Here is the Inside Story

The average set today has, besides the large picture tube, about 26 receiving tubes, several transformers, a channel selector unit which in itself is a very complicated device and several hundred small parts.

Considering that a 21-inch set has to develop approximately 19,000 volts to feed the big picture tube, anything might happen to it at any time. And no matter what statistics claim, nobody in this world knows the lifespan of your picture tube.

We feel that the most sensible solution to your T.V. maintenance troubles is a parts warranty which for only $10.00 for one full year guarantees a tube replacement up to and including a 21-inch screen, without any further charge for installation. Television Industries will write such a warranty on your picture tube, upon inspection.

The company also carries a warranty covering all parts in your set for only $15.00 per year, on a two-year basis. This warranty covers any and all parts in your television receiver, picture tube and all, up to and including a 21-inch screen regardless of make or age.

In connection with this warranty a flat charge of $3.50 will be made for any one house call, but no charge shall be made for parts necessary to make any such repairs.

Television Industries specializes in service only, covering all of greater Los Angeles six days a week, Monday through Saturday.

Television Industries does not pretend to give you anything for nothing but we believe we have the most reasonable Parts Warranty and Service Agreement on the market.

From Page Boy

Bob Sammon has a real rags-to-riches story. Now that success has smiled nicely at him he's able to look back fondly at the days gone by and to come to one conclusion — it pays to be a page boy.

By Jack Holland

directors handling the remotes for Edward R. Murrow's "Person to Person" show, was out in our hinterlands to do a telecast on Humphrey Bogart and wife Lauren Bacall. Caught in a reminiscent mood he went back to the days preceding his present secure status.

Usher

"When I first went to work for CBS," Bob smiled, "I was an usher. I got a dollar for each show I worked—and since there were only about two programs then that had any audiences I pulled down the staggering sum of two dollars a week.

"I later went into the page boy field where I earned fifteen dollars a week—and I heartily recommend this job as a fine start for any young person wanting to get into television. When I started as a page boy I was very interested in getting into the technical end of radio. TV was only a word being bandied about. But the experience I gained in the job was invaluable. It can teach any young person much about the business—and, above all, it can teach him how to get along with people. This was a lesson I'm glad I learned since all I'm doing now in 'Person to Person' is meeting new people all of the time.

"After the page boy stint I went into the engineering department. I say that laughingly because for a long time about all I did was carry batteries about. One of the real highlights of my career then was being on a Coast Guard boat during the Lipton races. I only carried batteries but it was a big thrill. I felt as though I had really arrived.

"I was so excited about my job then that I didn't even care if I were paid or not. Gradually I went into another field—this time handling one microphone on a show. From this I went into special remotes, traveling with bands like Paul Whiteman and

YOU'D NEVER think, to look at Bob Sammon now, that he was once an ambitious young page boy for CBS—earning the magnificent salary of fifteen dollars a week.

A lot has happened to him since 1934 when he donned the elegant uniform of a page boy. He has one of the best jobs in television and he's earning a heckuva lot more than fifteen bucks per each seven days.

Bob, who is now one of the two

Vaughn Monroe. In fact, I think I worked with every band there was at that time.

"My next step was into the studios—and this job was a great challenge. I worked on some of the earlier 'Suspense' shows and did the 'Romance' program too.

"And then came the war. I spent two and a half years in the service. Through no fault of mine, one of my major contributions towards winning the war was playing bugle records at Camp Crowder. I somehow didn't feel this was my ultimate aim so I wound up in the Armed Forces Radio Services, which was what I had originally asked for.

"When it came time to be discharged I had the lowest number of points imaginable. I returned to CBS in 1946 and found that TV was suddenly the budding medium. I was assigned to television and did video and camera work. As TV grew I was put in charge of the field department—so I was right back where I had been before. I soon became assistant manager of technical operations and in this capacity I had a chance to work with Fred W. Friendly, who is

to "Person to Person"

now quite busy with Edward R. Murrow in 'See It Now.' Then I met John Aaron and Jesse Zousmer who were putting together 'Person to Person.' After several luncheons with them I found myself on the show.

Person to Person

"'Person to Person' has been a stimulating experience. The biggest problem on the show is what looks like the simplest thing—doing a show from someone's house. It's not too easy to show everything in a home, disarrange it, and yet make its owners feel at ease. Then there are the technical problems. When we did Janet Blair we had to use her bedroom for our control booth since she had only a two room apartment. When we did Bogart the telephone company had to put a cable underground for a half a mile to connect from the control terminal to the house. And on many occasions we've had to put up a 100 foot tower since most homes do not have enough power to handle a TV show.

"I've never seen any program as complicated as this one. We've done eighty remotes in forty shows and yet we've never lost a remote—or a guest."

Bob has run into some interesting reactions from the guests who have been featured on "Person to Person," but almost all have the same initial comment. When the celebrities walk in their homes and see TV equipment all over the place, they invariably say. "Where did all these people come from?"

"Yet, everyone we've done has been exceptionally cooperative and courteous," Bob went on. "Archbishop Cushing of Boston was especially charming. So was Adlai Stevenson. Then I remember fondly Mindy Carson and Fanny Hurst, but I'm a star-struck guy anyway. We've also done unknowns. For example, we had a mail man as the subject. He lived in an apartment so small we had to stack the cameras on top of each other. We also did a Red Cap at Grand Central Station. John Aaron and Jesse Zousmer contacted the personnel department at Grand Central and asked who would be the most representative Red Cap. We got a lot of mail on that show.

"Perhaps the most complicated show was the one with Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles. Murrow was in New York the night of the telecast, Marciano was in one part of upstate New York and Charles in another part—and yet we had them all on the screen at the same time."

Such is the saga of a page boy who made good. Other young people can make as impressive a climb up the ladder as Bob Sammon. The door is wide open.

"If I had my career to do all over again, I'd do it the same way," Bob commented. "Don't ever pass idly by any page boy. He may be tomorrow's executive."

The "You Asked For It" Jinx

—and how it's conquered.

▲ ART BAKER (right) and the "You Asked For It" program looked all over the world for a fighting kangaroo, and finally had to train one for two years. Unfortunately the kangaroo died just a few days before the telecast. Another was found, however—in California. (ABC-TV photo.)

DON'T MENTION the word "jinx" to anyone connected with "You Asked For It." And who could blame them!

Because of the unusual and sometimes quite dangerous acts which appear on the ABC-TV show, a great deal of the program's success depends upon chance. Any one of a thousand different things could—and has happened—to jinx one of the performers.

Fortunately, producer Wayne Steffner, sometimes by ingenuity and feverish effort and sometimes by sheer luck, has managed to save the situation in almost every case.

For example, there was the time a woman was to wrestle a full-grown, vicious alligator. During the first rehearsal, the monster became an admirer instead of an adversary of the girl. Everytime she touched him, he swooned with sheer delight. A touching love story, but dull TV.

Steffner came up with a solution. When chow time came around, the alligator was deprived of his food. That made the animal hungry—even for a woman. Consequently, when

"action" was called for, the publicized battle between woman and monster took place as scheduled.

Boxing Kangaroo

Ever since "You Asked For It" hit the TVlanes, thousands of requests had been received to televise a bout between a boxing kangaroo and a human. Steffner's efforts to get such a kangaroo proved futile, so finally he ordered a wild one from Australia and trained it to box for two years. By the time Steffner was ready to present the Australian-Marciano on TV, the number of requests had jumped to 35,000.

Then the jinx struck. The kangaroo died suddenly. Because he had promised his viewers the act, Steffner made a frantic, last-minute search. He found what he was looking for. Where? A perfect specimen, virtually in his own backyard in South Gate!

Then there was case of the hammer jinx. A rugged gal suspended herself between two chairs, her feet resting on one, her head on the other. A heavy stone was placed on her stomach. Her male assistant, with sledge hammer in hand, was then scheduled to smash the stone to bits. Needless to say, the little lady required a lot of guts for such a trick.

During rehearsal, everything went fine until the hammer-wielder took his first powerful swing at the stone. The heavy steel head of the hammer tore loose from its handle and ripped through the air like a cannonball. In flight, it damaged an expensive TV camera and headed for emcee Art Baker's noggin. Only a nimble leap by Baker saved him from serious injury.

Cannonball Case

Another case in point involved a real cannonball. It concerned the appearance of "Cannonball" Richards, a man who made his living by permitting cannonballs to be fired point-blank at his bombproof belly. Comlications ensued. First, Richards missed rehearsal and finally showed up just a few hours before air time. Richards explained that his artillery expert, the only person who knew how much powder could be used in the cannon without killing him, had left town.

Once again, stalwart Steffner defied the jinx. He conducted an experimental blast to see exactly how much powder would be necessary. Richards stood to one side. The order of "Fire!" was followed by an ear-splitting explosion which rocked the big ABC-TV sound stage and filled the air with a thick pall of smoke. The cannonball smashed through one wall and ricocheted off another before resting on the floor. The cannon, meanwhile, recoiled backward, shattered a heavy door and came to rest in an alley beyond. A quick and unexpected remodeling job for the ABC-TV studios!

Richards himself trembled at the thought of what would have happened to him had he been a part of the "experiment." Steffner was willing to cancel the whole act, but trouper Richards objected. On the stage itself, even though a tiny charge was used, the cannonball struck Richards at a spot which caused him considerable pain, but which did not prove too serious.

There are countless other cases when the ABC-TV show had to overcome a jinx—the strongman who let two tons of sand hang from his feet, and ended up with a cramp; the cobra who was supposed to wiggle to the music of a snake-charmer's flute, but who died one day before the show; and "Speedy" Babbs who beat a two-year jinx and finally performed his famous "Cycletron" trick.

Producer Steffner will do almost anything to get interesting and spectacular acts for "You Asked For It." But a jinx is one thing he will never ask for.

In & Out of Focus (General Comment)

Around TV Row

Despite rumors in the trade, "Life With Father" will not be dropped. "Father" is viewed in the East at an unsuitable hour, 10:00 p.m., and CBS is seeking a new time slot for the show. Since Florence Halop, "Mama Branson" on the "Meet Millie" show, has publicized her real age, twenty-nine, she has been swamped with motion picture and telefilm offers. Florence does a convincing job of acting forty-eight on "Millie."

Jack Benny does a Christmas show for the Naval Recruiting Depot in San Diego. . . . Harriet Nelson's two and four-year-old nieces make their video debut on Ozzie and Harriet's Christmas stanza.

Nina Bara fans can catch their favorite in a new KABC-TV series, "Familiar Faces," on Fridays at ten p.m. . . . "Lux Video Theatre" has lined up four motion picture properties for December: "Ladies in Retirement," "Double Indemnity," "September Affair," and "The Chase."

"My Favorite Husband" gets two writers, Nate Monaster and Arthur Alsberg. . . . "Alias Jimmy Valentine" becomes a TV series early in January, when production starts at Gross-Krasne studios. Dave Garroway, in cooperation with the Loyal Order of the Moose, has launched a toy drive on his "Today" telecast.

Mark Stevens, star of the "Big Town" series, has packaged his original screenplay, "Nicky Alusso," in which he will both star and direct. . . . Ed Sullivan has postponed the "Jack Warner Story" until early next spring. . . . Ben Blue plans to do "Ben Blue's Pantomime Theatre" as a half-hour telefilm series. . . . ### Dinah Shore

Tuesday, Thursday, 7:30 p. m.
NBC-ERCA, Channel 4

When there's something special to celebrate, Dinah Shore is the girl to reckon with. Her program last Tuesday, November 23, commemorated General Motors' fiftieth millionth car and it was a program worthy of the occasion.

Joining Dinah in the celebration were Patrice Munsel, Kitty Kallen, Peggy Lee and George Gobel. Format of the show pegged the early cars, circa 1906, with the songs and costumes of that era. When it comes to singing, Dinah and her charming trio of singing guests have no peers. In appearance, as well as in song, the vocal lovelies complemented one another. They were spotted in both solo and quartet numbers. If Dinah, Patrice, Peggy and Kitty ever teamed up, other singing-sister acts would scarcely receive recognition.

Dinah and her arranger, Ticker Freeman, did a great deal of research to get appropriate tunes. High spot of the show was the quartet's medley of songs from the thirties. Solo-wise, Patrice Munsel scored in the laughing song from "Fledermaus," Kitty Kallen in "They Didn't Believe Me," Peggy Lee in "I May Be Wrong But I Think You're Wonderful," and Dinah in "Get Out and Get Under."

George Gobel's touches of humor interspersed between songs were wonderful. His guitar anecdote was typical Gobel-ism. The build-up for the delightful, off-beat comic was his participation in the singing of "Hey There" with the quartet. And "Hey There" is about as much as he got to sing.

The only weak spot in the show was the cut-in from Flint, Michigan, with John Cameron Swayze interviewing G. M. bigwigs and reporting three or four brief headlines. Granted, Swayze's sponsor "gave" Dinah his usual fifteen minutes, but it wasn't necessary to try to squeeze a few unrelated headlines into the show. It made it necessary to cut the program's closing dance.

Aside from this disconcerting spot, the Dinah Shore-50 Millionth Car Salute Show was tops. On the credit side, Producer-director Bob Banner, writer Hal Kantor (Gobel's head writer), musical director Harry Zimmerman and technical director Joe Conn can all take bows for a show well done. M.R.

"Life With Elizabeth"

Monday, 7:30 p.m.
KTTV, Channel 11

Checked in to see what's been happening to "Elizabeth" lately and found that she and husband "Alvin" are getting along very nicely. Our couple, of course, are Betty White and Del Moore, whose weekly enactment of three skits makes for an amusing and pleasant half-hour telecast. The "Elizabeth" series has certainly improved with the passage of time. The performers have more polish and the material is far better than it used to be a few years ago when the show debuted "live" on another channel.

On a recent program, Betty's literal interpretation of Mother Goose's Nursery Rhymes instigated an argument between Del and herself. The sharper Betty's criticisms grew, the stronger Del's objections became. It was played strictly for laughs and very amusingly done. This skit was the high spot of the program. The other two sketches concerned the tearful parting of newlyweds because of a business trip and the happy vacationers who were "roughing" it in the mountains.

"Life With Elizabeth" is played broadly but there is a little of "Elizabeth" and enough of "Alvin" in most young couples for self-identification. Undoubtedly, that is the keynote of its success. Duke Goldstone directs and George Tibbles is writer-producer. M.R.

Off Lens ( Personalities )

Ed Reimers

Some day an astute producer is going to discover tall, blond, handsome Ed Reimers and take him out of his announcing-narrating-type-casting rut by finding a suitable role for the talented actor.

Ed is one of the smoothest and friendliest announcers on the video-planes. He's been in this broadcasting business for more than twenty years and does such a perfect announcing job that it's become a handicap. Movie makers are usually prone to cast him as an amiable announcer.

Ed isn't exactly complaining about his lot—he announces "This Is Your Music" on KTTV; he hosts the daily "Movieland Matinee" on Channel 11; handles commercials on "Willy, the Wolf," "The Colgate Comedy Hour" and many other shows—but he certainly could go for a change of pace.

"By way of illustration," Ed says, "I'm cast as an off-camera narrator in my current picture, 'Kentucky Rifle.' You see what I mean?"

Yes, we do, Ed. It looks as if TV has type-cast you. But take cheer! It's a growing and ever-changing industry.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

Nina Osherhoff, San Bernardino.

I agree with "anonymous" about Lawrence Welk. I think his program is cruddy. I could stand it only once and now on Friday nights I watch Red Buttons and Topper; at least they are entertaining.

Welk may be a fine gentleman, but he is no musician; no orchestra leader has to go 1-2-3 to his men in order for them to start. Most of them know when to start without that. It is about time somebody criticized Welk because he sure is not such a much.

G. B. Ruiz, Carlsbad

We have been avid listeners of the Lawrence Welk program since he went on TV and we are wondering why we can not hear Garth Andrews? What did Welk do with him? His duets with Roberta Linn and then with Alice Lon were really a treat. We wish that Roberta would have him on her program again. We like Alice and Dale, but miss Garth. The program is flat without him.

Garth Andrews is now playing with the Pete Pontrelli orchestra.

E. B. Henry, Los Angeles.

Would like to tell you how I, and I am sure thousands of other folks, enjoy the program on Channel 4 at 9:30 p.m. on Fridays.

This, in my opinion, is the epitome of real comedy and the actors who were chosen for the parts are superb. Slapstick comedy is entertaining once in awhile, but soon gets to be old hat. A comedy program whose comedian uses biting sarcasm, making his emcee and the participants on the program ill at ease, is not my idea of good comedy. Neither is a comedian who can do nothing but wisecrack and then wait for the laughs to follow.

"Dear Phoebe" is wonderful comedy that leaves no after-effects on a person's mind but real wit which neither tries to be funny with such an effort, nor trying to make a bid for a person's approval.

Peter Lawford could not be topped in his part. The grumpy editor of the paper, Marcia Henderson as the sports writer, and Humphrey the copy-boy are tops, also.

Who said the English are slow-witted and have no sense of humor? A good many of them have it but they appreciate more the sparkling, swift-moving kind this cast puts on.

Hope that this program will be on the air for a long time. They must have some extra-good writers of their scripts.

Cora May Oatman, 933½ West 50th Place, Los Angeles.

I would like to call attention to a beautiful musical program, especially for those that like violin music. It's the Florian ZaBach Show, on Channel 13. He is an exceptionally fine player—classical and lighter music. He has a charming personality and he is good to look at. The stage settings are also attractive.

Jack Mylott, Eddy's Liquors, 5601 East South Street, Lakewood.

A Happy Today Groucho Marx:

C. B. LeBeque, Los Angeles.

CBS "Matinee" at 3:45 p.m. should omit the audience-participation segment. The prizes are so piffling they shame this supposedly important program . . . such items as 50-cent cuff links, dime-store beads, and a hair styling that demands $2.00 from contestants to complete its work. These niggardly prizes attract only dull contestants; therefore the program suffers a boring interlude while these inept, tongue-tied people are put through their paces. Johnny Jacobs is a competent, ingratiating M.C., but the guy in charge of prizes should have an M (as in Miser) pinned on him. A program in the give-away class should give away something.

Mrs. Alma Sweetman, West Los Angeles.

I am very interested in TV-RADIO LIFE and the letters each week, so will tell you some of my favorites which do not seem to have top ratings. "Life with Father," "Meet Millie," "Private Secretary," and "Your Hit Parade." I do not care for wrestling, boxing, murder stories but there are lots of people who do like them. I would like to see a write-up of Criswell. He is very good. Do you think Tex Williams and Ted Mack will be on TV again?

Betty Hense, Santa Monica

I think Eddie Cleto has a heart as big as his smile for he is nice to everybody wherever he may play and on "Western Varieties" he is the nicest person I have met.

Mrs. Lena Poteet, Pasadena.

I want to say a good word for three very wonderful new shows. They are "The George Gobel Show," "It's a Great Life," and "Father Knows Best." In our estimation they are tops.

SPENT LAST MONDAY AFTERNOON on the Mark VII TV set and enjoyed an intermittent but thoroughly pleasant chat with Jack Webb, who is working harder than ever (if that be possible!). The "Sergeant" isn't living in either of his elaborate houses in The Valley or Coldwater. He is renting near the Disney lot. Plans to stay close to the studio in the future.

THE CAST WAS FILMING "The Big Bible" teleshow and there were several new faces in front of the cameras. Actually, "Dragnet" is on a "fresh face" search. About 150 actors and actresses have been brought in for auditions in the past two or three weeks.

BEN ALEXANDER SAID re-routing of traffic off Cahuenga onto the Hollywood Freeway hadn't hurt his Dream House Motel, but it has affected his gas station which used to stay open all night but now closes at midnight.

INCIDENTALLY, JACK WEBB is very frank in his admiration of Dorothy Towne and I feel that she'll soon be Mrs. W. But I also think that Jack hasn't popped The Question yet.

LARRY FINLEY HAS FINALLY discovered that his friends were right. You can't work like a demon twenty-eight hours a day. Now he's had to take time out for hospitalization. . . . Mrs. Art Baker's surgery was to alleviate a condition brought about by a bad auto accident years ago when her collarbone was crushed. . . . Suppose George Burns and Gracie Allen are pretty thrilled over daughter Sandra's baby. I hereby nominate Gracie for the cutest granny of 1954. . . . Reason we're not hearing much from Meredith Willson these days: he's holed up, preparing a musical comedy (about Iowa) for Broadway next year. . . . At the KLAC Thanksgiving party, which was really A Big Thing in the Crystal Room, Jim Ameche confided that he and his family just love California, even though it was a wrench to tear away from comfortable ole Chicago after all those years. . . . When the Sylvania Awards are passed out this week, there'll be one for a local personality who has done quite a bit of trail blazing this year and who certainly deserves the honor. (We've already done a story on this personality, so think hard!)

HAVE HEARD SEVERAL GOOD COMMENTS about the Barrymore tribute on the "Hallmark" radio show which Lionel Barrymore had hosted for the past two years. With such personalities as Bing Crosby and Gene Fowler participating, the broadcast had a lustrous rather than lugubrious touch (the way "he" would like it), was informative and intimate without being disrespectful. Extremely well done.

THEY'VE SOLD THE OLD LUCY-DESI telefilms for second run and will start beaming them early next year. This brings up the point: What is saturation? How long can the stars who are on first run AND second run expect their TV life to last? Is the thinking, "A short life and a merry one?" Jack Webb swears that when he finishes his current ninety-five "Dragnets" "that's it!" He thinks he's squeezed every drop of possibility out of the property and personally yearns to tackle something new.

FRESHEST TV IDEA LAST WEEK came from NBC, where program veep Frederic Wile disclosed plans for filming a program in Mexico City which will later be telecast on "Comedy Hour." Schedule calls for Gordon MacRae to emcee the presentation which is to include native talent and possibly American motion picture stars on location south of the border. To TV-Radio Life, Wile remarked, "TV can do a great deal of good by broadening people's horizons. One way is to expose viewers to other kinds of people. TV should get out of its four-walled studios."

BUZZED OUT TO DINAH SHORE'S home to chit-chat and have coffee just before her delightful General Motors Anniversary Show. Have said it before, but will reiterate: Dinah's one career girl whose husband and children come first. Don't ever underestimate Dinah. She's sharp as a tack, but practical and such a warm personality! Talking about her adored Missy, she was all-mother as she exclaimed, "Disneyland is a wonderful TV show! It's the greatest bargaining factor a mother ever had! Better than Christmas or Santa Claus!"

PICK of the PIX

By AUBREY DAHL

The following verbiage is brought to you in defiance of public opinion:

"Cry Danger." (5) Dec. 5, 7:30. Dick Powell serves five years as an accessory to a holdup murder he had nothing to do with, and, upon his release, goes after the bona fide villain. He is assisted by Dick Erdman, who thinks he is guilty and wants a slice of the pie he is supposed to have stashed away, and Rhonda Fleming, the wife of the man who served time with Dick and who really was a little bit guilty. Mr. Powell once again gets into trouble with the police when William Conrad frames him with some marked money, but after considerable gun-play and brutality, he is finally able to prove his innocence. A low keyed cops and robbers affair, with a standard Powell performance. Robert Parrish directed this TV first run.

"Letter From An Unknown Woman." (9) Dec. 7, 9:00. Channel 9 has decided to run this movie after all (it was cancelled a couple of weeks ago because of a bad print) and so you can either refer to my previous comments (surely, you save them) or you can just take it from me that this is a melodrama involving Joan Fontaine and Louis Jourdan. They meet, they part, she remembers him, he forgets her, and then she writes him a letter. A woman's picture.

"Mark of Cain." (4) Dec. 10, 11:15. Eric Portman, one of Britain's leading film actors, here portrays a dandy who covets his brother's business, and his brother's wife, Sally Gray, in that order. The brother is rather a stodgy fellow and Eric soon has Sally believing that she would be better off without him.

"Smart Woman." (5) Dec. 9, 8:00. Barry Sullivan is a hood who has something on Constance Bennett and forces her to defend various of his boys when they get into trouble. Brian Aherne is a special prosecutor who sets out to get Sullivan, falls in love with counsellor Bennett, and, as you can surmise, love complicates reform. James Gleason tracks down the missing witness and Michael O'Shea is a wisecracking reporter.

"Divorce of Lady X." (13) Dec. 9, 11:00. This is a classic British comedy about a divorce lawyer, Lawrence Olivier, who is forced to share his hotel room with Merle Oberon and winds up being named a correspondent in divorce suit. Hasn't been on TV for a year.

"Public Opinion." (7) Dec. 5, 2:30. What the preceding verbiage was in defiance of.

HOLLAND'S TUNNEL

DUG BY JACK HOLLAND

If anyone thinks that George Gobel isn't the hottest thing in town, an incident about a week ago proved otherwise — and very conclusively. George's show wasn't on a week ago Saturday and the NBC switchboard was jammed with about 700 calls from people wanting to know where their favorite comic was. To check on his popularity I tried to call NBC — and it took me a half an hour to get the operator. When I finally got a line, the operator said, before I even could say a word, "Are you calling about the George Gobel show? It will be on next week." To forestall any future confusion on the same score, it is well to remind you that Georgie is on for three weeks and then is off the fourth when a color spectacular takes precedence. Bet there are a lot of people who would rather skip the "specs" and have Gobel.

Speaking of TV's brightest new star, he did another stand-out job on Dinah Shore's special show. But one of the funniest bits on the program had to be cut at the last minute because the program ran overtime. Dinah was so disappointed about this that after the show went off the air she told the audience she'd do the routine anyway. It was a very clever dance between guests Peggy Lee, Kitty Kallen, Patrice Munsel, and Georgie. It's a shame that viewers missed this, for it was a hilarious high spot.

Several people have complained recently about the lack of good shows for adults around six-thirty to seven at night. This time seems to be given over entirely to the small fry, but more consideration should be given to the older fry who would like some real entertainment then. As it stands now, the important shows don't begin hitting your sets until around eight or nine. Of course, if networks did schedule some of their better offerings earlier, there would be a lot of homes thrown into a hassle, what with the youngsters wanting to watch their favorites and the adults battling for their choices. So—who can please everybody?

Watched "Marco" again and just can't see this as entertainment. Of necessity it has to be cluttered up with too many commercials because that is the only way prizes can be offered viewers, but the program seems to be bogged down by too many unavoidable obstacles. The show just falls short on all counts. And there is also an air of superiority displayed by Jerry Lawrence, no doubt unintentionally. "Marco" needs a lot of revamping if it's to offer much competition to competing programs.

Lisa Kirk put on quite a show at the Coconut Grove. This lady who has been a shining light on Broadway and on TV really delivered with a punch. Coming in next is Harry James, who has been seen a good deal on TV recently on "Shower of Stars." Harry should draw the younger crowd on week-ends. And is that bad?

Bill Bendix has been a very worried man recently—and a guy who has had his share of problems. No sooner did his daughter, Lorraine, recover from a serious operation than his wife, Tess, became very ill. She is still in a critical state and all of Bill's many friends hope she'll soon be all right again. Bill goes into the hospital in January for an operation—so it looks as though the Bendix family is really having the book thrown at them. Let's hope the New Year is brighter for these very fine people.

Harry Owens celebrated his 200th telecast last Saturday on KNXT. Highlight of the show was an Hawaiian Knife Dance, performed by Manu, who is considered one of the top exponents of the ancient ritual on the Island. Owens made his TV debut in 1949 and is now seen on sixteen stations over CBS from Anchorage in the north to Honolulu in the west and points east. He also has something of a record in that most of his "family" is still with him. Hilo Hattie and Prince Kawohi joined Owens' Royal Hawaiians before 1940 and Lei Aloha, Harry's adopted daughter, has been with the TV show since its inception. Owens still writes the scripts and composes much of the music used on the program.

Isn't it odd that there are still characters on TV who believe that the only way to sell a product is by yelling at and attacking an audience with a booming series of wild claims? Can't these boys realize that no one likes this approach and that instead of selling something it makes the average person just disgusted and indifferent? TV has been around long enough to have rid itself of such rank amateur announcers. The products that have to be sold by ranting and yelling are usually the ones not worth buying anyway at any price.

TV HERO

Anthony Snell, one of the stars of "The Vise," was an outstanding hero of World War Two, whose exploits form an exciting chapter in the best selling book "Escape or Die." Snell was captured as a spy in Sicily and was actually before a firing squad when he dashed to freedom. He was wounded but made his escape to be recaptured and escape again.

WHAT'S PLAYING

"THE ROSEMARY CLOONEY SHOW," KNX, 8:15 p.m. Rosemary sings "You're the Top," "Let's Give a Xmas Present to Santa Claus," "We're in the Money," and "Winter Wonderland." Featured is a Buddy Cole instrumental.

WHO'S GUESTING

"THE BOB HOPE SHOW," KFI, 9:00 p.m. Bob's special guest is Academy Award winner, Jane Wyman.

RECORD

Notes to You

By ANDY MANSFIELD

(KFI, Monday thru Friday, 8:45 a.m.)
(Saturday, 9:30 p.m.)

BEST OF THIS WEEK'S long-play items are found in the documentary, vocal, jazz and instrumental fields. Most pretentious is "The Confederacy" (Columbia) — a cantata, based on music of the South during the Civil War era, by composer-conductor Richard Bales. Equally a prominent part of this presentation is the thirty-two page-booklet included—a virtual history of this conflict, plentifully sprinkled with many rare photographs and giving the origin of the songs of the South. An excellent presentation, its contents and records should appeal mainly to historians, schools, libraries and those whose ancestors hailed from south of the Mason-Dixon Line. . . .

For the instrumentalists, "Mood For Love" (Columbia) features extended versions of familiar standard pop tunes given the lush Kostelanetz treatment—that is always a delight to the listener. Whatever meaning you have given the title phrase in your heart or memory, you'll find it here expressed in music,—the music of Andre Kostelanetz and His Orchestra. . . .

As to vocal LP's, we literally "flip-ped" when we heard this new collection on MGM by Kay Thompson. Musically, Miss Thompson could never compete with many amateurs in vocal quality and ability. Perhaps that's why one marvels of these recordings; with no voice to support her, Kay is still one of the greatest song saleswomen of this era. Selections run the gamut from the torchy "I Hadn't Anyone Till You" to the hilariously funny "Myrtle," which puts Thompson's night-spot fans under the table and made Mansfield decide to catch her act if she ever comes within plane distance of Hollywood. . . .

Piano keys dominate the jazz scene with Mel Powell's "Borderline" and "Thigamagig" (Vanguard LP's) stealing the picture. Recorded in excellent high fidelity, Mel's trio features tenor man Paul Quinchette and trumpeter Ruby Braff. Those who still place Powell's pianistic style in the swing era will get the surprise of their lives to discover that these are so advanced in concept as to make many self-styled modernists sound like has-beens. . . . A.M.

Ear, Eye Inspire

Roland Chambers, South Pasadena.

I wonder how many readers like myself have been missing the best feature on the air today? The Oscar should surely go to John Vandercook. He is more exciting than any boxing match. My friends and I are delighted and impressed by the agreeable surprises and fresh ideas his superior insight puts into current events made so stale by other broadcasters.

Mrs. E. Morrow, 7424 La Jolla Boulevard, La Jolla, California.

All you people living within viewing distance of KFSB are missing a lot of good afternoon entertainment if you don't tune in and see that very talented and handsome young pianist, Merrill Moore, who appears with the fine group of western musicians on "The Roy Hogsd Show."

Liberace is in danger of losing his top place as television's most popular pianist, singer-entertainer, to Merrill Moore, who is really great both as a pianist and singer and he has the youth and looks to really go places fast.

I predict stardom for this personable young man who puts so much pep and personality into every number he presents. Take a look, folks, you'll see what I mean.

Football has nearly faded from the fall scene. Interest, of course will remain high for the Rose Bowl clash between the Trojans and the Buckeyes. The faithful will still be following the future fortunes of the Rams, who still have several games remaining on their schedule. Basketball, however, bounces in on us this week-end to fill the sports void. Some high schools and colleges have already commenced their cage contests and come Friday, the major colleges start on the long hardwood trail they hope will lead to conference championships. My mail has already begun to show the shift in interest among you sport fans, and I'd like to devote most of this column to replying to the more interesting of the letters I've received asking about the game of basketball. . . . So let's answer the mails . . . and females. . . .

Do you know who invented basketball? . . . Lily Buttner, Hollywood.

That's a good question to start off with, eh? Dr. James Naismith, an instructor at the International YMCA training school at Springfield, Massachusetts, invented the game in the winter of 1891.

My father, a Harvard man, says his Alma Mater was the first university to send out a basketball team. True? . . . Joy Patton, North Hollywood.

Nope! False. Dad should have gone to Yale. The Bulldogs sent out the first team.

How did the name "basketball" originate? Certainly the baskets in today's game don't much resemble baskets. Follow me? . . . Kay Anders, Los Angeles.

The gymnasiums in the 1890's usually had a running track balcony. Dr. Naismith first decided to use as a goal into which the ball was to be thrown, wooden boxes nailed to this track balcony at each end of the gym. He couldn't find any boxes. He could only find two old peach baskets. So-o-o-o—"Basketball."

How long has a basketball team consisted of only five men? . . . Five Women, Hollywood.

You mean you want more? Officially, from the very beginning of the game, a team has consisted of only five men. Dr. Naismith had eighteen men in his gym class and divided them into two teams. Thus, the popular belief arose that the first team had NINE men . . . but the Spaulding Official Basketball Guide for 1896 says—"five is the best number for championship games."

Is basketball played in many countries other than our own? . . . Herb Edelman, Hollywood.

Yessir, Herb. Over sixty of them with an estimated participation of over 20,000,000 players.

Why is a basketball round? . . . Anonymous.

Ever try to dribble a square one?

By way of winding up the 1954 collegiate football season, I'd like to answer a question I received in the mail last week from an Ohio stater, Elizabeth Diane Kleiner. She wanted to know who was going to win the Rose Bowl game. Well, Elizabeth, I got what education they could drum into me at the University of Michigan, so I'll pick . . . Southern California.

▲ ON KCOP's "THE BIG FIGHT," the "Brown Bomber" Joe Louis lands one of his famous rights to the jaw of Lee Savold during their meeting on June 15, 1951. Louis scored a knockout over Savold in the sixth round, despite the fact that his timing was off because of poor reflexes. Many of Joe's top fights are seen on the filmed one-hour show.

▲ ANOTHER ONE OF 'The Big Fights' is the middleweight bout between Jake LaMotta (right) and Irish Bob Murphy, which took place in New York on June 27, 1951. This was LaMotta's first bout since losing the middleweight title to Sugar Ray Robinson four months earlier. Murphy won a TKO after seven grueling rounds.

Around the Squared Circle

▼ POUND FOR POUND, many of the experts say that Sugar Ray Robinson was the greatest of them all. The former welterweight and middleweight champion can be seen on Channel 13 in his bouts against Carl "Bobo" Olson, Rocky Graziano, Jake LaMotta, and Joey Maxim.

▼ BECAUSE OF a TV series such as "The Big Fight," many TV fans get a chance to see the world's heavyweight champion, Rocky Marciano in action — something which doesn't always happen because of "blackout" restrictions.

▼ CERTAINLY one of the flashiest, most colorful, and most capable boxers in our time is "The Keed" Gavilan. Some of his "Big Fights" seen on KCOP are against Billy Graham, Gil Turner, and Chuck Davey.

▲ GROUCHO IS DEFINITELY the dotting father. His daughter, Melinda, is the joy of his life. She certainly doesn't think he's any hard-boiled cynic.

▲ FOR THE FIRST TIME on "You Bet Your Life," two couples got a second chance at the jackpot. Ida Kole and Joe Oakie were two who walked off with a $3000 bank roll on their second appearance. They were asked back when their jackpot answer on a previous show, judged wrong by program authorities, was later considered right by experts.

Is Groucho Turning Into A

Softy?

Maybe you haven't noticed it, but Groucho looks as though he's mellowing. The caustic, amusing barbs are there but there's a change in the man. What's happening to the Man and the Moustache?

By Jack Holland

WHEN Groucho was in Paris recently, he went into a restaurant one evening. Across from him sat a middle-aged couple, obviously American, who were naturally eyeing him. Suddenly, the woman got up enough nerve to come over to Groucho. As to be expected she gushed all over him. The Marx came back with an insulting remark. The lady was aghast. Her husband, who had appeared in time to hear Groucho's insult, said to his wife, "See what I told you? I told you he'd be insulting." And both went away quite happy.

On the other hand, those who have worked with Groucho throughout the years insist he's the epitome of cooperation, that he's easy to work with, and that never in those years has he ever done anything to hurt them.

In fact, to them, Groucho is something of a softy. On one show Groucho was interviewing a man who claimed he had seen a flying saucer. The Moustache's remark was, "Were you in your cups when you saw it?" To which Bernie Smith, who works with Groucho, said, "That's a pretty old joke, Groucho. In fact, it was the first one used in connection with the flying saucer business." Groucho looked genuinely hurt and said, "I never say anything about your jokes."

With these two pictures in mind—which is the Groucho of today? The man who has made insults a pleasure or the quiet softy?

Mellowed

"Actually, Groucho hasn't mellowed at all," Bernie Smith commented recently. "But he has changed—mainly in his new understanding of people. He now realizes that the average person isn't a jerk as he used to think. He gives people more time to talk, too, and he is more interested in them."

"I don't quite know when this change took place. Perhaps it was around the time that Groucho's favorite contestant, Anna Badovonick, was on the show. In case you don't remember her, she was the jovial lady who came from a town named

Badovonick, in which everyone there was named Badovonick. She married a Badovonick, he got restless and came to the United States, Anna tried to find him here but couldn't, so she met a man named Badovonick in Philadelphia and married him. I think this happy lady made Groucho look at people differently.

"Groucho is never insulting to intelligent people, to those who don't try to be smart or cute. He has a keen insight into people and a natural curiosity about them. But he can't stand a phony, someone who puts on pretenses. He feels a personal challenge to destroy phonies with a caustic remark. That's one reason why he likes children—they aren't hiding anything. And that's also why he enjoys older people. He is as interested in talking to his gardener as he is to Dore Schary, but if his gardener starts commenting on show business, about which he knows nothing, Groucho is through."

There's no question that Groucho's marriage has had something to do with his understanding of people. Not that it has changed him but it has helped him to mature into the kind of person he is.

Edith, his wife, really understands Groucho. She knows when to say nothing, when to give him attention. She's good for him—a real balance. And she's someone for him to turn to.

Many people remember Groucho's comments about marriage. They have felt that these cracks were the consensus of his opinions on marriage. This is not entirely true.

"Kidding marriage is a form of humor," Bernie explained. "It's based on the fact that the average marriage isn't a deliriously happy affair. When anyone kids about marriage, it's a form of self-identification. Groucho's attitude about the marital life has been that of the professional comedian. Before he got married he used to kid me about my marriage. When he came back from his honeymoon, I reminded him of all the things he had said to me—and, in turn, said he had brought everything on himself now. Groucho merely smiled and said, 'I didn't have much choice.' But there's no hiding the fact that he's very happy in his marriage.

"Groucho is a real softy, of course, in his role as a father. He absolutely dotes on his daughter, Melinda. Melinda, perhaps more than anyone else, knows the man behind the moustache.

"In his private life, Groucho is generally mild and there's always a twinkle in his eye. You never know what he's going to do next. He's also even-tempered in that he seldom displays any temper. His greatest characteristic is knowing how to relax. Everyone else can get upset when things go wrong, but Groucho lets it all roll off his shoulders. He'll just curl up with a book—he reads a lot, mainly non-fiction—and forget any tempest around him. Groucho likes to take things easy. After all, he has gone at a furious pace all his life and he wants to enjoy things now."

Groucho's sponsors, of course, only idolize him. The DeSoto people do nip-ups over the man. They love him so that they let him drive the new DeSoto in Detroit at 110 miles an hour—without his hands on the wheel. This was to demonstrate the new car.

"Groucho had had unhappy relations with sponsors before," Bernie went on. "He never really found himself as an entertainer until he got this show. The DeSoto people leave him entirely alone, so now he thinks only of pleasing them. He won't even go into controversial matters on the show for fear his ideas on such things as politics might hurt the sales of their cars. He feels a very real responsibility towards them. You can be sure that he's very sincere when he pitches DeSoto."

Such is the Groucho behind the TV camera and the mike. Caustic? Sarcastic? Yes—but only to those who put on a phony display. The real Groucho, then, emerges only to those people who are not out to impress him, who simply act themselves. To them—he is a real softy.

▲ MANY THINK THAT the mellowing process that has taken place in Groucho is due to the happiness he has found in marriage. Edith seems to know how to manage Groucho.

▲ GROUCHO, HARPO, and Gummo all got up and being sporty. Many people still hope that Groucho and his brothers will make another picture but apparently this will never happen.

ROD CAMERON, star of KNXT's "City Detective," confesses that he came to Hollywood to build a tunnel and not to act. Rod worked for an engineering firm for ten years before he even thought of acting.

"I came to Hollywood to build a tunnel, not to act," Rod remarked. "And I built it. I was here for ten years. In fact, before I even thought of acting and then it was purely an economical matter. I had been with an engineering company, the business blew up, so I had six months to collect the money due me. I'd spend three days a week trying to get the accounts settled and the rest of the time I decided to spend getting a job, so I began hounding the casting offices. At the end of the six months I got my first part.

"I was surely no star overnight. All I did at first was make tests with all the glamour girls at Paramount. Things changed, though, one day when I got on a horse.

"I hadn't done any Westerns before. In fact, I'd never even ridden. I had spent my life in the cities. One day at Paramount I was asked if I could ride. I said I could, and then I took lessons for a week. Came the day for me to work in the picture. I was told to stay in the crowd with my horse. However, my horse was used to working in pictures and on signal it started running down the street. This was not in the script and neither was what I did. I was stand-

Rod's action-filled life has led him close to danger many times. In fact, he's shaken hands with danger several times. In one year in the movies he spent seventeen weeks laid up, eleven in the hospital. He broke his shoulder in a rodeo, and then went to work in a movie too soon. He had a big fight to do on logs so he made the company remove the wires in his shoulder. During the fight he slipped. Thinking first of his shoulder he tried to break the fall and got his leg caught between logs. Result—broken knee.

"There was one time when I was glad I was so tall," Rod went on. "I fell fifty feet down a mine shaft and walked away from it. I fell up to my neck in mud. If I'd been any shorter I wouldn't be here now.

"Twice I crashed an airplane. And I got out of both wrecks without any real damage. I've been in a blow-out in a compressed air tunnel, not a particularly fascinating experience, and I was also involved in a dynamite explosion which killed nine men. I guess I'm just disgustingly lucky. Not that I'm complaining."

Rod still hasn't had enough excitement. He's now having a hot new

IT'S ALL A Big Accident

Rod Cameron seems to have been allergic to accidents. Not only has he had a lot of narrow squeaks but his entire acting career was all an accident.

By
Jon Bruce

FOR A GUY who has gone around trying to mind his own business, Rod Cameron has certainly had his share of excitement.

Rod is the tall, rugged fellow who has been detecting now for some time in "City Detective." He once wanted to be a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, an ambition shared by almost all young Canadians, but the closest he ever got to that was sleuthing for TV on KNXT.

The one thing he never planned to be was an actor. This was the first accident in his life.

ing by the horse with my hand on the saddle horn when the nag started on his way. I made a big leap for him and began chasing him down the street. This was my entrance into Westerns. I've never understood how this made me an outdoor type of movie actor.

"Even my entrance into TV was an accident. I had never planned to do television. I had been offered a cowboy and a Texas Ranger series, but had turned them down. Then I made a couple of pictures for 'Chevron Theatre' and the next thing I knew my agent had converted these into a TV series."

sports car built for him. It will have a racing car chassis with all the racing features.

"There has been little action in 'City Detective,'" Rod grinned. "I talk and detect in that, but once I did have a fight with a dog. I've never had any other kind of fight on TV. I was a little worried about this dog. He looked just too eager. But I was told the dog was trained. I got by him okay in the melee, but the animal worked later with another man and sent him to the hospital." This Rod Cameron has a charmed life. He has no desire to lose that particular charm.

Country Boy at Heart

KNX's New Agricultural Head plays vital role in exchange between Farmer and City Folk.

↑ KNX's NEW AGRICULTURAL BROADCASTER, Nelson McIninch, is a farm boy from Olanthe, Kansas, who has made good in the city as a farm reporter. A UCLA alumnus, he plays championship tennis, is married, has three daughters.

EVERY ONE is a farmer at heart," believes KNX's new farm reporter, Nelson McIninch. "A lot of people are a generation removed from real farming, but actually, everyone grows something here, and that qualifies him as a farmer at heart."

Nelson, known to Californians for more than ten years as a top agricultural broadcaster with another local outlet, recently stepped into this berth at CBS to continue his project of bringing the farm viewpoint to the city and the city outlook to the men with the hoes. His switch-over from one station to another was supposed to be punctuated by a trailer vacation. The punctuation turned out to be a virtual exclamation point—what Nelson describes as "a fast shower at the L. A. Tennis Club," favorite recreational haunt of this tall, lithe chap who is still playing torrid tennis after turning down a chance to make it his career.

His broadcasting job isn't exactly a desk chore—Nelson scoots around the country continuously. Since he considers a farm broadcaster a public relations man too, he is busy lecturing and addressing meetings every week. He also makes the rounds of the farmers to learn, first-hand, what's new and what the farmer's problems are.

Schedule

For example, within only a few days after taking over as Director December 3, 1954 of Agricultural Broadcasts and Services at KNX, Nelson visited a Japanese-American farmer in Indio to discuss field crops and to inspect some of the farmer's inventions. These included two labor-saving devices; an hydraulic machine to drive stakes for pole beans and an automatic string-tie for the beans. Next, Nelson called on a citrus grower in Redlands to gain an idea of how the navel crop will be this year. He spoke at the annual meeting of the L.A. Farm Bureau and attended the Junior livestock auction for the county fair.

Studio-wise, Nelson presides over two daily broadcasts, the first from 5:30 to 6:15 a.m. and the other at 12:15 p.m. ("I consider this the greatest farm-broadcasting time in the nation," he confided.) To launch his new KNX-radio series, he has played host to a succession of well-known farm personalities on his day-break program.

Careful Balance

Nelson tackles his difficult assignment of city-country exchange by trying to make his 5:30 show of interest to both metropolitan and suburban dwellers. There's music, cultural information, crop and garden talk and consideration of business conditions—"these are very much in the farmer's mind," Nelson admits. The program devotes thirty minutes to farm topics and fifteen to a complete weather round-up and news summary. Nelson best expresses his policy by the idea, "I think farm broadcasting should be good radio."

In line with this thought he always prepares a feature on some interesting topic. Perhaps it's the city man's attitude toward the farmer, or the ten commandments for good farming, or the 1954 farm census, or consideration of the question, is the farmer gouging his city brother? Even in his tips and small talk, Nelson does his best to arouse interest of both city and country. "Have you tried the new Queen Elizabeth rose?" is a query typical of his approach. Or to the farmer, he'll direct a quick comment on green-chop of alfalfa hay.

Some Hollywoodites, referring to farm broadcasts, say, "Give 'em the same as the city broadcasts and then say at the end, This is for the farmers," Nelson explained. "I think not," he said firmly. "I try the barnyard approach."
