How To Be The Neighborhood Pest

Don DeFore, Ozzie and Harriet's favorite neighbor, reveals some of the neater tricks to consider if you want to annoy your neighbors.

By Don DeFore

SINCE I have been with Ozzie and Harriet Nelson on their KABC-TV show for some time now and since I have messed up a few of their days as their neighbor, I feel qualified to discuss, for fun, some of the better ways to become an ideal neighborhood pest. All I want to say in advance is that if any of my suggestions work—don't call me to complain.

There are really ten sure-fire methods. The first is easily applied: be sure to leave the phone off the hook, if you have a party line, to let the neighbors know you're home. This is especially good if your neighbor happens to be the other party on your party line.

The second method: If you have children teach them to go in and out of your neighbor's house without knocking. This will create a wonderful relationship so if baby sitters are needed your neighbors will always be the first to get hooked with your offspring.

Number three: When you plan to visit your neighbors, never call first. This is too orthodox, just surprise them by dropping in on them. And, by all means, don't be coy about accepting their first dinner invitation. Accept eagerly—each time they ask you, but don't rush inviting them to your place because this will make you seem too forward.

Number four: Borrowing is one way to seal a life-long friendship. Naturally, it's best to borrow without telling your neighbor first. After you have taken his lawnmower and have kept it for several months, march happily to his door, hand it to him, and say, "Surprise." It's better, too, to return it in a slightly damaged condition because this will impress him and let him know you are the ambitious type. Nothing is as tiresome as a lazy neighbor. When borrowing is to be done, though, it's best to send the wife first as an emissary. Train her to ask first for a half a cup of flour or some such small item. This can lead to bigger and better deals later.

Five: If you're called upon to participate in civil functions, name at least three neighbors who will also, you are sure, lend their time and services. Praise them highly and then as the solicitor leaves, be sure he is on his way to visit one of these neighbors. Follow all this up a few days later by asking to have yourself removed from that civic duty. This will make you a bigger and more important man in your neighbors' eyes.

Six: It is in the department of bringing up children that you can really excel. Always make it a point to tell your neighbors where they can do better in training their children. Use your own ideal parenthood as an example of perfection. If they don't get your point and resent any comments you make, a snide remark or a disgusted look will bring them to their knees.

Seven: It is advisable to cultivate a neighbor who is pretty much the same size as you. This is better for borrowing clothes. With two wardrobes to go on, you can soon be the best-dressed man—or woman—on the list. But remember one thing—when borrowing clothes always return them neither pressed nor cleaned. Your neighbors probably have their favorite cleaners and would resent your interference. If, at any time, you feel your neighbor is making sarcastic references to your borrowing his clothes, just remember he's only kidding.

Eight: Keep in mind that the main reason your neighbor invites you to dinner is that he expects you to be the life of the party, make all the funny jokes and be overly friendly to the other guests whom you have just met. If you invite your neighbor to your house, be sure to seat him next to the most uninteresting person at the party. This will create a challenge to him—as a conversationalist.

Nine: Christmastime is the time when one can really excel in the good-neighbor department. This is the season of love and giving. Always send a long list of things you need to your neighbor in time for him to do his shopping. This is only considerate because it helps him avoid the Christmas rush. An alternate list should be included.

Ten: If you have a dog, teach him early to use your neighbor's lawn at all times for play and for work. The dog should also be taught to drag papers, cans and rags to your neighbor's. This proves how well you rate as a trainer of animals.

These simple and easily followed rules should make you a standout in your block.

▲ DON DEFORE is Ozzie Nelson's neighbor on the KABC-TV show. Don's comments about being the neighborhood pest are, of course, all for fun.

God Bless The Mothers-in-Law

"December Bride" is the guardian angel of that maligned character, the mother-in-law. And it all began because one man was lucky enough to be able to say honestly, "I like my wife's mother."

By Jack Holland

▲ SPRING BYINGTON AND VERNA FELTON seem to be cooking up something here. The two delightful characters of "December Bride" have a charming knack of getting into trouble.

▲ HENRY MORGAN is one of the reasons this show is catching on so well with audiences. Parke Levy considers him one of the finest actors in the business.

PARKE LEVY is a rather small man—but only in size. In the matter of accomplishment he has carved a large niche for himself in TV and radio.

Not only did he have much to do with "My Friend Irma" and other radio shows but he is the guiding light behind the CBS-TV laugh fest, "December Bride."

A Show Is Born

"I actually got the idea for 'December Bride' in 1946," Parke commented recently. "My mother-in-law came out from Philadelphia for a visit. She had been a widow for several years and she was suddenly being besieged by prospective suitors. I'll never forget one night when she was making a roast for dinner. One of her hopeful swains arrived with a twenty-two pound salmon he had caught and insisted on her preparing the fish instead. This wasn't so bad, but all during dinner he gave revolting discourses on the inner workings of all kinds of fish. Pretty soon not only the salmon on the table but the whole room was swimming in front of me.

"Watching my mother-in-law, whose name is Ida Spritzler, gave me an idea for a book about such mamas. I sent it to several publishers, all of whom liked it but most wanted a change made in one section. I was too busy then to be able to do any work on it so it just gathered dust. Then, a couple of years ago I thought of the material as a possible radio show. Thus was 'December Bride' born. And its TV life came later.

Satisfying Show

"I had always wanted to do a TV situation show that was different and this show was different. It was definitely the first to present the mother-in-law as a human being and not as a pest. That I was able to present this theme acceptably is a source of great satisfaction. Even Dean Miller, who plays the son-in-law, wasn't sure how it would come off. He was sure his friends would think he was balmy to play a character who really loved his mother-in-law.

"The other satisfying thing to me about 'December Bride' was getting Spring Byington for the starring role. Several actresses were suggested to me but I held out for Spring. And I'm very glad I did.

"We have had some remarkable mail from viewers about 'December Bride.' Judging from most of it, I seem to be the sweetheart of the Marilyn Monroes of the Stone Age.

The mail is basically the type that thanks us for bringing into homes a show that is charming and yet gives a better understanding of in-laws. A good many of the letters are in adoration of Spring.

"Our mail pull hasn't been so surprising, though, since we had a contest on the show when we were on radio and we got some fantastic mail. In fact, Dr. DuVall wrote a book called 'In-Laws' and used our mail as the basis for much of her material."

Parke Levy is fully aware that "December Bride" is a situation comedy—and there have been a few of those around TV of late. Yet, he also believes that his show has escaped the pitfalls of most situation comedies.

"So many of them resemble others too much," Parke stated flatly. "Each tries to outdo the others and, as a result, most situation comedies become too farcical. They substitute pandemonium for humor. We are trying to keep 'December Bride' entirely apart from the usual situation show, and for that reason we do not intend to let Frances Rafferty and Dean Miller, who play the young married couple, have a child in the story because then we'd be just another family show. Our program is about a charming mother-in-law period.

"We try to see that the scripts never go to implausible extremes. For instance, we are careful not to get too saccharine and we try to present situations that happen in every day

▲ DEAN MILLER AND FRANCES RAFFERTY play the young married couple whose lives are influenced by a mother-in-law.

▲ SPRING GETS A HAIR-DO RETOUCH before going into a scene. She has given mothers-in-law a new lease on life with her very human and yet pixieish interpretation on "December Bride." The role means a good deal to Spring too because she is a mother-in-law herself in real life.

life instead of contrived stories. Some of the stories are based on things that happen in my own home. Recently, my wife's first boy friend came to town for a visit. From this we got the show where Spring has a date with a boy friend whom she could have married thirty-five years ago.

Leaves It Alone

"We're satisfied with the way 'December Bride' is going—and for that reason I will not tamper with it or let anyone else tamper with it. That's the trouble with many shows—people start fooling around with them and spoil them. I don't believe in changing a show that seems to be a hit. Besides, I don't think the American people like change. They're reluctant to embrace anything new, but once they give it their stamp of approval, that's it."

Gay Spirit

There's a very happy spirit on the set of "December Bride." Jerry Thorpe, the director, Freddie De Cordova, the producer, and the cast are like a chummy family—in fact, much happier than most families. Everyone seems to be able to laugh at himself and at the others. When Dean Miller, for instance, blows a line the gang says, "Next bus to Cincinnati," that being his home town.

Henry Morgan, whom Parke considers a topnotch actor, is probably the biggest clown.

Dean Miller has a habit of bringing his lunch to rehearsal every day—and in his box is always a hard-boiled egg. Henry switched the hard-boiled egg one day for a soft one, and you can imagine how surprised Dean was when he smashed the egg and it ran all over the place. He kept saying to Henry, "That's the funniest thing—I know I had two eggs in the refrigerator last night. I boiled one and I had one fried for breakfast. I'm sure I boiled that other one. Yes, I'm positive I did." And then the light dawned. He faced a dead-pan, nonchalant Henry Morgan and exclaimed, "You're the guy! You did it!" And proceeded to chase Henry around the stage.

Recently, Dean got a new Cadillac—a white job with red leather. Parke Levy offered to paint his lunch box white and red to match the Cadillac.

Such is the atmosphere on the set. Even when Spring, who is a perfectionist, starts carefully analyzing her script someone can always turn a serious moment into a laugh. There is no petty jealousy here either. Several times Spring has decided a laugh line shouldn't be given to her that it would be better for Verna Felton, who plays "Hilda." And Henry Morgan has occasionally told Dean how to read a line so that he will get a bigger laugh.

But "December Bride" is still noteworthy because it humanizes mother-in-law. That's something most people thought was an impossible task.

▼ THAT'S PARKE LEVY, producer-creator of the show, sort of hiding in the background between Dean and Frances. He created this CBS-TV program partly because he liked his own mother-in-law.

Has Radio Met Its Challenge?

Is radio dead? Has it settled for mediocrity? Norman Macdonnell, one of the medium's leading exponents, speaks frankly about this subject.

By Jon Bruce

IN ALL HONESTY, I cannot say that radio has met all of its challenges, but there are many qualifications to be considered."

Norman Macdonnell, who produces CBS radio's "Gunsmoke" and "Romance" series, was obviously being put in a difficult spot. Yet Norman is not one to sidestep any issue. As such, his views about radio's place in the present scheme of things were worth a listen.

"There's no question in anyone's mind that TV has made inroads into the listening habits of the nation," Norman went on. "As far as radio's concerned, it is a good deal more difficult now to sell a new show than it was a few years ago. A sponsor today wants to be sure of a big audience. The days when he would be willing to spend thousands and thousands of dollars to develop a new program are gone. Now, it's more of a case of a personality being salable. For example, the new Bing Crosby and the "Amos 'n' Andy" shows, which are catching on, are the products that get not only an audience but a sponsor. The days when "You Are There," the 'spectaculars' of radio, were the big things, are gone. The whole picture has changed.

"I can remember doing 'Big Town' when Edward G. Robinson and Claire Trevor were the stars. They got fabulous salaries in those days. Leith Stevens, the musical director, used to have eighteen pieces in his orchestra and had hours of rehearsal. Yet, today, 'Gunsmoke' is a fairly inexpensive show to produce. As is, to an extent, 'Night Watch.'

"Radio has changed recently. The standards in all fields are higher. I didn't realize how much this was so until I did 'Suspense' last summer. We were to do an old show one week and a new one another week. I could remember how I had considered some of the older programs we had done as excellent scripts. But in the light of present-day material, they seemed to be woefully inadequate.

"Radio writing is infinitely better today than it used to be. So is the acting caliber because actors, knowing how shaky the medium has been, are working harder than ever to give good performances. A few times on 'Gunsmoke' I've had actors who had the attitude of, 'Why worry—it's only for radio and radio is dead.' I've not used them again.

Two Factions

"There are really two factions in radio today—one which believes the medium has had it and the other, which is more idealistic, which believes it can rise to newer and greater heights. All I can say is that radio is doing a better job today than it has done before—when it goes in for programs other than the usual disc jockey thing. But it can still do better. There are, however, some defeatist attitudes about radio—and even some of this feeling is too much.

"There is no question that radio has lost much of its glamour. The pride and joy now is TV. But it is in daytime programming that radio seems to be holding its own. At least, the soap operas are still drawing down the high ratings."

Norman then delivered the telling blow—and one that TV producers had better realize as true.

"We on radio have begun more and more to realize that the script is the important thing. Then come the actors and the engineers. TV consistently forgets the importance of the script. Having worked with a capable writer like John Meston, who has done most of the 'Gunsmoke' scripts, I know how important good writing is. It is in good scripts that radio's future hopes lie.

"It would be nice to see shows like 'Columbia Workshop' back on the air again, but the days of experimental radio are gone. Yet, there is still an audience for radio. How else can you explain away the fact that radio made more money in the last quarter of the year than it had ever made before?"

"For a number of years radio supported TV in its growing stages. The shows now on the air are fewer than before but I believe they are better. Radio is still serving a large part of the nation, but to serve it properly it must prove its worth more conclusively. It must chart new paths, strive for stronger material, and step more firmly into the field of imagination. It can no longer continue to be a second cousin to TV. It has its place. And it will find and fill that place."

With men around like Norman Macdonnell, even though he and "Gunsmoke" are going on TV, maybe radio will put on the boxing gloves.

"Lucy"—P. M.—G. F.

Things happen fast in the "I Love Lucy" department. Series lost a sponsor (Philip Morris) on Friday and gained one on Monday (General Foods.) There's been lots of speculation down TV row as to why Philip Morris dropped this top-rated show. But the truth of the matter is that 1) After sponsoring "Lucy" for four years, P. M. decided to concentrate on some other and more flexible media. 2) Philip Morris is going in for the most intensive print advertising campaign they've had in the past twenty-two years. Instead of making commitments for a series of shows they will use newspapers and magazines on either a one-time or contract basis. 3) The cost element is also more flexible in the print media. The total cost of a single "I Love Lucy" show was close to $100,000.

Whether the cancer scare had anything to do with the Philip Morris action is a moot point because in addition to "Lucy" the sponsor picks up the tab for "Public Defender" and "My Little Margie" (radio) and who's to say which program brings in what revenue.

In any event the stars of the show are not getting gray hair over the matter. Desilu has two properties which may be "Lucy's" summer replacement. . . . Margaret and Barbara Whiting in "The Whiting Girls," or Rose Marie, Peggy Ryan and Ray McDonald in "Girls in Grease Paint."

Dancing Medalists

Last week's thrill-packed opening night crowd of 2234 dancers cheered the Sam Donahue directed great dance band of Billy May. The explosive dance stylings created by Billy May were well received and applauded, with fellow band-leaders Stan Kenton and Ray Anthony leading the applause on several outstanding numbers, all of which was televised on KTLA's "Palladium Dance Time."

Everybody agreed that the Billy May Orchestra is 'greater than ever,' with Sam Donahue the hard working and talented sax-tooting maestro spark-plugging the musical crew.

Marcie Miller, ex-Ray Anthony vocalist, made her debut with the Billy May band an outstanding success, and scored a personal hit with her excellent singing style that has won her popularity.

The Billy May Band with Sam Donahue will be starred at the Hollywood Palladium until Sunday, April 3, and will play a major part in the Tuesday Arthur Murray Medalist Ball which will be televised on KTLA, Channel 5, from 9:00 to 10:00 p.m.

Milani at Market

This week, on Saturday, March 19, KCOP's Chef Milani will make a personal appearance at Ralph's Market, 2024 East Tenth Street in Long Beach.

Second Glances (Critical Comment)

Point With Pride

... to Mary Martin's "Peter Pan" which an estimated 65 million persons enjoyed on NBC's "Producer's Showcase." The magic of "Peter Pan" and "Never neverland" was vividly adapted for television. It was an outstanding contribution to video fare, hitting a high mark in entertainment and superlative production.

... to "Man in Space," the first "Disneyland" adventure into "Tomorrowland." "Man" did a marvelous job of explaining the initial steps science and the human race must take to begin the exploration of space. The highly technical aspects were simplified for the layman in attractive pictorial fashion.

... to Roy Rogers and Dale Evans on "Person to Person" for one of the most genuinely sincere telecasts to date. Watching the western stars with their "children" project warmth and friendliness made this "Person" visit an unusually impressive one.

Dave Willock

Personable Dave Willock is featured in a new Saturday series titled "Dave Willock's Week-end Workshop" (Channel 4, 5:00 p.m.). Willock whose entire home is furnished with his own handywork, and who operates a business in the San Fernando Valley supplying residents with power tools for the home, demonstrates numerous do-it-yourself items.

The first program showed how to make a home work bench. Other programs in the series will cover window glazing, wood working, painting, refinishing furniture, bricklaying, wall-papering, plumbing, etc.

From time to time guests in the entertainment world appear on the program.

Oscar TVers

"Ford Theater" has been having a run on presenting Oscar winning stars on their video stanza. Oscar-owners Teresa Wright, Claire Trevor, Charles Coburn, Fay Bainter, Mercedes McCambridge, Broderick Crawford, Paul Muni and Edmund Gwenn have paraded their Academy Award talent on "Ford Theater."

Spring Byington Advice

The lovable mother-in-law on "December Bride," Spring Byington, offers two rules of advice to mothers-in-law who wish to be popular with their children:

1. "Don't ever descend upon the children's household for a sojourn of several days without first making sure that you're not intruding." 2. "Don't try to supervise your new daughter-in-law's efforts in the kitchen."

WHY WORRY AND WONDER?

Is the picture on your Television screen getting dimmer? Do you get the sound as clear and strong as it used to be? Are there any other little troubles which disturb your TV enjoyment?

Don't wait until your set breaks down and keep wondering in the meantime when it might do so.

That picture tube is quite an expensive item if it has to be replaced. Yet for only $10 for one full year Television Industries will write a warranty on your tube if she is working properly now.

Or if you prefer to have all parts guaranteed they will inspect your set without obligation and write a Parts Warranty for $15 per year, on a two year basis, covering all parts, tubes, transformers, channel selector unit, speaker and of course, the large picture tube, up to and including a 21-inch screen, regardless of age or make.

This warranty also incorporates a service agreement which provides that all labor charges are to be limited to a fixed price. All house calls for repair are charged at a flat rate of $3.50 per call. This is not an hourly rate but a fixed price.

There is much more behind your TV screen than meets the eye. A complicated layout with hundreds of electronic components has to develop approximately 19,000 volts to feed a 21-inch screen. With high voltage of that power anything could break down in your set at any time.

The wise thing to do is to make sure that your TV set is in good operating condition. It is better to be safe than to be sorry.

Television Industries covers all districts of Greater Los Angeles, San Diego, San Bernardino, Riverside, Pomona and nearby communities, Monday through Saturday, six days a week.

So, why worry and wonder? Call Television Industries at PR. 0301 for further information, or mail the coupon below to Television Industries, 4031 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 5, Calif.

Lifelines

BY EVELYN BIGSBY

LAST FRIDAY EVENING, KRCA broke in its spanking new color studios and facilities at Burbank—sort of a shake-down run preliminary to the NBC coast-to-coast ninety-minute extravaganza which will christen the plant on Sunday, March 27. Several weeks ago Lifeliner was one of the first to inform fans that Entertainment. 1955, was to be theme of the dedication telecast.

Already set for performances are Fred Allen (emcee), Dennis Day who'll help Fred do some "Allen's Alley" skits. Bob Hope, Milton Berle, Ralph Edwards, Dinah Shore and Judy Holliday. But even with the color studio right here at our doorstep, Southern Californians will still have to view the gala program at the unlikely hours, 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.!

STARTING SUNDAY AFTERNOON, APRIL 17, re-runs of "I Love Lucy" will be beamed on CBS-TV. Clever letter last week from publicity outfit in the East requested me to indicate my favorite "first Lucy shows." It seems editors are being asked (and thereby nudged into interest) to select sure-fire programs to give the series a good kick-off. How many of these can you remember? "Lucy Plays Cupid" (delivers note to groceryman, Edward Everett Horton, and starts complications); "The Benefit" (Lucy tricks Ricky into appearing at Ethel's club); "The Ballet" (Lucy does "Slowly I Turn" bit as a clown); "Young Fans" (Lucy and Ricky turn decrepit to discourage a couple of jitterbugs); "The Mustache" (Lucy gets stuck in a long beard); "The Lease" (The Ricardos stage a noisy session in effort to break their lease); "Lucy's Schedule" (Lucy rushes madly through a meal with Ricky and their guests).

THOUGH MORE RECENT, one of the Arnazes funniest shows, I think, had Lucy economizing by giving herself a home permanent and making herself a dress. This one ranks with some of the latest Hollywood sequences in hilarity.

"SORRY I CAN'T AGREE THAT 'Halls of Ivy' is not up to the radio presentation," writes Lillian Wiseman of Redlands. "I find it much more enjoyable and entertaining on TV. The humor is subtle and true and the comedian doesn't have to rely on nasty cracks, or poking fun at another performer, or show, in order to get laughs."

YOU HAVE A GOOD POINT ABOUT THE LAUGHS, L.W. My feeling was and is, however, that often the Halls' conversation is just too clever and that the doings of Mrs. Hall are so highly improbable that the farce is too thin. As I recall, Mrs. H. wasn't always taking over in the radio episodes, but maybe my recollections are frazzled.

STEVE ALLEN, GUEST OF HONOR at an NBC luncheon the day after the Emmy awards, told me he would have liked it if the huge turntable stage at Moulin Rouge, which got stuck after one of the production numbers, would have stayed that way. "It would have made more excitement," he opined. I checked with the Academy to find out why the stage presentations from Moulin Rouge were sandwiched into the heavy awards program. Some persons even thought these numbers might have been part of the deal required to get the restaurant-theater for the affair. Seems that the Academy gratefully accepted Mr. Sennes' offer of the extra entertainment, thinking being that the dancing would break up the monotony of the Emmy presentations. Personally, I felt they were out of place.

TO THOSE WHO CRITICISED the long break between national awards and local (at 11:15), I'd like to point out that if KRCA manager, Tom McCray, hadn't cancelled the costly "Robert Montgomery Presents," the people in Southern California wouldn't have seen the national awards "live," but by kinescope at 11 p.m. (the way San Francisco did) and the local awards not at all.

THOUGH SOME OF THE ANTICS, especially on the local telecast, verged on the undignified, the overall presentation was the best yet. Loved "Dan" DeFore's description, "exhausting, nerve-racking, but-oh-how-welcome-it television" . . . Steve's crack when the circular stage jammed, "first time I've exceeded a show on a grease rack" . . . Durante's sniffing at the first Price Waterhouse envelope, "don't care who wins but I'd sure like to meet da girl who sealed this up." . . . Danny Thomas's winning remark, "I've done many benefits; one's finally been done for me."

YOU'D NEVER HAVE RECOGNIZED Vampira in her silver wig. And you should have seen Voluptua and Loretta Young give one another the eye when they landed in the ladies' room simultaneously!

PERRY COMO, AN EMMY WINNER, was criticised for not being present (he was vacationing in Palm Springs). I understand he's badly in need of rest and didn't allow any interviews during his two weeks here. His absence from the Emmy affair didn't sit too well, regardless.

I'LL BE SURPRISED IF THE Motion Picture Academy's presentation will be anywhere near as much fun as the Emmy telecast. It'll be, by contrast, quite proper, even with Bob Hope emceeding. I'd personally like to see ATAS give up the unmanageable dinner preceding the awards telecast and concentrate on the Emmys. But even if this should happen another year and the telecast should be done from a theater, as is the AMPAS Oscar event,

Pick of the Pix

By Aubrey Dahl

I thought it most fitting that the Channel 9 movie series was awarded an Emmy for being the best local entertainment show, and now I think it would be a grand gesture on their part to forward their prize, or a reasonable facsimile, on to me. They'd never have got it if I hadn't mentioned their movies once or twice. By the way, Channel 9 has decided to re-run a few of the most requested films, beginning this week with "Letter From An Unknown Woman." If you didn't see it during its first weekly run, what the devil were you looking at, anyway? As for that local columnist who won two awards, what movies did he ever review, I'd like to know?

"Captive City." (5) Mar. 20, 7:30. John Forsythe is a small town newspaper reporter who stumbles across a crime syndicate setup in his sleepy village and has one deuce of a time exposing it. Most of the citizens are unaware that such a situation exists or are too unconcerned to care and it is not until a murder is committed and Forsythe gets the goods on one of the leaders that anything is done to restore law and order. This is an exciting, taut little thriller advancing the thesis that an apathetic public is the most contributing factor to a criminal society... or of a totalitarian society, I might add, so get out and vote, only be sure and vote the way I tell you.

"Gay Dog." (2) Mar. 23, 12, midnight. According to the publicity issued by the station, this picture stars a fellow name of Wilfred Pickles. Surely, he could have mustard up a better name than that.

"Private Life of Don Juan." (13) Mar. 24, 11:00. Channel 13 didn't get the name of their first run movie to us in time for me to say nasty things about it this week, so I'll write about this one, instead. Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. (he's Douglas Fairbanks, Jr's. father) essays the title role in this biography of the great lover, and included among his victims are Merle Oberon, Binnie Barnes and Benita Hume, as the wife who finally welcomes him back to her legal arms, but not until he has also performed dashing for her in the best Don Juan tradition. The message of this film is that the great lover was really only a figment of woman's imagination, that she became impressed by a minor reputation, and a wave of feminine pride and longing produced the legend. Now, if only I had a minor reputation.

Channel 7 showed an excellent Italian picture (with the usual abysmal English dialogue dubbing) last week, entitled, "Angelo," and I hope some of you saw it. We weren't notified of its scheduling, of course... they expect us to go through channels, I guess.

I think the TV Academy's program, due to television's intimacy, will always be less formal than motion picture's big night.

NIGHT AFTER THE EMMY AWARDS, a quiet little man showed up at Sherman Oaks' Little League Baseball to enroll his young son. He was quite unobtrusive and also quite concerned that the boy land a spot. And while he was behaving like an ordinary father, this man was probably turning down invites and offers for all kinds of fabulous things, because he was two-Emmy-owner, George Gobel.

FORMER KRCA COMMENTATOR George Todt and his missus are bursting proud of newcomer Michael Joseph Todt, born February 25.

KTTV, ALWAYS SENDING THE PRESS gimmick reminders of new programs, relayed one of its nastiest last week: a checked, double-visored cap which could mean only one thing—Sherlock Holmes.

HOLLAND'S TUNNEL

DUG BY Jack Holland

"Emmy" Impressions: It was, on the whole, a fine job the Academy did in the TV presentation of the "Emmy" awards. Although the program was too long and there were some highly peculiar categories for awards and some amazing winners, the net result was one that the TV industry can be proud of. As for the winners: was "I Love Lucy" deliberately slapped in the face? It would seem so. At first it looked as though the shows that took in all the awards in years past wouldn't be honored again. That would have explained "Lucy's" slight, but when "Dragnet" won three awards, there seemed only one answer—there was something funny somewhere. The most ridiculous award given "Dragnet" was the one for best original music composed for TV. And it won over "Amahl and the Night Visitors" which was composed by Gian Carlo Menotti and the fine "Medic" music by Victor Young. . . . Everyone was happy Danny Thomas and George Gobel won. . . . Awards that pleased me the most were those for "Lassie," Eleanor Powell, Robert Cummings, Loretta Young, George Putnam, and Paul Coates.

Bet the announcer who introduced Don DeFore as "Dan DeFore" really wanted to shoot himself. And he started the show off with that classic . . . Remember the "Emmy" that came up missing when Vivian Vance went up to get one for June Taylor? Seems that photos backstage had taken one statue for a prop for their pictures. As a result, about six winners got wrong "Emmys" but all was straightened out. . . . KNXT's much-deserved award as the outstanding station seems to have confused some who don't know just what the award was for. It was given for: (1) General excellence of programming; (2) outstanding public service of any sort to the community, including such things as public service and news coverage, special campaigns and service to charity; (3) outstanding contributions to the advancement of television, either in new and original programming, or in contribution to the advancement of TV techniques. A station can win the award, the first such award ever given, not for being tops in all three categories but for contributions made in one. KNXT has poured a great deal of money and time into cultural-educational programming with such programs as "Shakespeare on TV," "Learning, '54," "Cavalcade of Books," "Psychology on TV," and others.

Candid Views: The "Dragnet" episode of the raincoat and the guy who robbed mail boxes was the dull-est show ever done by this usually good program. What a drag this was to "Dragnet." . . . When the tunnel mentioned KNXT and George Putnam for their fine work on the recent telethon, Jack Rourke, who only organized the whole thing, was overlooked, purely by accident. Jack deserves all the credit possible for a great job. He's now being asked to manage other telethons. Wish he could get his own show here again. . . . Vine St.'s favorite tailor, Sy Devore, says that Liberace will have spent $1475 for a beaded tuxedo for his opening at the new Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas and that the tab for matching beaded shoes will be $125. Sy is making, too, a pale blue watered silk full dress suit for "Lee's" TV stints.

As promised in the last tunnel, here are the contents for the first aid kit and emergency food ration that Civil Defense recommends everyone have in his home. The facts were brought to light on Paul Coates' recent "Confidential File" show. The first aid kit should include: 3 to 6 oz. bottle of antiseptic solution Benzalkonium Chloride Solution or organic mercurial compounds in water; 1 to 2 oz. bottle of aromatic spirits of ammonia; 1 box table salt; 8 to 10 oz. box of baking soda; 4 triangular bandages, 37x37x52 in., folded, with two safety pins; 2 large bath towels; 2 small bath towels and 1 bed sheet; 2 medium first aid dressing 8 in. by 7½ in., folded, sterile with gauze enclosed cotton pads and packaged with muslin bandage and 4 safety pins; 2 small first aid dressing 4 in. by 7 in., folded, sterile, with gauze enclosed cotton pads and gauze bandage; 25 to 50 paper drinking cups; ½ to 1 oz. bottle with dropper for eye drops, castor oil; 1 flashlight; 15 safety pins, 1½ in. long; 3 razor blades, single edge; 1 bar toilet soap; 12 splints, plastic, wooden, ½ to ¾ in. thick, 3½ in. wide by 12 to 15 in. long; 12 tongue blades, wooden; bottle of 100 water purification tablets; 1 set measuring spoons. The Food Kit should contain for family of three: 9 cans evaporated milk (14½ oz. cans); ¾ can each of fruit juice; 4½ lbs. of one or more canned beans, fish, spaghetti, meat, peanut butter, or cream soup; graham, soda, melba toast, etc.—about 16 oz. dry cereals; coffee or tea; dried fruits (½ lb. each); ¼ lb. each sugar; packaged supplies: paper plates, paper cups, paper napkins, safety matches, plastic case containing dish cloth, sharp knife, can opener, spoons.

Radio in Review

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Radio Ramblings

Following the precedent set by "Reader's Digest" TV adaptations, "Saga" magazine, in cooperation with ABC, debuted an adventure dramatic series last week. "University of Chicago Round Table" is airing an extremely interesting symposium on Russian for the next few weeks (KFI, Sunday, 10:30 p.m.).

Martin Block has extended his show for an additional fifty-five minutes daily. . . . Art and Dottie Todd exit ABC after two years. . . . Ned Washington and Dimitri Tiomkin, Academy Award winners, have written a new identification song, "This Is The Station" for KFWE, commemorating the station's thirtieth anniversary.

Eric Sevareid, CBS Washington News Chief, received the George Polk Memorial Award for journalism. . . . Fulton Lewis, Jr. is visiting Spain and Germany, obtaining first hand news from those countries. . . . Eugene Ormandy conducts the Philadelphia Orchestra in a series of symphonic concerts on CBS.

The National Council of Churches intends to spend more than a million dollars this year on radio and television. . . . Tennessee Ernie was cited by the California Federation of Women's Clubs for his interest in civic affairs. Gary Crosby is also interested in Ernie but that's because young Mr. Crosby will sing on ol' Ernie's show thrice a week.

ABC is negotiating with Gladys Swarthout and her husband, Frank Chapman, for a weekly half-hour show to emanate from their villa outside Florence, Rome. . . . Woolworth's on the verge of a big CBS radio splurge. Audition of "What's New in Music?" with Percy Faith's orchestra, Macdonald Carey, emcee and guests from the music field is under construction. M.R.

Broadcasting Is Healthier

NBC's Myron J. Bennett finds microphones healthier than politics. The former Des Moines councilman won a lot of friends through radio, but some of them turned out to be of the fair weather variety the minute he entered politics.

Bennett, an extremely personable individual who has been in radio for more than twenty years, speaks candidly about the pitfalls of winning an election.

Before coming to the Coast, audiences in the middle west enjoyed Bennett's broadcasting of informal, casual, easy bits of humor, philosophy and just plain trivia. His charming mike manner, combined with his public service broadcasts, helped elect him to the Des Moines city council. He also served as Superintendent of Public Safety, which encompassed duties in the fire, police, health, building and traffic departments. In 1950 Bennett ran for the Governor of Iowa but was defeated by a very slim margin.

Bennett was happy to return to broadcasting because he had learned much to his chagrin that no matter what side you're on in politics, it's always the wrong one. Bennett dreams of the day when he can operate his own radio station in a small community, and flood the airmen with public service programs as well as top-notch entertaining shows.

Wearin' o' the Green

The "wearing of the green" will be quite in evidence on the airmen March 17. Among the many St. Patrick's Day festivities, Jack Bailey will conduct the popular "Queen For A Day" program before an all-Irish audience and the "Queen" will be gifted with a trip to Ireland. That is, in addition to receiving a host of prizes and the answer to her fondest wish.

IDENT

The Skylarks, one of the nation's top song crews, have recorded KFWB's brand new station identification theme. The new ditty was written especially for the station, now celebrating its thirtieth anniversary, by the 1953 Academy Award Winners, Dimitri Tiomkin and Ned Washington.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

Richard W. Jones, Arcadia.

Our family has always been fond of music, and especially of Guy Lombardo's. We think that he is wonderful on TV. I don't think that he can be beat, but we are curious from where he is being televised from. That guy Guy can't be beat.

They keep talking about Liberace, Liberace, Liberace. I think that he does know how to play the piano but as for the actor he has tried to be, he stinks!!

Leroy Rollins, Yucaipa.

Thanks for printing my letter. But you sure got me a lot of kidding and plenty of "Hi Ya TOM" besides several calls from serious persons who know I am an old orchestra man and who thought they had been misspelling my name all this time and calling me by my right name incorrectly.

My name is Rollins—and not Collins—as you had it in your publication.

Suppose some goof just messed it up while his mind was on some blonde for the weekend.

Personal note from bachelor Ted Hilgenstahler of our staff: "Sorry, Mr. Rollins, it was purely a typographical error. And it wasn't a blonde—it was a redhead."

Mrs. Charles Riach, Inglewood.

Thank you for taking up the question of the delayed kinnies of "Masquerade Party." I have stopped looking at that and "I've Got A Secret" until they are brought up to date. I don't think we should even have them a week late.

Mrs. L. E. Shriver, Compton.

Can you tell me if Bob Paige, of "Hollywood's Best" is any relation to Bill Page of the Lawrence Welk show? I think they somewhat resemble each other.

Although they may resemble each other in some ways, to our knowledge they are not related.

L. H. Perry, Los Angeles.

I've never written a letter to you as yet, but I got so mad when a recent correspondent ran down the Bob Cummings show. It's the best comedy show on TV. That's my opinion and the opinion of my wife, plus a lot of women at work.

Shirley D. Parker, Los Angeles.

They may say radio is dying a fast death, but as far as I'm concerned that last breath will never be drawn with programs like "Gunsmoke," "Night Watch," Tom Hanlon's "Merry-Go-Round" (for those who like to win swell prizes), "Orville's Tales," Hank Weaver's show and Ben Hunter's "The Other Side of the Day," still spilling over the air waves. Ben Hunter's show has many followers in the States, as well as overseas. They even had a very successful Ben Hunter Day in Banning.

Teressa Lockwood, Lennox.

Are Tony Martin and Dean Martin any relation?

No—but they do have two things in common—they're male singers who are making pretty good money.

JARVIS PERSONALS

Elaine W. and Carol H., Inglewood: Don't be man haters. Live a little.—A Friend.

C.M.: I want my cross back, and my picture, and don't speak to me ever again.—A Friend.

Joyce A.: If you don't stop talking on the phone then Shtiggy Boom to you.—Your Party Line.

Bill H.: Un-loose your mother's apron strings.—From a friend (a close friend)

Covina Chicks are like Sugar—CUBES!!! — Santa Barbara Boppers.

D.H. and G.B. are for the birds, Cheap! Cheap! Cheap!—E.M., El Segundo Jr. Hi.

Gale: Don't be a drip like the rain. Be a drop like me.—Wayne Myers, Palmdale.

Dollie: 2 y's UR 2 y's UB IC UR 2 y's 4 me.—Lollie, Fremont—See you at the Bus stop!

Jacky P.—Why don't you open up your eyes to Eljiras?—Les at that crazy school Slauson-Azusa.

"If It Hadn't Been for Them..."

"When I came to Hollywood some years back I had only $250 and absolutely no prospects for a job. If it hadn't been for the many people who have helped me I would not be where I am today—with a wonderful family, a beautiful home, and a job that gives me the greatest satisfaction."

So spoke George Sanders who is one of the busiest men on TV and radio. He does about twenty hours of television and about forty hours of radio a week. His TV shows include "Play Marco" and "Chico and Pablo" on KTLA, and the commercials for the fights. His radio endeavors are even more extensive—with his syndicated program, "Sanders Meanders" now on 243 stations, his KRKD stints, and other such efforts.

"People have definitely brought me all I have," George went on, "even my beautiful wife. I can't help wondering about the first girl who was kind to me when I went into a radio station looking for a job. She could so easily have said curtly, 'Nothing today' or given me a phony stall. Yet, she helped me to meet the man who hired me on my first job. And from that man came other contacts. It's all been like a chain reaction. So many have stepped in and out of my life in my ten years in Hollywood—and I owe them all so much.

TV Lessons

"I am sorry I haven't done more television than I have, but I am a very loyal fan of the medium. When I'm not on some channel I'm watching TV at home. I watch other announcers in order to learn something. People like Ed Reimers, Hugh Brundige, Nelson Case, and Rex Marshall are experts at their jobs and anyone could learn from them.

"Styles have changed so much recently as far as TV announcing is concerned, or, at least so I have noticed. What was good selling in 1949 is now in bad taste. Dignity is the key today—and I think it's about time.

"I think of all the lessons I've learned in my years in this business, the greatest is never to stop learning. Naturally, I have my ambitions, my goals, and one of my biggest is to do emcee work. In this line I think Art Linkletter and Dennis James are tops. Yet, in the final analysis, the best teachers of all are the audiences. They aren't afraid to write in and tell you you're terrible, if you are, and where you're bad."

Family Life

With George's heavy schedule there is one drawback—he has so little time to be with his family.

"I'm married to a beautiful and understanding woman, thank heavens," the very likable and personable George said honestly. "Helen certainly is a patient wife. We have three children, the last one, Stephen Gregg, was born on Washington's birthday of this year. The other two youngsters are George Marston, who is called 'Sandy' and doesn't know he has any other name, and Susan Tracy, who is a year and a half. We named her Tracy because her mother was playing the character of 'Tracy' in the play, 'Philadelphia Story' when I first fell in love with her. I'd love to be able to be with my children more, but I try to be a good father when I am able to be home."

George and his family live in a fifteen room, six bathroom home in Pasadena—and it's all paid for. As he laughingly says, "I guess we needed that much space in order to fill it with children." He then added rather seriously, "Helen and I want as many children as God will let us have."

George Sanders is one of those rare people who seems to have found complete happiness in life. And yet he never stops being grateful for all his blessings.

"I've done some acting in about fifteen pictures," he said quietly, "and people have wondered why I don't devote my time to movies, but, you see, I am thoroughly contented with my work in radio and TV. I don't need anything else. It's not that I'm not ambitious. It's just that I have no complaints. How could I have when so many people have been so kind to me? Why, if I were to list the names of all those who have helped me it would take a book. Don't ever tell me that anyone is ever a self-made man."

George Sanders has really found out how to live.

Bill

Liberace has revealed the secret to his success—he visits his piano teacher once a year and his dentist once a day.

A radio rating outfit phoned more than 12,000 men in the Los Angeles area and asked, "Who are you listening to right now?" Eighty-three percent of them answered, "My wife!"

One of the nice things about working in radio and television in a democracy is that we have complete control of how we shall pay our taxes—cash, check or money order.

Talking about having control, we have three controls on our TV set—my wife and two children.

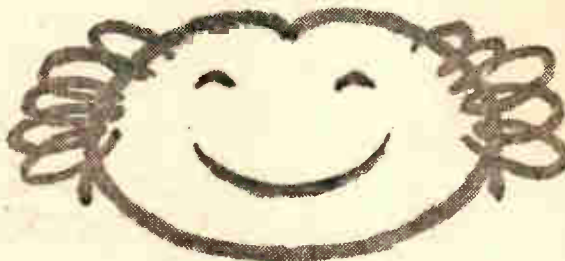

There are so many TV aerials in our neighborhood, the smog comes in shredded.

NEXT WEEK

Next week's issue of TV-Radio Life will feature Bob Hope on the cover with a complete run-down of the plans for the TV coverage of the motion picture Academy Awards. Predictions will also be made as to the winners of the various "Oscars."

Also in this issue will be a revealing story on "The Lone Ranger," an intimate profile of Art Carney from the Jackie Gleason Show, a provocative defense of teen-agers by Al Jarvis, and stories on Ken Murray and "Death Valley Days."

As usual, our regular columnists will be around with their pungent comments. Another star-studded issue which is further proof that TV-Radio Life is "The Best Buy in Town." Don't forget to pick up your copy at your favorite market.

Man-to-Man

by Ted Hilgenstuhler

"Emmy" hang-overs — and I ain't kidding:

Mainly through the efforts of President Don DeFore and the entire "working" staff of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences—a great success. There's still too much yuk-yuk by comedians who can't resist the temptation to hog the spotlight and the entire affair still lacks the dignity that it should have.

However, for the first coast-to-coast telecast, it was a great step forward in giving the awards the recognition they deserve.

As Don explained to me after the show, "I was happy and honored to serve as President this past year—but I'm glad it's all over."

For the men in the audience, the most memorable "presenter" was tall, brunette, and beautiful Barbara Britton. Not an eye in the crowd missed a step of her walk as she strutted on and off stage in an ankle-length, slinky black dress. Too many Hollywood hopefuls and starlets looked gaudy and cheap because they are over-made and under-clothed. To her credit and good taste, Miss Britton's appearance was sex-personified and not sex-overemphasized. Truthfully, I've never seen her on television, but she can sign me up for her fan club anytime she wants.

Speaking of women, (and when speaking "man to man" what else is there better to talk about?) also had another interesting encounter after the "Emmy" show. I sat alone at the Moulin Rouge bar. Three empty seats away was a dark-haired, striking-looking creature, whom I judged to be in her early twenties. First, she bummed a light. Then she explained her "boyfriend" had gone home—leaving her alone. She didn't seem too unhappy about it. Neither was I. (Doesn't this sound romantic?)

Oh yes—she finally told me who she was: Joanne Rio, Liberace's ex-girlfriend. ("Lee" did not attend the "Emmy" show.) Not having any musical talent, I tried the next best thing—my charm, wit, and intelligence. We both rode home—alone.

In-The-Know Department: Don't quote me, but it looks like boxing fans are going to have their Saturday night fights from the Hollywood Legion on TV again. Watch for the KHJ-TV, Channel 9 to telecast the entire card each and every Saturday night starting on April 9.

That's when the last Channel 9 Movie Theater will run, and with baseball going on in the afternoon, it leaves an opening at night.

For this one—don't blame me if you lose your shirt— but the Western Harness Racing Association is going full blast at Santa Anita Park and lasts until April 7. Post time: 1:30 p.m. weekdays; 1:00 p.m. Saturdays. The 19-day meet offers $350,000 in purses for the greatest trotters and pacers, and the formost drivers. Even if you don't like to gamble, it's a nice place to spend an afternoon.

Beverly Hills to me is just a place on the map, but if you happen to be in the neighborhood of the Keyboard Supper Club drop in and say "hello" to Earl Maltby, the boss, and deejay Art LaBoe at the Keyboard Supper Club.

Finally, if you happen to be in Hollywood some afternoon, and if you happen to be of the opposite sex, and of course, young, rich, and beautiful, then you can also drop in and say "hello" to me. I'm such a sport and a wheel that I'll get tickets and take you to the biggest shows in town—and it won't cost a dime. (Thanks to the local TV and radio studios.)

"BANDSTAND REVUE POLL"

The following list was compiled by KTLA, from a survey of disc jockeys and record sales and were presented as the "top twenty-five" songs on "Bandstand Revue" on Sunday night, March 13, by regulars Leighton Noble and his band, Anita Gordon, the McDonald Sisters, the Mercer Brothers, Russ Adams, and top recording artists.

Some Inside Tips On TV Boxing

Here are the basic facts and rules for fans who enjoy boxing bouts on television.

By Russ Hodges

(Ringside Reporter for "Pabst Blue Ribbon Bouts")

MY BUSINESS isn't rating television audiences, nor is it making predictions, but I can safely say a lot of people will be watching this Wednesday night when CBS-TV telecasts another exclusive "Pabst Blue Ribbon Bout."

(In Southern California the popular matches, which are telecast each week from locations all over the United States, are seen at 7 p.m. over KNXT, Channel 2.)

Moreover, I can say positively that part of the audience will be people who have never watched fights on TV; others will be amateurs at the art of viewing a fight broadcast; others will be women whose enthusiasm is high but whose background and knowledge of fight lore is low; and still others will be the large majority of true fight fans who know all about boxing but still don't know how to get the most enjoyment out of watching a fight on television.

Inside Stuff

For the benefit of all these, I would like to set forth the following basic facts and rules for all who watch boxing on television:

Boxer's trunks . . . are always black and white to make it easier to distinguish the fighters. Made of glossy rayon.

Boxing gloves . . . made of soft sheepskin, colored deep maroon, and filled with horsehair padding. They weigh eight ounces each, but for championship bouts they are made in six-ounce weights.

Mouthpieces . . . made of latex rubber, pliable but protective, designed to protect teeth and prevent cut lips. In training, fighters also wear various kinds of protective headgear made especially to protect skull, ears, nose and mouth.

Silent, Solid Punches

The Winner . . . A knockout, or a technical knockout (called by the referee), is clear indication of winner. If there is no knockout, a decision is rendered by two judges and a referee, who cast their votes at the end of each round. Fighters win rounds by trying harder, hitting harder and more often than their opponents.

Viewing tactics . . . Don't flinch at the loud, noisy blows—they usually land on glove or elbow. It's the silent, solid punches that hurt most. Watch for wobbly legs, usual sign of an impending knockdown or a knockout. Main sign of a tiring fighter is dropping of arms. Most important, never take your eyes away from the screen during a round—it only takes a second for the winning blow to land and ten more for the fight to end.

TV's Bright New

By Ted Hilgenstuhler

WHEN TELEVISION appeared upon the American horizon, it gave a wonderful and unprecedented opportunity to many bright new starlets to become overnight sensations.

Every girl born with talent and/or beauty, at one time or another dreams of becoming a big name in some phase of show business. For years, Hollywood, the motion picture capital of the world, was the ideal goal.

Hollywood, however (then as now) has always had one major drawback for career girls. The field is very limited. Based upon the long-standing "star system," major studios have concentrated on a handful of top names for their big pictures. From Pickford to Crawford to Monroe, it's an old story. For a place in the Hollywood Hall of Feminine Fame, "many are called, but few are chosen."

In many respects, the world of television operates on the same basis. It's still true for TV that "many are called but few are chosen." Yet, the chances on TV are, on the whole, better for the unknowns.

Television has the mass quantity that the motion picture industry never had. Whereas, in the motion picture business one movie is seen a thousand times in a thousand different places for many years, in television a dozen or more different shows are seen in one night.

The obvious conclusion: a greater outlet for sharp and shapely gals to strut their stuff.

Figures; Some Facts

One of the most recent and best examples of this was the case of Leigh Snowden. The blonde, blue-eyed beauty did a "walk-on" on a Jack Benny TV show and virtually stole the show from the world-famous comedian. The twenty-two-year-old star set 20,000 sailors and a good deal of the nation's TV audience on their ears when she ambled across the stage in front of Benny when he was entertaining at a Naval base. Two weeks later she was signed by Universal-International to a long-term contract and awarded a prominent role.

Sexy Snowden is only one of many new starlets that television is grooming for stardom. There's tall, torrid Joan Shawlee who launched a whole new career after her discovery by Bob Hope on the "Colgate Comedy Hour." Since Hope's introduction of the long-legged comedienne on his show, Joan has been in demand for appearances on practically every top

Stars

More than any industry, television has given new hope to girls who want to be stars. Here are some facts, figures (mostly figures) who have set tongues wagging and eyes popping.

network program emanating from Hollywood.

"I was lucky enough to get my own show," Joan explains. "a series called 'Aggie' about an American girl's adventures in Europe, which will hit the TV screens this spring. Now my ambition is to prove that I can do something else besides play comedy. Like any actress, I yearn for a variety of roles that might show I'm a dramatic actress as well as a comedienne."

Dramatic Field

In the dramatic field, Beverly Garland was such a success on the premiere telecast of "Medic" (she played the mother who died of leukemia) that Warner Brothers signed her to play the lead in their picture, "I Died a Thousand Times."

Dorothy Green is another young lady to keep your eyes on. (Really not too much of a problem there.) She has appeared regularly in "Pepsi-Cola Playhouse" and is being groomed for bigger and better roles.

Combining both music and drama, Marjie Millar ("Susan" on the ABC-TV Ray Bolger Show) has been acclaimed by the critics and the public as "a star to watch" ever since her debut in the Fall of 1954.

The slender, blue-eyed blonde plans to marry Johnny Floreo soon. "I know in my heart I can combine marriage and a career," she says. "I have definite ambitions to do serious dramatic work in television and the height of my ambition would be to play a solid, serious role in a Broadway play."

Another bright starlet on the ABC-TV lot is Merry Anders, who plays the role of "Joyce" on the Stu Erwin Show. She also wants to become a dramatic actress. "For now, I'm happy in the thought that I'm in the enviable position of being old enough to play a dewy-eyed bride in television, and young enough to develop my career with the maturing of this great medium."

TV's younger generation also has its share of Shirley Temples. Jymme Shore is the eleven-year-old singing star on NBC-TV's Pinky Lee Show. Her Dad wanted a boy—that's where Jymme comes from. However, Pinky changed that after her first day on his show. He liked the name Susabelle for his new singer, and he calls her that on the air. Despite her tender years, Jymme has definite ambitions: "I want to be tops in show business."

One of the highlights on KTLA's "Western Varieties" every Friday night is the appearance of the twelve-year-old twins, "The Twin Tones." So far, Patti and Penny have not allowed their singing careers to interfere with their normal school work. Their parents feel that a public school is the best thing for the girls and won't consider a private school.

Another "queen" to watch is Kathy Cook, model on Jack Bailey's daily "Queen for a Day" show on KHJ-TV. "Miss Utah of 1953" came to Hollywood last year to make a guest appearance on Jack's program, and ended up with a steady job as Jeanne Cagney's assistant.

Over at KCOP pretty Peggy Connelly has gained attention for her singing stint on the "Lucky 7-11" show, starring Harry Babbitt. Oddly enough, at the present moment Peggy is not interested in motion pictures. The five feet four inch brunette wants to concentrate on TV and records, feeling this will give her more experience and greater immediate acceptance by the public. Peggy is single, only twenty-one, and is keeping her eyes wide open for the right man.

These are only a few of the bright new starlets on the television scene. Next year (let's face it) many promising names of today may fade into oblivion.

Whether tomorrow brings fame or famine to these and other feminine hopefuls, they can all say that TV at least gave them the chance.

Out

▲ MRS. ANN BAKER LONG, "Corliss Archer" to you, gets a surprise call from teen-age boy friend "Dexter," who has a penchant for getting into mischief.

▲ ANN BAKER GETS some emoting advice from beautiful Mary Brian, one of the screen's loveliest leading ladies of yesteryear, who came out of retirement to play the role of "Mrs. Archer" in the popular KRCA teleseries.

Ann Baker portrays teen-ager "Corliss Archer" so convincingly that people never think of her as being a married woman.

By

Mildred Ross

▲ ANN RELAXES in her Van Nuys home where she blissfully goes about her duties as Mrs. Earl Long, wife of a prominent building contractor who unwittingly miscues her whenever she's studying her scripts. (NBC photos.)

PRETTY, PIQUANT, provocative Ann Baker unwittingly kept her marriage a secret for almost a year. But the young star of KRCA's "Corliss Archer" series is happy that her secret's out now.

No one ever assumed that the bubbling, blonde effervescent Ann was married. Both on and off camera Ann seems so much like a refreshing teen-ager that people just assumed she hadn't crossed the threshold of marriage.

Ann and her husband-to-be, Earl Long, were waiting out a decision as to whether or not she would be given the role of "Corliss" in the video adaptation of the popular radio series. After six months of agonizing waiting for the studio to make up their minds they decided to go ahead with their often postponed marriage. Tying the wedding knot worked like a charm. Within a week after they were married Ann was notified to report to Ziv TV Productions to star in the "Corliss Archer" series.

Confusion

"I was slightly confused by the unexpected turn of events," Ann confessed, "and decided to say nothing about my marriage until the series got under way. To avoid complications and questions I started to lead a very quiet life. I blamed my curtailed social activity on heavy tele-filming schedules. To discourage persistent suitors I had to have all my telephone calls screened. I was fast becoming the most unsocial 'single' girl in the entire industry. But, whenever the occasion demanded, Mr. Long was always on hand to squire Miss Baker about.

Correction

"As time went on, I found it increasingly awkward to break the news of my marriage. But this frustrating situation came to a surprising and abrupt end one day. I had concluded a routine interview with one of the nation's top columnists, who had jumped to the conclusion that I was not married. When his column was printed in my hometown paper in Sedalia, Missouri, a conscientious member of the community penned a note to the columnist and set him straight on a few marital facts concerning Ann Baker Long. Once the veil of secrecy was lifted the papers from coast to coast picked up the 'surprising' news and I heaved a big sigh of relief."

Blonde, hazel-eyed, slim Ann is one of eleven children and she's always dreamed of a show business career, but she had planned to be a musician. Her first break occurred when she was chosen Queen to reign over some movie premiere festivities. After her "queenly" assignment, Ann decided to try modeling and to date she has appeared on more than fifty magazine covers. The pretty lass can be seen in the movie "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" and other pictures not yet ready for release.

But now that the unintentional secret is out Ann boastfully states that she happily combines being twenty-two-year old Mrs. Long, wife of a prominent building contractor, and "Corliss Archer" the perennial teen-ager.

Kids? No Kidding -- He Loves 'Em

Despite the fact that "Captain Jet" is surrounded by kids twenty-four hours a day, he seldom becomes annoyed by their antics.

▲ AT HOME OR AT WORK, "Captain Jet" of KNXT is always surrounded by kids. In addition to his thousands of fans, he has six children of his own.

SURE, KIDS are wonderful. No man can deny that.

But there are times when the most precious of the little darlings seem to turn into annoying, shrieking small monsters.

Even the most devoted parents have to admit that there are moments when they would relish a few days or hours of peace and quiet.

As a general rule the little lady in the house has a full-time job taking care of the children, while "poppa" takes a "vacation" at work.

Not so with Dal McKennon—better known to thousands of children as plain "Captain Jet." During the past two years the "king of the kids" has built up a fantastic rating and audience for his daily KNXT "Space Funnies" program.

Kids, Kids, Everywhere

Everywhere "Captain Jet" goes he's surrounded by starry-eyed children—on numerous guest appearances and particularly on his own show. In addition to that, Dal has six (that's right, count 'em), six of his own children ranging in age from two to eleven. To paraphrase the famous Rudyard Kipling, "Captain Jet" has "kids to the right of him, kids to the left of him, kids in front of him." . . . Nothing but kids, kids, kids, wherever he goes.

Oddly enough, and with certain exceptions, the KNXT star doesn't mind it at all.

March 18, 1955

"Kids are the complete spice of life. I never become annoyed with a child—except my own sometimes. I try to be a good father, and there are times when you must be strict," Dal explains.

"The only kids I ever get tired of in my work are the ones I cannot legitimately handle when they are on my show or at home. But when the parents are along and are supposed to be in control, and then the children get out of hand — that's when I get annoyed.

"Actually, I never become annoyed at the children, but more at the parents because they don't exercise the proper controls over their own children.

"If I have a 'monster' on my show with me I'll stop whatever I'm doing and play with him. In this way, the child realizes that I understand him and that I'd rather play with him than bawl him out. Pretty soon he becomes attentive again."

"Zoom"

There are a few "occupational hazards" to "Captain Jet's" job. Wherever he goes he has to keep in character and wear his famed space suit and helmet. Naturally, he invariably takes a ribbing from many adults, especially when they tease him about his favorite "zoom" expression.

"If they start making fun of me, I just 'zoom' them right back," Dal says.

▲ CAPTAIN JET (right) with another KNXT personality, Peter Potter, and his wife, Beryl Davis, and son Bill.

"In my 'Jet' costume, there are times when I feel silly with the adults—but never with the kids.

"I always try to stay on the same level as the children. If you think like a kid and act like a kid, they will never give you any trouble."

Some adults and parents, who never seem to get along with children might try this advice from the "Captain" and see how it works. In more ways than one, it has proven to be a parental and financial success formula for Dal McKennon.
