HERE THEY GO, Pat," shouted Roy Rogers, "let's get 'em!" With that Roy and his comic side-kick, Pat Brady, rose to their feet and broke after five fleeing desperados. Roy ran a short distance, stopped and fired seven fast shots at the fleeing outlaws.

Did you catch the error in the preceding bit of dramatic Western action? Well, if you didn't hundreds of Roy Rogers's fans, all across the country, did. "Heck," a little fan might remark, "anyone knows you can't get SEVEN shots out of a six-gun . . . without reloading, that is."

Just such small technical slips as this set off hundreds of letters by the small fry asking their favorite NBC Western star, Roy Rogers, to get on the ball. And Roy is constantly checking with the writers, directors and technical assistants on both his radio and TV shows to be sure such slips don't occur. In one instance his lovely wife and co-star, Dale Evans, was supposed to tell the difference between a stock pony and a thoroughbred horse by saying, "Roy, look at the markings on that horse's forehead. He sure don't look like a quarter horse to me." Roy immediately suggested a correction.

"That's got to be changed. The only way to tell the difference is by the over-all conformation of the horse. A quarter horse or stock pony is especially trained to run at top speed for a quarter of a mile and also to turn on a dime. He makes a great cow pony but he can't last at the longer racing distances. He's usually smaller and has a narrower rib span than the more powerful thoroughbred. That'd be the only way you could really tell the difference from a distance."

Cowboy on the Defensive

Now you might well say here, so what? After all, it's only a show. But if you want to keep faith with the youngsters and save yourself a barrage of letters you'd better make sure that what you're doing is right. And Roy and his entire production crews do just that. But sometimes slips do occur. Take for instance a letter from a little nine-year-old from Waco, Texas.

"I live on a ranch and I watch your show all of the time. How come when the stage comes running into town after a long ride, the horses don't ever sweat? I know horses sweat if you run 'em hard. . . ." Well?

But for the most part, the slips are caught before they happen. Roy pays attention to even the most minute detail. And not only does Roy have to be sure of the content of his radio and TV shows, but he must actually portray his part in everyday life to the hilt. During a recent party which Roy attended in Hollywood, he came without his guns strapped to his side. Immediately a small fry approached and tapped him on the hip:

"How come you're not wearing your guns?"

Roy countered with, "Well, this is a friendly gathering and I didn't think I'd have to shoot anybody. Besides, you got on your cowboy hat but where are your guns?"

The little shaver, not more than eight, came back with, "Well, I didn't figure on shooting anybody either."

Some youngsters have become almost technical experts where Western films are concerned, and Roy respects their judgment. Whenever his attention is called to any detail, however small, it becomes a thing to watch for in the future. However, there are some things which cannot be corrected, for propriety's sake, if nothing else. This was brought home when a bunch of eight- and nine-year-olds came as a group to lodge a complaint to the daughter of the show's producer, Jack Lacy.

"Look! Every week we watch your dad's Roy Rogers show. Now how come, when they spend a whole day in Mineral City with hundreds of horses going around the streets all the time, there's no horse manure? Don't they feed those horses?"

Some of Your Favorite TV and Radio Stars Have Commercial Enterprises That Pay Off

IF YOU GLANCE through the roster of TV and radio personalities, you're apt to find scores of them with business investments that pay off. The extensive Bing Crosby enterprises, which we hope to describe at a later date, are a story in themselves. However, here we have picked at random five personalities who have invested their "mike" earnings in various enterprises. Whether it's intentional or purely co-incidental we can not say, but usually these investments are not in any way related to the entertainment business.

Lawrence Welk, KTLA Star

Before Lawrence Welk settled down to become a TV star, he braved one-night stands and suffered gastronomic insults by the food he found along our highways. Duncan Hines would have run a mile from some of the eating establishments Welk and other touring bands have had to stomach.

Deciding that he and his confreres in the music world deserved something better than highly seasoned hash and rank coffee, he opened the Lawrence Welk Diner in Mason City, Iowa, at the intersection of U. S. Highways 65 and 18.

The specialty of the house is the Squeezeburger, served on a rhythm roll (accordion-shaped) with piccolo pickles, fiddlestrig fries and vibrant vegetables. The glorified hamburger became a Squeezeburger when Welk concocted a special seasoning for the ground beef. A meat packing firm in Chicago prepares and freezes the meat, then ships it to Welk's restaurant. His Mason City site is full of souvenirs and novelty items, emphasizing his champagne glass and accordion trademarks. Even the exterior of the diner is designed like an accordion.

Twenty-one eateries throughout the Midwest and East have franchises to serve Welk's specialties.

Al Pearce, CBS-TV Star

Al Pearce is in the prune business—not ordinary prunes, mind you, but fancy prunes that are pitted and processed by a special method worked out by Al.

Al got into the business when he retired from radio about nine years ago and settled down on a ranch and plum orchard at Marysville, California. He began processing and pitting some of his own plums, and found such a ready acceptance that he bought up the output of neighboring ranchers.

Now Al has his own plant at Sunnyvale and is opening one in Glendale. He doesn't grow 'em any more, but buys the best Double Grade A plums he can find. As for sales, he can't turn out enough product to meet the demand, but hopes to increase production next year.

Although he has a manager, he is most active in the business, ranging from buying of plums to continued experimentation with pitting machines and new processing, selection of material for packing and wrapping, and sales to wholesalers and retailers.

"Anybody," says he, "who talks to me about retiring again is talking to the wrong man."

SEE THE ROSE PARADE IN COLOR

Since we first started advertising in this magazine, thousands of people have purchased Great Western's TV-Color Filter. Many of those people have re-ordered and sent this filter to friends and relatives. To those of you who have not purchased a filter, this is what it is: Made on Eastman Kodapak film, this 3-color filter is easily attached to your TV set by means of scotch tape, and can be just as easily removed. This TV color filter gives the ILLUSION of color (green, yellow and blue) and is a temporary answer to the Government's ban on the manufacture of TV color sets. Great Western's TV color filter will do this for you: reduce "snow" and "ghosts"; make the picture clearer, improve "fringe area" reception; eliminate glare and eyestrain. Send check or money order for $2.00 in an envelope addressed to: Great Western, Dept. R c/o TV-Radio Life, 6361 Selma Ave., Hollywood 28, Calif. We'll put your filter in the mail within 48 hours. Please allow one week for delivery. Specify screen size with order—sizes 8" to 21". Send your order today. Sold on money-back guarantee.

THESE ARE THE MEN who provide music, sports, and news for KLAC listeners. And below is the story about the M-S-N formula being used successfully by local independent stations.

Gene Norman

Will This Formula Solve Radio's Problems?

Music-Sports-News

By Ted Hilgenstuhler

NOT ONLY is it an over-used metaphor, but it is an absurdity to say that "radio is dead." Five minutes in the typical American home, or in the average American automobile, or at your favorite beach or picnic ground, will prove to anyone that radio still is, and always will be, a powerful factor in the American system of communications.

A recent independent survey by TV-Radio Life, plus many hundreds of individual letters and phone calls, have convinced us that people not only listen to their radios constantly, but they want to know more and more about various radio personalities. Because of this, TV-Radio Life will continue to be just that—a TV and radio magazine.

There are certain irrefutable facts to be considered, however. The impact of TV has not necessarily killed radio; but it has changed radio. Because of TV, radio stations have found and must continue to find new formulas for success.

The Big Three

The latest trend, as one can tell by tuning to several local outlets, has materialized in a stress upon three main categories: Music, Sports, and News. The thinking on the part of radio program directors seems to be that people not only want to hear more of these Big Three, but they can enjoy and absorb them just as easily by listening as by watching and listening.

In the local area, independent station KLAC offers an excellent example of how the M-S-N formula has been applied.

First of all, the Fedderson-managed frequency featured and promoted five outstanding disc jockeys: Alex Cooper, Dick Haynes, Peter Potter, Bob McLaughlin, and Gene Norman. Known as the Big Five, they can be heard all day long on KLAC, seven times a week, spinning your favorite tunes and pushing (for a profit) your favorite products.

Sportswise, Director of Sports Sam Balter airs hourly flashes, has three of his own commentary programs, and does an occasional special athletic event. Congenial baritoned Balter, through his many years of Pacific Coast coverage, long ago established himself as one of the most competent, capable, and conscientious sportscasters in the entire country.

News broadcasts, handled by Ed Lyon, Marx Hartman, Hal Goodwin, and Sam Benson, are provided every hour on the hour, and whenever special bulletins are deemed necessary.

The KLAC crew emphasize Music,

Sports, and News. No big names. No big shows. No dramas. No murders. No comedies. What have been the results?

Poll Proof

The Radio Hooper Ratings for the past few months, as published by C. E. Hooper Inc., show conclusively that KLAC has higher over-all ratings than any other independent station in Southern California. In many cases, it also has higher ratings than the big-budgeted network outlets.

Other local stations, with variations, are employing the same formula.

This Music-Sports-News formula (with, we hope, a greater emphasis on special news events) may or may not be the solution for the successful operation of small, independent stations for many years to come. At any rate, it's being used now—and it's working!

What about the major networks? Will they be content with what they have? Will they, too, have to rely eventually on the M-S-N formula? Or will they have to go out and get new names and new ideas in order to retain their supremacy of the airwaves?

Keep listening. It'll be interesting to hear what happens.

Close-Ups on KNBH

▲ EACH DAY JACK interviews people from different states, allowing each to play up the old home stand. This visitor is undoubtedly telling the audience how much better things are in Texas!

You'll See More on Channel 4

▼ ROBERT CUMMINGS is established as a bungling, ineffectual real-estate salesman on NBC-TV's "My Hero," seen locally on KNBH. Julie Bishop, as "Miss Marshall," his girlfriend-secretary, urges him ever on.

▼ IN ONE EPISODE, the "Hero's" boss is so furious he threatens to feed "Robert S. Beanblossom," boy bungler, to the ants. Cummings's imagination shows him how this is done. Sand burial is the best way.

▼ JOHN LITEL, in grass skirt, as "Beanblossom" imagines him in a horrid dream. On the show Litel is the constantly infuriated boss. Cummings has dreams of his wrath often, and with good reason, during the series.

This Week in TV

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Around TV Row

... The "Foreign Intrigue" series starring Jerome Thor in exciting battles of wits and fists in foreign countries, which you are now watching, is a brand-new run of film just made and shipped to these shores and KNBH's Channel 4. No reruns. That "Miss Easy Vision" you saw crowned on Gene Norman's interesting KHJ-TV show last week came to America five years ago as a Polish DP. She is now only eighteen, and a perfect 36. ... It was a chance meeting in the Brown Derby which put Mary McAadoo, long known to local viewers, before the cameras for all the General Foods commercials on "Our Miss Brooks." A New York big shot, on the prowl for a personable spieler, saw the animated Mary yakking it up with friends over a spot of tea and invited her to audition. Results are seen Saturday nights coast-to-coast. ... The rumor is around again about Benny, Jack, that is, next season, blowing radio entirely in favor of oftener TV shows. We'll buy this.

That birth on TV which you didn't see was set up to Tuesday, December 23, Channel 4. (You saw instead the "March of Medicine" on adult illnesses such as heart disease and cancer. ... Colonel Tim McCoy, KNXT's authority on military and Indian lore, comes into his own sports-wise Saturday, December 13, when he will perform the duties of Grand Marshal for the Junior Rose Bowl Game between Bacone Junior College and Hartnell Junior College, Salinas.

Piggy Bank Parade

This week you will be seeing short films on your TV sets, during which some of our top stars will make a plea for donations. Please don't groan: "What, again!"

This time it will be for funds as a Christmas gift for the Children's Hospital, and it is called the Piggy Bank Parade.

All donors who send in a dollar or more will be sent a piggy bank. All change (and bills) saved in this bank during the year will also be used for next year's Christmas contribution.

The Children's Hospital really needs your help, desperately. So make it a Merry Christmas for the kids—as well as yourself—by sending your donation to Piggy Bank Parade, Children's Hospital, Los Angeles 51.

On Our Cover

The excellent and eye-catching photo of Roberta Linn on this week's cover of TV-Radio Life was taken by Bill Hall. It is just one of many fine photos that Bill has taken for our magazine.

Stop, Listen, Look (Shows You May Like)

"Mr. and Mrs. North"

Friday, 9:30 p.m.
CBS-TV, KNXT, Channel 2

Mystery-comedy is the format, Richard Denning and Barbara Britton are the principals, and thereby a star is born. The "star," Barbara Britton, takes the show away from everyone else in the series—a fact we would have bet against at any odds, before seeing it. Miss Britton had always seemed to us a little too sweet to get a red-hot hold on comedy.

"Pam and Jerry North" in the first chapter visited in the country, found a body, skulked about a scary basement, apprehended the murderer, and exchanged much well-written dialogue. And for an old mystery reader to be satisfied with a celluloid it has to be pretty good. Richard Denning plays a handsome "Jerry," and he may in time be given the same shake, scriptwise, that Barbara gets. Till then, it is "Mrs. N." all the way. Francis DeSales plays a perfect "Police Lt. Weigand" to the bungling twosome who will weekly bring home the crooked bacon.—J.P.

Now Appearing on "Tex Williams Show" Every Sunday 3:00 to 4:00 p.m.—KNBH, Channel 4

Headlines on Parade

Tuesday, 8:45 p.m.
KTLA, Channel 5

The new Channel 5 headline game incorporates an at-home game with a review of some of history's most interesting capturing's by film. The fifteen-minute feature ties such events as Mussolini at the height of his power; Senator Kefauver questioning witnesses; Lindbergh's take-off for Paris; Tokyo Rose's capture; San Francisco before her big 1906 quake; the first trip of the ill-fated Hindenburg; and dozens of other top world events on film. Then the viewer at home is quizzed about these events . . . when they happened, the name of the key figure pictured, or about pertinent percentages.

The brief show is not only a fine way to refresh your memory about events with which we should all be familiar, it's a fine way to startle your friends with right answers. Or completely imbecilic wrong guesses.

Our only complaint about the show lies in its brevity.—J.P.

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

Abbott and Costello

Tuesday, 7:30 p.m.
KTTV, Channel 11

The station press release types this weekly feature as a "comedy series." An understatement, we feel. The show is nothing but comedy! No special plot, no explanation of the antics that do go on, and no reason to half the hits in the head, breaking chairs, wandering simians and extraneous characters who bob up to play punching bag with Costello. Yet the audience laughter on the sound track almost drowns out the humor (this is humor?) uttered by the principals.

This is the very sort of thing that has queued lines blocks long wherever and whenever the names Abbott and Costello go up on a marquee. The duo's fans, all million upon million of them, should be delirious with joy at the stand-up, fall-down, slap-in-the-mouth stuff we watched with real wonderment for a full half hour.—J.P.

We Point With Pride

... To the San Francisco coverage of the Rams-'49ers game KECA-TV carried on Sunday, November 30. The viewer was practically on the field most of the time, and we hope everyone who sat on the seventy-second row the week before (like we did) got a chance to see this second tilt between the old rivals. . . . To Johnny Carson's brand of humor. He parades it Sunday nights on Channel 2 under the title "Carson's Cellar." That appellation put us in mind of a Lugosi series, and we skipped it until a kindly friend insisted upon watching. It's good comedy, and if Carson's clean good looks don't mitigate his comedic appeal, in this day when the Ritz Brothers and Abbott and Costello are big stuff, he should wind up a top TV name.

announced that the show was being prepared for TV.

The President suggested to creators Gosden and Correll that they look for an actor in the drama department of Texas State University for Negroes. They looked, but found no one suitable.

General Eisenhower, while playing golf with Gosden one day, suddenly remembered a Negro GI who had been on his staff in Europe, and who might fit the "Kingfish" role. Through Army records the man was located and auditioned, but failed to make the grade.

Of course the man finally chosen after one of show business's greatest manhunts was Tim Moore.

Expensive Rat Race

One day as a guest-with-a-specialty feature, Jack McElroy had on his KNBH afternooner a young lady with a tiny chin-chilla. Tiny or not, the animals range in price from $1,000 to $2,500. Hers was in the $1,800 class. A little beauty.

Jack McElroy

The wee, furry one was safely locked in his cage, pending an appearance, and Jack escorted the early-arriving guest about the studio, to the Coke machine and on other stages. A behind-scenes tour.

Near camera time the duo returned to Jack's set. From behind stage they heard a terrible banging and clamor. Rushing back, they found a prop man, armed with a broom, swatting at curtains and hopping madly about. "There's a huge rat loose here . . . look out!" was his shouted admonition.

The guest knew immediately what had happened. Her expensive pet, whose resemblance to a rat lies in the fact that it is small, gray and can scoot, had liberated itself and fled, past eyes, toward a corner.

The hunt was stopped, the frightened bit of luxury fur found and comforted, and the show went on.

Only Jack stayed pale beneath his make-up. Insurance was on his mind.

This week's column starts here . . .
 "Stand-In." (5) Dec. 14, 7:30. A stand-in is a person resembling a movie star in general physical characteristics, and whose job it is to take the place of the star while the camera angle and lighting set-up are figured out. Playing the title role in this entertaining comedy about the financial difficulties of a major studio is an attractive young lady closely resembling a movie star named Joan Blondell. A fellow who looks quite a bit like Leslie Howard gives a very humorous performance as an efficiency expert, and I'd swear it's Humphrey Bogart who plays the part of a film director. While not the best picture by Hollywood about Hollywood, "Stand-In" does present some rather farical glimpses of the "industry" in action, and provides quite a few laughs in the process.

"They Came to a City." (5) Dec. 16, 7:30. This is a fantasy by the British author J. B. Priestly about some people who are dissatisfied with their various ways of life, and are given a chance at a new existence in a new world. They are gathered together at the entrance to a city which to some of them seems like a Utopia, and to the others like a Hell. The former enter the new city to stay and work, and the latter go back to their conventional, and unhappy, modes of life. Mr. Priestly is implying, among other things, that a Utopia, even if it existed, would be a hard thing to sell the public. It would probably take something like a good audience-participation show to make it go.

"Wings of the Morning." (9) Dec. 13, 7:00. This is all about a great horse named "Wings," a great young horse trainer named Henry Fonda, and a great little girl named Annabella. The action covers a hundred years or so and winds up with the horse having a go at the Grand National. Of interest to music lovers is the brief appearance of the late tenor, John McCormack, who obliges with a few songs.

"Dear Murderer." (5) Dec. 19, 10:00. Eric Portman suspects his wife, Greta Gynt, of trifling with another man, Dennis Price. He removes Mr. Price by thrusting his tousled head into a bag filled with gas, and then discovers he has made an 'orrible mistake. So, he pins the murder on his wife's real lover and sits back to await results. Greta wraps things up by serving him a glass of poisoned milk, but I won't tell you whether he drinks it. Recommended for kiddies.

"Tex Rides With the Boy Scouts." (7) Dec. 16, 11:45. This must be a hoax of some kind.

Lifelines

BY EVELYN BIGSBY

THE PRESENT MRS. SKELTON would probably be unhappy to know one of the first questions asked when news broke of Red's moving out of their home. It was, "Do you think Red and Edna will go back together again?" The fans seem to admire Red's first wife, who did so much to boost him to the top of the ladder. I believe I was one of the first persons to interview Red and Edna Skelton when they came to Hollywood in 1941, and they gave me an interview that rocked with tear-jerkers and hilarious incidents. They had gone through a lot of rough times, but always saw a funny side, even to being broke. One time they sported a big Packard for which they couldn't afford a garage, so they parked it in front of their hotel in New York. It finally was plastered with tickets. Red used to hide behind the hotel window as the police tried to figure out whose car it was, and when the Skeltons were down to their last cent, rather than straighten up the traffic tickets they practically gave the car away.

MAKING THE ROUNDS, THEY WERE kicked out of one agency after another, one of their neatest boots in the derriere occurring when an agency man said, "If you go through that door, Mr. So-and-So is waiting to see you." Red and his wife rushed through the door and found themselves in front of the elevator!

I'M REMINDED OF MANY OTHER ANECDOTES that there isn't room to relate, but the reason I mention any is that I feel that entirely apart from any marital association with Red, Edna was tops as his manager and career-counselor. It's my opinion, expressed here before, that one of the reasons he is having woes with his TV show is that Edna has been out of the management picture ever since she was hospitalized a couple of years ago. I don't know the final outcome to Red and Georgia Skelton, and though talk is that they've had it, I hope the marriage holds for the kids' sakes. But I do wish Edna Skelton and Red would get back together on his career.

MAYBE IT'S WISHFUL THINKING, but was Robert Cummings' show last week better? Seemed so. Ever since Lucy and Desi blazed a new trail, the gold rush for "unbelievable" comedy has been on. Some of the aspirants show promise or have clicked, but others miss the boat. I have a funny theory about Lucy and Desi and that is that they caught on bigger and better because, besides being charming persons and performers, they are married—to each other, that is—and this fact makes some of their situations more believable. Same as George and Gracie have always gotten away with crazy stuff that others couldn't carry off.

WOULDN'T YOU KNOW IT WOULD HAPPEN? The very week after TV-Radio Life's editorial columns lambasted bad English on the air, the magazine let an ad slip through which read: "Gifts for Men That Women Use." (!!!!)

Some soul virtuously writing in to point out the error said the line should have read: "An Ideal Man's Gift That Women Use."

Sorry, lady, but how do you know he is an "ideal man"?

After battling the idea around awhile, guess it should read, "A Man's Ideal Gift That Women Use." Or have you any versions?

THIS REMINDED ME OF THE DELICIOUS boner when I was writing society for the Compton News-Tribune. Some guy in the composing room pulled out a line to be corrected and inserted another line (wrong, natch) which announced a gal's engagement to three different men. Besides the bride-to-be dressing us down, the item was picked up by The New Yorker. It was run (and where else but?) in the Department of Utter Confusion.

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Radio Ramblings

Irene Tedrow, who portrays the motherly Mrs. Archer in the "Meet Corliss Archer" series, is slated to appear as a femme fatale on some forthcoming Dagnet stanzas. . . .

Arlene Francis

Ralph Story's definition of a bald mink is "a suede coat that's shed its fur. . . . Larry Finley, KFWB d. j., takes his show over to Korea in January. His unit includes Herb Jeffries, June Christy, Champ Butler, The Top Notchers, Dottie O'Brien and Georgie Auld. . . . Pretty Arlene Francis, radio femme and frequent lecture platform speaker, addressed the American Brotherhood's Silver Jubilee dinner in Chicago. . . . Happy days are ahead now that Dave Garroway has returned to his old format. . . . Galen Drake's choice quote of the week: "Silence is one of the most beautiful, impressive, inspiring things known to man. Don't break it unless you can improve on it."

Bob Hope Show

Bob Hope isn't new to radio, but he is to an across-the-board daytime stanza. With the able assistance of Bill Goodwin, the effervescent announcer, Bob sells six delicious Jello flavors Monday through Friday.

The show fluctuates with whomever his visiting personality might be. As editor Hope, Bob interviews his guest of the week in five segments. This past week Academy Award winner Ann Baxter was his visiting lady editor. The laughs were long and hard when Ann demonstrated, with Bob, the Stanislavski method of emoting.

Bob Hope

Although Bob's fem editors fall into the category of beautiful belles such as Zsa Zsa Gabor and Arlene Dahl, it takes more than beauty to quip successfully with the comedian in the ether medium. The week Zsa Zsa was Bob's guest the show would have fallen flat on its face had it not been for Bob's voracious growls.

Other ingredients in the stanza include letters from listeners with an anecdote illustrating that truth is funnier than fiction. Bob also manages to work in what might be described as his "thought-for-today message."

There are times when the lead-in commercials become highly preposterous. But if you like Hope and his brand of comedy there is enough of it spotted throughout the week's scripting to make for pleasant listening.—M.R.

Change of Scene

The ever-changing radio picture has set-siders twisting their radio dials in bewilderment. The programming upheaval has continued until a sure thing on radio no longer exists. Some of the old faithfuls are feeling the sponsor's fatal ax, others are switching networks as quick as a wink, while still others are bowing to the TV villain. It's rumored that revised rates influenced some of this activity and also that TV-minded sponsors decided it was time for a change.

The Beulah and Jack Smith-Dinah Shore shows are slated to go while the Lone Ranger and Silver Eagle series are swapping their ABC address for one at CBS. Martin Kane leaves NBC airplanes in favor of its video version and CBS's Horatio Hornblower series is being dropped for lack of a backer.

Jack Owens Cries

There is apt to be plenty of pathos on the new Jack Owens Show (KECA 11:30 a.m.), especially since Jack has inaugurated a new feature he calls the "Adopted Mother" of the day.

Jack Owens

Every day he selects a motherly-type woman from the studio audience, invites her to sit in a rocking chair on stage and, after interviewing the woman, gives her a gift.

The other day he chose Mrs. Cora Terwilliger, 66, of Humboldt, Iowa, who was in town visiting her grandson. She told Jack that she does washings for a living and has lived in the same house since the day she was married 49 years ago.

Jack presented her with a wrist watch and Mrs. Terwilliger was so overcome with emotion that she broke down and cried. This moved Jack to copious tears and when he looked over at Harfield Weeden, the show's producer, he, too, was crying!

The woman said it was the first time in her life she has owned a watch.

the vast field of commercial tie-ups by a carefully planned licensing schedule, leasing the use of his name to Western-type products deemed by his own organization to be of good quality. Today, more than seventy-eight manufacturers make a total of over 135 articles bearing his name and Dale Evans's name, and ranging from binoculars to boots.

Some of the most unusual items are: a carrying case for school books, lamps, bedroom furniture, clocks, watches, footballs and basketballs. Four of the original six manufacturers who approached Roy back in 1944 are still with him.

Hans Conried

No less an authority than John Barrymore once called Hans Conried "one of the most versatile actors I've ever seen." That was back in 1937 when Conried was relatively a beginner in radio and was appearing with the great Barrymore in a Shakespearean air series.

In the years that have followed, Conried has continued to prove his astounding versatility in a wide variety of microphone assignments on Hollywood's top broadcasts. CBS-Radio Network listeners hear him regularly as Professor Kropotkin of the "My Friend Irma" show, as Schultz on the "Life With Luigi" program, and in an assortment of roles on the "Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy Show."

Six-foot-two Conried was born in Baltimore, Maryland, on April 15, 1917. He attended Columbia University, where he played with the Columbia Laboratory Players in a wide variety of Shakespearean roles. During this period, he picked up a strong English accent. He has also done considerable work in motion pictures and television.

Conried, his wife Margaret, and their infant daughter, Tribby, live in the Hollywood Knolls overlooking Lake Hollywood. Interested in Japanese culture, Hans's chief hobby is collecting Japanese sword ornaments.

Andy Mansfield Gets His Santa Claus

When Andy Mansfield, KFI record spinner, asked his listeners for a record dating back to circa 1925 the response was overwhelming. Mrs. O. E. Kelly of San Bernardino sent her disc of "Santa Claus Hides in the Phonograph" to Andy via the Santa Fe's crack train, the Super Chief. Mr. Kelly it seems is an engineer on the Chief. Mansfield had a twofold purpose in encouraging this personal delivery. In addition to receiving the disc safe and sound, Andy had an opportunity to discuss his hobby—trains—with an honest-to-goodness live engineer. Incidentally the Santa Claus voice on the record is that of none other than Ernest Hare, father of TV actress Marilyn Hare.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

Mrs. M. Brown, 2052 Jeanette Pl., Long Beach, Calif.

I sure have missed Monty Margetts' program on Channel 4.

We have received many letters expressing the same sentiments.

Sylvia Bell, 6640 Peach Ave., Van Nuys, Calif.

I think that "I Married Joan" is a very good program for children and adults. I am eleven years old, and never miss that program.

Mrs. E. E. Goode, Los Angeles, Calif.

Why don't you list the program as Betty White's show instead of "Hollywood on Television"?

We do not have the authority to name shows. That's up to the individual stations. KLAC-TV calls it "Hollywood on Television," consequently, so do we. However, we do agree with you. It would be easier to identify the program.

Joan Davis and Jim Backus

Mrs. Dorothea Leach, 12524 E. Rush, El Monte, Calif.

How much longer do we have to wait for the Charlie Aldrich Show to return? He had a fine bunch of entertainers, also the best dance band in Western style.

Unfortunately, we have received no word as yet concerning Charlie's return to TV. We too would like to see him back.

Mrs. Joan Long, 810 1/2 Warren Ave., Venice, Calif.

Everyone writes you about the TV stars themselves. Well, I would like to give a well deserved "plug" to one of your staff, Aubrey Dahl. I look forward every week to "Pick of the Pix." Whatever happens please keep Aubrey on your staff and let the column stay as refreshing and as clever as it has been in the past.

Please—not too many of these, or else Mr. Dahl will be asking for a raise.

Alma Hawthorne, 820 N. Pickering, Whittier, Calif.

At our house we have wrestling six nights a week, and I hear we are to have it Wednesdays too. I get so tired of it I could scream, so I go to the kitchen and listen to the radio. There are many men who are crazy about ball games and boxing, so the wives must resort to radio.

Elna Mae Duffy, Whittier, Calif.

In every issue that the Spade Cooley show is talked about, how come no mention is made of the fine vocalist, Freddie "Careless" Love? Are you avoiding his name purposely, and if so why?

Freddie has a fan club that has over 4,000 active members of which I am president, and we think as do many others that "Careless" is tops. He is sincere in his work and has certainly been grand to all of us.

We can assure you most emphatically that the omission has not been intentional. It has merely been a matter of space limitations, and of requests for so many other stories about Spade and the hundreds of other TV personalities. If our schedule permits, we will do a feature on Freddie.

Ear and Eye Inspire—(Continued)

Mrs. S. Gunter, Rt. 1, Box 396, Mira Loma, Calif.

Ina Ray Hutton is wonderful, my favorite in popular music. I never miss her. June was nice too, but not over Ina . . . I too wish the women would wear clothes up above.

Ina Ray Hutton

Sharon Rawlinson, 1309 1/2 N. Fairfax Ave., Hollywood, Calif.

I gave up watching the program "Hollywood on Television" when Eddie Albert left, but recently I tuned in and watched a little girl called Cherie Lynn. She looked like a beautiful doll.

N. D. Samuels, 1222 S. Dewey Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

I've finally come to a quick decision that KTLA tops all other Southern California TV channels combined for the most commercials being sponsored on Channel 5.

Mrs. Philip Jackson, 325 1/2 W. Bay St., Costa Mesa, Calif.

It's true that quite often tactless things are said or done on both radio and TV. But as long as people are people, errors will be made; and as long as a performer sincerely tries, he should not be condemned.

Mrs. Florence K. Boehme, 1836 W. Compton Blvd., Gardena, Calif.

Why not print an article on Jack Owens and his family life?

We are preparing a special feature on Jack Owens.

Mildred Johnson, 8756 E. Ardenale, San Gabriel, Calif.

I don't agree that Myron Floren is the only decent one of the Welk show. He is indeed a fine accordionist but Lawrence Welk himself is above average on the instrument and personality plus. George Aubry is an excellent saxophonist, Bob Pilot is tops in bass viol. Roberta Linn has an engaging personality and good voice. Personally, Jerry Burke is my favorite.

Mrs. E. A. Wilson, 659 20th St., San Pedro, Calif.

I'm sure if one of your recent correspondents can read, she won't find anywhere by Lawrence Welk that contends that he is one of the world's greatest accordion players. He wouldn't feature another accordion player as fine as Myron Floren if he thought he was great himself. Please don't throw your $5,000 accordion away, Lawrence, and don't stop your pleasant smile. We love all of your band.

Dick Lane, 408 1/2 N. La Cienega, Los Angeles, Calif.

I recently received a letter from a Miss Rita Kipp, 3516 Copeland Place, Los Angeles, containing the following paragraph, which we thought you might want to include in your publication for the many, many fans of Black Guzman:

"We have received some very sad news to the effect that Black Guzman is once again dangerously ill, and after numerous blood transfusions in a Houston hospital, has been sent back to Mexico to begin the toughest fight of his life. He probably will never wrestle again. An old throat injury and a recent stomach ailment are reported to be the causes of his illness. We know it would cheer Black Guzman if his fans would write him, care of Sportatorium, 1000 South Industrial, Dallas, Texas. The mail will be forwarded to him in Mexico."

Arthur Pollyea, 1526 S. Crescent Heights Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

Just recently I saw some of Gisele MacKenzie's radio shows. Then I saw her on the "Colgate Comedy Hour." I know that many people enjoy her wonderful singing and would like to see her on TV regularly.

Gisele MacKenzie

Mrs. John Anderson, 826 First St., Redlands, Calif.

We do so miss the very lovely June on Gene Norman's afternoon show on Channel 9. Very intelligent and very jolly—and also miss her beauty. So many of my neighbors miss her too.

Martha Elkins, 2224 Valley St., Los Angeles, Calif.

One of the nicest and most popular persons on TV is Rita La Roy, who is never high-hat to anyone on her show, and always helpful.

Jane Lou Theardon, Bronson Ave., Hollywood, Calif.

How old is TV-Radio Life?

We will celebrate our thirteenth birthday in April, 1953. Unlucky? We hardly think so.

Mrs. Francis Conley, 3961 Dublin, Los Angeles, Calif.

I watch the Ina Ray Hutton show every Tuesday night and particularly enjoy the five Roguettes. However, my husband and I have been having an argument for some time now about the brunette girl in the group. I say she is the same girl, but he says she is new. In any case the voice is lovely and we would appreciate an answer to the question before we have a serious argument.

Don't throw that rolling pin, Mother. And hold on to that lamp, Poppa. Because here's your answer: You are right, Mrs. Conley. It is the same girl, and her name is Ricky Richesin. She has been featured regularly with Stewart's Roguettes for over two years.

Mrs. Walter Keene, 520 N. Atlantic Blvd., Monterey Park., Calif.

How many agree with me that Horace Heidt is acting outrageous on his Friday night show around Liz Lynch? His program is really good if he would only get hep.

MOLLY MAKE-BELIEVE

They come in all sizes, shapes and ages these days, but the latest edition is little ten-year-old "Molly Make-Believe," the youngest female DJ on the air. Each Saturday afternoon on KGFJ Molly takes the kiddies through "Make-Believe Land" with clever presentation of records for the little ones. It isn't surprising that this talented youngster should enter the entertainment world—she's the last of the family to do so. Her grandfather plays in motion pictures, her father is a local radio announcer, her mother works in radio and her two-and-a-half-year-old twin brother and sister are the youngest twins to have appeared in a movie. They made their first, "Ma and Pa Kettle Back on the Farm," at the age of forty days.

TV-Radio Life Readers to Select First TV All-American Team

Here it is, you TV fans. Here's your chance to select your TV All-American football team.

For years now you have had to read All-American lists about players you never saw or heard.

But this year you have seen them on TV.

Please remember that the only players you can pick are those which you yourself have seen on TV this season.

To our knowledge this is the first TV All-American football team ever picked by fans who have seen each and every candidate in action.

Send in your entry today to The Sports Editor, TV-Radio Life, 6361 Selma Ave., Hollywood 28, Calif.

SOLID COMFORT

Vaughn Monroe has purchased a $50,000 bus with all the comforts of home for his touring radio orchestra. The vehicle is complete with shower and built-in TV set.

ALMOST TOPPED SANTA

Last week letter openers were flying in Bill Stulla's office as his KNBH daily telecast, "Parlor Party," received 10,168 letters.

Handy Hints

By Dorothy Gardiner and Ken Graue, stars of KTLA's "Handy Hints," Monday through Friday, 6:45 p.m.

SEPARATE CAN CONTAINER . . .

Clip onto your regular kitchen waste basket a smaller container for cans only. This can be accomplished with the aid of the old standby—the wire coat hanger—hooked through the small basket and slipped over the lip of the larger basket. This eliminates the messy job of separating the cans from the rest when emptied into the incinerator.

THIS ONE IS FOR THE LADIES, those of you who have the problem of where to keep your shoes in small clothes closets. Well, if you have an old open-face bookcase, it can easily be converted into a shoe closet. First paint to match your bedroom furniture. Then bend two tubular metal curtain rods to conform with the contour of the outside dimension of the bookcase. Nail the four ends of the curtain rods in such a manner that one end of each rod meets in the top center of the front view of bookcase. Sew two drapes and hang them on rods. The drapes when closed will completely conceal the contents of the shelves.

THIS HINT IS FOR THE MAN OF THE HOUSE. When extra hinges are kept in the home workshop for future use, often the screws are mislaid. To be sure that there is a complete set of screws for each hinge when it's needed, here are two ways of storing the screws so that there is no chance of their being lost. One way is to insert the screws in the holes of the hinge leaves, close the leaves fully and slip a rubber band over them to hold together. The other way is to place the screws in holes and merely stick a strip of cellulose tape over the heads to keep them from falling out of hinge leaves.

THIS IS ANOTHER GOOD IDEA TO KEEP IN MIND. Those of you who have children know how often the gripper-type snaps seem to lose their grip. Instead of replacing them, just take a hammer and give a couple of taps to the stud half of the snap (that is, the half that fits into the hole in the other half). You'll find they will be as good as new. It helps to have the stud lying on something hard. Naturally the taps of the hammer will make the stud wider, thus it fits into the hole tighter.

San Diego DIAL DATA

By Maurine Skinner

SAN DIEGO (Special)—DECEMBER 12 IS THE BIG DAY FOR RADIO IN SAN DIEGO. As of that date KFMB becomes affiliated with the CBS Radio Network. At 550 on your dial you will be hearing such famous personalities as Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Arthur Godfrey, Amos 'n' Andy, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy plus many, many more of your favorite shows. This big switch in networks means that both KFMB radio and KFMB-TV are basic affiliates of CBS Radio and Television Networks respectively. CBS formerly had station KCBQ as an outlet.

Thousands of people viewed themselves on Channel 8 at the Electric Show which was held this past week in Balboa Park. The people's reactions were wonderful—I hope they enjoyed it as much as Channel 8's cameramen did. Some people were horrified and others were pleased and some even found features they didn't know they had. A movie of their reactions would be priceless. This was one of the biggest attractions — along with Santa Claus—at the show! At times the officials were even concerned about the concentration of people in one spot.

Monte Hall's mail count these days is tremendous . . . very suddenly Monte of Channel 8 Corral will be unable to even step over the stacks and stacks of letters. The youngsters really enjoy watching their "ol' Podner."

Both KFMB Radio and Television are sending two lucky people to see the inauguration ceremonies in Washington, D. C., this January 20. In order to earn this trip, which is open to the high-school students in all city and county schools, the kids must write an essay on "Significant Presidential Inaugurations in U. S. History." They have until January 8 to complete their essay. The winners will receive an expense-free round trip to see the ceremonies, accompanied by Capt. and Mrs. John A. Kennedy, owners of KFMB and KFMB-TV.

Here's a switch: Producer Earl Meredith was introduced to television three years ago by Jack Lueken, who now has Jack's Magic Shop. This was shortly after Earl had been discharged from the service. They worked together for a few months and then Lueken was called into the service. Now Lueken is again a civilian and is back on Channel 8 and Earl is his producer.

Some sixty teachers in the San Diego area visited Channel 8's studios to watch the inner workings of TV shows during the observance of the annual Business and Education Day.

Paul W. White, executive news editor of KFMB-TV and KFMB, addressed the National Association of Radio News Directors in Cleveland December 1.

Think Nothing of It!?!

Christmas cometh. Lo and behold, the spirit of good will hath overtaken me, and I hereby bequeath the following exclusive items to the following columnists:

Quote for Coates: KHJ informs me that if no ties ensue in either conference of the National Football League, the "World Championship Football Game" will be broadcast over the Mutual network on December 21 from either Cleveland or New York. If there's a two-way tie in either conference, the game will be December 28. If there's a three-way tie, it will be January 4. If there's a four-way tie, they're going to call the whole darn deal off and take up ping-pong.

Calling Callin: Channel 9 teevees all USC and UCLA home basketball games this year, and KLAC will try to broadcast as many as possible on radio.

Early advice for Lait readers: CBS-TV, with Red Barber mikeside, goes to Miami, Florida, on New Year's Day to cover the Orange Bowl tilt between Alabama and Syracuse. NBC-TV does likewise for the Rose Bowl game and the parade.

What's Price's price for the precious pugilistic prognostication? CBS-TV, Channel 2, informs me exclusively that they will bring us the Maxim-Moore brawl for the light heavyweight title on Wednesday, December 17 at 7 p.m. from St. Louis.

Finally, here's a feature, a double feature, aimed at Ames: It co-stars Wendell Niles, Sr., prominent TV-radio announcer, and his son, Wendell Niles, Jr.

The Niles family has always been very athletic. Wendell himself is a former boxing champion from Montana.

The family was pleased when young Niles won his letter on the tennis team during his freshman year at the University of California. When he switched to the University of Washington this fall, and tried out for the football team, the coach didn't see much hope for the slightly built 149-pounder.

However, when the regular place-kicker for the Huskies complained of a foot ailment one afternoon, Niles substituted for him—and did right well for himself.

Since then he was made a regular and ended the season as the third highest scorer on the squad with 27 points.

Naturally both Niles Senior and

Wrestling

Is My Business

by Jules StrongBow

"Oh, for the life of a wrestler!" people exclaim as they visualize that all a wrestler does is loll in the sun, play golf, eat steaks and collect $100,000 per year. Sure, it isn't a bad life, or I wouldn't have put in twenty years of it, but there's more to it than that. Like any other business, you have to keep working to make a buck.

Other Baskets

Walter O'Keefe, NBC Star
"Double or Nothing"

Something new has hit California, the Walter O'Keefe "Combrow." It is a narrow bow tie, seven-eighths of an inch wide, and is adjustable to give a complete tie wardrobe.

This tie originated in August of 1951 when Walter O'Keefe made a hurried out-of-town stage appearance with his friend and announcer, Lou Crosby. While getting dressed for the show, they suddenly found they had neglected to pack ties. Linda Crosby, Lou's wife, rushed to the rescue and made two ties out of ribbons from her wardrobe. These were the fore-runners of what has now made big inroads in the tie field, the Walter O'Keefe "Combrow."

Sales and distribution to date have been limited mainly to the West Coast on a test basis. The "Combrow's" sales, without promotion or advertising, have been most gratifying with repeat orders from fashionable men's stores.

Ben Alexander—"Frank Smith" on NBC's "Dragnet"

Ben Alexander Enterprises, Incorporated, which operates Union Oil stations and the Dreamhouse Motel in Hollywood, started in April 1946. At that time, Ben had just returned from a tour of duty in the South Pacific as fighter director and radar officer on the carrier Steamer Bay.

In order to keep his radar "gang" together in civilian life, he bought his first gas station in Hollywood. In the intervening years, Ben has bought and sold numerous stations. His newly completed Dreamhouse Motel in Hollywood boasts a TV set in each room. Plans are in the works to extend the Dreamhouse Motel name up the coast in strategic locations.

Niles Junior got lots of kicks out of the whole affair.

Okay, now I've done my duty. And like any other good Christian, all I want to know is: what are youse guys gonna send me?

(Be careful, boys, because the United States post office has laws against sending that kind of material through the mail.)

Three of the highest paid matmen in the world are Lou Thesz, Baron Michele Leone and Gorgeous George. By no coincidence at all, they are the most traveled men. In a column not too long ago I told you of the pace Lou keeps in defending his championship.

Take Baron Leone's schedule this week. Monday he wrestles in Phoenix, Arizona, Tuesday he has a big match in Indianapolis, Indiana, and Wednesday he is on the main event in the Olympic Auditorium in Los Angeles. Three states in three days—and he will travel around 6,000 miles in forty-eight hours. He will catch a plane Monday afternoon at 4 at International Airport and arrive Wednesday at 4.

In that short time, it will cost $500 for transportation. Since July the smiling Continental nobleman has wrestled in forty-two of the states as well as in Honolulu. So you see, his high income is far from all profit, and how many people would like to keep up that pace? The Baron, basically, is a home-loving fellow who likes nothing better than to get out in his kitchen and whip up a delicious meal for his guests. Maybe the fact that he is such a good cook accounts for the fact that he has been a bachelor so long.

Gorgeous George, the beautiful blond from Beaumont, is another man who really keeps on the move. No wrestler travels more miles per year than he does. During the past month, Gorgeous and his valet, Jeffries, flew approximately 30,000 miles on a round-the-world tour. He wrestled eight matches, which meant that he traveled nearly 4,000 miles per match.

George's plane scarcely touched the ground before he took off again for Texas for three days. He will be back here before Monday night for a match at Hollywood Legion Stadium.

How do they keep it up and stay in condition? For one thing, wrestlers learn to sleep when they can—and they are usually asleep before the wheels of the plane leave the ground. They eat well—but carefully—and train when they can.

They earn a lot of money—but it takes a lot to make it.

Groucho Doesn't Get in His Hair

But Could You Take Being Casually Referred to, on a Coast-to-Coast Hookup, as "an Idiot From Stanford"?

By Jane Pelgram

▲ GEORGE FENNEMAN was born in Peking, China, in 1919. He came to the United States as an infant, and was educated in San Francisco. He began a radio career in 1942, his first assignment being the role of an early California bandit named Joaquin Murietta in "Golden Days." Two years later he was announcer on "Parade of Spotlight Bands." Subsequent acting and announcing led to a winning audition for the Groucho Marx program. (Engstead photo.)

WHY SHOULD Groucho get in my hair? I've heard him make the same sort of acerbic remarks to people like Tallulah Bankhead — even Ethel Barrymore. I'm actually nothing but lucky to work with him, whether he calls me 'idiot' coast to coast or not."

The Title

That's the way good-looking George Fenneman sums up the sometimes rough treatment he experiences at the hands of quizmaster Groucho Marx, a man whose first name is the story of his on-stage personality.

Of course Groucho has never called Tallulah or Miss Barrymore "an idiot." But those stars have never found it their unlucky lot to quickly add such sums as $27.23 and $29.76 in their heads while an impatient quizmaster sits waiting, relishing the time spent as a nifty opening for some Marxist classics of cutting down.

You see, George Fenneman, by open audition, a marvelous voice and the just-right personality, won a spot some years ago as announcer on Groucho Marx's "You Bet Your Life." Weekly on NBC, for both TV and radio, he introduces contestants to Groucho and the audience, keeps track of their earnings throughout the game played for camera and audience, and does the commercials. When the bettings and earnings reach odd sums, Fenneman is in line for that crack . . . "Look at this idiot. He can't even add two and two, and he went to Stanford!"

The Lesson

And around that academic reference hangs a tale that taught George a lesson. "Never get in Groucho's hair — and he won't get in yours. Too badly, that is," George grins.

"That Stanford crack was the only one I have ever tried to get Groucho to retract. You see, I actually wanted to go to Stanford, badly. But I didn't have the money, so registered at a funny little twelve-dollar school called San Francisco State. And I like my school.

"I didn't want any viewers who might remember me to think I was playing it real big with this Stanford stuff, so I told Groucho one night after the show that I hadn't gone there at all. I thought he would next time use the name of San Francisco State when he commented on my alma mater and its obvious failings with me.

"I should have left it alone. He made a retraction all right — made it worse. He said 'Here's this idiot who can't add two and two and who couldn't get into Stanford!'"

The Torture

Another way Groucho tortures George is to interrupt continuously while Fenneman is struggling valiantly to read the opening billboard. He needs only to leer sardonically and the announcer collapses with laughter. Or to suggest . . . "Show 'em your teeth, George. Those all your own?"

George is merely surprised at anyone siding with him. "I don't consider it rudeness. Here I am working with a man whom I admire very much, and this is his stock in trade.

"Oh, at the very beginning I would sometimes go to him after a show and want him to tell me he didn't mean the things he'd said, but it only seemed to make him uncomfortable. Or surprised.

"Really hurt by Groucho? Yes . . . I guess I was once. Just about the time I started on his show, and didn't realize that anyone around him is prey to his wit. He's busy with that rapier wit all the time, not just on stage."

The First Blow

"I went up to him after the first, or maybe the second show, and sincerely meant it when I told him, 'Mr. Marx, you have no idea what a thrill it is working with you. Whenever I did an act as a kid it was with a painted mustache and big cigar. And all through high school and university dramatics I imitated you. I'm mighty happy to be on your show.'

"He just bit on his cigar, leered at me and said, 'A likely story!'"

George shrugged and smiled. "But that was five years ago. Today I wouldn't be bothered by him—but I'm still mighty happy to work with him."

▼ ALL MARX HAS TO DO IS AD-LIB, leer and pause . . . while Fenneman apparently loses control. Groucho takes the keenest delight in throwing the announcer off balance, and it looks, below, as though he had just delivered a jibe that George is taking quite in stride.

Nobody's A Saint

↑ "THIS IS THE LIFE" is a twenty-six-week dramatic series, being shown over fifty stations to the tune of $500,000. The Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, has spent the money well.

*"This Is the Life" Is a Venture in Faith . . .
It's Designed for the Unchurched Millions*

By Mildred Ross

THE FISHER FAMILY are churchgoers, but they are far from being saints. They are, however, a happy family facing everyday experiences and believable situations.

Through the medium of television, the Lutheran Church has devised a rather revolutionary means of disseminating the concepts of Christianity. They ruled out a sermon delivered in droning sanctimoniousness because the TV audience is not a captive one. A mere switch of the dial could replace the sermon with a symphony. Consequently, members of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, formulated the dramatic series "This Is the Life," basing it upon the "real" experiences of the Fishers. The series is viewed locally over KTTV.

The response to "This Is the Life" has been tremendous. Even though it is a public-service program and not available for sponsorship, the program is scheduled in costly preferred time slots on more than fifty TV stations throughout the nation. The Lutheran Church has applied to television the know-how gained from twenty years of radio broadcasting. Without taking too much for granted its seems quite apparent that "This Is the Life" will influence some viewers to return to their respective churches.

Fisher Family

The setting of the program is a natural one for television viewers. The viewers can project themselves, with relative ease, into the situations experienced by the Fisher family. Grandpa Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fisher and their two children, Emily and Peter, try to live as Christians and they do not hesitate to tell others about Christ. At the same time they are normal Americans, leading normal lives in an average American city.

Each telefilm tells a complete story. The scripts have every dramatic element . . . suspense, crisis and conflict. Honesty, forgiveness, brotherhood and love are interwoven into dramatic episodes that not only entertain but also lead to a specific evangelistic application.

Family Films

Family Films, a Hollywood firm which has been producing films for various religious denominations for five years, can take a bow for its excellent productions. It has successfully avoided contrived situations in its scripting and the casting is expertly handled. As producer of the series it must exercise the utmost discretion to combine good taste in entertainment with sugar-coated preaching, meanwhile sustaining the viewers' attention. It has met the challenge nobly.

Evangelical Application

The Missouri Synod submits religious themes to Family Films' staff of writers, who in turn develop a dramatic sequence, embodying a specified Christian principle. The films adhere to inspiration rather than crusading to increase church attendance. For example, a college student replaces snobbery and contempt with understanding and love after living with and observing the Fishers' way of life. In another episode, Emily Fisher and her family help a woman find herself and as a climax to the story her ill-fated love is replaced by a greater one.

Granted the Fishers are not angels, but more of their kind would make this a heaven on earth.

↓ THE FISHER FAMILY—NOT A PERFECT FAMILY—applies Christian principles to problems that arise in the home. Mr. and Mrs. Carl and Anna Fisher (Onslow Stevens and Nan Boardman), Peter Fisher (Michael Hall), Freddie Fisher (David Kasday), Grandpa Fisher (Forrest Taylor), visitor Robert Clark and Emily Fisher (Randy Stuart).

Why Wakely Warbles

IT MAY SOUND kind of fantastic, but there are two interrelated stories explaining how Jimmy Wakely first became interested in music.

Here's Jimmy's version—and he swears it's the truth:

"When I was a kid back in Oklahoma, one of my elder brothers got the urge to become a barber. From one of those Sears Roebuck catalogues, he sent away for a pair of clippers. Well, before he knew what happened, everybody in town was dropping around our house for a haircut.

"Finally, it got to be just too much for him. In order to quit, and in order not to lose out completely on the deal, he finally managed to trade the clippers for an old beat-up guitar."

Second Story

"A little later, my sister Effie started to receive regular visits from a gentleman caller. His name was Lee Weeks.

"Naturally, Lee wanted to spend quite a bit of time alone with my sister, especially on Sundays. He never seemed to get a chance, however, because I, the kid brother, was always around. Just by coincidence, Lee knew how to play the guitar.

"In order to get rid of me, he started to teach me how to play on that old, beat-up guitar, which was still lying around the house. He taught me three basic chords. I can remember that the first song I ever learned was 'Nearer My God to Thee.'

"No fooling, that's how I first became interested in music.

"My actual singing experiences also began as a child when I sang as a choral director and church organist.

"I've been singing ever since, and I do it because I love it. I wouldn't want to do anything else. And I've given up a lot of other opportunities just to sing.

"For example, back in 1949 I gave up a steady starring role in motion pictures because they wanted me to make action pictures only. I made, and could have continued to make, between $500 and $600 a week for fifty-two weeks a year, and I would have had to work for actually only six of those fifty-two weeks.

"But when you take my songs from me, you take all the pleasure out of it for me. That was the beginning of the end of my career as a straight actor, and I still would make the same decision today.

"I get more kick out of singing for a big crowd, such as GIs, than before a small group who will pay big money.

"You must enjoy your singing first. The money comes automatically. If you sing with a dollar bill in your mind, your audience will sense it."

Money Comes Second

"Money as a consideration comes second to me. I make only short trips for three or four days on tour. In this way I feel I can give better performances.

"And I can sing only when I really feel like it. Otherwise I cannot do justice either to myself or to the listening audience."

The singing cowboy must really "feel like it" lately, because at the present time he's on the top of the music world, with best-selling records, his own KNXT-TV show, and a CBS radio show heard on the entire Pacific Coast.

And all this came about because of his sister, a boy friend, a pair of barber's clippers, and an old beat-up guitar.

P. S.: Jimmy must have been able to play a pretty romantic tune even at the age of seven. His sister Effie is now known, and has been for quite some time, as Mrs. Lee Weeks.

"Why I Sing"

By Roberta Linn

Roberta Linn

WHY DO I SING?" The answer to that question has always been very perplexing to me. Although it's a natural reaction for people to inquire continuously about almost every subject under the sun, it has always seemed to me that most of the difficult questions begin with the word "why."

ROBERTA AND HER MOTHER, Madge, look over some material for one of Roberta's dresses. Mrs. Linn makes all of Roberta's dresses for her TV appearance. (Bill Hall photo.)

This is what I mean. You ask me, "Who?" And I reply: "Roberta Linn." You say, "What?" And I reply: "A singer." Or, if I want to be formal, "A vocalist." You ask, "For whom?" And I reply: "For the Lawrence Welk orchestra, and 'Frosty Frolics,' and the Jimmy Wakely Show, and for the Coral Recording Company."

You ask, "Where?" And I reply, "At the Aragon Ballroom, the Pasadena Winter Gardens, Columbia Square, and wherever else I am asked to appear."

You ask, "When?" And I reply, without hesitation: "Six nights a week with Welk; all day Wednesday with 'Frosty'; Sundays with Wakely; and all the rest of my waking hours, making guest appearances and recordings, taking singing lessons, and rehearsing, constantly."

But Why?

You may even ask, "How do you sing?"

In all sincerity, and without meaning to be trite, I must reply that I try to sing each and every song, no matter where or when, with all my heart and to the very best of my ability. In the end though, it's the viewing and listening public who have the final answer to this question.

To the above questions, then, I can give direct and emphatic answers.

But when you ask: "Why do you sing?", I have to grope for a reply. There's no single answer, but many, just a few of which I'll attempt to explain:

Music, all kinds of music, from progressive to popular, from symphonies to street songs, is a major part of my life. If there were no music in the world, I would be like a blind man walking in a valley of glittering sunshine.

Yes, I also sing for money, because I must eat and live as others do.

No, I do not sing for the glamour and the glory and the exciting life that it is wrongly supposed every girl vocalist so lavishly enjoys. I have sung far too long, and in too many places, to harbor any such illusions.

Other Reasons

Perhaps it's only a display of our own ego, but I think that each and every one of us feels a certain sense of satisfaction when we know we have done something to make other people happy. Naturally, my voice and my style may not appeal to everyone. But if it provides certain people with entertainment and relaxation, and possibly, for special ballads, even creates a little nostalgia or remembrance of things past, then my work takes on added meaning and purpose.

I have read and heard of many artists, such as writers and painters and composers, who keep repeating that they "must" write, or "must" paint, or "must" compose. It might be presumptuous on my part to classify myself as an "artist," especially in the highest sense of the term. Nevertheless, I do know that I am a singer, and I "must" sing.

As long as I am able to do so, I'll always sing.

I am sorry to close now, leaving you with these varied and indefinite answers. But didn't I say at the very beginning that this was a difficult question?

I do hope, however, that at least a portion of these printed thoughts have helped to explain to you "why I sing."
