Mrs. M.H.H., Wilmington

May I, one of the million Bob Crosby fans gripe, complain, kick up a fuss, express my disappointment due to the fact that our favorite daytime show and one that had a lot more talent and entertainment than many of the night TV shows ever thought of having, namely the Bob Crosby show, has been taken off our TV screens.

As for their replacement — Verdict Is Your — pardon me, while I hold my nose and switch to another channel.

ED SULLIVAN

... panned and praised

A.L.M., Los Angeles

I surely burn up when people take time to write in and knock Ed Sullivan's program. I am sure most of the men like Ed, as most men are always interested in sports and news. I, and everyone I know, would not miss his show.

Mrs. E.S., San Diego

I dislike Ed Sullivan and Jack Benny. But for acting, clean drama (no horror, drunkenness or killing) but a real pleasure to watch is As the World Turns.

STAN FREBERG

... more crust than pie?

LAWRENCE WELK

... object of Freberg satire

Mrs. M.G., Los Angeles

That Stan Freberg has more crust than a pie factory. The idea of him making fun of Mr. Lawrence Welk. Maybe Stan Freberg thinks he's smart. But he's not smart at all.

N.A., Fontana

I disagree that Wyatt Earp is slipping. I think Hugh O'Brian is on top to stay.

Mrs. D.E.W., Santa Ana

I spent a most enjoyable half hour last night watching Nat "King" Cole's program. I've long been a great admirer of his anyway, have enjoyed his show very much, and hope it continues for a long time.

Mrs. J.K., San Diego

I suppose TV stars must have a vacation, but I don't see why so many of the good ones must take it at the same time.

Many of us are unable to take vacations and we depend on TV for our pleasure and entertainment in the summer just as much as we do in the winter. We got awfully sick of those repeats.

Let us sincerely hope that next summer will be better.

We have but one, one-word comment: "Ditto." The programs this past summer of TV were far below standard.

Mrs. H.B., Glendale

I am 76 years old, and a great grandmother. I trip to keep up with the programs. Give Elvis Presley a boost. He is, I think, worthy of it, only young, and full of life.

Mrs. J.L., Riverside

Much praise to Channel 7 on its show, American Bandstand, which comes out of Philadelphia each day. I hope the program is not limited to the younger set only, because I'm no teenager.

R.D.L., Van Nuys

This is the first letter of this kind I have ever written mainly because nothing has ever bothered me before about TV programs taken off the air. However, when Christopher Storm's Cross Current went off, it really made my blood boil!

We consider it one, if not "the" finest program on TV. This program is not only suspenseful, but it has everything — humor, drama, education and some of the finest acting I have ever seen.

TALES OF TOMBSTONE TERRITORY

When they say this new ABC-KABC-TV series is an authentic western, the producers can prove it with hundreds of volumes of background material

By Jean Corlis

DESPITE its name, Tombstone, Arizona is definitely not a ghost town, its epitaph is yet to be written, and still being printed is the newspaper which in the heyday of the town's fame recorded the drama and lawlessness of the Territory. For the town of which it was said, "A man's future was only as good as his draw," the name of the paper was predestined — the Tombstone Epitaph.

Andy White, writer, and his co-producer Frank Pittman (well known for their work on Fibber McGee and Molly and Great Gildersleeve), are former residents of Arizona. They became fascinated with the lore of the Southwest, and in particular with the history of Tombstone as recorded in the pages of the Epitaph.

As Pittman remarked, "We both shared a gnawing feeling that a truly great story was to be found in the history of The Territory — a story not touched by superficial, Hollywood-projected westerns. We found our story in the files of the Epitaph."

Documented

To back up that story, White and Pittman collected some 1,500 volumes of official documents, letters, personal papers and all the issues of the Epitaph from 1879 to 1890 on microfilm. From these papers they recreated the stories of men and women who actually lived and died in Tombstone. To create the role of Sheriff Clay Hollister, Andy White constructed a biography from a composite of the characteristics and deeds of the sheriffs who attempted to bring law and order to The Territory. Not for publication, the full length book is a piece of background material which Andy White and Frank Pittman have used to insure authenticity.

Portraying the part of Sheriff Clay Hollister is Pat Conway, a ruggedly handsome, blue-eyed young man, 6' 1" tall. Pat is the grandson of Francis X. Bushman and son of the late Jack Conway, noted Hollywood director.

"Dad was a western actor when he first came to Hollywood from the Midwest," Pat said. "Though he didn't want me to be an actor he taught me to ride and do rope tricks when I was eight. He didn't encourage me because he felt I knew nothing of the heart-break and discouragement which so many actors experience. Because of the success of my grandfather and my father I had seen only the good side of a Hollywood career. However, when I did make up my mind to become an actor he put no obstacles in my way. As things turned out he lived to see me sign a contract with Metro, and I'm sure he would have been happy about my role as Sheriff Clay Hollister."

PAT CONWAY AS SHERIFF CLAY HOLLISTER, Pamela Duncan as what else? — a girl — and Richard Eastham as Editor Claibourne Harris, relaxing between takes on the set of KABC-TV's Tombstone Territory.

PAT CONWAY and grizzled friend seem to find something amusing as they stop for a rest.

Romance

Pat's mother, Virginia Bushman Conway, is one of Francis X. Bushman's five children by his first marriage. When Virginia and her sister Lenore were graduated from a convent school in the East they came to Hollywood for a visit. While on one of the studio sets watching their brother Ralph in a movie, they met Jack Conway, who was directing it. Jack spotted the beautiful redhead and six weeks later they were married.

Pat's greatest fan is his brother, who is three years older, and not interested in show business except for Pat's career. A sister, who lives in New York, is a story editor for Matinee Theater.

After junior college Pat studied at the Pasadena Playhouse, then went to London where he continued his training at the famous "Old Vic" theater. Tapped for military service in 1950, he did a hitch with the Marines and then returned to Hollywood. After getting his feet wet in television with appearances in a great many individual shows, Pat was selected for the leading role in Tombstone Territory.

Narrator of the tales is Claibourne Harris, fictionalized editor of the Epitaph, played by Richard Eastham. Extremely personable, Eastham, a native of Louisiana, studied in New York for a singing career until World War II. After service in Europe, Richard returned to his studies, but it wasn't until 1951 that his big chance came, when he was selected to understudy Ezio Pinza in South Pacific. When Pinza became ill, Richard sang the role opposite Mary Martin for 52 performances. He then toured in the South Pacific road show with Janet Blair for two years. Since that time he has appeared in several movies, but except for guest appearances on TV shows, Richard hasn't had a singing role since coming to Hollywood.

From the pages of the Tombstone Epitaph, the people of today can truly learn what it was like to live in the Southwest of 75 years ago and what a debt of gratitude is owed to the sheriffs of that era, symbolized by Clay Hollister.

No Wonder Everyone Loves

By Jack Holland

MARY MARTIN was in town playing "South Pacific" again, which was to be followed by "Annie Get Your Gun." Sitting in her dressing room, her hair close-cropped for her role, and being her usual enthusiastic, sparkling self, Mary was indeed cutting an irresistible figure.

She didn't talk about her NBC-KRCA spectacular version of "Annie Get Your Gun" first. Instead, she was more interested in comments about her son, Larry Higman, and her daughter Heller.

"Larry is 25 now and seems determined to be an actor," Mary beamed proudly. "He was going to be a doctor at one time and vowed he'd never go on stage. Now he has the bug and is doing quite well in New York.

"Heller, on the other hand, began acting when she was five. That's when she was in 'Annie' with me. Of course, she did 'Peter Pan' too and was on the TV version of 'Skin of Our Teeth.' But now she has decided she wants nothing more to do with acting for the time being anyway. She wants to be educated. In fact, she looks on the theatre now with a sort of superior attitude. Frankly, I don't know what to make of my two children. I've given up trying to figure out what they want to do. When I was five I knew what I wanted to do, and I figured that all young people were as definite about their future as I was. Seems this isn't so.

"Heller is a little star-struck, though, and this I found out when I took her to MGM one day with me to see a doctor I know there. While the doctor was checking me, Heller kept looking around hoping to see some actor drift by. Finally, she turned to the doctor and asked, 'Do any stars pass by here?'

"He looked at her, and then remarked, 'The biggest star of them all is here in this room.' Heller smiled, 'Oh, I've seen her.' That's how I rate at home."

Mary was also very elated about the new life she has found for herself as co-owner with her husband, Richard Halliday, of a coffee plantation in Brazil. When they bought the place there were 25,000 trees on the property. Since then they put in 25,000 more. For eight months last year, Mary and her husband lived on the plantation — and reveled in the solitude. All during that time they didn't see any newspaper and had very little contact with the outside world.

"It was a thrilling experience," Mary said enthusiastically. "For one thing, I got quite domestic there. I even learned how to cook on a wood stove. Now I can do just about everything in the cooking department. I can also pick coffee, grind it, and make some of the best coffee you ever tasted — right from our own trees. During my stay there I learned Portuguese too since that was the language spoken by most of our help.

"In addition to our place in Brazil, Richard and I have a home in Connecticut — actually three houses there — and a house in New York. There is also one in San Francisco. But we're never in any of them since we somehow seem to be on the road so much. When I stayed in Los Angeles I rented a motel at the beach in order to get some rest.

"Richard and I must have gypsy blood in us. We love the various homes we have but like to keep moving. Most of the property we have was purchased for investments, though, so it's not nearly as mad as it sounds.

"Frankly, though, I am so glad to be back to work. After my long vacation I was like a fourth of July firecracker ready to explode. I couldn't wait to get on stage again. That eight months rest I had was the first I'd had since I was 19 and I was raring to get back into harness.

"I can't wait to do 'Annie Get Your Gun' on TV. I wanted to do it last year but I wanted to do it as a stage production first and then do it on TV. I felt this was the reason Peter Pan was so successful — we took it from the stage right on to a TV set.

"The mere fact that I did 'Peter Pan' has amazed me, because for a long time I had wanted to do it but had never managed to get around to it. Then when I thought it had been done so much that no one would want to see it again, I got the offer from Edwin Lester at the Civic Light Opera here and I did it. Its success on TV has been a most gratifying thing.

"I am still getting mail from youngsters — and parents about it. Some write me, 'Dear Peter . . . They think of me in their own special way too, so much so that when I did 'Born Yesterday' on TV I got thousands of letters from fans telling me that I should never let anyone cast me in such a part again. None of these people blamed me for doing the part — and I wanted to do it. The fans are so protective of me!

"The mail I get is most enlightening anyway. The letters from 'Peter Pan' were enough to warm my heart for the rest of my life, but my favorite letter was one from a 12 year old girl who wrote: 'I saw "The Skin of Our Teeth" — that's because my father is a dentist'."

Then Mary added, "The funny thing about my mail is this — no one seems to want to know much about me. They all just want me to come have dinner with them."

Mary expects "Annie Get Your Gun" to have as much appeal for children and adults alike as did "Peter Pan." As she points out, "After all, it is exciting — with its Indians and guns and its comedy. This one will be a real chore for me since I have 11 songs to sing in the show. I am not worried, however, about the possibility that people might not tune in 'Annie' since it has been played before. I think they'll still want to see it — just as was the case with 'South Pacific' here in Los Angeles which broke all records even after having played here three times before."

To keep up her energy and vitality, Mary takes good care of herself. She says she trains like a fighter. She exercises every day, if anything gets wrong with her — no matter how small — she goes to a doctor at once.

"And something's going wrong most the time," Mary laughed. "However, I eat the right foods, I sleep between eight and ten hours a night, and I enjoy life. That's the big thing, I think. Oh, I get keyed up and nervous — especially on Saturday night after a week's run. It takes me a while to unwind. And I am a worrier. In fact, Oscar Hammerstein has called me 'The best worrier' he ever knew. But none of this bothers me because I have an absolute joy of working."

In addition to her activities already scheduled, Mary also plans in December to make record albums for children for Disney. She will do the songs from "Snow White," "Sleeping Beauty," and others.

Mary credits her happy and full and successful life to one person — Richard Halliday, her husband, who is her manager, her producer, her everything.

"He's the greatest thing that ever happened to me," she said. "We both think alike. When we first went into business together we did a show that flopped and closed out of town. But after that came 'One Touch of Venus,' and successes seemed to happen quite regularly. Richard runs all the business. He even takes care of the house. He does all the detailed work while I just perform. He didn't have a white hair in his head when we got married. Now it's silver."

As for Mary's close-cropped hair, she intends to keep it short.

"It's so easy to take care of this way," she grinned.

Mary had to go on stage. She was just as bubbly as when she first started talking. She sums up her life pretty well when she said, "I may get tired at times, but I'll never retire."

This captivating, enchanting star will never be a damp fuse. She'll always be exploding with her great talent.

The Fabulous 52

Channel 2's weekly celluloid spectacular has changed the recreation habits of over a million people

By Aubrey Dahl

JOAN FONTAINE, a svelte Orson Welles and a small Margaret O'Brien in a scene from the Twentieth Century Fox classic, "Jane Eyre," recently on Fabulous 52.

LEW AYRES AND JANE WYMAN who won an Academy Award for her performance in "Johnny Belinda," upcoming on Fabulous 52.

While much of the success of the program must be attributed to the fact that these movies are really class productions, the top output of such factories as Warner Brothers, Twentieth Century Fox, United Artists and Universal International, a great deal of the credit goes simply to the public's almost insatiable affection for the feature motion picture.

Every late evening, hundreds of thousands of Southern California citizens sigh with relief as the frantic half-hour bids for their attention go off the air and they are able at last to turn to a movie, an hour and a half product of the minds and talents of five, ten, twenty years ago. Or maybe thirty. No matter how bad for its time, how cruelly it suffered at the hands of fans and critics, the old movie is eagerly looked forward to as the one thing that seemingly may be obtained for nothing. Admission was charged at one time; now it is free.

The Dragnets, Person to Persons, Playhouse 90s, are all the property of the TV viewer by rights, they are the products of the medium. But the movie... ah, that's different. It was made for a different purpose, for a theatre, with a collective audience and the TV viewer really has no right to it at all. But he's getting it... and only for the price of a commercial he usually welcomes as a chance to leave the room for a moment.

Future Unlimited

And the movie asks so little. It doesn't require exclusive attention. It doesn't ask that you be able to discuss and analyze it the next day, as you are the previous night's "hot" program of whatever network. You can relax and enjoy. You can remember not only the movie, which you've probably seen before, but the events surrounding your first experience with it, the people you knew, the job you had, the place you were. The movie has become the great, undemanding peaceful refuge of the TV viewer and as such its popularity will continue undiminished for years.

Fabulous 52 offers not only refuge, however, but, for the most part, entertainment of a quality and on a scale not usually attained by the average television show. Some of the first rate pictures which have appeared on Fabulous 52 include such all time favorites as "Laura," "Cluny Brown," "Jane Eyre," "A Bell for Adano," "The Roaring Twenties," "Claudia," "Anthony Adverse," "Stanley and Livingstone," "The Snake Pit" and, this week, the well remembered Humphrey Bogart-Lauren Bacall starrer, "To Have and Have Not." This is the one, you may remember, in which Lauren says to Humphrey, "If you want anything, just whistle. You know how to whistle, don't you? Just put your lips together and blow." Does it all come back to you, now?

And in the future, Fabulous 52 will offer such excellent screen fare as "Johnny Belinda," "Miracle on 34th Street," "In Old Chicago," "The African Queen," "Red River," "Moulin Rouge," and "The Little Kidnappers." All of these fine pictures are eminently worthy of a revisit, and if you see one of them for the first time, you're in for an especially rewarding evening.

So, seek no further for adventure and romance than your living room. Put on the slippers, get the glass of bubbly, flick the dial to Fabulous 52 and get lost... in a pleasant world of illusion, of course.

SATURDAY NIGHT has traditionally been the time for revel, the time for throwing off the cares of the week and venturing forth into the night in search of laughter, romance, adventure and memories, the time for seeing other people, places and things, the time for celebration.

But no longer.

Channel 2's popular motion picture series, Fabulous 52, has changed all that. Now, it is no longer necessary to venture forth. Laughter, romance, adventure and memories may be had for the flick of a switch right in your own living room. Carbed in slippers and old clothes, lying comfortably on the sofa, a glass of your favorite bubbly in hand, you may now engage in the most exciting activities known to man and when all is done, suffer no consequences or regrets, but merely turn off the TV set, the lights, put the remains of the chicken outside, the cat in the refrigerator, and go to bed.

Million Viewers

Kicking off on May 4 of this year with the Humphrey Bogart melodrama of the war at sea, "Action in the North Atlantic," Fabulous 52 has since logged the highest rating among the local once-a-week shows, according to Tele-Pulse, and has averaged over a million viewers each Saturday night for its series of major films.

NBC-TV PLAYS HOST TO NATION'S PRESS ... Eighty Columnists and TV writers came from all over the United States this past week as the guests of NBC-TV — and here's what happened to them.

NBC-TV really spread out the red carpet for 80 TV columnists and reporters from all over the United States during the past week.

One of NBC-TV's biggest problems was to keep the press away from the rival networks. To accomplish this, Casey Shawhan, head of publicity, kept his staff busy 24 hours a day—making sure that the out-of-town press were getting their full share of NBC-TV news. Obviously, CBS and ABC were able to corner a few of them for some "exclusive scoops," but for the most part the visitors were wined, dined, and entwined by the NBC-TV stars and staff.

"A few of the boys celebrated a little too much while out here, but the great majority were perfect guests. It was a lot of work—but it was worth it," Shawhan declares as an aftermath.

For next year: there's a possibility the TV tables will turn and the Hollywood press will get a chance to see what makes TV tick in New York. The junket did prove one thing: Hollywood, in the past few years, has jumped ahead of New York as the TV capital of the country.

PRO FOOTBALL

Two of the greatest all-around athletes meet on the football field of battle when the Los Angeles Rams play the Cleveland Browns November 24 in Cleveland.

Both are rookies and have proven in their first year of National Football League competition that they are destined to become two of the game's greatest players.

Both are former college All-Americans; both are about the same age; both were their respective teams number one draft choices; and both represent an argument between the east and west coasts as to whom is the better runner.

Naturally, we are speaking of Jon Arnett, the great halfback of the Los Angeles Rams by way of the University of Southern California, and Jim Brown, the plunging fullback of Cleveland via Syracuse University.

Arnett is probably the greatest open field runner in the history of the game and could have easily broken all U.S.C. yardage records had he not been denied the right to play the last half season as a senior at Troy. He is a former gymnast and the NCAA's second best broad-jumper.

Brown, a 220-pounder, lettered in four sports (basketball, track, lacrosse and football) at Syracuse where he lead his big Orange team to the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of eastern supremacy. In his final two college games, Brown scored 64 points, 43 against Colgate, and 21 in the Cotton Bowl against T.C.U.

What happens when these two amazing athletes meet at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium on Sunday, November 24, only time can tell. And the time is 11:00 A.M. on KNXT, Channel 2, when Bob Kelley and Gil Stratton bring you the contest between the Rams and the Browns, leaders of the Eastern Conference.

Hear the Rams play the Cleveland Browns on KMPC Radio, 710 on the dial.

A REAL PRO

At a press conference during Steve Allen's recent visit to Hollywood, Calif., he was asked whether he considered himself a writer or a comedian. Allen replied, "I guess it goes something like this: When I write, I'm a writer. When I'm a comedian, I try to be funny. When I mow the lawn, I'm a lawn mower."

Fred Beck says:

THE FIRST PRIZE IS A TRAINLOAD OF KoldKist CHILI... and YOU MAY KEEP THE TRAIN

Here's easy news of a little contest. The prize is a trainload of KoldKist Chili—10 full carloads of the best darned Chili Con Carne you ever tasted—chili that's cooked and flavored to savory perfection—suddenly frozen—and so easy to prepare. Just thaw it, heat it up and eat it up. Umnnn-yum! KoldKist! Yes that's the prize — and — YOU KEEP THE TRAIN!

So where's the catch? We'll tell you. It's one of the nicest catches you ever got caught on.

The train is an electric train. It's a REVELL! It's an H.O. gauge train set—a scale model of a Union Pacific diesel freight engine plus 10 flat cars—each loaded with a full one-pound package of KoldKist Chili, the most positively.

Also 40 pieces of track plus a REVELL power station and a lot of accessories including a trainman and a switchman and an oiler and a hobo—three cows, three calves and one bull named Blankfort.

Would you like to win 10 carloads of KoldKist Chili and keep the train? If you don't have a boy child your husband can play with the train—a real Revell.

Just write, in 25 words or less, your answer to this question: WHY SHOULD SATURDAY BE CHILI DAY IN OL' L.A.?

Buy nothing. Do nothing—except tell us why Saturday should be Chili Day in ol' L.A.

Just to get in the mood—you might just try a meal of KoldKist Chili Con Carne this Saturday—for inspiration. The full 1-lb. package makes for a KING SIZE MEAL.

Send your suggestion to me, Fred Beck, c/o TV-Radio Life, 1610 N. Argyle, Hollywood 28. Act quickly.

She'll be comin' round the bend in time for Christmas, a Revell Diesel Freight with 10 flat-carloads of delicious KoldKist Frozen Chili.

DUG BY JACK HOLLAND

THIS is the week for "Annie Get Your Gun," the Mary Martin special, and it should be the TV highlight of the year. Transforming "Annie" on to TV did have its problems, though, as anyone who saw the stage show may have surmised. Richard Halliday, the ever lovin' Mary's husband and the producer of the show, gave me the lowdown on these difficulties.

"I was told when we did 'Peter Pan' that we couldn't use the sets or the costumes or the flying on the TV show," Richard Halliday began. "I was also informed we would have to pre-record the music. I simply said that if that was the case we didn't want to do 'Peter' on TV. Well, we did the show and we used the sets, the costumes, the flying was even better on TV than it was on the stage, and we did not pre-record the music.

"Looking back on it all now I probably would have made concessions and been more sympathetic to the technical problems, but in a way I'm glad I didn't know all the facts because 'Peter' was a challenge and, fortunately, a success.

"Annie" is at least one-third bigger scenically and company-wise. We have a fabulous problem as far as studio space is concerned since we're using five studios at NBC-Burbank and the corridors. In addition to all the technical problems, getting Mary and the cast moved from stage to stage during the show is no small matter. Mary also has one elaborate change to make and has only 53 seconds to make it in. She has to change wigs, button the button shoes, a completely new outfit, the works. All we can do to take care of such situations is to have a series of change rooms.

IDENY the allegation that the current rage in "sick jokes" began in this column. I would not stoop to such bits of grisly humor as "Aside from that, Mrs. Lincoln, how did you enjoy the play?" I much prefer clean, spirited comedy like, "Mommy, why do you call me Rover?" "Shut up, and get in that rocket." Along that line, why is the Sputnik like a gun to our heads? Because it's a revolver. I tell you, the possibilities of this thing are endless. Why hasn't anyone else thought of any Sputnik jokes?

"To Have and Have Not." (2) Nov. 23, 10:00. 1944. Adapted from the Ernest Hemingway story about a one armed fisherman who hits the bottle and becomes involved in a South American revolution, this film changes things a bit to show Humphrey Bogart with both arms involved in the dispute between the Freen and Vichy French. He's still a lush, though. If not bonded Hemingway, it's still a good blend and the scenes between Bogart and Lauren Bacall, a down at heels tramp for whom Bogie inexplicably feels some responsibility, engender a certain honest passion in the proceedings. I might as well mention here that Channel 2 is having another "Blockbuster Week" for those of you who missed the better "Fabulous 52s," which is a reasonable piece of programming, I think. Check our logs for the particular night and the movies are "A Bell For Adano," "Claudia," "Jane Eyre," "Cluny Brown," (The last three are dames, of course) and "The Roaring Twenties" (a decade).

"A Tale of Two Cities." (11) Nov. 29, 8:00. 1936. "It is a far, far better thing I do than I have ever done. It is a far, far better place I go to than I have ever known." Charles Dickens' famous words are spoken by Ronald Colman as he goes to the guillotine in place of his friend and I think he does them full justice. The phrase has become hackneyed but in the proper context, it still has plenty of impact. The famous story is all here... Madame LaFarge, the tumbrels, the intrigue... and assisting Colman in the telling of it are Basil Rathbone, Blanche Yurka and Donald Woods.

"The Window." (9) Beginning Nov. 25, 9:00. 1949. This tautly exciting picture was the sleeper of the year in 1949

The most difficult one comes between the first and second acts.

"This show is a physically demanding one for Mary. The horse she rides is only one example—it is really an exhausting job. Then there is the fast change from a leotard to the Indian number in which she does acrobatic dancing. At the end of that scene she is not perspiring lazily, she is sweating healthily. When we did the show on stage, Mary had to have a sponge-down, an alcohol rub, and a cold shower during each performance because the physical exertion made her perspire so much. No wonder she got the flul. The various showers and the rub-down took sixteen minutes. On TV the maximum we can figure on for the same treatments is five minutes so something has to go—probably Mary's peace of mind and comfort."

There is little doubt that Mary needs Richard Halliday as much as she needs her right arm. He is the one who takes care of all the details, the problems, who sees that her shows are perfect in every respect. He is the one on whom she completely relies. There is a tremendous rapport between these two people. They think alike about everything—even to feeling the need for a vacation at the same time and getting the urge to go back into a show at the same time. Mary looks to Richard for one other thing too—for confidence. She needs him to have her instincts substantiated.

"I try to see that Mary does only what is important to her," Richard Halliday said. "To discipline and preserve herself for the things that are necessary. I see to it that she does relax—and that is no small job. This is one actress who feels that every performance is opening night!"

When asked why he and Mary get along so famously, the charming man smiled, "We're just lucky, I guess. But we also believe in working on a relationship."

Again I say—when you meet Mary Martin and Richard Halliday, you have met two unforgettable people!

BY AUBREY DAHL

and won a special Academy Award for Bobby Driscoll. He plays the boy who cried wolf in a modern setting about a lad who witnesses a murder through the window of an adjoining tenement and is unable to get his parents, Barbara Hale and Arthur Kennedy, to believe him. The murderers do, however, and Paul Stewart and Ruth Roman decide they must kill the boy to protect themselves, a procedure that builds to a truly suspenseful climax. Writer Mel Dinelli and Director Ted Tetzlaff are responsible for this one, a really top chiller of any year.

"Knut Rockne." (5) Nov. 24, 7:30. 1940. I speak now to fellow football nuts. This isn't really a great picture. As Rockne, Pat O'Brien is still Pat O'Brien, only with a broken nose, and the film has all the usual big game sentiment connected with most football pictures, but I don't see how it's possible not to enjoy every minute of it. The story of a mail clerk who became the greatest football coach in America, the invention of the forward pass, the tradition that is Notre Dame, and the legend of George Gipp are all elements that couldn't help but entertain every sports fan. And miracle of them all, they actually have a guy playing Gipp who knows how to kick and pass a football. You usually see some profile in these roles who looks about as athletic as a cookie designer. Oh, yes, the fellow's name who plays Gipp is Ronald Reagan and I understand he was a four letter man in college. I was, too, you know... only the four letters made a word.

"The Vampire Bat." (13) Nov. 26, 8:30. "Whaddaya mean, bats? I thought vampires called balls and strikes." "Whaddaya want, blood?"

Holland's Tunnel

Edgar Bergen, with his wife, Frances, Charlie, Mortimer, Effie, and with Capitol Records' ace group, the Four Preps, opened at the Coconut Grove and really charmed the opening night audience. Edgar's final act, in which he reminisces and plays recordings of the appearances on his old radio show of such stars as John Barrymore and W. C. Fields is a real socko finish. I enjoyed his act immensely. Maybe it's not real night club material, maybe it's not ultra modern and smart, but it is a thoroughly enjoyable show. And a welcome change from the pseudo song stylists and phony sophisticates who have been inhabiting some clubs. The Four Preps are great Kirk Douglas must have liked making his picture, "The Vikings," as I know he did. He is now planning a TV series to be called "King of the Vikings." This may or may not be filmed in Europe, but it's a mighty good idea for TV.

Would like to see you folks at the stage production of "The Robe" which I'm directing. It plays Sundays only, matinee and evening. I hope you'll find it an interesting production.

LUPITA MORAN STARTS NEW SHOW ON KWKW

Lupita Moran, formerly with Station XEW and XEW-TV, Mexico City, this month joined the staff of outstanding personalities heard each day on Station KWKW, Pasadena, according to William J. Beaton, Vice-President and General Manager.

The station programs 21 hours each day in Spanish to the more than 570,000 Latin Americans living in Los Angeles and Orange counties. Miss Moran will be heard Monday through Saturday.

She comes to KWKW with an extensive background in motion pictures as well as in radio and appeared in two films with famous Tito Guizar. Miss Moran also has a number of highly successful theater and night club engagements to her credit and at one time commuted between Mexico City and Acapulco in order to appear week-ends at the well known Beachcomber's club in the Hotel Casablanca.

"The Pied Piper of Hamelin"

A musical version of the classic folk legend with score based on songs by Edvard Grieg

Pied Piper and Truson the Teacher.....	VAN JOHNSON
Mayor of Hamelin	CLAUDE RAINS
Mara, the Mayor's Daughter.....	LORI NELSON
King's Emissary	JIM BACKUS
Grieving Mother	KAY STARR
Council Members	DOODLES WEAVER
	STANLEY ADAMS
Child	RENE KORPER
Town Crier	CYRIL DELEVANTI

Robert Browning's classic poem of the Pied Piper of Hamelin who promised to rid the city of its rats, then lured the town's children away because the villainous mayor refused to pay his fee is told tonight in a musical version. Familiar Grieg melodies have been adapted with new lyrics by Hal Stanley and his collaborator, Irving Taylor.

Music is directed by Peter King, special photography effects by Jack Rabin and Louis DeWitt and choreography by Ward Ellis. Wardrobe is by Berman of London. Bretteigne Windust directs the 90-minute colorcast.

"Annie Get Your Gun"

Starring Mary Martin and John Raitt in a TV adaptation of Irving Berlin's Broadway hit musical

Annie Oakley	MARY MARTIN
Frank Butler	JOHN RAITT
Buffalo Bill	WILLIAM O'NEAL
Dolly Tate	RETA SHAW
Major Gordon Lillie	ROBERT NASH
Sitting Bull	ZACHARY A. CHARLES
Wild Horse	STUART HODES
Press Agent	DONALD BURR
Foster Wilson	JOHN ELDRIDGE

The musical tells the story of Annie Oakley whose gun feats were a little short of phenomenal and Frank Butler, her rival, as the world's champion sharpshooter, with whom she was in love. Annie was the gun-totingest, gun-shootingest gal that ever came down from the hills. Her aim never wavered until love for Frank Butler made it fail.

Tonight's production features the memorable music of Irving Berlin including "I Got Lost in His Arms," "Doin' What Comes Naturally," "You Can't Get a Man With a Gun," "The Girl That I Marry," "They Say That Falling in Love's Wonderful," and "Anything You Can Do."

Vincent Donahue directs the colorcast with choreography by Ernest Flatt. Scenery is by George Jenkins, costume by Dorothy Jeakins and musical direction by Louis Adrian. The two-hour TV adaptation was written by Herbert and Dorothy Fields.

SKIPPER FRANK'S SCAM-O-GRAM

Hi!

With all the current talk about Sputnik and Mutnik you can have a lot of topical fun with this after dinner stunt. Lead the conversation around to the fact that you have been able to hear the Satellite's "Beepsies" with the simplest of equipment. Offer to illustrate your scientific genius by presenting the... SINGING KNIFE.

This is an old stunt, but one that is most entertaining when properly presented. Hold a fork in the left hand so that the handle is almost touching the table. Take a table knife in the right hand, and with the blade, pluck one of the center prongs of the fork. Immediately hold the tip of the knife over an empty tumbler. At the instant the knife is above the glass, the left hand allows the handle of the fork to rest on the table. This will produce a musical note, easily heard unless you are in a very noisy room. Do this several times, stating that the note occurs only when the knife is held over something EMPTY. Place two empty glasses side by side and move the blade of the knife from one to the other. The left hand raises and lowers the handle of the fork so that the tone occurs only when the knife is directly over the brim of each glass.

For a big laugh finish, conclude the stunt by holding the knife blade over the HEAD of the person nearest you!

Of course, you only want to present this stunt on a table which has no cloth covering. As with all good tricks, you must practice the routine in secret before presenting it to your friends. No skill other than acting ability is required to carry it off.

See you next week,

SKIPPER FRANK

Dr. Ernest C. Wilson, minister of Christ Church Unity and author of such inspirational books as "The Other Half of the Rainbow," "Every Good Desire" and "The Great Physician," starts a new five-minute Monday-through-Saturday program on KRHM.

Musical Museum, with host Les Claypool, Jr. as curator, debuts with musical variations in hi-fi on KRHM Monday-through-Sunday in the 11 p.m. - 1 a.m. time slot. The new program, which consists of a potpourri of music worthy of preservation, will feature a trip around the museum with stops at the various galleries.

THE TOP GOLFERS in the United States are competing on ABC-TV's original idea for a sports series — "All-Star Golf." The golfers — such as Al Besselink — are followed by caddies — and cameras.

THE FILMED GOLF tournament takes place at seven of top links in the nation. Among them: our own Apple Valley Country Club. Entered in the tournament and right at home at the Apple Valley course (where he's the pro) is Lloyd Mangrum.

AROUND THE LINKS WITH ABC-TV'S "ALL-STAR GOLFERS"

ROBERT DE VICENZO from Mexico City tries to get out of the rough at the Apple Valley links. This is first golf tournament in history played exclusively for a TV audience. Total purse: $80,000 in prizes.

ED "PORKY" OLIVER putts on the green of the Phoenix course. Results of each match are kept secret until each show is actual on air. (ABC-TV photos)

One man with a bit of powerful persuasion convinced the stars and NBC-TV that they couldn't turn down

By Jack Holland

IF EVER a big, splashy TV special had the magic touch on it, the Hal Stanley production of "Pied Piper of Hamelin" is it.

First of all, it was the dream of this one Hal Stanley. He had read, as have most of us, the poem by Robert Browning which created the character of the Pied Piper. He thought it would make a good TV show, so he and Irving Taylor wrote the book. They made one significant change. In the poem the story ends when the Pied Piper pipes the children out of town. In the Stanley version, the Piper is also the Conscience of the People in a character named Truson. He tells the people what is going on in their town, gets them to fight back at the hard Mayor, the children return and all is well.

"The Pied Piper", as you will see it, is a musical — and the music is all based on Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite." There is a very simple reason that this music was chosen. It was the only composition he remembered from his music appreciation class in school, so he figured that if he could remember it so could almost everyone else. He and Taylor also wrote the lyrics.

Selling Job

Stanley did an equally astounding job in selling this idea for a show. He had no pilot, nothing but a script. Several people who read it weren't entirely convinced — until they heard Stanley talk about it. Talk about it! He acted it out and had all the tunes recorded. He apparently was quite an actor because when the V.I.P.'s walked out of Stanley's office they were singing the praises of the show.

"It's almost like being hypnotized to listen to that man," one of them said.

It was quite a job selling Van Johnson to star in the show, along with Claude Rains, Lori Nelson, and with guest star Kay Starr. This was — at that time — Van's first TV venture. And Van wasn't entirely convinced this should mark his debut in a new medium. But after he got through with Stanley he agreed to do the Piper.

Claude Rains was also not easy to sell. He was living in the east when the script was sent to him. In reading it he casually noticed that he was to sing a song and dance. Now, Claude hadn't sung or danced in a picture since he was ten years old in England. And he hadn't danced except for one time with his daughter, Jennifer, in their living room — and then he broke his leg. Consequently, when Stanley called him he had his qualms but Stanley overrode them.

It was quite a surprise for Claude to find when he arrived in Hollywood for work that he had to do a legitimate dance — on a table — and sing a song called "The Prestige Song." He did both jobs, but he insists that "I was shanghaied into the whole deal."

There was some talk on the set of an incident that had allegedly occurred. Another actor who was to sing with Claude had told him not to worry about the song, that he would sing soft so he wouldn't cover Claude. To which Claude was supposed to have said, "Don't worry, I won't let you." The star had denied this entire incident. Regardless Mr. Rains is a real pro.

He proved what a pro he was when he worked several days with a severe cold. A doctor was in attendance and when Claude was off the stage he could hardly talk. Yet, when he went before that camera, he was brilliant, vital, as though nothing were wrong with him.

Lori Nelson will be a delightful addition to the entire show, what with her blonde beauty and charm. Yet, she too had qualms about having accepted the call for the picture. She hadn't danced since she was a little girl and she was handed a dance to do on a concrete cobblestone stage. The cement really clobbered her feet and her ankles were so swollen she had to have figure 8 wrapping put around them.

Town

The town of Hamelin, which figures prominently, was built on three stages at a cost of $60,000. Arthur Lonargen was the man responsible for the huge job. The town was scaled at three-quarters actual size to give perspective and buildings of the 12th to 15th century in Germany and Flanders were used as models. Since Lonargen was once a teacher of all histories at New York University, he knew exactly what the town should look like. It took 10,000 man hours to create the town. In addition, a 65x40 pool was built for the river.

"Pied Piper" should be a big one — for adults as well as kids. Too bad, just to make sure, Hal Stanley isn't around to put his pitch to you viewers.

The Pied Piper of Hamelin

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, this is Van Johnson. He stars as the Piper in the MBC-TV special production of "The Pied Piper of Hamelin." This is probably the most unique role Van has ever played.

AROUND THE WORLD

at Midnight

It's a world of fun and good conversation when Jack Rourke talks with listeners from as far away as Vancouver on his nightly KABC Radio Partyline Show.

By Dave Vowell

SMILIN' JACK ROURKE, host of KABC's Partyline.

THE TELEPHONE has come a long way since Mr. Bell's initial "What has God wrought?" Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company supplied TV-Radio Life with these photographs to prove the point. This is an early desk telephone used about 1895.

A VERY EARLY telephone, this one was used in 1886.

A CAST BRASS desk stand, this telephone was made by Western Electric and used in 1898.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL's wondrous invention was never put to better use than that given it by Jack Rourke, host of KABC Radio's midnightly Party Line Show.

"At that time of night folks can hear just about any and all kinds of music but it seems that a goodly share of them want to listen to a friendly voice — not only mine," Jack explained, "but also the voices of the 'Party Liners' who call in to chat. As a matter of fact, when we started the show two years ago, the program was essentially music and we started the telephone part just on the spur of the moment to find out if anyone was listening. It has since grown to be the feature of the show and we only get to play about two or three records in the entire two hours.

"I guess it's not only the talk, it's the service that the program performs for the listeners or," he smiled, "as I call them, the 'Party Liners.' Just a little while ago a young woman called up and reported that she wouldn't be able to listen to the program any more because her radio was on the blink and she couldn't afford a new one. I had no sooner hung up when another member called in and said that he would gladly send her a new radio. Another time a listener called in the fact that a factory worker neighbor with nine children needed clothing for his children. Yep, you guessed it, they received everything they needed."

These things don't happen every night, of course, but they do happen often enough to prove to Jack that people are basically good and kind and that given the opportunity they will respond compassionately.

In the two years that Jack has been on the air with the show he has become familiar with the regular correspondents and has even given them nicknames. In some cases, of course, the callers give themselves colorful monikers. There's the dog-sledding Montana man who is known as "Snowdrift" and the flyer who is called "Eagle" and dozens of other equally colorful Party Line members.

The flexibility of the radio coupled with the telephone has been demonstrated time and time again as the result of a listener's request. Jack has called London, England, and chatted with Ernest Borgnine (he once tried to reach Winston Churchill but the circuits were busy) and he regularly calls and receives calls from as far away as Vancouver, Canada.

"There is no such thing as a dull and uninteresting person," is Jack's conclusion, based on thousands of telephone conversations with total strangers. "Even if a person just gives his name and where he was born, it's a springboard for the imagination because you immediately start thinking 'what kind of person is this?' and 'what kind of town is that?'"

And the bald fact that backs up that kind of thinking is that the imaginative springboard provided by the show has resulted in three marriages — and that's a pretty good rating for any show.

★ VICTORY AT SEA: ★

TV'S MOST SUCCESSFUL, CONTINUOUS PROGRAM

By Ted Hilgenstuhler

THE CRITICS and the public can argue interminably about the pros and cons of various TV shows — but no one can deny that year after year, Victory at Sea is the longest-running, most successful series ever run on TV.

Currently, the half-hour wartime documentary is on KHJ-TV, Channel 9.

And as one studio official expressed: "There's just no telling how long it will run, either. The ratings have been amazing. Just as high as some of the top-budget shows in our business. And this applies no matter what time the program goes on. Oddly enough, despite the sometimes gruesome and always serious subject matter, the program has an appeal for women, men of all ages, and even children.

"Another amazing part of the series is that there are only 26 half-hour programs. There are many shows, now being re-run, which have a backlog of from two to six years of original productions. But there are only 26 Victory at Sea episodes. As soon as one ends, we start all over again — and it proves to be just as popular as ever."

Numerous Awards

Produced by the National Broadcasting Company in cooperation with the U.S. Navy, the dramatic history of naval operations during World War II was premiered on the NBC-TV network on October 26, 1952. The first-running brought the program the top honors in the TV world: a Sylvania Grand Award; a Peabody Special Award; an academy of TV Arts and Sciences "Emmy"; even a U.S. Navy Distinguished Service Award to NBC's executive vice-president, Robert W. Sarnoff, the originator and producer of the series, Henry Salomon, and Richard Rogers, who composed 13 hours of narrative symphonic music especially for the program. Rogers' major theme in the series has been popularized under the musical title of "No Other Love." TV-Radio Life magazine also recognized the program as the "best documentary" of 1952.

Although all of these honors (and many others too numerous to mention) were undoubtedly well deserved, the most remarkable part of the Victory at Sea story had only begun.

On January 8, 1953, KNBH (now KRCA) decided to re-run the series until July 2, 1954. Thereafter, NBC offered the program for sale to other stations. KTTV, Channel 11, ran the 26-week show, not once, but twice, for a solid year from November, 1954, through November, 1955.

Only Begun to Run

Surely everyone in Southern California had seen the show by now! However, KHJ-TV, Channel 9, decided to gamble and on January 31, 1956, the station began the FOURTH re-run of combat film, which traces the naval action of World War II from the Nazi U-boat day of 1939, to Pearl Harbor, to the final defeat of the Axis aggressors in the Pacific.

The program has been going every single week since that time on the Mutual-Don Lee outlet and is now in its SIXTH re-run. It is scheduled to continue into the SEVENTH re-run until January 21, 1958.

The reasons for the success of the program are quite obvious to all who have seen it. (And who hasn't by now!) The most dramatic story of our times; exciting combat film taken from 60 million feet of files from 10 different governments and 26 different agencies; taut, descriptive narration by Richard Leonard Graves; and, of course, the brilliant musical score by Mr. Rodgers.

Finally, in this day when mediocrity seems to be the false goddess which most of our new programs are paying homage to, Victory at Sea is more than just a tribute to the men who originally planned and produced this TV milestone.

It's a tribute to the viewing public — which has shown by its continuous loyalty that it will support serious and artistic productions.

Victory at Sea has proven to be a Victory for TV.
