am not mistaken, all of them were under forty-eight years old! What an age for anyone to die! Why, most of us don't get any brains before we are forty years old.

Now, here is what I think caused the deaths of these fine gentlemen: too many jobs and overwork. If a man runs a radio program, travels all over, makes speeches here and there, does some writing, edits a magazine, plays in a movie or two and does some other chores, how long do you think the human body can stand it?

When those fine men died, we lost very useful citizens who gave the world a lot of pleasure and comfort.

A Reader, Los Angeles 6, Calif.

Sirs: Yes, Miss Woodruff, it is possible to win prizes in contests. Last December just as I was happily anticipating my favorite show, "Noah Webster Says," my radio fizzled out. I was so disappointed I decided what I needed was a new dependable radio. I wrote two entries, one to "Grand Slam" and one to "The Pictsweet Show," as both were offering radios as prizes. Just before Christmas, I was delighted when Pictsweet delivered a beautiful Philco radio and Irene Beasley sent me a fine watch and a set of aluminum.

Peggy Snow Edwards, 4533 Vesper Avenue, Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Sirs: Please allow me to register a protest. I'm sure others will follow, if you think my complaint of sufficient merit to print. The sudden passing of our Tom Breneman was a great shock, but to try and replace him with Garry Moore is a grievous mistake. We love Garry, but he has his assignments on other programs and Tom's place should be attempted by either his brother Mark, or his other brother. They are Brenemans, have his voice and same infectious laugh.

Miss Beverly Moss, 313½ North Stanley, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I would like you to print a story on Jack Smith and a picture of him. I think he has the happiest voice.

"We'll see" about another story on Jack, as there have been three to date.

Jack Smith

Ellen Clara, Pasadena, Calif.

Sirs: While the orchids are being passed out to KHJ announcers, I think one should go to "The Jedge." There's a man with charm and sincere friendliness. He sounds like someone I'd like to know. He's versatile, too. It seems he can handle every kind of program with ease, ability and a delightful manner as well as skill.

Ann Rutledge, 10720½ Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles 24, Calif.

Sirs: Why is not credit given where credit is due? I listened to the March 3 performance of "Mayor of the Town" and please tell me who portrayed "Mike the Janitor" on that program?

The part of "Mike the Janitor" on the March 3 "Mayor of the Town" program was enacted by Herb Butterfield.

About Your Letters

All letters to the Ear Inspires the Pen Department should include name and full address of the sender. Name and/or address will be withheld on writer's request. Opinions expressed in the letters printed are those of the senders and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of Radio Life.

Mrs. Gilles B. Cote, 724 Barbara Avenue, West Covina, Calif.

Sirs: Just whose idea was this anyway, to discontinue Groucho Marx's program, "You Bet Your Life"? Believe me, I was never a Marx Bros. movie fan, but this radio program during its short air stint kept me hysterical from week to week. I think Groucho is the most clever ad-lib artist I've ever heard. Here's hoping Groucho comes back and "Go for the House" goes.

Groucho Marx's "You Bet Your Life" series has taken summer hiatus, and will return to ABC for its same sponsor, Elgin Watch Company, in October.

Lee Maxwell, Acting Public Relations, Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Sirs: Here is a news item for your magazine . . . Jimmy Fidler has been given an Academy Award by the Academy of Arts and Sciences. . . . The Academy of Arts and Sciences is the highest cultural tribunal of learned men and women in the world, and an award by them is the highest and most coveted in the world. Dr. Jimmy Fidler is the first commentator to ever receive this award.

Buena Vista Stine and Family, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Steve Allen's evening program was absolutely fascinating with letters. Ask anybody—Steve knew how to read 'em. But somebody made him stop reading them. Can you tell us why?

The station asked Steve to take a listener poll of "letters vs. music." Since that's technically a platter session, the "music" came out first.

Mrs. C. B. Raymond, 4133 West Rosecrans, Hawthorne, Calif.

Sirs: Would you please tell me the name of the theme song on Steve Allen's program?

I'd like to put in a word or two concerning complaints. All of us have our faults—why should the radio folks be expected to be any different? It's true some things are not appealing, but we have to take the bad with the good. When a day begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 2:30 a.m. seven days a week the radio is really appreciated. How do I know? Because I have the above schedule.

Steve Allen's theme song (on "Breaking All Records") is "Tonsillectomy" by Boyd Ruebarn.

California Photographers Co.

Pop and the Boys, 159 North Evergreen, Ventura, Calif.

Sirs: Why doesn't Radio Life give us one or two good pictures of Arthur Godfrey's charming luscious-voiced Janette Davis?

Janette Davis

B. B. L. Lindsay, 369 South Carmelo Avenue, Pasadena 10, Calif.

Sirs: To the chagrin of many mystery fans, "Pat Novak for Hire" was discontinued—evidently through want of a sponsor.

The original show, as written by Dick Breen, had the pent-up bitterness of "Pat Novak," excellently portrayed by Jack Webb; the alcoholic philosophy of "Jock Maddegan," played with perfection by Jack Lewis; and the sarcasm of "Inspector Hellman of Homicide," played cleverly by John Galbraith. Honorable mention should go to the seductive voice of the girl who was included in the original cast.

In the fall of 1945, the original cast lost Jack Webb, who later appeared in a similar show, "Johnny Modero, Pier 23" on another station. Because of this loss, the "Pat Novak" show lost some of its popularity, however regained much of it with the able acting of Ben Morris. Likewise, through the lack of the original supporting cast, "Johnny Modero, Pier 23" did not have a good start and was soon discontinued.

Now that Paramount has Dick Breen's witty talent and the show is buried in the graveyard of past-favorite mystery shows, let this be a memorial to a young mystery show that died too soon. It was tops.

Mrs. Art Paul, 5639 Stan Drive, Los Angeles 42, Calif.

Sirs: For those mothers who are having trouble finding suitable programs for their children, try listening to KPCC (Pasadena) Sunday evenings at 7:15, for "The Enchanted Lady and Her Magic Carpet." The stories on this program are for children of all ages, and are very good ones. The series is on the air without a sponsor, which it very much deserves, and has a twofold reason—the betterment of children's programs, and to help the hungry children of other nations. It is an audience show, and for admission the guests are asked to bring a can of either milk or soup. I attended the program recently and up to then they had received 150 cans.

Nat Stockdale, 3923 West Avenue 42, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Saw the audition of "Peg o' My Heart" at KFI recently, and felt it was a very fine show with everyone in the cast doing a fine piece of work. It really went through without a flaw. The star, Peggy Webber, was a sure-fire hit as a typical Irish colleen. She was a knockout.

MUSICAL TRAIN—Didja ever wonder how songs are born? Well, here's one answer from Johnny Mercer, who shares the limelight with Dinah Shore and Harry James over KFI on Tuesday nights. Coming home from a party, Mercer had to stop at a train crossing while a locomotive, its baggage cars, Pullmans and club car rattled by. The steady beat of wheels echoing against the tracks began to drum in his mind—"Atchison, Topeka and the Santa Fe" was born. ("Call for Music" KFI—Tuesday, 8:30-9:00 p.m.)

THAT'S KFI—DIAL 640

SPORTSTER—Janet Waldo, who portrays the teen-aged Corliss Archer on KFI Tuesday nights, has all the enthusiasm and energy of a teen-ager in her real life, too. She's a regular to the ski country when that sport is in season; she plays tennis once a week with Sam Edwards, who is her boy friend on the Corliss Archer program; and she flies a Beechcraft Bonanza of which she is part owner. Mondays she goes roller-skating with her next-door neighbor, Harriet Hilliard. ("Meet Corliss Archer" KFI—Tuesday, 7:00-7:30 p.m.)

THAT'S KFI—DIAL 640

WALTZING KITTY—Heard Sammy Kaye's "So You Want to Lead a Band?" "Tiger Rag" sounds like everything from a sultry samba to a doggy shag. Sammy makes the show a pleasant variety of listening enjoyment. Monday is "Top Tune" night featuring the latest and greatest in hit tunes. "Sammy Kaye Serenade" time is Tuesday night fare with "So You Want to Lead a Band" in the Wednesday spotlight. Guest stars shine on Thursdays, and Friday programs are devoted to a musical tribute to American colleges. It's real swell listening. ("Supper Club" KFI—Monday through Friday, 8:00-8:15 p.m.)

BARBARA WHITING (left) and Beverly Wills surprise everyone by being typically teen-age and typically show-biz at the same time. Here they hang over the magazine stand reading theatrical news. (Gene Lester photos.)

Saturday, 8:30 a.m.
CBS-KNA, KSDJ

SEVERAL years ago, writing Sally Benson was riding on a Fifth Avenue bus in New York when her eye caught a little girl entering the bus with her haughty elder sister. The child insisted upon being allowed to put her own money in the coin-box. She dropped it on the floor in the midst of the oncoming passengers, and as she scrambled for it her elder sister walked away muttering, "Typical!"

Two hours later Sally Benson had written her first "Junior Miss" story. Twelve more appeared in the New Yorker magazine. A hit play and a successful movie version followed.

In the capable hands of youngsters Barbara Whiting and Beverly Wills, the adult cast, including Gale Gordon, Peggy Knudsen, Sarah Selby and Myra Marsh and writers-producers Henry Garson and Bob Soderberg, the CBS radio show is destined to emulate previous "Junior Miss" success. Rare indeed is the compliment tendered Garson and Soderberg by originator Sally Benson. "Their work is excellent," she says. "They don't pick the easy way out, as so many other radio writers do, by relying on fantastic plots, comic voices and unreal characters. Their plots and humor are based upon situations which revolve around a little girl. 'Judy' isn't a brat or clown. She presents problems to her family just as any other little girl of that age would. Her family are real people—the kind we all have lived with."

THIS IS WHAT HAPPENED WHEN THE "JUNIOR MISSES" spied a bicycle in the area. Beverly claims to be able to ride standing on the seat, never got around to demonstrating. Both girls have a fine talent for squealing and general vocal noise.

GALE GORDON, WHO PLAYS "MR. GRAVES" on "Junior Miss," seems genuinely apprehensive of learning this step from Beverly and Barbara. Both girls have such energy that they spend rehearsal breaks in more activity.

▲ PRETTY PEGGY KNUDSEN as "Lois" is amazed at the on-the-go spirit of the two juniors. Jitterbug Beverly is teaching Barbara the fine points.

Young Stars

The two real-life junior misses who aid in bringing the show to life are Barbara "Judy" Whiting and Beverly "Fuffy" Wills. A casual onlooker could be easily confounded by the whirlwind of activity in which these two seem happiest, but in reality they are both easy to know and to like. The clue to their behavior lies in the interesting fact that they act neither older nor younger than their years. They have none of the brashness of the "professional juvenile," both have backgrounds too deeply rooted in show business for that. Barbara is junior member of the famed Whiting clan. Her father, the late Richard Whiting, was composer of some of the loveliest popular songs of the age, among them

"Beyond the Blue Horizon," "My Ideal," "Louise," "My Future Just Passed," "Too Marvelous for Words," "Sweeter Than Sweet" and "One Hour With You." Her sister, Margaret, famed for her records and her "Club Fifteen" program, has revived many of her father's hits recently. Barbara minimizes her own musical talent, but she does play a mean boogie and a "recognizable" Chopin. Her most treasured possession is the piano that her father used while composing.

Beverly Wills is the talented daughter of talented Joan Davis. She made her stage debut at six months, thus beating her mother by two and a half years! Barbara Stanwyck carried on the infant Beverly when her act was playing the Memorial Theater in Boston on the same bill with

▲ ALL A GAG ABOUT A GAG! Scripts for "Great Gildersleeve" starring Harold Peary, right, are always in good taste, so censor Don Honrath is just hoaxing a bit when he puts on that "shall I delete?" air. (NBC-Zeigler photos.)

▲ DENNIS DAY, ANOTHER COMEDIAN whose humor is never on the blue side, has a friendly exchange of banter backstage with NBC's continuity-acceptance editor. Honrath operates his department on the live-let-live theory.

DON HONRATH, head of NBC-Hollywood continuity acceptance (censor, if you'll pardon the expression), thinks that within the last year things have changed for the better in cooperation between talent and his department. Stars, writers, and producers, instead of mumbling "Here comes that guy again" when Don walks into the studio, now seek him out to ask his opinion on doubtful material. They often go to his office, carefully close the door, peer around to be sure no one else is listening and ask Don, "Have you heard this one?"

Such cooperation is quite in contrast to the hassles which often resulted over censorable scripts. Don can remember many an occasion when, a half hour before air time, there would be six writers, a producer and the talent all engaged in a death struggle in his office. He would say "no" to an objectionable gag and someone wouldn't take "no" for an answer. Of course the censor has always had a big fat ace up his sleeve. He can instruct the network producer to have the engineer cut the offending performer off the air when the performer insists upon going against continuity acceptance's opinion. That's exactly what happened in the famous Fred Allen affair last year . . . firm censor . . . adamant star . . . dead air.

Some of Problems

Comedy and audience-participation shows are the hardest to censor. "On 'People Are Funny' or 'Truth or Consequences,'" says Honrath, "we have to do quite a bit of work legally. By the time a gimmick is cleared, there is practically no chance of a kick-back. In stunts using the public, we have to be very careful."

Some of the comedy programs work far enough ahead that Honrath receives scripts four or five days before airtime. "Gildersleeve" and Jack Carson are examples of this leisurely setup, while Bob Hope is an example of last-minute rush. Hope is on the road so much that it is often necessary for his producer to telephone revisions. Last season when the comedian was broadcasting from Tennessee, it took an hour's long-distance conversation and complete script reading to clear the program with Honrath. "Worst part of it was," claims Don, "that we had a poor connection. Hope's producer had to talk to his operator, who relayed it to our Hollywood operator, who relayed it to me. I was in a dripping perspiration when I hung up on that encounter."

Jack Benny doesn't get his script in early, but Honrath can figure to the minute when it will arrive—Saturday morning for the next day's show, with revision Sunday morning. "Terrifically organized," observed the censor.

Burns and Allen are one of Honrath's easiest assignments. "Gracie is always scatterbrained, but she's always a lady," Don pointed out. "Durante is good to work with,

"Quiet Please"

Good Strong Stories With Skillful Narration and Only a Few Thespians To Carry Them Have Made This Show!

Thursday, 6:30 p.m.
MBS-KHJ, KFXM, KGB, KVOE

IF YOU learned tomorrow that you died yesterday, what would you do? No, you wouldn't sleep off the hangover. You'd merely be involved in the kind of eerie situations which Ernest Chappell faces each week when he steps to the mike and narrates the tales on Mutual's dramatic fantasy, "Quiet, Please."

"I know that radio 'private eyes' face plenty of tough situations day in and day out," Chappell reflects, "but I'm not a 'private eye' and this show isn't a cops-and-robbers or blood-and-gore one. I'm just an ordinary fellow who gets all bollixed up with the supernatural week after week—and I love it.

"How many," he continues, "have seen 'Mother Earth' under the copper mines at Butte, Montana? And how many have been at Calais to watch Robin Hood, Friar Tuck, Little John, Will Scarlet and all the rest shoot arrows into German tanks to blow them up?

"For that matter, has any character looked at his reflection in the mirror and ordered it to do his bidding and grant his every wish? I doubt it. And who's behind all this? He's our writer-director, Wyllis Cooper, who for my money is far ahead of his time in intelligent, beautifully written adult radio stories."

Chappell, who is no mean slouch himself at this radio game (he's currently heard on all four major networks), receives hundreds of fan letters each week complimenting him on his quiet, tense, almost underplayed style of narration. But he insists he's only half of the two-man "Quiet, Please" team. "Cooper figures the plays," Chappell says, "and I carry the ball."

Mature Fare

Stocky, graying Wyllis Cooper has a broad and expansive background of human experience from which to draw when he plans a "Quiet, Please" theme. Newspaper man, wanderer, soldier, network and ad-agency executive, screen and radio writer, Cooper's now reached a point in his life (he's forty-nine) where he knows what he wants—and that is, in his own words, "To give the listening public mature radio entertainment."

Cooper takes a great many liberties with his listeners. Many times his payoffs are out of this world. He may have his main lead walk into blackness and never be heard from again, or he may, more humorously, have a midget find a wishing ring and expand himself to gigantic proportions.

But such extraordinary developments are offset by the program's basic simplicity. Cooper uses one or two supporting actors or actresses—usually only one for his dramatic interludes. Most of the program falls to Chappell, who must tell the story and set the scenes. "I hate acting," says Cooper. "To me, a ghost is a fellow who puts his shirts on one sleeve at a time like anyone else. So I caution actors against playing their roles with uncalled-for histrionics, and I don't use corny sound effects such as crashing thunder, rattling chains or filter and echo mikes."

Cooper carries his "play it straight off the cuff" theme right down to the end of the line, including payoff. Sometimes his shows are too natural. Recently, he scripted one called "Twelve to Five," the story of a disc-jockey visited by a dead colleague right in the middle of his all-request show. Cooper actually used a real-life disc-jockey to play the deceased and Chappell played the lead, as jockey Connie Duffin. "Pop" tunes were played throughout the dialogue.

Midway in the program, Mutual's

HERE'S THE OWNER of that "Quiet Please . . . Quiet . . . Please" voice which signs on the program each week. Narrator Ernest Chappell is also a well-known air announcer heard on all four major networks through the week.

MANY COMPARE the "Quiet Please" tempo with that of another famed strange-stories series of yesterday called "Lights Out." Only natural, since writer-director Wyllis Cooper (above) originated them both!

New York City switchboard was jammed with calls from swing fans requesting that Connie Duffin play this record and that record. After the show, Cooper and Chappell were on the studio phones, explaining.

Cooper possesses a Puckish humor. He pans many of his friends and takes swipes at anything he dislikes. He always adds his verbal signature to each program, paralleling the manner in which film director Alfred Hitchcock appears as an extra somewhere within his movies.

When Chappell introduces Cooper with the words: "And now, for a message about next week's 'Quiet, Please,' here is our writer-director, Wyllis Cooper . . ." Bill takes the air with a teaser about the coming program. He never knows what he's

RADIO IN REVIEW

NEWS and COMMENT

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

You'll See

Recently we enclosed a government postal card in a thousand random copies of a Radio Life issue and asked our readers several questions. It helps us a great deal to know our readers' wishes. Our thanks to the hundreds who replied to our little questionnaire.

Here's what we discovered. One-tenth of the families who buy Radio Life already own television sets. More than one-third of our readers would like to see more television news in Radio Life. Our readers own an average of 2.4 radio sets per family. It is startling to know that our readers, who represent one-fifteenth of the families in Los Angeles, own one-fourth of all the television sets.

Here's an advance tip. In September, at the start of the new 1948 fall broadcasting season, we're going to produce for you a special TELEVISION edition of Radio Life. We'll cover, with our usual thoroughness, the whole exciting field of this glamorous new business—television.

"First Nighter" Remains

Fans of the "First Nighter" program will be pleased to learn that we were in error when we declared in a recent issue that the program was going off the air indefinitely. "First Nighter" concluded its spring cycle on June 24 and is now on a well-earned summer vacation. The program is scheduled to resume on October 7. At the present time the staff is busy considering and buying plays for next season.

Rumors Are Flying

Jim Backus to have new format and new show in the coming season. . . . Judy Holliday of Broadway "Born Yesterday" fame may have her own comedy show on CBS. . . . "The Man from Oklahoma," a comedy mystery about a hick detective in New York, is being considered for a Cal Tinney starrer—sounds real cute. . . . "Ozzie and Harriet" may move to NBC from CBS next season. . . . Ireland's newest show sensation is her first and only disc jockey! . . . Gabriel Heatter wants to emcee an amateur hour show. . . . He may also go daytime for the first time in his career with next season's "Gabriel Heatter's Mail Bag" on Mutual. . . . Agency head Raymond R. Morgan thinks now that by October 1 he'll have the decks cleared for his Paris, France, radio show.

Looks Like

Ford Theater will change to star name policy when it moves to CBS next season. . . . Leif Erickson ("Richard" of "My Friend Irma") will play the lead in a new Broadway show, "That's the Ticket." . . . "Teen and Twenty Time" is up for sale. . . . Jackpots and phone calls on the new edition of "Take It or Leave It" will top anything else now on the air. . . . Tex Beneke returns to the Palladium in December. . . . Andy Russell takes a permanent leave of the Russell-Hutton show and combination. . . . "Suspense" will broadcast without a studio audience, thanks to the good taste of producer Tony Leader. . . . Robin Morgan of "Juvenile Jury" fame to narrate a kiddie album.

Contest Winners

"What Radio Life Means to Me"

1. Mrs. Ken Ford, 1017 South Pearl Ave., Compton, Calif.
2. Mrs. Harry Gusky, 1136 South Alvarado St., Los Angeles.
3. Mrs. Jean Kerr, 207 Avenida Miramar, San Clemente, Calif.
4. Mrs. Harry E. Shuman, 220 Frankfort Street, Huntington Beach, Calif.
5. Mrs. E. Gutman, 1237 North Sweetzer Ave., Los Angeles.
6. Mrs. Robert Rockwell, 1933 East Washington, Pasadena, Calif.
7. Mrs. George E. Martin, 1192 West 39th Street, Los Angeles.

9. Mrs. W. Carter, 2144 Gaylord Street, Long Beach, Calif.
10. Sgt. John Malnor, A.P.O. 986 c/o Postmaster, Seattle, Wash.

All winners are asked to write Radio Life as soon as possible to specify details of prizes. First award is the Radio Life day on Radio Row. Second is a year's subscription to Radio Life (please state to whom it should be sent) and four tickets to a radio show (please give first and second choices). Third prize is a six-month subscription to Radio Life and 4 show tickets. The remaining seven prizes consist each of show tickets (4) and an autographed picture of a chosen radio star. Please indicate picture desired and preference as to shows. Send this information to Radio Life, 6361 Selma Avenue, Hollywood 28, and we'll do our best to see that you get speedy service on your requests. We wish to thank all of you who wrote, telling us "What Radio Life Means to Me." In the fall we'll have another contest again on "What Radio Means to Me." Watch for opening announcement.

Meat Package?

Martin Block of the Studio Book Store in Hollywood (and no relation to the disc jockey) relates a recent puzzling encounter with a lady customer. The lady professed great interest in radio and told him that the strikes in the meat-packing plants were worrying her for that reason. He pointed out that the packing strikes had been settled.

"What effect," she asked, "will that have on these radio package deals?"

Gillespie Possibly Televised

Dizzy Gillespie, one of the foremost figures in the "bebop" world today, is being presented in a Gene Norman concert, Monday, June 19, at the Pasadena Civic. We have no definite word that this event will be televised . . . but if you're interested, lurk around a TV set that evening.

Your Cue (Shows You May Like)

Alan Lomax

Perhaps the most distinguished collector of Americana and folk lore in the country is Alan Lomax, who plays his collection of folk music records on KHJ, 3:00 p.m. Tuesday. Son of the famed John Lomax whose recent death closed a lifetime spent in the pursuit of American folk music, Alan shared with his father the reputation of being the first to rediscover the wealth of material hitherto uncollected and gradually disappearing. You may have read how for many years they traveled the country recording, seeking out people who remembered the old songs of their districts. The valuable Library of Congress collection of folk music on record is the work of the Lomaxes. John is famed for unearthing many of our now well-known folk tunes, among them "Home on the Range."

On his record program, Alan Lomax

Their casts include top talent from New York's stage and radio storehouse of Thespians. Topnotchers like pretty Jean Gillespie, pictured here, are heard regularly in adaptations of the current magazine stories which make up "The Listening Post" (KECA, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 11:15 a.m.) . . . Dramas of the "My True Story" series run the gamut of human emotions. . . . They're true to life. The problems which confront the characters in the plays are such problems as you . . . or I . . . might face. . . . Scripts for "My True Story" are the work of that prolific writer, Margaret E. Sangster, who, besides these five weekly 25-minute plays, turns out a magazine story, five articles and two serials each week.

Thinking of morning shows, it may be significant that there are four planks in Don McNeill's "Fourth Party" presidential platform! . . . They are (1) Every radio listener to be required to arise in time to hear the "Breakfast Club"; (2) A complete breakfast on the table every morning; (3) Each Saturday and Sunday breakfast to be prepared by the husband (Hey, Don, what if one has no husband?); and (4) No reading of morning papers at the breakfast table. . . . Of course, it's all in fun . . . and it's fun you'll have any morning if you set your dial on 790!

That long-time favorite commentator, Earl Godwin, is back on the air with a new series of quarter-hour programs titled, "The Hope of Peace," heard each Sunday afternoon on ABC-KECA at 3:30. Godwin's views on world events are always interesting. . . . There's a new sports show, featuring veteran sports announcer and special events man, Hank Weaver, sponsored by Regal Amber Brewing Co., on KECA. Hank gives a weekly roundup of sports on the local scene each Thursday night, immediately following Gillette's "Cavalcade of Sports" which is now heard from 8:30 to conclusion. . . . The Old Gold people are so happy with ABC's "Stop the Music" that they will sponsor a half-hour section of the show, instead of a quarter-hour, throughout the summer. . . . Have you heard the Mike Wallace show, "For the Luvva Mike," on KECA at 1 p.m., Mondays thru Fridays? Mike stars as commentator, providing human interest stories, and the music features those five swinging Honey Dreamers and vocalist Ellen White. Rex Maupin directs the orchestra.

narrates a background that ties together all the records on the broadcast. His interpretation of the phrase "folk music" is flexible enough to cover many types of song. On one program he'll play a record of Bing Crosby singing a bit of "Ballad for Americans" and an authentic Dixieland band recording, in addition to old and new discs of folk music. His choices indicate that the art of the people's songs, far from dying out, is being constantly replenished from modern sources.

"Nature Sketches"

A program that offers constructive entertainment for children, much interest for nature-loving adults and a vacation suggestion for the holiday-bound is "Nature Sketches," KFI, 3:00 p. m. Saturday.

All broadcasts in the series originate in Rocky Mountain National Park and serve to advertise that beautiful spot as well as to awaken an interest in all nature. Each program is devised from a field trip to one particular spot in the park. Naturalist Edwin C. Alberts takes a group of bright, interested children on a hike, asks them questions about the locale, tells them about particular points of interest and joins them in discussing the surroundings.

The children seem to be gathered from the tourists and vacationists who happen to be visiting the park, and they display a lively interest in the spot and in Mr. Alberts's information. The program becomes particularly spirited when a child spots a woodland creature and a chorus of "O-ohs" comes over the mike. Information on wildlife and vegetation is dispensed informally and authoritatively by Alberts.

Best feature of the program is its ability to convey to at-home listeners the fresh, wholesome atmosphere of cool, clean air and mountain greenery.

Keeping Up With the News

Does the effort of combining shopping, housekeeping and possibly working keep you from doing all the reading necessary to know what is going on, and what may happen, in regard to local and world affairs? Careful listening, for just one hour on Sunday, can help remedy that feeling of being terribly uninformed.

Each Sunday, starting at 11:00 a.m., the various networks present a series of fifteen-minute shows that tell you what's happened, what it all means, how it affects us now, and what might happen as a result of it all.

KHJ starts out at 11:00 Sundays by presenting William Shirer with his up-to-the-minute report on world events. This old hand at the game knows exactly what is of importance out of the welter of headlines. At 11:30 KNX's Joseph C. Harsch steps in with

Fred Beck

FRED BECK, whose well spiced observations are the delight of early morning listeners, recently summed up the high cost of home-building like this: "Lumber has gone so high that a wooden nickle is now worth six cents." Beck may be heard over KNX each morning, Monday through Friday, at 7:45.

Eve Arden

EVE ARDEN is an enthusiastic collector of antiques, a hobby which recently helped her protect her home against robbery. Eve was alone in the house when the door creaked. When she opened the door a man pushed her aside and ordered her to keep her mouth shut. Eve reached behind her, grasped a small antique pistol and leveled it at the intruder. He took one look and bolted out the door. When Miss Arden had shut the door she pulled the trigger of the pistol. A tiny flame rose near the firing pin. A month before the pistol had been converted into a cigarette lighter. Eve Arden stars on "Our Miss Brooks," on KNX each Monday evening at 6:30.

Art Linkletter

ART LINKLETTER, master-of-ceremonies on "G. E. House Party," has to be at his nimble-witted best when he interviews the five school children who appear on the show each day. Anything can happen. When he asked a small boy what his father did, the moppet replied, "Just what mommy tells him to." "House Party" is heard over KNX each Monday through Friday at 2:30 P.M.

Steve Allen

STEVE ALLEN, whose show is heard on KNX each Saturday evening at 7:00, is one of the few comedians who does not keep a gag-file. He started one once, but the first time he used a joke from it three comedians called him up and accused him of stealing their material. Steve immediately got rid of the file. Since then his own refreshingly original approach to comedy has won him the right to be called radio's funniest young comedian.

WITH BETTY ANN HUDSON

For those relaxing moments during the summer months, KMPC suggests new shows for your enjoyment. At 5:05 p.m., "Star Time" with Bill Ewing... new hits and notes on student activities. At 5:30 p.m., "All-Time Hits," current tunes—tunes of the past and a variety number for your pleasure. Following the baseball games, Tuesday through Friday, and Saturday at 10:30 p.m., is "Summer Serenade" with Paul Langford... semi-classical, ballad and musical comedy favorites. Of course, don't neglect those popular KMPC standbys—"Top Tunes" with Herb Allen at 5:45 p.m.—Gene Norman's "Mild and Mel-low at 4:30 p.m.—"Dance Parade" every night at 11:00 p.m. an analysis and bits about the "people" in the news. His fifteen minutes of more humanized interest is followed by Elmo Roper, (also KNX, 11:45) who breaks down the reaction of the people to news events, and to the men who are making the news. Roper's period leans toward the statistical, but with that magic touch of clarity that gives an interested listener a complete story on how people feel.

At 12:00, KECA comes in to present Harrison Woods, under the program title "This Changing World." Somehow, Mr. Woods manages to cram more background into fifteen minutes of news-related history than we could glean in hours of reading. Of particular interest was Mr. Woods's recent account on the early Tito-Stalin friendship, and his summation of what could be the probable stand of each.

Sam Pettengill follows, also on KECA, at 12:15, with more contemporary analysis of what's going on in Washington, Wichita, the wilds of Africa, or just about any place where things affecting Mr. and Mrs. John Q. are happening.

More than ever the Washington picture affects foreign news, and vice versa. A background picture of what has gone before is tremendously helpful in sorting and remembering at least the salient points of the news. Availing ourselves of the work and study on the part of network newsmen and analysts is learning the easy way.

"Personal Autographs"

"Personal Autographs," a show of music, laughter and song, sounding for all the world like one of the grand jamborees of ten years ago, comes out of Chicago via KECA Sundays at 2:00 p.m.

Emcee Jim Ameche, the Dinning Sisters and Rex Maupin's orchestra, with either clever knowingness or charming carelessness, lapse into the old familiar showtime antics that tie in a series of guest appearances. The guests leave their distinctive signatures—in the mythical album of personal autographs collected for listener entertainment—by appearing to sing a song or play a theme closely associated with them.

Most recently heard were Helen Humes, torching for all she was worth on some of our very favorite of favorite ballads, and the popular Sportsmen Quartet, who surprised listeners with an almost straight rendition of "You Can't Be True, Dear" in addition to one of their comical novelties.

Also in keeping with the old-days trend, the show keeps its giveaway at a reasonable minimum. A "Pen and Inking Personality" is sketched through the playing of a few bars of some well-known record. For instance, last Sunday Peggy Lee's "Mañana" was given a spin. Would-be winners of an album of P.L.'s records were to have sent their reason why they would want her on the show, "Personal Autographs." So it goes each week, with a different contest. Simple and fun. The weekly half hour may not satisfy the spoiled who live by word of the big giveaway shows, but for plain old entertainment's sake it's a good dial spot.

"It's Fun to Be Young"

Kids are kings of Saturday radio, particularly on "It's Fun to Be Young," KNX, 12:30 p.m. Jay Stewart is emcee of this juvenile audience-participation-quiz-talent-hunt show that puts down the red carpet for local youngsters.

Kids are pitted against each other in several interesting sessions. Three children discoursed on "Why I would like to own a dog." Three other very young men read perfume commercials of their own fanciful composition. Three more participated in the talent competition part of the show.

On the broadcast that we heard, prizes were awarded to all participants in order to mitigate the inevitable heart-tugging result of competition amongst the very young. The boy who won first prize in the dog contest was awarded a pedigreed cocker spaniel — the other two contestants were heartened when two shepherd puppies were chased onto the stage toward them. The budding comedians who read their perfume copy were all rewarded in like degree. Perhaps the most interesting segment of the particular show we caught was the talent hunt. A charming young girl soprano and a little cowboy singer who compounded equal parts of vigor and boredom in exact imitation of the adult proponents of this art, lost to a six-year-old trumpet player who cinched the prize by playing his second chorus in Bobby Hackett style.

All the children participating on the show were delightful—the shy ones, the gigglers, the forthright ones and those who seemed unaware of the mike. Our vote for a real personality who could prove valuable on any comedy program was the southern youngster with a you-all drawl who also happened to be at the voice-changing age!

"Behind the Lens"

Maurie Webster, former actor-emcee turned department head at CBS, is a camera fiend with know-how enough to contribute almost monthly to various photographic magazines. Now Maurie has brought back to KNX his "Behind the Lens" (Sunday, 10:45 a.m., KNX), a fifteen-minute period of dramatic stories and inside tips of interest to everyone, whether the click of a shutter spells fun—or just a seldom-heard noise.

Maurie himself produces and emcees, setting the stage with a success story from the camera world, then moving into an idea department dealing with better photography for the amateur and professional alike, and finally the introduction of guests who can offer tips to fellow enthusiasts.

Guests and show crew alike keep their chatter at a layman's level, so everyone can enjoy moving "behind the lens" with Maurie each week. If a camera of any shape, color or size constitutes one of your hobbies, you won't want to miss this new font of info. If flash bulbs merely upset your nervous system, you can still find entertainment in some of the goings-on that result in pictures you see in newspapers and on magazine stands.

"Tell It Again"

One of the happiest associations of every childhood is the memory of stories heard. Each Sunday morning at 11:00, KNX revives some well-loved standard such as Stevenson's "Treasure Island," Melville's "Moby Dick," Hale's "The Man Without a Country," or the lighter "Toby Tyler at the Circus."

Two things mark these presentations. First is the excellent scripting. Dialogue has been drawn to satisfy adult listening completely, yet appeal to the young listeners for whom this series should be a "must." The other mark of excellence is the casting. You'll hear a complete list of credits at the end of each Sunday's show (that's a step in the right direction) carrying names of Hollywood actors both familiar and unfamiliar. Jeff Chandler usually appears as narrator or one of the principal participants each week, and without exception the rest of the AFRA-ites chosen measure up to Mr. Chandler's always good performance.

We think the show is one of the most tasteful bits of drama on the air, and provides a good answer to the lament "What can we let our children listen to on the radio?"

Candid Microphone

Remember a few weeks ago, when ABC's "Candid Microphone" visited with two small boys bent on buying a watch? The two little shoeshiners demonstrated for the delighted mikeman how they drummed up trade. Anyone who heard this episode will never forget the boys' rendition of "G. I. Jive" or "Hey, Baba-re-Bop."

On the show's first anniversary, July 1, "Candid Microphone" presented some of its preceding year's highlights in the way of listening-in. But the big news is that they also promised very soon to rebroadcast the episode with the shoeshine boys. If you have heard it, we need say no more than watch your Thursday nights and plan accordingly. If you haven't heard it—follow the same admonition.

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

"American Self-Portrait" ("Living, 1948")

Over the Fourth of July weekend, NBC realized it really had something in a "Living, 1948" script titled "American Self-Portrait." "Living, 1948" has not been carried locally by KFI for several weeks, but to the enterprisers who transcribed this special broadcast and put it into "The American Way" time, Monday, July 5, at 6:00 p.m. we say "thank you very much indeed."

Ben Grauer acted as emcee, while Dr. George W. Gallup, head of the American Institute of Public Opinion, sketched the "American Self-Portrait" in terms of the data and remarks collected by his cross-country polls. The performance was radio-staged with an excellent collection of voices, ideas and impacts; altogether it delivered one of the best documentary punches of the year.

cans, it appears, are: oblivion to the national anthem ("uh . . . Is it 'God Bless America'?"); failure to spot California on an outline map; and bafflement (two per cent of us) when confronted with a picture of Harry S. Truman ("I have absolutely no idea who that man could be").

Fifty-four per cent of us believe we'll be involved in another war within ten years; we're largely suspicious of Russia but don't want to start the trouble and believe we should, instead, "take a firm stand." Our greatest fears are of tuberculosis and cancer, but we are not a hypochondriac nation. We are very serious about juvenile delinquency and sex education. While more than half of us go to church, only a very small percentage of us say grace before meals. Our women don't think our men are romantic enough; our men mostly marry for companionship.

Statistics like these, dramatized in folksy, clever lines, made "American Self-Portrait" an informative, remarkable half-hour, the likes of which radio seldom features. Dr. Gallup's humorously dignified voice was perfect for the scene-changing and NBC's music-backgrounding well befitted the production. We're certainly seriously considering the piece for our award nominations; we'd like to hear it rebroadcast for the benefit of those who might have missed it; and we hope that its success as a one-time feature will remind KFI to put its instigator, "Living, 1948," regularly back on the air!

We Point With Pride

. . . To Claude Rains's portrayal of "Topaze" on "Studio One" last week, and to the excellent scripting job that helped make the whole production a memorable one.

. . . To Dick Cantino's stirring accordion rendition of "Stars and Stripes Forever" on the Horace Heidt program—certainly one of the holiday-show high spots.

. . . To Elmo Roper's weekly poll results on KNX, Sundays. The well-known poll-taker is currently keeping audiences posted on nominees and candidates for the election and how the population feels about them and their platforms.

. . . To the band on "County Fair," surely one of the most light-hearted and in-the-mood combinations on the air. Makes us happy just to hear them play the theme.

. . . To the suspenseful script on last week's "Superstition" broadcast, proving that a horse race is still one of the most exciting "gimmicks" to work into a plot.

. . . To the programming on KMPC's "Firestone Favorites." Records in the best of taste, extremely varied and always entertaining.

. . . To the Fourth of July broadcast on "Invitation to Learning" on CBS. Lyman Bryson arranged an interview with "Thomas Jefferson" and with the help of a guest interrogated him on comparing today's happenings with those of Revolutionary times.

. . . To Charles Collingwood's program devoted to a review of the events that led to Jefferson's committing the Declaration to paper. Particularly fascinating were the changes made by Benjamin Franklin in the original as read by Collingwood in conjunction with the finished document.

We View With Alarm

. . . The voice and readings of Hedley Rennie on "Studio One," an exact replica of Claude Rains's. With both together on one show, yet!

. . . "First Again with Tobacco Men" has finally gotten us. We're giving it a particularly penetrating "view with alarm."

. . . The top-heavy load of commercials that many shows are carrying—particularly the ones with several sponsors, none of whom we can remember when the show signs off.

. . . The "guesses" that an air columnist is making as to answers on giveaway shows, thereby tearing the last shred of entertainment available on most of them.

. . . The reluctance of summer radio

Radio Jargon?

"Visiting her mother in Kansas City," they called it in the dialogue of CBS's "Junior Miss" show when Sarah Selby was written out of her part as "Mrs. Graves." In reality the actress, who is Mrs. Holger Harthern, was expecting her own junior miss, seven-and-a-half-pound Holiday.

Whereabouts of Richard Crooks

Popular Richard Crooks has been the subject of many inquiries to Radio Life in the last year. His fans have been wondering why he isn't heard on the air any more, why he doesn't have his own program and where he is at present. Recently we heard that the singer underwent an operation some time ago, the results of which left him unable to do the deep breathing that concert singing requires. He is now recuperating successfully on a ranch in Canada. We join with his fans and friends in wishing for his early return to radio. Meantime we'll be sure to catch his wonderful records, frequently played on many of the local classical-music programs.

THURSDAY, JULY 22—"Suspense," KNX, 6:00 p.m. (30 min.) Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. is absorbed with revenge as the star of "Deep Into Darkness."

THURSDAY, JULY 22—"Family Theatre," KHJ, 7:00 p.m. (30 min.) Billie Burke will be guest actress in this night's play.

OOPS! SORRY!!

Because of advanced printing dates, the KFI advertisement on page 3 was prepared before Dinah Shore, Harry James, and Johnny Mercer went off the air for the summer. Mel Torme is now heard each Tuesday evening on "Call for Music" at the 8:30 p. m. time.

Music

MONDAY, JULY 19—"Musical Masterpieces," KFAC, 4:00 p.m. (1 hr.) Robert Casadesu plays Ravel's "Piano Concerto for the Left Hand Alone." Tuesday, Beethoven's "Prometheus Overture"; Wednesday, Dvorak's "Notturmo"; Thursday, Liadov's "Kikimora"; Friday, Chopin's "Les Sylphides"; Saturday, Abridged Production of Donizetti's "La Favorita."

MONDAY, JULY 19—"Musical Digest," KGFJ, 6:00 p.m. (2 hrs.) Germiniani's "Concerto Grosso." Tuesday, Khachatryan's "Gayne Ballet Suite"; Wednesday, Waltzes from "Der Rosenkavaller"; Thursday, the Bax "Overture to a 'Pleasque Comedy'; Friday, Bellini's "Norma"; Saturday, music from "Carmen" and "Madame Butterfly."

Forum

SATURDAY, JULY 17—"Northwestern Reviewing Stand," KHJ, 2:30 p.m. (30 min.) "What Do Our Teen-Agers Think of America's Future?" will be discussed by four high school students from different sections of the country.

SUNDAY, JULY 18—"Invitation to Learning," KNX, 9:00 a.m. (30 min.) As first in a discussion of "Children's Classics," Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" is reviewed. Eugene O'Neill is chairman. Andra Michalopoulos and Clifton Fadiman guest.

Sports

TUESDAY, JULY 20—Baseball, KMPC, 8:10 p.m. (to concl.) Los Angeles Angels vs. Sacramento Solons through Thursday, July 22, Los Angeles vs. San Diego Padres Friday, July 23 at 8:10 p.m. and Saturday, July 24, at 2:30 p.m. Bob Kelley covers both series.

TUESDAY, JULY 20—Baseball, KLAC, 9:10 p.m. (to concl.) Hollywood vs. Portland at Portland, through Thursday, July 22.

FRIDAY, JULY 23—Baseball, KLAC, 9:10 p.m. (to concl.) Hollywood vs. Seattle at Seattle, through Saturday and on Sunday, July 25, at 2:25 p.m.

GRINDING THEM OUT

There will soon be Dick Cantino Sausages on the market in Southern California. Dick's father has purchased a sausage factory in Glendale, California. And, as a special tribute to the man who discovered Dick's accordion talent on his NBC show, there will also be a Horace Heidt brand of wieners.

PUBLIC OFFICE

Arthur Godfrey is now Honorary Mayor of the Thousand Islands, title due his record and air performances of "The Thousand Island Song." His scroll reads that he "will henceforth diligently seek and determine the location of Island 793 and will pursue the said Florence (of the River St. Lawrence) in such a manner befitting a gentleman of his honorary character." It is signed by four mayors of New York state communities, three from the Canadian province of Ontario, and by S. S. McCumber, chairman of the Thousand Islands Bridge Authority.

A FLOURISH
 George Burns being currently in the East on business, Gracie is hovering on a decision to have his den done over by a "decoranalyst," a gentleman who decorates in colors and themes suited to the subject's personality. The only thing deterring Gracie is the verdict that George has a pale green personality with mustard-colored spots. She can't quite bring herself to order his room done in a color scheme to match.

WELFARE AID

Recordings of Columbia's child-study series, "Doorway to Life," are being used by the Big Brothers organization for discussion of problems encountered in their guidance work with young boys. First of the transcriptions borrowed for the study group dealt with the father-son relationship. "Doorway to Life" programs and scripts are available to reputable organizations and study groups for such purposes.

IDEAL CHOICE

When Will Wright assumed the role of "Ephraim Tutt" on Columbia's new "Amazing Mr. Tutt" series, he realized the ambition of twenty years. Wright, a devotee of the late Arthur Train's stories about the shrewd Yankee lawyer, also resembles the fictional "Tutt" ("a tall, slender, gray-haired man") and has long wanted to play the role both in radio and pictures. Only difference, Wright adds, is that "Tutt" smokes stogies, while he (Will) prefers a good cigar.

MISSED ME

Announcer Hy Averback has won a unique reputation in radio as "the man who can't be broken up" during broadcasts or radio previews. On his many shows, Hy ignores every distraction from audience or comedians, never varying his timing regardless of what might be happening. Hy says it isn't ice water in his veins, but the result of "plenty of practice with Armed Forces Radio in Guadalcanal, New Caledonia, Manila and Tokyo. Some of the tricks those G.I.s pulled to break up a guy never could be topped on network radio. And, since the war," he adds, "I've been tormented by Jack Carson and such other experts of the 'break-up' as Bob Hope, Sweeney and March, Jack Paar and Jack Benny."

EMOTIONAL

Louella Parsons, who's currently in Ireland on her European tour, wrote Dinah Shore and her husband, George Montgomery, that she was sending their new daughter, Melissa, a beautiful Irish lace dress. "It's all so wonderfully inexpensive," Louella added, "that I'm buying two dozen handkerchiefs myself. I'll feel so elegant weeping in them at sad previews."

RECORD NOTES TO YOU

BY ANDY MANSFIELD

- 1 note—fair
- 2 notes—pleasing
- 3 notes—very good
- Chord in G—tops

KWKW, 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

ALBUM OF THE WEEK: Eight sides comprise "An Evening With Victor Borge," and here's variety plus. . . . Victor's piano-stylings of "Stardust" and "Intermezzo," his serious interpretation of Rachmaninoff's Concerto No. 2, and his streamlined version of "Carmen" are high in entertainment—but his "Inflation Language" monologue and the "Unstarted Symphony" added the finishing touch and a Chord in G for the Melancholy Dane! (Columbia.)

GIRL VOCAL OF THE WEEK: Speaking of glammer-platters, bend an ear on the eight comprising "Songs to Remember" by Lorry Raine. . . . Tunes are especially good for this gal who knows her song-selling — and with the unusual scoring and backing of Russ Garcia's orchestra, "I Cover the Waterfront," "Fun for All" and "You Enchanted Me" are standouts. . . . And for her initial album, Lorry hits the three-note department. (Coast.)

MALE VOCAL OF THE WEEK: Chalk up another pair for this Como lad with his waxings of "Rambling Rose" and "There Must Be a Way" . . . and when it comes to ease, how relaxed can Perry get? . . . Rhythmic "Rose" with the Satisfiers and the slower flipover should add another point to the Como stock . . . hits three-notes with Mansfield. (RCA-Victor.)

INSTRUMENTAL OF THE WEEK: Top-flight eighty-eighter Mel Powell makes his album debut in dazzling style with six sides ranging from the sparkling "Hallelujah" to the charming "When a Woman Loves a Man." . . . Here is variety in melody, mood and technique plus exquisite harmonies as created by Mel—and this good-listening Powell-full music rates an easy three notes. (Capitol.)

JAZZ OF THE WEEK: It's Ray Bauduc and his Bobcats (E. Miller, Kazebier, Matlock, Gowans, Wrightsman, Lamare and M. Corb) with deep-South up-tempoed versions of a pair of oldies, "Li'l Liza Jane" and "When My Sugar Walks Down the Street" . . . solos and ensembles beat out a robust pair of notes for any jazz collector. (Capitol.)

Blue-Penciler Is No Bluenose

too. Ed Gardner, although located scriptorally in a bar, dispenses a very sophisticated type of humor, and his scripts have to be combed carefully for content."

Sometimes writers put gags in preliminary scripts and haven't the faintest notion of using them. They just like to get a rise out of continuity acceptance. "Fibber and Molly" writers like this method of kidding Don, who, until he caught onto the rib, used to go speedily to the studio to protest the lines. He would be met with a deadpan "What's the matter?" until he tumbled to the joke.

"Forever Amber" and similar books and/or pictures always provoke an onslaught of air gags. Honrath thinks "Amber" was responsible for about 5000, of which half were airable. "Just because a book is spicy is no reason you can't talk about it, however," is his sane outlook.

Honrath expected an avalanche of Kinsey-report gags, but to date very few have materialized. Smart writers probably realized their joke might end up in the gutter.

Certain words are still taboo on NBC, although some that were once forbidden have come into such popular acceptance that they are now air-acceptable. A great deal depends on who is saying them and in what connection. If the censor isn't sure just what inflection will be given certain lines, he uses connections into the studios to listen in on rehearsal.

"Wench" is a usable word and likewise "tomato," while "frail" is becoming acceptable. Although it is sometimes blue-penciled due to connotation, the word "stink" was recently transferred from the forbidden to the okay list.

"Quiet Please"

going to say till he's on mike, and sometimes it comes out: "I've got a story for you next week about an explorer who explored where he shouldn't explore."

There's only one thing that gets Cooper. That's when people tell him his "Quiet, Please" sounds like the "Lights Out" series of yesteryear which they say Arch Oboler originated. Consult Who's Who and see that the show was created by Cooper and was directed by him from 1933 to 1936. When Cooper left the show to go to the West Coast, Oboler took over.

"The only guy I get ideas from is myself," Cooper muses, "and when I run out of story ideas that will be the end of 'Quiet, Please.'"

GAGS OF THE WEEK

Mrs. Ella Morrow, 7424 La Jolla Boulevard, La Jolla, Calif.

Heard on "It Pays to Be Ignorant": McNaughton: She was a manicurist and married a dentist.

Tom Howard: Do they get along well?

McNaughton: No they fight tooth and nail.

Mrs. Cella Tranin, 523 South Westmoreland, Los Angeles 5, Calif.

Heard on "Noah Webster Says": Ben Alexander: Whose portrait appears on the front of a $5 bill?

Contestant: One of the Smith Brothers.

Mrs. M. A. Wagner, 1028 West 67th Street, Los Angeles 44, Calif.

Heard on "Noah Webster Says": MacQuarrie: What is your occupation?

Contestant: I am a hare-raiser.

MacQuarrie: Are you a daredevil or an alopecist?

Contestant: Neither. I raise rabbits.

The "Raggedy" Man

gan doing nip-ups and shortly thereafter settled into a resonant but double-jointed baritone. For without the slightest effort he could as easily hop into a treble register.

Thus was born one of Don's avocations, that of being a ventriloquist. And since that time he and a splinter-headed character named "Woody deForest," equally as precocious as his "Raggedy Andy" personality, have been almost inseparable.

However, he (Don) wants it understood that "Woody" is strictly an avocation, as his main interests center around acting, radio or stage. He spent two years in little-theater-group work in the East.

Don's favorite hobby is—yes, you heard correctly—hypnotism, which he practices at any time and any place. In fact if he's in the mood, he may frequently be seen putting fellow-actors in a trance (hypnotically) in the CBS lobby.

It has been said that "one is known by the company one keeps." True or not, one of Don's closest pals (they've been living under the same roof for more than a year) is one Jim Hawthorne (the same) of KXLA radio and Hogan fame. In fact, on Hawthorne's song hit (?), "The Hogan Song," as recorded by Slim Gaillard, there is Don, smack in the middle and on the end of it as the laughing Hogan man, giving out with a hearty "hee-hee-hee-heuck!! Hee-hee-hee-HOGAN! !!!"

Charming Ezelle Poulé Has Mastered Difficult Radio Art of Being Hysterical at Right Time, Combines It in Singing-Acting-Mimicry Career

By Joan Buchanan

IF YOU WERE CALLED upon to scream—just scream—for no particular reason, what do you think would happen? Probably nothing. You might go so far as to open your mouth and try with no results. Many actresses in both radio and pictures are unable to let out the proper blood-curdling yells at the right time. That's why a scream specialist like Ezelle Poulé can be a valuable addition to many casts.

The charming Ezelle has applied her plain and fancy screaming to a variety of radio shows and movies. In answer to a query, "How do you scream?" Ezelle replies, "It's just like singing." Vocal studies and a singing career grounded the actress in her unusual art. She still does vocal exercises to keep the muscles in her throat flexible. "I do my vocal exercises while I drive, sometimes without thinking. The other drivers think I'm mad!" she laughs.

Ezelle has gone into the psychology of her art. There isn't one basic scream that she just applies to all situations; she has a repertoire to fit the occasion. There's the short, sharp shriek of sudden fright; a cry of terror that spends itself in broken sobbing; the sustained yelling of a hysterical woman, to name a few of the actress's specials.

Artist in Yells

One of Ezelle's most unusual jobs was that of dubbing in all the screaming for Joan Crawford's role in "Possessed." Crawford portrayed a psychotic given to hysteria. In preparing for her assignment, Ezelle warned all her neighbors not to call the police if they should hear blood-curdling screams coming from the basement of her home—it would only be rehearsal. Before recording, she asked for a description of the various dramatic situations in the script and fitted her screams to the Crawford emotions. When she went to see the finished picture, she was so wrapped up in the star's performance and the story that she got goose pimples at the sound of the dramatic shrieks. "I forgot it was I," she admits.

Ezelle's melodious and unusual name comes from her French heritage. Her doctor father chose the name Ezelle from an old romantic novel, campaigned to get mothers of baby girls he delivered to use the name, too. The actress knows of at least two other namesakes.

Frankly in love with the art of acting and show business in general, Ezelle talks shop at the drop of a hat. She is an accomplished mimic, and the sight of the beautifully gowned, sensitive-featured actress impersonating Marjorie Main is incongruous—and delightful. She was featured in vaudeville and night-club shows before coming into radio and pictures. She originally came to Hollywood under contract to a movie studio where she did musicals and westerns. On tour in Europe when the war broke out, she returned to Hollywood and spent all her time in camp-show units, canteen entertainments, Red Cross work and blood-plasma soliciting. "Three brothers in the service," she adds in relating her war-time zeal.

Versatile Interpretations

Heard in a variety of air roles ranging from dance-hall girls to gabby landladies, the actress puts her vaudeville training to good use in arriving at a characterization.

She'll combine a Billie Burke impersonation with a Hepburn take-off to arrive at a fluttery matron character that sounds like neither star. "Take a character, change inflections, find a different approach and you have a new character," is her explanation of this.

Asked to choose her favorite portrayal, the actress settles for the role of a toothless old witch she enacted locally in a "mellerdrammer," "The Viper's Fang." Role she would most like to attempt is "Desdemona" in "Othello."

Ezelle's favorite hobbies are writing, talking about acting, and hats. She has gained what amounts to local celebrity with her beautiful chapeaux. She is often stopped while shopping with the exclamation, "Where did you get that beautiful hat?" The answer is, she buys 'em, takes 'em apart and rearranges 'em to suit her own taste. The result is always beautiful.

The actress wrote many scripts for Red Cross broadcasts during the war and at present spends her spare time working on a radio thriller. She names as her major pleasure and one of her faults her delight in talking about acting, actors, plays, movies and radio. "Occasionally I do talk about something else if I must," she laughs. Her love of show business finds her completely happy in her work and fellow workers. "As for hams, good, bad or indifferent, I love them all," she exclaims affectionately. She's as delighted by low comedy as she is by high drama. She's the only actress we've ever met who'd be as happy playing stooge to the Marx Brothers as she would playing opposite Maurice Evans!

HAT DO THEY STORE in a Leyden jar? Pickles, water, static electricity or Bill Leyden's old jokes?"

Bill Leyden asked the question on his new audience-participation show, "Barrel of Dough," and the lady who answered correctly received a percolator and a luncheon set that Bill claimed he had sat up all night to make.

"Finish this poem: 'Shall fold their tents like the Arabs. . .'" Leyden asked the next lady. Her correct answer was rewarded with a three-day supply of frozen meats. "But I can't cook," she protested.

"Well, I'm ready," sallied Leyden, who quickly added a sweater and scarf to the lady's meat supply.

Another woman completed the line, "From the halls of Montezuma," and walked away with a set of hand-painted metal canisters, a chicken fryer, four tickets to the Ice-Capades, and a ticket for eight manicures. Just knowing your own Christian name seemed to be worth at least a couple of prizes on the program, and when it came time for the jack-pot question and one bright lady knew which three states had the most electoral votes, Bill gave the winner a coffee-maker, bronze bookends, a King Cole album, a ball pen and some "tired" glasses. All the program participants fairly staggered out of the studio with their arms loaded with presents. Unlucky the ones who had to ride home on a jam-packed bus!

prize which will befall the one who guesses how many pennies there will be in the barrel when it is opened this month. Loot for calling the shot on this will include a washing machine, $1000 diamond ring, television set, and other bounty without which no giveaway show would have the nerve nowadays to face its public. Total value will run around $4000.

"Barrel of Dough," however, is not just one more in the current fad for prize-packed programs. It is one phase of operation in a packaged cooperative-advertising deal which charges participants a flat sum monthly for advertising and general promotion. For a little over $1 a day, according to Morris Greenberg, originator of the idea, smaller merchants can enjoy many of the same prestige features in cooperation that only big business can afford solo. These businesses, now numbering close to 400 in Southern California, are called the Honor Merchants, and a special

GERALD MOHR is "The Lone Wolf" of the radio and film series. He's also been seen in "Gilda," "Two Guys from Texas," "Heaven Only Knows." (Ned Scott-Columbia photo.)

More About Mohr

Gerald Mohr Is Widely Heard on Radio, Seen in Many Screen Roles. Here's the Unusual Story of Villain Turned Hero.

By Joan Buchanan

ROLE OF THE suave, handsome, intellectual gentleman of radio crime is often played by Gerry Mohr, who happens to be a suave, handsome, intellectual radio actor.

You've heard the silky-voiced Mohr on all the top dramatic shows on the air, Lux, "Suspense," "The Whistler," etc. You've probably also seen him in the movie series recently constructed around the famous "Lone Wolf." In other words, he's a success—and he has been off and on since the age of sixteen. It was at that time that young Gerald was reclining in a New York hospital recovering from an appendectomy. In the next room, a lady who happened to be the sister of announcer Andre Baruch decided that the possessor of the beautiful voice in the neighboring room belonged on the air. Gerry claimed to be twenty-five, auditioned at CBS through his acquaintance, and became the youngest announcer on the network. You may remember him on "Roses and Drums," "Arabesque" and many of the shows of that era.

Not That Old!

This early start, made without the usual drama schools, stock companies and speech drills, has one drawback, according to actor Mohr. "People who knew me then tell me I'm remarkably well-preserved for a guy of fifty!" When radio producer Ed Cashman, who had known Mohr since his early days on the air, met him in the army, he expressed amazement that the service was taking such old fellows.

The road from New York radio to success in Hollywood had quite a few bumpy spots along with the soft ones. Determined to be an actor, not just a voice, Mohr took the advice of drama critic John Anderson of the New York Evening Journal and left radio for the stage. He came to Hollywood in a short-lived vehicle featuring screen star Dorothy Sebastian. After the show closed, exactly nothing else happened. When Mohr got down to empty pockets, he went into the Gotham Restaurant on Hollywood Boulevard, ate a large meal and asked for the manager. "Your food was delicious," he informed the man, "but I don't have any money to pay for it. You may call a cop, make me work it out or do what you want to."

The manager replied, "I won't call a cop on one condition—you be here tomorrow for breakfast, lunch and dinner and continue doing that until you get a job." Actor Mohr showed up for breakfast and lunch, but skipped dinner—he landed a job on the Edward G. Robinson show, "Big Town." He calls the kindness of the restaurant manager's action a turning-point in his career — he's had good luck ever since.

Unorthodox Teacher

Mohr believes that acting cannot be taught in schools. "Discussion and observation, and in the words of Shakespeare, 'hold a mirror up to nature,'" are the basic rules he gives as guidance. Hired as a teacher in a well-known dramatic school in

(Please Turn to Page 39)

← HONESTLY, he wants to try Shakespeare on the air. Mohr finds himself more in demand as romantic type. Here you see why!

THE HISTORY of the commercial begins with copywriter Sandy Woolf (right) and newscaster Jim McNamara (left) visiting Chef Albert Medina to get "the real story" on the specials for the week. Sandy always wants such extra facts as "where the lobsters come from" and "just what herbs and sauces" will dress the dish up properly, all of which he can incorporate strategically into his advertising.

GO DEMONSTRATE that an announcer is no less susceptible to the persuasions of his commercials than his listeners, KLAC's busy Jim McNamara goes along with this story in pictures.

Three times each day, at 1:00, 3:00 and 5:00 p.m., Jim reports the news for Tilford's, a restaurant at Wilshire and La Brea frequented by many of KLAC's personnel. In one year of such eloquent advertising as is contained in Sandy Woolf's painstaking copy, Tilford's had doubled its business from 40,000 to 85,000.

And, at the end of an earnest afternoon disclosing the glories of such tasties as "tempting baked avocados stuffed with plenty of meaty chicken and dripping with melted cheese," newscaster McNamara is naturally suffering the pangs of hunger enough to thunder out in quest of a sturdy meal himself!

New York at one time, Mohr was quickly fired when the faculty discovered that he was telling pupils without talent to go home and stay. He thinks that radio is the greatest dramatic medium of all because it presents such a challenge to the actor. He thinks radio actors who undervalue their own craft are making a hideous mistake. Pushed to the point of naming his own favorite actors, Mohr will settle for the late John Barrymore, Sam Jaffe, Louis Calhern and Walter Huston. All in all, he believes that the finest group of actors is to be found in radio.

Ex-villain

He spent two years in the army in the Santa Ana production unit and has been back on the local scene for the last three years. He doesn't know quite how it happened, but his pre-army career consisted of strictly villainous radio roles—he returned to find himself cast as a most romantic fellow. He was originally signed for pictures because they considered him a "young William Powell." This is perfectly all right with Mohr—as a small child he picked actor Powell as the ideal father. He had lost his own parent at the age of four and Powell was selected as a dream father from the ranks of movie stars.

Gerald is married to a school-day sweetheart, Rita, and is the father of "the most beautiful child in the world and a genius besides." This young paragon is Tony, eleven months old. The Mohrs live in Sherman Oaks and are the proud possessors of "Prince," a beautiful five-gaited horse.

Still Ambitious

Mohr, a student of Shakespeare, is looking forward to the day when he can direct a radio group in half-hour versions of the Bard's plays. He has ten adaptations already done and has his eye on some of the actors of his acquaintance to make up his cast. His only other unfulfilled ambitions? "I've always wanted to be in a musical comedy—and I've always wanted to play a drunk!"

"Barrel of Dough"

feature of the "Barrel of Dough" makes it conducive for buyers to shop in the Honor Merchant stores in their community. Every day, for example, Greenberg's telephone operators call a segment of the stores or shops participating in the venture and someone patronizing the concern when the call comes through is invited to appear as a special contestant on the following day's program. From about 100 calls, half a dozen show-participants are chosen.

Thinker-up Greenberg made sure people would go into stores of Honor Merchants when he made a visit to the merchant a prerequisite or follow-up stipulation for any grand-prize contenders. You can't just walk into the studio, laugh at Bill Leyden and take a crack at guessing the number of pennies that'll be in the barrel a few weeks or days away. You must have been invited via telephone, as explained, or take your ticket card or advertisement from the paper to the store to be validated.

As long as red tape doesn't noose the air program, "Barrel of Dough" should roll right along. It might be more fun if more than four or five contestants were brought in daily from the stores. Then Bill Leyden would have a better chance to pick radiogenic participants for the show's entertainment value. As it is, he has to work with whatever comes up to the mike and if whatever appears doesn't know what a glockenspiel is, Bill tugs and mugs until the answer comes. He does very well with people. Although this is his first audience-participation show and KFVB's general manager, Harry Maizlish, had to do some coaxing to get Leyden to take it, Bill has enough quick wit, kindness, and affability to endow the program with a pleasant aura. He obviously helps faltering contestants, but tries to give tips in a clever manner. To the lady who didn't know for sure what it was they stored in a Leyden jar he
