SIMONE SIGNORET

— Love is for the Middle-Aged

ROMANTIC LOVE, popular myth will lead us to believe, is for the young. But Frenchmen and other Continentals have long insisted a woman doesn't begin to be really interesting until she is 40. And over here an older Frenchwoman who scorns make-believe and looks and acts her age, manages to be more alluring in an old coat than a brace of cute starlets clutching towels.

"I know I have not got a chance of looking pretty," says Simone Signoret. But she radiates a warmth and subtly sensual tenderness that can make pretty stars half her age look gauche and vapid. You think of most screen sirens as attractive actresses, says a movie critic who enjoyed her starring role in Room at the Top, but you think of Signoret as a woman.

On Sunday, April 16th, Simone Signoret will be seen on CBC-TV's Face to Face in an interview with John Freeman, filmed by the BBC.

When you meet Miss Signoret, say those who have, the first thing that strikes you is that she is so much smaller (a fraction over five feet) and slighter than she appears on the screen. Although she isn't willowy she gives the appearance of delicacy. She is a self-contained, perceptive person, highly intelligent, who makes no bones about her age.

"It's tiring for a woman to look young all the time," she says. "I'm not and never will be a star. A star has to work every single hour of the day. It's too much. I'm too fat, and I'm too lazy to lose weight. I would rather be an actress than a star. I know one big European star who spends 24 hours a day tending to her face, body and bank account. . . . What kind of a life is that for a woman?"

She says she never wears makeup except for eye shadow. "You see, I am always touching my face with my hands. When I would wear makeup I would be smudged all over in five minutes. One day my husband washed my face with soap. He ordered: 'No more paint.' I obey. . . . You see, it isn't good for an older woman to wear much makeup. It causes the lines in her face to show up more."

She was greatly surprised, she says, at the public reaction to her performance in Room at the Top, and the amount of fan mail she received. "It was largely from middle-aged people. . . . I think they were — how shall I say — grateful to me for simply being mature, for being honest. . . . In all the ads, in all the stores, it is always the young who love. Youth and romance, youth and romance. If you buy this cream or wear this hat or use this soap you will stay young and men will want to marry you and you'll be happy. . . . I have noticed this about your (North American) women: They wish to be friends with men and to be worshipped, too. They wish to be respected and protected. I think this is impossible."

Of the part she played in Room at the Top — a lonely woman in her late thirties, unglamorous, not especially attractive, but generous, without self-delusion, and engaged in a last affair—she says:

"It was a good role. But it is dangerous to be so identified in people's minds with such a role. I have called it a poison of love and by that I mean I mustn't forget it is not really for me, all this love, but for the character I played. Women liked that role especially. I knew this from the mail. Of course men did, too, because they like the frankness of her. But the women knew I wasn't trying to look young or glamorous. I was just myself, a 39-year-old woman. To women who are not young or not pretty any more — or who never were pretty — the role reassured them that their lives can still be a love story.”

She says she does not want to play younger roles. “From age 28 to 35 an actress has not such a good choice of roles. Too many actresses stay too long in young roles, which is not good. So I make the jump. I bypass the 28 to 35 group and play women in their late 30’s. I think it is more clever to make the jump early.”

She was born Simone-Henriette-Charlotte Kaminker in Germany, where her father was an officer with the French army of occupation. He had trained as a lawyer but never practised. When the Second World War started he left his wife, daughter and two small sons in Paris and went to join General Charles de Gaulle in London. Later he became chief of U.N. interpreters.

From her mother, who is pure French, she inherited her stage name, her social conscience and her tendency to get involved in causes. She discusses this in her TV interview, and how it has sometimes been misinterpreted.

When she was 19 Miss Signoret began to support her family by giving lessons in English and Latin, and typing for a newspaper called Le Nouveau Temps. In the evenings she used to toss on a coat made from an old English blanket and dash round to the Caffé de Floré in St. Germain de Près, to share hopes and conversation with a group of impoverished young people who were terribly serious about being actors. Soon she wanted to be one, too.

“The Floré was our club,” she recalls. “No Germans, no cops came near it, because there were no prostitutes, no black-market alcohol, no music, only coffee with saccharin and talk, talk, talk. I met most of the people of my life, then. The war made us better. People truly loved each other and shared—all classes, all political parties—because of the common enemy.”

It was these new friends who urged her to leave her job on Le

Around CBC

WHEN SONG ALBUM presents a recital of Naylor’s “Songs of Regret” Monday, April 17, on CBC Radio, the program will be something in the way of a tribute to an English composer whose name has been linked with development of Winnipeg’s musical arts for three decades.

Bernard Naylor

Bernard Naylor, a member of the noted English family of musicians (his father and grandfather both were organists and composers) first came to Winnipeg in 1932, founding the Philharmonic and Male Voice Choirs. In 1934 he reconstituted the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra, and was its conductor until returning to England in 1936 to become organist and director of music at Queen’s College, Oxford. Back in Canada in 1942, he founded the Little Symphonies Orchestra in Montreal, conducting it until 1947. Then it was back to England, to become Lecturer in Music at Reading University.

Married to a Canadian (his wife is the daughter of Senator Crerar), Mr. Naylor has once again made Winnipeg his home for the past two years, although he still spends extended periods in England.

“Songs of Regret” are settings for low voice and piano of three poems by Mary Webb, an English writer chiefly known for her novel Precious Bane. In 1947, Bernard Naylor wrote about a dozen songs to Mary Webb’s poems, including a set of five for high voice, and the three to be performed on Song Album.

SO YOU THINK your mail piles up from time to time! Peter Whittall, CBC-TV’s Mr. Fix-It, received 12,500 requests for home handyman information in a one-month period this year.

UNDOUBTEDLY OUR youngest reader is petite Winnipegger Angela Peter, right, who was caught in this pose studying the February 26 issue of the CBC Times. Angela, and her older friends, can find information in our pages on many children’s programs such as Junior Roundup, Chez’ Helene, Nursery School Time, Kindergarten of the Air and Just Mary.

Who Will Be the Winner?

Internationally famous caricaturist JuliuF Kroll has posed the question with this large question mark made up of the heads of all nominees for the 1961 Academy Awards for best actor and best actress. Bob Hope holds the “Oscar”; from the left are Melina Mercouri, Spencer Tracy, Greer Garson, Burt Lancaster, Elizabeth Taylor, Sir Lawrence Olivier, Deborah Kerr, Jack Lemmon, Shirley MacLaine and Trevor Howard.

On Open House

The Great Days of Rome

SHE NESTLES BESIDE the Tiber in a history-drenched collection of stone, brick, tile and stucco in sun-softened shades from terra cotta to beige . . . Rome, the Eternal City, the warm, graceful charmer people have been falling in love with for centuries. And a lady of intellect. She has a longer record of continuous political and religious importance than any other city. But the urgency of the 20th century leaves her spirit unruffled.

"It's 1961!" scream the scooters tearing through the Borghese Gardens, along the via Vittorio and off to the bikini-dotted lido. "So what?" answer the columns in the Forum, mulling over their memories among the cats in the shadow of the great white Victor Emmanuel monument.

And from the sidewalk cafés elegant Romans enjoying a leisurely apéritif turn amused eyes on the scurrying tourists. Rome—big but still cozy, enjoying the best of two worlds, where relics of ancient grandeur rub elbows with starkly modern architecture in a medley of time that is somehow not incongruous.

What can we learn about the personality of the ancient Roman civilization from the pieces of its art and architecture we inherited from it? Open House will help us find out on CBC-TV. Starting this Friday it takes us to Rome in three BBC documentary films with a distinguished British archaeologist, Sir Mortimer Wheeler, as guide. The Grandeur That Was Rome will be seen April 21, 28, and May 5.

Sir Mortimer Wheeler was professor of the archaeology of the Roman provinces at the University of London from 1948-55. He was director of the University of London Institute of Archaeology in 1943-44, led government missions to Iran and Afghanistan in 1945-46, and was adviser in archaeological matters to the government of Pakistan from 1948-50. He leaves this week to be one of several lecturers on an Hellenic cruise around the Mediterranean, with visits to antiquities in Greece, the Greek Islands, Lebanon and Turkey. Sir Mortimer is secretary of the British Academy and the author of several books and papers on European and Indian archaeological subjects.

LAMPOONER OF THE LOFTY

*Few stodgy areas of life have escaped the incisive pen of Sidney Joseph Perelman, whose business for the past 35 years has been garbling the traditional thought processes with well-turned phrases of wit and satire. Creator of the laughs in such movies as Around The World in 80 Days, he will unveil more of his witticisms Tuesday on Q for Quest*

FOR ABOUT 35 years the irreverent pen of S. J. Perelman has been assaulting the follies of mass media with hilarious results which are intended, he says, to warm the cockles of the hardest heart.

But he is more than a purveyor of rapid-fire yuks and slow chortles at the expense of fashion magazines, Hollywood, politics, restaurants, foot-doctors, floor-walkers, dentists, etc. His funny writing has a definite point of view, and he digs it out of a seemingly bottomless vocabulary well that is full of surprises.

To observe our inanities at close hand in several languages and social levels, and gather inspiration for his parodies, Perelman travels all over the place, disguised, he says, as a weary but game bon vivant, and then with what Dorothy Parker describes as a "disciplined mind and a wild eye," knocks over smug people and things with a pen as weighty as it is witty.

Lunatic as some of his material seems at first glance, it is often embarrassingly close to the truth. Who but Perelman would think of saying that reading a well-known movie gossip column is like sliding into a tub of lukewarm oatmeal?

Perelman's latest travels have brought him to Toronto to videotape a show for Q for Quest. One Man's Peril or Everyman's Perelman, to be seen Tuesday night on CBC-TV, offers a combination of Perelman talking to host Andrew Allan about himself and other funny things, and a dramatization of an hilarious Perelman piece that appeared recently in the New Yorker: Portrait of the Artist as a Young Mime, in which actor Drew Thompson will be featured.

The author of A Pox on You, Mine Goodly Host, Caution - Soft Prose Ahead, and Don't Bring Me Oscars (When It's Shoesies That I Need), etc., was born Sidney Joseph Perelman in Brooklyn on February 1, 1904. At Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island, he became a close friend of future writer Nathaniel West, and later married his sister Laura. When he left Brown he was already known as a satirist, and he lost no time in making it pay. In an introduction to Perelman's book Strictly From Hunger, his friend, humourist Robert Benchley, described Perelman's arrival on the literary scene this way:

"Together with several others of my ilk, I was making a decent living writing fugitive pieces for the magazines, pieces which, while not pretentious, we fondly imagined could be turned into thirty dollars here or forty there. It was a perfectly good racket, at any rate, and several psychiatrists were good enough to refer to it as 'free association' or Dope's Disease. Then, from the Baptist precincts of Brown University, wafted a cloud no bigger than a man's hams, who was S. J. Perelman. From then on, it was just a matter of time before Perelman took over the dementia praecox field and drove us all to writing articles on economics for the Commentator. Any further attempts to garble thought processes sounded like imitation-Perelman."

For a while Perelman was an artist-writer for Judge and College Humour. Then he began his long movie career, and in the early 1930's ground out gags for the Marx Brothers films. Off and on ever since he has helped to make funny films funnier, and satires sharper. His latest film work was for Around the World in 80 Days, which won him both an Academy Award and a New York Film Critics Award.

"I get very restive about the question of any audience's being (Please turn to page 11)

APRIL 16

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Face to Face

John Freeman interviews French actress Simone Signoret, who won an Academy Award last year for her performance in Room at the Top.

Country Calendar

Dave Innes interviews Glen Flaten of the Golden Acres farm at Regina, showing on film his push-button hog and broiler operation. With this fully-automated set-up, Flaten markets 9,000 broilers every nine weeks, and puts through 700 hogs a year. A news package will be included, and Stan Westaway will talk about varieties of Clematis.

Silents Please

A kaleidoscope of the life and humour of Will Rogers.

The Twentieth Century

Second part of the study of social ills which have accompanied Sweden's phenomenal social advances: such problems as juvenile delinquency, divorce, alcoholism and suicide. Swedish leaders in several fields will be interviewed, answering the question, "Is the nation's 'welfare state' legislation related to its high rates of anti-social behaviour?" Cameras will visit a juvenile reform school and a prison to study the advanced techniques for rehabilitating criminals.

Citizens' Forum

Quebec's New Look. A discussion of the new nationalistic feeling in Quebec, and its effect on literature, politics and the arts. All participants, except host Gordon Hawkins, will be French-Canadian.

The Nature of Things

Conservation Laws. The stuff of nature is never depleted—it merely changes form. Doctors Hume and Ivey explain fundamental laws of conservation with the help of some spectacular equipment, including a huge balance upon which Dr. Hume has great difficulty maintaining his equilibrium.

Walt Disney Presents

John Slaughter — Trip to Tucson: Texas John Slaughter uses a shopping trip to Tucson as a ruse to capture outlaw Jimmy Deuce, who has held up the Tombstone stage and killed the driver.

National Velvet

Grandpa disrupts the peaceful routine of the Brown's farm when he sets up an elaborate derrick in the middle of the yard and insists he is drilling for oil.

Ed Sullivan Show

Guests today include singers Pearl Bailey and Anna Maria Alberghetti, Jerry Ohrbach and comedian Jack Carter.

G.M. Presents

Breaking Point, an original television suspense drama by Ronald Bailey, produced by Leo Orenstein, and starring Kate Reid.

After a bitter quarrel with her husband, Mildred is alone at night with their two children. She hears over television that an insane criminal has escaped and is in the area of their isolated house. The telephone is out of order, and daughter Linda sees a man lurking outside.

The cast: Reid as Mildred; William Brydon as Ed; Thea Moore as Linda; Ralph Endersby as Paul; Arch McDonnell as the television commentator.

Background

The New Look of Europe. Robert MacKenzie narrates a film showing the growing trend towards a united Europe and a breaking-down of old rivalries, based on economics and new trade pacts. Debating Britain's split loyalties between the Commonwealth and Europe will be Roy Jenkins, British Labor M.P. and publisher, and Conservative M.P., J. A. Biggs-Davison.

KATE REID

Starring Sunday in Breaking Point on G.M. Presents is popular actress Kate Reid, who plays a terrified woman alone in an isolated house.

Fighting Words

Morley Callaghan continues as guest moderator. His guests are Verdin Mitchell, chief of police for Halifax; Arthur Maloney, lawyer and conservative MP for Toronto Parkdale; Frank Tumpane, Toronto Telegram columnist, and Dan Coughlan, director of probationary services for the province of Ontario.

CBWT—The Rebel

Johnny Yuma attempts to befriend a senior citizen and incurs the enmity of the entire town.

Party Manners

"Before she went off to a party a little girl was given careful instructions about her behaviour—Do this, Don't do that, and say 'please' whenever you ask for anything. On her return, her mother asked if she had said 'please' when she sat down at the tea-table. 'Oh yes', she replied, it was the first word I used. I said, 'please pass everything.'" — Professor Esmond Wright of Glasgow University speaking in the BBC General Overseas Service program 'Scottish Magazine'.

MORLEY CALLAGHAN

Noted broadcaster Morley Callaghan is filling in for Nathan Cohen as moderator of Fighting Words, while Nathan is away for two weeks. Fighting Words is a regular Sunday evening presentation on CBC Television.

PROGRAM NOTES

APRIL 17

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Nursery School Time

Hoppy is a swimming school instructor, teaching the dolls how to swim and dive, but he wears his raincoat so he won't get wet. Miss Teddy reads a story about Ronnie the Raindrop, and when the story ends, an April shower has started outside. Hoppy goes out to catch raindrops.

Open House

Sewing Made Simple. That all-important step in dressmaking, the fitting, is the subject of Ann Bobyk's lesson today. She talks about the basic problems and corrections, the order to follow in fitting, how to pin alterations, how to baste-mark and how to prepare the garment for finishing. This is the fourth program in the series of six.

Museum Journey. Another of China's fascinating women, the Empress who thought of herself as the Queen Victoria of China, will be met today. China's last empress, Tz'u-hsi, the Empress Dowager who died in 1909, will be seen through photographs, figures and robes from her own wardrobe, from the Far Eastern Department of the Royal Ontario Museum. Barbara Stephen, assistant curator of the collection, will tell about the objects.

Three's Company

A new series on the geography of the West in the 19th century begins today, as Mary Liz Bayer and Bill Guest welcome Professor John Warrentin, who first examines the physical background and characteristics of the terrain. Landscape gardener Gerry May provides advice for the planning of this summer's garden.

Junior Roundup

The Friendly Giant. Rusty and Jerome are interested in things that fly. Friendly reads a story about an airplane.

Host, Murray Westgate. Games and contests day, with a studio audience of boys and girls. Dave Broadfoot, Jean Templeton and Frank Stalley conduct the proceedings, while a boy and girl somewhere in Canada compete for the grand prize, a set of encyclopedia. Magician Michael Roth entertains with puzzles and "mathemagic." George Feyer creates his picture of the week, with the help of boys and girls in the audience. Special guest artist will be a juggler.

In response to an overwhelming number of requests, the special program, The Subject is Beethoven, featuring pianist Glenn Gould and 'cellist Leonard Rose, will be repeated today on Festival '61. Gould talks about Beethoven's compositions, and plays excerpts to illustrate.

Don Messer's Jubilee

Today the orchestra will play Ragtime Annie, Silver Bells, and the Mississippi Sawyer. Marg Osborne will sing My Heart Has a Mind of Its Own, and The Lovebug Itch. Charlie Chamberlain will sing The Old Barn Dance and That Old Irish Mother of Mine, and then will join Marg for Standing by His Side. The Buchta Dancers will perform to The Dipsy Doodle and Bride of the Wind.

Danny Thomas Show

A rival comic is threatened by mobsters who suspect he is stealing routines from Danny Williams. When Williams hears of the threats he finds himself pleading with the gangsters to save the comic's life.

Festival '61 Presents

The Subject is Beethoven, a repeat of the widely-acclaimed program starring Canadian pianist Glenn Gould and U.S. 'cellist Leonard Rose. Gould plays Beethoven's Eroica Variations, and is joined by Rose in a performance of the Beethoven Sonata in A, Op. 69. In a narration concerning the composer and his works, Gould talks informally and plays parts of other Beethoven compositions to illustrate. Produced by Franz Kraemer.

Academy Awards

The annual presentation of awards by the Motion Picture Academy, direct from the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium. Comedian Bob Hope will be host.

Presenting the statuettes will be Simone Signoret, Mitzi Gaynor, Gina Lollobrigida, Bobby Darin, Sandra Dee, Rossano Brazzi, Tony Randall, Audrey Hepburn and Greer Garson.

Connie Francis will sing the nominated song, Never on Sunday. Jane Morgan will be heard with The Second Time Around. Vic Damone will do a vocal tribute to the late composer Oscar Hammerstein, singing his two Academy Award-winning songs, The Last Time I Saw Paris and It Might as Well Be Spring.

The five pictures nominated this year are The Alamo, The Apartment, Elmer Gantry, Sons and Lovers and The Sundowners.

Among stars to be seen are Trevor Howard, Burt Lancaster, Jack Lemmon, Sir Laurence Olivier, Spencer Tracy, Peter Falk, Peter Ustinov, Deborah Kerr, Shirley Maclaine, Elizabeth Taylor, Janet Leigh and Glynis Johns.

PROGRAM NOTES

APRIL 18

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Introduction to Juno and the Paycock

Sean O'Casey's Juno and the Paycock, to be shown tomorrow morning in a special telecast for school students, will be explained and introduced.

Nursery School Time

Miss Madeleine makes a tambourine out of a paper plate and small bells. She and Dick play their home-made instruments and sing. Then visitors arrive: Marianne, the little girl, and Susie the mouse, from another program, Chez Helene.

Music Break

Guest vocalist Marilyn Boyle will sing Hernando's Hideaway and Why Don't You Do Right. Georges LaFleche will sing La Plume de Ma Tante and She's Funny That Way. Georges and Marilyn will do a duet entitled Istanbul. Bob McMullin's Orchestra will play Meditation and Pick Yourself Up.

Three's Company

Jose Poneira entertains at the piano with Mary Liz Bayer and Bill Guest welcoming our favorite cook, Mrs. A. R. Gauer, who prepares a special chicken souffle sandwich.

Junior Roundup

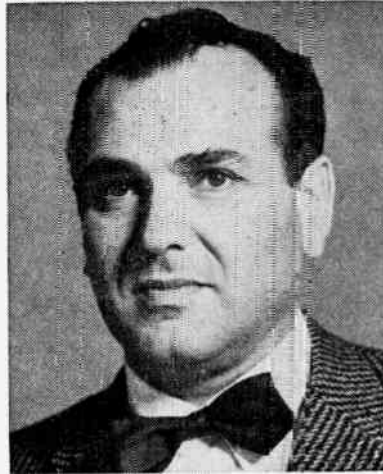

Maggie Muzens. Reuben ends up in Farmer Feather's old well, and Mr. McCarrity, as usual, has to come to the rescue.

Host, Murray Westgate. From Montreal comes This Living World, with Steve Bloomer. Steve tells more about birds: how they can dig, drill, trowel and weave to build their nests; and how to identify nests by their shape, locations, sizes and the materials used.

From Toronto, Paul Rockett talks about photography and his life as a photographer. He gives opinions on the photos sent in by boys and girls, and two guests with him talk about microscopic photography and aerial photography, two special uses of the camera invaluable to scientists.

Cartoon Party

Leon the Lion presents a half-hour of cartoons, with favorite characters

STEVE BLOOMER

Regular appearances are made on Junior Roundup each Tuesday by Steve Bloomer, who tells of "This Living World."

Bozo the Clown, Foo Foo and Crusader Rabbit. Today's cartoons are entitled "Space Gun for Fun", "Burglar Catchers" and "Lion Tamer".

CBWT—How About That

Host Gerry Wilson shows a film on the Festivals of Japan.

CBWT—Spotlight

Another in the series on traffic, with Inspector Neil Clarke.

Chevy Show

Dinah Shore presents an all-Hawaiian show.

With what top news story of past years is the mystery contestant associated? Regular panelists Gordon Sinclair, Toby Robbins and Pierre Berton and a guest try to answer the question in as little time as possible, providing information and entertainment at the same time. Fred Davis is moderator

Guest panelist today is U.S. publicist Jim Moran.

Q for Quest

The World of S. J. Perelman. Playwright, author and humorist S. J. Perelman, writer of Acres and Pains, and one of the scriptwriters for Around the World in 80 Days, will talk with host Andrew Allan. Produced by Mel Breen.

able to follow humour," he says. "There's far too much preparation of audiences. It applies in the theatre, too. There's far too much underrating of the audience. When I wrote for the Marx Brothers, Groucho always was concerned about the Barber in Peru, Indiana, whom he saw as the person he was trying to reach with his jokes. I think in his pictures he inhibited a great deal of his own humour by undue concern."

When people suggest occasionally that Perelman's wit is over the heads of the average Joe, he bristles. "I sometimes get letters from readers who tell me they had to look up some of my words in the dictionary," he says. "I think that's fine. I've had to look them up, too. If they get self-improvement with their laughter, that's good—it's a kind of lagnappe."

Perelman pieces always give fair warning in the first sentence or two that a familiar road is under reconstruction ahead, and the detour is going to be fun. A couple of samples from The Most of Perelman: "I am 38 years old, have curly brown hair and blue eyes, own a uke and a yellow roadster, and am considered a snappy dresser in my crowd. But the thing I want most of all for my birthday is a free subscription to Oral Hygiene." . . . "I guess I'm just an old mad scientist at bottom. Give me an underground laboratory, half-a-dozen atom smashers, and a beautiful blonde in a diaphanous veil waiting to be turned into a chimpanzee and I care not who writes the nation's laws."

What he calls his "sportive essays" and "bits of embroidery" are as impeccable as a Bond Street model, but they sound as spontaneous as though he had tossed them off on the back of an envelope while waiting for a bus. His choice of just the right word—also the least expected—is not accidental. He takes great pains with his sentence-tailoring, and says "it's a pretty good day when I get a page done."

PROGRAM NOTES

APRIL 19

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Juno and the Paycock

(To be seen 10:00 a.m. on CBWT, 10:20 a.m. on CKX-TV Brandon, and April 25th at 10:20 a.m. on CKOS Yorkton.)

The Manitoba Department of Education, the CBC and the Manitoba Theatre Centre have co-operated in this TV production of Sean O'Casey's classic, which is on the course of studies for Manitoba Grade XII students. Television adaptation produced and directed by A. P. H. Scott, CBC Winnipeg. (Not recommended for viewing by students below grade XI level.)

Chez Helene

French for pre-schoolers, with Hélène Baillargeon and her assistants—Susie the mouse (Corinne Orr), Peter (Anthony Tremblay), and Marion. From Montreal.

Nursery School Time

Miss Teddy and Hoppy visit a swimming pool to watch the boys and girls learn to swim.

Open House

Madame Benoit's Cooking School. Lesson 12 in the series deals with omelets. There are endless variations, including dessert omelets, but Madame Benoit says you should first master the simple omelet. She shows us how to do just that today.

Our Special Guest. Miss Mary Lynch, only woman on the National Parole Board in Ottawa, is today's visitor. Last week Miss Lynch terminated a 27-year-old association with a law firm in St. John, N.B., to become one of the five members of the Parole Board. She is interviewed by Paul Fox.

Our Miss Brooks

Miss Brooks helps out one of her students who has been supporting his family by working nights and weekends.

The Verdict Is Yours

Fascinating courtroom dramas, authentically staged with judge and counsel portrayed by professional lawyers. A jury selected from the audience gives its verdict at the completion of each case. Newsman Bill

Stout supplies background and side-lights on each case.

CBWT—Three's Company

Dr. Frank Kennedy, director of physical education at the University of Manitoba, is guest today as Mary Liz Bayer and Bill Guest visit the campus to see the physical education program first-hand. A survey of stage and screen activities completes the half-hour.

Junior Roundup

The Friendly Giant. Rusty packs his suitcase before going away overnight. Friendly reads a story about a little boy who went to a friend's house overnight, called First Night Away From Home.

Host, Murray Westgate. From Halifax, more sea songs and stories. From Winnipeg, The Outrider, with Stu Phillips who tells an amusing and true story about some of the difficulties of raising a family on the frontier 80 years ago. He also sings some western songs. From Toronto, Harry Fredman introduces more musical instruments.

Huckleberry Hound

Both young and old enjoy the antics of cartoon characters Huckleberry Hound, Yogi Bear, Dixie and Pixie and Jinks the cat.

Countrytime

Significant developments, practical information and opinions relating to farming on the prairies. Rebroadcast Saturday for viewers in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Producer is Green Bates of CBC Winnipeg.

Judging Beef Cattle. A film of the judging of the three beef breeds at the Manitoba Winter Fair will be shown. The judge will then review a class of four cattle, indicating the good and weak qualities. The viewers then will be asked to judge them, with the official placings to be given the following week.

Angel

The confused and chaotic world of the tempestuous French bride of a U.S. architect. Marshall Thompson and Annie Farge star.

My Three Sons

Fred McMurray and William Frawley star in this heartwarming and humorous series about a widower who must solve the problems connected with raising three sons.

Perry Como

Perry's guests include actor Milburn Stone.

EVE ARDEN

The popular Our Miss Brooks series is seen each Wednesday now on CBC Television. Actress Eve Arden is the star.

Winston Churchill—The Valiant Years

Triumph in France. Patton begins a rampage through Western Europe. Churchill is under fire for conduct of the war in France and Italy. Paris is liberated.

Explorations

The Days of Whisky Gap. Recollections by pioneers about the early days of the Canadian West, when the Mounties rode out from the East to save the newly-settled region from becoming a lawless frontier. Whisky Gap is a place-name that remains on the map in Southern Alberta, recalling the days of the liquor trade with the Indians.

CBWT—Director's Choice

Eyes of a Stranger, starring Tallulah Bankhead. Katherine Barclay rules her "court" with a velvet glove, but her caustic, imperious manner makes no favorable impression on Dr. Mark Andrews, a man she wishes to impress.

CBWT—Curling

Billy Walsh of Fort Rouge plays Bruce Hudson of Strathcona in another of the special CBC series.

TV Network

The CBC television networks include 60 stations, 14 CBC and 46 privately owned, and 17 satellite or network relay stations. It is estimated that CBC network programs can be viewed in 3,600,000 TV homes.

APRIL 20

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Junior Magazine

Classics and Jazz Concert

Nursery School Time

Miss Madeleine reads a story about a little fellow flying his kite, Curious George Flies a Kite.

Music in Miniature

A half-hour of music from the classics, originating in Halifax. Today's artists are Claudette LeBlanc, soprano; Francis Chaplin, violinist; Edward Bisha, cellist; Gordon MacPherson, pianist, and Hank Ykelensam, flutist. Highlights of the program:

- Tempo Menueto (Kretzler).....Chaplin
- O Cease Thy Singing (Rachmaninoff).....LeBlanc
- Song of Home (Smetana).....Chaplin
- Madagascar Songs (Ravel).....LeBlanc

Three's Company

Today, commentator Marilyn Phillips presents the second in her fashion accessory series, focussing on the newest and brightest scarves, gloves and jewellery. Jose Poneira sings and plays music specially selected for easy listening.

Junior Roundup

Sing Ring Around. Donna Miller and her monkey doll, Cheeky, invite boys and girls to sing along with them.

Host, Murray Westgate. Murray shows a film about a boy and girl who live in Algiers.

Roy Rogers Show

A hot-tempered rancher kills his partner with the gun of one of his cowhands, then blames the cowhand. Roy tries to convict the rancher before he kills the young cowhand.

Stop, Look and Listen

Continuing his series on hobbies connected with electricity, Geoff Spurr this week shows how to build a powerful electromagnet. With it, you can demonstrate attraction and repulsion, magnetic fields, and magnetise iron bars.

Flowers and roots are the topic of Hector Macdonald's gardening segment. Hector will show how to create a beautiful floral display in your garden with the proper mixture of colors.

Today, Curtain Up moves onto the stage. John Hirsch discusses the various types of stage, how they work, and how you can build a simple one.

CBC-TV's JUNIOR MAGAZINE Saturday, April 22, will demonstrate what can be done with small orchestral groups in both classical and modern idioms.

The hour-long program will be in the form of a concert for young people. It is the fifth such concert the series has presented this season.

Host Louis Applebaum introduces the program which will show how classical and jazz composition can be integrated. A feature of the telecast will be the performance by a jazz combo and the string section of the orchestra of a specially commissioned work by Paul Ruhland of Vancouver.

Ruhland, a 31-year-old native of Austria, is currently a string bass player with the Vancouver Chamber Orchestra and also plays in Vancouver jazz combos. He studied at the Viennese Conservatory of Music. Several of his compositions have been published, the most noted being a piece entitled Big Train, which was written especially for the Lionel Hampton group.

The jazz combo which will perform on the program is headed by valve trombonist Rob McConnell, a Toronto musician who has written some selections but admits that he makes the biggest part of his living in the playing of music.

Although McConnell has never played any of Ruhland's works before, he has played in an orchestra with the Vancouver musician.

"It was at Jasper Park Lodge a few years ago. I was playing trombone and Paul was the bass player. We were together for two summers and we used to compare compositions."

The rest of the combo for the concert is made up of Toronto musicians—P. J. Perry, alto sax; Frank Wright, vibes; Archie Alleyne, drums; Bill Britto, string bass; Ed Bickert, guitar.

A 24-piece orchestra, under the direction of Mario Bernardi, will perform three works: Concerto Grosso, Opus 6, No. 9, by Corelli; Concerto Grosso, 1st movement, by Ernst Bloch, featuring Bernardi at the piano; and Brandenburg Concerto No. 2, by J. S. Bach. In this selection, Melvyn Broiles, first trumpeter of the Metropolitan Opera, will be soloist.

The Youth Choir, conducted by Elmer Iseler, will sing The Little Cantata, by Buxtehude, and a special arrangement of nursery rhymes, both unaccompanied and accompanied with a piano.

FRANCIS CHAPLIN

Music in Miniature will feature Thursday, among other guests, Halifax violinist Francis Chaplin.

The program is produced in CBC's Winnipeg studios by Don Browne-Wilkinson.

CBWT—Father Knows Best

Jim Anderson promises Bud a boat if he raises his science mark, so Bud immediately devotes himself to mastering science.

Tennessee Ernie Ford Show

Singer Roberta Sherwood is special guest today.

CBWT—Wanted Dead or Alive

Josh Randall, asked by a ten-year-old girl to find her father, supposedly long dead, sets out on a mission of mercy.

APRIL 21

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Nursery School Time

Hoppy finds a robin's nest with eggs in it. Miss Teddy reads a story Look Out Your Window. After the story, they look out the window and see mother robin returning to the nest.

Open House

The Grandeur That Was Rome (Part I). First of a series of three documentary films narrated by the famous British archaeologist, Sir Mortimer Wheeler, who talks about the Roman Empire in the light of a journey he made recently, tracing the imprint of Rome from Britain to Africa. The first film, The Skeleton of an Empire, shows the length and breadth of the Roman Empire, from its northernmost outpost, Hadrian's Wall in Northumberland, to the southern perimeter, in the sands of the Sahara; from Merida in Spain to Jerash in Jordan.

Stratford Shakespearean Festival. Special guest today on Open House is Dama Bell, one of the most active voluntary workers in the Stratford Shakespearean Festival. Mrs. Bell has taken part in the Festival from its shaky beginnings under canvas, to its present position as one of the world's leading Shakespearean theatres. She brings a number of costumes and props to the studio to share with viewers some of the backstage activity at Stratford.

CBWT—Three's Company

Gerdine Crawford shows how to keep dry despite April showers, with a smart hat you can make easily in an hour. At the request of many viewers, Esme Crampton begins a sequel to her speaking course, and our book reviewer surveys the current choice of reading.

Junior Roundup

The Friendly Giant. It's a windy day, and Jerome's umbrella blows inside out. Friendly reads a book about a little girl and an umbrella.

Host, Murray Westgate. From Vancouver, Eyes West, another look at British Columbia. This week's episode is The White Mustang, a fantasy about the Cariboo district and a child's belief in the legend of the Great White Stallion. From Toronto, Your

World This Week, a news roundup for young people, with Frank Stalley. Frank and Murray read letters from the Roundup mailbag.

On Safari in Asia

The cameras of Armand and Michaela Denis visit "The City of Angels", Bangkok, where Buddhist priests carry boxes and beg money and food to fill them. The ritual of entry into priesthood is shown, and the life in the Klongs, or floating market area, is depicted.

Country Hoedown

Western and country-style music and dancing, hosted by Gordie Tapp. Mary Frances, Tommy Common, Tommy Hunter, the Hames Sisters, The Singing Swinging Eight and square dance caller Johnny Davidson are the regulars.

Perry Mason

Crime detection series based on stories by Erle Stanley Gardner, starring Raymond Burr as Perry Mason, and featuring Barbara Hale as Della Street and Bill Hopper as Paul Drake.

A million-dollar art collection is destroyed by arson in "The Case of the Torrid Tapestry," today's mystery. A museum worker is falsely imprisoned for setting the blaze, and he goes to Mason for help. Murder enters into the plot when the chief arson suspect is found slain.

Danger Man

This weekly series stars Patrick McGoochan as special U.S. security agent John Drake—a lone wolf in a post war world of international tension and intrigue.

A sergeant undergoing special training in secret missiles is murdered in Munich, Germany. Drake investigates to find whether the soldier was a traitor or the victim of an espionage ring.

Have Gun, Will Travel

Gentlemanly Paladin serves his clients as a deadly gunslinger in this western adventure series. Richard Boone plays the lead.

Paladin squelches the dream of an Austrian duke who sees himself as Emperor of Mexico, then saves his life when a greedy Mexican general tries to kill him.

CBWT—Men Into Space

Exciting adventures in outer space highlight this drama series, starring Bill Lundigan as Col. Ed. McCauley, Joyce Taylor as his wife Mary, and Charles Herbert as their son, Pete.

The emergency alarm sounds at the base, and MacCauley finds that a rocket on a moon supply mission had a motor malfunction which sent it beyond escape speed.

CBWT—Peter Gunn

An unprovoked attack on a lonely, wealthy woman confined to a wheel chair, starts Peter Gunn on an attempt to learn why it happened.

Relative Distance

"How far is it to Dublin?" said a tired English hiker on a hot day to an Irish farmer. "It's five miles", said the farmer, "but", he added, anxious to please, "judging by the length of your legs, sir, I think you'll be able to do it in two." — W. R. Rodgers speaking in the BBC General Overseas Service about the Irish desire to please.

FRENCH TELEVISION HIGHLIGHTS

Channel 6—CBWFT

French Canada Sings

Among the dozens of popular singers in French-Canada, three names stand out as symbols of spontaneous and original creators: those of contralto Anna Malenfant and baritones Lionel Daunais and Félix Leclerc.

A National Film Board production titled "Chantons maintenant" will star these popular singers as well as comedienne-singer Dominique Michel, dancer Elizabeth Leese and pianist Pierre Beaudet. The program, one of a series prepared under the title "Passe-partout," will be presented Sunday, April 16th at 11:00 p.m., replacing Le Courrier du Cinéma.

The artists will comment on their songs . . . their lives . . . their hopes and dreams. A clever montage by Claude Jutras permits each artist to express in typical selections his or her views and thoughts on songs and artists.

Feature Movies

One French and three Italian movies will highlight the evenings' entertainment this week on CBWFT. The first, Monday at 10:30, is "Responsabilité limitée"—a drama by Turi Vasile, starring Isa Miranda and Vittorio de Sica. It is the story of a strict and uncompromising magistrate, who lives only for Justice. But little does he suspect that his intransigence is at the root of his own family's broken homelife.

Wednesday at 10:30, "Monsieur Leguignon, lampiste" is a satirical comedy by Maurice Labro. Unable to get M. Leguignon released from jail on a charge of assault of a police officer, a lawyer decides to free his client on his own terms and in his own ways. With Yves Deniaud, Pierre Larquey.

Friday at 11:00, CINEMA will present another Italian movie titled "Le filet" and starring Rossana Podesta and Crox Alvorado. It tells the story of a fisherman who harbors a known criminal, not suspecting that this man was once his wife's lover.

Finally, Saturday at 11:00 p.m., "Une fille nommée Madeleine," another Italian production, is a religious melodrama starring Marta Toren, Gino Cervi, and Charles Boyer. A rich merchant, seeking vengeance, persuades a simple street-girl to seek the

Aida on CBC Wednesday Night

Reluctantly - Composed Masterpiece

It was "quite a job" persuading Giuseppe Verdi to compose Aida, one of the world's most popular operas. CBC Wednesday Night presents a special performance of it April 19

"NO!" SAID Giuseppe Verdi emphatically to an agent of the Khedive of Egypt. Verdi was 58, and he was tired. Still riding high on the crest of the success of Don Carlo, he had just thrown himself into writing and directing a revised version of his La Forza del Destino. He was not in the mood to begin writing another opera, and he did not need the money.

But the Khedive had plans, and he was a determined man. A new opera house in Cairo was opening soon, and, more important to the rest of the world, so was the Suez Canal. To celebrate these two events, he could think of nothing better than the performance of a new opera commissioned for the occasion from one of the three leading operatic composers of the day: Gounod, Wagner, or Verdi.

We don't know whether he ever got as far as approaching Gounod and Wagner. But he did, through a representative, try twice to interest Verdi in accepting the commission. The sum of money he offered was extremely tantalizing, even to someone as affluent as Verdi. But the composer turned it down both times. Then, on the Khedive's behalf, Verdi's French friend and librettist, Camille Du Locle, made the fortunate move of handing the composer a four-page summary of the suggested plot.

It told the colourful, moving story of a princess, her slave-girl, and the commander of the Egyptian armies whom they both loved. It included every essential for spellbinding theatre: mistaken identity, the conflict between love and duty, the jealousy of the scorned princess, the illicit love of captain for slave, and the condemnation of that love by priest and king. Verdi was so intrigued by the emotional possibilities of the story that he accepted, got down to work at once, and wrote Aida, which has become one of the most popular operas in the world, a cannily-built and cumulative drama in which action is always on the hop, emphasized by glowingly beautiful, descriptive music. Even people who have never seen or heard an opera in full are familiar with the opening tenor aria, Celeste Aida, and the resounding rhythm of the great triumphal procession.

Aida was premiered in Cairo on Christmas Eve, 1871, with great success. The opening night had been delayed because the Franco-Prussian war had held up the costumes in Paris. But the exultant Khedive, the audience and Verdi all felt it was worth the delay. Next came the Italian debut at La Scala, after long, careful preparation under Verdi's direction. Most operatic composers would have been thrilled with its spectacular success. Verdi took 32 curtain calls; the audience went wild. But he left Milan deeply depressed. In middle age he had dared to change his style, to write something more dramatic, dignified and spectacular, more musically developed and refined than anything he had done before. For him it was a period not only of fulfilment but of deep self-examination. He was anguished that no one seemed to have seen beyond the surface excitement over the opera to the more subtle triumph of his art. The tributes of critics and friends seemed shallow to him. "Stupid criticisms and eulogies stupider still: not one elevated or artistic idea; not one person who grasped my intentions . . . Not one who said to me: 'Thanks, dog'."

There was, and still is, a lot of mystery about the original author

JAN RUBES

Among the singers featured on April 19 on CBC Wednesday Night's presentation of Aida will be Jan Rubes, noted also as a singer of ethnic songs on such programs as Songs of My People.

Are Canada's Railways Outmoded?

Despite the present struggle of our railways to compete, officials feel optimistic about the future. A special radio program Sunday, April 16, will examine the road ahead

THE MONOPOLY railroads once held on Canadian transportation has been broken by modern technology. Yet railway men insist that their future, though changed in pattern, may be bright.

For most of the first half of the century, travel by train was considered to be the most inexpensive and convenient method. Now, however, much of the passenger travel in Canada is by private automobiles; in fact, research by transportation experts shows that 75 per cent of all trips of 100 miles or more are made in motor cars.

The other 25 per cent of the "passenger market" is being sought by rail, bus and air services. In this group, railroads are losing money as more people turn to air travel. The airlines are able to turn operational methods into lower overhead, thereby decreasing the cost of fares.

A few years ago the cost of flying was a luxury few could afford. Train fare was the cheaper of the two by a good margin. Now, however, it is actually cheaper in some cases for a businessman to use the airlines.

According to public relations branches of the airlines and railways, the average businessman uses first class when going by train and the economy class when flying, thereby making the difference even less.

Despite the use of motor cars and the trend towards flying long distances, however, railroad research men think that travel by train will become the cheapest and best method in medium and short distance travel.

According to Dr. O. M. Solandt, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, the railways will attempt to obtain a larger share of the travel market in the high density intercity routes, particularly for overnight and shorter day travel. He also foresees a "spectacular growth of urban and suburban commuter services by rail.

"These will have to be subsidized and probably most of them will be run by local transport authorities rather than by the railroads," says Dr. Solandt.

Since the railroads are losing money in passenger service, they have to depend upon freight traffic to make up for the deficit. And it's the freight which makes the money for the railroads.

But even here, the railroads are faced with high costs and intense competition from ships (during the summer months), trucks and airlines, which have entered the freight transportation field on a significant scale.

On top of this, the transportation market has not been growing in recent years. The total intercity transportation demand in Canada exceeded 140 billion ton miles in 1956. It was well below this level in 1957 and 1958, the last figures available. Nor are the 1959 and 1960 figures likely to show an increase.

The distribution of intercity ton miles between the various carriers has been slowly changing. Since 1938, the railways' share of the intercity freight transportation market reached a peak of 76.7 per

MATINEE HIGHLIGHTS

Agatha Christie (Part 2). In the second of this two-part interview with Agatha Christie, Joyce Emerson asks her about her hobbies and finds that she helps her husband, Professor Max Mallowan, in his archaeological work. Mrs. Christie is also a collector of somewhat unusual objets d'art. Listeners will hear a little about Agatha Christie's next detective story in which neither Hercule Poirot nor Miss Marple — her two famous detectives — is involved. Miss Emerson, who obtained this rare interview for Trans-Canada Matinee, is a British journalist on the literary editorial staff of the London "Sunday Times." (Repeated from Trans-Canada Matinee March 2, 1961).

A Dying Civilization. Colin Haney, a young Vancouver photographer, visited Guatemala to photograph the remnants of the ancient Mayan civilization. Only two hundred are left of this once-great people numbering some three million. Now, they are living in very primitive conditions and are rapidly dying out. Mr. Haney was accompanied by the Vancouver violinist, Arthur Polson, and they were joined in San Cristobel by an anthropologist. Mr. Haney talks about his experiences with Eileen Laurie, the CBC's Morning Commentator in Vancouver, and the interview ends with a recording of Mayans singing. (Repeated from Trans-Canada Matinee March 22, 1961).

Story of Three Diseases. Three of the characters in Dr. Jocelyn Patton's story are diabetes, acne and multiple sclerosis and she tells why, if recent reports turn out to be well-founded, the story may have a happy ending. Dr. Patton, who lives in Montreal, is retired from practice and spends time now in advisory work. (Repeated from Trans-Canada Matinee April 5, 1961).

Mezzo-soprano Florence Faiers, accompanied by pianist Sjnolaug Sigurdson, will sing three "Songs of Regret" by English composer Bernard Naylor, who now lives in Winnipeg, on Song Album, Monday.

abolished" will be argued today by a panel of housewives and mothers in Montreal. Mrs. Anne Fry, freelance writer and broadcaster, believes that children should not be given weekly pocket money. She will be opposed by Mrs. Florence Blackwell, who teaches part-time at Sir George Williams University. Participating chairman is Marion McCormick, the CBC's Morning Commentator in Montreal. All have children of their own.

Life in a Test Tube. A storm of controversy was caused recently when an Italian doctor, Daniel Petrucci, succeeded in creating life in a test tube. Leonard Bertin, science Editor of the Toronto Daily Star, telephoned Dr. Petrucci at Bologna, Italy, and the University of Bologna, to find out about the work that was being carried on. He talks today with Thelma Dickman, Toronto freelance writer and broadcaster.

Daily features . . . News commentary by Peter McLintock, Assistant Editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, recordings selected by Pat Patterson of Toronto and played by hostess Betty Tomlinson, and a reading from Jessamyn West's "Cress Delahanty" adapted for radio by Edith Fowke and read by Kate Reid.

role of the Virgin Mary in a Good Friday procession. Convinced that the girl was responsible for a miracle, the simple villagers lavish praises upon her. The merchant, however, reveals her true identity as a call-girl and this modern Magdalene is stoned by the mob.

The Eichmann Trial

Adolf Eichmann, who masterminded the attempted Jewish genocide while serving with the Nazi army during World War II, will be the object of a special one-hour documentary on PREMIER PLAN, Monday, April 17th at 9:30 p.m.

Eichmann selected his victims, some 6,000,000 Jews, from 22 European countries and subjected them in prisons to torture, gas fumes and the firing squad. His trial is held in Israel, by the very same people he was determined to exterminate. The outcome will be particularly significant, whatever it is, and for that reason, host Gérard Pelletier will have as his guest a prominent journalist-historian, Didier Lazard, who was a witness at the Nuremberg trial of German War criminals. The program will also present a special documentary by Alain Resnais titled "Nuit et brouillard" (Night and Fog) on scenes taken at the concentration camps at Belsen, Ravensbruck, Dachau and Auschwitz.

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

The Doctor's Life. Gilbert Highet says there are at least five requisites for a good career: money with security, a sense of purpose, interest, the sense that you are respected and the challenge of adventure. Professor Highet is Professor of Greek and Latin languages at Columbia University, and well-known as a broadcaster, teacher, critic and author. He was born in Scotland and has lived in the United States since 1937.

A Library is a Life-Line. It isn't surprising that Canadians are poor book readers when we learn that in one province like Ontario only 40% of all towns have libraries. This doesn't give cause for much celebration but Trans-Canada Matinee salutes Canadian Library Week by asking Monica Mугan, well-known Canadian commentator, to find out how citizens can start a library, and how a library can be a central and important community organization.

Fontana of Rome. Bridget Rizzo, who is a young American living in Italy, visits one of the famous Fontana sisters at her workrooms. They talk about the postwar rise of the Roman fashion-houses, like Fontana, to a position rivalling the supremacy of Dior and Balmain, and about some of Fontana's devoted clients such as Ava Gardner and Margaret Truman. Daily features . . . News commentary by Peter McLintock of Winnipeg; mezzo-soprano Florence Faiers plays some of her favourite records, and another reading from Jessamyn West's "Cress Delahanty" by Kate Reid.

of the Aida story, some people even implying that the Khedive himself had written it. But the draft that reached Verdi through Du Locle was prepared by the noted French Egyptologist, Auguste Mariette. After reading it Verdi wrote to Du Locle: "It is well done: it has a splendid mise en scene and there are two or three situations which, if not absolutely new, are certainly very beautiful. But who did it? An expert hand (has been involved) in it, the hand of someone who knows the theatre very well."

Where Mariette got the idea nobody knows for sure. Certainly he did not know the theatre very well. A few modern authorities think the plot was based on an incident from ancient Egyptian history.

Sir Malcolm Sargent's choral version of Aida in English will be presented this week on CBC Wednesday Night by the Toronto Mendelssohn Choir and Toronto Symphony Orchestra, directed by their permanent conductor, Walter Susskind, with five distinguished soloists.

The title role will be sung by American soprano Gloria Davy, whose Metropolitan Opera debut in the same role was a recent triumph. She has sung it, too, at La Scala and is a popular performer in other European and American opera centres.

Baritone Chester Ludgin of the New York City Opera, whose recordings with the Vienna Philharmonic are well known, will be heard as Amonasro. As Amneris: mezzo-soprano Frances Bible, known for her fine performances with the New York City and San Francisco Opera Companies and at England's Glyndebourne Festival. Tenor Charles O'Neill, who won the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air in 1957, will sing the role of Radames, in which he made his Met. debut. And bass Jan Rubes, who is heard Monday nights on CBC Radio in Songs of My People, will be heard as the King of Egypt.

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

Talk About the Teens. A tribute to teen-agers is included today in Mrs. Margaret Davis' talk about the teens. The subject is "Discipline and Responsibility." Mrs. Davis, a former social worker, is an Ottawa mother and consultant on social work. Speaking of teen-agers she says: "I must say I am impressed by their greater readiness to embark on a variety of adventures today including early marriages without being too daunted by the fact that they can't see their way ahead too clearly." A panel of three Ottawa young people will discuss Mrs. Davis' ideas about discipline and the creation of a sense of responsibility.

A Flat Tire. Elinor Woods finds that her slipped disc has certain things in common with a flat tire, and the language of the automotive industry can be applied to it in other ways. She takes heart by recalling her husband's devotion to his old cars through the years. Mrs. Woods is a Winnipeg housewife and freelance broadcaster.

Daily features . . . News commentary by Isabel Wilson of Toronto; Sydney Bryans plays records, and another reading from Jessamyn West's "Cress Delahanty" by Kate Reid.

W-2:03 pm K-2:33 pm X-2:33 pm

SCHOOL BROADCASTS

Manitoba. "Listening Is Fun." Today—"Continuo." In this, the last program, we'll look back to the men we have met this year, and to their music. We shall hear their music played by the outstanding artists of today. As we listen, we hope the composers will be remembered, not as names on a page, but as real people.

Saskatchewan. "Sing With Me" (grades 4-10). The main purpose of these broadcasts is to improve the quality of singing in senior elementary and high school classrooms, and to assist teachers in their part-singing programs.

Alberta. "Listening Is Fun" (grades 7-9).

W-3:00 pm K-2:00 pm X-2:00 pm

Trio No. 9 in B Flat Haydn
Trio Elegiaque, Opus 9 Rachmaninoff

W-10:05 pm K-10:05 pm X-10:05 pm

Thursday on CBC Trans-Canada, Lucio Agostini (above) conducts an orchestra of woodwinds for Part I of Variety Showcase, while actress Vita Linder, a native of Winnipeg, reads poetry.

ARE CANADA'S RAILWAYS OUTMODED?

cent in 1944. At that time, road transport carried 3.1 per cent of intercity ton miles, water 20.2 per cent and pipelines a negligible quantity.

By 1958, the last date for which complete figures are available, the railways' share of the transportation market had dropped to 52.3 per cent, road was up to 11.1 per cent and oil pipelines to 13.4 per cent. Water transportation's share has for the last 10 years remained relatively constant at 23 to 26 per cent of the total market.

Another problem, and a major one, for railways is that of workers being put out of work by increasing mechanization. This is a particularly touchy area when the companies and unions sit down at contract time.

Despite all these seemingly dark clouds, railway men aren't taking a pessimistic view of the future. They are carrying out giant research programs and are hopeful that the future, although probably changed in pattern, will be bright for railways.

What is being done? What will the railways be like 10, 20 or 30 years from now? These questions will be examined Sunday April 16th when the CBC Trans-Canada Radio Network presents a special hour-long program entitled Whither the Railways?

The program was prepared by CBC's outside broadcasts department. Produced and narrated by Robert Brazil of Montreal, the broadcast will contain interviews with leading railroad executives and with representatives of the trucking and airline industries.

Union leaders will also give their views on railroad problems, including the one of workers and automation.

For list of Dominion Network stations see Page 33. Only programs marked with an asterisk (*) are carried on all Dominion Network stations.

Simone Signoret: Love is for the Middle-Aged

Nouveau Temps. Although it provided her only steady income, she did. Her mother went to live in unoccupied France, and Miss Signoret settled into a Left Bank garret and concentrated on working her way into the movie industry, playing mostly tough women.

The first time she played a prostitute she did it so convincingly, she says, that she was typecast from then on. By the end of the war she was established as a film extra and her first major performance, in Jacques Feyder's Macadam in 1946, won her the Prix Susanne Bianchetti.

The following year she began to get star billing and married Yves Allegret, a director who had encouraged her in her first films.

A couple of years later she was divorced from Allegret and married Yves Montand, a handsome music hall artist.

She persuaded him to drop his cowboy act and concentrate on the chansons populaires — little songs about the joys and sorrows of ordinary people—which have since made him a highly popular stage, film and recording artist.

Miss Signoret continued to make films and in 1954 she and Montand appeared together in a long-run stage production of Arthur Miller's play The Crucible, later co-starring in the film version, called The Witches of Salem. Earlier she had had a starring role in the mystery-thriller Diabolique, which was one of the most successful foreign films shown in North America in 1955-56.

She played her most sympathetic role in Room at the Top. It won her an Oscar last spring as the outstanding actress of the year—the first actress to receive the top Academy Award for work in a British film. She is extremely proud of succeeding in her profession, but shrugs off press adjectives like "terrific" with the remark that "A human being is made up of all the meetings he has had, good and bad. It has been my good fortune to be surrounded by intelligent and brilliant people and something of them may have rubbed off on me."

She really likes acting. It's much more than a job to her. She says she isn't unhappy when not acting, because she has many interests, but she is very happy when she is acting. She allows herself just one picture a year, because she wants to spend as much time as possible in the "real" world with her family, which includes her daughter Catherine, 15, by her first marriage, with whom she has a very close relationship. She talks about this on the program.

Favourite recipes from a favourite show seen on CBC television Tuesday and Thursday
CBWT Monday to Friday

Compiled by MRS. A. R. "MAT" GAUER

CORNUCOPIAS OR CALA LILY COOKIES

- 3 eggs
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Sift flour, measure and sift with baking powder and salt. Beat eggs until very light—about 5 minutes. Gradually add sugar. Then fold in vanilla and flour mixture.

Grease and flour a cookie tin well. Drop a dessert spoonful allowing 6 per large cookie tin, as they will spread. Bake for 5 to 6 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Loosen and roll into cone shape. Cool on rack. When cool, fill partly with a favourite filling and top with a teaspoon of whipped cream to which has been added 2 tbsp. icing sugar and $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. almond flavouring. Top with a bit of grated orange peel.

CREAMY ALMOND FILLING

- $\frac{1}{3}$ cup butter
- 4 tbsp. icing sugar
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flaked or chopped almonds
- $\frac{1}{8}$ tsp. almond flavouring

Cream butter and icing sugar well. Add almonds and flavouring. Use as desired.

FROM OUR MAILBAG

Red River Jamboree

• Would like to tell you how much we enjoy the program Red River Jamboree. It is a credit to producers and performers, and the research for the program is excellent.—W.F., Montreal.

• Your program on the Barkerville gold rush will probably win an award for the most poorly-researched program produced by the CBC during 1961. The Ozark music wasn't too bad, but the historical data left much to be desired.

... It is doubtful that many people would recognize your pictures as almost 100 per cent fake, or your deplorable lack of historical knowledge. But I am certain that most Canadians would know that it will be necessary to wait for centuries, not days, to go west from New York by boat.—W.E.T., Vancouver.

ED.: J. J. Cronin, writer of the script, gives this reply:

As you realize, we do not attempt a full documentary in these scripts; they are musicals. However, we do strive to create historically accurate vignettes, insofar as accuracy is possible amidst a great deal of opinion and legend.

I checked the script several times before realizing that you must have been joking in referring to going "west from New York". One had first to go around Cape Horn, as many a gold-seeker did.

Hardly "deplorable" history — although perhaps a little nautically asked—or grammatically elliptic? I'm glad you enjoyed the "Ozark music". We hope to do further shows on the Fraser and I'll look forward to hearing from you again.

Hockey Crowds Out Favourite Programs

• Why does the CBC insist on eliminating good programs (of which there are so few) in favor of poor ones? In the past week this has happened three times, to my chagrin. On Wednesday, The Perry Como Show and The Valiant Years were removed from the TV schedule, on Saturday the New York Philharmonic was eliminated from radio despite the fact that the featured artist was Canadian Glenn Gould, and Sunday the Ed Sullivan Show was not shown. If programs must be dropped I would think the more run-of-the-mill variety could be set down.—J.E.M., Regina.

Mr. Diefenbaker's French

• . . . One objection I must make is to the translation given while a French speaker is presenting a talk for the French viewers. An example was during Rt. Hon. Mr. Diefenbaker's address to the French-speaking people of Canada. We could not hear a word of French. I realize this was done for western viewers, but this is a bilingual country, and many of us out west enjoy hearing a French address even if poorly pronounced.
