DESILU: A Dream Come True

By Sara Hannah

▲ EVER SINCE THE BIRTH of little Lucie Desiree Arnaz, "I Love Lucy" has had a double meaning for Desi and Lucille. Lucie is shown with her proud parents the day she was christened at Our Lady of the Valley Church, Canoga Park, by Father John Hurley. Lucille gives Desi her famous wide-eyed stare as he goes into his dance routine for their video show.

RED-HEADED LUCILLE BALL and Desi "The Tempo" Arnaz became husband and wife eleven years ago, but just got married again October 15 . . . this time on television. When they stepped into the husband-wife roles of the "Ricardos" in "I Love Lucy," KTTV, Monday 9:00 a.m., they formed more than a comic TV team. They started the cameras rolling to keep pace with video's rapid rise in becoming show business's most enterprising industry.

Like a Play

Many weeks before you started viewing the antics of the "I Love Lucy" household, Desi and Lucille formed a TV-film production company known as Desilu Productions, Inc. It was this same organization that was responsible for the recent successful personal-appearance tour of the famous redhead and her Latin orchestra-leader husband. Homey sets, especially suitable for the "Ricardos," were reconverted from one of the motion-picture sound stages at the General Service lot at 6633 Romaine Street.

A unique theater to be known as the Desilu Playhouse was built, bleachers with soft-cushioned seats to take care of 300 people were made ready for live telecasting with an audience. They decided to film "I Love Lucy" not as a movie, but as a play that would go on uninterrupted from the time it starts until the time it finishes. Why like a play?

Desi Explained It

Desi explained it this way. "Because we want an audience to be present and the audience not to be bored by the process of making many takes, like they do in the movies. The people at home like to feel that they are a part of an audience that is reacting, whether they are laughing or applauding, and an audience dictates to an actor what to do . . . it helps our timing immensely. It's more fun for the people in the bleachers and for us on stage, too." Those bleachers, by the way, are not uncomfortable at all, and are constructed at a higher level than usual to afford the audience a full view of the stage without obstruction by huge TV cameras. The set was made realistic with real furniture, actual plumbing and plants that are really growing.

It Was a Natural

There was no doubt about choosing the "I Love Lucy" script for Desi and Lucille. It was a natural. It's all about a girl named "Lucy" and a guy named "Ricky." She keeps the household going, while he is busy with his band playing at a night club. Desi said, "It was enough like us to be interesting, and different enough so we would remember when we were acting and when we were living private lives."

Another regular couple on the series is "Mr. and Mrs. Mertz," the landlords, played by William Frawley, outstanding movie actor, and Vivian Vance, actress featured in the recent movie "The Blue Veil." Jess Oppenheimer, producer and writer of Lucille's air show, "My Favorite Husband," holds the reins for the telecast, with writers Bob Carroll and Madelyn Pugh assisting. Marc Daniels, a fine Broadway director, directs, while Karl Freund, one of Hollywood's ace cinematographers, is in charge of the cameras.

Long Rehearsals

It takes all-day rehearsals, six times a week, to get a half-hour TV show ready for the viewers at home. This sort of schedule allows little free time for this famous couple, ed halfback whizzed by us, gritting his teeth and propelling his legs like a speeding locomotive. After a long downfield run, his outstretched arms failed to grab a long Waterfield pass.

Trotting back to the huddle, the frustrated receiver took a lot of heckling.

"Come on, get the lead out!"

"You should have had that one in your hip pocket."

In a mild yet very serious tone, even Head Coach Joe Stydahar had a few words to say: "When you halfbacks and ends go out for passes, I want you to dig hard all the way. If you slow up here in practice, you'll slow up in the game."

When the Bob Waterfield and Norm Van Brocklin passes started to click (as ninety per cent of them did), the players clapped their hands and yelled out victory whoops as if they had just scored a game-winning touchdown. And none of this enthusiasm was put on for show purposes.

At the Game

The following Sunday we sat high

GHEY PLAY like a bunch of high-school kids!" That was the very first impression we had when we recently took in a morning practice session of the Los Angeles Rams at Gilmore Field.

Before you fervid Ram rooters get all riled up, allow us to explain. We were not referring to the actual caliber of play (how ridiculous can you get!) but rather to the pep and enthusiasm exhibited by the gridders.

Although daily workouts are necessary to keep a team in top shape, one would think that the boys would take it easy on these days, especially in the professional ranks.

At Practice

But not these Rams. Out in the center-field portion of the barren Hollywood ball park they were running, and running hard, through some passing plays.

In motion to the left, a fleet-foot-atop the L. A. Coliseum, and along with 70,000 screaming fans we saw for ourselves how this hustle paid off.

The rampaging Rams were red-hot. Van Brocklin, who led the entire league in passing last year, and Waterfield, star quarterback for the past six seasons, were hitting the breadbaskets of Davis, Hirsch, Fears, and company with an amazing degree of accuracy.

Originally granted a Cleveland franchise by the National League on February 13, 1937, thing were rough for the Rams during the first few years.

Finally in 1945, led by the league's most valuable player, Rookie Bob Waterfield, they won the world's championship.

That was a great victory for the Rams. However, the next year an even greater victory followed—at least as far as Los Angeles grid fans were concerned. President Daniel F. Reeves moved the club to Los Angeles.

ELROY "CRAZY LEGS" HIRSCH started for Wisconsin and Michigan during his college career, was All-American in 1942-43, and played with the Chicago Rockets before signing with the Rams in 1949.

Once again it took a while to get started. In 1949, the new club won its first division championship and repeated again last year. Both times, however, hopes for a world title were spoiled.

The Philadelphia Eagles beat them 14-0, in 1949, and in 1950 the Cleveland Browns came from behind in the last twenty seconds to win, 30-28.

But the Rams are a young and cocky bunch, with Waterfield and Guard Jack Finlay being the only ones over thirty years of age.

Sooner or later, these youngsters are going to get their horns on that title. If you don't believe us, just ask any of their thousands of loyal L. A. fans. Better yet, ask the players themselves.

TOM FEARS, former Santa Clara star, started with the Rams in 1948. He holds league records in pass-receiving for one season (84), and one game (18).

HARRY OWENS at his happiest, surrounded by music, flowers, and bits of pulchritude from his popular KTLA show.

Owens summer home nine miles outside of Waikiki (father Owens calls it "way out in the country") made a discovery on which his father can capitalize.

The eleven-year-old, with the agility and daring of a half-grown cat, had scaled a mountainside and discovered an opening. The door to one of the Hawaiians' ancient burial grounds had been shaken away by an earthquake or a volcano. Butch's shouts brought his father, camera in hand, scrambling up the hillside.

This discovery and investigation led to another legend and probably to another TV show production and song for the historian-maestro.

The talent to perform as authentically as the numbers and legends are written isn't too hard for Owens to procure. Because of his complete familiarity with things Hawaiian,

HARRY OWENS is the top salesman of things Hawaiian. His Royal Hawaiians are known the world over, and have done more than any other band to popularize Island music.

Chronicler

Native music and lore had never been written down until the man who recruited an eleven-piece orchestra from Hawaii, Oahu, Maui and Molokai became known. It had been handed down from one generation to another, losing a bit each time. Owens set himself to the task of perpetuating the enchanting melodies and became, in a sense, the island's musical historian. So far, he has more than 100 Hawaiian folk songs on paper. In addition, he is a celebrated composer in his own right, credited with such hits as "To You Sweetheart, Aloha," "Dancing Under the Stars" and "Palace in Paradise," to name but a few.

This Polynesian specialist uncovers Hawaiian culture in the same way you and I learned the legends and grew to know the people of the towns in which we lived. While most tourists to Island shores loll in the bar of the Royal Hawaiian drinking rum from a coconut shell, the composer of "Sweet Leilani" spends his time driving the back roads of the Islands or visiting his old friend Aikane, the Kuna. The term means "the priest," and this venerable character travels by cattle boat from one island to another to talk with his friend Harry Owens over a bowl of mulberry punch. More than one tale of Aikane's has wound up on Harry's KTLA show in the form of a beautifully choreographed and musically constructed specialty. As have other legends enchanted the nation in the form of pop tune.

Discovery

Owens was first to introduce the authentic Hawaiian steel guitar to American bands. His three-month vacation in the Islands last summer found him bringing back to "the mainland" and to television audiences the second Hawaiian instrument. He discovered the cane pipes during a tour of the Islands with another old friend who serves as a guide. Timothy Gregory, a native Hawaiian of obvious Scotch ancestry, introduced the maestro to these pipes, played in sets, and made from cane about three and a half inches in diameter. The length of the pieces determines the pitch.

In order to bring this instrument to the United States, it was necessary that Owens, his guide and his eleven-year-old son, Butch, spend a day in travel to the cane growths. The group drove as far as possible by car over the high Island roads. Then, on foot, lugging an electric saw and a box, they made the rest of the way on foot. The lengths necessary, from a four-inch piece for low E to a twelve-inch length running up two octaves to E, were carefully clipped to avoid splits, then packed and returned to the car and Owens's home to await their plane ride to the States.

Treasure Hunt

Butch, on another hegira from the his obvious love of the Islands and their people, and his absolute adherence to the true and real, with no commercial distortion, Harry Owens is the one non-Hawaiian member of the Southern California Polynesian Club. At their meetings, entertainments and parties Harry hears the best of music, sees the best of entertainment, and meets some of his best friends, all from his beloved Islands. And none are reluctant to appear on their friend's show.

Owens proclaims Hawaiian cooking the finest in the world. His wife, a former Boston girl, now patiently awaits a shipment of ingredients from the Islands so that she can prepare for her husband the "two-nights-a-week-Hawaiian" dinners he thinks effect a nice balance in diet. This super-salesman lives his commodity.

And in reverse, the United States couldn't have picked a nicer unofficial ambassador to the people of the Islands than this pleasant musician.

Ginger Rogers Goes TV

Ginger Rogers will devote her career hours to TV. The blonde film actress, who recently opened in a Broadway play, "Love and Let Love," signed an exclusive contract with CBS-TV covering her services for three years with options for an additional three years. She will start her CBS stint next fall in starring roles for half-hour weekly programs. She will do original productions and adaptations of some of her screen successes, and may do some radio shows also for CBS. Her profit for this venture, it is reported, will be approximately $1,000,000 for the six-year period.

Looks Like

... One of radio's top showmen for many years, Don McNeill with his famous ABC "Breakfast Club," is dropping his TV chores. McNeill's radio version, called "Don McNeill's TV Club," will go off after December 19, with no immediate television offer in view. Both McNeill and his Philco sponsor were unhappy over difficulties with the net to clear time for the telecasts. ... Failure to satisfy viewers and sponsors with kine versions of top shows and taking on an additional telecast has led to a switch in backing of ABC-TV's "Ruggles." Kraft is dropping the sponsorship, but ABC's contract for the family video show runs two more years (which means viewers will continue seeing it) and a new sponsor is expected to pick up the show soon.

Don McNeill

... Elsie Baker, versatile character actress, has just completed the role of a Mexican Señora in a video pic entitled "Padre." ... Some of the major winter events originating in Madison Square Garden in New York City will be televised for theater TV. Theater Network Television acquired the rights to telecast the events. Top college basketball games in December will start off the series, which will include the national invitational tournament and Olympic Games playoff. ... Television distributors report that sales are growing bigger and bigger. October records show 37,461 sales as compared with September sales of 26,099.

... London's video activities are following close on the heels of the industry's events here. Large-screen TV equipment was moved into the Rand Organization's Odeon Theatre in Leicester Square, making it the first movie house over there to get giant-sized video. ... Eddie Cantor will mark another "first" to his credit, when he originates the December 9 NBC "Colgate Comedy Hour" from the military base at Santa Ana Army Air Base. He will become the first of the national TV comics to telecast from a GI base. His format will be changed for the occasion to feature talented newcomers never before seen on TV.

Need New Lyrics

Next spring is convention time again, and 140,000,000 Americans can see the whole works on their favorite stations among the four TV networks, which will cover both shebangs from stem to stern. The candidates this time had better learn their speeches, because it won't be the boys who stumble through a speech from a printed page who are going to win the X marks of the 50,000,000 or 60,000,000 folks with voting rights. That won't pass for any sort of sincerity.

Rumors Are Flying

Dick Powell and his wife, June Allyson, are doing their best to swing a husband-and-wife TV show for themselves. It would be a video drama. Final decision depends on June's getting TV rights from film commitments at M-G-M. . . . Bob Hawk is offering his TV quiz program "Win, Lose or Draw!" to ad agencies. . . . Meredith Willson, "Big Show" maestro and star of his own NBC "Music Room" program, bows on a third show Wednesday night, December 5. He'll be a regular panel member of ABC-TV's "The Name's the Same," which features other panelists Abe Burrows, Robert Q. Lewis and Joan Alexander.

Santa Claus Lane Parade

Santa Claus is in town. Those of you who viewed the Santa Claus Lane Parade on November 29 were his official greeters; but we succumbed to the comforts of television and enjoyed KTLA's telecast of the parade. The galaxy of celebrities parading down the veritable fairyland lane, on tinsel floats or silver-spangled horses, have been doing so since 1932.

That year mechanical toys were used as decorations. It was the first time the Santa Claus float had been used and the same float has been in use each year since. Every fall the float is repainted and refurbished with additional mechanical devices.

In 1933 large pictures of movie stars, surrounded by wreaths, were used as decorations on Hollywood Boulevard; however, this was discontinued the following year. The parade was held continuously until 1942, when it was canceled because of the war.

Parade festivities were reinstated in 1945 when the present metal Christmas trees were built. The initial cost of the new motif was $135,000. The ghostlike dismantled trees are stored unprotected on Lockheed property when not in use. And the unkindness of the elements necessitates redecoration each fall.

The average cost of this now traditional parade is about $50,000, and more than four million people have attended the parade since 1945.

"See It Now"

"See It Now," produced by Edward R. Murrow and Fred W. Friendly, the ultimate sight-and-sound development of an idea and collaboration that began with the widely acclaimed "I Can Hear It Now" albums for Columbia Records, scheduled to make its debut Sunday, November 18, as a weekly news program over KNXT, 12:30 p.m., failed to appear as planned. It seems, according to reports, that Channel 2 Mount Wilson engineers got crossed up on instructions and went on the air at the usual 1:00 p.m. instead of the 12:30 p.m. "See It Now" New York relay time set for the telecast.

"See It Now," video successor to CBS Radio's "Hear It Now," which won a George Foster Peabody citation last season, projects into the medium of sight and sound the Murrow-Friendly technique of presenting the news through the people who make the news. Persons and events on the front pages during the week will be seen and heard on "See It Now." The program will be, in effect, the news magazine of television.

With Murrow as on-camera editor, the news will be presented through live pickups of events, and with motion pictures specially filmed for "See It Now." The news will include personal interviews, overseas reports, biographical features, human-interest stories, documentary features, and late news breaks.

Latest Color-TV Order

Theater color TV is out for the duration of the current material shortage, according to a government order from the National Production Authority. Not only that, it means no more manufacturing of color television sets and color adapters to be used in conjunction with present sets. No color TV appliances can be manufactured for general sale until the materials shortages are ended, but the making of color television equipment for experimental, defense, industrial and certain hospital and educational uses will still be permitted. Experimental work on theater TV and color theater TV can continue. This certainly makes it look like a straight black and white video picture for the time being.

Stop, Listen, Look (Shows You May Like)

World Reporter

Monday-Friday, 6:30 p.m.
KLAC-TV, Channel 13

KLAC-TV's world reporter, Clete Roberts, has just completed the filming of twenty-two newsreels in one of the most important spots in the world, Israel. This series is currently being televised over KLAC-TV. It started Monday, November 19.

Clete Roberts

The nearly two dozen films, each running fifteen minutes, tell the entire story of Israel in a series of interviews plus eye-witness accounts of present happenings. Roberts visually depicts present living conditions in this country, conditions between the Jews and the Arabs, economic problems and general welfare of the state. Roberts traveled up and down the state interviewing the farmer, city worker, manufacturer, and laborer—Israel's parallels to you and me—to bring to us as accurate an account of sympathies, feelings, and conditions as possible.

Anyone who saw the results of Clete's stimulating first-hand interviews on Formosa knows what a lot of human detail this ace interviewer finds in his travels. Roberts's and KLAC-TV's newsreels from abroad are some of the most solid first-hand accounts of fellow humanity you can encounter in TV.

"Herb Shriner Time"

Thursday, 9:00 p.m.
ABC-TV, KECA-TV, Channel 7

The first time Herb Shriner stepped before the TV cameras last year during a guest shot, the lucky ones who caught the appearance clucked happily over a natural. And when the Hoosier favorite substituted last summer for Arthur Godfrey, his amiable humor and folksy commentary settled the matter of Shriner to TV.

On his own show Herb opens with a comedy monologue which sets the scene of the small-town drama to follow. Then with Shriner acting as narrator and story-teller, his famed Indiana-style humor adding a hilarious fillip to the human-interest plot, the little dramas unfold. Played straight, it would come out pure corn. Played a la Shriner, it comes out pure delight.

Typical was the tale spun of a small-town bank clerk who enjoyed the trust of his fellow citizens. Turned by greed to absconding with fifty thousand dollars of the bank's money, the teller was finally found wandering about the scenes of his every-day life as he waited for the train that would bear him and the ill-gotten gains away. The influence of old familiar faces and places naturally proved too much, and virtue triumphed.

Distinguished casts of TV players enact the tales of life in a small town each week, their roles keeping the half-hour epics from being too funny.

Not the least impressive bits of the show are the commercials. Shriner, rumor has it, spent a good many hours at sponsor Arrow's plant, soaking up usable lore. Excellence of the pitches for collars and shirts substantiates the story of their painstaking preparation.

Even when it came time to tout men's shorts—a feat not easy on TV—imagination triumphed. Background, wearers, and other bits of wear were blacked out. The canes, hats, and bright shorts of the models were illuminated, which resulted in a better than decent parade of men's underwear capering on-screen. The results were highly watchable. Shriner uses his wits as well as his native wit.—J.P.

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride

... To Shelton Brooks's appearance in KLAC-TV's "You're Never Too Old." As composer doing his own songs, he was a solid hit singing "Some of These Days" and "Darktown Strutters Ball."

We View With Alarm

... The latest video attempt by Fred Allen on NBC's "Sound-Off Time." The dour-faced Allen is a humorist and not a visual comedian. He failed miserably ... in provoking laughs as well as in proving the basis of his telecast ... that humor was not dead. There must be a format suitable to his satirical humor, but until such time as he discovers what it is, 'tis best for Allen to leave telecasting alone, otherwise his faithful followers may drop by the wayside.

... The tired old format on Richard Willis's "Here's Looking at You," which NBC microwaves from New York. Willis, a former movie make-up man, has had many years of experience in broadcasting glamour hints for milady. However, he has literally taken his old radio format and transferred it to the cameras. The basic principles of suitable make-up, dress and hairdos are generally well known, and repeating old hash without visual demonstration of "before" and "after" effects seems rather pointless on a video show.

The Alan Young Show

Sunday, 8:00 p.m.
CBS-KNXT, Channel 2

In case there is a reader left who still hasn't seen the Alan Young Show, may we explain that it consists of Alan Young in what is called "situation comedy." These are skits written for him, in conjunction with him, and of late have been more situation than comedy.

Two years of watching Alan Young being slowed down and bogged down by a bad pace and too-long skits heighten the impression that meeting Alan on the street is more fun than watching him on TV. He's quicker, and he's more Alan Young.

For instance, a week or so ago Alan played the part of a lighthouse keeper with no diversions. A shipwrecked girl stopped by, but her inability to play poker led Alan to abandon her there, making for the mainland in his skiff, alone. His "topper" to this tiresome skit concerned the "dull time the two of them would have for the month waiting arrival of the next passenger boat from the mainland."

On another occasion he was an English soldier debating the time of a bomb. At the end of the fifteen-second period, he and a friend rested assured it was a still-unexploded thirty-second bomb they were watching apprehensively. To most viewers this old chestnut turned the bomb time into what seemed like fifteen minutes!

Only occasionally does a real sock spot come through. When it does—it's great!

The blond Scotsman whose television show at the same time seems to this reporter one of the most watchable and one of the most tiresome on the TV channels, is in person much funnier than this. Maybe if Young just plays himself and not mythical characters his own personality will come through.

He's got one of the best directors in TV, too, Ralph Levy. If those two can't figure out what's dragging, we shouldn't have even brought it up.—J.P.

It will be welcome home night for Art Baker on Monday night, Dec. 10th. . . . Yes, Art and his popular "You Asked For It" will be seen on KECA-TV every Monday night for his sponsor, Skippy Peanut Butter. The show will be telecast over the ABC-TV network live from Hollywood via the microwave relay. "You Asked For It" has captured tremendous public interest since its initial telecast almost a year ago. Baker and the producers of the show leave no stone unturned to bring to the TV screen the odd and interesting items requested by his fans.

ART BAKER

As you've probably noticed, Kaiser-Frazer Dealers have joined the ever increasing list of sponsors on ABC-TV. . . . Their Adventures in Mystery currently starring Betty Furness in By-Line is seen Sunday evenings at 7:30 on Channel Seven. Starting Dec. 23rd, they'll bring the viewers "The Adventures of Ellery Queen" at that time. . . . Have you become a regular Herb Shriner fan? We think there's nothing quite like the Shriner brand of humor. If you haven't seen this tall, lean lad with a whimsical twinkle, then you'd better set your dial on Channel 7, Thursday night at 9!

Speaking of new shows, there's "City Hospital," the Carter Products dramatic series beamed your way on alternate Saturdays at 12:30. "City Hospital" depicts events as they might occur in the everyday life of an average metropolitan hospital. . . . Every Saturday at one, you see Mirandy's entertaining and informative show, "The Garden Shop." . . . We think you'll like her quarter-hour. . . . Paul Whiteman's TV Teen Club is now seen coast-to-coast via microwave on Saturdays. . . . Canada Dry's portion of the Sunday afternoon special . . . Super-Circus . . . at 2 o'clock, is also microwaved coast-to-coast.

Here's a blanket invitation to the public. . . . With new stages and more seats available for studio audiences, the invitation is extended to attend KECA-TV daytime shows, Monday thru Friday, at ABC's Television Center. . . . No tickets required.

Handy Hints

By Dorothy Gardiner and Dick Gar-ton, stars of KTLA's "Handy Hints," Monday through Friday, 6:45 p.m.

Each week we pick the best Handy Hint sent directly to TV-Radio Life, 6361 Selma Avenue, Hollywood 28, and use it, with your name and address, in this column as well as on the air over KTLA, Friday evening at 6:45. A lovely gift will be sent to everyone whose hint is used here as KTLA-TV-Radio Life Hint of the week.

Here is this week's winner: Mrs. Hazel Halloway, 9415 Workman Ave., Temple City, Calif.

The hint is:

IF YOU HAVE AN OLD HALL TREE IN YOUR ATTIC, then get it

down and paint it to match your color scheme in the kitchen. Use the tree to hang finished garments on as you iron. There are usually about six to eight hooks on a tree, therefore, it will save you many steps when ironing.

IF YOUR CHILD IS TOO LARGE FOR THE HIGHCHAIR AND YET YOU FIND THAT AN ORDINARY CHAIR IS TOO LOW FOR THE CHILD TO EAT IN COMFORT, TRY THIS. Buy four sturdy door bumpers and screw one in each leg of chair. This will raise the chair about four inches and when no longer needed they can be easily removed without harm to the chair.

WHEN THE CHILDREN BRING THEIR FRIENDS HOME TO WATCH TELEVISION AND EAT POPCORN, you probably find all the bowls in the house dirty. Well, here's a good idea. The next time, buy some sandwich bags to use instead of bowls. Pop a large pan or bowl of popcorn, and put a cup in it to fill the bags, and give each child a bag, and then they can eat all the popcorn they want and you have only a pan and cup to wash.

CONTEST AND OFFERS

Two hundred and nineteen persons will receive prizes for the most original toys submitted to the third annual "make-a-toy" campaign conducted by Tom Moore, Mutual-Don Lee's "Ladies Fair" program (week days, 11:00 to 11:25 a.m.) and the Salvation Army. The grand prize is to be a brand-new automobile. All entries must be sent to Tom Moore, KNBS, Chicago, by December 7, to assure Salvation Army distribution.

"The Amazing Dr. Grable" Makes The Grunt and Groaners Grimace

THE VERY first time we set eyes upon Dr. Lee Grable, we were impressed. (As we write this, we want to assure you wrestling fans that we are not under his hypnotic spell.)

It happened one night while we were sitting around the locker room of the Hollywood Legion Stadium waiting for the first bout to go on.

Dr. Grable passed by us, his curly black hair neatly combed and his face cleanly shaved. Surely, we thought, this handsome and intelligent looking man couldn't be in the same business as Baron Leone, Mr. Moto, the Smith Brothers, and those other ferocious grunt-and-groaners.

But there he was, magnificently dressed in his flashing black robe ready to step into the ring.

We wondered at the time if "The Amazing Dr. Grable" were really a first-rate hypnotist, or whether his hypnotic prowess was just a gag to get people to see him in action.

It didn't take long to check up on the Doc's credentials.

Born in Arizona, Lee originally had no intention of becoming a pro wrestler. He wanted to become a psychologist and psychoanalyst.

With this purpose in mind, he attended Sierra State University and majored in psychology. Lee Grable is a bona-fide doctor and has a PhD degree to prove it.

While attending college, the five-foot, 200-pound muscular giant participated in some amateur bouts. He was so good that promoters throughout the country haunted him after graduation to go into the professional ranks.

In the ring, the thirty-three-year-old grappler moves quickly like a frightened cat. His power and agility make him one of the most capable performers in the mat game today. During his matches, the popular Dr. Grable is usually the "hero."

None of the boys get too rough with the Doc, however, because all he has to do is look them square in the eye, flip his fingers through the air, say a few magic words — and the biggest and toughest of them will be under his spell.

Of course, as Dr. Grable will readily tell you, no one can be hypnotized unless the subject desires it.

One night in El Paso, Texas, though, Lee hypnotized his opponent in a regular match. In Tucson, Arizona, following the regular events, he put more than 200 people into an hypnotic trance.

After hanging up his wrestling shoes, Doc intends to become a full-time psychologist.

When that time does come, it will be wrestling's loss and psychology's gain.

RADIOACTRESS PEGGY WEBBER, eager to get back to work after four months in Japan, returns to Hollywood on December 12 aboard the President Cleveland. She has been living in the "backwoods" of Japan with her Army husband. "Cut off from American mail and food," Peggy has grown to appreciate radio more than ever and claims it means a tremendous thing in the lives of occupation forces. "Of course," she adds, "television hasn't really been introduced here yet. Have been listening to myself on 'Dragnet' ever since I've been here. Very funny feeling."

MY OWN POINT WITH PRIDE . . . to the recent "Show of Shows" on which Sid Caesar played a German schoolteacher. This was but one scintillating spot of a telecast glistening from end to end. What production! If "Show of Shows" would ever spare Max Liebman, he should set up shop as a production consultant and trouble shooter. I know 'steen TV programs which could use him right now, and I'll bet you do, too!

DITTO MY OWN VIEW WITH ALARM: . . . the downright discourtesy with which Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond were cut off the Ken Murray program the other night. All that build-up to hear Raymond's song and then—nothing! The Raymonds registered aghast faces when it happened and we felt the way they looked.

HAD NEVER NOTICED BEFORE, until they followed one another on Channel 2, how much Sid Caesar and Danny Thomas look alike—general get-up some, but especially their wonderful expressions.

JOHN BAIRD OF KMPC, named a couple of years ago by Charm Magazine as one of the country's most eligible bachelors, is plotting marriage early in February to Mrs. Norma Sevilla Lee of West Los Angeles. John is a swell chap who deserves lots of happiness and I hope this is it.

RENZO CESANA'S AVID FANS will wail and gnash their molars when they know he's vacating his evening spots on KNBH. All on account of Masterson, Nelson and Reddy (The Three Johns) fixing "The Continental" up for national release. KNBH can gird itself for some pressure from Cesana's local fan clubs, an ardent lot.

THOUGHT TO TOY WITH IN serious moments: Let's face it—our form of government today is not what its Fathers planned, and one of the things undermining its workings is the inability of people to know those whom they select for office (and people's resulting indifference).

NOW THAT THE TV CAMERAS will focus searchingly on the two party nomination conventions next year, will they be instrumental in bringing us back, in part at least, to the true concept of our government? Something has to or we're repeating "The Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire" here and now.

CBS-TV GETS THE QUARTER-million-dollar Johnson & Johnson TV show on Christmas afternoon. Eighty per cent of the telecast will be composed of film clips from such Disney favorites as "Snow White," "Bambi," and "Peter Pan" (to be released in about a year).

SPECIAL PORTIONS FILMED FOR the holiday telecast will present scenes in a children's hospital where Kathy ("Alice in Wonderland") Beaumont and Bobby ("Peter Pan") Driscoll will entertain. Sponsors Johnson & Johnson plan to eradicate commercials and make this telecast a tribute to the doctors of America. A wonderful gesture of Christmas goodwill, more eloquent than fifty high-powered plugs.

Radio in Review

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Looks Like

... KMPC will have to shop around seriously to replace Ross MulHolland when he leaves January 1 to return to Detroit, where he's bought into a radio-TV packaging firm. ... Tom Harmon did his good deed for the day when he got the idea of calling the Ram-Yankee game the "Blood Bowl." He got a bushel of thanks and a scroll for the idea which boosted blood donations that day. ... "Grand Ole Opry" has some celebrating to do, with this week marking the twenty-sixth anniversary of the air show ... and that makes it one year older than its network, NBC. ... Lux Radio Theatre presents "Alice in Wonderland" on Christmas Eve. ... "The Screen Guild Players" series will return to the airlines via CBS.

Radio set-siders will be hearing their favorite "Screen Guild Players" in December. CBS bought the air show and will broadcast two half-hour dramatic programs a week.

... Thirty years ago, Mary Carr was one of America's most beloved movie actresses. This week, November 30, she will come out of retirement to play the part of a grandmother on the ABC airshow "This Is Your FBI" with producer-director Jerry Devine, who at the age of twelve was a movie son to Mary Carr in a film entitled "Over the Hill." ... After a year of weekly singing stints on CBS's "Club 15," Jo Stafford is leaving the Bob Crosby line-up. The show's sponsor, Campbell's Soup, is cutting their air time because of a tin shortage and TV advertising and will continue only with a three-a-week airing featuring Crosby and Gisele MacKenzie. Jo Stafford reports in January for movie work on "My Fine Feathered Friend," and her first five-a-week TV program.

... Murray Boggs, KFAC staff announcer, died last week of a circulatory ailment while undergoing surgery. Boggs was associated with KFAC for the past five years as announcer and news-room chief.

... Bob Hawk's Monday CBS "Bob Hawk Show" broadcasts are being recorded well in advance of the Christmas season. He plans to head an all-star cast of film and radio artists scheduled to make personal appearances at U. S. military bases in the Caribbean during the Christmas holidays.

Rumors Are Flying

... That Meredith Willson will be back in Hollywood ... this time to stay ... when "The Big Show" closes for the summer next June. It is reported that Tallu's air show may move bag and baggage to the West Coast next year and have a permanent Hollywood NBC origination.

... Jack Benny and Red Skelton, two of radio's top comics, may bow out of the airwaves medium after this season. Although both comedians deny such conjectures, they are expending their talent and energy at present in the direction of the visual medium.

... The Roosevelt boys, John and Elliott, that is, have the broadcasting bug. It is reported that they are negotiating the purchase of New York radio station WINS. It is also expected that Elliott Roosevelt will file for a TV station in Miami, Florida.

pop tunes "live" and not on tape. Canned music has dominated the airwaves for many seasons now, and it is pleasant listening to a musical aggregation as smooth as Buzz Adlam's origination from Vine Street.

Carol Richards, vocalist, guested on a recent airing with the music men. She did a splendid job on an old Johnny Green composition, "I Cover the Waterfront," and then must have endeared herself to many listeners with her treatment of a new tune, "The Perfect Husband." "The Perfect Husband" was inspired by the George Fenneman air show of the same name.

In honor of Armistice Day, the Buzz Adlam men did a nice arrangement of "My Buddy."

There's nothing spectacular about this musical show, but if you like music that's easy to take, that often stirs memories of almost forgotten days and is light on the chatter, try tuning in Buzz Adlam's group. You'll not regret it.—A.G.

"California Caravan"

For many years the United States, particularly the Eastern seaboard, has been described as "the melting pot of the world."

After 175 years of national independence, we have a new melting pot. California, especially since the gold rush of 1849, has been aptly labeled as "the melting pot of the United States."

Appropriately enough, each Sunday afternoon there is a radio program which delves into the past history of the early California settlers. The radio version, based on official records, is dedicated to the circuit courts of America and is called "California Caravan."

Last week's story, "Delayed Revenge," was a typical one. "Sarah Althea Hill" (Irene Winston), a San Francisco belle, wanted to "get her hooks" into a millionaire bachelor, one "William Sharon" (Ken Christy).

Playboy "Sharon" had different ideas. Although he had signed something called a "declaration of marriage," he figured he was getting all the benefits of married life without investing the usual two dollars.

"Sarah" was determined, though. First she tried some magical and idiotic tricks recommended by a "Madame Zee-ah-bong" (Irene Tedrow). When the Madame's formula proved unsuccessful, she then used the second-best means—the United States law courts.

For eight years she and her attorney, "David S. Terry," (John Dehner), whom she later married, struggled with the courts.

To make a long story short, "Sarah" finally lost the case. Several years later, September 3, 1888, to be exact, the revengeful "Terry" killed the judge who had handed down the unfavorable decision.

Frustrated and penniless, "Sarah" entered the "Land of Twilight." In layman's language, she went off her blooming rocker and ended up in a California nuthouse.

The basic idea for "California Caravan" is a sound one; the acting is creditable; and the entire production demonstrates that writer-director Larry Hays spends a lot of time preparing this half-hour drama.

The "California Caravan" may not enter the "land of Oscars" this year, but if the present pace continues it can at least be assured of rolling along for several more recorded miles.—T.H.

"Dr. Christian"

Wednesday, 8:30 p.m.
KNX, KGB

Fifteen years on radio with the same sponsor, same net and many of the same cast members is an enviable record for any actor to have. When it belongs to one as loved by the radio audience as Jean Hersholt with his "Dr. Christian" role it is all the more praiseworthy. We certainly believe Hersholt deserves all the honors and plaudits bestowed upon him during these fifteen years.

If there's one word that aptly describes the "Dr. Christian" air show today, it is "mellow." It is truly a radio drama that has grown mellow and deeply appreciated year by year since its first airing in 1937.

Typical of the series was a recent broadcast entitled

"Mr. Know How." "Mr. Know How" turned out to be one of "Dr. Christian's" oldest patients who was known as "Gramps" by everyone in town. As the story developed, a great deal of homey philosophy was offered to all who had their dial set at KNX. Regardless of the plot on the "Dr. Christian" show, it always offers listeners something of value to take away and treasure in their hearts and minds.

This particular script was (as they always are) written by a listener and was a prize-winning story submitted in the annual writing contest.

"Dr. Christian," with Jean Hersholt in the role of the devoted country doctor, can go on for another fifteen years as far as we are concerned . . . and we imagine as far as many of his fans throughout the country are concerned, too.—A.G.

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

We Point With Pride

. . . To the musical score arranged by Rudy Schragger for CBS's "Lux" presentation of "Samson and Delilah" starring Victor Mature and Hedy Lamarr. This strong, stirring musical background did much to pique the listeners' imagination in this Biblical radio story that could not depend on Technicolor film sets to weave its significant drama.

. . . To Lonesome Gal's defense of long-haired women on her broadcast this week over KHJ. It seems the sweet-voiced gal of the airwaves objects to the new fad of "boyish bobs" or "poodle cuts" in the feminine fashion world. She claims the men much prefer to look at and touch the soft, long-haired dolls.

Lonesome Gal

We View With Alarm

. . . The continual hodge-podge of contrived private-eye series. A recent airing of "Rogues Gallery" (KECA) involved murder, a congenital liar, double cross and convenient confusion which paled the performance of Paul Stewart, an otherwise top-flight performer.

Off Mike (Personalities)

Dr. Frederick Bailes

Three years ago Dr. Frederick Bailes, Director of the Science of Mind Church of Los Angeles, began a fifteen-minute Monday-through-Friday broadcast on a 250-watt Los Angeles station. Today, with a morning and evening five-day-a-week broadcast on KECA already into its second year, Dr. Bailes has increased his radio coverage by a twenty-seven-station Mutual Network in the five Western states of California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Nevada.

Dr. Bailes' first network broadcast was heard last Sunday, at 10:30 p.m. over KHJ and the Mutual Broadcasting System. This marks the first step in a radio expansion program.

Coincident with Dr. Bailes' increased radio audience has been the growth of audiences at the regular Sunday morning services. Beginning in a small theater seating no more than 500, Dr. Bailes eventually moved into the Fox Wilshire Theater, seating approximately 2400. Often there have been hundreds turned away.

Thousands have attested to the help he has been to them since his first broadcast only three years ago.

Radiomites

By Norma Jean Nilsson

The party which the Radiomites gave for the three little war orphans was a most wonderful success. Turkey with all the trimmings was served in a pre-Thanksgiving banquet and the children were so well-behaved and gracious and grateful. It was a sort of delayed birthday party, too, for all of the Radiomites brought presents to the children. Hanka's eyes filled with tears as she opened her packages. There were strands of pearls for her, and purses, and bracelets, and compacts, and hankies, and silk nighties, and oh, just everything to make a little girl happy. And eight-year-old Roberto hugged his roller skates and his toy gun and Roland adored his Hopalong Cassidy shirt and his gold tie clasp. There were so many beautiful gifts for these three orphans and so much to eat. I think every Radiomite who attended will hold that day and what it stood for as one of the richest in their lives. I know that if I live to be a hundred I'll never forget our party.

Norma Jean

On behalf of Jill Oppenheim, who was our official hostess, and her parents, who so generously donated their restaurant, the Red Log, and all its facilities, I want to thank TV-Radio Life, NBC, CBS, Life, George Fisher, and all the gentlemen of the press who so kindly covered the event.

I'm so glad I was one of the kids who helped give this party, because in a way I think I got more out of it than even the orphans did. I got to see how lucky we kids in America are, and once you realize you're lucky you're truly grateful.

Next time I'll bring you up to date on what's happening with the Radiomites in TV and on the air. Until then, so long kids, and remember, when there's news in your bean, call Norma Jean.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

Louise Gambill, 5128 East First St., Long Beach, Calif.

I am surely happy to read that you are doing an article on Korla Pandit in the December 7 issue.

For my taste, he's the best on television, local or national, and I would like to see him get more recognition of his great talent. I wonder how many who watch him play know that he is a composer, and that his records are available. I am a Korla fan, but only just found that interesting information out. His own things are beautiful. Why isn't his broadcast coast-to-coast? There must be many others, like myself, who appreciate the superiority of the program, and realize the vast difference between it and most of the entertainment that is offered.

Mrs. Carlotta Ostrander, 2430 Ocean View Ave., Los Angeles 6, California.

Again I want to thank KNBH for bringing "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" into our homes. It has been a wonderful treat lately to have them each afternoon. They are so lifelike and always bring an interesting and instructive message.

I have had my RCA set for four years and can doubly appreciate the improvement in every way—especially since all the channels come from Mt. Wilson.

Viewing and listening to the NBC Symphony just lately I felt it was worth the price I had paid for my set. I have witnessed many "firsts" and have been thrilled with them all.

Thanks again for your fine magazine.

Marilyn Schuld, 12028 Ranchito St., North El Monte, Calif.

I am a "Beany" and a "Space Patrol" fan and I wondered if your swell magazine would write some stories on these wonderful programs. I sure will be looking forward for them. I buy your swell magazine as soon as it is on the market stands. Please inform me about it—if you will.

We have a special feature on "Space Patrol" coming up in the near future. We did a story on "Beany" August 7, 1948.

Mrs. Mary E. Sweet, 1075 Cherry Ave., Long Beach, Calif.

We read with interest the C. E. Hooper, Inc., ratings for radio you published recently and wonder where and how they are cooked up? Following is the rating of our family and many, many friends: 1. Firestone Program; 2. "Telephone Hour"; 3. "One Man's Family"; 4. Fulton Lewis, Jr.; 5. "Railroad Hour"; 6. "Standard Symphony"; 7. "Choralliers"; 8. "Halls of Ivy"; 9. "Dr. Paul"; 10. New York Philharmonic; 11. "Symphonettes"; 12. NBC Symphony; 13. "The Whistler"; 14. "Against the Storm."

To each his own.

Mrs. E. Suchman, 952 S. Gramercy Place, Los Angeles 19, Calif.

I believe the radio and television industry could do a better job in public relations to listeners and viewers th some sort of a system that would enable the listeners to give expression to their gripes, suggestions and constructive criticism. It would make for more goodwill and all would benefit thereby including the sponsors who are of the bills. There is a sort of a "public be damned" attitude that the executives inflict on the listening audience. Speaking from personal experience I have tried to contact those with authority in these important mediums in influence to protest certain suggestive remarks, scanty tire and what is especially offensive to loyal Americans is to see left-wingers who are listed in the official as being identified with un-American organizations being enriched and glorified on radio and screen. They could not be permitted to louse up our air until they have disavowed their former connections. Radio and television stations should check state and federal agencies to be sure that those who are models of loyalty and a sense of decency should be the only persons who should be connected with these powerful mediums of influence. Our boys are dying in Korea because we have not been alert in exposing the enemies on the home front. Everyone connected with these industries have a tremendous responsibility to clean house because the leftists (like the worm in the apple) are most aggressive in infiltrating in radio and television.

My husband and I are elderly folks. We are very grateful to radio and television for the many hours of entertainment etc. on tap in our home. (We do not have to dodge traffic to seek these pleasures any more.) I have a feeling that oldsters comprise most of the steady audience as it is the nature of young-bloids to be on the move, which is understandable. Youth with its energy and adventure naturally satisfies its desire to be on the go. I believe the radio and television industries should have a sense in mind by catering more to what we oldsters like. I believe you should have a contest of letters from the radio audience which might act as a poll. With this you could be given a half hour free time on television to conduct this program. The television would be benefited so and the public's voice would be heard.

... Hope you won't think I am an old grouch. Anyway, got it off my chest. . . I admire your courage in giving criticism when the occasion comes up. It's time magazines like yours assert themselves and tell the New York slickers to stop treating us like yokels.

C. Morgan, Manager-Producer, "Queen for a Day," 6233 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, Calif.

I read the article in TV-Radio Life written by Mrs. Smith, registering protest barring a person from trying to be on "Queen for a Day" more than once. We certainly understand Mrs. Smith's reasoning and would like to be plain ours.

Everyone can't be Queen, be on the stage nor be a candidate for Queen. We try to do what is fairest and as many persons participate as possible.

Each day when Jack Bailey tells the audience of our le, there is voluntary applause which to us indicates that the majority of people feel the same way.

Thank you, Mr. Morgan. It is just this type of immediate response which makes for better co-ordination between the listeners and producers, and which we would like to see more often.

On the Ball

with Bob Kelley

Several days ago, I was talking to one of the assistant coaches at USC. He was plenty burned up about the hammering that sports have been taking the past few months.

"Why do all these guys take off on sports just because a few players make mistakes? Don't they realize we're having one of the great college football seasons of recent years? Why can't they bring out the good points—which far overshadow the bad ones, believe me."

As far as I'm concerned, this coach's points were well taken. Yet, recently sports have received a 41-page slap on the wrist from a judge who probably doesn't know a football from a hubbard squash. At the same time, the NCAA has called emergency meetings with an eye to eliminating the "evil" in college athletics.

One of their first proposals was to wipe out the Bowl games. How ridiculous can they get? Ninety-nine per cent of all teams never appear in one of the post-season classics.

To get down to facts, what brought about all of this criticism? Was it the athletes themselves?

Well, first there was the unfortunate basketball scandal, centered chiefly in the New York area. Was that the fault of football?

Then, some ninety cadets were hoisted out of West Point for cribbing in exams. That was the fault of the Army, not football.

And finally there was the overemphasized case of Johnny Bright, the Drake backfield star who had his jaw broken by an overeager Oklahoman who was certainly out of line. Yet, this wasn't the first—or the last—time that slugging has taken place in sports. So why should the entire game be blamed for the actions of one man?

Of course the NCAA's proposal to ban the Bowl games is the biggest laugh of all. I doubt whether the member colleges will take their motion very seriously.

During the war, the football players of the nation were some of the greatest leaders. Not only men out of the Army and Naval academies, but kids from the other colleges too. And the list of business successes from the ranks of collegiate footballers is much too long even to begin.

You can have your Carnegie Anthropology winners, I'll take the kid who wins the Heisman Award for athletics. And I'll come out as well as you—and probably better.

Tune Kelley Monday through Saturday, KMPC. 6:15 p.m.

and Lucille now spends as many of her hours as possible with their five-month-old daughter, Lucie Desiree. But TV enables Desi and Lucy to stay put in Hollywood and TV also enables them to crystallize their dream of working together. When they took the television plunge, Desi had to forget about an elephant-hunting trip in Africa and plans to take Lucille on a European junket. Lucille is devoting her talents to TV, while movie scripts especially tailored for her pile up at the studios. It seems that with these strict rehearsals and live audience shows, the "I Love Lucy" cast hopes to disprove the classic remark regarding "live" television . . . "Don't worry, honey, nothing will be all right."

What About Color?

According to the business arrangement, Desi is president and Lucille is vice-president, although Lucille will tell you modestly that "Desi put the whole idea together. I didn't have anything to do with it. I was home having a baby." During rehearsals if things get tough for Desi or Lucille under the demanding direction of Marc Daniels or Jess Oppenheimer, the Arnazes jokingly threaten to switch roles from actor and actress to president and vice-president.

What about color TV for "I Love Lucy"? Desi said, "Color will mean nothing more than changing cameras for us. With Lucille, all the color is there."

We agree. She has a lovely skin, beautiful hair and the bluest eyes in the world.

WITH SOUND FILMS substituting for records, Gene Norman, one of radio's most popular disc jockeys, had no trouble making a name for himself in television.

without fame or fortune. Gene used to take him out to lunch because the singer was broke. Norman said, "Those were the days before he became a young man's Jolson."

Musical Trends

One thing that keeps a disc jockey like Norman in an enviable spot on the two mediums is having a finger on the twist and twirl of musical trends throughout the country. Norman believes that today's musical tastes "for the good old tunes of yesterday . . . and for the tricky novelty tunes reflect the insecurity of our times and the urgent quest for escapism." He believes that the jazz picture is completely confused at this time by the internal cults, such as Dixie and bebop fans, who do not accept each other on an equal basis.

Does TV Hurt Disc Jockeys?

*Gene Norman, Radio-TV Platter Man,
Was Quick to Answer That Question*

By Sara Hannah

GENE NORMAN, a young man who has given uncountable platters that initial push on the turntable, knows from being in both radio and television that the disc jockey will stand firm in the foundation of both mediums. From his camera position on KNBH's five-day-a-week night spot, he said, "TV disc jockeys will have a lot to offer viewers if they take easily to the use of musical film (such as the Snader Telecriptions used on his telecasts, no doubt) and if they have a wealth of ad-lib musical knowledge at their beck and call when they step before camera." He is the first one to add: "The television platter spinner can't be in business with merely a voice and a handful of records." As for radio and its disc jockeys, Gene continues, "Radio is not on its way out, as some might think. It will go on and on, and so will its disc jockeys."

Gene's actual work during his Snader telecasts is to introduce by anecdote or back-stage bit the artists who appear a few minutes later on film. For instance, before Nat Cole shows up singing "Remember," Gene has set the stage for Nat's appearance by recounting the time the eminent Mr. Cole got his knuckles rapped for playing jazz piano when he should have been rehearsing hymns for his church. He literally personalizes the artists on film parade for the viewer's pleasure.

His Record

Proof that Norman speaks as a man who is tops in his chosen profession is found in the many honors which have been bestowed upon him. He has been named number-one disc jockey in a Campus Magazine poll taken in colleges in eleven Western states, and number one in the annual poll conducted by Bandleader, the national music magazine; he was elected president of the Los Angeles Disc Jockey Association in 1946 and has held this post each year since that time; and for the past three years he has been among the top four DJ's in Billboard's national poll. His distinctive voice has also led to narration assignments in many movies such as "The Jolson Story," "Mr. 880," and "Half Angel."

Many memories of the people who are behind the records he has put on the turntable are interwoven into Norman's disc-jockeying days. He recalls Frankie Laine as a newcomer

When asked if he liked Western music, Norman said flatly, "No." According to him, Badlands-inspired tunes are not popular in any particular section of the country. "Thirty miles outside of every metropolitan area there's nothing but Western music." Personally, he finds square-dance-type songs "monotonous, repetitious and childish" except for the rare numbers like "Tennessee Waltz" and "Red River Valley." He likes folk music and said of it, "I think it's magnificent and expresses the true art of a country." Norman would not be pinned down to naming his favorite record or type of music, for he claims, "There are thousands of records I really like . . . it's too hard to pick a favorite."

Perhaps the greatest proof that the disc jockey is not on his way out—and especially one Gene Norman—is the fact that his great number of loyal fans have followed him from radio to video. . . . Gene is one living example of his statement that "the disc jockey will be the last thing to be hurt by TV."

The Doctor Has a New Prescription

Jean Hersholt Considers Fairy Tales for Television

JEAN HERSHOLT, whose name is synonymous with CBS's "Dr. Christian," reads many more fairy tales than he does medical books or journals. This off-mike occupation with Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tales has led through the years to his translation and publication into English of all the 168 original Danish tales as written by the great Danish story teller. It has also resulted in his owning perhaps the most complete collection of original and special editions of Hans Christian Andersen's works in existence, and his formal bequeathing of these original manuscripts to the

Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

Fairy Tales on TV

There has been little opportunity for Andersen's make-believe existence to creep into Jean Hersholt's "Dr. Christian" radio role (Wednesday, 8:30 p.m., KNX) otherwise than in the similarity between unfolding a real-life episode and a make-believe story. With the coming of TV, Jean Hersholt is looking forward not only to putting "Dr. Christian" on the video screen, but also to giving youngsters who gather around the TV set a chance to get acquainted with enchanting fairy tales. He believes that they form some of the fondest memories of childhood.

He has some definite ideas about how the TV version of "Dr. Christian" and the fairy tales should be handled. It would never do to force Jean Hersholt to make a decision as to which he would prefer doing on TV, "Dr. Christian" or Andersen's fairy tales, because both have been very close to him for many years and he would never be able to choose between them. He would like to see fairy tales done on film, with a blending of both the dramatization and the narration of the stories.

About the possibility of televising fairy tales, Hersholt said, "I hope it can be done, although it would be an expensive operation. I think it will come soon." Would he like to do a TV show based on telling fairy tales? "Definitely," he said, "I would be interested in doing it." He commented further, "I know the Russians think fairy tales are terrible, but let's compare it with Santa Claus. We never suffered from believing in Santa Claus, did we? Well, I believe that fairy tales can only do good for our children."

His Philosophy

If and when Jean Hersholt does TV, he will do it on film. Of that he is positive, because of the tremendous strain on a person who does live TV each week. When asked if delving into the secrets of Andersen's fairy tales had changed his philosophy of life, radio's "Dr. Christian" said, "Well, it's like my 'Dr. Christian' role. My life has been enriched by playing the part of a kind, understanding country doctor. Perhaps part of his philosophy has unconsciously become part of my philosophy. Who knows? It's that way with the fairy tales . . . or maybe it's that a man grows more mellow as he gets older."

Fairy tales have played an important part in Jean Hersholt's past, and it looks as if they will do the same in his future. Now that he is a grandfather, he said, "It's been a long time since I read fairy tales to my son and now I'm looking forward to reading them to my grandson . . . and to the day when he'll see them on TV."

A small portion of his valuable book collection can be seen and the camera studies of Will Rogers, Wendell Willkie, Marie Dressler, and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. ED LYON, KLAC-TV newscaster, tries hard to keep his mind on the news at hand despite the distractions of the model teleprompter.

Invented:

The

"Model" Teleprompter

All Video Performers! If Your Mind Goes Blank, Relax! KLAC-TV's Engineers Come to Your Rescue With Their Telecue "Model" Invention

KLAC-TV's CHIEF engineer, Bob Conner, has invented a teleprompter to end all teleprompters. It is especially designed to aid the newscaster and make him appear to be casually discussing the news instead of reading it. This new invention makes all other tele-aids completely obsolete.

Conner claims to have perfected this demonstration "model" after months of secretly checking figures and face values. The end result is the work of the entire KLAC-TV engineering staff, which after comparing and compiling figures finally worked out the vital statistics for this "model," and of KLAC-TV newscaster Ed Lyon, who volunteered his services as the human guinea pig.

Close observation of the "model" and newscaster over a period of three months revealed the newscaster has never been caught devoid of facial expression while working with the "model." Common flaw in other inventions, such as the playback device and the enlarged ticker tape, is their tendency to give the announcer a completely blank expression as he utters words being whispered in his ear or, in the case of the ticker tape, a quizzical look resulting from peering at the tape from a distance of five or so feet.

However, KLAC-TV engineers have though rather reluctantly, admitted their demonstration "model" also contains a flaw. Conner, speaking for the group, said, "It has come to our attention, following the three months of close scrutiny of the 'model' at work, that the newscaster can read only cheerful news reports." "We have as yet not been able to find a way to remove from the announcer's face that gleeful look and from his voice that joyous intonation which results from working with the 'model.'" Conner continued, pointing out that he and his staff will remain on the job twenty-four hours a day if necessary to solve this vexing problem. Meanwhile Ed Lyon is offering all the assistance he can, realizing full well that a newscaster cannot go through life accounting for only the brighter side of the news.

In case you are curious about how this new development aids the newscaster in presenting his news telecasts, Ed Lyon explains the invention thus: "Upon considering this invention when brought to me by Bob Conner," said Ed, "I discarded the idea as mere folly. Knowing that I was having a great deal of trouble in refraining from referring to notes while doing my telecasts, Bob persisted and asked that I at least give this engineering achievement a test. Finally I agreed to give this latest development a whirl if he'd bring it into the office and allow me to look it over. Needless to say, once I saw the demonstration 'model' I knew Bob and his staff had developed something and I volunteered my services immediately."

"The first night," Ed admitted, "I had an awful lot of trouble. I couldn't keep my eyes on my notes and I didn't know the news well enough to read it off. However, I knew I had the situation licked. I was looking directly toward the camera, upon which was placed Bob's model, and I couldn't tear myself away. At my next newscast, I knew I'd know the news by heart. Nothing could deter me from looking directly at that camera."
