FOUNDER'S TROPHY TO WIND-AM FOR FIRST QUARTER

WIND-AM Radio received the prestigious Founder's Trophy for the first quarter of 1993. It took an increase of 109 percent over the budgeted Net Operating Income ("NOI") and an increase of 295 percent over 1992's NOI to win but that was the performance of Chuck Brooks, WIND-AM/WOJO-FM General Manager, and his staff at WIND-AM. It was, however, a photo finish with WOJO-FM and KGBT-AM right behind WIND-AM.

Para merecer el premio WIND-AM logró un aumento del 109 por ciento sobre su presupuesto estimado de Ingresos Netos Sobre Operaciones ("NOI") y un aumento del 295 por ciento sobre el NOI del 1992. El premio se logró por la actuación de Chuck Brooks, Gerente General de WIND-AM/WOJO-FM y del personal de WIND-AM. Pero fue un final muy reñido con WOJO-FM y KGBT-AM muy cerca de WIND-AM.

Jon Ramirez, KXTN AM/FM Announcer, entered into a high-risk bet with Tim and Willie Loon of Phoenix's KMLE (Camel Country), claiming that the San Antonio Spurs would win the series and blow away the Phoenix Suns. If the Spurs won, Willie and Tim would have to fly into San Antonio to have their heads shaven by Jon. Then they would have had to dress up in "Mini Faldas" and entertain KXTN AM/FMs' listeners by dancing the "La Charanga." However, the Spurs lost the series, and Jon flew to Phoenix where at the America West Arena had his head shaven in front of thousands of Suns' fans and millions of television viewers watching the series. AND Jon's shaven head was dyed purple and copper, AND he had to sing "The Hoop Shooting' Boogie" to the Suns, all the while Jon proudly wore a Spurs T-shirt and waving Spurs pennants.

Warren Tichenor, Vice President and General Manager; Jon Ramirez, On-Air Announcer; and Chuck Licata, Sports Anchor, BEFORE....

Jon Ramírez, locutor de KXTN-AM /FM hizo una apuesta peligrosa con Tim y Willie Loon de la emisora KMLE de Phoenix (Camel Country), declarando que los San Antonio Spurs ganarán la serie y derrotarán a los Phoenix Suns. Si ganan los Spurs, Willie y Tim tendrán que viajar a San Antonio en donde Jon les raspará la cabeza. Luego tendrán que vestirse con "Mini-Falda" y divertir a los radioescuchas de la KXTN-AM/FM bailando "La Charanga". Después de todo cuando los Spurs perdieron la serie, fue Jon quien viajó a Phoenix en donde en la Arena America West le rasparon su cabellera en presencia de miles de aficionados de los Suns y de los millones de televidentes quienes presenciaron la serie. Además de rasparle la cabeza, pintaron a Jon con los colores morado y cobrizo y tuvo que cantar "The Hoop Shooting Boogie" para los Suns, y mientras tanto Jon vistió orgulloosamente una camiseta de Los Spurs mientras ondeaba los banderines de los Spurs.
