Extend Beyond the Iron Curtain

• I would like to commend your program, The View from Here (CBWT, Monday to Thursday). This could be classified as an adult education program. It is informative and somewhat interesting. This type of program has a wide potential. It will develop to the degree to which you permit it to grow. You could make it more interesting, it is too amateurish, and you could make it more professional. You could extend yourself beyond the "Iron Curtain" that surrounds your city. We need more programs like this. Keep up the good work.

—J.H.M., The Pas, Man.

Not Long Enough

• Commenting on the series Blue Light (CBC-TV, Wednesdays). Its only fault is that it should be an hour long. Robert Goulet is very convincing and many of us enjoy this program.

—B.H., Kenton, Man.

Congratulations and Thanks

• Please convey to the producers of Canada 99 (CBC-TV, Wednesday, April 20th) my congratulations and thanks for the excellent telecast, Once Upon a Marsh. How I wish the previous effort on the Saskatchewan (River) had approached similar standard. The photography alone was fascinating: striking beauty in black and white, glorious in remembered color. And Reg Gibson's ballad of the marshland was exactly right . . .

—M.J.H., Calgary

CBC News

• Recently I have read two or three articles criticizing the CBC's presentation of the news, especially the 11 o'clock edition read by Earl Cameron.

I would like to express a word of appreciation for Earl Cameron's delivery of the news bulletin in particular and for the general presentation of the news on both radio and television.

—Mrs. J.C., Calgary

Easter Cover

• Although I am agnostic I respect Christianity and my many good Christian friends and so I write to protest very strongly against the cover—the brutal crudity of the cartoon of the Crucifixion—of the issue of April 2nd-8th. Are we supposed to regard Real Berrard as an artist?

—M.C.P., Victoria, B.C.

Deep Appreciation and Delight

• It was with deep appreciation and equally great delight that I viewed the CBC-TV two-part Festival, April 6th. The film portrayal of Bernard Shaw was quite informative and presentation of Act 1 of his Arms and the Man excellently enacted.

But whoever wrote the descriptive note on page 17 of the CBC TIMES, in explanation of Act 1 of Arms and the Man, sure slipped up on that tragi-comedy. Major Sergius Saranoff led a Bulgarian cavalry charge against the Serbians and not a Hungarian charge against Bulgarians.

Your films on nature generally are absorbing and instructive for young and old alike.

—N.L.Z., Winnipeg

Wayne and Shuster View Westerns

From the earliest shoot-'em-ups to the latest psychological dramas with a western setting, Canada's favorite comedians recall their favorite cowboy sagas, Monday at 9:00 p.m. on CBC-TV's SHOW OF THE WEEK.

ANOTHER AWARD has come to The Mills of the Gods: Viet Nam. The dramatic actuality report on the war in Viet Nam, seen on CBC-TV last December, received the third annual Wilderness Award April 29th, in recognition as the best film produced for CBC Television in 1965.

The winning film, selected from 24 outstanding entries, was produced and directed by Beryl Fox. Receiving medals for their contribution to the production, in addition to Miss Fox, were executive producer Douglas Leiterman, cameraman Erik Durschmeid and editor Don Haig. Miss Fox, Mr. Leiterman and Mr. Haig were recipients of the 1963 Wilderness Award as well, for One More River.

The much-acclaimed Mills of the Gods only last month won for Miss Fox the coveted George Polk Award from Long Island University.

The Wilderness Trophy was presented in a ceremony April 29th, by A. Davidson Dunton, president and vice-chancellor of Carleton University, Ottawa. Special awards at the same ceremony went to Vancouver producer Philip Keatley for Antoine's Wooden Overcoat, shown on CBC-TV in the Cariboo Country series May 13th of last year; to director-writer Larry Zolf, producer Douglas Leiterman and editor-co-director Vincent Vaitiekunas for Strike: Men Against Computers, seen on Document; to cameraman Grahame Woods for The Gift, the compelling story of a survivor of the Hiroshima bombing; to George Robertson as producer-writer of The Journey, examining aspects of Canada's religious heritage; and to Barry Morse, for his contribution as narrator of George Bernard Shaw: Who the Devil Was He?, presented on Festival.

SOON ALL of America will be chuckling and reminiscing with Wayne and Shuster. A series of nine CBC-TV programs in which they take "affectionate looks" at comedians, actors and movies of the past and present have been sold to the Columbia Broadcasting System for telecast this summer

as Friday night specials for U.S. viewers.

The series, co-produced by CBC-TV and M.C.A. (Canada), is created and narrated by Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster. First programs were seen in 1964-65 on Show of the Week, and they have continued this year, with two still to be seen in Canada: An Affectionate Look at the Western, May 16th (see this week's cover) and Mae West, scheduled for June 20th.

Other shows in the series have dealt with George Burns, Abbott and Costello, Jack Benny, The Marx Brothers, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby, W. C. Fields, and the Film Monsters.

Executive producer of the series is Gil Rodin, and directors are Norman Campbell and Bob Jarvis. CBS will telecast the series each Friday at 10:00 p.m. beginning June 17th.

A MAJOR expansion of CBC radio's news service has taken place with the implementation of the new summer radio schedule now in effect. Newscasts now are heard virtually every hour on the hour on weekdays, with supplementary newscasts on the half-hour as well at breakfast, lunch and supper-time.

Explaining the reason for this increase in news programming, Charles Gunning, director of CBC radio news, says it is in "recognition of the public appetite for frequent access to news which only the immediacy of radio is able to satisfy."

One hour of the day does not feature a newscast — 9:00 p.m. This allows for longer programming to be scheduled at that time without interruption.

Weekend newscasts, while not quite as frequent as in the Monday-to-Friday schedule, reflect the increased emphasis on news, with only three or four periods missing from the news-on-the-hour schedule.

WOJECK, CBC-TV's 10-week series of one-hour dramas starring John Vernon as a big city coroner has begun filming in Toronto.

To be shot almost entirely on location, the series will be filmed on a continuing basis until mid-October. With scripts by Toronto's Phillip Hersch, Wojeck will make its debut on the CBC-TV network in mid-September, at the start of the new season.

Ronald Weyman, executive producer, announced that the first episode to be filmed is entitled All Aboard for Candyland, and its theme is dope addiction. Kate Reid is the guest star of this episode, which will not necessarily be the initial one to be telecast.

In addition to John Vernon, who plays the coroner, Dr. Steve Wojeck, series regulars will include Patricia Collins as Marty Wojeck, the coroner's wife; Ted Follows as Arnie Bateman, of the crown attorney's office; and Carl Banas as Byron James, a detective sergeant attached to the coroner's office. Playing the two Wojeck children will be young James Weyman and Kirstin Campbell.

The episode entitled All Aboard for Candyland is directed by Paul Almond. George McCowan, recently associated with ASP Productions' Seaway series, will direct the next Wojeck episode to be filmed between May 5th and 19th. Titled, Listen! An Old Man Is Speaking, it concerns the problems of senior citizens.

Other directors to be involved in the Wojeck series include Ron Kelly, noted for his CBC-TV dramatic documentaries, The Open Grave, The Gift, and others, who will make his debut as a drama director. Ronald Weyman, the series' executive producer, will also direct several episodes.

Wojeck, will be shot in a similar fashion to the pilot, Tell Them the Streets Are Dancing, telecast on CBC-TV on the Bob Hope Theatre series in early March.

Distinguished radio producer Rupert Caplan brings a compelling Strindberg drama to life for MIDWEEK THEATRE, Wednesday at 9:00 p.m. on radio.

"THE FATHER, by August Strindberg, is not unknown to me," Montreal producer Rupert Caplan says with a smile. "Many years ago, I produced it and played the male lead for the Montreal Theatre Guild. Later, I produced the same drama for the Ottawa Little Theatre."

And now, for the third time, Mr. Caplan is producing Strindberg's powerful drama about a tormented married couple, poles apart in their sympathies, yet intensely preoccupied with the perverse relationship that binds them together. The Father will be presented on radio's Midweek Theatre on Wednesday, May 18th, at 9:00 p.m. Budd Knapp stars as The Captain, with Eileen Clifford as the paranoiac wife, and with Henry Ramer, Eleanor Stuart, and Alan Mills in leading roles.

One of Canada's most distinguished men of the theatre, Rupert Caplan has produced more than 1,000 dramas on radio, stage and television. He is now best known for his radio work and, in this field, he has won an impressive collection of citations, awards and prizes.

Since 1931, Caplan has been in the top echelon of Canadian theatrical producers, but in the decade prior to that occurred the two most important interludes in his early career. In the '20s, for 2½ years, he worked with the Provincetown Players under the direction of Eugene O'Neill, whose literary executor he was named; and he also worked in close association with Tyrone Guthrie, then a member of the BBC.

One of Caplan's most outstanding productions was a three-hour memorial program following the death of Eugene O'Neill, in 1953. As a consequence of this (Please turn to page 15)

in York-Scarborough

CBC radio recalls the political battles of the last election, using Canada's largest constituency as a case-in-point, in a five-part series beginning Sunday, May 15th at 11:03 p.m.

CANADA'S LARGEST Federal riding is the York-Scarborough constituency near Toronto. It has a population of about 350,000, with about 200,000 eligible voters. Yet in spite of its size — three times that of Prince Edward Island and more than half that of New Brunswick or Newfoundland — it has only one member of parliament.

Because of its many distinctive features as a political battleground, York-Scarborough was chosen when last fall's election campaign got under way for one of the most detailed, objective studies ever attempted by CBC radio. Harry J. Boyle, Radio Network Features Supervisor, sent a team of reporters under program organizer John David Hamilton to York-Scarborough at the time the political parties were mobilizing their forces for the campaign. They were to set up their headquarters alongside the various party headquarters in the east end of the riding and gather the whole story of how Canadians go about the business of electing their representatives in Parliament, from the date the election is called until the final post-mortem on the results. They were to find out what kind of people lived in a particular riding, how they voted, what they wanted, and what ideas appealed to them.

From the political parties they were to find out how each was organized, how they worked, and what kind of approach was used not only to their own candidates but to opposition candidates, the national parties and the national issues. All of the parties cooperated, and the back-room planners were delighted that somebody was going to tell their story. Hamilton's reporters were allowed to sit in on strategy meetings, interview the

FESTIVAL: Glenn Gould and Yehudi Menuhin

Two of this era's greatest musicians combine talents for a television performance Wednesday, May 18th at 9:30 p.m.

TWO-AND-A-HALF years ago, when two of the world's greatest musicians, violinist Yehudi Menuhin and pianist Glenn Gould, happened to be in New York at the same time, Gould invited Menuhin to the CBC's Manhattan office to see a screening of the TV program The Anatomy of Fugue, which Gould had recently videotaped for the Festival series. "This one is a special pet," Gould told Menuhin, and added "I like making these films. I've always felt this terrible frustration in concerts. You do it and it's gone. Why not put it on film and have it? So it will be there." Menuhin murmured agreement. "I don't know if my film is for the mass public," Gould went on. "Sometimes I think they don't know what the hell I've said, but they feel elevated." They exchanged knowing grins, and then Gould called "Roll film!"

Menuhin was spellbound. As he watched, he kept murmuring "Lovely. Wonderful! Beautifully done. Most enjoyable," and sighed with envy as the program ended. So Gould made a suggestion: "Next year, if you're going to have some time, we might do one together. You ever done the Schoenberg Fantasia?" Menuhin's eyes lit up. "What a splendid ideal I must look at the music."

"It's a dry work — one of his last things," Gould told him. "Oh, I have the music," Menuhin went on. "You're coming to England next summer? We might do it there. On the screen it does gain dimension."

Gould nodded. "Some people say that every performance is an experience," the pianist said, "but it's not that for me in concerts. It's animal. It's all a circus. It's immoral."

"I know what you mean," said Menuhin. Then, looking ahead to the prospect of appearing together in a TV concert of works they both admired, he added: "The Schoenberg. It will be lovely."

But it wasn't until last fall that they finally got together for the CBC-TV show — a program of music and stimulating but informal musical conversation displaying their musicianship and delightful personalities to full advantage. It will be presented on Festival this Wednesday, May 18th, as the first in a series of eight hour-long concerts and music programs. Besides Schoenberg's Fantasia the program includes Sonata No. 4 in C Minor by Bach and Sonata, in G Major, Opus 96, by Beethoven. Production is by Eric Till, with Franz Kraemer as executive producer, and sets designed by Robert Lawson.

Board Presents . . .

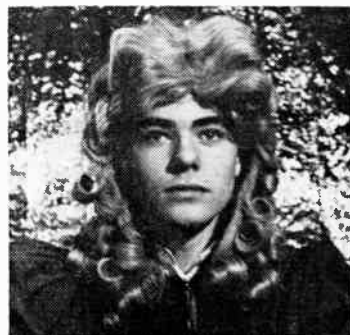

A series of documentaries is presented on CBC-TV
Wednesdays at 10:30 p.m., beginning May 18th.

NFB PRESENTS, a series of documentary films illustrating aspects of life in Canada, returns to the television network this week for its third season. In the weeks ahead, viewers will see what goes on behind the scenes when Max Ferguson does his morning radio show; will visit the headquarters of a motorcycle gang; take a trip aboard the schooner Bluenose II; and see how the war of 1812 affected the settlers in the western part of Upper Canada.

The first program in the series, No Reason to Stay, introduces two young Montreal students, Raymond Wray and Cathy Wiele, in their first screen roles. Wray plays the part of Christopher Wood, an 18-year-old high school dropout, with Cathy as his girl friend. Based on a script by a boy of Christopher's age with first-hand knowledge of the problem, No Reason to Stay explores the situation of a teen-ager who feels that the present educational system has nothing to offer him and that no one listens to his side of the story.

"It's blackmail," he says, "if you don't stay in school, you won't get a job." His girl friend doesn't see it that way and tries to get him to stay on at school — "It's all right to complain. Everybody does that. But you just can't throw away your education." Christopher doesn't feel he's getting an education anyway. The teachers don't care enough. As he puts it, "To educate is to encourage. You do not encourage, you discourage. To educate is to interest. You do not interest, you bore. You are charged, in fact, with mercilessly boring to death thousands of innocent students."

No Reason to Stay was written by Christopher Nutter and Mort Ransen, produced by John Kemeny and photographed by Mike Lente.

Next week (May 25th) NFB Presents goes to a has-been Lake Erie resort town for Each Day That Comes, the story of a woman who has to face up to the life she leads and shed her illusions about leaving her family and the town. The program on June 1st. A Question of Identity, was filmed at Pioneer Village in Ontario and shows the effect of the war of 1812 on settlers in Upper Canada. Max in the Morning, on June 8th, is a look at how Max Ferguson does his morning radio show with no script and no supporting cast except a harassed sound-effects man.

The Baymen, on June 15th, is the story of two generations of a Newfoundland fishing family, Satan's Choice, June 22nd, is a study of a motorcycle gang, where they hang out, what it means to be a club member, and what happens when they have a rally.

Snooker Played by Champions

WHEN PRODUCER Claude Baikie tells host Bill Walker to take his cue, he means that literally. On the new series, Championship Snooker, seen Saturday afternoons, Bill introduces two competitors each week, for play at Championship House in Toronto.

Assisting Walker with explanation and analysis is George Chenier, 58, who brings a wealth of experience to his role. A native of Ottawa, he has been playing pool for more than 40 years. In that time he has won many titles, including the Canadian and the North American Championships.

Of all the various types of games played on billiard tables, snooker has become the most popular in North America. It was originally developed, says our encyclopedia, by British Army officers in India in the 1870s (though other billiards games can be traced back as far as the 16th century) and has undergone many changes since then. It's the most familiar billiards game to the layman, being played with 15 red balls, and one each of black, pink, blue, brown, green, yellow, and white balls.

Program Notes

MAY 15th

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and addit'l program information

CBWT—Extension

Asia Complex. A study of the forces that have shaped the current map of east and southeast Asia. Host and writer is William Saywell, department of East Asian studies, University of Toronto. Today:

Democracy. Examines the record of democracy in Malaysia, Ceylon, India, Pakistan, Indonesia and Japan. Guest is Dr. Kyung-Won Kim, department of political science, York University.

CBXT—Extension

Asia Complex: Communism. The ideological basis of Communism is discussed as a first step toward examining the national environments in which the Marxist philosophy has proved successful. Guest is Dr. C. B. Macpherson, department of political economy, University of Toronto.

Country Calendar

1. CBC farms and fisheries department supervisor for the prairies Lionel Moore attended the recent unloading of Charolais cattle in Quebec City. The cattle were the first to be imported from France in many years. They have just completed a 14-month quarantine period on Grosse Isle and were on display in the city prior to being transported to their North American homes.

2. An interview with His Excellency Dr. B. W. Biesheuvel, minister of agriculture and fisheries and deputy prime minister of the Netherlands, who is the chief Dutch representative on the European Common Market. He explains what the market will mean to farmers around the world.

Through the Eyes of Tomorrow

1. Folksongs by Buffy Sainte-Marie, the young Cree Indian girl who has become one of the most successful performers in the folk field. She sings some of her best-known compositions including Little Wheel, Spin and Spin, Los Pescadores, Summer Boy and The Universal Soldier, plus other songs.

2. Cassius Clay and George Chuvalo talk with host Paul Saltzman.

3. The last of three discussions on dating, love, sex and marriage, this time by young British women comparing views with their Canadian student counterparts.

4. John Porter, professor of sociology at Carleton University, and author of The Vertical Mosaic, joins the student audience and co-hosts Paul Saltzman and Janet McQuillin in discussing whether there is equality of opportunity for Canadians.

French for Love

In Gerard and Sheila Arthur's bilingual sketch today, a housewife has spring fever and decides she needs a new dress.

Heritage

Let Everything Praise the Lord. Examines the rising popularity of the new music in the church. Folk, jazz, rhythm and blues — these are the music forms infiltrating the services of many North American churches. To illustrate this development, the program visited New York to show the New York Episcopal Seminary Choir perform the Rejoice folk mass. Dr. Boone Porter, professor of liturgics at the seminary, discusses the Rejoice mass.

In Toronto cameras captured a folk mass celebrated by Rev. George Vanderzand of St. Michael's College; and a service at St. Giles Presbyterian Church which included the latest in popular music sounds. Rev. Derin Geard of St. Giles discusses the music.

The Amish — Part 2. Second of a two-part program about the Amish, the peace-loving people who try to insulate themselves from the pleasures of the 20th century and live like their ancestors of 300 years ago, finding satisfaction in their faith, families, and prosperous farms. (Part 1 was presented April 3rd.)

The Umbrella

1. Fun with Fashion. Toronto designers of women's clothes and a group of models show some of the styles influenced by pop and op art, by films (The Knack, The 10th Victim) and by such television shows as The Avengers.

2. An interview with French-Canadian playwright Jacques Languirand whose plays Grand Exits (Les Grands Departs) and The Offbeats (Les Insolites) have been seen on CBC-TV's Festival. He is interviewed by Rita Greer Allen.

Hymn Sing

A singalong show of hymns and favorite religious music. Host is Don Brown with the CBC Hymn Sing

Chorus directed by Eric Wild. Produced and directed by Don S. Williams. Selections:

Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken
No One Ever Cared for Me Like Jesus
God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall
All Things Bright and Beautiful
I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say
Hold Thou My Hand
My God is a Rock

Perry Mason

A columnist is slain and the witnesses who could have absolved the accused refuse to testify.

New Hazel Show

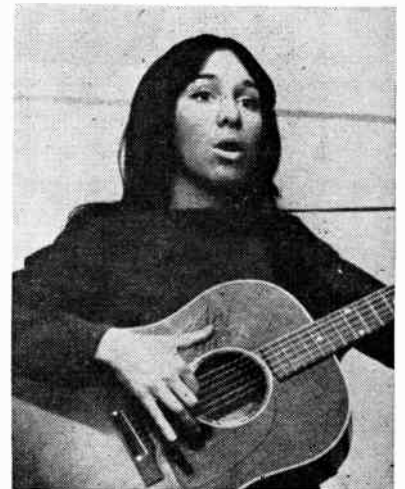

Hazel's friend, Minerva Anderson, is duped into exchanging her house for a house where a new airport is being built.

Bonanza

Hoss is told by a fortune-teller that the love of a lovely girl and a fight with a notorious gunman are in his future.

Memorandum

The story of the Nazi death camps. On the 20th anniversary of the liberation of the Nazi death camps, a National Film Board crew accompanied a Canadian survivor of 11 such camps on a pilgrimage, with his son, to Belsen. Their study of the aftermath of horror is told and is not intended to shock anyone, but rather to make them pause for a moment to muse on the condition of the human spirit in the mid-20th century. Written and directed by Donald Brittain.

Buffy Sainte-Marie, a young Cree Indian folksinger, is featured on the first part of Through the Eyes of Tomorrow, Sunday at 2:00 p.m. Cassius Clay and George Chuvalo are interviewed in another segment.

their friends as they strive for a meaningful way of life are seen daily in this, the second-oldest daytime serial on TV.

CBXT-Girl Talk

Actress Corinne Calvert and authors Helen Curley Brown and Dale Carlson discuss working with husbands. Moderator is Virginia Graham.

Password

Celebrity guests are Bob Crane, star of Hogan's Heroes, and June Lockhart, co-star of Lost in Space. Allen Ludden is the moderator.

Take Thirty

Diane Beauvais sings new songs in a new mood accompanied by Jim Pirie who also plays pieces for solo guitar.

Worlds in Contrast

The Turcomans. Up to the end of the last century the Turcomans were dreaded as the professional slave raiders of Central Asia. Today, a visit to the Turcomans to take a look at their remarkable horses.

Passport to Adventure

Host Elwy Yost introduces the first episode of this week's adventure film, Black Arrow, starring Louis Hayward and Janet Blair. Robert Louis Stevenson's classic tale of the Crusades.

CBXT-Mr. Ed

Carol and Winnie are assisting the Ladies' League in collecting items for the annual auction and are storing them in the Post's barn. Everything runs smoothly until an unusual horse is brought in, causing trouble for Mr. Ed.

CBXT-World of Wooster

A television recreation of the P. G. Wodehouse characters, Bertie Wooster and Jeeves.

Don Messer's Jubilee

Don Messer and the Islanders, singers Marg Osburne and Charlie Chamberlain, and the Buchta Dancers. Guests are fiddler Jack Greenough and the Diamond Trio, vocal trio. Selections include:

She Loves the Love I Give Her
The Maritimes are Calling
The Shannon Waltz
McNamara's Band
Faded Love
Winter Roses

The Fugitive

Kimble encounters a woman and her daughter and finds that he is in for unexpected trouble.

Show of the Week

Wayne and Shuster Take an Affectionate Look at the Western. From the days of Hoot Gibson, William S. Hart and Tom Mix to the TV cowboys of today, Wayne and Shuster survey the history of the most popular of all films - the Western. They show some of the classic chases, hold-ups, Indian massacres, hero-bad guy confrontations and shoot-outs. There are scenes from the first great Westerns, The Great Train Robbery, The Virginian and Stagecoach; comparisons of James Stewart in the 1939 Destry Rides Again and the 1965 Shenandoah; Gary Cooper in such fine Westerns as The Plainsman and High Noon; and, of course, a look at such singing cowboys as Roy Rogers, Gene Autry and Tex Ritter.

Mexican-Canadian Relations

Mexico: The Lucky Ticket. Examines the statement that the lucky ticket which Mexico has drawn in Latin America's lottery for foreign exchange is its propinquity to the United States, to see how much truth and how much exaggeration it contains. The program also deals with many aspects of Mexico's relations with the United States, making comparisons with Canada where relevant. Government participation in industrial development and the role of private enterprise in an avowedly socialist country is also discussed.

CBXT-Alfred Hitchcock

The World's Oldest Motive. Henry Jones, Linda Lawson and Robert Loggia star in a drama about a philandering husband's contract for his wife's death.

Singing cowboy Roy Rogers and other Western stars are recalled by Wayne and Shuster, Monday at 9:00 p.m., on Show of the Week, in another of the "Affectionate Look" series.

CAPLAN PRODUCES

"THE FATHER"

much-praised broadcast, the playwright's widow gave Caplan exclusive Canadian rights to everything written by her late husband, including the stage production of Long Day's Journey into Night. Caplan produced the latter play for CBC Wednesday Night in 1959 and, because of its emphasis on suffering, abuse, guilt and hatred, it aroused controversy. But the production was a critical success, and won a coveted Ohio State University award.

"I am frequently asked why I did not go to the U.S.," he remarks. "The O'Neill play might serve as an example of one of the reasons I have not done so. I believe that the CBC is one of the few broadcasting systems in the world that allows its producers the intellectual freedom necessary to stage such a production."

"But apart from that, I am a Canadian. I like Canada and I've been happy to make my life here. I would make more money in the U.S., that's true. But here, I have had creative satisfaction, and a constant stimulation that is worth more than money to me. Privately owned broadcasting companies are sponsor-conscious — they have to be. Therefore, I don't believe that I would be allowed to produce Long Day or many other works I've directed, in the U.S. Here, at the CBC, the intellectual climate is more liberal and more conducive to artistic achievement. This is true of Canada as a whole, I believe."

Caplan's contributions to Canadian drama have involved the development of many writers and actors, now well known on the international scene, including Christopher Plummer, Reuben Ship, Hume Cronyn, William Shatner, Ted Allen and John Colicos.

Asked how he felt about Canada's talent drain, Caplan shrugged philosophically. "When they leave, they take a bit of Canada with them, and they make fine ambassadors abroad for this country. Because of them, Canada is becoming known as a rich source of talent.

"There was a time not so long ago," he continued, "that Canada was thought of as a land of tall timbers, mines and wheat fields. Now, the image is changing. When people think of Canada, they think of writers, singers and actors. And best of all, Canadians themselves have learned to take great pride in their own people."

CBXT—Cuisine

This week, Sautéed Veal Four Seasons.

Worlds in Contrast

Twilight of the Maharajahs. This film shows something of the former glories of the princes of India and links with this the personal story of Princess Indira of Kapurthala. In the palace cellars she discovered half a dozen rusty cans of old film showing the princely life as it was over a generation ago. The film has been coupled with French explorer Vitold de Golish's study of the last sumptuous ceremonies of the Maharajahs to present a fascinating and historic picture of the past.

Passport to Adventure

Host Elwy Yost introduces the third episode of this week's adventure film, Black Arrow, starring Louis Hayward and Janet Blair. Robert Louis Stevenson's classic tale of the Crusades.

CBXT—Gilligan's Island

The quiet island gets another visitor, the exiled President Rodriguez of a revolution-torn country. With pistol in hand he informs the castaways that he is president of the new country he is founding on the island.

CBXT—Reach for the Top

A high school panel quiz. Quizmaster Colin McLean introduces teams from Peace River and Grande Prairie high schools.

Mickie Finn's

A half-hour musical-variety show starring Fred Finn and his band, Mickie Finn (Fred's wife) and the Mickie Finn Dancers. Show is based on the Finn's San Diego nightclub which has been duplicated at the studios. A studio audience plays an important role singing along to the band's honky-tonk, rinky-tink musical offerings. Guests are Roberta Sherwood and son Don Lanning.

Bob Hope Theatre

One Embezzlement and Two Margaritas. An Ivy League detective tries to recover embezzled bank funds in a tropical luxury port. Starring Michael Rennie, Jack Kelly and Jocelyn Lane.

Festival

Duo. Violinist Yehudi Menuhin and pianist Glenn Gould, two great contemporary musicians of the concert stage, combine their talents in a program of Bach, Beethoven and Schoenberg and engage in musical conversation. Produced by Eric Till. Program includes:

Fantasia	Schoenberg
Sonata No. 4	Bach
Sonata, op. 96, No. 10	Beethoven

NFB Presents

No Reason to Stay. A dramatization of the problems of the school dropout, featuring two young Montreal students in their first film roles. Raymond Wray plays an 18-year-old high school dropout who feels the present educational system has nothing to offer him, and that no one listens to his side of the story. Cathy Wiele plays the girl friend who tries to persuade the boy to stay in school.

Host Bob Switzer, left, and chef John Lindenlaub prepare gourmet dishes Wednesday afternoon on Cuisine, seen on CBWT and CBXT.

Hogan smuggles valuable photographs out of the POW camp by faking a Hitler broadcast announcing the fall of Berlin.

Canadian Drivers Test

Provides the opportunity to find out how safely you drive. Using the

Canadian Drivers' Test Thursday on CBC-TV

Are You a Safe Driver?

EACH YEAR millions of people on this continent are killed or maimed in highway accidents. Statistics show that compared with travel by train, bus, or aircraft, the special form provided (see back cover of this issue) you can rate yourself against the national average, a standard determined by a special survey made for this program.

I Dream of Jeannie

Tony is assigned to escort a visiting Persian princess whose ancestors feuded with Jeannie's family 2,000 years earlier.

Telescope

The Hogarth Puppets. The Hogarth Puppets and their creators Jan Russell and Ann Hogarth, came to Canada six months ago from Britain. One of the first things they did was to take their show to the Northwest Territories, enabling Indian and Eskimo children to see a puppet show for the first time. Telescope went along with the troupe to film the fun.

First Person

An interview with Dr. Jean Vanier, son of Canada's Governor-General, and co-founder of L'Arche, a home for adult mental deficient in France.

Alberta School Telecasts

Prairie Profile (Grades 4-9). Regions, resources and industries of our three prairie provinces. Today, Realm of the Restless.

CBXT-Girl Talk

Actresses Jan Sterling and Leslie

Woods and theatrical photographer Alex Jeffry discuss sex problems. Moderator is Virginia Graham.

Password

Celebrity guests are Bob Crane, star of Hogan's Heroes, and June Lockhart, co-star of Lost in Space. Allen Ludden is the moderator.

Take Thirty

1. A talk about special camps for special needs across the country.

2. Adrienne Clarkson and Paul Soles talk with John A. Leeds, director of Youth Power, an organization designed to help Toronto youth to operate their own summer placement service.

Worlds in Contrast

Kamet Conquered. This film was shot in 1931 by a cumbersome clock-work camera when the late Frank Smyth's expedition set off for the Himalayas to climb Kamet. Dr. Raymond Greene and Eric Shipton, two of the climbers, recall this experience of their younger days.

Flipper

Flipper Joins the Navy - Part 1. The Ricks family gets an inside look at the Navy's dolphin research program when Ulla calls on Porter for assistance with Tough Guy, a navy dolphin that seems to have gone berserk.

CBXT-Lost in Space

An invisible, slithering presence threatens the Robinson colony and Dr. Smith insists it is the troubled spirit of his Uncle Thaddeus. Starring Guy Williams and June Lockhart.

Get Smart

Agents 86 and 99 sound the alert when American Indians threaten war unless they get the country back.

Friday Night Movie

Kings Go Forth, starring Frank Sinatra, Tony Curtis and Natalie Wood. Lt. Sam Loggins (Sinatra) and Sgt. Britt Harris (Curtis) are American soldiers fighting in France near the end of the Second World War. Loggins falls in love with a beautiful French girl. A bitter dispute arises between the lieutenant and the sergeant as the film progresses.

ARE YOU A SAFE DRIVER?

three hours someone becomes a paraplegic or a quadriplegic as a result of a car injury.

Currently there is a good deal of agitation to get more safety features built into automobiles to help cut down the heavy toll. Seat belts, head-rests, collapsible steering wheels, recessed instrument panels and door handles have all been recommended as measures that could reduce injury. But what about the human element, the man behind the wheel? Most people who do a lot of driving probably think of themselves as responsible, careful, alert to possible danger and ready to meet sudden emergencies.

To find out just how skilful you are as a driver, to see if you can match or better the national average, you can participate in a special television program this Thursday night and test yourself on your responses to certain traffic conditions, your knowledge of highway safety rules, and basic good driving habits.

The Canadian Drivers' Test is being produced by the CBC in cooperation with the Canadian Highway Safety Council as a public service. Over the past few weeks the Council has been distributing, all across the country, test forms (similar to the one on the back cover of this issue) to be used by viewers for answering questions to be posed during the program. Each question, as the program hosts will explain, will be given a certain number of points for a correct answer and the total score will give you your standing in relation to the national average.

The national average is a standard based on a nation-wide survey which the CBC Research Department recently commissioned for this program. Survey teams in all provinces quizzed over a thousand Canadian motorists on what they knew about cars, what they thought they should do in a given situation, and what they knew about the rules of the road. Out of this study emerged a fairly clear picture of what the average Canadian driver is like.

Axminster. The town of Axminster, which has given its name to a particular type of carpet, is in county Devon, in the West Country. Carpets are still made there and in fact provide the population with most of its jobs. Alan Haydock visits the town.

8:30 a.m.—Sunday School of the Air

Continuing an Anglican Easter series. Storyteller is Norm Micklewright. Choir and panelists are from Anglican churches in Winnipeg. Produced by W. H. Randall.

10:30 a.m.—Kaleidoscope

Timpanorama. Richard M. Sherman and Robert B. Sherman, double Academy Award winners for Mary Poppins score and songs, bring you musical smiles at the changing styles of our popular songs, from ragtime to our time. Also, the Orchestra and Chorus of Camarata present an original score of the changing styles in music, from the roaring '20s to Liverpool.

2:30 p.m.—Teach-In: Vatican Council

A 90-minute examination of the results of the Second Vatican Council. Includes a discussion of three of its influences: the world in revolution; the relationship between Roman Catholics and other Christians; the role of the individual conscience. Chairman for the panel discussion is Dr. Lawrence Lynch, head of the philosophy department, St. Michael's College, University of Toronto. Panelists are: the Most Rev. Maurice Baudoux, archbishop of the diocese of St. Boniface, Man., and organizer for the Canadian Conference at the Vatican Council; the Most Rev. Alexander Carter, bishop of Sault St. Marie, who has already implemented many of the proposals of the Vatican Council in its own diocese; the Very Rev. Aelred Graham (OSB), prior of the Benedictine Priory at Portsmouth, Rhode Island and an authority on religions; the Rev. George Johnston, principal of United College in Montreal and member of the faculty of divinity at McGill University; Dr. Eugene Fairweather of Trinity College, University of Toronto, who was an observer for the Anglican Church of Canada at the Vatican Council. Participants on film are: Dr. Albert C. Outler who was an official observer at the Vatican

SUMMER SUNDAY

Council for the World Methodist Church; Dr. Willem A. Visser't Hooft, general secretary of the World Council of Churches in Geneva; and Robert Kaiser, Roman Catholic layman and reporter for Time magazine at the Vatican Council.

In the studio is an invited audience of 200 guests who will have an opportunity to participate in the broadcast by questioning and commenting on the panelists' contributions. Across the country many church groups will assemble to hear the program and debate the issues afterwards.

Produced by Reid Forsee.

5:15 p.m.—French for Love

(4:15 p.m. on CBK, not on CBX and CBR)

Lessons in bilingualism with Gerard and Sheila Arthur. Today they prove that it is easier to phone than write and that there is spelling trouble in two languages.

5:30 p.m.—Speak Easy

(4:30 p.m. on CBK, not on CBX and CBR)

This program is devoted to the art of good, informal conversation. Hosts are Lise Payette and Patrick McFadden who each bring a guest to the show. The first guest briefly and crisply exposes, in a very short talk, his point of view on a subject of his choice, then the conversation begins. About halfway through the program the other host introduces his guest and the same thing happens again. Subjects range from the profound to the trivial, from the tragic to the humorous.

6:03 p.m.—Summer Sunday

(5:03 p.m. on CBK, 4:03 p.m. on CBX and CBR)

A weekly program hosted by the husband-and-wife team of Joyce Sullivan and John Scott. Features recorded music selected to soothe the nerves on the highway as people return from the lake. Guests from across Canada are featured in brief spoken word items on any topic, mostly humorous.

8:00 p.m.—Sherlock Holmes

(7:00 p.m. on CBK, 6:00 p.m. on CBX and CBR)

A series of adaptations of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle detective stories featuring Carleton Hobbs as Holmes and Norman Shelley as Dr. Watson. Adaptations by Michael Hardwick.

8:30 p.m.—Carl Tapscott Singers

(7:30 p.m. on CBK, 6:30 p.m. on CBX and CBR)

Guest is singer Elan Stuart.

9:10 p.m.—Canadiana '66

(8:10 p.m. on CBK; 7:10 p.m. on CBX and CBR)

This week: a visit to New Westminster, P.C., for the May Day celebrations.

11:03 p.m.—Donnybrook in York-Scarborough

The first of a five-part study of the recent federal election in York-Scarborough, Canada's largest riding. Part I is an introduction to the composition and history of York-Scarborough and includes early reaction of citizens to the calling of the election. Writer-narrator is John David Hamilton. Produced by Howard Engel.

FOR UNDEMANDING, relaxing radio entertainment on a Summer Sunday evening, something light and brisk is called for, such as the cheerful series beginning May 15th, at 6:03 p.m. CDT/5:03 CST/4:03 MST, with production by Doug MacDonald in the Toronto studios. It features the husband-and-wife team of songstress Joyce Sullivan and actor-announcer John Scott.

They'll offer recorded music (musical comedy, light classics, folk music, but no pop tunes) and, every 20 minutes or so, guests from across the country will be heard with brief items on any topic under the sun, mostly of a humorous nature. For example, John Drainie will be heard reading from the shorter works of Stephen Leacock. Scott will write the script, and he and Miss Sullivan will select the music.

"Many of the listeners we hope to attract will be tuned in on car radios, returning from the cottage," says MacDonald. "We will not be providing road reports, etc., but rather a stimulating diversion which we hope will help soothe highway nerves."

candidates, and spend a good deal of time in committee rooms.

The principal candidates were: Frank McGee, Conservative; Robert Stanbury, Liberal; and Ed Phillips, New Democratic Party. McGee had been the Conservative member from 1957 to 1963. He was defeated in 1963 by Maurice Moreau, Liberal, who retired in 1965, at which time Stanbury won the nomination over two other candidates. Ed Phillips was fighting his third campaign against McGee and although he had a manager, was largely running his own show.

As to the riding itself, Douglas Fisher, the former NDP member of Parliament, recently wrote in the Toronto Telegram "It symbolizes both the future characteristics of the electoral framework and a denial of the past in the sense that fast growth and a mobile people have stacked a countryside, wiping out traditions and history." And John David Hamilton writes: "York-Scarborough is where the New New Newest Canadians live . . . there are no traditional guidelines, political or social. It is a purely suburban area with no central core and it consists of most of the gigantic municipality of Scarborough and parts of the municipalities of North York, Leaside, and Markham. Downtown Toronto is only a few miles away and York-Scarborough residents commute to work there. Yet it has little connection with Toronto traditions. Newcomers from all over the country have swamped the old communities which grew up in the early days of rural Ontario.

"Bungalows and high-rise apartments cover the old Ontario farms now, the village squares have become shopping plazas. There are hundreds of factories and scores of one-family houses. Don Mills is our national symbol of the wealthy suburb. There are new schools everywhere. There are few old people and no slums. The mass of the people who live in York-Scarborough have security and affluence on a scale never before experienced in Canada except by the wealthy.

"The people are generally young and optimistic. They're impatient with the fixed patterns of small towns and the limited income of the worn-out farms of the Maritimes and rural Ontario and Quebec. They've seen what the rich life is on television and they want a part of it. The ones from the big cities—Toronto, for instance—want more room and fresher air and better schools for their children. They're tired of living in ghettos and ethnic enclaves.

"Most of the people I talked to weren't much worked up about the flag, or scandal, or the French-English crisis, or 'repatriation of the constitution', or American investment. They talked mainly about jobs, prosperity, schools, better homes, the price of milk, the new car, medical expenses, and whether Suzy was behaving herself at the drive-in movie."

Hamilton's team was made up of Starr Cote, ex-reporter from the Ottawa Citizen, who was assigned to the Progressive Conservatives; Ann Phelps, a former newspaper reporter who has written many radio documentary programs (including the award-winning The Southern Moderate), who covered the Liberal camp; Howard Engel, producer of CBC radio's Project '66 series and program organizer for the television series The Ob- server, who worked with the New Democrats. Other team-members who interviewed both political and non-political people in the riding included: Lyal Brown, a frequent contributor of the Project series and many other CBC radio and television programs; Bill McNeil, a broadcaster who is perhaps best known as the host of Assignment; and Hector McFadyen, a veteran radio producer who was in charge of technical operations.

The many hundreds of hours of interviews and reports which the team recorded have been edited down to comprise five one-hour programs, entitled Donnybrook in York-Scarborough, beginning this week on radio (Sunday at 11:03 p.m.). The same series begins on CBW-FM May 25th.

Douglas Fisher, who read the background story to Donnybrook in York-Scarborough, written by John David Hamilton, wrote in the Telegram: "The CBC has given us the best study of a constituency election that I have ever read. . . . Even a lot of politicians would like to forget that election. Why then should case study be of any interest? Because it captures the problems of the modern candidate and politics in the new form of society and living and demonstrates the hazy inconsequence of so much party behavior."

The Madras House, by Granville-Barker

THESE DAYS everyone is so busy rediscovering Ibsen and patting George Bernard Shaw on the back that they're overlooking, and perhaps underrating, another turn-of-the-century dramatist who wrote just as witty and intellectually provocative plays commenting on social problems of his time — Harley Granville-Barker. When he was manager of London's Court Theatre in the early years of this century, and was one of the apostles of the "new drama," he gave a hearing to Ibsen and Shaw when conventional theatres shunned them, frequently playing the principal male roles in Shaw's early plays, thus ironically establishing the glow around these playwrights which later overshadowed his own fine work. He didn't write a lot — he's remembered particularly for his excellent prefaces to Shakespeare and for his stage theory, which emphasizes the importance of correct tempo in everything from Shakespeare to slapstick.

But Granville-Barker's few plays include some of the richest of modern times. He had a sharply clear mind and a knack for detached, mocking dialogue equalled by very few. Critic Thomas H. Dickinson once said that Granville-Barker's plays are "like reminiscences of passionate things after emotion has cooled, for they are aloof, cynical. . . . He is like Shaw in liking discussion, in feeling that ideas are among the most important things in the world." Another critic, A. C. Ward, feels that Granville-Barker's great appeal is that his people are "creatively well nourished; beside them, Galsworthy's later characters seem like dyspeptic ghosts around a board of funeral baked beans."

Frequently he dealt with themes considered most daring in his time, but he had the ability to make intellectual arguments dispassionate enough to get past the censors but still keep the box office happy, except in the case of Waste, banned because of its savage brutality. One of his most successful was The Voisey Inheritance, a cynical but vital drama full of soul-searchings and frustrations with which audiences find it very easy to identify. One of his greatest achievements was The Madras House, a most agreeable play in which he deals wittily and knowingly with the problem of the "new woman," viewing it with cuttingly ironic brilliance that Shaw never matched, in the opinion of many, even in Man and Superman. "You have got your freedom," says Philip Madras. "Do you mean to pay the price of it? . . . I try to treat you now as I treat another man. . . ." It's not a new idea, but it's still a problem.

The Madras House, in an adaptation by Andrew Allan, will be heard on May 17th in Cohen's Choice, a CBC Tuesday Night series of plays chosen by Toronto critic and broadcaster Nathan Cohen as outstanding but neglected examples of fine 20th-century drama. Production and direction will be by Gerald Newman in the Vancouver studios. Cohen is currently writing a book on What's Wrong With the American Theatre, to be published in a few months by Hawthorne Books in New York. —June Graham.

Oratorio: Alexander Blaus Act 1

RESPIGHI'S OPERA

Written as a triptych in one act, the opera opens with Maria, grown weary of her life as a tavern girl in the Port of Alexandria, begging a sailor to take her aboard his ship and carry her far away to a new and better life, offering her body as payment for her passage. A pilgrim tries to warn the sailor that having such an evil woman aboard will spell disaster, but despite him, Maria crosses the seas and arrives at the Temple of Jerusalem where the voice of an angel counsels her to seek redemption through Zosimo, a hermit priest. Old and feeble after years of wandering and seeking, Maria eventually reaches Zosimo in the desert. She confesses to "sins that make the sun hide" and, on receiving absolution, Maria falls dead and is accepted into Heaven.

"It is a highly romantic and melodic work," says producer Lawrence Taylor. "Although it is comparatively little known to the general public, I feel that CBC listeners will discover it with a sense of great delight and enjoyment."

Joan Patenaude, formerly of Montreal, now lives in New Jersey and studies with the Metropolitan Opera Studio. CBC radio was among the first to recognize the talent of the young singer, in awarding her first prize in the voice category of CBC Talent Festival in 1963. She will make her debut in September with the New York City Opera Company as Micaela in Bizet's Carmen, a role she sang two years ago with the Canadian Opera Company.

Except for a quirk of fate, she would now be studying in Vienna. "After winning a scholarship, I had bought my ticket to Europe. But since the time I had won a Met audition in 1964, the Met had asked me to keep in touch. When I phoned John Gutman to tell him I was going abroad, he said, 'Don't be silly. Come with us.' He advised me that I would do better in New York. 'The love affair between Europe and North American singers is over,' he said."

Miss Patenaude is one of 14 young singers studying full time with the Metropolitan Opera Studio where, without charge, they have the benefit of the Met's vocal and dramatic coaches, as well as special training in musical interpretation and languages. They also learn the full repertoire of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Miss Patenaude, who says she has had "an unbelievable amount of help," also has her living expenses paid under a grant from the Province of Quebec.

She is happy to be close to Canada. "My contacts here mean so very much to me. When I come back to Montreal or Toronto to do recitals or an opera on CBC radio or TV, as I often do, my friends in the U.S. are amazed at the opportunities that come my way. There is nothing comparable to the CBC for them."

Stratford-born John Boyden, now a Montreal resident, agrees with that. "In New York, my Canadianism gives me a definite advantage. Maybe it's because this country has produced such an astounding number of fine musicians."

The third star of Maria Egiziaca, Robert Peters, is another young artist who has won fame on both sides of the border. Born in Somerville, Mass., he has adopted Montreal as home base and commutes back and forth. As well as major Budd Knapp plays the lead role Wednesday at 9:00 p.m. on Midweek Theatre. He plays Captain in the Strindberg drama, The Father.

Canadian engagements, he has sung the lead in Mozart's Magic Flute at Lincoln Centre and in the New York premiere of Berlioz' Benvenuto Cellini. He is engaged to return to Lincoln Centre next December to sing the lead in Berlioz' L'Enfance du Christ.

8:30 p.m.—Music Diary

Laurence Cluderay presents the case for the 20th-century English composer, Arnold Bax, whose music is rarely performed in the concert hall or recital room today.

The CBC Strings are conducted by Samuel Hersenhoren, Thursday at 9:00 p.m. on Summer Concert, part 1.

Feature Winnipeg Musicians on Radio Programs

WINNIPEG HAS long been an unusually musical city, providing not only varied and highly professional fare for its own residents and for radio listeners coast to coast, but also contributing many fine performers to Canadian and international concert and opera life, and giving Canadian musical works more frequent hearings than any other Canadian city. Love of music, as listeners and as participants, is instilled in Winnipeg school children at an early age, and school concerts by the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra and other outstanding groups give them frequent opportunities to hear fine performances for little or no cost. So by the time they reach adulthood, many Winnipeggers consider musical nourishment a necessity rather than a luxury, and if they are involved in it themselves, as members of choral or instrumental groups, so much the better. Of course, not all attain professional status, but their enthusiasm is a wonderful encouragement to those who do.

This week, two of Winnipeg's best-known musical groups will be heard in radio concerts. On Thursday night, May 19th, at 9:30, the series Summer Concert—Part 2 presents the Winnipeg Choristers, directed by Filmer Hubble, singing A Garland for the Queen. When the first Queen Elizabeth was crowned, leading composers of her time collaborated on a musical "garland" (The Triumphs of Oriana), to help mark the great occasion. When the second Elizabeth was crowned, 10 contemporary British composers prepared a similar garland, and it is this which the Choristers present on Thursday night.

On Friday night, May 20th, at 7:30, the CBC Winnipeg Pops Orchestra, conducted by Eric Wild, will present Sir Edward Elgar's Sea Pictures, with mezzo-soprano Joan Maxwell and narrator Evelyn Anderson.

Junior Forest Rangers Canada's Ambassadors Abroad

CBC-TV's The Forest Rangers series, seen Saturdays at 5:00 p.m., can be seen these days in almost every part of the world — 38 countries in all besides Canada.

Canadians looking for a spot of warm sunshine in Mexico or Barbados are sometimes mildly surprised when so far away from home, they turn on television and see the familiar RCMP uniform and lands and forests department rangers of Indian River, a mythical town somewhere in the Canadian north.

The Forest Rangers is watched in the following countries: Saudi Arabia, Luxembourg, Finland, Sierra Leone, Britain, the U.S., Australia, New Zealand, East Germany, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Norway, Malaysia, Belgium, Gibraltar, Malta, Portugal, Switzerland, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Puerto Rico, Argentina, Peru, Uruguay, Venezuela, Kenya, West Nigeria, Rhodesia, Sudan, Uganda, Zambia, Ghana, Egypt, Jamaica and Trinidad, and Hong Kong.

Fan mail, addressed to the Junior Forest Rangers, played by Ralph Endersby, Peter Tully, George Allen, Susan Conway — and to Graydon Gould (chief ranger George Keeley) and Michael Zenon (Indian Joe Two Rivers) — comes in from all over the world to ASP Productions, which makes the Forest Rangers series.

Most letter writers want to become pen-pals with the Junior Forest Rangers and ask for information on Canada. Others ask to meet the rangers if they come to Canada and some even ask if the show's producers can arrange passage to Canada for them.

Many British children offer their services as actors in the series during their summer vacations. Others wonder if there really are such things as Junior Forest Rangers in Canada and if so, where can they join up.

A recent letter to Michael Zenon told him he was far better looking than any of the Beatles or Rolling Stones and asked him not to go over the rapids too often in his canoe because he might not make it one of these days.

Another fan letter to Ralph Endersby asked Ralph if he would like to form a Canadian counterpart to an English group called "Junior Detectives." The English boys said they were working on a case where a lady died from poisoning but don't know if "the cops would go for a couple of good theories we have."

Of all the translated titles for Forest Rangers, the Norwegian title is perhaps the most tongue-twisting — "Skogwokterklubben."
