THE WAVE'S
MUSIC
NOTES

"The WAVE's MusicNotes", offers insight into the people
behind the music heard on The WAVE.

Paul Hardcastle is living proof that you don't have to have "child prodigy" listed on your resume to be successful in the music business. He was a stereo salesperson when he traded in his VCR for a synthesizer. Shortly thereafter, he had his first hit record with "Rainforest" followed by "19" which sold some 3.5 million copies. Last year he released his trend-setting project "The Jazzmasters." On his latest album, "Hardcastle" he utilizes a rich diversity of vocalists, including Helen Rogers, the vocalist from his Jazzmasters project. In keeping with his signature sound, "Hardcastle" is sophisticated, smooth, streetwise and fresh.

Pat Metheny gets his share of requests to lend a bit of his producing magic to the work of other artists. When Metheny heard the voice of Noa he was the one making the offer to produce her debut international album. 24 year old Noa (full name Achinoam Nini) is already a star in Israel. Currently living in her native Tel Aviv, her family originated in the Arabic culture of Yemen and her childhood was spent in New York City. "A weird combination produced a creature like me," Noa says, "Maybe that's why I keep such an open mind where different styles of music are concerned. Basically, if it moves me I go for it. It's the emotion, not the title." Her self-titled album includes Pat Metheny Group members Lyle Mays and Steve Rodby, as well as Steve Ferrone and Louis Conte.

The first Rippingtons album "Moonlighting" was truly a moonlighting project for such artists as David Benoit, Kenny G, Gregg Karukas, Dave Koz and founder Russ Freeman. Ten years later, Russ Freeman's Rippingtons are doing quite well, not to mention the career of the musicians on the original album. It was inevitable that sooner or later pianist David Benoit and guitarist Russ Freeman would be reunited in the recording studio. "The Benoit/Freeman Project" sees the two joining forces as writers and arrangers as well as musicians. One of the many special guests on the album is Kenny Loggins who collaborated on the song "When She Believed In Me."

BASIA

After four years of waiting and more than three million copies of her first two albums sold, Basia's "Sweetest Illusion" is a reality. Her fans can rest assured that the wait was not in vain. She has been in and out of the studio the entire time, recording and writing the twelve songs that make up her latest collection "The Sweetest Illusion." The production on the album is pristine, the instruments real and the songwriting inspired.

The name Basia is a common way of affectionately shortening the name Barbara in her native Poland. She wisely goes only by her first name. Her last name, Trzetrzelewska, is a bit more than most of us can pronounce, not to mention all those letters would make for design difficulties on CD covers!

An integral part of Basia's unique sound has come from her long-time partner, Danny White. Their association began in the early 80's when Basia answered the keyboardist's ad for a vocalist to complete his band. According to Basia, White was unimpressed with her initially. She had a Polish accent and no demo tape. Eventually he did hear her sing and hired her, but that band fell apart before ever releasing a record. When Danny joined the group Matt Bianco, he brought Basia with him. After a time the pair defected from Matt Bianco to form a group of their own. Due to contractual problems, Danny was prevented from having his name or photo appear on an album, so the duo decided to make Basia the name and face that represented their sound. Danny has been co-writer, co-arranger and co-producer of all three Basia albums. Danny's brother, and WAVE artist, Peter White has played guitar on all of the albums as well as concert tours.

The music of Basia conveys a positive, inspirational overtone. The songwriting is almost always personal in nature. Personal to the point of sometimes becoming uncomfortably revealing for her. On the second album, "London, Warsaw, New York" the songwriting took on a bit of a melancholy sound at times. The new album has a more optimistic feel. The extra time spent in making this album also allowed for more experimentation. You can hear influences ranging from Brazilian to Motown. She said one album in particular that influenced the recording of "The Sweetest Illusion" was Sting's latest, "Ten Summoner's Tales." The past four years have seen the band mature musically... Danny has been studying classical piano and Basia's voice has never been more on target.

Early in her career, Basia was in an all-girl band with six voice harmonies. She still loves to sing harmony, but has never used back-up singers on her albums, opting instead to lay down the back-up vocals herself. As she puts it, her self harmonies are "over the top" on this project. On the song "Yearning," she is her own choir of 20 voices, thanks to the magic of multi-track recording.

The title of the new album comes from the song "The Sweetest Illusion" in which the line "love is the sweetest illusion" appears. Basia says the idea she's trying to project in the song is that everything looks better and seems better when you're in love.

"The Sweetest Illusion" ships to stores on May 3rd. Listen to The WAVE to find out how you can attend an exclusive reception with Basia celebrating the album release on May 5th. This July she will be performing at the Greek Theatre and The WAVE is also holding some choice seats for our listeners. Stay tuned to 94.7 The WAVE for all the details.
